Economics Sans Gospel

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—You are aware, of course, that in matters economic there is no gospel. The lamentable experiences of the past few years have taught the wisest of theorists that they might be wrong and that they must question. Here are some of the questions being asked today:

—Now that limits on savings account interest have been raised, will customers be drawn away from the U.S. Savings Bond program?

The bond program has been thriving in the past few years because it offered not only a competitive 5.5 per cent interest rate but the convenience of payroll deduction, some tax benefits and the highest degree of security.

But now some banks will be offering a much higher return. Four-year certificates of deposit may pay 7.5 per cent or more if held to maturity.

In contrast, a savings bond yields 5.5 per cent only if held to maturity in 5 years, 10 months.

rior experience demonstrates that small savers don't let a couple of percentage points.

If redeemed before then, the rate is considerably smaller. While Treasury officials have expressed little public concern, corporation and directors' officers' liability insurance made available by MGIC Indemnity Corporation. MGIC and MGIC Indemnity Corporation are wholly-owned subsidiaries of MGIC Investment Corporation, a Milwaukee-based company specializing in providing financial guaranty services for mortgage lenders and real estate developers.

Mahlert was state manager of sales in association with Scarborough & Company, Chicago, prior to joining MGIC. He is a graduate of Tufts University, Medford, Mass., and attended John Marshall Law School in Chicago. He is married and the father of one child.

Reserve Board Will Keep Market 'Tight'

Colpey News Service

Whether the Federal Reserve Board will choose to stiffen monetary policy still further is not clear, but Spear & Staff's market report states it is "clear that the Fed won't ease the market's burden yet." It is believed monetary authorities may have signaled a toughening policy by two moves: (1) an increase in the percentage of deposits banks must set aside as reserves by one-half per cent to 10.5 percent, reducing by some $800 million banks' lendable funds, and (2) a hike in the discount rate to 7 percent from 6.5 per cent, putting this fee charged on loans to member commercial banks at the peak level of 1921.

In his trading letter, financial analyst A. C. R. Reuter calls attention to technical strength in Driver-Harris and Bonar Instruments.

Quoting Anthony W. Tabell, writing for Janney Montgomery Scott: "The stock market is a difficult and changing beast, and while certain sea-sawable tendencies are apparent, they constitute only one factor in what is invariably a highly complex situation."

E. F. Hutton & Co. sees Arvin Industries profiting from government mandates for complex pollution control equipment beginning with 1973 model automobiles.

Will the small investor miss the boat when the next bull market begins? Yale Hirsch, publisher of Smart Money and other newsletters for investors, poses the question. He says that if history is any guide, the decline dating from January will turn around one or two days and climb approximately 38 to 39 per cent within a year, which would be equivalent to a 300-plus point rise in the Dow Jones industrial average. That average gain has been chalked up following the end of the seven major declines of the last 25 years.

Hirsch feels the turnaround for real could occur sometime this fall. "Unfortunately," he says "with investor confidence at its lowest ebb in a generation, most small investors will miss the boat when the next bull market begins. They will be sitting on the sidelines and won't participate until the advance is well under way."

Longwood Police Nab Theft Suspect

By GARY TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

Police today credited the new central communications center with the capture of Thursday's Winn Dixie bandit just minutes after he raced down U.S. 17-92 from Sanford to Longwood.

Within seconds of receiving an eye-witness report on the make, model and license plate number of the suspect's getaway car, Longwood police nabbed Johnny Lee Dismuke, 1006 Robinson St., Orlando, on SR 427 near Milwee School.

He has also been hit with a lottery ticket charge, after two books of tickets were discovered in his car.

In a similar incident to

thanks to the speedy communications system.

Dismuke, now lodged in county jail on $5,500 bond, allegedly grabbed a bundle of bills totalling $1,180 from the open safe of the Winn Dixie, then fled, dragging head cashier Ada Williams with him out the door.

Mrs. Williams, according to witnesses, held onto the suspect, causing him to drop $500 in the parking lot. He was apparently unarmed, police said.

