Do You Want Your A&P Put Out Of Business?

Last Thursday in New York, the anti-trust lawyers from Washington filed a suit to put A&P out of business.

They asked the court to order us to get rid of most of our stores and also the manufacturing facilities which supply you with A&P coffee, Ann Page products, Jane Parker baked goods, and other quality items we produce.

This would mean higher food prices for you. It would mean less food on every dinner table and fewer dollars in every pay envelope.

It would mean the end of A&P as you know it.

This poses a basic question for the American people: Do they want to continue to enjoy lower prices and better living? Or do they want to break up A&P and pay higher prices, and have lower living standards?

What do you want?

Why Destroy A&P?

This suit was brought under the anti-trust laws. These are good laws. They were passed about fifty years ago to prevent any company, or any group of companies, from getting a monopoly in a field and then raising prices to the public.

A&P has never done any of these things.

Nebedy has ever shown that we have anything even approaching a monopoly of the food business anywhere. As every housewife knows, the retail grocery business is the most competitive in the country and we do only a small part of it. Nobody has ever said we charged too high prices — just the opposite. This whele attack rises out of the fact that we sell good food too cheap. We would not have had any of this trouble if, instead of lowering prices, we had raised them and pocketed the difference.

Nobody has ever said that our profit rate was too high. During the past five years our net profit, after taxes, has averaged about 11/2c on every dollar of sales, which is less than almost any other business you can think of.

The American people have shown that they like our low-price policy by coming to our stores to do their shopping. If A&P is big, it is because the American people, by their patronage, have made it big.

Obviously, it is the theory of the anti-trust lawyers that the people have no right to patronize a company, if their patronage will make that company grow; and that any big business must be destroyed simply because it is big, and even if the public gets hurt in the process.

Do You Want Higher Prices?

American system of efficient, low-cost, low-profit distribution which we pioneered, will face distruction and the public will suffer.

A&P was the first chain store in this country. For more than ninety years we have tried to build a sound business on the simple formula the founder gave us: "Give the people the meet good food you can for their money." Year after year we have tried to do a better job, make our business more efficient, and pass the savings on to the consumer in the form of lower prices.

Our efforts along these lines have led other grocers to keep their costs and profits down.

In the old days before A&P, food that cost the grocer 50¢, often sold as high as $1.00 at retail.

Today, food that costs the grees 50¢ generally sells to the public at less than 60¢. The methods we pioneered have been adopted not only by other grocers, but by merchants in other lines. There are today literally hundreds of chain stores, voluntary groups and individual merchants operating with the same methods and in the same pattern here under attack.

If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in destroying A&P, the way will be clear for the destruction of every other efficient large-scale distributor.

Who Will Be Hurt?

There has never been any question in our mind that it is good business sail good citizenship to sell good food as cheaply as possible. As Fortune Magazine said about A&P some time ago, "It is firmly attached to the one great principle the selling of more for less — that has made the desert bloom and the nation wax great."

We sincerely believe that we have helped the American people out better and live better.

We believe that the hundreds of thousands of farmers and manufacturers who have voluntarily sought our business have profited by our fast, low-cost distribution of their products.

We know that our 110,000 loyal employees enjoy today, as they always have, the highest wages, shortest hours and best working conditions generally preyaling in the retail food industry; and that these men and women-have found in A&P good opportunities for security and progress.

We know that thousands of businessmen — the landlords who rent us our stores, the haulers who operate our trucks, the people who supply us with goods and services — have a hig stake in our operations.

Obviously, all these people will suffer if this company is put out of business.

What Shall We Do?

We admit that the interests of the owners of A&P are of little importants.

Frankly, they could make an enormous amount of money by breaking up A&P, as the anti-trust lawyers wish, and selling off the parts.

But is this what the American people want? Do they agree with the anti-iries lawyers that our food prices are too low, and that we should be put out of the picture so other grocers can charge more?

Frankly, if this were the case, we would not want to continue in business.

But we seriously doubt that this is the case. Twelve years age, an effect was made to tax this company and other chain stores out of business. The juditionalist to our support. They said they liked our quality foods and our low prices. As a result of their opposition, the tax was defeated.

