How, When To Finance Them

County Budget Woe: Capital Projects

Diane Petryk
And Tom Giordano
(Second of two parts)

If, as County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn says, the biggest budget problem the commission will have to tackle to hold the line on property taxes is the estimated $4.5 million in capital improvements slated for next fiscal year, there are several ways that can be achieved.

That's something on which the county administrator, office management and budget director and Mrs. Glenn are in agreement. And, while it was reported there are several areas of disagreement between the three on different points, those differences appear only to be philosophical and go to "how" to achieve balancing the budget.

Eleanor Anderson, director of office management and budget, stressed she considers the county administrator a competent and capable individual and that she is not in disagreement with him except in some minor areas. Anderson had expressed concern that her office was overloaded with work having to prepare a preliminary budget projection, asked for by Rose, for presentation to commissioners several weeks before they've received them in the past. The commission will have to be furnished another budget as deliberation time approaches. Anderson said, however, she feels in the future her department will not have to do as much work as it did this year, pointing to the capital improvements projects as the culprit and noted they may not recur as a problem in the future.

IN PERSPECTIVE

This year, however, the commission had approved, in concept at least, several capital projects without benefit of actual estimated costs and that's where the $4.5 million shortfall may occur, unless commissioners figure out how to eliminate some of them, postpone some of them, or find ways to finance them with the least impact on the property tax. The county administrator, Anderson and Mrs. Glenn say that's possible.

There are five capital projects approved in concept:

— Renovation to convert the old county hospital to an office complex to house commission offices. This was made necessary by the judicial system's demand for more space.

— Renovation of the courthouse/annex to provide space for judges and additional courtrooms.

— Renovation of the Rounhillat Building to house the state attorney's offices.

— Construction of Fire Station 36 in Lake Mary.
— Architectural services for planning a future jail expansion.

Anderson would appear to be correct when she said the commission has been approving capital expansion projects without a clear idea of where the money's coming from. At a recent briefing, Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather, when told of the millions that will be needed, said:

"Where'd we think the monies were coming from when we voted to move into the old hospital?"

Commissioner Bob Sturm put in:

"Actually we all hoped we'd sell the old turkey and get the money in the pot. It didn't turn out that way."

Anderson explained:

Purchase price offers for the old hospital came in lower

Civil Service Hearing Set On Sanford Complaint

The Sanford Civil Service Board, under threat of court action from the city attorney and city manager, has set a hearing for 7:30 p.m. May 31 to hear complaints from the two.

The new hearing has been called by Francie Wynalda, the city's personnel officer, on behalf of the board.

The disagreement developed after the appointed board on May 12 ruled contrary to the evidence presented and contrary to law, perhaps violating the "government in the sunshine law" with an executive meeting in a "disciplinary" action involving a city employee, according to City Attorney Bill Colbert and City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles.

Colbert recommended by letter to Knowles that if the board refused to call the requested hearing "to correct its actions" that the City Commission be asked to authorize an appeal in the court system.

The Civil Service Board after its original hearing on May 5 regarding what was to have been disciplinary action against the city employee, Bernard T. Mitchell, received a blistering memo from Knowles.

In it Knowles told the five-member body that it appeared to have an "erroneous impression" as to the frequency of need for an appeal of supervisory disciplinary actions to classified employees. Noting the board had held two appeal hearings within 30 days from a single employee, the manager said the Civil Service Board has held "eight appeal hearings within the past 25 years including those two."

"This indicates the city's supervisors are extremely careful and reasonable in their personnel administration," Knowles said. "They have taken great care to be fair with the employee while also being fair with the public who pays for a day's work from each employee and the public deserves receiving a productive day's work in return."

The May 31 hearing was apparently requested, according to Colbert's "petition for rehearing" after the Civil Board in a prior hearing declared Mitchell to be "not guilty of insubordination and disgraceful conduct" and was silent on "other grounds" for dismissal.

In the petition, Colbert says "the ruling is contrary to the law in that there was no legal evidence to support the ruling."

Don Knight, president of the Downtown Development Corp., displays plans for the beautification of the downtown section of First Street from Park Avenue to Magnolia at the meeting of the Downtown Business Association. The DBA members endorsed the plan. The city's share of the work is temporarily held up while court action continues.

Downtown Sanford Plan Backed

Sanford's Downtown Business Association endorses the plans of the Downtown Development Corp. to upgrade the downtown section.

A primary spoke in that plan are downtown improvements slated by the city of Sanford which are on hold temporarily while a court battle is waged over the constitutionality of the city spending funds for the project.

The city for the past two years has delayed implementing a plan to resurface First Street from Park Avenue to Magnolia Avenue; to build planters to beautify the downtown section; to widen sidewalks, install new street lights and close a portion of Magnolia, south of First Street to vehicular traffic to create a pedestrian mall.

Other portions of the Downtown Development Corp. plan call for voluntary renovations and restoration of businesses and buildings by owners.

The lawsuit which has stopped Sanford from proceeding with the planned downtown work has been in the courts for more than two years. The suit filed by George Algernon Speer on behalf of some downtown businesses and property owners challenges the city's authority to spend city funds for the city's share of the improvements.

Thirteen months ago, Circuit Judge Roger Dykes at a trial in Sanford ruled that the city could spend some $200,000 it had budgeted for the project; that it has authority to undertake the work and that the project plans would neither cause traffic problems nor deter emergency vehicles from serving properties downtown.

Speer appealed Dykes' decision to the Fifth District Court of Appeal in Daytona Beach. The appeals court in recent weeks ruled against Speer, upholding the Dykes' decision. Speer has since filed a request for a rehearing on the issue before the Daytona Beach Court.

Speer has said if the appeals court turns down his request he will appeal further to the Florida Supreme Court claiming due process has been denied. He is particularly zeroing in on the partial closing of Magnolia Avenue for the pedestrian mall, contending that the property owners only granted an easement for the use of the land on which the street is located.

The Downtown Business Association agreed to send letters of commendation and appreciation to City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles and City Attorney Bill Colbert for their work on behalf of the city's downtown beautification plan.

Colbert has represented Sanford during the court battles, while Knowles has been the major witness on the city's behalf.

Don Knight, chairman of the Downtown Development Corp., Friday displayed drawings showing how the downtown will look when the city work and the voluntary work by the property owners and merchants is completed.

The general meeting of the Downtown Business Association, chaired by Fred Salgado, president, was held Friday at the lakefront Holiday Inn. New merchants in the area were special guests and welcomed as prospective members.

Other DBA officers, all in attendance, include: Wayne Keeling of Flagship Bank, vice president; Ron Dycus, a certified public accountant, treasurer, and Martha Yancey, secretary.

Past president Boyd Coleman outlined plans for this year's nickel days, emphasizing it is a city-wide promotion for back to school sales. He noted that as usual not only will downtown merchants be involved but also other city merchants including those in Sanford Plaza and Zayre's Plaza.

Flagship Bank donated the jar of nickels which will be used in the promotion. The person who correctly guesses the number of nickels in the jar will be awarded a grand prize, said Jack Horner, president of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

The new DBA logo developed by Celery City printers was displayed and each business person was given a copy to place in the window of his business.

The DBA agreed to accept responsibility to implement a marketing program to sell Sanford and the Sanford area.

County Gears Up For More Trash

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County officials are trying not to let things pile up on them—at least not garbage.

The county's refuse disposal division is gearing up to receive an additional 50 to 60 tons of garbage a day at the Osceola landfill near Oviedo as a result of the closing of an Orange City landfill used by several Seminole County municipalities and local trash haulers.

Environmental Services Director Ken Hooper will ask county commissioners at their Tuesday meeting to authorize the hiring of up to six new refuse haulers for up to six months while the county installs new equipment at its transfer stations.

The county receives an average of 500 tons of garbage a day for disposal at the Osceola landfill and 10 drivers are employed to transport the trash from the transfer stations to the dump. Another seven people work at the landfill.

The temporary positions would be filled as needed, refuse manager Fred Blakely said today.

He said the division will not hire the six drivers all at once. The employees will be hired as the division's work increases.

A new shuttle system between the transfer stations and the landfill will be implemented when the new equipment is purchased. In that system, continuous runs will be made between the landfill and the transfer stations, increasing the amount of refuse the county will be able to handle on a daily basis.

The Lake Marle landfill will close Tuesday because the owners of the facility decided to give up their landfill permit rather than deal with new state Department of Environmental Regulations rules.

Commissioners will also consider Tuesday the final payment to consultant Water H. Sobel of Chicago, who did studies and design work of needed county office space through the end of the century.

Sobel's contract with the county expired May 1 and county commissioners decided informally not to renew the agreement. But $54,616.75 of fees and expenses related to Sobel's work for the county has not been paid.

Commissioners authorized a contract extension in February to get Sobel's advice for planned renovations to the old Seminole Memorial Hospital and the courthouse. About $34,000 remains unpaid from the original contract with the remainder being fees accumulated during a series of revisions and a work session with county officials and judges in April.

Commissioners are scheduled to review at a work session today Sobel's plans and architects' drawings for renovations to the old hospital, the courthouse, and annex and a new health center which will be built along Airport Boulevard in Sanford.

Current plans call for demolition and renovation of the old hospital, now renamed the County Services Building, to begin in late June with county offices moving there beginning in December.

The county clerk's offices will be in the first and fourth floors of the courthouse's north wing with the remainder of the building set aside for court functions. Part of the clerk's operations will be in the courthouse annex along with the law library and the public defender's office and the state attorney will be located in the Rounhillat Building, a block south of the courthouse.

Missing Kids

Problem Of Missing Children Reportedly Smaller Here

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer
(Second of two parts)

While the disappearance of young children across the nation and even elsewhere in the state of Florida has spawned concern in the country, leading to federal law setting a national clearing house for such incidents, Seminole County has remained safe, at least for the time being.

The problem has come as close to home as Orange County where the body of a child snatched by someone from a nursery last week was found within days.

According to the four largest law enforcement agencies in Seminole County, no young children are listed among the persons under 18 years old who are currently missing.

The only long-time missing person from Seminole County on the sheriff's department list is a middle aged woman from the Deltona area who disappeared from her car parked at a Sanford restaurant. She has not been seen or heard from since that disappearance some years ago, according to John Spolaki, Seminole County sheriff's office spokesman.

There are less than one dozen young people currently missing in the county and all of them are teenagers. Foul play is suspected in none of the cases. Police believe all of the missing teenagers are runaways.

During the first four months of the year, 106 juveniles were reported missing to the Seminole County sheriff's office. Of that number, all but seven have returned home, according to official records.

In January, 29 were reported and only one has not returned; in February, 27 were reported and two have not returned; in March, 23 were reported and one has not returned; and in April, 27 were reported, and three have not returned.

Of the seven, the records show that none is a young child. All those listed as missing are teenagers, according to the reports, many of whom have had disagreements with family or personal friends or in school.

Many also fall into the category of having been reported missing in the past and having returned home. Foul play is not suspected in any of the cases.

"It's not unusual," Spolaki said, "to receive a report of a teenager as a missing person, have him found, and remove his name from the records only to have to go through the same procedure again when he runs away again."

Detective Karen Reynolds is in charge of the missing persons reports at the Sanford Police Department.

She said her department has had only one case of a long-time missing juvenile. And that is an adopted child who ran away in 1975 and who wants no contact with her adoptive family.

"In almost all cases of missing children, they are teenage runaways," she said. And foul play is not a factor or even suspected. She said the department has a file on an adult who has been missing since 1976 and foul play is suspected in this case.

Casselberry Police Chief Fred McGowan said his department usually carries reports of one or two teenage runaways, whom he wouldn't really consider missing.

"If there were a true missing person, it would have

IN BRIEF

Government Spending Up Against The Wall

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Once again, U.S. spending is approaching its legal limit, and once again the warnings are out — unless Congress raises the debt ceiling by the end of the week the federal government could close down.

The scenario: the government cannot borrow; social security, unemployment and payroll checks stop; the stock market suffers low-grade jitters; newspapers proclaim a financial crisis.

But congressional leaders respond, telling members the increase in the debt ceiling must be approved or the Memorial Day recess will be canceled.

Although the critical day does not come until the following week — probably the 30th (a holiday) or the 31st — Congress must act before the start of the recess, now set for the close of business Thursday in the House, a day later in the Senate.

The House, with its more structured rules, rammed through a $99 billion increase in the ceiling — up to $1.389 trillion — by voice vote but no one knows what may happen in the Senate.

Regan: 'Budget A Joke'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary Donald Regan says the budget recently approved by the Senate plots a path down the road to high deficits and is the "wrong way to go."

The resolution, sponsored by Republican moderates, calls for a substantial third-year increase in taxes and forecasts a deficit of $178.6 billion.

Speaking on ABC's "This Week With David Brinkley" Sunday, Regan said, "This most recent budget exercise of the Congress is a joke as far as attacking those deficits in the out years."

Senate-House negotiators will meet this week to try to draft a compromise budget resolution acceptable in both chambers — a task some consider impossible.

They must reconcile a House-passed resolution calling for a small increase in defense spending and a $30 billion jump in taxes with the Senate's slightly higher defense spending and much lower tax increase.

Dirty Tricks Feared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic officials charge Republicans are hoping to sabotage the Democrats' Memorial Day telethon by having GOP regulars jam telephone lines with calls of support for President Reagan.

Democratic officials Sunday released copies of a May 18 cable signed by Republican National Committee Chairman Frank Fahrenkopf to the party faithful urging calls to the Democratic fund-raising event in support of President Reagan.

Democratic Chairman Charles Mathias told The Washington Post the Fahrenkopf cable is a "dirty tricks" plan to "sabotage" the May 28-29 telethon by jamming the telephone lines.

GOP spokesmen could not be reached for immediate comment.

Saga Of Landmark's Construction Recalled

The Brooklyn Bridge Is 100 Years Old

NEW YORK (UPI) — From the first, the Brooklyn Bridge was more than just a dry way to cross the New York City's East River.

It was an engineering marvel, as daring as this century's space shots, an inspiration to artists and a symbol of man's ability to conquer just about whatever he set his mind to.

The bridge's monumental towers and web of steel cables and catenary curve have been painted by artists ranging from Joseph Stella to Georgia O'Keefe, photographed and printed.

"Great God, the only bridge of power, life and joy... a cry and ecstasy — that was America," wrote Thomas Wolfe of the bridge in 1935. He is but one of many of the famous in literature, art and architecture who have sung praise to its majesty.

On May 24, 1883, President Chester Arthur led the symbolic first crossing between the sister cities of Manhattan and Brooklyn, waving his beaver hat to cheering crowds and thousands on a city of boats beneath what was then simply The Great Bridge.

The hoopla of the bridge's 100th centennial birthday party promises to outshine what was at the time the largest celebration in city history.

Already, a costumed troupe has recreated the original crossing, pop artist Andy Warhol has unveiled a script of the bridge, an American composer has written a memorial piece, and actors in the Broadway revival of Arthur Miller's "A View From the Bridge" have eaten a Brooklyn Bridge molded from chopped liver.

A commemorative stamp is to be released May 17, and street sports competitions for youths, called the "centennial challenge," will be held throughout the summer. Even Miss Piggy donated her talent to publicize the coming fete.

On May 24, the city will erupt again in an explosion of parades, street fairs, fireworks and parties.

More than 18,000 marchers, vintage horse-drawn vehicles, bands and city and state officials will march from Brooklyn Borough Hall to Manhattan, recreating — in reverse — the 1883 walk.

A fleet of ships will sail up the East River. As soon as the skies darken, a sound and light show entitled "The Eighth Wonder" will be viewed by paying partygoers on both sides of the bridge and broadcast to the public over a local radio station. The sound and light show will run nightly through October 10.

The climax of the May 24 celebration will be the largest pyrotechnic display ever to burst in New York City — 10,000 "bombs" will rain on the bridge in half an hour.

In a personal fete, actor Paul Roebling, great-grandson of Washington Roebling, builder of the bridge, has rented a spot in the shadow of his ancestors' monument and invited 150 Roeblings to a daylong party.

"We're going into the River Cafe at noon and we're not coming out until midnight and we're going to make fools out of ourselves," Roebling said in an interview.

For a century, poets and writers have tried to capture the magic of the bridge.

"Unto us lowliest sometime sweep, descend and of thy curvehead lend a myth to God," wrote Hart Crane, so taken by the bridge he moved into Roebling's former Brooklyn home.

Talk of a bridge over the East River began as early as 1800.

Residents of Brooklyn crossed the river in ferries and were stranded in storms or when ice choked the waterway.

Legend has it that John Roebling conceived the bridge in 1853, when he and his son, Washington Roebling, were stranded on a ferry in East River ice. In 1867 state legislators approved his plan.

John Roebling vowed it would "not only be the greatest bridge in existence, but it will be the greatest engineering work of the continent, and of the age."

Tragedy dogged the construction. John Roebling died after a freak accident before ground was broken. Between 20 and 40 workers perished before the span was completed.

Colonel Washington Roebling, a Civil War hero, was stricken by caisson disease — the bends — and spent most of the 14 years of construction in a sickbed while his wife, Emily, penned his dictated instructions.

Construction took nearly three times as long as John Roebling had estimated, and cost more than twice as much — about $15 million.

At its completion, the towers dominated the skyline at 276 feet — matched only by the steeple of Trinity Church. It was the first bridge of steel, "the metal of the future." And the longest — an unimaginable 5,989 feet.

A more recent death on the bridge resulted in a survey of the bridge's condition.

When a diagonal stay snapped, killing a Japanese photographer in 1981, the subsequent probe found the stay snapped because of poor maintenance. One top official said pigeon droppings were in part to blame for corrosion.

The city promised to spend $100 million over the next decade in making the necessary repairs to "The Great Bridge," a national landmark since 1984.

Suspected Child Abduction Attempt Probed

Seminole County sheriff's deputies are continuing their investigation of an apparent abduction attempt at Rock Lake Middle School in Longwood.

Shortly after noon Thursday, a woman approached the school's receptionist and told her she was there to pick up her daughter. She identified herself as the mother of a 14-year-old pupil at the school.

According to police, the receptionist told the woman she would have to wait several minutes because the girl was taking a quiz.

The woman said she would wait, but after a few minutes she left, the receptionist said.

It was then discovered that the woman is not the girl's mother.

The incident took on added significance following a similar incident at a west Orlando day-care center last week in which an unidentified woman picked up a 23-month-old girl who was later found dead.

A woman claiming to be an aunt picked up Erica Nicole Johnson Tuesday at the Mount Sinai Seventh-day Adventist Church at 2600 Orange Center Blvd.

The child's body was found the next day near the day-care center.

Employees of the Semoran Animal Hospital, 2275 N. Semoran Blvd., said the man entered through the front door with a white canvas bag over his right arm and light green T-shirt over his face.

"This is a robbery," he said. "Is the doctor here?" He then asked for all the money and the employees' wallets. Police reports said the employees asked if they could give their money and keep their wallets and the robber agreed.

He asked Dr. George Carlton for valium but Dr. Carlton said the hospital didn't stock valium.

The robber then told employees to get in the bathroom and asked for the keys to "the pink Lincoln" which was parked outside.

The car belonged to receptionist Judy S. Roberson, 30, who gave him the keys.

The car was located a few minutes later south of the hospital.

—Koert William Knights, 22, of 270 2 Moree Loop, Winter Springs, was arrested at 4:45 a.m. at Howell Branch Road in front of the Stratford Apartments. Police said Knights was apparently driving out of the apartment complex and knocked down a traffic barrier before driving into a ditch. Police said Knights woke up a few minutes later and attempted to drive off but police removed the ignition key.

...County Faces Capital Improvements

than expected. According to its contract with Hospital Corporation of America, the firm that built the new hospital, the county would be paid $500,000 for the building if it failed to sell it any other way. They thought it was worth more.

Meanwhile, the public defender had filed suit for more space, and judges and the state's attorney were threatening the same.

The commission then voted 3-2 to move its offices into the old hospital and relinquish the courthouse to the judiciary.

After the board approved the move in concept, it asked an architect to come back with a renovation plan and estimate of costs.

Mrs. Glenn said the commission felt the renovation could be completed for about $750,000. And, she said, they thought that money would come from a space fund with $1.5 million in it. The fund, however, had dwindled because the county obligated $500,000 to purchase land at Five Points for future jail expansion, and set aside money for the public defender's move to the courthouse annex and other space moves.

The architect for the old hospital renovation then came back with a $3.1 million renovation plan.

When the county heard the price tag would be that high at a work session March 21, County Administrator T. Duncan Rose III said they started to talk about building a new facility more centrally located.

"That's when I told them: Look guys, you don't have the money to build a new building and probably can't afford this renovation," Rose said. "Nobody had taken a look at the multi-year financial picture."

The commission then directed staff to go back to the architects and asked them to submit a cheaper proposal. They did. It came back as a $2.2 million plan.

The board was at a disadvantage, Anderson said, because it got cost information in bits and pieces.

