

LENA CLARKE ACQUITTED JURY OUT TWO HOURS ON GROUNDS OF INSANITY

Judge Andrews Will Hold Lena for Further Investigation

ON INSANE CLAUSE

MAY BE TAKEN TO ASYLUM TO SERVE AN INDETERMINATE SENTENCE

ORLANDO, Dec. 3.—Lena M. T. Clarke, former West Palm Beach postmistress, was found not guilty on a charge of first degree murder in circuit court here yesterday afternoon, in connection with the killing of F. A. Miltimore. The jury's verdict read "Not guilty on grounds of insanity." Judge Andrews said he would continue to hold Miss Clarke in jail here until he had gone further into the evidence in the case. Baxter H. Patterson, who drove Miss Clarke here on the night of last August 1, when Miltimore was killed and who was jointly indicted with her, was acquitted without reservation, since no plea of insanity was entered by him. The action of Judge Andrews in holding Miss Clarke until he has investigated the evidence further is taken to indicate that he may order her incarceration in the state insane asylum at Chattahoochee, but he refused to say what action might be taken.

The jury retired at 3:26 yesterday afternoon, after listening to Judge Andrews' instruction, the reading of which occupied nearly half an hour. At 5:15, thirty minutes before the verdict was rendered, the jury re-entered the court room and requested Judge Andrews for further information relative to the wording of a verdict and that part of the instruction pertaining to this phase of the case was again read. Once more the twelve men filed out of the chamber and their next appearance marked the close of the trial.

Miss Clarke received the verdict calmly and after embracing her aged father, who had been with her through the trial, turned to receive the congratulations of scores of women who have faithfully attended each session of court through the ten days and who rushed up to grasp the hand of the woman as soon as the verdict was read and the jury discharged. Her first remark following the reading of the verdict by the clerk of the court was: "To tell the truth, I didn't care much one way or the other."

The appearance here of two post office inspectors, one of whom, H. N. Graham, testified yesterday that shortages of the Palm Beach office dated back to 1917 and had at times reached as high as $92,000, has led to the belief that should Judge Andrews decide not to send Miss Clarke to the asylum, she will be arraigned in federal court in Jacksonville on charges in connection with the discrepancies said to exist in the post office accounts during her tenure.

The session of court this morning witnessed a word battle between States' Attorney Joseph H. Jones and C. G. Chillingworth, associates defense counsel. Chillingworth interrupted the state's attorney a number of times during the latter's plea before the jury, charging misstatements of evidence in the case. Jones finally became angry and charged the defense with attempting to "break the force of my argument." The two attorneys glared at one another across the counsel table for a full minute and Attorney Jones said: "I tell you I won't stand for these interruptions, I'm sticking to the evidence." At this point Judge Andrews intervened and commanded both attorneys to "remember that both of you have duties as gentlemen as well as lawyers. You will both remain in the room after court has adjourned." The court added it was the sole judge of what should go into the records, and "realizing the expense of the trial to the state, would keep them clear of error. Attorney Jones was then permitted to finish his remarks and he was followed by E. W. Davis, who closed the case for Miss Clarke. When Attorney Davis concluded, Alexander Ackerman, counsel for Patterson, briefly reviewed the evidence against his client, and with the conclusion of his

LENA IN JAIL UNTIL CASE SETTLED ABOUT HER SANITY

ORLANDO, Dec. 3.—(By the Associated Press).—Lena M. T. Clarke is being held in the Orange county jail here today following a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity returned late yesterday by the jury which tried her on the charge of murdering Miltimore. Patterson, tried jointly on the same charge, was acquitted without reservation. Judge Andrews ordered Lena Clarke held in jail until he could determine his future action. She cannot be committed to an asylum until a commission passes on her sanity.

address the court recessed until 2:30 p. m.

Immediately the session reconvened Judge Andrews began reading his instructions to the jury. He included in this a definition of what might constitute a reasonable doubt as to guilt or innocence and related the law governing the plea of insanity. He also charged the jury to reach a decision in the case, remarking, informally, that the state had gone to great expense for the trial and much valuable time of the court had been occupied with consideration of the case. Under the charge the jury could have found the defendants guilty of murder in the first degree, murder in the second degree, or manslaughter, or not guilty of any and all charges. The defendants, according to the court, could have been found guilty or innocent jointly or singly. At the conclusion of the charge the jury retired returning at 5:47 with the verdict. A few moments later Miss Clarke was returned to her cell in the county jail to await the next development in the complicated circumstances which have surrounded her since she came to this city last August.

