SANFORD — Where can I find Thelma Franklin?
After 37 years of teaching, most people would think a classroom filled with four- and five-year olds would be the last place she would want to spend "retirement years." But that is exactly where she is.

Cops want a union

Sanford police chief disputes claims of job dissatisfaction

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Citing humiliation and favoritism that is said to be rife in the Sanford Police Department, 23 police officers have called for a vote to form a union.

The 23 officers numbered three more than necessary to call for the election under Florida Public Employee Relations Commission regulations. Under PERC regulations, a minimum of 30 percent of the city's 67 officers, privates and sergeants eligible for the union must ask PERC to hold the election.

The ballots calling for the election were cast Thursday night in a reserved conference room at the Deltona Inn in Deltona. A total of 26 officers were in attendance at the meeting and all but three sought the election, said a union supporter spokesman who asked not to be identified for job protection purposes.

A second meeting is scheduled for Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Deltona Inn for officers who were on duty Thursday and could not attend that meeting, the spokesman said.

June Farrell, a PERC clerk, said if the PERC determines 30 percent of the eligible employees have sought the election, a union vote could be held within about six months. A minimum of 34 votes for unionization is needed, Farrell said. The union effort spokesman said if the union is approved, a new local chapter of the Fraternal Order of Police would represent the police.

Sanford Police Chief Steven Harriett denied allegations of favoritism and the other complaints and said the city has adequate procedures to address complaints and grievances.

"We don't feel there is a need for a collective bargaining unit," Harriett said. "We're disappointed. This comes as sort of a surprise to me obviously."

Mayor Bettye Smith said she, too, was disappointed to hear of the union effort.

"All of us at the city try to do our very best to treat the employees the way they want to be treated," she said.

City Manager Bill Simmons said he didn't want to comment on the effort until he had a chance to Great day for zoo's egg hunt despite the morning's rains

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Rain poured from the clouds over the Central Florida Zoo in Sanford in gushes early Saturday morning. Then it stopped. Then it started again.

"We didn't know what we were going to do," said Andrea Farmer, publicity coordinator for the zoo, about the Easter Egg Hunts there.

Farmer said the staff debated cancelling the events completely due to the weather.

"I'm glad we did it, though," Farmer said as a bright sun broke through the clouds and reflected off standing puddles. "It's turning out to be a great day."

The zoo had three hunts, divided according to age.

Toddlers, up to age three, searched the grounds first. Next, four to six year olds found eggs. The seven to 10 year olds went last.

"They all seem to have tons of fun," Farmer said.

Farmer said that if the hunts had been cancelled, the 5,000 dyed, hard boiled eggs would have been donated to community shelters to help feed the homeless.

"We'd have put them to good use," Farmer said.

About 1,500 youngsters from toddlers to ten year olds scampered through the leaves and the puddles to retrieve eggs from under pine cones and moss.

"Same city man," said Jeff Simmons, 8, of Sanford. "It's pretty gross."

Simmons and his friend Larry Johnson, 7, of Sanford had no trouble finding the maximum five eggs.

Lake Mary breaks ground for Liberty Park

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The City Commission, Parks Department officials and other members of the Lake Mary city staff, along with a number of area residents gathered Friday morning for groundbreaking ceremonies at the site that will soon become Liberty Park on North Country Club Road.

Mayor Randy Morris officiated at the ceremony, which was capped off by members of the Commission and Parks Department digging up shovels full of earth. Morris explained that of the estimated $180,000 it will require to completely build the passive park, the city is only required to pay $80,000.

"We received a $120,000 grant from the tax money in the Florida Recreation and Park fund to develop this property," he said. "It's the largest grant of this type the city has ever received according to city records."

City Manager John Patton said work will get underway as soon as the paperwork is completed.

Mother charged in murder of children

MELBOURNE — Two children were shot to death by their mother, who then called an emergency number and asked an arriving officer to "kill me, kill me," sheriff's officials said.

June Anne Sharabati, 32, was charged with first-degree murder in the shooting deaths of her children, Stephen Faulker, 13, and Aisha Sharabati, 2, late Thursday night.

They died of multiple gunshot wounds from a .38-caliber revolver, said Brevard County sheriff's spokeswoman Joan Heller. Each child had been shot once in the head and suffered other wounds.

"The mother indicated she had disciplinary problems with Stephen and said she went to his bedroom door and knocked," Ms. Heller said Friday. "When he answered, she opened fire. For reasons we don't understand, she then went to her own bedroom where Aisha was sleeping and shot her."

Investigators had not determined a motive beyond that, Ms. Heller said.

Two men arrested for burning crosses

KATHLEEN — Two men were arrested on charges of burning crosses in the yards of two families in this rural Polk County town, officials said.

Roy Franklin, 27, and Bill Willis, 33, live in the same neighborhood where the crosses were left burning Sunday. They were jailed Friday on $10,000 bond charged with felony cross burning.

A 7-foot cross was left outside a black couple's small trailer. About a quarter-mile away, a second burning cross was left in the yard of a white woman, who authorities said had black acquaintances.

Willis lives next door to the white victim, while Franklin lives down the same road, said Polk County sheriff's spokeswoman Lynne Breidenbach.

J.B. Williams, who moved into the trailer with his wife six months ago, summed up his attitude about the cross burner earlier this week, saying, "You got to be a coward."

Anchorman sentenced

TAMPA — Veteran anchorman Hugh Smith pleaded guilty to having sex with two prostitutes — one a 15-year-old runaway — and was sentenced to three months of house arrest, probation and community service.

"It has taken the loss of my employment ... and the possible loss of everything else I value in life to jolt me finally into realizing I have a problem," Smith, 56, told Circuit Judge Richard Lazzara Friday.

Smith in 1982 kept his job at WTVT-TV after pleading guilty to a solicitation for prostitution charge. He resigned amid the latest charges two weeks ago, ending a 27-year career with the station.

In the even, unemotional tone with which he delivered the news, Smith entered his guilty plea to charges of procuring a person under 18 for prostitution, a felony, and misdemeanor counts of prostitution and soliciting, involving a 21-year-old prostitute.

Sentencing guidelines called for a possible prison sentence of up to 3½ years, but Lazzara said incarceration was not necessary in this case.

The judge instead sentenced Smith to three months of community control, 39 months of probation and 200 hours of community service. The judge also ordered Smith to undergo psychological counseling.

Former teacher convicted of molestation

DAYTONA BEACH — A circuit court jury has convicted a former teacher of 12 charges of molesting eight boys at a day-care center and private school he owned.

James Bowen, 53, denied the charges, saying he collected child pornography to keep himself from fondling children.

Bowen, who is serving a five-year prison sentence for an earlier conviction of possessing child pornography, was found guilty Thursday of fondling children at the Fast Track Learning Center between 1983 and 1989.

He admitted taking nude pictures of students between 3 and 8 at his private school.

Family realizes the ugly truth

ST. PETERSBURG — A family that drank and bathed for a week in water that looked brown and smelled awful finally figured out the ugly truth — their new home's water system was hooked up backwards.

They had been drinking treated waste water meant for the lawn. The grass, on the other hand, had been thriving on the family's drinking water.

"They initially hooked up the system backwards," said Stacy Shuffler, 40, a retired U.S. Air Force master sergeant. "They put the good water on the sprinkler system and the bad water was in the house."

Despite the smell and taste, Shuffler said his wife and two children apparently suffered no ill effects from the water.

Schools face reduced state aid

By JACKIE MALLFAX

TALLAHASSEE — Larger classes and layoffs will be hard to avoid this fall if lawmakers follow through on current plans and give schools less money per student than this year, Education Commissioner Betty Castor said.

"If the House budget were adopted, school districts would receive almost $22 less per student to run their programs next year," Castor said Friday. "If the Senate budget were adopted as is, it appears it would be $34 under the current funding." Per-student funding hasn't dropped since the early 1970s, Castor said.

The pinch results from an enrollment expected to grow by 80,000 students in a year when policy-makers are opposed to any general tax increases and tax collections aren't meeting projections because of a weak economy.

Schools this year ended up with $3,899.34 for each of Florida's 1.8 million students in kindergarten through 12th grade. That represented an increase of $150.24 per student over last year, even after two midyear budget cuts since October.

Spring break business mixed here

Associated Press

The rites of Spring Break are history in Fort Lauderdale, causing concern in Daytona Beach and becoming more popular in the Florida Panhandle.

An estimated 280,000 visitors are expected in Panama City during the six-week period. That's compared with 240,000 to 250,000 in recent years, said Tom Cason, marketing director for the Panama City Beach Convention and Visitor's Bureau.

Last year, an unexpected surge of vacationing students followed coverage of Panama City Beach on the nationally syndicated television show "Hard Copy." The same thing could happen this year because MTV was scheduled to telecast a Panama City Beach segment today, Cason said.

The popular television network helped push Daytona into the spotlight in recent years. But the popularity brought headaches to Daytona.

Earlier this week, more than 40 owners of stores, bars, hotels and motels met at the Chamber of Commerce to save Spring Break in Daytona, said Tim Pace, president of the Volusia County Beachside Merchants Association.

"Up and down (Highway) A1A, from one end to the other, we're seeing a massive decrease in business. We met to see what, if anything, we could do to save Spring Break," Pace told the Daytona Beach News Journal.

Merchants want to duplicate the success of a beachside residents group, which is credited with taming Spring Break.

After their property was damaged by drunken Spring Breakers in 1989, hundreds of beachside residents in Daytona created the Beachside Neighborhood Watch, which has worked with police, city officials and the Chamber of Commerce's Spring Break Task Force to control the excesses from two years ago.

Yahweh followers want jailed leader free

By MELISSA CONTI
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI — Members of the Nation of Yahweh demanded the release of their jailed leader Saturday, calling the man accused of ordering 14 murders to build his religious sect a "political hostage."

Yahweh Ben Yahweh, the self-proclaimed messiah of the black separatist group, is being held at the Metropolitan Correctional Center on murder-conspiracy and racketeering charges.

Yahweh, who had his name changed from Hulon Mitchell Jr., was indicted in November along with 16 of his followers. Federal prosecutors say that from 1981 to 1987 Mitchell and the other defendants participated in a racketeering scheme that involved murder, arson and extortion.

His followers claim the pretrial detention is unconstitutional.

"It is pure racism. This is an anti-black attitude. This is open religious persecution," said Uriah David Israel, spokesman for the group.

About 300 followers in white robes and turbans attended the sect's annual Passover celebration at the Temple of Love in Miami's Liberty City neighborhood. A fleet of white Lincoln Continentals and limousines was parked out front.

Judith Israel, born Linda Gaines, was his second-in-command and treasurer of the multimillion-dollar empire. She also pleaded poverty.

Michael F. McDonald, 21, of 792 Creekwater Terrace #114 in Lake Mary, was arrested on Thursday. He was charged with retail theft and child abuse. He allegedly went to the Albertson's supermarket on Lake Emma Rd. in Lake Mary and reportedly attempted to leave the store with approximately $28 in merchandise, including beef hash, chili, barbecue sauce, scalloped potatoes, corn chips and $8.47 worth of steaks, according to police reports. A 17-year-old juvenile was allegedly in the store with him, but was not involved in the theft, police said. He allegedly told police that he had met McDonald the day before. McDonald allegedly told police that he stole the food because he was hungry. He was transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where he was held on $500 bond. The juvenile was not arrested.

Disorderly intoxication charged

Samuel Perry Morris, 53, 815 Hickory St. in Sanford, was arrested on Thursday and charged with disorderly intoxication. He was standing in his yard taunting passers by, according to police reports. He allegedly yelled for police to take him to jail when they arrived and asked him to be quiet. When he refused to be quiet, he was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where he was held in lieu of $100 bond.

Grand theft auto charged

Jackie Kely Stewart, 18, of 102 Wilkins Circle in Sanford was arrested on Thursday. He was charged with grand theft auto. According to police reports, Gomrad broke into Loch Lowe Preparatory School in Sanford and stole nine cases of soda from a storage area. He allegedly also used a crow bar to break into a classroom. He allegedly stole nothing from the classroom, but caused about $800 in damage to the door, police said. He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where he was held on $1,000 bond.

Visiting racer wins mini-race car

By VICKI DESORMIER

SANFORD — Though the clouds had opened on a bright noon sun Saturday, only three entrants had gathered around the box as Mayor Bettye Smith reached in to draw the winner of a $645 three horse power go-cart at the Texaco Lube Express on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford. "G. Clark," she called out, reading the name from the winning ticket. Clark was not one of those in attendance so general manager Theodore Kurtz called him on the telephone. "I barely got to tell him that he won and he said he was on his way here," Kurtz announced. A few minutes later Clark, who lives at Regatta Shores, stepped from his van and raced to the tiny car. Like a kid in a toy store, Clark jumped slightly as he approached his prize and shook hands with the mayor.

G. Clark tries out new possession he won Saturday in Sanford

"Wow...the mayor and every thing," he said. Clark, who lives in San Diego, Calif., is in Sanford for the next six months attending classes at ComAir Aviation Academy at the Central Florida Regional Airport. He hopes to be a commercial airline pilot upon graduation. Clark, who races cars professionally in California, said he has won the both the Baja 1000 and the Baja 500 desert races.

"I've been racing since I was four years old," he said, noting that he began his racing career with motorcycles but has graduated to cars.

Clark said he is going to give the go-cart to his nephew Jason when he returns to California later this year.

"He's two and half," he said. "It's time for him to get started."

Clark, who is about six foot two, could not resist the temptation to take the car for a spin around the parking lot. Though his knees hugged his ears for the ride, Clark had a good time in the tiny car. "My nephew will love this," he said.

Clark said he has never "won anything big" before.

