Iran Approves Commission To Probe Shah's Regime

By United Press International Iranian President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr today officially approved a U.N. commission to investigate the regime of the deposed shah, clearing the way for the panel to fly to Iran.

The approval came in a cablegram to U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, saying the fivemember commission "may (now) come to Tehran." The cable came as members of the commission, most of them distinguished lawyers, were in Geneva, Switzerland, awaiting word from Waldheim before boarding a U.N.-chartered flight to Tehran. In New York, a U.N. spokesman confirmed Waldheim had received the cablegram from Bani-Sadr.

"We need some clarifications," the spokesman said. "but we hope to make the announcement (officially establishing the commission) shortly." The Iranian approval prepared the way for the next crucial step toward the release of the 50 American hostages held at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran for 109 Bani-Sadr told Waldheim the makeup of the commission had been approved by Ayatollah Ruhollah

Khomeini and the Revolutionary Council and the panel "may (now) come to Iran." Kuwait Plans Oil Cut Back

KUWAIT (UPI) - Kuwait will cut back daily oil production 25 percent beginning in April, Kuwaiti Qil Minister Sheikh Ali Khalifa As Sabah said today. Storms Drench Pacific, Produce Flash Floods

United Press International New storms moving inland from the Pacific drenched the West Coast and neighboring states early today, producing flash flooding and worsening the mudslide problem in

A series of violent storms throughout a large part of the West left more than two dozen dead and caused more than $200 million in property damage.

The National Weather Service said heavy storms created flooding in Idaho, where a flash-flood warning was issued for the Portneuf River. Flash-flood watches also were in effect for the Southern California mountains, central and western Arizona and President Carter declared three Arizona counties major disaster areas, as flooding throughout the state killed at least four people and caused upwards of $90 million in Heavy snow warnings were posted for the Colorado Rockies where 6 inches of snow was expected. Northern Californians braced for the next storm, the fifth in a week, racing toward the coast at 45 mph. The cleanup continued today from Tuesday's storm, which caused flooding in many areas, power outages and a tornado in

Gunman Gets Fast Cash — Not Food

By DAVID M. RAZLER

Herald Staff Writer A lone gunman tied up and robbed six employees of the Butler Plaza Burger King restaurant Tuesday morning, escaping with an undetermined amount of cash, deputies say. The thief entered the back door of the closed restaurant at 8:28 a.m. Tuesday and pointed a blue automatic pistol at a group of six employees, deputies report.

The robber managed to tie-up the six well enough to hold them while he gathered money from the store on State Road 436 and escaped in a waiting car, deputies report. None of the employees were injured in the robbery, said Assistant Manager John Anderson, one of the victims.

Pirates Tarnish Thailand Luster

By almost any measure, Thailand has shouldered more than its share of the international responsibility for one million Indochinese refugees who have fled Communist regimes in Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam since

The Thais have granted at least temporary sanctuary to hundreds of thousands of these refugees. They have permitted use of Thai soil for huge refugee camps although the presence of these foreigners strains Bangkok's resources and may yet threaten the country's political stability. Indeed, the sanctuary and aid granted starving Cambodians in recent months may even provoke a Vietnamese invasion of Thailand's eastern

But for all Thailand's laudable conduct, it has tolerated one outrageous practice that offends every civilized norm. Thai pirates, operating with virtual inpunity in the Gulf of Siam, are subjecting thousands of refugees to ordeals of rape, tacky. For example, I miss the hot-pants-and robbery and even murder.

The unarmed refugees in their rickety fishing boats can neither escape nor defend themselves against the heavily armed pirates. The sickening tales told by survivors of these attacks should long ago have moved Thai officials to act. Instead, the Thais say only that they lack the resources to police a 2,000-mile coastline.

While that is undoubtedly true, it is also apparent that Thai police and naval units are not an apparent effort to look like female versions even trying. Nor is there any sign of a serious effort to investigate the countless refugee com-

Whatever the reason for the Thai government's inaction, the consequence is a new plague of suffering on innocents who have already endured a full measure of misery.