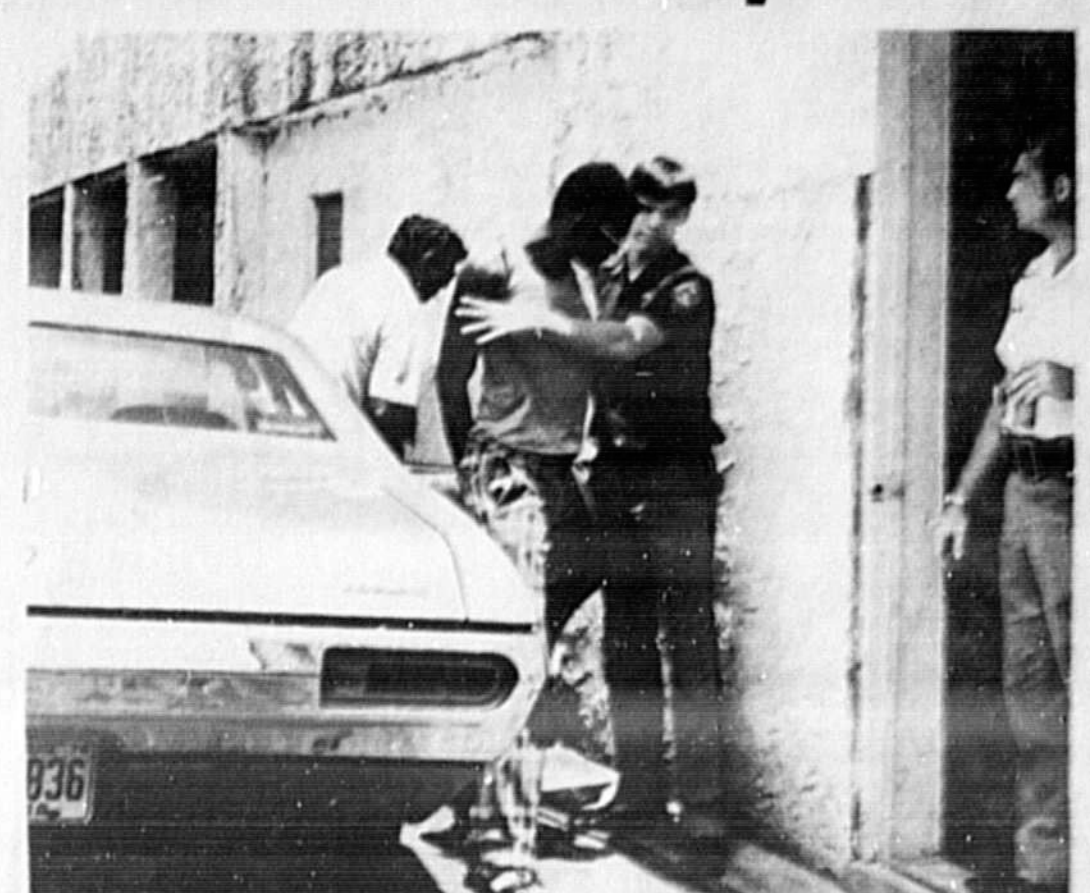

He has also been hit with a lottery ticket charge, after two books of tickets were discovered in his car.

In a similar incident to

Thursday's robbery, a 17-year-old Sanford youth was charged with robbery this morning after he allegedly walked into a downtown Sanford drugstore, scooped money from an unattended cash register, and fled out the front door.

Vincent Leroy Ashley, 1824 W. 16th Street, was charged with stealing $15 from Touchton's Drug Store, First Street and Magnolia Avenue.

When captured after a drugstore employe saw him run east from the store, he had only $9 in his possession, police said. He is being held in county jail under $10,000 bond.

Skylab 3 Bracing For 7:11 Liftoff

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Anxious to get started, Skylab 3's astronauts made final preparations today for their record 59-day space voyage.

Alan L. Bean, Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma scheduled a flight plan review, but generally they were to relax for the long mission set to start at 7:11 a.m. EDT Saturday.

They'll retire early tonight and awaken at 2 a.m. EDT for a final physical exam and to suit up for the trip into orbit aboard a Saturn 1B rocket.

The countdown continued on schedule with no problems reported.

"We're all anxious to get up there and put out 100 per cent," said Bean, an Apollo 12 moon walk veteran who will command the second mission to America's first space station.

The astronauts flew here Thursday after concluding their training at the Johnson Space Center near Houston, Tex.

The Saturn 1B is to push the astronauts and their Apollo ferry ship into an initial orbit ranging from about 100 to 200 miles above the earth.

With Bean at the controls, the spacemen will execute a series of six engine firing maneuvers that will enable them to catch and hook up with the orbiting Skylab laboratory 270 miles high after an 8½-hour pursuit.

Shortly after docking, they'll open a connecting tunnel and inspect the station. It has been unmanned since Skylab 1 astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz left it June 22 after a 28-day mission.

"We know Pete, Joe and Paul left the spacecraft in good shape," Bean said Thursday.

Plumbers Secrecy Probed Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—John D. Ehrlichman has told the Senate Watergate Committee the White House "plumbers" operated in at least one area so sensitive it must remain secret.

The former presidential aide invoked executive privilege for the first time in the hearings to avoid all questions on the matter. He claimed national security would be endangered if the contents of a White House memo were disclosed.

The subject was raised Thursday by Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., who said investigators have been placed in an untenable position because they are unable to test or challenge the national security barriers President Nixon has raised in the way of complete disclosure.

Ehrlichman was scheduled for a fourth day of interrogation by senators and staff lawyers today.

These lawyers, meanwhile, are researching the constitutional issues involved in the President's refusal to obey subpoenas ordering him to produce recordings of his conversations and documents written by his aides.

The committee voted unanimously to challenge the President's refusal in the courts but the method of that challenge has yet to be decided.

The President's daughter, Julie Nixon Eisenhower, said she fully expects courts to uphold her father by not ordering him to turn the tapes and documents over to the Senate committee and to special prosecutor Richard Cox.

Appearing in Atlanta, Ga., she said, "I think that it's well to remember that the members of the House and the Senate would want to turn over their private papers to their father."

Meanwhile, Daniel Ellsberg, the central figure in the Pentagon papers episode, accused Ehrlichman of lying and said he believes the real goal of the White House plumbers was to move prominent Democrats and perhaps bring them to trial.

In a news conference in Los Angeles, Ellsberg said Ehrlichman's testimony leads him to conclude the White House was aiding at the indictments and tells of such top Democratic administration figures as former Defense secretary Robert S. McNamara and Clark M. Clifford.