Mrs. Glenn said: "If there was any one decision we didn't hear down enough on as a board it would be voting to buy that piece of property at Five Points."

It's possible, Mrs. Glenn said, to go back to the hospital renovation architects and tell them to spend less. Or, to spread the renovation over several years instead of doing it all at once.

But Rose said $2 million is "probably as low as we can go and still have a habitable building." Part of it, he said, will have to be a start.

Then there's the matter of the fire station near Lake

Mary. "Do we include that this year?" Mrs. Glenn asked. "Sure, we've got options. We have to make major decisions as a board concerning what capital improvements we can afford."

Rose said he presented the six options for saving or raising money for the board approach "cafeteria style."

In addition to a tax increase, these include:
— Financing capital expansion by bond issue. This would save $3.8 million initially but have the disadvantage of costing in interest payments later.
— Lease purchase of rolling stock. This would save $161,000, but also incur interest payments.
— Eliminate non-personnel county programs. These include such programs as acquisition of land for drainage and the board's contributions to various public service and charity organizations. The board contributed $114,000 to such groups this year.
— Use a health trust fund for Medicaid and indigent care expenses with savings estimated at $2.4 million.
— Reduce personnel costs. Rose sees three ways of doing this. Fund only part of the worker year initially, save $1.4 million. Eliminate 134-200 positions salaried at $14,000 to $21,000 per year. Freeze cost of living and merit increases with a potential saving of up to $1.4 million.

Mrs. Glenn said there is no way she would vote to eliminate 134 to 200 positions, however.

Rose said he also asked the commissioners to present any additional options they may have.

When asked what they would personally recommend, Rose said "a tax hike up to 5 percent."

Mrs. Glenn said: "No tax increase."
Rose said he would also delve into the capital replacement account and look for alternatives.

"I'd pull $1.5 million out of that," he said. "And run that equipment into the ground. It's not prudent management, but survival management."

He explained that the equipment would still have to be replaced. It's not solving a problem, he said, but delaying it.

Mrs. Glenn agreed the tactic is a viable alternative. Before, she said, equipment was replaced when it was scheduled to be replaced by certain standards.

"It's time to look at those standards," she said.

The commission's next work session on the budget is scheduled for May 31.

Rose will be asking for some direction on which way to proceed.

Mrs. Glenn said they'll be giving it to him.

Nicaraguan Rebels May Oust Sandanistas

NEW YORK (UPI) — CIA Director William Casey and an assistant secretary of state told Congress that American-supported Nicaraguan rebels may topple the Sandinista government in Managua this year, it was reported today.

The New York Times, quoting unidentified congressional and administration sources, said Casey and Thomas Enders made their predictions in closed-session testimony to congressional committees in recent weeks.

The Times quoted members of Congress as saying the rebels, originally armed by the United States with the intention of cutting off arms deliveries to Salvadoran rebels, are planning to step up fighting against the leftist regime in Managua this summer.

The fighting was expected to culminate in a two-pronged drive on the capital late this year, closing in on Managua in a pincer move supported by the population, the Times quoted the members of Congress as saying.

"We were told there are about 7,000 rebels and their numbers are growing," the Times quoted a Republican member of the Senate Intelligence Committee as saying.

"The scenario they presented has the rebels picking up more and more popular support, which will produce desertions in the Nicaraguan military, all setting the stage for a drive on Managua that forces the government out of power."

"They think it can work," the senator was quoted as saying.

The alleged statements of the two senior officials appeared to undermine the administration's assertions that the rebels were cutting off arms shipments to El Salvador and supported the contention that the guerrillas aimed to topple the Managua government, the Times quoted the members of Congress as saying.

The Sandinista government, installed in 1979 following a bloody civil war against right-wing dictator Anastasio Somoza, has been receiving large shipments of arms from the Soviet Union, the administration charges.

IN BRIEF

Shark Scare Closes Beach For Third Day

SURFSIDE (UPI) — Another sighting of a hammerhead shark off popular Haulover Beach forced closing of the park for the third straight day.

Thousands of beachgoers were ordered out of the water 2 1/2 hours early Sunday by a confirmed sighting. On Saturday, 22-year-old John Popper of North Miami was attacked by a hammerhead 20 to 30 yards off the beach. The beach was closed minutes later. The beach was closed early today while lifeguards combed the waters to make sure the shark was gone.

Popper suffered a gash reaching from his heel to his toe, requiring surgery to repair the tendons.

There were no attacks Sunday and no shark sightings until late afternoon when an unnamed swimmer spotted a hammerhead near the same area and alerted lifeguards.

Life Guard Capt. Marcus Breece said there was no way to tell if it was the same shark as the one which attacked Popper, but it was about the same size.

Shark sightings off Haulover are not unusual and the recent ones may have been of the same shark, Breece said.

Treasure Finders Keepers

NAPLES (UPI) — A new court battle over sunken Spanish treasure is brewing over a find just off the coast of Collier County.

Despite an earlier federal court ruling against the state of Florida in another case, it is claiming control over loot that treasure salvor Bill Austin claims is his.

Austin discovered what he believes are the remains of a 17th Century Spanish wreck by following the leads of beach goers, who for years had come across gold coins and ceramic plates along the beach at Wiggins State Park.

But his dream could turn into a nightmare of fighting with state and federal authorities to retain possession of the wreck and get permission to sift through the sands to see what lies beneath.

A similar discovery, of the galleon Nuestra Senora de Atoclia off the Florida Keys, cost the salvors much of their find in the legal fees needed to keep possession of it.

Devil Mascot Protested

WINTER GARDEN (UPI) — Two parents say the Lakeview Junior High School mascot might be a "cute little devil" to some people but it promotes Satan worship.

Edward and Janet Strimel said Sunday they will protest the "Red Devil" mascot to the Orange County School Board on Tuesday on grounds its use is a violation of separation of church and state.

"The promoting of him (Satan) is just as much a religion as promoting Jesus Christ," said Strimel.

Other parents already have complained about the school's mascot. Last year one parent had her daughter taken off the cheerleading squad because she did not want her cheering for the devil.

Experimental Drug May Be Used To Curb Libido Of Most Sex Offenders

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI) — More research is needed, but a Florida corrections official predicts that within five years drugs may be used to prevent rapists from committing their crimes again.

The drug in question is Depo-Provera, which is derived from the female hormone progesterone. Researchers believe the drug can halt the sexual drive of some male sex offenders.

Dr. David Taubel, director of psychiatric services for the Florida Department of Corrections, said the hormone injections may be in use by the late 1980s to curb the sex drive of sex offenders.

"It is still an experimental treatment, but the potential application is really great" in cases of rape, incest and child molesting, he said.

Under tentative plans, offenders would be given the choice of prison or the injections.

Taubel said Florida officials are keeping a close watch on a program in Maryland, where the drug is being used.

About 70 men with sexual disorders are taking the drug at an out-patient clinic at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore. The drug has a "tranquilizing effect" on the part of the brain where obsessive sexual fantasies originate, said Dr. John Money, a researcher at Johns Hopkins.

Only five of the 70 subjects — all of whom either suffered a disruption in normal relations with their wives or were sexually attracted to boys because of sexual fantasies — have had relapses of their sexual disturbances, said Money.

Another two dozen men, sex offenders serving time in a maximum security prison in Baltimore, also are receiving the drug. Money, who pioneered use of the drug to treat men's disorders more than 15 years ago with Dr. Fred Berlin, said all of the prisoners have discovered the drug relieves obsessive sexual fantasies.

Berlin admitted that none of the inmates have left prison for the outside world where the behavior would face fewer controls.

As for side effects, Berlin said preliminary research shows that the drug apparently affects the part of the brain that controls a man's appetite. Men who have taken the drug seem to eat and sleep more than normal.

Seminole Chamber Hunts New Manager

The Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce in Altamonte Springs has a new president and is looking for a new manager.

Jim Stellings, chamber president-elect, has taken over the presidency early because president, Clyde Rice, resigned because of pressing personal business.

And, according to chamber founder Helen Keyser, manager Harvey Hutchinson has resigned.

Hutchinson said there was no special reason for his resignation and that he does not as yet have plans for his future employment.

Mrs. Keyser said the chamber has begun the search for a new manager.

Don't Blunt The Lance...

The Simpson-Mazzoli immigration reform bill is between the devil and the deep blue sea.

On the one hand, this important legislation may fail to gain enough congressional support for enactment if it displeases too many of the special interest groups concerned about immigration law. But if the authors give too much ground in trying to placate the critics, the bill will become an empty suit of armor, a reform measure in name only.

Last year it was the first pitfall that caught the bill. The Senate passed a bill that contained provisions offensive to several powerful lobbies, and the measure remained stalled in the House when the 97th Congress adjourned in December. Now, there is reason to worry that efforts to overcome resistance to the bill will leave it emasculated.

There is no better example than what happened in the House Judiciary Committee early this month to the bill's provision for sanctions against employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens. Last year's bill would have threatened employers with a fine or jail term if they hired illegals without making a good faith effort to verify their eligibility to work. Such a provision is not unreasonable if we expect to turn off the magnet of jobs drawing illegals into the country.

The Judiciary Committee amended the bill to threaten an employer with sanctions only after an undocumented worker has been found on his payroll. Once such a finding has been made, the employer would be required to verify the status of future job applicants, and would be subject to a fine or jail if the Immigration and Naturalization Service found illegals on the payroll on a subsequent visit. Inasmuch as the INS is unlikely to check more than 1 percent of employers each year, this gives employers a good chance of getting away with violations for a long, long time.

The committee also amended a previous requirement that the president develop a counterfeiting-proof identification system within three years to be used in verifying the status of job-seekers. The new version only requires the president to report in three years on whether any new identification documents are needed to carry out the purposes of the law.

Amendments which blunt the lance of a new law do no favor to those who are trying to get it passed. Sen. Alan K. Simpson of Wyoming and Rep. Romano L. Mazzoli of Kentucky will have to dig in to protect their bill from assault if they expect to have their names attached to a final version worthy of sending to the White House. The fact that Simpson is a Republican and Mazzoli a Democrat gives their measure a bipartisan aura, but immigration reform is an issue that has scattered members of both parties all over the ballpark.

Our immigration laws are a joke. Illegal aliens are subject to exploitation by smugglers and sweatshop employers, and an undeterminable number of U.S. citizens are being squeezed out of jobs by the existence of an illicit labor pool. The Environmental Fund estimates that if there are 4 million illegal aliens in the United States, and only one-third of them are holding jobs that U.S. workers would otherwise fill, the taxpayers are paying $8.4 billion in welfare and unemployment benefits to Americans displaced from jobs.

Immigration is a national issue. It calls for an effective national policy. We are trying to manage extraordinary pressures on our borders with laws that are antiquated and ineffective. That is what should concern members of Congress. The Simpson-Mazzoli bill not only should be enacted this year, but in a form that will restore credibility to our borders and to the privilege of living and working in the United States as a prospective citizen.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Maybe if I ran our UN mission like the David Letterman Show I'd be more popular on college campuses..."

While Democratic Party big-wigs have been complaining about the lack of cooperation among former Florida Gov. Reubin Askew's campaign aides in his bid for the presidency, Sanford's Bob Daehn, who worked in both of Askew's gubernatorial campaigns is coming to the defense of his old friend.

Daehn says Askew has never felt too kindly toward Sanford and Seminole County. It seems, Daehn said, that Askew never did well with the voters of the county and campaign money from this area was sparse.

"We never got the support of the regular Democratic Party," who switched to then-Attorney General Earl Faircloth in Askew's first try for the governor's mansion, Daehn notes. Nevertheless Askew was successful, becoming the first governor in modern times to serve two consecutive terms in office.

Politicians have long memories.

Some local party members have been complaining that while aides of ex-Vice President Walter Mondale and U.S. Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, are organizing in Seminole, Askew is being invited, but his aides aren't responding to telephone calls.

State Rep. Art Grindle, R-Altamonte Springs, is one of 10 members of the Florida House who have been appointed to the GOP state executive committee. Ron Richmond, R-Holiday, the House minority leader, announced the appointment.

Grindle is sponsoring Jeff Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Anderson, 670 Devonshire Blvd., Longwood, as a House messenger in the state House of Representatives next week.

Jeff is an 11th grader at Lake Mary High School and is on the school's swim team. When he is not attending school, Anderson works at Captain Fantastic.

Lake Mary Mayor Walter Sorenson handed out a flock of honorary citizenships of Lake Mary at the celebration last weekend of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce's 60th birthday. Among those given the honorary citizenships were Longwood Mayor June Lormann and Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore, as well as County Commissioners Sandra Glenn, Bob Sturm, Barbara Christensen and Robert G. "Bud" Feather, and U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum and state Rep. Grindle, who served as master of ceremonies.

After giving the documents to the chosen ones, Sorenson said now the group can legitimately be added to the city's tax roll. Incidentally, McCollum has lost some weight, making him look younger than ever.

And there was no doubt he was popular with the crowd attending the festivities of the day.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN Back To The Sixties?

Where are the liberals who profess to set great store by the First Amendment, the free speech amendment?

They certainly aren't at the University of California at Berkeley, at Smith College in Massachusetts or Barnard College in New York City? At these institutions U.N. Ambassador Jean Kirkpatrick was either shouted down or told that her free speech or security could not be assured. Faculty joined with obstreperous students in opposing a talk by one of the most senior U.S. officials.

You might rightly say: Shades of the 1960s! Yes, there are disturbing signs that leftists on college campuses — on college faculties — plan a return to the political guerrilla warfare which threatened so many institutions during the Vietnam War. Having got away with it recently at Berkeley, Smith and Barnard, it is very likely that the radicals will extend their campaigns to other campuses.

They have a good chance of doing this because many university administrations are either spineless or sympathize with the radicalized faculty members and students. Many University officials are specialists at a kind of political blather that seeks to make vicious militants appear as defenders of democratic values. This was the case at Smith College where many a wealthy daddy spends thousands of dollars to have his daughter educated. How many of these daddies know what kind of political education their daughters are receiving, what kind of hypocrisy they are learning?

Many a university official and radicalized professor would hit the ceiling if a college allowed Andrew Young or a socialist theorist to be shouted down or denied protection. These same types readily find excuses for denying free speech to a leading official of our democratically elected government.

Thus we see the double standard in action. These are the types in the academic world that want American companies to disinvest in South Africa while establishing a dialogue with Nicaragua's Marxist regime.

The unpleasant fact is that many of the sixties radicals are now entrenched in university faculties. Indeed many avowed Marxists are faculty members at leading institutions. In Florida, a university education faculty at Tampa recently sponsored a 100th anniversary commemoration of the death of Karl Marx.

These facts suggest that the U.S. is in for a new burst of radical protest on college campuses, especially as we move towards the 1984 presidential election. The radicals apparently have the idea that the campuses provide a useful staging zone for political war against President Reagan, precisely as they warred against a democratic government in Vietnam from the privileged sanctuary of the campus in the 1960s.

Responsible citizens should be alert to trouble ahead.

JACK ANDERSON

Synfuels Gets Fat At Public Trough

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Synfuels Corp. is one of the biggest government boondoggles of all time. Created in 1980 to encourage the search for alternatives to fossil fuels, it is funded by the taxpayers but without the restrictions that apply to other public agencies.

Synfuels was given $15 billion to spend. The American people will be lucky if they get a nickel's worth of return on their investment.

In a sinfully unrestrained orgy of spending, Synfuels officials have lavished money on themselves in huge salaries, outrageously generous fringe benefits and luxurious quarters that would shame a sheik. My associates John Dillon and Corky Johnson found these examples of the way they've been slurping at the public trough:

— Salaries: A $40,000 consultant's report ordered by the corporation's big shots in 1981 recommended that top salaries be increased to a high of $190,000 a year. Since Synfuels is exempt from federal control of pay

JEFFREY HART

The Post Has A Problem

Columnist and investigative journalist Jack Anderson is on to a major story, and it does not matter as far as this story is concerned whether in the end Teddy Kennedy and eight others turn out to have purchased cocaine from a Capitol Hill drug ring. The major story is not even Kennedy himself, but the way the Washington media establishment and the Washington bureaucratic establishment closed ranks around him to protect him.

Most of the congressmen and former congressmen named in the probe are liberal Democrats, but Kennedy is the free fish in the media, and he and the rest who have been the beneficiaries of a slug-paced investigative process in Reagan's Justice Department and in the House Ethics Committee.

During the Watergate furor, virtually any rumor at all about Richard Nixon and his associates hit the front page of the Washington Post and got the full treatment on the evening TV news. But when Jack Anderson sent out a syndicated column recently reporting that nine members and former members of Congress had been identified in testimony before a federal grand jury and the House Ethics Committee as having purchased cocaine from a Capitol Hill drug ring, the Washington Post spiked his column. This is weird enough, since the column appeared elsewhere across the country, and Anderson was able to reply devastatingly to the Post in a subsequent column. Where are all those Washington Post "investigative reporters"? Where have all the flowers gone? Where are the snobs of yesteryear? But more was to follow.

Joe Callano, former head of HEW under Carter and the ultimate Washington establishmentarian, is running the House Ethics Committee "investigation," and he immediately issued a statement to the effect that nowhere in his files could he find any evidence against Senator Kennedy.

Deliciously, Anderson was able to tell Callano, in print, just where in his files the evidence is: "I am happy to tell Callano, since he may have been too busy to check the voluntuous files personally, where he can find the testimony against Kennedy. Look up Detective Michael Hubbard's sworn statements before an Ethics Committee session on November 30, 1982."

The Justice Department got caught in this sort of mouse-trap play too. It responded to Anderson's first column by announcing that it had nothing in its files that would implicate Kennedy. Jack Anderson struck back: "I can assist the Justice Department, too, since its file clerks seem to have overlooked the relevant transcripts. Check Hubbard's secret testimony before the grand jury on Jan. 12, 1983."

So far, no one has been indicted, let alone convicted in this matter, but the charges appear to be far from frivolous. They rest on the testimony of detective Hubbard, who had infiltrated the drug ring, and on the corroborative statements of three or more informants.

The major names involved, the scandalously slow pace of the investigation, the grand jury hearings — why is all this not front-page stuff? Why was Anderson's column actually spiked by the Post? Several reasons in my opinion.

First of all, most of the editors and reporters at a place like the Washington Post or CBS are much more enthusiastic about savaging Nixonians or Reaganites than the likes of Teddy Kennedy. They agree with Kennedy on most issues of substance, Kennedy, for all his failings, is a pillar of the liberal establishment, and the establishment protects its own. And, of course, whatever he may be guilty of, Kennedy will be around for quite a while yet.

But whatever you think of cocaine, if the charges prove true, laws have certainly been broken and the skeletons are bound to come trooping out of the closet. Even liberal establishmentarians are certain to reflect that the closer this whole thing gets to the 1984 election, the worse for the Democrats.

It does not seem likely that it can be swept under the rug. But, again, Mr. Kennedy has had some practice at doing exactly that.

ROBERT WALTERS Who's Not Paying?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Ascertaining the truth in the acrimonious dispute over withholding federal taxes from interest and dividend payments is a difficult task because protagonists on both sides have played fast and loose with the facts.

Although neither side can be trusted to provide an impartial presentation of the issues involved, the relevant statistics compiled by the Treasury Department offer the best opportunity to fairly assess the situation.

An objective analysis of that data leads to an inescapable conclusion: The federal government is indeed being deprived of billions of dollars worth of taxes annually by people who fail to report interest and dividend income — but much of that tax evasion is not logically ascribable to those who would bear most of the burden under the withholding proposal.

According to the Treasury Department's own figures, more than half of the $24.5 billion in interest and dividend income not reported to the Internal Revenue Service each year is earned on extraordinarily large investments which only the wealthiest individuals can afford.

Indeed, Treasury Department officials are convinced that a substantial number of sophisticated investors are attracted to various categories of arcane high-denomination instruments precisely because there is no federal requirement for interest and dividend reporting by the source of those funds.

The knowledge that income has been reported at the source to the IRS goes a long way toward making most taxpayers honest — and requiring reporting at the source is far less expensive for the government than withholding.

Among the investments for which such reports have not been required, however, are jumbo certificates of deposit with a face value of $100,000 or more as well as original issue discount bonds, corporate bearer bonds and other forms of so-called "corporate paper" — all investments generally suitable only for individuals with six-figure annual incomes.

Also in that category are Treasury bills, bonds and notes, regularly issued in denominations ranging from $10,000 to $100,000 — not a likely investment for a typical family with about $25,000 in yearly income.

Of the $24.5 billion in unreported interest and dividend income, the Treasury Department estimates that $7 billion was attributable to those "interest payments on bearer obligations and on most federal obligations."

Another $6.5 billion was attributable to dividends on securities. Again, securities industry surveys conclusively demonstrate that while many people own modest amounts of stock, the vast majority of all outstanding shares is held by a very wealthy and very small group of individuals and institutions.

Deducting the estimated value of the two categories of investments preferred by the rich leaves $11 billion worth of unreported interest and dividend income which presumably is earned by individuals of more modest means.

scales, the recommendations are being implemented with gusto.

