ARMISTICE DAY FITTINGLY OBSERVED IN SANFORD LEADER OF GERMAN REVOLT IS CAPTURED

ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAM FILLS PART OF MORNING PARADE WAS EMBLEMATIC

OF THE GREAT DAY WHEN WORLD WAR WAS ENDED
INSPIRING ADDRESS

By Dr. Brownlee On The Duty
We Owe To All
Humanity

Armistice Day was fittingly opened this morning at nine o'clock when the parade formed at the court house and wended its way over the principal streets of the city.

The parade was led by Sheriff Hand and Chief of Police Williams on horses with the city police force following on foot. Mayor Lake and city officials and Confederate Veterans, the colors with a guard or honor of soldiers and sailors, Spanish War Veterans under Commander Terhoun, Company D of the 154th Infantry, Boy Scouts, Fort Pitt Band, American Legion boys and other organizations and citizens in cars bringing up the rear. The parade stopped at the band stand in Central Park where Capt. A. P. Haggard in an opening address introduced the speakers. Dr. King of the First Baptist church invoked the divine blessing on the assemblage and Dr. E. D. Brownlee of the Presbyterian church made the address which was pronounced one of the most beautiful tributes to the veterans that has ever been given here. He asked that our interest in the men who went forth to battle for the democracy of the world should not stop in brief memorial addresses or observances but that the citizenship of the United States should bend every effort for World peace in order that the men who died in the world war should not have died in vain. That it is not a question of big armaments for world peace since those nations of the world best armed wanted to use their armament and this caused the world war. There is no peace by armament as the nations most prosperous and most active in armament and working for world power were the first to want war and had painted the seven seas with the blood of the young men of the world. It has been found that big developments and mere treaties with nations were scraps of paper, that education and science and wealth had been used to develop war. That only the spirit of good will toward men throughout the world would promote peace everlasting in the world and that all men should inculcate the principles of good will before wars would cease. There were four causes for war said the speaker and they were greed, jealousy, the spirit of revenge for past ravages of war and a stubborn prejudice that prevented men from meeting around the conference table to adjust their differences. "May God make us worthy of those men who went forth to fight for an ideal" and we should set ourselves the task to make the flag the emblem of good will toward men that we might rest in peace until men are imbued with the real spirit of good will and to eradicate the spirit that suggested the four causes of the World War and of all wars.

The ceremony of placing the wreath on the monument to the fallen heroes of the war was then held. Ensign Fuller and Commander Akers of the navy placing the wreath on the monument while Edgar Ball sounded "Taps" and everyone stood at attention. The march was then resumed and ended at the court house where the parade was disbanded.

The afternoon's football game between Sanford High and Miami High will take place and tonight the

MEMORIAL TO FORMER LEGION COMMANDER

This memorial to Colonel Frederick Galbraith, Jr., former national commander of the American Legion, will be unveiled in Cincinnati as the principal event in that city's observance of Armistice Day.

Cabinet members and representatives from the allied embassies and legations are expected to be present, together with Ohio World War veterans, many of whom served under Galbraith.

Colonel Galbraith, elected to the Legion commandership at the Legion convention in September, 1920, was killed in an automobile accident June 9, 1921. He received the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in France. He also was awarded the French and Belgian Croix de Guerre and the French Legion D'Honneur.

NOV. 11, 1918

Five years since the Armistice was signed! A long time, yes. But we're still too close to the World War for any of us to "grasp" what really happened and sense its connection with the future.

Under arms in the great war were 65 million men. Casualties totaled more than 37 millions. That tells only part of the story of horror. But it should be called daily to the attention of every one.

Alas, memory is short. Humanity likes to forget the unpleasant side of life. That is why catastrophes like wars are repeated. One generation, trying to forget, fails to impress indelibly on the minds of the rising generation the frightfulness, sorrow and futility of the battlefield.

Celebrate Armistice Day by teaching your children to hate war and all that goes with it. Forget the "glory" which is the camouflage of the militarists.

Thirty-seven million casualties! Tell them that.

Thirty-seven casualties! Tell it again.

Thirty-seven million casualties! Never stop telling.

ARMISTICE DAY MESSAGE BY JOHN R. QUINN

National Commander, American Legion

Five years ago today the war ended—officially. However, it has not really ended, nor can it end until the principles for which our soldiers fought have been fulfilled to the utmost.

It is fitting that on this day we should rededicate ourselves to "carrying on" by solemn declaration within our own consciences. To do our part today in this re-pledging to principle, pause for a moment and recall the principles for which our men went willingly to the chance of death—many to die.

You remember the phrase on their lips and in their hearts: "a war to end war." Yet wars are not ended. They went beyond the seas into a hell of death and destruction that their sons and daughters and the sons and daughters of their brothers might be spared a like horror in time to come. Yet today there is no guaranty, no certainty that another war will not be forced upon this nation, or any nation, at some future time.

The American Legion pledged itself at its last annual convention to strive unceasingly for peace. This does not mean that we have joined the ranks of those so-called pacifists of war-time memory. Far from it. As long as conditions may make war necessary to protect our nation from aggression or the call to arms. But we strive toward an era when our nation and all nations may live and fulfill their destinies without injustice, oppression or the necessity to protect themselves from such by force.

