More damage found in reactor

WASHINGTON — New cracks have turned up in a cooling pipe in one of the Savannah River nuclear weapons reactors in South Carolina, a problem serious enough to delay restarting the reactors. The Washington Post reported Friday.

Quoting unidentified Reagan administration officials and other sources familiar with the complex, the Post said the cracks represented the most serious structural problem yet identified at the aging reactors.

The cracks affect the main cooling system at the L reactor, which is one of three reactors at the Savannah River Plant near Aiken, N.C. The Post said the cracks appear to be either flaws or stress-induced defects in the metal itself, rather than the more common fissures associated with welds.

All three reactors, which currently are shut down, are the nation's only source of tritium, a perishable isotope that decays at the rate of 5.5 percent a year and must be replenished periodically in nuclear weapons.

Great Lakes drop predicted

CHICAGO — Prolonged drought from the greenhouse effect could cause the levels of the Great Lakes to drop as much as 9 feet, with serious political, economic and ecological consequences, a water expert said Thursday.

Speaking to legislators from the Great Lakes states and Canada, Frank Quinn said the results of global heating could be severe, but should not be felt until after 1990.

The officials, meeting at the annual U.S.-Canadian Legislative Caucus on Great Lakes-St. Lawrence River Issues, also heard former Wisconsin Gov. Anthony Earl warn that if widespread drought grips the nation, demands for Great Lakes water "from dryer, thirstier parts of the country are going to become stronger."

Howell delivers challenge

Candidates dicker over drug testing

By BRAD CHURCH
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Lon Howell, candidate for the District 1 city commission seat in Tuesday's runoff election, challenged his opponent, James Sweeting III, to join him in submitting to a drug test today.

Howell said he does not suspect Sweeting of using illicit drugs, but thinks the candidates should show they are drug-free as an example to the youth of Sanford.

Sweeting said although he considers the challenge "in poor taste," he would submit to a test also, and release the results.

In a statement read at City Hall this morning, Howell referred to comments Sweeting made about Sanford's drug problem Thursday, calling for the establishment of two police department substations and recommending establishment of a drug rehabilitation center in Sanford.

"What we need most is a good example for the kids," Howell said today. "They need good examples from family, friends, community leaders and public officials. Words can be pretty meaningless to those involved with drugs."

"Young people need to know that Lon Howell and James Sweeting practice what they preach. They need to know that we can live our lives without doing drugs."

Howell said that as a result of those feelings, "In a spirit of friendship and on behalf of the youth of Sanford, I challenge Mr. Sweeting to see candidates. Page 3A

Students at Jackson Heights Middle School gather round John Nagle (center) for whom they donated money for a motorized wheelchair. Nagle lost both his legs to blood clots.

OVIDO — They didn't know his name, only that he'd lost both legs, and needed a new wheelchair, but that was enough for students at Jackson Heights Middle School.

In less than two weeks, they raised $980 to buy a wheelchair. A motorized chair in which the seat was unfrayed and the back properly weighted so as to be safe.

It began with 23 students in Terry Bailey's homeroom. Bailey knew of the man from her Union Park church. His name is John Nagle, and blood clots caused the loss of his legs four years ago.

"My church director mentioned to me about the chair," Bailey said. "How it was worn out, and he

Industrial park OK'd by board

By BRAD CHURCH
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Planning and zoning commissioners recommended approval Thursday night of a preliminary plat for a 32-acre industrial park just north of the Sanford Industrial Park occupied by Codisco, Inc.

The commissioners also approved a site plan for a proposed Arby's restaurant next door to the Shoney's restaurant on Orlando Drive.

The 14-lot industrial park, with access to State Road 46, is planned on land owned by Thomas L. and Kenneth L. Oyer. It is east of Upsala Road and south of S.R. 46. A narrow strip of property will connect the property to 14 and is planned to provide an access between Upsala Road south of the Sanford Industrial Park, north to S.R. 46.

A representative of the developers said talks are underway with the state Department of Transportation to provide a cut in the S.R. 46 median to provide access to the entrance to the industrial park from both directions on the highway.

If the city commission approves the preliminary plat, negotiations will begin with Codisco to line up the road through the park with a partially completed road through the Codisco park which goes north from Upsala Road, providing a direct connection between Upsala and S.R. 46.

The commission also recommended approval, on a 4-2 vote, of a site plan for a proposed Arby's restaurant just south of Shoney's in the 3100 block of Orlando Drive.

Commission Chairman Brent Carl and Gary Davidson voted against recommending approval and commissioners John Morris, John LeRoy, Leon Brooks Sr. and Jay Malone voted for it.

Carl objected to the location because of the proximity of the proposed parking lot to Lake Adair and Shoney's, and the aggravation of traffic problems in the area.

The commission had reservations about the Shoney's site when it was first proposed because of its proximity to the lake, and part of its site plan approval was based on pre-

Mom charged in 'cocaine child' case

By SUSAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — For the first time in Seminole County, a cocaine-addicted mother has been charged with child abuse and delivery of cocaine to her unborn child.

Toni Surett Hudson, 29, of 1071 Blake St., Altamonte Springs, was arrested by sheriff's investigator Dan Prast Thursday on the street in rural Altamonte Springs.

Prast reports that at 8:04 a.m. Nov. 11 at Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs, Hudson gave birth to a son she named Michael. Prast reported that doctors performed urine test on the baby and determined that the child had cocaine in his system.

Hudson also tested positive for cocaine and has reportedly used crack cocaine for three years and used it the night before she went to the hospital to deliver her baby.

The State Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services has been involved in the investigation. Prast reports that Dr. Matthew Seriel of the Orlando Child Protection Team told investigators Hudson had no prenatal care and the only way the boy could have been born with cocaine in his system, would have been through his mother's use of cocaine. Seriel reports that cocaine can be damaging to an unborn child and might cause a spontaneous abortion in the early months of pregnancy.

Transportation dept. erred on turnpike

TALLAHASSEE — The Department of Transportation made a mistake in trying to rush through a proposed Tampa-to-Jacksonville turnpike and has extended the public input phase of the project indefinitely. DOT Secretary Kaye Henderson said Thursday.

DOT placed the project on a fast track, Henderson said, because of what he sees as a great need to have a direct, high-grade link between the two rapidly growing metropolitan areas. But the proposal brought an upsurge of protests from environmentalists and residents along the proposed routes, many of whom said the road would be an environmental disaster.

The real problem, Henderson said, was that DOT had failed to adequately inform the public both of the need for the road and of the department's sensitivity to environmental concerns.

"Frankly, the DOT considerably underestimated the degree to which citizens were concerned and underestimated the response to this proposal and the time we needed to evaluate all of those concerns," Henderson said.

"Consequently, our ability to communicate with the public has suffered — and we're going to correct that."

Henderson said the department would embark on a new, exhaustive round of public hearings all along the proposed six-county route. The final decision on whether the turnpike will be built will not be made until after those hearings.

There is no cut-off date for testimony from citizens, environmental groups and local and regional governments, Henderson said. An existing July 1 deadline "is trashed."

The turnpike will not be built, Henderson said, if testimony and additional studies show serious environmental damage would occur.

DOT is considering alternate routes that could ease the potential damage to the environment. It is possible, Henderson said, that mitigation and route changes needed to protect the environment could make the project too expensive to be done.

New trial asked for Richardson

TALLAHASSEE — Attorneys for convicted child killer James Joseph Richardson, insisting they have proof their client did not poison his seven children 20 years ago, Thursday asked the Supreme Court to order a new trial for Richardson.

Washington lawyer Mark Lane and Miami lawyer Ellis Rubin also renewed their plea to Gov. Bob Martinez to grant clemency to Richardson, a black man who earned his living picking fruit in the fields near Arcadia before his sensational murder trial.

Either way, both men said they had no doubt Richardson will soon be a free man, perhaps even in time for Christmas.

"This petition is going to crumble the house of cards the state built its whole case on," Rubin said. "The name Richardson is going to become a symbol."

Richardson was sentenced to death for the 1967 murders of his seven stepchildren, who died after eating a meal laced with parathion poison. Richardson's lawyers said the murders actually were committed by baby sitter and neighbor Betsy Recae, the only adult present when the children died.

Lane and Rubin said they can prove that Richardson was framed by former DeSoto County Sheriff Frank Cline, 12th Circuit State Attorney Frank Schaub and Assistant State Attorney John Treadwell.

The attorneys said they hoped not only to free Richardson but to force prosecution of Cline, Schaub and Treadwell.

Woman wills fortune to charities

PENSACOLA — An elderly woman who avoided spending money on herself when she was alive willed some $30,000 to the Social Security Administration and another $150,000 to other organizations, an attorney said Thursday.

"She wanted to repay the government and repay the organizations that were good enough to help her," said attorney Stephen Shell, who said about half of the woman's estate also went to surviving relatives.

Ann Roselle Hundley Hayne was 87 years old when she died June 15. In the recently executed will she left thousands to Social Security, Christ Episcopal Church, the Disabled American Veterans and the Rockefeller Foundation.

"She believed in giving back from whence it came," said her niece, Marjorie Hughey. Hayne, whose husband died more than 50 years ago, spent the last four years living at Hughey's house.

Shell said the organization receiving the largest sum was the church, which got some $70,000. He said the money is for the Service to Others Committee "for the express benefit of the needy and homeless in Pensacola."

The Rev. Madison Currin, pastor of the church, described Hayne as "a wonderful, very gentle, very loving older lady" who moved to the area from somewhere in North Carolina.

Gustafson calls for cooperation

Lawmakers cautioned on prison space priorities

United Press International

FORT LAUDERDALE — Incoming Florida House Speaker Tom Gustafson closed a three-day conference of state legislators Thursday by calling for cooperation between all of the lawmakers.

"The antagonistic, unproductive process of the Florida House can be improved upon," the Fort Lauderdale Democrat said. "We must think of friends who are your competitors as really your friends first."

The conference was an effort to promote "a thoughtful, pragmatic approach to legislation," he told the gathering at the Bonaventure Hotel in western Broward County.

Gustafson said he had tried to talk personally with every legislator present at the conference in order to help each achieve their legislative priorities.

"But that doesn't mean everyone will get all they ask for," he said.

The conference produced a document scheduled to be available early next week that "is a working rendering of what we'd like our product to be," he said.

Suspected hijacker to undergo mental exams

United Press International

MIAMI — A marinel refugee Thursday was ordered to undergo mental evaluations to determine if he is competent to stand trial on charges he hijacked a commercial jet in an attempt to visit his sick mother in Cuba.

U.S. Magistrate William C. Turnoff appointed a psychologist and a psychiatrist to examine Felix Sanchez-Rodriguez, 26, because he became hysterical and was hospitalized after his arrest. A competency hearing was scheduled for Jan. 5.

Turnoff, during the initial hearing for Sanchez, also ordered him held without bond at the request of assistant U.S. attorney David Demaiso, who said the defendant appeared to be a risk of flight.

"He has mentioned ... a desire to still go to Cuba," Demaiso said.

Federal public defender Lori Barrist was appointed to represent Sanchez, who said he could not afford to hire a lawyer.

Turnoff scheduled a pre-trial detention hearing for Tuesday and arraignment for Dec. 23, but said Barrist could choose to postpone both until the competency issue is resolved.

Officials said there also was a possibility Sanchez would be indicted by a federal grand jury in Miami. Sanchez is charged with two counts of air piracy. If convicted, he faces a maximum of 20 years in prison.

Authorities said Sanchez threatened to detonate a bomb aboard TWA flight 466 from San Juan, Puerto Rico to Miami on Sunday if he was not flown to Havana.

The pilot instead landed in Grand Turk, the largest of the Turks and Caicos Islands, about 250 miles east of Cuba. A flight attendant announced the plane had landed in Cuba, but Sanchez was not convinced, so he left the plane to check for himself.

A Spanish-speaking doctor, who was part of the ruse, welcomed Sanchez to Cuba and when he stepped down onto the tarmac he was arrested by police hiding under the jet. Federal authorities escorted him to Miami on Wednesday.

Sanchez left Cuba in the 1980 Mariel boatlift. Officials said he apparently was despondent because his wife had left him and he had no money and wanted to go to Cuba.

The 121 passengers and seven crewmembers aboard the jet were not injured during the incident. No weapon was found on Sanchez and no bomb was found in the aircraft.

This "blueprint" will be followed by the drafting of broad policy papers, followed by the legislation itself, he said.

"I don't know of any time the Florida Legislature — nor any other legislature — has planned this way," he said.

In announcing committee assignments, Gustafson added that all committees allow for maximum input from any legislator.

"I intend to run the Florida House as no one person, including myself, can control an issue," he said. "We shouldn't be too liberal or too conservative on anything."

Among appointees named to chair committees were Peter Deutsch, D-Tamara, insurance; Art Simon, D-Miami, commerce;

Walter Young, D-Pembroke Pines, higher education; Michael Friedman, D-Miami Beach, education; and Elaine Gordon, D-North Miami Beach, health care.

Earlier in the day, Attorney General Bob Butterworth told the conference the state must set careful priorities in the allocation of prison space. The problem of early release due to overcrowding surfaced recently when a man with a history of violence allegedly killed two Dade County police officers 10 days after he got out of prison.

"The truth is that the Department of Corrections, through various layers of required gain time, is forced to decide the length of sentence based on overcrowding," he said.

Posner to donate snow day to Miami

United Press International

MIAMI — Multi-millionaire Victor Posner apparently does not want to be known as Ebenezer Scrooge over the holidays, so he says he is donating the ice for Miami's annual Snow Day next Tuesday.

The Miami Herald reported Tuesday that Posner's Royal Palm Ice company was charging $2,800 to make a 35-ton pile of snow for the city's children to enjoy next week. Another ice company, All American Ice Inc. of Davie, had volunteered to provide the ice for free, but Royal Palm has the only blower in town that can create the snow.

When All American owner Ron Tobin learned that Royal Palm had refused to supply the blower, he said it was "like Ebenezer Scrooge."

When Posner was told of the article containing the reference to Scrooge, he ordered the blower and the ice provided free of charge. He called the original decision a mistake made by "little people" by his 80,000-person organization.

"Give them the ice. Give them the machine. Who cares?" exploded Posner, one of the nation's richest men. "I give away millions of dollars a year. This is picayune, pennies. They are not getting a bill."

Posner is estimated to be worth more than $100 million. A federal judge ordered the financier in February to pay $7 million to settle tax fraud charges, including $3 million to aid south Florida's homeless.

Posner said Wednesday he gives away hundreds of turkeys at Christmas. He said he donated $1.5 million to Barry University and gave $200,000 to Ronnie DeSillers in 1987 for a liver transplant.

He said he regretted that the city was told it would have to pay the $2,800.

"They did not reach the right people. None of this was brought to my attention," he said.

City officials were just glad to have a happy ending.

"This shows the real holiday spirit," said Kevin Smith, Miami's assistant director of city parks. "The most important thing is the kids win. You couldn't write a better scenario."

Transportation Department needs reforms

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — The Department of Transportation needs numerous reforms and a large infusion of cash to meet the growing transportation needs of Florida, spokesmen for a private sector advisory group said Thursday.

Partners in Productivity spokesman W. M. Palmer said the group had not studied specific ways to raise more money for road construction, but conceded that an increased gasoline tax was one obvious possibility.

"If Floridians want a better (road) system, they are going to have to pay for it," Palmer said,

"Where those revenues come from is debatable, but it cannot be debated whether we have an adequate funding system."

DOT Secretary Kaye Henderson enthusiastically endorsed the group's report, but refused to comment on the possibility of increasing gas or other taxes. Gov. Bob Martinez has repeatedly said he opposes tax increases in the 1989-90 budget year.

The panel, appointed by Martinez, recommended more than 80 steps DOT and the Legislature could take to improve the department's efficiency, Henderson said he would try to put each of the recommendations in practice as soon as possible.

Perhaps the most ambitious recommendation was that DOT streamline procedures and eliminate delays to cut the average completion time of major road projects in half. Currently, DOT takes about nine years from conception to completion of a major project, Palmer said that could be cut to no more than five years.

The group also proposed that the Legislature revise the career service system to make it easier for Henderson and other agency heads to fire unproductive employees, Henderson now has the authority to directly hire or fire only about 2 percent of DOT's employees, Palmer said.

