

Grammar School Enrolls 282 For 1939-1940 Term

A total of 282 pupils enrolled in the fifth and sixth grades of the Sanford Grammar School Monday morning. This was six less students than the opening enrollment of last year.

J. B. Root and Prof. T. W. Lawton were the opening speakers.

Two new teachers were employed at the Sanford Grammar School this year to replace Miss Carolyn Collier, resigned and Miss Kathryn Lawton, transferred to the Junior High School. They are Miss Adelaide Richter of Sanford, a graduate from the Florida State College for Women, and Miss Dorothy Parkin, a graduate of Teachers College of Connecticut at New Britain.

Miss Parkin is also a Sanford girl.

The other teachers are as follows: Mrs. Blanche McKinnon, Mrs. Francis Silve, Miss Ruby Peters, Mrs. Sybil South, Mrs. Irma Flynn, Miss Lillian Thornberry, Mrs. Quinton Brown, and Mrs. Gertrude Page.

Mrs. Blanche McKinnon attended the Appalachian Teachers College at Boone, North Carolina where she did special work in remedial reading for the fifth grade this summer. R. E. Aippy, principal of the school, attended the University of Florida summer school where he took special work in Public School Administration leading to a Master's Degree in Education.

Year's Goals Are Set For Primary School Students

Miss Kathryn Thigpen, one of the first grade teachers is the only new member of the South Side Primary School faculty.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mason spent a very pleasant two weeks visiting the World's Fair in New York; also points of interest in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Minnie Jacobs is very happy to be back with the First Grade teachers again.

Miss Zillah Welsh attended both sessions of summer school at the University of Florida, under the able direction of a trip to northern Michigan.

The Second Grade is working hard on learning to be "Good Citizens."—We are getting acquainted and learning new things each day.

Miss Mary Robinson attended the summer session at Southern College. Miss Swain spent the summer in Michigan and Mrs. Mitchell went to the World's Fair.

The enrollment of the Third Grade classes at Southside school shows an increase over that of the year 1938-'39. We are happy to have Miss Emma Owens as one of the teachers, after a year's absence. During the year we plan to carry out the program for physical education which was begun last year under the able direction of Mr. McCracken. Under Social Studies, the main unit of work for the year will be "Know Your Community," through which we hope to train the children for better citizenship.

The Fourth Grades at South Side have planned a year of varied activities. We have four classes with a large enrollment. Many pupils have entered from other states or schools in Florida. We have outlined a new program in Art and Music which we think will prove very worthwhile and interesting. World Friendship and Peace will be the objective goal of our Social Studies.

Members of Seminole High School Faculty Return From Vacations

The summer vacation is over, the faculty members of Seminole High School have returned from their extensive traveling to take their places once more. However, there are several former teachers who have accepted positions elsewhere and will not teach in Seminole High School this year. They are: Miss Helen Wellman, who is teaching in Winter Park, Miss Marjorie Tills, now working in the business office of the University of Florida in Gainesville, Miss Margaret Long, former librarian, has a position in Birmingham, Ala. and H. H. Martin.

The present members of the faculty and the interesting places which they visited—during the summer are as follows: Professor G. E. McKay spent first part of the summer working in his office and attending Stetson University where he received his master's degree. Mr. and Mrs. McKay spent several weeks in Hendersonville, N. C. the latter part of the summer.

A most interesting trip on the Monarch of Nassau, through the Bahama Islands was enjoyed by Mrs. Stone. She experienced a pilgrimage to San Salvador in the land locked harbor which Columbus entered centuries ago, and on to the Chicago Tribune Monument, a world sphere, erected to the discovery of America. The remainder of her summer was spent in Chicago and at F. R. G. W.

Miss Takach vacationed in New Jersey and New York.

