COMPANION OF DILLINGER IS SHOT IN FIGHT

Negro Convict Claims Killer Was With Him During Battle; Wide Search Begins

PORT HURON, Mich., Mar. 15. — (AP) — A negro who said he was Herbert Youngblood, companion of John Dillinger, notorious outlaw, in the escape from the Crown Point, Ind., jail two weeks ago, was shot down in a battle with sheriff's officers this morning, and officers were combing the vicinity for Dillinger, who he said had been with him. The negro is believed near death.

It was nearly unconscious and he gasped out information that sent all available officers on a manhunt for the desperado who has been the object of a nationwide search since caving Indiana jailers with a wooden pistol. Two officers were seriously wounded in the exchange with the negro who said he and three other men had been with Dillinger in South Fort Huron just a short time before.

Roosevelt Makes It Clear That He Wants Wilcox Bill Prepared For Final Passage

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15. — (AP) — Concern for debt-burdened cities was evidenced anew at the White House and in Congress Wednesday. President Roosevelt, who favors a general scaling down of debts, made it clear he was leaving it to Congressional leaders to whip the Wilcox-Summers municipal bankruptcy bill into such form that there would be no more doubt of its passage.

The measure would permit lightening of municipal indebtedness by agreement of creditors. Chief objections have been to the provision that would allow 60 percent of a city's creditors to say how much it should pay.

THE FIELDS OF HEAVEN

The fields of heaven wait the twilight hour... As meadows of the earth await the spring...

It looks as if the auto industry and the labor unions are about to lock horns...

The fact that there were so many witnesses to that sea serpent which appeared off the coast of Scotland only convinces us that those folks ought to investigate the source of their liquor supply.

One is gratified to see the course of business curve upward again after several weeks of decline and stagnation...

We never had much use for practical jokes, but there ought to be a moral somewhere in that story of the New York man who was kidnaped and his family refused to become alarmed because he was such a practical joker...

President Roosevelt is said to be favorably inclined toward the creation of a separate department for aerial defense...

Communism or even socialism evidently does not appeal to Col. Charles Lindbergh. Even such government competition with business as the carrying of air mails by army fliers is repugnant to him...

The truth looks out that some of our Army fliers, who were suddenly called upon for the hazardous undertaking of flying the mail, had been receiving less than four hours a month of actual flying practice...

World's Fair in Orlando

Civic leaders in Orlando have just announced the most ambitious project which has come out of a Florida city since the ultra-ambitious days of the boom...

N. P. Yowell, well known civic booster and head of one of Central Florida's largest department stores, has been elected president of the organization...

The Fair will last a hundred days and it is expected that it will attract at least 20,000 visitors a day...

The tentative budget calls for an expenditure of $150,000 for flowers, shrubs, palms, citrus and sub-tropical fruit trees, exotic gardens, fish pools, vegetable tracts and similar exhibits...

In commenting upon the project, the Orlando Sentinel points out that the city spent $7,500 on national advertising this year and brought 3,200 tourists to town...

We feel sure that Orlando can count upon Sanford to co-operate in every way possible to make this World's Fair a notable success.

Do you know that Chief Two Guns White Calf is dead? Do you know who Chief Two Guns White Calf is, or was?

You probably don't. If you are like us you had never even heard of him. And yet his face is probably more familiar to you than that of any other American Indian.

According to an Associated Press account, Chief Two Guns White Calf was chosen to adorn the buffalo nickle because his features were considered the most representative type of American Indian...

Chief Two Guns White Calf lived most of his life on the reservation in Glacier National Park, where he was visited and honored by thousands of visitors...

"Oh, yes," said the chief, "but I don't want to be bothered by so many fool questions."

COUNTERSIGN

From the train-end the rails streak backward over the desert. Run molten under the dawn toward the planet rim...

Stark against the track humps a dark group, huddled; Heads lift from packs, there is a flash, a hand-wave, between us. My heart does not stint my hand, Nor do their hearts, I believe, stint their hands.

And I say: I have known you, dark-huddled brothers, in many lands; For never did land or tongue set barrier to us.

There is peace in this countersign between us. As is the struggle were really ended. And civilization forgiven forgotten.

I never felt alien faring amongst you alone. On foot on the road, in breakdown train or boat, Never learned the need to lock door or park against you; Was it strange to give what I had to you, to hold?

And life runs low over the sand, (You and I, caught in the same burning and turning) In this instant comrade-call Touch the peace at the core of the mystery.

Through the signal between us, The pack you have carried, My own Apper of less substance than a flame's leap at dawn Essential only That forever departing each from the other We are forever outdine.

Lehmann Praises Garden Of Azaleas Seen At Palatka

"The most beautiful and interesting sight in Florida is the Palatka Azalea Ravine Gardens," said Karl Lehmann, Secretary of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce on his recent return from Palatka and St. Augustine.

Sunday, Mar. 18 has been designated as Seminole County Day, Mr. Lehmann said, and all visitors from this county will be given free admission to this "Great natural wonder."

