When John Knapp, United Way of Seminole campaign chairman, bangs this gavel everybody listens including Major Industry Division Chairman Sharyn Dickerson, who was the only division head to report donations at the kickoff breakfast for top campaign workers Tuesday. A former campaign chairman, she got the 1985-86 campaign rolling by reporting a total of $9,375. Mary LeMay will be assisting her with recruiting major industry contributions.

County Turns Down Office Park Plan

Residents of the Markham Woods Road area finally reaped the rewards of persistence last night when county commissioners denied 4-0 a much-contested request for rezoning that would have allowed an office park development on that road near the intersection of State Road 434 and Interstate 4.

Commissioner Sandra Glenn was absent but had left word she favored the staff recommendation to turn down the request.

Approximately 60 people, most of them residents of that area, attended the hearing to voice opposition to the zoning change that had been denied by the county's Planning and Zoning Commission.

Proponents of the zoning change told commissioners the high noise, air, odor and visual pollution of the property caused by I-4 made it unsuitable for residences, allowed under its agricultural zoning.

Opponents of the project said it would not be compatible with the residential nature of the area, would have a "domino effect" on surrounding areas being zoned for commercial use, and adversely impact traffic on Markham Woods Road.

"One of the problems with an office park is it has a lot of uses that can go in there and no one knows what will go in there until it's rented," Commissioner Fred Streetman said. Streetman moved to deny the motion and suggested residents in the area get together with owners of the property to talk about what type of land use would be acceptable. He also noted that he disagrees with the domino-effect theory.

In other action commissioners voted unanimously to:

- Rezone 3.5 acres north of Lake Drive and east of Jamie Lane from single family dwelling to country home.
- Rezone 1 1/2 acres on the northeast corner of C.R. 427 and Dog Track Road near Longwood from multi-family residential to retail commercial.
- Rezone 84 acres south of Chapman Road and 3/4 miles west of Alafaya Trail from agriculture to single family dwelling.
- Continue until their Nov. 26 meeting a request to permit a private school and extended day care pre-kindergarten program to 6th grade on the west side of Tuskwilla Road, 1/3 mile south of Red Bug Lake Road.
- Continue until their Nov. 22 meeting a request to rezone from agriculture and retail commercial to travel trailer park and campsites 10 1/2 acres on the west side of C.R. 15 southeast of Interstate 4.

Propane Leak Blast Kills 4, Injures 8

DAVIE, Fla. (UPI) — Propane gas leaking from an underground tank exploded and demolished a muffler shop "like a great big bomb" Tuesday, killing four people, injuring eight others and damaging several nearby buildings.

"I thought the world was coming to an end," said Russell Vining, whose truck was rocked violently by the blast as he passed the Midas Muffler Shop on University Drive.

"I was right in the middle of it. There was debris everywhere," Vining said. "It sounded like a great big bomb."

Rushing to the shop, where only a ripped American flag was left fluttering atop a 40-foot pole, Vining said he and another bystander saw several men in the rubble.

"We found one guy dead and one guy breathing," he said.

Rescue teams, fearing another blast from the gas leaking from a buried 250-gallon propane tank behind the muffler shop, searched cautiously for other possible victims, but found none.

Fire Chief Michael Donati said the four victims were men who were in or near the Midas Muffler Shop when it exploded at 7:35 a.m. EDT, when only a few employees of the shop and businesses in the Davie Shopping Center across the street had reported for work.

Seven of the injured were treated and released at hospitals and one underwent surgery for head injuries at Hollywood Memorial Hospital and was in unstable condition.

"We were very fortunate simply because if it just had occurred a little later a lot of the other businesses would have opened and the casualties would have been much higher," said Police Lt. Tim Hill.

Davie police identified the dead men as Keith Metzger, 30, Lauderdale Lakes; Jerry Bernard Hall, 38, Davie; Michael Turk, 41, Plantation; and William Blocker, 23, Miami. Police did not know whether all the men were Midas employees.

Among the eight people injured were a neighbor who suffered a heart attack and a man pulled from a vehicle he was driving down University Drive when the explosion occurred.

One of the eight, Michael James Andrea, remained in unstable condition at Hollywood Memorial Hospital after undergoing surgery for head injuries, a hospital spokeswoman said. The other seven were treated at various hospitals and released.

Donati said propane gas leaking from the underground tank caused the explosion. He said the gas was used for torches to cut metal for mufflers.

"The gas leaked into the building and built up inside," he said. "We don't know what caused the ignition. Somebody could have turned on a light switch, lit a cigarette or started up a car inside. We just don't know at this point."

Fiercest Hurricane In A Decade Rages Toward East Coast

MIAMI (UPI) — Powerful Hurricane Gloria, its 150-mph winds making it one of the fiercest storms in a decade, raged toward the East Coast today.

Forecasters at the National Hurricane Center in Miami advised people in mid-Atlantic coastal states to pay attention to weather advisories and "be ready for quick action." They said a hurricane watch might be issued for parts of the mid-Atlantic Coast later in the day.

"This is one storm you don't want to stay on the beach for," said forecaster Gil Clark said. "Of course, it's still a long ways from land but there is a threat to the East Coast, particularly the Carolinas northward through New England."

At 6 a.m. EDT, Gloria was centered about 700 miles south-southeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C., near latitude 25.5 north, longitude 71.5 west.

The storm was located about 550 miles east of Miami and on its northwest course was no threat to south Florida.

It was moving northwest near 15 mph, a speed and path expected to continue today, about 300 miles east of the Bahamas. Hurricane warnings remained in

Suspect Tricks Jail Guards; Destroys Incriminating Note

A little sleight of hand by a suspected drug dealer has embarrassed Winter Springs police and protected numerous drug customers.

While booking the man into jail Saturday, officer E.W. McDaniel reported finding a list of about 20 names with prices beside them in the suspect's possession. The list was left on a table near the suspect while the officer made a phone call.

When McDaniel returned the paper was gone, the report said.

"You can do what you will with me, but leave my customers alone," the suspect said, according to a police report. He had flushed the paper down the toilet, he said.

Winter Springs Police Chief John Gavorhuk said the man apparently "palmed" the paper and had a jail worker escort him to the restroom while McDaniel was at the phone.

Gavorhuk said Tuesday no action has been taken against the officials involved and he doesn't anticipate any action. However, he said, this will be a lesson both to his men and to jail personnel to not take their eyes off of evidence until it's safely out of the reach of suspects.

The man had been arrested after a traffic stop after 11 p.m. Saturday on State Road 434. Winter Springs police noticed his car had an expired tag. After smelling marijuana in the car, police searched the vehicle.

Discovered, according to police reports, was more than 20 grams of marijuana, several boxes of small plastic bags also were reportedly found, along with four bags containing pot, four partially smoked pot cigarettes, cigarette rolling papers, 10 yellow pills, and other drug-related items, a police report said.

Ricki Gene Flippen, 30, of 1765 Holiday St., Casselberry, has been released on $2,500 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Oct. 7.

Gas In Groundwater Feared

DER Orders Clean-Up

By Janie Gnat
Herald Staff Writer

Leaks in underground gas storage tanks at three petroleum contamination sites in Seminole County are under investigation by the Department of Environmental Regulation and a tough new law may require owners of those sites to spend more than a year trying to clean up the areas.

The three sites are Floral Heights Grocery, 3300 South Sanford Ave., Sanford, a Gulf service station, 5355 Red Bug Lake Rd., Winter Springs, and the Seaboard Railroad in Sanford.

Those sites are just a drop in the bucket of 266 petroleum contamination sites all over the state that may be leaking at least one cancer causing agent, benzene.

Although the Seaboard Railroad site was reported leaking diesel from an above-ground pipe in 1979, the diesel was cleaned up from the surface water but no check was made for groundwater contamination. About 10,000 gallons of diesel was believed lost in that leak.

'Just because you can't see it doesn't mean it's not harmful.'

"It was common back then to ask (owners) to clean up what you could see and not worry about the rest," said Doug White, environmental specialist with DER in Tallahassee. "Just because you can't see it doesn't mean it's not harmful." Therefore, the new law was established.

"We have more stringent laws than any other state, except maybe California, concerning underground gas tanks," said George Gionis, environmental manager, enforcement section of the district DER office.

Because of its history, DER tested the ground around the leak at the Seaboard Railroad site and found a possibility of groundwater contamination. Since then the company has hired a consultant to begin the lengthy clean up process.

A DER Operational Response Team was scheduled to visit the Floral Heights Grocery site in June, but it is not known whether they discovered groundwater contamination at the site or how extensive any contamination may be. In 1983, the Sanford fire department alerted DER to the possibility of a leak at that site and DER was sending the team because of that history.

During Chevron Oil's takeover of Gulf Oil Company, it reported a leak at the Gulf Station in Winter Springs in January 1985. The amount of diesel fuel lost was unknown, but about 25 gallons was recovered. The new owners have hired a consultant, Geraghty & Miller, to assess possible contamination.

The law, which received final approval in August of this year, is explicit about what types of studies must be done, steps to take in compiling the studies, and requirements for DER's approval of the studies. Although there are time limits by which to complete the studies, it could take years before any clean up is started, Gionis said.

"We require the owners do an assessment of contamination," Gionis said. "Then DER determines if the assessment is adequate or proper."

If contamination presents a problem the owners of the site are required to remove the "free product," the petroleum floating on the top of the water. Since some of the petroleum will dissolve the owner must then hire a contractor to determine whether contamination of the groundwater has occurred, Gionis said.

A contamination assessment report is then done, describing the area of contamination, types of contamination, its concentration and extent.

"If contamination is minor and there is little possibility of contamination of someone's well we may accept a restitution fee without ordering clean up," Gionis said.

After the contamination assessment report is approved the owner (or the consultant) must submit a plan for cleaning up the area which must also meet with DER approval.

Lake Mary OKs Office Complex Site Plan

Final building plans were approved for an office building complex called Commerce Point by the Lake Mary City Planning and Zoning Board Tuesday night, while a company called Primera presented preliminary plans for a 186-acre, 2.2-million-square-foot hotel and office complex.

The board approved the final site plan for Commerce Point 4-1 with member John Percy objecting over denial of a left turn out of the complex.

Lame duck board member and city commissioner-elect Charlie Webster said, "I don't think a left turn onto a road that busy would be appropriate in terms of five or ten years down the road. A left turn is accepted as a necessity but the turn out is not necessary."

Commerce Point is a planned two story multi-use office complex containing 17,500 square feet of office space on 2.4 acres. It will be home to 60 workers and will be located on the north-east corner of Rinehart Road and Lake Mary Boulevard.

Diedrich Mohring, the developer for Commerce Point, said he would like the convenience of the turn lane and had expected it would be no problem. Building and Planning Department official Stan Welling told the board Rinehart Road would eventually be paved for four lanes and it was his opinion that it would suffice for exit. Mohring went on to explain that other objections the board had expressed about routing of power lines, access for fire trucks and signs for parking and exit had been planned for. The board went on to other subjects such as waste water removal and storm water retention and as a group seemed pleased with the plans.

Talmadge then called for a vote and suggested to board members that in the future it should be accepted board policy not to allow left turns onto Lake Mary Boulevard and that he would approve this plan only on that condition. Mohring appeared to accept the decision and voiced no objection. The board then voted and approved the plans without the turn lane.

Primera Company President Dean Hall addressed the board about preparations for his company's presentation to the development review committee of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council in Winter Park on Thursday. He said zoning changes to accommodate the 186 acres of office complexes, plaza shopping center, fitness center and 500 room hotel were 90 to 95 percent completed. He said, "We (company) still have several weeks before our Nov. 26 presentation to the city and that gives us time to appeal any changes to plans that we might have to make."

Hall said the construction would be completed in three phases with final completion being scheduled for the year

'Watch' Group Gets Into Action

Members of Neighborhood Watch in the Georgetown area of east Sanford have proven themselves as crime stoppers by recently assisting police in nabbing three burglary suspects.

Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said Tuesday that Neighborhood Watch patrolmen Earl C. Myers and Artis Hardy Jr. were instrumental in the speedy arrests of three suspects arrested shortly after midnight on Sept. 18, who had allegedly just before midnight burglarized the home of Charlene Boynton of 411 Willow Ave.

The neighborhood watchers, Harriett said, reportedly spotted the suspects loading a television, a microwave oven and other items into their vehicle from woods near Ms. Boynton's home. Those items and jewelry with a total value of $3,800 were stolen from Ms. Boynton and recovered when the suspects were arrested, Harriett said.

Myers and Hardy contacted police by Citizen's Band radio and then followed the suspects until police arrived and arrested the three in front of 821 Rosalia

Much Ado About Not Much

SEATTLE (UPI) — Local astronomers say Halley's Comet, already the subject of T-shirts, seat cushions, hats and neckties, may lay an egg in the Pacific Northwest.

"To quote Dickens, it's the best of times and the worst of times for comet-watchers this time around," said Dennis Schatz, an astronomy specialist at the Pacific Science Center.

"It's the best of times for the scientific community, because of all the technological advances that have been made that will allow an unprecedented study of the comet. "But it's the worst of times as far as the view," he said Tuesday. "Relative to 1910 (when it last appeared), we in the Northwest will have just about the worst view of the comet."

He said the murky weather in the area and the Northwest's position in relation to the comet and the Earth will make the area a poor viewing spot for the long-awaited spectacle.

IN BRIEF

George Shultz, Shevardnadze Meeting To Prepare For Summit

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze got down to business today in preparation for their leaders' November summit amid reports of a new Kremlin arms proposal.

Their U.N. rhetorical joust over, the two men sit down at the Soviet U.N. mission for a scheduled four-hour meeting. The session is expected to deal with preparations for the Nov. 19-20 summit between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev and issues that divide the nations.

Friday, Shevardnadze meets President Reagan at the White House, a meeting that U.S. officials will study for signs of Soviet seriousness on reaching an arms control agreement at talks in Geneva, Switzerland.

Shevardnadze, in the Kremlin's latest pre-summit public relations blast, delivered another attack on the U.S. "Star Wars" space-based anti-missile defense program Tuesday.

In an address to the 40th U.N. General Assembly, Shevardnadze called on the world body to reject Washington's "sinister plans of Star Wars" and endorse a Soviet "Star Peace" proposal for space exploration.

He also said Soviet negotiators had brought to the arms control talks in Geneva "substantial, large-scale and far-reaching proposals" to achieve a "radical solution" to the impasse.

Marriott Buys Howard Johnson's

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Marriott Corp. announced Tuesday it will buy the Howard Johnson Co. for $300 million, keeping 418 restaurants for itself and selling the rest of the food and lodging chain to a national hotel operator.

Prime Motor Inns Inc. has agreed to pay the Marriott hotel and restaurant chain $235 million for nearly all of Howard Johnson's motor lodges and hotels, its franchised restaurants and the Howard Johnson trademark.

Marriott will keep 350 of Howard Johnson's non-franchised restaurants, 68 turnpike restaurants, plus the company's vending, manufacturing and distribution operations.

Marriott also will retain one of Howard Johnson's Plaza-Hotels and management agreements for three others.

The assets acquired by Prime Motor Inns include about 125 motor lodges and hotels operated by Howard Johnson, 375 franchised motor lodges and 199 franchised restaurants.

Superfund Financing Considered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate is ready to vote on a $7.5 billion plan to expand the Superfund toxic waste cleanup program, but says an alternative financing method should replace a controversial proposal for a new tax.

But even though lawmakers agreed Tuesday they do not like the proposed excise tax on major manufacturers, they stopped short of ordering changes in the funding formula.

With work virtually complete on the Superfund package, the Senate scheduled a final vote for Thursday, Sen. Robert Stafford, R-Vt., chairman of the Environment and Public Works Committee, predicted the measure will be approved.

The legislation calls for creation of an excise tax to raise $5.4 billion for Superfund over the next five years. Continuation of an existing tax on manufacturers of the chemicals and petroleum products most often identified as hazardous wastes would raise another $1.5 billion.

Mexico's Quake Toll Will Reach 5,000

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Work crews fumigated and demolished buildings in the earthquake-crushed heart of Mexico City, a sign that authorities had little hope of finding more survivors trapped in the ruins.

The official death toll from the two quakes that rocked central Mexico Thursday and Friday climbed to more than 4,200 people — including five Americans — and a government spokesman said Tuesday it would reach at least 5,000.

Rescue workers continued to search for thousands believed trapped in the rubble of buildings that collapsed during the powerful quakes.

Shortly before 1 a.m. today, a baby was rescued alive from under the rubble of the maternity ward of the General Hospital, a complex where several buildings collapsed.

Rescuers said the child was apparently saved because it had been sheltered from falling debris by a dead body. The baby, whose sex and age could not be immediately determined, was given oxygen and taken to a nearby hospital.

Ricardo Ampudia, a presidential spokesman, said work crews fumigated devastated buildings in the heart of the capital, where rescue teams feared at least 2,000 trapped victims were dead beneath the ruins of some 450 buildings.

