Frederic's Damage Massive; 8 Dead

Waves Follow Quake

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — Tidal waves generated by the world's strongest earthquake in two years roared ashore on the remote Indonesian island of Yapen, destroying at least 400 houses and leaving 8,000 people homeless, officials said today.

Unconfirmed reports said about 100 people were killed by the waves Wednesday that were set in motion by a quake registering 8.0 on the open-ended Richter scale.

The tiny island, situated north of Indonesia's West Irian province 1,800 miles east of Jakarta, was in the immediate vicinity of the quake's epicenter and was the worst hit populated area, the Meteorological and Geological Institute in Jakarta said.

A group of small uninhabited islands near Yapen in Cendrawasih today were temporarily submerged by the tidal waves.

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) —

Hurricane Frederic battered the Gulf Coast with 130 mph winds and torrential rains today, smashing cars and buildings, snapping power lines and causing extensive flooding before being downgraded to a tropical storm.

At least eight deaths were attributed to the storm and hundreds were injured.

Hundreds of homes and businesses were flooded and highways were washed out or made impassable by debris.

Alabama National Guardsmen were patrolling Mobile streets to stop a rash of looting.

The second hurricane to hit the mainland this month killed at least three people in

Mount Etna Erupts

CATANIA, Sicily (UPI) — Mount Etna erupted like a cannon showering fiery lava on 200 tourists and killing nine of them in the first deaths on the slopes of the storied volcano since 1812.

The sudden molten shower injured 23 others.

The lava roared down on the 200 European tourists, most of them in their 20s, as they arrived near the tip of the volatile volcano on a regular tour at sunset Wednesday.

"It was as if an incredibly powerful cannon had blasted on them," said a tour guide who administered first aid.

Mountain guides said the nine tourists who died were "mangled" in the blast of boiling lava.

Wednesday, the guides said six tourists were killed by the molten flow, but early today they reported finding three more bodies under the masses of a boulders and lava blasted out of the main crater.

Storm Lashes Western Panhandle Into 'Disaster'

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI) — Hurricane Frederic thrashed winds and flood tides at the bays, bays and barrier islands of the western panhandle early today, unroofing and flooding homes and businesses, knocking out power and phones and washing away roads. One woman was missing and presumed drowned.

When daylight showed the havoc Frederic had unleashed under the cover of darkness, Vivian Hoffer of the Escambia County Sheriff's Department declared: "We have a disaster here."

Neighboring Santa Rosa County also took a severe blow from Frederic's 35 mph winds and 15-foot storm tide, but the damage in Fort Walton Beach and Panama City to the east was relatively minor.

State officials said at least 250,000 persons fled the Panhandle before Frederic's howling winds began snapping utility poles, uprooting trees and sending an awesome surge of water rolling over the barrier islands and resort beaches.

"There is no power in the county except for emergency generators, most roads are blocked by fallen trees and power lines and some coastal areas are underwater. We're virtually shut down except for emergency services," Escambia County Administrator Rod Kendig said.

Frederic wreaked the most havoc on the Perdido Key area in southwestern Escambia County. At least 150 mobile homes were destroyed and Kendig said at least 120 homes in the Grand Lagoon development were inundated.

Heroic volunteer firemen rescued 45-year-old Dr. John Langley of Mobile, Ala., from a 40-foot capsized boat he clung to for six hours in the intra-coastal waterway near Pensacola. An unidentified woman aboard his boat was missing and presumed drowned.

At least six people were injured, including an ambulance driver whose rescue vehicle overturned in Pensacola during the height of the storm.

The curious and the evacuated came out of shelters at daylight wanting to know and see the damage caused by the storm. By mid-morning, 200 cars were lined up at the Pensacola Bay Bridge waiting to get to Pensacola Beach, but police were keeping people out of evacuated areas until lawmen could establish patrol to prevent looting.

"The key situation is that we have almost no power in the county. We have no traffic signals, roads are difficult to pass and if we let a bunch of cars loose in the county, we're going to have a dangerous situation," Kendig said.

In Santa Rosa County, a wall of water rose out of Escambia Bay and poured over the plush Garcon Point development. Officials said a state building was unroofed and at least 100 homes were flooded.

"One of my deputies said his parents home had water up to the roof," Santa Rosa Sheriff's Lt. Richard North said. "The south (recreational) part of the county had the most damage. One store at Gulf Breeze looked like it had exploded to me and

Decision Due Tonight

Lake Mary To Cut Services

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Lake Mary City Council at 6 p.m. special meeting today will decide where to chop $70,005 in services from its 1979-1980 budget. The action results from Tuesday's voter rejection of a proposed tax increase.

At the Tuesday election the voters by a better than 2-1 margin, denied the city fathers' request for an increase in taxes from $3 per $1,000 assessed valuation to $4.25. The new tax rate must, according to state law, now be no more than $2.94 per $1,000.

Why did the voters turn down their message to the council?

"We sent them a message that we don't want higher taxes," said Mrs. Dorothy Feddersen of Lake Shore Drive.

Most of the comments made for the record, however, pointed not only to a disenchantment with taxes generally, but also with the city's nine-member police department and other employees, but also with the city government's management of city funds.

One woman who asked her name not be published said the referendum was the first step in cleaning up city hall.

"We need an entire new city council, one that is interested in serving the public and doing what the public wants instead of pursuing their own way of doing things."

Another woman said the city council has "grandiose ideas" for the small community of Lake Mary. One woman said she receives nothing for her tax dollars to the city. "I don't have a paved road, no water, no sewer service and no police protection. I see the police standing around the convenience store instead of on the road patrolling."

"The majority of people thought they can make cut expenses," Mrs. Pat Christie of 222 E. Wilbur Ave., said. "Perhaps the people realized there is supposed to be a re-evaluation of property in 1980 and to spend money going up again," Mrs. Brenda Day of Evansdale Road said.

"I think the city council can cut down on the police department," Mrs. Anna Jardine of Fifth Street said.

"I think the city's money is being spent wrongly," said Ed Pratt of 355 Evansdale Road.

"We don't need the police department we have. We have too many police officers."

"I would like to see someone on the city council who would know how to spend our money wisely," Pratt said.

Councilman Francis Mark said among the suggestions he will make to his colleagues tonight is that city employees be placed on a 32-hour work week, saving nearly $600 weekly and perhaps saving some of the four patrolmen's jobs.

The city council had said if the referendum was not approved, four officers would have to be cut from the police department.

Busing Tops School Parley

Four separate courtesy busing requests were heard by the Seminole County School Board Wednesday night. As parents talked about the safety of their children, the discussions with the board members often became heated.

Courtesy busing is a policy whereby the school district provides bus transportation to children who live within two miles of their schools. The district only has to transport students who live farther than two miles but can offer a courtesy to some students within the two-mile limit.

A safety committee, composed of a representative from the school board and representatives from the county commission, countywide advisory committee, and county sheriff's office will review requests for courtesy if asked by the school board.

Three of the groups wanted the school board to direct the safety committee to check out their situation, but one group wanted immediate action because, as Mark Trotter, the Lake Hodges Estate spokesman said, "We are talking about children's lives."

The first group to address the board on busing was from the Skylark Homeowners Association. Mrs. B. J. Chasill, speaking for that group of about 30 parents, said courtesy busing should be extended to the students going from Skylark to Longwood Elementary School because there are no sidewalks and it is one of the heaviest trafficked routes in Longwood, according to police chief Greg Manning.

Mrs. Chasill turned the request over to the Longwood Elementary principal, Arletta M. Coberly. Ms. Coberly explained that she tried to get courtesy busing three years ago and was turned down. According to Ms. Coberly, since that time the cars

Seminole Officials Perplexed

House Gets The Shakes

By GEOFFREY FOUNDS
Herald Staff Writer

When their neighbors flush their toilets, Ed and Vesda Williams' home begins shaking and Seminole County engineers start scratching their heads again.

The Williams' home at 121 Graham Road, Fern Park, is located immediately in front of the Waverly Drive LRT Station. Pipes carrying water to and from the lift station pumps run parallel to the Williams' property line barely six inches from the end of their lot. During periods of high water use when the lift station is operating at capacity, vibrations are sent through the ground into the Williams' home.

"It's worse in the morning and later in the evening, whenever people are using a lot of water. It occurs every day, but you can never be sure exactly when it's going to start," said the 28-year-old Williams in an interview.

"It doesn't last too long and it doesn't get too loud. It's sort of a dull murmur that sets anything loose vibrating," added Williams.

When their neighbors flush their toilets, Ed and Vesda Williams' home begins shaking and Seminole County engineers start scratching their heads again.

"It's worse in the morning and later in the evening, whenever people are using a lot of water. It occurs every day, but you can never be sure exactly when it's going to start," said the 28-year-old Williams in an interview.

