Longwood Man Shot In Chest During Ride

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A 18-year-old Eatonville man, accused of shooting a Longwood man who gave him a four to five-hour ride, was being questioned today by Seminole County sheriff's deputies and the Longwood man underwent surgery for a chest wound.

Seminole County sheriff's Capt. Jay Leman said lawmen are getting conflicting stories from the man, but the alleged shooter was being held in lieu of $8,000 bond on charges of aggravated battery and use of a firearm in a felony. Leman said charges of robbery are pending, depending on which man's story investigators believe.

The wounded man, Donald C. Bonner, 41, of 841 Riverbend Drive, told sheriff's investigator Sgt. John Thorpe that as he drove along Wekiva Springs Road in Longwood the suspect, riding in the backseat, pulled a gun and attempted to rob him.

Bonner, Thorpe said, was in critical but stable condition at South Seminole Community Hospital, Longwood.

The man accused of shooting Bonner, Vince Rollins, told investigators he was defending himself from Bonner's alleged sexual advances when he allegedly pulled a gun and fired a bullet into Bonner's chest, Leman said.

Thorpe said it is too early to say if charges related to the alleged sexual advances may be filed against Bonner, who Rollins claims was reaching for him over the backseat when he defended himself.

Leman said investigators hadn't determined why Rollins was riding in the backseat rather than up front with Bonner. They were the only occupants of the car, Leman said.

The wounded Bonner lost control of the 1984 rented Pontiac he was driving and crashed into a six-foot concrete fence at the entrance of Crown Point Condos on Wekiva Springs Road, just north of State Road 434.

Neither man was injured in the crash, Leman said, and Bonner took the gun from Rollins who fled on foot.

Bonner fired two or three shots into the air from the 22-caliber handgun to summon help. Witnesses who heard the shots called lawmen to the scene at 5:20 a.m. today, Leman said.

Insurance Co. Doubts Spouse Entitled To Compensation

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Longwood widower who wants to collect $100,000 in insurance compensation for the death of his wife faces an insurance company hoping to hold off payment until he is cleared or charged in his wife's death.

Midland National Life Insurance Company is asking the circuit court to forestall payment until authorities decide what to do. Demanding payment is Daniel Joseph DeCosta, 48, of 443 E.E. Williamson Road, Longwood, according to a suit filed by the insurance company Tuesday at the Seminole County Courthouse.

DeCosta notified the company on April 12 that he is named the beneficiary of his wife's $100,000 insurance policy. His wife, Barbara Ann DeCosta, was taken to South Seminole Community Hospital Jan. 27 suffering from severe head injuries, according to the suit. She died there Feb. 12. DeCosta and his wife were seen arguing at their address before she was transported to the hospital, according to the suit. She took the policy out Sept. 23, 1982, records show.

The company states a bonafide dispute exists between it and DeCosta. The company maintains that under Florida law it does not have to pay if DeCosta is convicted of murder. The state law directs that such money would in that case go to the couple's children, Daniel Jr., Sandra, Jean and Denise.

While DeCosta has not been charged in connection with his wife's death it is a possibility, according to Det. Smokey Parr, of the Longwood Police Department. He said Mrs. DeCosta's death is still under investigation.

DeCosta was arrested in a related incident the same day his wife was taken to the hospital.

While Mrs. DeCosta was in surgery, a man demanding to see his wife in surgery refused to calm down in the emergency room and shoved three officers who had to wrestle him to the floor and cuffed his hands and feet.

DeCosta was arrested for battery on three Longwood officers and was released on $5,000 bond. The battery cases are scheduled to go to trial July 29, Parr said.

No hearing date has been set in the insurance dispute.

Assistant Manager Eliminated City Trims Budget

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

In a move that could trim $42,000 to $50,000 from next year's record budget, the Sanford City Commission decided Wednesday not to hire an assistant city manager.

While the position will remain on paper after Acting Assistant City Manager Mary Harky-Meyer retires July 31, the commission said it will not fund the slot.

The money is part of about $71,000 the commission found during day two of its budget discussions that it wants to slice off City Manager Frank Faison's proposed $12.4 million budget for 1985-86. The commission is scheduled to pull out its paring knife again today at 4:30 p.m. in the city manager's conference room at city hall.

The proposed budget calls for property tax rates to be increased from $3.44 to $4.94 per $1,000 assessed valuation. The city's tax base is about $396 million, although City Clerk Henry Tamm said the city would only receive 95 percent of that, or about $376 million.

Although the commissioners scrapped funds for the assistant city manager's slot, Faison managed to salvage some of the money budgeted for clerical help associated with the position. Not funding the slot would trim $42,000 to $50,000 from the $114,000 earmarked for the assistant city manager's office, Faison said. But commissioners John Mercer and David Farr said they wanted more than $50,000 cut from the figure.

Faison, giving up his attempt to persuade the commission to hire an assistant city manager, said he needs the secretarial help budgeted for slot to help him implement a wide range of projects next year.

Farr said it was Faison who told the commission the assistant city manager's position could be eliminated when he recommended consolidating the city staff and hiring four new people.

The commission, acting on Faison's recommendation, voted last month to compile nine city divisions into two departments — engineering and planning and administrative services. The commission also voted to hire a director for both departments, in addition to two other people to staff them. The move cost about $145,000 which is earmarked in the proposed budget.

The commission on Wednesday also eyed $20,000 in the city attorney's budget for trimming or elimination.

The money was listed under an "other personal services" category in the city attorney's budget. Commissioners questioned the purpose of the money but Faison said he could not be sure until he talks with City Attorney William Colbert.

Faison said the money could be designated for lighting the multiple legal cases the city could face in the coming year such as wage suits and wrangling with the state Department of Environmental Regulation over the city's sewage disposal in Lake Monroe.

The commissioners said they wanted the money cut unless a substantial purpose could be established for it.

Another $1,000 was trimmed because the city won't have to pay for a ballet group's use of the civic center. The group now uses Lake Mary High School to hold meetings, Farr said.

On the revenue side of the budget, an $25,000 will be

Day Care Center Gets County OK

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The proposed construction of a 4,200-square-foot day care center on a 1.79-acre tract at the northeast corner of Wayside Drive and Orange Boulevard in the Paola area near Sanford has the Seminole County Commission's blessing, but for less children than approved by the Board of Adjustment.

The commission, after a public hearing Tuesday night, modified a special exception granted by the Board of Adjustment for the center by allowing a maximum of 100 children. The board earlier approved 150 children for the planned facility.