Ampudia said the fumigation was aimed at protecting the city's 18 million people from disease.

The first quake, which struck Thursday, measured 7.8 on the Richter scale. A major aftershock Friday measured 7.3 on the Richter scale.

A spokesman for the Seismological Institute said there have been 51 aftershocks since Thursday — including several Tuesday — but most have been too weak for people to feel.

In place for the central islands, including Eleuthera and the Abaco Islands.

Gloria's maximum winds are estimated to be near 150 mph.

Meanwhile, forecasters wrote their final advisory at 9 p.m. Tuesday on tropical storm Henri as its remnants moved northeast at 15 mph into Rhode Island.

Gale warnings along the Connecticut and Massachusetts coasts were lowered.

Clark said a cold front over the United States will start to push Gloria more to the north, competing with a high pressure system of warm air that has been nudging it west.

"A big trough of low pressure of really cold air over the mid United States will deflect it more to the north," Clark said.

Gloria was a strong number four hurricane on a scale of one to five — five being most severe and meaning a storm's steady winds are 150 mph.

"It won't be long," Clark said. "If it keeps on strengthening, it'll be a category five."

Few storms have been so powerful in the last 10 years. In 1980, Hurricane Allen's winds hit an estimated 175 mph, while David hit 150 mph in 1979 and Anita also rose to 150 mph in 1977.

He said a lack of wind shears above Gloria and warm water have helped it grow. A storm builds when excessive air blows into the center and is funneled up a "chimney-like" outlet; wind shears prevent this, Clark said.

"It's like a fireplace out of control," he said. "You have a flue on a chimney. If you open the flue wide open, it's not blowing the fire out, it's making the fire bigger."

He said the eye of the storm is "very tightly" wound. Reports from an Air Force reconnaissance plane say it is eight miles across.

Drive, Harriett said.

Sanford police are now monitoring Citizen's Radio channel 9 as part of an anti-crime drive in conjunction with the Neighborhood Watch program.

Harriett said calls from CB radios can now be made directly into the police dispatch center. He said Neighborhood Watch members on patrol in private vehicles in various areas in the city report via radio to police when they see suspicious persons in their neighborhoods.

Although the citizens have no power to arrest or detain they can help police pinpoint trouble, Harriett said.

In the Georgetown case, Brian Knight, 19, of 2441 E. 21st St., Sanford; Joseph Louis Ruffin Jr., 19, of 2581 Crawford Drive, Sanford; and Theodis Jones, 48, of 302 Teakwood Lane, Altamonte Springs, have been charged with burglary and grand theft, Harriett said. Jones and Ruffin have been released on $5,000 bond each and are scheduled to appear in court Oct. 7.

Harriett praised the efforts of Neighborhood Watch and said the group plans to continue to assist police in this way.

Hill said one man suffered a mild heart attack in the blast. Another was pulled from a vehicle he was driving down University Drive when the muffler shop exploded.

Two Midas workers watched later as the bodies of the victims were taken in black bags from the rubble.

"I could have been any one of those," said a worker, who identified himself as "Charlie."

The explosion shattered windows in the Publix Supermarket and a travel agency across the street, blew parts of a restaurant roof into a parking lot, and rocked vehicles on the street.

"It sounded like a bomb. We knew it was an explosion as soon as we heard it," said a cashier in the Publix Supermarket. "The noise lasted about five seconds and then windows blew out and a lot of ceiling fell in."

Larry Porzino, an attendant at an Amoco service station a block away, described the blast as powerful and loud.

"I was just sitting inside and the next thing I knew I was lying on the floor," he said.

"It's a very lucky thing, for University Drive this time of morning is very busy," said Steve Simon, commander of Broward County Emergency Medical Services. "An hour later and you might have had God knows how many injuries."

Sanford Annexes Land Over County Protest

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Over objections from Seminole County, the city of Sanford annexed two parcels of property and promised to fight the county's opposition to the Supreme Court if necessary.

"We think ... we have good legal grounds," Sanford City Commissioner John Mercer said today referring to the annexation made Monday.

Mercer said the majority of the commission would be willing to buck the county's opposition all the way to the Supreme Court.

The annexed parcels, adjoining each other, were annexed at the requests of the owners, records show. The city commission took the action during a regularly scheduled meeting at Sanford City Hall.

The first annexed parcel is bounded by State Road 46, a vacated Seaboard Coastline railroad right-of-way, Oregon Avenue and Kennel Road. The owners are Viola H. and Harold K. Kastner Sr., Ruth S. Bethea Dye and Testamentary Trust.

The second parcel is bounded SR 46, the abandoned right of way, Upsala Road and Oregon Road. The land is owned by Jeno

F. and Lois M. Paulucci.

Assistant county attorney Lonnie Groot said today the city's action broke a state law that prohibits annexations that create "enclaves" off city property into county areas. The state law, he said, intends that annexed property be compact so not to hamper police, fire and water service.

City attorney William Colbert, however, said the law requires that the property be adjacent to the city. He said the city can provide the necessary service to the area.

Groot complained that the county was not notified of the Paulucci annexation request. His point was countered by Colbert who said the annexations were properly advertised in the Evening Herald, Sanford.

Groot said a decision has not been made whether to contest the city's action and take the issue to court. He said the county objected to the annexation as a matter of policy.

Woody Price, deputy county administrator overseeing the action, could not be reached to explain why the county was against the annexation.

The city commissioners at the meeting also told Groot it is the decision of the land owners not the county whether they want to join a city not a decision to be made by the county.

2000. He said phase one is planned for 1986-1989 and would see construction of 29 acres of office complex and medical testing center and sports complex completed. Phase two from 1990-1995 will see development of a 500 room hotel, a "plaza core" consisting of high rise office and retail center on 45 acres and phase three from 1995-2000 will be 32 acres of offices.

The development, according to Hall, has a price tag of $400-$600 million and in the next twenty years will generate an estimated $4 million in property taxes for Seminole County and $900,000 in property taxes for Lake Mary. "We are looking forward to getting started," Hall said.

THE NATIONAL NUTRITION QUIZ

YOU ARE WHAT YOU EAT!

You can find out by watching and taking the THE NATIONAL NUTRITION QUIZ with Jane Brody, David Watts, M.D.

You are what you eat. If this statement is true, then most of us are walking storehouses of cholesterol, saturated fat, a dozen different kinds of sugars and enough salt to cure a fair-sized side of beef. Of course you're thinking, "I'm not like that." Well, you can find out by watching, and taking, The National Nutrition Quiz, hosted by nationally known health advocates Jane Brody and David Watts, M.D. You'll be led through the bewildering maze of foodstuffs that looms so large in our lives. The quiz explores facts and fantasies about nutrition and, in a fun and entertaining way, presents up-to-date scientific data on the protective and destructive properties of the awesome array of things we swallow during a given day. By the time you get through with the quiz, you should know the relationship of nutrition to obesity, diabetes and major killers such as heart disease and cancer, as well as to simple good health and overall fitness. Good Luck!

IN BRIEF

Colonial Buildings Survive Quake While Modern Structures Topple

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexico's national cathedral, built in 1525, towers over the Zocalo main square, while a few blocks away there are piles of rubble from modern office buildings that collapsed in last week's earthquakes.

Next door, the 17th century presidential palace that was built on top of Montezuma's palace is intact, while dump trucks haul debris along cobblestone streets that once bustled with traffic.

Amid the shattered ruins of the oldest city in the Americas, both Mexicans and visitors are surprised to see that 400-year-old colonial buildings are still standing.

"You don't have to think too long to know who the better builders were," said Mario Barajas, a civil engineer directing the salvage of furniture and files from an evacuated office building.

"All the new is gone, while the beautiful remains. That is the only consolation in all of this tragedy."

France Gets New Spy Chief

PARIS (UPI) — The army chief of staff today was named head of the French secret service in a shake-up prompted by the intelligence agency's role in the sinking of the Greenpeace flagship in New Zealand.

Gen. Rene Imbot was appointed to the post at a cabinet meeting that focused on the political crisis over the sinking of the Rainbow Warrior. The attack killed a photographer.

The general was ordered to "restore order in the service, reorganize it and draw up a report on the recent events," government spokesman Georgina Dufoux said.

Imbot, 60, who has served as army chief of staff since 1983, replaces Adm. Pierre Lacoste, dismissed Friday as chief of the secret service after he refused to answer questions about the intelligence agency's role in New Zealand.

The new defense minister, Paul Quilès, former minister for urban affairs, transport and housing, was ordered to continue an investigation of the General Directorate for External Security, the DGSE, or French secret service.

Bomb Blast At Airline Office

ROME (UPI) — A time bomb exploded today in the British Airways office near Via Veneto, injuring at least 11 people and virtually destroying the airline office in the second bombing in the posh district in less than two weeks.

Witnesses said police seized a suspect who appeared to be from the Middle East. They described the suspect as young, small and slender and said he was smiling as he was arrested.

The bombing came nine days after a grenade attack on a Via Veneto cafe that injured 38 people, including 11 American tourists. A Lebanese-born Palestinian was charged with that bombing.

A organization called the Revolutionary Organization of Socialist Moslems claimed responsibility for the cafe bombing and warned it would attack again in Italy, Britain, Spain.

Polling Places Moved For Bonds Vote

Six polling places are to be moved to facilitate the Oct. 22 Seminole County School Board Bond Issue referendum, according to Seminole Supervisor of Elections Sandy Goard.

The proposed $100 million school bond issue, if approved by voters, will go to finance building a new elementary school, build a new centralized maintenance center, renovate 40 of the school systems 41 schools and buy land for a new high school.

Mrs. Goard said the six site changes were necessary because the bond issue falls in an odd year when no other elections were scheduled and because the polling places, usually churches and schools, were booked in advance for other activities. "This sort of thing (changing polling sites) is not that unusual, it happens all the time," Mrs. Goard said. "We just weren't anticipating the bond issue vote this year."

Mrs. Goard said there is no cost to the taxpayer for the poll shifting and that the school board pays all costs for the elections. About 8,200 voters will be affected by the move.

The planned site changes for the bond issue referendum are:

—Precinct 2, formerly at the Paola Wesleyan Church Annex will move to the library at Wilson Elementary, off State Road 431, in Paola.

—Precinct 12, formerly at the Florida Federal Savings and Loan Association, will move to the activity center at Spring Lake Elementary School, off Orange Avenue, in Altamonte Springs.

—Precinct 42, formerly at the First Assembly of God, will move to the auditorium of Pine Crest Elementary School, 400 W. 27th St., Sanford.

—Precinct 57, formerly at St. Augustine Catholic Church parish hall, will move to the Lake Kathryn Village Clubhouse, at the end of B Street and off Seminola Boulevard, in Casselberry.

—Precinct 68, formerly at St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, will move to the Elks Club, off Howell Branch Road, in Goldenrod.

—Precinct 70, formerly at the Church of the Annunciation, will move to St. Stephen Lutheran Church, 2140 State Road 434, in Longwood.

These precinct changes are for the Oct. 22 school bond issue referendum and are not permanent changes said Mrs. Goard.

Mrs. Goard added that the county will need 21 new precinct polling places by 1987 because of the rapid growth of Seminole county, the overcrowding of existing sites and because of preparations for the 1990 census.

"We must have our re-districting done prior to Jan. 1, 1987," Mrs. Goard said. "After that time period the state puts a freeze on the border lines of our school districts to prepare for the census that is done once every ten years. We would like to have this work done by the time our new voter I.D. cards are issued Jan. 1, 1986."

"Many of our present polling places are taking as many as 3,000 voters for some elections and they really shouldn't process more than 1,700 maximum. And with census projections indicating increasing population growth we really should re-district now while we still can," Mrs. Goard said. There are presently 72 polling places in the county.

Pre-Emptive Bankruptcy

Where the Manville Corp. pioneered, the A.H. Robins Co. is following. Just like the manufacturer of asbestos, the manufacturer of the Dalkon Shield intrauterine device has filed for bankruptcy protection — not because its business is in any way failing, but to get out from under the lawsuits filed by the victims of its product. There's talk about Union Carbide trying bankruptcy next, to handle its own liability problems stemming from the Bhopal disaster and the Institute, W. Va., gas leak.

Robins' birth-control device, marketed for two years (1972 to 1974), turned out to cause pelvic infections, spontaneous abortions and sterility. The company has already paid out $378 million in damages to 9,230 women, and last year it set aside $615 million more in a reserve for settling the remaining 5,100 claims filed against it — and the nearly 400 new ones being added to that roster each month. But all that now looks like it won't be nearly enough.

The remaining lawsuits, Robins says, threatened it with insolvency, and that may be true. The courts have been making larger and larger awards in these cases, as more and more evidence has come out that Robins knew all along of the device's dangers and its ineffectiveness but sold it anyway. Indeed, since mid-1984, when a former Robins attorney testified that the company had tried to destroy the documents that proved its early knowledge, and when a federal judge denounced Robins for "corporate irresponsibility at its meanest," the average size of the awards and settlements in Dalkon Shield cases has more than doubled.

This is patently not the kind of trouble the nation's bankruptcy law was designed to help. Neither was Manville's. Even though the Manville case, after several years, now seems to have been resolved satisfactorily, the Dalkon Shield victims are right to worry that this bankruptcy maneuver could end up delaying and reducing their awards and letting Robins off the hook.

For that matter, Robins itself is taking a risk: In this new use of the bankruptcy law, there is no telling how the company will finally be restructured to meet its obligations. The Manville settlement was just short of draconian and will leave that company under the control of a victims' trust fund and probably with little in the way of profits for another 20 years.

The problem is that there is no other mechanism around for coping with these kinds of massive liability cases. Congress has rightly resisted the efforts of various manufacturers to change the nation's product liability laws in their favor. Those changes would have made it more difficult for victims to sue and thus undercut a powerful incentive for safe and responsible business practices. At the same time, the courts have refused to consolidate the Robins cases in one manageable forum, in which, if nothing else, at least the legal fees of all sides could be drastically reduced. That's what filing for bankruptcy protection will achieve — albeit through the back door. Since Congress has failed to develop legislation to handle these situations more efficiently but still fairly, it's hard to complain about the bankruptcy strategy.

Complex product-liability litigation is now what bankruptcy judges are supposed to handle, but apparently they're going to have to learn. One can only hope that on a case-by-case basis they will be able to achieve the kind of solution Congress has not been able to produce in a law meant to cover all cases — a solution that's fair to victims, that doesn't fall back on the taxpayers for relief, that maintains effective penalties for company fraud, yet is not so punitive as to defeat its whole purpose by putting the company out of business. It's a tall order at the wrong soda fountain. But there it is.

White House Aides Lowering Profiles

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Top White House aides are lowering their profile. Chief of staff Donald Regan is reported to be "gun-shy" after a spate of critical published reports that questioned his take-charge manner and his uncompromising approach to Congress. Critics have called him "Mr. Prime Minister" and "deputy president." He also has been accused of being "politically naive," particularly on Capitol Hill where his predecessor, James Baker, now in Regan's old job as treasury secretary, was well known for massaging dissidents in Congress and compromising when necessary.

Regan has been generous with interviews and refreshingly candid on where he stands and where the administration is going.

But now he is keeping his head down, having suffered a critical barrage from the media and insiders in the White House who retain their anonymity.

Some of the holdovers from the first term were resentful of their loss of power when Regan brought in his own team.

There have been turf wars and some feuding, but that was even more so in the first term when Baker and counselor Edwin Meese, now attorney general, locked horns and stopped having their breakfast meetings to plan the president's day and strategy.

President Reagan, as always, is above the fray. He weighs in only when it is absolutely necessary, and he does not appear to be one who wants "creative tension," as some managers of the day do. Instead, he obviously wants a happy ship.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Then After The Lull

Where have all the protestors and demonstrators gone? What's happened to the groups that opposed aid to the Nicaraguan freedom fighters, called for a unilateral nuclear freeze, urged abandonment of the MX missile, and opposed deployment of cruise missiles in Europe?

They have been quiet over the summer, especially so as they lost key battles in Congress and the court of public opinion. But they are still out there. One can be sure of that. One can also safely predict that they will surface again this fall.

Left pacifism remains an element of American life, albeit not a decisive force.

The left pacifists, who have made a united front with groups hostile to the American economic system, find a base and sustaining support to radicalized church organizations that promote such projects as the so-called sanctuary movement that calls for the harboring of illegal aliens, though the law clearly forbids such activity.

The radicalized elements in American life — and such elements exist in all Western countries — increasingly seem bent on civil disobedience.

This turn to undemocratic methods bothers many traditional liberals. One of these is William Phillips, editor of the Partisan Review, one of the oldest and most influential of liberal-left political and literary journals. Partisan Review always has been left-oriented but hostile to Stalinist leftism.

In a recent essay in Partisan Review, Mr. Phillips said: "In the last decade the ideology of pacifism and neutralism has reached staggering proportions in a way somewhat reminiscent of the thirties when fellow travelers and liberals were taken in by pro-Soviet propaganda, and the media and the universities were literally swamped with illusions and lies about the promise of communism."

