Washington, July 15.—(AP)—The Democratic Party is divided into two factions fighting for the control of party machinery and the legislative program.

The unexpected death of Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, for 15 years the leader of the party in the Senate, has administration supporters and opponents in the party.

On the other hand, Democrats opposed to the administration will support the party's program, and a party split is expected.

A state caucus will be held for the purpose of electing a new party leader, after which a large delegation of members will represent the party at the national convention in Philadelphia.

No. 3—Enjoying a baseball game with Vice President John N. Garner. No. 4—Robinson, the campaign, addresses a Democratic rally in Philadelphia during the presidential campaign last fall.

O'Laughlin, business agent for the Detroit local international brotherhood of teamsters, chauffeurs, stablemen and helpers, said between 40,000 and 50,000 men were involved. The strike directly affects only interstate shipments. Governor Murphy ordered state troops to see that the highways are not closed. There has been no disorder.

Combining Of Two Bureaus To Bring City New Citizens

Orlando Entomology
Group Will Move To Sanford Location

Enlargement of the work of the Division of Truck Crop Insect Investigations of the U. S. Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine at Sanford will result from the combination of a unit of that body now located at Orlando with the local unit.

The two organizations are now in the process of moving to new quarters at 1700 and 1702 Magnolia Avenue.

The Sanford station is the field headquarters for winter vegetable insect studies in the southeast. C. F. Stahl is in active charge and also directs the research on vegetable insects at Chaburn, N. C., Charleston, S. C., Biloxi, Miss., and Baton Rouge, La.

The active personnel of the Sanford station other than Mr. Stahl consists of L. B. Reed who is statistician of the affiliated stations; W. N. Tenhet, investigator of the methods of mole cricket control; C. B. Wiscup, who is in charge of the study of control methods for celery leaf-tyer and southern army worm, and Mrs. L. M. Cormac, chief clerk.

Those who will come from Orlando are Dr. D. E. Fink, M. C. Springs, and H. E. Phillips, who are all making biological tests of materials which show promise as insecticides.

As soon as the Orlando group becomes established in this city, they will move their families to Sanford.

Quezon Plans To Cut Up Landed Estates

NEW YORK, July 15.—(AP)—President Manuel Quezon of the Philippine Commonwealth on arriving from Europe to Manila, said he intends to sponsor legislation to divide the great estates of the Philippines among the common people. He said he is calling a special session of the national assembly to appropriate money collected from the excise tax on coconut oil to purchase some of the estates and to create public works jobs for the underprivileged. He said the estates would be cut up into small farms for the common people.

An explosion of undetermined origin, covered two miles from the mine.

Wage-Hour Bill Is Being Opposed By Florida Senator

Disaster For South Is Seen In Passage Of Proposed Measure

JACKSONVILLE, July 15.—(AP)—Opposition to the Black Country bill, popularly known as the "Little-Neck" bill, is in present form and warning that it may be passed without revision unless Florida and the other ten muster more support. A comprehensive wage and hour differential between Northern and Southern industry was voiced today by Florida's Senator Charles O. Andrews in a letter to Harold Cole, president of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce.

The proposed measure provides for Federal regulation of industry and sets up minimum wages and hours for such pursuits, in industrial plants in Florida and the South declare it will seriously cripple Southern industry unless a differential is made between Northern and Southern wage and hour scales to allow for lower living expenses in the Southern States.

Senator Andrews said: "This particular bill is very intricate and involves a large number of problems, and I am opposed to its passage in its present form. As you know, effort has been made on behalf of the Argentine, lumber, citrus and agricultural interests here to bring about changes in the bill, so that our State will not be penalized, or, for that matter, practically crippled in many ways."

"Having lived in Florida all my life, I have a close personal knowledge of the labor situation, and this I try to assure you I intend to do everything I possibly can to see that the South has a comprehensive wage and hour differential, which is no necessary."

"I think that it is no more than fair to tell you, however, that there is strong support here in the Congress for the bill in its present form, and, unless other senators and representatives can be swung in line to see it our way, the chances are it will be passed in spite of our efforts to the contrary."