The address on behalf of the prosecution by State's Attorney Joseph H. Jones, it is generally conceded, was one of the most able discourses delivered before the jury. Col. Jones spoke of the killing of Miltimore, as "one of the most heartless, useless, degrading and cruel crimes ever perpetrated in the state of Florida." He recited the evidence of Postal Inspector Graham, which was to the effect that the shortages in the accounts of the Palm Beach post office dated back to 1917, long before the time when Lena Clarke accused Miltimore of stealing funds. The attorney recalled the testimony of Chief of Police Ed. Vestel concerning the confession Lena Clarke made on the night Miltimore's body was found in the San Juan hotel. It was considered the tensest moment of the trial when C. C. Chillingworth of the defense interrupted Mr. Jones for the third time and the silver-haired attorney, turning like a tiger, denounced as unfair, what he termed attempts to break the force of his argument. For a moment it seemed the opposing counsel would come to blows, but the intervention of Judge Andrews prevented further trouble. The justice commanded the principals of the verbal battle to remain after court adjourned, but in the maze of circumstances surrounding the closing of the trial he evidently forgot to enforce his order for nothing more was heard from the bench pertaining to the affair.

Col. Jones finished his speech with an attack on the insanity plea and as he brought each point out clearly, it was evident that the earnestness of his appeal was impressing the jurors. He said that Lena Clarke had planned her every action carefully and deliberately since last August 1, and referred to her as "the most dangerous woman" he had ever known during his long career as a prosecutor. The case was closed for Miss Clarke by Edward W. Davis, who has directed the forces of the defense throughout the trial. Mr. Davis said it was "one of the saddest duties" he had ever performed to enter a plea of insanity for Lena Clarke. "To think,"

WOULD RATHER HANG THAN BE SENTENCED TO INSANE ASYLUM

ORLANDO, Dec. 3.—(By the Associated Press).—"I would rather be hanged and buried here than go to Chattahoochee," Miss Clarke told a newspaper man today. "I would rather be dead than judged insane. If I had killed Miltimore and known what I was doing I would have turned the pistol on myself, foreseeing the end." She was nearer a breakdown this morning than at any time during the period in jail. A member of the jury which tried the case, said today the verdict was reached on the first ballot. Judge Andrews expected to announce at two o'clock this afternoon his decision as to disposition.

DEFENSE WITNESS IN ACTOR'S CASE FOUND POISONED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—The poisoning of Mrs. Irene Morgan, a leading witness for the defense, and the beginning of the closing arguments of both sides were the outstanding developments today in the trial of Roscoe C. Arbuckle. Leo Friedman, an assistant district attorney, made the first exposition of the prosecution's contention that it had presented an unbreakable chain of evidence to link the comedian with the death of Virginia Rappe, whom it charges Arbuckle injured at a party in his rooms at the Hotel St. Francis here. Gavin McNab began what was expected to be the defense's only address, but was interrupted by adjournment of court for the day.

Systematic police search was begun tonight for the stranger alleged to be responsible for the poisoning of Mrs. Irene Morgan, Los Angeles nurse and defense witness in the trial of Roscoe Arbuckle. The district attorney announced his entire force would aid in the investigation.

Mrs. Morgan was found unconscious in her hotel room. She told of being accosted last night and again today by a man she had seen during the Arbuckle trial. She said the man had given her candy twice and that both times eating this candy had been followed by illness. No connection between Mrs. Morgan's experience and the trial in progress has been discovered, authorities say.

Martin Proves Alibi in Orlando Case, Detective With Him

May Be Black Hand Case With Italians All Through It

ORLANDO, Dec. 2.—The mystery surrounding the killing of R. Casoletto in the Astor hotel early Wednesday morning, remains unsolved in spite of the surrender, to local police, of the "dark stranger" who registered as W. E. Martin, of Cleveland, in whose room Casoletto's body was found a few moments after the fatal shots were fired.

Martin's name is William Earp and he is held on investigation in the local jail, though no charge has been preferred against him. His identity has been known to Chief Vestel, Postal Inspector Graham and a representative of the Orlando Morning Sentinel since a few hours after Casoletto's body was found in the hotel, but was not made public because it was feared the man would be aided in making his escape by confederates had it become known that his identity was established. Earp has cleared himself of connection with the killing by establishing a complete alibi.