The American Legion pledged itself to no one plan to end war. Neither does it ask that you do so. It is a question upon which opinions differ; each must act according to his belief.

But we do ask that you, upon this Armistice Day, take the solemn resolve that you will leave no act undone or word unsaid that may advance, even in the smallest degree, the era of perpetual peace. You may not have the opportunity of speaking from a platform, but this does not excuse you. If you have one neighbor, one friend, whom you can convert to the cause of peace and fail to do so, then you have not kept faith with those who "sleep in Flanders Fields."

There is an organization, international, of fighting men of the allied armies. This organization has declared that, once brothers in arms, they are today brothers in peace. Nearly every nation which stood side by side in the World War is represented. Here is a nucleus. But the nucleus is not sufficient in itself. It requires the active help of world opinion. When the demand for perpetual peace is made, THE business, THE most urgent demand of every man, woman and child, then will lasting peace come.

I ask that NOW you solemnly enlist this greatest cause of all time, the ending of war. Thus, and thus only, can you keep faith with those who kept faith with you in the time of your greatest need.

Agent took orders on the campus for juice which was delivered after so long a time many thought his visit was a hoax. With the juice came directions for adding yeast. Many followed the directions and found the receipt worked all right.

LOST CHILD IN ARKANSAS IS NOT FOUND

Child In Oklahoma Is Not Pearl Turner

FT. SMITH, Ark., Nov. 12.—Child being held in Picher, Okla., believed to have been little Pearl Turner has been identified as Elizabeth Holman. Turner girl been sought for several weeks, hundreds of citizens on several occasions participating in comb of woods surrounding her home.

Last week saw the completion of plans to colonize and develop as farms and poultry yards, 70,000 acres of land in Palm Beach county, according to Mmie. B. Wesley, of San Francisco, who is promoting the scheme. The plans are to utilize the land as a settlement for American-born Serbs, Roumanians and Hungarians who will engage in the poultry business on a large scale.

The south end of St. Lucie county is due for a period of real growth and prosperity. The proposed bridge across the Indian River at Jensen will more than put that section on the map. Naturally, it is one of the most beautiful in Florida and waits only for the magic influence of development and money to rival any of the new, better known sections of Florida's beautiful East Coast.

HITLER HAS BEEN ARRESTED AND PRINCE IS AT ESTATE

LOOKS LIKE PEACE

Dutch Minister Leaves For Conference With Former German Kaiser

(By The Associated Press)
BERLIN, Nov. 12.—Adolph Hitler, leader of the recent Munich revolt, was arrested today near Lake Staffe, South Bavaria. He offered no resistance.

THE HAGUE, Nov. 12.—Dr. Kan, an official of the ministry of the interior left for Doorn today for a conference with former Emperor William.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Former Crown Prince Frederick William has arrived at his estate at Oels, says a Berlin correspondent of the Central News. The prince passed through Wusterhausen near the German capital where he was welcomed by Burgomaster in a brief speech.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—A dispatch to the Central News bureau from Berlin says the fighting organizations in Bavaria, the disbandment and disarming of which were ordered, are still strong today and that they have sent an ultimatum to Dr. Von Kahr, the dictator, demanding the resignation of the ministry of Premier Von Killring and amnesty for all persons recently arrested.

The dispatch adds that Adolph Hitler, the fascist leader in Bavaria, is in the woods south of Munich and that the Austrian government is alarmed over his possible co-operation with the Hungarian deputy Ullain, who was arrested last week, while on his way to Bavaria to confer with the Hitlerites. Therefore Austria has ordered the arrest of Hitler if he crosses the frontier.

ESSEN, Nov. 12.—The French general commanding in the Essen district has ordered the city high school closed from November 12 to December. This action was taken because a group of pupils playing in the court yard whistled derisively at a regiment of French soldiers as it marched past. The directors of the school were arrested.

PARIS, Nov. 12.—The German crown prince's exile in Holland, lasting just five years, exceeded five-fold that of Napoleon at Elba, and it remains for the council of ambassadors to decide whether the erstwhile heir to the crown of Prussia is attempting to play the role of Bonaparte and some of St. Helena must be provided for him before 100 days have elapsed, or whether he is just plain Mr. Hohenzollern trying to lead a quiet life as a private citizen and as such will be permitted to remain in the fatherland. The future adjustment of Frederick William's life is now entirely up to the ambassadors' council, insofar as the reich government will heed its advice, and that body absolutely refuses to enlighten the expectant populations as to what recommendations, notes or ultimatums—if any—it will send to the Berlin government on the subject.

It was even said in official circles yesterday that the ambassadors' council meeting fixed for tonight be postponed until Tuesday. The reasons given for the possible postponement was that "the ambassadors probably will not receive instructions from their respective governments in time to deal with the matters before them."

She also shot and killed Rosier's stenographer, Miss Geroldine Reckitt, but subsequently was acquitted.