Note that this isn't the judgment of a conservative. Mr. Phillips doesn't usually arrive at what often is seen as a conservative position, but he is deeply concerned about the new ideology of pacifism and neutralism.

Other liberals would do well to ponder his statement. Organizations such as the various church "peace fellowships" have gone a long way towards embracing a copycat version of Soviet propaganda. They have adopted a "liberation theology" that is indistinguishable from Castroite communism. They portray the United States as a terrorist state because it opposes a revolutionary transformation of this hemisphere. They see hunger in the world, and conclude that the starvation is the fault of the U.S. government, though America does more than any nation to feed the starving in countries which are incapable of feeding themselves or where the regime — in Ethiopia, for instance — is bent on starving a rebellious section of the population.

Hawkins Praise Of Chiles Stuns Some

By Robert Doherty
UPI Southern Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Florida is the only one of the 12 Southeastern and Mid-Atlantic states to have any Hispanic elected officials in 1985, says the National Association of Latino Elected and Appointed Officials.

The report by the group shows that Florida has 44 elected officials of Hispanic descent — ranking it seventh nationally behind Texas, New Mexico, California, Arizona, Colorado and New York.

Nationally, the group said, there are 3,202 Hispanic elected officials in the 31 states this year, with Texas accounting for 1,475 of them.

The majority, 27, of Florida's 44 elected Hispanics are municipal officials. Another seven are state legislators, five are judicial or law enforcement officials, four are school board members and one is a

JACK ANDERSON

AIDS Test Patent Fight

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta
WASHINGTON — While thousands are dying in agony from AIDS, the French and U.S. governments are engaged in an obscene battle over the patent and royalties on an AIDS blood-testing kit. This not only isolates the virus that causes the deadly disease, but could lead to a cure.

As we reported last month, the French claim the U.S. National Cancer Institute pirated research done by the Pasteur Institute in Paris and illegally secured a patent on the AIDS test kit. The French want their share of credit and their share of the royalties, which already have reached about $2 million. So far, the U.S. government has brushed off the French claims.

In the last month, however, the French have delivered documents outlining their case to Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret Heckler. Among other things, the French claim that they were the first to file for a patent in the United States. Their application was put on hold, they said, while patent applications filed later by National Cancer Institute doctors were granted.

French officials have warned that a long court battle is inevitable if the United States continues to refuse France the credit to which it is entitled. Already, the patent feud has hurt Franco-American cooperation in seeking a cure for AIDS.

"There is a situation which can create a very difficult climate and will certainly not contribute to the conditions of an effective cooperation," said Pasteur Institute Director Raymond Dedonder in a private statement to HHS officials. A transcript has been seen by our associate Corky Johnson.

"The granting of the patent to the NCI, while our earlier application is still under consideration, may imply consequences which can be deleterious for the Pasteur Institute and its licensees, and that we cannot accept," Dedonder said.

Dedonder said his doctors are committed to cooperation with the Americans for public health reasons, but vowed that the French will fight for their rightful credit.

"It is a well-established fact that the virus responsible for AIDS has been discovered by the group working at the Pasteur Institute," Dedonder said. "We think that we are entitled to a full recognition of this fact and consequently to a full recognition of our right to a patent."

Among the evidence submitted to support the French claim were copies of newspaper articles, including one in which the head of the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta was quoted as saying that the AIDS virus was discovered by French researcher Luc Montagnier.

"If a satisfactory agreement is not attained, the Pasteur Institute is prepared, determined and even compelled to utilize all available procedures to obtain complete recognition of its rights," Dedonder warned.

Dedonder added that an unseemly public brawl over the AIDS test patent will tarnish the "good image of science and scientists."

But Dr. Robert Gallo, the leading American AIDS researcher, insisted the feud is wholly on the French side.

Beware Generic Dog Food

By Bill Lohmann
UPI Feature Writer
ATLANTA (UPI) — Generic and bargain brand dog food is not always as nutritious as its label might indicate and actually can lead to serious health problems for dogs, according to a new study.

The study, conducted at the University of Georgia's College of Veterinary Medicine, showed puppies fed a steady diet of selected low-priced dog foods suffered numerous health problems, including stunted growth.

"A dog can almost starve to death by eating these," says Dr. Thomas Huber, director of the study. "Some of these dog foods are formulated without any regard to palatability or digestibility."

Veterinarians say dozens of so-called price brand and generic pet foods have shown up in grocery stores nationwide in recent years. Many are sold at half the price of major national brands and claim to be "100 percent nutritionally complete" in laboratory tests.

While the contents might add up on paper, the food might never have been tested on animals and could vary from day to day or bag to bag, Huber said. Animal experts warn the ingredients in many of these low-priced foods are so low-quality they cannot be digested and provide inadequate nourishment for the animals.

"The problem is widespread," said Dr. Stephen Kritsick, a nationally known pet care expert who works for the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. "I know people buy these to save money. But because of the labeling problems, you have no way of knowing what's deficient in these foods."

Kritsick said dog owners should not be fooled if their pets devour — and seem to enjoy — a dog food that might be nutritionally deficient.

"Just because the pet eats the food doesn't mean it's good for them," Kritsick said. "Often, animals will eat whatever is offered. As pet owners, we have to provide a good balanced diet for our pets."

The 10-week test at Georgia was conducted on 21 Blue Tick Hound puppies, which were 10- to 12-weeks old at the start of the test and virtually the same size. The dogs were divided into four groups — one group was fed a major national brand dog food, while the other three groups were fed one of three price brands.

Huber said the tests revealed several things:

—Puppies fed the national brand gained an average of 21 pounds during the 10-week test, while the pups eating the price brands gained 16 pounds.

—Puppies fed the national brand grew more than 7 inches in length, while the pups eating the price brands grew less than 6 inches.

county official. Association officials pointed out that the numbers do not include appointed officials.

There were some stunned faces at a recent Senate Judiciary Committee hearing on legislation to combat so-called designer drugs when Sen. Paula Hawkins, R-Fla., heaped effusive praise on her colleague Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla.

Although they are on the same side of the designer-drug issue, to say the two have not been the closest of work mates since Hawkins came to the Senate five years ago is a mild understatement.

To have heard Hawkins' statement, however, you never would have known it. It went beyond even the normal verbal bouquets members of the House and Senate deal in during hearings or floor debates.

Said Hawkins, "Sitting beside me ... is another individual who should be praised for his leadership in the area of synthetic drug abuse prevention — my esteemed colleague from Florida, Sen. Lawton Chiles.

than their share of hot races.

At this point, the best race would seem likely to be the matchup between Hawkins and Florida Gov. Bob Graham, who has yet to officially announce. Equally interesting, however, could be races in North Carolina and Maryland.

The recent decision by Sen. John East, R-N.C., not to seek re-election for health reasons leaves the state, in the words of one Democratic campaign official, "wide open."

East and The National Congressional Club, of course, have already backed David Funderburk, former ambassador to Romania, but veteran Rep. James Broyhill's recent decision to make the run should make it a very interesting GOP primary.

Former Gov. Terry Sanford and Rep. Charlie Rose are among those discussed as serious Democratic possibilities.

Aquatic Wheelchairs Roll Over Sand, Resist Rust

NAPLES, Fla. (UPI) — A homemade rust-resistant wheelchair, which a Naples man helped invent for his water-loving, disabled father, is being built in volume so other handicapped people can roll to the surf.

Jim Rice Jr., a potter, and Bill Klohn, a real estate salesman and former welder, handcrafted an aquatic wheelchair for Rice's father, whose wheelchairs were rusting about every four months from being ridden into the water.

The new chair had stainless steel wheels and tires that could tackle treks over beaches without becoming mired in the soft sand. About a year ago Rice Jr. and Klohn began making the chairs to order.

Naples Handicapped in Action, a group of disabled people, bought a chair. Rice Jr. and Klohn arranged a picnic to demonstrate their product for group members.

"There were people there who hadn't been in the water for 10 years," Rice Jr. said. "Most of their time they spent dragging their bodies around, fighting gravity. In the water they're not fighting gravity."

The elder Rice moved to Naples 15 years ago from Ohio just so he could swim in the Gulf of Mexico. Seven years ago, a spinal injury forced him into a wheelchair.

At first, he put bicycle tires on his wheelchair so he could push through the sand without sinking. But the used chairs rusted, and Rice had to buy replacements. Then his son and Klohn developed the new model.

"It does the job for me," Rice said. "It can be rolled over the sand, right into the water. I go in until the water comes up to the seat, then I get out and swim. It's great therapy."

Last year, Rice Jr. and Klohn created Beach Wheels Inc. to make The Beachmaster wheelchairs, which are built by hand at home, sell for $899, and are advertised by mail to cities, counties and organizations which serve the handicapped.

The city of Jacksonville and the Veterans Administration office in Togus, Maine have bought chairs. Tentative orders have been placed by the city of Miami and Los Angeles County. There have been inquiries from as far away as Argentina.

Klohn said regular wheelchairs rust, and sink in the sand because of their narrow wheels. Also, sand gets in the wheel bearings, creating friction.

The Beachmaster is built with materials found on boats — canvas seats, removable teak armrests, and nylon bushings instead of metal bearings. The wheels are four-inch-wide bands of stainless steel.

Christmas In September For Buyers Of Liquor

United Press International

For the first time in 34 years, the federal tax on hard liquor goes up Tuesday and stores nationwide say consumers are rushing to stockpile their favorite spirits before the levy goes up.

"People are buying three-month supplies," said Ron Beatty, manager of Corral Liquors in suburban St. Louis. "It's Christmas in September."

The tax increase is expected to raise the price of a half-gallon of 80 proof liquor by up to several dollars and Beatty predicted shortages of some brands this week.

Many store owners are taking advantage of the booze-rush with huge "Beat the Tax" signs in their windows and other gimmicks to entice customers.

One store in downtown Washington, D.C., which ran newspaper advertisements urging consumers to buy their Christmas gifts before the tax kicks in, was swamped this weekend, with one patron reporting waiting in line for about 25 minutes just to buy a six-pack of beer.

In New Hampshire, the state-run liquor monopoly kicked off a "pre-tax sale" last week by dumping 12 half-gallons of booze into the Piscataqua River in Portsmouth, in a Boston Tea Party-like event.

"It was our way of reminding Mr. and Mrs. Consumer that the tax is going up. 'Buy now,'" said the state liquor commissioner, Lyle Hersom. "In other words, fill the closet before the tax goes up."

The new tax, passed as part of the 1984 Deficit Reduction Act, will boost the distilled spirits tax by $2 per proof gallon from $10.50 to $12.50. It affects only hard liquor and not beer and wine.

It is estimated the tax can raise $149 million in 1985 and up to $535 million by 1989. The last change in the tax was in 1951.

Consumers in Michigan are getting a double shot on Tuesday. In addition to the federal tax hike, the state is raising taxes by 4 percent on liquor sold by the bottle in package stores and by the glass in bars.

Retailers and wholesalers alike say the price of liquor will increase more than the tax hike, because new taxes paid by the distiller will compound through higher distribution costs as bottles reach store shelves.

Stores contacted around the nation varied in their estimates on how much liquor would increase under the new tax, depending on distributors' actions, but all agreed the tab would be noticeably higher.

In New York, the manager of 67 Wine and Spirits of Manhattan's Columbus Avenue, said the price of a liter of Glenlivet scotch will increase only 40 cents, while a liter of Chivas Regal scotch will jump nearly $3.70, to $26.64.

Sheldon Tatz, general manager of United Liquor, Wine and Beer Co. of Phoenix, Ariz., said September will probably be the best month in his firm's history because of the tax increase, but predicts hard-liquor sales will decline after it takes effect.

"This is the age of (drinking) moderation. When liquor prices rise, people slide down to beer and wine," he said.

Sanford Man Charged With Sexual Battery

A 32-year-old Sanford man has been charged with burglary and sexual battery after allegedly breaking into a Sanford woman's room.

The man fled on foot after the attack, which occurred at about 2:20 a.m. Tuesday in the woman's bedroom. The woman went to a nearby restaurant and called police. An hour after the attack a suspect was spotted and arrested in the parking lot of Tenneco, 1800 S. French Ave., a police report said.

The man was taken to the restaurant where the suspect reportedly identified the suspect, the report said.

Dennis Dale Spicer, 32, of 500 S. Oak St., #15, has been charged in the case and was being held in lieu of $10,000 bond.

SECURITY GUARD CHARGED
A security guard at a construction site has been charged with burglary, grand theft and dealing in stolen property after allegedly stealing a radio and charger from a construction site trailer he was guarding.

The suspect allegedly sold the radio and charger for $25 at about 4:15 p.m. on Monday. The items had been stolen from 155 Landover Place, Longwood, when the suspect was on duty there on Sept. 20 or 21, a Longwood police report said.

Robert William Conklin, 19, of Orlando, was arrested at 4:15 p.m. Monday in the parking lot of Cumberland Farms, Longwood. He was being held in lieu of $10,000 bond.

NO PRESCRIPTION

Sanford police who spotted a prescription drug bottle without a label in the purse of a woman they were questioning charged her with having controlled substances in an unmarked container after they found a mix of capsules and pills in the bottle, a police report said.

Police were questioning the woman after she was almost involved in a traffic accident in the parking lot of the Dollar Store in Sanford, a police report said. She was arrested at 7:34 p.m. Monday on 12th Street at Park Ave.

Barbara Colleen Powers, 61, of Orlando, was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

WILLING TO SHARE

A man Seminole County undercover drug task force agents reportedly saw roll a marijuana cigarette and smoke it with another man at the westbound rest area of Interstate 4, near Longwood, told agents he didn't have pot to sell but allegedly offered to share a smoke with them when they asked about a possible drug buy, a sheriff's report said.

Action Reports

★ Fires ★ Courts
★ Police

Both men were charged with possession of marijuana and the man who allegedly offered to share a smoke was also charged with resisting without violence after allegedly not cooperating when being handcuffed, the report said.

That man, Matthew M. Hendrick, 27, of Orange City, and Timothy Lee Blodgett, 29, of Orlando, were arrested at 11:54 p.m. Tuesday and were being held in lieu of $500 bond each.

DAD IS VICTIM

A 20-year-old Sanford man jailed since Sept. 19 in connection with the Sept. 13 theft of $200 from the home of Howard King, P.O. Box 324, Ohio Street, faces the additional burglary related charges for allegedly stealing cash and a .22-caliber handgun from his father, Ralph John Nixie Jr., of 152 Ohio St., Lake Monroe. The arrest came at 3:20 p.m. Monday at the jail after the suspect was questioned by sheriff's deputies, a sheriff's report said.

Ralph John Nixie Jr., of 422 San Marcus St., was being held in lieu of $8,000 bond on the latest charges and $8,000 bond in the other case.

TRIED TO TAKE DRYER

A 30-year-old Jacksonville man who allegedly tried but failed to steal a clothes dryer from Brentwood Apartments, Red Bug Lake Road, Casselberry, fled on foot and was caught by sheriff's deputies within minutes of the alleged attempted theft, a sheriff's report said.

Michael Wayne Turley was arrested at the sheriff's department at about 3 p.m. Monday. He was charged with burglary and grand theft and was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Dennis K. Bagley, 29, of 2250 Church St., Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies a $250 lawnmower was stolen from his home between Saturday and Monday.

Marion E. Davis, 41, of 314 Cherokee Court, Altamonte Springs, gave deputies the name of a man who she claims rammed her car with his while driving on Interstate 4 at State Road 434. The man reportedly forced her vehicle off the road, hit her in the jaw with his fist, knocked her to the ground and took $150 from her car, a sheriff's report said. The incident occurred at about 2:30 p.m. Monday. No arrest has been made.

Lawncare gear with a total value of $1,177 was stolen from the bed of the pickup truck of Edward William Campbell, 35, of Sorrento, while parked at the 7-Eleven on Foxvalley Drive, Longwood, at about 2:10 p.m. Monday, a sheriff's report said.

A pager worth $350 was stolen from the home of Charles Ewing, 40, of 1022 Manchester Circle, Winter Park, on Monday, deputies reported.

Douglas G. Bills, 63, of 3611

Osceola Road, Geneva, reported to deputies his $189 canoe disappeared from near his home between Sept. 18 and Monday.

A thief took about $80 in change and about two dozen bottles of liquor in a break-in at VFW Post 8207, State Road 427, Longwood, on Monday, a sheriff's report filed by William W. Webber, 53, of Casselberry, said.

A thief took about $1,100 worth of items including five rings and cash from the purse of Leslie L. Martin, 19, of Orlando, while she was at the home of Charles T. Irwin, 19, of 472 Clemson Drive, Altamonte Springs. The theft reportedly occurred Saturday or Sunday, according to a report Irwin filed with sheriff's deputies.

