The Picture of Health

By Robert A. Ames, M.D.
Preventive Medicine—1
To try to "cure" people of something before they ever get it is the job of preventive medicine. Did you ever stop to think how many medical forces are working to guard your family's health and yours every day? Take the first two hours of the morning just yesterday or today.
When you got up and brushed your teeth, your toothpaste contained no harmful ingredients because of pure drug requirements, the water was safe because of public sanitation. The breakfast cereal was free of impurities because of regulations about pure foods. Your ride on the bus probably didn't seriously expose you to tuberculosis because of the mass chest x-ray screening programs and individual chest examinations being carried on by health agencies everywhere working with radiologists, the x-ray physicians.
At work, although you may have picked up a cold, you did not get smallpox, typhus, or the plague, because control of epidemics has for the most part eliminated these scourges.
Even diphtheria, which used to carry off so many children, has been tamed. The birth of children was made safer by the control of childbed fever, and the early lives of youngsters have been freed of much risk by vaccination against the better known disease of the young. Now, thanks to an effort right under our noses and broad as the continent, the flourishing ripter-killer polio is being cut back to the ground, just as malaria, yellow fever and other dreadful diseases were vanquished before it.
These accomplishments and many others like them are due to lumberless people working together: nurses, physicians, men and women in public health, popularly-supported agencies for one medical cause or another, research workers of government, industry, and the universities; some dedicated souls, some martyrs to science; some thinkers and some experimenters. Besides these, credit belongs to the interested and nearly always cooperative public.

The Coast Guard air station said the men were rescued in Pamlico Sound. The fishing vessel was scheduled to rendezvous with a 30 foot Coast Guard patrol boat which would take the rescued men to Wanchese, N. C., where they were to be transported to an airport at Manteo, N. C.
A Coast Guard and Navy search had been ordered off Cape Hatteras for both the blimp and a Navy flier who parachuted into the ocean from his crippled jet fighter during the night.
An oil tanker, the S.S. Western Sun, picked up the flier in the Atlantic south of Cape Hatteras early this morning. The ship's captain reported a light in the water led the vessel to the downed Navy airman.
The Navy officer at the Glynnco base said the stricken blimp ran into a thunderstorm and the "severe turbulence caused it to lose pressure," forcing the airship into the water.
The blimp had been on a training cruise to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and was on its way back to its home base at South Weymouth, Mass., when it was forced to ditch.
The Navy heard from the blimp about midnight when it radioed the Coast Guard. "Apparently we were going to ditch," a Navy spokesman said. The crew reported the pressure "going down" and said it would have abandoned the craft.
Pressure in blimp terminology refers to gas pressure—the thing that normally keeps such airships aloft.

THAT LORD ALTRINCHAM, who said Queen Elizabeth's speeches are a "pain in the neck" has heard about it from nearly everyone but the queen herself. She is speechless.
Lord Altrincham edits a British publication, "Letters to the Editor" are in good supply.
The queen doesn't make any laws or unmake any laws, or make any policy or unmake any policy. So all she might do is give His Lordship a piece of the government's mind.
Who knows, maybe the queen is satisfied with things as they are. Two decades ago her uncle forgot the rules and he's been on odd jobs ever since.
Bring a queen must be tougher than being President. You can't look forward to looking back on it.
Lord Altrincham blames the narrowness of court, not the queen herself. Not only narrow, but hereditary.
The British board of trade investigated narrowness over a six-year period, and found that the British woman measured 37.1-27.7-38.9. If she hasn't gained any in all that time she's in pretty good shape.

AT BOB CAMPBELL'S Westwood Bookstore, a lady who had bought every book on reducing suddenly rejected a copy of the new book "How to Lose Weight." "Can't you see I'm suddenly down in 1937?" she demanded. "It's on account of my husband. He disappeared three weeks ago, so naturally I'm worried. And when I worry, I don't eat."
"If your husband has disappeared," reasoned Bob, "don't you think you ought to notify the police?"
"I've been thinking of it," admitted the customer, "and believe you me, I will as soon as I worry off about thirty more pounds."

Meanest Motorist Sought Following Train-Car Crash

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. — Police searched today for a malicious motorist who deliberately blocked a car from backing out of the way of an oncoming train.
The driver, his wife and son jumped from the stalled vehicle seconds before a Florida East Coast streamliner plowed into it.
Sven Fogelstrom, 61, told police that the driver of the other car apparently became angry when Fogelstrom made a wrong turn at the railroad crossing.
Fogelstrom said he tried to back off the tracks as soon as he realized his error but was blocked by the other vehicle. Then Fogelstrom tried to drive across the tracks, but his engine stalled.
He, his wife, Gertrude, and 10-year-old son, Alvey, leaped out of the car. The driver of the other car drove off just before the train smashed into Fogelstrom's car, demolishing it.

