Sanford Port Authority Considers Additional Building

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

The time is right to construct another building at the Port of Sanford, port authority Executive Director Dennis Dolgner says.

Dolgner told Seminole County port authority board members Tuesday the authority's three buildings are currently "100 percent occupied."

Low interest rates, a continuing slump in construction and a projected business boom in the area make the timing right for construction of another building at the port complex west of Sanford.

The port authority already has a contract with Clifton Construction Co. of Cocoa to construct two more buildings.

Dolgner presented board members with a cost estimate of $207,000 for a new 16,000-square-foot metal building. The authority contracted with Clifton to build the first facility at the industrial park in 1975 after they could find no financing to construct it on their own.

After the building was completed, the authority contracted with Clifton to construct four more buildings. Two of those buildings have been constructed.

But Port Authority board member Wendell Agee told Dolgner he is uncomfortable with some of the figures in the cost estimate.

"Our next building is going to have to be under a competitive basis," Agee said.

He claimed that estimates compiled by Clifton were too high. The estimate projected costs of $33,000 for site work and $15,000 for paving plus about $20,000 as profit for the construction company.

He objected to the company including costs for supervisory personnel at the job site plus taking a 10 percent profit for construction. Supervisory costs should come from the firm's profits, Agee said.

But Dolgner said the cost of the building can be pared. He explained that the contract with Clifton allows the port authority to audit the firm's books to ensure that no more than 10 percent profit is earned. The firm must also take bids for all sub-contracting work.

Agee said few construction firms are earning a 10 percent profit under current market conditions.

The contract with Clifton has been beneficial to the authority. Under the terms of the deal, the authority and the builder share the profits from leases at the complex until the 25-year mortgage on the buildings is paid.

The authority earns about $3,400 each month on leases from the buildings.

Board member David Lanier, a certified public accountant, said the board might want to consider reducing the mortgage term from 25 years to 15 years. There would be a larger monthly payment but the authority would have complete control over the buildings in a shorter time, he said.

Dolgner said the contract with Clifton is good for the authority because the construction firm arranges the financing for the buildings.

He cited the authority's recent failure to get financing for the San-Dal Manufacturing, a sportswear manufacturer which sought to build at the port complex as evidence the authority needs the Clifton arrangement.

The firm eventually located in another Sanford area industrial park.

Dolgner said there is plenty of evidence that business construction in the area will take off soon.

"I feel the market is strong enough for a couple of reasons," Dolgner said. "Clifton has taken on a full time realtor staff and the IDC (Industrial Development Commission of Mid-Florida) has been calling regularly."

The board did not have a quorum at the meeting and could take no official action. The meeting was re-scheduled for 4 p.m. Jan. 26 at the authority's office.

Inspectors From DER Check Odor From Pit

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Officers of the state Department of Environmental Regulation were slated today to inspect a filling operation at an abandoned clay pit that adjacent property owners say is causing nauseating odors in their neighborhood.

Tom Sawicki, DER hazardous and solid waste engineer, said he personally will inspect the property and also will call in dredge and fill people in the state agency to look into the problem.

Residents of Hidden Lake subdivision in Sanford have been complaining for weeks that the odors resembling sulphur and much like those found around paper and pulp mills have been permeating their neighborhood from the Peacock property adjacent to the developer.

Ralph H. Peacock, who with his wife, Violet, and nephew, James I. Durs Jr., owns the property, has said that building materials are being dumped into water standing in the 10-to-12 foot deep hole. "The odors may be a reaction to the plywood or sawdust and once the water is covered this should cease," Peacock said.

Meanwhile, Hidden Lake property owners who live near Peacock's Art Lane property north of Lake Mary Boulevard have filed complaints with every possible governmental agency, but to no avail.

Sanford City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles and City Public Works Director Bob Kelly inspected the site in mid-December, but found the 10-acre parcel on which is located the 2½-to-3 acre hole filled in large part with water. It is not within the city and thus not in Sanford's jurisdiction.

County firefighters who also looked over the site at the request of Hidden Lake residents thought the odors might be caused by "swamp gas."

A sanitarian from the environmental section of the Seminole County Health Department inspected the site and said no health hazard exists. Russ Miller of the environmental health section said a report of the findings from his department inspection was telephoned to DER.

County Land Development Manager John Dwyer said he can't find any county laws or regulations that Peacock is violating.

But the fumes and stench linger on, Hidden Lake residents complain, noting that some families have had to keep their windows shut for weeks to keep the nauseating stink out of their homes.

Peacock has said he is attempting to fill the pit in to beautify the property. He said he and his nephew plan to build homes on other parts of the property in the future.

New Seminole County Administrator T. Duncan Rose has been meeting with county officials this week to get a better feel for his new job, including a visit with Commissioner Barbara Christensen.

New County Administrator Says Growth Biggest Issue

The biggest issue facing Seminole County is growth, new County Administrator T. Duncan Rose believes.

Rose, who began his duties Monday, said county commissioners face the choice of making growth in the county easy, difficult or somewhere in between for developers.

"It's the staff's job to keep those choices clearly before them," he said.

Rose believes the county must further develop its use of computers to provide expanded services needed to cope with increased growth.

"But to throw computers at everything is a huge mistake," Rose said. Projects must be examined on a case-by-case basis to determine the best method to accomplish them.

He suggested the county would be wise to phase in increased data processing equipment over the next three to five years.

Rose was selected to succeed Roger Neiswender as county administrator over about 70 applicants. Prior to his selection, Rose served as assistant Alachua County administrator. In that office he developed Alachua County's computer management system.

The 36-year-old administrator said he will follow Neiswender "quietly." For the next six months it will be business-as-usual. "After that we will do a self-assessment to see where we need to go from there," he said.

Rose, a graduate of the same public administration program at the University of Tennessee as Neiswender and Assistant County Administrator Jim Easton, was offered the post of Altamonte Springs city manager when that position was created two years ago.

But he turned down the job, which eventually went to then-Assistant County Administrator Jeff Elchberger.

Rose said the decision was a matter of timing.

"They had never had a city manager before. I had never been a city manager before. If the job and I hadn't been right for each other it could have had long range effects on the city's policies," Rose said. "I wasn't willing to take that risk."

The Alachua County job was more in line with his professional goals, Rose said.

Rose and his wife, Linda, returned last week from a holiday trip to the Middle East. On the visit they spent time in Turkey and Israel and came back with some beautiful carpets from central Turkey.

Mrs. Rose is an artisan. She has a master of fine arts degree and has been assistant program director at the University of Florida's Craft Center.

Rose has considerable experience as a carpenter in addition to his formal education at Grove City College in Pennsylvania and the University of Tennessee.

As a youth, Rose worked with his family renovating the homes they lived in. The family worked on one house for 15 years, redoing it from the ground up.

"I thought that was the norm, that everyone did that," he said.

The Roses are currently living in a rented house in Paola. Their Gainesville home is for sale and the couple is looking for rural property in Seminole County.

Pitman Case Judge Got 40 Hate Letters

By VICTOR ASSERSON
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Judge Alan Dickey's sentencing of Miss Florida Deanna Pitman on multiple traffic offenses has not won him any popularity contests.

Dickey this week revealed he has received about 40 "hate" letters as a result of the case. The judge has yet to begin ruling on what activities he will permit to fulfill his sentence of 40 hours of community service.

Dickey said he has received about 40 critical letters since he heard Pitman's case on Aug. 20.

Dickey said he believes the hate letters were sent to him not because of his rulings on the traffic offenses to which Miss Pitman entered guilty pleas, but more likely because a charge of driving while under the influence of alcoholic beverage charge against her was dropped.

Dickey said he is no longer getting the hate mail, but he said he read each letter. The letters, some of which were signed, usually questioned why he would permit the DUI charge to be dropped.

The $50,000-a-year judge took the letters in stride, saying, "The letter writers must have thought that she got off because she is Miss Florida and that the judge is crooked."

"I didn't throw it (the DUI charge) out, the state attorney threw the DUI case out," Dickey said.

After the DUI charge had been dropped, Pitman, 22, plead guilty to careless driving, driving without a valid driving license and improper display of a tag.

She had been arrested July 16 after she knocked over a mailbox with her car.

Commenting on a suggestion that some people may have felt Pitman had received a lesser sentence because she was a celebrity, Dickey said, "My experience has been that sometimes the rich and famous have a more severe penalty imposed."

"An agreement was proposed between the two attorneys over the disposition of the case," the judge said. "My function is to look and see if that disposition shocks my conscience and it didn't shock my conscience. There are several different ways of doing community service. There is no definition of community service."

Asked if it was a useful form of punishment or open to abuse, Dickey said, "I think in my own mind the concept of community service as an alternative sentence is much more useful as an individual sentence rather than a mandatory sentence."

Pitman has asked the court to allow her public appearances as Miss Florida to count toward the 40 hours community service, including six hours spent at a party at her boyfriend's. The party was given by Kenneth Kirchner at his estate for the Florida Symphony Orchestra.

JUDGE ALAN A. DICKEY

Assistant State Attorney Alan Robinson objected to that, saying, "At her sentencing, Judge Dickey made the community service the responsibility of her attorney who would send the things into court. I had read about the ball at her boyfriend's. I am not suggesting that it does not represent a public engagement. I thought it questionable and I felt she would have been at the party anyway because it was at her boyfriend's place."

"No one has asked me to make a ruling on the party time," Judge Dickey said. "I don't know what Miss Pitman has been doing. I imposed the sentence and I asked her attorney, as an officer of the court, to report from time to time."

Among other appearances which Miss Pitman is claiming as community service include: a benefit for the Central Florida Zoo (two hours), which she made on her own; a benefit golf tournament for the Arthritis Foundation in Venice (14 hours), American Society of Travel Agents World Congress in Miami (six hours) and USO shows and a visit to patients at Regional Medical Center in Jacksonville (12 hours).

Pitman is currently in California brushing up on her dance routines and could not be reached.

Judge Dickey said there are no guidelines or rules on how community service should be carried out.

"Whenever one of the parties decides to have them determined and file a motion, a date will be set for the hearing," he said.

Seminole Charities Run Out Of Money

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Jean Holch, director of the Sanford Christian Sharing Center, is beginning to feel like Old Mother Hubbard... her cupboard is bare.

"Our food supply is nil and our January emergency funds have been spent," she said. "We've had five families, who were burned out of their homes come in for help in the past 10 days. They were in need of blankets, bedding, food, clothing and pots and pans."

The Sanford Christian Sharing Center is sponsored by local churches, who take turns staffing the center with volunteers from 9 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday. It is located at 314 Magnolia Ave. in a building owned by the Holy Cross Episcopal Church.

"January started off badly," said Mrs. Holch. "The 500 cans of food donated in December is now down to 100. We are feeding 35 to 65 persons a week. We have to buy everything, but bread, milk, peanut butter and eggs. Our egg supply will be off in February when they kill off the older layers. We have to buy canned meats for those with no place to cook."

"I feel guilty that we are not able to do more for these people," she said. "We've expended the money allocated for kerosene and when we sent people back to the Seminole Community Action office they were told there is no money for food or oil."

"All the agencies are in a bad way, they are all in the same boat we are. I hate to turn them away," said Mrs. Holch.

"I especially worry about the babies without any heat. There was one woman with 11 children and I offered to give her some kerosene if she had a container, but she didn't even have a container she could put it in."

"The HRS (Health and Rehabilitative Services) is sending us so many fruit pickers and even illegal aliens who don't speak any English," she said. "There are so many citrus workers and they are not making enough money to do any good. One man came in with a check for 20 cents which he received from an area fruit company. They had taken the rest for room and board."

Other local agencies are having their funds and resources depleted by the increased demand because of unemployment, the economy and cold weather.

"We've had a hefty increase in general welfare requests over last year," said

Seminole County Salvation Army Captain Mike Waters. "We've given out food, clothing and emergency help with utility bills. We paid the power bill for one family which had a baby on a heart monitoring machine to keep their electricity from being turned off."

Gene Keltner of the Central Florida Chapter of the American Red Cross said that an unusually large number of crisis situations with which they assisted has depleted his organization's emergency funds, as well.