AUTO OWNERS HAVE SURPRISE IF THEY WAIT

Any Longer To Take Out Certificate of Ownership

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 9.—A hundred thousand or more automobile owners in Florida are due for a surprise if they wait much longer to take out certificates of title on their motor cars, according to officials in the Comptroller's office. License tag application blanks, more than 300,000 of which already have been ordered, are designed to bring out whether or not the applicant has a certificate of title showing his ownership of the car for which he seeks a license. Unless a certificate has been issued, the officials say, the license tag will be withheld until it has been obtained.

Wherefore the surprise, for every year there is a great rush in January for automobile license tags. Frequently the applicant waits until the last moment to order his tag and then wants it in a hurry, but beginning with January 1 those without certificates of title will be "out of luck," it is stated.

Only fifty-eight thousand titles have been issued since the Certificate of Title, or Anti-Theft law, has been in effect—beginning July 1. The automobile license records show, however, that there are approximately 160,000 motor vehicles in the state. This, the records show, indicates that 100,000 of these vehicles are without the necessary proof of ownership to entitle their owners to a license tag under the new requirements.

A number of communities are also said to be planning for an immediate enforcement of the Auto Theft Law, according to information reaching the Comptroller's office, which may force the owners who have failed to provide themselves with certificates of title to run their machines into the garage and keep it there until the certificate has been obtained, or run the risk of being taken in by the state inspectors.

The exact number of motor vehicle license registrations to date for the year 1923 is 172,782 of which there are about 12,000 transfer and duplicates, leaving a net registration of 162,000 motor vehicles.

Oswatimole, Kans.—Mrs. E. E. Keast, formerly of Illinois, resides here, says: "We moved to this state eleven years ago, and I had good health for a long while; and then some year or so ago I had a bad sick spell."

"I got so weak I couldn't go. I couldn't stand on my feet at all. I had to go to bed. I suffered a great deal. I was so nervous I felt I couldn't live. I tried medicines, and everything had the best of attention, yet I wasn't able to get up. I lay for three months, not able to do anything."

"My husband is a bill poster and has circulars distributed. One day there came to be a Ladies Birthday Almanac among his circulars. I read it, and told some of the family to get me a bottle of Cardui."

"I quit all other medicines and took it (Cardui) faithfully, and two weeks from the time I began to take Cardui I was out of bed—better than for months."

"I kept it up, and continued to improve until I was a well woman."

"Do you wonder that I am a believer in Cardui? I certainly am. And I am sure there is no better tonic made for women than Cardui." NC-151

As we write these few lines we hear the small boys and some of the big boys firing shooting crackers and other noise makers just outside our window and it makes us wonder just what it is all about. Is Armistice Day a time for fire crackers and celebration or should it be a day of quiet reflection and memories of those whose deeds will never be forgotten?

To those of us who passed through the fiery furnace and saw war as it was in all its ghastly horror the celebration of Armistice Day is anything but a celebration. It is an observance, a dedication, a memorial and not a Roman holiday and as such it should not be celebrated with fire crackers and noise but it should be observed with appropriate exercises and the army and navy should be the honored guests of the feast prepared.

The Chamber of Commerce is putting on an advertising campaign of large proportions this year and one that will get results along every line. The day has come for Sanford and all of Seminole County to advertise along the right lines. The Publicity Committee of the Chamber of Commerce has been working hard on this subject and they are all men who know what real publicity should be. The money will be spent judiciously and the results will soon be apparent.

The Herald will come out early today in order that all the force can get away to enjoy the football game and the fireworks and other fog ends of the big celebration. The Herald takes no vacation today although it is one day that we would all like to take since we are vitally interested in the American Legion and all that it holds dear. The men on the Herald did their full part in the World War and we know what Armistice Day means.

SCOUTING APPEALS TO MEN.

"Only he can hope to train a child in the way to go who goes that way himself." Men, are you geared to your highest moral tone? Do you sit level in the balance when different groups are tugging at the scales? Do you mistake your virtue for capacity?

The big idea is to get the Scout movement into the hands of adequate and permanent leadership with the greatest number of boys under proper leadership.

Scouting is as necessary in a community as a patrol is to a troop, neither is against the other but both are for each other.

A man in business may get into a rut, but he never can in Scouting, for there is no such thing as a rut in the Scout program, for a rut is only a grave with the ends knocked out and in business one must be careful not to bury himself.

There are three points men should know about Scouting:

- First—There is a misconception that Scouting is play. Second—Some folks think that Scouting is military (a misconception). Third—Scouting is not organized athletics.

The fundamental facts necessary to put Scouting across are Action and Observation. There is objective action and subjective action. Objective action is telling. Subjective action is doing (getting results).

From the germ of action develops the program of action. Honor, ownership, sense of responsibility and attitude are the heart and soul of Scouting and bring out the best in the boy who should have maximum doing and minimum looking on.

The Scoutmaster is a trainer rather than an administrator. He develops the scout spirit through the patrols. The program he plans are the key notes to the Scouts activities. No community would be without a troop of Scouts if they know the value of that troop to the community, nor would any Scout troop lack leadership if the men only know the joy of outdoor life with a troop of Scouts on a hike.