Communist Jets Force Dutch Plane To Land Briefly

AMSTERDAM — Communist jet fighters forced a Dutch airliner to land Wednesday in the Red Slovak city of Bratislava, airline officials said.
The big, U. S.-built DC6B was held on the ground for half an hour, Airline sources said, however, that its crewmen were "politely treated," and its passengers were not interrogated.
The Reds charged that the aircraft, on its way here from Cairo, had left the authorized Athens-Vienna air corridor. Officials here conceded that the pilot might have strayed out of the corridor in bad weather.

N. Y. Sees New Asiatic Flu Cases Diagnosed

NEW YORK — The first cases of Asiatic flu in New York City were diagnosed Thursday.
City health officials said laboratory tests showed that eight foreign exchange students who arrived here by plane Aug. 7 had the disease. All have recovered.
But Acting Health Commissioner or Roscoe P. Kanfield said 27 other foreign students and two adults who arrived by ship Tuesday "in all probability" had Asiatic flu. One of the students, Nicholas Memmos, 17, died Wednesday. Doctors are awaiting the outcome of laboratory tests to determine if he died of Asiatic flu.

Workers Uncover Bodies From Deep Excavation

DRESDEN, Ont. — Workers uncovered the last of six bodies Thursday night from the 35 feet deep waterworks excavation in the banks of the Sydenham River.
The last two bodies had to be chipped from concrete with air hammers and it took several hours to even locate the sixth body.
The six men killed—all recent immigrants from Holland who lived near St. Thomas—were working at the bottom of the hole for the new city waterworks when the cave-in occurred Wednesday night. Nearly 200 tons of earth cracked off the high side of the pit, rolled into the bottom, crushed the men with steel pipes and rods and mashed them into the wet cement they had been pouring.

Future Of Communities Depend Upon Plans And Preparation

A short article appearing in a recent issue of Directors Digest which was condensed from an Urban Land Institute article in the National Association Builders Journal of Homebuilding came to our attention.

It was the sort of article that "fit the foot" so to speak and we are using it here for the benefit of our readers:

"Small towns throughout the country lie directly in the path of the urban spill-over from metropolitan areas. Whether these suburban towns retain their pleasant, rural character while still absorbing overflow or whether they become unsightly areas of commercial and residential property that destroy the beauty of the countryside depends on how well they now are preparing for the future.

"In such places two conditions exist: Either the townspeople are blissfully unaware of the impact from coming development or they are belligerently trying to barricade themselves against any change in the community's character.

"Recently two cases that were good examples of the foregoing situation came to the attention of the Urban Land Institute:

"The Unprepared Community. Out in Ohio a rural county lies north of a fast-growing metropolitan city. New industry and a diversified local economy rapidly are developing the entire area. Soon a new state freeway will link the central city with three small satellite communities, inviting rapid suburban residential development.

"As yet it is unprepared, but to stay on the safe side and get ready for a period of steady growth, the local home builders' association is setting in motion a program for county planning under an active and progressive planning commission—such a commission has existed but has not been active.

"It is hoped that a master development plan and a comprehensive zoning ordinance can be initiated. Volleys then could be formulated to guide growth in unincorporated areas and sporadic, scattered subdivisions where such development should not take place might be prevented. In this way an undue burden on the county's services could be avoided.

"The Belligerent Community. In Connecticut a pleasant town borders the developed area of another growing metropolis. A specialized type of industry is gravitating to this area. The small town now has open land, quantities and is attracting upper-income people.

"These new residents ignore the threat imposed by their proximity to the fast-growing city. In their concern with "keeping the town rural" they are concentrating on negative measures.

"In this town it finally was suggested that there be drawn up a statement of objectives for the future of the town. Such a statement should incorporate a framework against which the town's general plan and detailed proposals could be measured, such as:

"1. Provision for a well-rounded, evenly balanced community, which in its residential area would include a full range of housing types for all types of people.

"2. Program for attempting to attract good industry, carefully selected as to types that would improve the economic status and enlarge the community's tax base.

"3. Plan for fostering local business firms with adequate off-street parking, to offer shopping facilities that would attract and hold the local trade now going elsewhere.

"4. Provision for guidance of residential development so as to take place on a low-density basis, preserving "rurality" and openness.

"Confronted with prospects of high costs for community facilities and services, small communities within a path of population growth cannot expect balanced growth to occur automatically. Towns must be prepared to plan for development and guide their growth so as to minimize the effects of new development on municipal service costs and to help maintain economic stability."

Time Only May Assuage Grief

Sanford and the entire Central Florida area received a severe shock Thursday afternoon at 4:30 when the death of H. H. "Coley" Coleman was announced.

Throughout Mr. Coleman's residence in Sanford he has been a civic leader, one whose understanding of the needs of a community has made possible many achievements.

Hundreds have depended on the wisdom of H. H. Coleman's advice before taking a step in the financial or business world.