Highly-Touted Windmills Yield A Powerless Harvest

By TOM TIEDE

GREENFIELD, N.H. (NEA) — For more than 200 years the people of this Carrier and Ives community have held that not much happens around here, save the weather. But that's not entirely true. In recent months Greenfield has been the site of no less than two (!) historic events.

One was the opening of the world's first windmill farm.

The second was the failure of same. Windmill farm? Well, okay, it's not the kind of thing that curls the toes. But it's made history just the same. Windmills have been used for centuries, on an individual basis; the difference here is that in 1981 an entire field of them was constructed to harvest energy from the air.

The construction took place on nearby Crotched Mountain. Everybody says it seemed like a good idea at the time. The people who own the mountain also own a medical rehabilitation center there, and the whole thing started when they began to look for ways to cut their electricity bills.

They didn't really look far. Crotched Mountain is more than 2,000 feet high, and the north face is regularly swept by winds that blow from five to 45 miles per hour. So the people on the mountain decided that they could trim their energy budget by "farming" that blustery breeze.

And others agreed. Particularly the officers of an alternative energy company called U.S. Windpower. The company was young, and enthusiastic, and it had been looking for a farming site. It agreed to install $1 million worth of windmills on the highest peak of Crotched Mountain.

The company selected a field a quarter of a mile in length. And it put up 20 mills. Each of the mills was equipped with 30-foot blades, and each was designed to produce 30 kilowatts of power. The farm was dedicated in the early spring of 1981, and the first juice was generated that December.

After that, a small sign was posted at the gate: "This is the first installation in the world of a windmill farm using an array of wind generators whose combined electrical output is fed directly into the utility power lines. The total generating capacity is 600 kilowatts in a 25 mph wind."

There were great expectations. The people who owned the mountain were to get electricity at reduced costs. The Greenfield government was to receive part of the profits from the electricity sales. And U.S. Windpower would make its mark, and go on to build other farms across the country.

Alas, things went wrong from the start. First the winds did not blow as expected. They were neither strong enough nor frequent enough to keep the blades turning. Then the mills themselves proved faulty; one by one, over the months, they were shut down due to technical difficulties.

In the end the hopes for the farm faded, and so did all the plans. Today most of the windmills are frozen, and only one can operate with any regularity. The farm was supposed to produce 1.5 million kilowatts over the past year, but the best it did was just 6,000 in a summer month.

On town selectman says the entire matter has been disappointing. Another adds that it's been downright embarrassing: Betty McLeod, the executive secretary of the Crotched Mountain

Rehabilitation Center, says it looks as if she will have to start looking for another way to cut energy costs.

Yet at least one of the concerned partners says the farm isn't a total failure. It is, after all, an ill wind that blows no good. Officials of U.S. Windpower say the Crotched Mountain construction has given them the experience and information necessary to build other farms of the kind.

The company has learned, for instance, to use bigger machines, and more of them. A spokesman for U.S. Windpower says that from now on the engineers will use 50 kilowatt mills, rather than 30 kilowatt mills, and they will increase the size of the farms from 20 mills to at least 100.

The company has already constructed a pair of 100-mill farms at the Altamont Pass region of northern California. And a third big field (400 windmills) is nearing completion. In all, the company expects it will have almost 600 wind generators producing electricity by the end of the new year.

None of them will be producing on Crotched Mountain, however. U.S. Windpower says it has given up on the mills there, and the site will very likely be closed by summer. There is just no money to be made in the local winds; in one recent month only one kilowatt of power was generated.

So much for the historic here, then. Even the weather has failed to stir things up. There is some talk about getting someone else to run the windfarm, but the view in Greenfield is not optimistic. It's going to be a long time, they say, before anything else happens around here.

Hopes were high when a unique windmill farm opened on Crotched Mountain, N.H., in 1981. But today only one of the 20 mills is working and the site will probably be closed by summer.

Hastings Trial Finally Underway

MIAMI (UPI) — A predominantly white jury of seven women and five men today began hearing the bribery-conspiracy trial of Alcee Hastings, Florida's first black federal judge and the first federal judge to be tried for crimes allegedly committed while on the bench.

U.S. District Judge Edward T. Gignoux seated and instructed the jury Tuesday, sequestered them for the night, then cleared the final trial obstructions by denying three defense motions.

Hastings, a 46-year-old Altamonte Springs native, was indicted in December of 1981 on charges of conspiracy to commit bribery and obstruction of justice. If convicted, he would face a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison.

Government prosecutors accuse him of scheming to reduce the sentences of two Fort Lauderdale racketeers convicted in his court and return some of their forfeited property in return for $150,000.

The man who allegedly took the money for Hastings, William Borders, was convicted of bribery and sentenced to five years in prison. Borders, a longtime friend of Hastings, was a prominent attorney in Washington D.C.

Hastings, who is acting as his own defense lawyer, has denied the charges against him, claiming it is a government attempt to discredit him because he is black and an outspoken critic of the Reagan administration.

Hastings complained to reporters Tuesday that the government had used most of its eight peremptory challenges of prospective jurors to eliminate blacks in "a final act of racism."

Two black women are on the jury and two black men are among the four alternates. The women are a 35-year-old telephone company clerk who is a native of Trinidad and a 30-year-old savings and loan clerk who processes student loans.

Among the alternates is the oldest person chosen, a 74-year-old retired black construction worker who lives in Miami's Overtown ghetto, scene of three days of racial violence last month. The other black male alternate is a 26-year-old drummer in a band.

Gignoux told jurors they would be closely sequestered for the duration of the trial, expected to last two to three weeks. He said they would be allowed visits from family members, telephone calls and mail, but all will be monitored by U.S. marshals.

The judge prohibited any contact with news reports, but told jurors he would arrange entertainment for their off hours, including permission for them to watch the Miami Dolphins-New York Jets AFC championship game on television Sunday.

Late Tuesday, the judge denied a defense motion to issue an appearance warrant for William C. Dredge, the FBI's tipster in the case. Government attorneys said Dredge had no role in the investigation and Gignoux said no one connected with the court knew where he was.

Gignoux also denied a defense request to rule out government evidence of Hastings' travels, which Hastings claimed was uncovered by an illegal search of his court office.

Patricia Williams, Hastings' co-counsel, sought in a belated motion to have the charges against Hastings dismissed on grounds the government plans to use evidence that would violate his 5th Amendment rights. The alleged evidence, she said, is contained in some of Hastings' letters obtained by prosecutors a year ago from Hastings' former attorney, Joel Hirshhorn of Miami, in violation of attorney-client privilege.

Any use of the letters, Ms. Williams argued, would subject Hastings to self-incrimination.

Pentagon Preparing For Nuclear Conflict

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A chilling Defense Department blueprint for rearming America directs preparations for winning an extended nuclear war against the Soviet Union and for waging war "effectively" from outer space.

The 136-page secret document, directing a significant U.S. policy shift, is peppered with references for the need to "prevail" in a prolonged nuclear war and clearly plans for expanding any conventional conflict with the Soviets to a global scale as "an essential element of U.S. strategy."

The difference between previous nuclear and conventional strategic policies and the directive of the Reagan administration outlined in the document is the difference between conducting a defensive or an offensive military campaign.

Titled "Fiscal 1984-1988 Defense Guidance," the document is accompanied by a covering memorandum dated March 22, 1982, signed by Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger. It was made available to United Press International by sources familiar with defense issues.

"The document speaks for itself," said Pentagon spokesman Henry Catto when asked for comment about the papers. He said "pretty well everything has been said" by Weinberger in reaction earlier to publication of portions of the document.

"We regret that people leak this kind of thing," Catto said. Some elements of the study appeared in late May and June in The New York Times and the Washington Post.

Reacting to a May 30 story in the Times that stated Pentagon policy-makers "have accepted the premise that nuclear conflict with the Soviet Union could be protracted," Weinberger said June 20, "We're not studying plans to fight a protracted nuclear war."

The document, a key component of President Reagan's strategy for countering the Soviets, reflects the thinking of the Pentagon and the National Security Council about the specific directions of military policy over the next five years and its general trend through the decade.

It sets priorities in policy, strategy, force and resource planning, and forms the basis for Pentagon spending projected at $1.556 trillion for that five-year period. As a general guideline for America's defense, it ignores the possibility of accommodation or peaceful coexistence with the Soviets.

The budget for fiscal 1984, the beginning year of the five-year period outlined in the document, is to be presented to Congress in several weeks.

The Pentagon's civilian leadership, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, heads of military commands throughout the world and National Security Council officials contributed to the document.

Thus, it represents a thorough outline for achieving defense goals within what Weinberger cautioned in his memo will be "the limited resources likely to be available" to the Pentagon during the five-year period.

The document makes these other major points:

—A Soviet invasion of the vital Persian Gulf oil fields would ignite a "major conflict" between the United States and the Soviet Union. It projects China as a possible U.S. ally in such a conflict.

—Far-reaching plans should be mapped to provide U.S. forces with manpower and equipment necessary to fight the Soviets on several fronts for an "indefinite period."

—Preparations should be made to "project force" and "wage war effectively" from outer space, and treaties will not be signed that prevent the United States from developing space-based weapons which "add a new dimension to our military capabilities."

—An anti-satellite weapon "should achieve" operational status by fiscal 1987.

—The United States will redress the balance of power with the Soviets and protect its security interests, "if need be without arms control."

—Modifying the Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty with Moscow, which bans more than one ABM site, should not be ruled out in seeking basing options for the MX missile.

—A nuclear war begun at sea "will not necessarily remain limited to the sea."

"Major economic difficulties" will confront the Soviets in the mid-1980s, and America should exploit them by opening "new areas of major military competition" aimed at making Soviet arsenals obsolete.

—The Army should develop a medium-range missile to replace the nuclear-tipped Lance rocket deployed in Western Europe. The Marines should create a nuclear capability for the AV-8B Harrier, an advanced U.S. version of the "jump jet" Britain used against Argentina in the Falklands war in April.

—The Air Force "should plan" to fly random patrols with AWACS — Airborne Warning and Control System — aircraft around the U.S. periphery beginning in fiscal 1984 as part of its air defense system.

The thrust of the document presumes Soviet military capability to threaten U.S. destruction, a theme administration officials have used publicly as the rationale for Reagan's unprecedented peacetime rearmament. Congress increasingly has begun questioning the wisdom of that buildup.

In a brief but intriguing paragraph in a section dealing with a possible U.S.-Soviet global conflict, the Pentagon planners urged:

"Encouragement and, if possible, logistic support will be provided to China's military initiatives that would fix Soviet ground, air and naval forces in the U.S.S.R.'s far eastern territories."

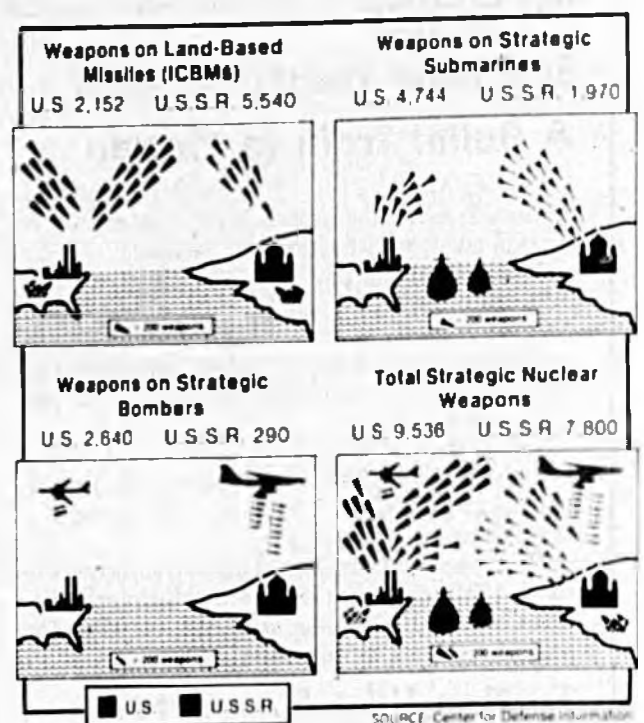

The Pentagon also envisions a "major conflict" should the Soviets attempt to seize oil reserves of the Persian Gulf with conventional forces.