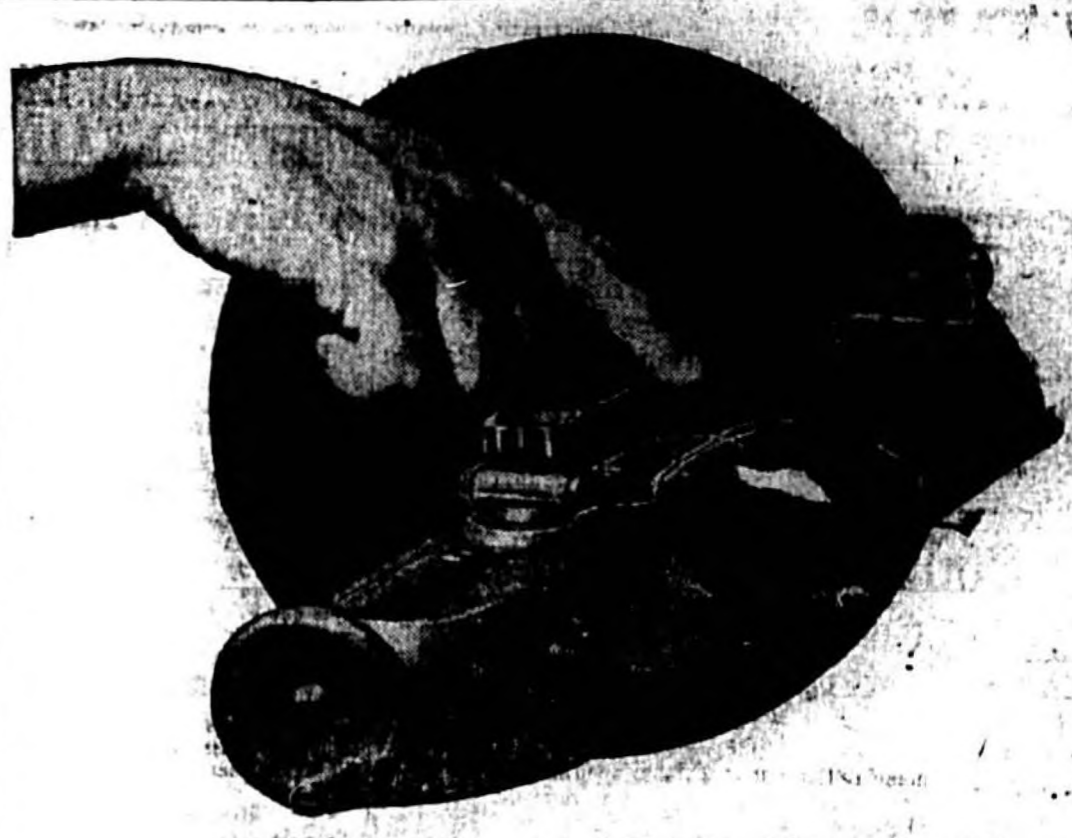

It is known as the largest outstanding C. W. A. project. $250,000 has been expended to date in beautifying this natural ravine covering 85 acres, having a minimum depth of 70 feet, and a maximum depth of 120 feet. There are five miles of scenic driveways and seven and a half miles of undulating pathways. This ravine garden has the largest single collection of azaleas in the world, 95,000 plants. In addition to these there are 11,000 palms and more than 200,000 tropical plants.

About 30,000 acres of tung trees, from which valuable oil is extracted, are thriving in the southern part of the United States. Twenty-three camps of the Civilian Conservation Corps are located in Louisiana.

BOGUS COUNT IS ENROUTE HOME AFTER EXPOSURE

Ohio Had Bet He Could Make Himself Talk Of The Town

LAWRENCE, Kan., Mar. 18.—(AP)—"Count" Paul Gregory Herishel von Leibnitz is going home to Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. A traffic officer spilled his beans.

The "Count," a personable lad of 21, arrived a week ago. He got a job on the city woodpile and in his leisure time began to circulate around in broken English, he explained that Hitler's men killed his father and mother two years ago.

He spoke casually of studying at Heidelberg. The fraternity boys of the University of Kansas took him to their bosoms. There were dinners, co-eds taught him to dance American style; he went to the junior prom in a borrowed tux; a clothier presented him a topcoat.

But skeptics arose, as skeptics will. A fraternity president, remembering that Hitler didn't come into full power until January, 1933, grew suspicious. He arranged to have the count meet Heins Ruell, a German exchange scholar.

The "count" opened the conversation with an observation on America's peculiar traffic rules. Funny, he said, that they should drive on the right side in Germany they drive on the left.

"Idiot," Ruell shouted. "In Germany we drive on the right, top."

The "count" broke down and acknowledged he is Henry George Leiby of Cuyahoga Falls. He said he had made a bet before leaving home that he could make himself the talk of the town within a week.

He figures that he won.

GROWERS SEEK TO COLLECT ON FLY DAMAGES

represent the Department of Agriculture, two citizens of the State of Florida to be appointed upon the recommendations of the Secretary of Agriculture for the State of Florida, and one member at large.

This committee, when appointed will investigate and adjust the claims of the growers who suffered loss and damage during the eradication campaign.

The present hearing will be an effort to have the Bill approved by the sub-committee. It will then have to be approved by the committee, and passed along to Congress. The real fight will be its successful passage through not only the House, but also the Senate. A similar Bill is now pending, introduced by Senator Park Trammell.

The fruit and vegetable growers of Seminole County, especially those in close proximity to Sanford, have substantial interest in having those claims passed upon, adjusted, and paid.

The vegetable growers of Florida, especially those around Sanford, had their plants ruthlessly torn up by the roots, and the crops destroyed without their consent.

"They were also placed in Zone though strictly speaking, the term 'zone' was not occupied by citrus trees. However, rules and regulations were passed prohibiting the movement of their crops, or if moved, it was into a restricted territory where the quantity more than supplied the demand, with the resulting prices that failed to cover cost of production.

"As the campaign against the fly progressed, it developed that not a single infestation was found in any vegetable field, and none of the vegetable crops was found infested with evidence of the Mediterranean fruit fly.

"In other words, the vegetable growers of Sanford and vicinity were called upon to suffer loss by (1) the loss of certain of their crops in toto for the balance of the season of 1929, (2) curtailment of markets for some crops during 1929 and the spring of 1930, with resulting low prices and red ink returns.

"The campaign against the vegetable crops of Florida was one of suspicion, as no field work ever found.

"Up to the present time, the Florida representatives in the House and Senate have failed utterly in their efforts to have measures of relief passed through Congress, to give proper consideration to these loss and damage claims, and see that same were adjusted and paid to the growers.

"There never was a time in the history of the fruit and vegetable growers were not more urgent and industries when the needs of law when the money if paid would afford more relief.

"These measures do not ask for payment of the claims as filed, but only after the same have been thoroughly investigated and then adjusted on what is considered a fair and right basis.

"Every grower that has claims on file should immediately write to their representatives in the Senate and House to get right behind these relief bills and to leave no stone unturned until they become law. This can only be done by keeping continuously after Washington."

Miami Plans To Collect Personal Property Tax

MIAMI, Mar. 16.—(AP)—The Miami city commission yesterday adopted an ordinance making payment of city personal taxes a mandatory prerequisite to issuance of occupational licenses, and endorsed a policy of the municipality acquiring title to "abandoned" real estate.