Madan Peter Mehra, a manager at Willett Toyota, U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, reported to sheriff's deputies that a 1985 Toyota worth $12,345 was stolen from a lot at the dealership around 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Haru Baker, of 3155 Dwarf Pine Ave., Winter Park, reported to sheriff's deputies that her wallet containing $300 was stolen from her purse while she was at the Jal Alal front on U.S. Highway 17-92, Fern Park, at about midnight Friday.

A thief who crawled through a kitchen window took a total of $110 from Daniel Norfeat's wallet and his wife's purse at their home at 178 Sedgfield Circle, Winter Park, between Saturday and Monday, a sheriff's report said.

Electrical components worth $200 were taken from a water pump control box in a yard at 1830 Lake Shore Circle, Longwood, between Sept. 10 and 21, according to a sheriff's report filed by an employee of Ebilde Construction, Inc., 684 Fort Rose Drive, Winter Springs.

DUI ARREST

The following person has been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Daniel Alex Reynolds, 27, of Orlando, was arrested at 4:58 a.m. Sunday in a wooded area near Casselton Drive, Casselberry, after he allegedly tried to drive away in a pickup truck which an intoxicated companion had already been warned by Casselberry police not to drive. He was also charged with fleeing and attempting to elude police, a police report said.

—John Virgil Roberts, 26, of 70 E. Third Court, Chuluota, was arrested at 9 a.m. Monday on Fourth Avenue in Chuluota after his motorcycle was in an accident. He was also charged with driving with a suspended license.

—Gerald Lee Corwin, 35, of Orlando, arrested Monday after driving carelessly on State Road 434, Oviedo. He was also charged with careless driving.

Lake Mary Seeks Volunteers

Lake Mary is looking for a few good public servants (three to be exact) who seek little pay and less recognition to serve their community but who will gain valuable experience in city government while they participate.

Lake Mary City Manager Kathy Rice said Wednesday when Kenneth King, Arthur "Buzz" Petros and Charlie Webster were elected to the city commission they had to resign their seats on the planning and zoning board and the board of adjustment. They are replacing recently resigned city commissioner Colin Keogh and retiring commissioners Burt Perinchief and Harry Terry. The planning and zoning board will require two more members and the board of adjustment will need one.

Registered voters who reside in Lake Mary are eligible to serve and the city will make the appointments after reviewing "brief" resumes submitted by citizens, according to Mrs. Rice. She said the resumes may be sent to the Lake Mary City Hall, P.O. Box 725, 158 N. Country Club Rd., Lake Mary, Florida 32746 in care of City Clerk Carol Edwards or brought in to her office. Mrs. Rice said appointees will be selected in October and will begin three year terms in November.

She said all three positions pay $5 a meeting, "to cover the costs of transportation to the meetings. We are looking for civic minded individuals."

The board of adjustment meets once a month and hears variances from the terms of zoning ordinances and decides appeals from the decisions of administrative officials. Mrs. Rice explained. She said the planning and zoning commission meets twice a month and makes recommendations to the city commission on changes in zoning, site plan reviews, other requests for building changes and reviews changes in the comprehensive land use plan.

In other Lake Mary news the city will hold a reception for retiring city commissioners Burt Perinchief and Harry Terry at the Heathrow Country Club on Oct. 7. It will last from 5 to 7 p.m., tickets cost $10 per person and they are available at city hall until Sept. 27. Perinchief, a Seminole Community College music professor, served the city for 9 years and Terry, a retired Army Corps of Engineers contract manager, served for ten years in various capacities.

How Did Marilyn Monroe Die?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Seeking to dispel 23 years of speculation that Marilyn Monroe was murdered and authorities covered it up, police have released their investigative report, but it does not still the controversy over the death of one of the world's best known sex symbols.

Chief Daryl Gates said Monday the report confirms the official version of Monroe's death in 1962 — that she committed suicide by swallowing dozens of sleeping pills.

A department spokesman said the report was released to dispel "speculation, innuendo and out-and-out lies" that Monroe was murdered and that police and coroner's officials covered it up to protect Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

The half-inch-thick report counters charges raised in an October 1975 article in Out magazine that suggested Monroe, 36, was murdered with a lethal injection of barbiturates.

The magazine suggested the police and coroner distorted evidence to protect Kennedy, who, the article claimed, was present when Monroe received the fatal overdose.

But if the police were seeking to end the controversy over Monroe's death they did not succeed.

Anthony Summers, a former BBC reporter whose book on Monroe's life and death will be released this week, said from New York that he obtained the same material earlier this year and characterized it as "superficial."

"There is no way the material could be regarded as substantial enough to quell reasons for [further] inquiry into why Marilyn died," he said. "I don't claim that she was murdered, but the case remains open. I don't think she committed suicide. It was either accidental or she was murdered."

Critics of the official suicide theory claim Monroe was injected with the fatal drug dosage, but the police report stated that such injections would have caused puncture wounds and needle marks, which were not found during the autopsy.

Another section of the report was devoted to Coroner Theodore J. Curphey's contention that Monroe was subject to abrupt mood changes and had a history of taking barbiturates.

"On these occasions, she had called for help and had been rescued," Curphey said in the report. "From the information collected about the events of the evening of Aug. 4, it is our opinion that the same pattern was repeated — except for the rescue."

Curphey said massive doses of Nembutol and chloral hydrate "gulped within a minute or two" killed the glamor queen.

Chief Gates said the report shows Monroe's death was definitely a suicide.

Baldrige: New Policies Should Reduce Trade Deficit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige says the administration's new trade policy and an international effort to devalue the dollar should help reduce the nation's record trade deficit by next year.

In a breakfast meeting with reporters Tuesday, Baldrige hailed President Reagan's decision to handle unfair trade practices with executive action rather than through legislation.

"I think the president went as far as one could go without getting into actual quotas and tariffs," Baldrige said of Reagan's plan to step up efforts to fight unfair trade practices and enforce existing trade laws.

Executive action allows the administration to impose restrictions against countries that have closed their markets to U.S. products and lift them later if they comply with fair trade practices, he said.

Of the congressional push for protectionist legislation, Baldrige said, "Once you impose quotas or tariffs by legislative fiat, history shows it is very difficult to remove them."

But on Capitol Hill, Senate Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas said he doubted Reagan's trade policies would deter congressional efforts to protect the domestic textile and clothing industry.

A House subcommittee last week approved additional import protection for American textile manufacturers. Reagan has indicated he would veto the bill but members of both chambers say they can almost guarantee an override.

An industry coalition, the Fiber Fabric Apparel Coalition for Trade, has asked sponsors of the bill to substitute a weaker version that would roll back textile imports for three countries — Taiwan, South Korea and Hong Kong — instead of the 12 targeted by the original legislation.

The House Ways and Means Committee plans to consider the original textile bill Thursday. Senate sponsors hope to attach their modified version later this week to the Micronesia Compact.

Chuluota Teen Gets 'Present' For Christmas Eve ATC Theft

A 17-year-old Chuluota youth who stole a three-wheel Honda all-terrain cycle on Christmas Eve has gotten his "present" — a 30-month prison sentence.

Edward Thomas Riddle, of 330 First St., was sentenced by Seminole Circuit Judge Dominick J. Saffi who gave Riddle credit for 188 days already served in the Seminole County jail.

A 20-year-old accomplice, William Owen Hill, of 115 S. French Ave., Sanford, was sentenced in July to 40 days in jail, 30 months probation and ordered to pay $557 in restitution and complete 240 hours of community service.

Disposition of a theft charge against a 16-year-old juvenile involved in the case was not available because of his age.

The all-terrain vehicle was stolen December 24 from the home of Brad Dunn, 808 Snow Queen Drive, Chuluota, according to a sheriff's report. Riddle and Hill were arrested Jan. 5 and the juvenile Jan. 7.

More Women Buying Condoms

NEW YORK (UPI) — Most condoms sold in pharmacies and grocery stores are bought by women, and manufacturers of the contraceptives are responding with advertising aimed at a female audience, a magazine reports.

"The $200 million-a-year condom industry now realizes it takes two to tango. It recently started marketing rubbers to women," Working Woman magazine said in its October issue.

"In the past, we felt that our target audience was male, 18 to 34. But things have changed. Women who have come off the pill are looking for a method they feel is safe," said Brent Gulick, condom manager of Schmid Products Co.

The magazine said the number of women buying condoms has risen about 25 percent from 15 percent in the mid-1970s to as high as 40 percent.

The reason? "Condoms are the only contraceptives that are also effective venereal disease barriers," the magazine said.

The condom industry is taking notice of its female customers. "Condom packages are colorful now and they're on display so women can buy them without embarrassment," said pharmacist Frederick Mayer of Sausalito, Calif. "Women are the primary purchasers in pharmacies and grocery stores."

In a break with tradition, Schmid put a man and a woman on the carton of a spermically lubricated condom, Gulick said.

Two of the major condom companies also are pushing the yuppie favorite — lambskins at a price of $1.50 to $1.75 each, Working Woman said.

The latex price tag is 25 cents to 50 cents, the magazine said.

Rachael Weightman splashes toward her goal of making the 1988 Olympic team. The sophomore from Longwood is an all-around performer for Trinity Prep.

Goals: Weightman Can't Wait For '88

Chuck Burgess
Special to the Herald

During 1984's Olympic year, baseball and other major sports took a backseat as swimming assumed center stage, monopolizing the TV screen for many American viewers. Americans were thrilled by the feats of Rowdy Gaines, Rick Carey, Tracy Caulkins, and other great American swimmers.

After the Olympic hype was over and these faces faded back into water, one person still kept on working hard to achieve her goals and dreams. She's not a commercial superstar or an athletic endorser for a Calvin Klein line of swim wear. She's just a down-to-earth, hard-working athlete trying to fulfill her potential at Trinity Preparatory School.

Her name is Rachael Weightman, and in describing her, one word comes to mind: Awesome.

Weightman, the daughter of Longwood's Ed and Carol Weightman, began her swimming career when she was only six years old. "My brothers really got me started in swimming," the 14-year-old Weightman said.

Weightman's brothers, who were standouts at Trinity Prep, are both attending college and swimming. David, the older, is attending Shepherd College in Shepherdstown, W.V., while Brian, a prep All America, is attending Mount Union College in Alliance, Ohio.

After swimming for the Lyman Swim Club for her first year, Weightman switched to the former Blue Dolphins. She said the coaching was better and more advanced. "I felt that coach (Harry) Meisel was a great coach and was highly respected by everyone," Weightman, a sophomore at Trinity Prep, said.

The change was a good one Weightman, who has been with the team ever since. "I stayed because coach Meisel inspired me to do better," Weightman said.

Meisel, who is known mostly for his career as a swimming mentor, started the Blue Dolphins in 1972. He has coached basketball, tennis, football, swimming, and a state championship gymnastics team.

The Blue Dolphins merged with the Greater Orlando team, headed by John Woods, in 1983, forming the Orlando Area Dolphins. But a new facility was built in Orlando, the Justus Aquatic Center, and the team changed its name to the Justus Dolphins of Orlando.

"I think the new center kept a lot of people motivated and made me work harder," Weightman said.

The Justus Dolphins are under senior head coach Woods, who is presently the head coach of the West Orange High swim team.

"Coach Woods gives me the confidence I need by helping me swim faster and do well in swimming," Weightman said.

Woods confirmed the Olympic potential. "Rachael has the talent," he said. "If she can start to train as a champion she'll break into the international scene in a few years."

And then? "I honestly feel Rachael (Weightman) can swim in the Olympics," Woods said. "If she really goes after it the next couple of years, she'll make the '88 team."

Although Weightman is considered a team swimmer, she also has many individual goals she wishes to achieve. "I want to make Senior Nationals again," Weightman said. "and I want to win state in the 200 and 500 free."

Senior Nationals is the goal of all great swimmers. It is the last step before going to the Olympics and the biggest meet of every year.

Weightman, who made the qualification times to swim in the Senior National Championships this year, has a long list of accomplishments that only the great ones achieve.

Her list includes:

- Eighth grade All American in the 200 free and All American honorable mention in the 500 free.

- Ninth grade All American in the 200 and 500 free and the 200 medley relay, State Meet: Fifth in the 200 free and 12th in the 500 free.

- Age group swimming: Junior Nationals in eighth grade, 200 free, 19th; 400 free, 20th; 800 free, 22nd; Ninth grade: 200 free (second), 400 free (third), 1500 free (ninth), and 400 medley relay (ninth).

In her first national swim meet in Fort Lauderdale, Weightman placed in the middle of the pack. But in Tuscaloosa, Ala., Weightman showed her dominance of age group swimming by placing second and third in two events.

By doing well at the Junior National Championships, Weightman was invited to swim in the

Lyman Capitalizes, Spikes Lady Hawks

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

With the experience and talent it has, Lyman High will win enough matches on its own in 1985. And the Lady Greyhounds will devour any opponent that makes too many mistakes.

Lyman entertained Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks Tuesday night in the first of three meetings, a non-Seminole Athletic Conference match, between the Seminole County rivals. A crowd of about 150 packed the Lyman High multi-purpose room which seemed more like a steam bath with humid temperatures outside and little ventilation inside.

Lake Howell got off to a good start Tuesday but got out of its game plan early in the opening game and the Lady Greyhounds took full advantage en route to a 15-5, 15-6 victory.

Lyman improved to 2-0 for the season while Lake Howell fell to 0-1. Both teams return to action Saturday morning in the Orlando Evans Invitational.

"You can't open the door for Lyman," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "They will capitalize on your mistakes."

The Lady Greyhounds took the early lead when senior Dawn Boyesen served an ace to open the match but the Lady Hawks got the serve after Anita Cechowski's hit. After a couple side outs, Cechowski came on to serve for Lake Howell and the Lady Hawks reeled off four straight points. A nice block by Tami Foss gave the serve back to Lyman and the Lady Greyhounds pulled within 4-3 on Sheila Mandy's serve.

The two teams traded serves a couple times with some fine defensive play by Lake Howell's Mary Kay Scott and Monica Schneider and Lyman's Boyesen and Donna Ball leading the way.

Foss gave Lyman the serve with a hit and the senior stand-out then went on to serve five straight points for an 8-4 Lyman lead. Kristie Kaiser's block highlighted the rally for Lyman while Lake Howell had a couple breakdowns in communication.

"The girls did what I wanted them to in the first part of the game," Luciano said. "But then there was a breakdown in the game plan. They quit executing."

Lake Howell got within 8-5 on Jolee Johnson's serve but could get no closer. Boyesen came on to serve four points to make it 12-5 and Kaiser served the last three points of the opening game. None of the four points served by Boyesen were returned and one was an ace while spikes by Kaiser and Foss highlighted the rally on Kaiser's serve.

"Both Dawn (Boyesen) and Kristie (Kaiser) have serves that are hard to return," Lyman coach Karren Newman said. "Dawn's is a drive and Kristie's is kind of a floater."

Lake Howell served to open the second game but couldn't score and Boyesen then served six straight points. Two of the points were aces by Boyesen while Kim Forsyth had a pair of excellent blocks and Mandy drilled a devastating spike.

After losing the serve, the Lady Greyhounds got it right back on a well-disguised dink by Boyesen. Kaiser then served four points for a 10-0 lead. Mandy had a block and Forsyth a spike in the rally.

Lake Howell had the serve three more times but couldn't score and Lyman then took a 12-0 lead on Foss's serve.

The Lady Hawks made it 12-2 on Johnson's serve with a block by Christy Tibbitts providing the second point. The Lady Hawks came back to make it 12-5 on three fine serves by Cechowski.

Kaiser served one point for a 13-5 Lyman lead but Jo Coop's spike gave it back to Lake Howell. Johnson's spike trimmed Lyman's lead to 13-6 on Tibbitts's serve but Forsyth's hit gave it back to the Lady Greyhounds.

Lyman then closed out the match on Mandy's serve. The 14th point was a Lake Howell net foul and Forsyth put the finishing touches on as she hammered a spike into the right hand corner of the court.

"The ball was a little off the net, but you could see it in her eyes that she was going to nail it," Newman said of Forsyth's spike.

OVIDEO CRUSHES ST. CLOUD
With Kim Verne's sets right on the mark, Stephanie Nelson, Kelly Price and Allison Smith hammered away at St. Cloud's Lady Bulldogs Tuesday night as Oviedo's Lady Lions rolled to a 15-0, 15-10 victory in Orange Belt Conference action at St. Cloud High.

The Lady Lions improved to 3-1 overall and 3-0 in the OBC with the win. Oviedo returns to Seminole Athletic Conference

Bugsy McGrawisms — Smith Leads Schnitker

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Professional wrestling stretches the boundaries of the definition of sport. The American Heritage dictionary says sport is: 1. an active pastime or diversion; 2. a specific diversion, as athletics or hunting; 3. Light mockery.

People like to make sport of pro wrestlers. They point to their physiques, some of which border on obese. Others, though, are well muscled. Wrestlers never deny they are in the entertainment business.

And, for the past year, professional wrestling has been a very entertaining business. Television ratings, buoyed by outlandish interviews, are booming. The Miami area has 11 wrestling shows on Sunday alone.