New we are faced with this new attack through the courts. We are faced with the heavy costs and all the trouble that lawsuits involve.

But we believe this attack is a threat to millions of consumers who rely six as for quality foods at low prices; to farmers who rely on us for fact, low-cost displication of their products; and to our loyal amployees.

We feel that it is our responsibility to all these people to defend, by grays had the property and the low-rates makes as which it was had

New Record For France ---

No American is surprised when the President completes a year in office without having resigned or been removed. In France, where Henri Queuille has just served a full year as premier, this short term is a post-war record. The premier is the actual head of government, but is appointed rather than elected. Before the war it was just as bad. Often there than elected. Before the war it was just as bad. Often there were two or three premiers in a year. The record for length of service is only three years, less than a single presidential actually said was, "We should of term. This was set in 1920 by Pierre Waldcck-Rousseau, perhaps the ablest French statesman of the Third Republic.

Why are changes so frequent? A premier and his ministry must resign whenever the lower house of the parliament defeats an administration bill whih has been made a deliberate issue. Had this rule prevailed in the United States. President Truman would have gone out of office long ago. His successor would have been someone appealing to the majority in Congress and subject to deposition when the majority so willed. That would cause governmental chaos here, and so it does in France.

One remedy might be to allow the premier when a test bill is beaten, to call for a new national election. Many In order that the public may members of parliament would be less hasty about turning be properly informed of the situout the premier if they knew that it meant for them the trouble and expense of another campaign. Such a rule is vital in parliamentary nations like Great Britain and Canada. The French Constitution of 1946 contains no such provision. Until some change is made, premiers' terms are likely to be shorter than the very mederate length attained by Quealle.

With the rapid growth of population in this country in such district. and the inroads of civilization upon their former haunts, it | Prior to Oct. 13, 1947, Dr. Hass would be natural to assume that our wild game population was being steadily lowered. That such is not the case is the opinion of Albert M Day, director of the Fish and Wildlife Service. Speaking before a national conference on conservation and natural resources, Mr. Day outlined a problem of coping with a growing biggame population and natural resources. of coping with a growing big-game population, now estimated at 7,750,000 animals.

The many preserves for the protection of wild animals, logether with enforcement of game laws, have effectively increased their numbers. A startling note of the recent news told of bears going into the city of Duluth to raid garbage cans. Orchardists and other farmers often find damage caused by deer, and the rabbit is a common garden pest. Skunks cannot be omitted from any such discussion as this, for they are very hard to ignore. Perhaps next in order, in for they are very hard to ignore, Perhaps next in order, in the relations of man and the animals of the wild, may be a search for means to keep the latter in their proper environment.

Rural Common Sense By Spuda Johnson

Two thirds of all the world's people spent their lives struggling to cultivate land.

Despite this fact, two thirds of the world's population are badly sourished. The earth has never produced enough food to supply its inhabitants adequately. Bame men live in plenty, others in dire need. Food rots in the sun some countries while in others -merely a few days distant in the age of air—the threat of starvation is an ever-recurring hadow. End hunger and you may wir peace. There is a small group of scientist who are working for that idea—the members of the Food and Agriculture Orga: .action of the United Nations. Their motto is the Latin phrase, Fiat Panis-Let There He Bread.

Nothing that concerns the clothing, the shelter, the diet or the food of modern man is alien to the ing, hybridizing techniques, fertilizers, insecticides, the aradication of fungi-all these are part of the organization's program for the years ahead. One of its goals is a year increase in fish catches, and fallery councils are being set up all over the world. As Sir Herbert Broadley, deputy director general of the organization, says, "The oceans of the world are its most underdeveloped countries."

Another problem it is tackling in the losses from rats, insects and fungi which destroy bread grains and rice. The estimated world osees from these in 1947 were 33,000,000 tons of grain-enough food to keep 150,000,000 people live for a year. The knowledge of preventive measures is being

Sam From Osaka Takes Dim View Of U.S.False Front

NEW YORK,—(A)—Sam, elgar-smoking, saki-drinking big wheel from Osaka, thinks one American product has only a limited future in Japan.

The product is-falsies. "If Japanese girl wears Eu-ropean dress," said Same "may-be falsies all right.