The issue came before the commission after a nearby property owner, Patricia Hartwig, appealed the Board of Adjustment approval.

Mrs. Hartwig and a half-dozen other residents told commissioners there aren't 100 children in their area and children from outside would have

County Told To Get Tough With Anti-Littering Laws

Litterers beware. Seminole County's Acting Traffic Engineer Steven L. Decker is recommending strong enforcement of anti-littering laws.

All that is holding up the process is research by County Attorney Nikki Clayton and her staff. The county must learn if an ordinance adopted by the county in 1971, calling for penalties of up to $500 and/or 60 days in jail for littering was included in the county's code of ordinances when it was updated and whether a special act of the Legislature for Seminole County adopted in 1953 is in effect. The special act allowed rewards ranging from $10 to half the fine imposed on the violator for information leading to arrests and convictions.

In addition to the ordinance and the special act Decker found in his research, he also found a

Boy Kills Mom, Brother, Self

SEMINOLE, Fla. (UPI) — Investigators searched for clues today as to what led a military honors student to kill his mother and 12-year-old brother and then fatally shoot himself in the head.

Paula Rooney, 37, and David Rooney were found shot dead in their home in a quiet residential area Wednesday morning by David's twin sister Janet when she returned home from spending the night at a friend's home.

"She was screaming so violently, Paul did it. Paul did it," said one neighbor, who asked not to be identified.

A short time later Hillsborough County deputies found the family's van parked near U.S. 92 and Taylor Road east of Tampa.

Inside was Paul Rooney, 14, with a bullet wound in the head. He died several hours later at Tampa General Hospital. A gun also was found in the van and investigators said the wound was self-inflicted.

City Employees Up For 4% Pay Raise

Longwood Budget Calls For $1.10 Tax Hike

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood City Commission has had its first go at a proposed $3,750,360 budget for the 1985-86 fiscal year calling for a property tax rate of $3.62 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

This would be a $1.10 per $1,000 increase over this year's rate of $2.52. The proposed tax rate would generate $926,160 in revenues based on the revised tax base as compared to $572,000 from that source for the 1984-85 fiscal year, or an increase of $354,160. The new fiscal year begins Oct. 1.

The budget, submitted by Acting City Administrator Greg Manning, was prepared by the city's new finance director Barry Weeks and former city administrator (now city clerk) Don Terry.

The total projected revenues for the General Fund for fiscal 1985-86 (including an estimated $150,000 surplus carryover) is $3,409,814 plus an additional $57,000 from Federal Revenue Sharing. The figures do not include the proposed spending for the utilities department which does not receive property tax revenues and is not part of the general fund.

Other revenue sources include: state, $800,500 (sales tax, $420,000; alcoholic beverage licenses, $10,000; cigarette tax, $56,800); revenue sharing, $313,700; fuel tax refund, $5,000; county, $285,000 (gasoline tax, $280,000; road and bridge tax, $5,000); local, $1,531,700 (including franchise tax, $489,500; utility tax, $494,000; occupational licenses, $125,000; building permits, $130,000; zoning and annex fees, $20,000; fines and forfeitures, $90,000; security alarm fines, $10,000; paving assessments, $20,000; recreation and park income, $45,000) and other miscellaneous revenue.

Here is how much it is estimated it will cost in 1985-86 to operate the city's various departments under the proposed budget. The figures include the estimated 1984-85 expenditure, followed by next year's estimate:

Police, $910,107—$1,297,247;
Fire, $719,752—$812,811; Building and Planning, $121,156—$137,849;
Street, $873,345—$914,591; Parks and Recreation, $133,555—$133,079; General Services, $86,114—$97,633; Finance, $43,981—$98,500; Legal, $25,000—$30,000; Land Planning Agency, $5,168—$4,657; City Commission, $31,700—$31,284; City Administrator, $41,408—$58,098; City Clerk's Office, $79,621—$130,002; Code Enforcement Board, $4,750—$2,359; and City Elections Board, $1,963—$2,250.

The first item to be taken up by the commission Tuesday night was the proposed $1,190,411 Water and Wastewater Budget. These revenues come from the sale of water, sewer charges, connection fees and development fees. The revised 1984-85 budget totals $1,454,891. Weeks recommended that charges for water provided by the city be adjusted to reduce the base amount for minimum billing from 5,000 gallons to 3,000 gallons with the charge for minimum amount used to remain at $3.64. It was also suggested that rates per thousand gallons in excess of base amounts used be increased at 5,000 gallon intervals to a maximum charge of $1.10 per thousand.

The city has 4,065 water customers and the proposed increase would generate an additional $73,170 annually. Additional fees to be obtained by adjusting incremental charges will generate sufficient funds to repay the city's $400,000 loan with Freedom Bank. The loan was incurred to finance the new 750,000 ground water storage tank and improvements on the water system. The annual principal and interest charges over a five-year period is $82,060 and present revenue from water custom-

Rerun For 'The Real Thing'

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Coca-Cola Co., bowing to a consumer rebellion against new Coke, will dust off its 99-year-old formula and reintroduce "The Real Thing" in a few weeks as "Coca-Cola Classic."

"Coca-Cola Classic," the new name for old Coke, will be marketed alongside new Coke, which the soft drink giant insists has won its share of fans since being introduced in April.

Everyone wins," Coke spokesman Thomas Gray said Wednesday.

"Thousands of dedicated Coca-Cola consumers have told us they still want the original taste as an option," Gray said.

Rambo In Movieland

In Army jargon, it's the definitive long-range recon: A mission to Vietnam that inadvertently pinpoints the individuals who stabbed America in the back during the war. "First Blood Part II: Rambo" is the hottest film in the nation right now, unflinchingly sounding the political message that the military was betrayed by Congress. It's a message suited for movieland.

"Rambo," the film, is based on the idea that Americans are still being held prisoner in Vietnam. John Rambo, played by Sylvester Stallone, is the brooding Vietnam veteran unloved by his country. Sent to locate the POWs, Rambo asks, "Do we get to win this time?"

The operation is overseen by a manipulative, civilian bureaucrat. When Rambo does find POWs and attempts to rescue one, the civilian aborts the mission, leaving Rambo and the POW signaling helplessly as the rescue helicopter flies away.

It is then the audience learns that the mission was designed to fail, that the civilian is linked to a congressional committee desiring to end the POW issue once and for all. Some in Congress, it seems, fear that such a discovery might lead to sentiment for armed invasion or war-reparation demands from the communists.

Rambo rescues six POWs and returns to the U.S. base in Thailand. There, he confronts the cowering civilians and then strides away, wanting only for his country to love him.