R. Grant, a special detective, said last night he left here in company with Earp at 12:59 Monday night, going to Palatka, where both registered at the James hotel. From there the two men went to Bunnell, where Earp says he was to meet friends for a card game. Both men remained there until yesterday afternoon when Earp learned through newspaper accounts that he was wanted in Orlando. Grant phoned police that Earp was with him and would return if he was wanted here. He arrived yesterday evening and was placed in the jail where he will be held on investigation. Earp said last night he told the proprietor of the Astor hotel that he would be out of town for several days and he was unable to account for the presence of anyone in his room. Little is known of Grant, who is not inclined to discuss the nature of his work, though he is known to be a detective and is acquainted with hundreds of confidence men and pickpockets in various sections of the country. He has done police work in Orlando on former occasions.

Police have now turned their entire energies to a search for the man who was seen with Casoletto the day before the killing. He is described as being dark but much smaller than Earp, though still above the average size. His description has been wired to police in various cities, but as yet nothing has been received here bearing on his relation to the case.

MIDWINTER FASHION SHOP WAS WONDERFUL DISPLAY OF CHARMING APPAREL

Baumel's Specialty Shop put on their Mid-Winter Fashion Show at the Parish House last night to a large audience. The Fashion Show came at the end of the bazaar and like all of the Specialty Shop's affair was a great success. Mention of the show is made in another column but it is sufficient to say it was voted by the ladies (and some of the men) to be one of the prettiest shown anywhere in the south. The models were Sanford young ladies and they showed off the beautiful gowns and hats to perfection. Baumel's Specialty Shop can be congratulated upon their enterprise in giving Sanford people these reasonable fashion shows. They are always enjoyed.

CAR LOAD OF FURNITURE EVERY WEEK IS RECORD OF SANFOD FURNITURE CO.

The Sanford Furniture Co., announces that they are doing more business than ever before and not only furnishing local homes with the best of everything in the furniture line but are sending goods out to other cities east and west and north and south of Sanford. They deliver goods to adjacent points free over $25 worth and last week received and sold a car load of furniture and have another car coming in today.
They have a solid car of the new Kaitax furniture that is taking the country by storm as it is suitable for this climate and is good for the dining room, living room or porch. Watch the daily Herald for their advertisement next week.

JAZZ ORCHESTRA AT THE VALDEZ PLEASED BIG CROWD

Miss Canova and her Jazz Band put on a great show at the Valdez Hotel last night. The vaudeville features were especially well received and the musical numbers among the best that have been given to a Sanford audience this season. Jimmy Collins who is putting on the band here said he had something good for the people of Sanford in the musical review line and he made good. On account of the many other attractions last night the Jazz Band did not have the crowd that it deserved but those who were present will say enough about it to guarantee a big crowd for the next attraction which will be next week. The Jazz Band has consented to remain music at the Valdez Hotel for lunch and dinner tomorrow.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL

Anna Canova and her Jazz Band will furnish music at Valdez Hotel tomorrow Sunday. Lunch 12:30 to 2. Dinner 6 to 9.

ABOUT RECENT FIGURES

TO THE PEOPLE OF SANFORD:

Our committee had for its purpose the nominating of a candidate for City Commissioner to fill the place of the one whose term expires with the end of the year. Several names were before the committee, and after a sort of sifting out process Hon. Forrest Lake was selected as the man who could best serve the city and its people. We had no idea of getting into politics, and have no such idea yet, as it was and is our understanding that one of the claims made for the present regime is that it would eliminate politics from our city government. In this latter however, it seems not to have been successful, since the whole power of the present city government, in so far as it can be controlled, has been placed at the disposal of the one of their number seeking re-election.

As evidence of this fact we find them organizing what they term a "GOOD GOVERNMENT LEAGUE," but what is in truth and fact a campaign committee, for the purpose of perpetuating themselves in office. This committee, under its high-sounding name has sent out propaganda which is its own refutation. They make the claim that they have distributed during the year 1920 something like $147,000.00 out of a tax roll of $73,135.53, without accounting for money spent for weekly and monthly payrolls, and petty cash accounts allowed the City Manager. They are entitled to no credit for money from the 1919 tax roll, and they had not collected one dollar of the 1921 tax roll when this statement was made. Therefore, they make claim to the impossible, and think the people are gullible enough to swallow it.