Blue Angel Leader Dies In Collision

Blue Angel flight leader Lt. Cmdr. Skip Umstead headed the famed Navy precision flying demonstration team at Lakehurst, N.J. during a "slow roll" practice maneuver in preparation for a Saturday performance.

Navy Lt. Steve Lambert, pilot of one of two planes in the four plane group that escaped the crash, was also a member of the team which performed at the Sanford Air show.

Umstead was one of the three Blue Angels killed Thursday in a mid-air collision at Lakehurst, N.J. during a "slow roll" practice maneuver in preparation for a Saturday performance.

'Manhunt' Surprises Him And Her

Ever chase a robber around your store, tackle him, then chase him out into the street, scooping up money as fast as he drops it?

"Nothing like this ever happened to me in 16 years here, and I hope it never happens again," admitted Mrs. Ada Williams, head cashier of the French Avenue and 26th Street Winn Dixie Store in Sanford Thursday.

According to one startled customer, peacefully waiting her turn in line, Mrs. Williams grappled with the robber after he grabbed an undisclosed amount of money from the store's unlocked safe.

"The man came running out of the office with Mrs. Williams hanging on to him for dear life, and screaming for help," the customer said. "He practically dragged her through the door onto the sidewalk."

The cashier was reluctant to discuss her struggle with the robber but said she chased him around the building as he ran to a car with an undisclosed amount of money from the store's safe.

Longwood Police, alerted by radio, stopped a car answering the description minutes later near Milwee School on SR 427 and officers arrested a suspect in the daring day-lit robbery.

Perhaps one of you would care to respond to this letter writer's comments:

"In regard to your column yesterday July 4—why are you so sad about the fireworks on the lake, or rather the absence of them this year?"

"As for one Sanford citizen, and I think I speak for many more, we would be very happy if there was never another loud explosive ever made. They are horrible and can shatter one's nerves."

"They are also very dangerous. After all, there are lots of people who DO NOT enjoy them!"

"Nervous, sick people cannot stand fireworks—please think of them."

In the event I don't get a response from you readers, I shall happily put ink to paper and give a couple good reasons why I don't agree with this person's views.

If we're in such a power shortage . . . why doesn't the City of Sanford turn off those "pearls of light" surrounding Lake Monroe . . . say, somewhere near midnight, instead of letting 'em on all night long?

It Took A Year, But City Hall Lost

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—After winning a year-long battle against city hall to stay in business, Emory Singletary says he will be out today selling his tomatoes, canteloupes and watermelons just like always.

"I've been selling in the same location for seven years and I wasn't going to let anybody push me out of business," Singletary said after a six-member jury found him innocent of charges of violating the city's zoning ordinance.

In a trial in municipal court Wednesday, the city claimed that an ordinance passed in 1971 prohibited outdoor displays of food, except in specified locations such as shipping centers.

City attorneys said the location of Singletary's market truck, next to a gas station, was not covered and that Singletary should be closed down.

But Singletary maintained the ordinance was passed just to protect big supermarkets because he undersold them.

It is not fair to have a law just to put one man out of business so I decided to go," he said.

Singletary said the goal he had built up with thousands of customers over the years helped him win the battle.

Pastor's Corner Quest For Best

By FRED L. NEAL, PASTOR
Congregational Christian Church
King Solomon is generally regarded even by secular historians as one of the greatest men who have ever lived. He was an authority on such diverse subjects as architecture, zoology, botany, plus being a great writer. He possessed great natural ability, accumulated vast riches and enjoyed outstanding fame as a ruler.

His search for an abundant life is relevant as today's newspaper. He sought for and failed to find an abundant life in many of the things that we often believe provides the answers in our quest for the best. He discovered the following three things to be without permanent value and eventually led to frustration rather than abundant life.

I. WISDOM: "I gave my heart to know wisdom" (Ecc. 1:17).—Education has become a vital need in our society. The "dropout" cannot hope to be successful in our intellectual age. The educated person as a rule enjoys a much larger standard of living than the person who is uneducated. The educated person lives in a nice home, drives a better car and enjoys more luxuries than the person without education. However, education does not provide one with abundant life in the quest for the best.

Our modern intellectualism boasts that it can solve problems that we did not dream of a generation ago. We have made great strides of advancement but yet do not have the answers to the rising crime rate, racial disturbances, student unrest, population explosion, pollution, immorality and the threat of nuclear war. Our modern intellectualism can psychoanalyze this frustrated, aimless, dare-devil generation and give convincing argument on the solution of human behaviorism but the number of suicides still increase. It is tragic but we have to agree with Solomon who stated, "For in much wisdom is much grief, and he that increases knowledge increases sorrow" (Ecc. 1:18).

II. WORKS: "I made for myself great works" (Ecc. 2:4).—Thomas Carlyle was right when he stated, "Blessed is he who has found his work." He was equally wrong by adding the phrase; "and let him search for no other blessing." It is true that good honest work at a profession has always been one of the finest expressions of the human spirit. There is a sense of personal gratification when a person becomes successful at his profession but this alone is not an abundant life.

Solomon discovered along with many others that: "Then I looked on all the works that my hand had wrought, and on the labour that I had laboured to do; and behold, all was vanity and vexation of spirit, and there was no profit under the sun" (Ecc. 2:11).