The implication is that Rambo was abandoned by the civilian just as the American military was betrayed by Congress, and not allowed to win. This was the thesis of earlier films, "Uncommon Valor" and "Missing in Action" and "Missing in Action II."

"First Blood Part II," however, is a cinematically powerful hit. The film opened in 2,074 theaters, an all-time record, and grossed more than $100 million in less than five weeks.

The film's message is popular with an America slowly embracing its veterans. Whereas the movies "Coming Home" and "Apocalypse Now" depicted hopeless, guilt-ridden vets and their war, Rambo is the veteran as winner. Thanks to "Rambo" and its three predecessors, Vietnam is now a place where Americans triumph, where the cause — rescuing U.S. prisoners — is defined, where the enemy is visible and inept.

Rambo is simplicity in a complicated age. In fact, at one point, he is stripped to the waist and armed with only bow and arrow and knife, using the guerrilla tactics that were so effectively used against U.S. forces.

Moods swing, national attention wanders, but the frustrations of power never cease. How ironic that John Rambo should surface just as former U.S. hostages dominate the news from another murky combat zone, the Middle East. Rambo is resolute, capable, and yet tormented — a sociological mirror of America in these times. The difficulty is that, although fantasy lets him rescue the POWs, chastise the weakknee, and obliterate the enemy, little is that simple, or easy, in the real world.

Press Corps Kept Round-The-Clock Vigil

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A lot of reporters, cameramen and television technicians can now say they slept at the White House.

Lived, might be a better word for it, during the hostage crisis. The press corps kept a round-the-clock vigil on events in the Middle East and the White House.

The six-hour time difference meant that the big happenings at noon in Beirut occurred in the wee hours of the morning in Washington.

The television networks, in particular, manned the barricades, going live at unusual hours.

The hostage drama was all consuming although the president tried to stay on top of some of the domestic issues.

Former White House press secretary Ron Ziegler can joke now about those dark days of Watergate in the early part of President Nixon's second term. And he did at a press institute meeting in Madrid.

Sharing the spotlight on a forum were Joseph Lettin, former assistant secretary of treasury for public affairs, who also had been a deputy press secretary at the White House and the spokesman at the Pentagon.

When the moderator told each of the panelists he would like them to speak for 20 minutes each and take questions, Ziegler said "I can only speak for 18½ minutes."

It was a joking reference to the 18½-minute gap in the Nixon tapes during the Watergate scandal. To this day no one has confessed to erasing the tape.

President Reagan bears no hard feelings toward critical columnists, especially when they are good friends.

Conservative columnist George Will has denounced the administration's handling of the hostage crisis in strong language. But Reagan invited Will and his wife, Madeline, an Education Department official, to dinner at the White House on the Fourth of July and to sit on the Truman balcony to watch the fireworks.

The president was reciprocating on invitations to dinner at the White House.

Reagan continues to make off-the-cuff joking, but telling, remarks during his voice checks before broadcasts. Shortly before the president went on the air to hail the release of the American hostages, he said: "Boy, I saw Rambo last night. Now I will know what to do the next time it happens."

But his remarks were beamed around the world and Moscow had a few words to say about it.

White House aides were unhappy, saying that the remarks on an open microphone were "off-the-record," but that is not the way it works.

Leaders Back Off For Talks

By United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev have both backed off a bit to pave the way for a summit meeting in November in Geneva, Switzerland.

But who is counting. The breakthrough came because both leaders thought it was time to meet and swept away any arguments otherwise.

The fact is that both sides have equivocated and talked for four years about the need for prepared agendas and concrete signs of success before they could possibly get together.

But all things are possible when artificial barriers are removed and when both sides do not mind eating their words for bigger goals.

It appears now that Gorbachev feels secure enough in his position to venture forth and to meet Reagan without conditions, a get-acquainted session that could lead to more meetings, more understandings, even agreements which the president has loftily shunned, particularly in his presidential years.

Many factors have come into play. For one, Reagan does not want to leave office as the first president in contemporary times who did not meet with a Kremlin leader.

Gorbachev cleared the decks and asserted his political primacy when he pushed Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko out of the role he has played for 28 years and gave him the ceremonial position of president.

Undoubtedly, Gorbachev will have to call on the veteran diplomat for his views and assessments, but it appears that the Soviet leader wants to start fresh. He has chosen as foreign minister Eduard Shevardnadze, a Georgian, and a newcomer to the field of world politics, which may signify that Gorbachev wants to run his own show.

Reagan himself has come a long way on the upward climb to the summit. He may think it but he no longer speaks of the "evil empire," and while making no concessions to the menace of communism, has taken a more conciliatory approach to make a meeting possible.

The Soviets too are showing more flexibility, and pulling away from what they previously put forth as bottom line positions.

They are apparently indicating privately that they might go along with the U.S. position that research on "Star Wars" is permitted under the anti-ballistic missile treaty of 1972.

Moniker Madness

By Patricia McCormack
UPI Education Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Moniker madness may inspire a little her- hawing or omigoshing over the weird, whimsical, unusual names on the nation's school scene.

During a year-long hunt by the American School Board Journal, these were spotted: Big Ugly, Boring, Bland, Failing, Friendly, Nodaway, Sweet Home Central, Body Camp.

Teachers and students at these schools also carry the names, of course. One assumes Big Ugly, for one example, has Big Ugly students and Big Ugly teachers.

Carrying on as a Boring, Bland or Friendly teacher or pupil might not be so bad. But imagine being identified as a "Failing student" or a "Failing teacher"?

Texas tops all in names deserving of second looks, says a Journal report on the odd roll. Ellen Ficklen, associate editor, put it this way:

"Many of the schools there take their names directly from their hometowns, and many of the town names are far from ordinary."

Dime Box, Texas, for instance, has Dime Box High. Others of this ilk include Muleshoe High, Snook High and Lazbuddie High.

But that doesn't explain why the Texas town of Forsan has an Elbow Elementary School, Corpus Christi has Flour Bluff High, Texarkana has Red Lick Elementary or Copperas Cove has Miss Jewell Elementary school.

"Some folks are tickled, too, when they find out West Columbia has a Wild Peach Elementary School and the superintendent is named Howard Pickle."

The Texas person who enriched the Journal's search with colorful Lone Star State school names noted "I didn't even give you the schools named Ponder, Prosper or Maud."

The roundup showed there's truth in the odd sounding names. So nevermind the strange.