"It doesn't last too long and it doesn't get too loud. It's sort of a dull murmur that sets anything loose vibrating," added Williams.

Williams and his wife, contend they repeatedly have tried to get county officials to correct the situation, but no solution has been found. The couple said they have talked to public works director Jack Schuler, county commissioner Sandra Glenn and others.

"It's a unique problem that we haven't been able to solve before. We are determined to find a solution. We've got consultants working on it now," said Schuler.

"They respond right away, and I really think they are trying to help. But each time they send someone he just looks at the situation and winds up scratching his head," said Williams.

According to Williams, the last time the vibrations were examined was several weeks ago. At that time, he said, consultants from Miami were called in and they, too, were perplexed by the vibrations. He said the consultants believe the final solution may require digging up their yard and packing it with clay.

"We don't understand why they can't dig up their own pump instead of our home," Vesda, 30, said. Ironically, the Waverly station was redesigned two years ago to replace a station that neighborhood residents complained was unduly noisy and caused vibrations.

"When we moved in here two years ago they were tearing out the old equipment. There were bulldozers and jackhammers going all day long. When they finished, we thought we'd have peace. Now we'll probably get the bulldozers back," Mrs. Williams said.

The station, an enclosed concrete blockhouse, has been sarcastically dubbed "the Monster" by the Williamses. They said they far they have had to replace one full-length wall mirror in their dining room that has been jarred loose by the vibrations. Its replacement has started to come ajar. They said their real fear is the potential damage to the foundation of their home that prolonged vibrations may create.

Williams, whose career is real estate, says he is concerned about the effect the problem can have on the home's value. If necessary, he said, he may pursue legal action against the county to resolve the matter.

The Waverly Drive station already has cost the county more than $100,000 to replace and repair equipment and Schuler said it is bound to cost "thousands more" before the situation is corrected.

"It's certainly gotten to be a big headache for us as well," Schuler said.

The public works director said before the digging up of yard has to be done, the county will try installing pipes of flexible materials to reduce the vibrations.

"Sometimes it really stinks. I don't know if there is a leak or what, but the odor from it is terrible," said Mrs. Williams. "You can be out in the back yard cooking a steak and it starts to smell — you don't feel like eating anymore."

There is a backup diesel generator at the station that kicks on during power shortages, Williams said. But for some reason, every time the diesel unit starts, smoke and sparks fly out of the station, he said.

NATION IN BRIEF

Vance Is Satisfied So Far By Talks With Dobrynin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance is satisfied so far with his talks with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin about the Russian combat forces in Cuba, and expects further negotiations very soon.

After his second meeting with Dobrynin Wednesday, Vance was asked by reporters if he was satisfied with the progress of the talks and he said, "Yes, and we'll be talking again Thursday or Friday."

While Vance negotiated on the Soviet combat troops in Cuba, a key member of the Senate, Richard Stone, D-Fla., said he will insist on complete withdrawal of all Soviet forces and the dismantling of any naval construction at the Cienfuegos base.

It was Stone's insistent questioning about the Soviet troops that led to the stepped up U.S. intelligence effort that discovered a combat brigade.

Draft Proposal Defeated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A proposal to resume registration of 18-year-olds — a move seen by some as a step toward the return of the military draft — has been condemned to further study.

The decision by the House after a day-long debate Wednesday apparently signaled the doom of a pro-draft measure during the current session of Congress.

The issue came up as the House worked on the $42.1 billion defense authorization bill for 1980.

The proposal would have required the Selective Service System to begin registering all 18-year-old males in 1981. It was defeated on two successive votes, 252-183 and 259-155.

Episcopalian Updating

DENVER (UPI) — The modern words that soon will officially dominate the Episcopal worship service may be tempered by a smattering of the traditional under a compromise vote designed to appease the thousands not ready to give up "a rich part of liturgical heritage."

The church's bishops, after a surprisingly brief debate, voted overwhelmingly Wednesday to allow limited but continued use of the 1928 Book of Common Prayer and its flower Elizabethan English, provided the 94-member House of Deputies approves the action as expected.

While the bishops provided a way out for the faithful who preferred the older prayer book, the House of Deputies — made up of clergy and laymen — was taking final action in approving the new 1979 book as the official Book of Common Prayer.

Hereditary Cancer Traced

BOSTON (UPI) — Scientists for the first time have traced a hereditary human cancer to a chromosome defect, enabling doctors to identify individuals who face a high risk of developing the disease, the New England Journal of Medicine reported today.

Several types of cancer are known to occur in families with predictable frequency, which suggests they may be passed from one generation to another like other hereditary traits such as hair or eye color.

Doctors at the Beth Israel Hospital in Boston, studying a family with a history of a rare form of kidney cancer, found specific sections of chromosomes — the molecules that determine hereditary characteristics — had become interchanged in many members of the family.

'World Peace Day' Slated For Sunday

Is world peace possible? A panel of speakers will address this question Sunday at the National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of the United States (NSA) from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. in the teaching auditorium.
Julian Stenstrom of the Sanford City Commission, Dr. Anna Backman of SCC, and Dr. Monib Colletan of the Lake Mary Clinic will form the panel.
After his second meeting with Dobrynin Wednesday, Vance was asked by reporters if he was satisfied with the progress of the talks and he said, "Yes, and we'll be talking again Thursday or Friday."
While Vance negotiated on the Soviet combat troops in Cuba, a key member of the Senate, Richard Stone, D-Fla., said he will insist on complete withdrawal of all Soviet forces and the dismantling of any naval construction at the Cienfuegos base.
It was Stone's insistent questioning about the Soviet troops that led to the stepped up U.S. intelligence effort that discovered a combat brigade.

Mrs. R. Colletan (left), chairman of the Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of Seminole County, Mrs. C. P. Graham of Longwood Village Baha'is Community, and Dr. Monib Colletan, member of Seminole Baha'is, watch this week as Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore proclaims Sept. 16 as "World Peace Day" in Sanford.

School Busing

Hodges Estates along High 434 to Winter Springs Elementary School. Courtesy busing had been provided the Lake Hodges children until new sidewalks were constructed before school started and it was decided by Fred Taylor, director of federal programs and transportation, the service would be discontinued, the board was told.
One of the group's spokesmen, Trotter, said his phone calls for an appointment to talk with Taylor or someone connected with the school board had not been answered. He said he was angry that the board did not seem to be interested in the problem which he said involves children's lives.
Frank Lucadamo, president of the Lake Hodges Estates, took over for Trotter saying the condition is an "intolerable situation" and it was a "darn shame some of our tax dollars can't go to transporting our children."

Robert Feather, chairman of the school board, said the board is "in the business of education not transportation." He said he has an 11-year-old who walks the sidewalks by Highway 434 before daylight.
Trotter regained his role as spokesman saying he was "not interested to have this issue labeled as a study made." He asked "What do I do with my child tomorrow?" Feather replied "Most parents who are that concerned take their children to school."
Telson made the motion that the Lake Hodges question be studied by the safety committee. The board voted 3-2 to ask the committee to look into the issue with Allan Keith and Feather casting the dissenting votes.

The last courtesy bus inquirer, Jim Fogger, went before the board after midnight. His request for the school district to provide bus service within two miles of Lake Orienta Elementary was promptly acted on. Fogger said he thought the route along Maitland Avenue is too dangerous because cars speed by ignoring speed limits. The board voted 5-0 to direct Superintendent Lyster to ask Altamonte Springs Police Chief Justus East, whose police control that area, to enforce the speed limit. — GARRY GRAU

AREA DEATHS

FRANK ASHDOWN
Frank B. Ashdown, 62, of 150 W. Osborne Ave., Tampa, died Tuesday in Tampa. Born in Troy, N.Y., he had resided in Florida for the past 43 years. He was a 60-year member of the Odd Fellows and a member of the First United Methodist Church of Sanford. He was a self-employed carpenter.
Survivors include son, Rodney Ashdown, two sisters, Mrs. William Nauman and Mrs. Charles Crayson, Ocala, N.Y.; son grandson, Fredrick B. Ashdown, Williston; several nieces and nephews and several great-grandchildren.

Funeral Notice
STUBBIVANT, ROBERT W. — Funeral services for Robert W. Stubbivant, 63, 413 Myrtle Ave., Sanford, who died today in Sanford, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Sanford Funeral Home with Rev. Leo King officiating. Burial in Evergreen Cemetery. Brian Funeral Home-PA in charge.

