KILLING OF U.S. JEWS IN RIOTS STARTS ACTION

Stimson Sends Appeal To Great Britain To Guard American Areas Of Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, Aug. 26 (INS)—Twenty American Jewish students were among the 70 Jews killed in fighting with Moslems at Hebron, according to information received here this afternoon. Order has been restored at Hebron.

JERUSALEM, Aug. 26 (INS)—The bloody inter-religious rioting between Arab and Jewish throughout Palestine entered a phase fraught with serious complications today as a result of the Masada attack upon the Shohabka college at Hebron in which an undetermined number of students, including 12 of them, were stabbed or beaten to death.

Jerusalem in a state of martial law, with a detachment of British troops from Egypt, reinforcing the local police force to maintain order. Another rule has been extended to Hebron and additional troops are expected today.

Originally ascribed to the long-standing dispute between Arab and Jews over the right of the city to worship at the famous Wailing Wall in Jerusalem, the rioting is now being ascribed to anti-Semitic propaganda which has been circulating since the outbreak.

Through the crisis now appearing in Palestine, the situation is still in the extreme and British troops have not relaxed in their efforts to quell the disturbances.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (INS)—Based on the basis of conference held at a number of American consuls have been held in the Middle East since their last visit to the British Foreign Office.

Stimson's action was somewhat unusual in diplomatic procedure. It was announced that the United States will not send any warships to the area.

The administration's decision in this respect is based upon two considerations: (1) Palestine is a British mandate, and the responsibility for maintaining order and security belongs to Britain; and (2) there are no American warships within thousands of miles of Palestine. The European situation of the navy, established during the war and maintained since, was abandoned only a few weeks ago.

Helen Wills' Match With English Player Today Is Seen As Real Anti-Climax

By Malcolm Roy
International Tennis Service
Staff Correspondent
FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 21—Rather than a thrilling final round coming as a stirring climax to a week of spectacular play, the final of the women's national lawn tennis singles here today between Helen Wills, of California, international champion, and Mrs. Phoebe Watson, of England, comes as close to being an anti-climax as anything in the world of sports can be.

The only occurrence which could prevent the final battle for the 22nd annual women's championship from being a dismal failure would be a victory which would see Queen Helen defeated by the English star, such a happening is not probable.

Helen's play from Monday through Friday is one of the most amazing chapters in lawn tennis history. Her play of these five days in the annals of the modern game has ever gone through to the final round with only two games secured by her opponent. No remarkable has been the play of Queen Helen that she has won almost as many games as her opponents have won points.

She fairly slaughtered Mrs. Phoebe Watson, winner of the championship eight times. It took her only two matches yesterday to win at least one set but she was lucky to get the few points she did against the champion.

Against Betty Nuthall, Helen had played in the last round a remarkable skill but she never got started against Helen.

Mrs. Watson plays Miss Wills by defeating Helen Jacobs, the young Californian.

Finally, in both singles and doubles, are on today's card but these are about as in. Who the finalists will be in doubles, Helen and Watson, or Helen and Watson, is a matter which will be decided in the afternoon.

They clustered close in the wind, high above an invisible sea in the grip of an incipient typhoon.

GRAF ZEPPELIN ROARS ONWARD OVER PACIFIC

set top, clocking the distance in a series of nearly level, severe, hundred mile sprints. The air is needed whenever possible to maintain the altitude. The Graf Zeppelin should not be in a hurry to get to Los Angeles. It is a matter of hours, not days, to get to Los Angeles. It is a matter of hours, not days, to get to Los Angeles.

At times reaching 100 miles hourly, the zeppelin thus far has averaged a spiking pace of at least 70 miles an hour, and it is understood that the Graf Zeppelin will reach Los Angeles in a matter of days. It is a matter of hours, not days, to get to Los Angeles.

At this time the Graf gave his position as 163° 21' East Longitude, 22° 21' North Latitude, which is about 1,100 miles east of the Hawaiian Islands, where the Graf took off at 12:12 P. M. today (23rd A. M. New York Daylight Saving Time).

The Graf thus accomplished almost 4,200 miles in less than 48 hours of flying, in spite of contrary winds and other conditions of such proportions that to make the long haul was considered as hopeless as a leap in an air balloon.