Commissioner C. H. Reeder, in the discussion preceding the body's endorsement of the real estate policy, said "If the city acquires vacant properties which are worth the taxes against them, and holds these properties for four or five years; I believe we could sell them for enough to retire more than half our bonded debt."

GREATEST NAVAL BUILDING RACE IN HISTORY LOOMS

U. S., England, Japan All Aiming At Big Navy Array By 1936

LONDON, Mar. 16.—The U. S., Great Britain and Japan seemed preparing yesterday for a running start on the greatest naval race in history in the event that the world political situation remained static.

Naval programs of the three great naval powers all are aimed at approximately the same strength by the end of 1936, when the present naval treaties expire.

Naval appropriations of all nations were increasing and navy officials in Washington, London and Tokyo were emphasizing the necessity of bringing their fleets to full treaty strength.

By the U. S. was well in the lead on building programs. However, differences in cost of construction in the three countries, and the various aims of ships still in water and not susceptible of replacement under the treaties made comparisons confusing. Also many U. S. ships were under construction.

Naval appropriations bills pending were as follows for the fiscal year 1934-35:

- U. S. (year beginning July 1) — $234,000,000.
- Great Britain (year beginning Apr. 1) — $222,400,000.
- Japan (year beginning Apr. 1) — $148,861,000.

In addition, the U. S. was est-based on a tremendous program under the Vinson naval bill and the allotments made for naval construction from PWA funds.

Total construction under a five-year program under the Vinson bill was estimated at between $750,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 and $144,500,000 has been allotted under the PWA program. The total authorized and imminent construction allotment for the U. S. under the regular appropriation and PWA money already allotted was $428,500,000, more than double Japan's pending appropriation and nearly 50 percent greater than Britain's.

The U. S.'s large building program caused immediate reaction in London and Tokyo.

Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, British first lord of the admiralty, announced in the House of Commons Monday that Britain's navy would be brought to full treaty strength by the end of 1936.

Admiral Mineo Onuma, Japanese navy minister, announced that in view of the Vinson bill Japan would have to increase its naval appropriations.

There they made a discovery. They had neglected to remove the mixer.

It was completely bottled up. School children admired it yesterday as they returned to classes.

CWA Workers Err On School House Job

LENA, Wis., Mar. 16.—(AP)—CWA workers jacked up a school house, excavated for a foundation. They moved a concrete mixer into the excavation, mixed cement, laid the foundation, removed the jacks, dropped the house on its new base.

Kidnap Plot Shadow Falls Over Heiress

GREENWICH, Conn., Mar. 16.—(AP)—The shadow of a kidnap plot last night over the palatial home where Fredericka Fry del Guercio, $8,000,000 heiress to the Timken roller bearing fortune, lives with her two-year-old son, Elgie.

A special police guard was placed about the house as Chief of Police Flanagan said a note had been received, warning of a plot to kidnap either Mrs. del Guercio or her son or $100,000 ransom.

Frozen Boots!

LITTLE AMERICA, ANTARCTICA, Feb. 12 (via Mackay Radio)—Believe it or not, we are still hauling supplies from the coast. There are no sleds on the ice into Little America and, according to my boss, Commander Noville, we shall be at it for a total of three weeks or more. I am actually living in a little tent out by Pressure Camp and I'm looking forward to getting into one of those warm snow-burned wooden huts in Little America that isn't in danger of being blown away by the wind.

Speaking of wind, we've got plenty of it and they tell me this is only a beginner. We are reaching the end of our summer season now here and the boys tell me it is like a cold wind. I would like to see that thermometer says it is ten degrees below zero and a biting wind sends the cold right through our veins.

There are 51 of us working on the ice and already we are watching each other's faces for signs of frost bite. If we see a small white spot appear on another fellow's nose we run up to him and help him to rub it with snow to restore the circulation. Frostbite is no fun under our circumstances and Dr. Whirey has been busy fighting it with us. But now he is gone. He has forced him to quit the Expedition and he is on his way back to New Zealand on the Jacob Ruppert. We'll miss him. We understand the research ship, Discovery II, is bringing us another doctor who will be transferred to the Bear at Oakland and brought here to spend the next year or so with us on the ice. Then the Bear will have to run out of here in New Zealand before the Ross Sea freezes again, so we'll be left alone for twelve months. I wonder—a lot of things!

In addition to my job of segregating the many types of fuel and oil for the various airplanes, igloo tents and snowmobiles, as they require it, I am now helping in the distribution of parts for all the machines. Gosh, I didn't know there was so much work in the world! The only water we have is heated now, so even the sketchy washing

We are working day and night at top speed to get our supplies to Little America before the day ice and barrier ice freezes off. There is a considerable crisis of this kind now at Pressure Hidge but with luck we'll beat it.

I'm delighted at the radio news that these disconnected, hurried little yards of mine are proving interesting and are running in hundreds of newspapers and that my club is growing so fast they tell me that high school teachers in his part, science and geography are pulling their entire classes and studying the stories with the working maps every week. That's swell! The more the merrier. We welcome as members, without any cost what ever, all people interested in aviation, adventure and exploration who send in a self-addressed stamped envelope to C. A. Ables, Jr., president, Little America, Aviation and Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 217th Street and 126th Street, New York, N. Y. and the club staff will send them all a membership card and a big map of the North Polar region.

Savings Decline Only 6 Billions In Depression

(Continued From Page One) lication says, "this reduction does not seem excessive in view of the difficult times through which the United States has been passing. Perhaps more important are the ways in which these savings have enabled the American people to stand the economic strain of the last few years, and the strong position which the savings institutions have maintained."

"The Index" further says it is clear "that the high taxation which must be imposed on the American people as a consequence of the unprecedented national debt, combined with the effects agency of tried institutions, is not to be compared to the greed of the improvident, or unfortunate who would reduce all to a common point.

It has been a tradition of this country that those who through their own efforts have retained larger portions of worldly goods than their neighbors have been an example and inspiration to others, while the use of their wealth has given employment and contributed to a higher general standard of living as well as to their own gain."