The Carter administration could and should use its considerable influence in Bangkok to press for action against the pirates. If even a few of these human vultures paid a price commensurate with their crimes, there would be less incentive for others to extort profit from Southeast Asia's

Let's Rejoin ILO

The United States pulled out of the International Labor Organization two years ago with word that it would consider rejoining if the ILO would mend its ways. The organization has indeed changed, and having accomplished its goal in pulling out, the United States would now do well to get back in. The old ILO had become a puppet of political factions in the United Nations. It was issuing

I began to read them and a few left me perplexed: - My project is a series of paintings, ten to fifteen layers of paint deep, consisting en-tirely of extremely subtle gradations of grey.

- My project is to introduce taxidermy as a sculpture media by using painted plywood construction, dirt, sand, gravel and animals to create different environmental situations. I have in mind several pieces involving templates of the curvature of the Earth, and of monumental man-made structures. Dershimer's Shot Sinks Greyhounds

Herald Sports Writer

Lake Brantley coach Bob Peterson celebrated his birthday Tuesday evening while his Patriots enjoyed their first victory ever over Lyman by nipping the Greyhounds 66-64 in a Five Star Conference match up.

Doug "The Bird Man" Dershimer gathered in a cross court pass from center Tom Moths with four seconds left in the ball game to score an unmolested lay up giving the Patriots their fifth win of the season. Dershimer led all scorers with 24 points.

"It's great to beat Lyman," replied the talented senior guard. We've been waiting four years for this win." Lake Brantley got off to a slow start much to the displeasure of a noisy Patriot gathering. They missed their first nine shots from the floor as the Greyhounds climbed to an early 10-0 lead. The Patriots finally put their first points on the board with 2:25 left in the first period on a basket by senior center Jeff

Lyman held on to an eight point advantage as the first quarter came to a close. "We were a little tight early in the game," said Peterson of his squad's slow start. "But once we got untracked the crowd pumped us up and got us going." Dershimer led the Patriot charge as Lake Brantley sliced the Lyman advantage to 31-29 at intermission.

The lead changed hands 13 times in the second half and was tied another six. Dershimer canned 11 points in the third quarter while Greyhounds Sam Lemon and Jeff Nelson combined for 11.

Former Greyhound John Hoggs, now wearing the Patriot Blue, grabbed an offensive rebound and followed it up for a basket knotting the score at 51-all as the third quarter came to Guards Gary Hays and Andy Luce tallied the first eight points of the final quarter for the Patriots, keeping them close. Junior center Bob Knight took a feed from Luce to give Brantley a 63-60 lead with 1:40 left in the game. Lyman quickly called for a time out, then stormed right back as Kevin Hillman hit a lay up and then Sam Lernon fired in one of his patented long jumpers to give the Grayhounds a shortlived 64-63 lead with 40 seconds left in the ball game. The Patriots came back down the floor and Hays was fouled as he drove to the basket. He hit one of his two free throws to tie the contests at 64-46.

Lyman then missed a shot with nine seconds left on the clock and Brantley quickly moved the ball up the floor for Dershimer's winning lay up. "Lyman played us tough but we didn't back down," said Peterson. "Coach Lawrence did a good job of substituting and staying fresh against us all night. The trio of Nelson, Lemon and Hillman accounted for 12 points each to lead Lyman's efforts. Following Dershimer in the scoring column for the Patriots was senior guard Gary Hays with 17 points. Those two, along with five other seniors participated in their last home game before an appreciative

'We've had good support all year," remarked Peterson "The crowd reacted tonight as if were 21-5 instead of 5-21." "They were our sixth man tonight," added Dershimer about

Juniors Andy Luce and Tom Moths combined 14 more points to the Patriot attack. "Andy came off the bench and did a good job for us said

"I'm glad we finally beat Lyman," replied Luce, who played at Lyman as a freshman. "It makes the season worth while." In the junior varsity contest Jay Poag led the Patriots with 18 points as Lake Brantley knocked off Lyman 71-40.

"Norm Sloan and North Carolina State have been one and the same for a long time," remarked one hardcore Wolfpack fan. "You get into a conversation with anyone, anywhere about North Carolina State, and the name Norm Sloan eventually enters the conversation."