He said his stay in Sanford has been relatively uneventful until now.

"It's rained every weekend except last one," he said. "I call home every day and say that nothing's happening in Mayberry R.F.D. I've got something to tell them today."

18 arrested in abortion demonstration

Associated Press

MELBOURNE — Police arrested 18 abortion protesters after they bound themselves at the neck with U-shaped bicycle locks and blocked doors to a clinic.

Officers opened some of the locks with keys found on the protesters Friday but spent more than two hours sawing the heavy-duty metal locks off others who sat in front of the Aware Woman clinic's doors, police said.

The 18 adults and two juveniles taken into custody were charged with trespassing and resisting arrest without violence. For adults, police added the charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Sixteen protesters also were charged with the violations for blocking exits, said fire Capt. Bill Dooley.

Cop charged with grand theft

Associated Press

APOPKA — A police officer has been charged with grand theft after withdrawing $23,809 from a bank account set up to pay the expenses of a daughter severely injured in a car accident.

Sherman Brown, 33, was supposed to get a court order before withdrawing from the bank account, which was to be used on necessities for his daughter, police said Thursday. Instead, he spent it on rent, furnishings and a car, according to the charge.

Brown's daughter, then 3, was hurt in 1987, and an insurance company representing the other vehicle's driver settled out of court for $25,000, said police Sgt. George Smallwood.

Because the bank allowed the withdrawals without court authorization, the bank was held liable for the money, said Norberto Katz, an attorney appointed to review the withdrawals.

The bank reimbursed the funds and then asked for repayment from Brown, who was unable to pay, the police report said. The bank then sought criminal charges.

Brown wrote the court saying he used the money to pay bills and provide a home for his family. He said he wanted to repay the money, some of which was used for his daughter's medical bills.

Profit formula

American taxpayers are getting bilked again. An investigation by the Senate Agriculture Committee has concluded that price-fixing by infant formula makers adds $168 million a year to the cost of the federal food program for low-income women, infants and children.

WIC, as the program is called, accounts for almost one-third of all infant formula sold in the United States.

Three major pharmaceutical companies effectively operate a formula cartel. Ross Laboratories, a subsidiary of Abbott Laboratories, Mead Johnson, a subsidiary of Bristol-Myers Squibb Co., and Wyeth Laboratories, a subsidiary of American Home Products Corp., control 93 percent of the $1.6 billion domestic market.

At a recent congressional hearing, the chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, Patrick Leahy, D-VT., said that noncompetitive business practices by these three makers result in infant formula being priced at artificially high levels. Because of the added expense to the WIC program, said Leahy, an estimated 270,000 eligible participants are denied benefits.

Ample evidence supports the allegation of non-competitive pricing. From November 1990 to January 1991, the wholesale price of one brand of infant formula rose from $1.83 per can to $1.99. This 8.7 percent price increase would be understandable if producer costs had increased. But, in fact, the wholesale cost of milk (the biggest part of many infant formulas) has declined by 25 percent since last summer.

Sen. Leahy has introduced a bill to discourage market distortion within the formula industry. He hopes to achieve this by eliminating the existing state-by-state bidding system and dividing the country into seven regional markets. Under this plan, companies would submit secret bids directly to the Department of Agriculture for an exclusive contract covering a given region. Only the company offering the lowest bid would serve a region.

It is far from certain that Leahy's plan would produce the desired results. The three major producers may, for example, find a way to divide up the regional markets in much the same way they have effectively divided up the states.

A better long-term solution may be for the federal government to provide incentives for other companies to enter the formula market. Since Washington buys a third of all the formula produced it has tremendous market leverage.

An industry like infant formula that is controlled by a small number of companies will naturally bend toward operating like a cartel. One way to ensure fair market prices is to open the industry to a greater number of competitors.

To plan strategically or not?

During February of this year the School Board of Seminole County adopted "Strategic Planning" as an avenue for formulating long term plans for the district. Letters were dispatched to organizations throughout the county seeking volunteers. The volunteers could participate on the Strategic Planning Committee or one of the multiple action teams called for by the process. The projected timeline for concluding the process was approximately March 1992.

Dr. William Cook, the consultant engaged by the district to direct the Strategic Planning Process, enjoys a national reputation in that area. The Seminole County School District wants to change from an annual planning model to a long-term planning model.

The dual dynamics wrought by technological changes and the expanded nurturing role of schools dictates the necessity for long-term planning. It is equally essential that planning involve large segments of the community from diverse backgrounds.

The School Board at its March 26, 1991 meeting voted to continue with its Strategic Planning timeline. The committee is scheduled to meet Sunday, April 21, 1991 through mid-afternoon Wednesday, April 24, 1991.

SEMINOLE OPINION

LURLENE SWEETING

Original plans suggested a 25-member committee with the school superintendent and school board chairman selecting the committee members, subject to the school board's final approval. The committee membership was changed to 30 members. Each school board member will select three persons for a total of 15. The other 15 members will be from the ranks of school district personnel and students.

The largest employer in Seminole County is the Seminole County school system. This fact makes the school district big business. However, it is also the social institution entrusted with the preparation of our youngsters for completion in a world market. We therefore have an obligation as citizens to insure that we maintain an equitable educational system that does not become captive to any one segment of the community.

Residents of the county genuinely interested in education should work to unify our system and produce a system that insures a high degree of correlation between what a child needs to be learning and what the system is providing.

Thomas Timars, writing in the December 1989 issue of Phi Delta Kappan, devoted extensive coverage to examining schools from Seattle, Washington to Dade County, Florida. He concluded that in order for school districts to plan and serve students, there needs to be broad consensus about the purpose of schooling and the objectives of education.

"In the aim of education to produce a winning season" or to produce students who have mastered prerequisite skills for completion in a world-wide economy?

Thus, Strategic Planning Process would appear to be a first step toward a broad based consensus if two conditions are met. The committees represent the population of Seminole County and committee members divest themselves of any hidden agendas and truly work for the benefit of the children of Seminole County.

Are terrorists in the wings?

WASHINGTON — The appearance of the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra in Washington had once seemed to government and private security experts the ideal opportunity for pro-Iraq terrorists. But Saddam Hussein and his terrorist parasites must have been busy elsewhere in mid-March when the orchestra played at the Kennedy Center.

It is encouraging that Saddam would pass up such an occasion. Israel's top backers in Washington always support the orchestra when it is in town, especially this year commemorating the 40th anniversary of the group's first U.S. appearance. To make the performance even more inviting, it featured Israel's latest violin prodigy, Maxim Vengerov, a new immigrant from the Soviet Union, along with Isaac Stern, whose name is synonymous with political and musical support of Israel.

Saddam threatened to strike out at Americans.

Besides, the Kennedy Center is kitty-corner from the Saudi Arabia Embassy. Thus a grisly bloodbath was possible against all three of Saddam's "great Satans" — the United States, Saudi Arabia and Israel — not to mention Great Britain, whose Royal Ballet was also playing the Kennedy Center.

But it is a sign of how thoroughly defeated Iraq is that none of the countries involved felt that a saturation of security was necessary for the concert.

There were no metal detectors, only a cursory search of handbags, one uniformed officer and a lone plainclothes officer scanning the audience from near the stage. Since the Gulf war, plainclothes men have been discreetly scattered around the center for all events. There were no threats, federal law enforcement sources told our associate Les Whitten, and no beefed up security for the Israeli performers.

Some security experts have attributed the low level of world terrorism to the suddenness of the coalition victory and the early destruction of Iraqi intelligence communications. For instance, there was only one threat against the Kennedy Center, and that was telephoned in on the second day of the Gulf war.

Others see the silence as an indicator of Saddam's passion for survival. They believe that violence against the Israel Philharmonic in Washington would have been the last straw for the Israelis, who endured the Scud attacks on their country without striking back.

If Saddam does inflict his terrorists on the Western world once he has time to worry about something besides domestic problems, he will be sure to pick his targets carefully so the acts are heinous enough to cause outrage, but not so outrageous that they bring retaliation. For example, Saddam would probably not use his terrorists to pick on any nation that uses terrorism as a tool also, such as Syria. If he were stupid enough to strike at Syria, the world would witness two of the most venomous international terrorist-backers in combat through their trainees and hirelings.

As one old security hand called it, "Taratulas in a bottle."

The lack of a big terrorist attack by pro-Iraqi forces since the war began should not, however, put Americans at ease. Saddam threatened to strike out at Americans, and while he boasts a great deal, he does not bluff. He has the terrorist network to do it, and he will have the will to do it too if Iraq emerges from the cease-fire settlement totally humiliated. He is simply otherwise preoccupied right now.

How hazardous a workplace?

BOSTON — Johnson Controls didn't have a mommy track. What they had was something different. It was a Maybe, Could-be, Might-Someday-Be-A-Mommy track.

The company had a policy that assumed every fertile woman was a pregnancy waiting to happen. They banned these women from working in jobs with high exposure to lead on the grounds that some unborn — indeed unconceived — children might eventually suffer damage.

Johnson called this a "fetal-protection policy." So have many other companies. But it is not too cynical in these lawsuit-phobic days to call it a "company-protection policy."

In either case, the Supreme Court came up with another name for this policy. They called it sex discrimination and said it's illegal.

With rare unanimity, the court ruled (March 20) that Johnson can't ban every fertile woman — from nuns to menopause — because of fear of health risks or lawsuits. They said that federal laws against sex discrimination clearly prohibit an employer from barring women from hazardous jobs.

To have lost this landmark case would have been disastrous for the millions of women who work in any remotely hazardous workplace, whether with lead or computer chips, in hospitals or even airplanes. As Justice Harry Blackmun wrote, "Concern for a woman's existing or potential offspring historically has been the excuse for denying women equal employment opportunities."

But if the Johnson Controls case closes one chapter of history, it doesn't by any means close the book. In the wake of this decision, women have shored up their right to equal treatment in the workplace. We still haven't decided what that equal treatment should look like.

Remember when women set their eyes on the prize of equality? The target of the early laws against sex discrimination was the double standard. Many assumed that the single standard-bearer was male. Equality would arrive in all its golden glory when women were treated exactly like men.

That never seemed like a wholly attractive option. Some women who saw how their male counterparts lived divided into two camps. One said, if that's equality, I'll pass. The other held onto the ideal of equality, but began to frame it as part of their vision of a different life for both men and women.

This has been at the crux of the argument between those who settle for mommy tracks and those who want parenting trails, between those who would opt for maternity leave and those who hold out for family leave.

The Johnson Controls story is part of this debate. Women who work with lead can indeed endanger a fetus. But so can men. Johnson tried to turn questions of the workplace into questions of gender. Their mommy-to-be-track created sex discrimination without solving the problem of fetal damage.

The court in turn resolved the issue of inequality but not of safety. They ruled that women have the equal right to decide, whether or not they want equal work at equally hazardous jobs and even whether some want to equally risk damaging their fetuses. Talk about your dubious rights.

Justice Blackmun wrote, "Decisions about the welfare of future children must be left to the parents who conceive, bear, support and raise them rather than to the employers who hire those parents." That's fine as far as it goes, but does it mean that bosses can be irresponsible as long as they are equally irresponsible to all workers and their offspring?

"This decision denies employers the right to make corrections that are at best half a loaf," says Phyllis Segal, president of the NOW Legal Defense and Education Fund. But she adds, "If we are to value healthy offspring and deal with workplace safety, we need a whole loaf."

The Supreme Court wiped the ancient, stale crust of sex discrimination off the table. The case had not only threatened women's rights, but as often happens, it had clouded the real issue of the dangerous workplace.

The question moves now from the court to workers, employers, legislators and regulators. What will this equal workplace look like? Safe or hazardous? Men and women both share a stake in the outcome.

Offspring historically has been the excuse for denying women.

permanent buildings that grace the beautiful campus the school has today. It's difficult to believe that 25 years have so rapidly come and gone. Mrs. Rethwill has retired but Dr. Weldon, now in his 27th year with the system, is still heading the school that now touches the lives of more than 20,000 to 25,000 people each year. The school, now known as Seminole Community College, has come a long, long way. But our year today has an even earlier beginning. It was brought to mind by the recent death of former Governor LeRoy Collins.

Let's return to 1950. Dan McCarty defeated Sanford's Brailey Odham for governor. McCarty died in office and the legislature named Senate President Charlie Johns governor. In 1954, Johns, Odham and Collins tangled in a race for the governor's office. Odham came in third. I'm not sure who won the first primary but Odham threw his support to Collins who captured the second primary runoff and the office. Meanwhile, Sanford's Lloyd Boyle was representing Seminole and Brevard counties in the senate. Johns was still governor when Boyle died and called a special election to fill the unexpired term. Douglas Stenstrom, my brother, whipped J.J. Parrish, Jr., of Titusville, for the senate seat. Douglas was a 1938 graduate of Seminole High. He was at the University of Florida for four years, graduating with a journalism degree. The next three years he was in the U.S. Army. He attended the University of Virginia law school for one year and spent two years at Stetson's law school. Before graduating in March, 1948, he announced he was going to run for county judge — mainly to let folks know he was back home and going to practice law. He borrowed a few bucks and his father-in-law's car. He knocked on the door of every home in Seminole County. At that time the population was about 25,000 and 10,000 lived in Sanford. There were five candidates and Douglas surprised even himself by coming out on top. He lacked a plurality but in the second primary runoff he defeated the highly respected Judge R.W. Ware. It was tantamount to election since there were no Republican primaries in those days. Douglas at 28 became the youngest county judge in Florida history. He was reelected without opposition in 1952. When Boyle died and Douglas won the Senate seat in the special election he opened his law office which today is known as Stenstrom, McIntosh, Colbert, Julian, Whigham & Simmons — plus even more. When he became a legislator he had to practice law since a senator's salary in those days was only $100 a month. Meanwhile, Collins was elected. Douglas went to Tallahassee for his first legislative session. He and a fellow senator — Doyle Carlton, son of a former Florida governor — were staying at the Cherokee Hotel. One afternoon they were summoned to the governor's mansion at 5 p.m. They were on time but Governor Collins was not. The butler ushered them into a reception room and about five minutes later to the back porch of the mansion. There, in his fishing outfit, was LeRoy Collins. On the back steps he was cleaning a mess of fish he had caught that afternoon. Scarcely looking at Douglas and Carlton, Collins told them he'd heard they had a school system in California that allowed young people to attend the "13th and 14th grades," as he called them. He added that everybody knew that the major cost of a college education was "room and board." Collins said the thing he liked about the California system was that young people could live at home and commute to classes. Collins enlisted the help of the two young senators, along with "The Lion of St. Johns County," — the powerful Senator Verle Pope, to begin the legislative process. Douglas says, "That was the time and place he believed the community college system in Florida was born." Today Seminole Community College is one of 28 in Florida. Dr. Weldon tells me they're known as the "Great Twenty-Eight."