8 Coast Guard Bases Abolished By Order

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—(AP)—Government economy yesterday caused the abolishment of eight of 11 Coast Guard bases and the scattering of their patrol boats to numerous ports in the Atlantic, Gulf, Pacific and Great Lakes coasts.

Coast Guard headquarters announced orders decommissioning the bases at New York (States Island), Woods Hole and Gloucester, Mass.; Cape May, N. J.; Norfolk, Va.; Charleston, S. C.; Biloxi, Miss.; and San Pedro, Calif.

The action leaves the six police units with three bases, those at New London, Conn., on the Atlantic; Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for South Atlantic and Gulf operations; and Port Townsend, Wash., for Pacific forces.

You can still get reasonable prices here. Here your car ready for parts.

OUNDS OUT 30 YEAR TERM AS SNAKE TRAINER

California Man Seems Immune To Fangs Of Deadliest Reptiles

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 16.—(AP)—Bitten more than 100 times by poisonous snakes, F. M. Weidmann of San Francisco rounded off recently 30 years as a trainer of the reptiles.

Apparently immune to the peril of their deadly fangs, he gets a headache as the poison goes through his system, then he takes a big drink of water and shortly is normal again.

Weidmann's odd career began in 1904 when he was bitten by the first snake he ever handled.

"I immediately became interested in snakes, and determined to see if they could be trained," he said. "I found that you can not train a snake. Although they are intelligent, they do not understand why they are being disciplined and therefore I always treated them with kindness."

As Weidmann was talking, he handled a long rattlesnake with several buttons. Suddenly angered, the rattler raised its head to strike as its buttons rattled with an ominous warning. Calmly, like a parent quieting a child, Weidmann picked up the angry snake, raised it, and the reptile immediately became quiet.

"I have to do that when one of them becomes mad," Weidmann explained. "If I don't, the snake seems to realize that he can dominate me."

And how does the snake trainer's wife regard his strange pets? "Well, when we were married 19 years ago, Mrs. Weidmann didn't care for the snakes," Weidmann said. "But gradually she got used to them, except for the rattlers, which she still doesn't care for particularly."

The index, he added, is the highest since April, 1931, when it had declined to 74.8 percent.

Duval Voters Against New Toll Bridge Idea

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 16.—Duval county freeholders turned down a proposal to extend the franchise of the Florida Ferry Company to permit the construction of a second toll bridge across the St. Johns River at Main Street by the narrow margin of 294 votes in yesterday's special election.

The vote was 4460 against the proposal and 4246 for the construction of the bridge. The short but heated battle brought out one of the largest votes ever cast on a bond proposal in Duval county, although the credit of the county was said not to have been involved.

You ought to know the Browns

MAYBE you don't know the Browns. They're a little family of four. There's Jim Brown, who sells life insurance, and Betty Brown, who was a Jones before she married Jim. And there are the two Brown children: Jim, Jr., and Griselda.

Like a thousand other families, the Browns are just starting to lift themselves out of the count-every-penny circumstances which the past few years imposed on them. But they have one advantage.

Betty Brown studied economics during that time. She didn't enroll at the University. She didn't take a special home-course by mail. She learned a great deal about buying from her daily newspaper.

She followed the advertisements. She compared price and quality, and struck a practical balance between the two. Today she knows how to buy so that Jim's bank account can begin to grow again. And she hasn't got pinch-nosed by doing it. In fact, one of the Brown's greatest delights is planning the weekly shopping tour. They virtually make a game of it, and always a profitable game.

You ought to know the Browns. They haven't the money they once had. But it won't be long before they do. And in the meantime, they're living well!

LITERATURE DEPARTMENT REVIEWS RESULTS OF ROOSEVELT'S NEW DEAL

A special program, "Looking Backward, a Survey of the New Deal," was given with Mrs. H. J. Lehman as chairman at the regular meeting and annual election of officers of the Literature Department of the Women's Club held Wednesday afternoon before an appreciative audience at the club house on Oak Avenue. The Music Department assisted on the program by rendering musical numbers appropriate for St. Patrick's Day.

The following officers were elected: Dr. Elizabeth Tracy, chairman; Mrs. E. D. Brownlee, vice-chairman; Mrs. J. B. Root, secretary; Mrs. S. O. Shindler, program chairman; Mrs. Julius Dinckler, membership chairman; and Mrs. C. M. Harrison, finance chairman.

Hostesses for the afternoon were: Mrs. W. L. Cooper, Mrs. E. D. Bullock, and Mrs. G. E. McKay. At the conclusion of the entire program refreshments were served.

At the beginning of the meeting Mrs. Lehman read a message from Senator Duncan U. Fletcher written to the club in which he stated that the people of the country are fortunate in having a President so quick and active and far-seeing mentally and so cheerful and confident temperamentally, that we can now realize that we are making progress and there is a gradual turn toward better things.

Musical numbers presented were as follows:

Piano Solo, "At the Bonny Brook Fair," Mrs. Frances A. Hickson. Vocal Solos, "Acushla, I'm Calling Thee," and "Ireland Must Be Heaven," Mrs. Eustis Peaks. Mrs. B. C. Moore.

Piano duet, "The Top of the Morning," Scott, Mrs. Hickson and Mrs. Lehman then delivered the following address:

"Something tells me that when I was asked to sponsor this program, it was presumed that I would ask my husband to do the speaking. To tell the exact truth I did ask him but he said between city affairs and celery fields that there was no time left for him to discuss the New Deal—much as he would enjoy doing so.

"Every Presidential campaign has had its slogan—there has been 'The New Freedom,' 'He Kept us out of War,' 'The Full Dinner Pail,' and then 'The New Deal.' The New Deal is sounded good and appealed to the millions waiting like Micawber for something to turn up. Early on the morning of last Mar. 4 as I looked from my hotel window—into a bleak, dreary, desolate Washington atmosphere—I saw two women sitting on campstools on the broad walk in front of the U. S. Treasury Building. I was so astonished I asked 'What were you two ladies doing there?' Some one answered 'Waiting for the New Deal.' Later in the morning—about 10 o'clock—we were driving about Washington and came to a roped off street. A church was in the block and a small group was gathered there—looking close we saw a tall, silk hatted, broad-shouldered man leaning on the arm of a stalwart young fellow. Our friends exclaimed 'Roosevelt' and the thought sprang to my mind—'Going to pray for the New Deal.'