Much of the credit should go to NWA champion Hulk Hogan, manager Captain Lou Albano and rock star Cyndi Lauper.

Football Leaders On 10A

They brought wrestling to prime time with the Rock-Wrestling Connection — videos and "Wrestlemania." In New York, at Madison Square Garden, the shows sell out. It has become the "In Thing" to go to pro wrestling.

Sanford gets the "In Thing" tonight. Unpredictable (that's his own definition) Bugsy McGraw highlights the 7 p.m. show at the Sanford Civic Center. He'll take on Crazy Luke Graham in one of the feature bouts.

Bugsy considered himself somewhat of an intellectual, above the run-of-the-mill, soda cracker-chewing grappler. Here's a few McGrawisms:

"I love frogs: they're so green. On the other hand, you have warts."

Drug Solution? Ueberroth Calls For Volunteers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Commissioner Peter Ueberroth, hoping to rebuild his sport's sullied image, has asked all major league players to approve a voluntary drug testing plan and help clear the "cloud hanging over baseball."

But the plan, announced at a Tuesday news conference, met resistance from players and the head of their union. Both questioned whether Ueberroth was overstepping his authority.

The commissioner, who withheld comment throughout the recently concluded cocaine trafficking trial of Curtis Strong in Pittsburgh, finally responded to the current spate of drug stories in baseball by sending personal letters to all players, asking that they agree to undergo three drug tests per season.

The only alternative to this voluntary testing, he said, would be inestimable harm to everyone associated with the game and inevitable action by Congress.

Some clubs voted on the plan before Tuesday's games. Others postponed the vote until later this week. The commissioner has asked that he receive each club's response no later than Friday morning.

"There's a cloud hanging over baseball, and it's a cloud called drugs," Ueberroth said. "What I am asking each major league player to do is voluntarily participate in our testing program. It is the only way to show the public — our fans — that baseball is clean."

Reaction to the proposal was split along management-player lines, with baseball executives supporting the commissioner and players disputing his strategy, if not his intentions. "We are all in agreement that something has to be done," said New York Met outfielder George Foster. "But do it through the Players Association. That's why we have it. It represents the players."

Donald Fehr, acting executive director of the Major League Players Association, said he viewed Ueberroth's proposal with "distress and sadness." He said the action was "very possibly, if not probably, a violation of law" because it bypassed the union.

"If they have a proposal to make, make the proposal," Fehr said. "If there are specifics involved, tell us what they are. We are not refusing anything in a collective bargaining sense, but don't go directly to the players."

Most players contacted Tuesday responded similarly.

JURY WEIGHS TESTIMONY

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The jury in baseball's second cocaine trial began weighing the testimony today of Dale Berra and John Miller who testified they bought the drug from accused pusher Robert "Rav" McCue.

"I am one of a kind. I am unusual. And therefore I can exist in joy. When you find out that, you don't have to compare yourself to anybody."

"My top hat? You won't believe this. This is truly an article in itself. I don't know how to explain the whole situation. I got it at a hat store."

He's all yours Sanford.

Oviedo's Andrew Smith and Lake Howell's Mark Schnitker have quite a battle going for the rushing lead among the county's prep football players. Smith has 276 yards in two games while Schnitker has 289.

Schnitker, a hard-running fullback, should get a stern test Friday at home against Seminole. Oviedo has the week off. Lake Brantley travels to Lyman in the only other Seminole Athletic Conference game. Lake Mary is also idle.

Mets Head For Wrigley, Hurlers Raise White Flag

United Press International

The New York Mets are pursuing a pennant in a ballpark where pitchers are raising the white flag.

Three games removed from the National League East lead with 11 games to play, New York today visits Wrigley Field, where the most recent ballgame produced 32 runs.

"It was unbelievable, simply unbelievable," Cubs' manager Jim Frey said Tuesday after Montreal's 17-15 victory over Chicago. "The wind wasn't blowing out that hard and people were hitting it in the dark."

Andre Dawson led Montreal with three homers and eight RBI. Dawson hit a pair of three-run homers in a 12-run fifth to become the first major-leaguer to hit two homers in the same inning twice. He did it against Atlanta in 1978.

"I guess we needed every one of them," said Dawson, who now has 21 homers on the year. "You just never know in this ballpark."

Tim Lincecum didn't play for Montreal. New York's Ron Darling, 16-5, will pitch against Chicago's Reggie Patterson. Right now, the last thing the Mets need is the uncertainty of Wrigley Field. They are chasing a St. Louis Cardinal team that seemingly can't lose.

On Tuesday, New York remained three games behind the Cards with a 7-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

First baseman Keith Hernandez got the game-winning RBI for his first-inning sacrifice fly that gave the Mets a 1-0 lead. It was his 23rd of the season, a new major-league record, breaking the mark of 22 set by Harold Baines of the Chicago White Sox in 1983.

Hernandez, however, said he was not that impressed with the statistic.

"For anything to be satisfying with the game-winning RBI, I'd like to go back through the records and see who holds it for the seventh inning on," he said. "That means something. Tonight, I drove in the first run. To me, that does not qualify as a game-winning RBI."

The sacrifice fly was also his 10th of the season, a Mets record.

Sid Fernandez, 8-9, pitched a two-hitter with the help of a good curveball.

"It's getting better," he said. "A couple of games, it was off, but I worked on the side and made a few minor corrections."

Elsewhere, St. Louis shaded Pittsburgh 5-4. Los Angeles beat Houston 7-2, Cincinnati topped Atlanta 7-5 and San Diego nipped San Francisco 4-3.

Cardinals 6, Mets 4

At St. Louis, Terry Pendleton collected his third game-winning hit in his last five games with a two-run single to help the Cardinals notch their fifth straight victory

Mariners Maintain Hex, Handle KC For 10th Time

United Press International

Despite losing last night to the Mariners for the 10th straight time, the Kansas City Royals should look at the bright side. They only have to play Seattle once more and the California Angels have only one home game left.

The Royals will be glad to be rid of the Mariners, who have given them nothing but trouble this season.

"We've scored only 21 runs in 10 games (against Seattle)," said Royals manager Dick Howser after Kansas City fell to the Mariners 5-2 at the Kingdome. "I don't think there's any jinx, but 10 in a row gets your attention. They've gotten good pitching and held us down."

The loss left the Royals one-half game behind California in the AL West. But the remaining schedule still favors the Royals. Kansas City leaves Seattle Wednesday night, with ace Bret Saberhagen on the mound, and travels to Minnesota for three games. Then the Royals close out the season with seven games at home, including four against the Angels.

The Angels, who lost to Chicago 8-1, finish their home schedule tonight against the White Sox and must play their final 10 games on the road.

Phil Bradley drove in four runs with a pair of homers, including a three-run shot in the eighth off Dan Quisenberry to beat the Royals. Bradley fouled off a suicide squeeze attempt in the eighth before blasting his 23rd homer on the next pitch.

"I wanted to make sure I bunted it somewhere, even if I bunted it foul," Bradley said. "He made a mistake. I knew it and he knew it. Quisenberry is one of those pitchers you get good swings against, and you hit the ball hard, but it's tough to get hits off him. Usually the guys are going to make the plays."

At Anaheim, Calif., John Candelaria said the Angels may have been caught looking ahead to their series against the Royals.

Tigers 9, Yankees 1

At New York, John Grubb hit a three-run homer and two-run double, shelling Phil Niekro in his third attempt for his 300th victory. The decision dropped New York seven games behind the Blue Jays in the AL East. Any combination of Yankee losses and Toronto victories totaling six will give Toronto the title. It was the second time Detroit stalled Niekro one victory from 300.

Blue Jays 6, Red Sox 2

At Toronto, Dennis Lamp provided sparkling relief pitching for the Blue Jays to gain his 11th victory without a loss. He entered in the fourth inning and shut down Boston until the ninth, when Bill Caudill relieved.

Rangers 5, Twins 0

At Texas, Pete O'Brien became the first lefthanded-hitting Ranger to reach the 20-home run plateau and Matt Williams combined with Rich Surhoff on a three-hitter. Williams, 2-0, was acquired in the trade that sent Cliff Johnson to Toronto.

Brewers 10, Orioles 6

At Milwaukee, Jim Gantner had three hits, including a two-run triple, and Paul Householder homered to lead the Brewers. Rookie Bill Wegman, 2-0, recorded his second major-league victory, both against Baltimore. Bob McClure earned his second save. Scott McGregor fell to 13-13.

A's 10, Indians 8

At Oakland, Calif., Mickey Tettleton drove in three runs and rookie Jose Canseco went 4-for-4 to power an 18-hit A's attack. Rick Langford, 3-5, pitched 3 1-3 innings in relief for the victory. Vern Ruhle, 2-10, was the loser.

Replay? NFL Is Serious

By MIKE RABUN

DALLAS (UPI) — They are getting serious about instant replays in the National Football League, and it's about time.

When a star running back refuses to report to training camp demanding a big, new contract there is a general hubbub. And when a player becomes involved in something that leads to the police blotter, the headlines are large.

But neither can approach the noise made when an NFL game official makes a mistake.

There has already been one major squawk this year revolving around a call made in the Houston Oilers-Washington Redskins contest, and it probably won't be long before there is another.

It will continue to be this way until the league implements the plan that is currently in the developmental stage.

Experiments involving the use of replays as an officiating tool began during the exhibition season this year and are continuing, in a modified form, each Sunday.

Next month in New York the league will hold an owners meeting and there will almost certainly be a vote on whether to implement the system in the playoffs.

Who knows? They might vote yes. But three-fourths of the owners must agree before the proposal is put into force, and at this stage the odds do not seem favorable.

It would be a revolutionary step, of course, and it is unlikely the owners would want to make such a major change for the playoffs without having seen it in action for the regular season.

Tribe's 'Unbelievable' Line Shreds St. Cloud; Rams Triumph

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

"It was one of those games where pretty much everything we did worked."

That was the way Seminole High freshman football coach Mike Ferrell described his team's 42-0 trouncing of St. Cloud's Bulldogs Tuesday night at St. Cloud.

Seminole ran its record to 2-0 with the win and returns to action Tuesday (Oct. 1) at Oviedo.

The Seminoles amassed 425 yards rushing. Leading the awesome ground game was Jared Jones who carried 10 times for a whopping 204 yards and three touchdowns. James Richardson picked up 105 yards on 12 carries and scored twice while Dwight Brinson rushed for 80 yards.

"I have to give the offensive linemen an unbelievable amount of credit," Ferrell said. "They really did the job. I just can't say enough about them."

Seminole starting linemen included tackles Clarence Troutman and Bobby Flowers; guards Willie Grayson and Sean Boudreaux; center Russell Kitter and tight end Reggie "Cheese" Bellamy. Another guard who Ferrell said did well that didn't start is Joe Leonard.

The Tribe frosh were impressive on defense as well as they held St. Cloud to minus yards of total offense. Seminole's defense sacked the St. Cloud quarterback 12 times, including two each by Andy White, Anthony Lewis and Jack Mann. Seminole also had four fumble recoveries, one each by Ronald Cox, Ralph Hardy, David Willis and Mann. Ferrell also said Roger Livingston was a standout on the defensive line.

Seminole scored a pair of touchdowns in the opening quarter and held on to a 14-0 halftime lead. Richardson scored on an eight yard run for the first TD and Brinson threw to Bellamy for the two point conversion. Jones scored the second TD as he broke loose from 45 yards out. The conversion failed.

The Tribe came back after the intermission and put 22 points on the board in the third quarter. Jones scored two of the touchdowns on runs of 60 and 25 yards and Richardson scored from 30 yards out. Jones also ran in a conversion and Hardy ran one in.

Seminole completed the scoring in the fourth quarter when Cox picked up a fumble and ran 30 yards for the TD. Mitch Shatto threw for one touchdown and ran for another and Art Bradford added a TD run as Lake Mary's Rams fought off Lake Howell's Silver Hawks, 20-12, in freshman football action Tuesday at Lake Howell High.

Lake Mary improved to 2-0 while the Hawks fell to 0-2. The Rams take on St. Cloud next Tuesday at St. Cloud.

Lake Howell took the early lead Tuesday as it scored on its second possession of the game but Lake Mary tied it at 6-6 late in the opening quarter when Shatto hooked up with Jack Oberdeaus on a 50-yard touchdown pass.

The Rams took a 14-6 lead in the second quarter when Bradford scored from four yards out and Carlos Hatfield ran in the two point conversion.

Lake Mary upped its lead to 20-6 in the third quarter when Shatto snuck in from the one. The score was set up by an interception by Bradford.

Lake Howell scored again with seven minutes left after blocking a Lake Mary punt. Although the Rams survived, coach Jim Hughes wasn't too pleased with his team's showing.

LYMAN RUNS PAST LAKE BRANTLEY

Former Sanford resident Ray Williams ran for two touchdowns and Chris Radcliff raced for another as the Lyman freshman team evened its record at 1-1 with a 20-6 victory over Lake Brantley Tuesday night at Lyman High.

Radcliff, who led all rushers with 78 yards, opened the scoring in the first period with a 12-yard run. Williams, who ran for 55 yards, scored later in the quarter from four yards out.

Brantley, 0-2, pulled within, 12-6, on a 12-yard touchdown run by Clegg Ivey but Lyman put the game away on a six-yard run by Williams in the fourth quarter.

"Our defense was outstanding," Lyman coach Don Marasco said. "Brantley only got inside our 30 yard line once and that was on a pass interference call."

Linebacker Greg Fulsang record five tackles, including four sacks. John Sherph had four tackles and seven assists.

Lyman hosts Lake Howell Tuesday and Brantley travels to Osceola.

In one other game Tuesday, Osceola ran all over Oviedo, 46-0, at Kissimmee. Coach Keith McAuley's Lions fell to 0-2. They host Seminole next Tuesday.

Back To The Basics: Not Just For Beginner

I suppose you could say that this week's column is written for the beginner. It's basically for the player who is just starting the game. It's about fundamentals.

Unfortunately, we often get so caught up in all of the pickles and saucers of the world of tennis that we forget the basics.

True, it's aimed at someone just starting the game, but even the most advanced players often go "back to the basics," when things go wrong with their games. You won't learn to play tennis just by reading this — you simply can't learn to play tennis by reading about it.

You can learn to play, though. If you take the basic skills and go out and practice them. The more you practice the better it will get. The more you put into it the more you get out of it. Actually, even a technically incorrect stroke can become effective if a person practices it enough over many years.

I know lots of players who have awful-looking strokes but they have been doing them so long that they have learned to control the ball with them. The point is, though, that if they had learned the proper skills in the beginning and worked all these years they would have improved much faster.

Let's start with the two most important fundamental skills involved in learning to play tennis. They are the most important and they are also two skills that the player must basically learn on their own.

These two skills are judgment and

Larry Castle
TENNIS.
ANYONE?

footwork. Learning to judge where a ball is going to be and then moving your body to get into proper position are by far the two most important skills in tennis. You can only learn to judge a ball by seeing millions of balls coming at you.

In other words, practice. An instructor can tell a student over and over again where the ball should be hit in relation to their body but unless the student experiences it time and time again it will not be meaningful. Along with learning to judge where the ball is coming, the new player must be able to move the feet quickly enough to get to the ball. We each have a certain amount of God-given ability to move our feet, but with diligent work and practice, even the footwork can be greatly improved. If a person can judge a ball and move their feet quickly they can learn to be good tennis players. No one can learn to play very well if they have poor judgment or poor footwork.

After judgment and footwork there are several basic skills that must be developed to move forward in the game. You must watch the ball closely. You should develop "tunnel vision" out there on the court. Do not let your eyes or thoughts flit around. Look only at the ball and think only of the ball. These two items are vital if you want to improve.

On forehand and backhand groundstrokes, you must develop the ability to keep your wrist firm. A floppy and weak wrist will cause you to lose control of the ball. You should practice preparing your racket quickly when hitting groundstrokes. The racket should be back and in position at least by the time the ball bounces. As you start to hit you should try to transfer your weight into the line of the shot and of course finish with a nice high follow through.

McEnroe Begins Defense

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Top-seeded John McEnroe opens defense of his title in a $277,000 tennis tournament today when he takes on Jim Arias to complete play in an already upset-marred opening round.

Matt Anger of nearby Pleasanton, Calif., who had to qualify to make the starting field, scored a major upset Tuesday night when he beat No. 2 seed Kevin Curren 7-6, 6-3.

Anger broke Curren three times in the tie-breaker to take the first set and broke him twice more in the second.

In the tie-breaker, Curren held a 6-4 lead, but Anger won the next four games to close out the set. In the second set, Anger rolled to an easy victory.

LYDD TRIUMPHS
NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Top seed Chris Evert Lloyd defeated Vicki Nelson of Wooster, Ohio, 6-4, 6-2 Tuesday night in her first match of the $150,000 Virginia Slims in New Orleans.