Today, 97 percent of all Florida High School graduates can go to the "13th and 14th" grades," as Collins always called them, because they live within commuting distance. It may seem immodest of me to relate this yarn because of my brother's participation but you have to know I'm very proud of him. And, I'm proud of my sister-in-law, too — Carolyn Patrick Stenstrom, the wife of my brother, Herbert. She recently completed 19 years as a member of the SCC board of trustees. During five of those years she served as its chairman. I must add I was extremely proud of LeRoy Collins in 1960. I was living in California when John F. Kennedy was named the Democratic nominee for president. Collins was permanent chairman of that Los Angeles convention. My California friends were very impressed with his "Southern" drawl and genteel manner in presiding over the convention.

complaints are raised. "Road acum" is the common phrase we're known as," said the spokesman, a veteran of more than five years of city patrol experience. "Morale? There is none. Comraderie? There is none. This is mutiny. We have to bring it back." Harriett denied derogatory names were used for employees by any manager and said the department has an established grievance procedure. "My door is open to anyone who wants to come to me," Harriett said. The spokesman said police also want a chance to discuss salaries and benefits. The spokesman said despite a recent 3 percent pay increase, many officers actually took home less money in their paychecks due to a $100 per month increase in payments for spouse and child insurance that took effect in October. The spokesman said police now pay $275 per month for dependents. Other complaints include the loss of longevity pay and the presumption an officer is wrong if a citizen complains. The spokesman also said officers may find themselves going unpaid when their duty shifts are rotated from 12-hour shifts to eight-hour periods. Harriett denied officers are not paid for every hour worked.

Also, Scott Davis and David Pate, the No. 1 ranked doubles team in the world and defending Prudential-Bache Classic champions, headline a 16-team draw in the doubles portion of the event. This heavyweight field, coupled with the fact that Pro-Serv, the organizers of the tournament, have had a full year to prepare at Heathrow to host the event causes Adler and crew to have high expectations for this year's competition. "For the first time, we've had a full year to work on our new site," said Adler. "Last year, we came to Heathrow only 90 days out. And we only had six months between events when we were rescheduled from October to April on the ATP calendar. Whenever you have to start from scratch, it's a very arduous task. "The people here at Heathrow have been very cooperative. We've done a lot of work on the site. Now the sightlines will be better for the spectators, the facilities will be more comfortable for the players and the lighting is better on the stadium court."

Play in the 32-player main draw begins Monday at noon. There will be two sessions each day Monday through Saturday (noon and 7 p.m. Monday to Friday, 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. next Saturday) with the championship session scheduled for 1 p.m. next Sunday. Weather permitting, tournament officials hope to get in nine matches a day Monday through Thursday, seven during the afternoon session on two courts with two during the evening session on the stadium court. According to Adler, invitations are extended to all players through the ATP, an organization that serves as both tournament governing body and players' association. expect clearing and construction could begin in a week or more," he said. Litton explained that while the contract with Williams Contracting of Orlando specifies that the work must be completed by the first of November, "we expect it could be much earlier with possibly an official dedication ceremony sometime in the middle of August." He said that the exact time of completion would depend a great deal on this summer's weather, and the amount of rain or storms that could delay the work.

'Seminole not ready for burner'

By J. MARK GARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County is not ready for a medical waste incinerator without a great deal of more study, says commissioner Jennifer Kelley.

"It's pretty obvious none of us knew anything about this type of facility," Kelley says. "Thank goodness we didn't approve it."

Early last week, four of five county commissioners responded to dozens of concerns and protest by residents and environmentalists against former county commissioner Sid Vihlen's proposal to burn 50 tons of medical waste each day at a site amid the cabbage patches of Lake Monroe.

Commissioner Bob Sturm, who campaigned last year on an environmental protection plank, said he was comfortable with the proposal and voted in favor of the proposal. The site is in Kelley's District 5.

Although Vihlen asserted the facility would be equipped with state-of-the-art pollution prevention devices, residents and commissioners were concerned about the potential for pollution and the need for the incinerator since several others currently operate in central Florida. Officials from the Central Florida Zoological Park expressed concerns about the potential for harmful pollution of the animal collection and visitors.

Commissioners voted to deny the request, but allowed it to be submitted again at any time. Vihlen said he will pursue the proposal after a comprehensive market analysis and technology review.

"I have taken a step backward but I am absolutely convinced of the public benefit that can be gained from this," Vihlen said. "I've come too far to let it go. During the next 30 days, I will be looking at steam autoclaving and microwaving and looking at the profit potential. If there is any indication this could pollute the environment, I would not go head with this."

Vihlen said the Atlanta company that designed the proposed incinerator, Euthenergy Inc., failed to provide him with the technical and business support he needed to promote the incinerator. He said he will not use a Euthenergy system if he does proceed with a medical waste incinerator.

"I relied on others and I was let down completely," Vihlen said.

Kelley said if Vihlen pursues an incinerator, the county should appoint a task force comprised of environmentalists, engineers and other professionals who could research the potential risk or benefit the facility could bring to the county. She stopped short of criticizing staff for not investigating the proposal more thoroughly, but said more should have been done.

County land planners asked few questions about the environmental aspects of the plant and were mollified with a response from the Public Health Unit that the facility would be regulated by the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation.

All fools, beware of Monday

By NICK PFEIFER
Herald Staff Writer

People who forget what Monday is, could possibly find themselves in an embarrassing situation. Monday is April Fools' or All Fools' Day.

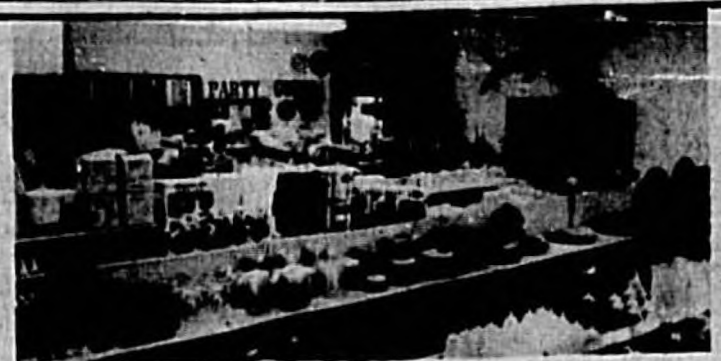

The first day of April has been a day of playing pranks or sending people on frivolous and nonsensical errands since the early 1700's.

In 1780, Poor Robin's Almanack published a poem on the subject. "The first of April, some do say, is set apart for All Fools' Day. But why the people call it so, Nor I, nor they themselves do know."

The event is not limited to the United States. Canada considers April as National Humor Month, with joke telling competition to be held at the University of Ottawa.

For those who refuse to become fooled by pranks or jokes, April is, depending on certain sponsoring agencies or groups, Keep America Beautiful Month, Cancer Control Month, Mathematics Education Month, National Cable Month, National Occupational Therapy Month, and for those who prefer to forget it all and just pick away at their guitar, April is also International Guitar Month.

Daylight Saving Time will begin early next Sunday morn-

Star Wars has new face

EDITOR'S NOTE — If a Patriot missile can snuff a Scud, can "Star Wars" be far behind? America's Strategic Defense Initiative now has a new face. The latest version, called GPALS, is more down-to-earth and half the price.

By MARCIA DUMM
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL — It quickly became known as "Star Wars," the lofty plan straight out of science fiction to shield America from nuclear attack by zapping enemy missiles with lasers, particle beams and other space weapons.

Eight years after it was proposed, America's Strategic Defense Initiative, or SDI, the program's formal name, is being reshaped into something the government sees as more practical, more applicable and more acceptable.

The new, scaled-down "Star Wars" is decidedly more down to Earth.

Gone is the mandate set forth by President Reagan in 1983 to deter Soviet attack by creating an impenetrable shield over the United States. Reagan theorized the Soviets would be less apt to strike because of the threat of retaliation.

The new objective, announced by President Bush in his State of the Union message on Jan. 29, is to protect America and its allies against limited ballistic missile strikes "whatever their source."

"The world is changing," explains Henry

Cooper, director of the Pentagon's Strategic Defense Initiative Organization. "The Berlin Wall is down. It's not going to go back up."

Gone from the drawing board are three-quarters of the more than 4,000 orbiting missile interceptors initially envisioned. Gone are half the 2,000 planned ground-based interceptors.

Gone, too, is much of the cost. Cooper estimates the modified anti-missile defense system will cost about $41 billion over the next decade. That's on top of the roughly $25 billion already spent, but still just about one-third of the projected cost of the original version.

Even so, funding still is Cooper's main worry.

Bush requested $4.6 billion for SDI for this fiscal year. Congress appropriated $2.89 billion. He also is seeking $4.6 billion for next fiscal year. The ranking Republican on the House Armed Services Committee, Rep. William L. Dickinson of Alabama, anticipates that will be cut too.

"Unless we reverse these congressional cuts," says Cooper, "the American people won't be defended in this century."

Cooper, who was chief U.S. negotiator in defense and space talks with the Soviet Union from 1987 to 1989, believes the new program will be easier to sell because it is easier to understand.

"We're talking about protection," he says. "It's not a highly theoretical construct, as deterrence is."

Airline deregulation survivors battle anew

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — More than a dozen years after deregulation untied U.S. airlines from the apron strings of government, the shellshocked survivors are locked in a bruising battle of weak against strong.

Transportation Secretary Samuel K. Skinner says deregulation was a "stunning success." But others say it created an industry fettered by debt and empty seats and headed toward near monopoly control.

U.S. airlines posted a record $2 billion loss last year, $1.7 million of it in the fourth quarter. Some analysts predict a $1.5 billion loss in the first three months of 1991 alone.

Ticket sales slumped early this year as the recession took hold and consumers put off travel because of fears about Persian Gulf War terrorism. Added to that was a sharp war-related increase in jet fuel costs.

"In the past year the financial condition of the industry has deteriorated to a point where questions are being raised about the survival of all but three or four carriers," said Rep. James L. Oberstar, D-Minn., chairman of the House Public Works subcommittee on aviation.

In 1978, 13 major airlines carried 90 percent of all passengers. Their fares and routes were regulated; their profits regular.

The Airline Deregulation Act passed that year, and President Carter promised it would "lift the heavy hand of government" from the airline industry.

The goal: Open up competition, reduce fares, attract more passengers, create higher profits. But heavy flak has torn the once-friendly skies.

Of 17 new airlines formed between 1979 and 1985, 14 no longer fly.

Two major airlines, Braniff and Eastern, have shut down in the past year and a half, and several others are operating under protection of federal bankruptcy laws. Among them: Pan Am, once the flagship airline of the United States overseas, and Continental, which had absorbed Texas International, New York Air, Frontier and People's Express. Continental reported a fourth-quarter loss of $2.2 billion, attributing more than half of it to the folding of its sister airline, Eastern.

Just Tuesday, Midway Airlines filed for protection from its creditors. The company reported a fourth quarter loss of $86.1 million.

Meanwhile, TWA has defaulted on $78 million of its debt, and USAir recently laid off 3,585 pilots and other workers on top of last summer's furlough of 3,600 employees.

All told, 40,000 airline workers have been laid off since August, the Air Transport Association said last week.

Meanwhile, two of the strongest competitors, United and American, are scrambling to buy up the potentially lucrative overseas routes of weaker, Pan Am and TWA.

"It is unassailable that the industry was less monopolistic before deregulation than it is today," says David Borer, director of collective bargaining for the Association of Flight Attendants.

Lawyers try rare case in patient death

Associated Press

SANFORD — Both the prosecutor and defense attorney will be breaking new ground in the trial of a dentist charged with manslaughter in the death of an 8-year-old patient.

"The case law is pretty sparse," State Attorney Norm Wolfinger said.

President H. Raymond Klein of the Florida Dental Association said he knew of no other dentist who had been criminally charged in the death of a patient during treatment.

Dr. Dwight Barron, whose practice is based in Altamonte Springs, was indicted by a Seminole County grand jury Thursday in the death of Jenny Crenshaw. The child went into convulsions in August 1989 after being anesthetized for removal of baby teeth. Barron turned himself in to authorities and was released without bail.

The grand jury issued a 19-page report critical of the dentist's procedures during the emergency. The report urged state dental regulators to improve their methods and require proper education about sedation and to assure that dentists have the necessary equipment.

The jury said Barron was deficient in his treatment, that he administered an overdose of medication and lacked adequate equipment and drugs to monitor and revive the young patient.

Barron has refused comment in the case but has suspended his practice in Altamonte Springs. He faces disciplinary proceedings by the state dentistry board and a damage lawsuit by the girl's mother, Barbara Crenshaw.