In yesterday's Sanford Herald this same so-called Good Government League (in fact Stevens Campaign Committee) attempt to challenge every true and accepted principal of good government. They boast that in one year they have caused crime to increase in our city by something like three fold over what it was the year before, and they cite this as an evidence of efficiency. Every person who knows anything, knows that it is a fact accepted by all educators and economists that the best evidence of a well governed community is shown in its decreased crime and the decreased result thereof. We have seen where cities in untold numbers have boasted of their good government in the community, and every one of them cites as evidence of that fact that crime has decreased with its attendant consequences or results, and they cite the records of their municipal courts. Many of these committees refer to their jail as closed, their prisons as being converted into institutions for the betterment of mankind.

Ours is the first community we have seen where its officials have openly boasted that they regarded the enforcement of law in the community as a sort of criminal industry whereby to add shekles to the till, jobs to the force, and salaries to the jobs, and make the claim that this is evidence of good government. If it be evidence of good government, then the only thing to do is to plant more criminals and get the money by the same multiple of three every year, and soon ours will be a modern city.

We think, however, with the leading educators and economists, that the best evidence of a well governed community is the fact that crime and the necessity for large numbers of law enforcement officials have been reduced to the minimum. We further think that when a man, or men, make the claim that because crimes and the revenues from it have been increased by the present city administration, that this is cause for elation, it shows that those making such claim have no true conception of what it takes to constitute good government.

THE SOIL IS THE SOURCE OF ALL WEALTH

To promote the success and prosperity of the agriculturist—the farmer, the grove operator—is to promote the welfare of all mankind.

The agriculturist cannot produce abundantly if he is denied the fruits of his labor. That which makes for increased yield, reduced cost or more profitable return on the farm, or in the grove, benefits the whole of society.

This bank is only occasionally afforded the opportunity of directly aiding the individual farm or grove operator, but it is constantly promoting the agricultural interests of this section by constructive dealings with those institutions and business concerns whose activities bring them directly in contact with the followers of agricultural pursuits.

Nothing succeeds like success and nothing dampens enthusiasm like a pessimistic soul who thinks the country is going to the devil.

Justice seems to have full sway in Alabama. Dispatch from Montgomery says that two negroes were hanged in the jail at that place.

Man in Washington wants his marriage annulled on the grounds that he was kidnapped and made to marry the woman that he had never seen. Yes, that's old stuff. All of us were kidnapped.

The meat packers in Chicago have struck but we don't want the meat men in Sanfr to find it out. It might raise the price of Florida beef—sort of a sympathetic strike for higher wages as it were.

"Corn is Still King" says a dispatch from Washington. We'll say it is and yeast and raisins are queens and "skimmings" and bran mash and sugar and other "ingredients" are the full house.

"Florida Must Stamp Out the Liquor Business," says William Jennings Bryan in a speech at Jacksonville. Other men have said it before William said it. But saying and doing it are quite different. To stamp it out one must have larger boots than the bootleggers. Some stamp.

This is a good month for acquittals and we suppose that Fatty Arbuckle having already paid out a million or more will get his acquittal today. Another week or so will see him quitting his wife again and then for the old life with probably another show girl killed.

Those attorneys on the Lena Clarke case who shook their fists at each other in the court room must have enjoyed a huge joke on the public as they clasped hands and talked over old times in some private office after the trial. It is a great life.

New York financiers will establish three pre-cooling plants at Sanford. It means the working of a three million dollar company for Sanford. This is only another spoke in the fast-developing wheel of the Celery City.—Reporter-Star.

If the jury on the Lena Clarke case acquitted her because they doubted her sanity then she should certainly be confined to an asylum until her true condition is known. There are enough sane people using guns to keep down the population figures without having insane ones running loose and the law being out on men.

FLORIDA JUSTICE

A friend dropping into our sanctum this morning wanted to know if we intended to write an editorial about the miscarriage of justice in Florida as exemplified in several instances lately.

To which the reply is that no such editorial is forthcoming.

For many years in this state the editor of the Herald has called attention to the fact that if a person had money enough they could commit almost any crime and get by with it for money procures good attorneys and good attorneys do the rest. For years we have asked that juries use more judgment in their decisions, pay more attention to the evidence and less to the silver-tongued orators of the legal profession and there would be more people in the prison farm at Raiford.

This paper will not call attention to the cases of recent origin.

Neither will it produce any editorial on Florida justice. The subject is too well known to need any editorials. It is in the class with other antediluvian ideas that seem to hang over in Florida and until they are dissipated the state will never come into its own.