"At two o'clock in the afternoon I again looked from my hotel window—the same two women were still sitting on their camp stools—but they were not alone—others had joined them until the walk was a solid mass of humanity. Every available spot on that great building was filled with people—the balconies, the window sills, even the roofs—and so it was as far as the eye could reach—a cold, shivering crowd. The dark fur coats, the cloudy day, the cold wind—all tended to make a wintry scene—not having been in such cold for fourteen years I just couldn't realize how people could sit for hours patiently waiting.

"In a few minutes amid the blare of trumpets, screaming sirens, the clatter of artillery in the march of soldiers, came a great open car—in it the 'Man of the Hour,'—hat off, bowing, smiling, waving right and left. By his side the new First Lady—gracious, alert and smiling over her great bouquet of violets. Shouts of 'Roosevelt, The New Deal,' rent the air. As if by magic that great crowd became a swaying mass—blocks and miles long. Everyone was warm, alive, happy—even we who looked on from a second floor window could sense the change. We forgot the cold and leaned far out and cheered and waved and watched until that wonderful couples were out of sight.

"Who cared whether the banks were closed, who was afraid of the big bad wolf? Thus the New Deal was on its way. We were entering on a new era in the U. S. A new social order was in the making—natural resources were in for a New Deal. The old order brought nothing but ruin and human misery. The new order must bring reconstruction instead of destruction. The national, social and economic structures must be rebuilt and conservation must get a New Deal.

"Among other things the new President did on the day of his inauguration was to lay down general specifications for the New Deal. He declared 'Our disaster comes from no failure of substance, plenty is at our doorstep but a generous use of it languishes in the very sight of the supply. Primarily this because of practices of unscrupulous money changers. False leadership which knows only the rules of a generation of self seekers. They have no vision and where there is no vision the people perish.' These were brave words and they led to action. Almost overnight the country rallied back of the new Chief Executive. This outpouring of public approval for such leadership made it inevitable that whatever Mr. Roosevelt asked Congress for he was almost certain to get. In the end he asked for the creation of a Civilian Conservation Corps—and Congress granted it. He asked approval for a new farm bill—and got it. He asked for the legalizing of beer—'Beer by Easter'—and beer, forthwith, was legalized. He asked for dictatorial powers over the nation's banking system. The powers were granted. He sent to the capitol a bill cutting $500,000,000 from federal expenditures. It passed the House in one day and three days later passed the Senate.

"During the early months of the Administration, the British Prime Minister, the Premier of France, the German Ambassador, former Foreign Minister of Japan, Premier of Canada and a whole succession of lesser lights had engagements at the White House. The London Economic Conference was in the making. Soon the Gold Standard was abandoned. Then Congress passed a bill making the President dictator over the monetary policies of the nation. 'Planned economy' was the slogan and increasingly the voice of the profane was heard in the land. In the mild days of May Big Business accepted the President's program and why not? Big Business was ready to accept almost anything to save its economic skin. A Senate committee with help of Ferdinand Pecora was uncovering evidence on the workings of high finance—evidence which had a decidedly unsavory odor.

"In June just before Congress adjourned the National Industrial Recovery Act was passed and a nation began to know its government by initials. Again almost overnight the codification of American industry got under way. I will read from the Literary Digest the list of Government Recovery agencies of 1933 and 1934:

AAA—Agricultural Adjustment Administration
CCC—Civilian Conservation Corps
CCC—Commodity Credits Corporation
CSB—Central Statistical Bureau
CWA—Civil Works Administration
ECNR—Executive Council for National Recovery
ETPC—Executive Commercial Policy Committee
FACA—Federal Alcohol Control Administration

NIRA—National Industrial Recovery Act
NLB—National Labor Board
NRA—National Recovery Administration
PAB—Petroleum Administrative Board
PRA—Presidential Re-employment Agreements
PWA—Public Works Administration
SAB—Science Advisory Board
TVA—Tennessee Valley Authority

"In other words, planned economy had received the blessing of the national legislature.

"By the end of July the London Economic Conference had had its dramatic day—adjourned and the representatives of 66 countries had gone home with their tall hats, cutaway coats and well filled brief cases. The dream of International Economic co-operation had ended in disaster.

"However, affairs near home seemed to indicate encouraging trends—the U. S. faced a situation in Cuba such as in the past had sometimes been solved by the landing of armed forces. What appeared to be a new policy in our Latin American relations was established when our marines remained aboard ship.

"What seemed more important was a mid-summer business activity and the clouds seemed to have their first substantial silver linings. September brought a reversal of this trend but it brought no slackening of the drive of the Administration. The Civil Works Administration got under way with plans for employing 4,000,000 men on public works projects. The gold buying policy of the government was launched.

"Newspapers started a concerted attack against the entire Roosevelt program. The attack raged bitterly a few weeks and by mid-December began to subside. In the meantime the Century of Progress Exposition had held a successful 5 1/2 months run. Soviet Russia had been extended recognition and the country had survived the shock. Prohibition had been repealed and the nation had not been debauched.

"The Pan-American Conference had met in Montevideo in what was probably the most amicable spirit yet evidenced and received among other things news of the truce between Bolivia and Paraguay.

"Throughout December, the members of Congress had begun to assemble, and Republicans as well as Democrats conceded that the Roosevelt policies of the last six months had not dissipated his hold upon a majority of the members of Congress in both the Senate and the House. Cancelling the annual New Year's reception to the public the President spared himself an ordeal and gained valuable time in which to audit the books of the nation at the year's end.

"Among letters written to people throughout the nation, Mr. Roosevelt confidentially wrote to Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs: 'We enter upon the new year with a realization that we have crossed the threshold of a new era. We have the opportunity of improving conditions and making our country a better home, materially and spiritually for more than 120,000,000 people.'