Eight Synfuels officials earn more than Cabinet secretaries. Five others are paid at the $69,000 Cabinet level. Fifty-five of the agency's 177 employees make more than $50,000.

Synfuels President Victor Schroeder is paid $135,000 a year. His wife, Kathryn, earns $45,000 a year as a special assistant to the corporation's chairman. One vice president, Leonard Axelrod, makes $108,000. Two others recently got raises that put their wages above $70,000 a year. One well-paid executive is Ed Cox, who married former President Nixon's daughter Tricia. As general counsel and secretary, he earns $76,000 a year.

— Fringe Benefits: All Synfuels employees are allowed to sock six percent of their salaries away in a savings-retirement plan — with the government contributing 50 percent more. The corporation also pays the full cost of medical and dental insurance — unheard of in other government agencies.

— Luxurious accommodations: Synfuels headquarters is ensconced in four floors of prime office space in downtown Washington. The building is equipped with sauna baths, squash and racquetball courts and leases space for $30 a square foot — 50 percent higher than less elegant offices leased by the General Services Administration for other agencies. Synfuels officials signed a five-year, $10 million lease.

To achieve the appropriate degree of splendor, the Synfuels sheiks spent $522,919 refurbishing their headquarters. The costs included $14,661 for the services of an interior decorator, $374,739 for furniture and $83,260 for carpeting in the executive suites.

— Consultants: Though clearly top-heavy with well-paid professionals, Synfuels still felt the need of outside help and hired 13 consultants at fees ranging up to $600 a day. Two of these experts were hired at a cost of $35,000 to "develop an organizational framework and interim operating capacity for the Office of Inspector General." They never turned in a report, but were themselves hired to work in the IG's office.

— Conflict of interest: Several Synfuels executives have substantial stock holdings in energy companies or affiliates that have applied for grants from the corporation. And an engineering firm that owns stock in the company of a board member, Milton Masson, has offered to provide advice for those seeking Synfuels money.

Footnote: A Synfuels spokesman referred inquiries on salaries to a "compensation committee" report prepared for the Synfuels board. That report noted "special factors," including the "need to be competitive" with wages offered by the private sector, which justified the high salaries.

Lake Mary Defense Subdues Offense, Yentz Dominates Oviedo's Scrimmage

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

For one period Saturday night, Ray Hartsfield scrambled like Fran Tarkenton, Charlie Lucarelli scampered like Gale Sayers and Scott Underwood bulldozed like Larry Csonka.

Then Lake Mary coach Harry Nelson pulled the second-team defense.

"This was just showbiz tonight," said "Harry the Ram," returning to the sidelines for the first time in five years. "We let everybody play and have a good time. Next Friday (at the Lake Brantley Jamboree), we'll see if we're any good."

Operating against the second stringers, the Ram offense looked awesome. It scored all four times it handled the ball. Lucarelli, a sophomore wingback, zipped 61 yards on a counter play for the first score, outrunning several tacklers who had an angle on him.

On the next possession, freshman QB Hartsfield moved the Rams into scoring position with several nice scrambles while Underwood added 20 in two carries to set the stage for Neal Wellon. The junior running back motored in from four yards out.

TD no. 3 was one of the best of the night. Hartsfield rolled to his right and spotted sophomore Donald Grayson at the 25. Hartsfield's pass was high, but Grayson tipped it in the air, controlled it with a huge paw, and bowled over a couple would-be tacklers en route to the end zone.

Hartsfield, the top junior varsity running back last year, went coast-to-coast and more for the last score. Pinned in on the right sideline, the shifty frosh circled back the other way and scooted 59 yards for the touchdown.

As the public address man said, "He ran 150 yards for that touchdown."

After Lake Mary's first-team defense finished mauling the second-team offense, Nelson brought his two best teams to center stage for the showdown.

Lucarelli goes for 2. Wellon loses 5. Pass interference, first down at the defense's 40. Underwood gains 4.

Spring Football

"Well, if they don't get me (fired) next year, there's going to be a new tiger in the woods."

— Harry Nelson.

Grayson gains 1. Hartsfield incomplete. Hartsfield incomplete. Underwood muscles for 28. And that was pretty much the extent of the big matchup — all defense except for Underwood's quick move over the middle on a trap play.

"Underwood has more speed than people think," said Nelson about the former National Punt, Pass & Kick champion. "He's going to have to be our bread-and-butter man."

Nelson wasn't particularly distressed that his offense was subdued. "The offensive line is always the last thing to come," he said. "We got two pretty good linebackers there in (Bill) Caughell and (Jeff) Hopkins. That may have been the reason."

Caughell, a sophomore, and Hopkins, a junior, were intimidating. Both were wearing no. 64, so it was hard at times to discern between the two, but usually there were two 64s around the ball. Caughell turned in six solos and assisted on two more for both quarters. Hopkins had five and two. Sophomore Darren Washington and Ken Nitro each turned in sacks.

"Our seniors showed a lot of leadership. (Ned) Kolbjornsen, Hopkins and (Reggie) Anderson are all good citizens," said Nelson. "Our intensity was there but we're certainly not polished. But these kids want to improve and they will."

And Hartsfield looks like a real comer at quarterback. "He held up real well for his first time out," said Nelson. "He's kind of short (5-6), so he's got to get outside to throw the ball. But he's only a freshman and he's never played quarterback before."

Well, Harry, when will it be the "Year of the Ram?" "Well, if they don't get me (fired) next year, there's going to be a new tiger in the woods," said Nelson.

While "Harry the Ram" is busy putting a new tiger in the county football forest, Oviedo coach Jack Blanton has his Lions ready to roar again.

Oviedo finished the season with seven straight wins last year, and although it lost all of its offensive line, Oviedo has more running backs than Seminole High School, which is quite a few.

Barry Williams, J.W. Yarborough, Andrew Smith and Clarence Stover all accounted for touchdowns Saturday night when the Lions held their annual Black & Orange intrasquad game.

Junior Yarborough (150/12) and freshman Andrew Smith (80/10) rushed for a combined 230 yards as the Black built up a 23-0 lead and then coasted to a 30-14 victory over the Orange.

Although the backs are plentiful, the loudest roar came from junior nose guard Kevin Yentz. "He's strong like a gorilla," said Blanton about his 5-11, 200-pound muscleman. "We sit him out of most of our practices because nobody can handle him, but we had to let him play Saturday."

Yentz made things difficult for quarterback Charles "Pop" Bowers, who like Lake Mary's Hartsfield, is making the tough transition to quarterback. One of the top sophomore runners in the area last year, Bowers put things together in the third quarter when the Orange scored its two TDs. Clarence Stover hurtled in from four yards out for one, and Williams blitzed in from 20 away for the other. Freshman Dave Wood kicked both extra points.

"Pop settled down during the latter part of the game," said Blanton. "He was just rushing himself. Once he stopped doing that, he did all right."

The Black, nevertheless, rushed to a quick lead as Brian Smith, the junior varsity quarterback last year, slipped in from 11 yards out. Andrew Smith bolted in from 20 and Rob Moody kicked the PAT for a 13-0 lead. Yarborough broke one for 75 yards and Yentz forced a safety for the other 10 points.

"Andrew Smith is electrifying," said Blanton. "He just has something about him. It's exciting every time he touches the ball. But with Barry Williams in front of him, I don't know how much he'll carry the ball."

Smith, who rambled for over 300 yards in a frosh game last year, will probably start at safety, though. He will also spell Williams at tailback and see some work at flanker along with his kick return duties.

Junior Howard Lingard had a good night catching the ball (3/40). He also had a 50-yarder called back by a motion penalty. Offensive linemen Scott Inaner, Mark Hoffman and Yentz threw the key blocks. Blanton also singled out end Larry Grayson, halfback Ed Norton (a transfer from Lake Howell), end Willie Wiggs and Jerry Rafferty for their defensive work.

Andrew Smith tossed a halfback pass to Chuck Johnson for 21 yards and a touchdown for the final Black score.

"We only have two returning offensively (Yarborough and Williams) and our defense will start eight sophomores and juniors," said Blanton. "We do have talent, though. I hope we have enough to overcome our inexperience."

The Lions will play in Friday's Jamboree at Lake Brantley. Oviedo takes on DeLand in the second quarter and the host Patriots in the third quarter. Lake Mary and DeLand start the jamboree at 7:30 p.m. The Rams come back against Lake Howell in the fourth quarter before the Hawks and the Patriots conclude the festivities in the fifth quarter. Admission is $2.

Lawrence For 6

Tim Lawrence takes a handoff from Mike Futrell and veers off tackle for one of his two touchdowns in the Seminole White & Orange intrasquad game last Thursday. Futrell and Lawrence helped the White to an easy 34-8 victory. On Thursday the Seminoles play Lyman in the Apopka Jamboree at 7:30 p.m. The two squads will play a half in their final spring football fling.

Moose, KOC Fight For 1st Tonight

After finishing among the also-rans in the first half, Moose and Knights of Columbus share the second half lead in the Sanford Junior League with 2-0 records.

But, after tonight, there will be only one team on top as Moose and KOC collide at 7:15 at Chase Park. First-half champ Rotary and Kiwanis, both 1-1 in the second half, play at 5 p.m.

Moose, which also has to play Kiwanis this week, will likely go with Terry "The Cat" Miller or David Goldstick on the mound tonight. After dropping his first two decisions, Miller stands at 4-2 while Goldstick is 5-1. KOC will probably counter with Leonard Lucas (1-3) or David Rape (3-0).

Offensively, KOC has a slight edge. Rape leads the league with a .684 average, while Lucas is hitting .429 and Alonzo Gainey .424. Miller leads Moose hitters with a .424 average, while Oscar Merthie is hitting .410.

Here is a look at the Junior League leaders going into this week's games:

Team batting: Rotary (R) .339; Knights of Columbus (KOC) .309; Moose (M) .287; Kiwanis (K) .254; Ball Motor Lines (BML) .164; Elks (E) .161.

In the race for the Little National League second half title, Sunnland has a one-game lead over Poppa Jay's with a 5-0 record. Poppa Jay's and Cardinal Industries are in a tie for second place with 4-1 records. Poppa Jay's is 13-1 overall with its only loss at the hands of Cardinal. Poppa Jay's won the first half title with a 9-0 record.

Poppa Jay's and Sunnland meet in a key game tonight at 7 p.m. at Fort Mellon Park. A Poppa Jay's win would tie them with Sunnland while a Sunnland win would give them a two-game lead over Poppa Jay's. Cardinal meets Disabled American Veterans (D.A.V.) in the first game at Fort Mellon Park while Railroaders meet First Federal at 5 p.m. at the Westside Field.

Flagship Bank leads the second half in the Little American League with a 5-0 record while Adcock Roofing and Famous Recipe are a game back with 4-1 records. Adcock Roofing won the first half title with a 7-1 record.

In a key game Tuesday, Flagship Bank meets Famous Recipe at 5 p.m. at Bay Avenue Field as Famous Recipe has a chance to gain a tie for first place while Flagship Bank can increase its second half lead. In other games, Adcock Roofing goes against Seminole Petroleum at Fort Mellon Park at 5 p.m., and Atlantic Bank clashes with Butch's Chevron at Westside Field also at 5 p.m.

There is currently a three-way tie for first place in the Sanford Pee Wee League as Clem Leonard Shell,

Charita: 19-6

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole High's Charita Medlock broke a meet record Saturday when she leaped 19-6 in the long jump at the State Heptathlon Championships at Merritt Island. Medlock's impressive effort is the second best in the state this year and ranks fifth in the nation. She also broke Tony Hardy's school record of 19-1. The old heptathlon standard was 19-5.

"Charita already had the meet won with an 18-7," said coach Emory Blake. "I just told her to go for all the marbles, and she did."

Medlock, a sophomore who won the regional long jump but had an off day at the state meet a week ago Friday, compiled 4,254 points in the seven-event meet (last year the girls did the pentathlon which is five events). She finished sixth overall and helped the Lady Tribe to a fourth place finish in the team standings with 11,943 points. Arlene Jones compiled 3,998 points and Crystal Caldwell finished with 3,665 points. Tampa King won the heptathlon with 12,895 points followed by Bradenton Northeast at 12,824 and Lyman was third at 12,695. Lake Howell finished eighth with 10,963 points and Lake Mary was 10th with 10,508 points.

Among individual finishers, Lyman's Schowonda Williams was fifth with 4,310 points. Williams turned in a 2:21.8 in the 880 which currently ranks second on the Seminole County Track Honor Roll. Anjanette Cleveland boosted the Lady Greyhounds as she racked up 4,262 points for seventh place individually and Lori Carroll finished in ninth place with 4,253.

Lake Mary's top girl was Fran "Flash" Gordon who finished with 3,808 points. Gordon also broke the school record with a 2:32.4 in the 880 and tied Kim Averill's sophomore class record in the 110 low hurdles with a 18.0. Annette Whack, only a freshman, turned in 3,603 points. Whack broke the school record in the 110 hurdles with a 17.9, broke a freshman record in the discus with a 86-9 1/2 and tied the school record in the high jump as she cleared 4-8. Averill also competed for the Lady Rams and finished with 3,097 points. The Lady Rams were 10th overall in the meet, but were the third best 3A team.

In the boys State Decathlon Championship, Seminole placed the best among county teams with 15,145 points, which was good for seventh place. Lake Mary finished ninth with 14,421 and Lyman was 12th at 12,685. Lake Mary also finished third among 3A teams in the decathlon.

Tampa Hillsborough repeated as state champion as it finished with 15,923 points followed by West Palm Beach Twin Lakes (18,515), Tampa King (16,325) and Titusville (15,870).

Although Seminole County didn't have a top ten finisher, boys coach Hank Daviero said Clifton Campbell finished 12th, and would have been in the top 10 if he had scored in the pole vault. Seminole does not have a pole vault pit at the school.

State Track

Campbell totaled 5,263 points while teammates Rendell Manley (5,028) and Willie Bass (4,858) were next in line. Some of Campbell's better events were the mile (5:02.0), 220 dash (23.1), 440 dash (50.9) and 800 (2:15.5). Campbell's best 440 of the year, 51.5, was a tenth of a second off the school record in the 100 with a time of 11.1 and a tenth of a second off the school record in the 220 with a 23.3. Also for the Rams, Mike Rouse finished with 5,132 points and Derek Turney finished with 4,034.

The next big meet on tap will be the Orlando Sentinel Golden South Classic which draw some of the best athletes from all over the United States. From the county, state champions Ken Cheeseman (mile), Carroll (high jump) and Williams (330 hurdles) will each get to show their best against some of the toughest competition available. Sanford's Medlock and Clifton Campbell (440 dash) will also compete in Saturday's meet which begins at 2 p.m. The Seminole boys mile relay team of Campbell, Torin Williams, Rendell Manley and Mike Wooten will also run. The Lady Seminoles quartet of Medlock, Traci Brown, Trina Walker and Sharon Jenkins will compete in the 440 relay while the foursome of Caldwell, Jenkins, Walker and Jackie Fort will participate in the mile relay.

Sixers Outbreak Lakers To Take Game 1

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The first checkered flag of the Indianapolis 500 in weeks has gone to the Philadelphia 76ers.

But while the 76ers won the battle of the fast breaks Sunday in taking a 113-107 victory over Los Angeles in the opening game of the NBA championship series, another key to their victory was slowing down the Lakers' running attack.

"They're a team that relies on easy baskets," said Julius Erving, who played a brilliant all-around game that included 20 points, 10 rebounds, nine assists and five blocked shots. "That's less pressure than when they have to set up. If we can limit them to perimeter shots, we'll be in pretty good shape."

"They ran a few times but we were rebounding well," added Clint Richardson, who provided a spark off the bench with 15 points and four steals. "I think we stopped them with our rebounding."

Actually, the Lakers had five more fast break opportunities — 35-28 — but the Sixers capitalized better, scoring 36 points on 23 of their opponents. The difference was evident in the third quarter when Moses Malone, Richardson and Maurice Cheeks combined to pin Philadelphia's last break into overdrive.

With Malone, who scored 27 points and pulled down 16 rebounds, getting control of the boards, Richardson and Cheeks scored 10 points apiece in the third quarter as the Sixers turned a five-point deficit into a seven-point lead.

NBA Final

Although the Lakers cut the deficit to 85-83 behind Norm Nixon, who finished with 26 points, Philadelphia started quickly in the fourth quarter, padded its margin to 12 points at the period's midway point and held off a Los Angeles surge in the final minute.

"We were more aggressive in the second half and stopped their transition game," Malone said. "We started hitting our shots. We slowed down their transition game and stopped them from getting the easy shots."

Andrew Toney added 25 points — 15 in the first quarter — for Philadelphia. Kareem

Abdul-Jabbar scored 20 points and Earvin "Magic" Johnson added 19 plus 11 assists and nine rebounds for the Lakers.

The triumph marked the first time in three Lakers-Sixers championship playoffs (1980, 1982 and 1983) that Philadelphia has led the best-of-seven series. Los Angeles had won the two previous matchups in six games.

The Lakers were coming off a grueling six-game Western Division title series against San Antonio that ended Friday night, and had barely one full day of preparation for Sunday.

"We didn't have as much gas as we'd like," Abdul-Jabbar said. "That's the way things happen but it was just too much. We felt we could have made a little more of a game of it in the second half but we were tired."

Los Angeles coach Pat Riley admitted that fatigue was a factor late in the game but was pleased with the overall effort and looked forward to Thursday night's second game in the Spectrum.

"I just think it was a great game for the first game," he said. "We have just finished playing three games in the last 4 1/2 days. We will do better Thursday when we have a chance to sit down and prepare a little bit more."

The Lakers came out looking as if they had left their game in San Antonio. Shacked by eight armguards, they traded 30-18 in the final minute of the first quarter before turning on the juice.

Blue Jay Wings Make Believer Out Of Altobelli

United Press International

The best wings in the American League now belong to the Toronto Blue Jays... not the Baltimore Orioles. And that comes right from the mouth of a top bird.

Joe Altobelli, manager of the Orioles, has become a big believer in the Blue Jays' pitching staff.

"Right now they've got the best starting pitching in the American League," he said.

The Blue Jays made a believer out of Altobelli over the weekend by completing a three-game sweep of their series, including back-to-back shutouts in the last two games.

Jim Clancy completed the sweep Sunday by stopping the Orioles on three hits and sparking a 5-0 triumph.

Clancy's performance was his first complete game of the season and came despite a two-hour and four-minute rain delay.

Clancy's effort followed a four-hit shutout by Dave Stieb on Saturday night.

"I just got really bored sitting around the locker room waiting for the game to begin," said Clancy. "You can only play so many card games and watch so much golf on television. After a while it just gets to you."

Clancy limited Baltimore to a leadoff single by John Stelly in the first and singles by Cal Ripken in the seventh and ninth innings. He struck out three and walked two in making his record to 4-2.

"Basically I just had control over my pitches," said Clancy, who entered the game with a 5-30 ERA. "I knew it would all come together sooner or later, it was just a matter of time."

Tigers 12, Rangers 5

At Detroit, Lance Parrish hit a tie-breaking single with one out in the seventh inning and Glenn Wilson followed with his second homer of the game, a three-run shot, to spark the Tigers. Juan Berenguer, 4-0, gained the triumph with two innings of relief. Bob Johnson homered for Texas and Tom Brookens and Chet Lemon also connected for Detroit.

White Sox 2, Royals 3

At Kansas City, Harold Baines drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Greg Luzinski added a solo blast to power the White Sox. LaMarr Hoyt scattered seven hits for the victory while Larry Gura, 4-5, suffered his fifth consecutive loss. The Royals committed five errors.

Angels 9, Indians 0

At Anaheim, Calif., Bruce Kison pitched a four-hitter and Darryl Strawberry belted a three-run homer to pace a five-run fourth inning that propelled the Angels. Kison, 6-1, struck out five and walked two in winning his fifth straight game.

Yankees 4, A's 2

At Oakland, Calif., Rick Cerone's ninth-inning single through a drawn-in infield drove in the tie-breaking run and sparked the Yankees. Ron Guidry, 5-3, notched the triumph by allowing seven hits over eight innings. Rich Gossage worked the ninth to earn his sixth save and worked in two days.

Brewers 6, Mariners 0

At Seattle, Mike Caldwell tossed a seven-hitter and the Brewers unloaded five home runs to whip the Mariners. Caldwell, 4-4, walked one and did not allow a runner past second base as he posted his second shutout and fourth complete game of the year. Cecil Cooper, Ted Simmons, Gorman Thomas, Ed Romero and Jim Gustafson homered for Milwaukee.

'Awesome Acceleration Lifts Deputed Testamony To Cloud 9

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Even Deputed Testamony's trainer had a hard time believing the manner in which his lightly regarded colt captured the Preakness Stakes.

"His acceleration was awesome," said Billy Boniface. "I never thought he was capable of that. (Jockey) Donnie (Miller) hit him a few times and if it wasn't the Preakness, I wouldn't have been too thrilled."