In other matches, No. 2 Pam Shriver of Lutherville, Md., routed Lisa Spain Short of Moultrie, Ga., 6-1, 6-2 in the second round. Shriver next plays Laura Gildemeister.

...Oviedo

(0-1) action tonight at 5 at Lake Mary.

"Stephanie (Nelson) had her best game hitting," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "She had five good hits in the first game and eight in the second. Kelly (Price) and Allison (Smith) had some good hits too."

Making it possible for those good hits was Verne, the Lady Lions' senior setter.

"She (Verne) did an excellent job," Carlson said. "I was really proud of her. She put the sets up nice and high and close to the net where Stephanie likes them."

Oviedo didn't relinquish a point in the opening game. Verne served the first four points for the Lions. Trudy Ferguson served the next two and Cindy Wood served nine straight to close out the game.

In the second game, Carlson got a chance to give all of her players some experience. The hitting of Nelson, Smith and Price along with the setting of Verne and Wood led the way. Carlson was also impressed with the overall play of Wood and the fine defensive play of Ferguson.

Barbara Malone kept her impressive serving streak going as she got all eight serves in. Malone has not missed a serve in four games.

Eastern Airlines Flight Aborted; Nearly Dumped In Potomac

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Eastern Airlines shuttle carrying 175 passengers aborted takeoff Tuesday at National Airport and nearly skidded into the Potomac River after a helicopter crossed its path, authorities said.

There were no reports of injuries aboard the Boeing 727, which suffered only minor damage, airport and Federal Aviation Administration officials said, but paramedics were seen taking three passengers off the plane.

The rest of the passengers were escorted off the aircraft and walked into waiting buses.

One unidentified woman who said "she was not feeling well" was taken to a hospital as a precaution, an Eastern Airlines spokesman said.

Flight 1500, Eastern's daily 5 p.m. shuttle bound for New York's LaGuardia Airport, was filled to capacity with 175 passengers and seven crew, airline officials said.

An ABC News official in Washington said "Good Morning America" host David Hartman was aboard the aircraft and talked to the captain after the incident. He said Hartman told him "they were at takeoff speed and at the last split second they aborted. They were about 40 yards from the Potomac. He said he was scared, but there was no panic."

A witness, Peter Massey of Elmira, N.Y., said that as the plane was rolling down the runway about 5:20 p.m., the helicopter took off and "took a hard turn to the left" into its path.

The Eastern pilot apparently slammed on the plane's brakes and its nose gear buckled as the plane slid off the north end of the runway and onto a lawn, stopping several hundred feet short of the Potomac River, Massey said. The helicopter immediately returned to the terminal, Massey said.

Airport spokesman David Hess said the lawn where the plane came to rest was a landfill that extended the airport grounds by 550 feet when it was completed in December 1984. He said the additional ground may have prevented the aircraft from plunging into the Potomac.

"The nose of the airplane wasn't in the air, but if the pilot had kept going and the chopper kept going, it would have been real close — about 30 feet," said Andy Sawicki of Bayonne, N.J., who saw the accident from a nearby park.

FAA spokesman Steven Hayes said the accident appeared to be the result of a mixup in communications with the pilot of the Jet Ranger helicopter.

"The helicopter was given instructions by the controller to depart and move in a northwesterly direction," Hayes said. "Instead, the helicopter moved east, which put him in front of the Eastern Airlines flight path."

"We need to find out more specifically what happened and why" before any action can be considered against the pilot of the helicopter, who was not identified, Hayes said.

Mike Smith, another FAA spokesman, said the agency was investigating the accident. The plane appeared to have suffered only minor damage, airport spokesman Hugh Riddle said.

Most of the passengers were escorted off rear ramp and walked calmly to waiting buses. Witnesses at the nearby park said at least three passengers were taken off the plane by paramedics and put in ambulances.

A spokesman for Butler Aviation, which services private aircraft at the airport, described the helicopter as a four- or five-seat Jet Ranger, which he said was probably on a chartered flight. Butler fueled the helicopter shortly before its takeoff, he said.

WAL-MART

Our People Make The Difference... That's "THE WAL-MART WAY"

Local Wal-Mart Team Dedicated to serving you better every day

One of the most important foundations for Wal-Mart's remarkable consumer acceptance is the quality of our people and their dedication when it comes to serving our customers. Wal-Mart Associates are your friends and neighbors. If there is any way they can serve you better they want to know.

Here are the names of the local Wal-Mart "team" that will be saving you time & money-

WAL-MART— Moving Forward in the 80's

Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., headquartered in Bentonville, Arkansas, is continuing its rapid growth into 1985. With record sales over the past few years, the company anticipates reaching an all time high in corporate volume in excess of $8 billion this year.

At the close of fiscal year, January 31, 1985, Wal-Mart had sales in excess of $6.3 billion and 745 stores in operation. Over 90,000 associates were employed throughout a 20-state territory including Alabama, Arkansas, Missouri, Georgia, Florida, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Nebraska, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, North Carolina, Indiana, Iowa, New Mexico, and Virginia.

Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., had its beginning in the small town variety store business. Sam Walton, the company's founder and Chairman of the Board of Directors, opened his first Ben Franklin Variety store in 1945. After expanding into a group of 15 successful stores, Walton and his brother, J.L. Walton (who joined him in 1946) opened the first Wal-Mart Discount City in 1962 in Rogers, Arkansas.

In October, 1970, Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., became a publicly-held corporation, and was listed on the Over-The-Counter Market. The company's common stock began trading on the New York Stock Exchange, August 25, 1972.

Since its founding, the regional chain has maintained its basic concepts—to provide consumers with a varied selection of quality merchandise at low prices every day, and to guarantee customer satisfaction. These principles have brought spectacular growth and remarkable consumer acceptance.

Wal-Mart is recognized today as a leader in the retail industry. The key to Wal-Mart's success is efficient management that is dedicated to serving the customers' best interests. Whether it be a thriving metropolitan city or in small-town, U.S.A. the same friendly atmosphere prevails, where caring associates always are striving to make shopping at Wal-Mart a pleasant experience.

Local Management Team...

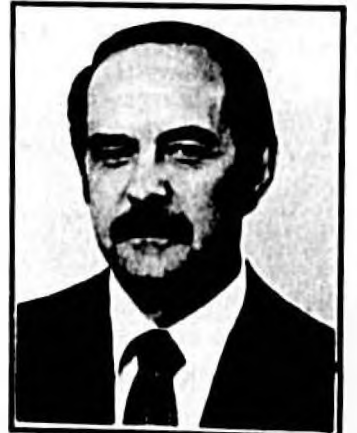

"Our Job is to Save You TIME & MONEY!"

At Wal-Mart, we are dedicated to making the phrase "WE CARE" more than just another slogan. We realize that, as a consumer today, you expect more...and that's exactly what we're working to offer you every day.

If you've never been in a Wal-Mart store, you're going to be amazed when you see how low our prices are on famous name brand merchandise every single day. We discount the price on every item in our store every day. We realize that lower prices in itself is not enough.

That's why we are committed to offering you fast, friendly services like our convenient layaway plan (with no extra service charges). Also, our policy guarantees that you will be completely satisfied with every purchase you make at Wal-Mart.

If there is ever any way we can serve you better, TELL US. When we say "Our Job is to Save YOU TIME AND MONEY" we mean it, because that's "THE WAL-MART WAY."

WAL-MART Makes Community Commitment

An integral part of Wal-Mart's program is to become active members of the community. By becoming involved in community projects and supportive of organizations, business can play an important role in developing a thriving environment.

An example of Wal-Mart's community involvement is the Scholarship Program. This annual $1,000 Scholarship is available to a high school senior during the Spring. Applications are distributed to the high school(s) in the trade area and judged by a committee of community leaders. The scholarship recognizes those students who have excelled in academics, extracurricular and community activity, and who show financial need.

Cook Of The Week

'Born Homemaker' Exchanges One Kitchen For Another Daily

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

Sporting a perpetual smile on her face, Lou Jones is the perfect example of a born homemaker. As the 'meat cook' at Sanford Middle School, our Cook of the Week exchanges one kitchen for another each day and keeps right on chuggin' along.

"I come home, kick off my shoes, put on some cool clothes, have a cup of coffee, and relax for at least a half hour before I do anything at home," she says. Lou puts in a long day on her feet and looks forward to a well-earned coffee break when she gets home.

Lou is a Canadian transplant whose family comes from St. John, New Brunswick, "on a big piece of property out in the country. It was right on the Bay of Fundy, and we had a garden and chickens," says Lou. One of five girls and five boys, Lou is the next to the oldest child and remembers having to help take care of her younger siblings.

A special treat for Lou this past August was a reunion at the family home in St. John where brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles and cousins were all together for the first time in 27 years. With her family scattered all over the U.S. and Canada, Lou enjoyed catching up on old times and new times. To mark the special occasion, Lou's sister had ceramic dinner bells made to order for all the members of the family. They were hand-painted with a replica of the original family home in St. John, and are a treasured keepsake.

While attending school, Lou took Home Economics courses along with beauty culture classes in hairdressing which gave her a good foundation for marriage, homemaking and motherhood.

After about three years working at a pulp mill near her home in St. John, Lou moved to the Tampa area with her grandmother and an aunt and uncle. Recalling how she met her husband, Don, Lou says, "It was on a rainy day and I was waiting for the bus to go to work, and I had seen him before, but I didn't know him. He worked for a tire dealer and was delivering special racing tires that weren't supposed to get wet, so he had them in the cab of the truck with him. When he saw me standing in the rain, he pulled over, threw the tires in the back of the truck, and said, 'Get in, I'll take you to work, the bus is 20 minutes down the road.' And that started it all," laughs Lou.

Married in 1959, Lou and Don have three grown children, Donna, Brian and Jeff. A four-legged collie-terrier mixture named "Slappy" shares the spotlight and makes a full-time job of protecting Donna.

Don's job as locksmith for the Seminole County school system, and Lou's busy day in the school kitchen, do not leave too much time for recreation, but camping is high on the list of family vacations and get-away-from-it-all activities. "We have a slide-in camper," says Lou, "and we enjoy the outdoors. The kids always liked to have friends along, so if we didn't have enough room in the camper, they pitched a tent outside. It was always fun."

A top priority these days for the Jones' is visiting a piece of property they are buying in north Florida. "It's just beautiful up there," says Lou. "It has pecan trees and pear trees and as usual, I guess you would call it a 'conserve' rather than a jam. We all like it on bread, hot biscuits, or on a scoop of ice cream."

When she can find some spare time, Lou enjoys sewing, crocheting and gardening. "Gardening is a pleasure when everything comes up right," says Lou. "We've had tomatoes, eggplant, broccoli, carrots and lots and lots of lettuce."

"I enjoy myself at work," says Lou, "and I really like my work. The kids at school are great and we get along fine." Lou not only works to prepare the meals, but also serves the students on the "hot line." Lou admits, "The only time it gets to me is when it's a real hectic day and the steamer isn't working, then it's rush, rush, rush to get everything done on time."

Lou's basic cooking skills were learned in her home economics classes at school. "I was learning to cook in school," says Lou, "then when I came home Mom would say, 'Well, tonight you can fix supper' so I got my practice at home."

"I love to cook, and I like to fix something fancy now and then," Lou says. "When the kids were growing up, I'd do my fancy cooking on their birthdays. I'd make their birthday cakes and decorate them, and at Christmas time I do a lot of baking. Fruitcakes, cookies and a big dinner is the usual fare."

Lou knows what pleases her family and among their favorites are the following recipes:

CHOCOLATE FIDDLE DIDDLES

½ cup shortening
2 cups sugar
½ cup milk
6 tablespoons cocoa
Pinch of salt
3 cups oatmeal
½ cup coconut
1 teaspoon vanilla
Bring shortening, sugar and milk to a boil in a heavy 3 quart saucepan. Remove from heat and add cocoa, salt, oatmeal, coconut and vanilla. Mix well and let cool just enough to handle. Using a teaspoon, roll into balls and place on waxed paper to cool. One cup of rice krispies may be substituted for one cup of oatmeal.

QUICK LUNCHBOX CAKE

2½ cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup brown sugar, packed
2 eggs
¼ cup soft butter
1 can (16 oz.) fruit cocktail, undrained
½ cup semi-sweet chocolate bits

½ cup chopped nuts
Grease and flour bottom of 13x9x2 in baking pan. Combine all ingredients except chocolate bits and nuts in a large mixer bowl. Blend well at lowest speed of mixer, then blend 2 minutes at medium speed. Pour batter into pan. Sprinkle with chocolate bits and nuts. Bake at 350° for 35-40 minutes.

NANNIE'S SOUR CREAM CAKE

1 cup butter

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Myra Swaggerty, Clyde Hayes

Myra Swaggerty and Clyde Hayes were united in marriage Aug. 3 at 10 a.m. in the First Baptist Church of Chuluota. Dr. Charles G. Swaggerty, father of the bride, performed the double ring, candlelight ceremony. Jamey Walker, organist, presented nuptial selections and Candy Swaggerty, sister-in-law of the bride was soloist accompanied by Velma Hall, pianist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Swaggerty, Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayes, Sanford.

Given in marriage by her brother, Gordon Swaggerty, Clewiston, the bride chose for her vows an antique silk organza gown lavishly decorated with crochet lace, satin ribbon and Chantilly lace ruffles. Fashioned in a Victorian style with a high neckline, the sheer pleated yoke topped a fitted bodice featuring a basque waist and modified leg-o-mutton sleeves extending to a lace ruffle at the hand. The full skirt flowed into a sweeping chapel train edged with three tiers of lace ruffles. A lace headpiece encrusted with seed pearls secured her tiered finger tip veil. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of peace silk roses and honeysuckle with ivory tiger lilies and ivy.

Carol Snider, Gulf Hammock, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Cheryl Snider, Gulf Hammock, niece of the bride.

Maude Swaggerty, Sanford, sister of the bride and Telina Vezina, Deltona. All the attendants wore identical peach gowns with high necklines and long full skirts accented with a large sash and bow. Their headpieces were wreaths of peach silk flowers and ivy. Each carried a silk bouquet of peach rosebuds, tiger lilies and honeysuckle with ivory carnations.

The groom's best man was Lynn Vezina, Deltona. Ushers were Denny Hayes and Bobby Hayes, both of Sanford and brothers of the groom and Jerry Lord, Sanford, the groom's brother-in-law.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church following the ceremony. After the newlyweds cut the traditional first slice of the three-tiered wedding cake topped by wedding bells and doves, Irene Halstead cut and served the wedding.

Others assisting were Beverly Williams and Betty Williams, both aunts of the bride, who poured and served at the punch tables. Dorothy Williams, also an aunt of the bride, kept the bride's book.

Following a wedding trip to West Palm Beach and a leisurely cruise, Mr. and Mrs. Hayes are making their home in Sanford.

About That Outing...

Cream Cheesy Hamwiches Make Great Take Along Fare

Whether it's a family outing, an impromptu picnic ... or a trendy "spread" served before a concert in the park — Cream Cheesy Hamwiches make great "take along" fare. Served on crusty bread, the sandwich is layered with a cream cheese spread, made with pimiento and onion, — thin sliced ham, dark green leafy lettuce and new golden Velveeta extra thick slices pasteurized process cheese spread.

Now available locally, each 12 ounce package contains 10 individually wrapped extra thick slices ready to enjoy as snacks or in meals anytime of day. For a quick, breakfast on-the-run, top toast with a satisfying extra thick slice ... or add a thick slice, cut in julienne strips, to a luncheon salad.

CREAM CHEESY HAMWICHES

1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento, drained

1 tablespoon chopped onion
4 Italian bread slices
Lettuce
4 extra thick slices pasteurized process cheese spread
4 boiled ham slices
Combine cream cheese, pimiento and onions, mixing until well blended. For each sandwich, cover one bread slice with 1 tablespoon cream cheese mixture, lettuce, one slice process cheese spread and one ham slice; repeat layers. Top with second bread slice.
2 sandwiches

BUNNY SALAD OPEN FACE
¼ cup sour cream
¼ cup chopped cucumber
4 crisply cooked bacon slices, crumbled
1 tablespoon chopped onion
4 whole-wheat bread slices, toasted
8 thin tomato slices
4 extra thick slices pasteurized process cheese spread, cut in half Combine sour cream, cucumbers, bacon and onions; mix well. Spread toast slices with sour cream mixture; top with tomatoes and process cheese spread. Broil until process cheese spread begins to melt.

Mother's Apron Strings Are Too Strong For Son To Snip

DEAR ABBY: I am an attractive, single, career woman, 32 years old. For the last three years I've been in love with a kind, successful, gentle man who is 48. We share common interests, he treats me very well and he says he loves me. We've talked extensively about marriage. (He brought the subject up initially.)

The problem: At 48 he still lives with his 79-year-old ailing mother. He never married. As much as he cares for me, and I do believe he loves me, he can't bring himself to leave his mother. I've tried patience, persuasion, confrontation and ultimatums, but he can't deal with the idea of leaving his mother. I'm frustrated, jealous and angry. My friends tell me I'm wasting my time. I've tried to break off with him, but I was miserable!