He has been a builder of Sanford from the very first word and has led the way in many instances to acquire a better understanding between citizens and citizens groups.

As a Rotarian, a Chamber of Commerce member, a Member of the Board of Directors of the Sanford Atlantic National Bank, his ethics were of the highest as men and women of the community respected and sought his leadership and advice. "Coley" Coleman will be sorely missed in Sanford.

The condolences of a community are tendered to those who will grieve long over the loss of a loved one.

Only time may assuage the grief of the community in the loss of one of its finest citizens—one of its community leaders—so indelibly engraved has his leadership been made upon Sanford's cornerstone of growth and progress.

IF YOU THINK you have troubles, get a load of the complaint registered by Seth Jeffco, down from the hills to buy some girls and terbacry. "Can't say my 12-year-old bride ain't been a comfort to me, but I can't stand the noise when her and my 13-year-old daughter by my first wife gets to fightin' over who's goin' to play with the doll!"

An impoverished but elegant young man-about-town in London has just confessed the method by which he acquired a reputation for lavish entertaining without forking out a single penny. He makes it his business to discover exactly when his affluent friends have unbreakable prior engagements, then invites them for those evenings to mythical galas of his own. Thus he gains credit for being a frequent and open-handed host, is invariably invited back—and always accepts.

Arthur Brisbane liked to point out that the dictionary is the only place where success comes before work.

Toll TV Poses More Questions

BY WILLIAM EWALD

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — Toll TV poses more questions than all the quiz shows put together. It's up to you to start thinking about the answers.

Right now, this nation far outstrips the rest of the world in TV activity. Sponsored TV has been responsible.

We have 483 TV stations and they beam their waves into some 40 million homes. That's more than 80 per cent of the homes in the country.

Great Britain has only six million TV homes and 17 stations. Russia has slightly over one million TV homes and 14 stations.

The champions of toll TV say our level of TV activity could be even higher. They point out there is room on the airwaves for more than 1,000 stations, but that more than 1,000 of these aren't being used. They say advertisers just can't support that many outlets. However, toll TV's fail to point out that many of these 1,000 channels are in the ultra high frequency band UHF and that most TV sets aren't equipped to receive them.

Show Types Questioned
What's more, neutral observers agree that although toll TV may boost the quantity of TV shows you see assuming that the empty channels on your set are used, there are disturbing questions about the kind of shows toll TV will feed its audience.

It is doubtful, point out observers, that the public will benefit by paying for regular season base ball games, World Series and prize fights when it gets a fairly steady diet of these now free.

Further, although pay TV champions talk often about Broadway plays, ballet, opera, educational programs and other high-toned fare, it is becoming increasingly obvious that the bulk of the toll TV diet will be movies.

Toll TV operators will be in business to make money. Money lies where the taste of the masses lie. And the masses like to watch movies. A Sandler research report stated recently that out of the 1,005.4 million hours devoted to TV viewing during one week in July, 400.3 million hours were spent watching movies.

Commercial Pattern Threatened
Another danger lies in the threat to the present pattern of commercial broadcasting. The networks bring you comedy, variety, music, such as it is, on the cuff. But talent goes where the money is. There is always the chance that the Dinah Shores, the Perry Como, the Frank Sinatra's would prefer the larger monetary rewards of toll TV. The loss of these regular programs also would seem to be of doubtful benefit to the public.

Finally, and most disturbing, there is the possibility that toll TV may not be as uncommercial as it claims. There is already quiet talk in some toll TV quarters of working advertisers into the act through the use of tokens or coupons inside the advertiser's product.

Thus, say, a cornflake sponsor might back a Western show for toll TV. Buy a box of cornflakes and you would get a special token to put in your toll TV attachment to see the show, or you might get a coupon which you would mail in to your toll TV operator for a refund or discount.

FCC Holds Answers
The Federal Communications Commission, presently sitting on the issue of toll TV, would seem to have the answers to most of these questions in its hands. It can regulate "over-the-air" TV, if it authorizes it. It has the power to do so.

But the FCC has no power to regulate toll TV if it operates over a wire into the home. And toll TV backers, growing impatient, are beginning to move in this direction.

Florida Boasts Famous Children

By DAWSON OPPENHEIMER
United Press Staff Correspondent
GAINESVILLE (AP) — Four of the world's most celebrated grandchildren slip in and out of this college town once or twice a year for visits with a middle-aged couple who never make the headlines—the "other grandparents."

Col. and Mrs. Percy Thompson, whose daughter Barbara is the wife of Maj. John Eisenhower, center their life here in their large four bed-rooms and four bath home, in the University of Florida Law School and the university's symphony orchestra.

This is, of course, when David Ann, Susan and tiny Mary Jean are not paying "grandma and grandpa" a visit. The last time the young grandchildren of President and Mrs. Eisenhower were here coincided with the President's trip to nearby Jacksonville and Mayport, from where he boarded an aircraft carrier for a one-day cruise in June.