The Maryland-bred colt, who was vanned in from nearby Bonita Farms just five hours before Saturday's 108th Preakness, shot past Desert Wine along the rail at the top of the stretch and the 14-1 shot won easily, by 2 3/4 lengths.

"We're still on cloud nine," said Deputed Testamony's trainer Billy Boniface when reached by telephone at Bonita Farm in nearby Bel Air, Md. "He came out of the race fine. The Belmont is very much under consideration but it will take a while to reach a final decision. If we go we'll bring him to New York Friday evening (the day before the race).

"I believe horses do better when they're stabled at the farm," Boniface said. "In my opinion, whatever we sacrifice by shipping our horses to the track on the day of the race is more than compensated by the gains we make with them up here between races."

Deputed Testamony earned his Preakness shot with a victory in the May 14 Keystone Stakes. That came after a sixth-place finish in the Blue Grass at Keeneland.

"He was nervous in Kentucky," said Boniface, adding the colt had a temperature of 103 after the race. "But he was very relaxed on Saturday."

Sports Roundup

Express Devalues Gold

It wasn't bad enough that Denver had an interim coach and played without its starting quarterback. The Gold also caught the Los Angeles Express on their best day of the season.

The Express used a 1-yard touchdown by John Barnett with 3:32 left to capture a 14-10 comeback Sunday over the Gold at Denver's Mile High Stadium.

Los Angeles' victory spoiled Charley Arney's debut as Denver's interim head coach, just three days after he took over for fired Red Miller.

"It's a big disappointment for me, because we had the kids convinced that this was their ball game," Arney said.

In other games, Chicago nipped New Jersey 19-13 in overtime, Boston downed Washington 21-14 and Philadelphia toppled Arizona 24-7. Birmingham visits Michigan tonight.

Blitz 19, Generals 13

At East Rutherford, N.J., rookie quarterback Tim Koegel ran 5 yards around left end on a fake field goal attempt at 3:53 of overtime to lift the Blitz, 8-4, to their fourth win in five games. New Jersey, 3-9, dropped its third straight despite 141 yards rushing and two touchdowns by Herschel Walker. Frank Corral kicked two field goals for the Blitz, including a 35-yarder with 2:58 left in overtime following Walker's fumble on the Generals' 9.

Peete Wins Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI) — Calvin Peete's fifth PGA Tour victory of the past 10 months came as a complete surprise — to him as much as anyone else.

"I never really thought about winning," Peete said Sunday after he shot a 9-under-par 63 to make up a seven-shot deficit and win the rain-shortened Atlanta Golf Classic. "When you are seven or eight shots back, you are just trying to beat some people. I knew I had to shoot in the 60s to win a decent check."

Decent indeed. Peete earned $72,000 for winning the $400,000 event, biggest check of his career. It was his first victory this season but still pushed his take to nearly $166,000 although that's barely half as much as he earned last year.

H.D. Realty Tips Precision Grafix

H.D. Realty scored five runs in the second inning and went on to a 9-3 victory over Precision Grafix in a game between two of the strongest teams in the Seminole Softball Club.

Kristie Kaiser rapped a double and a home run for H.D. Realty while Riane Richardson, Tracey Kelley and Karen DeShetler added two singles each. Kelly Neary had two hits including a double for Precision Graphics.

With the victory, H.D. Realty won the second half of the season with a 9-0 record. H.D. Realty will go up against Salvagio's Girls in the playoffs for the league championship which begins at 6 p.m. on Wednesday at the Five Points softball complex. A best two-out-of-three series will be played.

In other softball action, Forest City I Goodings broke a 8-8 tie with five runs in the fourth inning en route to a 13-8 victory over Winter Springs Lombardi's, thus forcing a playoff for the second half championship between the two teams.

Amy Hunter and Sherry Adams had two hits apiece for Goodings while Christine Risse ripped a triple and also picked up the pitching victory.

Winter Springs I Lake Howell Amoco finished an impressive season with a 18-5 rout over Forest City III. Lake Howell Amoco ended the season with a 13-5 record, turning the tables after finishing 1-23 a year ago.

"This team played with an extra effort and heart all year," said coach Becky Chavis. "This same team that was laughed at last year gained the respect of everyone they played this season."

Caroline Chavis rapped out six hits including three doubles and a home run and Christy Tibbitts added five hits, a home run, and picked up the pitching victory.

Kelly, Livernois Lead DSI Wins

Longwood I DSI ran its record to 17-3 this past week with a pair of victories in Mustang Division action at the Seminole Pony Baseball complex near Winter Springs.

Jeff Livernois slugged four hits and Casey Kelly hurled a four-hitter as Longwood I upended Lake Mary Police Department, 12-2. Kelly also clubbed a three-run triple while Jason Oliver ripped two hits and drove in three runs. Bryan Cole knocked in a pair of runs and Chuck Lamb slapped two singles.

Justin "Juice" Kingston made the defensive play of the game with a diving catch in center field.

Longwood I came back behind the four-hit pitching of Livernois and handed Forest City I Hardees a 4-1 setback. Livernois struck out 15 and walked seven.

Cole and Lamb each had two hits for Longwood and Cole knocked in a pair of runs. Oliver added a RBI double while Andy Donlon and Livernois had singles to complete Longwood's six-hit offensive output.

In other Seminole Pony action, Matt Tickle hurled a three-hitter and Jim Kremer rapped out four hits as Longwood got by Semoran, 11-8, in Bronco Division play.

Kremer ripped a single, a pair of doubles, a home run and knocked in four runs. Lance Reyes and Chris Majewski had three hits each for Longwood while Matt Tickle added a pair of hits and Joe Taylor slugged a two-run single. John Bagley had a double for Semoran and Craig Smith scored two runs and added one hit.

T.J. Giuffrida ripped two singles and two doubles and Robbie Koehn stroked four singles as Forest City II hammered Longwood II, 14-2. Koehn picked up the pitching victory for Forest City II.

collected five hits for the game including doubles by Bill Jenkins, Benny Glenn and Gary Nuss. Gib Lundquist picked up the pitching victory for the Angels.

In another game, the Angels weren't intimidated by fireballing pitcher Mike Schmit as they rapped out 16 hits against the Lake Mary High standout. Schmit's team, the Phillies, however, pulled out the victory, 12-9, in eight innings.

The Phillies had 11 hits, three of them home runs, one by Mike Henley and a pair by Schmit. Glenn, Lundquist and Cintron all homered for the Angels.

In Junior League action, Ernest Martinez knocked in three runs, including the game-winning RBI in the bottom of the sixth, as the Astros edged the Phillies, 7-6.

Eric Martinez picked up the pitching victory while Penny Siqueros pitched shutout ball for the Phillies until the fifth inning when the Astros erupted for six runs to erase a 3-0 deficit.

The Astros pulled off another thriller, 9-8 over the Orioles, by scoring four runs in the bottom of the seventh. Randy Green blasted a two-run homer while Eric and Ernest Martinez and Chris Brock added two hits each.

In Major League play, Ken Jackson hurled a one-hit shutout as the White Sox blanked the Orioles, 6-0. Jackson helped his own cause by slugging a double and a home run. Tevor Olson also clubbed a round tripper and Spencer Calvin added two hits for the White Sox.

In other action, Mitch Shatto pitched a three-hitter and struck out 14 as the Blue Jays edged the Indians, 3-1. John Hardy's double in the bottom of the fifth knocked in Jesse Richardson with the winning run. Shane Stuffed added a triple for the Blue Jays while Alex Birle rapped a double for the Indians. Kent Brubaker allowed only three hits but was tagged with the loss for the Indians.

In Rookie League play, Tim Goodman slugged three hits and knocked in six runs as the Orioles routed the Astros, 20-7. Kevin Scott, Jim Devitt and Mike Palmer added three hits apiece to the 27-hit Orioles offensive attack.

WORLD IN BRIEF

S. Africa Retaliates For Fatal Car Bombing

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI) — South African air force jets, retaliating for a deadly car bomb blast, attacked suspected bases of the outlawed African National Congress today in neighboring Mozambique, an official said.

"South Africa will not allow any part of its population — white, brown or black — to be destabilized by terrorism," Defense Minister Magnus Malan was quoted as saying today by the South African Broadcasting Corp.

Malan said missile batteries guarding the targets and operated by the Mozambican army were "neutralized." There were no immediate reports from Mozambique on casualties or damage.

The air attack retaliated for a car bomb that exploded Friday in Pretoria outside the building housing South African military intelligence and air force headquarters, killing 17 people and wounding more than 200 others.

Jet Crash Kills 5

FRANKFURT, West Germany (UPI) — Military officials tried to determine today what caused a Canadian jet fighter to crash in an aerobatics display at a U.S. air base, killing a family of five and injuring at least three others on the ground.

The pilot ejected safely from the plane before it plunged into a crowded parking lot in the second serious accident involving Allied military personnel in West Germany in two days. A bus crash killed six British airmen Saturday.

The CF-104 Starfighter went out of control Sunday, skidding across a road 5 miles from the U.S. Rhein Main air base, south of Frankfurt, where more than 100,000 spectators had been watching the performance.

A military investigating team today searched through the scene of the wreckage to try to determine what caused the plane to lose control, a Canadian spokesman said.

The fighter killed a family of five as it crashed their car and rolled into the parking lot, injuring at least three others.

Catholic Youths Riot

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Roving gangs of Roman Catholics attacked police with firebombs for the second straight night in the worst violence in Londonderry since 10 IRA hunger strikers died in 1981, authorities said.

Although commemorations of the second anniversary of the deaths may have enflamed tensions, police sources said Sunday the weekend riots in Belfast also could have been stirred up to disrupt the British election campaign.

Republican sympathizers want to build support for Sinn Fein, the political wing of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, in contesting 14 of Northern Ireland's 17 seats in the June 9 parliamentary voting, the sources said.

In the second straight night of disturbances, there were unconfirmed reports of sporadic shooting but police reported no injuries in the violence that began as pubs emptied soon after 11 p.m. local time on Sunday.

Lake Mary P&Z To Review Community Center Plan

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The day is getting closer when Lake Mary will have a community building.

A site plan for the proposed facility to be constructed by the Lake Mary Community Improvement Association (CIA) is scheduled to be considered by the city's Planning and Zoning Commission at its meeting Tuesday night.

In the meantime, City Attorney Robert Petree and CIA attorney, Ric Stanley, are working out the details on the proposed 99-year lease of city property at Crystal Lake Beach Park where the community building is to be constructed.

Petree has advised CIA President Dick Fess that the lease agreement must specifically cite the portion of the property to be occupied by the building, parking area and auxiliary facilities.

He also warned that the building must be used for public purposes, adding if it fails to serve a public purpose, the city, under the lease, will have the authority to cancel the lease with appropriate notice.

According to the site plan, the first phase of the building will measure 120 feet by 45 feet. Included within the building will be two meetings rooms with partitions allowing these rooms to be split into two more rooms.

In addition a kitchen area, lobby, men's and women's restrooms, an office to be used to regulate who goes in and out of the facility, and a mechanical and janitor's room will be provided.

Over the past couple years, the CIA has been raising money through various projects to build the community building.

The site plan for the facility has been prepared by Charles Elliott of Elliott and Associates of Lake Mary with only reimbursement for his expenses. Elliott, a member of the city's Planning and Zoning Commission, is a registered Florida residential designer. When planning for the facility enters its final stages, an architect will be commissioned to prepare the actual plans, according to City Manager Phil Kulbes. Kulbes said that plans for public buildings must be drawn by an architect.

While the plans now being considered are for the first phase of the building, another phase is planned for the future.

Fess said within 15 to 20 years, the building will have about 8,000 square feet with complete kitchen, stage and emergency shelter. He said the facility will be of contemporary design and cost of all phases will be about $200,000 at today's prices.

When the CIA began raising money for the community center two years ago, money which had been saved by other organizations over the years for a community center was turned over to the CIA. There is about $23,000 in the fund now, Fess said.

Fess said much of the labor for the center will be donated or given at cost. He added that the CIA is asking professionals with construction skills to donate their services and others without construction skills who are interested in the center to be helpers.

Feather's Development Scheduled For Review

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather's proposed 43.8-acre residential development in the southwest part of the county is scheduled to come up for review by his fellow commissioners Tuesday.

Feather and another developer have requested a zoning change for the property on Miami Springs Road, near Sweetwater Oaks, and want to build 222 cluster homes and apartments.

But Seminole County land management staff officials have recommended denial of the request claiming that a major portion of the property is flood prone and has a higher density than neighboring developments.

Gross density on the property is about five units per acre with a net density of 7.9 units per acre.

The rezoning was approved by the county's Planning and Zoning Commission on May 4.

Commissioners also will be asked to approve the final plan for the Country Lane planned unit development on Dike and Howell Branch roads near Casselberry.

The residential development, by Olin American Homes of Florida, would put 155 patio homes on 23.1 acres, a density of 6.83 units per acre. Another 11 acres would be devoted to open space and recreation. 8.2 acres would be used for roads and 1.2 acres is proposed for additional right-of-way.

Also on the agenda for the 7 p.m. hearing is a request from Manuel Oliviera Jr. to rezone two lots on Playa Way near Casselberry from single-family zoning to retail commercial use.

Staff officials said they have no objection to the rezoning but the Planning and Zoning Commission denied the request.

Oliviera said he plans to use the property as a car lot.

Robert Keller is asking to rezone three acres of retail commercial property on Lockwood Road near Oviedo to agricultural use and build a house there.

The P&Z commission recommended approval of the rezoning.

Missing Children Smaller Problem Here Than Elsewhere

been well publicized," McGowan said.

"Teenagers take off sometimes for a day or two days and then they're back. Sometimes it involves a split family, but as far as a missing child is concerned, we have none of those now," he said.

Altamonte Springs Officer Edna Abel said 12 teenage runaways have been reported to the department since last October. All have been located and most have returned home. One of them was arrested for burglary in another state.

Ms. Abel said the runaways range in age from 15 to 17 generally. She added that no young children have been reported missing in a long time. The last one was some time ago, she noted, and that report concerned a youngster who walked away from school and was later found.

Law enforcement agencies in Seminole County have been linked by communications computers for some years. If a young child were reported missing or snatched, the agencies could quickly get together for a cooperative search.

This was seen in the Casselberry area several years ago when a child was reported missing. His body was later found in an abandoned refrigerator which he apparently entered himself.

Of "parent-napping," considered a major part of the missing children problem, Circuit Judge Dominick Salfi said the ideal solution to that may be found in the policy of the state to grant joint custody to both parents after a divorce.

Salfi, who prefers to call it "shared parental responsibility," says this concept promotes the idea that "we are parents when living together and afterwards. The responsibility is the same. It is just more complicated. It's a matter of attitude."

He noted that custody in one parent to the exclusion of the other often promoted desperate actions. Salfi said the word "custody" itself implies an ownership of the child.

The Florida Department of Law Enforcement, in compliance with law passed by the Legislature a year ago, set up a clearing house for information on missing children. According to the law, the clearing house must keep information on "any person under 18 years old who is believed to be in Florida, whose location is not determined, but who has been reported missing."

Those cases which are specifically to be kept in the clearing house involve persons under 18 years old where foul play or "parent-napping" is suspected.

The services of the state clearing house are available Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. by calling 1-800-342-0821. It also has a directory of resources available with the names and addresses of services provided by hospitals, at runaway shelters and through hotlines. The information there includes physical descriptions of missing children.

This Is Why The Lady Is A Tramp

DEAR READERS: "Stumped in Cleveland" asked, "What's the difference between a lady and a tramp?" I was also stumped, so I asked my readers for their input. A sampling of the responses:

Legislature To Be Asked To Resolve Malpractice Crisis Before Going Home

By United Press International

An attorney for Florida Physicians United for Health Cost Reform says he is going to the state Legislature for emergency help in the current malpractice insurance crisis.

Last week, a Florida appeals court ruled that parts of the law which created the state Patients Compensation Fund were unconstitutional. The PCF was set up by the Legislature in 1975 to pay malpractice claims of more than $100,000.

Ron Book, attorney for the physicians' group, said he will lobby the Legislature to come up with a solution to the PCF malpractice insurance dilemma during the final two weeks of its regular session.

"The Legislature has got to resolve this thing," Book said. "We're in a total state of limbo now."

Book also said he will join an appeal by PCF officials to the Florida Supreme Court to overturn the appellate court's decision.

The ruling left more than 2,000 pending medical malpractice suits with claims totaling $130 million in limbo.

The loss of the PCF leaves doctors, patients and hospitals all in a bind. Dr. Hugh Unger, a Miami orthopedic surgeon and member of physicians cost reform group, said.

Without the PCF, doctors and hospitals could be held individually liable for malpractice insurance once covered by the fund. Nearly one out of five of Florida's doctors will be left without large-scale medical malpractice insurance, he said.

"Would you drive your car down I-95 without insurance?" Unger asked.

Though nine out of 10 claims in Florida are for less than $100,000, the tenth claim is the one that worries doctors.

According to Unger, doctors fear the so-called "newspaper settlements" — huge malpractice awards that make headlines. A single multimillion-dollar judgment could ruin a doctor, he said.

"My partner, at the age of 58, has quit the practice of medicine," Unger said. "The jury awards are astronomical. It's like they think you're Chrysler, or GM, or both together."

Officials said one result of the court ruling is that Florida taxpayers would wind up shouldering the burden for malpractice awards because the PCF was created by the Legislature.

Another possibility, officials said, is that patients who win huge awards simply won't get any money beyond what the doctor or hospital found liable can afford to pay.

Are Menopause And Depression Linked?

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 46-year-old female and according to my doctor I am starting to go through the menopause. My real concern is my bouts with depression and negative feelings. I am on an anti-depressant pill.

I'm really afraid that I will have a nervous breakdown or lose my mind or something before I know what is causing my depression and negative feelings. There is no joy in my life at this time. I always have a dull feeling inside of me. Please help me if you can.

DEAR READER — I am glad you are seeing a physician. Depressions do require professional help in many cases. Your doctor may be able to tell from other findings that you are indeed going into the menopause, but I must tell you that many good studies show that depression occurs at that time in life completely unrelated to the menopause itself.

Everyone has ups and downs in mood and feelings. Recognizing that is important, so that you won't overemphasize such mood swings. It is when the swings are too large or the depressive reaction too severe that it becomes important to do something about it. Negative feelings are common with the depression which is sometimes described as a feeling of lack of self-worth.

Change is an important factor in causing a depressive reaction. Perhaps the onset of the "change in life" does start the depressive reaction on this basis alone.

There are many things the usual person can do to help avoid feeling depressed or down. One of the most important is to have a goal or purpose in life. Do things you can do. Accomplishing things builds self-confidence and Get involved in things you enjoy and in doing self-esteem. things for others. It might make this phase go a little easier.

DEAR DR. LAMB — We would like an explanation in laymen's terms of a virus infection my husband has. He was stricken three months ago and spent 10 days in the hospital. The neurologist stated he had "Guillain-Barre syndrome." It affects his nerve tissue. What is the prognosis? How long will it last and what does the future hold for him?

DEAR READER — No one really knows the actual cause of the Guillain-Barre syndrome, also known as ascending paralysis. It can occur in the wake of a number of different illnesses. In fact there were quite a few cases as a complication of the National Influenza Immunization Program of 1976-77, apparently because of a substance in some of the 1976 vaccine. It can occur after respiratory viruses, after infectious mononucleosis, gastrointestinal illnesses and the cytomegalovirus infections.

The reactions begins about eight weeks after the initial illness, whatever it may be. The nerves that control muscle contraction are paralyzed. It starts in the legs and works up the body, hence ascending paralysis.

The patient may recover completely within a few weeks. In others it takes several months for the nerves to heal and in a few some weakness may persist permanently. That is rare.

Oswald: "South took his ace of clubs and led two trumps. Then he studied for a long time and finally decided West had to have an eight-card club suit for his four level pre-empt. So he ruffed a club with dummy's 10 or trumps."

Jim: "Now it was East's turn to think. Finally, he decided he could not afford to throw either a heart or diamond and carefully underruffed."

Oswald: "This underruff or trump discard cooked South's goose. When he led out his last two trumps, dummy had to discard before East, who simply copied dummy's discard and set the grand slam."

County Says No To Dispatch System Consultant

By Micheal Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County may develop a computer-aided dispatch system to help get quicker response time from emergency vehicles, but it won't hire a consultant to study the system.

In a work session Monday, county commissioners said they would not spend $8,000 to hire consultant Alan Pearson of the International Association of Police Chiefs to study the county's needs.

Assistant County Administrator Jim Easton said the county is faced with various proposals for a computer-aided dispatch system, which would be used for all emergency services in Seminole County.

The systems range from a $150,000 program which would be developed by the county's computer services office to a $1.2 million

'Based on the volume of calls we have I can't assure you we won't make any life-costing errors.' Gary Kaiser system proposed by Motorola Corp. The proposal favored by Public Safety Director Gary Kaiser. John Spolski of the Sheriff's Department and Easton is a $400,000 system being used in Manatee County.