We've been to two different family counselors without success. He won't return to either one because they both told him his mother is the root of his problem. Now he refuses to see another counselor.

Have you any suggestions, Abby? I don't want to be his "girlfriend" until his mother dies.

TIRED OF WAITING

DEAR TIRED: I suspect a symbiotic relationship between mother and son. (He needs her as much as she needs him. Possibly more.) Frankly, I think he's using his mother to avoid marriage. Further, a man who ducks counseling because he doesn't want to know the truth is just putting his problems on hold. Don't fight too hard for this prize. You might get him.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's father passed away recently after a long illness. He couldn't go home for the funeral because he had just been there the week before to visit his father in the hospital. His folks live nearly 3,000 miles from us.

My question: Do you think my husband should have sent a condolence card to his mother? He called her up and sent flowers, but no card. One of my husband's sisters said he should have also sent a card. I've asked several friends and relatives, and they all agreed that it wasn't necessary for my husband to send his mother a card. In keeping with my sister-in-law's line of thinking, shouldn't my mother-in-law send her son a condolence card? After all, he lost his father.

Was my husband remiss in not sending a card? And what do you think of his sister?

JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: I think your husband said it all when he called his mother and sent first stages of grief — anger, flowers. His sister is in one of the Forgive her.

Sanford Artists Display Works At Library-Museum

The Henry S. Sanford Library-Museum and the Henry S. Sanford Historical Preservation Society announce the opening of their fall exhibit featuring the works of Edmund B. Stowe, who paints Florida scenes, and Helen Hickey, portrait painter, both of Sanford.

Creativity is the word. The exhibit, designed to illustrate how the artistic drive has led E. B. Stowe through almost a century of creativity proving the truth of Andre Maurois' statement that "growing old is no more than a bad habit which a busy mind has no time to form."

Stowe's companion artist Helen Hickey, has also proven her own point — that a busy homemaker and mother is not necessarily a deterrent to creativity. Her development as a creative and versatile artist has grown with this dual role.

In honoring these two fine artists, the library-museum and historical preservation society extend a cordial invitation to members and friends to a preview reception to be held Thursday, Sept. 26, from 7 to 9 p.m., at the library-museum, 520 E. First St.

The exhibit, open to the public at no admission charge, will be at the library-museum until further notice during the regular hours, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday, from 2 to 5 p.m.

3 cups sugar
6 eggs
3 cups all purpose flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 pint sour cream

Line bottom of 10 inch tube pan with waxed paper. Do not grease. Cream butter and sugar until fluffy. Sift flour, soda and salt 3 times. Add eggs, one at a time, to creamed mixture beating well after each addition. Add flour mixture alternately with sour cream, starting and ending with sour cream. Add vanilla. Bake at 325° for 1 1/2 hours. Do not open oven for 1 1/4 hours.

TUNA SOUFFLE RING

2 cans tuna, 6 1/2 or 7 oz.
1 can cream of mushroom soup
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 cup fine cracker crumbs
1/4 cup finely chopped onions
2 tablespoons snipped parsley (1 1/2 teaspoon dried)
2 tablespoons diced pimiento
1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Combine tuna, soup, egg yolks, crumbs, onion, parsley, pimiento, lemon juice and dash of pepper. Mix well. Fold in egg whites. Turn into well greased and lightly floured 5 cup ring mold. Bake at 350° for 30 minutes. Loosen edges and invert onto serving plate. Serve with hot creamed peas. Serves 6.

SWEET AND SOUR HAMBURGERS

Mix 1/2 cup canned evaporated milk, 1 1/2 pounds ground beef, 1/2 cup chopped onion, 3/4 cup cracker crumbs and 1 teaspoon seasoned salt. Form six 4" patties. Brown patties in skillet. Pour off fat, add Sweet and Sour Sauce, below, cover and simmer over low heat for 15 minutes.

Sweet and Sour Sauce: Drain one 12 1/2 oz. can pineapple chunks. Combine juice with enough water to make one cup. Mix juice with 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1/4 cup vinegar, 1/4 cup brown sugar and 2 tablespoons soy sauce in sauce pan. Heat until thickened and clear. Add pineapple chunks and 1 cup coarsely chopped green peppers. Serves 6.

DEEP DISH PIZZA

1 Chef Boyardee Double Pizza mix
1 1/2 pounds ground beef
3 scallions, chopped
1 small can mushroom bits and pieces
1/2 cup black olives, cut in half
1 cup cheddar cheese, shredded
1 cup mozzarella cheese, shredded
1/2 teaspoon oregano
Salt and pepper to taste
Eleven inch heavy cast iron skillet

Follow directions on package for dough. While it rises, brown ground beef in skillet. Spoon out into bowl lined with paper towel to drain. Pour grease out of skillet and wipe lightly with paper towel. When dough has risen, place in skillet and with hands well greased, spread dough evenly on bottom and up sides. Mix browned beef with scallions, mushrooms, oregano, salt and pepper. Spread half of mixture on dough, pour 1/2 can of sauce (from Pizza mix package) over mixture. Sprinkle 1/2 of each cheese over mixture. Add rest of browned beef and sprinkle with remaining cheese. Pour rest of sauce over mixture and then use the can of grated cheese from package. Sprinkle olives over top. Bake at 400° for about 45 minutes or until set. Remove from oven and allow to stand 15 to 20 minutes before cutting.

Chapter Reviews Hurricane Data

June through November is Florida's hurricane season warned Donna Frank at the meeting of the Xi Theta Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. During her program, Mrs. Frank discussed the need to be prepared in the event a hurricane strikes. She explained the sometimes misunderstood differences in weather words such as hurricane watch, hurricane warning and an actual hurricane. An explanation and discussion of procedures to follow, preparations to make, and where emergency shelter can be found were all covered during the presentation.

President Ruth Gaines opened the business meeting and committee and business reports were heard.

Updates were given on research findings on multiple sclerosis and autism by Service Chairman Lois Smith. Mrs. Smith explained the difficulty in addressing cures to this disease and disability, as due to the inability of researchers to find causes.

Tuck A Juicy Apple Inside Some Juicy Caramel

When the night air adds a crispness and the scents of fall return, farm stands and supermarket produce sections about with fresh, juicy apples peaking in flavor. For many, the advent of the apple season triggers fond memories of a tart, juicy apple tucked inside some chewy caramel.

Not too many years ago, making caramel apples from fruit picked in the family orchard was an annual ritual looked forward to by everyone — grandparents, parents, aunts, uncles and children of all ages. After the fruit was hand-picked, the bushels were culled for the best apples while the kids unwrapped the caramels. Melting, stirring, dipping and cooling followed. Finally, it was time for munching and crunching.

Although times have changed — today, family orchards are few and far between — making caramel apples is still an activity family, friends and especially the kids will find fun. Whether you begin in the orchard or at the produce department in your favorite supermarket, now is a good time to celebrate the caramel apple season.

CINNAMON CARAMEL APPLES

Just as cinnamon enhances the flavor of apples in pies, cobblers and applesauce, cinnamon candies add spark to caramel apples

- 1/4 cup cinnamon candies
- 3 tablespoons water
- 1 14-oz. bag caramels
- 4-5 medium size apples
- Wooden sticks

Melt cinnamon candies with 1 tablespoon water in heavy 1 1/2-quart saucepan over low heat, stirring frequently until melted. Add remaining water and caramels, stirring frequently until smooth. Stir in few drops red food coloring. Wash and dry apples; insert stick into stem end of each apple. Dip into hot cinnamon caramel sauce; turn until coated. Scrape off excess sauce from bottom of apples. Place on greased wax paper. Store in refrigerator. Let stand at room temperature 15 minutes before serving to allow caramel mixture to soften.

To Microwave: Microwave cinnamon candies and 1 tablespoon water in small, deep, glass bowl on high 2 minutes; stir. Add caramels and 2 tablespoons water. Microwave on high 2 1/2-3 1/2 minutes, or until sauce is smooth, stirring after each minute. Continue as directed above. (If caramel sauce is too thin, let stand about 2 minutes before dipping apples.)

SPIKED CARAMEL APPLES

Caramel apples, spiked with a liqueur of almost any flavor, are a new way for adults to enjoy this seasonal favorite. Experiment with your favorite liqueur or try these suggestions from the Kraft Kitchens.

- 1 14-oz. bag caramels
- 2 tablespoons orange or almond flavor liqueur
- 4-5 medium size apples
- Wooden sticks

Melt caramels with liqueur in heavy 1 1/2-quart saucepan over low heat, stirring frequently until smooth. Wash and dry apples; insert stick into stem end of each apple. Dip into hot caramel sauce; turn until coated. Scrape off excess sauce from bottom of apples. Place on greased wax paper. Store in refrigerator. Let stand at room temperature 15 minutes before serving to allow caramel to soften.

To Microwave: Microwave caramels and liqueur in small, deep, glass bowl on high 2 1/2-3 1/2 minutes, or until sauce is smooth, stirring after each minute. Continue as directed above. (If caramel sauce is too thin, let stand about 2 minutes before dipping apples.)

Delicious on a stick, these adult treats are even easier to eat when cut into bite-size wedges. Just remove the sticks and slice into eight pieces. Serve with ice cream, if desired.

HOMEMADE CARAMEL APPLES

- 1 14-oz. bag caramels
- 2 tablespoons water
- 4-5 medium size apples
- Wooden sticks

1.) Unwrap caramels
Place caramels and water in heavy 1 1/2-quart saucepan
Cook over low heat, stirring frequently until caramels are melted and sauce is smooth.

2.) Place sheet of wax paper on cookie sheet.
Lightly grease wax paper with margarine.
Wash and dry apples.

Insert a wooden stick into stem end of each apple. During autumn, wooden sticks are included in bags of Kraft caramels which are specially marked.

3.) Holding stick, dip apples, one at a time, into hot caramel sauce, tilting sauce pan and turning until well coated.

Scrape off extra sauce from bottom of apple with spatula.
Place apples on greased wax paper.

4.) Store in refrigerator. Let stand at room temperature 15 minutes before serving to allow caramel to soften.

To Microwave:

Place unwrapped caramels in a small, deep, glass bowl.
Add water.

Microwave on high for 2 1/2-3 1/2 minutes, or until sauce is smooth, stirring after each minute. Continue with Step 2 as directed.

If caramel sauce is too thin, let stand about 2 minutes before dipping apples.

CHOCOLATE FUDGIE AP PLES

Just one taste of this rich and creamy coating will confirm why chocolate sauce has long been renowned as a flavorful dipper for fruit.

- 1 14-oz. bag chocolate fudgies
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 4-5 medium size apples
- Wooden sticks
- Chocolate shots

Melt fudgies with milk in heavy 1 1/2-quart saucepan over low heat, stirring frequently until smooth. Wash and dry apples; insert stick into stem end of each apple. Dip into hot fudge sauce; turn until coated. Scrape off excess sauce from bottom of apples; dip in chocolate shots. Place on greased wax paper. Store in refrigerator. Let stand at room temperature 15 minutes before serving to allow caramel to soften.

Variation: Mocha: Dissolve 2 teaspoons instant coffee granules in 1 tablespoon hot water. Substitute for milk. Continue as directed above.

To Microwave: Microwave chocolate fudgies and milk in small, deep, glass bowl on high

2 1/2-3 1/2 minutes, or until sauce is smooth, stirring after each minute. Continue as directed above. (If caramel sauce is too thin, let stand about 2 minutes before dipping apples.)

PEANUT BUTTER CARAMEL APPLES

Two of America's favorite flavors — peanut butter and caramel — unite to provide this tempting apple wrap. Chopped peanuts add extra crunch!

- 1 14-oz. bag caramels
- 2 tablespoons creamy peanut butter
- 2 tablespoons water

- 4-5 medium size apples
- Wooden sticks
- Chopped peanuts

Melt caramels, peanut butter and water in heavy 1 1/2-quart saucepan over low heat, stirring frequently until smooth. Wash and dry apples; insert stick into stem end of each apple. Dip into hot caramel sauce; turn until coated. Scrape off excess sauce from bottom of apples. Dip in nuts. Place on greased wax paper. Store in refrigerator. Let stand at room temperature 15 minutes before serving to allow caramel to soften.

Glaze For Yams Very Similar To Praline Topping

Sweet potatoes will soon be available and plentiful, as they are in greatest supply from October through the winter months. There are two types. The drier, tan skin, pale flesh sweet potato and the moist, sweet, deep-orange flesh southern yam. In most recipes they can be used interchangeably.

Choose chunky medium-sized sweet potatoes or yams that are smooth and firm and free of decay. Keep in a dry cool place, but do not refrigerate.

Yams can also be purchased frozen or canned. When a recipe calls for a canned yam, you can use fresh yams, microwave them whole as you would white potatoes, cool then, remove the skin, and prepare as directed in

Midge Mycoff
Home Economist
Seminole Community College

recipe. This sample recipe has a glaze similar to a praline topping.
NEW ORLEANS YAMS
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup pecan halves
3/4 cup packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
12 ounces canned yams, drained (reserve liquid)
In a shallow 2-quart casserole, melt butter on 100% power (about 1 minute). Add the pecans, stir and microwave 2-3 minutes. Add brown sugar and 1/2 cup of reserve liquid and vanilla. Microwave on 100% power 3 minutes. Stir. Add yams and gently turn to coat in the liquid. Microwave, uncovered, 2 minutes. Turn the yams and microwave 2-3 minutes, or until heated through.

Plan to serve these sweet potatoes with roast pork, fresh green beans, and Waldorf salad.

The cinnamon flavor of the glaze comes from the red candies.

CINNAMON GLAZED SWEET POTATOES
1/4 cup margarine
1/4 cup honey
1/4 cup apple juice

1 tablespoon red cinnamon candies
2 teaspoons cornstarch
2 cans (18 ounce each) sweet potatoes
Microwave margarine in 2 cups glass measure 30-60 seconds or until melted. Stir in honey, apple pieces, cornstarch, and candies. Microwave on 100% power 2-3 minutes or until sauce boils and thickens and candies are almost melted, stirring once.
Cut potatoes into 1 inch slices. Place in 1 1/2 quart glass casserole. Pour glaze over potatoes, stir gently to coat. Cover with casserole lid. Microwave on 100% 8-9 minutes or until heated through.

Fresh, frozen or canned yams can be used in the preparation of this recipe which makes a good accompaniment for chicken or pork.

ORANGE/SWEET POTATO CASSEROLE
4 pounds yams
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup fresh orange juice
1/2 cup butter
1 teaspoon cinnamon
3 eggs
2 tablespoons grated orange
Microwave potatoes for 12-18 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes. Peel the potatoes. Microwave the butter, and mash the potatoes in. Mix in the remaining ingredients. Spoon into 2 quart casserole dish. Microwave for 5 minutes on 100% power. Reduce power to 70% and microwave for 8-12 minutes more. Garnish with orange slices and almonds.

This casserole is a good one for covered dish suppers
SWEET POTATO CASSEROLE WITH CRUNCHY TOP
3-4 cups sweet potatoes
2 eggs
1/4 cup half & half or evaporated milk
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 stick butter or margarine
Topping:
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup flour
1 cup nuts (pecan or walnuts)
Cook 3 medium sweet potatoes in microwave for 10-12 minutes. Allow to stand 5 minutes. Remove skin. Place potatoes, eggs, milk, vanilla, sugar, salt, and butter in food processor or mixer and blend well. Pour in buttered baking dish and microwave on 100% power 10-12 minutes, stirring once.
For topping cut butter into sugar and flour, adding nuts last. Sprinkle on top of sweet potatoes. Microwave on 85% power (medium-high), 5-7 minutes.

There are delicious desserts made with sweet potatoes. The one we most often have of course is sweet potato pie, but have you ever had the other old southern favorite Grated Sweet Potato Pudding? This microwave version saves 1 hour/baking time.

GRATED SWEET POTATO PUDDING
1 large raw sweet potato
1 cup sugar
1 1/4 cup milk
1/2 cup butter, melted
2 eggs, well beaten
2 teaspoon lemon flavoring
1/4 teaspoon salt
Grate fresh sweet potato. Place in 2 quart casserole and cover. Microwave on 100% power 5 minutes, stirring once. Add remaining ingredients and microwave on 100% power 5-8 minutes, stirring once. Place in a buttered baking dish and microwave on 50% power 20-25 minutes.

Sandwiches American Institution
Sandwiches have become an American Institution. Imagination is the only barrier in determining the ingredients of your favorite concoction.
FRENCH ONION SAUCED BEEF
2 large onions, thinly sliced (3 cups)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold water
1 10 1/4-ounce can condensed beef broth
1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Sliced cooked beef
French bread slices
Dairy sour cream
In 1-quart casserole combine onions and butter. Cover; place in microwave oven.
Cook onions at high for 6 minutes till tender, stirring once. Combine cornstarch and water; add to onions with beef broth and Worcestershire. Cook at high for 3 minutes till bubbly, stirring after each minute. Serve with sliced beef on French bread slices. Top with sour cream. Makes 2 cups sauce.