Sunday has been established as "World Peace Day" by the National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of the United States. It increasingly has been observed by non-Baha'is individuals and organizations.
The Baha'is of Seminole County are sponsoring the SCC event, with the college offering the program as an extracurricular activity. The public is invited to attend.
The spirit behind World Peace Day, Baha'is spokesman said, can best be described by the writings of Baha'ullah, prophet-founder of the Baha'is faith. "This is the day in which God's most excellent favors have been poured out upon men, the day in which his most mighty grace hath been infused into all created things. It is incumbent upon all the peoples of the world to reconcile their differences, and, with perfect unity and peace, abide beneath the shadow of the tree of His care and loving-kindness."
World Peace Day is observed in a variety of ways in different communities. Each year in Wilmette, Ill., the Baha'is from the north shore observe the day with a large picnic in Gilson Park. Visitors to the Baha'is House of Worship in Wilmette also join in the celebration.
One year, a small community near Milwaukee, Wis., recognized World Peace Day in another way. Baha'is youth prepared for the event by cleaning and painting the park benches. A concert took place on the event's eve, followed the next afternoon by entertainment in the park by many local musicians.

Two Yugoslavian Trains Crash, Kill 50, Hurt 100

STALAC, Yugoslavia (UPI) — A freight train sped through a stop sign early today and plowed into a packed passenger express, killing more than 50 people and injuring more than 100 others, railway officials said.
"It was packed," said rail official Vladimir Jovanovic of the popular overnight express from Belgrade to Skopje in southern Yugoslavia. "That train was always packed. Many passengers were soldiers going back to their posts after leave."
The 13-compartment train can carry more than 1,000 passengers. Four of the cars derailed at the crash site, a major southeast rail junction.
Rescue teams from all over southern Serbia and Macedonia raced to Stalac and used welding torches to cut through the twisted metal of the wreckage. The Red Cross issued an emergency appeal for blood donors.

Skyjacker Surrenders

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — A man who hijacked a Lufthansa airliner with a toy pistol rattled off a grab bag of demands from a plebiscite on nuclear energy to longer maternity leaves before being held in a Bonn-Cologne airport, where he was held for 128 hours and surrendered.
The German hijacker, Rafal Kappel, 31, who described himself as a writer but a Lufthansa spokesman termed "deranged," seized the aircraft Wednesday morning on a domestic flight from Frankfurt to Bonn-Cologne, to begin the 12-hour drama.
Kappel, who pulled a toy gun out of a black bag and demanded to speak to West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt about money for a "peace organization," was persuaded to put down at the Bonn-Cologne airport, which serves both West German cities.

8 Seniors Die In Crash

MILFORD, Utah (UPI) — It was Senior Citizen's Day at the Utah State Fair and members of the Milford Senior Citizens center gathered before dawn to crowd onto a minibus for their annual 200-mile trip to the fair.
Their trip ended 80 miles away Wednesday in a bus crash that killed eight of them and injured six more and affected nearly everyone in the tiny town of Milford.
Separate funerals were expected to be held for the victims since those killed in the crash had large, extended families and the town's Mormon chapel isn't big enough to accommodate a mass funeral.

$400 Million For Poor?

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — President Carter Wednesday proposed giving low income families an average of $200 in cash this winter in a $1.6 billion program to help soften the impact of higher fuel bills.
Carter offered the proposal in response to pleas from governors and mayors that his original proposal of $400 million for the poor would not be sufficient to alleviate the impact of higher energy prices.

Altamonte Woman Killed In Car Crash

A car said to be traveling 60 m.p.h. Wednesday sped through a stop sign and plunged into a ditch off State Route 415A, 2.2 miles east of Sanford, killing one person and injuring another.
The Florida Highway Patrol (FHP) said Mildred Conley, 25, of 747 S. Wynmore Road, Altamonte Springs, died in the crash. She was a passenger in the 1979 Triumph driven by 21-year-old Clifford Vance Stone of 380 Lilac Road, Casselberry, the FHP reported. Stone was admitted to Seminole Memorial Hospital where his condition today is listed as satisfactory.
According to the Highway Patrol, Stone was driving south on state Route 415A at 12:05 a.m. when he fell asleep at the wheel. The car traveled through the intersection with state Route 46 and veered off the road into a ditch, the FHP reported.
Stone suffered multiple injuries including severe lacerations. The FHP said no charges have been filed against him. Ms. Conley became the 28th person to die on Seminole County roads this year.

TICKET MONEY TAKEN
A South Seminole County school lost more than $500 when it was accidentally left in the ticket booth after last Friday's football game, according to the Seminole county sheriff's department.
Lake Brantley High School Principal Darwin Boothe, reported the theft to Seminole County deputies. He said sometime after the football game Friday night an envelope containing rolls of admission tickets to the football game and $608.75 was accidentally left in the ticket booth on the football field.
On Monday when the booth was checked the envelope was found torn open and empty. Boothe said the thief took $500.75 and left $108 on the floor.

ARMED ROBBERY

On Saturday a man wearing a flesh colored mask and silver colored hand gun held up a Days Inn employee.
Seven Yankton, 22, of 278 S. Wynmore Road of Altamonte Springs told police that the man told him to "hand over the cash drawer." The robber left with $685 of which the police recovered $100 as they traced his footprints. Police said that the suspect is still at large. The Days Inn is located at 235 S. Wynmore Road, Altamonte Springs.

Nuke Plant To Reopen

CRYSTAL RIVER, Fla. (UPI) — The Crystal River Nuclear Plant is scheduled to reopen today. It was closed last month after several power losses and the spilling of 100,000 gallons of contaminated water into outdoor settling ponds.
Officials of the St. Petersburg-based Electric Power Corp. said they hope to have the plant in full power sometime next week for the first time since Aug. 16.
The plant was closed in April for a six-week refueling operation, but the shutdown was extended when the Nuclear Regulatory Commission ordered equipment modifications. Crystal River remained open only two weeks before it was closed again.
The NRC claimed responsibility for the power losses, but said the spills resulted from the utility's failure to follow federal regulations.

HIT AND RUN

A hit and run accident occurred Sunday in Altamonte Springs, according to the Altamonte Springs police and they are asking any witnesses to contact them.
Police reported Robert E. Jones of Apopka, a pedestrian, was seriously injured by an unidentified vehicle at 3:25 a.m. Sunday on State Road 631, 200 feet south of Bunnell Road. He was taken to the Florida Hospital in Orlando.

RENTED CAR MISSING

A Longwood car company filed a stolen car report Monday with Seminole County sheriff's department.
Joseph L. Bazan, 37, 607 Alton Road, Winter Springs represented Longwood Leasing and Rental, 3555 Highway 17-92. He told deputies that Longwood had provided a car to a Lake Mary man on May 9 and it was supposed to be returned May 23. After the deadline elapsed a registered letter was sent by Longwood Lincoln-Mercury to the man but it was returned unclaimed, according to Bazan. The car is valued at $5,400.

Garbage Complaint Held

Action against the owner of a Sanford supper club for allegedly maintaining a "sanitation nuisance" is being withheld pending immediate correction of the problem, according to a county sanitation official.
County Sanitarian Val Robbins said today he is holding in abeyance filing a complaint against the owner of the club, according to a county sanitation official.
The 14-foot wide alley runs between First and Second streets, parallel to Magnolia Avenue where Mr. P's is located.
Robbins said he has consulted with Patrick frequently over a number of months about numerous complaints the raw garbage was being kept in open containers at the rear of the club.
"The plans for correcting the problem by constructing the bin should work," Robbins said. "I will be monitoring the garbage disposal situation," he said.
Knowles also told commissioners Monday night the problem with the garbage storage in the alleyway has been compounded by 18-wheel delivery trucks backing over trash cans and strewn garbage along in their wake in the alley.
In addition, Knowles pointed out, the trucks knock off electrical meters protruding from the walls of the businesses. Following Knowles' suggestion, the commissioners banned the practice of trucks backing into the alley. The alley is to be posted and the commission order enforced by the police department.

Fair, Simplified Tax The Answer

The Internal Revenue Service's first comprehensive report on tax evasion in these United States, which was submitted to Congress a few days ago, is not likely to sweeten the jaundiced opinion of taxes and government held currently by many Americans.

According to the IRS estimates, U.S. taxpayers failed to report $135 billion in income and thereby evaded $25 billion in federal taxes during 1976. Moreover, the IRS and the General Accounting Office agree that as many as six million Americans fail to file federal income tax returns on legitimate income each year, or almost 10 percent of those required to report their incomes.

Knowing that such statistics would make conscientious taxpayers all the more disgruntled the IRS released its report reluctantly and only in response to congressional orders.

Inasmuch as IRS bureaucrats would have a vested interest in not disclosing too much tax evasion that disparaged their effectiveness, it appears these figures, stunning as they seem, are on the low side.

Peter M. Gutmann, professor of economics and finance, City University of New York, asserts the subterranean and untaxed U.S. economy accounted for about $220 billion last year, more than 10 percent of the gross national product.