"In giving this very inadequate review of the past year it seems only fair that we mention the men who surrounded the President. Formerly it really meant something to be a cabinet member but under the New Deal, cabinet members may find themselves overshadowed by the Recovery Administration. Of these, General Hugh S. Johnson, father of the Blue Eagle, is by far the most dynamic of all. He is beholden to no one but the President. He is a graduate of West Point, originator of the Selective Draft Act, writer of boys' stories, student of the Bible, and has dash and courage to lead men anywhere. He is called a pug-nacious and profane human dynamo and yet it is said that few other men could have launched the National Industrial Recovery Act as did Hugh S. Johnson.

"Next comes Donald R. Richberg, general counsel for the N. R. A. a rare figure in the legal profession and one who stands high in the President's confidence. Just as powerful is John H. Eastman, Federal R. R. co-ordinator. He works eighteen hours a day and is a prominent bachelor. Jesse Jones, Texas banker, hotel owner and newspaperman, has filled the place left vacant by Mr. Woodin and one of the 'most important roles' in Roosevelt's final campaign. Studied at close hand the personalities of the New Deal are variegated and bewildering. Seated around the same table are the idealistic Wallace, the liberal Ickes, socially minded Perkins, the intriguing Fayley, conservative Roper, easy going Cummings, and so on down the list. In speaking of cabinet members, it is well to remember that Miss Perkins, secretary of labor, is the first woman to fill a cabinet chair. She is said to have calm, nerve and ability to appear before a Senate committee or a group of labor leaders and win their confidence. However, she is not considered a good executive, using her intuition rather than her reasoning powers to arrive at a decision. She is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke. Collects patch work quilts and in private life is Mrs. Paul Wilson and the mother of a 12-year-old daughter.

"I believe it is not out of place here to say a word about our new First Lady who is setting pace for the official society of Washington. Mrs. Roosevelt, who is playing an important part in the New Deal has made it known that no entertainment in the White House during this critical economic period would be of an elaborate character. She has arranged for simple receptions so that the President will not be in the receiving line longer than an hour and a half at a time. The First Lady is bringing less of gold braid, pomp and ceremony, less formality but more informal gaiety than has been seen in the White House in a quarter of a century. Simple decorations and simple food mark even the most formal of state functions. Mrs. Roosevelt has inaugurated several afternoon reception parties and has hitherto unknown. One is a group of public officials, who, she says, have never received the recognition due them. They are the women executives of the government departments and include many colorful characters—the new secretary of labor, of course; the trait woman director of the mint Nellie Taylor Ross, ex-governor of Wyoming; an assistant United States Treasurer; special assistants to the attorney general; five members of the board of the bureau; chief of the children's bureau; lawyers, librarians, scientists and heads of various clerical divisions.

"Some seventy-five of them are invited each week to meet Mrs. Roosevelt and the wives of the cabinet members who receive with her, and their pleasure in the occasions is no obvious that it must more than repay the busy White House hostess for the effort she is making in their behalf. To most of them these teas, with the wholly delightful atmosphere of cordiality, afford the first opportunity in a lifetime of service and residence in Washington to become acquainted with the wife of the President or, indeed, with the other executives of their sex with whom they have been working for years in the offices of Uncle Sam. Mrs. Roosevelt has somewhat polished by accompanying some of them hospitably to the White House door quite as though in her own home.

"The Roosevelt Administration is filled with contrasts, but the contrasts with the predecessors of the past twelve years is heartening.

"There is not so much reverence for the past, not so much cumbersome responsibility. With the exception of Vice-President Jack Garney there is not a millionaire in the cabinet.

"During the first 10 months of the New Deal there were many upheavals in the official family, an undoubtedly another year will see as many changes. If Franklin Roosevelt had been more supple, less agile as an executive he would have had bedlam on his hands before this, but his simple quick wit and winning friendliness together with two factors cannot be overlooked. First he is a Dutch gentleman reared in the manner and environment of limited aristocracy. Second, one of the most terrible diseases ever known has subjected his character to a crucible of suffering through which few are called to pass. To the first he owes social poise, which knows no superiority. To the second a subconscious objective that views men and events with an unhurried, tolerant detachment. On matters of Recovery no one has the President's ear, not even Louis Howe. Roosevelt takes opinions from every one and makes his own decisions. He listens most to such Liberals as Wallace, Ickes and Tagwell but they are put to it to keep up with the President in his restless search for Recovery.

HUNTING GOLD TREASURE NOW MORE LUCRATIVE

Metal In Sunken Ships Doubled In Value As Ounce Sells For $35

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 16. — "With gold selling at $35 an ounce in this country, reputed billions of dollars of sunken treasure lying on the floor of the world's sea are almost doubled in value, and form an even more attractive goal for intrepid men," Samuel G. Hibben, of Bloomfield, N. J., told members of the Illuminating Engineering Society, meeting here last week.

"Records of gold production of the world date only from 1492, and in 1932 when a study was made of the gold situation throughout the world it was found that the estimated gold production up to that year was $22,000,000,000.

"At that time the total monetary gold amounted to only $11,670,000,000. The remainder, with the exception of about $2,000,000,000 in other uses, had been lost."

Mr. Hibben, director of lighting of the Westinghouse Lamp Company, described treasure hunts in connection with a demonstration of powerful undersea lamps.

The doubt with which skeptics have viewed diving expeditions of gold seekers has placed them in the category of "wild-goose chases," Mr. Hibben said. But, he added, such adventures are more than 250 years old.

"As far back as the year 1687, when fifteen Spanish galleons were sunk off the coast of Cuba, deep-sea diving proved intriguing," he said, "for Sir William Phillips salvaged one of these vessels and was rewarded with millions in treasure for his efforts."

"In very recent times an expedition salvaged several millions in gold from the steamship Egypt off the coast of Africa, and has continued its efforts on another sunken vessel in the English Channel, as though to prove the 'wild-goose' one that lays a golden egg.

"Still more recently we read that the British ship of war Doltak, which went down in 1708 with 10,000,000 in specie, has been located off Cape Henlopen in Delaware Bay and found possibly accessible."

Where until a few years ago deep-sea divers had to depend entirely upon the sense of touch when searching for sunken treasure, they may today, through the aid of powerful lamps, observe operations on the ocean floor, said Eugene W. Beggs, a lamp specialist.