Sanford, Fla., July 15.—(AP)—The regular weekly meeting of ship "Seminole Lion" will be held tonight at the Junior High School at 7:30 o'clock, Clifford Bell, skipper, stated today.

C. R. Dawson, county agricultural agent here, will return to Sanford tomorrow accompanied by his wife if it was indicated today.

J. F. Cowan was issued a permit today by G. P. Paxton, local building inspector, to make minor repairs to his home on Oak Avenue.

Fire Chief Mack Cleveland was in attendance at the annual Fire College in Daytona yesterday and reported that approximately 200 firemen from different sections of the State were present at the session.

The reduced water rates recently OK'd by city fathers in our effort to increase beautification work in this city, are effective for all water used since the last reading of the water meters. City Clerk Frank Lawson reminded Sanfordites today, adding that the new rates applied only to residents, clubs and churches and would be discontinued after the summer months. Under the new rates water will be furnished at 15 cents per thousand gallons for amounts used in excess of the regular $1.50 fee which is barely the cost of pumping and transferring the water.

President Roosevelt
Considers Far East
Situation As Grave

The armies of China and Japan were poised for action in North China if the crisis there developed into a widespread conflict.

There has been no serious fighting in the area surrounding Peiping for 48 hours. The Chinese government's foreign office spokesman in Nanking said the government had ordered reinforcements to North China to support the 25th Army which have been fighting Japanese troops for the past week.

The spokesman said six divisions, about 40,000 men, were standing by "somewhere in North China."

The Japanese war office announced in Tokyo that troops will be dispatched from Japan proper to North China to aid Japanese troops regularly garrisoned there and the units of the Japanese army in Manchuria rushed to the battle area last week.

Peiping dispatches reported an agreement at Tientsin between local Chinese and Japanese authorities to settle the crisis in the satisfaction of Japan.

In Washington, President Roosevelt considers the Far Eastern situation serious, the White House announced.

Four samples of the white sapota, a tropical fruit, were brought to the Herald office this morning by J. W. Moore after being grown successfully in Mount Plymouth by Victor E. Lent.

Mr. Moore stated that the sapota is a native of South America and Central America. After being first brought to California, it was experimented with for about 200 years. In 1914, the Federal Government gave seedlings to Florida nurserymen.

The fruit is about 2 1/2 inches in diameter, is light orange in color, and has a very exotic flavor. Each one contains five seeds which may be planted with good results. Mr. Moore said. One of Mr. Lent's trees has grown to a height of 20 feet.

The two trees in Mount Plymouth have an approximate bearing of 10 bushels a year. Mr. Lent is attempting to popularize the fruit in Florida in the hope of creating a demand for a new horticultural product.

THE AMAZING MONTAGUE

The arrest of John Montague, "mystery man" of Hollywood in connection with a robbery committed in 1930, has brought to light an amazing list of exploits of a very bizarre person.

Montague is somewhat chagrined that it patronized and glorified the "spying of the links," whose focus with a golf club have become legendary.

He had amazing strength and could lift up the light ends of automobiles. The story is told of his having gotten into an argument with a truck driver.

But the thing that got him in trouble was probably the offshoot of his weakness for betting. It is said of him that "he'd bet he could run faster, spit farther, drink more, yell louder, or win a race walking on his hands."

Anything But "Slazy"

One of the most encouraging signs in Sanford is the advancement of Boy Scout activities and the widespread interest being taken in Scouting by the boys and grown-ups alike.

The Christian Science monitor has something to say about boys who take this attitude and points out very plainly that Scouting is anything but "slazy."

"In it the part of softness to learn how to take care of one's self in the open, to blaze a trail, pitch a tent, build a lean-to? Is it useless to be a good swimmer, or know how to make a radio sparker?"

"Or is there something quixotic in aiming to do a good turn every day, respecting one's elders, protecting wild life or assisting at community affairs? Somehow we hope and believe that such interests will increasingly take the place of the false attractions sometimes attached to gangsterism and hoodlumism."