III. WEALTH: "I gathered also silver and gold, and peculiar treasure of kings" (Ecc. 2:4).—Solomon became the richest man who ever lived but his wealth did not provide him with an abundant life. Our materialistic society believes that if we acquire enough wealth we will solve every problem and provide for every need. It is true that wealth can be a definite asset, but it has its limitations. Someone has said, "Wealth will buy a bed, but not sleep; books, but not brains; food, but not an appetite; a house, but not a home—or happiness!"

All too often we discover, to our dismay, with Solomon: "A man to whom God hath given riches, wealth, honor, so that he nothing for his soul of all that he desired, yet God giveth him not power to eat thereof, but a stranger eateth it; this is vanity and it is an evil disease" (Ecc. 5:10). Wealth alone cannot provide for an abundant life in our quest for the best.

Conclusion: The successful quest for the best is not found in things under the sun, but rather in the Son of God, who loved us and gave himself for us. The abundant life is to be found in the words of Christ: "I am come that ye might have life...and have it more abundantly."

A music program and graduation climaxed the 10-day Deltona Vacation Bible School Friday night. The five days a week school was held from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. by the Lutheran Church of Deltona, United Methodist Church and the United Church.
The program was held in the Deltona Methodist Church on Normandy Boulevard. The Rev. Herbert W. Goerss of the Lutheran Church, director of the program, officiated Friday evening.
Fifty-six graduation certificates were presented. The classes were divided between Deltona Junior High Junior, Primary and Kindergarten.
Mrs. Paul Juvinal, head teacher of the Junior High Class, served as leader for the music program. All children took part in the program, which consisted of numerous church songs and hymns.
Classes were open following the ceremonies, where parents and visitors might view the handwork of the children, after which refreshments were served in the social room, by women of the three churches participating.
Those serving refreshments were: Mrs. Rose Goetsch, Mrs. Marac Fejilabum and Mrs. Grace McConnell, members of the Lutheran and Methodist Churches.
Teachers, assisting in the program, included: Mrs. Becky Juvinal, Mrs. Doris Candalline, Mrs. Margaret Umstead, Mrs. Shirley Ledford, Mrs. Pat Boehm, Mrs. Anna Eades, Mrs. Tracy Localis, Miss Amelia Jund, Jane and Kathryn Fues, Mrs. Jane Ringwald, Mrs. Beverly Woide, Mrs. Viola Lovejoy.
Also, Mrs. Marie Carothers, Mrs. Rosella Camputo, and Jackie LeCler, Mrs. Evelyn Scott, Mrs. Betty Lombardo, Mrs. Lee Caulkins, Mrs. F. Ringwald, and Mrs. Sylvia Hardin.
Music was provided by Mrs. Katherine Sellers, Devotional and Closing Prayer by Rev. Goerss.

Birth Control Ban Ignored By Catholics

By EDWARD MAGRI
Associated Press Writer
VATICAN CITY (AP) — Sunday is the fifth anniversary of Pope Paul VI's encyclical on birth control, and Vatican circles acknowledge that it is widely disregarded among the world's 800 million Roman Catholics.
The encyclical "Humanae Vitae"—"Of Human Life"—maintained the Church's ban on the use of any type of contraception, including the pill, except the rhythm method of periodic abstinence from sexual intercourse.
The Pope ruled that violation of the ban is a sin for Catholics, restating the Church's traditional stand.
The encyclical issued on July 25, 1968, stirred a worldwide challenge to the Pope's authority.
It ran counter to the hopes of millions of Catholic couples that the Church would revise its stand on birth control and at least accept the pill as a morally legitimate contraceptive device.
The Pope ignored the recommendations of a majority of a 78-member birth control commission that he permit contraception.
Many priests, bishops and even cardinals said either privately or publicly that they disagreed with Pope Paul, and Catholic couples went on using birth control devices despite "Humanae Vitae."
One Jesuit theologian, the Rev. Marcelino Zalba of Gregorian University in Rome, contends that the encyclical has been "totally twisted both in its interpretation and application."
"You simply cannot say that Roman Catholicism has one mind on the subject," he declares. "When the split on a moral issue is so deep, you can hardly expect a papal ruling to be binding on couples. I think you can say the vast majority of couples commit no sin when they turn to contraception."
However, the Vatican has never given public indication of any such leniency toward violators of the ban.
Another theologian, the Rev. Raimondo Spiazzi, says he has heard that a new study is being made of the issue with the approval of the Pope or his closest aides.

Baptists Schedule Youth Activities

A Youth Reach Out Week is planned by First Baptist Church of Sanford for fun, fellowship and spiritual enrichment. Activities begin with a progressive supper Monday at 6:30 p.m. Summer youth workers Layne McFarland will lead the devotion.
Tuesday at 7:15, the youth will play for Seminole County Courthouse where Tom Deppe, a former Sanford policeman, will speak in Courtroom "C" on the subject "The Witness Stand."
The entire church is invited Wednesday to a banquet at 6 p.m. in fellowship hall, where Gordon Butcher will speak on "Christ and My Vocation." Owner of a custom cabinet shop, he learned his trade from his father and grandfather.
A contemporary worship service on the beach will be held for the youth Thursday at 7 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Barley.
The week's activities will end Friday when the young people will board "Noah's Ark" at 5 p.m. for a six-hour cruise for supper, fun and fellowship and a devotional by Charles E. Davis Jr., minister of youth and music.