Home Mechanics To Be Vocational Specialty

Home mechanics will be the principal instruction in the Agricultural Department this year, according to instructor Alex E. Johnson. The department has purchased new wood working machinery. They are equipped with a jointer, bench saw, band saw, mitre saw, and power grinder as well as hand tools for instruction and wood working, pipe fitting, forge work and sheet metal work.

With the new equipment they are enabled to repair light machinery as well as simple electrical appliances.

The maximum number of students will be 48 due to the equipment and limits of instruction in shop work. At this time, 40 students are registered.

597 Students Begin Classes At High School

R-Ring! That's Ye Olde Bell ringing the veterans of the grand and summing up the newcomers to pick up their studies where they left off.

Ready to begin anew after three months vacation, one hundred fifty-one Seniors pour into the halls to fill the places of ninety-nine of the preceding class. Much is to be expected of this—the largest class ever to rule underclassmen.

One hundred thirty-one Juniors are patiently awaiting their turn to occupy the "Dignified Seniors' place. They are "rarin' to go" to make a good name for themselves. The incoming Juniors, who now hold the distinction of being "Sophisticated-Sophs," have plunged deep into the midst of their books already.

Despite the fact that there are one hundred fifty-one Sophomores they have to watch their step for fear of running over a Freshman as there are one hundred ninety-eight Rats rushing around everywhere.

Amid the confusion of opening lockers, getting the right books, and being at class on time, five hundred ninety-seven students, the largest number yet to attend S. H. S. are looking forward to thrills, anxiety and fun of the new school year.

Judge Declines To Halt Tax Collection

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 15 (AP)—Circuit Judge J. B. Nelson declined to enjoin collection of the state's 7-cent-a-gallon on distillates used as a motor fuel for gasoline in operating motor vehicles on public highways.

The 1939 legislature voted the tax, which Governor Cone recommended.

Persons seeking an injunction contended the 1931 motor carrier law provided for common carrier trucks paying a mileage tax to be exempted from gallonage taxes on fuel.

Lindbergh Warns Stalemate Seems War Will Intermit Likely In Battle U. S. Democracy On Western Front

Famous Flier Says American Safety Is In Internal Strength Concerted Offensive On Fortified Lines Would Be Costly

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh warned the nation last night that it might lose several million men if it entered the European war and that such action would imperil American democracy.

"If we enter the quarrels of Europe during war, we must stay in them in time of peace," he cautioned. "We must keep out of European wars entirely or stay in European affairs permanently."

Declaring that America's safety was not in fighting European wars, but in the character of our people and of American institutions, Lindbergh said:

"If we enter fighting for democracy abroad, we may end by losing it at home."

It was the first formal address made by Lindbergh since Aug. 28, 1931, when he spoke before an assembly of Japanese and other nations in Tokyo.

He maintained strict secrecy about his broadcast. He ordered studio officials not to disclose the point outside of the studios, from which he spoke.

The noted aviator pleaded with his listeners not to be deluded by expert propaganda at home or from abroad which might excite new conflicts.

He explained that the recurring wars in Europe were not wars in which our civilization was defending itself against some Asiatic intruder.

"This is simply one more of those old quarrels within quarrel arising from the errors of the last war—from the failure of the victors of that war to follow a consistent policy either of fairness or of force," he said.

Lindbergh took no stand for or against the Administration's agitation for repeal of the mandatory embargo provisions of the neutrality law.

Mr. Morrison said he had made arrangements to get a telegraphic account of the game to be in Albany and present it for the benefit of theatre patrons.

No Work Is Done Yet On Road No. 44

Road Department Has Not Requested Bids; Geneva Right-Of-Way Deeds Not In

Following several joint meetings of citizens of Seminole and Brevard counties last Fall, many promises were made in regard to an early beginning of work on State Road No. 44 from Mims to the Seminole County line, but as yet none of these promises has materialized.

A joint delegation appearing before the State Road Department at its budget meeting last December was successful in efforts to obtain an appropriation for the hard-surfacing of this highway in the Road Department budget for the current fiscal year.