Other recommendations include reducing right-of-way acquisition time and costs, improved use of aid and access to federal funds, centralizing control over moving utilities and increased use of private sector subcontractors rather than DOT employees.

DOT is trying to cope with a 10-year transportation deficit estimated to be as high as $25 billion.

The report noted that 6,000 lane miles of state highways need repair, 9,000 lane miles are congested and more than one-fourth of the state's bridges are deficient.

Investigation of possible diamond scam

FERN PARK — Seminole County sheriff's deputies are investigating a possible scam involving a reportedly lost and found diamond ring.

A clerk at the Amoco station, 8000 U.S. Highway 17-92, Fern Park, reported to deputies that at about 6:20 p.m. she received a call from a man who claimed he had lost a diamond ring in the store. He offered a $700 reward for the ring's return. While the clerk was talking to the caller a customer came up and claimed to have just found the ring. The caller asked the clerk to give the finder $100 from the store's register as a reward. The clerk refused and the caller tried to get her to allow the finder inside her security booth to talk to him on the phone. She refused and the finder fled with the ring he reportedly found.

Fake call for bond probed

LONGWOOD — Linda S. Kumpfer, 40, of Longwood, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies she got a call at 7:45 a.m. Monday from a man claiming to be a police officer who had just arrested her husband.

The caller, she said, wanted her to post bond. But Kumpfer didn't believe her husband had been arrested. He had not been arrested. When she asked the caller to describe her husband's car, he said that wasn't important. She hung up the phone and reported the call to sheriff's deputies.

Woman reportedly raped by burglar

WINTER PARK — A rural Winter Park woman reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies she was raped by a burglar at her home between 11:30 p.m. Thursday and 6:45 a.m. today.

The 35-year-old woman said she knows the rapist. Deputies reported finding that a door to the woman's house had been forced open and a screwdriver and pliers were found hidden in mulch beside the door.

Man charged in cocaine sale

SEMINOLE COUNTY — A man who met with a City County Investigative Bureau agent in Orange County and rode with the agent to Seminole County where the man reportedly sold the agent an ounce of cocaine, has been arrested.

August William Staylor, 31, of Ocoee, was arrested outside the Buck Eye Inn, Overland Road, in east Seminole County at about 9:30 p.m. Thursday. He is held without bond.

The agent reported arranging the drug buy with Staylor and picking him up in Orange County before driving to Seminole County to make the reported cocaine buy.

Broken window injures woman

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — A woman face was injured when her husband allegedly kicked and broke a window of a car in which she was sitting during an argument at the Day's Inn, Wymore Road, Altamonte Springs.

Wanda Yvette Brown, 21, of 6357 Forest City Road, Apopka, suffered facial injuries from flying window glass at about 8:20 p.m. Thursday. She was treated at Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs.

Her husband, Donnie C. Jones, 36, of the same address, was charged with aggravated battery at the scene, Altamonte Springs police reported. Bond is $5,000.

Man charged with battery

SANFORD — A Seminole County sheriff's deputy who accompanied Melissa Parrish, 30, of 985 Monroe Harbor Place, Sanford, to pick up her medication, reported her husband threw the medication at her.

Parrish was hit in the face and had the door to her house slammed against her body, the deputy said.

Marc Robert Holmes, 32, of the same address, was charged with battery at 10:32 p.m. Thursday at home. Bond is $500.

Man charged with battery-spouse abuse

SANFORD — Sanford police report charging Casey Thomas Windham, 29, of 2415-A Cedar Ave., Sanford, with battery-spouse abuse after an attack on his wife Catherine at their house at about 8:05 p.m. Thursday. Bond is $500.

Several arrested on DUI charges

SANFORD — The following persons face a charge of driving under the influence in Seminole County:

- William Ronald Gillmor, 55, of 36-D Pinetree Road, Lake Mary, was arrested at 1:47 a.m. today at Shoppes of Lake Mary, after he drove from the scene of a traffic accident at the Pub, in Lake Mary. He is also charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

- Joseph Vincent Yelgelowitz, 28, no address listed, at 12:36 a.m. Friday after he was seen driving erratically on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford. The car he was driving had been reported stolen in Seminole County and he is also charged with grand theft auto and careless driving. Bond is $1,000.

- James Edward Bauder, 27, of Sanford, was arrested at 11:55 p.m. Wednesday after his car was in a single car accident on Country Club Road, Lake Mary.

Twenty boats expected at parade

By BRAD CHURCH
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Sanford's first Christmas Boat Parade Saturday night will be about a half mile long and will include 20 boats, according to sponsors.

The parade of decorated boats, led by the Rivership Romance, will take place along the Lake Monroe waterfront beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The parade is organized and sponsored by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, the Romance, Hidden Harbor Marina, Sanford Boat Works, Lake Monroe Harbor Marina and Sanford Boat Rentals.

A panel of judges will award prizes at an award party at 11 p.m. Saturday at Fitzgerald's. The first place boat owner will receive $250, second place $150 and third $100.

In addition, a trophy sponsored by the Romance will reside at the marina where the first place boat is housed, and its owner will receive a plaque.

Jail inmate dead; murder charged

By SUSAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — A federal prisoner at the Seminole County jail died today from a neck and head injury suffered in the jail about midnight Wednesday. A second inmate has been charged with murder.

James Otto Hingle, 23, of Orlando, died at about 10:30 a.m. today at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, where he had been on a life support system.

Sheriff John Polk said Hingle was brain dead following his injury.

A second federal prisoner, accused of pounding Hingle's head against the floor of his cell, is charged with murder. Capt. Roy Hughey said. The arrest was made at the jail this morning following Hingle's death.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies report blood vessels in Hingle's neck were apparently injured during an argument with Charles Wesley O'Berry, 20, over bids in a poker game.

Roy Hughey said today investigators have determined that Hingle's head apparently was pounded against the floor of his cell.

According to a statement to deputies from O'Berry, Hingle jumped up to fight O'Berry over a bet during a poker game. Hingle, according to O'Berry's statement, became entangled in his chair, fell back, hit his head on the floor, and stopped breathing.

O'Berry called for help and two jail nurses supplied Hingle with oxygen with an air bag. Rescue workers responded and took charge of his care, and Hingle was transported to the hospital.

The was investigated by Seminole County sheriff's deputies and the FBI.

Seminole Sheriff's Chief Deputy Duane Harrell said it's not a violation of rules for the inmates to have been playing poker at that time of night. He added that the incident occurred just when the lights in the jail were ordered off for the night.

needed a new one. I noticed people were putting in $3 and $5 very quietly so it would be a surprise.

She thought maybe her homeroom students would like to help, but she didn't know how best to go about it. She mulled the idea around a bit, then discussed it with Principal Bob Rainey. They considered a raffle.

"No, that could be illegal."

"What about a car wash?"

"No, kids are a little young."

Finally, a decision was made to adopt Nagle as Mr. X. Students quickly latched on to the idea throwing Bailey off-guard.

"Oh yeah, Ms. Bailey, we adopted a manatee last year, one child told her.

With that Bailey decided she'd better explain a little about Mr. X, how he was a kind man, and spent lots of time talking with children in Sunday School classes, how he was never glum, even though to most people he had cause to be.

She started to tell us the story, and there were tears in her eyes," Judi Jacobs, 12, said.

Bailey too acknowledges the moment saying it just got to her. Apparently, it got to the students as well. Several ran to their lockers, ruffled through books, gym clothes, and what have you until a box was found. They cut a small slit in the top, just big enough to drop nickels, dimes and quarters in. That was the beginning. A penny was found in the parking lot and Bailey dropped it into the box, producing a clinking noise.

"Nobody liked the sound of it," Jacobs said.

Bailey said there was silence for a moment and everyone looked a little sad. Then all at once students dug deep into their pockets and came up with $17.28. Students told Bailey not to worry. It wasn't for lunch money, it wasn't for books, they just wanted to help.

A goal was set to raise $100. A thermometer to measure their progress was hung on the wall, and within three days students collected $153. The goal was changed to $200, and soon students in other classes became curious about Mr. X. Bailey said before she knew it, the effort and enthusiasm had swept through the entire school. Posters were drawn and students gathered in the hallways talking about Mr. X. The little classroom portable located at the far end of the Oviedo campus became known as Mr. X headquarters.

Eleven-year-old Lisa Klutz said they did so because it was Christmas and that was a time to care about other people.

Thursday morning, students met Mr. X, gave him his new chair, a poinsettia for his wife, Darlene, and a paper Christmas tree with handmade ornaments each signed by students who contributed. It was not a particularly pretty day. In fact, the skies turned an oyster gray, but students and Nagle said they felt great.

"We feel like he's been our friend forever, but it's only been a day," Klutz said.

She and other students gathered around a white van watching Nagle depart.

"Goodbye Mr. X," they shouted. "Goodbye."

Nagle said he loved the chair but he most cherished the tree and all the love that went into it.

"Bye now," Nagle said. "Thanks a million and Merry Christmas." And, with that he drove home to Christmas, Fla.

Clarification

The Lake Mary Boulevard Study Committee will conduct a public workshop meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Jan. 4 in the commission chambers, after which the committee will meet to adopt the final ordinance for the boulevard corridor plan. A story Thursday described Wednesday's committee meeting as the final one. Subsequently, the committee decided to hold the workshop.

come with me to Central Florida Regional Hospital, where facilities assure us of a legal and competent drug test, and I further challenge him to release results of the test to the public."

After reading the statement at City Hall, in the company of two campaign workers, he drove to the hospital for the drug test. He said the results would be available Monday.

Howell said he had issued the challenge to Sweeting by calling

Sweeting's law office and leaving a message. However Sweeting said he was not aware of what type of challenge was being issued. "A secretary said Howell was issuing me some kind of challenge, but wasn't clear what it was," he said this morning.

"I will stop by at my physician's office this afternoon and have a urinalysis done," he said.

"I think this type of challenge is distasteful and I don't think citizens should be subjected to such a test," he said. "But in the climate of the times, and the mood of the people in these times, it is not a challenge I can ignore. If I don't have the test, I am opening myself to suspicion."

Sweeting said he has the same attitude that Secretary of State George Schultz expressed when asked to submit to a drug test, which he did not do. "He said it was beneath his dignity to submit to such a test and that to ask him to impugned his character. I feel the same way. But I will have the test because not having it would cast suspicion on me, with current attitudes about drug testing."

Drug testing near overdose

As a protection for passengers, should airline pilots be subject to random urine tests for drugs? The Air Line Pilots Association doesn't think so, but most Americans will not be troubled by the Department of Transportation's drug-testing rules requiring pilots to be randomly tested for use of illicit substances.

When there are no less intrusive substitutes and where drug use could create a large risk to public safety, such drug tests are justified, both legally and as a matter of policy. So are tests for transportation workers whose behavior or involvement in an accident creates a reasonable suspicion of drug use.

The new DOT rules on drug testing of private transportation workers go much further, sometimes to ridiculous extremes.

They require employers to give urine tests not just to pilots and bus drivers, who have direct control over the safety of passengers, but to every flight attendant, pipeline worker, licensed seaman, truck driver and bus mechanic.

Some of the 2 million workers who annually will be subjected to those demeaning tests use illegal drugs, though probably not many; initial results of random drug screening in several federal departments have yielded positive tests in fewer than 1 percent of employees. Forcing companies to spend $200 million a year or more on urine tests for non-critical employees — and forcing workers to take them — when most worker drug problems can be detected more cheaply through good personnel policies and supervision is an only generate disrespect for the whole enterprise.

Protecting public safety is important. So is discouraging drug abuse. But most Americans are not so concerned with the risk of drug-impaired flight attendants that they are ready to jettison America's commitment to privacy and individual dignity, especially when the tests have proven to be only 70 percent accurate. Where a balancing of values was needed, the Reagan administration, infatuated with the notion of drug testing, has placed its full weight on one side of the scales.

The Department of Transportation should withdraw and reweigh its drug-testing rules before the courts and Congress force the issue.

First lady has pushed peacemaking

WASHINGTON — If anyone gets the credit for the turn around in President Reagan's thinking about the Soviet Union and the possibility of peace, it is Nancy Reagan.

Reagan, who is about to leave office after eight years before the mast, insists he has not changed. Well, maybe. But his policies are more amenable to an ending of the Cold War. He learned that people prefer peace to belligerent rhetoric that increases superpower tensions.

The first lady, who has always shied away from being depicted as the power behind the throne and influential in substantive affairs, feels freer now to acknowledge a role in peacemaking as she is about to leave the White House.

"I was upset that he (Reagan) was portrayed as this gun-shooter. You know, cowboy," she told United Press International in an interview. "And I knew that wasn't what he was and I knew that he's repeatedly said, long before he got here, that more things can be avoided if you talk to people instead of about people."

She said that Reagan was stymied in the beginning because of the deaths of several Soviet leaders before the robust Mikhail Gorbachev came along.

"You couldn't do anything in the beginning," she explained. "But yes, I really wanted them to get together ... but I just kind of pushed him a little bit."

Asked if the hardliners in the administration resisted detente, she said: "There were a lot of people who didn't want it ... the right-wingers."

Former Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko once told Mrs. Reagan to whisper "peace" every night in her husband's ear. She countered by saying she would whisper "peace" in the stern Gromyko's ear.

Mrs. Reagan has often said there is a "a very interesting chemistry" between Reagan and Gorbachev that has been developed over their five summit encounters.

"Obviously, their beliefs are different, their philosophy, their politics ... But they respect each other and I think they genuinely like each other in spite of the differences. And Ronnie is one who can put that aside."

The moves to end the cold war after 40 years of hostility are a major relief to the world.

Her efforts to oust chief of staff Donald Regan paid off.

Gorbachev's speech to the U.N. General Assembly gave dramatic evidence of his desire to make changes in the Soviet Union that will focus on improving the quality of life for his people and to reduce Soviet global expansionism.

The new atmosphere helps Reagan to leave Washington on a high note. He believes the unprecedented peacetime military buildup turned the tide, forcing the Soviets into an arms race they could not afford. The cost to both economies will be evident for a long time to come.

Not only did Mrs. Reagan urge her husband to give peace a chance. She also made moves to save him from a debacle as the Iran-Contra scandal unfolded. Her anxiety showed in every way as the president became more threatened by the revelations of his secret deal to sell arms to Iran to obtain release of the American hostages in Lebanon, all the while insisting publicly that he would never negotiate, never bargain with the Iranian-backed captors.

The first lady did all the maneuvering behind the scenes during the height of the crisis in December 1986. Her efforts to oust chief of staff Donald Regan paid off, and the damage control got under way.

Will Quayle be invisible?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Insiders on George Bush's transition team report that one of the most vexing problems facing the president-elect is deciding what role Vice President-elect Dan Quayle will play in the new administration.

During the campaign, Bush mentioned Quayle very infrequently. When pressed, he said Quayle would be a "meaningful" part of the new administration, but he was always very short on specifics.

Those close to the president-elect say he expects Quayle to play a role very similar to one that Bush himself played for Ronald Reagan — giving advice when called for, undertaking specific tasks when assigned, but generally, remaining very much in the background.

One Bush assignment under Ronald Reagan was to head the South Florida Drug Task Force, a group that coordinated drug interdiction efforts in that critical region. At one point during the campaign, Bush suggested Quayle would also be given a major responsibility in the war against drugs.

But Congress recently established a new Office of National Drug Control Policy — to be headed by a single director — to run the war on drugs. It was Congress' clear intent that this "drug czar" have cabinet rank and report directly to the president. By law the czar cannot simultaneously hold any other governmental job. That rules out Quayle.

Some transition team members have suggested that Bush might appoint Quayle as the contact point for the new czar. That, however, would make many in Congress very unhappy — including some of the most influential Republicans in the House and Senate who fought hardest to establish the position. Legislation leaves it up to the president whether to give the drug czar cabinet status. Bush has already made it clear, by removing both the CIA director and U.N. ambassador from cabinet rank, that he intends to scale down his cabinet. He is therefore not considered likely to give such status to the czar. This would already make Congress unhappy; appointing Quayle to oversee the czar would only exacerbate the problem.

Far right conservatives would like to see Quayle as their representative and point man within the upper reaches of the new administration. Quayle himself quickly scotched this idea, realizing that this role would place him in continual confrontation with Bush's largely centrist administration.