"The special diving lamp of 5000 watts which Sir Hubert Wilkins used as headlights for the North Pole submarine, The Nautilus, was designed to withstand a pressure of 200 pounds per square inch," he said. "The use of diving lamps extensively began only in 1925."

VOTE CHANGE RESCUES BILL FROM DEFEAT

Administration Bill Maintaining Economic In Saved By New Yorker's Vote

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17.—(AP)—The scant margin of one vote yesterday saved Administration forces from defeat in the House on the veterans' payments in the dispute over independent offices supply bill.

The measure was sent to conference for adjustment of differences between the Senate and House in appropriation of federal pay and veteran legislation by a vote of 190 to 189 as the climax of a grueling day in the chamber.

It was only through a recapitulation of the bill, that defeat was averted to victory. In the interim Representative Kennedy of New York changed his vote.

In a dramatic and tense scene that held the usually noisy membership silent, Kennedy arose shortly before the speaker proposed to announce the vote, and settled the issue.

"Mr. Speaker, I desire to change my vote from 'aye' to 'no,'" he said.

Cheers went up among the badly scored Administration members. Cheers and boos were shouted at the smiling New Yorker by the opposites.

The vote was on a motion by Representative Conroy (D-Mass.) to have the House reverse its stand taken Wednesday on the $300,000,000 labor, comprising a veterans' benefits and adopt the Senate amendments calling for a $110,000,000 restoration in benefits.

Earlier, the House had voted down, 228 to 181, a motion by Conroy to recede from the Vinson amendment restoring 10 percent of the 18 percent federal pay cut.

Members literally held their breath as the roll call proceeded and when Speaker Rainey was handed the first vote he saw the Administration had been defeated by 190 to 189. But he withheld the vote and ordered the recapitulation, the first in many years.

Another Gangster Sentenced To Chair

LIMA, Ohio, Mar. 17.—(AP)—Charles Makley, the second member of the notorious John Dillinger gang to face the charge of murdering Sheriff Jess Barber, today was convicted without recommendation for mercy by a jury of 11 men and one woman. The verdict makes mandatory the death sentence in the electric chair. A similar verdict was given a week ago to Harry Pierpont, named as the trigger man in the slaying which was committed last Oct. 12 when members of the gang freed Dillinger from the Allen county jail here.

FEDERAL PRISON BODY CONTINUES HOUSE CLEANING

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17.—Orders issued here Tuesday by Sanford Bates, United States prison commissioner, removing federal prisoners from the Hillsborough county jail at Tampa, were followed yesterday with the announcement that the same thing had been done in Baltimore, Kansas and Missouri.

The removal of prisoners from the Tampa jail was described as a part of a general house cleaning by the federal prison department, although no similar orders were issued for any other Florida jail.

A copy of a report covering an investigation of conditions in the Hillsborough jail, made by federal operatives last December, has been sent to Governor Sholtz and it was said that any further action probably would come from the governor's office.

A statement by Sheriff Spencer and the Hillsborough county grand jury that conditions complained of had been remedied brought no comment here except that the federal order still stands.

It was indicated, however, that the department believed if conditions were still as bad as were set forth in the report, Governor Sholtz would have taken drastic action. The entire matter now is in the governor's hands, it was said.

The jail condition at the time the report was made was said to be "most aggravated," but no publication of the report has been permitted here, even though Congressman Peterson asked for a copy of it.

A new cold wave appeared from the northwest and has advanced rapidly across the plains states and into the Mississippi valley. It was preceded by rain and snow, the latter being reported this morning at Dodge City, Kansas.

The temperature was 18 while 200 miles north at Oklahoma City it was 32. Temperatures in the Dakotas and Minnesota were lower this morning than any time for some weeks past. The forecast for the South was for generally warmer weather today and tonight to be followed by rain and much colder Sunday.

Tampa Grand Jury Report Given Sholtz

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 17.—(AP)—The report of the Hillsborough grand jury showing 15 of its 17 members voted for the suspension of County Solicitor Morris Givens was received here today in the absence of Governor Sholtz. The report said 15 voted for the suspension on the grounds of "neglect of duty and incompetency." Four of the jurors, the report said, voted for the suspension of Sheriff W. C. Spencer.

INSULTS AWAIT OFFICERS FOR RETURN HOME

Vaults Crammed With Evidence To Be Used Against Former Big Utility Leaders

TORONTO, Mar. 17.—(AP)—Martin Insull, his last recourse gone, waited in a common cell today for American police to come get him and take him to Chicago where he and his brother, Samuel Insull, Sr., are wanted to face charges in connection with the collapse of their utilities empire. Meanwhile Samuel was nearing Greece when he attempted to escape on a chartered steamer and he will be deported to the United States.

In Chicago six vaults crammed with records await the homecoming of that aged fugitive on the face of the earth, Samuel Insull.

They contain the evidence with which the government will try to convict him. They tell the story of one of the most sensational downfalls in financial history.

If Insull were convicted of all the charges against him here, he could be sent to prison for 150 years and fined $250,000.

Silver Bloc Decides To Try Test Vote Monday On Bills Not Okeyed By Morgenthau

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17.—(AP)—Speaker Rainey and the silver bloc swerved from alignment yesterday with the Administration and the House coinage committee chairman and agreed to force a test vote Monday on two silver bills which lack the approval of the secretary of the treasury.

After a conference with the silver bloc, which Chairman Somers of the coinage committee left when he was accused of being unfriendly toward silver legislation, Rainey announced bills by Representative Dies, Democrat, Texas, and Representative Fiesinger, Democrat, Ohio, would be brought up Monday under a suspension of the rules.

The procedure requires a two-thirds majority for passage. Rainey said he thought both bills would receive a majority but that Dies bill had the best chance of passing.

The silverites who talked with Rainey conferred Thursday with Secretary Morgenthau about the bills. It was said the secretary thought there should be no silver legislation for a while. His opinion was reported to be the same as that ascribed to President Roosevelt—that nothing further should be done for silver until there was opportunity to determine the results of what already has been done.