However, in reply to a query, the State Road Department advised The Sanford Herald yesterday that while bids have not been requested yet for the paving of State Road No. 44 in Brevard county to the Seminole County line.

Officials of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, applying to the Road Department in several instances for the beginning of work on this project but as yet to no avail.

The Chamber of Commerce also expects to request the State Road Department to continue the work on the Seminole County side of the line at the budget meeting of the Road Department in December.

However, Chamber officials pointed out that they will be unable to make this request unless the Board of County Commissioners has secured the necessary right-of-way deeds for the route which was surveyed through Geneva in January, 1937.

The proposed improvement in the connecting link between the county seats of the two counties on the Seminole County side of the line, would include the widening and straightening of the present nine-foot roadway to the St. Johns River Bridge just east of Sanford.

County Attorney E. F. Houder said today that he requested this week that the right-of-way engineer of the State Road Department check the records to see what portions of the right-of-way on the Seminole County side of the line the Road Board does not have at present.

He also requested the department to make a survey of the highway from the Seminole County bridge to Sanford, with a view to the possible re-location of the highway's entrance into the city since it would be impractical, the County Attorney pointed out, to obtain the required 100-foot right-of-way along the present route through the farming section immediately west of Sanford.

A project was completed several months ago for the hard-surfacing of several miles of this thoroughfare west of Mims. This improvement was said to have been made under a State Road Department appropriation in the 1938 budget.

Two Convicts Pry Open Bars To Make Escape

The negro convicts, Harry Garner and T. E. Hildwell, escaped from the County Convict camp yesterday morning after prying apart the bars in their cell, Sheriff C. M. Hand reported today.

Garner had finished a six-month term in the County Convict Camp and was waiting to be returned to the jail in Sanford where he would have been turned over to Lake County authorities who held a warrant for his arrest.

The other negro was from North Carolina and had just been released from a six-month term. The negroes escaped from their locked cell while the guards and several "trusties" were butchering near the stockade.

Two bloodhounds were placed on the trail of the fleeing convicts but the dogs were returned to the camp after an unsuccessful chase of several hours.

The Sheriff's Office had no clues, as to the whereabouts of the two today.

Long Aides Draw 2 1/2 Year Terms In Louisiana Scandal

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Dr. James Monroe Smith, ousted president of Louisiana State University, and Seymour Weiss, hotel magnate, both of whom played big hands in Huey Long's political games, stood up in court yesterday and got a sentence of two and a half years each in federal prison.

Convicted with three others on mail fraud charges, they were saved from a quick transfer to prison by appeal bonds.

With a stern admonition that he was "not going to give you any substitute for the verdict of 12 jurors who found you guilty," Federal Judge Borah, passed sentence, and then allowed appeals.

Smith, Weiss and the others had no comment. But all were nervous. The jury's verdict Thursday left them gasping.

The sentences, as pronounced slowly by the court, were: Weiss, Long's right-hand man; Monte E. Hart, prosperous electrical and building contractor, and Dr. Smith, 46-times indicted Louisiana State University, to pay fines of $2000 each and serve two and one-half years in prison.

Louis C. Lesage, former contact man for Standard Oil Company of Louisiana, and J. Emory Adams, Dr. Smith's "country boy" nephew, to pay fines of $1000 each and serve a year-and-a-day in prison.

British Hold Liner Bremen, Nazi Intimates

German Ambassador To Russia Says U.S. Held Up Ship To Assist Britain

$20,000,000 Ship Still Unreported Churchill Should Know Location Of Vessel, Schulenburg Says

MOSCOW, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The German ambassador to Soviet Russia, Count Friedrich Von der Schulenburg, today intimated that the $20,000,000 German liner Bremen, mysteriously unreported since it sailed from New York on Aug. 29, had been captured by Great Britain.