At that time, Barbara moved the family down in two "shifts",

Mrs. Thompson explained. She said Barbara first brought Susan and Mary Jean down and "left them with us so she could return to Washington to pick up the other two children and John. They all spent a few days with us before John left to take the cruise with his father."

In Final Year
Colonel Thompson at 50 is in his final year at the University of Florida Law School.

"I can't honestly say whether he will want to practice law when he's through," Mrs. Thompson said, "but he's interested in law—that's why he's taking the course."

She said he's "still much too young and active to stay retired." Thompson retired from active duty in 1955 after 30 years Army service which was interrupted after World War I long enough to get his college education and an ROTC commission at Purdue.

The Thompsons bought their Gainesville home during World War II, then Mrs. Thompson "returned to live here every time my husband went overseas or to war." While he's studying law, Mrs. Thompson keeps busy "keeping house, cooking, sewing and playing the violin in the university symphony orchestra."

She said that most of the colonel's nights are spent "burning the midnight oil" over his law books. While he's hard at his studies, Mrs. Thompson spends at least two evenings a week at orchestra practice.

No Social Life
"We've just been too busy to pay much attention to so-called club life," she said. "We don't belong to any social clubs, and we spend most of our time either studying, playing bridge or just visiting with our friends."

The Thompsons live alone in their English Tudor home, leaving much of it closed off "unless we have company," Mrs. Thompson, consequently, does all her own house work and cooking without the aid of any servants.

In addition to Barbara they have one other daughter, who is married to a McKinney, Tex., radiologist, and two married sons, both of whom continued the Thompson military tradition. One is a second lieutenant in the Army, while the other is a captain in the Air Force.

Like Barbara's famous in-laws, the Thompsons are Republicans; but Mrs. Thompson said the two sets of grandparents are different in one respect:

"The colonel doesn't play much golf. Just if some guests want to play and can't find anyone else to play with. He hasn't the time."

A Skin Test Quickly Points To An Allergy

By HERMAN M. BUNDESIN, M.D.

IF YOU have an allergy, let me urge you to get a skin test.

Except for certain cases of drug and food allergy, a skin test probably is the best, as well as the quickest, way of determining the allergens to which you are sensitive.

In fact, this is the most widely-used method of determining allergic sensitizations since the skin is involved in most such reactions.

Four Methods
There are four general methods of making skin tests. Just which should be used in your specific case, or, indeed, whether you should have any type of skin test, must, of course, be determined by your doctor.

The patch test takes the longest time and can be used only with agents which penetrate the skin surface and with those posing delayed action. Usually, it is used to determine allergies in cases of contact dermatitis.

With this test, an allergen is placed upon the unbroken skin and permitted to remain there for a minimum of 24 hours. When an allergen to which you are allergic is used, there will be a reaction on your skin.

In the scratch test, the antigen is placed over a scratch which breaks the outer layer of skin. Once stones have formed, surgery is the accepted cure for them.

The puncture test is somewhat similar. Procedure in this test is to place a drop of antigen on the skin surface and then prick the skin with a needle.

Fourth Method
A fourth method is the intracutaneous test in which a hypodermic needle is used to inject a small amount of the antigen solution under the outer layers of the skin.

The three latter methods are used to produce immediate allergic reactions on the skin. By studying the severity of the various reactions, your doctor can determine the best method of treating your allergy.

These tests are quick, practically painless and generally pretty reliable. If you need such a check, get it right away. There is no use autstering if you don't have to.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

D. D.: I have had a constant pain and pressure in the upper part of my stomach. An X-ray showed I have small stones in my gallbladder. Should the gallbladder be removed?
Answer: It would be advisable for you to consult your doctor about removing your gallbladder. Once stones have formed, surgery is the accepted cure for them.

Mary Ross Anderson Wed In Candlelight Service Sunday

In a candlelight vesper service August 18 at 4:00 P.M. Miss Mary Ross Anderson was married to Bernard Dean Kells, by the Rev. A. G. McInnis officiating in the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Ross Anderson of Sanford. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lester Kells of Powell, Wyoming.

The pulpit in the First Presbyterian Church was flanked by white wrought iron baskets of magnolia leaves and white pom-pom chrysanthemums. Cathedral candles lighted the nuptial scene.

The organist was Alfred Washburn of Holly Hill, a college friend of the bride and groom. He played selections by J. S. Bach, "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring," "In Thee is My Joy," and "When Thou Art Near," preceded by the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Dr. William Ross Anderson. She was lovely as she came down the aisle groomed in a dress designed and fashioned along colonial lines of lace and tulle over bridal satin.