Castro Asks Revolution Throughout Hemisphere

By IKE FLORES
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI (AP) — Appealing for hemisphere revolution, Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has again accused Brazil and the United States of attempting to isolate revolutionary movements in Latin America.
Two governments "are unquestionably behind the coup in Uruguay," Castro told some 20,000 cheering followers and special guests at Thursday ceremonies commemorating the 20th anniversary of his revolution.
Castro referred to President Juan Bordaberry's recent dissolution of the Uruguayan Congress and his government by decree, apparently following the dictates of the military.
Also denounced the Organization of American States, declared his country's slow economic progress and appealed for stricter dedication to the concepts of socialism on the part of the Cuban masses.
Formation of a new regional organization which would represent the people of the hemisphere against the U.S. is not yet possible, he said.
"Let's see it die a natural death," the Cuban premier said about the OAS "Cuba can wait patiently" for its demise, he added. "Our revolution is today stronger than ever and shall still be young when the OAS has died."
Castro urged Latin Americans to "make revolution and unite." Only this will make us free. Without this, our natural resources will be depleted, to the exclusive benefit of capitalist societies.
As a poor country, Cuba's economic objectives "cannot be too ambitious," he said about the country's consumer production.
Asserting that the Cuban revolution is in its social phase, Castro said he would see to it that the country operates at a maximum level of "human and economic efficiency" in the coming years.
"And we shall courageously

Nixon Might Veto $2.20 Wage Bill

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees have agreed on a $2.20 minimum wage bill amid indications there may not have been enough compromise to suit President Nixon.
Consensus on the bill, which extends coverage to an estimated eight million workers, was reached Thursday after a three-day conference.
Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., a cosponsor of the Senate bill, said, "I will do my utmost to bring the President to sign it." But he did not predict that it will happen.
During Senate debate last week, Republican opponents repeatedly said a veto was almost certain. They contended the 36-cent raise granted most covered workers would hurt the President's fight against inflation and increase unemployment of marginal employees.
Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the Labor Committee that drafted the Senate bill, said the Senate is expected to vote on the compromise next week. House action would follow.
There were few major differences between the House and Senate versions, with both chambers agreeing on the ultimate $2.20-an-hour rate for the 47 million workers now covered.
Under the compromise, the present $1.60 rate for most covered workers would go to $2 in 60 days, then to $2.20 next July 1.
Employees covered for the first time in 1966, mainly workers in large retail stores and government employes, would be raised from $1.60 to $1.80 to $2.00 a year later and $2.20 on July 1, 1976.
The bill extends the minimum wage to domestic servants. Full-time domestics, including babysitters, would receive the minimum plus overtime pay, but live-in workers would not qualify for overtime. The measure exempts the occasional babysitter.
Smaller retail stores that are part of a chain would gradually lose their exemption from paying the minimum wage.
The number of hours that firemen, policemen and other government security workers must put in before receiving overtime pay would be lowered gradually.

Vets Pledge '8' Protests

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Five hundred members of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War will be here next week for five days of demonstrations at the start of the Gainesville Eight trial, VVAW spokesmen said.
The demonstrations will begin Tuesday when the trial starts in the downtown courtroom.
"The demonstrations will be held, VVAW spokesmen said, despite a gag rule issued by U.S. District Judge Winston A. Brown banning both sides from discussing the case publicly outside the courtroom.
"We want to show the public what VVAW is really like, not what the government is trying to make people think by the false charges placed against the Gainesville Eight," said John Musgrave, a VVAW official from Baldwin City, Kan. Musgrave charged at a news conference Wednesday that a trial was a "direct attempt by Nixon to destroy VVAW" and "an attempt to divert attention from

Dollar Drop Scaring French Government

By BERNARD LAVALLÉE
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — The French government is worried that continued decline of the dollar on European money markets could lead to a recession in France and social and racial unrest.
President Georges Pompidou and his economic advisers are said to fear that if the dollar's troubles continue, French exports to America will drop, American exporters will take business away from the French in other countries, and American businessmen will reduce their activities and investments abroad.
"If it doesn't," one source said, "none of the government's plans could be soundly implemented, particularly its social and development programs calling principally for increased pensions for old-age people and extension of the highway and telephone systems."
"And the program of the left wing could not be put in force either," the source added, referring to a social and economic program jointly prepared by the Communist and Socialist parties as an alternative to Pompidou's policies.
With the franc now worth about 25 cents, Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing said in a recent interview that a return to the former value of 21-22 cents is vital for the French economy.
"If we accepted that the franc should be highly overvalued as compared to the currency of the world's first economic power," he explained, "we would see whole sectors of our economy driven out of export markets."
Pompidou's advisers say they think social tensions can be avoided after the summer vacation period provided the dol-

Congress Passes Foreign Aid Bill

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved a $2.8-billion foreign aid bill by a hairline vote after rejecting an effort to cut off all U.S. military aid to Cambodia.
By a vote Thursday night of 185 to 182, the House voted an amendment to cut off all U.S. military aid to Cambodia was proposed by Rep. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y., who said Congress should make clear the United States has no legal or moral authority to continue support of war activities there.
The amendment was rejected 165 to 36.

Church Favors Reform In Colombia

Colombia's Roman Catholic church, once the most reactionary in South America, is about to take a deep plunge into social reform.

For decades, Colombia's clergy has been identified with the country's powerful land-owning interests. Indeed, during the nine-year civil war between Colombia's two political parties in the 1940s and 1950s, many priests openly sided with the Conservatives.