Kaiser told commissioners computer-aided dispatch is a system which uses the computer to identify the source of an emergency call. The computer also tells the dispatcher the closest and best emergency units to send to the scene.

Easton proposed spending $4,900 to determine if the county needs the CAD system and if it does, then another $3,100 to determine what system best meets the county's needs.

But Commissioners Barbara Christensen, Bill Kirchhoff and

Sandra Glenn opposed the study. Easton said the pressure is increasing for dispatchers used by the Seminole County sheriff's department and the public safety department.

Six years ago the sheriff's department received 86 calls a day. In 1982, an average of 250 calls a day were received. Public safety calls have increased from 10,030 in 1979 to 16,841 in 1982. Calls for 1983 are up about 30 percent over last year, Kaiser said.

And as the county's population increases, it will be increasingly difficult to provide quick, effective response, Kaiser said.

Commissioners said they are willing to look at funding for the CAD system in the budget, particularly since it could mean combining of dispatch services for the sheriff and public safety departments.

Budget work sessions are scheduled to begin May 31.

Houses That Pass In The Night

A log cabin house formerly located behind the 701 Building in Altamonte Springs crosses State Road 436 early today just after midnight on its way to its new site off Oranole Road, approximately 1 1/2 miles away. The log cabin was moved by T.A. Youngblood house movers of Sanford to make room for a new three-story office building. Owner Tommy Youngblood directs operation from the street as his son, Tandy, drives the big auto car diesel tractor pulling the house. Power lines, telephone lines, cable TV lines and street signals had to be taken down or lifted over the 24 1/2-foot high structure. The move took about three hours.

Cinema Pub Old Sanford Theater Will Get New Life

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The former Ritz Theatre at 203 S. Magnolia Ave. in Sanford is slated to reopen as the "Showtime Cantina" cinema pub within the next three to four weeks.

The Sanford City Commission Monday night approved a conditional use at the theater to permit the sale of beer and wine there and set some stringent conditions for the operation.

The conditional use passed on a 3-2 vote with Mayor Lee P. Moore casting the deciding vote.

Commissioners David Farr and Ned Yancey voted with Moore to approve the request from Charles Williams, who is to operate the cinema pub which he said will show first run movies and serve Mexican food with beer and wine.

Voting against the use were Commissioners Eddie Keith and Milton Smith.

Their concerns were the lack of off-street parking and plans to serve alcoholic beverages on the site.

The conditions of approval include: no X-rated movies will be shown; juveniles will not be served alcoholic beverages; and Williams will control drinking within the establishment so that persons leaving the theater will not be drunk and cause problems.

Williams agreed to the conditions.

Williams had requested approval for a beer, wine and liquor license, but was told by City Attorney Bill Colbert that city ordinance forbids such a Class 3 license to an establishment within 2,000 feet of a church or school or within 1,000 feet of another establishment serving liquor. City law has no such requirements for establishments serving beer and wine.

Williams said he is planning a first run movie of the calibre of Superman III at the premier performance at the theatre. He said his current plans are for morning showings and two afternoon showings daily at 3:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. The beverages will not be served at either the morning or early afternoon showings, he said.

He noted that the early afternoon shows are being scheduled at the request of senior citizens in the community.

Williams appealed the denial of the city's planning and zoning commission to the City Commission.

He told commissioners he could run a restaurant at the theater without the approval of the commission. He said he only needed the commission's approval for the sale of beer and wine. Responding to complaints about past operations at the old Ritz, he said he has contracted for trash removal and pest control and that he already has an occupational license for the theater.

Williams said he has been renovating the theater and getting the "building in shape. I've got great optimism about downtown Sanford and believe it will grow rather than dying on the vine," he said.

In addition to showing movies, and serving Mexican food with beer and wine, Williams said he also plans to have electronic games there.

Williams' request for permission to serve not only beer and wine but also liquor came as a surprise to the commission.

The approval was for beer and wine only.

As far as off-street parking is concerned, Williams said he is willing to pave a proposed parking lot on the Senkarik property across the street from the theater which has been offered to the city for parking facilities in exchange for paving during the beautification of the downtown. That beautification is currently held up while the issue of the city doing $250,000 worth of improvements in the downtown section is being challenged in the courts.

Bill McLaughlin of Celery City Printing said he liked what Williams had done to the theater. While he said he still had some reservations, placing restrictions on the conditional use would allay his fears.

"With proper strings forbidding X-rated movies and free beer, it might be all right," McLaughlin said.

Dot Powell, owner of Powell's Office Supplies on Magnolia Avenue, objected to the request for a liquor license as did Eleanor Russell, owner of the building where Powell's business is located.

Lon Howell, one of those who have bought old homes near the downtown area and restored them, said, "If it is quality and if it is for the benefit of the people, I think it should be approved."

Sherry Carpenter, who headed a similar successful operation in Orlando, challenged the commission "to have the guts to approve the request (despite pressure) and give Williams a chance."

Les Balogh, president of the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees, noted that when the 5:30 p.m. showing of movies is held most persons will have already left the downtown area for the day. "We have to draw people to the downtown or it will fold," Balogh said.

52 Of 78 Pass SSAT; Will Graduate

Fifty-two of the 78 Seminole County high school seniors who needed to pass the State Student Assessment Test II for graduation passed the test, according to a school district official.

Bob King, district testing assistant, said the 26 students who failed the test, which sets an eighth grade competency level for graduation, will have another chance to take the test on July 9.

If they pass the test, the students will receive a diploma, he said.

Those who fail the test can accept a certificate of completion or enroll for a 13th year of school and attempt to pass the state test for graduation, King said.

But those who accept the certificate of completion won't be eligible to re-enroll in school. They can, however, enroll in adult education classes and take the test later, King said.

Of the 26 who failed the test, 10 are males and 16 are females. Nine of the students are white, 15 are black and two are Hispanic.

Lake Brantley and Lyman high schools have seven students each who failed. Seminole, Lake Howell and Oviedo high schools have four students each who failed the test.

King said 27 of those who passed the test are males and 25 are females. On a racial basis, 33 of the students are white, 15 are black, three are Hispanic and one is Asian.

Sixty-three students took the test for at least the second time, King said, with 38 passing. Of the 15 who took the test for the first time, 14 passed.

The SSAT II test is administered three times per year beginning in the student's sophomore year. Students must pass both communications and English portions of the test before they can receive a diploma.

King said 96 percent of the district's sophomores passed the communications test, down 1 percent from last year.

Eighty-three percent passed the math portion of the test, up 2 percent from last year. — Micheal Beha.

School Board Considers Job Reorganizations

Re-organization of some jobs is on the agenda for Wednesday's meeting of the Seminole County School Board.

Included in the re-organization is one new position, a coordinator of community relations and public information, with a salary range of $24,789 to $32,227.

John Reichert, assistant director of personnel services, said the public information job is the only "new" position in the plan. Providing public information is currently a part of the job description of the administrative assistant to the superintendent.

The jobs will be split when the current administrative assistant, Ralph Ray, retires in January.

Other jobs will be given new responsibility.

The director of federal programs post now held by Fred Taylor will be scrapped when Taylor retires this year.

The new title will be director of transportation, which is one of Taylor's duties.

The former director of auxiliary services position will be scrapped in favor of a director of facilities planning and construction, who will answer to Assistant Superintendent for Facilities Benny Arnold.

The board will also discuss a new field trip policy. The existing policy has been studied for the past five months and changes to provide more information about the nature of the trips are being considered.

Board members had complained that school groups did not provide much information about the trips they were planning to take.

Field trips also came under scrutiny because the school board has to pay substitute teachers when teachers are used as chaperones. — Micheal Beha.

Seminole Players On U.S. Team

Six Seminole County baseball players and nine others from Orlando and Apopka were selected Monday to represent the United States in the Royal Dutch Baseball Federation International Tournament in Amsterdam, Holland.

2 Elderly Persons Drown

The body of a 79-year-old Oviedo man was recovered from the St. Johns River shortly after noon Monday. A day before her 72nd birthday Saturday, a Fern Park woman was found drowned in her swimming pool.

A search was begun for the Oviedo man, Harold V. Byrer, early Monday after his small fishing boat was found unoccupied, according to Seminole County Sheriff's Department spokesman John Spolski.

Police were alerted when the boat was discovered abandoned about 500 yards from the river northeast of Lindsay's Fish Camp. Byrer had apparently put the craft in the water at Mims Bridge on State Road 46 early in the morning.

The person who called police had pulled the 14-foot fiberglass boat ashore. It contained fishing rods and reels and other fishing gear. The victim's body was found a short distance away, Spolski said. Indications are he had fallen overboard and was struck by the boat's outboard motor propeller.

In the Fern Park incident, Concha Gijon Owen, 2465 Worthington Road, was found floating face down in her pool by a neighbor, Seminole County deputy sheriffs said.

Owen lived alone and reportedly did not know how to swim, the neighbor told deputies. But she was wearing a bathing suit when found, deputies said.

U.S. Moves To Patch Up Relationship With Israel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration is taking a series of measures to patch up the somewhat frayed relationship with Israel, strained by last summer's invasion of Lebanon.

The moves to restore the closer relations are a prelude to a planned trip to the United States by Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, now scheduled for the first part of July, according to Israeli officials.

Diplomatic sources said the United States signed a memorandum of understanding with Israel, as part of the Lebanon troop withdrawal package, which gives U.S. support for the Israeli position that the agreement should eventually lead to "peaceful relations" between the two countries, implying both a peace treaty and full diplomatic relations.

Lebanon has resisted any closer relations with Israel because it would mean rupturing its vital economic and political links with Arab world.

It had already been made known in Israel that the memorandum of understanding included some other items:

—A specific assurance that Israel retains its inherent right of self-defense and that it could cross the border again if it were threatened.

—An implied acceptance by the United States that the Israel-Lebanese agreement, as negotiated by Secretary of State George Shultz, is final and will not be re-opened even if the Syrians demand revisions.

—If the Syrians refuse to withdraw after a reasonable period of time, the Israelis would not be obliged to pull out of Lebanon.

Court Backs Veterans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court handed veterans organizations a significant financial victory by refusing to take away their lucrative tax breaks because of veterans' past service to their nation.

The 9-0 ruling Monday enables veterans organizations to continue to use tax-deductible contributions to lobby on behalf of their 30 million members.

The high court's ruling defeated claims by other charitable groups that they also should be able to use tax-deductible contributions for lobbying.

A federal appeals court in Washington, D.C., had ruled that it was unconstitutional for veterans groups to enjoy special tax treatment, and held the veterans organizations might have to forfeit their tax status unless it was extended to other charitable groups.

Writing for the full court, Justice William Rehnquist justified the special tax deal by citing Congress' "longstanding policy of compensating veterans for past contributions by providing them with numerous advantages."

Sanford To Dump Its Trash At County's Upsala Station

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The future of garbage and trash disposal in Seminole County is probably incineration with one or more incinerators located near to where the refuse is generated, according to Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles.

While a cooperative approach between the city and county to solve future problems is the best possible way, Knowles said, Sanford may not be able to wait and may have to move now to take care of its immediate concern.

The city lost its dump site at a privately-owned landfill in Volusia County recently when the owners decided to shut down the landfill, tired of state regulation.

So, beginning Wednesday, Sanford will dump 200 tons of trash and garbage a week at the county's Upsala transfer station, just outside the city limits, while it continues its search for an alternate method of disposing of refuse from the nearly 7,000 city households it serves twice weekly.

While using the county facilities at Upsala will cost the city about 77 cents per customer more monthly, the City Commission has not decided whether those additional costs will be passed onto the customers at this time. Nor has the commission decided yet whether the use of county dumps will be a permanent solution. City staff members are looking at various alternatives.

Assistant City Manager Steve Harriett said today he doesn't anticipate any change in garbage and trash collection times because of the new disposal point for the refuse. "We will be right on schedule," he said.

Harriett explained that the city will hold garbage in the refuse trucks parked at the city public works building after the last pickup each day and deliver the refuse to the Upsala landfill early each morning.

Last week, Ken Hooper, the county's environmental service director, said there was no way the city could dump at Upsala, insisting it would have to truck its 200 tons of garbage weekly to the county's main sanitary landfill at the old Ocoola Airfield near Geneva.

Hooper said before the city could use the Upsala transfer station, new equipment would have to be purchased by the county and installed there to handle the additional refuse. He estimated it would take about six months to order, receive and install the new equipment.

Knowles and Hooper met Monday afternoon and Hooper reported to the Seminole County Commission that they reached a compromise which will allow the city to use the Upsala transfer station. The county will open the station at 7:30 a.m. and extend the closing time as long as is necessary to accommodate Sanford and the regular customers.

Hooper said Monday the county's refuse truck drivers will work split shifts to accommodate the increase.

He said the compromise is temporary to give Sanford officials a chance to see what measures they need to take to adequately dispose of the city's daily trash collections.

Knowles, saying that refuse disposal at sanitary landfills will be a thing of the past in just a few years, noted such disposal is progressively becoming more expensive.

He said the future will see incineration used for refuse disposal, adding it would be more advantageous if the county and city looked together at the possibilities of building one or more incinerators in the areas where the garbage is being generated.

Knowles said the $2 less per ton would total a savings of about $20,800 annually in dumping fees. But, he noted, the cost for additional fuel, employees' time for driving the extra 52 miles round trip, the wear and tear on the city vehicles, cost of fringe benefits to employees and other costs would total $53,370 per year.

$500,000 Cut From Three Seminole Building Projects

By Micheal Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County commissioners have sharpened their budget cutters and pared about $500,000 from three construction projects scheduled to begin later this year.

On Monday, commissioners cut $200,000 for renovation of the courthouse, about $270,000 for renovation of the old Seminole Memorial Hospital and about $100,000 for a new county health clinic in Sanford.

The plans prepared by Helman Hurley Charvat Peacock/Architects included about $1.77 million for renovation of the former hospital. That represented a reduction of $1.5 million from the original estimates prepared by the architect but commissioners said they wanted still more cuts.

Landscaping, irrigation and some painting can be done by county crews, they said, and other renovations, such as $25,000 for reinforcing the second floor office of the supervisor of elections to support a back-up manual file system, can be eliminated.

The total cost of renovating the building, renamed the County Services Building, should not exceed $1.5 million, commissioners told architect Wayne Smokay.

A budget of $1.45 million was pre-ented for renovation of the courthouse and annex but commissioners said that figure could be cut because of high estimates for converting some space into courtrooms. Smokay said an estimate of $61 per square foot for jury courtrooms was used in their budget preparation.

Commissioners told Smokay the $485,000 designated for renovation of the annex is acceptable but the $1 million budgeted for the courthouse should be cut to $800,000.

The health clinic, to be constructed on Airport Boulevard in Sanford will be cut to $1.87 million, Smokay told commissioners. He presented a $1.98 million budget Monday but said the cuts can be made. Renovation of the former hospital will begin in mid-June with the supervisor of elections office scheduled to move in in December and county commissioners and staff offices relocating in January. Other offices will move into the hospital by March.

Renovation of the courthouse will begin as soon as other offices move out. The clerk will occupy the first and fourth floors of the north wing and the courts will occupy the rest of the courthouse.

Renovation is scheduled to be finished early in 1985.

The health clinic construction is scheduled to begin in August with completion set for June 1984.

A seven-year-old Casselberry boy was the victim of an apparent abduction attempt as he walked home from school Monday.

Police report the boy was walking along Eagle Circle near Dew Drop Cove at 3:30 p.m. when a white male adult with short curly gray hair approached him in a mid-size yellow car and asked if he wanted a ride.

When the boy said he did not, the man offered him some bubble gum and candy. Police said the man then held up a knife and showed it to the boy. At that point the boy ran towards his home.

Inflation Is Back

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer price inflation returned in April, surging 0.6 percent because of a nickel-a-gallon gasoline tax, higher food prices and some other increases, the Labor Department said today.

The Consumer Price Index has not gone up as much since July's identical jump nine months ago.

Figured on a yearly basis, the April increase would be a 7.2 percent inflation rate, a phenomenon most analysts consider to be temporary.

The transportation index shot up 1.1 percent because of the tax-assisted 4 percent takeoff of gasoline prices after six months of declines.

Food prices were up a fairly strong 0.5 percent and the major categories of housing, clothing and miscellaneous goods and services were higher than in March.

The overall April increase followed an extraordinary four-month period in which prices went down more than they went up.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said, "The main cause for the slight increase in the inflation rate was gasoline prices. We believe this is a one-time effect based on the 5-cent tax increase."

"The underlying rate of inflation still remains low," Speakes said, "and a one-month increase does not mean a long term shift in inflation."

The Consumer Price Index was 295.5, 3.9 percent higher than a year ago and equivalent to a cost of $295.50 for the government's sample "market basket" of goods and services that cost $100 in 1967.

Most leading private analysts think the rapid acceleration will only last one or two months but be followed by enough increases to give 1983 an inflation rate of from 4.5 percent to 5.5 percent, somewhat higher than last year's 3.9 percent.

Despite the April increase the first four months of 1983 would yield an annual inflation rate of only 2.1 percent if there was no change through December.

Afghan Rebel Leader OKs Truce With Soviets

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — The commander of Afghanistan's most vital rebel stronghold has agreed to a truce with the Soviet Union in a major "military and political success" for Moscow, a Western diplomat said today.

The diplomat said Ahmed Shah Massoud, commander of guerrilla forces in the strategic Panjshir Valley, agreed to a truce in direct talks with Soviet occupation forces earlier this year.

The diplomat said Massoud agreed to the truce after consulting the valley's religious and village leaders. His reasons were not immediately known but diplomats speculated Massoud was seeking time to stockpile weapons, harvest crops and strengthen rebel unity.

Massoud, 29, claims to lead 7,000 armed insurgents in the strategically located valley — Afghanistan's most important rebel stronghold controlling the Soviet Union's vital supply route to the capital of Kabul.

The rebels used the valley to launch attacks on Soviet supply convoys and the Bagram Soviet airbase, 60 miles north of Kabul.

PLO Fighters Won't Leave

By United Press International

Condemning President Reagan's Middle East peace plan, five officers under the command of Palestine Liberation Organization chief Yasser Arafat have widened a guerrilla split by refusing orders to leave their posts in eastern Lebanon.

A statement issued Monday by the Damascus office of Nimer Saleh, a spokesman for the dissidents within Arafat's Fatah guerrilla group, said the five would "remain with their brother officers and strugglers" in Lebanon's Bekaa Valley.

Last week, the Fatah central committee ordered the five officers be stripped of their posts in the Bekaa. Some 10,000 Palestinian fighters and 40,000 Syrians are stationed in Lebanon against 30,000 Israeli troops.

The five officers, supported by Libyan leader Moammar Khadafi, condemned Reagan's Sept. 1 peace plan, which called for a Palestinian entity linked to Jordan on the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Aviation Fuel Tax Upheld; Appeal Promised

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — In a decision lauded by Attorney General Jim Smith, a Leon County judge has upheld the aviation fuel tax passed by the Legislature last March as part of a $237 million package of transportation taxes.

The tax had been challenged primarily by Delta Airlines, but a number of other companies, both large and small, joined the suit. Eastern Airlines filed its own petition attacking the tax as an unlawful delegation of legislative authority.

Delta plans to appeal the decision, company spokesmen said.

The jet fuel tax was part of package that included higher taxes on gasoline and heavy trucks and increased license tag fees. The money will be used to resurface roads and repair and replace bridges.

Parole Reform Expensive

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Proposed sentencing guidelines that would replace parole would cost the state $203 million as they are now written, the Department of Corrections says.

Legislation adopting the guidelines system is nearing floor votes in both the House and the Senate.

The agency's analysis shows a projected cost to the state of $175 million to expand or build prisons to house an additional 1,405 inmates and another $28 million in annual costs to care for them if the guideline system is adopted as is.

Under the proposed system, parole would essentially be abolished and inmates would serve a precise sentence given them by judges based on guidelines very similar to those now considered when awarding parole.

Inmates could reduce their actual sentences only through gain time awarded for good behavior behind bars and such positive actions as attending school courses or working in prison jobs.

Egypt Moves To Quiet Sadat Critics

By W. G. Kirolos

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Facing what it considers an orchestrated campaign to smear slain President Anwar Sadat, Egypt has acted to muzzle opposition newspapers and politicians.

The government rammed through parliament a vaguely worded law banning for 20 years the publication of any "secret" information likely to harm the security of the state, its military, political, diplomatic or economic position.

Another law is being readied to ban the circulation of printed matter that harms Egypt's reputation or tackles religious questions "in a manner likely to undermine social peace."

The government looked the other way when several former officials published memoirs containing what may be regarded as secret information in Arabic-language newspapers outside Egypt.

But patience ran out when journalist Mohammed Heikal published a book — "Autumn of Fury" — about Sadat and his assassination.

Around the same time, newspapers in the Persian Gulf region published a series of seven articles critical of Sadat by renowned fiction writer Yousef Idriss.