Barron's lawyer, former Orange County State Attorney Robert Eagan, said the indictment had been expected and he was preparing for trial.

"It is just an extension of the tragedy to another fine family," Eagan said.

Bill Buckhalt, executive director of the dentistry board, said his panel will review the grand jury's report and consider some of its conclusions. He said the board feels comfortable with its rules, however, and believes they are working well.

The jury report said the child was left alone in the dental chair during a "critical time." It called the 38 minutes between the time she began having trouble and when paramedics were called "more than excessive." Barron did not have written emergency procedures or a properly trained staff, the jurors concluded.

The amount of closing costs you pay on our home equity loan.

Two Reasons For Getting A Barnett Home Equity Loan That Have Nothing In Common.

As many of you probably already know, the tax laws have changed. And as of January 1991, the interest on most personal loans is no longer deductible.

Just about the only personal interest that is deductible is that which you pay on your home.*

That's where a Barnett Home Equity Loan comes in. Not only do you get a loan with tax deductibility, you also get one that's very flexible. You can use it to pay for a car, a boat, a vacation or tuition.

You can even use the funds to make certain investments or consolidate other loans into just one payment.

That's not all.

Now through May 15, Barnett will pay the closing costs associated with the loan. That can save you hundreds of dollars right from the start.

To make things even easier, you can have your loan payment automatically deducted from your checking or savings account. And if you have recurring borrowing needs, ask about Barnett's Home Equity Credit Line.

So come in to your local Barnett office and find out how a couple of things that have nothing in common can actually save you money.

Progress in prostatic cancer

By E. JAKE JACOBO, M.D., FACS
Urologist

Prostate cancer arises in greater than 30 percent of the adult male population over the age of 50. This cancer grows slowly and spreads late.

Prostate cancer is not the primary cause of death in the majority of patients who have it.

Several modalities are now available to identify cancer and to follow the progress of patients. A number of studies have confirmed that digital rectal prostatic examination underestimates cancer.

The prostate is about the size of a walnut and lies below the urinary bladder and surrounds the first part of the urethra (urinary canal). The prostate is affected by male sex hormones. These hormones stimulate the activity of the prostate.

During 1990 there were 122,000 new cases of prostate cancer and over 32,000 deaths from the disease. Less than one percent are under the age of 50, the incidence and mortality rises thereafter.

The detection and diagnosis of prostatic cancer has depended upon rectal examination. Yearly rectal examination for men over 40 years of age is a very important

Prostate cancer is the most common cancer and has the second highest cancer death rate recommendation of the American Cancer Society for Cancer-Related Checkup. In American men, prostate cancer is the most common cancer and has the second highest cancer death rate. Black men in the United States have the highest incidence of prostate cancer in the world. The aging of the male population increases the risk of developing prostatic cancer. The mortality of prostate cancer has been reported to be up to three times higher in relatives of patients with prostate cancer compared with those without cancer.

-Dr. E. Jake Jacobo

New features in the diagnosis of this disease include the use of a sensitive blood test, Prostatic Specific Antigen (PSA), the micro-biopsy gun and transrectal ultrasound.

Tools for early diagnosis:

The hallmark in the detection of prostate cancer is the digital rectal examination

(DRE) which is carried out with various degrees of accuracy. DRE is helpful in determining areas of irregular growth in the prostate, nodules (lumps). Any areas of asymmetry should be further evaluated with transrectal ultrasound. Abrupt and sudden onset of changes in voiding habits (frequency in urination, slow stream) are associated with early changes related to prostatic cancer or benign obstruction.

Transrectal ultrasound is used in an attempt to establish a diagnosis of cancer of the prostate in an early stage. Transrectal Ultrasound with the biopsy gun and ultrasound guided biopsies can detect twice the number of prostate cancer as DRE (finger exam), although this concept still remains controversial, there is now agreement that transrectal ultrasound has a higher diagnostic yield than that of DRE. Ultrasound is capable of diagnosing lesions that are so small that would escape the examining finger of the physician. In my opinion Digital Rectal Exam should not be abandoned, it represents the standard and it should complement transrectal ultrasound.

Dr. E. Jake Jacobo is a urologist in private practice, at 515 W. State Rd 434, Longwood.

Loud snoring may be a danger signal you should not ignore

Most Americans tend to treat snoring as a joke, never thinking that this silly annoyance could be anything more than normal. However, sometimes snoring is not normal, but instead a sign of a serious sleep disorder called sleep apnea.

"Sleep apnea, characterized by intermittent cessation of breathing during sleep, is caused when certain muscles in the mouth and throat become too relaxed during sleep and block the airway," said Arif Shakoor, M.D., sleep disorder specialist with the Orange Pulmonary Group at the Florida Hospital Medical Plaza. Sleep Apnea is usually, but not always accompanied by loud snoring, daytime exhaustion and, in severe cases, may trigger high blood pressure, heart attacks, and strokes.

The two main types of apnea are central sleep apnea and obstructive sleep apnea. Central sleep apnea is relatively rare and frequently found in people complaining of insomnia. In this kind of apnea, the "sleeping" brain fails to send impulses through the nerves which control the movement of the diaphragm; thus breathing stops. Upper airway obstructive sleep apnea is a more common and serious type of apnea. It does not affect the diaphragm, but instead is the result of an abnormal loss of elasticity in the muscles of the tongue, throat, and larynx. During sleep, the throat is completely collapsed and air flow is blocked. During the apneic episode, the diaphragm continues to contract rhythmically with a progressively greater effort against the closed airway until finally a partial or complete awakening occurs and normal breathing is resumed.

Anyone can develop sleep apnea and it can occur at any age. However, it is more prevalent in men than women and generally, the heavier a patient is, the more likely they will have sleep apnea and snore. "Obstructive sleep apnea is more common in obese patients due to the smaller size of the throat and increased fatty tissue in the throat," said Dr. Shakoor.

Typically, a sleep apnea victim experiences extremely loud snoring punctuated by silence and then gasping. Some sufferers are described as "snorting" during sleep.

While awake, victims may experience excessive daytime sleepiness, high blood pressure, rapid weight gain, morning headaches, personality change, hallucinations, disorientation, impotence, and signs of heart failure or enlargement. Respiratory pauses of five to 10 seconds are normal during sleep. It is only when breathing stops for longer periods that bodily functions are in danger.

During periods of apnea, the level of oxygen in the arterial blood begins to drop and can become low enough to create considerable strain on vital organs such as the heart and brain. It is important to understand that the high blood pressure associated with sleep apnea is suspected as a possible cause of many deaths which occur during sleep. Such deaths can occur at any age. For example, the "Sudden Infant Death Syndrome" is a suspect class of such deaths in which infants who are apparently normal in every waking aspect, die during sleep with no apparent reason.

The easiest and most common cure for obstructive sleep apnea is weight reduction which will increase a persons lung volume. This step should be taken before any other treatment is considered. One of the more important devices in the treatment of sleep apnea is the Nasal CPAP (continuous positive airway pressure).

IN BRIEF

Collier signed

ORLANDO — Reggie Collier, the top pick in the 1983 United States Football League draft, has signed with the expansion Orlando Predators of the Arena Football League, the team announced Saturday.

The 29-year-old Southern Mississippi graduate played with the Dallas Cowboys and Pittsburgh Steelers and was quarterback coach last fall at Miles College.

The Predators begin their season June 1 against the Tampa Bay Storm.

COLLEGE HOOPS

Williams bests mentor

INDIANAPOLIS — Dean Smith was out of the game and North Carolina was out of the Final Four.

Pupil Roy Williams taught Smith, the teacher, a lesson Saturday: It's frustrating to play Kansas when the underdog Jayhawks are rolling toward a national championship.

The Jayhawks outshot, outrebounded and outplayed the Tar Heels for a 79-73 victory that moved them within one victory of their second national title in four seasons.

Smith, who was Williams' boss for 10 years, got so upset near the end that he was tossed from the game after getting his second technical foul.

Mark Randall and Jordan each scored 16 points for Kansas, while Scott, a freshman substitute, had 14 for the Jayhawks (27-7).

Hubert Davis led North Carolina (29-6) with 25 points.

GOLF

Veterans chase youngster

PONTE VEDRA — A couple of veterans on a comeback will be chasing a lanky lad who never went away in Sunday's final round of the Players Championship.

Paul Azinger, one of the PGA Tour's leading performers over the past five seasons, retained the lead with a third-round 69 in near-ideal playing conditions Saturday.

The skinny Azinger, whose victory in the Pebble Beach Classic earlier this season marked the fifth consecutive year he has won at least one tournament, completed 54 holes in 204.

But he couldn't shake the persistent Fuzzy Zoeller, a non-winner for five seasons. And Tom Watson once again put himself into the title hunt in what he called "a stepping stone season."

Zoeller, as is his custom, was casually whistling a happy tune — and, on one occasion, flashing an embarrassed smile — as he leisurely fashioned a 69 and remained one stroke back at 205.

Watson, a five-time British Open champion who scored the last of his 32 American victories in 1987, went past 20 players into a tie for third with a 65 — 16 strokes better than he played the third round in this event a year ago.

Alcott pulls away

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. — Amy Alcott, playing some of the best golf of her 17 year LPGA career, shot a 4-under-par 68 Saturday as she threatened to turn the Dinah Shore tournament into a runaway.

Alcott, the frontrunner for the entire tournament, moved to 11-under-par 205 through 54 holes. She held a seven-stroke lead over a group of four players heading into Sunday's final round.

Patty Sheehan, with a third-round 70, Tammie Green, Martha Nause and Dottie Mochrie were at 212.

A group of three golfers who were tied for third, just three shots back of Alcott beginning the third round, all had problems Saturday. Ayako Okamoto of Japan shot a 74, Lauri Merten 75 and Meg Mallon 76.

TENNIS

U.S. leads Davis Cup

MEXICO CITY — Jim Pugh and Rick Leach defeated Jorge Lozano and Leonardo Lavalle in long, difficult doubles match Saturday, giving the United States a 2-1 lead over Mexico in the Davis Cup World Group.

The American team won the 4-hour 24-minute match 6-4, 4-6, 7-6, 6-7, 6-4, which included tie-breakers in the third and fourth sets.

Lavalle plays Jim Courier and Luis Enrique Herrera faces Brad Gilbert in the final singles matches on Sunday.

The United States needs one more point to win. Mexico needs to win both matches Sunday to take the series and meet Spain in the next round.

Tribe squeezes by Jackets

Rick Eckstein was the offensive star for Seminole as he had two hits and squeezed home the two winning runs in the fifth as the Tribe defeated Leesburg 3-1 in a district baseball game Saturday afternoon.

Eltonhead, R. Eckstein lead Seminole to 3-1 district win

From staff reports

LEESBURG — Jon Eltonhead tossed a four-hitter and Seminole used a pair of squeeze bunt singles to score three runs as the Tribe posted a 3-1 triumph over the Leesburg Yellow Jackets Saturday afternoon.

"It was an important win for us, because it was district game," said Seminole coach Mike Powers. "We have not been hitting the ball very well lately so we took advantage our ability to bunt and it worked."

Seminole scored all three of its runs in the top of the fifth inning. Ray Adcock led off with a single to center and moved to second on an Eltonhead sacrifice bunt. David Eckstein singled to left center, moving Adcock to third and then stole second.

Scott Ferguson then laid down a perfect squeeze to score Adcock and beat the throw to first for a hit. After Ferguson stole second, Rick Eckstein laid down another perfect bunt to score his brother and when the throw went to first Ferguson scored all the way from second.

"We squeezed to win," added Powers. "We had kids at the plate who could bunt and they did the job. We've been playing well but just haven't had any luck, so we went back to the basics."

Leesburg got its only run in the bottom of the fifth when Isbill led off with a double and came around on a pair of ground outs with Lawrence getting the RBI. Eltonhead retired the side with a strike out.

"Eltonhead pitched very well," said Powers. "He struck out four and walked only two. He was in control the whole game."

Rick Eckstein led the offense with a pair of bunt singles and two RBI. Also contributing were Ferguson (two singles, RBI) and Matt Freeman, Jeremy Chonat, David Eckstein and Adcock (one single each.)

"We had seven hits today," said Powers. "Four came on bunts and two came on hit and runs. That's making good advantage of very little."

Seminole, now 7-13 on the season, will be in action again Monday night, when they host Bamberg, South Carolina at 7 p.m. at Lyman.

Seminole boys gear up to defend region title in trip to Florida Relays

By ROBBIE STOCK
Herald Sports Correspondent

GAINESVILLE — Seminole boys track coach Ken Brauman knows that his team needs some time before they will rebound into the form that won them last year's Region 1 championship.

And with that in mind, Brauman had mixed feelings in Friday night's Florida Relay's for class 3A.

"We just did bad in some events," said Brauman. "And good in others."

One of those good events came in the four by 100 relay where Seminole finished third despite a couple of poor hand offs. Bruce McClary ran a strong last leg into a 25-MPH wind for the Tribe. McClary streaked past two competitors and almost caught a third in his 100 yard sprint down to the wire. Brent Deese, Henry Williams and Anthony Neal also ran in the relay. Their time was :42.73.

"Overall I was pleased," commented Brauman. "But we had bad handoffs on all three exchanges, so we should have run a faster time. But we will run much faster, we're still looking for right combination of runners."

In the shot put competition Carlo White took second with a throw of 59'11 1/4", his first loss in the shot since last year's Florida Relays.

But White wasn't happy with his effort. "I could have done better," said White. "My form was really bad."

Byron Price of Rickards defeated White with a toss of 20'3/4". Price was the runner-up to White in last year's state meet.

"I have a month to practice," commented White. "And I will get him at state."