Men, it makes you want to be a Daniel Boone, or a Kit Carson, or a Davy Crockett or a Lewis Wetzel. The fascination of the all outdoors, the cooking of your own meals, the peace of sleeping under the stars, the wonder of the moonlight and the joy of the awakening next morning with the song of birds, the ripple of the stream, and the great notes of gladness bursting from a thousand throats, makes you realize that life is worth while when there is no much for which to be happy.

Just hear what Mr. Daddy said: "Until Jimmy became a Scout, I never knew what it was to sleep outdoors nor to cook my own meals, and I never really heard the song of birds until he called my attention to the thirty or forty which he so quickly recognized and named, and he showed me how to make a leanto for shelter and to dress a wound if I were hurt, and how to save a person from drowning and a hundred other things which I should have known and didn't. Say, fellows, my kid puts it all over me for knowing things and I am sometimes ashamed to admit it, but it sure is the truth, but I am learning fast, and I am going to get a troop of Scouts of my own, and Jimmie is going to be my patrol leader and since we took that last hike, my boy and I have been the greatest pals in the world. Nothing like it, men, try it."

THOSE CALIFORNIA "FOOLS."

City planning may be, as the St. Petersburg Let's-not-do-its have said it is, a "fool theory." If so, a good many fools have won very high places and exercise great responsibility in many of the country's greatest and most progressive cities.

There is Los Angeles. Most people here would like to see St. Petersburg become "the Los Angeles of the South," and few of them would say that the greatest tourist city on earth has made, or is liable to make, a fool of itself.

Los Angeles has a City Planning Commission, and it is clothed among other things with the one particular power sought for St. Petersburg in the city planning law rejected by the people last August after a campaign of opposition said to have been the most mendacious and malicious ever known in the Sunshine City—the power to control the character of urban developments through a veto power over plans.

The Los Angeles papers regularly publish as official news the actions of the City Planning Commission on plans, and here is the heading of one of the stories from the Times of that city:

'NEW SUBDIVISIONS APPROVED'

"Twenty-seven Tracts Passed on by Commission; Two Rejected Because of Small Size of Lots and Because of Unfavorable Location."

Descriptions of the twenty-seven follow, and here are some of the actions recorded on them:

"Approved." "Approved conditionally." "Tract ordered submitted to Mr. Colder for report as to possible connection with the plans for the harbor district."

"Tentatively approved on condition that Normandie Avenue be made 80 feet in width and with the understanding that Seventh street is to be dedicated through the tract."

"Tentatively approved on condition that Lombardy Boulevard be made 80 feet wide from El Sereno Avenue to Budau Street, and that walks be provided on the knoll as shown in pellow on the blue print."

"Tentatively approved on condition that the lots fronting on lane be omitted from the subdivision."

"Disapproved." Honestly, now—does this Los Angeles city planning business look foolish to you as the action of our voters in killing a law for St. Petersburg? —St. Petersburg Times.

Frost-proof is going to bond for $30,000 worth of streets. All the Ridges wish her well.

FROM OTHER SANCTUMS

VALUE TO A COUNTY OF NEWS-PAPER PUBLICITY.

Thoughtful men have learned in large measure that the best source of extending any propaganda is through the columns of the press. There is other good advertising, it is true; but newspaper publicity covers the ground better and leaves a firmer impression upon the minds of the readers than any other.

Various are the methods of this sort of publicity, all of which are good. Some are better than others. There is the "special edition" which may be sent broadcast over the country to as many addresses of "possibilities" as may be secured. Such an edition, although containing large quantities of important information, is recognized as having been especially prepared and, once read by the recipient, passes into the discard.

Probably the best method is that of sending a full subscription for a stated time to those who express an interest in the state or the county. Such a plan allows the reading of a paper which contains matters of daily occurrence as they come to light. If a man has ill luck or good fortune produces a banner crop or simply a medium one, receives good prices for his poultry and eggs or finds the market dull, the paper tells of it in no disguised terms. Every reader in every portion of the country knows full well that no state, no county, is 100 per cent perfect. Telling the truth drives no one away, nor does it prevent the incoming resident from securing the property suiting him. It was for such a purpose, and such a purpose alone, that the legislature of Florida gave every county the right to levy one additional mill—a right which some of the progressive counties have found of enormous value.

At a recent meeting of the Rotarians of Sanford there was a symposium upon the topic of publicity for a city and county. Quoting from the Herald of that city which mentioned the remarks of Frank McMahon along the lines for which the speakers were invited is the following:

"Being in the real estate business and having experience in community work and advertising Mr. McMahon thought that sending out the local paper was the best means of bringing new people to this city and county and he gave his reasons for so thinking, giving concrete examples gleaned from his own experience. He also pleaded for community plans of getting everyone together in the idea of service to the community. He also spoke of the tin can tourists and the fact that they should be fostered and given a good camping place, as they were buying property here and they meant much to any city where they located. He read a letter from City Manager Earl Brown, of DeLand, showing the many benefits derived by DeLand from the tin can tourists and telling how much money they left in DeLand in actual cash and how many of them have purchased property. Manager Brown said that under the real plan of tourist camps as practiced by that and other cities the tourists was a distinct asset to the city."