The evidence:
—Big Ugly Elementary in Lincoln County, W. Va. It's near Big Ugly State Park, Big Ugly Creek and even an Ugly offshoot, Little Ugly Creek.

The name sprouted around the turn of the century. Railroad surveyors found it an "ugly" job to clear brush in that neck of the woods. A creek snaking through the area was nicknamed Big Ugly. And, by the way, folks in Big Ugly say the school's not big (81 students) and it's not ugly either. That part of the mountaineering state, say they, is breathtakingly beautiful in fall and pleasant most anytime.

—Boring Grade and Boring Middle School? In Boring, Ore.

—Bland Elementary and Bland High? In Bland, Mo. There's also a Bland High in Merit, Texas.

—Failing Elementary, christened in the late 1800s in Portland, Ore., lived up to its name. It shut in 1959.

—Friendly High is in Prince George's County, Md.

—Nodaway School is in Ravenwood, Mo.

Nature's Ultimate Coolant

By William Harwood
UPI Science Writer
CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — One of the strangest liquids in the universe, superfluid helium can climb out of its container, has virtually no viscosity and conducts heat 1,000 times better than copper. It is the ultimate coolant.

An experiment aboard the shuttle Challenger will help scientists understand more about the physical laws that govern the supercold liquid and more about how the substance can be used to cool sensitive infrared telescopes that must operate just a few degrees above absolute zero.

A high-tech thermos bottle is mounted in Challenger's payload bay containing 26 gallons of liquid helium. In weightlessness, subtle processes that would be masked by Earth's gravity should be observable.

When helium is cooled to about 4 degrees above absolute zero, it turns into a liquid.

"But if you cool it down a couple more degrees to about 2 degrees absolute, or minus 456 degrees Fahrenheit, it all at once becomes a very strange liquid, it's called superfluid," said Loren Acton, one of three astronomers among the shuttle crew.

"It has no viscosity. Stirring a glass of superfluid liquid helium would be like stirring air. There's nothing resisting your stirring stick. It has the most remarkable thermal conductivity, it conducts heat a thousand times better than copper, which means you can't build up a temperature across it."

Superfluidity is only possible with liquid helium, which cannot be frozen unless it is put under pressure. Both normal liquid helium and superfluid helium — also known as helium 2 — will be present aboard Challenger.

The properties of superfluid liquid helium are described by quantum mechanics, the branch of physics that incorporates relativity theory and describes the fundamental behavior of matter on the atomic scale.

The purpose of the superfluid experiment aboard Challenger is to gain a better understanding of the subtle quantum mechanics that govern the liquid's behavior.

Scientists are particularly interested in finding out how the liquid responds to slight shuttle movements and whether such spacecraft-induced motion affects temperature stability.

Civilian Buyers Key To Ending Pentagon Waste

By Jack Anderson and Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — Will wonders never cease? Someone at the Pentagon has finally identified the cause of all those scandalously high costs charged by defense contractors. It's "The System."

While this has been obvious to any reasonably sentient observer of the Pentagon pandemics — we've been shouting it from every rooftop for years — it's encouraging when the truth finally penetrates the concrete walls of the five-sided spending factory on the Potomac.

Maybe the next step will be to actually do something about it.

The refreshing revelation is contained in a bluntly worded memorandum being circulated at top levels in the Air Force. Our associate Indy Badwar got a copy.

The heart of the Pentagon's system — or, more accurately, its Achilles heel — is the uniformed procurement officer, who is invariably innocent of either experience or expertise. The memo points out that they "are not technically trained, do not know contract law and procurement procedures, and are no match for the contractors' engineers and lawyers." The memo adds "It's like sending a lamb to slaughter."

These innocents typically stay in their unglamorous procurement jobs two or three years, "hoping to get out so that the cost overruns or technical disasters don't happen on their watch," the memo notes.

"At China Lake," the memo continues, referring to the weapons-testing center in California, "we found it took several years for a good engineer to develop to the point that we could trust him to manage a program — some never could. Yet we bring in officers with no technical or specialized training, send them to a short course at Fort Belvoir, and put them in charge of multi-million-dollar programs."

Venality and corruption aren't the problem, the memo explains. "The incentives are all backwards. The big spenders are promoted and rewarded with cushy jobs after leaving the government. Those who do something (to cut costs) are quite frequently punished."

Expanding on this point, the memo lays out the "revolving door" phenomenon that greases the procurement system.

The average age of an officer at retirement is 43, the memo notes. "He probably has kids in or ready for college, and a big mortgage, and can't afford a cut in his income. He is at the peak of his intellectual powers, is emotionally involved and doesn't want to quit. We throw him out anyway."

"Many of these officers, particularly the good ones, who have spent most of their careers flying aircraft, operating ships or leading troops, do not have skills that are readily marketable in the civilian sector."

"This nice man then comes around and offers him a job at $50K to $75K a year. If he (the procurement officer) stands up and makes a fuss about high cost and poor quality, no nice man will come to see him when he retires."

What to do? "The real problem," the memo states, "is that the procurement process is completely controlled by military officers and that no improvement is possible until the process is controlled by civilians."

A civilian employee has crucial advantages over a uniformed officer, the memo explains. "He can stay on. He has much more protection against reprisals."

The memo recommends "hooking" a program manager "until the program either succeeded or failed, so that he would not be able to move on and leave his successor holding the proverbial 15-pound bag full of 10 pounds of stuff."

It also urges "generous awards" to managers who control costs, schedules and quality, and special bonuses to someone who will look at a program and say: "Look, in spite of all the hype, this program is a turkey and is never going to get us decent equipment. Let's terminate it."

Basketball Restores Bounce To Klein's Coaching

By Rob Laria

Special to the Herald

When Bill Klein accepted the post as head boys' basketball coach at Seminole High School this spring, his coaching career took more than one turn. Klein, who had been the freshman coach at Seminole the past two years, not only moved further along the roundball road, but he vowed to stay away from football.

It is a commitment that hasn't come easily.

Klein was a standout shooting guard during his collegiate days at Indiana State University of Pennsylvania. By no means was it the big time, but his enthusiasm and love for the game showed through.

Klein, though, also had a keen love for the game of football. He had played in high school but said he wasn't quite good enough to pursue it further on the playing field. When given an opportunity to coach it, however, he jumped at the chance. For nine years after graduating from college Klein coached both sports in Pennsylvania.

Then in 1972 he moved down to Oviedo High School, where he was strictly a football mentor, first two years as an assistant, then head coach for three years. Klein, who in 1967 first arrived in Sanford to coach and teach at the Sanford Naval Academy, then returned to coach freshman football at Crooms Junior High School in 1977 for three years.