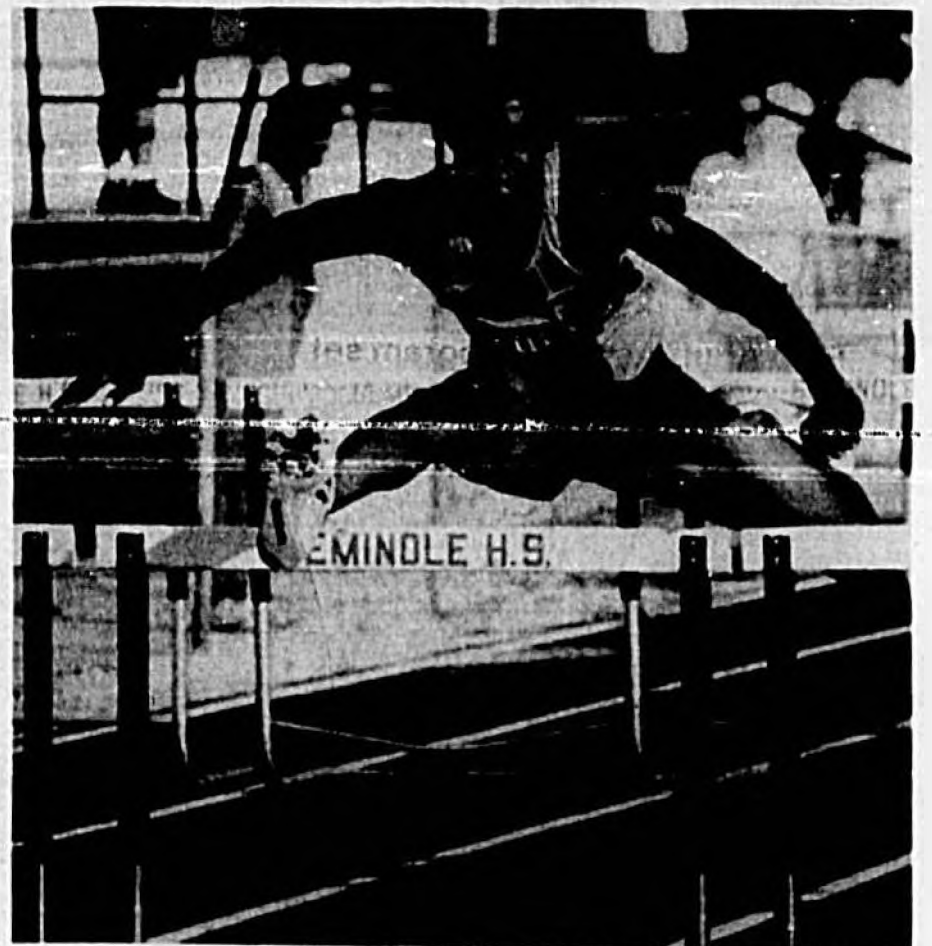

Bernard Sparrow finished eighth with an effort of 49'10 1/4".

Senior Henry Williams placed in three events including fourth in the triple jump and sixth in the 120 meter hurdles. Williams leaped 48'2" in the triple and took the hurdles in :15.81. He also participated on the 4x100 meter team.

Freshman Andre Scott jumped 45'10 3/4" to place seventh in the triple jump, which was won by Eastside's Stacy Smith with a meet record jump of 49'4". The triple jumpers were aided by the same 25mph wind that hindered the runners.

The Tribe received a scare when Gareth Forde hit a hurdle in his 110-meter hurdle heat and had to be helped off the track. However he was later walking on his own power.

"During the race a person in next lane hit him with his trailing arm and knocked him off balance," said Brauman. "He's got a real nasty bruise, he fell hard but he should be okay."

Seminole high received a scare Friday night at the Florida Relays in Gainesville when hurdler Gareth Forde fell in his heat race and had to be helped off the track. But he was able to return later with just a bad bruise.

Dalvin Davis, Ricardo Allen, Gary Rowe and Terrance Jones combined for 6th in the 4x800 meter relay. They ran the event in 8:38.5.

"We like to bring a lot of runners to this meet," added Brauman. "This is where the region meet is at so we bring the young kids up so they won't be in awe of such a good facility."

"Now we're going to take a week off for spring break and heal up, and then take a week to get ready for the start of the championship meets."

Oviedo puts scare into third-ranked Dr. Phillips

From staff reports

ORLANDO — Oviedo ran into the strong right arm of Brian Barber Friday afternoon and fell 6-1 to Dr. Phillips, the state's third-ranked 4A school.

Barber is rated one of the top five high school pitching prospects in the country and Oviedo coach Mike Ferrell was surprised to see him.

"I was very surprised they pitched him against us," said Ferrell. "But ESPN was their to do a Scholastic Sports Academy story on him so I guess they felt he had to pitch him."

Ferrell said the big senior didn't intimidate his team but his (Barber's) control got better and better as the game went on.

"He only struck out four," said Ferrell. "But he didn't walk anyone and the only person to get past first base was Ryan Alkire on his home run. He's definitely the best pitcher we've faced this season."

In addition to Alkire the only Lions to reach base were Rufus Boykin, Pete Arcomone and Bubba Fore, but each were erased on defensive plays.

Oviedo led 1-0 until the Panthers exploded for five runs in the bottom of the fourth.

With one out Braniff Bonaventure hit a home run to tie the game. Hanasac singled to left before Bruce reached on a check swing infield single. Johnny Damon followed with a three-run home run to put Dr. Phillips ahead for good.

"You have to expect to beat a pitcher like Barber or Rigby (Lake Brantley ace Brad) 1-0 or 2-1," said Ferrell. "You can't expect to score five or six runs against them."

"But it was a good experience for our team. Now we know what we need to do to be one of the better teams in the nation and I hope it will carry over to the Colonial Classic Tournament next week."

Oviedo, now 13-4, will open the tournament with a 3:30 p.m. game against Coconut Creek Monday.

Skiles leads Orlando to 114-82 crushing of Rockets

Associated Press

ORLANDO — Scott Skiles scored 25 points and Orlando set three franchise records on defense Saturday in a 114-82 victory over Houston, breaking the Rockets 13-game win streak.

The Magic led 26-12 after the first quarter to set a single-quarter defensive record. Houston never got closer than eight points in the second quarter and trailed by at least 10 throughout the second half. Houston tried to apply full court pressure in the fourth period, but the Magic outscored them 36-22.

Orlando's swarming defense frustrated the Rockets. Houston hit 31 of 101 floor shots for 30.1 percent — erasing the 36.7 percent record Orlando held Sacramento to on Jan. 7.

The 82-point total also broke the previous low of 83 points Sacramento scored against Orlando.

Skiles made 7 of 14 and handed off 14 assists as Orlando hit 42 of 78 shots for 53.8 percent. The Magic have won five of their last six games.

Jerry Reynolds finished with 18 points off the bench, and Jeff Turner added 14 points and 12 rebounds.

One of the early problems for the Rockets was Hakeem Olajuwon, who left with 5:59 remaining in the first half with three fouls. By then he had four rebounds and hadn't scored on five shots. He finished with 12 points and 11 rebounds, but he was 5 of 15 from the floor.

The Rockets' starting five all shot poorly, combining for 23 of 71 for 32.4 percent.

Houston had averaged 109.6 points a game during its 13-game win streak.

Otis Thorpe led the Rockets with 13 points and a game-high 16 rebounds.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you By Ken Rummel

What's the farthest anyone ever hit a golf ball in an official PGA event? The record was set by Jack Hamm who, on Oct. 25, 1989, drove a ball 437 yards.

Here's an oddity...In the entire history of big league baseball, only one player ever hit a grand-slam home run in his first at bat in the majors — and, that one player was not an outfielder, infielder or catcher, but, surprisingly, a pitcher...He was Bill Dugleby who hit a bases-loaded homer for the Phillies in his first at bat in 1896...In all the years since then, nobody else has ever hit a grand-slam home run his first big league at bat.

Who was the youngest person ever elected to baseball's Hall of Fame? Answer is pitcher Sandy Koufax who retired as an active player at age 31 and was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1972 at age 36.

IN BRIEF

Gasoline prices rise

LAKE MARY — Florida gasoline prices are on their way up a bit, according to a spot check of prices in six cities.

The average price of self-service regular unleaded, the most popular grade, rose six-tenths of a cent to $1.070 since a survey March 14, the American Automobile Association Clubs of Florida reported Wednesday. In the Sanford-Lake Mary area, the same grade can be bought for $1.029 at many outlets.

Clubs spokeswoman Kathleen Wilkins attributed the upward move to a traditional increase in prices each spring.

The lowest price for self-service gas was found at a Miami station charging $1.020 for a gallon of regular unleaded. The highest was $1.332 for a gallon of premium unleaded in Tallahassee.

Fazoli's opens new store

LONGWOOD — Fazoli's Italian Food...Fast has opened their first of four Central Florida restaurants, just east of Rangeline Road on Hwy. 434 in Longwood.

Three more Fazoli's restaurants will open in the Central Florida area by June '91.

Fazoli's, a Lexington, Ky.-based chain, offers inexpensive (most items under $3) Italian dishes like lasagna, double-diced pizza, fettuccine alfredo, and spaghetti — all made from high-quality foods including fresh bread and doughs, fresh produce and genuine cheeses.

Fazoli's says it serves no fried foods and uses cholesterol-free shortening.

Excelior builds new facility

LONGWOOD — Excelior Construction Corp., a company specializing in small commercial and office construction, has completed a $350,000, 14,000 square-foot office and warehouse facility in Longwood for Ariza Pool Services.

The company, which has been operating in the Central Florida area for the past 10 years and has built 400,000 square-feet of commercial and office space during that time.

The announcement was made by E. Lee Munizzi, president of Excelior Companies, a multi-faceted real estate development company involved in construction, leasing and property management in South and Central Florida.

In addition, Munizzi reports that its 7,000 square-foot office complex at 125 Excelior Parkway in Winter Springs is now 100 percent occupied with the Visiting Nurses Association and Associated Marketing Inc. signed to long-term leases.

"Despite the recession, demand for prime office space within southeast Seminole County remains strong and should continue that way through the balance of the year," says Munizzi.

SANFORD — A new versatile, adjustable-width, variable-speed, flat edge belt conveyor, which uses a timing belt to make possible positive movement of printed circuit boards (PCBs) between production operations or to any point in an assembly plant, has been introduced by Simplimatic Engineering Co.

The unit is designed for both SMT (surface mount technology) and through-hole assembly operations.

Simplimatic, which is headquartered in Lynchburg, Va., has a plant on Airport Boulevard in Sanford.

Shareholders Sued Charges Negligence

WEST PALM BEACH (AP) — Mismanagement, bad judgment and ego gratification cost the parent of Florida's largest utility millions of dollars in the late 1980s, a shareholders suit against FPL Group charges.

The negligence suit filed in Palm Beach Circuit Court attacked the company's diversification strategy, which was dropped last year in favor of concentrating on its primary utility business.

Former board chairman Marshall MacDonald was singled out for criticism in the lawsuit, which charged diversification decisions made at his urging "were a manifestation of his personal needs for ego gratification."

FPL Group did not respond.

ATT issues millions of new cards

MIAMI — More than 5.2 million accounts were opened and more than 8.5 million cards issued in the AT&T Universal Card yearlong charter membership offer, the company reported.

The AT&T Universal Card — a combination credit card and long-distance calling card — is currently the fifth most popular bank credit card in the United States.

Sanford produce operation planned

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Property recently purchased on the North side of the 800 block on West 13th Street currently has a fence around it, but development is still a question that remains to be decided by the new owner, Vince Henderson.

Recent rumors suggested that the 2½ acre site might be used for construction of a chemical waste transfer plant, but Henderson said, "There is no truth to the rumor, I'm in the produce business and that's all I'll ever be doing."

Sanford Utilities Director Paul Moore said earlier this week, "There are no plans for any such plant in that area." City officials in other departments responded in a similar manner.

Henderson, contacted in his part-time office in South Carolina said, "I have some plans to eventually build a fruit and vegetable distribution business there and move my operation from its present location in Lake Mary."

"He said he currently leases space at the Sanford State Farmers' Market across the street from his property, but he has no office area from which to operate. "I might temporarily see if I can put up a mobile office on my property, then in about 18 months, see about building a permanent office not larger than about 3,000 square feet, but that would be all I would do there."

Henderson, who is 74, has been involved with farming, farm activities and produce hauling all of his life. He moved to Lake Mary from Pahokee, on Lake Okechobee in 1982, forming Henderson Distributing Associates.

"My company handles produce going into Sanford as well as out of Sanford and other parts of the country," he said. But rather than buying the property specifically for a future office and storage area, Henderson said, "To be honest, I bought it simply because it was a nice piece of land, and I made a good deal in the purchase. There's even a possibility I won't do anything with it." He added however that he does not plan to re-sell it.

In response to the rumors of the chemical waste plant, Henderson said, "I would never think of anything like that, and if anyone else tried to build one in that area, I'd be against it." He added, "I've got enough problems in building things with all of the governmental paper work you have to go through to get anything approved these days."

Homebuilder's liquidation reported in final stages

Associated Press

ORLANDO — The liquidation of Catalina Homes Inc., once among Florida's largest home builders, is in its final stages, according to the court-appointed receiver now running the company.

Buyers are being sought for the remaining major assets of the 34-year-old Orlando-based company. Receiver A.E. Arnason said those include about 20 houses, including models and units built on speculation; more than 400 residential lots across the state; and assorted business equipment ranging from computer systems to copiers.

Arnason, a Miami resident who has worked in both real estate investments and lending, was appointed in November to operate Catalina Homes Inc. while a foreclosure suit filed by ASPB Homes Inc. is heard in Orange County Circuit Court.