It will be seen that the speaker diverged from the newspaper publicity and touched upon the publicity gained by treating the people who come to the state in their cars in a most hospitable manner. Nothing can be lost to the community by such a plan. Every tourist returns to his home in the spring with a kindly thought for the place in which he stopped, and the chances are good that having been satisfied with the treatment he will return. It is on the second visit he makes up his mind to buy a property of some sort in that locality. That means "new money" in the place, a new man with new plans for advancing the locality, and another man to urge friends to come Floridawards.

Lake county and Osceola county have felt the gain made by forwarding subscriptions for a stated number of months to inquirers for information, drawn by tiny advertisements in some northern papers at a trifling cost. Other counties in the state have carried on such a campaign with excellent results. Careful calculators have made various estimates as to the value of a family locating in some county that advertises its wares, and, although there is no means of knowing to a certainty that value, it is agreed that several families added to a county are worth much more than the thousand dollars or so which it might have cost to urge them to come. —Palatka News.

LONGWOOD DIST. SCHOOL BONDS BROUGHT PRICE

Special Tax District Bonds Sold Above Par

Bonds in the sum of thirty-three thousand dollars of Special Tax School District No. 2, (Longwood District), Seminole county, sold recently to Sidney Spitzer and Company, of Toledo, Ohio, for thirty-four thousand, seven hundred and thirty-two dollars and fifty cents, or on the basis of $103.25. At the same time twenty thousand dollar bond issue of Special School District No. 5, (Geneva) sold to Prudden and Company, of Toledo, Ohio, for twenty thousand, eight hundred and eighty-one dollars, or on a basis of $104.40.

These are best sales of bonds of any kind ever made in Seminole county, and indicate a healthy condition of the bond market, especially on school bonds of this county.

The proceeds of the above bonds will be used in the construction of modern school buildings in Geneva, Lake Mary and midway between Longwood and Altamonte Springs, the latter to be a consolidated school for the two towns. Bids on the construction of these buildings will be advertised for at once and work will doubtless begin before the close of this year.

When these proposed school buildings have been erected Seminole county will have modern brick and concrete buildings in Sanford, Lake Mary, Lake Monroe, Oviedo, Geneva and Longwood and Altamonte Springs. Few, if any, counties of Florida can then boast of a larger percentage of modern school buildings than Seminole will have.

The voters of Seminole county have always taken a progressive stand towards everything pertaining to education, and nothing can do more for the prosperity of a county than a progressive educational spirit.

ARTHUR DICKENS SECRETARY EAST COAST C. OF C. FORMER SANFORD BOY

A. L. Dickens of Miami, has been elected secretary for the Association of Chambers of Commerce of the East Coast according to information received here. Mr. Dickens will take over work performed by E. V. Parrish since the formation of that body in Daytona recently. E. V. Parrish, who is secretary of the Daytona chapter, was named as acting secretary and treasurer of the organization, while Charles F. Burgman, president of the Daytona Chamber of Commerce, is vice president of the East Coast body.

Dickens' work will consist mainly of traveling along the Dixie highway in the northern part of the state and along the tributary roads north of the state to inform persons coming south of the condition of the road along the East Coast. It is said.

He will have a road log and a map marked so as to point out the exact conditions of the road, showing all detours and the distances between the cities along the coast. He will furnish this information, keeping tab on the changes in the conditions, to all Chambers of Commerce along the coast, garages and other places, where it will be disseminated to tourists.

The new secretary already has a broad knowledge of the East Coast and the state since he gathered data from this section which has been furnished the government in interest of the purchase and development of the inland waterway.—New Smyrna News

LAKE MARY, THE BEAUTIFUL

ONE OF THE COMING CITIES OF SPLENDID SEMINOLE
By Frank Whitman, in Florida Grower

Just a short time ago I was the recipient of a letter from a rather enthusiastic citizen of the nice little town and district of Lake Mary. I was struck with the earnest tone of the epistle, which assured me that "for every house — had built in the past two years Lake Mary has built twenty. The first thing you know we will have a city here and neither the Florida Grower nor Florida will know it." This looked to me a great deal like a dare and I proceeded to "take it up." I must say that I was pleasantly impressed with the visit, rather astonished that a little district could get going in such short time with so little publicity. Now you have the motive behind this week's chat, and we will get by on quite a few subjects of interest.

The town is at present just a tiny place, if one should judge from the business district, which consists of a couple of stores and a postoffice. It is when one steps on the gas and drives around that the real extent of the place becomes apparent, for tiny homes appear here and there in the most unexpected places. There are roads of very good quality leading in from the big highway that runs up from Orlando and another coming in from Sanford. The wood trails I traversed are not at all bad, however. I am assuming that the town was named after the lake or vice-versa. Back yonder quite a few years a group of capitalists built a large starch factory here at this place, with the intention of making starch from cassava. All that remains of the factory now is a picture. It was really a pretentious undertaking, and it is to be regretted that the industry started so far ahead of its time. A lot of growers agreed to plant acreages, but for some reason didn't deliver the goods. For lack of capital and active co-operation the factory curled up and died — one might say in its infancy.

