

October Arms Output Rises; Planes Set Pace

8,362 Aircraft Are Record For any Month; Nelson Hails Gains

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (AP) — Aircraft production in October showed its biggest gains since April, Donald M. Nelson reported with aircraft output reaching a record-smashing total of 8,362 planes. Measured by dollar value, October production advanced 5 per cent over September.

"Most power, occasional shortages of material and design changes gave less trouble than in recent months," the War Production Board chairman said in his sixteenth monthly report.

"Better management, better effort by labor, better trained workers—in a word, 'know-how'—can be seen clearly in last month's performance."

While over-all production showed substantial gains, there was only a 1 per cent rise in gun output.

which is a stable program, and there was a decline in combat and motor vehicles, which Mr. Nelson said is "according to plan."

The expanding programs—those getting the most pressure for realization of military strategy—showed their production tally.

Aircraft up 10 per cent in number, 9 per cent in weight and 10 per cent in value.

Ships, up 5 per cent (in terms of construction put in place).

Ammunition, up 11 per cent.

Communication equipment, including Radar, up 9 per cent.

The W.P.B. munitions index gained 29 points over September, the best showing since April's 30 points over March. The index, which takes arms production in the pre-Yalta Harbor month of November 1941, at 100, now stands at 945. In other words, armament output is nearly 6½ times as great as when the country went to war.

The index revealed that September production was better than was reported a month ago. Whereas the last report showed only a 1-point gain in September, in August, figures revised on the basis of later reports showed a 9-point climb.

Mr. Nelson said that while it's a harder month to make out to achieve gains, it is "encouraging to realize that the 'know-how' which has stimulated October production will be a continuing influence from now on."

"For the first time in 1943, he said with reference to aircraft, the number of combat models meeting or exceeding their goals failed to do so."

Of the four major "bottleneck items" now worrying W.P.B.—

landing craft, trucks, electronics not reported, presumably for release from now on,"—only two were mentioned in the index. The heavy-duty truck tire production has never been covered in the monthly reports although it is a vital part of the military vehicle and aircraft program.

Tankers delivered jumped to thirty-five, thirteen more than in September, while cargo vessels gained 6 per cent and combat and other vessels 4 per cent. The Liberty ship schedule is being trimmed to make shipways available for the faster, bigger Victory ships.

Combat vehicles dropped off as planned, declining 11 per cent with tanks down the most.

Post-War Plans

Your post-war plans, someone said a few days ago, should include marriage. That would certainly be fine for those who are not already married or who will not be married before this war is over. But we do not recommend it. Those who are may yet, or shortly will be, tied together by a chain bond of infamy.

For all, however those who are married, as well as those who are unmarried, we can most strongly urge that their post-war plans should include jobs. It will be as important for single people as well as for married people, and for women as for men, for those in the armed services as for those in civilian life, to have jobs when this war is over.

For there is one thing that is certain. Millions of men are coming back from the battlefront looking for jobs in private industry. There will also be millions of men and women released from war industries, now busy making battleships, tanks, and machine guns, who will be also returning to their homes and hopefully to the jobs they used to have.

There will of course be mustering-out pay for service men and unemployment compensation for all who are unable to find jobs. And no doubt there will be some kind of WPA program set up and perhaps relief work of one kind or another established by cities and states. But the fact remains that the best jobs for the most people will be, as they always have been, those jobs supplied by private enterprise.

Naturally the best jobs are going to be reserved for the best men and women. Those who are giving good service now, who always have a pleasant smile for their customers, who give a fair day's work for a fair day's pay, and who are strengthening their seniority rights by sticking to their old jobs, are going to be given the preference when the manpower shortage is a thing of the past.

You can prepare now the foundation for your post-war future by being the kind of an employee your employer will want to hire when help is plentiful. Build yourself a reputation as an honest, efficient and conscientious workman and you will have no need to fear another period of unemployment, if, as and when it comes.

Rail Men At War

Fourteen divisions make a man-sized army. That means roughly 200,000 soldiers, the number of railroad men now in the armed forces, according to President F. E. Williamson of the New York Central.

Their loss to the industry is another handicap under which the already overburdened railroads are operating, and another reason why unnecessary travelers should stay at home.