Quayle, though, does have one idea for a major role he can play in the coming four years — that of an activist president of the U.S. Senate.

Under the Constitution, the vice president presides over the Senate. For most vice presidents this is a largely ceremonial function undertaken only on state occasions or when his presence might be necessary to break a tie vote — another constitutionally mandated vice presidential responsibility.

Quayle has said that he "could be of great help to George Bush working with the Senate" and might preside over that body on a more or less full-time basis. Reportedly, he has said that, given the power of the gavel, he might be able to help shape Senate debate and, in certain circumstances, such as the offering of amendments, actually help the GOP and hinder Democrats by withholding recognition or forcing roll calls.

But Senate sources say that minority leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., has made it clear to Bush that he would take a very dim view of Quayle in this roll. Being the president's link to the Senate is the traditional role of the leader of the president's party in the Senate, and Dole is not about to share or abdicate this responsibility.

A number of Senate Republicans are reportedly upset that Quayle has even publicly voiced his ambitions. As one high-ranking GOP Senate staffer puts it: "Here is the president-elect saying how he intends to work with the Senate in an almost non-partisan way on the deficit and other issues. Yet at the same time Quayle is talking confrontation, of controlling the Senate ... It's a bad idea. Even if it wasn't, his timing is lousy."

So far Quayle's only official function is to be the head of the National Space Council, a board that advises the president on space activities.

One problem that Quayle must overcome is the reputation he acquired during the campaign as a slow learner. Those who ran the Quayle campaign reportedly found him to be ready and willing, but less than completely able. None of those who ran his campaign have been willing to join his vice presidential staff.

Among insiders the best guess is that Quayle will initially be kept very much in the background and given specific responsibilities as he shows he is able to handle them. He will be given a progressively larger role if he does not falter. If he does, he may end up an invisible vice president.

New vice president may play a role very similar to the one his boss played.

Bush faces awakening

WASHINGTON — In the afterglow of a dazzling performance by Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev, Americans are daring to hope for real peace on earth. President Reagan, who some feared would bring America to the brink of nuclear war with his rabid right agenda, has wined and been wined by the "evil empire."

Those of us who remember Nikita Khrushchev pounding his shoe on the table and promising to bury us with worldwide communism are particularly disarmed by Gorbachev and his Christmas present — a unilateral troop reduction.

Baby boomers don't build shelters for their own babies to hide in when the bomb is dropped. School curriculums no longer include a course on how to dive under the desk during a nuclear attack. We haven't been eyeball to eyeball with our archenemy in who knows how long.

Before this warm glow overwhelms you, imagine the cold shower awaiting George Bush on Jan. 20. His new national security team is already being briefed on the world situation, stripped of public relations and Christmas good will. Here are some of the insights the team is getting.

War with the Soviet Union is now unlikely. The Soviets have too many problems at home to worry about taking over the rest of the world right now. Troop cuts notwithstanding, the Bush people have been told that the Soviets are still bolstering their military forces and that they are disturbingly ahead of the United States in developing space weaponry.

The U.S. estimate is that Soviet troops will be withdrawn from Afghanistan in February as promised, but the communist regime there is not expected to crumble overnight.

In the Middle East, Bush will inherit a ticking time bomb. The regional powers are feverishly seeking chemical weapons, nuclear arms and long-range missiles. Both Iran and Iraq are rushing the production of deadly chemical weapons. Already Iraq has stockpiled hundreds of tons of mustard gas and other chemical agents. Now Iraq is trying to acquire biological weapons, too.

Iran is frantically trying to catch up. It has stockpiled an estimated 100 tons of mustard gas.

Both countries are seeking nuclear warheads and the long-range rockets to deliver them.

Elsewhere in the Middle East, Libya has acquired a mustard gas capability and Moammar Gadhafi is trying to build, buy or borrow nuclear weapons.

But the worst menace that the Bush administration will face is not bloodshed. It is an economic war that the United States is already losing. That war may find the United States forging an alliance with its Cold War enemy to combat the economic boom in the Far East.

Central Intelligence Agency strategists see Japan and China emerging as superpowers and possibly forming an alliance that could shake the world. Japan is fast overtaking the United States as the world's No. 1 economic-financial-industrial-technological power. At the same time, China is quietly building its military power. Japan is actively cultivating China as a customer for its industrial goods and China is borrowing technology from Japan.

Trading heavy, prices up

United Press International

NEW YORK — Prices opened higher Friday in heavy trading of New York Stock Exchange issues as the market began its "triple witching hour," when stock index futures, index options and individual stock options expire.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which fell 1.25 Thursday, was up 2.54 to 2135.54 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 472-300 among the 1,348 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape. Early turnover amounted to about 45,150,000 shares.

Analysts noted that "triple witching hours" have been known to cause market volatility in the past as program traders and other arbitrageurs close out speculative positions and open new ones.

The "hour" begins at the session's opening when the December expiration price is set for futures and futures options on Standard & Poor's 500-stock index and options on the New York Stock Exchange composite index. Other stock-related futures and options for the month expire at the close.

Stocks closed lower Thursday in quiet trading amid worries about higher interest rates, especially a possible boost in the Federal Reserve's benchmark discount rate.

Dollar higher, stronger; gold, silver continue fall

United Press International

The dollar was higher Friday in moderate trading on major foreign currency markets. Gold and silver continued to fall.

Currency traders said the market was marking time to see if the U.S. Federal Reserve will raise the discount rate following a round of concerted European interest rate hikes earlier this week.

In early New York trading, the dollar was higher against key foreign currencies in moderate trading following a Labor Department report showing the producer price index or inflation at the wholesale level rose a moderate 0.3 percent in November.

The November hike followed no change in the index in October and a 0.4 percent increase in September.

The Commerce Department reported construction of new houses rose a modest 1.4 percent in November, the third straight monthly advance.

Currency analysts said the two inflation-related reports could influence Federal Reserve thinking on the question of the future course of the nation's discount rate.

Earlier in Tokyo, the dollar rallied sharply against the Japanese yen in heavy trading closing out the week 1.13 yen higher at 124.10 yen.

Orlando group buys TV stations

United Press International

CULVER CITY — Lorimar Telepictures will sell off its last two television stations to an Orlando, Fla., investment group, possibly clearing the way for Warner Communications of New York to complete its acquisition of Lorimar, the company said.

The two stations are WFTS-TV of San Juan, and WSUR-TV of Ponce, a repeater station for the San Juan outlet, Lorimar announced Thursday.

The two stations were sold to an investor group headed by Timothy Brumlik of Orlando, Fla., who owns several Central Florida stations that offer Spanish-language programming, the announcement said.

No financial details of the television deal were disclosed.

candidates for interviews. The question was, "Are you still interested?" Acting City Manager Charles Lauderdale said.

In the Dec. 22 meeting, commissioners said, they expect to narrow the list of candidates to five.

A decision whether or not to pay travel and other expenses for the candidates to be interviewed was considered. Of the right top candidates, only three live in Florida. The others come from the states of Illinois, Ohio, Maine, Iowa and New Hampshire.

The top three of the eight final candidates selected by ICMA include:

•Teddy C. Ryan Jr., 44, of Ocoee, most recently served as city manager of Ocoee from July, 1986 to November, 1988. Before this, he was city manager for Green Cove Springs, Fla. from March, 1984 to June, 1986. Ryan states on his application he holds a Master of Public Administration from the University of Kansas and a B.S. in business administration from Old Dominion University, Va.

•Fred J. Snider, 51, of Washington, Ill., is presently the city manager of that city. He started that position in April, 1984. From January, 1981 through March, 1984, he was city manager of Muskegon Heights, Mich., from 1969 through 1972 he was township manager in O'Hara Township, Pennsylvania, and from 1967-1969, he was city administrator of Liberty, Missouri. Snider said he did course work toward an M.A. from West Virginia University but did not complete a thesis. He holds a B.S. in business administration from Bowling Green State University, Ohio.

•Dennis W. Kelly, 41, of DeLand, Fla. served as city manager for one year, 1987-88 in DeLand. From 1982-1986, he was town manager of Longboat Key, Fla. from 1980-82, he was city manager of St. Cloud, Fla., from 1976-1980, he was city manager of Blountstown, Fla. and from 1975-76, he was a regional planner at N.W. Florida Planning and Advisory Council in Panama City, Fla. He served from 1969-1972 in the U.S. Army 25th Infantry Division. On his resume, Kelly lists an M.P.A. from the University of West Florida, Pensacola and a B.A. from Florida State University, Tallahassee.

The following five are the second group of candidates selected by ICMA. They include:

•Steven R. Aynes, 35, of Geneva, Ohio. Aynes is presently the city manager of Geneva which has a population of 6,500. He holds an M.P.A. from the University of Dayton and a B.A. in public administration and urban studies from Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

•Frederick D. Bluestone, of Iowa City, Iowa, is currently a full-time student at the University of Iowa with 20 years experience in local government and a background in planning and development. Bluestone holds an M.U.P. (Master of Urban Planning) from Hunter College of City University of New York and a B.A. in political science from Brooklyn College of City University of New York. From 1986-88, he served as city administrator for Corvallis, Iowa.

•Eric S. Meserve, of Meredith, N.H., served as town manager of Oakland, Maine from 1976-1979. He holds a B.A. in political science from the University of Maine.

•Kenneth Lee Resor, 38, of Palm Bay, Fla., is presently town manager of Melbourne Beach, Fla. He started the position in February of last year. Resor holds an M.A. in public administration from Oklahoma State University and a B.A. in political science from the same institution.

•Eric A. Strahl, of Kittery Point, Maine, is town manager of that city. He started there in July of 1984. Strahl was also village manager of Vicksburg, Mich. He lists an M.P.A. from Western Michigan and a B.A. from the University of Michigan.

The city manager will supervise about 25 city employees in Lake Mary. The position requires a master's degree with major study in public and business administration, management or related fields.

Pratt's report said such pre-birth cocaine addiction causes great bodily harm to the child. There are three other women in Seminole County with similar charges pending against them.

Hudson's baby is in foster care and is no longer addicted to cocaine, officials report.

Although Hudson reportedly said she has smoked crack cocaine for three years, she is quoted in her arrest report as saying she was not addicted, but "tremendously enjoyed using crack cocaine" and it "made her life worthwhile."

State law defines delivery of a controlled substance as transfer of the narcotic from one person to another, which can be done with a child in the womb.

Bond for Hudson is $2,000.

Wife of county Judge Fredrick Hitt found dead

By SUSAN LODEN

Herald staff writer

LONGWOOD — The wife of Seminole County Judge Fredrick Hitt is dead, the apparent victim of a drug overdose, according to the sheriff's department.

The judge found Susan Hitt, 40, unconscious in her bed at about 11:30 a.m. Thursday, officials reported. A Seminole County sheriff's report said that Hitt couldn't be found in his wife's house and called Seminole County Fire Department rescue workers to his house at 101 Cedar Point Lane, Longwood.

Fire fighters, the report said, transported Mrs. Hitt to South Seminole Community Hospital, Longwood, where she was pronounced dead at 12:17 p.m.

Technical services investigators of the Seminole County Sheriff's Department, who are routinely called to the scene of an unattended death to probe for clues, were not called to the Hitt house.

Sheriff's Lt. George Hagood, who is assigned to the crimes against persons division said he and Sgt. Greg Barnett conducted the investigation at the Hitt house themselves.

Hagood said that it was his decision not to call in the technical investigators and he said he had the authority to handle the probe for clues himself. He added that Mrs. Hitt actually died at the hospital, so her house was not the scene of her death. She did, however, become incapacitated at her house.

Hagood said it has not been determined if Mrs. Hitt's death was from natural causes, was an accidental drug overdose, or a suicide. Toxicology report from the autopsy won't be available for a couple of weeks. The initial sheriff's report said she died from an apparent overdose of pills.

Hagood said he collected several prescription medication bottles from the Hitt house. He said he does not know what types of drug they contained. No suicide note was found.

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk said he visited Hitt after his wife's death. Investigators found nothing out of the ordinary at the scene and Polk said Hagood and Barnett are qualified to have conducted the technical aspect of the investigation, since nothing was out of place and nothing appeared to be out of the ordinary at the Hitt house.

Polk said he was told that Mrs. Hitt was being treated for depression and was taking prescription anti-depressants.

ing a stand of trees, possibly the Arby's is proposed for the site where those trees are located.

A spokesman for the developer said 21 trees would be removed but all would be replaced with new trees.

Morris made the motion to approve the plan, saying it complied with all city codes.

However, Carl said, "Just because it meets with city codes does not mean it's good for Sanford. There are plenty of other sites for an Arby's in Sanford, besides that one." He noted that the parking lot for Shoney's was always full and people driving in and not finding a parking place create a traffic problem in the area.

Shoney's and the Cavalier Motor Inn now share the same median cut for northbound traffic. The turn into them, however, and the Arby's would also share that median cut, creating further traffic problems, he said.

The same owner owns the land on which the restaurant and motel are situated, and the land on which the proposed Arby's would be located.

100 mph winds, snow kill four in California

United Press International

A massive storm that pounded California with hurricane force winds and snow Thursday, contributing to at least four deaths, showed no signs of letting up Friday, the National Weather Service said.

Winds gusting up to 100 mph battered the San Francisco Bay area on Thursday, snuffing out power to 442,000 homes and businesses, smashing trees, ripping away power lines and destroying at least a dozen homes and dwellings.

At least four deaths were related to the storm. Two children, aged 3 and 6, died in separate dwelling fires touched off by candles lit after power went out in Berkeley and nearby Pittsburg, Calif. Two others died in storm-related traffic accidents in Southern California.

To the dismay of wind-blown Californians, weather forecasters said the unwelcome storm was expected to linger over the state Friday.

Elsewhere across the nation, snow squalls were expected Friday over the northern part of New York state and along the eastern shores of Lake Ontario. Forecasters said up to 6 inches of snow would be on the ground by day's end.

Northwest Pennsylvania also was bracing for a snowstorm that could bring between 1 and 4 inches of the white stuff.

Painfully cold temperatures continued to grip northern New York state Friday, the NWS said. Massena reached 3 degrees above zero early Friday, but the 15 to 20 mph winds brought a wind chill factor to 30 below zero.

Temperatures over the upper Mississippi Valley and the upper Great Lakes regions also were cold, reaching below zero at midnight from upper Michigan across northern Wisconsin, eastern Minnesota and eastern Iowa. Temperatures in New England dipped into single digits.

Snow also was falling early Friday in North Dakota and Colorado. Rain reached from the Florida Panhandle across southern Alabama and Georgia into South Carolina.

California rain was turning to snow in higher elevations.

The Northern California winds were so fierce Thursday that highways were closed, six Sierra ski resorts shut down and an aircraft carrier was unable to dock in San Francisco Bay. Property destruction was so widespread that officials were unable to immediately total it up.

In Sonoma County north of San Francisco, the posh Monticito Heights area of Santa Rosa was hard hit, with nine homes destroyed by fire or falling trees and three house trailers destroyed by falling trees.

A large nativity scene in downtown Sonoma was destroyed as the wind blasted over figurines and sent them rolling down the street.

Verdict angers police, defense

United Press International

NEW YORK — Following a day of angry police demonstrations, a judge Thursday sentenced a man to 5 to 15 years in prison for possessing a gun during a shootout that left six officers wounded.

The sentence of Larry Davis, who was acquitted of other charges involving the shootout, angered the prosecutors and police, who wanted the maximum 10 to 20 years, and the defense, which wanted Davis to get the same 6-month term that subway gunman Bernhard Goetz, who is white, received in his celebrated case.

The jury cleared Davis of charges he tried to kill nine police officers — wounding six of them — but found him guilty on the weapons counts.

"Never give up! Free Larry Davis," shouted a group of his supporters who crowded into the courtroom after state Supreme Court Justice Bernard Fried handed down the sentence.

It was a long and emotional end to a case in which Davis, who is black, became both a symbol of defiance to police brutality and — to critics — an example of a judicial system preoccupied with protecting the rights of criminals.

Davis claimed he was only returning the fire of police, who went to his sister's Bronx apartment to kill him because of his knowledge of a police drug dealing ring.

More than 600 police officers screamed obscenities and marched around the Bronx courthouse earlier in the day, demanding that Davis get the maximum sentence.