The large tract of land included in the field of operations came back to the original owner, who really didn't know just what to do with it at that time. Later some groves were started and a foundation laid that certainly will never crumble and decay as did the starch factory. I saw some groves scattered around of very pretentious acreages. They were one and all loaded with fruit. Among the groves I saw was one belonging to a very famous grower here in the state. The grove owners of Lake Mary saw the desirability of the hills and pretty lakes for fine production years ago, evidently. But the query in my mind at the time of my call was why they didn't build a winter home in a place that was evidently laid down by nature for just such a thing. I think the answer is that the most of them at least are Florida men who were planted solidly in a homestead before they ever discovered Lake Mary. This is just surmise, however.

Before going into any further description I am going to say right broadly that I have made a real find for a certain kind of Florida opportunity. What I am driving at is this: Those who want a winter or permanent home in a place where the hand of the exploiter and the big advertiser has not made itself felt in increased and at times prohibitive values will do mighty well to look up Lake Mary. I saw some houses that had been built at a cost of $3,000, including land, fences, well, etc., that fairly made me blink. I am glad I went into Lake Mary, for here I solved a problem that will certainly interest 25 percent of my readers. A winter home ought to be in reach of everyone now.

Lake Mary is secluded, that is true — but at the same time there are many who will recognize in the location just the thing they have been looking for. One doesn't look for much more than good roads and a railroad in seeking home locations, I take it. Lake Mary has these, but at the same time it has exclusiveness sought by many to my knowledge. The town's very location is an asset, in my opinion, and, as I have told you of the town's two starts, the first of which was a failure in a way, I am going to go farther and tell of the things that are happening and have happened — all of which should make for sharply increased values in sites and farm and grove lands in the near future. It is seldom, if ever, that I am a "bum guesser," for I am at least supposed to have my fingers on the pulse of those northern friends of mine and prescribe that dose of Florida which I think they need. "So-right now — if you want a home in a place of quiet beauty, where the forces of nature have combined in gentle and beautiful topography — I advise Lake Mary. And especially so if you are getting along toward the sunset of life and want to get away from the strife and jars of business.

Typical Florida climate prevails — of equator — and the finest of water. I understand the latter analyzes over 99 percent pure. You couldn't have it much better than that anywhere. These gentle hills and lakes are somehow different from any I have seen. Maybe it is because I saw no broad and beaten roads leading down to the lakes. Possibly it was because I saw so many tall pines untouched by the axe or saw. It might have been in the immense oaks that rustled so entertainingly. I stood in quite a few spots and thought of the homes that could and should be built there. I looked down many a slope toward a lake or an arm of one, and pictured the really remarkable things that could be created with so little trouble that it could hardly be called labor.

And now I say to you that the third foundation under Lake Mary is the extreme desirability of the place for homes. Nature has made the sites and there are hundreds of them — hillsides, slopes leading down to the lakes and a fair expanse of level lands, right in the townsite. This is the start that should make of the place something much bigger in the near future. In addition, I heard of a development going in here that is certain to be on a par with anything in the state — and you know we are doing big things down here. I don't know the details for the projector was not on the grounds at the time of my call, but from the tone of the conversation I heard about him and his plans I should judge him to be a man of fine ideas and initiative. I await with great interest the start he is going to give things at Lake Mary.

Now, the lakes. There are two of them right in the place — Lake Mary and Crystal Lake, and for sheer beauty of those lakes one seldom sees their equal. There is a huge expanse of water in both but at the same time they do not seem like big lakes. The reason for this is the peculiar way they meander around the district. I ran into Crystal Lake at three different points, each time thinking I had come upon a different body of water. This peculiar formation makes for picturequeness, you must admit, but at the same time it builds up homesites and grovesites of really remarkable kinds. There are dozens of points jutting out into the lakes that should (and probably will) be the sites for estate homes. They one and all will admit of the finest kind of gardening and home decorating. I have seen places where millions were spent in building just such locations as these. The advantages for ideal homesites at Lake Mary is the last and biggest start for the town and district. It should succeed with any kind of fostering care, on just these lines, if no other existed.

In driving about with the very first man in here, back about thirty-five years ago he came, I learned much of interest, for I was anxious to know had been held back for so many by just what twist of fate Lake Mary years. When I asked if this was not formerly a big game country, he said: "It is still." This attracted me, as it would most anyone with the love of sport that I possess. He told me of his first endeavors, showed me the very first building and postoffice, and took me over some very fine land. There are some streets about to be cut through that will connect both lakes with a roadway. On an island in Crystal Lake he showed me his poultry farm. He has a fine grove, too. In his little sloop we went over the hills without any attempt to find a roadway. It was enjoyable — very.