The region is so vital, the document says, preparations must be made for introducing U.S. forces "should it appear that the security of access to Persian Gulf oil is threatened," even though not invaded outright. There is no need to wait for an invitation from oil producing allies, it said.

"Our principal objectives are to assure the continued access to Persian Gulf oil and to prevent the Soviets from acquiring political-military control of the oil directly or through proxies," it said. "It is essential that the Soviet Union be confronted with the prospect of a major conflict should it seek to reach oil resources of the gulf."

The Pentagon also said the nation must prepare to "wage war effectively" from outer space, and it barred any treaty which bans space-based weapons, saying such weapons "add a new dimension to our military capabilities."

Nowhere does the document bluntly state a nuclear war is winnable. But Reagan appears to go a step farther than Carter by implying victory is possible if enough weapons survive the opening and subsequent onslaughts to ensure a final strike.

The balance of American and Soviet strategic nuclear capabilities is a combination of several categories of weapons. The Soviets have more and larger warheads mounted on land-based missiles with greater throw weight. But smaller U.S. weapons are technologically more advanced and more accurate. The United States leads in both submarine-launched and airborne weapons.

Town Will Police Itself

EATONVILLE (UPI) — An offer from the Orange County sheriff for his deputies to take over the tiny police department of Eatonville, the nation's first all-black chartered community, was met with stiff resistance by town officials.

Mayor Abraham Gordon said the town has no plans to turn over its police force of five patrol officers, six dispatchers and chief to Orange County.

"We are a thriving town just like any other," said Gordon. "We plan to operate just as the town of Eatonville."

"We want to keep our police department, our fire department and all the constituencies of this town intact. That's the bottom line."

Orange County Sheriff Lawson Lamar suggested last week that his department could provide better service than the Eatonville police force to the 2,500 residents of the predominantly black town that received its charter in 1887.

Lamar said he made the suggestion after learning that Eatonville Chief Otha Abney was resigning.

Lamar also said the sheriff's department already handles most of the town's criminal investigations since Eatonville is in Orange County.

But there seems to be little support for the proposal.

"We had 30 calls asking the town not to even consider it," said Ron Rogers, administrative secretary to the mayor.

"They said that if we give up the police department, we might as well give up the town charter."

The town's police officers are among the lowest-paid in the area. But the town council boosted the police department's annual budget by almost $50,000 to $167,000 last summer, raised starting salaries to $10,000 and hired two more officers.

Gordon said he will mention the proposal to the town council at tonight's regularly-scheduled meeting "just because of the stir" the suggestion created.

If Eatonville decides to maintain its own police department, Orange County will not retaliate with less help, said a county official.

"Nothing will change in relation to the city," said Chuck Simmons, the sheriff's chief inspector. The sheriff has a legal obligation to protect an entire county and "he doesn't threaten people."

Eatonville officials said a search is continuing for a new police chief.

Analysts Say

Housing Setback Not Discouraging

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Economists in and out of government see more reasons to be encouraged than discouraged in the latest reports of a decline in housing starts and only moderate increases in the income of Americans.

The December report on housing starts, which Tuesday showed a 13 percent decline from November, nonetheless reflected continued underlying strength in the construction industry, the Commerce Department said.

The 1.22 million housing starts were 39 percent ahead of the number a year earlier.

Yet 1982 still ended as the worst year for housing production since 1946.

In a separate report the department measured a 0.6 percent increase in the personal income of Americans in December. Analysts were encouraged that wages and salaries showed some increase instead of remaining stagnant as they did in November.

Manufacturing payrolls dropped, but not as much as in November.

The figures illustrated the depth of the recession last year, showing 1982's personal income as a whole increased only 6.4 percent, the smallest advance since 1963.

The increase in building activity and in housing sales since the middle of last year, despite the December decrease, "means residential construction will be an important contributor to the general recovery which should get under way this quarter," said Robert Dederick, Commerce Department undersecretary.

"Even if starts remain at their November-December average pace new homebuilding will add about $3 billion at an annual rate to first-quarter real GNP (gross national product)," he said.

Dederick predicted this year about a 1.5 million housing units will be started, over 400,000 more than last year.

Mark Riedy, executive vice president of the Mortgage

Bankers Association, said, "The recovery lives on." He said the fact building permits increased in December means, "The trend is upward."

The annual rate of building permits, at 1,291,000 in December, was at its high point for 1982.

Administration economic policy spokesman Robert Ortner said of the income report, "Manufacturing payrolls still declined ... reflecting a further drop in employment." But on the positive side, "It was a smaller decline than in November and wasn't big enough to offset the gain in service industry and government payrolls.

"We should continue to see improvement as employment turns up," he added.

On Wall Street, stocks were down. The Dow Jones industrial average, down 10 points at mid-session after rising 3.96 Monday, fell 5.16 to 1,079.65. It came within a fraction of its all-time high of 1,092.35 in Monday's session.

Food For Poor Available

Federal surplus supplies of milk, cheese and butter will be distributed to eligible clients at the Seminole Community Action office, 1101 Pine Ave., Sanford, Thursday and Friday.

The Rev. Amos Jones, Community Action executive director, said the food will be available from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m., both Thursday and Friday.

He noted that persons 60 years old and older may receive the commodities regardless of income.

The social agency distributed cheese to the poor on two occasions last month.

Stano Headed For The Electric Chair?

DELAND (UPI) — Prosecutors will seek the electric chair for confessed mass murderer Gerald Stano if the former short-order cook, who claims responsibility for the brutal deaths of at least 34 women, is convicted in two more of those killings.

Stano, 31, who has led Florida authorities on a grisly hunt for bodies across the state and is suspected in murders in New Jersey and Pennsylvania stretching back as far as 1969, was indicted Tuesday by a Volusia County grand jury on charges he killed a pair of county residents — Mary Muldoon and Susan Bickrest.

Trial dates were set in the case, said Larry Nixon, assistant state's attorney.

If Stano is convicted of the murders, Nixon said his office "would seek the recommendation of death from the jury."

Stano currently is serving consecutive life sentences at the Florida State Prison in Starke for the murders of three Daytona Beach-area women.

If convicted of the 34 slayings, Stano would become the most prolific mass murderer in United States history. John Wayne Gacy was convicted of killing 33 young men and boys in the Chicago area.

'Deacon' Lyons Dead At 73

"Deacon" Charlie James Lyons, 73, of 1019 W. 12th St. in Sanford, one of Sanford's true "good Samaritans", died Saturday at the Kissimmee Memorial Hospital in Kissimmee.

Funeral services for Mr. Lyons will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Westside Freewill Holiness Church at 816 S. Mulberry Ave. in Sanford. The Elder Hezekiah Ross, pastor, will officiate.

Born Oct. 9, 1909, in Quitman, Ga., Mr. Lyons had been a resident of Sanford since 1922. For 35 years he cared for the aged, invalids, the helpless and homeless who came to the Good Samaritan Home for food and a clean, dry, warm shelter.

The Good Samaritan Home, which was founded by the late Mother Ruby L. Wilson in 1946, was struggling to get established when Deacon Lyons saw that help was needed to care for male patients, who were not ambulatory and able to feed themselves.

Though regularly employed elsewhere for more "money", Deacon Lyons offered to work for the Home full time if he could be paid $50 a month for personal expenses, said Good Samaritan Home President Timothy Wilson, widower of the founder. "He continued to do this for many years until we could afford to pay him more," he said.

Mr. Lyons was affectionately known as deacon by the Good Samaritan Home family because he conducted prayer services each morning at the home for the residents. Deacon was a member of the board of directors of the home and a member of the Westside

Freewill Holiness Church in Sanford.

"He spent 35 years in sacrificial service," Wilson said, "sometimes I thought he did too much. But when he had something on his mind to do he finished it. He's badly missed already."

"He lived at the home and continued to help us until he became ill and moved to his sister's home," he said.

Mr. Lyons is survived by his sister, Mrs. Nellie M. Miller, of Sanford; two brothers, Samuel Lee Lyons, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Elijah Lyons, of Fayetteville, N.C.; and a god-daughter, Ms. Rosalyn Ross, Sanford.

Calling hours for friends will be from noon to 9 p.m. Friday at Wilson Eichelberger Mortuary chapel, 1110 Pine Ave., Sanford. Burial will be in Eichelberger's Cemetery.

Temik Restrictions OK'd

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Acting on the recommendations of a commission he appointed last summer, Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner said pesticide applicators will be required to file prior notice before using Temik.

Conner approved an emergency rule Tuesday requiring 30 days prior notice before Temik can be used. The rule takes effect Feb. 1.

Conner appointed a special scientific commission in August after questions were raised about Temik's possible harmful effect on humans. The commission made its recommendations Friday after rejecting proposals calling for a limited ban on the product.

The new rule requires applicators planning to use Temik to provide the department with such information as the location of drinking water wells within the area and the amount of the pesticide to be used.

The rule also requires that Temik be used only by a licensed applicator or someone under the supervision of a licensed applicator.

Temik is used primarily to protect Florida's citrus crop from nematodes.

Among its recommendations to Conner, the commission urged development of a contingency plan to take effect if Temik residues are detected in drinking water.

Briefly

UCF Slates Grad School Test Review Courses

Prospective applicants to graduate schools and master's programs in business will have the opportunity to prepare by enrolling in admission test review courses offered in February through UCF's College of Extended Studies.

The evening courses, held on successive Mondays, will be conducted at St. Richard's Episcopal Church, 5151 Lake Howell Road, Winter Park, from 7 to 10 p.m.

Beginning Feb. 7 for six Monday evenings, the prep course for the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT) consists of a basic review of math to include arithmetic, algebra, plane and analytic geometry, charts and graphs, and a review of verbal skills. Time will be devoted to familiarizing students with the testing procedure and suggestions on getting the most out of test-taking skills. The cost is $75 and includes a textbook.

A Graduate Record Examination (GRE) review course begins Feb. 28 and offers 6-week and 8-week options. Those extending for two extra weeks will add work on verbal skills to the initial mathematics skills review. The fee for the math-only sessions is $75. An additional $25 will permit enrollment in the full eight weeks. Texts are furnished in each case.

Additional information on the graduate test review courses is available by calling the UCF College of Extended Studies at (305) 275-2123.

Air Conditioning Program

Seminole Community College Air Conditioning Refrigeration and Heating day program will start Feb. 23. This is a fulltime program from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The matriculation fee is $75 per term. The program will run 11 months or three terms.

This program provides classroom and shop experience with a practical approach which prepares the student to repair air conditioning, refrigeration and heating equipment.

Students may register at the college from now through the first day of class. This is a first come, first serve basis, according to an instructor.

Reading Council Meeting

The Seminole County Reading Council will hold its regular meeting on Monday, Jan. 24 at 7 p.m. at the Westmonte Civic Center in Altamonte Springs. Featured speaker Dr. Walter B. Barbe will speak on "Teaching the Love of Reading."

Dr. Barbe is the editor of "Highlights for Children Magazine," and has authored "Creative Growth with Handwriting" as well as eight college and professional books for teachers. He is a nationally known authority on the teaching of reading and handwriting as well as the education of exceptional children.

Following Dr. Barbe's presentation, a wine and cheese tasting party will be held. Door prizes will be included. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Patty Kimbel, president, at Wekiva Elementary School.

GED Classes Offered

Day and night classes for adults who wish to study for a high school diploma have begun at Seminole Community College. The spring schedule will include GED classes on the adult campus and also at 10 study centers located around Seminole County.

Free instruction, taught on an individualized basis, is available to all adults. For information call the college, at 323-1450, Ext. 444 and ask about the location of a GED study center in your neighborhood.

Pilot Training Schools

The Leisure Time Program at Seminole Community College is offering evening classes in Private Pilot Ground School, and Instrument Pilot Ground School.

"Private Pilot Ground School" will begin today from 7 to 10 p.m. Instrument Pilot Ground School begins Thursday, Jan. 20 from 7 to 10 p.m.

The $45 fee provides for the instructional cost for each of the course. For more information, call the Leisure Time Program at SCC.

PLATO Available At SCC

PLATO, a computerized instruction program at Seminole Community College is now available to community adults. Computer terminals are used by the students to teach a variety of topics including Chemistry, Physics, Algebra, Nursing, English and Basic Math. There is a $5 fee for the term.