D&C May Be Necessary To Remove Fibroid Tumor

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a 38-year-old female. About three years ago my periods got progressively heavier, lengthier and more painful. They are now eight to 12 days long, with flow of one-and-a-half to two pints. My gynecologist found a small fibroid tumor, but isn't concerned. Do you have any insight into this problem?

presence of hydrocarbons, lead and other substances that are more hazardous than iron.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have been told I have an irritable colon. I usually feel very shaky and jittery before each bowel movement. Afterwards, I feel really weak and sore on the left side of my stomach and I become short of breath. What can be done for this?

DEAR READER — Yours must be the granddaddy of irritable colons. The presence of shakiness, weakness, pain and breath-lessness indicate your bowel problem is far more involved than the simple, ordinary type of irritable colon.

If your colon is so spastic that it can cause such symptoms, you should be under the care of a gastroenterologist. Irritable colon is usually a handicap, not a disability.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

A takeout double in the pass-out position can be made on very moderate values, as little as nine or 10 high-card points.

It's different immediately after an opening bid, when your takeout double should clearly tell your partner that you could have opened the bidding yourself. Because of that uncertainty relating to North's double, South was not sure he should risk a three-heart bid. He felt OK when he was raised to four, since he did have a five-card suit, a second suit in clubs and a quick trick in spades.

When the spade king hit the table, declarer evaluated his chances. Can you do the same?

Surely if West held either red king, he would have kept the bidding open. So there was no future in trying a finesse for either red king. Instead, South won the spade ace and played a club to the king. East won the ace, cashed the queen of spades and got out with a club. Declarer had to be careful now. First he played the heart ace. Then he tried the third round of clubs, East discarding. Only now did declarer play a second heart. East won the king and had the unpleasant choice of either leading into the A-Q of diamonds or giving declarer a sluff and a ruff and his contract.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY SEPTEMBER 26, 1985

Unique or original ideas you get in the year ahead should at least be given a chance to prove themselves. Seeds of success can be sown from your fertile imagination.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Establish a sensible schedule regarding your workload today. If you try to crowd too much in, you might end up accomplishing nothing. Major changes are ahead for Librans in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be extra mindful of your behavior in social situations today. Do nothing that could give one who dislikes you a chance to gossip.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

Family problems should not be discussed in the presence of outsiders today. Open disputes will make everyone look bad and resolve nothing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Hard feelings will result today if you take credit for things others have done. Stay out of the spotlight if you haven't earned it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you shop impulsively today, there's a strong chance you'll respond to sales pitches and buy things you really don't need.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Lack of willpower today might allow a setback to deter you from achieving an objective, instead of regrouping and trying again.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today, if you can help people who have been kind to you, don't let the opportunity slip by. You'll be remorseful later if you look the other way.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's best not to take gambles today on ventures that are outside of your field of expertise. Your lack of knowledge could prove costly.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) To gratify your ego and prove others wrong today, you might be tempted to take an unpopular position that will anger associates.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Decisions that have an effect upon your work or career should be based upon your logic today, not your emotions. Keep feelings in check.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be extra careful in joint ventures today, especially if there are costs involved. Make sure the expenses are distributed equally.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Partnership arrangements could be more of a hindrance than a help today. Instead of relying on others, try to fend for yourself.

The AIDS epidemic: Fear Spreads Faster Than Virus

By Gino Del Guercio
UPI Science Writer

The headlines are everywhere, every day. Anxiety, bordering on hysteria, bubbles up across America.

Gays and heterosexuals, drug addicts, parents of school kids, medical researchers, hospitals, insurance companies, city and state officials — all fear this silent killer about which so little is known.

—Parents picket schools in Queens to protest the enrollment of a child with AIDS.

—Sheriff in Sacramento, Calif., warns deputies to consider the risk of AIDS before giving mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to suspected homosexuals.

—American Red Cross issues urgent plea for donors in Pennsylvania and New Jersey because of blood shortages caused in part by fear of AIDS.

—Teenager with AIDS forced to receive schooling via telephone in Kokomo, Ind.

—Woman with AIDS required to wear surgical mask and gloves in New Jersey courtroom.

—President Reagan says he's glad he's not faced with the problem of deciding whether to send a child to school with an AIDS victim.

—Poll finds 81 percent questioned believe AIDS likely to become a threat to the general public in the next few years. Another shows 51 percent think AIDS is more serious than heart disease, America's No. 1 killer.

Hysteria Unjustified
Hysteria about the deadly acquired immune deficiency syndrome appears to be spreading more rapidly than the AIDS virus itself.

Health authorities say the fears are not justified.

"It's a very difficult disease to get," Dr. Walter Dowdle of the federal Centers for Disease Control told a seminar in Washington Thursday.

AIDS is a venereal disease. The CDC in Atlanta says there is no evidence AIDS can be spread by casual contact, by food or by insects.

"The probability, the likelihood, of casual transmission of AIDS is like being struck by lightning as you walk out your front door in the morning or much less than the chances of the boiler that heats the building blowing up," said Dr. James Mason, acting assistant secretary of Health.

Yet the statistics are staggering. Approximately 13,000 people in the United States have been diagnosed as having AIDS since the first case was reported in 1981. Half have died. The other half have short life expectancies.

By the middle of next year, the number of AIDS cases is expected to double, and to reach 35,000 by the end of 1986. The caseload doubled in six months two years ago, then doubled in 10 months and now is doubling in 12 months.

"The doubling time is gradually getting longer and longer," said Dr. Harold Jaffe of the CDC.

Increase Expected
But the experts at the CDC expect, in the absence of a vaccine or a new treatment, that AIDS will continue to increase in the United States in the next few years, primarily among homosexuals and bisexuals, drug abusers and those who received contaminated blood products before last spring's introduction of a new blood test.

Those suffering from AIDS are but the tip of the iceberg. For every victim, 5 or 10 more suffer from less severe, non-fatal forms of the disease called ARC, for AIDS-related conditions.

And for every AIDS victim, the CDC estimates 50 to 100 more — 500,000 to 1 million in this country — have been infected with the AIDS virus but show no symptoms. Up to 2 percent of these people are expected to come down with AIDS yearly for the next few years.

The eventual toll is a mystery. The central question is whether the disease will cross the border from high risk groups — homosexuals, intravenous drug abusers, hemophiliacs and children of mothers with the virus — to the general public.

Several hundred people who are not members of high-risk groups have contracted the disease. Most are thought to have been exposed to the virus during heterosexual contact.

In some Third World countries, 50 percent of those with AIDS are heterosexual. Jaffe said the disease may be spread by improperly disinfected needles used for routine immunizations, or the people may be more likely to get the disease because conditions of poverty have weakened their immune systems.

The latest CDC report, published in Science, says the incidence rate of AIDS outside of the high-risk groups is "extremely low" — about one in a million.

There is concern, however, that the disease will be transferred by prostitutes to the heterosexual population. Prostitutes often have the disease because they are either intravenous drug abusers or have sex with people who are.

The CDC reported Thursday that five of 92 prostitutes tested in Seattle and 10 of 25 in Miami had evidence of infection by the AIDS virus.

Experts fear heterosexual men who frequent prostitutes could catch the virus and spread it to other women, who in turn could spread it to other men. Health authorities say heterosexuals with numerous partners are probably at much greater risk.

Controllable
Mason said the spread of AIDS is controllable now — if people avoid sex with AIDS patients or those who have tested positively for the virus, and if they avoid illicit intravenous drugs.

If AIDS establishes itself in the much larger heterosexual population, officials fear the AIDS could quickly take its place at the forefront of venereal disease in America.

A worst-case scenario — one that seems unlikely given what is known about the disease — holds that infection with the AIDS virus would reach levels of the venereal disease Chlamydia, which approaches 50 percent among college students and some other groups.

But medical experts say people are at no more risk of catching AIDS from classmates, waiters or dental hygienists than they are of getting gonorrhea or syphilis. That is not to say the only way to catch a venereal disease is through sex. Many venereal diseases can also be spread through blood transfusions, by sharing contaminated needles, or from mother to child during birth.

These are all opinions doctors and researchers have been stating since AIDS was found to be a viral infection.

As an example of the difficulty in transmitting the AIDS virus, specialists note there have been thousands of documented cases of health workers pricking themselves with contaminated needles and splashing contaminated fluids in their eyes and mouths.

Yet only one health care worker, a nurse in England, is believed to have developed the disease because of on-the-job contact with infected body fluids.

Strategy Undeveloped
"Is the public's response hysterical?" asks Dr. Harvey Fineberg, dean of the Harvard School of Public Health. "Yes, it is when you consider the public's reaction to the threat personally or to their family."

"On the other hand, the response has also been understated. We do not seem to have a strategy sufficiently developed at the national level dealing with the possibility of a very large number of patients with AIDS," Fineberg said.

If current estimates are correct that between 500,000 and 1 million people in the United States today are contaminated with the AIDS virus, and 5 to 10 percent of them will develop the disease, then health authorities must prepare to treat between 25,000 and 100,000 people with AIDS.

At an average cost of $120,000 to treat an AIDS patient, the disease at its current levels will cost between $3 billion and $12 billion to treat. These figures do not take into account the cost of treating people with ARC, the less-serious AIDS-like ailment. They also do not account for the people who will be exposed to the disease in the future.

Urgent Need
In other words, there is growing concern that AIDS will put a tremendous drain on America's health care system. Yet Congress bickers whether to approve $196.2 million for AIDS research, less than what it approved for research and vaccine to combat a predicted 1973 Asian flu epidemic that never occurred.

"There is an urgent need to mobilize the magnificent science and medical community of this country to this problem," said Dr. William Hazeltine, a senior cancer researcher at the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute in Boston. "There are simply not the funds available adequate for that mobilization at the present time."

"For example, the Institutes of Allergy and Infectious Disease was only able to make a total of $1 million available to the outside research community for the entire AIDS problem," he said.

The problem is more than simple economics.

Wide-ranging plans must be approved — and quickly — to determine how and where these people will be treated. And who will pay for it?

Some insurance companies are suggesting they be permitted to deny health and life insurance coverage to those with the virus. Without insurance victims quickly would be wiped out by the medical expenses and become welfare cases. Their medical care would be likely to suffer and the federal government would be left to pay the bill.

The question of whether insurance companies should be allowed to deny insurance to people with evidence of the disease raises a whole host of civil rights questions.

The Quarantine Question
Some people, such as Dr. Richard Restak, a Washington neurologist and author, suggest quarantining AIDS victims.

"Quarantines have been effective in beating outbreaks of scarlet fever, smallpox and typhoid in this century. Indeed, by protecting the well from the ill we follow a long-established, sensible and ultimately compassionate course," Restak wrote in a commentary in the Washington Post.

Seminole Needs More FHP Troopers, Polk To Tell Tallahassee

Seminole County needs more Florida Highway Patrol troopers patrolling in it and Sheriff John Polk plans to lobby with other sheriffs for an increase in FHP manpower.

Polk said Seminole County needs more troopers because the present 13-man force cannot handle all the accidents it is supposed to cover. When that happens, his deputies have to work the accident, he said. FHP has 14 troopers allocated to patrol Seminole County but only 13 on duty, said FHP spokesman Major Charles Hall.

The troopers usually handle traffic accidents in unincorporated areas and other moving violations, he said.

"I'm sure we don't get all the calls," he said. "The area is growing and we didn't get any additional manpower," he said referring to a decision by the legislature not to increase the size of the FHP. Hall did not know why the county was one trooper short and does not know how they assigned to counties. He also did not know what other counties are experiencing the same coverage problems Seminole is.

Hall said a second major problem with coverage is turnover within FHP. It is losing about seven experienced officers a month, Hall said.

"These are officers trained by the FHP who usually go to municipalities," he said.

He said most of the officers who leave cite low pay as the reason.

Hall said he could not comment on a recent charge made by sheriff's spokesman John Spolski. Addressing the Chamber of Commerce, Spolski said the FHP is kowtowing to the will of larger counties, such as Dade and ignoring the needs of smaller counties such as Seminole.

Polk agreed with Hall that it is a swelling population not FHP's efficiency that is part of the problem.

The number of permanent residents in Seminole has increased about 43,000 in the last two years, Polk said, pointing out that more people mean more accidents.

Polk said he has been discussing the problem with other sheriffs in similar situations and with FHP director Col. Bobby Burkett.

He said the sheriffs hope to present legislative leaders with some facts and figures soon to persuade them to increase FHP's manpower.

Polk said Burkett's request for more troopers was turned down by the legislature during its last session.

There are 1,250 troopers in the state.

2 Music Stars Can't Go Back On Their Raisin' When It Comes To Food

Country music stars Merle Haggard and Ricky Skaggs enjoy tastes as unique as the music they perform. Recently, while on tour for Marlboro Country Music (they will be at the Orange County Civic Center with Hank Williams, Jr. and John Anderson on Nov. 2), the two were asked to share their favorite recipes.

Ricky Skaggs, the 1984 and 1985 Grammy award winner for "Best Country Instrumental" and nominated for five of this year's CMA awards, is music's reigning "country boy."

Raised on a farm in the Appalachian Mountains of Kentucky, Skaggs has stayed close to his roots — both in his music and his menus. High on his list of favorite foods is fried cornbread — which he prefers accompanied by fried catfish with pinto beans and onions on the side — and Sweet Potato Surprise.

Merle Haggard, better known to his legion of fans as "The Hag" has recipes with titles as colorful as those of his scores of country hits.

FRIED CORNBREAD (Skaggs)

Served warm from the griddle, fried cornbread replaces bread or rolls at any meal.

- 1 cup cornmeal
- ½ cup flour
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ cup margarine, melted
- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded sharp natural cheddar cheese
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup milk
- 1 egg, beaten

Combine cornmeal, flour, baking powder and salt. Add combined milk, margarine and egg, mixing just until moistened. Stir in cheese. For each serving, spoon approximately ¼ cup mixture onto hot, lightly greased griddle or skillet; flatten slightly. Cook until lightly browned on both sides. Serve warm with additional margarine. If batter becomes too thick, add small amount of milk.

Variations: Omit cheese, or substitute ½ pound bulk pork sausage, browned and drained, for cheese.

SWEET POTATO SURPRISE (Skaggs)

- 1 1-pound can sweet potatoes, cut lengthwise
- 1¼ cups brown sugar
- 1½ tablespoons cornstarch
- 1 teaspoon shredded orange peel
- 2 tablespoons butter
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 1-pound can apricot halves
- ½ cup pecan halves

Place sweet potatoes in greased 10"x6"x1½" baking dish. Combine sugar, cornstarch, salt, cinnamon, and orange peel in saucepan.

Drain apricots, reserving syrup. Stir 1 cup syrup into cornstarch mixture. Cook and stir over medium heat until boiling. Boil 2 minutes, then add apricots, butter and pecans. Pour over sweet potatoes. Bake uncovered at 375 for 24 minutes.

Yield: 6 servings. MERLE'S CATCH OF THE DAY (Haggard)

- 1 catfish — skinned and boned
- 3 tablespoons honey
- 3 tablespoons corn syrup
- 4 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 cup cornmeal
- 2½ cups vegetable oil

Mix together with a fork, honey, syrup and eggs in a pie pan. Place cornmeal in another pie pan. Coat fish with egg batter and roll in cornmeal. Place fish in deep, very hot oil and cook until it rises back to the top.

SHADE TREE FIX-IT MAN'S LEMONADE (Haggard)

- Juice of 3 lemons
- 1 cup sugar
- Nutmeg

Combine lemon juice and sugar with water to fill beverage pitcher. Stir well. Pour over ice into chilled glasses. Garnish with half slice of lemon and pinch of nutmeg.

Optional: A jigger of bourbon may be added to each glass. If desired (especially if there happens to be a few parts missing from the carburetor).

BRANDED MAN'S BEEF BURGERS (Haggard)

- 2 pounds ground beef
- 8 oz. brick chilli
- 1 medium chopped onion
- 1 cup catsup
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon mustard

Brown the onion in oil. Add the beef. Cook and break up until done. Drain. Mix and cook in the chilli. Mix well. Add the catsup, sugar, and mustard and mix well. Simmer together for a few minutes.

THE RUNNING KIND'S 1-2-3-4 CAKE (Haggard)

- 1 cup Crisco
- 2 cups sugar
- 3 cups flour

- 4 eggs
 - 1 cup milk
 - 2 teaspoons vanilla
 - 3 teaspoons baking powder
- Cream shortening and sugar together. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each. Add remaining ingredients and beat well for 2-3 minutes. Bake in a 350° oven. Will make 2 layers or a large sheet cake. This is a quick and delicious cake for people who are "on the run."

Ricky Skaggs, raised on a farm in the Appalachian Mountains of Kentucky, has stayed close to his roots both in his music and his menus. High on his list of favorite foods is fried cornbread.