There certainly was not much of the softy in the two boys who hiked from Venezuela, part of the way through almost trackless jungle, to the Jamboree.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

WASHINGTON, July 15.—What John A. Lewis and Tom Girdler mean to well realize is that both have snatched the public in the eyes of their laborers and the public to their own ends to get ahead of it.

For several months Lewis had all the best of it because, the pendulum of public sympathy swung toward Lewis. Lewis "snatched the advantage" and organized actively, with at least a semblance of administration support.

He pulled under his wing the wholly unorganized automobile and "big steel" unions. And when he was out to organize the independent Teamsters of Republic Street and of him, true of change, a whole host of other workers of whom it is hard to get an agreement over wages and hours that might be reached.

Now in spite of odds to the contrary, President Roosevelt still speaks the minds of a great number of people, and when he said it did not seem reasonable for Girdler to refuse to put his name to a contract he suggested the case of a general strike.

But when Girdler tried out that Lewis and his labor leader were "unreasonable" and would not abide by a contract, he put his finger on the trigger and Lewis has made his case.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The recent demise of Sir James M. Barrie, who wrote "Peter Pan," brings to light the interesting fact that almost without exception the upper-bracket writers in the London literary scene graduated to literature from the news rooms of Fleet Street newspapers.

Barrie began life as a journalist and his record of those days is set down in one of his loveliest, though not so well known, books—"My Lady Nicotine."

Kipling, who died within the last year, was a fine scribe in India before becoming famous as a fictionist and a poet, and so was Gilbert Chesterton, who spent most of his life actively engaged in writing for the press.

Yesterday evening, the Sanford Board of Trade invited thirty visitors to their meeting and served fried chicken with all the trimmings. Afterward, the following questions were decided: Where is Oyedoy? Why and by whom?

MUSIC HATH CHARMS

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Jane Bridges has uncovered new evidence that "music hath charms," etc.

She dialed her radio to a musical program and started for a rocking chair on the front porch. She slumped back in fright. A huge black shadow had beaten her to the chair. He raised his head, coherently, and swayed rhythmically.

Then, too, in the Republic Steel affair, Lewis' organizing force failed to break the machinery of the Wagner labor act by calling for an employer's election, although it claimed to have a majority, and so should have been able to win the election.

Lewis has strong reasons for hurrying. He has the thing going fast and the news has been breaking with him. He has a sympathetic administration. But sometimes good generals will stop the attack to consolidate their position even when they can see the heels of the fleeing enemy.

That might be the smart move for Lewis now. In turn, Girdler could hasten the hour when industry will get an even break in labor legislation. The break-through, he says, he is coming out from behind won't sign a contract. That matches the steel workers' refusal to ask for an election.

Strangers wandering past that little leather-smelling nook in 6th avenue will notice any number of used boxing gloves, baseball mitts, leather aprons hanging on the walls. To all the world it looks like a second-hand shop where one may purchase such bric-a-brac. But it isn't.

KICK-SAWA-RING

CLEVELAND, July 15.—(AP)—Miss Marie Lewis, 40, of 1214 E. 12th St., was arrested today for kicking a neighbor in a night club by dropping it on the floor and then kicking it under the table.

Unappreciative, Mrs. Bridges screamed. A neighbor armed with a club halted the terrifying terpsichorean.

She dialed her radio to a musical program and started for a rocking chair on the front porch. She slumped back in fright. A huge black shadow had beaten her to the chair. He raised his head, coherently, and swayed rhythmically.

Then, too, in the Republic Steel affair, Lewis' organizing force failed to break the machinery of the Wagner labor act by calling for an employer's election, although it claimed to have a majority, and so should have been able to win the election.

Lewis has strong reasons for hurrying. He has the thing going fast and the news has been breaking with him. He has a sympathetic administration. But sometimes good generals will stop the attack to consolidate their position even when they can see the heels of the fleeing enemy.

That might be the smart move for Lewis now. In turn, Girdler could hasten the hour when industry will get an even break in labor legislation. The break-through, he says, he is coming out from behind won't sign a contract. That matches the steel workers' refusal to ask for an election.