But as the season grinds down, reports mount that the 53year-old survivor of the nation's toughest basketball bat- down the road. tleground will flee "Tobacco Road" to return to the University of Florida where he coached before coming to Raleigh. Many published reports have him going; others have him gone. While Wolfpack backers are stunned by the reports, it is equally difficult for others in the conference to envision ACC basketball losing one of its most colorful, well-known and entrenched figures to a struggling program. The ACC has been to college basketball-what the Big 10 has been to football. It is a league where coaches aspire to go, not leave. UCLA failed to interest North Carolina coach Dean Smith when John Wooden departed. And, not since Frank McGuire left North Carolina for South Carolina in 1961, has an

ACC coach left the conference voluntarily. Sitting in his immaculate office, Sloan calls the offer made to him by Florida "attractive," but refuses to discuss his intentions until after the season is over. He does, however, deny some motives observers have offered for why he would con-

Others speculate Sloan feels he is overshadowed by Smith and North Carolina, the Wolfpack's arch-rival just 30 miles "My personality is such that I don't live in anybody's shadow," he said.

"I don't know why in the world, people like to talk about Smith and my relationship," he added. "That's foolish. I don't have a dislike for Dean Smith. I have great respect for him. I think he's one of the top people in the business." Sloan is a man impossible for fans to react to with indifference and he is aware of the fiery, abrasive image he has with opposing fans that has earned him the nickname "Stormin'

"I think my intensity and involvement in a game out there is misunderstood at times," said Sloan. "I am emotional. I don't think a person is necessarily mad because he's intense. Some people call it a temper. I call it being emotional." Sloan has also had his rocky moments with the press, but is generally respected for saying what's on his mind. "I'm not going to say things to promote to you an image I'm trying to project," Sloan said. "Sometimes I think that may

Heiden Captures 3rd Gold

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (UPI) - Eric Heiden has done his part. Now it's up to his sister, Beth, and figure skater Linda Fratianne to get the United States out of the deep freeze in the gold medal race at the Winter Olympics. Eric Heiden won his third gold medal of the games - the only ones earned by the United States in competition - Tuesday by taking the men's 1,000-meter speed-skating event. The Madison, Wis., student probably will win two more in the 1,500 and 10,000 meter races before the games are over. But unless his sister and Fratianne can get their acts together, that will be the grand total for Uncle Sam's athletes. Entering Tuesday's competition in the men's figure skating it appeared the U.S. had a good shot at a gold medal. But, 2:40.74. Charlie Tickner of Littleton, Colo., - second after Monday's compulsory figures - slipped slightly during his short program and fell to third place. Tickner will probably do well in the final free-skating portion of the program Thursday night but he will have a hard job overhauling Britain's Robin Cousins, who is in second place behind leader Jan Hoffman of East Germany Hoffman is not considered a good free skater. but she has her best chance today in the women's 3,000-meter than any other country.

speed skating race. "It could be my best event," she said. "I just hope I'm not in the first pair again. When you're first, you sort of have to guess what the ice is like."

The weather is expected to rise into the 50s which may make things very difficult for the women skiers who will be competing in the first run of the giant slalom.

"We are very worried about the weather," said Marc

Hodler, president of the International Ski Federation. Fratianne, the world champion from Northridge, Calif., is the favorite to win the gold medal in women's figure skating but she fell twice in the nationals during the short program. She competes in the compulsory figures today, the first phase

Lyle Nelson of McCall, Idaho, was the top U.S. finisher in 19th place, the fourth best individual effort by an American biathlete in the Olympics. The achievement was all the more remarkable because Nelson had spent the last three days in bed with the flu and had not practiced in a week.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Statewide Grand Jury

Looking Into Land Deals

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) - An 18-member statewide grand jury, the fourth in Florida history, was empaneled Wednesday to look into allegations of bribery and kickbacks in state land acquisitions over the past eight years.

The grand jury, which was selected and sworn in by Circuit Judge John Rudd, of Leon County, will investigate the state's environmentally endangered land program as well as the state purchase of park and recreation lands since 1972.

