We Live For Others

One of the principal lessons of the last two years which stands out most clearly above all others is that astions like individuals that live for themselves alone soon perish. In this modern world, as indeed in the world of any other age, there is no such thing as isolation. People live together in family groups; families gather together in small communities; cities and towns join together in mighty nations. They prosper or disintegrate exactly, as they make sacrifices for each other or live

When Germany invaded Austria all the nations of Europe were pledged to her defense. Most of them as well as the majority of the other nations of the world, become and notices of the League of Nations which was designed to resist aggression everywhere. Besides the League, there were many minor pacts, treaties and colemn obligations. Even Germany was pledged to respect Austria's todayer. Reversibling rates,

Even Germany was pledged to respect Austria's independence. But when Germany broke this promise and invaded as the large and string of the country with prince and an alliance with Russia to protect Czechoslovakia. Besides that there was the large and invaded as the country with prince and an alliance with Russia to protect Czechoslovakia. Besides that there was the large and solvakia.

oslovakia. Besides that, there was the Little Entente, oslovakia. Besides that, there was the Little Entente, oslovakia. Besides that, there was the Little Entente, oslovakia. Pugoslavia and Rumania in which all three signatories were pledged to go to the assistance of any one of them that might be the victim of an aggressor. United they were strong; divided they were to subject the signatories were pledged to go to the assistance of any one of them that might be the victim of an aggressor. United they were strong; divided they were weak. If each had been willing to make sacrifices for the keed of all, Europe would not today be under the heel of the dictator. But when Czechoslovakia was invaded not the dictator. But when Czechoslovakia was invaded, not a single nation came to her help.

When Poland was attacked, the people of England and France finally began to realize that if they were to save themselves they would have to act quickly or their sacrifices would be in vain. But not so the people of Norway, Holland, Belgium, Russia, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Turkey or Greece. These people somehow still hoped that they could escape without sacrifices while their neighbors were being destroyed all around them. If they had all acted together at that time, the war would now be over and Germany would no longer the war would now be over and Germany would no longer be a threat to the entire world.

By now people are beginning to see these mistakes.

They are beginning to realize that the welfare of all depends upon the sacrifices which each is willing to make. We know new that we cannot be free if the rest of the world is enslaved. We know that we cannot be rich in a world of poverty, misery and despair. We are beginning to remember the sacrifices that our ancestors made at Valley Forge, at Bull Run and in the Argonne in order that we might be free. And we are beginning to realize that if our children are to enjoy the same priceless herither are many stories, but also.

tage, similar sacrifices will be required of us.

The British escaped at Dunkerque not because it was every man for himself, but rather because men were willing to volunteer for dangerous rear guard actions so that the main body of troops could be saved. Brave men, the main body of troops could be saved. Brave men, with so much to live for, stayed behind and sacrificed themselves in the bloody pathway of crushing tanks, for the sake of others. Aged mariners took their, fishing smarker from bunkirk, and others; and there are many stories, but alas, my diary is full of gaps. Von Hess has just landed. One wonders what's next. The Duke of Hamilton is quite a close friend of mine. It will be interest into these. Forgive hastel and please write again. I think of you sweltering in the heat, and others; and there are many stories, but alas, my diary is full of gaps. Von Hess has just landed. One wonders what's next. And today America still debates whether it is better to think of ourselves or to make brave sacrifices for the good of the whole civilized world!

Easy Money

Buying gold bricks is not a common pastime in San-ford any more (though it must be admitted in the interest of accuracy, it has had its day). Even gold bricks cost money, and after folks get through supporting the basepair, but a kidglove policy ball team, contributing to the Chamber of Commerce, and donating to all the various other drives, funds and whatnots, there isn't much left for gold bricks." Nevertheless it might be of interest to know what

John Bennett, attorney general for the state of New Beach are announcing York, thinks of numerous skin games and how they are of a son at St. Francis worked and what a person ought to do before investing his money. During the last few years his office has sent 500 swindlers to prison, obtained injunctions against 5,-500 others, and recovered over $10,000,000 in stolen money and this is what he says:
"Yet there are still thousands of swindlers and hun-