Florida justice may be all right at times and we doubt if there are any more peculiar decisions rendered in Florida than in other states but it does look like crime will never be suppressed as long as human life is held so cheaply that it is difficult to convict one of taking it. However, we have hopes.

OVER-ORGANIZATION.

Newton P. Yowell recently pleaded with a certain organization not to force an office upon him. He said that his heart was in the work and his sympathy with the cause, but that he held official positions in so many organizations already that he had scarcely any time at home. That his evenings were taken up with outside meetings and most of his dinners at meetings where home business or philanthropic subjects were to be discussed, and that he found but little time for the quiet of home.

Here is a subject for serious thought. Mr. Yowell is only one of many business men who are in that unhappy predicament. The question is, are we not over organized? Too many organizations appearing on the business and social horizon; most of them worthy in their conception, but in most part overlapping some other organization. These organizations have multiplied until, as Mr. Yowell said, a man has no time to spend in his home and with his family. This is all wrong. No man should be denied the home privileges and blessings by the demands of society or business.

In every city there are organizations on top of organizations, each demanding some part of a business man's time and money. He is compelled to spend too much of his time away from his business in attending to what may be summed up as organization plans rather than matters of very much public interest. Some one gets an idea in his head and he immediately starts out to sell it. If he is a good propagandist, he succeeds. He sells his idea to a few men, and others have to come in as a matter of self defense. There is expense attached to all of these organizations, and no man can be away from his business much of his time without loss. Indeed, much of the high cost of living may be traced to the unnecessary and the burdensome. There are some organizations that serve a useful purpose to society and business and these should have the support of business men. But there should be a co-ordination of effort so that one organization will not overlap another. Our social organization is becoming so complex and so exacting that business men are breaking down under the strain.

There is but one way for business men to save themselves from this growing tendency, and that is, to get together and agree to refuse to support the unnecessary organizations and to concentrate their efforts on those that are capable of handling the social and business questions that are of community interest. Too many thrillers find a way of slipping into meetings where business men are accustomed to gather to discuss community affairs, and these thrillers

JUST KIDS—To the Gallers.

By A4 Carie

with ideas to sell, take entirely too much of the time needed for real affairs.

That community is best, where the most business men keep in touch with their homes. The home is the most important institution in the community; any community so highly organized that men do not find time for home life, is in a bad way. The home and the church can not be neglected without great injury to society. Business and society will largely be what the home and church make them. As a man's home and church relationships are, so will be his business and social relations.—Reporter-Star.

BOATS NOT AS SLOW AS THEY SEEM

Among the other interesting statements to which Henry Ford has recently given utterance was this:

"River freight is cheap freight and it is fast freight compared with the average freight train transportation of today."

At first blush, it seems almost ridiculous to talk about river freight being fast, yet waterway transportation has been found to be just that. Several years ago the Sloss-Sheffield Co. shipped iron from Sheffield furnaces to Ohio river crossings by barges and it shipped also by freight cars. In many instances the barges arrived at their destination before the cars did. The barges traveled slowly like the tortoise, but they did not go to sleep at sidetracks and in congested switching yards.

Past steamers plying between San Francisco and New York this year made greater speed than trans-continental trains carrying the same kind of cargo.

Undoubtedly freight trains move faster than ships while moving but it is equally true that waterways, free of sidetracks and switches, eliminate delays.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

YOUR TOWN AND YOU

Up in Brooksville in our neighboring county there is a bank which is spreading a healthy propaganda that might be effective in almost any city or town. Among other things this bank says in an advertisement:

"No man ought to live in a place unless he thought that the place was the best location beneath the sun. He reflects on his intelligence when he kicks because he has full freedom to go where he pleases. Men who are worth something to a community, to society, to civilization, are the ones who have faith in those around them and who find that which is commendable in their town, rather than to fall out with."

And then to put forth the other side of the question the effect of such an attitude upon the visitors the bank says:

"When we visit a city the individual who wins our respect and friendship is the one who begins to tell us about all the good things in the city. The more enthusiastic he becomes the better we like him. But when a fellow begins to knock and talk hard times and to question the honesty of all those around him we never go back to have another conversation with that fellow."

Isn't this good advice for any town city? How does it appeal to you as a resident of St. Petersburg?—St. Petersburg Times.

Tell your friends to vote for H. R. Stevens, next Tuesday. Safe, dependable man. 216-2c tree and where one can be assured of a concert by one of the best bands

in this part of Florida.