The PLATO lab will be open Monday through Friday, and on Sundays. For information on scheduling computer time, call the college at 323-1450, Ext. 536.

Cook Of The Week

Her Specialty Is 'Country Cooking'

By LOU CHILDERS
Herald Correspondent

Anyone who would pull a chair up to the stove at age 11 to cook her Daddy's breakfast was bound to end up a good cook. At least that is true of Davelyn Kennedy.

Davelyn ("Davy" to her friends) moved to Chuluota last September from her home state of Oklahoma where she says she learned "country cooking" from her father and some of her aunts. Also, Davy says, "My husband's parents taught me a lot, too, like how to can vegetables."

Davy is a woman of many varied hobbies and outside interests including gardening, sewing and making crafts and guitar playing. She and her husband, Larry, have been working together since moving to Florida for her step-father, Kent Foyer, as contract supervisors of Ultima Building Maintenance Company. "We work nights," says Davy, "which does have one big plus — we don't have to get up early. But it also means we have to miss some church services we'd like to attend and make arrangements to visit our friends on the weekends when we are free."

Davy shares her Extra Flakey Pie Crust recipe and a homemade Chocolate Pie Filling that she attributes to her aunt, Betty Lansford. "Aunt Betty has always made the chocolate pies for our family gatherings — and her recipe is yummy."

Sometimes Davy alters her pie crust recipe by using 1/2 cup less flour to make "fried pies." She says, "I roll the crust 1/4-inch thick and cut it into circles using a cereal bowl for a pattern. Next, I place 2-3 heaping tablespoons of pie filling in the center, moistening the edges of the crust with water."

The circle is then folded in half and the edges pressed together, rolled up slightly, and crimped with a fork. Finally, the pies are fried in a deep fryer until golden brown and drained on paper towels. The finishing touch for the fried pies is a powdery dusting with confectioner's sugar.

Another of Davy's aunts from Oklahoma, Dot Pentz, sent the family a gift of a quart jar layered with different beans and peas and a recipe attached with a red bow for "Good Luck Soup" to be made and served Jan. 1. Davy said this soup is so good, they plan on making it a regular all winter long.

As with most good cooks, Davy becomes inventive occasionally. Her mother-in-law shared a recipe for baking chicken a rather unusual way, and Davy increased several of the ingredients to her own taste and came up with what she calls Chicken Mustard Marinade. "Once I even tried injecting the basting sauce into the chicken with a syringe and this enhanced the flavor even more than basting," she says.

If you've been looking for a recipe to use for the first warm day after the cold snap, be sure to read "My Favorite Taco Salad." This salad is a meal.

Davy says she has one main goal for her life. "I love cooking, I love my family and I really enjoy the hobbies I described," she says. But the one person she would like to be more like is her father-in-law she adds.

"When Larry and I lived in Oklahoma, I noticed that Mr. Kennedy was the happiest person I'd ever known. He was always singing, and he explained that it was the love of the Lord."

Now, Davy insists that it is her goal "that people would see Jesus in my life."

DAVY'S EXTRA FLAKY PIE CRUST

4 cups flour
1 1/2 cups shortening
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 egg
1/2 cup water
Mix first 4 ingredients. In separate bowl, beat egg, vinegar and water together. Pour on flour mixture and stir until moist. Chill 15 minutes before rolling. Yield: 4 to 5 pie crusts

CHOCOLATE PIE FILLING

2 cups milk
2 egg yolks
1 cup sugar
1-3 cup flour
3 to 4 tablespoons cocoa
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 tablespoons butter
Heat milk to boiling point over medium setting. In another saucepan combine sugar, flour, salt and cocoa. Slowly pour hot milk into sugar mixture, stirring constantly, and continue cooking until mixture thickens. Pour small amount of hot pudding into beaten egg yolks, and return to pudding, stirring vigorously. Continue cooking 3-4 minutes and remove from burner. Beat in butter and vanilla. Cool and pour into pie shell. Top with whipped topping, or meringue.

MY FAVORITE TACO SALAD

1 pound ground beef
2 packages Taco seasoning
1 head of lettuce, shredded
1 onion, chopped
1 or 2 tomatoes, diced
8-ounces cheddar cheese, grated

Davelyn 'Davy' Kennedy shares the secrets of her Extra Flakey Pie Crust, which can be altered to make delicious fried pies.

Herald Photo By Lou Childers

1 can pinto beans, drained
2 cups (or more) crushed tortilla chips
Fry ground beef, drain well. Add Taco seasoning to meat and cool. Add cooled beef to chopped vegetables, mixing well. Refrigerate 1-2 hours before serving. Spoon over a bed of crushed tortilla chips and when ready to serve, top with 8-ounces of Taco sauce. Yield: 4 servings.

CHICKEN MUSTARD MARINADE

1 whole fryer
Salt and pepper to taste
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1 stick butter
4-5 heaping tablespoons prepared yellow mustard
Place fryer in baking dish, season with salt, pepper and garlic powder by rubbing spices inside and outside of fryer. Soften butter and mix in yellow mustard. Baste fryer with mustard mixture, cover with foil and bake 45 to 60 minutes in a 350 degree oven. Baste chicken once or twice during cooking time. This recipe is also good for use in crock pot. Do not need to add any liquid — chicken makes its own.

GOOD LUCK SOUP

2-3 cups each: pinto beans, kidney beans, white Navy beans, split peas, lentils, and black eyed peas.
1. Empty all the beans into a bowl and mix well.
2. Divide beans in half, saving one half for another day.
3. Wash remaining beans. Cover with water, add 2 tablespoons salt. Cover and soak overnight in refrigerator.
4. Drain water, place beans in large soup kettle and add 2 quarts of water, ham or ham hocks and 1 large sliced onion.
5. Simmer slowly for 2 1/2 to 3 hours, adding hot water if necessary.
6. Add 1 8-ounce can tomatoes, 1 large chopped red pepper, 1 clove minced garlic, juice of 1 lemon, tiny pinch of ginger, salt and pepper to taste.
Simmer until ready to serve. Yield: 4-6 servings.

Fewer Nutrients Are Lost During Microwave Cooking

Microwave cooking is increasingly popular. There are many reasons given for this but one advanced the other day is that women regard cooking more as a chore to be done quickly than as a pleasure.

According to the Cooperative Extension at Cornell University, research finds that nutritional value of foods cooked in microwave is higher because fewer nutrients are lost or damaged during the shortened cooking time.

In the Cornell University study, up to 50 percent less Vitamin C was lost in fruits and vegetables cooked in microwave ovens when compared with traditional boiling and baking methods. The reason was that less water is used in microwave cooking and up to 70 percent less cooking time is needed.

The studies also determined that food defrosted in a microwave oven retains more nutrients than food defrosted at room temperature, again because of the shortened time required.

The American Meat Institute is devoting much thought to educating the general public in how to purchase, store and cook meat. They have published a paperback book, mainly for educators, instructors or prospective butchers, food editors, etc. This book serves as a manual of instructions on meats. One of the major interests that the editors find is cooking with microwaves. They have collected hundreds of letters asking questions with regard to the relation of the microwave and meats and have addressed some of these in their publication. We pass some of their thoughts along to you.

— Tender roasts should not be wrapped in plastic film or placed in cooking bags for roasting. This braises the meat rather than roasting.

— Prevent a roast from overcooking at edges by shielding specific areas with small pieces of foil.

— A special microwave meat thermometer is the best way to determine doneness of roasts.

Arbor Day Fete

In keeping with the State of Florida's celebration of Arbor Day, on Friday, Jan. 21, the Sweetwater Oaks Garden Club plans to plant a 15-foot red cedar tree next to the gazebo in Sweetwater Square which will be decorated during forthcoming holiday seasons.

The 29 members of the Junior Garden Club of Sabal Point Elementary School will be in attendance as well as several community leaders including Everette Huskey and Robert G. "Bud" Feather. A choral group will also sing.

The public is invited to attend the festivities, beginning at 11:30 a.m.

Take Winter Chill Off With Bowl Of Nourishing Soup

When winter winds blow, nothing tastes better than piping hot soup. Grandmother considered vegetable soup good preventive medicine to nourish and protect — a theory that's delicious to test.

Soup is high in nourishment, easy to digest and not much bother. Poured into a thermos, the taste and aroma of your kitchen can travel to school lunchrooms and office desks, providing a warm and inexpensive home-away-from-home meal.

These two delicious soup recipes are packed with goodness in flavor and nutrition. Creamy Fresh Carrot Soup is elegant enough for a special dinner yet easy to prepare for everyday fare, requiring only 20 minutes of simmering before going into the blender.

Carrots are one of the richest sources of vitamin A, among many other nutrients, according to the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association. When selecting carrots, they should be firm, smooth and well-shaped.

A sustaining soup filled with luscious root vegetables brings a special warmth to a cold night. In Quick Winter Vegetable Soup, potatoes, turnips and cabbage join carrots, celery and onions for a great, fresh taste. Potatoes are excellent sources of vitamin C and many B vitamins, especially thiamine and niacin. Buy firm, reasonably well-shaped potatoes that aren't wilted, sprouted or green-tinged. Turnips, which are very low in calories and have a good amount of vitamin C, should be heavy in relation to size as well as smooth and firm. When selecting cabbage for Quick Winter Vegetable Soup, be sure to purchase firm heads that are heavy for their size, with outer leaves relatively free of blemishes. Cabbage is a star performer nutritionally, with a wonderfully high concentration of vitamin C. It also provides ideal roughage and is low in calories. In this recipe, these healthful and hearty root vegetables are seasoned with thyme and parsley to bring out their savory tastes.

Either warming soup can be served as a lunch, appetizer or a snack to ward off winter's bite.

CREAMY FRESH CARROT SOUP

- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 4 cups sliced fresh carrots (about 8 large)
- 4 cups chicken stock
- 2 cups light cream or half & half
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

In a medium saucepan melt butter; saute onion and celery until tender. Add carrots and stock, bring to boil. Cover. Reduce heat. Simmer 20 minutes, until carrots are tender. Puree in blender or food processor; return to saucepan. Add light cream, nutmeg, and pepper. Simmer 5 minutes longer until heated. Makes: 2 1/2 quarts.

QUICK WINTER VEGETABLE SOUP

- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup chopped onion (1 large)
- 1 cup diced celery (2 ribs)
- Two-thirds cup diced carrots (about 4 small)
- 8 cups beef stock
- 1 cup pared, diced potato (1 large)
- 1 cup pared, diced turnip (1 large)
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh

- parsley
- 1/4 teaspoon dried leaf thyme
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup shredded cabbage

In large saucepan, melt butter; saute onion and celery

5 minutes. Add stock, carrots, potato, turnip, parsley, thyme, and pepper. Bring to a boil. Cover. Simmer 30 minutes. Add cabbage. Cook 5 minutes longer. Makes: 2 1/2 quarts.

Soup's on with Quick Winter Vegetable Soup, a warming and hearty winter meal.

Double Ring Rites Unite Johnnie Bennett, K.G. Brown

Johnnie Bennett and Kelvin Glenn Brown are announcing their marriage today. They were united in Holy Matrimony Dec. 18, at 3 p.m. at New Bethel Missionary Baptist Church, Sanford. The Rev. Robert Doctor performed the double ring and candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Johnnie Lee Bennett and the late Mrs. Annie Ree Bennett of Belle Glade. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie James Brown, 79 Lake Monroe Terrace, Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the radiant bride chose for her vows a formal white organza gown, styled along Southern Belle lines enhanced with imported Venice lace. Her cathedral train of embroidered lace was attached to a Venice lace tiara.

Miss Alice Bennett, sister of the bride, attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a burgundy taffeta gown with pink lace and carried a cascade of pink carnations.

Bridesmaids were Gloria Bennett, sister of the bride, Syberina Milton, Hope Saunders and Minnie Smith. Their gown and flowers were of pink and burgundy.

Ricky Davis served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Gregory Hardy and Kenny Brown. Groomsmen were James Barnes, Robert Guy, Willie Brown Jr. and Curly Brown, brothers of the groom.