"I should think the joint efforts of the two powerful empires—the United States and the British—should have been able to trap and take an unarmed German ship. So I think it would be more proper to ask Winston Churchill where the Bremen is," said the ambassador.

American authorities were so kind to hold up the Bremen for 22 hours and so far as I know the British have rather fast destroyers," the German diplomat said in response to queries about the report the Bremen had reached Murmansk, a Soviet Arctic port.

"I should think the joint efforts of the two powerful empires—the United States and the British—should have been able to trap and take an unarmed German ship. So I think it would be more proper to ask Winston Churchill where the Bremen is," said the ambassador.

Soviet Interested In White Russians, Nazi Press Says

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Soviet Russia is commencing itself with the fate of 11,000,000 White Russians and Ukrainians in the areas of east Poland that belonged to czarist Russia before the World War, the official German news agency, D. N. R., said yesterday.

The statement gave approval to a rather cryptic editorial in the official "Communist" party newspaper, Pravda, in Moscow assailing Poland's "exploitation" of the White Russian and Ukrainian minorities.

Nazi government officials insisted, however, that there was no confirmation to be had for reports that Germany was negotiating with Russia on the question of the White Russian and Ukrainian minorities.

The statement was made in reference to unconfirmed reports that Germany and Russia had agreed to creation of a buffer Polish state after the Nazi military operations there were completed and that the White Russian and Ukrainian minorities might eventually be restored to Russia.

The D. N. R. statement referring to Pravda's editorial and the reported mobilization of at least 1,000,000 Red army troops along the Russian western boundary from Finland to Rumania said:

"This clarifies the background of the Red army's mobilization on the western frontier. . . . Foreigners who refused to believe that Soviet Russia would enter herself with the fate of the Ukrainians and White Russians in Poland again were bitterly mistaken."

In connection with the mystery surrounding Soviet Russia's intentions—some extremist Nazis were predicting imminent Soviet military action against the Poles—the question of how close to Russia the new German eastern frontier would be placed continued to be the subject of speculation.

UNLOADING HAY

(From Wales)

Unloading hay, a tumbling heavy summer task,
Thrusting the pitchfork down in the dried-up piled-up ungreened grass—
This inexperienced and soft hand of mine will harden
So I hope, in lifting each loose load with each light grunt
I take upon this polished pole.
The hay is not
So light and cloudy as perhaps it looks from the hill,
Its content is both rough and hard. Dead thistles
That preserve their bite, hard hay, hoar bits of hedges even.
Heaven can be so soft and easy to load, but surely
Fall of the country air, hard work, and other country customs.
And is not the quivering tawny skin nerves no muscle
Rush fear, and never ending from a little counterpart of Hell?

The Unquenchable Thirst Of A Dictator

Col. Charles Lindbergh has evidently taken his stand along with Senator Borah and other isolationists who believe that it is no concern of ours who wins the present war in Europe and that regardless of its outcome the United States can remain at peace with the rest of the world if we mind our own business and content ourselves with our natural frontiers of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

In stating his position Col. Lindbergh is merely reiterating the attitude of his own father who as a representative from Minnesota was one of the few congressmen who voted against American entrance into the last war. In that war, Col. Lindbergh admits, "We measured our dead in thousands. Europe measured hers in millions." How would we have measured ours, we wonder, if we had not entered the war when we did, and if we had later been compelled to fight Germany alone and unaided, after the Allies had lost the war?

No one questions the horrors of war as Col. Lindbergh describes them. No one doubts its terrible effects upon future generations. No one will disagree with his statement that "America has little to gain from taking part in another European war," but for that matter what have France and England to gain? They are not fighting this war to gain something. They are fighting it because it was forced upon them by a power-mad, military-minded dictator.

How can we be sure that it will not ultimately be forced upon us if this same war lord triumphs in his present struggle? The French and English were slow enough to action. If they had acted when Hitler seized Austria, they could have stopped him without the loss of a man. If they had attacked when he invaded Czechoslovakia, they could have defeated him with very little difficulty. But they waited, trusting that he would be satisfied with each new conquest, hoping that their own security would not be involved.