Strangers wandering past that little leather-smelling nook in 6th avenue will notice any number of used boxing gloves, baseball mitts, leather aprons hanging on the walls. To all the world it looks like a second-hand shop where one may purchase such bric-a-brac. But it isn't.

Woodward's cow had a liking for nails, bits of wire glass and odd pieces of brass. But a 3-inch nail proved too much. She died after the nail worked through her stomach wall and pierced the heart.

Red Hot Swing Tune To Be Heard At Ritz

The thrill of introducing a brand new hot swing tune from the pens of two outstanding composers falls to petite Mady Correll in her first picture, "Midnight Madonna," which opens on Friday at the Ritz Theatre.

Mady won her film contract on the strength of straight dramatic ability, and it was with some hesitation that she undertook to do a song number in the film that introduces her to screen audiences.
Private rehearsals, attended only by Producer Emanuel Cohen and George Stoll, musical director, convinced them that Miss Correll has that certain something to "sell" a song, however.
The new tune is "The Plain Old Blues," written by Arthur Johnston and John Burke, who composed the music for Bing Crosby's "Swanee from Heaven" as well as Mae West's "Go West Young Man." It is introduced in a colorful night club sequence, when Miss Correll "rings it" against a background of rhythmic guitar.

Warren William, little four-year-old Kibby Clancy, Edward Ellis and Robert Baldwin are in the strong cast of the Paramount picture, which was directed by James Flood. The story was written for the screen by David Boehm.

Steers Write 'Diary' In Air-Cooled Rooms In U of I Barnyard

URBANA, Ill., July 15.—(AP)—Speaking of fancy barnyards, some of the steers at the University of Illinois' agricultural college live in air conditioned quarters. In return, they write a diary of every move they make. A complicated harness hooked up to an electric clock records whenever they lie down or stand up and for how long at a time. All waste products are analyzed.
"And what do you suppose the diary is for?" A dark corner of the barn? Not at all—a glass cage. There's a reason for this too. The rodents are being used in studies of nutritional anatomy. First the animals are produced by unbalanced feeding.
Then they are given different metallic salts, and the rate of recovery is clocked. If the rats were kept in a metal cage, they would chew enough to spoil the results of the tests. So they live in a glass house.
The steer experiment is said to be the only one of its kind in this country. Previously, such calculations could be made only by putting the animals in respiration chambers and going through an expensive laboratory process.
Both the steer and rat studies aim to help make the $5 billion dollar worth of livestock on United States farms produce food fiber and power more efficiently, says Dr. E. H. Mitchell, who is in charge.

Student-Pawns Shirt For Valuable South American Fur Bearer

ST. LOUIS July 15.—(AP)—Six lively little balls of fur, so valuable they rate a private air-conditioning plant to help them through a St. Louis summer, are proof that a 22-year-old Robert Urian, Jr., will sacrifice his last shirt if he really wants something.
Urian wanted more than anything some of the rarest of rare fur bearers—chinchillas from South America, valued at $3,200 a breeding pair.
Before he got the little rodents home the St. Louis university senior had pawned his shirts, ties and a tennis racket.
That homeward trip was grueling. It took three weeks to remove the animals safely from their native habitat in the cold and rarefied atmosphere of the Chilean mountains to Santiago.
Through the tropics, they had to be packed in ice.
Whenever Urian stopped at a hotel he kept them in the same room with him.
He would step up to the desk to register, carrying his valise, a collapsible cage, a basket of alfalfa, corn and carrots, and the animals in two small boxes.
"People thought I was nuts," he says.
In their new air-conditioned home, however, the chinchillas are thriving. There has even been an offspring. Urian and his partner, Charles Curry, hope they have a fur-lined nest egg.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., July 15.—(AP)—La Spanish War veterans heard yesterday that their national organization has a reserve fund of $100,000 invested in government bonds to carry on until the last veteran dies.
Alfred J. Kennedy, national senior vice commander of the United Spanish war veterans, told the New York enactment at its annual convention that "this money will not be spent foolishly and will be conserved until the last veteran dies."
The fund also would be used to care for indigent veterans in times of economic depression, Kennedy said.