MR. AND MRS. KELVIN GLENN BROWN

Latonya Bennett and Michelle Nathan were flower girls, and Julius Bennett was the ring bearer.

The reception was held at Westside Recreation Center. Following a wedding trip to Savannah, Ga., the bridegroom will assume his duties with the United States Army. The bride is a full time student at Seminole Community College.

Thoughts Of Car Trouble Puzzle Lone Night Driver

DEAR ABBY: You could help a lot of females if you'd answer this question: What does a girl (or woman) do if her car breaks down on the highway and she is alone at night? My mom says I should sit in the car with the windows rolled up and the doors locked, and wait for a police car to stop.

But a friend of mine said I should get out of the car and hide while waiting for the police to come by because if a potential attacker should find you, locked doors and windows would not prevent him from carrying out his intentions. Another friend told me I should try to flag down someone for help, but how long can you wait out in the open in the winter?

I'm an attractive 19-year-old woman who lives in a small Midwestern town. Many friends live in adjacent towns. I am alone on the highway quite a lot at night, and my mom is worried.

I'm really puzzled. What's the safest thing to do should I have car trouble alone at night on a highway?

SITTING DUCK

Dear Abby

DEAR DUCK: Turn your emergency blinkers on and/or lift your hood to indicate you have car trouble. Then sit in your car with the windows rolled up and the doors locked. If an older couple stops and offers to help, the chances are it would be safe to go with them. If a lone man stops, and he looks questionable, roll your window down just enough to talk to him, but not wide enough for him to get his hand through the window. Ask him to send the police or a tow truck to help you. I wouldn't recommend flagging anyone down or "hiding."

An ounce of prevention: Minimize your chances for "car trouble" by making sure that you have plenty of gas and that your car is in good condition.

Always keep a signal flare and a flashlight in your car. And, of course, if you have a CB radio, you'll never be a sitting duck — you'll be a lucky duck!

DEAR ABBY: I have enjoyed your column for years, but there's something that mildly irritates me: What's the virtue of "I'll call him Joe" — or whatever name they submit?

First of all, who knows if that's his real name, and second, who cares? Please explain.

I find this and "not his real name" equally distracting. MERT (MY REAL NAME) IN FLORIDA

DER MERT: Sometimes the writer does this to mask the identity of the people in his letter, otherwise it could be very embarrassing — or worse yet, libelous.

Sometimes I change the names for the same reasons, and I use "not his real name" to ensure that readers will not mistakenly think a person mentioned in one of my letters is someone they know.

Students Compete For Art Awards

Award-winning art work and photography by middle and senior high school students in Brevard, Orange, Osceola and Seminole Counties will be displayed in the seventh annual Central Florida Regional Scholastic Art Awards Exhibition sponsored by Robinson's of Florida. The exhibit will be held in Robinson's Orlando Fashion Square store, Feb. 12-28.

Entries are being submitted to Robinson's this month by art teachers in both public and on-public secondary schools as the best work by their students. A panel of outstanding artists and photographers in the community will select winners for inclusion in the regional show.

Art work and photography chosen as Blue Ribbon Finalists for the regional exhibition will later be sent to New York for the national Scholastic Art Awards competition conducted annually by Scholastics Inc. National winning entries will be displayed in the 56th annual National High School Art Exhibition in New York in late spring. Photographs winning national honors will be exhibited in New York in late summer.

National art judges will select winners of approximately 400 gold medals mounted on plaques with winner's name engraved, 100 scholarships to art schools and colleges, and 600 honorable mention certificates. A Hallmark Honor Prize of $100 will be awarded for the best painting or drawing from each region, and a Kodak Medallion of Excellence is offered for the best photography entry from each region. Scholarships are awarded based on selection by national judges of portfolios submitted by graduating seniors and chosen by regional judges.

The aim of the Scholastic Art Awards program is to encourage and recognize talent in art among high school students. Now in its 56th year, the program that started as a painting and drawing competition has grown to encompass categories in graphic and textile design, pottery, jewelry, three-dimensional design (crafts), oils, watercolors, photography and drawing in various mediums.

The program was initiated by Maurice R. Robinson in the 1920s when he was president and publisher of The Scholastic Publishing Company, forerunner of Scholastic Magazines. He was impressed in visits to high schools by the creative and intellectual talents of youth and decided something should be done to encourage this talent in a way comparable to the recognition given young athletes. In 1923 he started a Prize Story contest for high school youth, and in 1925 added an art contest for the magazine's cover design.

The response to the art contest was so great that the first Scholastic Art Awards exhibit was held in 1928 at the Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh. Since then the Scholastic Art Awards have become a vast cooperative program for the encouragement and recognition of student achievement, as well as a force for the advancement of art education.

Scholastic Art Awards winners have achieved prominence in every aspect of the art world. Among those best known in the fine arts are Lennart Anderson, Richard Anuszkiewicz, Harry Bertoia, Robert Indiana, Jacob Landau, Philip Pearlstein, Seigfried Reinhardt, Sidney Simon, William A. Smith, Elbert Weinberg, and James Wines.

The regional exhibition at Robinson's will be open for viewing during store hours: 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on weekdays, 12:30 - 5:30 p.m. on Sundays.

Budget-Stretching Pork Cuts Add Tempting Variety To Today's Menu

Keeping within the food budget while providing nutritious, appetizing meals is one of today's biggest challenges. Fortunately, cost-conscious consumers can find many opportunities to save at the pork section of the meat counter. There are dozens of budget-stretching pork cuts to choose from — each providing essential food nutrients along with eating satisfaction.

Saving money in the supermarket begins at home with a weekly menu plan and a shopping list. To get the best pork buys, use the food ads as a guide. Economy, too, should be a consideration when selecting foods to accompany the pork.

You'll want to choose a variety of pork cuts to keep appetite appeal and family enthusiasm high. The best guide to identifying these cuts is the label which lists the species of meat, the primal (wholesale) cut and the retail cut. In general, the lowest priced cuts are from the blade (Boston) shoulder arm picnic shoulder and leg primal sections. Retail cuts include both fresh (blade steaks, blade Boston Roast, shoulder cubes, ground pork) and smoked (smoked ham, smoked pork shoulder roll, smoked sausage links).

When comparing meat cuts, it is important to calculate price per serving which is more important than price per pound. Often boneless cuts, although priced higher per pound, may be a better buy for they yield more servings.

Allow approximately 5 servings per pound for boneless or canned ham, 3 to 4 servings for other lean, boneless cuts; 2 to 3 servings for cuts with some bone and 1 to 1-1/2 servings for cuts with a large amount of bone. You'd be money ahead when you plan ahead for leftovers when buying roasts and hams.

To protect your pork investment careful cooking and storing at home are musts. All fresh pork should be cooked at a low to moderate temperature to well done. To store leftover pork, wrap tightly and place in the coldest part of the refrigerator or in the freezer.

TOASTY HAM BAKE

12 ounces sliced cooked smoked ham, cut into julienne strips

- 1/4 cup margarine
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups milk
- 4 eggs
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 8 slices bread, toasted
- 1 medium zucchini, shredded

Stir flour and salt into melted margarine in saucepan; gradually stir in milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Cover and cool. Beat together eggs, mustard and pepper; stir into sauce. Cut toasted bread into 3/4 to 1-inch cubes. Combine ham, toast cubes and zucchini in large bowl. Pour sauce over ham, toast and zucchini, stirring to coat all pieces. Pour into a greased 8x8-inch baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 to 50 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes before serving. 6 servings.

PORK, PEAS AND RICE COMBO

1 pound boneless pork shoulder, cut into 1-inch pieces

- 1 tablespoon cooking fat
- 3 medium onions, thinly sliced
- 3/4 cup rice (uncooked)
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon marjoram leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon sage
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups water
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas

Quickly brown pork in cooking fat in large frying-pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 20 minutes. Remove pork from pan. Lightly brown onion in drippings. Add rice, salt, marjoram, sage and pepper. Stir in water and pork. Cover and continue cooking 20 to 30 minutes or until pork and rice are done. Meanwhile, cook peas according to package directions; stir into pork mixture. 4 servings.

DEEP DISH PORK SAUSAGE PIZZA

1 pound fresh pork sausage
Pizza Dough (below)

- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
- 1/2 teaspoons oregano
- leaves
- 1 teaspoon thyme leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon crushed fennel seed

- 1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese
- onion in large frying-pan. Pour off drippings. Combine tomato sauce, oregano, thyme and fennel seed. Punch down

Pizza Dough, place on floured surface and knead briefly. Roll into a 13-inch circle; place in lightly greased 12-inch deep dish pizza pan, pushing dough up sides of pan. Spread sauce over dough; top with sausage and onion.

Sprinkle cheese over sausage. Bake on lowest rack in preheated hot oven (300 degrees F.) 30 minutes. See PORK, Page 5B

Casserole Stars Salmon, Zucchini

With fresh zucchini in supply, you'll want to combine it with luscious canned salmon in a delectable main dish casserole. Quick to prepare, sliced zucchini and garlic are sauteed briefly in butter, then combined with nourishing canned salmon, dairy sour cream, grated Parmesan and Cheddar cheeses and mixed Italian herbs. Buttered crumbs add a crunchy topping.

Versatile, convenient canned salmon from Alaska is a perfect ingredient to keep on hand for quick and easy meals. It is an excellent source of complete protein, containing all the essential amino acids needed to build and repair body tissue.

SALMON ZUCCHINI BAKE

- 1 can (7 6 oz.) salmon
- 1 1/2 pounds (about 4 medium) zucchini
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2/3 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Evening Herald, Sanford, FL. Wednesday, Jan. 19, 1983—5B

1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon mixed Italian herbs
1/2 cup buttered bread crumbs

Drain salmon and break into chunks with a fork. Slice zucchini 1/4-inch thick. Sauté zucchini and garlic briefly in butter. Add salmon, Cheddar and Parmesan cheeses, sour cream and seasonings. Turn into 2-quart casserole and top with buttered bread crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees 20 minutes.

degrees F.) 30 minutes, covering with foil during last 15 minutes. Let pizza stand 10 minutes before cutting to wedges. 4 to 6 servings.

Pizza Dough:
1 package (1/4 ounce) dry yeast
1 cup warm water (105 degrees F. to 115 degrees F.)
2 tablespoons lard, melted
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
3 1/4 to 3 1/2 cups flour

Dissolve yeast in water. Add lard, salt and sugar; add 2 cups flour, beating until smooth. Gradually add remaining flour until dough is easy to handle. Turn onto lightly floured surface and knead until smooth and elastic; form into ball. Place in lightly greased bowl, turning dough over to grease top. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in bulk.

PORK FOO YONG
2 1/2 cups coarsely chopped cooked pork
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, defrosted and well drained
2/3 cup thinly sliced celery
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
6 eggs, slightly beaten
1-3 cup water
1/4 cup cooking fat

Cooked rice, if desired

Combine pork, spinach, celery, soy sauce, garlic salt and pepper. Add eggs and water, stirring to combine. Heat 2 tablespoons cooking fat in large frying-pan. Pour 1-3 cup pork mixture into pan for each of 4 patties. Cook 2 to 3 minutes on each side until lightly browned; remove to a warm platter. Stir remaining pork mixture and repeat procedure twice, scraping pan and adding 1 tablespoon cooking fat between batches. Serve with cooked rice and additional soy sauce, if desired. 6 servings of 2 patties each.

PORK 'N BEAN SOUP
1 pound boneless pork shoulder, cut into 1-inch pieces
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon cooking fat
2 1/4 cups water
1 large onion, coarsely chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon sugar
Dash crushed red pepper pods

1 1/2 cups cooked white beans
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes, broken up

Combine flour and salt, dredge pork pieces, reserving excess flour. Brown pork in cooking fat in Dutch oven. Pour off drippings. Sprinkle reserved flour over pork. Add water, onion, garlic, sugar and pepper pods, stirring to combine. Cover tightly and simmer 40 to 45 minutes. Stir in beans and tomatoes, including juice, and continue cooking 20 to 30 minutes or until done. 4 to 5 servings.