The sentencing hearing began an hour late and lasted nearly 2 1/2 hours, with the judge allowing the defense, led by civil rights lawyer William Kunstler, and the prosecution to present character witnesses.

Kunstler, noting the jury that convicted Davis of weapons possession cleared him of the more serious charges of attempting to wound nine police officers, insisted that if Davis "didn't have the weapons he would be just as dead" as other blacks who he said have died at the hands of police in the city.

Kunstler said the prosecutors should go after the police officers Davis accused of selling drugs. He then brought in four character witnesses, including Davis' mother, Mary, and a Catholic priest, the Rev. Lawrence Lucas of Harlem.

Assistant District Attorney Brian Wilson grew incensed at the accusations.

"This is a case of tell a big enough lie loud enough and long enough and someone will believe it," Wilson said angrily. "There is not one scintilla of competent evidence to sustain charges of police corruption."

The prosecutor had two of the police officers wounded in the shootout testify in his bid for the maximum sentence.

Before the judge had his say, he gave Davis a chance to speak.

Leaning on a crutch, Davis, in a gray three-piece suit, accused the judge of "violating several laws."

Indictments near in defense scandal

United Press International

WASHINGTON — Prosecutors in the defense corruption investigation have presented to a federal grand jury a proposed conspiracy indictment naming two companies and eight individuals, including a Navy engineer, sources familiar with the inquiry said Thursday.

However, the sources said the grand jury has yet to be asked to act because negotiations still are under way over possible plea agreements involving some of those targeted, including subsidiaries of Teledyne Inc. and Emerson Electric Co.

Prosecutors are hoping to strengthen their cases, built around wiretapped telephone conversations, by cutting one or more plea-bargaining deals under which the companies or their executives would cooperate with investigators in return for leniency, they said.

While the grand jury will meet for a third straight day Friday, sources said it was unlikely that any indictments would be returned before next week.

The return of indictments charging conspiracy and possibly racketeering violations would mark the first prosecutions in the massive, 2 1/2-year-old investigation of allegations that defense industry consultants passed bribes to government employees in return for inside information on contracts.

Two such consultants, William Parkin and Fred Lackner, are among those named in the proposed indictment — as is Stuart Berlin, a senior Navy engineer who has been a friend of Lackner, sources said.

Sources familiar with the inquiry said the proposed indictment names two of Parkin's and Lackner's clients, Hazeltine Corp., a wholly owned subsidiary of St. Louis-based Emerson Electric, and the electronics division of Los Angeles-based Teledyne. Also named are three Teledyne executives and two Hazeltine officials, they said.

Thomas Patten, an attorney for Teledyne, and William Cummings, a lawyer for Hazeltine, each declined comment.

But sources who requested anonymity said discussions between prosecutors and both firms are continuing, particularly because an indictment would automatically prompt their suspension from receiving government contracts. The sources said the terms of any government suspension or debarment are a key focus of the plea discussions.

Dear Paul,

As a new business in this area we know advertising is important. As an initial venture we decided on an advertisement in the new TV WEEK section of the Sanford Herald. Within 3 days of the appearance of the 1st advertisement we had people arriving at our store and mentioning that they saw the ad. Hardly a day goes by that one of our customers doesn't mention it. Some of these people are from Deltona and DeBary and Lake Mary areas. We feel that we have had excellent response for our advertising dollar. Thanks Sanford Herald for a good job on our behalf and thank you to all Herald readers that have responded.

Plane searched after death threat

BOSTON — A Pan Am jet near takeoff for a flight to New York was evacuated and searched Thursday when the FBI received a death threat against one of its passengers, the defeated Mexican presidential candidate Cuauhtemoc Cardenas.

Cardenas and his entourage were among 81 passengers and crew members aboard Pan Am Flight 531, scheduled to depart Logan International Airport at 11:30 a.m., said MassPort spokeswoman Dee Clarke.

All passengers were removed while officials searched the jet and its luggage, she said.

Cavanaugh did not release details of the search, but said it turned out to be "not a life-threatening situation."

The FBI had not determined who made the threat, but was investigating the case, he said.

Cardenas, who lost his presidential bid in July, was a guest speaker Wednesday at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's Institute of Foreign Studies.

Sheriff injured from homemade bomb

THIBODAUX, La. — The sheriff of Lafourche Parish was injured Thursday when he kicked a package that turned out to be a homemade bomb filled with nails, authorities said.

Sheriff Duffy Breaux Jr., 60, was in stable condition early Friday at Thibodaux General Hospital after about six hours of surgery to remove fragments, mostly from a hand and his legs, especially the left leg, said hospital night supervisor Phyllis Miller.

Deputy Daniel "Judge" Leche, 62, who was standing behind Breaux when the package exploded, was in good condition after a short time in surgery to remove small fragments throughout his body, Miller said.

Breaux was leaving a gathering at a senior citizen center at about 2 p.m. Thursday when he saw the package placed next to his car on the driver's side and pushed it with his foot, setting off the bomb, said Sheriff's Department radio operator Joseph Landry.

There were no suspects in the case, investigators said adding that the bomb seemed to be the work of an expert.

Pitbulls attack children in school yard

PHILADELPHIA — Three teenagers unleashed two pitbull dogs into a crowded schoolyard during a noon recess Thursday, inflicting savage injuries on five children, police said.

There were about 150 children in the schoolyard when the teenagers walked in, unleashed the dogs and told them to attack the children, police said.

The injured children — fourth, fifth and sixth graders at St. Edward's School in the city's Northeast section — were bitten numerous times on their feet and ankles, said Dr. Mark Joffe, the emergency room physician at St. Christopher's Hospital who treated the children.

Police were looking for three 13-year-olds in connection with the attack. They were also trying to find the dogs.

Boyfriend beat girl 'for pleasure'

NEW YORK — A woman charged with her companion in the beating death of her 5-year-old daughter, found unconscious and sexually abused in the family's Brooklyn apartment, said her boyfriend beat the little girl "for pleasure."

Police officers, who discovered a 1-year-old child, along with the fatally beaten girl Wednesday, returned Thursday afternoon and found a badly beaten 14-year-old boy in a closet, said Detective James Coleman, a police spokesman.

The boy was the dead girl's half-brother, Nickie Lebron-Alvarez.

Investigators had returned to the apartment with a search warrant to look for the murder weapon, police said.

Abigail Cortez, 25, and her live-in boyfriend, Adrian Lopez, were charged with second-degree murder Thursday in the death of Cortez's 5-year-old daughter, Jessica, police said.

Authorities said the child, who died Wednesday at Woodhull Hospital, had been beaten and was unconscious when police and paramedics arrived at the family's apartment in the Bortiquen Houses project in Williamsburg.

The boy, who was Cortez's son, also was suffering from malnutrition and was in stable condition at Woodhull, Coleman said.

Cortez appeared dazed as she was hustled into a car by police Thursday.

Bakker smiles after first day of trial

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Former PTL leader Jim Bakker, smiling and buoyant, professed his innocence at his first court appearance Thursday and predicted he will be acquitted of federal charges of wire and mail fraud "if we can have a fair trial."

The deposed PTL leader appeared at the initial hearing before a federal magistrate with former PTL President Richard Dortch, who was charged along with Bakker in a 24-count federal indictment handed up Dec. 5.

Bakker and Dortch were released on $50,000 unsecured personal recognizance bonds until their trial on charges that they schemed to bilk PTL contributors — out of millions of dollars, diverting donations to personal gain and high living.

Emerging from the 35-minute bond hearing, Bakker said it was a "sad day," but he predicted he would prevail.

"I'm not guilty of these charges, and I'm looking forward to due process in an orderly and organized fashion," he said. "I'm confident that if we can have a fair trial and due process, we can win this case."

U.S. Magistrate Paul B. Taylor agreed to a request from Bakker defense lawyer George T. Davis to postpone formal arraignment until Jan. 17, when Bakker and Dortch will enter pleas.

Great Lakes could suffer nine-foot drop

United Press International

CHICAGO — Prolonged drought from the greenhouse effect could cause the levels of the Great Lakes to drop as much as 9 feet, with serious political, economic and ecological consequences, a water expert said Thursday.

Speaking to legislators from the Great Lakes states and Canada, Frank Quinn said the results of global heating could be severe, but should not be felt until after 1990.

The officials, meeting at the annual U.S.-Canadian Legislative Caucus on Great Lakes-St. Lawrence River Issues, also heard former Wisconsin Gov. Anthony Earl warn that if widespread drought grips the nation, demands for Great Lakes water "from dryer, thirstier parts of the country are going to become stronger."

Quinn noted that the Great Lakes hold about 95 percent of the fresh surface water in the United States, and about 20 percent of the world's supply.

Quinn, who heads the lake hydrology section of the federal Great Lakes Environmental Research Lab in Ann Arbor, Mich.,

said lake levels have been above normal for 16 of the past 18 years, a "generally cool, wet period," but fell below average this year because there was little snow in the 1987-1988 winter and drought in the summers.

He said legislators get more noisy complaints when lake levels are too high as waters claim beaches and even waterfront homes. But the economic consequences of low lake levels are actually worse, Quinn said, harming fishing, shipping, recreation, power generation, and sanitation industries.

Quinn said despite what other experts say, he does not believe the "greenhouse" effect has been seen yet, but expects it may be felt after 1990.

Computer models of the greenhouse effect suggest Great Lakes levels could fall as much as 6 feet to 9 feet below average, Quinn said, and he urged the legislators to start to consider such questions as who would own the extensive new beachfront property that would be created by the drop, or how they would allow the new land to be used.

Extensive dredging may be needed.

Murder to be subject of training film for lawyers

United Press International

PORTLAND, Ore. — The trial of a woman on charges of instigating the 1985 murder of a land developer pits a famed Wyoming defense lawyer against a former Oregon attorney general and is being videotaped as a training film for lawyers.

Jackson, Wyo., lawyer Gerry Spence, who claims to have never lost a murder case, squared off in opening arguments Thursday against James Brown of Salem, who was hired as special prosecutor after Spence succeeded in having the Lincoln County District Attorney disqualified.

The flamboyant Spence, dressed in cowboy boots and a leather jacket, delivered a 3 1/2-hour opening argument in which he claimed Wilfred Gertula, 59, of Lincoln City, was accidentally shot by his wife Monica as he was struggling with defendant Sandra Kay Jones over a rifle. He alleged that Monica Gertula had a revolver that has never been found.

"I will give Mrs. Gertula the benefit of a doubt and say she shot him by accident while she was trying to defend him," Spence said.

Multnomah County Circuit Court Judge Earl Haas said the Oregon Trial Lawyers Association had requested that the trial be taped — an unusual move in Oregon, where cameras are not usually allowed in courtrooms.

Haas said the tape would not be shown to anyone until after the trial is over and all appeals in the case are exhausted. Jones, the lawyers and the jurors all agreed to the taping.

Spence, who came to court wearing his trademark crumpled Stetson hat, has been involved in several high-profile trials and recently defended Lee Harvey Oswald in a mock television trial of President Kennedy's killer.

He gained fame by winning a $10.5 million judgement against Kerr McGee Corp. in the death of nuclear plant worker Karen Silkwood.

Spence is representing Jones for free. He also represented her son Michael, who was convicted in juvenile court of manslaughter in the case.

Brown told the jury of eight men and four women that the killing on July 23, 1985, was the result of a long-running feud over a right-of-way across Jones' land to some property Gertula wanted to subdivide along the Siletz River on the Oregon Coast.

WORLD BRIEFS

Rescue operations ending in Armenia

MOSCOW — Soviet authorities have told foreign rescue teams their help is no longer needed in some parts of quake-ravaged Armenia, where the prospects of finding more survivors have all but disappeared.

The official Tass news agency said that only one person was found alive in the affected region Thursday, while 509 bodies were pulled from the rubble of destroyed buildings.

The 30-second quake on the morning of Dec. 7 killed at least 55,000 people and left more than 500,000 homeless.

In the first four days of rescue operations, some 6,000 people were pulled alive from under collapsed schools, offices and apartment buildings, but the survival rate has steadily declined with each passing day.

Tass said Thursday that a total of 22,312 bodies had been recovered since the quake struck.

Authorities have told foreign rescue teams they are no longer needed in Spitak, the worst-hit of the three cities devastated by the earthquake, a Western diplomat said.

Vietnamese withdraw from Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia — Cambodian Prime Minister Hun Sen said Friday Vietnam has withdrawn all civilian and military advisers from the country it invaded 10 years ago, but he insisted the Hanoi-installed government could still hold its own against three rebel armies.

Hun Sen said the advisers left the country as part of a phased withdrawal of Vietnamese troops from Cambodia that began earlier this year. On Thursday, Hanoi announced 18,000 soldiers were being pulled out from battlefields in western Cambodia, bringing to 50,000 the number of troops withdrawn this year.

Hun Sen said only 50,000 Vietnamese would be left in Cambodia when the latest phase is completed next Wednesday.

"This will not affect the balance of forces on the battlefield due to our Cambodian troops, who are in control of all areas from which the Vietnamese have withdrawn," he said.

"Vietnamese assistance ... is considered very important, but final success depends on the Cambodian people," he told about 150 foreign correspondents.

Vietnam has promised to pull out the remainder of its forces by the end of 1990.

An estimated 180,000 Soviet-backed Vietnamese troops invaded Cambodia in 1978 after a series of border clashes and quickly swept across the country to topple the radical communist Khmer Rouge regime backed by China.

Chief Prosecutor Anders Helin turned in a written application for a remand in custody of the suspect, an important legal step required for police to continue to hold a suspect pending the filing of formal charges.

National Prosecutor Jorgen Almladh, who was present during the suspect's second day of interrogation Thursday, told reporters, "We believe that there are good grounds to suspect him of the murder of Olof Palme."

"He has been interrogated today and will be interrogated again," Almladh said.

"The suspicions against him remain," he said, adding police believed the man acted alone.

Salinas announces economic strategy

MEXICO CITY — President Carlos Salinas de Gortari announced his new government's economic plan for 1989, stressing that it will be a year of transition in which the nation's growth "cannot be hurried."

"It must be pointed out that the object of these strategies is to raise the standard of living of the Mexican people and to improve the distribution of funds," said the reform-minded Salinas, echoing a major theme of his Dec. 1 inauguration speech.

He said Mexico will seek to negotiate its foreign debt with overseas creditors, and hinted that the government may take a tougher line than in past years. Mexico has always played the "good boy" among Latin American debtors, refusing to call for suspension on its debt payments, he said.

Mexico is the developing world's second-largest debtor nation — with a foreign debt of some $104 billion. Current servicing of the debt costs the country around $10 billion a year, or some 5 percent of its gross domestic product.

"We will only pay if the debt servicing is compatible with the nation's growth," Salinas said.

North Korean defector to stay in Japan

TOKYO — A former North Korean soldier who stowed away on a Japanese freighter five years ago will be allowed to live in Japan for humanitarian reasons, the Justice Ministry announced Friday.

The decision is certain to make it harder for the Japanese government to negotiate for the release of two Japanese seamen held hostage in North Korea.

The ministry said the defector, Sgt. Min Hong Gu, 26, was granted a three-year permit that will pave the way for him to live in the country permanently.

Ministry officials said Min was suffering from mental problems because of his four-year confinement in Japan.

The officials said Min, who originally sought asylum in South Korea, now says he wants to stay in Japan.

The communist government in Pyongyang earlier demanded the two Japanese held in North Korea be traded for Min.

Min stowed away aboard the 235-ton Japanese vessel Fujisan Maru No. 18 in November 1983, saying he wanted to live in the free world.

He originally sought asylum in South Korea, but the Japanese government has refrained from sending him to Seoul, pending negotiations with North Korea for the release of the two Japanese sailors.

Parliament approves new prime minister

SEOUL, South Korea — The South Korean parliament Friday confirmed the appointment of retired army Lt. Gen. Kang Young-hoon as prime minister but two-fifths of the legislators abstained, saying his nomination was improper.

Kang was tapped for the post last week by President Roh Tae-woo, who reshuffled his cabinet and the leadership of the ruling party in a move Roh said was designed to hasten democratic reforms.

Of the 299 National Assembly members, 160 voted in favor of Kang's nomination, 10 voted against and 123 abstained. Five members were absent and one vote was declared invalid.