Professor Gutmann estimates 3.5 million Americans are employed exclusively in the subterranean economy, full time or part time — skimming off cash as owners or employees of small businesses, keeping part of the sales taxes or pocketing the income from gambling and illegal activities such as prostitution and drug trafficking.

Observers advance several reasons why Americans, long the wonder of the world for their integrity in assessing themselves, are becoming more like cash-dealing tax dodgers abroad. With every inflation-generated tax hike, more tax dollars go underground and beyond the reach of the tax collector.

Observers advance several reasons why Americans, long the wonder of the world for their integrity in assessing themselves, are becoming more like cash-dealing tax dodgers abroad. With every inflation-generated tax hike, more tax dollars go underground and beyond the reach of the tax collector.

And small wonder. What is the average taxpayer to think when he learns he pays more personal income taxes year in and year out than some famous millionaire politicians, who pay nothing because of the crazy-quilt tax laws.

This deterioration in the U.S. tax system, with all of its disturbing sociological implications, need not continue. It is not inevitable. It can be arrested if the administration and Congress will overhaul the tax codes which now encourage millions of Americans to become at least theoretical criminals.

A fair, greatly simplified tax that does not penalize integrity and initiative or reward dishonesty and indolence is not beyond realistic hope.

Around

The Clock

By JANE CASSELLBERRY

Evidence of the growing rift between the Longwood City Commission and the city's Land Planning Agency became apparent again Monday night when the commission refused to approve plans for Village Plaza as recommended by the LPA.

Frequently developers, who had met all city and environmental requirements and adapted their plans to the LPA find when they take their plans to the individual commissioners have their own personal ideas about the project — sometimes just the opposite from the LPA recommendation.

Recommendations of the city administrator and the city engineer are many times also ignored if they are favorable to a project. In drawing up their plans developers can determine what the requirements are in the city ordinances, but it is difficult to pre-guess what added demands officials will insist on before they will approve a project. As a builder or developer is forced to come back again and again before the council or commission while his development costs rise with every meeting. In the meantime, he may find the faces (and/or minds) have changed on the commission and new demands are made, such as paving a road on someone else's property or putting an entrance where one was previously denied.

It was this sort of tactic by some commissioners Monday night that brought objections from residents, mutterings of "recall!" and the threat of a lawsuit by the developer.

Will The PLO Gain Foothold?

By RICHARD E. COHEN

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The resignation of United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young and collapse of an American initiative to draw the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) into the peace talks have led some observers to conclude that Israel has gained the upper hand in recent Mideast developments.

But you would have a hard time convincing some Israelis. In fact, many of them believe events have been set in motion with dire consequences for their nation.

In this Israeli view, the instigator of their troubles and the motivating force for escalation of the Palestinian problem will be none other than Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, who has been vilified in Arab circles and ostracized by many of his former friends for recognizing Israel and signing a peace treaty.

As time passes, it has become apparent to many Israelis that Egypt has won American support of a two-step plan for its early reconciliation with the rest of the Arab world and the recognition of the PLO as a full partner in the peace process.

"Egypt may at any moment return to the open arms of the Arab world and be greeted like a returning lost brother," wrote Tel Aviv University professor Moshe Sharon in a recent issue of the Jerusalem Post. "The latest developments on the inter-Arab and inter-Israeli scenes suggest that this may come to pass even earlier than expected."

The Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty signed at the White House in March stipulated that Israel will withdraw from all Egyptian land in the Sinai desert within three years. In addition, the two nations agreed to discussions calling for local autonomy in the Israeli-occupied areas on the West Bank of the Jordan River — land that had been held by Jordan until the 1967 Mideast war.

Under the treaty terms, local agreement should be reached by next April on an autonomy plan and elections would follow as soon as possible. Regardless of how many new settlements Israel permits in the West Bank, the Arabs undoubtedly will maintain well over 90 percent of the local population. Thus, most Israelis concede it is simply a matter of time until most of the occupied territory gains self-rule.

Until recent months, Jordan's King Hussein's reluctance to permit a PLO state in previously Jordanian land plus the generally low regard of PLO leaders and their terrorist tactics left most Israelis confident that the West Bankers would not seek PLO control. Now they are not so sure. Professor Sharon evinces doubt that the Arab Brothers Organization, which has signed a treaty with Prime Minister Menachem Begin resulted in the return of every inch of Arab territory and Israeli recognition of Palestinian rights. Jordan could add that this action also caused a serious rift between the United States and Israel over recognition of the PLO.

Because of the treaty, Sharon said, "the gate has been opened wide to admit the PLO as a full participant in the process that will decide the fate of Israel."

Why The Combat Troops?

By DON GRAFF

A riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma. Winston Churchill had the words for Soviet policy back then at the onset of World War II. It has become no less mysterious in the intervening 40 years.

Why, for example, those combat troops in Cuba? The 1961 missile crisis immediately comes to mind, but no one sees a reply — yet. And that is precisely the point of the question.

Two or three thousand Russians — even representing, as the Pentagon says, the equivalent of a brigade with armored, artillery and infantry elements — do not pose a direct physical threat to the United States or any other of Cuba's neighbors with the possible exception of a Dominican Republic already flattened by Hurricane David.

There is some speculation of the hopeful variety, that the troops may be nothing more than a Soviet gesture, a quid pro quo for the Cubans who have Moscow's point men in Africa.

But if so, there is considerably less quid than quo involved. Best estimates put the Cuban expeditionary force at something like 40,000 men, compared to which the few thousand Russians are a very small gesture indeed.

Furthermore, when the Cubans have some 500,000 men under arms still on their island, needs Russians to back up the home front? While the military purposes, if any, of the new troops may be a mystery, the political consequences are something else again — multiple and all too obvious.

If Moscow had set out to disrupt congressional consideration of SALT II and convert doubters into opponents of the arms-limitation agreement, they could not have devised a better low-risk strategy. The troops are not sufficient to trigger a blockade and an eye-for-an-eye retaliation as did the missile crisis. But they are enough to put SALT on the shelf as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee turns to the Cuban situation.

And there's more. Committee chairman Frank Church will be a key figure in the upcoming ratification floor debate. He also happens to be facing a tough re-election campaign back home in Idaho, where soft lines in foreign policy are not popular with the voters. The senator-candidate has let it be known he may be reconsidering his position on the treaty.

Then there is the delay in detecting the Soviet newcomers — for all the vast U.S. intelligence resources, or in letting on, they may have been in Cuba undetected for a year or more. It is not the sort of demonstration of intelligence effectiveness to reassure those doubting U.S. ability to police the SALT area restrictions and verify device compliance.

"If inflation is severe, this clause may not increase the coverage fast enough," Conway said. "So it should be reviewed periodically."

By the same token the automatic inflation guard endorsement might occasionally provide more coverage than is needed. Conway said a premium cost if conditions change.

Time To Check Insurance

By LARRY POPE

UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Spiraling inflation should hold a warning flag for businessmen to check their insurance programs.

Small and middle-sized firms especially should review their insurance carefully once or twice a year to make sure they have adequate amounts, and to be certain they are not paying too much for policies that might provide overlapping coverage.

Big companies have full-time risk managers to cope with this problem. Small companies usually don't feel they can afford such a specialist but Peter Conway, a vice president of CNA Insurance in Chicago, says executives of the smaller companies still can follow some of the principles the risk managers have evolved.

Conway says they can do this by finding an industrious and conscientious agent and following his advice, and by taking the time to familiarize themselves with the general principles of insurance.

"The desire to save money on insurance is natural in these days of rising premium rates," Conway suggests as most effective ways to save:

—Buy policies with higher deductibles. "Being self-insured for the first dollar losses can save a surprising amount in premiums," he said.

—Buy insurance in packages instead of numerous separate policies. This eliminates expensive duplication and results in some bargain rates.

—Carry out a thorough loss control program. This last may be the most effective of all. It may be done by hiring a professional loss adjuster, reducing hazardous storage of materials, putting up guard rails and expediting reparations. Coca-Cola's chief purchaser, John Hesse, was quoted as threatening to "pull in a few dollars" from the company's "Coke" contract.

Months told to his own, remember making such a statement. But there is no question that the company held the "Coke" or "Coca-Cola" that had Carter in the debt.

Now we have uncovered evidence that the president uncovered personally in black higher price increases for sugar. This evidence is contained in a letter from the company to the PLO.

On Sept. 15, the Carter administration responded in blocking legislation that would have raised the tariff on imported sugar. This bill would not support it. The supporting sugar is being sent to Cuba.

2nd Sidewalk Suit Settled

To avoid another lawsuit, the Sanford City Commission Monday night for the second time in two weeks settled a claim for a physical injury apparently caused by a fall on a broken city sidewalk.