It was the Graf's "Baptism of Fire" on 23rd when the first time the dirigible had experienced lightning and messages sent out from aboard the airship told how she had come through the ordeal unscathed, because of the care taken in the construction of the dirigible upon the dirigible in all its tropical fury.

The storm was undoubtedly the worst in the long flying career of the dirigible. Although only half an hour in duration, it was violent in the extreme. The gale threw the ship up and down through lumpy black clouds and buffeted it through the air in breath-taking speed.

Minor flashes of lightning split the heavens, illuminating for seconds at a time the swirling masses of black clouds that raced by the ship's windows, while whirling wind currents swept the ship from side to side.

Dr. Eckener, calm and serene, told the passengers to prepare for

Do you know any car of its price that matches America's finest medium-priced automobile?

Read the chart comparing today's Oakland All-American Six with twenty other leading medium-priced cars.

Thirteen of these cars are higher-priced than Oakland. Yet despite this fact, in 278 individual comparisons Oakland is definitely superior on 451 or 51.37 per cent. And the competing cars, all combined, are able to equal Oakland on only 323 or 43.50 per cent.

Let us show you the detailed results of these comparisons—all serving to substantiate the statement that today's Oakland All-American is America's finest medium-priced automobile.

What these features mean to you	How Oakland compares with the field
Large piston displacement is needed to develop high power at moderate engine speed. Moderate engine speed is an important factor in the life of a car.	Oakland's 228 cubic inch piston displacement is greater than 18 of the 20 cars in the price field. Of the 18 remaining cars, 7 are higher priced than Oakland.
No name in automobile means so much as Fisher. Fisher bodies are famous for style, luxury and roominess. In addition, they hold such advantages as sturdy composite hard-wood and steel construction, VV windshield, side coil ventilation and adjustable drivers' seats.	Only Oakland and two other cars in the field offer bodies by Fisher. And one of the two is nearly $100 higher in price than Oakland. Of the 18 cars which have less known bodies, 11 are priced above the All-American Six.
Reasonably long wheelbase gives greater riding ease and road balance. Also permits use of longer, sturdier, spooler bodies. At the same time, a small turning circle is essential to handling ease.	Only one car at low price as Oakland has a wheelbase as long as Oakland's, which is 117 inches. That car requires a turning circle to the left of 42 feet as compared with Oakland's 36 feet. Six higher-priced cars have shorter wheelbases.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price in comparing automobiles. Delivery charges, license, taxes, and other expenses are included in the price. Delivery and license charges extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Rock 'Em To Death

The war against bootleggers, conducted along lines of the most modern and approved military tactics, has been singularly unsuccessful in stemming the flow of contraband spirits into the United States.

To meet the relentless thrusts of the contrabandists, the United States has utilized every resource to match their strategic movements. The ten-pounders of post-guardians splash water from one end of the road to the other and their machine guns bark out in the night.

But up in Tennessee there appears to have been discovered a successful method of thwarting bootleggers when three policemen of Memphis recently overcame the resistance of a rum runner by laying down a barrage of rocks.

GEORGIA WITH "MONEY TO BURN"

Georgia's legislature, now in the final days of the present session, has passed a bill which will enable the state to make good use of its increased income from taxes.

This, however, may be said with reference to the matter referred to here—that Georgia has become wealthier through many sources.

Under all these favoring circumstances and conditions it may be that Georgia people can stand increased taxation and not feel the tax burden unduly oppressive.

Perhaps Georgia people are to be congratulated on being able to pay more money to the state in the way of taxes because of their increased income.

Wherein Human Life Has Lost Its Value

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C. TELEGRAM

A brief dispatch from Washington Wednesday stated that the survey of prohibition killings, started by the department of justice, and been abandoned because of the death of the citizens and prohibition officers killed were available in many instances.

It had been planned to turn the result of the survey over to the national law enforcement commission.

One of the great problems in connection with the present system of prohibition enforcement is the appalling toll of human life which it has exacted.

Prof. James H. Snook, catching the spirit of moral revolt which characterizes the period, turned away from wife and child for the enjoyment of that freedom now so highly recommended by the ultra-modern intellectual.

So said Snook, and now the results from his venture have come on. What is the net result?

Encourage Child Talent Advises Famous Singer

EVELYN WILSON
Each bird sings the way he is, just as you sing, just as you sing.