"We'll be ready to start presenting things to them in a month to six weeks," said State Attorney T. Edward Austin, of Jacksonville, who was named legal adviser to the grand jury by Gov. Bob Graham. Although the term of the grand jury is one year,

Austin said it could be extended an additional six months if necessary. He said he expected the investigation to take at least 18 months. The main focus of the investigation will be on the quarter-billion-dollar environmentally endangered lands program, which was administered by the state Department of Natural Resources.

Glenn Marking Anniversary

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) - John Glenn returns to the site of previous glories today as he marks the 18th anniversary of America's first orbital

Glenn, now a U.S. senator from Ohio, is visiting the Cape to dedicate a $3,000 marble monument marking the site where he began that five-hour trip on Feb. 20.

It was 9:47 a.m. when the Atlas rocket unleashed a torrent of flame and shot Glenn like a bullet toward the heavens. He was encapsuled inside a ship - Friendship 7 — about the size of a telephone booth. He was 40-year-old Marine Lt. Col. John Glenn then. and he circled the glove three times at a speed of 17,400 miles as hour, commenting all the while on the many sunrises and sunsets he witnesses.

Sea Search Called Off

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) - The Coast Guard was unable to locate the bodies of four Haitians Tuesday before a six-hour search was called off because of high winds. The missing Haitians were part of a group of refugees whose vessel was swamped in heavy seas Monday about 20 miles east of Port Everglades. The Coast Guard said 12 people and three bodies those of a Latin man, a Haitian woman and baby Haitian girl - were pulled from the shark-infested waters Monday after the crew of a 70-foot sailboat returning from the Bahamas spotted two men struggling in the water and radioed the Coast Guard.

State Challenges Ruling

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Attorney General Jim Smith says a federal judge in Orlando went against rulings of the state and United States Supreme Courts when he threw out the death sentence of convicted killer James DuPree Henry. Smith asked U.S. District Judge John A. Reed Jr. Tuesday to reconsider the Feb. 14 ruling and to hear oral arguments on the motion. He also asked Reed to delay his order giving the state 90 days in which to

"The case is of vital importance to the state of Florida," Smith's brief said, "because it involves the scope of a federal district court's authority to interfere with the carrying out of state law absent prejudicial error of federal contitutional magnitude," Smith said.

Subway Riders Strike Back At Tormentors

NEW YORK (UPI) - City subway riders, long the victims of muggers and others, are fighting back. In three separate incidents Tuesday, passengers helped torment their tormentors. Early in the day, about 40 passengers and a conductor chased a knife-wielding robber until the culprit was tackled. They held him down until the police arrived. In another incident, a chivalrous Bronx boxer "smacked" a teen-ager who was bothering a young woman, then stared him down until police intervened. It turned out the teen-ager had a

And a man who resisted an attempted robbery and wound up on the subway tracks, helped transit police find and nab two youths in the case. In the first incident, passengers at the Times Square station pursued Tony Malcolm, 24, out of a southbound train yelling "stop him, stop him." Transit Officer David Orshowitz said Malcolm of New York City boarded the train about 4:30 a.m., pulled a 7-inch hunting (4) FACE THE MUSIC knife on a man and yelled, "Give me your money."

By the time the train stopped at Times Square, the next station, police and Transit Authority officers were alerted. Malcolm, alarmed by train whistles summoning police, darted out of the car, but was chased by the passengers and the conductor. He was tackled and held down until Orshowitz and Officer Charles Irving handcuffed him.

A little later, boxer Pedro Odiot, 25, was riding a subway, taking his 9-year-old brother to the gym. Pedro "hates to see people being abused" and the sight of a 17-year-old bothering a young woman "acting fresh - with his face right up next to hers" did not make him happy. "I stood up and told him to lay off," Odiot said. "He told me to mind my own business and then my brother noticed he was putting a gun in his pocket."