The commissioners approved unanimously a recommendation by City Attorney C. Vernon Mize Jr. that a settlement of $700 be paid to Mrs. Dora Harrell.

Mrs. Harrell, Mize reported to the commission, said as a result of a fall on the sidewalk on the east side of Palmetto Avenue she received a broken right elbow and bruises to her right hip, shoulder and knee.

Mize said the woman showed him copies of her doctor and hospital bills totaling about $25 and advised she still has stiffness in her elbow. Mize said Mrs. Harrell's doctor has assured her the stiffness will subside after a period of time.

Two weeks ago, the city commission approved a settlement of $7,200 to Mrs. Bonnie Tucker who claimed an injury on a broken sidewalk. She has filed suit against the city charging negligence.

During the past two weeks the city has been removing hazardous sidewalks including one on the north side of the city hall at the lakefront. In some areas of the city, property owners are being notified of the city's intent to remove sidewalks, giving those property owners the option of keeping the sidewalks if they will pay for materials used for the repairs.

City Manager Warren Knowles reported to commissioners that while the Florida League of Cities through its Risk Management Services Inc. insurance pool can provide the city with slip and fall insurance for city sidewalks, it would prefer underwriting all the city's liability insurance.

Since the anniversary date of insurance falls in May, the commissioners decided to obtain slip and fall insurance through private carrier and to consider next year whether to transfer all city liability insurance to the Florida League's company. — DONNA ESTES

Longwood Officials Approve Annexation

By JANE CASSELLBERRY

Herald Staff Writer

Annexation of a five-acre church site on E.E. Williamson Road owned by North Park Baptist Church has been approved on first reading by Longwood City Commission.

The church plans to build a mission church on the site, which is located in the county between The Woodlands and Tiberon subdivisions on agriculturally zoned land.

City Attorney Ned Julian Jr. told the commission Monday night the church would be free to construct a building under an agricultural zoning. In accordance with the county plan, there would be a two-year moratorium on zoning change if the property is annexed.

The city clerk was authorized to set a public hearing on the annexation.

When the mission church pastor, Rev. Ken Holt, came proved by the city. The city has been negotiating with the private firm for the purchase of the treatment plant. "We have been negotiating with the city in total good faith," said Lefkowitz, "and we probably aren't far apart."

In other business: — The final plan for Longwood Green PUD (Planned Unit Development) was approved and the attorney authorized to draw up an ordinance rezoning the property located on County Road 427 to PUD.

— Plans for Hoffman Miniwarehouses on County Road 427 were approved. There will be two 90-ft. long buildings with five bays each and will be rented as warehouses only for businesses.

Checking Those Pulsebeats

Funny thing about football teams is that the pulsebeat can be so irregular.

Down one week, they can rise to great heights the next weekend and be flat on their faces the week after that.

It doesn't pay to read your own press clippings. Jerry Posey tried to tell his Seminole High team Evans wasn't going to be as easy as an out-of-town newspaper writer had indicated in his prediction column.

Evans' 22-14 win can't be blamed on the press. In fact it went just about the way the teams stacked up this week? Well that same writer predicted Seminole to lose tonight against Mainland.

It's the only varsity action of the night, but on Friday it will be Lake Brantley at Lyman, Lake Howell at Spruce Creek, Orlando at St. Cloud and Trinity Prep at Frostproof.

Seminole 27, Mainland 13—Don't think this one will be close. The long gainer spells the difference as Seminole's defense finds itself.

Lake Brantley 21, Lyman 20—That home field advantage just might be worth an extra touchdown but I see the Patriotic feeling prevailing if only by a scant margin.

Spruce Creek 14, Lake Howell 7—Better take your runs to town this time, Lake Howell. They will come in handy, because the Sprucers are waiting at the pass.

Orlando 20, St. Cloud 11—Don't know about a Black Friday Defense, but a Freaky Friday offense can do the job against the Bulldogs.

Trinity Prep 14, Frostproof 12—Another tight one with the Preppies looking better and better as the season goes on. Extra points mean everything.

WHERE DOES THE TIME Fly?

It was 25 years ago that Roger Bannister became the first to run a mile in less than four minutes. Ten seconds have since been shaved off the Englishman's 3:59.4 time; the current world record was set in 1975 by John Walker of New Zealand.

Clayborn Runs Out Of Chances

NEW YORK (UPI) — Quite often, the people who call in on talk shows don't really have much to say, they're only looking to throw in their two cents or give the host a hard time.

This caller was different. He was Steve Grogan, of the New England Patriots' quarterback who had thrown five touchdown passes against the New York Jets in a 34-7 crusher the day before, and he wasn't calling for himself, but on behalf of one of his teammates, cornerback Raymond Clayborn.

Grogan had been talking to one of New England's most popular radio talk shows, "Calling All Stars," broadcast as well as consistently by United Radio and Bob Labell.

Last Monday evening a segment of the show was given over to a "clayborn" hour featuring Grogan, who was to be the guest.

Grogan had heard most of the callers' side with Clayborn, and he was ready to tell the story of his own. "I know what it's like to be a player who's been called on to give a pep talk to his team."

Lyman JV, Frosh Win Seminole At Mainland

Seminole High School's football team hits the road to Daytona Beach tonight, opening district and conference play against Mainland.

It's the only varsity action of the night, but on Friday it will be Lake Brantley at Lyman, Lake Howell at Spruce Creek, Orlando at St. Cloud and Trinity Prep at Frostproof.

Seminole vs. Mainland varsity encounter.

Seminole starters will include quarterback Dennis Warren; backs Lawrence Rudolph, Reggie Branch and Arthur Jackson; ends Johnny Wright and Duane Edwards; tackles Scott Smith and Louis Miller; guards Dennis Germalin and Joe Rusi; and center Jeff Gibson. Reginald Campbell will see duty at running back.

Defensively, Seminole goes with end Morgan Smith and Andrew Hardin; tackles Robert Taylor and Harry Unsworth; noseman Julio Griffin; linebackers Steve Hersey, Branch and Bobby Wells; and backs Paul Williams, Joe Baker and Gene Sweet.

Tonight's junior varsity games include Edgewater at Lake Howell and Leesburg at Oviedo. All games begin at 7:30 p.m.

The biggie tonight is the Lyman JV, Frosh Win

Discipline, a sense of belonging, and friendship with their teammates and with contacts at other schools is Seminole High athletic director Jerry Posey's description of what he wants in his players.

"The running back is only as good as the offensive line," he added. "Even great backs need the help of the offensive line."

Working together is sometimes easier to come by on the playing field than in the classroom, he added. Athletics is "strictly elective. For the most part they want to participate and they abide by the rules."

In the classroom, however, they are "put in there and they've got to be there, and they get restless."

After graduating from Hialeah City High, Posey attended Florida Junior College and the University of Florida, earning a degree in physical education from the latter.

His first coaching job was at Clermont High before coming to SHS in 1969 as assistant coach. In 1972 he moved to the newly-opened Lake Brantley High as head coach and assistant football coach. The following year he was appointed athletic director.

Even if the financial rewards are not great, there is a personal satisfaction Posey gets out of his job. "There is the sense of accomplishment," he said. "To help someone accomplish something and do a good job. That's a feeling about you when you've done something worthwhile."

"Then there's the pride to see an athlete go on to college or to see someone go out and become a useful citizen, to make his way in the world."

Bosox Don't Need Yaz To Top Yankees

By United Press International

Carl Yastrzemski, the 40-year-old slugger of the Boston Red Sox finally reached his 3,000 career hit milestone Wednesday night when he grounded a single off Jim Beattie of the New York Yankees into right field in the eighth inning.

Since getting his 2,999th hit last Sunday he went to the plate 10 official times without a hit before getting the historic single.

"There's been a lot of pressure the last three days," Yastrzemski said. "I came out of my normal realm of hitting. I was anxious."

For a while it appeared Yastrzemski might be stymied yet another day. Jim "Califia" Hunter and Beattie held him hitless his first three times to the plate before he connected with Beattie in the eighth.

"I didn't want the guy to get a hit, but it happened and I happened to be there," said Beattie. "I guess I'll be the maver to a trivia question."

Yastrzemski is the 18th player in major league history to reach the 3,000-hit career milestone, but he is the first American League to achieve that total while at the same time having 400 or more runs.

White Sox 11, Angels 8: Jim Morrison led the White Sox to victory, driving in three runs with a single and a sacrifice fly.

Left-fielder Rick Sofield dropped a pop fly by George Brett to pave the way for two unearned runs in the sixth to lead the Royals.

Blue Jays 3, Orioles 2: Rick Cerone singled home two runs in the sixth and Rick Bostedt cranked a solo homer in the eighth to pace Toronto.