ASPB Homes, a subsidiary of the failed American Pioneer Savings Bank that has been taken over by the Resolution Trust Corp., filed the foreclosure suit against Catalina Homes Ltd., which had purchased the company in April.

Catalina Homes Ltd. was formed last year by embattled businessman William duPont III and partners. DuPont is the majority owner of the Orlando Magic NBA team, and was a major investor in American Pioneer.

Hurt by the real estate recession, duPont's business ventures have been in a tailspin and have included the loss of The First F.A. Building at duPont Centre in downtown Orlando to the mortgage lender.

When Arnason took charge, the company owed nearly $2 million in subcontractors and other tradesmen. That has been reduced to less than $900,000. Arnason last week sent checks for 25 percent of the balance owed the remaining creditors.

He said he hopes the rest can be paid in the next 60 to 90 days.

Local man assigned patent on can device

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

DeBARY — Conveyor Systems Inc., 203 Benson Junction Road in DeBary, has developed a new air conveyance system designed to speed up and improve the production of aluminum and steel cans in the can manufacturing industry.

LeRoy Newton who lives in Sanford is vice president of Conveyor Systems. Newton holds the U.S. patent, and was assisted in the creation of the unit with the help of some key employees, Greg Beede from Deltona, who worked on engineering design and Rudolph Roberts with fabrication and installation.

Called Air Tunnel Track, the unit will move aluminum and steel cans through the manufacturing processes in excess of 3,600 per minute on a single lane. The utilization of small and compact blowers for power makes it virtually maintenance free.

Engineers from Anheuser-Busch visited the DeBary plant this past week to inspect a test loop of the Air Tunnel Track. Newton said "We gave them an example of our design and engineering, and they were seeing if it's what they want to use in their canning and bottling operation."

Newton said other companies who are considering the benefits of the Air Tunnel Track include Miller Brewing Company, American National Can and Reynolds Metals Company.

Conveyor Systems Inc. was founded in 1984 by LeRoy Newton and Lee Harrington, who later added Tom Trybus as a corporate officer and engineering manager. Within six years, the plant has grown from 3 employees in a 1,000 square foot building, to 28 employees and a 12,000 square foot manufacturing plant at DeBary.

Florida Home Finders now emerging from bankruptcy

Associated Press

MIAMI — Florida Home Finders, a subsidiary of General Development Corp., has received approval from the U.S. Bankruptcy Court to emerge from bankruptcy and operate as an independent business, the company says.

Florida Home Finders has deposited approximately $330,000 in a special escrow account to pay 100 percent of all allowed claims. The company filed for Chapter 11 protection last year as part of the General Development's bankruptcy action.

General Development, once Florida's biggest large-scale home builder, pleaded guilty to one count of fraud conspiracy that charged home prices were inflated on more than 10,000 sales from 1983 to 1989. Four former GDC executives face trial in October.

Florida Home Finders, which manages properties, operates a real estate brokerage and an insurance brokerage, and does credit investigations, was never linked to any of the problems of the parent company.

The management of Florida Home Finders and General Development filed statements with the bankruptcy court confirming the property management company has a positive cash flow and is capable of paying its debts and operating expenses, said Harold Fenno, senior financial executive for Florida Home Finders.

"We are in a service business," Fenno said in a statement issued by the company.

Southwest Georgia counties team up to sell Florida firms

Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Ga. — A group of southwest Georgia counties hopes to soothe Florida's growing pains by enticing businesses away from the Sunshine State and into their rural, job-hungry area.

The 22 southwest Georgia counties have blurred county lines in an attempt to attract business to a region that usually conjures images of pecan orchards and peanut fields.

"By touting us as a region, we are able to say with a big voice, 'Look at the amenities here in southwest Georgia,'" said Yvonne Durrett of the Americus-Sumter County Chamber of Commerce. "We couldn't do that as individual counties."

Other counties involved in the southwest Georgia advertising co-op program are Ben Hill, Berrien, Brooks, Colquitt, Cook, Crisp, Decatur, Dougherty, Early, Grady, Lowndes, Macon, Miller, Mitchell, Randolph, Seminole, Terrell, Thomas, Tift, Turner and Worth.

The $100,000 co-op program, run through the Georgia Department of Industry, Trade and Tourism, is funded by the counties and the state, and is designed to stretch out over three years.

The marketing strategy includes media advertising and direct mail targeted to the Florida business community, said Charlie Gatlin, director of marketing for Georgia's tourism department.

"We think we are sandwiched in a strategic place. There are lots of opportunities between the Florida line and Atlanta."

So far, the co-op has targeted 500 Florida businesses that employ more than 100 people, hoping to cash in on the sunshine state's growth problems.

Florida, which led the country in industrial growth for the last two years, is having trouble providing the roads, schools and other government services needed to maintain industry. The state has enacted growth regulations and imposed impact fees to recoup the cost of public works.

The southwest Georgia co-op hopes that some Florida businesses, disgruntled with the lacking infrastructure, will look north, Gatlin said. "Even if they (the companies) still want to serve the Florida market, it's easier from a distribution standpoint to be in Georgia," Gatlin said.

Companies thinking of moving would find plenty of workers in southwest Georgia, area officials said. Some of the counties in the co-op have unemployment rates as high as 12.3 percent, state labor statistics show.

"We definitely have a pool of labor to draw from," Ms. Durrett said.

The area has other advantages as well, co-op backers say.

It lies halfway between two international airports — Hartsfield Atlanta International to the north and Jacksonville (Fla.) International to the south. The area also is close to deep-water ports at Brunswick, Savannah and Jacksonville, and is served by rail lines.

Interstate 75 runs almost through the center of the area, Gatlin said.

"We think we are sandwiched in a strategic place. There are lots of opportunities between the Florida line and Atlanta."

Area officials also cite the region's pro-business attitude among local governments, plentiful water supply, inexpensive land prices, and quality of life offered by its small communities.

Gatlin said the promotion is going well, but he refused to reveal how many inquiries his office has received.

'I could write a sonnet about your Easter bonnet...'

Herald Photos by Tommy Vincent

Jean Melts, right photo, of Sanford, and her daughter, Tawana Melts, will, no doubt, be among the "grandest ladies" in the Easter Parade. But those Melts girls don't wait for special occasions to dress up in fashionable chapeaux complemented with matching gloves and shoes. Jean says her husband, Morris, loves hats and doesn't care how many she has nor how much she spends on them. A registered nurse who is on numerous boards, Jean is also an accomplished pianist who graciously lends her talent to the community and is often seen playing the piano, wearing another new hat. Her Easter hat is purple to enhance her purple polka dot dress with matching shoes and gloves. Tawana's hot pink Easter bonnet, lavishly adorned with variegated pink flowers, is perfect with her pink and pale blue print dress, pink gloves and pink shoes.

Book closed on retirement

Teacher's first love: Classroom

By SANDY ELLIOTT
Herald Correspondent

After 37 years of teaching, most people would think a classroom filled with four- and five-year olds would be the last place one would want to spend "retirement years." However, that is exactly where you will find Thelma Franklin.

Ten years after retiring from teaching in the Seminole County school system, Franklin is teaching at First Impressions, a child care center in Sanford. Her love of children prompted her return to the profession she devoted to for nearly four decades.

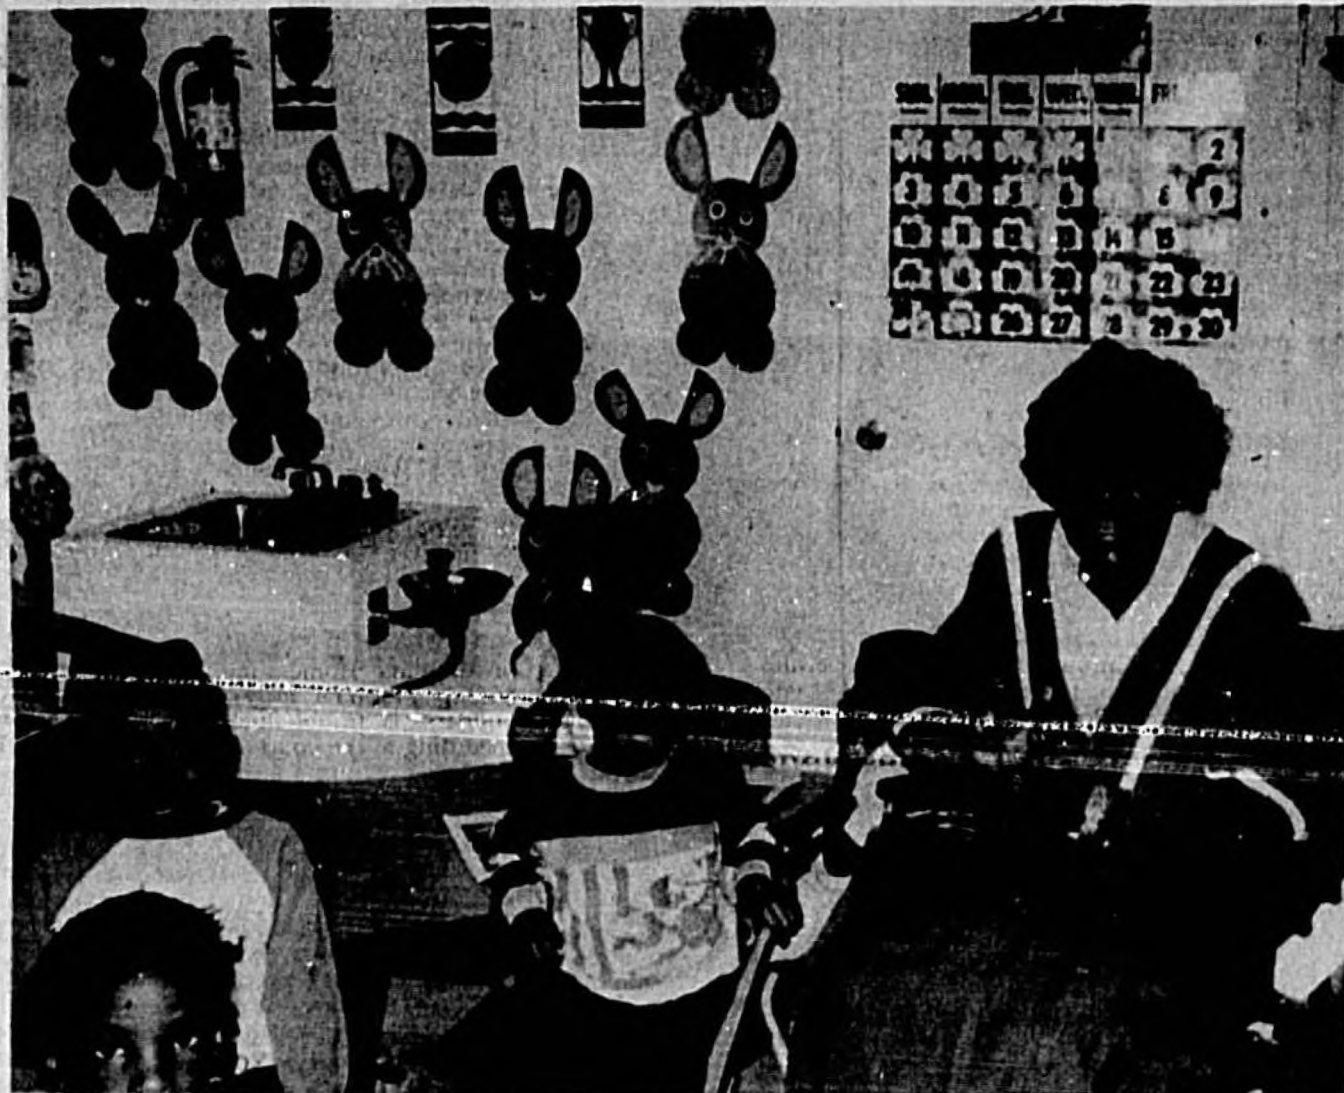

"It's a pleasure," she says referring to her busy days working at the center. "All my life I loved to work with children."

With her assistant, Elmeita Dixon, Mrs. Franklin teaches 20 four- and five-year olds. Some of the students are in an early intervention program of Seminole County schools, others are in the 4C program while the remainder are pre-kindergarten students.

The veteran first grade teacher says it is harder to keep the attention of today's children than students in the past. "They don't obey like they used to," she observes. "Parents play a large part in that I think. Discipline is different today."

Many parents today, who were subject to strict discipline in their youth, have vowed not to raise their children as they were raised, she said, which may account for the difference in discipline.

Beginning her teaching career in a rural one-room school in the Winter Springs area, Franklin taught 18 students in grades one through eight. She recalls taking three or four students from Sanford with her to the rural school for instruction.

"Some of the students were as big as I was," she remembered. Her tenure at the one-room school continued from 1941 until 1950. She moved to Goldsboro Elementary School in 1950. During the 1960's she said there were two white teachers at Goldsboro where the staff and student body had been all black.

In 1971 when the schools were integrated, Mrs. Franklin and another Goldsboro teacher were chosen to teach at Pine Crest Elementary by principal Harry Higgenbock. Students in grades one through three attended Pine Crest while fourth and fifth graders were bussed to Goldsboro.

"I taught first grade from 1950 until I retired in 1978," Mrs. Franklin said.

First Impression owner James Brooks sought out Mrs. Franklin as a teacher after he purchased the cookbooks beginning with Early America and pointed out that men dominated as cookbook writers at that time. The women learned that Thomas Jefferson established the first chocolate factory in 1765. Later, during the Victorian Era as women were elevated to a higher status, they attended cooking schools such as the famous Fanny Farmer school in Boston.

Recipes began appearing on bags of flour and then pamphlets were enclosed with various products, followed by full-scale cookbooks.