The railroad men themselves must feel pride in realizing that they are working on the most important road of all, the road to Berlin.

Volunteers Help To Run Hospital In New Haven

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 29 (UPI)—Harold Odell, famed football coach at Yale, is passing more time now in hospitals than ever before in his life, but not for reasons of health. He is one of the thousands of men in the United States who are volunteering their time in such capacities as orderlies, dishwashers and laundry workers to ease the hospital manpower shortage.

When Mr. Odell started to work a year ago assisting in the operation of an oxygen tent as one of his duties at the New Haven Hospital, his fellow volunteers numbered fifty men. If there were any other hospitals using men volunteers no one had heard

Kelly Field Used As Training Base For Brazil Pilots

By HERMAN R. ALLEN
Air Force Writer

KELLY FIELD, Tex.—One by one, the little training planes raced their early morning shadows down the runway and took off for the south.

At the controls, as they banked into their carefully plotted course, were young pilots belonging to the air force's one and only South American pilot training school. The planes: lease-lend equipment.

There are a lot of odd jobs in the Army Air Service Command, and one of the most interesting has fallen to the San Antonio AF.

The job is to see that Latin American lease-lend planes are ready for the pilots who are to fly them home—and that the pilots are prepared for the flight. Kelly Field swarms these days with young Brazilian pilots, and Mexicans, Chileans and Colombians—representatives of nearly every nation south of the Rio Grande.

Most numerous are the Brazilians, who maintain a permanent representative to handle paper work on the planes now being sent to this important ally.

The operations officer explained how this lease-lend job works out:

"First of all," he said, "the planes are flown here from the factory by the Ferry Command, and the planes and the pilots get together. The pilot takes the ship up for a test hop, and then any bugs that he finds are adjusted."

The benevolent nation's insignia are painted on or repainted sometimes if the pilot doesn't like the original paint job.

"Then I give the pilots their instructions for the flight. Every two hours flying time from here to Panama and from there both ways down the east and west coasts of South America are designated fully equipped flying fields.

The pilots are instructed to land at one of these fields not later than 1 P.M. every day. The way storms come up in the afternoon down that way, we would be losing planes every other day if we didn't stick by the rule."

Prescribed Course

"Another important rule is never to deviate from the prescribed course. At some points along the line a pilot will hit 12,000-foot mountain peaks if he veers as little as 25 miles off course."

Old records show that these precautions pay off. Of the many hundred planes flown south by Latin American pilots since lease-lend began only three or four have been forced down as total losses.

Others have been forced down, but then the Army goes to work with special teams to patch up the crash site, and the ABC handles it out of San Antonio. Below there, the Sixth Air Force, based on the Panama Canal Zone, takes over.

If the wrecked aircraft can't be reached by plane, the Army turns to truck boats, ox-carts,

"...and a great bunch," said the operations officer. Most of the countries send the same pilots every trip, but Brazil sends the top graduates of its air force academy.

"We take complete care of them while they're here. We see that they're housed and fed, obtain their medical equipment for them and entertain them."

FARM LAND BOOM NOW WILL BRING HEADACHES LONG AFTER WAR ENDS

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard said recently that this country today is in great danger from a farm land boom which is already under way. "Unless we do something about it soon we are going to build up future headaches for farmers and their families, and for a good many other people as well," he declared.

Land values in this war have increased by just about the same rate as they did in World War I. The peak of that boom was not

-PLEASE-

This is an appeal to advertisers and those who have news items for our paper to get their copy into this office at least on the day BEFORE publication.

Under present war-time conditions, as long as the manpower shortage prevails, it is essential that we have the co-operation of the public in order that our paper can come out on time and so that carrier boys and girls don't have to stay out after dark to deliver their papers.

You will be helping yourself if you will help us in this emergency to go to press early. Telephone your news stories in on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays and let us have your ads on those days too. It will be a great help to us, we will appreciate it, and every subscriber will benefit. MANY THANKS.

The Sanford Herald

ed to a tremendous depression that was felt by every class of people throughout the country. Many farmers have not forgotten this disastrous experience, others have come up who do not remember. And many city people with money they can't spend or other things are buying farm lands partly because they believe them to be good investments and partly because they try to avoid the evil effects of inflation. But they do not realize that by paying high prices for lands they are contributing to the devaluation of a very substantial way.