AUTO STRIKE POSTPONED TO NEXT WEEK

Intervention Of NRA In Potent Effort To Prevent Serious Trouble Is Success

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17.—(AP) Strike threats in the automobile industry, and moves to compromise them, overshadowed congressional actions today to the extent that recommended presidential attention. Hugh Johnson notified President Roosevelt that he hoped to reach a basis for an adjustment of the dispute between the industrialists and organized labor by Monday. He was prepared to be reached in New York then should the automobile leaders want to consult with him while considering his plan for the employee sections and to go to Detroit personally to supervise any such elections that may be agreed upon. Capitol Hill followed the trend closely but action there meanwhile was confined to the Bankhead cotton control bill, air mail and RFC legislation.

With the executive committee of the national automobile chamber of commerce called to consider on Monday a mediation plan proposed by Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, labor leaders postponed the threatened walkout until Wednesday.

"If the answer is not satisfactory," said William Collins, chief organizer for the Detroit area, "the plants will be closed down Wednesday and work will remain suspended until the government does enforce the National Industrial Recovery Act."

The principal issue involved is the company union, American federation of labor officials asserted the right of organization set forth in the recovery act had not been permitted by the employers of the industry.

Instead, they contended, the employers have sought to establish company-dominated unions and have used coercion and discrimination to prevent their employees from joining other labor organizations.

Legislation will be required to establish the new credit agency and this, it was disclosed at the White House, was in preparation. The President was confident Congress would approve.

On the other hand, immediate opposition arose to the RFC proposal in advance of the appearance of Jesse Jones, RFC chairman, today before the Senate banking committee to explain the plan. It was sent to the committee in legislative form Thursday by the corporation.

Chairman Fletcher's opinion of the bill was typical of the comments of other committee members.

"I don't like that much," he said "I want to hear the arguments about it, but it doesn't appeal to me. It's unlimited and it would take a lot of money. I don't think we will go that far."

Popular Goal Of Many Winter Tourists Is Beauty Spot Of City

Chamberlain said the companies were Eastern Air Transport and United Air Lines. He added that the ships which he thought were "unsuitable for passenger flying" had been replaced by better craft. The witness agreed with Lindbergh that the section which would bar the companies whose contracts were scrapped from new awards if they pressed claims against the government should be removed from the bill.

It was this provision which Lindbergh termed "as contrary to American liberty as anything I have ever seen."

Unattended and almost as if he were looking as in 1927 when he spanned the Atlantic with one leap, Lindbergh pushed his way through the crowd of spectators.

Release Man Who Shot St. Petersburg Youth

ST. PETERSBURG, Mar. 17.—(AP)—The death of Cecil Thomas, 14-year-old school boy, shot and killed by Robert Wentworth, 24, at a south side bottling plant Thursday night, was "excusable" homicide, a coroner's jury decided yesterday.

The boy's body was found by a traffic officer when he answered a call to the bottling plant to investigate a gun shot report in the neighborhood. Wentworth was upstairs and said he did not know he had killed anyone. He said he fired at a moving object in the dark and then ran upstairs.

Edward Colson, 16, detained early yesterday admitted he was with the Thomas boy Thursday night and that they broke into the bottling company to take some soft drinks.

British Consul's Staff Members Die In Riots

MOSCOW, Mar. 17.—(AP)—Several members of the British consulate's staff last night were reported killed or wounded and 2000 Lygurs, comprising most of the civil population of the town of Kashgar in Sinkiang, Chinese Turkestan, which was besieged in a fierce fighting between rebellious Tungan natives and forces of the newly proclaimed "independent government."

This information was contained in reports from Tashkent. Kashgar was sacked during the combat, which took place when Tungan detachments attacked the town and rescued a garrison of Tungan, which was besieged in a fortress there by independent government troops.

Wage Differential Is Suspended By Johnson

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17.—(AP) Hugh H. Johnson yesterday suspended until Mar. 26 an administrative order which fixed the 85th percentile as the line for the southern wage differential in the cotton garment code.

The reason given was that "justice requires that appropriate relief be granted from the provisions of the said administrative order." The 35th percentile runs well south of Baltimore and Washington, cuts across the middle of Kentucky and Missouri. From the Kansas state line the southern wage boundary had been fixed to run south to Oklahoma, and along the northern boundaries of Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona.

WAR ACE TAKES STAND AGAINST MAIL POLICIES

Rickenbacker Says Cancellation Was Unamerican, Due To Traitorous Advice

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17.—(AP)—Demand that President Roosevelt "purge his official family of those traitorous elements who misadvised him" on the airmail situation was voiced today by Eddie Rickenbacker, America's 28-plane war ace. Opposing before the Senate postoffice committee the Administration's cancellation of airmail contracts, Rickenbacker asserted this advice had caused the President "to act contrary to American principles to such a degree that millions questioned it."

Charles A. Lindbergh's exhortation of the Administration's airmail bill as "un-American" before a Senate committee yesterday was followed by testimony of another famous aviator, Clarence D. Chamberlain, that two lines which formerly held airmail contracts, had flown passenger planes he considered unsafe.

Chamberlain said the companies were Eastern Air Transport and United Air Lines. He added that the ships which he thought were "unsuitable for passenger flying" had been replaced by better craft. The witness agreed with Lindbergh that the section which would bar the companies whose contracts were scrapped from new awards if they pressed claims against the government should be removed from the bill.

It was this provision which Lindbergh termed "as contrary to American liberty as anything I have ever seen."

Police Nab Negroes In Act Of Robbing Store

Caught in the act of robbing the T. W. Barnes store in Goldboro early yesterday morning, Charles Roundtree and General Williams, young negro men are in the County Jail awaiting trial on a charge of breaking and entering.

Their arrest was made by Officers George Gray and Bob Wilcox, night patrolmen who happened to be passing the Barnes store shortly after a north bound freight train had entered the railroad yards.

The negroes jimmied their way through the front door of the store. They timed their robbery attempt with that of the train's arrival, according to Chief Williams who said that when the freight train sped noisily through Goldboro, the men showed the doorway open, the noise being drowned out by the noise of the train.

When the officers approached the store, they noticed someone moving about inside. One of the negroes came out under order, and it was discovered that 10 suits of clothes had been stacked up to be carried away by the robbers. The second man came out of the store later on. Both admitted having served time in Georgia prisons, one of them for murder, Chief Williams stated.