SURPRISE HAM LOAVES
1 pound "fully-cooked" smoked ham
1 can (8 ounces) crushed pineapple in unsweetened juice
1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
1 egg beaten
1-3 cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons cornstarch

Water

2 teaspoons cider vinegar

Grind ham or process in food processor to obtain approximately 4 cups. Drain pineapple into 1 cup measure; reserve juice. Remove 2 tablespoons pineapple for sauce. Combine ham, pineapple, bread crumbs, egg and milk, mixing lightly but thoroughly. Divide mixture into four equal portions; shape each into a loaf about 3 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches. Place loaves in baking pan, bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 minutes. Meanwhile, combine sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Add enough water to reserved juice to make 1/4 cup and add vinegar; stir into sugar and cornstarch. Bring to a boil and boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Stir in pineapple. Serve sauce with loaves. 4 servings.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Don't Just Stand, It's Hard On Veins

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am a lady barber and work from eight to nine hours each day—standing, of course. My legs get very tired and ache from standing so many hours. They feel swollen. I do wear support hose but that is not enough.

Can you suggest any vitamins or exercises or anything that would be helpful? I am not overweight. I am 5 feet 2 and weigh only 105 pounds and am 36 years old.

DEAR READER—You have learned that standing is harder on the veins in your legs than walking or exercising. Here's why. When you stand you have a column of blood from your heart to the bottom of your foot. The pressure at the foot level is increased, just as the water pressure is increased at the bottom of a water tower. Gravity does this to us.

Under this pressure the veins tend to swell. You can see this same effect in your hand. Be sure there is nothing around your wrist constricting the veins. Now let your hand hang down at your side. Watch the veins fill up and stretch. That is the effect of gravity. Then hold your hand up before your eyes and watch the veins in the back of your hand collapse as the blood runs downhill to your heart.

In your legs there are two sets of veins, those deep inside your muscles you can't see and those outside that affect your appearance. When you stand they both fill. When you contract your leg muscles as in taking a step the muscles compress the deep veins and push the blood toward your heart. As the muscles squeeze the blood out of your veins, the pressure in the veins drops markedly. The veins collapse. External pressure is important.

While you are standing the increased pressure inside the veins can cause swelling. Obviously if you can contract your leg muscles or take a few steps frequently that will help. Don't wear anything constricting around the leg. Pressure stockings are useful. I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-8, Varicose Veins, that explains these points in more detail. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Anyone who must stand still should consider using support hose or other pressure stockings regularly. Also it is important to move around as much as your job will permit.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Is it OK to rest after exercise or a sauna or steam? I always want to but a friend said it is better not to have extremes of exercise then complete rest. Please settle our disagreement once and for all.

DEAR READER—Whenever the body has been stressed, by physical exercise or heat, it is good for the body to rest and allow the cells to recreate their normal chemical balance. Also rest in the right environment enables the body to eliminate the heat build-up that normally accompanies vigorous exercise.

Now, I do not approve of a sauna or a steam bath after vigorous exercise. If the body can't get rid of the heat build-up you can have a heat stroke. And people who have heart problems may not tolerate heat well. Heat works the heart; it must pump more blood to the skin to cool your body. Heat and exercise are both stresses on the circulation. It is better to cool off first and rest a bit before using the sauna or other heat exposure if you are going to use heat at all.

For Thursday, January 20, 1983

YOUR BIRTHDAY January 20, 1983

More travel for pleasurable purposes than in the past is likely for you this coming year. Now is the time to begin to plan where you would like to go and with whom you would like to travel.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Guard against tendencies today to blurt things out before thinking them through. You could say something which might embarrass yourself or others. 1983 predictions for Aquarius are now ready. Send $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic combinations and compatibilities for all signs.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be optimistic regarding ways to improve your material position, but don't be a dreamer or wishful thinker. This could lead to disappointment later.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Normally you are rather self-assured, but today you might have unrealistic doubts pertaining to your ability. Don't underestimate yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) There's a possibility your feelings and logic could be in conflict today and cause you to think along unrealistic lines. Make practical evaluations.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It might be difficult to withhold things you wish kept secret from an inquisitive friend today. Don't give her or him any openings to launch a probe.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Weigh your alternatives carefully today, but don't let this cause you to be totally indecisive. If you can't make up your mind, you'll remain on dead center.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) More time may be spent today in finding excuses why tasks should be postponed than in actually doing the work. Spend your energy being a doer as well as thinker.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you're in a position to exercise authority, be very careful how you conduct yourself today. Subordinates you rub wrong won't be forgiving.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's best to say "No" up front today if a family member requests something you don't think you can deliver, because she'll be depending on you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Unless you have something complimentary to say about co-workers today, it would be better to keep your thoughts to yourself. Avoid criticizing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're likely to handle your major expenditures prudently today, but there's a chance you'll not get value received for your smaller purchases.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Making too much over trivial issues could cause family problems today. Should minor infractions occur, try to look the other way.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Bridge hand analysis showing North-South and East-West hands, vulnerable status, dealer, and opening lead.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby. West took his ace and king of hearts and shifted to a trump. South, a man in a hurry, won in dummy and led a second trump to his hand. Then he led his jack of clubs and let it ride for a finesse. East took his king and led back the 10 to dummy's queen.

South could discard one of his diamonds on the ace of clubs, but still had to try the diamond finesse for down one.

"Finesses work for everyone else, but never for me," moaned South.

South had lost two finesses and his contract, but he had also chucked that contract right into the gutter.

He should have started his finessing procedure by leading the three of clubs from dummy. If East rose with his king, South would get to discard his two small diamonds. If East ducked, South wouldn't have to lose a club and could lose the diamond finesse with impunity.

If any readers would like to point out that South's actual play could only lose to the actual position of both minor suit kings and that our suggested play would lose if West held both those cards, we can point out that West dealt and passed and had shown up with the ace-king of spades. If he also held two kings he would undoubtedly have opened the bidding.

'Over Easy' Host Is Easy-Going Jim Hartz

By Ruth Thompson

You read the clues right when you conclude that his quick smile and easy manner mean that Jim Hartz is a man of good will. You misread, though, if you think this nice man is one of life's followers. When he believes in a cause you won't find him on the corner waiting for the right bandwagon to roll by. More likely he's first at the reins hollering "Giddyap!"

JIM HARTZ

This is his second career in television but he always was active behind the scenes in the industry's non-profit associations. "I was lucky to have the kind of success so young that most people spend years working up to," he says.

He was in the big leagues at NBC News — foreign correspondent, specialist on technical stories and, briefly, host of "Today" — until a round of personal changes loomed. He smiles. "When push came to shove I decided it was time to get into another business and out of television entirely."

He did, but later, when the bid came from producer Jules Power ("We met years before when we served on the television academy board") to co-host "Over Easy" with Mary Martin for PBS he grabbed it. "Our show tells people facing life's transitions how to make things work along the way," he says.

He approves of PBS in general, and is a sincere booster for his show. (And not because he needs the take-home. His business, alternate energy development, is doing OK, too.)

When government funding for PBS was pared last year,

Jim volunteered to testify before the pertinent Congressional committee and he recruited Pearl Bailey to go, too. "And boy was she on target. But things are now much worse."

He challenges the statement of administration spokesman David Stockman that government funding should be cut because Public Broadcasting "serves an elite." Says Jim, "Well it serves a whole broad spectrum. 'Sesame Street' elite? It was designed to give poor kids a leg up. Our series serves an audience largely ignored elsewhere."

Government should continue co-partnering, he feels, along with corporations and viewers. "So," he said, looking me in the eye, "if you really like public broadcasting, offer to write your Congressman. No, Jim Hartz doesn't wait for his handwagon."

McClintick Exposes Hollywood's Warts

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — You might have thought that nobody — not the movies, not television, nobody at all — would have bought David McClintick's book, "Indecent Exposure" (Morrow, N.Y.). After all, it is the story of corruption in high Hollywood places, and you'd be justified in thinking nobody wants to make a film about their own inadequacies, foibles and foolishness.

You would be wrong, McClintick says he thought that way, too, and he's been surprised to find that offers are coming in, from both movie studios and TV networks.

Each group, he believes, is interested in buying the property for a different reason. He feels that the movie studios want to buy it — but not to make it into a movie; in fact, precisely so it isn't made into a movie. They want to buy it so nobody will make it, so it'll fade quietly into the past.

But TV is interested in buying it to turn it into a mini-series. They believe, McClintick thinks, that it would interest the public — after all, it is almost a definite fact that the way it unfolds — and, also, they are not averse to making a film that makes the studios look silly.

"Indecent Exposure" is a book that inner Hollywood had been dreading. It is the story of what happened at Columbia when that studio's president, David Begelman, was discovered to have embezzled $75,000. It is the story of a cover-up, of a nasty, divisive fight in the company's board room, of the people who fought to keep Begelman and those who fought to oust him.

Today, Begelman is still around, still head of a Hollywood production company (Sherwood) and this book makes one wonder anew about Hollywood's corporate morality.

McClintick had covered the story originally for his employer, The Wall Street Journal. He was that paper's specialist in white-collar crime and he liked investigating stories involving any of the media.

So he was doing an in-depth look at movie studios. Quite by chance, he says, he picked Columbia. He was doing his diving at the time the Begelman story broke, so he was in a perfect position to pursue all of its ramifications.

When he decided to write a book, he says he had the cooperation of everyone involved. They all talked to him at length — even Begelman. The embattled executive talked to him for hours, giving McClintick his side of the story, which remains a thin side.

"Why did he do it?" McClintick asks. That has always been the question puzzling Hollywood — Begelman made what most of us would consider a fortune and the studio would have gladly loaned him more money. What he took was, to him, peanuts.

David McClintick, author of "Indecent Exposure," an expose of embezzlement at Columbia Pictures in Hollywood, says: "It is the nature of Hollywood to behave in a certain way and it always has and I guess it always will." (Photo by Judith McClintick)

some cash at the time. His wife was used to lots of money and he lived pretty high himself. He took the money to pay current bills, that's all. He didn't want to go to the trouble of asking for a loan."

McClintick believes Begelman is the kind of man who really doesn't care what anybody thinks about him — except for those few of his cronies he deals with daily in Hollywood. They like him and most of them, as it turned out, made excuses for him.

"He is also the kind of man," the author says, "who has the ability of turning something bad to his advantage, or trying to. So he is presently glorifying the position he is in."

The Begelman case has had a tremendous impact on Hollywood, McClintick says it has uprooted people, caused many to lose their jobs, forced others to change jobs. He says he knows of at least one marriage that ended on account of the case.

But it really hasn't changed the basic Hollywood structure.

"And that is not necessarily a bad thing," McClintick says. "It is the nature of Hollywood to behave in a certain way, and it always has and I guess it always will."

Sweeteners In Cigarettes May Be Harmful To Smokers

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Sweeteners such as cocoa have been prominent ingredients in cigarettes for years, but a published report says government officials and scientists fear the flavoring agents may be dangerous for smokers.

In addition, officials also told The Florida Times-Union and Jacksonville Journal that additives used in low-tar cigarettes may pose health risks and could negate the benefits of switching from a high-tar brand.

The use of cocoa has become suspect since a National Cancer Institute study during the 1970s revealed that air from cocoa-flavored cigarettes caused more cancerous skin tumors in mice than tar from cigarettes without cocoa, said Gio Gori, the scientist who directed the study.

The study revealed that cocoa, which apparently is safe for food, may become harmful when burned. Other sweetener flavorings may have the same characteristics, said Gori.

Tax Service Is Introduced

Orlando taxpayers with tax questions can now call a new telephone recorded tax information service, according to Merlin W. Heye, Internal Revenue Service district director for Florida.

"The new system is called Tele-Tax and is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week," Heye said. The recorded information service is available to taxpayers with push button telephones and has 141 information tapes on subjects including filing requirements, itemized deductions, tax credits, dependents, and adjustments to income.

Area taxpayers wanting to use Tele-Tax may call 422-6592. By punching in the appropriate tape numbers, the person hears the tax information message he or she wants. Persons without access to the tape topics and their corresponding tape numbers can hear a listing of the tapes by following the recorded instructions. If a person calls from outside the Orlando dialing area, there will be a long distance charge.