Evelyn Wilson Denies That Prodigies Are Unhappy

New York City.—"It is never too early to begin encouraging talented children," declares Evelyn Wilson, well-known singer and dancer. Miss Wilson scoffs at the theory that infant prodigies should be discouraged until they have enjoyed a "happy, normal childhood."

"I know that many modern child psychologists believe that children should be made to take an equal interest in everything, that their health and welfare are imperiled if they are permitted to begin developing natural talent in music or the arts at too early an age," she admits.

"Well, I hate to think of what my chance for a 'happy normal childhood' would have been if my parents had accepted this theory. I know that I wanted to sing as soon as I began to make noise at any kind. Recognizing what talent I had, my mother and father encouraged it. At five, I appeared on the stage of a nickelodeon in Chicago. But I did not, despite the theories, from that moment become a spoiled, precocious child. This childish opinion of the use to which I could put my talent, this right of the treasure, it might give others, was an inspiration for hard study.

"Tolerated children of today are fortunate in that modern American genes provide them with a fine inheritance of all sorts. There are plenty of gay, rollicking songs that any parent would endorse wholeheartedly, for instance, 'My Dear,' a waltz ballad which is really good music with well written lyrics, yet very popular. The field of songs is now so broad that one can get a good song any day."

Mrs. R. J. Holly Jr. and son, Bobbie, and Mrs. B. D. Caswell and daughter, Jean, have returned from Atlanta where they have been visiting Mrs. J. D. Huff for the past six weeks. While away Mrs. Caswell visited in Pompano, Fla., and Clayton, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wilson and daughter, Louise, and Virginia, left Monday for Washington, D. C. Philadelphia and other points on the coast where they will spend several weeks before returning to their home in Dallas, Texas. Mrs. Wilson and Virginia will accompany Mrs. Wilson to Washington, D. C. to see the new American Drive, for the past three weeks.

"The Cocoanuts" Was Hit On Broadway

The Marx Brothers, whose first talking, all-singing, all-dancing picture, "The Cocoanuts," will show at the Milane theatre next week, was the hit of the Broadway season, were trying in their latest current attraction, "Animal Crackers," when work on their screen production was begun.

These comedians went directly to a Broadway stage hit to a Broadway motion picture hit. The hits who raved about their "Animal Crackers," turned to rave about them in their motion picture "The Cocoanuts."

"The Cocoanuts" was written by successful playwright, George Kaufman, and Irving Berlin composed the music. It was first presented on the stage and had a brilliant New York run of more than a year. For the screen production, the entire stage production was carried over and "My Dreams Come True."

When Young Faces "Break Out"

Thirteen, fourteen, fifteen—these are the dangerous ages where the skin is overworked. At the first sign of a blackhead or a pimple, the sensitive parent be- gins to fuss. For one neglected blackhead usually means a host of blackheads on an adolescent's face and one pimple "let go" is a sort of welcome sign to a legion of them.

It is not that all blackheads and pimples that are "let go" are, as a rule, followed by scars. But the most tragic result of this particular skin ailment is to bring about a depression of spirits and self-conceit because that it is not.

"Never mind, dear," says the unworried mother to her spotted son or daughter, "you'll outgrow your pimples. To do otherwise, thinks this type of parent, would be to make little or juvenile vanity. No, better let them go about looking their faces in shame, especially at parties."

Vain indeed! Little boys and girls who are taught that the cultivation of a clear skin is part of the duty they owe to society are not likely to become vain. If brushing their teeth and hair doesn't make them conceited and silly why should the use of a simple face cream? There is a great deal more to be said on this point, but such small ways as are possible just now that this organization hopes to do its bit for Sanford, and in this connection it might be a good time to quote Phil Meyer in the Orlando Sentinel to show that there are other ways than planting trees in which to help a public better in this city than we live:

"A stranger came to town today and heard that he had come to a city with a name for each rainy day. He sought a place to live and play. He heard while looking at a title: 'I wouldn't trade it for a million dollars.' And on the street he heard: 'You bet.' 'We haven't got the bottom yet.' 'A creek marked while all day long.' 'I'll say this town is on the decline.' 'Another snail, while showing me.' 'The long is headed for the rocks.' 'The chances you had hoped to stay.' 'And build a home in town today.' 'Remember no longer than a day.' 'The plucky talk drove him away.'"