The fact that farm equipment is not available to expand operations has caused the current boom to be in a middle proportion than it might be. The Nation's hold-the-line efforts have also helped to keep down runaway prices.

Even effects of a land boom when certain prices do comprise thousands and even millions of farm families to lose their holdings and in most cases their belongings, setting them back many years. Some are able to get some of their losses, then they sell what they bought land. Others, more tenacious, hold on to their lands but, using them instead, to conserving them, and often reduce their family living standards accordingly, in order to continue paying taxes in their areas.

The encouraging thing about the present situation is that more families are saving off their mortgaged while prices for farm products are good. Others are making advance payments against the tax bill.

The government is considering a number of types of measures to prevent the land boom from getting out of hand. These include such things as restriction of credit, ceiling prices on land and penalties to purchase, and a transfer tax.

The one which seems to have fewest undesirable features, however, and consequently is being given most serious consideration is a stiff annual gains restriction. This would be charged on the first transfer, thus permitting farmers who are ready to retire to sell without penalty. However, a special tax would be set up on the residue of farm real estate acquired during the emergency period, whether the farmer sold it or resold it a few months later at a profit would find their profit heavily taxed.

Both the government and thinking people in all walks want to avoid the aftermath of a land boom on top of the enormous other serious and inescapable problems following this war.

National Sense Of Humor Cuts Down Wartime Strain

AP Features

Americans have not lost their balancing sense of humor as long as can laugh at themselves in personal predicaments brought about by "wartime" situations in essentials of everyday living.

Here's a roundup of items dealing with predicaments occasioned by shortages of man power, food, transportation, and other living necessities and services, as reported by the Office of War Information:

In Spokane, Wash., a hotel management informant wrote that they must make their own beds. A sign explains: Maid's Year Out.

In San Francisco, the deck steward of a South Pacific transport reported on the fate of the ship's mascot, a pig. "Every time we hit port," he said, "so many people seemed to look at her as if she had points on the hoof that we finally decided to turn her over to the butcher."

Feminine Scarecrow

In Glen Ellyn, Ill., the manpower situation was given ingenious solution. An enterprising Vic, 600 new alarm clocks caused a public celebration with emergency gardener set up two scarecrows dressed in print dresses.

Still on the war side, but more serious, a citizen of Tulsa, Okla., explained that he had piled ties across a railroad track because two overburdened trains had already passed him up, and he was desperate to catch a train.

In Burbank, Calif., arrival of cyanoacrylate called out to keep order. Globe, Ariz., voters to awaken copper mine workers by sounding the fire whistle at 6 A.M. Only one protest was made—by the fire chief who claimed it would distract his firemen, sleeping after swing-shift hours.

In Charlotte, N.C., a hotel got a key mailed back from North Africa. A former soldier guest explained he was conscience-stricken on learning of room shortages in the Southern city.

All In The Wash

In Camden, N.J., 3,600 citizens were asked to visit a laundry that had gone into receivership, identify their wash, and take it home.

Some 3,000 bundles were dry, but 600 were still wet, and the laundry warned they might mildew.

The village of Harris, in Sullivan County, Missouri, is going to get along with part-time Sunday telephone service after all. Citizens protested loudly when the exchange owner decided to let the operator off Sunday from 11 to 12 ("Oh," said the operator, "I just don't work on Sunday off.")

In Athens, Tenn., two days after an over-age applicant managed to get himself elected to the police force he received his first call. It was to arrest a horse that had run away with Valley Gardens.

In Hollywood, because of the meat shortage, producer of Westerns have decided to shoot all shots of stampeding cattle.

In Maryland, the Baltimore County superintendent of schools has personally ringing doorbells in search of teachers, so that the school bell can continue to ring on time this fall. In Florida, a woman accused of shoving defended herself. "I just got tired of water," she said. "There weren't enough checks in the store." And in St. Louis the manpower shortage saved a barber from the worldwides. He will spend five months trimming the hair of city inmates.

Serious Side.

True, humor has enabled Americans to take bad situations in their stride. But there is also a serious side to the picture.