Tim Lincecum led the Seattle Mariners to a 4-1 victory over the Oakland Athletics.

Montreal 4, Chicago 3: Philadelphia 4, New York 0: American League - Leftfielder Mike Caldwell and pace Milwaukee.

Rangers 13, Mariners 2: Willie Montanez drove in five runs with the second grand slam of his career and a single to spark an 18-hit attack that carried Texas over Seattle.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Montreal Expos are still surprising a lot of people.

After the Pittsburgh Pirates blanked the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4, Wednesday night, Pirates relief pitcher Kent Hrbek said, "I really thought they would start having a little trouble in August or September. They've proved to me they are a good ballclub, but a club to be reckoned with."

Pittsburgh remained a half-game ahead of Montreal, but slightly behind in percentage, as the Expos blanked Oakland, 6-0.

Ed O'Loughlin in one run and scored another for Pittsburgh to lead the third combined effort of the day.

Concepcion and Tilden, Cardinals, 14-4, walked one and struck out two. Tilden retired the first two out in the ninth and ninth.

Clayborn's Last Chance?

University and can handle himself, never wrote one critical word about Clayborn, nor did he antagonize him in any way.

Clayborn doesn't know how close he came to causing McDonald permanent injury when he struck his finger in his eye.

"Another one-eight of an inch," the examining ophthalmologist told the newspaperman, "and he would've had your left eye."

There are two words Clayborn seems to be hung up on. Linked together, the words come close to being the ultimate obscenity.

Clayborn directed them as some other writers in the Patriots' dressing room last week and used them again after the Jets' game when he came back to his locker and announced: "Any sports writer near my locker today is gonna get buried."

McDonough was speaking with Grogan and wasn't anywhere near Clayborn's locker. Later, when McDonough was talking to Jackson, who dresses three lockers away from Clayborn, the Patriots' cornerback made the same announcement even though nobody was in front of his locker.

According to witnesses, Clayborn shoved a newspaperman and then struck a TV man with his elbow. McDonough was the third one to be pushed and he bumped into Jackson.

"We're just trying to talk to Harold," McDonough said to Clayborn. "We're not even near your locker." Clayborn then reached out with his hand toward McDonough.

"Listen, better get out of my way or I'll bury you," he said.

"Ray, you're not burying me," McDonough said. "That was when Clayborn stuck his finger in McDonough's eye. Seeing Clayborn's hand coming, the newspaperman hit him on the chin and Clayborn went tumbling into his locker, and when the players got up, McDonough hit him again before Grogan and others broke up the fight."

Yaz Battles Pain, Pressure, 3,000th

Yastrzemski battles pain and pressure to reach 3,000th hit.

BOSTON (UPI) — He had worked 19 years for the hit, taught by experience and patience. It would come when he arrived, sobered by the realization it would be harder to achieve than the 2,999 that preceded it.

The ball was not well hit, but hard enough to elude a groping Willie Randolph and slide into right field. Carl Yastrzemski rounded first base and undoubtedly let out a huge sigh of relief.

The struggle was over. Battling against pain and pressure, Yastrzemski Wednesday night recorded the 3,000th base hit of his major league career.

He is the 15th major league player to attain the historic goal, and the first American League player to hit 50 home runs to go along with it.

"There's been a lot of pressure the last three days," said Yastrzemski, who had failed in 10 previous official tries. "I understand that. I had a job to do. There wasn't a chance to relax. This was tough. I was almost embarrassed."

Only three others, Stan Musial, Hank Aaron and Willie Mays — all in the National League — have matched Yaz in the 3,000-plus club. Statistics, he said, are not for the active ballplayer. They belong to those who can relish their win in retirement.

"It's great," Yaz said of his 3,000-400 accomplishment. "But nothing can replace a pennant, in particular 1967, when we came from next to last to win. Even 1972, when we finished one-half game out, was a greater thing than individual goals. I just have one goal left — to win a World Series instead of lose it."

Yastrzemski's hit came long after the actual game was decided. Chuck Rainey, 6-5, went all the way for the victory.

Cavs Ink Lambert

RICHFIELD, Ohio (UPI) — The NBA Cleveland Cavaliers announced today the signing of veteran forward John Lambert, who became a free agent at the end of last season.

"It just wouldn't have been the same if I had hit it on the road. After 19 years, I wanted it here, for these people," he said.

Yaz's hit came off Jim Beattie, who had relieved Hunter in the fifth.

"I didn't want the guy to get a hit at all," Beattie said. "But it happened and I happened to be there. I guess I'll be the answer to a trivia question. I followed him as a kid when I grew up in Maine. He was always on the field. I'm glad for him, it's a big stepping stone for him."

Yastrzemski has been invited to the White House Friday along with Zimmer. Mayor Kevin White proclaimed today as "Carl Yastrzemski Day."

Kim Joy, G.A. Harrell Repeat Vows

Kim D'Lee Joy and Gary Alan Harrell were united in Holy Matrimony, Aug. 31, at 7 p.m., at the Lake Mary Church of the Nazarene. Rev. Berry L. Wagner performed the candlelight and double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Nancy Lee Popolo, 1319 Baldwin Drive, Orlando, and Thomas D. Joy, 1201 Vienna Drive, Albuquerque, N.M. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. Duane Harrell, 106 Garden Court, Sanford.

After a wedding trip, the newlyweds are making their home at Sanford. The bride is employed by a Bible belonging to her mother.

Karen Melinda Joy attended the bridegroom as maid of honor. She wore a beige and peach gown designed with a ruffled collar and long sleeves with ruffled cuffs. She carried a bouquet of rust colored roses, peach carnations and white daisies.

Gregory Duane Harrell served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Raymond W. Ramsdell and Steven Ramsdell.

Flower girls were Kara Lynn Ramsdell and LaDonne Harrell. Dale Kriehberg was the ring bearer.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Police Benevolent Building, Sanford.

After a wedding trip, the newlyweds are making their home at Sanford. The bride is employed by the Seminole County Sheriff's Department. The bridegroom is a student at Seminole Community College and is employed by Fuller Builder Supplies.

It's A New Season Under A New Roof For Clubbers

If the quaint building at 309 S. Oak Ave., Sanford, could talk, it would probably wrap up nearly 100 years of loving and living memories. Memories that it was once the First Presbyterian Church until 1916 and then the present Woman's Club of Sanford.

The woman's club, now in its 66th year, has played an integral part in the progress of Sanford. The lovely historical club house has been the birthplace of many civic projects, as well as a social hall when the clubwomen had fun while working in the interest of the community. Just like people, elegant old edifices get tired and worn out. People and buildings need repairing up from time to time.

And the woman's club is no different.

During the summer months, the club house got a new roof — and new roofs are expensive. Mrs. Laurine Messenger, house chairman, was chairman of selecting the roof assisted by Mrs. Lois Housholder and Mrs. Walter A. Gielow.