Severely criticized for its deep involvement in the violence, the clergy was firmly told to get out of politics when the Liberals and Conservatives finally made peace.

The badly burned hierarchy gladly did so and in the intervening years, Colombia's bishops have scrupulously refrained from taking sides even when the church's influence might have benefited the country.

However, a new generation of Colombians has grown up since 1948. For them, "la violencia" is only a vague memory. They have no qualms about seeking the church's support for social and political causes.

Having spent all these years on the sidelines, the church has been very reluctant to enter the political arena again. Nevertheless, even "old-timers" like Cardinal Amalberto Dujarte are beginning to accept the idea of a church actively committed to social reform, if not to a political party.

Over the last five years, the Colombian church has undergone a subtle but significant change. Two-thirds of the country's 68 bishops are relatively young men, new to the hierarchy. These bishops are less concerned with the church's past than Colombia's present needs.

Other Thoughts

Thanks to the generosity of the 1973 Legislature, North Carolinians everywhere can now contemplate the honey bee with extra affection and pride, knowing it is the official state insect.

If they stop to think about it, Tarheels can also develop a warm glow over the cardinal (the state bird), the grey squirrel (state mammal), the dogwood (state flower), longleaf pine (tree) and the Scotch bonnet (the state seashell).

They may also wonder, considering the things the Legislature felt compelled to claim in the name of the citizens, how the grey squirrel managed to get in ahead of the jackass. — Asheville (N.C.) Citizen.

And one of the country's most urgent needs today is a solution to the population explosion.

With an annual 3.4 per cent birthrate, Colombia's 22 million population will nearly triple within the next three decades. Already over half the population is under 15 years of age. This means that only one out of two Colombians is of working age and able to contribute to the country's growth.

The able research organization, the Brookings Institution, makes a strong case for the argument that the Nixon administration is not demanding the same efficiency in defense manpower use and effectiveness that it calls for in social programs it wants to cut or wipe out.

The new report acknowledges some cuts in strategic programs as a result of SALT talks agreements last year with the Soviet Union, but adds: "Apart from these programs, not a single area of the defense budget shows significant dollar savings, either this year or in the future."

The Brookings comment takes on special bite because unlike most studies of defense spending, its previous budget reports have consistently made note of the place occupied by such spending by higher and higher manpower costs.

By State High Court

Florida's Death Law Is Upheld

A person convicted of a capital crime is provided with five steps between conviction and imposition of the death penalty—each step providing concrete safeguards beyond those of the trial system to protect him from death where a less harsh punishment might be sufficient," said the 18-page opinion written by Justice James Adkins.

The law provides for the judge and jury to hear evidence on aggravation, such as if the killing was for hire, and mitigation, such as the defendant's age or mental instability. If the defendant is convicted, the jury then recommends the death or life imprisonment. The judge may reverse the recommendation either way, but must give a written reason if he imposes death.

All death sentences are reviewed by the Supreme Court which the court said "guarantees that the reasons present in one case will reach a similar result to that reached under similar circumstances in another case."

"No longer will one man die and another live on the basis of race, or a woman live and a man die on the basis of sex," Adkins wrote.

Justices Richard Ervin and Joseph Boyd both dissented on grounds the law still allowed excessive discretion by judge and jury.

Ervin said the law merely provides a split trial system, which the U.S. Supreme Court already had found unconstitutional. Quoting from legislative testimony by Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin, a strong advocate of the death penalty law, Ervin said:

"The state Supreme Court attorneys will be able to begin proceedings under the law, adopted in a special legislative session last November. The state Supreme Court had been asked to rule on its constitutionality before any trials began. The court ruled that protection against arbitrary death sentences was provided in the law's provision for a separate trial to determine guilt and punishment."

Other Thoughts

Thanks to the generosity of the 1973 Legislature, North Carolinians everywhere can now contemplate the honey bee with extra affection and pride, knowing it is the official state insect.

If they stop to think about it, Tarheels can also develop a warm glow over the cardinal (the state bird), the grey squirrel (state mammal), the dogwood (state flower), longleaf pine (tree) and the Scotch bonnet (the state seashell).

They may also wonder, considering the things the Legislature felt compelled to claim in the name of the citizens, how the grey squirrel managed to get in ahead of the jackass. — Asheville (N.C.) Citizen.

APPEALING for hemispheric revolution, Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has again accused Brazil and the United States of attempting to isolate revolutionary movements in Latin America.

FIVE HUNDRED members of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War will be here next week for five days of demonstrations at the start of the Gainesville Eighth trial, a VVAW spokesman says.

OLD PEOPLE who can no longer make ends meet and are too proud to ask for welfare are skipping meals and sometimes turning to shoplifting food, officials say.

THE FLORIDA SUPREME COURT upholds the legality of the state's death penalty law—the first passed by a state legislature since the U.S. Supreme Court ruled last year against capital punishment as it then existed.

THE STATE purchasing director says the number of persons selling meat to the state is going down as meat prices go up.

Shevin in applauding the state Supreme Court's decision, says he'll personally defend Florida's death penalty law when it is challenged before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Shevin, representing two of the seven defendants who challenged the law, said the nation's highest court may lack jurisdiction because none of the defendants has been convicted or sentenced to death.