A Pennsylvania man of Gross Pointe, suburb of Detroit, who opened his home to several families of war workers, was arrested and fined for violating the zoning ordinance which forbids more than one family per house, no matter what the size of the house.

In Trenton, N.J., at the height of the tomato harvesting season Gov. Charles Edison was forced to proclaim an emergency in the processing of food products in his state.

In Maryland, shortages of help temporarily prevented the admittance of patients to mental hospitals for more than two weeks at a time, and some sections of such hospitals had to be closed altogether.

Talk Of Peace Increases As Allies Parley

German Junkers Said Planning To Throw Hitler Out If Satisfied With Terms

LONDON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Junta of old-line professional German soldiers, supported by many Junker industrialists, agrarians, diplomats, are understood to be awaiting an opportune moment to overthrow the Hitler government in the hope of wangling peace terms which would leave enough of German military power to "form the core of new world conquest."

Reports from inside Germany say the group has already made informal contacts with others, which the Allies dismissed because they were not official and fall far short of the "unconditional surrender" formula. The leaders were said to be Field Marshals Von Hindenburg, Von Brauchitsch, Von Beck and Grand Admiral Raeder, who were said to be convinced Germany is doomed to lose the war.

President Roosevelt's Prime Minister Churchill, Generalissimo Franco and Foreign Ministers of the Americas were said in a talk in the shadow of the pyramids—American, British radio stations and press in broadcasts to France in the French language.

The three statements now are on their way to an unknown destination. They were sent to the Service Union, the broadcast said.

The broadcasts, based on a使者's dispatch from Lisbon, said Mrs. Chiang Kai-Shek had accompanied her husband to Cairo by plane.

Mr. Roosevelt's statement:

Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Winston Churchill had a lengthy conference at Cairo and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Commander-in-Chief of the South Pacific, was present. The two leaders met at the end of the conference, will be leaving in the course of this week. During the conference all communications between Cairo and the rest of the world were cut. One of the meetings was held in a tent in the shadow of the pyramids. President Roosevelt and Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, who was accompanied by (Continues on Page Three)

Sgt. Ned L. Boatie Is Killed In Action

Death in action of Staff Sgt. Ned L. Boatie, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Boatie, former Lake Mary residents, was officially reported Friday to his parents in Jacksonville by the War Department.

One of the boys, who lives at Monroe, had been released Monday on Court Order, in order to spend the night with his parents. Instead, he contacted another boy and they were later arrested on a charge of robbing the "Red Mill" filling station, located on Fifth Street, and the second bandit of Fred Myers' Watch and a revolver stolen there, were later recovered by police, where the boys had hidden their loot.

A summate of $100 fine and costs or $0 days, was given the driver of the car, John Martin, who was charged with driving while drunk and withreckless driving, and Senator Claude Pepper, and high-ranking members of the Clinton air force, who have been visiting air training stations in the state.

Negro Discrimination Is Ordered Stopped

Washington, Dec. 1. (AP)—Ten southern railroads and the Brotherhood of Railroad Engineers yesterday were advised that their operating contract unfairly discriminates against Negroes and must be voided.

The President's committee on fair employment practices handed down its ruling after studying testimony taken at hearings in September.

The contract between the railroads and the railroad engineers, will be reviewed by the Negroes and the railroads.

George Brumley, Negro engineer, who has been working for the railroads for 15 years, said he has been discriminated against in every way possible.

He said he has been denied promotion, pay raises and other benefits.

He said he has been denied the right to work in certain departments of the railroads.

The railroads have agreed to

OPA Reduces Point Values Of Beef Cuts

New Ruling Permits Grocers To Reduce Can Point Values To Stop Spoilage

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Office of Price Administration today announced a substantial cut in beef point ration values but said the ration cost of lamb and mutton and practically all veal will remain unchanged for December. The new schedule is effective Sunday.

Price Administrator Chester Bowles said "The entire line of rationed beef items, ranging from porterhouse steak to hamburgers, will be cut from two to three ration points." Butter and margarine remain at present values.