Only two chapters of Heikal's book were published in Cairo, by the leftist newspaper Al Ahali, but they were enough to cause an uproar.

Political leaders, parliament and the government-controlled press raged at Heikal's claim that Sadat's Sudanese grandmother was a negro slave.

Officials bridled at Heikal's assertion that Sadat frittered away political gains he could have wrested from Israel as a result of Egypt's initial military victories in the 1973 Middle East war.

Officials launched a strong counterattack.

Hafez Ismail, Sadat's national security adviser until 1974, strongly hinted in a magazine article that Egypt's military position at the end of the war was too weak to make a resounding political victory possible.

President Hosni Mubarak, Sadat's successor and air force commander during the war, refuted ideas in the seven Idriss articles, which were not published in Cairo.

The Higher Press Council, a semi-governmental body that includes chief editors and renowned journalists, quickly issued a statement condemning both Heikal and Idriss although most council members had not read what either man wrote.

Hussain Abdel Razeq, editor of Al Ahali, which speaks for a small leftist party, denounced the council as a "court of inquisition."

Heikal and Idriss, denied access to government-controlled newspapers, defended themselves in Al Ahali and other opposition newspapers.

While the war of words raged, parliament rushed through a law saying anyone "who has access, by virtue of his post or responsibility, to information related to high state policies or national security is banned from publishing or releasing it if publication causes harm to the security of the state, its military, political, diplomatic or economic position."

Violations draw up to five years' imprisonment and a fine of $24,000.

"The text of the law is elastic," wrote columnist Ahmed Baha Eddin. "It does not restrict itself to government officials but can be interpreted to cover journalists who, by virtue of their positions, witness certain events."

The other law being prepared would ban the import, circulation or publication of printed matter that "harms Egypt's reputation, panders to man's (low) instincts or deals with religious questions in a manner likely to undermine social peace."

It empowers Information Minister Safwat El-Sherif to confiscate such printed material.

The law could mean opposition newspapers face confiscation if they publish articles the government regards as harmful to Egypt's good name or social peace.

NEA: Problem Or Solution?

The report of the National Commission on Excellence in Education describes the "tide of mediocrity" which has engulfed our public schools but it made no mention of an interesting parallel. Mediocrity moved in with the rising tide of influence by the National Education Association on the teaching profession and public education.

Gilbert T. Sewall, former education editor of Newsweek, writes in the spring issue of The Journal of the Institute for Socioeconomic Studies about the transformation that occurred in the NEA during the 1960s and 1970s. Those were the same years that saw the public schools fall from grace.

Two decades ago, Sewall writes, the NEA was "a relatively quiet confederation of professional educators." It has since evolved into "an aggressive public employees union" given to espousing divisive political stands on issues far afield from education, such as disarmament, abortion and gun control. It abandoned its opposition to strikes, and won major improvements in salaries and job security for teachers.

The NEA annual budget grew to $250 million, much of it going into lobbying and campaign contributions to sympathetic candidates, among them Jimmy Carter. Its crowning achievement was the creation of a Cabinet-level Department of Education during the Carter administration, implying an expanding federal role in education.

The NEA consistently demanded more money for education but steadfastly refused to acknowledge that there was a need for better performance and accountability by the people spending it. While the rival American Federation of Teachers was registering alarm about declines in test scores, the NEA greeted this bad news with "deafening silence," says Sewall. Indeed, its response was to challenge the standardized testing used to measure aptitude and achievement.

Another diagnosis of the problem comes from the 20th Century Fund, which says in a recent report that teacher unions have been protecting poor teachers from public scrutiny. Moreover, says the fund, paying teachers according to a standardized scale not connected with classroom performance is encouraging professional mediocrity, and is one reason why talented teachers are quitting to find more rewarding work.

Typically, the response of the NEA to the recent report of the national commission was to declare that it would take "additional billions of dollars and a big boost from the federal government" to turn things around in the public schools.

It would be unfair to saddle the NEA with responsibility for the complexity of problems which have overtaken American education in the last 20 years. Nevertheless, it is fair to ask whether the NEA is part of the problem or is going to be part of the solution. Mr. Sewall's critique should prompt the rank-and-file of the NEA to question whether the leadership of their organization has been taking it in the direction they want to go.

Soviet Bleeding

The eyes of Americans are now focused on springtime and economic recovery in this country and on Central America and Lebanon abroad. But in the high valleys and cities of Afghanistan, the 100,000-man Soviet military machine has unleashed its offensive, retaliating for guerrilla attacks on the Soviet occupation army.

Western observers say that as many as 50 bombing runs a day are being carried out on the city of Herat, 450 miles west of the capital of Kabul.

Fugitives from violence are pouring into Kabul and into overcrowded refugee camps in Pakistan. There are preliminary reports of a death toll of 3,000 people.

What is the response in the West?

The British government issues a white paper on 3½ years of Soviet occupation. The White House sends covert aid to Afghan rebels, fighting with Enfield rifles. The U. N. General Assembly reiterates its call for Soviet withdrawal.

Our first response was stronger, but no more effective. In 1980, America boycotted the Moscow Olympics, to no avail. Soviet grain shipments were halted, to no avail. Condemnations rang out from capitals, to no avail.

Indirect pressures have failed. U.S. military intervention is not feasible. Only the stubborn independence of the Afghan people can defeat the Soviets.

Recognition Day for Seminole County School District volunteers will be held Friday (May 27) at 10 a.m. at Lake Mary High School.

U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum will be the special guest at the program and will present golden and silver awards to 31 Seminole County schools for their voluntary school programs.

Special awards will be given to volunteers for exceptional service to the Seminole County Dividends program.

Community resource volunteers who have presented programs in the schools will also be honored at the school.

Following the Recognition Day ceremony, a luncheon will be held at Lord Chumley's in Altamonte Springs for volunteers who have donated over 200 hours in the Dividends program for the 1982-83 school year.

Four Seminole County local school advisory committees have been nominated for the first Florida Education Council School Advisory Committee Award. Sabal Point Elementary School, Teague Middle School, Oviedo High School and Lake Howell High School advisory committees have sent nomination forms to Tallahassee.

The award program is being initiated by the Florida Education Council which is seeking to recognize and reward outstanding school advisory committees in the state.

The council will present $100 and a certificate to the best advisory committee in each of Florida's five regions. Second and third place committees in each region will receive certificates. Seminole County is one of 10 counties in the East Central Region.

Winners in the competition will be announced at the state Association of School Administrators meeting in June in Orlando.

Martha McIntosh of Seminole High School and Kathryn M. Toepfer of Lake Brantley High School have received $300 scholarships from Pankhurst, a local women's organization.

The two students received the scholarships to help defray expenses for their continuing education. The awards are made on the basis of scholastic achievements and involvement in the school and community.

The Fear Factor

The refusal of a number of the President's erstwhile supporters in Congress to uphold his defense and tax policies is evidence of fear regarding the 1984 elections.

The dropouts from the Reaganite cause of rearmament and tax reform believe that their reelection is best assured by returning to the policies in effect before Mr. Reagan took office.

Given human nature, it isn't surprising that there are a number of summer soldiers in the cause which brought Ronald Reagan to the White House. The world is full of people who waver when the going gets rough. That, of course, is when the tough get going.

It is unreasonable to believe that the American people, who wanted thoroughgoing governmental reform in 1980, are prepared to abandon reform in less than three years' time. They aren't that feeble. Mr. Reagan's triumph came as a result of long, pent-up dissatisfaction among the American people with the spend-and-elect philosophy of liberal administrations. They also were aware that the nation's defenses had been allowed to deteriorate ever since the end of the Vietnam War.

Those feelings and convictions undoubtedly are still implanted in the hearts and minds of a majority of our citizens.

The weakening on the part of some of the troops in Congress stems, in part, from fears engendered by the recession.

With the first shock of the recession, the weaker among the President's supporters cast fearful glances around. They jumped at the conclusion that political survival required hasty retreat from principle. That's why there are new Christmas tree budget proposals in Congress. That's why the Armed Services Committee of the House of Representatives has recommended that $10 billion be slashed from the President's defense spending plan.

These fearful elements also have succumbed to the enormous propaganda barrage let loose by the politically-biased commentators on television and to their brothers in the major print media. For months, these commentators and pundits described America as a country of deepening misery. When the economy picked up, they switched to the "peace" issue, doing their best to portray Mr. Reagan as a nuclear warmonger.

It's highly unlikely that the vast majority of Americans have been taken in by the scare tactics on television or decided that the nations should go back to the policies of the New Frontier and the Great Society.

The President is standing firm. The coalition of conservatives that supported Mr. Reagan's reform is still intact: it simply needs to become more active and less complacent. The commentators and pundits didn't favor the Reagan reforms in 1980, and they failed to sway the electorate. There's no reason to believe that they can fool the people this time and prevent continuation of fiscal and national security reforms.

Synfuels Corp. Wastes Public Money

WASHINGTON — The high-salaried executives of the U.S. Synfuels Corp. might be forgiven their wasteful ways if they were spending the taxpayers' billions on alternative-energy projects of actual or even potential merit.

Unfortunately, they're squandering money on grandiose schemes of so little promise that private industry wouldn't touch them with a stick unless Uncle Sam was picking up the bill. In fact, the major oil companies have abandoned synthetic fuel ventures even with the lure of government loan and price guarantees. That's how little Big Oil thinks of synfuels' future.

This leaves the Synfuels Corp. with $15 billion to hand out — and only second-rate programs to spend it on. Five of the six finalists under consideration for the second round of Synfuels' largesse were rejected by the corporation the first time around.

My associates John Dillon and Corky Johnson have obtained internal Synfuels documents that show the dubious chances for success of the expensive projects the agency is considering. Here

WASHINGTON WORLD

Heroes Of The House

By Don Phillips
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Forty-one members of the House would be eligible for a medal today if such things were given for political courage.

They are the 41 who bucked the banking industry and a frenzied letter-writing campaign from millions of upset voters. They voted against legislation repealing the scheduled July 1 tax withholding on interest and dividends.

The pressure to go the other way was enormous. The banking lobby had staged a campaign that even many of its allies in Congress acknowledged was deceptive and filled with half truths and untruths.

The campaign was effective. It hit a chord in the American people, and millions of angry letters flooded congressional offices. Some of those letters clearly were from millions who were duped by the bankers and didn't understand the legislation. Some were from informed but angry folks who said they didn't want to pay for the sins of others.

But others, a surprising number, were from scoundrels who even bragged that they had never paid taxes on their interest and dividends and didn't intend to, and would vote against anyone who tried to make them obey the law.

Under such pressure, 382 House members voted to repeal the withholding law.

Of those 382, some voted from honest conviction. It would be a mistake to think that all of them voted from fear. For example, Rep. Norman D'Amours, D-N.H., led the fight against withholding from the beginning, and Rep. Andrew Jacobs, D-Ind., who sponsored the final repeal bill, long ago proved his ability to think independently.

But it is clear that a majority of the 382 voted that way purely because of the pressure.

It also is clear that the 41 who voted "no" did so purely from conviction. There was nothing for them to gain from such a vote, and there is little doubt that all of them will lose something politically through lost votes or financially through lost campaign contributions.

The list of the "no" voters reads like a rundown of the moral leadership of the House, the people who have proved that they have guts on other issues too. Almost all of the 41 are experienced legislators, and many are committee or subcommittee chairmen.

They include the chairman and ranking GOP member of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, Reps. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., and Barber Conable, R-N.Y. Many of the 41 are members of that committee, and in a position to see the problems with tax cheating and to know all the facts about withholding.

One of the Ways and Means members is a former banker, Rep. Fortney Stark, D-Calif., no stranger to fights with his fellow bankers even before he came to Congress.

Thirty-two are Democrats and nine are Republicans. The highest member of the Democratic leadership is whip Thomas Foley of Washington, No. 3 in the hierarchy. The only Republican leader is Rep. Jack Edwards of Alabama, vice chairman of the Republican Conference and ranking GOP member of the influential Defense Appropriations subcommittee.

There are three freshmen, Reps. Howard Berman, D-Calif., Sander Levin, D-Mich., and Sherwood Boehlert, R-N.Y.

One is a woman, Rep. Lynn Martin, R-Ill. Most are no strangers to causes, sometimes lost causes, including Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., champion of the Equal Rights Amendment; Edward Markey, D-Mass., leader of the nuclear freeze movement; and David Obey, D-Wis., who has led the fight for reform in the House for more than a decade.

Some are among the most active chairmen in the House — Reps. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., chairman of the Health subcommittee; Sidney Yates, D-Ill., one of the keepers of the nation's natural resources.

Errors Aided Bombing

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Failures of U.S. intelligence and embassy communications made it easier for terrorists to bomb the U.S. Embassy in Beirut, according to a major analysis being circulated at high levels.

Responsibility for the April 18 bombing — which left 57 dead, including 17 Americans — has been claimed by the Islamic Jihad, a terrorist offshoot of Amal, the Shi'ite Muslim paramilitary organization, which is loyal to Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini.

Only 10 minutes after the explosion, a caller to Agence France-Presse, the French news agency, identified himself as a member of the Jihad and said the bombing was "part of the Iranian revolution's campaign against imperialist targets throughout the world."

Intelligence sources say they have no reason to doubt the claim, although it has not been definitely confirmed. They cite the bombing of the French embassy in Beirut a little more than a year ago, which killed 14 and was definitely tied to the Jihad.

The analysis of the attack says that U.S. intelligence was warned several times in recent months that the Jihad was planning a major action somewhere in the Mideast, most likely in Beirut. The first warning reportedly came from Israeli intelligence, which said that a major Jihad action would take place in Egypt or Lebanon. The Israelis had immediately given the information to both Egyptian and U.S. intelligence agencies — but, reportedly, while the Egyptians quietly beefed up security at key locations, U.S. intelligence waited for more information.

Further information is said to have come from the CIA — which, independently of the Israelis, developed information about a new Jihad strike. But the CIA did nothing, since it lacked complete faith in this information's source. Instead, it stepped up efforts to get further information about the Jihad's plans.

In the days before the bombing, the National Security Agency noted that there was greatly increased radio traffic between Iran and the area of northern Lebanon that has become a Shi'ite enclave and has extremely close ties to Khomeini. The Jihad is closely tied to the revolutionary guards who control this area, and the same type of radio traffic was noted before a series of attacks on U.S. and Italian peacekeeping forces last March. Those attacks killed one Italian soldier and wounded four Americans.

All of this information was being sifted and analyzed when the bombing occurred. Security at the U.S. Embassy had not been increased, and it was simply business as usual — until the bomb went off.

A communications failure within the embassy also seems to have contributed to the attack's success. It has not been officially acknowledged, but the vehicle containing the explosives bore official embassy license plates that had been stolen a week earlier from an embassy car. The theft was reported to embassy security officers, but an internal anafu kept this information from being passed on to the U.S. Marines guarding the embassy.

Air Products wants the government to put up most of the money for the gasification project. Does it know something we should know?

STIFLING CRITICISM: The leaders of the "emerging democracy" of Honduras can't stand criticism in the press — and the nation's editors obediently toe the government line. I know. They've stopped running my column ever since I reported on Honduras's U.S.-backed militarization.

Somehow the offending column slipped by the Honduran censors, so the newspapers thought it was safe to print it. But then, according to my sources, the U.S. ambassador in Tegucigalpa, John Negroponte, and a spokesman for Gen. Gustavo Alvarez, the Honduran military boss, denounced me in separate but obviously coordinated statements. Editors got the message and my column abruptly disappeared from their newspapers.

As one source put it, "Every daily in the country carried Jack Anderson's column six months ago. Now, no one will touch it."

6 County Players Make U.S.A. Team

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

When you're going to a World tournament — it's always good to have the best of both worlds.

After careful consideration over the past two weeks, manager Gene Letterio and coach Rodney Metz Sr. feel they have Letterio and Metz, selected by the American Express AML International Tours, Inc. to assemble a team to represent the United States at the Royal Dutch Baseball Federation International Tournament (July 24-31) in Amsterdam, Holland, released their 15-member team Monday and it contains some of the best players in Seminole and Orange counties.

"We feel we have put together an outstanding team which is composed of an outstanding group of young men," said Letterio. "This is a tremendous opportunity for all of these young men and we're going to make the most of it."

The 15-player squad, constructed from Metro, Five-Star and Orange-Belt conference high schools, is made up of three players from Orlando Colonial, two from Orlando Boone, one from Orlando Edgewater, one from Orlando Bishop Moore, three from Lake Mary, two from Longwood Lyman, two from Apopka and one from Altamonte Springs Lake Brantley.

Two pitchers — Colonial's Steve Boley and Boone's Mark Chapman — were the winning hurlers in the recent North-South All-Star game in West Palm Beach. Boley, considered the top hurler in Central Florida by most scouts and coaches, pitched three innings as the North whipped the South, 14-5. Boley, an 18-year-old right-hander, posted a 9-3 record for Colonial during his senior year.

Chapman, who played Little League baseball for Letterio in the Orlando Optimist League, was the ace of Boone's staff this year with an 8-5 record. Also an 18-year-old right-hander, the senior hurled the first three innings of the second North-South game and picked up a 5-2 victory. Chapman struck out 94 hitters in 88 innings.

"Boley and Chapman give us the nucleus of what should be an excellent pitching staff," said Letterio. Boley has a scholarship to South Carolina University while Chapman will attend Auburn University next year.

And the staff doesn't miss a beat when Letterio moves to Five-Star players. Apopka's Rod Brewer, Lyman's Derek Livernois, Lake Brantley's Mark Cochran and Lake Mary's Mike Schmit will give Letterio six solid starters necessary to play seven games in eight days in Amsterdam.

Brewer, a dart-throwing left-hander, pitched the Blue Darters to the district championship over Lyman. The 17-year-old posted a 15-3 record and at one stretch had a string of 33 scoreless innings and three straight shutouts. He whiffed 164 hitters in 110 innings.

Livernois, a 16-year-old sophomore, had an outstanding first season for Lyman. The fireballing right-hander fanned 93 hitters in just 61½ innings while compiling a 5-2 record and a miniscule, county-leading 0.79 earned run average.

Cochran, who authored a perfect game against Lake Howell during the regular season, posted a 10-3 record. He led the county with 95 strikeouts in 83 innings. The 18-year-old right-handed senior has an ERA of 1.60.

The "kid" of the group will be freshman Schmit. Although his 14 years put him a few years behind his teammates, there is no denying his talent. The curvballing right-hander, like Livernois, had an impressive first varsity year. He posted a 6-3 record with a 2.05 ERA. He also posted victories over Oviedo, Seminole, Lyman and Lake Brantley. When not pitching, he played shortstop and batted .353.

The receiving corps will also be well-stocked. Leading the way is Orlando Bishop Moore's John Sepnleski. "John is the deadend kid of the Holland Connection," said Letterio. "He's got to be one of the toughest kids around and he's not intimidated by anybody." Sepnleski, who will also see some mound duty (6-3), led the Hornets to the district and regional titles. He batted a sizzling .394 and is considered one of the top throwers in the area. The 18-year-old right-handed slugger will probably attend Seminole Community College.

Metz's son, Rod, will back up Sepnleski. Metz, a 15-year-old sophomore, guided the Altamonte All-Stars to a second-place state finish last summer. He is a good handler of pitchers and one of the best young receivers in Central Florida.

The rest of the infield will also be well-fortified. Bobby Miller, a three-year starter at second base for Colonial, is the anchor at second base. The 18-year-old right-handed slugger hit four home runs and batted .412 while being a three-year All-Metro selection. South Carolina-bound like his good friend Boley, Miller will play for Maryland in the prestigious Cape Cod College League until it is time to depart.

Shortstop should be a battle between Apopka's Billy Johnson and Boone's Tim Childers. Johnson, a 17-year-old junior, was the top shortstop in the Five-Star Conference. He hit .352 and is a very tough competitor. Childers, an 18-year-old senior, stole 32 bases and batted .385.

Eddie Jackson, a third baseman from Orlando Edgewater, batted .342 for the Eagles where he was a two-year starter. He also played Little League for Letterio and the 18-year-old senior can be used on the mound, too.

Brewer, a top all-around athlete, is also a top first baseman. He is a line-drive hitter with good power to the alleys. He batted .352 for the Blue Darters.

The outfield, meanwhile, is blessed with excellent speed and good hitting. Todd Marriott, an 18-year-old senior from Lyman, led the county in hitting as a junior and was one of its top producers this year. Marriott, who played shortstop this year, batted .359 and stole a county-leading 25 bases.

Colonial's Johnny Woodward is another speed demon. The right-handed hitting 18-year-old batted .347 for the Grenadiers and has been clocked in 3.8 to first base. "The scouts consider 4.2 adequate," said Letterio. Woodward stole 28 bases.

Another outfielder is Lake Mary's Scott

Underwood. The 16-year-old left-handed-hitting sophomore got off to a slow start for the Rams, but then finished strong, batting .500 over the last 10 games to hit .344.