Fake Lawmen With Actual Guns Are Upping The Chances For Quick Death

'Today all manner of non-official security people are strapping guns to their hips, often without proper training, often without psychological clearance — and very often without real need other than prestige and bluster.'

By Tom Tiede
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Recently in New Jersey a reporter in a bank was chatting with the security guard. The guard, in his early 60s, was discussing his responsibilities and pointed his 38 cal. revolver to make a revealing point. I guess I'm supposed to use this, but I hope I don't have to. I couldn't hit the broad side of a barn.

Private detectives carry sidearms while they tail and investigate playboy husbands. All of the nation's estimated 220 plus professional security guards are eligible for gun duty. ## American Bombers Hitting Cambodia

By DENNIS NEED
Associated Press Writer
PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — American B52s and fighter-bombers kept up a steady attack today in support of Cambodian government troops attempting to outflank a creeping insurgent advance on Phnom Penh from the south.

The situation, says former anti-gun Congressman Abner Mikva (D-Ill.), is out of control. "Guns beget guns, violence begets violence. We are backed by a regiment of about 600 men in armored personnel carriers, fanned out from Highway 5 Thursday toward the village, where another government battalion has been encircled for a week.

The Cambodian insurgents have an estimated 5,000 men concentrated along the Prek Thnot river. The object of the government operation appeared to be to sweep around their western flank and relieve the town of Takhma, which is on the eastern end of the rebels' line of advance.

Gainesville 'Gag' Rule Lift Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press says it will write a spokesman for the Washington based committee said. "We've picked this one to fight."

The government committee said the operation was aimed at dislodging the Communist rebels from the area of Kompong Toul, nine miles southwest of Phnom Penh and some two miles behind the forward insurgent troops.

At the same time, the committee said it will write a spokesman for the Washington based committee said. "We've picked this one to fight."

72 Haitians Are Fighting Deportation From U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Board of Immigration Appeals has taken under advisement a request to halt deportation proceedings against 72 Haitians seeking political asylum in the United States.

The order imposing the restrictions was a violation of the constitutional principle of due process. The spokesman said, "The trial of seven Vietnam Veterans Against the War and one VVAW spokesman is scheduled to begin Tuesday in Gainesville. The eight are charged with plotting to disrupt the Republican National Convention with violence."

Residents Protest Multi-Family Zoning

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer
The Sanford Zoning and Planning Commission Thursday night recommended multi-family zoning to city commissioners for 20 acres of recently annexed orange grove straddling Country Club Road on the south side of Mayfair Golf and Country Club.

More than 30 residents of 1.5th Arbor, Little Venice and Greenbriar, adjoining single family areas in the county, armed with protest petitions from their neighbors registered strong objections to any multi-family zoning in the area citing traffic congestion on Country Club Road and "spot" zoning.

Payola scandal II Drug rumors rock record industry

The Hit Parade Record Company, say, has just released a new single. To publicize it, the company invites a writer from Far Out magazine to watch the group, which recorded the song, perform live in Las Vegas. The company pays for the writer's airfare, lodging, meals and entertainment. In return, the writer produces a favorable story about the group and its new song. It is called payola. There is nothing illegal about it.

The Hit Parade Record Company, say, has just released a new single. To publicize it, the company sends its promotion manager to Station BIG, in, say, Butte, Mont. The promotion manager, in an effort to insure air time for the song, gives a disc jockey at the station a gift of $200. The disc jockey accepts it. It is called payola. It is illegal. Dear Abby

Office is not the place for personal problems

By Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: I hope you will print this letter to my secretary. There must be many other executives who have this problem and don't know how to handle it tactfully.

You are an excellent secretary, but I wish you would leave your personal problems at home. I am not a marriage counselor or a financial adviser, and I have no time or energy to listen to problems concerning your children.

When you confide your personal problems to me, Mrs. Brown, although I am very understanding and sympathetic, the truth is, I am very uncomfortable and I resent using my time (and yours) on such matters.

I value your services and don't want to seem unfeeling or unkind, but I would like our relationship to be strictly professional and personal. YOUR BOSS

DEAR BOSS: I don't know how many bosses share your view, but I am sure many of them do. When a secretary starts crying on her boss's shoulder, the frequent-ly ends up in his arms. The only way to discourage personal conversations (in the office and out) is to abort them at the onset.

DEAR ABBY: We are a one-car family, and because I want to use the car during the day, my husband is picked up every morning by Harry, a coworker. Harry also gives my husband a ride home every evening. My husband pays him well for his trouble.

A few months ago Harry and his wife separated, so Harry started coming a few minutes early to have "coffee" with my husband. Pretty soon Harry came a little earlier and had a "bit of breakfast." Now he comes good and early and sits down to a full course breakfast with us every morning.

Not only that, but after work Harry doesn't just drop my husband off. He comes in for a "drink." Then he sits around waiting for me to have no plans for supper, so I have to ask him to stay. I am up to here with that guy. My husband doesn't want to insult Harry because he has to work with him, and I don't think it's my place to tell him what to do. What do you suggest?

DEAR HAD IT: How about letting your husband take the car to work for a while? The inconvenience of being without wheels would be a picnic compared to putting up with Harry.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old girl and I've never seen a problem like mine in your column. A friend of mine, I'll call her Susan, was raped four months ago and she is pregnant. (She's my age.) Well, my mom heard about it thru the neighborhood grapevine and now she won't let me go over to Susan's house anymore. Susan doesn't want the baby, and she doesn't believe in abortion, so she is giving it up for adoption when it's born.