When the doors opened at another stop, Odiot, who became a professional boxer a year ago, "smacked him" and the youth fell out of the car onto the platform. Before the doors closed again, the teen-ager scrambled aboard. The train started moving and he told Odiot he would

"It will be murder." The removal of the 6-week-old child's life-support equipment was one of many recent actions in several states concerning child abuse and death at the hands of parents. In Monroe, La., a state district judge opens a hearing today to decide if St. Francis Medical Center officials can disconnect a respirator from 9-month-old Kristy Crawford, whose brain was ruled dead shortly after she entered the hospital last week. Her mother, Deborah Crawford, 19, is charged with cruelty to a juvenile - "bouncing the infant repeatedly on a hard surface." Her attorney has filed for a restraining order to stop attempts to have the plug pulled, which could result in a charge of second-degree murder against the mother. Also today in Wichita, Kan., and on Thursday in Fort Collins, Colo., adults appear before judges in preliminary hearings involving the deaths of their children. Kansas authorities argue that on Christmas Eve, Thomas Saad, 25, beat his 3-month-old stepson unconscious. Michael Saad was kept on life-support equipment until last month, when the courts finally ruled the equipment should be removed. Saad has been charged with second-degree murder. The Fort Collins, Colo., court case involves the death of John Hernandez, a 4-month-old boy ordered removed from lifesupport machines last Wednesday when it was ruled his brain

His mother, Rita Hernandez, 19, has been charged. She maintains the boy's injuries were suffered in a fall Feb. 6, but doctors already have testified the child previously suffered two skull fractures, a broken left arm and a broken collarbone - apparently inflicted in beatings.

In another Colorado case, Denver authorities are investigating the death of 8-week-old James Michael Schultz last Friday, 30 minutes after he was removed from a life-support system. Catherine Schultz, who has not been charged, has admitted slapping the child but contends she placed him on a bed and while her back was turned the infant rolled off the bed, hitting his head on a carpeted concrete floor.

In Buffalo, N.Y., last Friday, authorities charged Vivian Walker, 28, with second-degree murder in the death of her 21/2year-old daughter. Examiners found burn marks on the child's buttocks and several bruises. Mrs. Walker is pregnant and has four children - who have now been placed in foster homes.

It's always fun to celebrate a birthday - so this year, why not honor George Washington's big day by serving these delightful "Cherry Logs."

And there's no need to chop down a cherry tree to make them! The rich and creamy mixture is simply a combination of unflavored gelatine, milk, eggs, whipped cream and maraschino cherries conveniently molded in empty Juice cans. Once unmolded, the "logs" are rolled in grated chocolate and garnished with cherries for an honest dessert George would have loved. After tasting this delight, you too will say, "I cannot tell a lie ... it was delicious!"

BY GEORGE! CHERRY LOGS! 1 envelope unflavored gelatine 6 tablespoons sugar 2 eggs, separated 1 cup milk

½ cup maraschino cherry juice l teaspoon vanilla extract 1 cup (1/2 pt.) whipping or heavy cream, whipped Grated sweet cooking chocolate

In medium saucepan, mix unflavored gelatine with ? tablespoons sugar; blend in egg yolks beaten with milk and juice. Let stand 1 minute. Stir over low heat until gelatine is completely dissolved, about 5 minutes; stir in vanilla. Pour into large bowl and chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon.

In medium bowl, beat egg whites until soft peaks form; gradually add remaining sugar and beat until stiff. Fold egg whites, then whipped cream and cherries into gelatine mix-ture. Turn into 8 (6 oz.) juice cans and chill until firm. Unmold by dipping in warm water and loosening sides with sharp knife. Roll in chocolate; garnish, if desired, with additional cherries. Makes 8 servings.