Up, up and away...

Esther Crouch, a frequent visitor to Sanford when she is not at her summer home in North Carolina, realized a dream of many years on her 83rd birthday. She drifted through the gentle breezes in a hot air balloon which was launched beside the Peabody Hotel in Orlando. Her final destination was a field in Ocoee where the family greeted her and toasted her with champagne.

Esther is the mother of Claire Fite Paul, grandmother of Rick Fite and Devron Miller and grandmother of Dustin, Jason and Chase Milner.

The night before her birthday, Esther hosted a dinner party at the Flamingo Club in Vistana.

This spry lady has been the subject of numerous articles for her fitness prowess including mountain-climbing. While drifting in the balloon, Esther spotted a glider and decided she might just like to explore this field of flying next. "Oh, no!" the family good-naturedly groaned.

Big handbags lure purse snatchers

DEAR ABBY: Please warn women not to carry a purse with a handle to the market, or to any mall (open or closed), or anyplace where people shop.

Recently, in the parking lot of my favorite supermarket, a young man who had been hiding behind a van jumped out and grabbed my purse. I resisted and pulled as hard as I could; then he gave my purse a very hard yank. I lost my balance and fell backward on the cement, damaging my shoulder, legs, back and the left side of my face!

Abby, I was only a few feet from the entrance of the store. The man jumped into a waiting car nearby. One courageous woman chased them in her car and wrote down the license number on the back of her hand — but she missed one number. Meanwhile, he had my purse containing my wallet, all my keys, credit cards, address book, etc.

From now on, I am going to carry only a change purse or a credit card when I go marketing — never will I give anyone a chance to do this again.

My car had to be towed to a garage, the locks changed, the keys changed, and our house locks changed — a very expensive and painful lesson.

IRIS H. IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR IRIS: Thank you for some valuable advice. Because you took the time and effort to warn others, many may be spared the costly and frightening experience you endured.

DEAR ABBY: I recently got turned down for a credit card because of bad credit. Since I am only 18, just started my job a year ago and still live at home, I had never applied for credit before.

I contacted the credit bureau and was shocked to discover that a string of judgments, bad debt write-offs, etc. are on my report. To make a long story short, my mother, who is a compulsive shopper, had credit cards under my Social Security number.

When I confronted her, she shrugged and said I should use my brother's Social Security number. She had messed up her own Social Security number years ago.

I don't want to use another person's Social Security number. I just want to clean up my own Social Security number and get credit the honest way. But how can I do this without getting Mom in trouble?

BAD CREDIT IN SAN ANTONIO

DEAR "BAD": You have done nothing wrong and defrauded no one, so do not start now by using your brother's Social Security number.

Contact the credit bureau showing that you have a poor credit rating under your Social Security number. These companies have procedures set up to correct their records whenever the wrong person is listed with bad credit. They will advise you what documents will be needed in order to clear your listing on their credit records.

Social Security will not enter the picture unless the mess with the credit bureau can't be straightened out, and even then, it is unlikely that your mother will "get into trouble."

Program hailed success
The tribute to James Weldon Johnson: Native Son and World Citizen, A Literary Forum, presented at a two-day conference at Seminole Community College was indeed a success. The presentation of "God's Trombones," poems by James Weldon Johnson and music by Ray Ringwald, were held on the evening of March 15. An adaptation produced by Tajiri Arts International was presented at 8 p.m. at Seminole Community College's Fine Arts Concert Hall. Under the talented direction of Patricia Merritt Hitchmon, Gloria Williams, Earl E. Minott and Ronald Nathan, this production could not have been given without the help of all artists and technicians.

Sincere appreciation is expressed to Seminole Community administration and personnel, Florida Endowment for the Humanities, the office and staff, program development, Seminole Community College's Equal Opportunity office. Cooking with Midge Charlotte Knowles was the gracious hostess at her home for the March meeting of Epsilon Sigma Omega, a reading society affiliate of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs. Co-hostesses were Derry Harris and Hazel Cash who introduced the speaker, Midge Mycoff.

Midge, a popular Seminole Community College instructor, certified home economist and Herald food columnist, spoke to the group about the history of cookbooks. The speaker traced cookbooks beginning with Early America and pointed out that men dominated as cookbook writers at that time. The women learned that Thomas Jefferson established the first chocolate factory in 1765. Later, during the Victorian Era as women were elevated to a higher status, they attended cooking schools such as the famous Fanny Farmer school in Boston.

Recipes began appearing on bags of flour and then pamphlets were enclosed with various products, followed by full-scale cookbooks.

The members were so impressed with Midge's program that they invited her back again next year.

Up, up and away...

Esther Crouch, a frequent visitor to Sanford when she is not at her summer home in North Carolina, realized a dream of many years on her 83rd birthday. She drifted through the gentle breezes in a hot air balloon which was launched beside the Peabody Hotel in Orlando. Her final destination was a field in Ocoee where the family greeted her and toasted her with champagne.

Esther is the mother of Claire Fite Paul, grandmother of Rick Fite and Devron Miller and grandmother of Dusten, Jason and Chase Miller.

The night before her birthday, Esther hosted a dinner party at the Flamingo Club in Vistana.

This spry lady has been the subject of numerous articles for her fitness prowess including mountain-climbing. While drifting in the balloon, Esther spotted a glider and decided she might just like to explore this field of flying next. "Oh, no!" the family good-naturedly groaned.

Women to hear judge

Hon. O.H. Eaton Jr., chief judge of the 18th Judicial Circuit, will be the guest speaker when the Woman's Club of Sanford meets Wednesday for the general business and luncheon meeting. Judge Eaton's topic will be: Justice for Whom?

The business meeting starts at 11 a.m., followed by a catered luncheon at 12, and then the program. Members planning to attend are asked to write out a question they would like Judge Eaton to answer and leave it with the registrars at the door.

During the meeting, new members will be inducted. Reservations are necessary through the telephone committee.

Miner-Christian vows spoken in church ceremony

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Kimberly Sue Miner and Jonathan Wayne Christian were married March 9, 1991, at 1 p.m. in the garden atrium of the Park Suite Hotel, Altamonte Springs. The Rev. Robert E. Burns performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean S. Miner of Winter Springs and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald W. Christian of Daytona Beach.

Madeline Bailey, Oviedo, served the bride as maid of honor. She wore a peach satin and lace tea length gown accentuated with puffed and shirred sleeves, bustle and bow. She carried a bouquet of pink, white and purple mums with trailing ivy.

The bridesmaids were Teresa Maier, cousin of the bride, Maplewood, Ohio, and Chris Faust of San Diego. Their gowns and bouquets were identical to the honor attendant's.

Bo Elgin, Altamonte Springs, served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Randy Miner, brother of the bride, San Diego, Calif., and Scott Christian, Daytona Beach, brother of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Christian

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held in the garden atrium of the Park Suite Hotel. Assistants were Helen McCurry, Orlando area, and Caroline Maier, the bride's aunt, Maplewood, Ohio.

After a wedding trip to the Bahamas, the newlyweds are making their home in New Smyrna Beach. The groom is employed by Albertsons and the bride is assistant manager at Things Remembered, Volusia Mall, Daytona Beach.

Big handbags lure purse snatchers

DEAR ABBY: Please warn women not to carry a purse with a handle to the market, or to any mall (open or closed), or anyplace where people shop.

Recently, in the parking lot of my favorite supermarket, a young man who had been hiding behind a van jumped out and grabbed my purse. I resisted and pulled as hard as I could; then he gave my purse a very hard yank. I lost my balance and fell backward on the cement, damaging my shoulder, legs, back and the left side of my face!

Abby, I was only a few feet from the entrance of the store. The man jumped into a waiting car nearby. One courageous woman chased them in her car and wrote down the license number on the back of her hand — but she missed one number. Meanwhile, he had my purse containing my wallet, all my keys, credit cards, address book, etc.

From now on, I am going to carry only a change purse or a credit card when I go marketing

ADVICE
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

— never will I give anyone a chance to do this again.

My car had to be towed to a garage, the locks changed, the keys changed, and our house locks changed — a very expensive and painful lesson.

IRIS H. IN SAN DIEGO
DEAR IRIS: Thank you for some valuable advice. Because you took the time and effort to warn others, many may be spared the costly and frightening experience you endured.

DEAR ABBY: I recently got turned down for a credit card because of bad credit. Since I am only 18, just started my job a year ago and still live at home, I had never applied for credit before.

I contacted the credit bureau and was shocked to discover that a string of judgments, bad debt write-offs, etc. are on my report. To make a long story short, my mother, who is a compulsive shopper, had credit cards under my Social Security number.

When I confronted her, she shrugged and said I should use my brother's Social Security number. She had messed up her own Social Security number years ago.

I don't want to use another person's Social Security number. I just want to clean up my own Social Security number and get credit the honest way. But how can I do this without getting Mom in trouble?

SAD CREDIT IN SAN ANTONIO

DEAR "BAD": You have done nothing wrong and defrauded no one, so do not start now by using your brother's Social Security number.

Contact the credit bureau showing that you have a poor credit rating under your Social Security number. These companies have procedures set up to correct their records whenever the wrong person is listed with bad credit. They will advise you what documents will be needed in order to clear your listing on their credit records.

Social Security will not enter the picture unless the mess with the credit bureau can't be straightened out, and even then, it is unlikely that your mother will "get into trouble."

CONFIDENTIAL TO GOLDIE IN PALM DESERT, CALIF.: In the immortal words of Thomas Paine: "What we obtain too cheap, we esteem too little." In other words, Goldie: Don't give away too much, or you'll never be able to sell it.

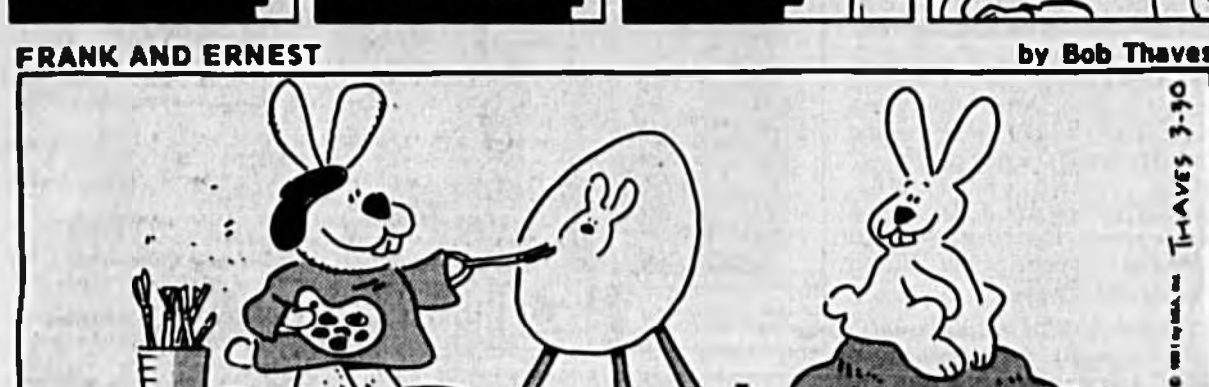

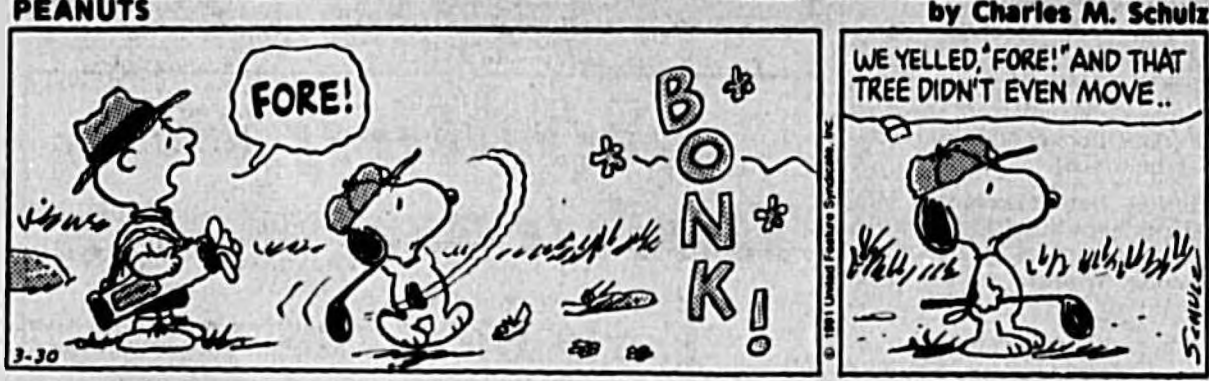

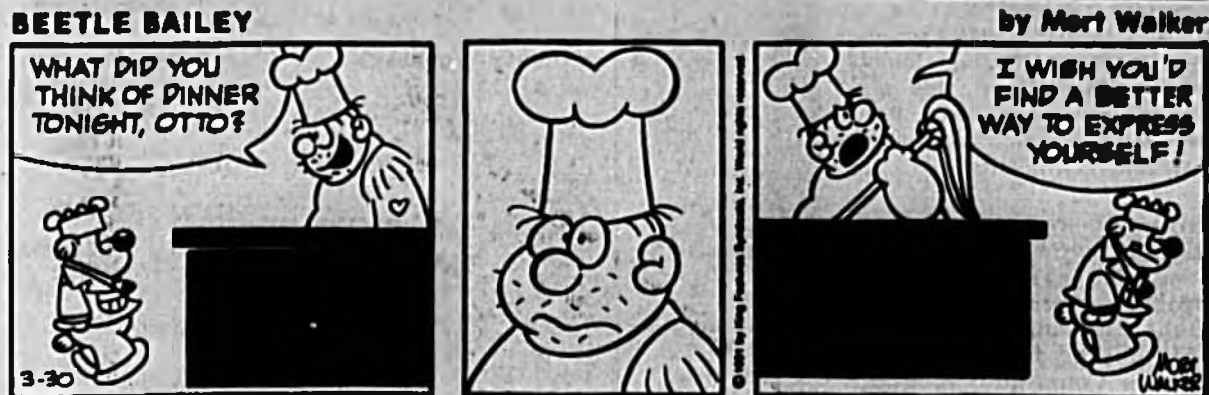

City has free trees available

SANFORD — The Scenic Improvement Board of Sanford is offering free trees to residents within the city limits for a limited time until supplies are exhausted. The Master Gardeners of Seminole County will plant your tree at no cost, but your obligation will be to keep the tree watered and fertilized.