Co-operation Is Urged For State Citrus Growers

Gentile Tells Of Possibilities Of Concentrated Efforts

ORLANDO, July 15.—Florida citrus growers were urged today to take an active interest in the many vital affairs brewing within the industry.
Lawrence Gentile, general manager of Tree-Gold Co-operative growers, in his weekly report, reminded the growers of Florida that Texas and California growers have taken an active part in the citrus affairs of survival states.
"The new Texas agreement gives the growers a real voice in the business," Mr. Gentile said, "California's growers have for many years had a strongly organized front, active in the industry."
Florida shippers two weeks ago decided to appoint a committee to draft a Federal Marketing Agreement for Florida. It has been suggested that Florida growers give close attention to the activities of the shippers committee.
"Never before have Florida growers had such an opportunity to obtain a dominant position in the citrus industry. The time may never again present itself so opportunely for growers to take an organized and active interest in what is going on within the industry. Congress enacted the 1937 Marketing Agreement Act for the benefit of growers," Mr. Gentile said.
Heavy showers in the middle of last week relieved a dry condition in the Winter Garden section of Orange county, part of Osceola county, northwest and east of Narcoossee and St. Cloud and in Indian River county, reports U. S. weather conditions gathered from all parts of the citrus area showed.
Moisture conditions were considered favorable in all parts of the citrus belt. There was some irrigating carried on in southern Putnam county during the early part of the week.
The new crop is growing rapidly and showing up well, the report said. Control of insects and diseases is getting more attention than in any summer past. The mealy bug pest seems to be giving the greatest difficulties, with heavy infestation reported in Hillsborough. One lot of 10,000 Cryptomydas lady beetles were imported from California to combat the pest. A report of early bloom, Valencia already splitting was received from Highlands. Fertilizing, spraying and general good farming practices, however, are taking care of the usual troubles in a better than ordinary manner.
Considerable July bloom is reported as showing up all over the state. It is appearing on all varieties, particularly seeded grapefruit and Valencia.

Amelia Could Live On Tiny Pacific Isles

WASHINGTON.—If Amelia Earhart and Fred Noonan really found a haven on a South Sea isle what chance have they to stay alive until help reaches them?
It depends on which island they reached.
There are eight islands in the Phoenix group, comparatively nearby Howland island, for which the fliers were heading when they disappeared.
None of the eight is inhabited. They vary from sand bars with just enough food and water to keep two people alive for two or three weeks to tropical islands with coconut palms.
Three of the isles—Phoenix, Enderbury and Birnie—are nothing more than scrubby stretches of sand that have grown up inside circular coral reefs. Scraggly brush covers the surface.
But the fliers could dig in the sand somewhat back from the water line and get enough drinking water to keep alive, says Samuel W. King, Hawaiian delegate to congress. He was in charge of the U. S. navy's expedition which surveyed those islands in 1923 and 1924.
The water would be brackish, says King, and might make them slightly sick but it would prevent the agonies of thirst. Furthermore there are frequent furies of rain.
There would be only one edible dish—crab—but that would be plentiful.
Fish may be found in lagoons in the center of Phoenix and Birnie. Pounding ocean waves deposit them there. The catch is, the fish are poisonous.
But take the bigger islands: Sydney: two miles long, 1 3/4 miles wide and 20 feet high. It has wild ducks and coconut palms.
Canton: nine miles long, from 50 to 600 yards wide, 10 to 20 feet above sea. It, too, has coconut palms, which are both food and drink because of the milk inside the large nuts.
Gardens: Birds, birds' eggs, rats and crabs.
Full: green turtles and coconut palms.
McKean: coconut palms.

Amelia Could Live On Tiny Pacific Isles

B. A. Tolbert, dean of students at the University of Florida, who died Tuesday afternoon, will be buried today in Gainesville.
would be a tough job in itself if a plane came down to windward of one of these island havens.
Both current and wind drive ceaselessly against one side of most of the islands, sending a fountaining surf up on the beaches.
To reach land would require a dangerous swim through the surf and over jagged coral reef just below the surface of the water.
And the sharks? They aren't such a danger, says King—they only attack a comparatively still object.
More than $182,000,000 was expended for the Golden Gate and Francisco-Oakland bay bridges and the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, which is being created to celebrate the completion of the two great structures.