This concert is not in the regular order of concerts but is given by the hand to the people of Sanford and vicinity.

Remember the concert will be given at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon in Central park. Everybody welcome to come out and enjoy the music.

HOLY CROSS BAZAAR

Did you guess who "Sylvia was?"
Well she revealed herself last night at the Parish House and whom do you think she was? One of the members of the St. Agnes Guild, Mrs. Wm.
Belding, now were you not surprised,
you thought it was some one else,
didn't you? And wasn't she attractive? Did you go to the bazaar last evening? If you didn't you missed a feast. It certainly was one of the finest and most attractive bazars
that has ever been held in Sanford.

The Parish House, which is so well adapted for affairs of this sort, was never more attractive than it was Thursday and Friday, with its numerous booths decorated to represent the many interesting places of the Orient, and the becoming and bewitching frocks of the members of the Guild's made one think they were in Cairo, Egypt instead of Sanford. All sorts of fancy work, children's toys and garments, flowers and in fact everything that goes to make up a bazaar was on sale, and did you notice their prices? Now were they not reasonable and who ever heard of such bargains?

Last night an oyster supper was served and other good things too were for sale and the waitresses were a hoey of pretty young girls wearing Oriental costumes.

After supper and the revelation of the mystery of Sylvia, there was a "Fashion Show" by Hammel's Specialty Shop, the models being four of Sanford attractive young ladies. Misses Daphne Wimbish, Mildred Holly,
Thelma Frazer and Mrs. Hal Wright, wearing some of the smartest creations of the season. Each model being received with great applause. The music for the evening was furnished
by Peter Schaal and James Robson
and was especially good.

TRUCK

By a Sanford Celery-Fed
Man

Years ago I advocated to the people of Florida that they should build cellars to their houses. Now they have to carry it on the hip.

Cough up from your coffers and buy
Red Cross seals for the coughers.

Really, Some Artist, Believe Me!
(Columbia City, Ind., Commercial Mail.)

Mr. Levine displayed his wonderful executive skill and technique. His fingers were everywhere at home on the piano keys, and his contrast and shading of musical tones was wonderful. With his fingers running up and down the keys in heavy arpeggio work, he would end his cadenzas with a beautiful, mellow, basic tone or chord that completed the musical thought and closed very beautifully the musical motive and idea.

With her fervid imagination Lena Clarke should have sold oil stocks.

A fine cage won't feed the bird.

A Fine Christmas Present
How to make a muffler: Take five 3-pound tomato cans, trim the tops and bottoms, stick them together with chewing gum; screw in each end the back of a hair brush. Paint with iodine and then loop inch-wide ribbons on either end so it can be attached to the exhaust pipe.

Editor Truck: How many sexes are there? Answer: Three—male, female and in.

Every time oysters are in season I wonder what the man thought who ate the first oyster.

Every good Florida orange is a hoast for Florida. Every cull is a knock.

Wonder if the girls will hang their half-stockings up for Christmas?

Idiosyncrasies of Sanford People
Did you ever notice that E. A.
Douglass, the clerk of the Circuit Court never ties his four in hand necktie?

Or that Attorney J. J. Dickinson always wears a white choker collar?
Or that Judge Schelle Maines likes
red neckties?

FORREST LAKE STATES HIS POSITION.

To the Voters of Sanford:

It has come to my attention that efforts are still being made to have the people believe that if elected City Commissioner I would disrupt our present form of government.

Now nothing could be further from the truth than such propaganda, for the following reasons:

First: I will be only one of three commissioners and could not do any act without being joined by one or more of the others.

Second: The City Commissioners cannot under the law abolish the present charter, even though they all combine.

The city charter can only be changed by an act of the legislature, or by a vote of the people themselves.

Furthermore, I have no desire to upset the present form of government, as it is the substance that counts in anything, and not the form.
However, there can doubtless be some improvements made in the present charter as has already been demonstrated, for example, the present method of nominating candidates; but such improvements are matters for the legislature, or for the people themselves, and cannot be effected by the commissioners.

I believe that the administrative affairs of the city can be run on a more economical basis than is being done at present, and at the same time,
with greater efficiency, and if elected
I shall work to that end.

I believe that the law requiring a budget for each fiscal year's revenues and expenses should be rigidly followed, and that the administrative affairs of the city should be conducted on that basis.

I have made no statement or promise of what I shall do if elected, and shall not do so, except such public statements as may be published with my signature, as is this one.

Sincerely,
FORREST LAKE.