He tired of football, though, and moved over to Seminole when Crooms was discontinued as a ninth grade center.

where for the past two seasons he's been at the helm of undefeated ninth-grade basketball teams.

Now with the step up to the varsity, he says he's finished coaching football forever.

"No way," he says emphatically when asked of a possible return to the gridiron. His decision to replace good friend Chris Marlette as the Tribe coach was a tough one but he knew plans to throw all his energy into his roundball coaching career.

Klein, however, hopes to use knowledge gained on that field in his attempt to lead the Seminoles to glory on the hardwood. Talking with him one can sense a somewhat unique perspective he's gained by coaching both sports.

Varying psyches are involved and he appears to have grasped the differences. He speaks in terms of how the players react to the two sports and what keeps them happy. The result, he has proved effective in handling players.

Athletic director Jerry Posey says that ability is one of Klein's chief attributes, an asset that became clearly evident.

Posey had coached football against Klein when Klein was at Oviedo. The two also had worked together when Klein

Altamonte 'Raps' Tale Around SW

By Kevin Gross

Special to the Herald

ORANGE CITY/DELTONA — Even Charles Dickens wouldn't buy this Tale of Two Cities.

For the second time in three nights the Altamonte Senior League All-Stars played in two cities on two different fields to complete a District 14 Division 2 All-Star baseball game.

Unlike Monday's heart-breaking 4-3, 12-inning loss to Matland at Matland/Oviedo, however, the outcome of Wednesday night's game was more favorable as Altamonte pounded out a 2-4 victory over the Southwest Volusia All-Stars at Orange City's Valentine Field, then Deltona's Charlie Paulus Field.

Late-arriving umpires, a rain delay and lack of lights at Orange City forced a move to Deltona, which has lights. Nearly six hours after its scheduled 5:30 p.m. start it was finally over.

Altamonte, 2-1, meets Oviedo Friday at 7:30 at DeLand's Howe Field. Manager Woody Woodard said he would go with Corey Prom or Greg Metzger. Oviedo manager David Austin said he would summon Dwight Everett. Don Crawford, District 14 administrator, said the game may be moved to Oviedo. A previously scheduled junior game between Oviedo and West Volusia would have to be moved.

Although Altamonte and Southwest were deadlocked at 1-1 after one inning Wednesday, but Altamonte quickly asserted itself in the second inning.

It blew the game wide open with a 13-run outburst. Penny Siqueros, who has been hit by a pitch in all three games, lead off by taking a pitch in the left shoulder. A passed ball moved her to second and Craig Radzak then ripped a double to center to score her. The next batter, Noah Talecnick, walked before Andy Anson followed with a line-drive double to center to score Radzak and make the score 3-1.

Metzger followed with a double to left to score two more runs, an error by the second basemen allowed Metzger to score and give Altamonte a commanding 6-1 lead. An error by the shortstop allowed Prom to score Altamonte's seventh run. With one out, Jim Kreiner walked, Siqueros also walked to put runners on first and second for Radzak who promptly drove the pitcher's second pitch over the center-field fence for a three-run homer.

"I am a fastball hitter," said Radzak. "It was a high fastball and I got out in front of it and drove it."

Radzak, who started a few games for the Lyman High School basketball team as a freshman last year, said an adjustment in his stance made the difference. "The last few nights I've been pulling my head. Tonight, I just tried to keep my head on the ball."

Talecnick then singled to left, Anson walked, and Metzger lined a single to left to plate another run. Prom then doubled to left-center to drive in Altamonte's 13th run of the inning and give it a 14-1 advantage.

"Were a very good hitting team," said coach Ralph Cochran. "We teach the kids to meet the ball firmly and not try to kill it."

Radzak was Altamonte's leading hitter with two doubles and a home run. He drove in six runs.

Somehow...It Dropped — Nationals Win

By Sam Cook

EUSTIS — The Altamonte Nationals weren't on the ledge Wednesday night — they were over the ledge, hanging precariously by four fingertips. With Matland holding a 7-1 advantage and pitcher Andre Johnson ready to stomp on Altamonte's fingertip grip, even the most optimistic of optimists would be looking for a soft spot to land.

"Was it ever in doubt?" Altamonte manager Duke Pleicones joked after the game.

Only for five and two-thirds innings. Then came Altamonte's deep sigh of relief as Ricky Johnson broke perfectly and hauled in a line drive by Matland cleanup hitter Robbie Robison to end the game.

The Nationals, reaching deep for that extra something, erupted for four runs in the fifth and added three more after TWO were out in the sixth to pull out an 8-7 victory over Matland in District 14 Division 2 Major All-Star baseball Wednesday.

The victory sets up a dream match for Friday between Alta-monte's Americans and Altamonte's Nationals. They are the two only unbeaten teams left in Division 2. The game, originally set for Pierson, has been switched to Altamonte Springs-Eastmonte complex, said Don Crawford, District 14 administrator.

The Americans took care of St. John's, 9-2, Wednesday. Pleicones said he would go with ace right-hander Andy Spolski. American skipper Mike Morro will probably counter with his ace, Chris "Bulldog" Jackson.

Friday's contest, nevertheless, will take some doing to rival the suspensful comeback the Nats accomplished against Matland. "We just never gave up," said Pleicones. "Even when it was 7-1, the kids were right up against the fence yelling for us to come back."

Johnson, a mechanically-sound left-hander, zapped an over-eager Altamonte hitting crew with a tailing fastball in the early innings and then slipped a dipping curveball for strikes later on.

While Altamonte was biting at

Baseball

Johnson's fadeaway, Matland showed its patience against Neill James, Altamonte's Dwight Gooden look-alike right down to his No. 16. The big right hander couldn't find the plate in the early going and three walks to open the game all scored.

Danny Parkins drew a two-out bases-loaded walk for the first run. J.J. Graham who played in the Altamonte league last year, riddled a single up the middle for two more and a 3-0 lead.

"Neill was a little nervous in the first inning since it was his first all-star game," said Altamonte catcher Pete Joseph. "But he came on after that and threw the ball harder and for strikes."

James agreed. "I got kind of nervous," he said. "I was really down after they scored those three runs but I built my confidence back up during the next couple innings."

Altamonte pated the lead to 3-1 with a run in the second.

With two outs, Johnson suddenly lost it as he walked the seven (Bill Rippard), eight (Shawn Spivey) and nine (Scott Davidson) hitters.