In Chicago T.O. Monogram, the Grade Champion steer of the Chicago Market Fair Stock Show, was sold yesterday to the First Fat Star, Philadelphia, for $1 a pound, the third highest price ever paid. The steer weighed 1,029 pounds. The owner was T. Richard Lacy, 17, of Kansas City, who showed best yearling grand champion also.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Canned, frozen and dried rationed foods may be sold at reduced point values if there is imminent danger of spoilage and prices are cut at least 25 percent, the Office of Price Administration ruled yesterday.

OPA described the provision, effective Saturday, as an emergency measure designed to conserve these foods which might be lost if not moved into consumption quickly.

Ration point values may be cut 25 percent when there is imminent price reduction and proportionately more when the price is cut further. If the reduction is at least 50 percent, the items may be sold point-free.

Yesterday's action extends a policy which has been in effect for fresh meat since the weary days of rationing.

A gradual increase in produce sales is reported at the Sanford State Farmers Market, and the platform which several weeks ago had an empty and deserted look, is now being kept up-to-date with vegetables. Rationed items are still relatively high for this time of year according to Frank Shames to Kiwanians here today. Mr. Shames was introduced by his fellow Kiwanian. Dr. J. E. D. Dickey.

Mr. Shames pointed out that many improvements had been noticeable in Sanford since the refunding of the bonds in 1937, and added that since that time, $700,000 of indebtedness had been paid off, of which amount, (Continues on Page Three)

Extension Is Granted By FDA Supervisor

Suspension of all quotas on the slaughter of hogs by the National Slaughterhouse and Meat Packers Association, which was to terminate Dec. 1, has been extended until further notice, according to an announcement by R.P. Howard, Area Marketing Supervisor, Food Distribution Administration.

Today's action will give packers and shippers, who had a difficult time finding an opportunity to participate more actively in marketing this year's record hog crop during the peak season just ahead, Howard said.

It follows the suspension last week of all limitations on farm supply rationing for OPA in the northern states, which required a ration point to be required for the purchase of pork products.

Howard indicated that everything possible is being done to bring about orderly marketing of live hogs and the temporary suspension of OPA in the northern states, but the Japanese for nearly two years of war. Officials said it would probably be several hours before the passengers begin to depart.

Awarded Air Medals

Sukiyaki, Tarawa Style! A Jap Field Kitchen

THIS BASH of what was an enemy field kitchen on Tarawa a few moments earlier is given the once-over by Marine Pfc. F. M. Barnes of Miami, Fla., one of the United States Marines who in the Pacific strolled violently away from the Japs. It's the sort of meal he would again eat if he got the chance.

Seminole Ties For Third Place In Grid Conference

Three touchdowns more, two in the game with Osas and one in the game with Daytona, would be needed by the Seminoles to qualify for the Northeast Conference. The Seminoles are tied for third place with Florida High of Jacksonville, each being credited with five wins and two losses in the conference.

In their conference games, the Feds beat Eustis (30-0), DeLand (28-0), St. Augustine (24-6), New Smyrna (35 to 18) and Leesburg (10-13). Conference losses by the Feds were to Daytona (13 to 7) and Osas, 28-12.

Outsides of the conference, the Feds beat Winter Park, 30 to 7, and Immokalee 41 to 13. In Oregon, the Feds dropped a game on a rain-soaked field, 30 to 6, the week after their win over Eustis.

Bill Fleming, Fed star back, supported by a fine line and able defenses began to get in full gear for the season in the Deep South.

Motorists Begin Rush To Secure New License Tags

Today will mark the start of the annual deer hunt in the Ocala National Forest, it was announced by P.G. Ames, district ranger and honorary State game warden, who also stated that the hunt, which will terminate on Dec. 31, will be conducted on the same plan as last year.

This hunt is being conducted jointly by the U.S. Forest Service and the State Conservation Commission, each supplying a large supply of bright yellow motor vehicle license plates with black lettering for the season of 1944.

The deadline for the securing of tags will be Jan. 15. Mr. Ames stated. Prices will remain the same as last year for tags last year, only this year instead of getting a miniature tag to append to the old one, a complete new plate will be issued.

Applications for tags are required by Mr. Jenkins to present the hunt, and the price of tags required for hunting in this area may be obtained by sending money order or cashier's check for $2.00 to F.G. Ames, Ocala. In an effort to reduce the cost of operations, no checking station will be operated at Orange Springs as in past seasons.