Like most all-star teams, the players are very versatile and Letterio said he does not have a set lineup. There may be some shifts in the infield and some of the pitchers may be used at other positions, the veteran skipper said.

More players may also be added, according to Letterio. Because of a conflict with Big League Baseball, some players are still making up their minds. "This will probably be the last year we will host the Southern Regional," said Don Crawford, director of the Central Florida region for Big League. "We would like to have a very representative team, but we also realize what an opportunity the Holland trip is for these young men."

Oviedo baseball coach Howard Mable, who is in consideration for the region all-star coaching job, said if the players play in the Royal Dutch Federation Tournament they will be ineligible for the Big League Tournament. "It's a rough decision," said Mable. "We're going to leave it up to the individuals involved. It will be their choice."

Several of Mable's Orange-Belt Conference champion Lions are under consideration, but the one that stands out is senior, infielder Brett Thayer who led the county in hitting with a .449 average along with six home runs.

Along with Letterio and Metz, Orlando's John Miller, father of Bobby, and Lake Mary baseball coach Allen Tuttle will accompany the team to Amsterdam as part of the staff.

Apopka's Rod Brewer was just as devastating. Brewer pitched the Blue Darters to the district title with a 15-3 record and 164 strikeouts in 110 innings.

Merthie Loses Race With Fate; Blake, McCloud Lift Poppa Jay's

Monday's Junior League scores
Knights of Columbus 5, Moose 4
Kiwanis 9, Rotary 6

What are the odds of a successful steal of home plate? Although they might be better in the Sanford Junior League, the odds still aren't very good.

With that in mind, Moose might still be in first place in the second half of the season now instead of in a tie for second with Kiwanis. With two outs in the top of the seventh inning, runners on second and third and a good hitter in Calvin Davis up, Oscar Merthie chose to gamble instead of going with the percentages. Merthie tried to steal home for what would have been the tying run, instead he was tagged out by Knights of Columbus catcher Stewart Gordon for the last out of the game as KOC claimed a 5-4 victory Monday night at Chase Park.

The victory boosts KOC into sole possession of first place for the second half with a 3-0 record while Moose fell to 2-1.

The game started out as a pitching duel between Moose's Terry "The Cat" Miller and KOC's Leonard Lucas. Miller allowed only one run on two hits over the first three innings while Lucas had a two-hit shutout until the fourth inning.

In the top of the fourth, with KOC clinging to a 1-0 lead, Keith Denton reached on a fielder's choice and Tarance Carr walked. One out later, John Lewis walked to load the bases and Gary Derr followed with a walk to force in pinch runner Melvin Walker with the first run. Carr scored the second run on a wild pitch.

KOC responded with three runs in the bottom of the fourth. David Rape and Stewart Gordon rapped off consecutive singles and Todd Revela walked to load the bases with no outs. Curtis Rudolph then lined a shot just inside the first base line and the ball skidded all the way to the right field fence. All three runs scored on Rudolph's clutch triple as KOC took a 4-2 lead.

Sanford Baseball

KOC scored the eventual winning run in the fifth as Lucas was hit by a pitch and scored on a double by Gordon.

Moose came back with a run in the top of the sixth to cut KOC's lead to 5-3. Carr led off with a single, stole second, and scored on an error.

In the top of the seventh, Miller looped a double to right off Rape who came on in relief of Lucas in the sixth. Miller stole third and scored on a KOC error. Merthie, who had walked, stole second and advanced to third when Denton doubled to center. Merthie did not score on Denton's hit because it looked like it would be caught and Merthie had to hold at third. Rape then struck out Carr for the second out of the inning and Merthie was caught stealing home for the final out.

Lucas picked up the pitching victory and upped his record to 2-3 for the season while Miller took the loss and now stands at 4-3. Moose has another tough game Wednesday against Kiwanis in a battle to see who can stay within a game of first place.

In Monday's first game, Kiwanis exploded for seven runs in the bottom of the sixth en route to 9-6 victory over Rotary. Kiwanis is now tied for second for the second half of the season with a 2-1 record while Rotary fell to 1-2.

After leading 2-1 going into the fourth inning, Rotary broke the game open with four runs in the fourth to take a 6-1 lead. Perez Perry and Darryl Williams hit consecutive singles to lead off the inning and both moved up on a passed ball.

Jason Heffington then lofted a fly ball to center to knock in Perry and move pinch runner Darris Littles to third. Mike Edwards then clubbed a double to left to knock in Littles and, one out later, Eddie Korgan drilled a double to deep center field to chase home Edwards. Korgan scored when Johnny Wright walked with the bases loaded.

Kiwanis scored once in the fifth and Rotary held a 6-2 lead going into the bottom of the sixth. Willie Grayson singled and Tommy Mitchell and Craig Brown both walked to load the bases with no outs. Harrison Hampton then drew a walk to force in Grayson and, one out later, Reginald "Cheese" Bellamy smashed a two-run single. Dwayne Willis followed with a single to knock in two more runs as Kiwanis took a 7-6 lead. Willis then scored on a Rotary error and Arthur Hersey scored the seventh run of the frame on a sacrifice fly by Walter Hopson.

Hersey picked up the pitching victory in relief of Grayson while Edwards, in relief of Craig Dixon, suffered the loss. Bellamy was 3 for 3 to lead Kiwanis at the plate while Grayson and Willis added two hits apiece. Korgan, Perry and Ron Blake had two hits each for Rotary.

Hopson made the defensive play of the day as the Kiwanis centerfielder made a diving stab of a hard liner hit by Korgan in the top of the sixth.

Jeff Blake and Willie "Sugar Tex" McCloud slammed back-to-back home runs in the bottom of the fifth inning Monday to lift Poppa Jay's to a 6-4 victory over Sunniland in Sanford Little National League action at Fort Mellon Park.

The score stood tied, 3-3, going into the fifth as Sunniland pitcher Mike Merthie allowed only two hits over the first four innings. George Gordon walked to lead off the fifth for Poppa Jay's and Blake followed with a two-run homer. McCloud then stepped up and clouted a solo shot as Poppa Jay's took a 6-3 lead.

Dwight Brinson touched McCloud for a lead off homer in the top of the sixth as Sunniland pulled to within two runs, 6-4. McCloud then struck out two men, walked one, and struck out a third to end the game. McCloud hurled a two-hitter, the only other hit being a single by Tim Graham in the first inning, struck out 13 and walked five.

Sunniland scored a pair of runs in the top of the first inning as Anthony Merthie led off with a walk and Graham followed with a single. Both Merthie and Graham scored on passed balls.

Hogan Pitches Fabricating Past Elkettes In 1st Place

S&H Fabricating scored six runs in the first two innings Monday and Dee Hogan turned in an outstanding pitching performance as S&H cruised to a 7-2 victory over Elkettes in Sanford Women's League Softball action at the Fort Mellon Park softball field.

With the victory, S&H Fabricating takes over sole possession of first place with a 6-3 record while Elkettes and Shoemaker Construction are one game back at 7-4.

S&H Fabricating's first four hitters in the game ended up scoring runs as Fabricating took a 4-0 lead after one inning. Mary Sue Gilmore led off with a single and Dee Hogan drew a walk. Cathy Griffith followed with a single to knock in one run and Joie Boyles singled to knock in another run. The third run scored on an error and the fourth on a sacrifice fly by Cindy Pendarvis.

S&H added a pair of runs in the second inning as Teresa Behrens singled and Gilmore blasted a two-run homer for a 6-0 S&H Fabricating lead.

While S&H got its hitting on track early, the defense shut down Elkettes until the seventh inning. Elkettes managed only five hits off winning pitcher Hogan and S&H backed Hogan up with strong defense. Elkettes scored its only two runs in the seventh.

In Monday night's second game, Shoemaker Construction stayed within striking distance of first place with a 21-13 victory over The Barn. Maxine Campbell rapped three hits to lead Shoemaker while Paula Ritchey, Alycia Dixon, Katy Barbour, Angie Carpenter and Janet Hauck added two hits each to the 14-hit Shoemaker offensive attack.

In Ladies League action Monday, Optimist Club came up with 11 hits including three by Rosana Perkins en route to a 14-9 victory over Rotary Breakfast. Optimist took over sole possession of first place and now stands at 7-2 for the season while Rotary fell to 6-3.

Tina Roberts and Ann Perry added two hits for Optimist and Virginia Miller cracked a home run while Melinda Jackson picked up the pitching victory. Tawana Chisholm had two home runs and five RBI for Rotary.

In Monday's second game, Pat's Electric erupted for four runs in the bottom of the fourth inning in a 9-4 victory over Kiwanis.

Trailing, 8-5 going into the fourth, Adrian Hillman led off with a solo home run to cut the lead to 6-6. Tracy Mitchell followed with a single and, one out later, Stephanie Smith ripped a double to knock in Mitchell. Maria Bryant then drilled a triple to chase home Smith with the tying run and Sandra Harris followed with a game-winning single.

Hillman picked up the pitching victory for Pat's Electric while Leticia Strickland took the loss for Kiwanis. Harris had two hits for Pat's Electric while Strickland clubbed a homer and a single and Levetta Brown stroked a triple and a double for Kiwanis.

Valenzuela Closes Door On Phils; Blue Jays Get 3rd Straight Shutout

United Press International

Like a bullfighter from his native Mexico, Fernando Valenzuela has a knack of going for the kill. Valenzuela always seems to pitch better when the game is on the line in the late innings, and he demonstrated that ability again Monday night by stopping the Philadelphia Phillies on a four-hitter and leading the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 2-0 victory.

The 22-year-old left-hander was at his best in the ninth after Gary Mathews singled with one out to bring up the tying run in the presence of slugger Mike Schmidt. Valenzuela retired Schmidt on a pop-up and struck out Tony Perez for the fourth time to notch his third shutout of the season and 15th of his career.

"The thing that impresses me is his ability as a closer," said Dodgers manager Tom LaSorda. "Once he gets to the seventh, eighth and ninth innings, it's as if he doesn't know there's a bullpen in the ballpark."

"In the seventh, eighth and ninth innings, he gets tougher and more confident. He really believes he is pitching better than anybody. The guy is remarkable. I thought (Don) Drysdale, (Sandy) Koufax and (Bob) Gibson were tremendous closers but he ranks right up there."

Oddly, Valenzuela failed to polish off the Montreal Expos in the ninth inning in his previous start. Montreal pushed across a run to send the game into extra innings and the Expos eventually won the game in the 15th inning, although Valenzuela was not involved in the decision.

"After those kind of games you think about what you didn't do," said Valenzuela through an interpreter, "but I'm a professional and after two days I began thinking about the next game. Of course, I was thinking about it not only in the ninth but at the start of the game."

Valenzuela, 5-2, struck out seven and did not allow a runner past second base in posting his first career victory over the Phillies. He now has defeated every team in the National League at least once.

Reds 2, Cardinals 1

At Cincinnati, Wayne Krenchick doubled in two runs and Joe Price and Bill Scherrer combined on a three-hitter in helping the Reds hand the Cardinals their fourth straight loss. Price, who got the victory to boost his record to 3-2, pitched the first six innings in beating Joaquin Andujar, 3-6.

Braves 6, Pirates 3

At Atlanta, Claudell Washington and Bob Horner each drove in two runs in helping the Braves to their fourth straight victory. Pete Falcone, 2-1, went 5 1-3 innings for the victory with Donnie Moore going the last 3 2-3 innings for his first save. Bill Madlock homered for Pittsburgh.

Expos 5, Mets 1

At Montreal, Tim Wallach hit a two-run homer in the eighth inning to give the Expos their victory. With one out in the eighth, Gary Carter beat out an infield single by adding into first base off loser Dave Dravecky, 6-3, and Wallach then connected for his fifth homer off Luis DeLeon. Bill Gullickson, 4-5, pitched 8 1-3 innings and scattered five hits to get the victory with Jeff Reardon pitching the final 2-3 of an inning to notch his fourth save. Tim Lincecum was 0-for-3.

Mets 4, Giants 3

At New York, George Foster belted a solo homer in the fourth inning then snapped a 3-3 tie with a sacrifice fly in the eighth to lift the Mets to victory. Jesse Ojeda, 3-0, picked up the victory with two innings of scoreless relief while reliever Greg Minton took the loss.

A.L./N.L. Baseball

Astros 3, Cubs 2

At Houston, Joe Niekro allowed three hits over seven innings and Ray Knight doubled home a pair of runs in leading the Astros to victory. Niekro, who entered the game with a 4.78 ERA, struck out four and walked one in raising his record to 2-4. Niekro received relief help from Frank LaCorte and Frank DiPino, with DiPino notching his second save of the season. Leon Durham and Jody Davis homered for the Cubs, marking the fifth game in a row in which Chicago has hit two home runs.

Twins 12, Orioles 4

Perhaps it was the conditions, as Tom Brunansky said, that contributed to the home-run barrage in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium Monday night, but Brunansky and the Minnesota Twins haven't needed much help with the long ball lately.

Brunansky clouted two home runs for four in his last four games and Gary Ward, the AL's RBI leader with 36, also belted out a pair to pace the Twins to a 12-4 rout of the slumping Orioles, who lost their fourth straight.

Frank Viola, 2-2, pitched Minnesota's first complete game of the year.

"We're playing good ball," Brunansky said. "We're feeling good and things are starting to turn. We're getting timely hitting."

Blue Jays 4, Tigers 0

At Toronto, Luis Leal and Randy Moffitt combined on a three-hitter for Toronto's third consecutive shutout and Ernie Whit hit two home runs. The victory, which followed weekend shutouts of Baltimore by Dave Stieb and Jim Clancy, was Toronto's fourth in a row. The AL record for consecutive shutouts is five, set by Baltimore in 1974. The major league record is six, by Pittsburgh in 1903.

Royals 5, Rangers 2

At Kansas City, Mo., Amos Otis singled home two runs and Hal McRae and Johnathan Chipped in with solo homers to support the combined six-hit pitching of Dennis Leonard and Dan Quisenberry. Kansas City capitalized on the wildness of Texas starter Charlie Hough to score three sixth-inning runs that erased a one-run deficit.

Red Sox 6, White Sox 4

At Chicago, Tony Armas drove in three runs with a pair of homers to back the seven-hit pitching of Mike Brown and power Boston. Armas led off the second inning by hitting the first pitch into the left-field upper deck off Richard Dotson, 4-5, who pitched a one-hitter in his last start. The White Sox' Greg Luzinski hit his fourth home run in the last four games.

Mariners 3, Indians 2

At Seattle, Bob Stoddard and Bill Caudill combined on a seven-hitter and Dave Henderson drove in one run and scored another to lead the Mariners. Stoddard, 4-5, retired the first 12 hitters. Rick Sutcliffe, 5-2, took the loss despite recording a career-high nine strikeouts.

Angels 5, Yankees 0

At Anaheim, Calif., Rod Carew improved his league-leading batting average to .450 with a pair of hits, including an RBI double, and Geoff Zahn tossed a Siege Baker gave up two hits over the final four innings for his third victory without a loss, while Jim Slaton, touched for three hits and six walks in 4 2-3 innings, suffered his first loss after five victories.

Letchworth's Hat Trick Leads 7-2 Sanford Victory

Joah Letchworth came up with a hat trick as Sanford 780, under 10 division team, routed Southeast Orange 004, 7-2 in Sanford Soccer Club action over the weekend. The victory gives Sanford 780 a 5-1-2 record for the season with the last game of the year Saturday against Southeast Orange 002 at 10:10 a.m. at Shenandoah Elementary School in South Orlando.

Jon Williams, Matt Teague, Brian Suber and Tony Mills scored one goal apiece for Sanford while Shayne Stewart, Ryan Dickey and Chris Esterson led the defense.

In other action, Sanford 280 scored three goals in the first half and added five more in the second en route to a 8-1 mauling of Downtown Orlando 280. Nick Patts scored three goals for Sanford, Chuck Roll added a pair of goals while Mike Altizer, Troy Deppen and Phillip Perez scored one goal each. Chad Miller added two assists and a fine all-around game.

Rusty Smith, Javier Falcon, Charlie Butler, Jason Kaiser and Cory Stickney led the defense as Sanford 280 improved to 6-1-2 for the season. Sanford's next game is Saturday against Winter Park 201 at the Sanford Airport.

Sanford's two 14 and under teams didn't do as well as Sanford 480 dropped a 5-2 decision to Winter Park 361 and Sanford 380 went down in defeat to Maitland 381, 6-2.

For Sanford 480, Alex Piquer scored the first goal and the second was put in by the Winter Park team. Joe Barrett, Matt Albert and Steve McCormick also played well offensively while Cindy Bengt, Tim Deppen and Brantley Robert led the defense. Sanford 480's next game is Saturday at 9 a.m. against Downtown Orlando 380 at the Sanford Airport.

Sanford 380 could not come back after Maitland 381 took a 5-0 lead at halftime. J.J. Parlow and Jason Helmadollar scored a goal apiece in the second half while Oberto Piedra, Jesse Roche and Andy White led the defense. Sanford 380 goes up against Pine Hills 482 on Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the Sanford Airport.

Gamblers Plea-Bargain

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Three of four Maryland men charged in the gambling case involving Baltimore Colts quarterback Art Schlichter have reached plea-bargaining agreements with the U.S. attorney's office and admitted to some of the charges against them. The other charges were dropped, and U.S. District Judge John Holcuhub this morning was expected to dismiss one count of traveling in interstate commerce to promote an unlawful gambling enterprise against the fourth defendant, Charles Swift.

Samuel Alaccia and Harold Brooks pleaded guilty Monday to one count apiece of traveling across state lines to promote a gambling enterprise.

ICBA Teams Raise Money For New York Trip

The three Inter-County Basketball Association teams, preparing for their trip to New York in June, are practicing and raising money to finance the venture. "They worked hard this past weekend at a very successful barbeque and car wash," said ICBA spokesman Mickey Norton.

The teams will play some practice games over the next few weeks against some of the AAU groups in their age categories. Donations may be made by calling Norton at 831-6786.

Girls AAU basketball at the 12 and under and 14 and under levels will come to Oviedo in full force the first weekend in June. The Seminole East AAU group will host the State Tournament for each of these age groups on June 3-4 at Oviedo High.

Seminole East is made up of girls from the Oviedo, Lake Howell and Lyman school districts while the Seminole West team consists of players from the Lake Mary, Lake Brantley and Seminole High school districts. Besides the host teams, there are entrants from Jacksonville, Titusville and perhaps Fort Lauderdale areas.

Games will begin with a tripleheader on Friday night, June 3, starting at 6 p.m. On Saturday, games will run from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. The championship contests will be played at approximately 2 and 3 p.m.

In a 14 and under warmup contest, Seminole East defeated Seminole West, 42-28. Kim Forsyth of Lyman High led the winners with 12 points followed by Stephanie Nelson, of Oviedo, with 10 and Bea Miranda, Lake Howell, with six. Jolee Johnson and Patti Rae, both of Lake Howell, added four points each while Erin Hankins and Rocio Barreto, both of South Seminole Middle School,

Whelchel-Yero Vows Spoken

Mary Deborah (Debbie) Whelchel and Efen Yero Jr. were united in Holy Matrimony April 30, at 2:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church of Sanford. The Rev. Dr. Virgil Bryant performed the candlelight and double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charlotte Garrett, Sanford, and the late Mr. Guy Garrett, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Whelchel of Metter, Ga. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Efen Yero, Surfside.

Given in marriage by her parents, Mrs. Garrett and Mr. Whelchel, the bride chose for her vows a formal white silk organza gown over peau de sole fashioned along the slim silhouette. The fitted bodice of reembroidered Alencon lace was sprinkled with seed pearls and featured a high sheer neckline dipping to a V, edged with Venice lace. Motifs of Alencon and Venice lace accentuated the long slim sleeves. The A-line skirt fell to a sweeping chapel length train edged in lace and seed pearls. She wore a full length veil of imported lace and carried a bouquet of fuchsia phalaenopsis orchids, white Rabrum lilies, stephanotis and pink sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Boo Hauck attended the bride as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Linda Welker, Miss Cindy Whelchel, Mrs. Kathy Simcoe, Mrs. Sara Smith, Miss Jan Hardin and Miss Lynn Winningham. Each wore a mauve chiffon gown with a natural waistline and a sweetheart neckline accented with an embroidered inset. Their silk flower arrangements featured pink, white, mauve and burgundy roses, Rubrum lilies, fuchsia phalaenopsis orchids and English Ivy.

Jorge Yero served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Dexter Sereda, Mike Whelchel Jr., Jeff Welker, Dean Hauck, Doug Hardin and Steve Winningham.

Christine Whelchel was the flower girl. John Youngers Jr. was the ring bearer. Following a reception in the church fellowship hall, the newlyweds departed on a wedding trip to Greece, Italy and Germany.

They are making their home in Deltona. The bride is employed by Stromberg-Carlson as a computer engineer. The bridegroom is self-employed in his computer business.