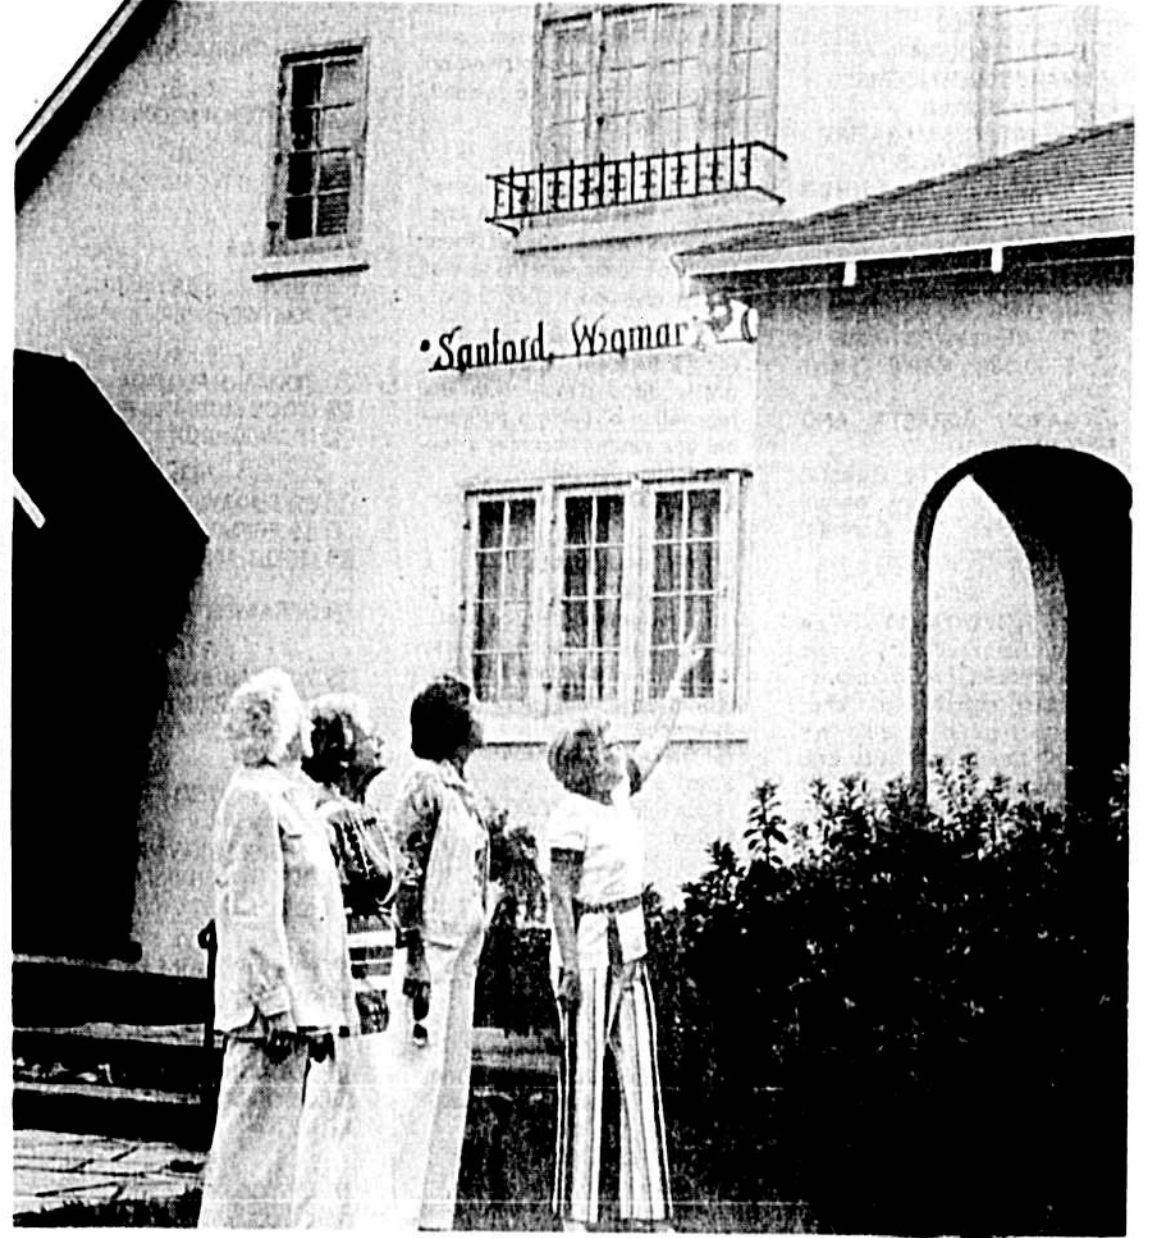

According to Mrs. Gielow, club president, several projects are being planned to help finance the roof. The annual luncheon, the first general business luncheon meeting of the 1979-80 season will be held on Oct. 3.

On Oct. 17, Mrs. Jerri Kirk and her committee are planning a gala fashion show at a "Hello Luncheon". Fashion will be from local stores. Models will show the latest fall styles.

Mrs. Gielow and Mrs. Messenger recently attended the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs District VII President's meeting at Apopka.

District VII will host the State Fall Board Meeting to be held at the Hilton Inn Gateway, Kissimmee, on Sept. 24-26.

Parents Hurt, Disgusted At Selfish 'Stranger' Son

DEAR ABBY: How can the eldest, 25, unmarried, self-supporting and self-sufficient son be more of a stranger than a son? He is the yearling ago, he completely disassociated himself from the family — never calling, writing or showing any interest or concern regarding family illnesses, deaths, or any of the occasions that usually elicit a caring response from family members. Holidays, graduations, birthdays, anniversaries, etc., are unacknowledged, yet his sister and brother have always been considerate and thoughtful to the family as well as to Allen.

Although he lives only half an hour from us, we are ignored except for Christmas and HIS birthday. Then he honors us with a visit, knowing he will not leave empty-handed — although he ARRIVES empty-handed. He always has plenty of money for his own pleasures — girls, bars and expensive gadgets. We are hurt and disgusted by his behavior and wonder if you or your readers can tell us how to make this thoughtless son aware of his selfish behavior. Or would you say he is a lost cause?

DEAR ABBY: You can't handle concern, consideration and generosity when someone else is a "lost cause." If it makes well-meaning friends or relatives unable to make Allen aware of his selfish behavior, perhaps the power of prayer (years) will produce a miracle. I hope so.

DEAR ABBY: When FORTY AND CURIOUS asked when you would call a person middle-aged, you replied, "When he (or she) climbs out of the bathtub and is happy to find that the full-length mirror is all steamed up."

I'm sure a lot of readers got a chuckle out of that, but let's be serious about it: My dictionary defines middle-age as the middle period of one's life. In other words, if a person lives to be 90, then he is middle-aged at 45. So the truth of the matter is, since no one knows how long he is going to live, no one knows when he is middle-aged.

DEAR 46: You don't say which dictionary you use, but my Webster's Seventh New Collegiate defines middle-age as the period of life from about 40 to 60. And that's what I call a nice middle-aged spread.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell NEEDS TO KNOW IN NEVADA to go ahead and have himself circumcised.

My husband was 30 before I finally persuaded him to have it done. He felt a little discomfort for about a week afterward, but no other problems. And now he is cosmetically, hygienically and sexually a much superior person than he used to be. We are not Jewish, so religion didn't enter into it.

ANNIE IN PASADENA

DEAR ANNIE: Since you compare the before and after experiences, you should know. And by the way, circumcision is not exclusively a Jewish religious rite. It's for Muslims as well.

Thyroid Tablets Won't Add Weight

DEAR DR. LAMB— My husband and I are no longer in our teens. We're in our 60s and we're too heavy. I have a thyroid condition and had my goiter removed about 28 years ago. I take two thyroid tablets a day.

Will these tablets cause me to be heavy? I'm not too tall. I'm 5 feet 5 and weigh 200 pounds and sometimes a little more. My husband is 5 feet 11 and weighs 198. He's not so heavy on part of his body but he has a large stomach. He drives a truck. This might be the cause of his being overweight. Would you please send me a diet and a program with thyroid tablets will not cause you to be overweight. Quite the contrary, if a person has an underactive thyroid gland, his metabolism may be slow which can cause him to gain weight even when he isn't consuming a large number of calories. That relationship is why some doctors have prescribed thyroid pills to help people lose weight. That's a mistake because most people who are overweight have perfectly normal thyroid function. In these instances, giving thyroid tablets doesn't help weight control at all.

You might want to check in with your doctor and be sure that you're getting enough thyroid medicine. If your thyroid gland has been totally removed, two grains of thyroid a day may not be enough for you. The only way you can tell whether you're getting enough thyroid is by your own clinical response to the amount of medicine you are taking. Your doctor will have to judge this for you.

Track driving doesn't have much to do with being overweight except that it can cause a person to be inactive because he has to sit for so long. Inactivity can be a major factor in getting obese. We often don't give exercise sufficient credit for what it can do when used on a regular basis to control fat. It's true you can walk several miles and not lose any body fat, but if you walk every day, it certainly will help you eliminate body fat.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10018. Since both of you appear to have a lot of fat to lose, I would caution you that this is a long-term project.

Don't try to lose more than a pound a week and certainly not more than two with your doctor and be sure that you're getting enough thyroid medicine. If your thyroid gland has been totally removed, two grains of thyroid a day may not be enough for you. The only way you can tell whether you're getting enough thyroid is by your own clinical response to the amount of medicine you are taking. Your doctor will have to judge this for you.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Friday, September 14, 1979

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Sept. 14, 1979
The success you are looking for this coming year lies in your ability to get along with others. Treat everyone you meet with friendliness and even strangers will offer a helping hand.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Pay special attention to what you promised to do for someone in your family today. Your lack of follow-through could have bitter consequences. Discover when you best get along romantically by sending for your Astro-Graph Letter which begins anew with your birthday. Mail for each to Astro-Graph, Box 488, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10018. Be sure to specify birth date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You could fall today because you tend to be a defaulter. Negative thinking distorts your logic and could destroy the very thing you are going for.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)
Take extra precautions today not to get involved in any commercial or business matters with one you know little about. Your losses won't be recovered.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)
There's a strong possibility today that you could depend upon the wrong person in an important matter and be severely disappointed when you're let down.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 19)
A friend's well-meaning advice is more compassionate than logical and could send you off in the wrong direction. You'll have trouble getting back on the track.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
You may think you are doing things right, but you are wrong. Get away from it, get away from it, get away from it into an awful mess.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
You may think you have the answers today, but you are way-off course. Seek out good counsel if you have important or legal dealings.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
No matter how difficult mistakes are to rectify, correct them immediately. Try to sweep them under the rug and you could create an insalubrious situation.