Even Col. Lindbergh says that "we should never enter a war unless it is absolutely essential to the future welfare of our nation." At just what point can we be sure that a war is essential to the future welfare of our nation? Was it when Hitler rearmend the Rhineland? Was it when he attacked Poland? Will it be when he launches the full fury of his war machine against the British and French? Or must we wait until he actually lands troops upon our own shores before we recognize the dangers which lie for us in his kind of mentality and the power which he possesses?

Col. Lindbergh says that this war is just like every other war arising out of the hatred, persecutions and intrigues of Europe. There has been no hatred, persecution or intrigue on the Allied side, as far as we have been able to observe. Such persecution, hatred or intrigue as there has been has been generated from Germany. Col. Lindbergh says there is no Genghis Kahn or Xerxes marching against our western nations. But he must admit there is a Genghis Kahn or Xerxes marching against Poland, and the march against England and France is merely a question of time.

"Munitions alone," says Col. Lindbergh, in his only direct reference to President Roosevelt's proposed change in the Neutrality Act, "will not be enough. We cannot count on victory merely by shipping abroad several thousand airplanes and cannon. We are likely to lose a million men." Whether the Allies can win merely with the aid of our airplanes, or whether it would take American soldiers to insure victory for them is of course a moot question, and one on which we doubt if even the greatest military experts agree. But it is certain, the Allies would have a better chance of winning with our airplanes than without them.

And if they do not win, then surely we would lose a million men, if Hitler still remained unsatisfied and had further territorial demands to make. How can we be sure that the sacrifice of England and France, any more than the sacrifice of Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, and now Poland, will satisfy him?

The Fight On Tuberculosis

"The untiring campaign waged for many years in the United States against tuberculosis has won such success, especially among the white population, that up to age 25, white persons are now on the average only half as likely to die from the disease as they were 20 years ago," says the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. "The chance of their succumbing to tuberculosis is only about one in 30 while barely two decades ago the proportion was approximately one in fifteen."

Pointing out that women are less likely than men to die from tuberculosis, it is explained that among newly born white male babies "the chances of an eventual death from this cause are 85 in 1,000, while for the females they are only 25 in 1,000."

However, for each sex, the chances increase slightly as the child grows older, the Metropolitan says, and reach a maximum of 87 in 1,000 at about age 15 for boys, and 26 in 1,000 at about age 10 for girls. An evidence that tuberculosis does not lose its importance as a cause of death in middle age, as is commonly believed, it is declared that at age of 50 the chances of white males and white females eventually dying from this cause are 28 and 13 per 1,000 respectively.

"In the battle against tuberculosis the records are all gratifying," the company says. "But the fact still remains that tuberculosis still ranks high as a cause of death. Against this, we have a fund of experience and skill in the prevention and treatment of the disease which is greater than we ever had before. By making more effective use of these weapons, the advances in the future fight against tuberculosis should be even more rapid than those of the past."

Department of The Interior
When the General Land Office was established as a division of the Treasury Department in 1812, and was charged with the sale of public lands for homesteads, much antagonism arose in the public land states and territories. This was due to the policy of the Treasury Department, which was to increase revenue rather than speed settlement of the lands. As a consequence of this western pressure, during the administration of President Polk a Department of the Interior was established as an executive department of the Federal Government. Thomas S. Swin of Ohio was made the Secretary of the Interior in 1849.

Essentially this department supervises the public business relating to the promotion of the domestic welfare. It oversees the surveying and mapping of the country through its Geological Survey. It takes care of the improvement of the national parks through its National Park Service. It supervises the irrigation and drainage of land requiring reclamation through its Bureau of Reclamation, which also involves the construction and operation of dams and the disposal of power developed from them.