Little Nip May Be Good For Heart

By GAYNOR MADDOX Special To The Herald Worried about a heart attack? You might try sipping a little alcohol before dinner. Such relaxing news comes from Harvard Medical School researchers, who report that moderate drinkers - those who consume two beers, cocktails or glasses of wine each day are less likely to die of heart attack than teetotalers. Why this appears to be so is only speculation so far, but we interviewed heart patients of two New York specialists who recommend two drinks a day. One of these men will be 86 in June. He has been in the hospital three times with severe attacks of angina. Now he has a pacemaker. He lives at home with his wife and does some paid work each week for his old company. He avoids adding salt and sugar at the table. Instead, he uses pepper and lemon juice for seasoning. He often has his meals on a tray in front of the television; now and then he dines out. These are representative of dinners prepared by his wife:

DINNER ONE Unsalted crackers and cheese Thin slices of panbroiled steak Frozen deep yellow mashed squash Crusty rolls Sweet butter Canned pears, cookies Iced coffee DINNER TWO White wine (two glasses)

> Scrambled eggs with chives Buttered broccoli Unbuttered toast (two slices)

Half grapefruit Iced coffee DINNER THREE White wine (two glasses Broiled veal chop Herbed rice

Pumpernickel roll Lemon sherbet with fresh strawberries Hot coffee

Another person interested in good food is an 83-year-old grandmother who lives with her daughter and son-in-law. She eats with the family, taking no salt or sugar. She watches her calories as she doesn't want to put on weight. This woman is a long-time heart patient. She only recently recovered from a broken hip.

The Corner

Saltue the tender greening of spring with menus light and easy as the season. Chicken is a year 'round favorite. But it's so adaptable that new and sprightly flavors make it brighten spring menus. Versatile, easy to serve, economical in calories as well as at the check out counter, chicken is rich in good food values as well as compatible with other foods. From the early days of our country when baked chicken was served for every Sunday dinner, right up to today when exotic international seasonings bring far away worlds ever closer, we all enjoy chicken. Always compatible and available, canned cling peaches add special color and texture to Ginger Walnut Chicken. Grown to hold their shape and color even when cooked or baked, golden and help to balance everyday or party menus. Colorful canned fruit cocktail offers a versatile fruit combination all year 'round and brings color, texture and flavor to the individual aspic salads. What's more sparkling on a table anytime than year 'round favorite iced tea? With the clean, fresh taste that is so at home in any situation, iced tea has become an all-season drink. It, too, is lower in calories and cost. Three methods for preparing iced tea follow. Just fill up the pitcher and enjoy this sprightly beverage throughout your meals.

cling peach halves add nutrition as well as glamour to meals

To lighten spring menus but preserve appetite appeal as well as good nutrition, serve long time favorite foods and greet the new season easily, breezily.

GINGER WALNUT CHICKEN 1 whole broiler-fryer chicken 1 can (16 ounce) cling peach halves 12 teaspoon soy sauce 3 tablespoons lemon juice, divided 1 tablespoon grated onion 1 teaspoon salt 2 teaspoons ground ginger, divided 1 teaspoon paprika

1 tablespoon cornstarch 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind one-third cup walnut halves In shallow baking dish, place chicken breast side up. Drain peaches, saving syrup. Set peaches aside. In small bowl, mix logether 3 tablespoons peach syrup, soy sauce, 1 tablespoon lemon Juice and grated onion. Pour over chicken. Mix together salt, I teaspoon ginger and paprika. Sprinkle over chicken. Cover with foil and bake in 400 degree F, oven 40 minutes. Remove from oven. Combine remaining peach syrup with a tablespoons lemon juice, remaining ground ginger, cornstarch and grated lemon rind. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until thick and clear. Arrange peaches around chicken in baking pan. Place walnut halves in center of each peach. Pour thickened glaze over chicken and peaches.

twisted. Makes 4 generous servings. RICH AND SPICY CHICKEN AND PEACHES 1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in parts 2 tablespoons margarine

Sprinkle with remaining walnuts. Return to oven uncovered, baking 20 minutes or until leg moves freely when lifted or

1 cup chopped onion two-thirds cup chopped green pepper 1 clove garlic, minced 1 can (29 ounce) sliced cling peaches 1 can (16 ounce) tomatoes, including liquid 14 cup vinegar 2 tablespoons prepared mustard 2 tablespoons steak sauce 2 teaspoons salt, divided