They never caught the rapist, and my mom thinks the rape story is a big lie—that Susan's boy friend told her "left" to do her. I know Jeff pretty well, and I don't think he would do anything like that to Susan. Anyway, I don't think it's fair that I am not allowed to go to Susan's house. She called me once and asked why I didn't come over anymore and I didn't know what to tell her. Susan needs friends to comfort her right now. What should I do?

DEAR FRIEND: Well, one thing you can't do is to disney your mother. She did not see you coming to write to Susan, why don't you send her cheery cards and letters now and then? I agree, Susan does need friends right now.

Polly's Pointers

He Needs Pointers For Stained Stetson
By POLLY CRAMER
Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY: I do hope someone can tell me how to remove perspiration stains from the brim of a good Stetson hat. I have tried several different things but nothing did the job — FRED

DEAR POLLY: My Pet Peeve concerns restaurants that do not serve child-size glasses of soft drinks and milk. Most of the ones we go to serve an eight-ounce-size glass for 20 cents or twenty-five cents and my four-year-old leaves about now so she let me go over to Susan's house anymore.

Carroll Righter's HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An adverse day if you attempt to make a snap judgment of others, or if you become involved in any arguments with overly sensitive persons. Postpone any serious commitments until a better time. Avoid undue criticism of others. Don't make any new commitments.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Conditions may be difficult at home so engage in outside activities and accomplish a great deal. Put off shopping until tomorrow. Take health treatments and make sure that you have a good diet.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Being careful in motion is most important right now. Don't become angry when one makes a sharp comment. Take care of your purse when out shopping and losing credit cards should be avoided. Be alert.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have ideas about finances that could bring arguments with close ties, so be careful. Don't spend lavishly when you can't afford it. Some advisers could get off the track. Use own judgment.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Although you may be thinking others are imposing on you, look at things objectively and you find it is not. Take care of your health and appearance. Avoid one who hickers.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You feel hemmed in by things you cannot control and you get little assistance from loved ones. Don't make sure with other matters. Attend to important duties that need handling quickly. Be wise.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Your reliable friends could be quite confused so don't rely on them today. Forget forcing anyone with regard to a personal aim you may have. Take time to engage in your favorite hobby.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Try not to do anything that could jeopardize your position with superiors, or where the public is concerned. Make sure that you pay your bills. Attend the social tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't engage in any new interests right now, or you could get into a heap of trouble. Take part in routine affairs. A friend needs your help so don't fail. Sidestep one who beattles you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make sure you keep promises made to others and don't expect thanks. It is your duty. Being too forceful with mate could lead to trouble. Show that you are a thoughtful person.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Avoid an associate who is upset with personal problems. One who opposes you should also be avoided. Become involved in outside interests. Think along economical lines. Improve your image.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't take any risks now. Attend to your duties and be a helpful person. You and others. Make sure you don't criticize others, even though it may be due. Relax tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Do those things that have been satisfactory to you in the past. Don't engage in any activity that you can't afford. Keep busy at creative matters. A good day to meditate and clear your thoughts.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those capable young people who knows how to solve troublesome situations, so direct the education along practical lines. Be objective, personal and emotional matters and life becomes successful. The study of languages would be very helpful in career. Give good spiritual training early in life.

THE STARS impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, JULY 29, 1973

Carroll Righter's HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: It would be wise to wind up whatever personal tasks you have in the morning. Later in the day the moon's influence gives you a chance to gain your objectives and improvements in personal relations could result. Be cheerful.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Any new interests you may have could stand planning and revision during spare time now. Make sure your appearance is improved. Visit congenials in afternoon and have a delightful time.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Attend to duties ahead of you at home and do them properly. Morning is fine for going off to a new appeal. Think along more constructive lines than in the past. Be helpful to others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be cheerful in handling routine duties in the morning. In the afternoon go to new places and meet charming persons. Talk over a new venture with trusted friends and plan for the future.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Analyze just how you stand in a financial way and begin a new course of action that will give you greater abundance. Look to a good adviser and discuss projects for the days ahead.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can handle personal affairs during the day and enjoy the time to engage in social activity with friends tonight. Plan more intelligently for the future. Listen to a friend's advice.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Concentrating upon the philosophy of life that you are living is fine in the morning. In the afternoon you can correct whatever is wrong. Assisting others now will be greatly appreciated.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have personal aims that require some finishing touches before they can be achieved. Show good friends that you appreciate them. Enjoy amusements with congenials in the afternoon.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Civic work you have not completed can be handled nicely now. A bigwig will give the advice you need in the afternoon. Take some time for amusements and relax to have tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take time to study a new project and obtain the needed materials from the right sources. Handle a backlog of correspondence. Plan for more expansion in the days ahead.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Talk over with associates how you want to handle joint affairs in the future. Be practical in handling personal responsibilities. Increased happiness is possible with mate tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Take care of routine tasks early in the day. Meet with respected friends and make plans that will be satisfactory in the days ahead. Take the right health treatments and improve your image.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those young people who early in life will show a great curiosity in what makes things tick. The public life is ideal for this fine mind and delightful personality, and could easily reach the pinnacle of success if the education is directed along such lines. The natural life could be a natural here. Don't force sports on your child.

The stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!