One Man's Gun Fills Hall With Collection Of African Trophies

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—One man's gun has filled an entire museum here with African trophies.

The hunter is Leslie Simson of Oakland, born the heir to a vast Spanish land grant in California. Later he became a successful mining engineer in South Africa. In 1910 Simson retired from business and for more than two decades roamed the lonely places of Africa. His trophies constitute probably the finest personal collection of African fauna in the world.

To honor a part of them he gave $100,000 toward erecting the Simson African hall for the California Academy of Sciences here, now open to the public. Enough game to fill two smaller halls would make a suitable museum.

The group entitled African War-tor Hall, conceived by Frank Tice, director of the academy, is one of the largest museum displays ever created.

Surrounded by mountains of years in the jungle, Bachelor Simson lives with a lion Japanese servant on a hill overlooking San Francisco bay.

Blacksmith Builds Soap Suds Eight

ST. FRANCIS, Ill., July 21.—There's a blacksmith, Martin Brian, 50-year-old blacksmith, lives in a house on the beach. He has an automobile and he has an out of the garage. He has had neglected to learn how to soap, and smashed a plate glass window.

The Brian was preserving. He decided to make his own soap. He had to learn how to soap.

The finished product resembles about the streets of this Washash town, with Brian at the wheel. It's the envy of all the children, and the grownups are interested, at least.

At first he operated it by hand, but now it operates with a washing machine motor. It will run 15 miles an hour, and once soap of Brian is in the ditch.

MARYSVILLE, Calif., July 21.—The town's public library is one of the few where smoking is permitted. A man who was not added at the request of John Gushon, packer, pianist, merchant, who presented the building.

Capital Pays Final Homage To Dead Solon

Roosevelt Among Dignitaries Attending Simple State Rites In Senate Chamber

Air Is Heavy With Flower Fragrance

Large Delegation Of Solons To Accompany Body Back Home

WASHINGTON, July 16. (AP)—The nation's great, led by President Roosevelt, paid their last respects to Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic leader of the Senate.

At the stroke of noon, a throng of frock-coated dignitaries marched into the gold and marble Senate chamber for a simple state funeral.

The air was heavy with the fragrance of flowers. Lined glad spectators crowded the galleries.

The dead leader's massive, very casket, almost hidden by wreaths, occupied the center of the hall. An arm's length away stood the empty chair Robinson had used during the last 24 years in the senate.

Special seats flanking the bier were occupied by near relatives including the widow and the late senator's brothers.

Justice Butler, the only Supreme Court member in the city, was followed by uniformed commanders of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps and Coast Guard.

President Roosevelt sat directly in front of Robinson's former seat. The Senate and House chaplains offered prayers. Hymns were sung.

The largest delegation of senators and representatives ever to make a trip for a funeral will accompany the body to Little Rock, Ark., for funeral services and burial there.

Presidential Injunction About "Duty" Draws Angry And Defiant Answers

Opposition Ready To Continue Fight

Supporters To Seek Enactment As Soon As Leader Is Named

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—A presidential injunction that it is the "duty of Congress" to pass this judiciary legislation at this session drew angry, defiant replies from the foes of the court bill.

The armistice, called after the death of Senator Robinson, was shattered even before his funeral. "We will select our own leader and dispose of the court bill in our own way, without dictation from any source whatsoever," said Senator Van Nuys, Indiana Democrat.

Senator Burke, Nebraska Democrat, commented "If the President is determined to have the matter brought back to life, he will find the opposition ready to welcome the contest."

The President's supporters, however, said they would seek the enactment of the court bill as soon as the party leader is selected to succeed Robinson.

They still are backing Barkley of Kentucky but said they would support any man desired by Roosevelt. Opposition senators are backing Harrison of Mississippi.