Members of two opposition groups — the Party for Peace and Democracy led by Kim Dae-jung and Kim Young-sam's Democratic Unification Party — cast blank votes, which were treated as abstentions.

The opposition parties decided not to support Kang's appointment on grounds Roh allegedly failed to follow proper legal procedures in making the nomination. In addition, the groups alleged Kang once performed public relations work in the United States for former President Park Chung-hee. Aides to Kang denied the charge.

U.S. moves swiftly in PLO talks

United Press International

TUNIS, Tunisia — American Ambassador Robert H. Pelletreau moved swiftly to establish contact with the Palestine Liberation Organization and U.S. officials said the first direct talks with the PLO could take place Friday.

Pelletreau telephoned PLO headquarters in Tunis Thursday morning, less than 24 hours after the Reagan administration said PLO chief Yasser Arafat had met its conditions for a dialogue by recognizing Israel and renouncing terrorism.

Secretary of State George Shultz, in announcing the U.S. decision on Wednesday, designated Pelletreau as the American representative for the unprecedented talks with the PLO.

Adnan Siddiqi, information officer at the U.S. Embassy in Tunis, confirmed the Thursday telephone call to the PLO.

"The ambassador did contact the PLO by telephone this morning," said Siddiqi. "That is all they are going to say right now. No date or names of people who would be involved in the talks have been set."

But in Washington, State Department spokesman Charles Redman said Thursday the first direct meeting between the two sides "will take place soon, maybe tomorrow (Friday)."

Tunisian sources said the talks will be held at about 5 p.m. (11 a.m. EST) at the Dar al Saada

Palace, 12 miles north of Tunis in the suburban neighborhood of La Marsa.

Dar al Saada, or "house of happiness" in Arabic, is a sprawling palace often used as a guest house for visiting heads of state. Last week Libyan leader Col. Moammar Gadhafi stayed at the palace during a visit to Tunisia.

The embassy in Tunis scheduled a press briefing for U.S. journalists at 6 a.m. EST Friday.

Arafat, whose statements at a Wednesday news conference in Geneva triggered the dramatic U.S. policy reversal, was reported in Bucharest, Romania, late Thursday.

A PLO official in Tunis said the Palestinian representatives to the first talks would be executive committee members Abdullah Horani and Yasser Abd Rabboh, and Abdel Latif Abu Hijleh, deputy chief of the PLO political wing.

Non-American Western diplomats in Tunis said the Tunisian Foreign Ministry would help provide a neutral location for the talks, away from the American Embassy and PLO offices.

The United States had refused to hold direct talks with the PLO, which it considered a terrorist organization, since the group surfaced in 1964.

But at a Wednesday news conference in Geneva, Arafat recognized Israel's right to exist and renounced terrorism. Hours later, in Washington, Shultz announced the Reagan administration was reversing its policy because Arafat's statements met the U.S. conditions for opening talks.

Israel expressed "regret" over the U.S. decision and reiterated its rejection of any dealings with the PLO "terrorist organization."

At the United Nations' European headquarters in Geneva, meanwhile, the General Assembly wrapped up its historic debate on Palestine by calling Thursday for Israeli withdrawal from Arab territory captured in 1967, including Jerusalem, and the dismantling of all Israeli settlements. A vote on the resolution was 138-2, with the United States and Israel voting no.

Ailing Quebec coach resigns

Ron Lapointe stepped down as Quebec Nordiques coach late Thursday night, saying he had been diagnosed earlier in the day to have a tumor in his kidney.

Lapointe, 39, made the announcement following the Nordiques' 6-4 victory over the Montreal Canadiens.

The Nordiques' doctor, Pierre Beauchemin, said Lapointe had a "serious" tumor and Lapointe would be hospitalized in the next few days. Lapointe coached Thursday, though Beauchemin insisted he not coach.

"I got slapped in the face this morning with the bad news and tonight the guys won a game for me," Lapointe said. "We proved that we have a good team and that we will be in the playoffs this season."

Holz named coach of year

HOUSTON — Notre Dame's Lou Holtz, whose unbeaten and top-ranked Irish play for the national championship Jan. 2, Wednesday won the Paul "Bear" Bryant Coach of the Year Award for the second time.

Holtz, who won the award in 1977 at Arkansas, beat Miami's Jimmy Johnson, West Virginia's Don Nehlen and Southern Cal's Larry Smith.

The award was presented by Alabama Athletic Director Steve Sloan. The winner is selected by the Football Writers' Association of America. Holtz also was named United Press International's college football Coach of the Year Wednesday.

The Irish, 11-0, can win the national title in the Fiesta Bowl against No. 3 West Virginia, 11-0.

"Going into the season the way we ended last year, people felt we'd be a rather poor football team," Holtz said.

BASKETBALL

UNLV shoots down Irvine

Jerry Tarkenton admitted he wasn't himself. His Nevada-Las Vegas team was.

Employing its usual tenacious, full-court defense, the 12th-ranked Runnin' Rebels forced 29 turnovers Thursday night to defeat California-Irvine 100-85 in the Big West Conference season-opener for both.

The Rebels, 3-2, were playing their first game since Monday's U.S. Supreme Court decision that the NCAA did not violate the constitutional right to due process of Tarkenton when it ordered his suspension in 1977. This is viewed as a major loss to Tarkenton, who received court order blocking the suspension, but now may be forced to sit out for two years.

Tarkenton said after the game that there had been "a lot of distractions this week."

Asked to elaborate, he said — never specifically mentioning the court decision — "I don't think mentally or emotionally I was into the game as much as I should have been."

Texas wins NCAA title

MINNEAPOLIS — Quandalyn Harrell and Stacie Nichols had 14 kills apiece Thursday night to help Texas sweep previously unbeaten UCLA in three games to start the NCAA Division I Women's Volleyball Championships.

The Lady Longhorns moved to Saturday's championship by scores of 16-14, 15-11, and 15-13 over the tournament favorite Bruins, who had dealt Texas one of its two regular-season losses.

"We couldn't be more happy," Texas Coach Mick Haley said. "This is really a special group of players."

UCLA Coach Andy Banachowski said: "I thought they executed awfully well tonight. They didn't do anything we didn't expect. They just did it awfully well."

The Bruins used defense and setting to take leads of 11-7 and 13-10 in the first game.

The Lady Longhorns' experience and power, led by Katie Salens' nine kills, began to be felt as Texas rebounded to tie 13-13.

Lady 'Noles crush Howell

By CHRIS FISTER
 Herald sports editor

CASSELBERRY — John McNamara was one of many people in Sanford who knew there was one heck of a girls basketball team hiding somewhere in the hallowed halls of Seminole High School. Unfortunately, that awesome team had only made brief appearances in the early going of the 1988-89 season.

On Thursday night, the Lady Seminoles finally discarded their pretenders masks — hopefully for good this time — and displayed the fine-tuned excellence that makes them one of the most highly regarded teams in the state in Class 3A.

SHS, playing at its unstoppable best, roared to a 44-19 halftime lead and cruised to a 73-53 Seminole Athletic Conference victory over Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks before 121 fans at Lake Howell High.

"When we play like we did tonight, we feel like no one can stop us," junior center Sheri Reddicks, who poured in a game-high 31 points and ripped down 16 rebounds, said. "We played really bad against Mainland (56-41 loss on Monday) but now it looks like we have everything together. We're definitely looking forward to playing Mainland again."

Seminole ran its record to 7-2 overall and snatched sole possession of first place in the SAC (2-0 record). Lake Howell now stands at 6-4 overall and 2-1 in the league.

"The first half tonight was the best we've played this season," McNamara said. "If we can continue to play like that, we can hold our own with anyone."

While Reddicks helped Seminole dominate the inside, the senior guard tandem of Adrian Hillman and Aretha Riggins ran the offense, especially the fast break, to near perfection. Hillman finished with 22 points, eight rebounds and four assists while Riggins contributed nine points and six assists. It is the resurgence of Riggins that has enabled Hillman to move from the point to the two guard position, where Hillman is one of the most dangerous players in the state.

"Having Aretha (Riggins) out there opens up so many different possibilities for us," McNamara said. "It enables us to move people around more, especially Adrian, who we can play at the two or three positions. Adrian had a great all-around game tonight."

The hungry Lady Seminoles took charge immediately Thursday night and showed the Lady Hawks no mercy in the opening half, with

Rams reject Bulldogs

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald correspondent

DELAND — Lake Mary, getting 26 points and 11 rebounds from senior forward Bernard Mitchell, moved to 3-2 on the season with a 73-60 defeat of DeLand High School in Seminole Athletic Conference basketball action Thursday night before 401 fans at DeLand High.

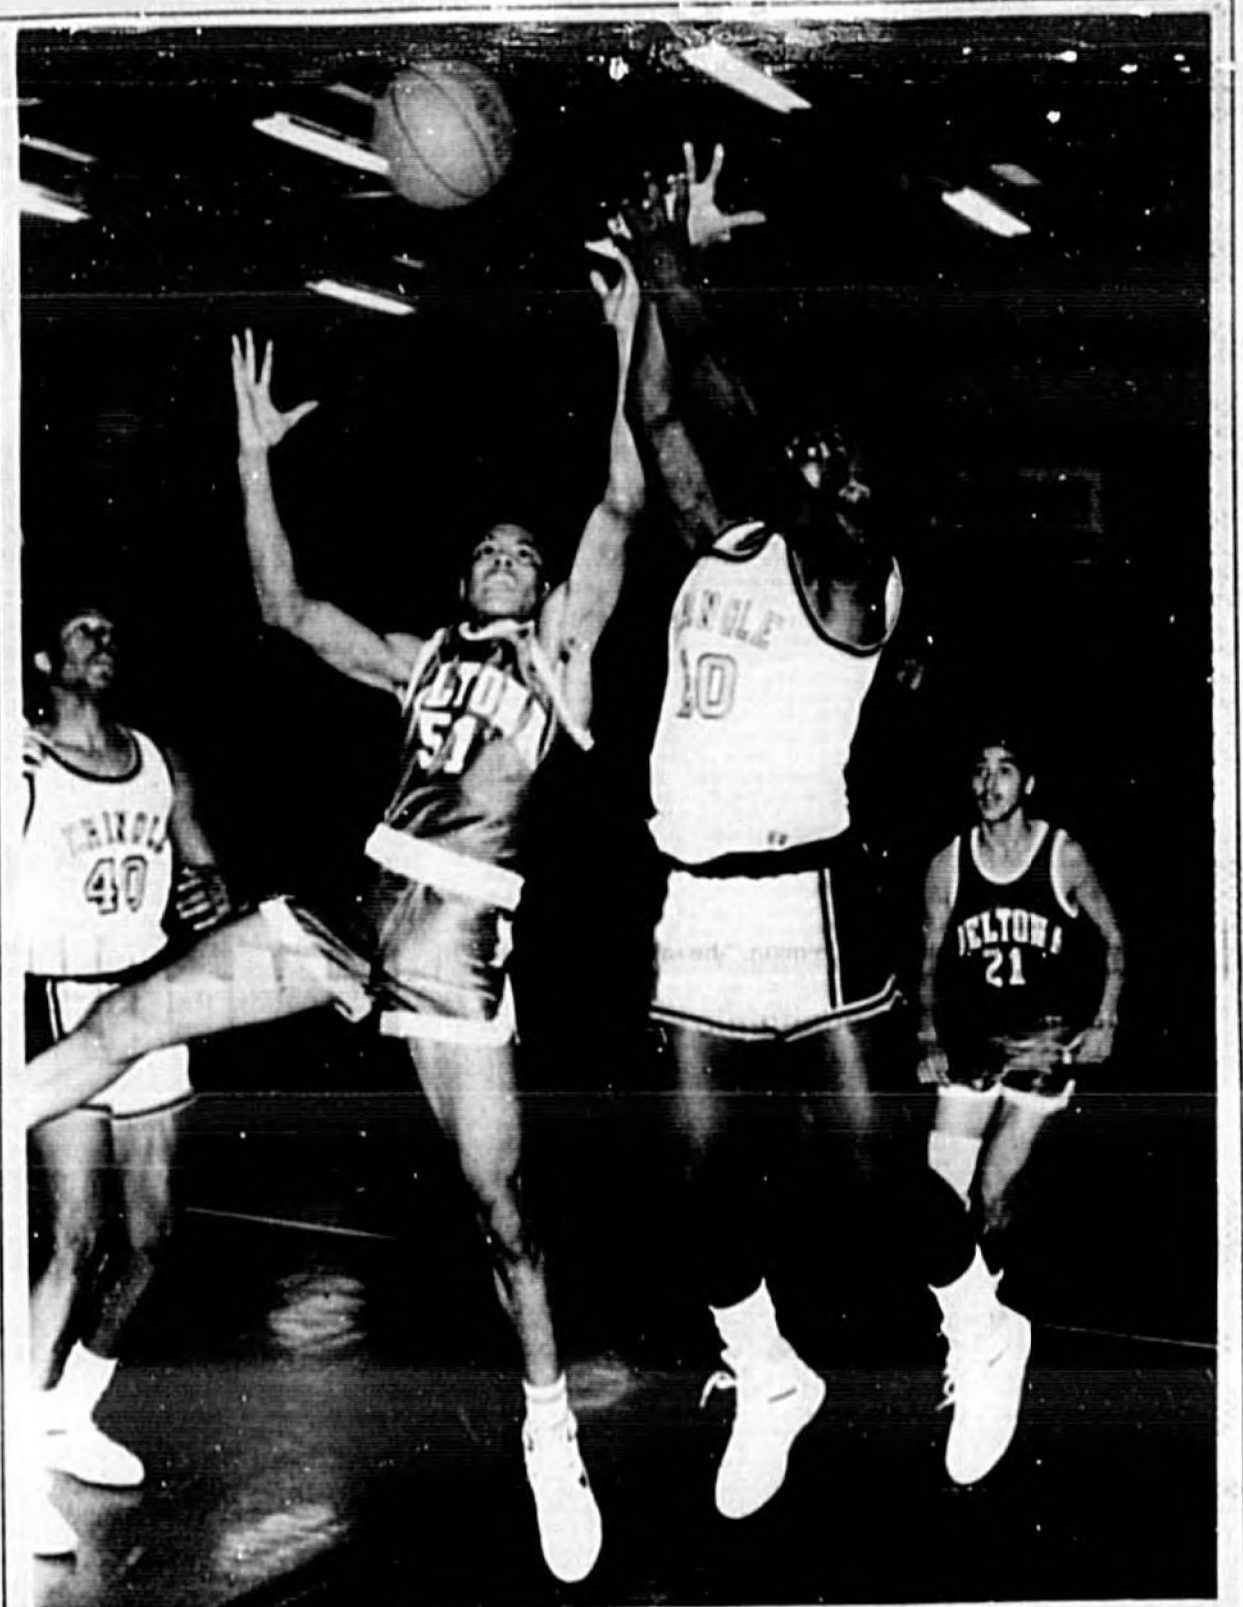

It was a big win for the Rams because DeLand is one of the toughest places to win in. But Lake Mary has very little time to enjoy the victory because tonight the Rams travel to play in another very difficult place to win when they take on Wymore Tech at Eatonville.

DeLand falls to 3-4 on the season and goes to Daytona for the Big 4 Tournament Friday and Saturday night. On Friday the Bulldogs take on Seabreeze before taking on either Mainland or Spruce Creek Saturday.

The Rams also outrebounded the Bulldogs 40-34 which is a far cry from what happened in the pre-season jamboree. "In the jamboree they (the Bulldogs) rebounded like we stole something from them," said Lake Mary coach Willie Richardson. "Even when we got the rebound they would just reach in and take the ball away from us. So we knew what we had to do. If we continue to improve our rebounding and defense we're going to be much better."