TAUROS (April 20-May 20)
It's not your nature to be deceitful, so don't begin today, even with a little white lie. It could snowball and cause unintended harm.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Disaffection could spill over into talking it out on your mate and/or family. Don't cause needless suffering.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
You may have great difficulty today controlling your emotions. Unless you are careful, you could pull the rug out from under your own feet.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Wastefulness on your part will not be easily avoided and could cause future shortages in your budget. Don't be extravagant.

Would You Choose 'None of Above' As Governor?

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)— One of the candidates in the Louisiana governors primary has legally changed his name to "None of the Above" and wants to be listed that way on the Oct. 27 ballot.

Luther Devine Knox changed his name Thursday and asked the secretary of state to make the ballot change. The secretary of state's office referred the request to the attorney general.

"I don't know whether that's misleading or not," said Attorney General William Guste Jr. "We'll look it up." A spokeswoman in the office of the secretary of state said she was under the impression the name under which a candidate qualified must be maintained on the election ballot.

"You can change your name all day long but that is not going to get your name changed on the ballot," said Gloria Crosson. "It doesn't matter, you can look in the election laws all day long. You can't find anything where a candidate can get his name changed after he has qualified. There is no provision in the law that I know of."

"I don't know what his intentions are. The attorney general will have to be our adviser and represent us."

Knox, considered one of three minor candidates in the nine-candidate field in Louisiana's open primary, said voters have never had a completely free election in America "because they have not had the opportunity to reject all of them."

He said his name change would enable voters who did not like any of the candidates to register their opposition. "I want the thing on the ballot. That's all I want," he said. "I'm interested in reform — anything to get the people interested again in the election process and get them out to vote. When people don't take an interest that's how you get a Hitler or a Caesar."

Knox said he was told by personnel in the secretary of state office it would cost $450,000 to change his name on the machine ballots. Absentee ballots were sent to the printers last week.

"I'm rather baffled. I thought the law provided that you could change your name in court, and that if I could get my name changed in court, I should be able to get it changed on the ballot," he said.

Knox said he would consult with his attorney to decide whether to fight for the ballot name change in court.

Hospital Pressing Bad Debt Collection

By GEOFFREY POUNDS
Herald Staff Writer

Seeking to collect more than $500,000 in unpaid bills, the Seminole Memorial Hospital has retained a Minnesota Collection agency's services.

Hospital administrator Charles Bentley said the Allied Medical Accounts Control, St. Paul, took on the SMH account as of July 31. It is not the first time the hospital has used a collection agency, he said, but the Minnesota firm was contracted to "intensely collect efforts."

"They have a reputation for success. I was personally impressed with the number of satisfied clients," Bentley said about the firm.

The agency will handle all past due accounts, regardless of size, he said. Hospital records indicate that there are 3,600 persons who owe the hospital money. The total amount of unpaid bills over the past year sought by the agency is $530,000, Bentley said.

The agency will receive 25 percent commission on each bill collected within 30 days but in less than one year will earn the agency 33 percent commission and bills collected after one year will earn 45 percent commission for the agency.

"I would emphasize that this is a very professional firm. The letters it sends out will not be threatening," Bentley said.

He said the agency will continue to pursue delinquent accounts until such time as they are determined uncollectible. However, he did not specify when an account would be judged uncollectible.

The agency will not take court action on those refusing to pay, Bentley said. Absentee hospital letters and will continue to pursue that avenue in some instances.

The first letters to those owing money to the hospital have already been sent. The letters ask that the bills be sent directly to the agency rather than the hospital.

But the use of the agency may not be without problems. One Sanford woman, upset that her name had been put on a collection agency's list, claiming she was told to pay a past due bill of $17.50. She said she never received the original bill.

Mrs. Charlotte Nelson, 2440 S. Bay Ave., said she had to contact Bentley personally in order to straighten out the matter. The letter she received bore an SMH letterhead, but was apparently sent from the Minnesota agency. Mrs. Nelson sent a copy of the letter to Mayor Lee P. Moore and the Evening Herald.

Spokesmen at the billing department of the hospital today said they have received "quite a few" calls from angry or confused citizens questioning letters they have received concerning past due accounts. All calls are being referred to the agency and callers are told to phone 1-800-328-0114.

One Sanford man who said he went to SMH to question the validity of the bill said there were nine other persons in front of him, each angrily waving a letter similar to his.

TWO HURT IN CRASH

Two persons were injured in an auto collision Thursday afternoon near the intersection of 20th Street and Mellonville Avenue. Hope Savage, 81, of DeBarry was reported in satisfactory condition at Seminole Memorial Hospital (SMH) today. She suffered multiple injuries. Police said Ms. Savage was heading east on 20th Street when she collided with a car driven by 17-year-old Gregory Vincent Smith, 118 Summerlin Ave., Sanford, pictured in car above. Police said Smith was heading south on Mellonville. He received minor injuries and was treated at and released from SMH.

Lake Mary Fixes Budget; Police Stay, Council $ Out

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Despite fears that the nine-member Lake Mary Police Department would have to be cut by four officers and the four-member communications unit eliminated, the Lake Mary City Council Thursday night adopted a balanced budget retaining all services they considered essential.

The first major cut in the budget of expenditures was the city council and mayor's $250 monthly salary totaling $6,000 a year and stipends totaling $900 paid to members of the city's advisory planning and zoning commission and board of adjustment.

The city council earlier warned the people of Lake Mary if they failed to approve a referendum Tuesday permitting an increase in property taxes from $5 per $1,000 assessed valuation to $4.50, not only would the police force be cut by four men and the emergency communications unit eliminated, but a proposed purchase of a new fire truck would be impossible. The referendum failed.

The council Thursday night cut out the proposed fire truck purchase, but retained the police force at full strength and the communications unit.

Councilman Cliff Nelson, echoing sentiments of the majority of the voters, said the police protection and the communications unit were essential.

Councilman Burt Forinich, public safety commissioner, said cutting the police force in half would be like advising for criminals to invade the city.

Councilman Pat Southward while stating her support and appreciation for the police department, said the voters knew what they were doing in Tuesday's election. She interpreted the failure of the referendum as a signal from the people that they wanted the police force cut.

And, she warned (failure of the council to make the cuts would be a signal from the people that they wanted the police force cut.)

"The City of Lake Mary proposes to increase your property taxes."

The law says the advertisement must appear even though the city is raising the tax rate from $5 per $1,000 assessed valuation to $4.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation in the city.

"The advertisement is in compliance with a law passed by the Florida Legislature three years ago requiring governmental bodies to advertise if the tax rate to be levied is higher than the rate levied in the previous year."

"The advertisement is in compliance with a law passed by the Florida Legislature three years ago requiring governmental bodies to advertise if the tax rate to be levied is higher than the rate levied in the previous year."

The new law permits the city to levy a tax rate sufficient to generate five percent more income than the previous year without voter approval.

After the rejection by the voters, the council opted to take the city's tax rate to the voters.

As soon though the city in the six years since it has incorporated has levied a property tax rate of $5 and in 1978 it raised the rate to $4.50. It will be raising the rate to $4.50 in 1979.

Criminally Drug-Induced?

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)— A criminal investigation has been ordered of Elvis Presley's doctor amid reports that the rock 'n' roll star died of a drug-induced death, authorities said today.

District Attorney Hugh Stanton said the investigation was prompted by a complaint brought against Dr. George Nichopoulos by state health officials, who claim the doctor prescribed more than 5,000 uppers, downers and painkillers for Presley during the seven months immediately preceding his death.

"We have been investigating the same allegations made by the Department of Health but the main part of the investigation was made by the Metro Narcotics Squad," Stanton told a news conference.

Stanton said investigators would look into charges that Nichopoulos "indiscriminately" prescribed thousands of drugs not only for Presley but 15 other persons, including piano-bumping singer Jerry Lee Lewis and the doctor's daughter, Crissy Nichopoulos.

"We just started this thing Tuesday so I'm not going to make any predictions," Stanton said of the possible outcome of the investigation.

Stanton said he expected the investigation to be "lengthy." If Nichopoulos is convicted on criminal charges, he could receive a prison term of 2-10 years and a fine up to $20,000.

Contacted at his home Thursday night, Francisco was asked whether the autopsy team concluded that Presley died of a drug-related death.

"The only thing I can say is that the responsibility for determining cause of death was the responsibility of the medical examiner, and whether they did or did not is not really material in the decision," Francisco said.

Asked if he disagreed with the statement that there was no indication of serious heart disease, Francisco said, "absolutely."