The General Land Office, which was the original reason for the formation of the department, has to do with all of the details concerning the survey and disposal of the public domain, and its work is interrelated with the work of several of the other bureaus in the department.

Mining safety is promoted by its Bureau of Mines, while the remaining Indians of the United States are taken care of by the Bureau of Indian Affairs. Its Division of Territories and Insular Possessions supervises Alaska, the Hawaiian Islands, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

The Office of Education, which handles all matters relating to education including a large radio section, was formerly in the Interior Department but was transferred to the Federal Security Agency by Executive order of the President under the Reorganization Act of 1939.

The present Secretary of the Interior, Harold I. Ickes, in addition to the powers outlined above, served until May of this year as Administrator of the Federal Emergency Public Works Program (F.P.W.A.) which disbursed over a billion dollars in six years. F.P.W.A. is now under the Federal Works Agency, being transferred by executive order of the President under the Reorganization Act of 1939.

Congress appropriated 125 million dollars for the use of the department this year, and its expenditures is handled by the 50,000 employees of the department.

Chalking 'em Up

CHARLIE CHALKER

It was just luck. After predicting victory for Lou Galento and usually accepting as a fact that the Lookouts had already won the Florida series, we now have to predict victory for the German. That ought to do the trick. Those Nazis haven't got a chance now. Just let us pick a winner and the first thing he does is to lose. If Hitler won our war and lost record on paper, he would be a laughing stock. But that, we're not unduly pessimistic. We don't see the German who happens to be the Lookout last night. He's not the German. He's not the German. He's not the German.

Sanford Theater News for the Coming Week

Hedy Lamarr Is Featured With Robert Taylor

The widely-awaited appearance of Robert Taylor and the sensational Hedy Lamarr in "Lady of the Tropics," a languorous drama of smoldering passions laid against an exotic background of Indo-China, occurs Sunday and Monday at the Ritz Theatre in what is heralded as the most fascinating romance of the year.

A dramatic tale of an adventurous American and a beautiful half-caste of the Orient, the picture surrounds Taylor and Miss Lamarr with lavish setting reminiscent of the mysticism and splendor of the Far East in a story written especially for the stars by Ben Hecht.

ROBERT TAYLOR and Hedy Lamarr in "Lady of the Tropics" provide the feature attraction next Sunday and Monday at the Ritz Theatre.

Three years in preparation, "Lady of the Tropics" brings to the screen for the first time a panorama of background scenes of little-known places of Indo-China and Cambodia which were filmed by a photographic expedition exclusively for the picture.

The love story has its beginning in the harbor of Saigon, with its teeming Oriental traffic of ocean liners off-shore, quaint native craft at the docks, natives babbling in the colorful, narrow market places and caparisoned elephants and oxen lumbering through the streets.

A riverfront a quarter of mile in length was dredged from California soil, landings were built, native huts were erected on piles and a large section of the famed and ancient Angkor Wat Temple was recreated for a climactic love scene between Taylor and Miss Lamarr.

Taylor, as Bill Carey, arrives in Saigon and falls in love with Hedy, the Eurasian portrayed by Miss Lamarr. A half-caste, she is bound to Indo-China by racial distinctions. Vowing to escape through the influence of Delavert, a rich and powerful administrator, she has planned to marry a native prince when she is discovered by Taylor, whom she marries instead. Although married to an American, Hedy is persecuted from fleeing from Indo-China. To release her husband, whom she loves devotedly, she marries the man who has thwarted her happiness, then ends her own life.

"Four Feathers" Features Great Drama Of Sudan

Brunette-tressed June Dupres, Alexander Korda's two-time old discovery, is co-starring with Ralph Richardson and C. Aubrey Smith in the producer's great Technicolor adventure drama of the Sudan, "Four Feathers," which is scheduled for a two day engagement at the Ritz Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. Heading the cast which supports the trio of stars are C. Aubrey Smith, Jack Allen, Donald Gray, Clive Barker and Henry Oscar.