The free IRS Publication 910, "Taxpayer's Guide to IRS Information and Assistance," has a complete list of the topics covered by the tapes. This publication is available by using the order form in the tax package or by calling the IRS forms number 1-800-241-3860.

During the first week in January, 1,715 people called Tele-Tax in the Orlando area.

Citrus Disease Spread Feared

MCALLEN, Texas (UPI)—Citrus fruit growers in the Rio Grande Valley said Tuesday they are terrified a fruit disease discovered in Mexico will spread to their crops despite an import ban that will take effect Wednesday.

"The citrus canker kills not only the fruit but the trees, leaving the growers no choice but to uproot the trees and burn them."

"If the canker spreads to Texas, it'll make the Medfly and the Mexfly look insignificant," said Les Whitlock, manager of the Texas Valley Citrus Committee.

"That's why we'd like to see imports of Mexican citrus stopped for the entire country until we know more about this particular disease strain," he said.

Beginning Wednesday, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has forbidden the import of Mexican oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and limes into citrus-producing areas — Texas, California, Florida, Louisiana, Arizona, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

The fruit destined for the rest of the United States and Canada will be sprayed to kill the canker bacteria before it leaves Mexico, said Bill Turbeville in the USDA's regional office at Brownsville.

The Mexican fruit will still move through Texas with permission from the Texas Department of Agriculture, he said. But it will not be imported through the other states bordering Mexico, he said.

"I've been told that if just one fruit is infected and accidentally left in a citrus-producing area, the spores will spread from that one fruit to adjacent trees," said Julian Sauls, a citrus specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Weslaco.

The canker poses no danger to humans who eat the fruit, however, officials said.

Mexican officials said they could not estimate their economic loss because of the U.S. ban. They complained that the ban should be limited only to fruit from the west-central Mexican state of Colima, where the canker has been contained.

Legal Notice

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR SEMINOLE COUNTY, FLORIDA PROBATE DIVISION
File Number 83-085-CP
IN RE ESTATE OF DOROTHY G. PETERMAN, Deceased

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION TO ALL PERSONS HAVING CLAIMS OR DEMANDS AGAINST THE ABOVE ESTATE AND ALL OTHER PERSONS INTERESTED IN THE ESTATE. YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that the administration of the above estate and File Number is pending in the Circuit Court for Seminole County, Florida, Probate Division, the address of which is P.O. Drawer C, Sanford, Florida 32771.

The personal representative of the estate is JAMES F. PETERMAN, whose address is c/o 1015 E. Semoran Blvd., Suite 3, Cassberry, Florida 32707.

The name and address of the personal representative's attorney are set forth below.

All persons having claims or demands against the estate are required, WITHIN THREE (3) MONTHS FROM THE DATE OF THE FIRST PUBLICATION OF THIS NOTICE, to file with the clerk of the above court a written statement of any claim or demand they may have. Each claim must be in writing and must indicate the basis for the claim, the name and address of the creditor or his agent or attorney, and the amount claimed if the claim is not yet due, the date when it will become due shall be stated. If the claim is contingent or unliquidated, the nature of the uncertainty shall be stated. If the claim is secured, the security shall be described. The claimant shall deliver sufficient copies of the claim to the clerk to enable the clerk to mail one copy to each personal representative.

All persons interested in the estate to whom a copy of this Notice of Administration has been mailed are required, WITHIN THREE (3) MONTHS FROM THE DATE OF THE FIRST PUBLICATION OF THIS NOTICE, to file any objections they may have that challenge the validity of the decedent's will, the qualifications of the personal representative, or the venue or jurisdiction of the court.

ALL CLAIMS, DEMANDS, AND OBJECTIONS NOT SO FILED WILL BE FOREVER BARRED.
Date of the first publication of this Notice of Administration: January 18, 1983.
James F. Peterman, As Personal Representative of the above Estate. Thomas R. Rogers, Attorney for Personal Representative. ATTORNEY FOR PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE: Thomas R. Rogers, Attorney 1015 E. Semoran Blvd, Suite 3, Cassberry, Florida 32707. Telephone: 305-739-3884. Publish: January 18, 26, 1983. DED 103.

South Of The Border With Dolly

Like many country stars, Dolly Rebecca Parton came from less-than-humble origins. She was raised in Tennessee's Smokey Mountains with 11 brothers and sisters in a 2-room shack she describes as being "filled with music, love and hardly nothin' else."

A self-described "animated dumplin'," Dolly was raised on "country cookin'—cornbread, biscuits and turnip greens." The country star still enjoys a home-cooked country supper, but she has developed a partiality for the zesty flavor of Mexican food. Her favorite recipe, Layered Enchiladas Laredo, is perfect for "rainy afternoons with friends and a good game of cards."

The country music performer is quick to point out, "my schedule usually doesn't allow me a whole lotta time to spend in the kitchen. But when I'm there... watch out. My creative juices start flowin' and I become the best little cook from Tennessee!"

Dolly Parton's success as a songwriter, singer and actress can be attributed to her determination and positive attitude. As a youngster growing up in Sevierville, Tenn., Dolly's goal was to be the first person in her family to graduate from high school. The day after her high school graduation, she boarded a bus for Nashville equipped only with a cardboard suitcase of her country music compositions and a dream to become a recording star.

Once established in Nashville, Dolly toured and recorded with country great, Porter Wagoner. In 1974, Dolly ended her partnership with Porter, "to expand professionally and cover all markets."

Since that time, every venture Dolly Parton has been involved in—including five albums—has struck gold. In 1978, she was voted Country Music Association Entertainer of the Year.

"Everybody wants to be successful at whatever their inner dream is," explains Dolly. "I just want to be somebody that left something good for somebody else to enjoy, whether it's my songs, my movies or even my Layered Enchiladas Laredo!"

LAYERED ENCHILADAS LAREDO
 1 15-oz. can tomato sauce
 1 4-oz. can chopped green chilies, drained
 3/4 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
 1/8 teaspoon cumin
 1 8-oz. pkg. shredded sharp natural cheddar cheese
 1/2 cup green onion slices
 12 tortillas

Oil
 Combine tomato sauce, chilies and seasonings. Cover; simmer 10 minutes. Combine cheese and onion; reserve 1/4 cup. Dip each tortilla in hot oil to soften; drain. Place in baking dish. Top with 2 tablespoons sauce and scant 1/4 cup cheese mixture. Repeat layers, ending with tortilla; pour remaining sauce over stack. Bake at 350 degrees, 25 minutes. Top with remaining cheese mixture; continue baking until cheese is melted. Cut into wedges, 4 servings. Variation: Substitute 1/4 teaspoon chili powder for oregano and cumin.

A self-described 'animated dumplin'; Dolly Parton was raised on country cookin'—cornbread, biscuits and turnip greens. The country star says she still enjoys a home-cooked country supper, but she has developed a partiality for the zesty flavor of Mexican food. Her favorite recipe, Layered Enchiladas Laredo, left, is perfect 'for rainy afternoons with friends and a good game of cards,' she says.

White Sauce Tops Eggplant Dish

Eggplant is an inexpensive and versatile vegetable. It may be baked, fried, pureed and steamed. Once considered "The mad apple," and then called "love apple," eggplant has not been exploited in America to its fullest as an important food. Here is an eggplant casserole with a white sauce that the family will enjoy.

EGGPLANT CASSEROLE

- 1 eggplant (1 1/4 pounds), pared
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 3/4 cup prepared bread crumbs
- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 medium onion, chopped (1/2 cup)
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 medium-size fresh tomatoes, peeled, chopped
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon dried leaf oregano
- 1/2 teaspoon dried leaf basil
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon

White Sauce

Slice eggplant 3/8-inch thick. Using a meat mallet or rolling pin, pound each slice from center out to slightly less than 1/4-inch thick. Dip slices in oil and then bread crumbs. Place on baking sheet. Broil 3 inches from source of heat until golden brown; turn and brown other side. Set aside. In medium skillet, break up ground beef over high heat. Add onion and garlic, cook until meat is browned and onion is tender. Add tomatoes, salt, oregano, basil and cinnamon. Cover, cook 10 minutes. Set aside. Prepare White Sauce. Arrange alternate layers of eggplant and meat sauce in 12-by-8-by-2-inch baking dish. Spoon White Sauce over casserole. Cover baking dish. Bake in 375-degree oven 15 minutes. Uncover, bake 10 minutes longer. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

WHITESAUCE

- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 - 2 tablespoon chopped fresh onion
 - 2 tablespoons flour
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1 cup milk
 - 1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley
- In small saucepan, melt butter over low heat, saute onion until tender. Blend in flour and salt; gradually stir in milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and comes to a boil. Add parsley. Spoon White Sauce over casserole before baking.

An array of dumplings, egg rolls and breads heralds year.

Year Of The Boar

Happy Chinese New Year

A piquant sauce enhances Chinese Orange Beef.

The Year of the Boar begins Feb. 13. As the final Chinese sign of the Zodiac, the Boar symbolizes all the rewards man has built up over 12 years. He represents goodness and prosperity but also carries the sadness and failures of the 12-year cycle that his own year ends.

Sincere, peaceable, loving, yet strong willed, those born under the sign of the Boar, according to Oriental lore experts, also are intelligent and truthful.

People born in Boar years have tremendous inner strength. They never retreat once a goal has been set, but rarely seek help from others. They thrive in the arts and do well in industry.

For the rest of us, this is a good year to establish new friendships. Money and academic matters will be favored.

CHINESE BREADS WITH SPICED BEEF FILLING

- 2 loaves (1 lb. each) frozen bread dough, thawed and allowed to rise once (or prepared basic yeast dough recipe)
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- 1 lb. lean ground beef
- 1 can (8 oz.) bamboo shoots, rinsed, drained, and diced
- 3 tablespoons tomato paste
- 2 teaspoons mild curry powder
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 green onions, chopped fine
- 1 egg white, beaten
- 1 teaspoon water
- 1/4 teaspoon sugar

Heat oil in skillet over medium high heat. Add beef and bamboo shoots; cook, stirring constantly, until meat is browned, about 5 minutes. Drain off excess fat. Add tomato paste, curry powder, soy sauce, salt, blending well. Stir in green onion. Chill mixture thoroughly, covered.

Meanwhile, cut out 24 four-inch squares waxed paper. Divide yeast dough into 24 balls; pat each out into a 4-inch round somewhat thicker at the center than at the edges. Place 2 tablespoons filling in center of each circle. Gather dough up around filling and twist to seal. Place each filled bread on a square of waxed paper placed on baking sheet (allow at least two inches between each bread). Allow breads to rise uncovered 45 minutes to 1 hour.

Combine egg white, water and sugar; brush over each bread. Bake in preheated 375-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes, or until breads are golden. Serve hot. Makes 24 buns.

STEAMED MEAT-FILLED DUMPLINGS

- 1 lb. ground beef or pork
- 1 can (8 oz.) water chestnuts, drained, chopped fine
- 1/4 cup chicken broth
- 1/4 cup cornstarch
- 1/4 cup parsley, chopped fine
- 1 green onion, chopped fine
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 tablespoon minced fresh or prepared ginger
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon dry sherry
- 2 packages (1 lb. each) egg roll wrappers (available in freezer section of supermarkets)

Combine all ingredients except egg roll wrappers in large mixing bowl; blend well. Using sharp knife or kitchen scissors, trim corners from egg roll wrappers to make them round. Place 2 tablespoons meat mixture in center of each circle and gather up sides of egg roll wrapper about filling, twisting to seal. Flatten top slightly.

Arrange dumplings in steamer and steam over boiling water 25 to 30 minutes. Remove dumplings and place on serving platter. Serve hot. (Dumplings can be cooked ahead of time, refrigerated or frozen, and reheated over steam at serving time). About 30 dumplings.

CHINESE ORANGE BEEF

- 1-1/2 lbs. lean beef, sliced into thin strips (slice partially frozen), or 1-1/2 lbs. lean pork, sliced thin
- 1 tablespoon dry sherry
- 1 egg white
- 1-1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons cooking oil
- 1 can (8 oz.) bamboo shoots, rinsed and drained
- 2 green onions, cut into 1/2-inch lengths
- 3 tablespoons grated fresh orange peel
- 1 tablespoon minced fresh or prepared ginger
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 3 tablespoons water
- 2 tablespoons dry sherry
- 1/4 cup chicken broth
- 3 tablespoons soy sauce
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon sesame oil (optional)
- oil for deep frying

Chow mein noodles; orange slices for garnish
Place sliced meat in bowl. In another bowl, combine next three ingredients and whip until foamy. Add 1-1/2 tablespoons cornstarch and 2 tablespoons cooking oil, mixing well. Pour over meat and stir thoroughly.