On Lake Crystal is also a mighty nice casino. Bathing facilities are provided and boating and fishing is always one of the sports. The lake has a fine sand bottom; slopes out from shallow to deep very gently. So every one can have the fun of the waters without necessarily being an expert swimmer. There are diving devices, all kinds of apparatuses for having fun with and a dancing floor in a roomy place much above the ordinary. I am showing some pictures of this casino and some crowds on the beach near it. The place is so near Sanford that it is popular with the people from that city, whether it be for big gatherings or just a family picnic party.

At the home of a grower of oranges and grapefruit I was made most welcome. This is a fine place on Crystal Lake that I admired very much. It more than exemplifies the advantages for estates and homesites that I have been dwelling on so extensively in this chat. It has been quite awhile since I wrote anything about fish and fishing in these talks. I am impelled to do so in this instance, for the reason that I had what might be truthfully called a high-old time with a bass of leviathan proportions not over a stone's throw for a child from this gentleman's home. Naturally (with me) the talk drifted to fishing. I could hardly help it with the fine lake staring me in the face. It actually beckoned me — it dared me! So I said to my kindly host: "Any fish in there?" or words to that effect. He looked at me, rather ptingly, I thought, and said: "Plenty of them; big ones, too." After that there was nothing to it. I took the tackle out of my car, we stepped into a boat and went out amongst them. After about five minutes of casting we came to a place and my host said: "Right in there is where he lives." "All right," said I, "here he comes." This wasn't exactly true, for though I lured him (the big one) to strike, I didn't succeed in holding him. Man, he was a lunker! I put the next one in the boat, however, and then came the thrilling thing — the big one! The granddaddy of them! It's a painful thing to talk about. I hooked him well when with a beautiful "Pop-splash!" he took my surface bait. I saw that fish in the air as much as four times, so I know how big he was. He whipped me fair and square when with one last weak but plucky loop he threw the bait. Ah, well, there was no use crying about it — but I felt like it. I was too overcome to swear.

Pardon this digression, friends, but with me these things go to make the pleasantest part of existence. A district that offers such fine sport is always one that goes down in my memory in letters of gold. Over on Lake Mary I saw many such homesites and grove and garden sites as I have been describing on Lake Crystal. I drove around it for quite a distance, noting on the way some homes and fine lands. The points here jut out about the same as on the other lake, though hardly so numerous. The place looks fine, though, and this is the least I can say about it. I understand the developer I mentioned is planning to build a road all round this lake. It looks more than feasible, and here's wishing him success. I believe he has picked a place that will respond readily to his efforts in development.

I have seen lots of little places grow into big places without half the start Lake Mary has — without half the splendid advantages bestowed by nature — so I don't feel at all backward in predicting fine things for Lake Mary.

SCOTCH HIGHLANDERS BAND AT OCALA FAIR

The famous Royal Scotch Highlanders Band, which plays each season at St. Petersburg, will be a big feature of the Marion County Fair, during Thanksgiving week. The band will come to Ocala direct from the Florida State Fair and will give two concerts a day while here. Another big feature of the Marion County Fair this season is the staging of an Old Home Week. Invitations are being sent out to all former Marion county citizens to return during fair week for a renewal of acquaintances and to see the progress being made in the county.

The Marion County Fair this year is under new management. Announcement is made by Manager C. W. Hunter that all objectionable amusement features that have attended some of the carnival attractions operating in Florida in the past will be eliminated. The people of the county are co-operating with the management in an enthusiastic manner. A great fair is anticipated.

HILLSBOROUGH DRAINAGE DISTRICT

TAMPA, Nov. 12.—The board of supervisors have adopted plans for draining the Dover drainage district, comprised of 11,839.95 acres, lying between Dover and Seffner on both sides of the Plant City highway and extending north through Lake Thonotosassa to the Hillsborough river. The work, estimated to cost $171,987.90, will get under way by January 14, the engineers say.

EDUCATIONAL MEETING AT ORLANDO

ORLANDO, Nov. 12.— School members and county superintendents of education from nineteen South

Florida counties will assemble for a two days meeting Nov. 20 and 21 for an informal discussion of problems of financing the schools. Competent authorities will make the subjects, which will include budgets, the matter of making charge for tuition, salary scales for teachers and other financial items, it is said.

The shipment of a carload of cados from Dade county, Florida, California, demonstrates that the demand is increasing in sections for this tropical fruit; the price high enough to return a profit after shipping under a high rate can be had; and that we shipping to the furthest points country have been perfected.

You can get the most food value out of wheat by eating bakings that are made from good plain flour. A dependable baking powder must be employed or you do not get the full nutritious value of the wheat — nor will your bakings be as palatable and easily digested.

The same results cannot be had if you use Self Rising Flour, which are improperly packed in porous cotton sacks or bags, thus allowing absorption of moisture from the air. Food authorities and physicians agree that bakings that do not raise properly are bad for health. Such foods are hard to digest and in time cause stomach trouble.

Mothers who are interested in the proper growth and health of their children (and all mothers are) should never use anything but a good brand of plain flour and a time-tested leavener such as Calumet — the economy Baking Powder.