The bodice of the dress was lace studded with rhinestones, featuring a square neck line and three-quarter length sleeves. The skirt, worn over hoops, was made of tulle and lace ruffles extending the length of the skirt and the train. The bride's finger tip veil was made of tulle edged with matching lace and attached to a halo headpiece fashioned of lace studded with rhinestones.

She carried a single white long-stemmed rose.

Maid of honor was Miss Marie Broetzman of Norfolk, Va., a college roommate and sorority sister of the bride. Her dress was patterned after that of the bride of sapphire blue lace bodice and a ballerina length skirt of net over taffeta. She wore a halo headpiece of lace and net and carried a single pink rose.

After attendants were Miss Margaret Taylor of Orlando, and Mrs. Alfred Washburn of Holly Hill, Fla. Their dresses in shades of rose, were patterned after that of the maid of honor. The altar candles were lit from tapers circled with pink sweetheart roses.

The groom's best man was Robert Hemphill of Jacksonville, a college roommate. Ushers were Charles Woodward of Griffin, Ga., Ernest Cowley and George Dabbs, both of Sanford.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Anderson chose an avocado green dress and shoes with mother-of-pearl buttons and buckles. Brown accessories and an oriental orchid completed her costume.

The groom's mother wore a gown of mist blue Irish linen with cutwork embroidery. Her accessories were white and she wore a corsage of white asters.

A reception followed the wedding in the home of the bride.

Kastners Teil Of Canadian Vacation

On August 2 with ten days in which to cover a lot of territory, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kastner boarded the West Coast Champion here in Sanford, and on the train forward to Conellsville, Pa., a 22 hour trip with a 2 hour stop in Washington D. C.

In Conellsville the Kastners were met by friends Mr. and Mrs. Paul Trusel, who entertained them lavishly, including dining at Aretta's Famous Dining in Conellsville. On August 4, the Kastners motored to Donegal, Pa. for the 37th Annual Kastner reunion of which Mr. Kastner's brother Emerson is president. One hundred and fifty other relatives were present for the occasion, and there is little fear that the Kastner line will ever die out.

After a birthday celebration with Emerson Kastner, the Sanford couple returned to Conellsville where as guests of the Trusels they motored to Lake Erie and Toronto in Toronto the Kastners discovered that the American dollar is worth $94, a little known fact which partially explains the popularity of Canadian vacations. From Toronto, and its building boom, the quartet drove through numerous Canadian towns and villages until they reached the romantic Thousand Islands. There they gave in to the tourist urge and took a boat trip around the islands, particularly watching for one given to Arthur Godfrey for publicizing the Thousand Island song.

This almost unbelievably beautiful group of islands is studded with homes of wealthy Americans and Canadians who wish to get away from it all. The famous Bold castle of 220 rooms and baths is now an attraction for sightseers. The mansion was started by George C. Bold as a birthday gift for his wife, after forty years of happiness in the islands. After spending $3,000,000.00 and having the island changed into the shape of a heart, Mrs. Bold died and in his heart break, Mr. Bold never wished to see the castle again. Work stopped and the magnificent structure was never completed. For fifty cents the tourist may roam through the empty rooms, touched by the romantic story. The place now belongs to Mr. Noble, although how he acquired it is unknown to this writer.

The Singer mansion is another place that fascinated the travelers. It is occasionally occupied by Mr. Singer's granddaughter. The island is unexpected in their contrast between simplicity and grandeur, when one rounds a bend and discovers a misty, romantic structure rising out of the water, where a minute before it seemed all meadows and modest dwellings.

Leaving Brockville, the Kastners and their friends motored along the fabulous St. Lawrence seaway, through Cornwall and on to Montreal, where they stayed at the Laurentian Hotel. By this time it was inevitable that they must return whence they came, so they crossed Lake Champlain into Vermont. From here it was lovely mountains and trees, with the Adirondacks on the right and the Green Mountains on the left.

Beautiful Lake George captured their attention as they went through Glen Falls, Saratoga Springs and Albany.

After leaving the New York State through-way the Kastners and Trusels drove along the Hudson River, where they stopped to see the blend of old and new at Historic West Point.

The end of the trip, took them from the Garden State Parkway to the New Jersey Turnpike, and just a short drive through the country to the North Philadelphia Station. There the Kastners bid

Mrs. Robinson, Mr. Jurss Wed In Pfeiffauf Home Friday Night

In a candlelight service Friday night, Mrs. Lucyan Snyder Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Snyder of Osteen, and John Frederick Jurss, son of John Frederick Jurss and the late Mrs. Jurst of Germantown, N. Y. were married in the home of Mrs. Nick Pfeiffauf, sister of the bride, in Sanford.

The eight o'clock service was performed by Dr. J. B. Root, assisted by Robert Armstrong. The double ring ceremony took place before an improvised altar flanked by tall baskets of white and pink gladioli and greenery. Candabra lighted the scene.

The organist was Miss Joan Wilkie, who played several appropriate selections preceding the ceremony and the traditional wedding marches.