Combine bamboo shoots, green onions, orange peel and ginger in small bowl; set aside.

In another small bowl, combine 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 3 tablespoons water, 2 tablespoons sherry, chicken broth, soy sauce, sugar, and sesame oil; set aside.

Over medium heat, heat oil for deep frying in wok or large skillet, add meat. Cook 3 minutes or until meat is lightly browned. Remove from pan with slotted spoon; drain on paper towels. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons oil from pan. When pan is again hot, add vegetable mixture; cook, stirring constantly, about 30 seconds. Return meat to pan; cook, stirring about 1 minute more. Add chicken broth mixture, cook and stir until thickened and meat is coated with sauce, about 15 seconds. Place meat and vegetables on serving platter; serve immediately.

Garnish with chow mein noodles and orange slices.
(Note: Chinese Orange Beef may be refrigerated; reheat at serving time). Serves 4 to 6.

Potatoes

Morning, Afternoon, Evening

From sunup to sundown, breakfast tray to dinner table, a variety of delicious dishes can be made with potatoes. The versatility of this tasty tuber is limited only by the creative cook's imagination.

Brighten a breakfast table with a Down on the Farm Breakfast of eggs nestled in a cheesy bed of potatoes. Pep up the afternoon with a slice of chocolate cake made in the old-fashioned way — with mashed potatoes to keep it moist. Or perk up an ordinary dinner with tangy Bacon 'n Bean Potato Salad.

BACON 'N BEAN POTATOSALAD

- 1 package au gratin potatoes
- 4 cups water
- 1 pound green beans, cut into 2-inch pieces
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 medium tomatoes, cut into wedges
- 2 tablespoons margarine or butter
- 8 slices bacon, cut into 1/2-inch pieces
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/4 cup cider vinegar
- 1/4 cup snipped parsley

Heat potatoes and 4 cups water to boiling in 3-quart saucepan. Reduce heat; simmer uncovered 10 minutes. Add beans; simmer uncovered until beans are tender, about 10 minutes longer. Rinse potato mixture under running cold water; drain. Place potato mixture in large bowl; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place tomatoes on top.

Heat margarine in 10-inch skillet until melted. Fry bacon in margarine over medium heat until almost crisp. Reduce heat; add onion. Cook, stirring constantly, until onion is tender. Stir in Sauce Mix, 1/4 cup water and the milk. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir until thickened, 2 to 3 minutes. Stir in vinegar; heat through. Pour over tomatoes. Sprinkle with parsley; toss. Serve warm or cold. 6 servings.

CHOCOLATE CAKE

- 3/4 cup instant mashed potatoes (dry)
- 3/4 cup hot water
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 teaspoon baking soda
- 4 eggs
- 1 cup shortening
- 2-3rd cup buttermilk
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 3 ounces melted unsweetened chocolate (cool)

Crispy Butterscotch Topping (follows)

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour rectangular pan 13x9x2 inches. Place potatoes in large bowl; pour hot water over potatoes. Let stand until water is absorbed. Add remaining ingredients except topping. Beat on low speed, scraping bowl constantly, until blended, about 30 seconds. Beat on medium speed, scraping bowl occasionally, 2 minutes. Pour into pan. Bake until cake springs back when touched lightly in center, 45 to 50 minutes; cool. Prepare Crispy Butterscotch Topping; immediately spread over cake. Set oven control to broil and/or 550 degrees. Broil cake about 3 inches from heat until golden brown, about 3 minutes. (Watch carefully — topping burns easily.)

Crispy Butterscotch Topping:

- 1 cup instant mashed potatoes (dry)
 - 2-3rd cup packed brown sugar
 - 1/2 cup shredded or flaked coconut
 - 1/2 cup chopped nuts
 - 1/2 cup margarine or butter, softened
 - 1/4 cup half-and-half
- Mix potatoes, brown sugar, coconut, nuts and margarine. Stir in half-and-half.

CHICKEN-ZUCCHINI SKILLET

- 1 package sour cream 'n chive potatoes
 - 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
 - 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - 2 1/2 cups boiling water
 - 2-3rd cup milk
 - 2 tablespoons margarine
 - 2 cups 1/2-inch slices zucchini
 - 2 cups cut-up cooked chicken or turkey
 - 1 teaspoon seasoned salt
 - 1 teaspoon Italian seasoning
 - 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
 - 1 cup creamed cottage cheese
 - 1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
- Mix potatoes, Sauce Mix, green pepper, onion, water, milk and margarine in 10-inch skillet. Heat to boiling, stirring frequently. Reduce heat; cover and simmer, stirring occasionally, 20 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients except Swiss cheese. Simmer uncovered, stirring occasionally, 10 minutes longer. Remove from heat; sprinkle with Swiss cheese. Cover and let stand 5 minutes. 6 to 8 servings.

POTATO CRUNCH

- 1/2 cup margarine
 - 1 cup instant mashed potatoes (dry)
 - 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
 - 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
- Heat oven to 350 degrees. Heat margarine in rectangular pan, 13x9x2 inches, or jelly roll pan, 15 1/2x10 1/2x1 inch, in oven until melted. Stir in remaining ingredients. Bake uncovered, stirring once or twice, until golden brown, 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from pan; cool. Sprinkle over vegetables or salads or eat as a snack. 1 1/4 cups crunch.

POTATO PANCAKES

- 2 cups buttermilk baking mix
 - 1 cup instant mashed potatoes (dry)
 - 2 eggs
 - 1 1/2 cups milk
- Beat all ingredients with hand beater until smooth. For each pancake, pour 1/4 cup batter onto hot griddle. (Grease if necessary.) Cook until pancakes are dry around edges. Turn; cook over sides until golden brown. About twelve 4-inch pancakes.

DOWN ON THE FARM BREAKFAST

- 8 slices bacon

- 1 package hickory smoke cheese potatoes
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 1/4 cups boiling water
- 2-3rd cup milk
- 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme leaves, crushed
- Dash of freshly ground pepper
- 1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
- 6 eggs

Cut bacon into 1/4-inch pieces; fry in 10-inch skillet until crisp. Drain, reserving 2 tablespoons fat in skillet with bacon. Stir in potatoes, Sauce Mix, green pepper, onion, water and milk. Heat to boiling, stirring frequently. Reduce heat; cover and simmer, stirring occasionally, 20 minutes. Sprinkle with thyme, pepper and cheese. Make 6 indentations in potato mixture with spoon. Break eggs into indentations. Cover and cook until eggs are set, 10 to 15 minutes longer. Serve immediately. 6 servings.

Microwave Magic

Wrap Up A Bowl Of Minestrone

The kitchen wraps that you are familiar with take on a new importance when used with your microwave oven. Each wrap can perform a specific duty which will aid you in getting the desired end results from your microwave.

Plastic wrap is used to provide a tight cover for a container when you do not have a tight fitting lid. Allow a small amount of steam to escape during cooking by venting one corner of the wrap. The venting will prevent a steam burn when the wrap is removed.

Wax paper is used when a light cover is needed, usually just to prevent splatters.

Paper toweling is an absorbent wrap to be used when excess moisture needs to be removed from the surface of a food. Example: paper towel placed on top of a cake or quick bread during microwaving will eliminate a moist surface. Be sure to use white toweling only.

Aluminum foil is safe to use in the microwave when used to shield parts of food that would cook too quickly. Example: the end of a roast, wings of chicken or turkeys, corners of a rectangular baking dish. Do not allow the foil to touch the sides, top or bottom of the oven. The microwaves bounce off the foil and are directed elsewhere in the oven; thereby, preventing the oven cooking of the covered parts of the food.

Try a wrap with some of these.

MICROWAVE MINISTRONE

- 3/4 cup thinly sliced celery
 - 3/4 cup potato, cut in small cubes
 - 1/2 cup thinly sliced carrots
 - 1 cup thinly sliced zucchini
 - 2 cloves garlic, minced
 - 1/2 lb. green beans, cut
 - 1 teaspoon basil leaves
 - 1 can (16 oz.) tomatoes
 - 1/2 cup pasta-shells or elbows
 - 3 cups hot water
 - 2 teaspoons instant beef bouillon granulated
 - 1 tablespoon parsley flakes
- In large microwave safe casserole, combine all ingredients. Cover with plastic wrap, vented. Microwave 100 percent power for 25-35 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Stir once or twice. Serves 6. 25 calories per serving.

CHEESE CHILE CORN BREAD

- 2 eggs
- 1 (8 oz.) can whole kernel corn
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
- 1 cup corn meal
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup diced green chiles
- 1 cup grated jack cheese

Beat eggs; mix with remaining ingredients except chiles and cheese. Pour half the batter into well-greased 8-inch square baking dish. Place chiles on top of batter; sprinkle with half the cheese. Then pour on remaining batter and cheese. Cover with paper towel. Bake by microwave for 10 minutes at 100 percent power. Remove from oven and let stand for at least 5 minutes before cutting.

Lemon Honey Fried Chick is an old favorite with a new touch.

Enter Your Chicken Dish In Contest

You have a chicken dish that brings raves every time you serve it. You've had the recipe so long you aren't even sure where it came from. You changed it through the years, adding a little of this, leaving something else out, until it's just right.

If you enter that recipe now in the 1983 National Chicken Cooking Contest, it could make you $10,000 richer.

That's the top prize awaiting the winner of the 35th Cook-Off scheduled Aug. 3 in Birmingham, Ala. But if you want to be among the 51 finalists cooking chicken for a total of $20,000 in prizes, you have to act now.

The National Broiler Council, sponsor of the event which dates back to 1949, notes that April 1 is the deadline for entries. You don't even need an entry blank. Just write your name, address and telephone number on the front page of your recipe and mail it to:

Chicken Contest,
Box 28158 Central Station,
Washington, DC 20005.

One contestant from each state and the District of Columbia will each receive an expense-paid trip to Birmingham for the 1983 Cook-Off. Recipes will be judged on taste, appearance, simplicity and appeal.

Chicken is the only required ingredient and you may use the whole bird or any part or parts. Recipes should be for 4 to 8 servings.

Last year's champion chicken cook was Marcia Adams of Indiana. Her "Baked Chicken Reuben," an imaginative combination of chicken breasts, sauerkraut, Swiss cheese and Thousand Island dressing, tempted the taste buds of the panel of leading national food experts who served as judges.

Your recipe could make you the 1983 chicken cooking champion if you enter it in the competition before the April 1 deadline.

For a different chicken dish that will make you a champion with your family any time you serve it, try "Lemon Honey Fried Chicken."

Developed by the National Broiler Council, it gives a tangy taste to a universal favorite — fried chicken.

LEMON HONEY FRIED CHICKEN

- 1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in parts
- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 1/4 teaspoon marjoram
- 1/4 teaspoon tarragon
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup plus 3 tablespoons flour, divided
- 2 cups cooking oil
- 2 cups hot water

In small shallow dish, mix together lemon juice, honey, marjoram and tarragon. Place chicken in mixture, one piece at a time, turning to coat; reserve excess mixture. Sprinkle chicken with salt and pepper. Place 1/2 cup of the flour in another shallow dish and add chicken, one piece at a time, dredging to coat. Place oil (about 1-inch deep) in large frypan and heat to high temperature. Add chicken and cook about 5 minutes, turning to brown on all sides. Reduce heat to medium high and continue cooking about 15 minutes more or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Remove chicken from fry-pan; set aside and keep warm. Drain all but 2 tablespoons of the oil and pan drippings; return temperature to medium high. Add 3 tablespoons of the flour and stir to brown, about 1 minute. Slowly stir in hot water and 2 tablespoons of the reserved lemon juice mixture. Cook about 3 minutes, stirring, or until thickened. Serve tangy gravy hot with chicken. Makes 4 servings.