The game started off slowly with DeLand's Denny Hinson getting the first points of the night on a layup at the 7:00 mark off a nice feed from Connie Coggins. Lake Mary got its first points fifteen seconds later on a jumper from sophomore center Chris Davidson. The Bulldogs scored the next four points on baskets from Jerry Hill and Hinson to take a 6-2 lead with 5:45 to play in the quarter. After going scoreless for 2:45 the Rams finally got their act together and outscored DeLand 7-0 over the next 3:15 to take a 9-6 lead. Davidson scored off a feed by Mike Merthie. Jeff Draughton scored on a pass from Mitchell, and Mitchell made a 3-point shot from the left wing. DeLand scored the next five points. Mike Ibruton got a basket and a free throw and Karl Brushhag scored on a rebound to give the Bulldogs an 11-9 lead. Mitchell scored on a rebound of a

'Hounds pin Oak Ridge, 51-29

By CHUCK BURGESS
 Herald correspondent

LONGWOOD — The grappling Greyhounds of Lyman High used seven pins, a decision, and an injury default to pound the Pioneers of Oak Ridge, 51-29, in prep wrestling action at Lyman High in front of 101 fans Thursday night.

With the victory, the 'Hounds ran their record to 4-1 on the year and will take the holidays off to rest for their January 4th showdown against Dr. Phillips.

Even with the win, head coach Jeff Hess wasn't pleased with his team's performance even though his tough young Greyhounds hammered the awestruck Pioneers.

"I didn't think we wrestled very well tonight," Hess said of the 'Hounds' performance. "I'm not happy because we're still making a lot of mistakes that we've been working on at practice. It's all due to our inexperience, but that will change in time."

The Greyhounds dropped the first match as Oak Ridge's Tim Steltens pinned Richard Aikley in 1:12 to give the Pioneers a quick 6-0 lead. Lyman's Willie Campos, wrestling at 112, answered the challenge with a 29 second pin over Manich Arubu and Greg Goins, at 119, was leading 6-3 in his match with Jeff Pabalan before Pabalan had to retire from the match with an injury default.

The Greyhounds' James Glammo dropped a tough major decision, 27-11, to Ryan Ashley and then the power of the Lyman lineup took control as David Mengel, Joshua Smith, Daniel Glammo, Mark Decker, Thomas Calliguri, Derek Moore, and Tanner Morrison all scored wins for the Greyhounds. "I was happy with Campos, Goins, Morrison, and Smith tonight," Hess said. "We're definitely rebuilding this year, but we're finally starting to come around as a team. We're a real young team, but what we lack in experience we make up with aggressiveness."

With 14 freshmen, 13 sophomores, and only two juniors and two seniors, the Greyhounds have a long road to hoe before they come up in the ranks at the state level.

"We've got a strong nucleus and we know we're going to take our bumps and bruises," Hess said of his young pack of scrappy 'Hounds. "We're just doing the best we can do. All we're trying to do is get as much experience as possible."

The Greyhound junior varsity showed that there is a horde of young talent being bred at Lyman as they destroyed Oak Ridge, 54-15.

In other prep wrestling action on Thursday night, the Lake Brantley Patriots ran their season record to 4-2 with a 47-24 takedown of the Trojans of Evans.

The Patriots used nine victories to jump all over the Trojans. Mike Grimaldi, Tom Gill, Nick Campbell, Scott and Brian Meredith, Greg Wyka, Craig Streetman, Paul Schulze, and Randy Hughes all scored wins in the thrashing.

"We were kind of hesitant going in," Brantley mentor Kevin Carpenter said. "But six of the nine wins we had were pins. Our lower weights really came through for us. Randy Hughes was a big surprise. He really came through for us tonight."

Brown: Lake Howell's sharpshooter

By DAVID CORCORAN
Herald correspondent

To appreciate just how pure the shot of Jennifer Brown is, you have to see her in action. Since the introduction of girls basketball to Seminole County, there have not been many with better form than the Lake Howell High senior.

Along with having a nice shot, Brown is also able to take it as far away from the hoop as most girls as she leads the county in three-point shooting as well. Brown, in her second year playing for the Lady Hawks, is averaging 17.3 points per game and also helps out underneath with 8.8 rebounds per outing.

Brown teamed with Tammy Lewis and Kelley Grider to form a formidable threesome a year ago when the Lady Silver Hawks won the district title. But this season, Lewis is doing her thing at Rollins College and Grider is leading Seminole Community College, so Brown is taking center stage, as the Hawks top scoring threat.

"I always considered myself as someone who believes in giving a 110% effort on the court," said Brown. "I live, eat and breath basketball 24 hours a day."

Brown, who started playing in the 7th grade at Orangewood Christian School, transferred to Lake Howell her junior year because, "I wanted to find out if I could play against the better teams in 3 and 4A. Instead of the Class A schools."

In fact, Brown and Lewis made quite a team last season as Brown points out. "One day in practice, Tammy and I were shooting baskets, and I made a 360 degree angle, and Tammy said to me, what's this, the Jennifer Brown Show?"

"And then Tammy made some great moves herself, and I said to her, hey Tammy, is this the Tammy Lewis shootout?"

Brown, who's undecided about her future after her playing days are over at Lake Howell, would like to play for a Division I college and have a career in coaching when her playing days are over.

Lake Howell head coach Dennis Godfrey believes there are few athletes on the boys or girls level in Seminole County that give as much total effort, as well as production on the prep level. "Jennifer Brown gets more out of her ability than most athletes playing. She's a great help to the younger players on the team, and she's a winner."

Mora scores record five goals in Rams' romp

By MARK BLYTHE
Herald sports writer

DELAND — John Mora set a school record as he scored five goals, all in the first half, to lead the Lake Mary's boys soccer team to a 10-0 victory over DeLand in a Seminole Athletic Conference matchup at Spec Martin Stadium.

The Rams, the state's fourth ranked 4A team, improved to 5-0-1 and will return to action tonight against Lakeland, the fifth ranked team in class 4A. The Bulldogs fell to 1-3-2 on the season.

"John (Mora) finished off real well tonight," Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said. "He was set up real well also, and when you can finish off like he can you're going to score."

Mora opened his scoring escapade just 2:30 into the game when he intercepted a throw in and outdied the DeLand goalie and gave the Rams the lead for good. Mora then broke through again 5:00 into the game when he took a double assist when Dargen Forde went on a run and served a ball to Jimmy Abbot who dropped the ball back to Mora who connected on the goal.

Mora ripped in another shot 21:00 into the game off an Eric Ravandall assist. Ravandall went down the right side and hit Mora in the middle and Mora drilled a 25-yard shot to up the lead to 3-0.

Mora struck again a minute later when Alex Acosta stole an errant pass and fed Mora in the middle to up the lead to 4-0. John Brooks then put in a goal 24:00 into the game off an assist from Mora.

Acosta then hit in a header off an assist from Brooks to increase the lead to 6-0. Mora scored his final goal of the night when he came up with an interception and netted a 10-yard shot with four minutes remaining in the half to give the Rams a 7-0 lead at the half.

Forde opened the scoring in the second half as he took a serve from Chris Duran and Forde finished it off with 51 minutes gone in the game. Mike Murray then picked up a loose ball and scored 57 minutes into the game to up the lead to 9-0. Murray then scored the game's final goal off a Brooks assist with four minutes to play.

"Everyone played well but the real star of the game was Manny Hoidan," McCorkle said. "He had a magical match, he was all over the field, he didn't figure in the scoring but he came up with a number of loose balls and got the ball to the people who were scoring."

Lake Mary's junior varsity squad also won, taking a 2-0 decision over the Bulldogs. Brian Cuduto and Tony Lagos scored a goal each for the Rams.

BOONE TOPS BRANTLEY

ORLANDO — Despite being outplayed for most of the game, Orlando Boone took advantage of a Lake Brantley breakdown in the second half to post a 1-0 win over the Patriots in boys' soccer action.

The lone goal came with 13 minutes to play. Lake Brantley out-shot Boone 14-12 and took four corner kicks to Boone's one. Both Patriot keeper Kirk Klafter and his Boone counterpart each made six saves.

"The first half was the best we've played in two weeks," said Lake Brantley coach Jim Brody. "Unfortunately, we didn't finish any of our opportunities."

"In the first half, we had four outstanding scoring chances in the box, but we didn't fight hard enough to put them in. In the second half, we played fairly well, but they got a chance, scored the goal and it won it for them."

Lake Brantley's record is now 1-5-1 while Boone improved to 2-4.

LADY RAMS ROLL

LAKE MARY — Backed by a defense that didn't even allow a shot, the Lake Mary girls soccer team gave an impressively controlled effort in beating the DeLand Lady Bulldogs 4-0.

With 12 minutes gone in the game, Donna Rohr scored all the goals the Lady Rams would need by converting a penalty kick. Before the half ended, Lake Mary stretched its lead to 2-0 when Julie Baumhofer scored on an assist from Marcy Lazar.

In the second half, Lazar scored a goal herself, Michelle Mattingly getting credit for the assist. With five minutes left, Chrissie Snow scored a goal, Debbie Hutchings picking up the assist.

A look at the statistics shows how one-sided the game was and how bad the score could have been had Lake Mary wanted to press the issue. The Lady Rams outshot DeLand 38-0, taking seven corner kicks while DeLand had none.

In goal, Tammy Scott notched another shutout, without making a save, lowering her goals-against average to 0.2. DeLand goalie Deena Pelland made 18 saves during the game.

"Tammy did get a lot of touches on the ball," said Lake Mary coach Bill Eissele. "We dropped the ball back to her quite a bit and worked on building from the back."

Eissele singled out defenders Jamie Dombick, Amy Paschoal and Anнемiecke Stingerock for their fine play. He also lauded the offensive efforts of Leann Bazile, Julie Baumhofer and Debbie Hutchings.

With the win, Lake Mary improved its perfect record to 10-0 while DeLand stayed winless at 0-6-0.

SHS hosts Lake Howell

From staff reports

Seminole High hopes to make the best of its two-game homestand tonight when it hosts Lake Howell in the Seminole Athletic Conference opener for both teams. JV action tips off at 6 p.m. with varsity starting at 7:45.

After six straight games on the road, SHS had its first home game on Wednesday and defeated Deltona, 69-60. The Tribe looks for its first conference win tonight and also hopes to keep up its momentum going into next week's Central Florida

Classic. In other boys basketball games tonight, Lyman hosts Oviedo and Lake Mary is at Wymore Education Center. In girls basketball, Oviedo is at Lyman and Lake Brantley hosts Edgewater. In girls soccer action tonight, Seminole High goes to Lake Howell while Lyman is at Oviedo. In boys soccer, two games between state-ranked teams are on tap as No. 4 Lake Mary (Class 4A) hosts No. 5 Lakeland (Class 4A) and No. 6 Oviedo (Class 3A) goes to No. 8 Land O' Lakes (Class 3A).

Silver Hawks blank 'Noles, 3-0

By DAVID CORCORAN
Herald correspondent

SANFORD — The Lake Howell Silver Hawks, (4-2, 3-2) led by Jason Logan's two goal, and a fine defensive effort, blanked Seminole High School (1-3, 1-4), 3-0 in a Seminole Athletic Conference boys soccer game Thursday night before 51 fans at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium.

Logan, a senior forward, led a second half Hawks surge as he broke open a tight defensive struggle with a goal at the 65:18 mark on a crossing ball from 15 yards out, with an assist from Chris Dzuban that gave the Hawks a 2-0 lead.

"We set up a corner kick, and the wing man hit it towards the box, and I nailed it," said Logan. "It felt good that the team played a good solid game tonight for the win."

The Hawks then put the nail into the 'Noles coffin less than seven minutes later with Logan's second goal, from 10 yards out, with an assist from Chris Davis made it 3-0.

The game started out as a tightly played defensive struggle in the first half in which both defenses used tight checking at the corners to prevent few scoring threats from either side as Seminole got off just 2 shots (6 overall), compared to Lake Howell's 16 (overall).

But the Silver Hawks were able to take a 1-0 lead at the end of the first half on a penalty kick by Greg Davis at the 24:45 mark. Davis blasted the ball past Seminole goalkeeper Sean Sundvall at the right side of the goal. Sundvall played a strong game in the net in a losing effort, as he made several great saves, the score 4-4, Reddicks ignited a 10-point SHS run with two consecutive hoops for a 14-4 lead.

Cathdra Winston's bank shot interrupted the Seminole rally, but only temporarily as the Lady 'Noles then scored the next 10 points of the quarter for a commanding 26-6 lead.

Seminole continued to pour it on in the second quarter as Reddicks, Chineta Gilchrist and Liz Long had a field day in the paint, dominating the boards, swatting Lake Howell shots away like dying quails and scoring almost at will. The Lady Tribe built up a 23-point lead, 44-19, at the half.

"The girls did a heck of a job on the boards tonight, especially on the offensive glass," McNamara said. "I think that's the most offensive rebounds we've had in one game. When we're able to get the ball inside like we were tonight, it opens up the whole game for us."

Lake Howell came back with a much stronger second half but could get no closer than 17 points at any time. Sarina Winston led the Hawks with 11 points and 13 rebounds while Tanya Lewis also had 11 points. Jennifer Brown tossed in nine and Qulya Hawkins added eight.

In junior varsity action Thursday, Seminole picked up its first JV victory, 58-24, over Lake Howell. Shawna Cohen pumped in 22 points for the Lady 'Noles with Julie Francis hitting 14 and Ruth Williams 13.

Sheri Reddicks lays in two of her game-high 31 points Thursday in Seminole High's 73-53 rout of Lake Howell. The Lady 'Noles improved to 7-2 overall and 2-0 in the Seminole Athletic Conference. Herald Photo by Louis Raimondo

Eustis gets by Lady Rams, 52-47

By MARK BLYTHE
Herald sports writer

Rene Monroe and Kristie Cheatum led Eustis to a strong first half surge by Eustis to enable the Lady Panthers to get by Lake Mary, 52-47, Thursday night in girls prep action at Eustis High School.

Lake Mary fell to 2-6 with the loss and will return to action at the Dr. Phillips Christmas Tournament which begins on December 28th at Dr. Phillips High School.

"We played well in the second half but we dug a hole in the first half," Lake Mary coach Anna Van Landingham said. "We need to become more consistent, we always have a bad quarter and in the second quarter Eustis opened up a lead in the second quarter and we could never catch them."

Monroe led the Lady Panthers with 16 points as Cheatum added 14. Tricia Ferguson and Christy Scott each added nine apiece. Amy Kuvach led the Lady Rams with a game-high 17 points with Tara Jackson adding nine and Lisa Johnson seven.

HORNETS TOP TAVARES
Bishop Moore placed three players in double figures to pace the Lady Hornets to a 53-37 victory over Tavares Thursday night in girls basketball action at Tavares High School.

Bishop Moore improved to 5-2 with the win and will return to action Tuesday at Groveland. Tavares fell to 1-4 for the season.

Sophomore Kim Coll led Bishop Moore with 17 points, sophomore Kim Tuloco connected for 16 with Tracie Smith contributing 14. Tanya Powell led all scorers with 18 for the Lady Bulldogs with Marie Fox adding 14.

Country music haven gains fame

Barn nightclub makes hay while Sanford shines

By SUSAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Is old Celery City Sanford on the verge of turning into a new country music Mecca?

It will if the new operators of The Barn, a landmark on U.S. Highway 17-92, have their way. Since taking over management of the country nightclub on May 18, the Hellekson brothers, Bob, 34, and Mike, 25, have routinely scheduled big name country acts as headliners, and always have a professional, national quality, touring country band on duty.

This year, Marie Osmond, Johnny Rodriguez, Billy Joe Royal, and the Bellamy Brothers have headlined at The Barn. And there's more top-of-the-line country entertainment coming to this 18,000-square-foot, red board barn with a shiny silver roof, where you're requested to leave your weapons behind when you enter.

Waylon Jennings was scheduled for January, but will now be a no-show since he underwent heart bypass surgery this week. But Jerry Reed is scheduled for February; Tammy Wynette for March, and Sanford's own Marty Rabon will return with his band, Shenandoah.

This will be a second appearance for Rabon's band, whose "She Doesn't Cry Anymore" and current hit "Mamma Knows," have made it to the top 10 on the country charts.