In And Around Longwood

School Honors Elizabeth Ring

Teachers, staff and students of Longwood Elementary School attended a luncheon on May 22 in honor of retiring teacher, Elizabeth Ring.

The luncheon, held from 2-4 p.m. in the school auditorium, was in honor of Elizabeth's retiring after 20 years of teaching first and second graders at the school.

At the luncheon, a delicious variety of hors d'oeuvres, vegetables and punch was served to the many students, former students, family members, teachers, staff members and area residents who came out to pay tribute to Elizabeth Ring.

A beautiful silver serving tray engraved with her name, school name, and dated 1963-1983, was presented to Elizabeth by school principal Arletta Coberly.

Elizabeth lives in Sanford with her husband, Dr. H. Ring, local chiropractic physician. They are members of the First Christian Church there.

On May 26 the Fife and Drum Corps of Longwood Elementary School will hold a special performance, "Concert on the Green."

The fife and drum corps, made up of 38 fourth and fifth grade boys and girls, will perform in full dress uniform starting at 6 p.m. The concert will be held in the field directly behind the school, and guest are advised to bring lounge chairs. The concert is free and is open to the public.

Following the concert, a dinner will be held for the parents and children in the corps. The dinner is not open to the public and tickets will be needed. Parents will bring a covered dish with the school providing the meat dishes. Corps members will receive awards of achievement for their active part in the corps.

According to Evelyn Towler, director of the fife and drum corps, next year's corps will be even larger. The school has been holding tryouts this past week. The corps will also be performing at Eastbrook Elementary School, at Southside Elementary School in Sanford on May 27, and at the Longwood VFW post for a Memorial Day service on May 30.

Every year, the Longwood Sertoma Club holds a special program for local youths called "Freedom Week." The purpose of the program is to stir up thought and interest in the meaning of America's Bill of Rights, Constitution and freedom.

Program chairman Carmine Bravo coordinated the program and selected two area schools to participate in this year's freedom week. Sertoma members visited the schools' fifth graders and spoke to the students about the Constitution and Bill of Rights and challenged them to write essays on their personal view of American freedom.

The schools chosen this year were Wekiva and Wilson Elementary. Once the students wrote their essays, they were given to a legislative aide from Representative Bobby Brantley's office to judge. Three winners were chosen from each school on the "What Freedom Means To Me" essays.

At a special luncheon held by the Sertoma Club, winners and a representative from each school received a plaque and the school that won in the overall category received a commemorative plaque to be kept in the school for the next year.

Winners from Wilson Elementary School are: first place, Derek Mattis; second place, Kabrina Troutman; third place, Katie Mae Stephens. Accompanying the students was school guidance counselor Gloria Padawer.

Winners from Wekiva Elementary School are: first place, Benjamin Dubbrin; second place, Julie Sandler; and third place, Christopher Garmon. Accompanying the students to the luncheon was school principal Ken Bovio.

In the overall category, Wekiva Elementary was the winner. All the students who participated received copies of the Constitution from the Sertoma Club.

Husband Blames Wife For Being Raped

DEAR ABBY: I was raped four months ago in my own home by a "friend" of my husband. Because I wasn't beaten half to death or killed, my husband insists I must have led the guy on.

Now I'm living in hell, and wish to God I'd kept my mouth shut. It did me no good to tell — only harm. Why do men think a woman would lie about such a thing?

I had told my husband years ago to keep this guy away from our home because he had made passes at me, but he wouldn't listen. This "friend" had raped another woman, but he got off because he'd known her for a long time and she was too embarrassed to press charges. My husband knew all this, but he still accuses me of encouraging the guy.

If you had any idea of what I've been through, you'd know why so many rapes go unreported. I know there must be plenty of women who have been through the same thing. Maybe if you print this it will open the eyes of men who claim to love their wives, but blame them if they get raped.

My marriage is hanging by a thread. I've cried until there are no more tears. Thanks for letting me get this off my chest. Abby, I feel better already.

DON'T USE MY NAME

DEAR DON'T: Please call your local rape crisis facility without delay. It offers free counseling to women — even those who were raped years ago but have felt too guilty and ashamed to tell anyone.

Just being able to verbalize the terrifying experience with others who have shared that nightmare can be enormously therapeutic. And from what you have told me about your husband, he needs counseling to understand that you were the victim and deserve support and comfort — not blame.

DEAR ABBY: How can I get my husband to be as romantic and thoughtful as he was before we were married?

Our first anniversary came and went. No flowers. No card. Nothing. That day really meant a lot to me, Abby. A holiday to him is just another day.

I'm a very sentimental person, and it hurts to be forgotten. I enjoy doing special things for him, but he never reciprocates. I know he loves me, but it would be nice to have some tangible evidence once in a while.

FEELING DEPRIVED

DEAR DEPRIVED: Wait for the appropriate time, then without being critical, judgmental or sulky, tell him you feel sad when he forgets those special occasions. And just to make sure he remembers, clip this column and tape it to his bathroom mirror the day before you want to be remembered.

DEAR READERS: The "unknown" author of "It's the Driver," a poem I published in this space, has surfaced. She is Frances Ellsworth Asher of Eustis, Fla.

Having been married for 61 years to a retired Colorado state patrolman, this prolific poetess has written a book of safety verses. My favorite:

TRAFFIC GEM
"When I'm driving I gain this impression --
"The precatarians use no discretion;
"But when walking, I alter the facts.

"And call drivers the real maniacs!"

DEAR ABBY: I received an invitation to a baby shower for a woman I know only casually. The hostess is a distant relative from whom I hear only when she wants something.

This note appeared with the invitation:

"Can you imagine a shower where the mother-to-be gets just what she wants, the right color and style, and doesn't get three of everything, and doesn't have to go and exchange them? Well, we can really have that kind of shower because I have a list of exactly what she wants. Just send me your check for $15 and I'll do the shopping! Hope to see you at the shower! — (Hostess)"

Nice wording, but I think this is an out-and-out request for funds. In other words, "The mother-to-be and I went shopping, and here is your share of the bill."

Do I have to send a gift whether I attend or not? Reply in your column, please.

ON THE SUCKER LIST
DEAR ON: I agree, it is an out-and-out request for funds. It's also not much fun for those who may want to surprise the mother-to-be with an imaginative gift of their own choosing. (And what about those who had planned on spending less than $15?)

If you feel (as your signature indicated) "on the sucker list," politely decline. An invitation does not obligate you to send a gift to someone you know "only casually."

Senkarik Glass & Paint For Quality, Service

Whether you are planning to paint, redecorate, install glass or invest in art supplies, Senkarik Glass and Paint Co. at 210 Magnolia Ave., Sanford, is the place for you.

Chances are you will need to look no further, whether the job is big or small. One of the most versatile paint and glass stores in Central Florida, Senkarik has a long tradition of quality and service in the Sanford area.

Founded more than 35 years ago by John Senkarik, the business and tradition are still carried on by his sons, Jerry and Eddie.

Senkarik carries a full line of nationally famous, Sanford-manufactured Pen Paints and Benjamin Moore Paints for interior and exterior paint jobs as well as all types of painting supplies, brushes and rollers.

The Senkariks are always glad to give painting advice and will even go out to your home to discuss special painting problems and estimate the overall cost of materials needed to do the job.

For any wood that must weather the outdoor elements, the Senkariks recommend McCloskey's Man o' War Ultra Spar Marine Varnish.

Senkarik carries a large selection of wallpaper designs, including photo murals and grass stock, from which to choose. Senkarik specializes in all types of glass, including table tops, custom residential glazing, mirrors, glass replacement, storefront commercial and auto glass. The also stock Plexiglas in four thicknesses.

Do-it-yourselfers need not be afraid to tackle the job of refinishing old furniture because of the tedious work involved, lack of know-how or proper aids. Senkarik has all the necessary products and advice for a professional looking job or restoring old furniture, antiques and picture frames.

Lacquer, varnish or shellac can all be removed with the Hope two-step method of instant refinishing. Hope's refinisher removes old finish with no stripping, no paint brushes and no sandpaper. Follow this up with a finish coat of Hope's Tung Oil and your furniture will be ready for use the same day.

Artists—whether beginners or professionals—will find a large variety of art supplies with such quality name brands as Grumbacher, Delta, Winsor-Newton and Liquitex. If you don't find what you want in stock, they will be glad to order it for you.

To frame your work of art, Senkarik has a large selection of frames.—ADV.

MacTavish Carpet Offers Discounts

By Leroy C. MacTavish
 Owner, MacTavish Discount Carpet

Consider this—A few ideas to help select your next floor covering dealer. For true value we recommend an independently owned specialty shop for many reasons.

A small business is an art—not a science. A child is not a small adult nor is a small business a miniature replica of a big business.

We see big business gobbling up small business and using its leverage to dominate competition. Every day we see competitors involved in merchandising tools, photo finishing, rug cleaning, income tax preparation, roof trusses and optometry. What is next—brain surgery and call girls?

Many advantages are on the side of the small businessman. For instance, two bugaboos of big business—high interest rates and high credit costs. Both are effectively taken care of for us because big money lenders cannot be bothered with small business, we discount our invoices and sell for cash. No interest—no credit—no problems!

Our everyday prices must be as low as, and are usually lower than the big stores' advertised sale prices. This is surprisingly easy to accomplish because of their high cost of doing business—expensive ads, high rent, air conditioning, computers, stockholder dividends, etc.

Our store located at 207 Magnolia Ave., Sanford, is our warehouse, no fancy furniture, mirrors or displays, but rolls and rolls of quality merchandise adequately displayed on pipe racks for your inspection and selection. The downtown Sanford location rents for a fraction of the cost of a shopping center location or busy thoroughfare. We buy only special priced merchandise for stock. These consist of discontinued qualities, mill over runs, distributor close-outs, roll ends, remnant packages and repairable damaged goods.

Special buys can mean terrific savings of 20 to 60 percent, which are passed on to our customers. Just a word about cheap carpet. Yes, there is cheaper carpet available elsewhere. Experience has taught us that our customers are the type that do not like cheap steak, but they do like steak cheap! Our aim is to furnish medium to high end carpet at good substantial savings.

Our target is you—the individual home owner. We are not involved in tract homes, office buildings, condominiums, etc. We are especially prepared to take care of your replacement needs whether a houseful or a small bedroom or sewing room. Our goal is to make buying from us an easy and pleasant task. Come in for a nice smile, a friendly greeting, a helpful attitude and a thank you.—Adv.

Cocaine Hollywood Discovered It First; Now Tinsel Town Fighting Back

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The movie-TV industry, its tinsel tarnished by a blizzard of incidents arising from cocaine use, is coming to grips with the problem.

As many as 10 percent of all people in the entertainment industry are or have had a cocaine problem.

Drug abuse experts, as well as former and current coke addicts, say the chic and expensive habit spread across the country from Hollywood. But they also claim "the industry" has been among the first to recognize and fight it.

"In Hollywood, there is a wave of backing down from cocaine," said Dr. Michael Stone, who has treated a number of celebrities and professional athletes.

"There is a leveling off among more sophisticated people who got into cocaine a few years ago," he said in an interview. "The people who got into it first have seen some people go down and die."

—Comedian John Belushi, the rotund movie and television star, died of an overdose of cocaine and heroin in a Hollywood motel in 1982 after an all night drug and alcohol orgy in 1982.

—Oscar-winning actor Richard Dreyfus, after smashing his Mercedes-Benz convertible into a tree in Beverly Hills last year, was arrested for possessing cocaine and placed in a drug education program. He later said he was glad to be caught before he killed himself.

—MacKenzie Phillips was fired from the TV series "One Day at a Time" because of her cocaine addiction in 1980. She also underwent treatment and publicly discussed her problem.

—Comedian Richard Pryor suffered severe burns in 1980 in what police said was an accident involving "freebasing," or the smoking of cocaine in its purest and most powerful form. He now discusses the incident during his routines.

Experts say these sensational incidents were just the tip of Hollywood's cocaine iceberg.

"You wouldn't believe the problem in this town with cocaine," said Tom Kenny, director of alcoholism and drug programs for the Motion Picture and Television Fund. "We're receiving an average of 40 calls a month from industry people regarding their alcohol and drug problems."

He estimated that 10 percent in the industry — technicians, actors and executives — have a cocaine problem. A Time magazine survey recently indicated up to 1 million people nationwide may be dependent on the drug.

"There's probably more in our industry because we make more money, work longer hours and there's a lot of stress," Kenny said. "This is the kind of industry where you don't have people on an assembly line who can be easily watched."

Dr. Stone, who operates a Care Unit drug and alcohol rehabilitation center that has treated about 150 cocaine addicts a year, agrees cocaine use is widespread in Hollywood, but contends members of the entertainment industry are no different from athletes, lawyers and other people who can afford the drug, which costs about $100 a gram.

"On one set where they are doing a series, just about everyone may be doing cocaine including the actors, while on another set nobody is using cocaine," he said. "It seems if it's okay for the actor, it's okay for everyone else."

What sets Hollywood apart from other segments of society, Stone said, is a special style.

"There's a flamboyance, a striving to become popular and famous, and that leads to experimentation of everything from sex to drugs to alcohol," he said.

"Tony," a former personnel director at a major Hollywood studio who used to sell cocaine to fellow workers to finance his freebasing habit, believes the rest of the country has caught up with Hollywood in terms of choosing cocaine as its favorite recreational drug.

He agreed to discuss the problem if he were not identified.

"I've seen actors and actresses, producers and directors use cocaine," he said. "But I've also seen corporate executives, musicians, secretaries — the average person — use cocaine."

"The movie and music industry is the most lucrative market, but now it's everywhere."

"The best work in Hollywood is done by people who are clean," Tony said. "Some people think they are more creative with cocaine, but they're not."

"The best work you do is when you see reality and relate it to the audience."

Wouldn't You Like To Have A Job Like These Guys?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The average pay for the heads of leading corporations was $365,000 last year, surveys show.

U.S. News and World Report said that while profits after taxes plummeted 22.4 percent in 1982, the pay of the top executives slipped only 2.7 percent.

Twenty-nine of the 916 top executives surveyed made more than $1 million a year, three more than the previous year.

A similar survey published last week by Forbes magazine of the top 800 companies found an even higher average pay of top executives — nearly $450,000 a year.

The biggest paychecks found in the survey were those of top executives of a giant commodities and investment firm, Phibro-Salomon, that benefited from the year's explosion in securities trading.

Phibro's co-chairman, John Gutfreund, was paid $2.2 million, most of it in bonuses. Four vice presidents each earned more than $2 million, including economist Henry Kaufman whose interest rate pessimism is widely followed on Wall St.

Walter Wriston, chairman of New York's Citicorp and its chief subsidiary Citibank became the first bank executive to climb into the million-dollar ranking, the magazine said Sunday.

Wriston's pay rose to $1,137,393 in 1982 from the previous year's $768,758.

At the same time, the top man at Exxon was getting a 6.6 percent pay cut — but Clifton Garvin Jr. was still above the million mark, at $1,336,250 in salary and bonuses.

Drooping CBS earnings, down 30.9 percent in 1982, took president Thomas Wyman's salary and bonuses down by 22.4 percent to $683,654, about 40 percent less than his famous former anchorman Walter Cronkite who still is on both the payroll and the board of directors.

Chrysler President Lee Iacocca exercised enough stock options at a low price to realize, at least on paper, a $2.1 million gain in his holdings during the year, the report said.

Drug 'Fat Cats' Indicted

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — Federal prosecutors say the 40 people named in the first major indictments from President Reagan's anti-narcotics task force were "white-collar types" who financed and organized the smuggling of $800 million worth of marijuana and hashish.

About a dozen of those indicted have been arrested, including two in the custody of authorities in Australia, authorities said Monday in announcing the indictments from "Operation Jackpot."

The defendants, mostly from South Carolina, were traced to alleged narcotics operations through a "paper trail" of bank drafts, passports and other documents.

"These are all upper-level or mid-level people in drug trafficking," U.S. Attorney Henry Dargan McMaster said at a news conference. "These aren't the peddlers out on the streets — these are white-collar types."

The defendants were named in two indictments. The first involved 159,000 pounds of marijuana valued at $153.2 million and 30,000 pounds of hashish valued at $84 million. The second indictment concerns 187,500 pounds of marijuana worth $180 million and 130,000 pounds of hashish worth $364,000.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
MAY 25, 1983
This coming year you are likely to associate with more influential people than you have in the past. Don't miss opportunities to strengthen these relationships.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Carefully weigh and analyze your alternatives in career matters today, but don't do so to the point where it leads to indecisiveness. Gemini predictions for the year ahead are now ready. Romance, career, luck, earnings, travel and much more are discussed. Send $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic combinations and compatibilities for all signs.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) There may be a great deal you would like to do for others today. This could upset you, because you might not be able to accomplish it all.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Normally you are able to tolerate, or at least cope, with a demanding friend, but today his request could get under your skin and cause you to snap back.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In competitive involvements today, it's important to do your best at all times. If you become too complacent, the opposition could win.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Subdue urges today to contradict others merely for the sake of argument. Actions of this nature could trigger futile debates.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be practical in joint ventures today, or you may find yourself operating from a weak position where you are giving away more than you'll get.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your judgment might not be up to par today and steps may have to be retraced. Be prepared to have in your feet what you don't have in your head.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Uncharacteristically, you may have been neglecting duties which you said you'd attend to for another. Get on them before he gets on you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Friends may not be around to bail you out today if you get yourself in over your head. To be on the safe side, strap on your own lifejacket.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) That little green-eyed monster could taunt you today if you compare your status with that of others. Brush him off the moment he appears.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Try not to be impulsive or impatient in your commercial affairs today. In your haste to get things done, you could make a big mistake.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't let persons less prudent than yourself influence your thinking in money matters today. They could be indifferent to your needs.

Guy Pumps Iron But Biceps Not Bulging

Dr. Lamb
DEAR DR. LAMB — Maybe you can tell me if I'm wasting my time working with weights. I'm impatient and confused.

I'm a 24-year-old guy, about 5 foot 11 and weigh around 160. A year ago I decided to do something about my appearance. Sit-ups helped remove extra meat around the center but I've become discouraged using the dumbbell set and bench I purchased.

I've always been on the lean side. I'd like to change that but after several months of weight work, three times a week, I see no great results.

Are some people just destined to be lean? Is there hope? Why do some guys just seem to grow muscles like magic while others have no luck?

DEAR READER — For openers, if that 160 pounds is muscle and not fat, you are just fine. Those months of exercise you have done to date may well have eliminated body fat while developing muscle. That happens and the body weight doesn't change. But the appearance does — for the better.

There are inherited characteristics that do influence muscle development. And muscle growth is influenced by sex hormones too. That has a lot to do with the difference in muscle development in men versus women, even when both are in top physical condition.

That is also why boys doing weight training before puberty — which is questionable unless done carefully and with good supervision — do not develop big muscles either.

A common reason a weight training program fails is that the person tries too hard. You don't need a lot of exercise when you start. You need to use a near maximum effort (at least 60 percent) and do it several times. As you increase your ability to make a strong contraction or lift a great weight, your muscle grows. If you do a lot of less forceful contractions, you will tire your muscles but they won't grow much.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I hope you can help me. I am a male, 23 years old, 6 feet tall and weigh 165 pounds. I am not fat but my rear end is grossly out of proportion to the rest of me. I have even been whistled at by guys when I'm jogging and have had other remarks.

I don't need to diet and when I do lose a few pounds it is never from my rear. Are there any surgical techniques to remove fat that isn't needed? Or shots that burn up fat?

DEAR READER — There is no such thing as spot reducing so you will need to look to diet and exercise to reach your goal. I know you probably inherited genes that caused your problem but you can improve things.

Here's how. Go on a sensible diet and continue your exercise program. But to develop the kind of body you want, begin a weight-training program, preferably supervised, to build up your upper body and avoid losing muscle while you diet. Eventually those fat stores will be removed and you will still have a good upper body.

If you can't hack that, plastic surgeons do indeed remove excess body fat. Some even do body sculpturing. I would prefer that you follow the exercise program, though. Then maybe the girls will whistle at you.

lead and lost the spade finesse to the U.E. Back came the queen of diamonds. The prof won and played his top hearts on which the U.E. carefully threw the six and four of diamonds. Next came a club to dummy's ace, three more spades and the last high diamond to leave a three-card ending.

Dummy was left with the king-queen-ten of clubs. The U.E. had clearly been dealt 5-1-5-2 distribution and was down to three singletons. West was marked with three clubs.

"In his prime," said the U.E., "the prof would have taken the three-to-one odds in favor of a finesse against the club jack and gone down two, but he went up and scored his slam."

The unlucky expert had trapped us again with a story about the professor. He said, "The prof is getting old and can't count anymore. I had him set up for a sure bottom at six no-trump, but he made the hand just as all the ordinary players who bid it had."

The prof won the heart

We had to ask the prof about the play later. He replied: "If the U.E. had not gone out of his way to show five diamonds, I might well have taken the blow since I could have visualized the distribution without all that help, but I could now see that club jack as clearly as with Superman's X-ray vision."