Most of the trees available are flowering crape myrtles; however, some small oaks and other trees will be available. The choice of tree will be at the discretion of the master gardener planting the tree to put the correct tree in the best conditions for optimum health and growth.

Trees will be planted in the road right of way or in the front yard where they will be visible from the street to enhance, beautify and environmentally improve the city of Sanford.

To sign up for a free tree or get further information, call 330-5681 weekdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

By Bernice Bode Osoi YOUR BIRTHDAY
March 31, 1991

Your possibilities for generating income from sources other than your usual ones look rather promising in the year ahead. Look for solid investments or joint ventures that could be profitable.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If at all possible today, try not to make suggestions to friends as to how they should handle their financial affairs. Even well-intentioned advice could be harmful. Aries, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Aries' Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) An opinion which you feel strongly about may not be popular with your companions today. It might prove wise not to try to impose your views on a hostile audience.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you've been feeling sluggish lately, it could be due to your neglect of exercise. The longer you put it off, the more difficult it will be to get back on your program.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Overindulgence financially, physically or where food and drink are concerned is a general inclination you may have to deal with today. Try to be disciplined.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Springing unannounced guests on your spouse could evoke a chilly response today. Your mate might have plans that do not include entertaining a house full of people.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Someone with whom you're closely involved might supply you with information today that cannot be substantiated by facts. Before passing it on to others, get it verified.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This could be one of those days when you're not too adroit at managing your resources. In addition, you might even be less capable of managing the resources of others.

By Bernice Bode Osoi YOUR BIRTHDAY
April 1, 1991

It looks like you'll form an interesting and constructive alliance with an extremely productive individual in the year ahead. Contact might be established for you by a friend who lacks this quality.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A career opportunity that you weren't counting on could suddenly develop for you today. You'll have to move swiftly, because it will be of a fleeting nature.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) People you'll be involved with today could supply you with suggestions and solutions that may be extremely helpful in making a decision you cannot elude.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something you've been wanting to change that is outside your realm of influence can be altered by another who is supportive of your position. This individual may help you today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You may receive essential cooperation from the least likely source today. Therefore, it's important that you acknowledge what transpires in front of others.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You could be luckier today than you may be tomorrow in finalizing a complex financial matter. Don't let time insulate you against probable success.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) An involvement in which you are participating - and one that hasn't been managed up to everyone's expectations - needs an infusion of new leadership today. You're the one who fits the bill.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There are financial opportunities surrounding you today, but they could be hard to discern. In order to capitalize on events, you must be extremely watchful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you're going to be running around today, leave word as to how and where you can be order to impress others today, you'll be doing yourself a disservice. Remember, if someone does not accept you as you are, it's that individual's loss, not yours.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Resist temptations to embellish the facts a bit more than you should today. Instead of making others sit up and take notice, you're more likely to have the opposite effect.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There is a possibility that the larger portion of expenses you incur today will be a result of others. Be prudently watchful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If there is something important you want to achieve today, it might be wise not to wait on others to assist you. A team effort may not be as effective as an individual one.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be careful today about telling little white lies. You may have to fib again later in order to cover your tracks, and your memory may not be up to the assignment.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

For today's hand, you need your analytical skill. Against four hearts, West led the two of diamonds, covered by the queen, three and five. Dummy's heart queen ran to West's ace, and West switched to a club. Declarer won with the ace and led another trump. East won with the king and cashed a top spade, but declarer had the rest. How many errors were made?

While you are thinking, let's run through the auction. South opened a little light, but if a fit is found, a hand with two five-card suits will be worth more tricks than the point-count suggests. North's two-no-trump response was the Jacoby forcing major-suit raise, and the opener's three-spade rebid showed a singleton or void in that suit. With a minimum, North signed off, and South had no reason to go higher.

There were two errors. Even the bartender knew that the lead was a singleton. In this position, East should have given a suit-preference signal, indicating where his entry lay. At trick one he should have dropped the nine of diamonds, not the three. When he played the three, West assumed South had the singleton ace of spades and not the ace of clubs.

The other error was South's. He should have anticipated the diamond ruff. After winning the first trick, he should have played a club back to his ace, overtaken the club queen with dummy's king and led the club 10. When it isn't covered by East, he makes a loser-on-loser play, discarding his spade four. This scissors coup leaves East without an entry, and the contract is safe.

IN BRIEF

Lake Mary prom announced

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary High School Prom will be held on Saturday, April 20, at the Peabody Hotel, 9801 International Dr. in Orlando. The festivities will begin at 7 p.m. and last until midnight.

Local students win writing awards

SANFORD — The following students recently won awards in the secondary school writing awards that were presented by the Seminole County school district.

Three students were chosen at each grade level to receive an award.

The top ninth grade writers were: Laura Andrews from Lake Brantley High School, Tiffany Kotula from Lake Brantley High School and June Gernaey from Lyman High School.

The tenth grade winners were Danny Franklin from Lake Mary High School, Maya Singer from Lyman High School and Maggie Wang from Lake Howell High School.

Eleventh grade winners were: Allison Slater from Lake Mary High School, Eric Shuemaker from Lake Mary High School and K. Leigh Coon from Lake Howell High School.

Winners from the senior class were: Karen Norman from Seminole High School, Tina Bryant from Lake Howell High School and Robert Allen Collins from Lyman High School.

Lake Mary grad excels at UF

Monica Frakes, a 1988 magna cum laude graduate of Lake Mary High School was recently named to the Mortar Board honors group at the University of Florida.

Monica Frakes

Selection to that prestigious group is based on scholarship, school and community service and student leadership.

Frakes was also the recipient of the President's Leadership Award, presented annually by Dr. Lombardi.

Frakes, the 1988 Junior Miss Seminole County is the daughter of Owen and Cindy Frakes of Longwood.

Milwee takes first

LONGWOOD — The Milwee Middle School Mathcounts team placed first overall in the state competition for Mathcounts.

Milwee's team, which is made up of Amy Pickford, Robert Wu, Ben Golinik, Michael Smith and Melanie Fierro.

Pickford and Golinik placed in the top four in the state which will put them on the state team which will compete in the national finals in Washington, D.C.

They will be honored by the governor and the Florida cabinet in ceremonies next month. In addition, they will receive full scholarships to any of Florida's state colleges.

Randy Seaman, a gifted math teacher at Milwee, who coaches the Milwee team was chosen to coach the state team in the national competition.

Phi Beta Lambda to help needy

SANFORD — The Seminole Community College chapter of Phi Beta Lambda (PBL) will be sponsoring a collection drive to gather items for the Mustard Seed shelter of Central Florida.

PBL is collecting food, household items, hygiene products and sewing accessories for the needy who come to the Mustard Seed for help.

The SCC chapter will be collecting items from now through April 17.

For more information, call the PBL chapter at SCC at 323-1450, extension 422.

Locals on Furman Dean's List

Several Seminole County residents are among the students named to the most recent Dean's List at Furman University. To be named to the Dean's List, a student must maintain a grade point average of 3.4 on a four point scale.

Those named to the list were:

William G. Rencher, a junior, the son of William J. and Arlen Rencher of Altamonte Springs.

Dorothy A. Heinzer, a freshman, the daughter of Martin N. and Anne B. Heinzer of Casselberry.

William L. Clark, a sophomore, the son of William C. and Carole E. Clark of Longwood.

Deborah F. Whitehead, a freshman, the daughter of Spencer C. and Janet R. Whitehead of Longwood.

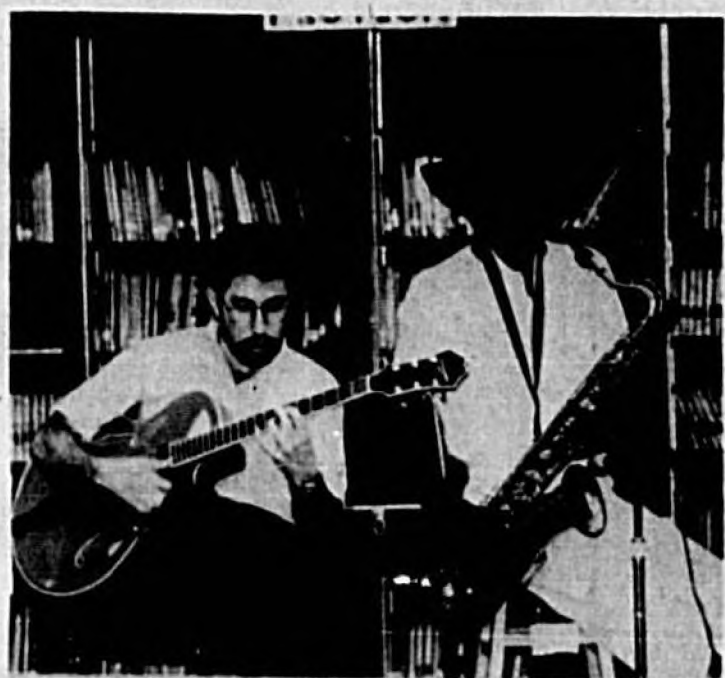

Can collectors

LONGWOOD — Fifth grade students at Sabal Point Elementary School, 960 Wekiva Springs Rd. in Longwood, have been collecting aluminum cans for recycling since the beginning of the school year.

With the money earned from collections, the students plan to purchase a set of encyclopaedias for their pod.

To date, 99,260 cans have been gathered. That is a total of more than 3,500 pounds of cans.

The fundraiser netted nearly $200 for the students who believe they will be able to buy the reference books they desire soon.

Cool Jazz

Rich Zellon, on guitar, is joined by Noble "Thin Man" Watts on saxophone during a recent concert at Idyllwild Elementary School in Sanford. Watts was a surprise guest at the school's jazz day.

High school report

Lake Mary

Allison Slater Junior

LAKE MARY — This week marked the beginning of Spring Break 1991 for Lake Mary High school students and the halls were empty as of Wednesday afternoon. However, there are still many busy days of school left after the students return on April 8.

The National Honor Society will be tapping new inductees in the near future and will hold 1991 induction ceremonies on April 18. Special guest speaker for the evening will be Boyd Karns, Lake Mary's teacher of the year.

The junior class will host the 1991 prom at the Peabody Hotel in Orlando on Saturday, April 20. Guests will be treated to a disc jockey and a dessert table. The theme for the evening is "Magical Moment in Time" and the song will be Billy Joel's "This is the Time."

Two special senior evenings, Grad Night and Project Graduation, are also in the works. Walt Disney World will host Grad Night on Friday, May 10. The all-night party will include performances by singers such as Timmy T and C & C Music Factory. A parent committee is planning Project Graduation, which will be held at Shooter's immediately following graduation ceremonies on June 11. There will be a disc jockey and other forms of entertainment all night long.

Meanwhile, during the crazy Spring Break week, LMHS's chapter of Students Against Driving Drunk are urging students to please be careful and to celebrate in moderation. Says president Regan Nash, "Just take the necessary safety precautions so that you will not have to drive drunk or ride with someone who is drunk. Call a cab, a friend or better yet—don't drink at all."

Seminole

Shannon Latimer Senior

Seminoles welcome Spring Break respite

At Seminole High School this past week, two nights of intensive studying and three days of grueling testing are finally over.

With the third nine week exams completed, students can now sit back and enjoy their Spring Break.

The break began at 2:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 27 after students took their last exam and will end when students go back to class on Monday, April 8.

While some Seminoles will hit the beach, others will spend their time napping off on the couch in front of the television. A few dedicated athletes will spend time preparing for their track meet or their golf match.

"I couldn't go to the beach after school because of my golf match but I plan to go to the beach everyday during spring break," said senior Tom Royal.

It seems that excursions to the beach, shopping adventures at the mall and the trips away from the area were on students' minds when they talked about the break.

Each student had his or her own way of looking forward to relaxing and taking a break from the books and the lessons.

While enjoying their Spring Break, most students at SHS have vowed not to think about school.

However, when they return it will be the only subject in their heads. Those taking advancement placement classes must work harder to prepare for the exams in May. Everyone else will have to continue to work hard to earn credits toward graduation.

The school year is drawing to a close and everyone in the Seminole family is enjoying the time off before heading into the home stretch.

Public school menu

Due to the school district's Spring Break, there will be no breakfasts or lunches served in the school cafeterias until the students and teachers return for classes on April 8.

Look for a full weekly menu in the Sanford Herald next Sunday.

Don't forget spring break

SANFORD — Seminole County schools will be closed for Spring Break during the upcoming week.

Classes will resume on Monday, April 8.

While the schools will not be offering any programs for the students, the district is encouraging youngsters to participate in some of the programs at the local libraries and the extension center in Sanford.

The district is unable to offer programs of their own due to tight budget restraints, though it has not been traditional for the schools to offer activities to students during Spring Break.

Teachers and administrators also have the full week off next week to give them time to prepare for the last weeks of school for the year.

The district offices, while they were closed on Friday, will be open for business as usual this week. They will be open during regular business hours, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