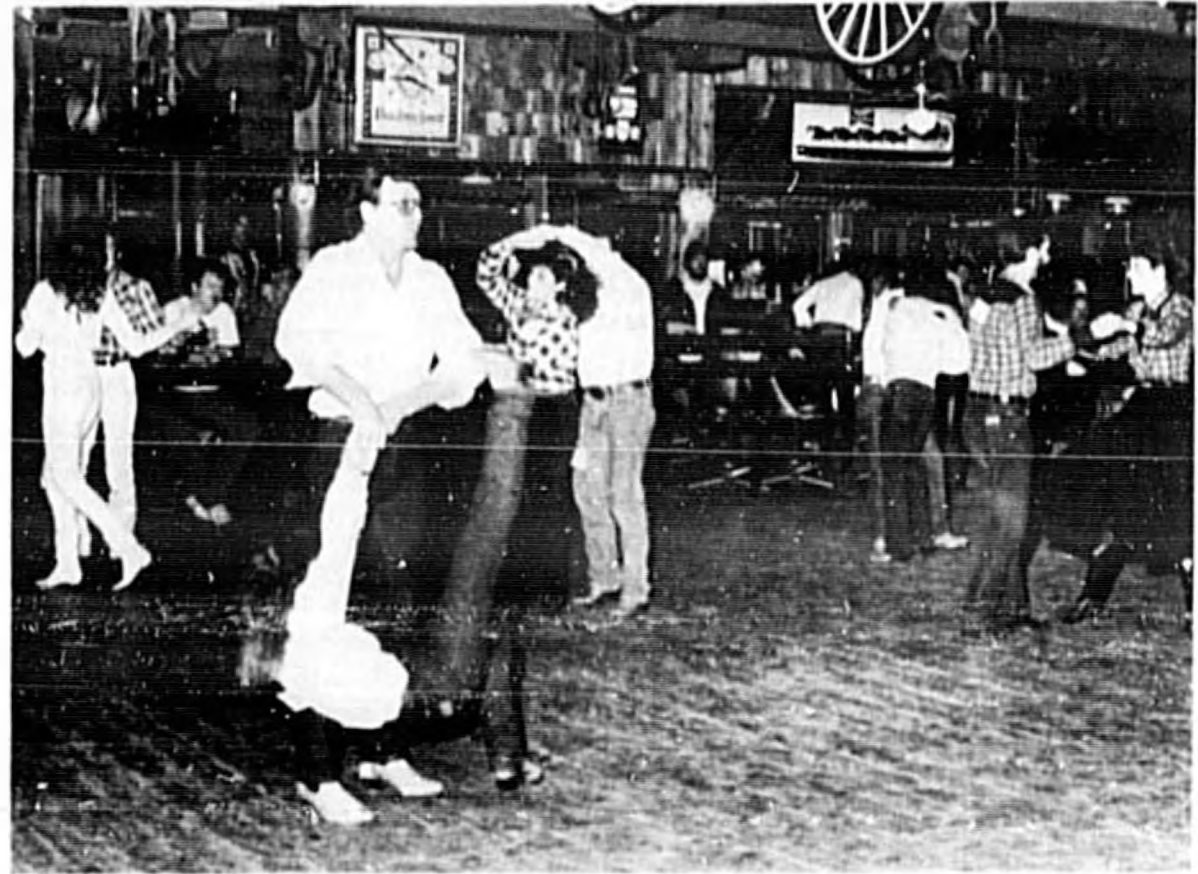

Rabon's September appearance at The Barn was like a homecoming, Bob said, and he expects the same reception when Rabon's band returns.

It was so astonishing to Sanforites to see country music legend George Jones name on The Barn marquee in July that Mike said The Barn's phone rang off the wall.

"They'd say, 'I can't believe George Jones is in Sanford,'" Mike said. His answer was, "Where's your self-respect? Don't you think Sanford's good enough for George Jones?"

The brothers Hellekson admit to being born above the Mason Dixon Line, but were steeped in the country music that suited their parents' taste.

"Don't make us sound like a couple of Yankees. We have deep roots in the South," Mike said as he and his brother ride the crest of country music popularity in a crossover era.

Country is getting stronger all the time. It's becoming more contemporary all the time," Mike said. "But we're not tourist-oriented. We're for the homeboys."

And at The Barn, homeboys can wear their cowboy hats and dance down the soles of their cowboy boots with the two-step western swing line dancing and waltzes six nights a week, except on nights of headliner concerts, when the dance floor is filled with spectators.

It was standing room only in the 800-seat club for the Jones concert with 1,142 tickets sold at $20 per person.

That was the most expensive and most popular performance at The Barn, Bob said. And Jones' name, he anticipated, by failing to show up for performance, kept his date at The Barn. That was a big relief to Bob, who said he means Billboard magazine to determine what acts he wants to book in the club.

The Barn is owned by Mike and Bob's parents, Tom and Edna Hellekson. Their 18-year-old son is involved in the club so that he can be a family business, serving a cream of country crowd.

Jones and many other performers are booked in the club. See Barn, Page 51.

ALPI measures success by aid

This year's theme for the Northern Region Advisory Council of the Agricultural and Labor Program Inc. (ALPI) was "To know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived, this is to have succeeded." By this standard, ALPI has had a successful year.

The annual meeting of ALPI's Northern Region Advisory Council of Winter Haven was held Monday evening at the educational building of the Mt. Pleasant Missionary Baptist Church in Orlando.

The chairman of the northern region, Grace S. Miller, called the meeting to order, while the invocation was given by Pastor J.F. Hargrett, and the welcome was extended by Mary Lou Haack of Lake County. I brought the occasion for the evening.

As the retrospect of the northern region for 1988 was given by Miller, it was clear that the northern region indeed has seen success this year. One of the projects proposed by this region already has been accomplished with the donation of land by the Coca Cola Company for the development of low-rent housing in the Polk County area. This major project was the brainchild of the council.

Musical selections were led by LeRoy Filmore with Leslie Weaver at the piano. Filmore then graciously introduced her husband, Councilman LeRoy Filmore of the Eatonville, who gave the overall aims and objectives of the Agricultural and Labor Program Inc.

This program serves more than 19 counties, helping children through child development centers, migrants, seasonal workers, and non-agricultural workers. People are served regardless of their race, color or ethnic background.

Councilman Filmore encouraged the northern region and ALPI to continue its work in helping those who are in need of the programs offered by the organization.

The introduction of council members were made by vice chairman of the northern region council, Ethel Jones. Members are: Grace Miller, chairman; Marva Y. Hawkins, secretary; Linton Harris, Cilla Scholfield, Mary Lou Haack, Joan Turner, staff liaison; Stan Dixon, area coordinator; and Cheryl Graham, staff assistant.

The new executive director of ALPI, Deloris C. Johnson, was introduced by Miller to give greetings and observations for the evening. Johnson greeted the meeting by giving her experiences and plans for the success and goals for ALPI.

Coca Cola liaison Nathaniel J. Birdsong gave words of wisdom and related his many years of experience and his hope for the continued success of the Agricultural and Labor Program, Inc. in the northern, southern, central, and eastern regions.

Following my introduction of guests, a special presentation was made to the clerical staff members of the Central Florida Community Clinic for their special cooperation in helping to generate clients for the Seminole County area. Stan Dixon, coordinator for Seminole County, does a great service to the migrants, seasonal and agricultural workers in the area.

Many families are served throughout the year and Christmas baskets and toys will be given to families for the Christmas season. Receiving the award on behalf of the clerical staff were Johnnie Smith, the supervisor; Mary Monte; Irene Ithiera; Barbara Whitaker; and Marva Pierce of the Central Florida Community Clinic. Miller gave closing remarks, and the blessing and benediction were given by the Rev. J.F. Hargrett.

Sanford Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta, Inc. will hold their Youth For Christ program for 1988 on Saturday, Dec. 17.

The music mime program will present the brother-sister duo of Maurice Terrell and Yolanda M. Baker.

Maurice, a freshman student at Seminole High, is a drummer in the school's band and is a member of First Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church youth department, the mass choir and the Acteen Club.

Yolanda, a junior at Seminole High, is active in school sports, volleyball, basketball, track and field. She is a president of the First Shiloh Youth Dept., the mass choir and Acteen club.

These two inspiring young people, the children of Delores Terrell of Sanford, are both honor students and very active in the community.

The program will take place at 7 p.m. at Mt. Sinai Missionary Baptist Church, Jerry Avenue and 20th Street. The Rev. L.R. Myers is pastor. Sylvia Stallworth is president of the Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta, Inc.

A seminar on learning to maximize your potential, "Images of the Mind," will be presented by Valerie Harrison, a member of the North Seminole Chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

This seminar will provide an opportunity for taking a personal profile test, learning how personal lifestyle may interfere with maximizing one's potential, learning how behavior style can work in one's favor, and finding out how to respond to people and pressure, and motivating them.

The seminar is slated for Saturday, Jan. 14, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Holiday Inn-Lake Monroe. Lunch will be served. Donations are $49 for non-members and $39 for ABWA members. For reservations, call Valerie Harrison at 330-4448.

The resident of the Good Samaritan Home will present a religious playlet for the Christmas season on Sunday, Dec. 18, at 6 p.m. at the home. The community is invited to witness the activity by the residents of the home.

The annual Pink and Green Ball will be held on Friday, Dec. 30, from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. at the Sanford Civic Center. ABC and The House Rockers will provide the music.

The community is invited to share this fun night with Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. Tickets may be purchased from any AKA member or at the door for a donation of $10 per person.

This special affair will help support the scholarship fund.

The Sanford Chapter of AKA (Kappa Sigma Omega Chapter) held installation of officers for 1989 on the evening of Dec. 9.

The following sorors were installed for the coming year by Past Basileus, Soror Mary Whitehurst: Queen S. Jones, basileus; Deloris Myers, anti-basileus; Donothia Fogle, grammarian; Bebra Alexander, anti-grammarian; Kathryn J. Alexander, epistoleus; Geraldine D. Wright, tantious hos; Sandra Petty, financial grammarian; Melissa Roberts, hodegus; Susie Blackshear, philatet; and Victoria B. Smith, ivy leaf reporter.

Happy Birthday to Oscar "Four" Merthur, Bernadette Dixon Merthur, Belinda DeLoe, and Alton Miller.

Better looking son gets all the praise

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of two healthy, precious boys, ages 3 and 5. Both are very attractive children, but the younger ("Adam") has strikingly beautiful red hair, and every time we go out in public, someone is sure to make a fuss over him while his older brother ("Aaron") is silently hurt.

I know these people would never be intentionally unkind, and they're not even aware of what they may be doing to the other child. Surely they could find something nice to say about the other boy to include him. I hurt for Aaron, and try to include him myself by pulling him close and saying, "Yes, God has certainly blessed me with two fine-looking sons."

I know this situation bothers Aaron because we have discussed it more than once, and the jealousy is already too pronounced for my liking. I reassure him that what's inside counts for more than what's "out side" and that it's not easy for a small child to understand.

Abby phrase remind people never to fuss over one child to the exclusion of the other, especially when it is based on physical appearance alone. Sometimes what is meant to be an act of generosity toward one can be an act of cruelty to another.

TORN MOM

DEAR MOM: I'm sure there are many parents who will identify with this problem. Thank you for the reminder.

DEAR ABBY: My wife works in the same factory with my best friend. Recently, my best friend became my wife's supervisor. As a boss, he's a real jerk. He treats his people—including my wife—quite harshly. Yet, come Friday nights, he acts like nothing has changed, and he wants to socialize as couples. I say that no real friend would treat a guy's wife that way. My wife thinks we should overlook his behavior and remain social friends. I say the partying is over. Who's right?

ADVICE

MAD IN MONTANA

DEAR MAD: Consider the possibility that your friend is bending over backward so he can't be accused of showing favoritism to his best friend's wife. Your wife is right. Lighten up.

DEAR ABBY: I sent for your cookbook and just love it. Our 12-year-old son made your fruitcake. It was the best fruitcake we've ever tasted, and he couldn't get over how easy it was to make. We plan to make some for Christmas gifts.

Here's our question: Some of your recipes call for sherry. Abby, two of our close friends are recovering alcoholics. Would using just a few drops of sherry be permissible?

MRS. J.C., COLUMBUS, GA.

DEAR MRS. J.C.: Not even one drop of alcohol is permissible for a recovering alcoholic. The sherry is not essential to the fruitcake recipe. Omit it entirely.

The Barn

formers are taking a message back to Nashville and across the nation that Sanford is becoming a hot country spot, where performers like to appear. The Barn, Mike said, has been mentioned on several national television broadcasts and has people wondering, "Where is Sanford, Florida? And what's drawing the country giants there?"

The thing that draws country music buffs to The Barn, Bob said, is the opportunity for fans on the front row to be within 6 feet of the star. The atmosphere is more intimate than possible in a civic center, and food and beverages are served by waitresses.

Each performer draws a different audience, Bob said, some came from as far away as Jacksonville and Palm Beach to see Osmond.

He said The Barn has no cover charge except for $2 on Friday and Saturday nights. The club is open six nights, 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tuesday through Sunday. On Wednesday are free dance lessons and a dance contest. Private dance lessons are available for a fee on Wednesday and Sunday nights. Minors are admitted for dance lessons before 9 p.m., Bob said.

The scheduling of top per-

formers and the cost of tickets, which are usually around $15 in advance and $15 at the door, depends on who's hot, who's in the area and willing to come to Sanford, and the fee the performer charges the club.

When a headliner isn't scheduled, there's nightly dancing and what Mike said is the hottest dance band in Central Florida. The area's top country radio station, K92 FM, sometimes hosts concerts and helps promote at 110 West Virginia. K92 party is scheduled for Jan. 11, Bob said.

The homegirls outnumber the club featured in the movie "Urban Cowboy."

The interior, cedar wood space is open with hunter's trophies, antiques, beer barrels, rustic wood and barrel tables and neon beverage signs accenting the atmosphere. There's an upper loft that seats 200, plus a pool room with four tables, video and dart games, and a jukebox. There's a big-screen TV and capability for video transmission to the loft of the action on stage.

Snacks like Barn Burgers and pizza are on the menu. And the Barn Bar is the official club drink, a schnapps concoction offered to birthday celebrants, which Mike said lives up to its name.

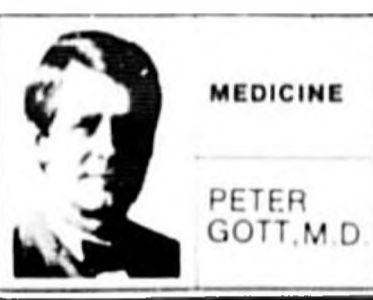

Since 1941 when The Barn was built as a citrus packing house, it's been hard to overlook on the Sanford scene. It became a night club in 1981 and in 1988, Bob said, began putting Sanford on the country music map in addition to giving the down-home folks a place to party, country style.

For the Hellexsons, Willie Nelson would be the ultimate Barn booking. "If I could," Travis George said, "the fantasy goes on and on. But if Sanford's Barn, the Hellexsons turn the country music fans' fantasy into reality."

Food hard to swallow

DEAR DR. GOTT: After three or more bites of food, everything gets stuck. I have a burning sensation in my diaphragm, develop hiccoughs and feel like my esophagus has a knot in it. If I take a drink with every bite, then belch, I'm all right. I'm a retiree, and this is embarrassing and painful.

DEAR READER: You seem to be suffering from an ailment in your esophagus, the muscular tube that propels food from your throat to your stomach. Your symptoms could have many causes, including poor muscular contraction, spasm, inflammation, hiatal hernia, ulceration or tumor.

Ordinarily, esophageal symptoms are diagnosed by either of two tests.

The older, more traditional examination is called a barium swallow. You drink some thick, flavored fluid that coats your esophagus while a radiologist examines you using a fluoroscope X-ray. This test is simple and safe. It requires little preparation and will show inflammation, blockage or problems with peristalsis (muscular movement of the esophagus).

The second, newer test, gastroscopy, is usually performed by a gastroenterologist—an intestinal specialist. During the procedure, you are lightly sedated and the doctor passes a lighted, flexible fiberoptic tube through your mouth, down your esophagus and into your stomach. By looking at the lining of your esophagus, the specialist can usually determine the cause of symptoms.

You should see a doctor for one of these tests. Once your condition is diagnosed, the physician can suggest treatment.