In shallow baking dish, place chicken parts. Broil, uncovered, 4-6 inches from heat, for about 20 minutes or until light brown. While chicken is browning, melt margarine in large fry pan over medium heat. Add onion, green pepper and garlic and saute about 5 minutes or until onion is clear. Remove 10 slices of peaches and reserve until later. Measure remaining peach slices and add syrup to make 2 cups. Pour peaches, syrup and tomatoes into blender and blend for 30 seconds. Stir into vegetables in fry pan; add vinegar, mustard, steak sauce and 1 teaspoon salt. Simmer, uncovered, for 20-30 minutes, reducing sauce to half the original amount (it will be very thick). Remove chicken from oven; sprinkle with remaining salt and pepper and cover with sauce. Bake in 325 degree F. oven for 20 minutes or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Remove from oven and arrange slices of peaches around chicken. Broil 5 minutes, watching carefully to prevent over-browning. Makes 4 generous servings. FRUIT-JEWELED ASPIC SALADS 1 can (17 ounce) fruit cocktail 1 envelope unflavored gelatin 1 package (3 ounce) strawberry flavored gelatin 1 can (16 ounce) stewed tomatoes 12 cup chopped celery tablespoons chopped green pepper 3 drops Tabasco sauce

Dressing: 1 cup sour cream 1 tablespoon honey 1 tablespoon lemon juice 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind

Drain fruit cocktail, saving syrup. Soften unflavored gelatin in 14 cup saved syrup. Heat remaining syrup to boiling, combine with strawberry gelatin in large bowl. Add softened unflavored gelatin stirring until all gelatin is completely dissolved. Add tomatoes and juice, celery, green pepper and Tabasco sauce. Fold all but 1/2 cup fruit cocktail into gelatin mixture. Pour into individual 1 cup molds or into 5-cup mold. Refrigerate until firm (at least 2 hours). Combine ingredients for dressing. Unmold salad onto bed of lettuce. Garnish molds with remaining fruit cocktail. Pass honey-sour cream tressing. Makes 4-6 servings.

PEACH SOUFFLE 1 can (16 ounce) cling peach slices 2 tablespoons kirsch 2 tablespoons cointreau 14 teaspoon salt 3 tablespoons sugar 3 egg yolks 4 egg whites 4 teaspoon cinnamon

Drain peaches. Puree peaches in blender or force through sieve. Sprinkle pureed peaches with kirsch, cointreau, salt and sugar. Place in saucepan and heat to scalding. Remove from heat and cool to lukewarm. Beat in egg yolks. Beat egg whites with cinnamon until stiff. Fold peach-egg mixture into egg white. Turn batter into buttered 11/2 quart souffle dish. Bake in 425-degrees F. (hot) oven for 20 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

being fit. The other part of the way is eating right. A beginning exercise program shouldn't be full of pains and strains. Nor should a good eating program consist of selfdenials and unappetizing meals. What it should include is a good mix of a variety of foods providing the nutrients needed by the body, with the number of calories consumed no more than the number of calories expended. Nutritionists say that Americans consume too many calories, eat too much salt and too much fat, especially

If you're exercising on a regular basis, you're on the way to saturated fat. To alter these eating patterns they recommend

-Eat more fruits, vegetables and whole grains. -Eat less fatty meats and more poultry and fish. -Cut down on sugar and foods high in sugar content. —Use less salt and eat fewer foods high in salt content. -Substitute skim milk for whole milk. Eat fewer egg yolks and other high cholesterol foods.

-Eat less fat and partially substitute polyunsaturated fat

For a practical food guide that follows the recommendations given here, see the good groups in "Shaping-Up for the Long Run" (available from Dept. SU-FC, Box 307, Coventry, CT 06238). And to start you on the way to completely the Fitness Connection, here are a few basic recipes that are low in saturated fat and cholesterol, moderate in calories and salt. The Good Old Days

With the price of gasoline soaring towards $1.25 per-gallon and Detroit having trouble unloading their gas guzzlers, it is difficult sometimes to remember the days when cars were big and gas was cheap. When this Colonial station located on French Avenue at 15th Street closed last year, a gallon of gas was selling for 59.9 cents. With prices expected to rise further, one might as well relax and enjoy it because these are the good old days we will remember