The bride chose a pink summer suit with white accessories and wore a corsage of pink and white rosebuds.

Her matron of honor and only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Nick Pfeiffauf, who wore a blue suit with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations and pink rosebuds.

Best man for the groom was Nick Pfeiffauf.

Charlie and Katherine Park are at the beach. Maryland Ed Higgins has returned, Mary much disgruntled about an episode with a ladies bathing suit her puppy chewed. However, in spite of this, they had a wonderful time, and Mary says one cannot walk two blocks on the beach without passing a Sanfordite's dwelling.

Ray Kennedy of HATU was married Saturday morning in New Smyrna Beach to Gerry Blivins. Gerry wore a white jersey dress in a green style with a large white picture hat. Ushers were Paul O'Dea, Bob Fitzsimmons, O. K. Jones and Carl Tegfeldt. The reception was held at the Yacht Club. Attending from Sanford were Dottie and John King, Ida and Bob Radtke, Paul and Pankin O'Dea, Jean and Carl Tegfeldt, Bob and Ethel Fitzsimmons, Mike, Michel, Forrest Norvell, Red Cleveland, John Barlow, and Lew Milsap.

The night before at the HATU party in the H.O.Q. Ray, Forrest, Carl, Jim Shaffer, and Ollie Lopez had distinguished themselves in a Russian TV program with Paul O'Dea as the central Russian news commentator, sponsored by Clam. The you know what that gives you the lasting odor of castor. The skit was hilarious. These Russians have their accents pretty well established too, and their information was up to the minute, supplied by the spy, Ginski Connovitch, and don't think that Carl Tegfeldt wasn't surprised when he discovered me there, after he uttered the words. I had eaten dinner with John and Janie Miller (other guests Gretchen Hall and Bill Stetson), and they were most eager to see the skit, so on we went to the B.O. Q. It really was very cleverly done.

Vacationing Seminole Candidate Arrives For "A" Squad Drills

"It's great to be back home, greater still to be in time to take part in the practice drills which get underway tomorrow morning," said Terry Stowell, 15, who arrived in Sanford Sunday afternoon by way of Atlantic Coast Line.

Terry has been traveling all summer long. Included in his itinerary were Rochester, Elmira and Buffalo, New York and points in Canada.

However, even though his vacation was to last another week, Terry started from his vacation spot in time to arrive in Sanford to take part in practice drills.

Last year, the 15-year-old husky built lad played end for the "B" Squad but "hopes to make the "A" Squad this year."

Terry is an all-round athlete. He was a member of the Rotary Club's All Star baseball team and was a member of Seminole High School's "B" Squad basketball team.

Coach Pigott said today "I will be twice a day for the practice drills."

The entire staff coaching the "Seminole" this year are on the field watching candidates "get into shape" and selecting their possible choices for the "A" Squad.

Right now Coach Pigott is booking a Sept. 29 first game date with Lyman. Assisting him as Line Coach is Dave Laude. "B" Squad coaches, when the candidates are separated will be Bud Leyer and Dick Silvers.

Looking back over last year's record, Coach Pigott just said "We're hoping to improve that."

I'll Follow The Crowd West Says Willie Mays

NEW YORK — Willie Mays says he'll "follow the crowd" to San Francisco but it's obvious his heart still lies in the Polo Grounds, where he is the only attraction pulling in the last remaining dollars today.

"I'll miss this place," said the Giant center fielder, gesturing toward the familiar Polo Grounds landscape. "I'll miss it more'n anybody knows. The fans have been great to me here. I feel like this is my home and these are all my friends."

"But I go where the team goes. If it's San Francisco, that's N.Y. I've been there a couple times. Exhibit games, you know. It seemed okay to me. Struck me as a real big city with a lot of people, just like this one."

Like most of the other Giant players, Willie frequently enquired of baseball writers, "Hear anything new about us moving?"

He hasn't allowed his curiosity to bother his playing performance, however.

Mays' .329 batting average is topped only by Hank Aaron of the Braves and Star Musial of the Cardinals, and he is flashier than ever in the outfield.

Only 7,527 fans turned out to watch the Giants beat the Dodgers, 9-4, Thursday, and there was little doubt from their pre-game comments that a substantial number of them plunked down the admission price merely to see Mays.

Ten fans entering the main gate were asked what was their chief reason for attending the game. Six of the 10 said they came to see Mays. Three others identified themselves as Dodger fans, and one said he came out to the park simply to get away from his wife.

Milwaukee Can Be Caught Predicts PeeWee Reese

NEW YORK — PeeWee Reese feels "Milwaukee can be caught" but hastily adds it will take a spectacular catch by Brooklyn to do it.

"We can still beat the Braves but it will require the toughest up-hill climb since I've been with the club," admitted the popular Dodger shortstop as he peered off his uniform in front of his locker.