Matt Albert made him pay as he slashed a single through the left side to score Rippard. Johnson, though, whiffed Chris Pleicones to cut off any further trouble.

Matland, managed by veteran Sid Cash, padded its lead with two ore in the third and another pair in the fourth. Each time, Cash's crew scored after James retired the first two batters. Chad Wegeman followed a walk to Parkins and a single by Graham with a two-run double to left center in the third. Johnson helped himself with a two-run single to center in the fourth to score McBryde and Robison, both of whom had singled.

The Nationals began to dissolve the 7-1 lead in the fifth. Johnson had allowed just two hits and struck out five and two defensive gems — a shoestring catch by right fielder Parkins and a great charge and throw by shortstop McBryde to a scooping Robison at first — helped keep Altamonte in check.

Johnson's control left him again in the fifth, though Davidson, Albert and Pleicones opened with successive walks. Spolski followed with a high chop to the right side for an RBI infield single. One out later, Travis Lloyd ripped a liner off the third baseman's glove for a single to cut the lead to 7-3. Joseph then coaxed a free pass for another run and when Johnson went 2-0 to Rippard, Cash called for Robison.

Robison completed Johnson's walk to Rippard for a 7-5 count but then lanned Johnson and induced Davidson to hit into a forcout to end the inning.

James mowed down three of four hitters in the fifth and Altamonte came up for its last grasp in the sixth. Robison whiffed Albert and Pleicones popped to second base Spolski, though, singled and went to second on an error by the left fielder. James then fought off an outside curveball to center for a

Lamb Slams Door, Americans Roll

By Chris Fister

OVIDO — The way Deltona and the Altamonte Americans came out swinging Wednesday it looked as if the District 14 Division 2 Major Tournament winner's bracket game would be a slugfest.

But, after giving up two runs on three hits in the first, Altamonte pitcher Chuck Lamb closed the door on Deltona. Lamb allowed just one hit and only two baserunners the rest of the way and the Americans cruised to a 9-2 victory.

Altamonte jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the top of the first with some aggressive baserunning and a clutch double by Jeff Jackson leading the way. T.J. Gluffrida led off the game with a base hit and then stole second. With one out,

Baseball

Jared Soto walked and Gluffrida and Soto then pulled off a double steal.

Gluffrida scored the first run on a wild pitch and, with two outs, Soto scored when Jackson rocked Tony Niemesh's first pitch to right center for a double.

Deltona came right back with two runs on three hits in the bottom of the first. Chris Eldridge led off with an infield single and Wes Hewart followed by lashing Lamb's first pitch to right center for a double, putting runners on second and third. Eldridge then scored on a wild pitch and, when the catcher's throw to third was wild, Hewitt also scored to tie it at 2-2.

Deltona's first inning only seemed to make Lamb tougher. For the game, the flame-throwing righthander struck out 13 and walked just two. Deltona had just two baserunners after the first inning.

"I knew their (Deltona's) first, second and third hitters could hit," Lamb said. "But I knew that our offense would score runs too. They did (seven more runs) and I felt pretty strong throughout the game."

Altamonte took the lead for good in the top of the second when Eddie Howard led off with a single, took second when the ball scooted under the left fielder's glove and scored on William Thompson's single to right.

Toastmaster Guest Speaker At Graduation

Leigh Dorton

Leigh Dorton, a member of Sanford Daybreakers Toastmasters, is the district winner of the Humorous Speech Contest where she competed against veteran speakers from a five-county area. Ms. Dorton was recently the guest speaker at a Speech Craft Graduation Ceremony for Daytona Beach Toastmasters. Her speech concentrated on communication tips and how to be an effective speaker.

Toastmasters is an International program that teaches such communication techniques as body language, speech organization, and voice control, even to people who don't plan to become public speakers. According to Toastmaster Barbara Hughes, "Most people who gain self confidence in speaking before an audience, both in prepared and impromptu talks, will radiate that confidence in every situation."

The Sanford Toastmasters meet every Tuesday at 7:15 a.m. in the back of Christo's Restaurant on First Street in Sanford. The public is invited to come and observe and/or participate. Ms. Hughes says.

The Junior Woman's Club of Sanford Inc. is announcing the winners today in the Children's Photo Contest the club sponsored to benefit an Arts Scholarship. According to a club spokesman, Ronda Bauder, 18 children entered the contest. The three top winners are: Joshua Foggin, Sanford, age 01 category; Emilie Madore, Gamesville, age 2-3 category; and Regan Ledford, Apopka, age 5-6 category. The winners received first place certificates and gifts donated by Knights Shoe Store, Gifts by Nan, and Wee Kids Fashions, all Sanford businesses, and Burger King of Central Florida. The Arts Scholarship will be presented to a deserving artist later in the year.

Woman Wants To Return Sailor's Bracelet To Family

DEAR ABBY: Thanks to your column in the Fresno Bee, I became aware that you were able to help an American soldier return the identification papers taken from the body of a dead German soldier during World War II. Perhaps you can solve a similar dilemma of 41 years' standing.

Dear Abby

I would like to return a sterling silver ID bracelet to the family of a young sailor whose body my husband helped to prepare for burial at Naval Base Hospital No. 18 on Guam in 1944. The bracelet was engraved "Michael Hudzy (and his serial number) 33773514."

Sometime later, my husband was horrified to find his ID bracelet in his jumper pocket where he must have dropped it in order to free his hands for other things. He was afraid to turn it in for fear of being accused of theft, as he truly didn't remember putting it in his pocket. He kept it all these years hoping that somehow, someday he could return it to the boy's family.

Through the years I have written to the Veterans Administration and the Department of Records in Washington, asking for the boy's address through a G.I. insurance policy — anything — but my letters were never answered.

Not long before my husband's death in 1978, he mentioned again his desire to return this bracelet, feeling it must mean something to someone, somewhere.

I still have it. Can you help me return it to the family of Michael Hudzy?

I'm signing my name and address. Please contact me if you hear from his family and I will send it to them.

MRS. J.P.W., FRESNO, CALIF.

DEAR MRS. J.P.W.: It's a long shot, but if I hear from the sailor's family, I will put them in touch with you. Bless you for your perseverance.

DEAR ABBY: In January, I sent an original manuscript as a gift to Woody Allen. I had hand-bound the pages, and decorated the binding with baroque pearls and amethyst. I enclosed my name, address and telephone number. I had hoped that Woody would either send me a note or call me, or at the very least, instruct his secretary to do so.

To date, I haven't received even an acknowledgement that my gift was received. Abby, is it unrealistic of me to expect a thank-you from a famous person?