Calumet has more than the ordinary leavening strength. It raises every baking to its height of nutritious value. It is pure and dependable — do not look for a substitute — there is none.

Turkeys Giving Cut Perish the Thought

ATLANTA, Nov. 12.—"It is indeed a gloomy picture drawn by the poultry men who say that the Thanksgiving turkey is becoming extinct," says E. L. Rainey, member of the Georgia Poultry Commission and editor of the "Dawson (Ga.) News."
"Such a development would be nothing less than a disaster. Its ramifications would be so enveloping and extensive as to constitute a calamity. As in a kaleidoscope, there reveals before the mind's eye the passing of other things along with Mr. and Mrs. Gobbler. There flashes the delectable cranberry sauce. The dressing, too, and the gravy. Horrible thought! Also revealing tantalizingly before it passes with the rest the pumpkin pie.

LAKE CITY, Nov. 12.—Columbia county will have a poultry show opening December 15, and in addition to the community fair at Mason on Thursday, another will be held at Mikeville next Tuesday, November 13.

COUGHS, COLDS, WHOPPING COUGH

Mrs. Will Hall, R. No. 3 Baxley, Ga., states: "I am writing to all who suffer from coughs, colds, croup or whopping cough. I cannot recommend Foley's Honey and Tar too much, and I can't keep house without it. Have been using it since 1919 and have found it the best medicine there is for grown-ups and children." Best and largest cough and cold remedy in the world. Refuse substitutes. Sold everywhere.

GRAPFRUIT MARKET IS NOT ENCOURAGING

TAMPA, Nov. 12.—"The general grapefruit marketing situation at the present time is not encouraging," says George A. Scott, general sales manager of the Florida Citrus Exchange, in the first of his weekly market letters for the current season, issued here today.
"Grapefruit stocks are accumulating in all leading centers. Auctions during the latter part of the week were lower and weaker. Outside inquiry on grapefruit is very light, and offers are generally lower than quotations.
"Some improvement has been noted in the orange market the past week, due largely to the Thanksgiving demand, noted especially in the larger centers. California Valencia shipments have been practically completed. Naval shipments will start in small quantities the first of this week, and will probably not attain an important volume until November 15 or 20. California reports indicate that the bulk of Navels will average 176s. This factor of small sizes will probably work to the advantage of Florida shippers.
"Florida citrus shipments on November 10, were 687 cars in excess of shipments up to the same date last year. This season's orange shipments total 1,023 cars, as compared with 1,791 cars shipped last season. Grapefruit shipments the current season are 3,201 cars, as compared with 2,76 cars moved during the corresponding period the previous season.

VERO, Nov. 12.—A committee of the chamber of commerce has been appointed to look into a proposition to build a "white way" here in the business section of the city. The committee will make its report at an early date.
STUART, Nov. 12.—Miss Florence K. Spiers has announced her candidacy for the office of city clerk. Mayor F. J. Ricon will be a candidate for re-election in the city election on December 4.
ORLANDO, Nov. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. R. Trimble have given the county ten acres of land for a park to be known as Orange County Park. The county commissioners have accepted the property, which lies in the West Orange section on the Orange-Lake county lines.

The Silver Springs Estates, a real estate development company incorporated several months ago has begun the development of a tract of about 3,000 acres northeast of Ocala. The property fronts for a half mile along the Anthony road, which is State Road No. 13, and extends back to within half a mile of Silver Springs. The first house—a modern bungalow as complete as any city home—is nearing completion. Others will be built, and the company will build for anyone desiring a house of special design. The land will be sold in any size tract. It is the plan of the company to sell the lands with certain restrictions as to the type of houses built. Small tracts only, for home purposes, will be sold along the Anthony road. Large tracts will be available farther back from the highway.

By the turn of a lever she has just the heat she wants for stewing fruit

Does your kitchen stove take the starch out of you?

WHAT can wilt you more completely—your gown, your hair, your spirits—than a roaring fire in the cook stove? The moment you put a Florence Oil Range in your kitchen you will realize that it is quite possible to cook in real comfort.

With a Florence you get all the heat you want, but it goes into the cooking instead of into the metal of the stove or out into the room. You can bake, roast, fry and boil with this modern oil range. And, of course, you use it only when actually cooking. This means not only comfort but economy.

So easy to start
You just touch a match to the Asbestos Kindler. In a few moments you have an intensely hot blue flame, close up under the cooking. Turn a lever and you can regulate the heat to any degree desired. The vapor from kerosene is what burns. It is not a wick flame. Kerosene is a cheap and plentiful fuel. You will find that the Florence cuts down your household bills.

See it at the store

Take a few minutes and examine this modern range in a store. (It is sold by leading department, furniture, and hardware stores.) Notice the quality of the porcelain enamel, the sturdiness of the whole range. The oil reservoir is metal. The oven has the famous "baker's arch" and our patented heat-spreader to distribute the heat evenly.

The Big Burner
The heat in the Florence burners is close up under the cooking where it is not wasted.

Florence Leveler
Attached to each leg of the stove, this device enables you to set the stove level on an uneven floor.