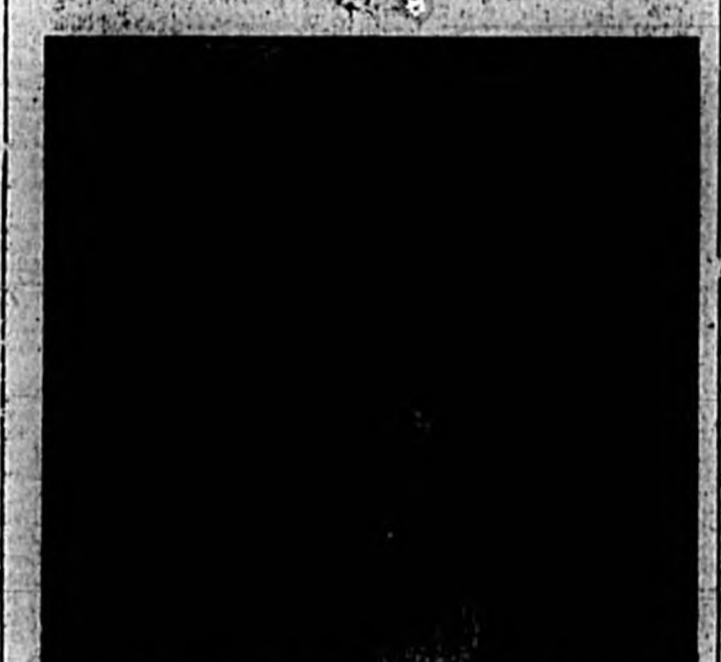

Zoltan Korda directed "Four Feathers" from the screen adaptation by R. C. Sheriff, noted playwright.

The film was photographed in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, where the Korda brothers established an enormous location camp at Bahaloka Gorge, forty miles from Khartoum in the Sudan.

One hundred and forty packing cases were sent from Denham to the location camp in Egypt, in addition to thirty-three cases of Technicolor camera equipment, fifty-six cases of "props," twenty-five cases of wardrobe costumes, seven cases of make-up equipment and twenty-six cases of general stores. Among the odds and ends included were five pairs of scissors, one English-Italian dictionary, two bundles of orange sticks, tubes of acetone, visiting cards, needles and loose feathers and hair nets. One mysterious item from the property department was twelve pawn tickets. Also shipped along was a complete cricket set, a portable victrola and Arab-lined grease paint.

The story of "Four Feathers" treats of a young man who because of fear and cowardice deserts his regiment on the night of its departure for Egypt to join Kitchener's Army and later redeems himself by completing an extremely dangerous mission. The picture is being released under the auspices of United Artists. It is based on the widely read novel by A. E. W. Mason.

GEORGE "GABBY" HAYES, Mary Hart and Roy Rogers in a scene from "Southward Ho," thrilling western to be shown Friday and Saturday at the Ritz.

Longwood Sleuths Capture Escaped County Prisoners

Deputy Swafford And Constable Lewis Nab Pair Near Markham

The two negro prisoners who escaped from the County's stockade last Friday were arrested by Constable William Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Swafford yesterday in the vicinity of Markham. The two law enforcement officers trailed the escaping negroes along the railroad track west of Sanford to a palmetto thicket between Island Lake and Paola where the two had taken refuge. Sheriff C. M. Hand reported this morning that the two negroes, Harry Garner and T. E. Bridwell, escaped from their cells in the stockade last Friday morning by prying open the bars enough to permit their heads to pass through. Guards and trustees at the stockade were hunching at the time and the two left the premises unnoticed. Garner had completed a six months term for petty larceny and was to be released to Lake County authorities on the day of his escape. He is wanted in Lake county for larceny also. Bridwell has served about three months of a 12-month sentence for breaking and entering and Sheriff Hand said the negro will be sentenced today on charges of escaping and larceny of clothing which the negro had stolen to replace his stripes.