DISAPPOINTED IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: The recipients of unsolicited materials are not required to acknowledge or return it, unless return postage is provided.

Some famous people are instructed by their attorneys to never acknowledge (or read) unsolicited manuscripts, so even though yours was elaborately decorated, there's a good chance that Woody Allen didn't even see it.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing for all the tea lovers and hope the restaurant owners will take note.

Most restaurants offer as many refills as a coffee drinker wishes, but just try to get a refill for a cup of hot tea — or glass of iced tea — and see what happens.

The tea drinker usually gets one tea bag with his tea, and if he wants to reuse the tea bag for a second cup he must ask for more water, which he eventually gets, but he can't expect a second tea bag at no charge. I could bring my own tea bags and ask for water, but that would look tacky.

Maybe it's time for another Boston Tea Party.

TEA LOVER

DEAR TEA LOVER: I think your suggestion is a good one, and not at all "tacky." Since tea bags take up practically no space, carry a spare in your purse or wallet.

Stop The Cracks About Knuckles; No Harm Done

DEAR DR. GOTT — My son has a habit of cracking his knuckles, finger by finger. I keep telling him he's going to have big ugly knuckles if he continues this, but he says that's an old wives' tale. Is there anything wrong with cracking your knuckles, aside from the annoyance factor?
DEAR DR. GOTT — I am certain that your comments reflect the concerns of generations of women whose sons cracked their knuckles. As far as I know, knuckle-cracking does not cause any long-term harm. The major problem is the perception your son may have that you are nagging him. I have yet to meet a young man who is the slightest bit concerned about having big knuckles, and nothing you — or I — say will make the slightest difference. I suggest you drop the subject and concentrate on more germane issues. If you are going to go down in history as a "knuckle-nagger," you will probably better expend your energy emphasizing more important issues.
DEAR DR. GOTT — My nephew came down with severe intestinal pain when he was 13 and it was diagnosed as Crohn's disease. He had three attacks since then and long periods of remission. He's now 18 and healthy in every respect, except that he's held steady at 5 feet 6 for the past two years. (His younger brother is 6 feet 2.) Is this the end of his growth?
DEAR DR. GOTT — By 18, most adolescents have reached their adult height, the bone-growth plates have closed. Your nephew is unlikely to exceed his present 5 feet 6. Although he may wish to be taller, he is going to have to accept his present stature. I am sure that you and his family appreciate the blessing of his good health; he seems to be handling a chronic intestinal disorder very well. That is immensely to his credit.
DEAR DR. GOTT — My hands get quite cold, sometimes even in heated apartments or in moderate weather. Aside from causing other people discomfort when I shake hands, is there any health danger in having cold hands?
DEAR DR. GOTT — There is no danger in having cold hands unless this reflects an underlying disease. If the circulation to your fingers is really diminished, tissue damage can result. I suggest you have a medical examination to make sure that you don't have a form of arterial spasms.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Why do some people have bad breath? My uncle is the most meticulous man: he brushes and flosses twice a day and doesn't drink or smoke, yet his breath is powerful.

Live Aid

Concerts Expected To Draw Record Audience, Raise Millions

By Frank Spotnitz
United Press International

The Live Aid rock concerts in London and Philadelphia this Saturday could raise $50 million for African famine relief in a single day, while at the same time attracting one of the largest television audiences in history.

Some of the top acts in rock music — from Mick Jagger, Paul McCartney, Bob Dylan and the Who to David Bowie, Madonna, the Cars, Hall and Oates, and Tina Turner — will appear during the shows.

The entire concert, scheduled to start at 7 a.m. in London's Wembley Stadium and end at 11 p.m. at JFK Stadium in Philadelphia, will be carried live on MTV, the cable music station.

Concert highlights will be broadcast on ABC-TV from 8 to 11 p.m. More than 100 radio stations and 105 television stations have arranged to carry all or most of the Philadelphia concert before the ABC broadcast begins.

The producer, Worldwide Sports and Entertainment, said as many as 350 million households around the globe may tune in to the concerts, which would tie the viewership of the current recordholder — the 1982 World Soccer Cup.

Concert audiences will not see famine pictures from Ethiopia or the Sudan, but hourly "inspirational messages" from the likes of Jimmy Carter, Bishop Desmond Tutu, Carl Sagan, Geraldine Ferraro and others will urge people to make donations. There also may be taped messages from President Reagan, Pope John Paul II and British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.

The project is the brainchild of Bob Geldof, the rock musician who triggered the charity superstar recordings with the British single "Do They Know It's Christmas?"

The British musicians he assembled for that song, calling themselves Band Aid, inspired Harry Belafonte and manager Ken Kragen to form USA For Africa, whose "We Are the World" record and merchandising is expected to raise $45 million.

Even that figure, which is four times what Band Aid's record generated, could be surpassed in a single day by money generated by the Live Aid shows from broadcast rights, corporate sponsorship, ticket sales and telethons in two dozen countries.

Geldof, who considers entertainment an ironic way of raising funds for famine, expects the shows to raise from $12 million to $50 million.

Belafonte's original idea had been to stage a superstar benefit concert, but he and Kragen nixed the idea — considering the financial failure of such events as 1972's Concert for Bangladesh and the US Festivals in California.

Geldof sees Live Aid as the logical culmination of the relief efforts. "The good thing about the Band Aid projects — I include USA For Africa and all the global things — is that every event has to be bigger to attract people. It's the glamour. It's an easy way for people to help."

Money raised from Live Aid will provide shelter, clothing and "long-term solutions" in Africa, he said. Thusfar, funds from Band Aid and USA for Africa primarily have been used to provide food and medical supplies.

Some critics contend celebrities are becoming involved in the effort to advance their own careers. And Live Aid has been accused of ignoring black artists, whose music has more relevance to the tragedy in Africa, in favor of more commercial white acts.

When the Live Aid shows were announced in June 10, Geldof and American promoter Bill Graham said they asked "every major black artist" to participate — including Michael Jackson, Prince and Ray Charles.

Of the 48 acts initially scheduled in London and Philadelphia, the only black artists were David Ruffin and Eddie Kendricks, Stevie Wonder, Billy Ocean, Sade, Joe Leeway of Thompson Twins and Tony Thompson of Power Station.

Apparently to give greater balance to the roster, the Four Tops, Teddy Pendergrass, Tina Turner, Ashford and Simpson and the rap group Run-DMC subsequently were added. (Stevie Wonder will not appear, reportedly because of prior commitments.)