"The big thing we have going for us is experience," he added. "And I've always felt we had the best pitching in the league. So how come we're so far behind? Injuries for one. We're not hitting for another. That includes me. I'm having a lousy year."

Things have reached such a pass with the Dodgers that they're even using a pinch hitter for Reese in the late innings. The practice has caused increasing whispers that this might be PeeWee's last year.

"I hope not," he said, smiling.

Six Champions Will Attempt To Succeed Harvey Ward Jr.

NEW YORK — Six former champions and members of the United States and British Walker Cup teams are listed among the golfers who will attempt to succeed Harvey Ward Jr., as National Amateur champion next month.

Ward lost his amateur standing two months ago after admitting he accepted expense money illegally over a five-year period. That will prevent him from trying for his third straight title in the 37th annual championships Sept. 9-14, at the Brookline, Mass., Country Club.

However, 1,592 other golfers, only eight short of the record set last year, filed entry blanks for the match-play competition. All face 36-hole qualifying rounds Aug. 27 at 22 sites except for 31 golfers who qualify automatically. That leaves 168 berths open, which means only one out of every nine hopefuls will make the grade.

Heading the exempt group are former champion Charlie Cox (1949) of Oklahoma City, who also qualified as non-playing captain of the U.S. Walker Cuppers; Willie Tutmosa (1939, 1945) of Elmira, N.Y.; Ted Bishop (1946) of Cambridge, Mass., and Dick Chapman (1946) of Pinehurst N. C.

Two old-timers who won the Amateur way back when, Charles (Chick) Evans Jr. (1916, 1920) (Chicago) and Jesse Guifford (1921) of West Newton, Mass., will play for sentimental reasons.

Best bets among the strong U.S. Walker Cup contingent are crowd-pleasing Billy Joe Patton of Morantown, N.C.; 1956 runner-up Chuck Keesee of Royal Oak.

Clock Turned Back 30 Years For Babe Ruth Story Today

PHILADELPHIA — Sentimental old Benny Bengough turned the clock back 30 years to reminisce about his bygone buddy, Babe Ruth, on the ninth anniversary of the Babe's death.

Bennie, now a coach with the Philadelphia Phillies, was one of Ruth's closest baseball pals. They never roomed together but the Babe and Bengough were inseparable on and off the field.

"I used to warm up the Babe before each game," Bengough recalls. "As soon as the players started to throw to one another on the sidelines, he'd bellow, 'Where's Barney Google?' That was his nickname for me."

"You know we rarely called him Babe. Our favorite nickname for the guy was 'Jidge.' I don't know why we decided on this but it stuck with the Babe for the eight years I spent with the Yankees from 1923 to 1930."

Great Clubhouse Joker

"The guy was a great joker in the clubhouse but dead serious on the field. I recall the day he spit tobacco juice all over and in Wilsey Moore's undersocks. But the next day, he showed up with a dozen undersocks which he had bought for Mo' or."

"The Babe would wait until players taped their pants legs to their stockings and as they turned their backs to him, preparing to pull up their pants, he would cut off the back part of the tape with scissors."

"The big guy had a heart of gold. When the Yanks played at the Polo Grounds, they used to give a pair of shoes to everyone who hit a homer. Well, Babe would take the shoes and we'd deliver them to orphanages."

"I also recall many visits we made together to hospitals to see crippled and ailing kids. We would get to a town and pretty soon the phone would ring in my room and the Babe would say, 'Let's go, Barney. I have a call or two to make.' So off we would go with an autographed baseball, a glove, a hat or some gift to a hospitalized kid.

Pitched Exhibit Games

"My greatest thrill in those years with the Yanks was being Babe's history mate. Yeah, I caught him in the exhibition game he used to pitch against Boston when we went there to play the Braves."

"Perhaps the funniest incident of all was the year Babe fell into a batting slump. He was a superstitious guy and a joker like I said. He decided to put Jimmy

Sanford Boat & Ski Club Ready For Show

Sports Parade

Members of the Sanford Boat and Ski Club went through their routines Saturday afternoon in final preparations and practice for the ski show to be staged for the Sanford Rotary Club next Monday, Aug. 26.

Mrs. Johnny Padgett and Mrs. Bruce Darwin, co-chairmen of the show said yesterday that "all of the wrinkles of the show have been ironed out and through constant practice, routines for the big event have been perfected."

Dr. A. W. Woodall, commodore of the Sanford Boat and Ski Club, on hand for the practice and work-out Saturday afternoon at the Municipal boat ramp, said "we think we have a pretty good show all set for the Sanford Rotary Club."

The show will be staged principally for Rotarians at their noon luncheon meeting next Monday. It will get underway at approximately 12:30 in Lake Moors right off the seawall in front of the bandshell.

Ken Reimann, chairman of the Rotary Club's program for next week said "The public is invited to see the ski show along with Rotarians."