For more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report: Hiatal Hernia. Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3669. (C) 1988, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
December 17, 1988
Your material prospects for the year ahead look rather encouraging, but you will have to carefully monitor your extravagant inclinations. Don't spend everything you make.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A change of pace will be helpful today, especially if the week has been a bit hectic. Plan something of a pleasurable nature that you can share with fun-loving pals. Know where to look for romance, and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is a good day to take care of a critical matter that you've been planning but haven't finalized as of yet. Remove this thorn from your side.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll feel better about life today if you don't let yourself get too tied down. Try to plan your day so that you'll have freedom to move around.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be alert, because you may be able to capitalize on something today that others will fail to recognize for its true worth. You'll know it when you see it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Impatient inclinations could work against your best interest today. In your more important involvements, buckle down a bit and take time to plan your moves in advance.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Something might occur today that you will find very disturbing. If brought out into the open, it can be cleared up quickly. However, if you hide it, it will continue to smolder.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your enthusiasm could be reawakened today regarding a project or venture in which you have lost interest. The fire might be ignited by a friend.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Possibilities for fulfilling your ambitions look extremely favorable today, especially if there is a particular objective about which you're strongly motivated.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Some recently acquired knowledge can be put to good use today. Don't be afraid to utilize in life what you've learned from a book.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's best not to let any more time lapse regarding a business situation with which you're displeased. Positive changes can be made today if you're willing to try.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Team effort is required for success today, so be sure you're just as industrious as your counterparts. Both must strive to share the load.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Try to focus your efforts on finding new ways to increase your earnings. There are opportunities that can be developed from your present circumstances. (C) 1988, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

SOAPS UPDATE

ALL MY CHILDREN: Palmer sent a limousine to pick up Marissa and Jeremy's son, David, who arrived in Pine Valley. A drunk Jeremy told David that he hopes they will become friends. Natalie questioned Marissa's friendship with Palmer, then a margarita who probably intends to use her in some kind of plot. Alice, who works in Nick's nightclub, tipped Creed to the fact that Nick and Julie had agreed to get married. Later, Nick and Julie approached the justice of the peace who had agreed to marry them, but were stunned when they suddenly saw Creed. Tom and Brooke held a memorial service for Laura. Adam insisted on going with Brooke and Tom to a Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) meeting. Jackson told Travis that they are brothers. Erica fumed when Mona told Travis he is married to Erica. Will and Benny realized that Alice is working for Creed. Barbara is very depressed.

ANOTHER WORLD: Felicia admitted to Mitch that as a teen-ager she became pregnant but her baby, daughter, was born dead. Felicia also said that he hopes Noah made life miserable for her after he learned about her pregnancy. Sam asked out on Amanda after learning that she knew Rachel had faked his one man all show. Caroline was devastated when she received a telegram from her father telling her that her mother had died. Cass comforted Caroline, while Evan said he couldn't deal with her pain. As part of her undercover story on Video Match, Amanda made a video tape intended to solicit dates. Vicky agreed to let Jamie be her 14. Marie partner. Pilara accepted an offer to stay at Mary's home after she moved home with Helen, who beats Pilara. Ruben asked his sister, Ronnie, to help him with his problem. Marley is upset Ben scheduled her next operation during the holidays.

AT THE WORLD TURNS: Rod was pregnant but she admitted that he is Rod's (Josh) estranged father, Rod Landry. After telling Cal that Elizabeth had died of a heart attack, Rod refused to have anything more to do with Cal. Glenn and Shannon were suspicious of Grant after realizing that Grant outplayed their conversation about Erica's whereabouts. Grant told Bob that he's advised about his mental state. Duncan is furious that the police haven't been able to catch Elliot. Kirk insisted to Ellie that Eva is the only woman he's ever loved. Grant tried to convince Tom that Earl is a fortune hunter who is only after Lisa's money. Ellie took over her hospital job on a temporary basis. Lucinda offered to pay Tino to get his things in Montego to find out if Sierra is really dead. Lisaput Grant in charge of her estate.

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL: Clark pretended he was disinterested when he learned that Margo had given birth to his son. Ridge fumed when Clark secretly arranged for Audrey to leave. Fisher arranged to deal exclusively with Clark when she decides what she wants to buy from Forester Designs. Bill told Stephanie to urge Midge to marry Brooke if Stephanie wants to save Thorne and Caroline's marriage. Caroline admitted to Stephanie that she still loves Ridge. Steve agreed to be the godfather for Margo's baby.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Patch introduced Kayla to the mystery man Patch has dubbed "The Phantom." Phantom refused to use the medicated salve that Kayla gave him to treat his badly burned hand. Emilio helped Naraine escape after the Barn helped collapsed on her and Justin. Emilio also dragged a critically injured Justin out of the barn. Later, Victor refused to let Adrienne anywhere near Justin, who underwent surgery. At April's sentencing hearing, Max realized that Monty, not April, had pulled the plug on Rosa's life support system. April was later released from jail, but the police arrested Monty and threw him in the slammer. Shane told Roman that ISA experts examined the photo of Mariena and Diana and learned that the photo had been doctored, but said the photo of Mariena was relatively new. Stefano plotted to lure Roman back into his clutches. Betty hid in Roman's car. Eve is tormented by Nick's death.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: To get away from his problems, Robert rented a cabin in the woods. A started Robert woke up in the middle of the night to find a strange woman playing a piano that had been delivered to the cabin. The mystery woman ordered Robert out of the cabin, which she claims she owns. Robert was unconcerned when Cheryl said that Julian wants her to join him in New York City. Victor and Julian found a comatose Olivia that they forgive her for all the trouble she caused them. After the man left, Olivia opened her eyes for the first time in weeks. During a session with Tom, Arielle remembered a fellow agent ordered her to make Lord Ashton fall in love with her and marry her. Arielle told Tom that she loved Ashton the first moment she saw him. Sean reluctantly agreed to WSB head Elliot Callaghan's request that Sean find out why Lord Ashton is really in Port Charles.

GUIDING LIGHT: After realizing that M.B. isn't in the best of health, Reva didn't upset him by trying to interfere with Mandy's wedding. Mandy and Will were married. After Ava confronted Sonny (Solido) about the porno tape that Solido made in South America, she suspected that Sonny is really Solido. Solido (Sonny) told Ava that Will came to Springfield to steal Josh's money. Maureen and Fletcher fell guilty after they shared a kiss. While investigating Roger Thorpe's past, Chelsea suspected that Roger is alive and that Holly Thorpe is covering for him. Blake urged Meredith to admit to Rick that Phillip is the father of Meredith's baby. In Chicago, Rick secretly arranged to meet the man that Meredith lied is the father of her baby. After Phillip gave Harley a crash course in etiquette, he asked Harley to accompany him on a trip to New York City. Mavis is still looking for proof that Sonny is Solido.

LOVING: Trisha and Trucker patched things up romantically after she admitted she kept him from her real identity because she feared that he'd dump her. Trucker told Trisha that he served time for a hit and run accident that happened when he was a teen-ager. Before Charles died, he told Jack that Gwyneth was in the car with him when he crashed it. Rick planted cocaine in Jack's coat pocket, but Juliet stole it before the police could find it.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: After finding a photo of her real mother, a stunned Christine realized that she's not really Vicki's daughter. Michael told a shocked Gabrielle that he was raised in Eterna, an underground city. Michael also said that Victor was responsible for the city's destruction, and that Neil's (Vicki) lover had lived in Eterna. Michael is convinced that Vicki knows how to find the entrance to Eterna. In a nightmare about Eterna, Vicki remembered a young Roger, but didn't remember him after she woke up. Rob made love with Cassie, who said she's still going to move to Mendoza. Ursula took Bob prisoner, but eventually, Bob, Vicki and Sarah were rescued and the police arrested Ursula. Tina and Cord flew back to Llanview after reading about Steve's death in the newspaper. Neil was livid when he learned Randy had tried to replace Mari Lynn on Fraternity Row, with another actress, Audrey.

RYAN'S HOPE: Della tricked Rob into getting out of his car, then made her getaway after Rob roughed her up and admitted that he intended to kidnap her. Roger and John both went after Rob when they learned what he did to Della. Rob was hospitalized after someone beat him to a pulp. Tom was signed to a recording contract. Chaz admitted he passed for Rob, but insisted he didn't love Rob. Roger phoned some friends and asked to return to perform surgery on Rob. Ben fantasized that Elizabeth would love him.

SANTA BARBARA: Cruz arrested a pimp, Jack, on suspicion that he's the video rapist. At first Jack insisted that he didn't rape anyone, but after hours of interrogation, Jack said that he wanted to confess. Brandi identified Jack as the man he saw Julia struggling with in Miami's strip club. Brandon suffered dizzy spells after Jack knocked him out during the struggle with Julia. Eden told Julia that she's not sure Jack is the rapist. Michael defended Jack, who told Cruz that he found the logging shanty whose traps lured those on the rapist's shanty. Scott told Heather that he doesn't use the Christmas holidays because his father was a drug addict and there was never any money left for gifts. Benny helped Gina blow up Mason's home. Late, Gina and Benny, who some time ago proved many of C.C.'s long workers have been stricken with cancer. Mason (Sonny) attended Sam's sentencing.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS: Jack escorted Billy to a dinner party at George and Cassandra's home and was surprised to learn that Billy is a family friend. Although looking George in the eye, Cassandra found him that she's fallen in love with Paul and that she wants a divorce from George. When Cassandra turned around, she was stunned to see that George had a heart attack and was unconscious. Cassandra told Paul that George may not have heard her say "I do" a divorce. When George regained consciousness, he just stared at Cassandra. Lisa warned Brad that her mental state is fragile and that if he tries to cross her, she'll set the house on fire and let him burn to death in his cage. Tracy told John that she thinks there's more to Brad's disappearance than meets the eye. Clint Madison, who served time with Rex, hit him up for some money. Michael needed revising his old romance with Jill. Copyright, 1988, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

The Church... THE HOPE OF OUR COMMUNITY, OUR NATION!

That's what makes saucers exciting—no telling where you'll land! No steering... no brakes... no telling which way you'll turn or how fast you'll go.

Your place of worship offers sound answers to our fears. Religious training provides steering in human life. Moral principles become the necessary brakes.

'Christmas Christians' and the seasonal blues

United Press International

Christmas. For some it is the one church service of the year that they attend.

For others it is a season not of joy but of tinsel-tinted gloom.

And some religious experts have some advice for pastors and priests in dealing with both categories.

The so-called Christmas Christians have long been a source of scorn and derision by pastors and church members who criticize their lack of support of the parish.

But the Rev. Andrew Greeley, the acid-tongued priest-sociologist, says such scolding is out of place.

"One of the more twisted and sick kinks in clerical culture is the propensity to ridicule and demean the Christmas Catholics and, even when priests are on their best behavior, to patronize them," Greeley wrote in the current issue of U.S. Catholic.

Instead, Greeley said, at Christmas priests should recognize that they have one of the best opportunities for evangelization of the year.

Greeley characterizes these Christmas Christians as believers "who have been hurt by life and often by the church."

"They have disproportionately suffered because of marital problems and are much more likely to admit that they are angry at God," he said. "Their Christmas church attendance is often a clinging to faith in the face of suffering, an act of courage for which they ought to be respected instead of being patronized."

One of the largest groups of these tenuous worshippers, he said, are members who are on the margins of the church because of confusion and uncertainty.

"More often the men and women in this category are those who want to believe but are plagued by doubts or those who do indeed believe but are appalled by the poor quality of leadership in the church," he said.

Greeley urged a flexibility and sensitivity on the part of priests that would welcome the alienated home as "far more in the spirit of Christmas."

Another group of the alienated, according to the Rev. Lee Fullerton, a United Methodist pastor in Atlanta with a background in mental health, are those who suffer from the "Christmas blues."

"The church has the unique opportunity ... to proclaim the holiday season as a time for thanksgiving, expectation and celebration and to minister to those who do not feel thankful, expectant or celebrative," Fullerton reminded his Methodist clergy colleagues.

Job confusion, declining commitment cause burnout

United Press International

An unintended side-effect of the growth of the ministry of the laity, in which lay men and women play increasingly important roles in the life of a congregation, may be a rise in clergy stress and burnout.

"In the past, priests were the only ministers in the congregation," according to researcher Barry Evans.

"They exercised most organizational, liturgical and educational leadership. Now the laity are much more active within the church, and while that is a positive and joyful step, it has eclipsed to some extent the role of the clergy."

Evans was the researcher for a study on clergy stress conducted by the Alban Institute for the Episcopal Church Foundation.

According to the study, there is substantial confusion among Episcopal clergy about their role and identities in the church and changing expectations for job performance and a sense of lessening job security. One expert — the Rev. William Willimon of the Duke University Divinity School — takes exception with that conventional wisdom.

"In the world of work, burnout occurs when energy is expended without fuel being added," Willimon argues.

"When our commitment dissipates, we do feel as though we are burning out," Willimon writes in a new book, "Clergy and Laity Burnout," to be published in January by Abingdon Press.

"The least task — visiting a prospective member, attending a committee meeting, filling out an annual report — becomes drudgery."

Willimon said the "fuel" that supplies the energy to function as a minister is the conviction that the job has meaning.

"When we no longer find any meaning in what we do, even the smallest action drains us," he wrote.

Noting that pastors are faced with the same kinds of stresses and crises that affect lay parishioners, Willimon suggests that churches consider formal leaves of absence and sabbaticals for pastors.

"Too many times, a conscientious pastor will precipitously leave the ministry during a personal crisis rather than ask for a time to work things out," he said.

Willimon also said the church must develop structures to help people leave pastoral ministries when the need arises.

One family learns what Christmas giving really means

In later years the family would look back on it as the Christmas That Never Was. But right now mother's idea seemed to be good one.

This year they would have a sensible Christmas. There would be an artificial tree. Mother would forego her custom of baking cookies. Nobody would spend more than $10 on a present for the other members of the family.

"We don't have to do all that frantic shopping," said mother.

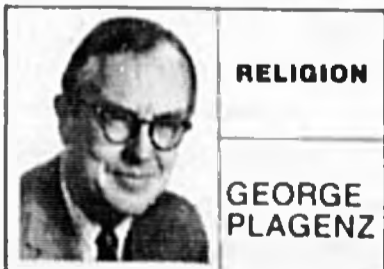

"It's the thought that counts," said father, chiming in with mother's plan.

Instead of a big Christmas dinner — turkey and all the trimmings — at home, the family would go to a nice restaurant on Christmas afternoon.

As for Uncle Lloyd and Aunt Amelia, whose visit on Christmas had become as much of a tradition as mistletoe, this would be an opportunity to tell them that, for one reason or another, the family wasn't going to do as much about Christmas this year and that maybe they would enjoy it more if they didn't make their usual "great effort" to come.

Nobody wanted to say it, but they were a sour pair who never added to the festivities anyway. Dad would send them a check this year instead.

So it was decided. And Christmas that year went secret that extends to the rest of life.

RELIGION

If we try to arrange our lives so that we are protected from the "fuss and bother, the tiredness and the turmoil, the Uncle Lloyds and Aunt Amelias," we will be as let down as the family that tried to celebrate a sensible Christmas.

The little native child at the Christian school in Africa who gave his teacher a beautiful shell as a Christmas present knew the real secret of Christmas — and the real secret of life.

When the teacher learned he has walked many miles to find the extraordinary shell, she said to the tired, footsore lad, "You shouldn't have gone all that way to get a gift for me."

His eyes brightened as he answered, "Long walk part of gift."

There can be no real giving that does not involve the giving of ourselves.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Six high-card points and 4-3-3-3 distribution hardly seem like enough stuff to make a positive response to a strong two-bid, but North thought his K-Q of diamonds had great value. South asked for aces and then for kings. When North showed only one king, South gave up on a grand slam. Because the bidding by South was so strong, West selected the most neutral lead - a trump. Declarer put up the eight of hearts from dummy, and that held the trick. Then, before playing a second trump, South called for the club jack from the North hand. East covered with the king, and the ace won. A second high trump came next. When the heart jack did not fall, declarer continued with the ace of diamonds, and then the queen and 10 of clubs. Even if West were able to ruff in on a high club, declarer would be able to reach dummy with the nine of trumps to get rid of his losing spade on a high diamond. There is nothing unusual about the deal, and it is difficult to fault West for leading a safe trump, but notice what would have happened if West had selected an aggressive spade lead instead. The K-Q of diamonds are valuable cards, but declarer cannot get to dummy to use them. Declarer can win the ace of spades and draw trumps, but when the jack doesn't fall in two leads, denying declarer an entry to dummy with the nine of hearts, declarer is placed in the unenviable position of needing the king of clubs to drop singleton to make the slam.