Each act will perform about 20 minutes. Comedians such as Chevy Chase, Joe Piscopo and Robert Guillaume will appear between sets. A mass finale is in the works.

The three-hour ABC special will be hosted by Dick Clark. Hosts for those watching the proceedings on local TV stations and overseas will be Sheena Easton, Kenny Loggins, Melissa Manchester, Bette Midler, Randy Newman and Grace Slick.

Television viewers undoubtedly will have a better view of what is happening in Philadelphia than the 90,000 people in JFK Stadium.

Gene Weed, directing the ABC broadcast, said he would be using five or six cameras and a Skycam in addition to as many as 15 cameramen filming the musical performances.

"I think I have heard the word 'awesome' overused in every situation until I encountered this one," he said. "It's the biggest gathering of music people in the world for one united cause."

Scenes from smaller concerts across the globe will appear on U.S. television screens. In Australia, Men at Work, INXS and the Little River Band will perform at the Sydney Entertainment Center. Other bands will take the stage in Japan, Holland and Germany.

Geldof said no films or television specials are planned with the hundreds of hours of videotape that will be left over after Saturday's shows, although ABC said all of it will be saved.

Nude Madonna Playboy To Be On Stands Tuesday

CHICAGO (UPI) — Fans will be able to see nude photos of Madonna, the rock singer known for songs including "Like a Virgin," in Playboy's September issue that goes on the newsstands Tuesday, the magazine says.

That means the magazine will beat Penthouse to the public with nude pictures of the songstress.

Penthouse publisher Bob Guccione announced earlier this week his magazine had obtained nude photos of Madonna and would publish them "very soon."

Playboy said the pictures to be featured on 14 pages were taken by photographers Lee Friedlander and Martin H. Schreiber when Madonna was working as a nude model in New York in 1979 and 1980.

Playboy would not disclose the amount paid for the photos or the source.

Playboy said it and not Penthouse was offered first choice of the pictures of Madonna, who skyrocketed to fame with her "Like a Virgin" album.

In New York, Guccione said he does not care who first prints nude photographs of Madonna because he got the "cream of the crop" and will go ahead with his plans for a layout featuring the singer "very soon."

The Penthouse publisher said

the pictures were of "Madonna alone, fully nude, very explicit — with everything in full view."

The photos have been displayed in a gallery, but have never been published in a magazine, Guccione said.

Sanctions Debate Growing Bitter

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Senate debate on imposing sanctions to protest South Africa's policy of racial separation is growing deeply personal and bitter over the larger issues of racism and anti-communism.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., who just a day earlier had hinted that "racist" motives had prevented the legislation from coming to the Senate floor, Wednesday ridiculed statements by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., that sanctions would throw black South Africans out of work.

"He says it's the Soviet Union - not racist apartheid - that is causing the upheaval in Africa," Cranston said of Helms. "Incredible."

Helms, who recalled he once tried to block the Carter administration from withdrawing support of white-ruled Rhodesia, said later: "For my efforts, I was hooted down as a racist."

"The same blistering rhetoric [is] heard on the floor today from senators who ought to know better, a senator who follows a political line, appealing for bloc votes," he said.

Helms plans to push a delaying action to prevent full consideration of the bill today. Against him are Sens. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., who are proposing even tougher penalties than the bill includes.

Helms Wednesday sought to delay the bill for an agreement in which the harsher penalties are dropped in exchange for allowing the measure to come up for debate and a vote.

The bill would impose an immediate ban on bank loans to South Africa, block the sale of computer equipment that police might use to track dissidents and ban the sale of nuclear technology to Pretoria.

Kennedy and Weicker favor sanctions included in a bill the House passed last month - bans on new American business investments in South Africa and on the sale of South African gold Kruggerands in the United States.

Helms said he had heard "pious protests" against apartheid and, while he opposes the system of racial separation, the real question of the debate is, "The folly of undermining the allies of the United States."

"We did it in Iran. This chamber used to ring with condemnation of the shah. The shah wasn't perfect," Helms said. "How many Americans today would be willing to embrace the Ayatollah (Khomeini) if the option was to bring the shah back?"

"Who denies we need the minerals of South Africa, shipping lanes that are vital to the commerce and defense of the free world?" he said. "I guarantee the fellows in the Kremlin are saying, 'OK boys, we hope you go on...'"

Cranston ridiculed Helms for saying the sanctions will cost blacks jobs and the Soviet Union is behind opposition to the Pretoria regime.

"If the senator from North Carolina had been in the Senate 122 years ago, he probably would have opposed emancipation because it would throw 4 million slaves out of work," Cranston said.

"If Russia had been communist 122 years ago, the senator from North Carolina would probably have accused the abolitionists of being Soviet agents," he said.

AIDS

How The Virus Dodges The Immune System

BOSTON (UPI) - Researchers have discovered the mechanism by which the AIDS virus short-circuits the human immune system, scientists announced today.

Recent experiments indicate the AIDS virus prevents specific cells, called helper-inducer T cells, from responding to evidence of infection and cancer in body fluids.

The work was conducted on eight people with acquired immune deficiency syndrome by scientists at the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases.

"Such insight will be critical in our attempts to develop therapies for the progressive and fatal immune deficiency of this syndrome," the researchers said in a report in the New England Journal of Medicine.

Three major effects are a drastic reduction in the number of helper-inducer T cells, the resulting change in the ratio of these cells to other cells important to the immune system and lowered responsiveness of these cells to dissolved antigens, which are chemical indicators of a disease invasion.

Dr. Richard Kalish and Stuart Schlossman of Harvard Medical School said in an accompanying editorial. "The authors have rightfully concluded that this selective immunologic defect may be central to the initiation of other immunologic defects that occur in patients with AIDS."

"In fact, many of the manifestations of AIDS can now be understood as a consequence of the interaction of the (AIDS) virus with helper-inducer lymphocytes," they said.

Dr. H. Clifford Lane, the report's primary author, said. "The critical insight seems to be the inability of the immune system to recognize soluble proteins. It is essentially gone in all patients and it cannot be restored by enriching the number of cells. It's more diabolical."

The human immune system contains chemicals called helper-inducer molecules that must be present to stimulate helper-inducer cells to start attacking invading germs.

"This does not immediately give us any bright ideas about how to cure the disease," said Lane. "Still the best approach to treatment is the current approach of developing drugs to inactivate the AIDS virus in combination with boosting the immune system."

"However, this may give us ideas how the virus attacks the system and provide us ways to tell how severely the system is affected by the AIDS virus," he said.