It is expected that hundreds of Sanford people will jam the bandshell area for a "front seat" to the big event.

The events that have been prepared for the Rotary Club's Ski Show will not only show the proficiency of those who will be seen on the skis, but will also speak well of the boat operators who manipulate the outboards in such a way that skiers will be shown in their best form.

Some of the events that will be seen are: pyramids, shoe skiing, barefoot skiing on a boat paddle, a clown act, skiing on a saucer, a 360 degree "turnout," and a water ballet with beautiful young ladies taking part.

There will be 12 or 14 in the cast, actually seen on skis, but time will be many others who will operate boats and be seen in the background preparing and readying equipment for the show.

"We are looking forward to the show being a complete success," said Commodore Woodall.

Assisting in staging the show for the Sanford Boat and Ski Club and co-chairman for the program, will be Frances Roumillat who will describe the various events over a public address system.

Picked To Set Pace

Hans Braun, the great German middle-distance runner, was regarded as our most dangerous rival. Mike Murphy, the coach of the U. S. team, had selected Meredith to set the pace. However, Sheppard and Meredith agreed between them that the one getting the best start would go out and set the pace. This happened to be Sheppard and he set a fast pace for the first 400 meters and here Meredith moved up and took over the pace with Braun on his shoulder.

Meredith was expeting Sheppard to come on and pass him rounding the last turn but he found himself in the lead with 100 meters to go. Instead of Sheppard it was the German, Braun, who tried to pass him in the home stretch. This was an unexpected change in the plans. If Sheppard had come up on Meredith's shoulder at that point, he would have allowed him to pass as Ted considered him the best man in the race. However, he made up his mind that he would not let Braun pass him and he didn't.

As a result, Meredith raced across the finish line in first place in world record time. The final spur by Sheppard and Daventry carried them past Braun and they finished second and third. That was a race full of thrills from start to finish as it was not run according to plans.

My greatest thrill at the Olympic Games in Melbourne last year was Tom Courtney's victory in the 800-meter race. When Tom took the lead I relaxed, believing he would not be overtaken before crossing the finish line. I guess Courtney felt the same way about it at that time.

Reese in a locker and keep him there until the club was ready to go onto the field.

"The first time Babe did this, he got two hits. So it became a ritual with him to lock Reese in the locker daily. Well, one day we went on the field and along about the fifth or sixth inning Miller Huggins looked around for Reese to pinch-hit. But Jimmy wasn't to be found. The Babe had forgotten to unlock the locker."

"Yeah, old Judge was quite a guy. He had a great sense of humor. He was the butt of some jokes but almost always he held the upper hand. He was sincere and a terrific competitor. He was always giving the ruckus words of advice. He liked kids."

Jacksonville Elks Club Sends Boatcade To Sanford Saturday

A boatcade from the Jacksonville Elks Club arrived in Sanford Saturday afternoon for a weekend of entertainment and sightseeing.

The group tied their boats up at the Mayfair Inn docks.

The entire group of both men, women, and children stayed at the Mayfair Inn Motel overnight.

Bill Hardin, chairman of the group entertaining the visiting Elks Club boating enthusiasts said that a Chicken barbecue was served the visitors and they were entertained at a dance given in their honor Saturday night at the local Elks Club.

The group breakfasted at Mrs. Appleby's restaurant Sunday morning before embarking for Jacksonville.

A group of automobiles was on hand to take the visiting boat enthusiasts on sightseeing trips around the area.

On hand to greet the visitors were: Bill Hardin, Don Bales and Cotton Brown.

Try and Stop Me
By BENNETT CERF

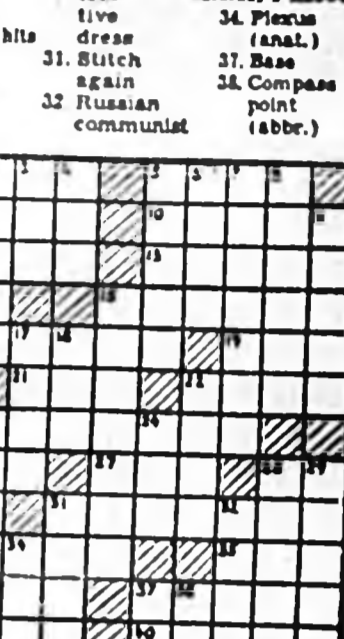

GREATEST BOOSTER New York City ever had was its spectacular Jimmy Walker. Nothing burned him more than to hear some visitor utter that cliché, "It's a great place to visit, but I wouldn't live there on a bet."
Beau James always proclaimed, "Anybody that can't make a decent living in New York just hasn't got anything to sell."
"I hate jokes that are made about other people's misfortunes," writes reader Walter Duryea, "but this fellow
Monty I refer to was such a conceited, arrogant waster—a typical rich man's good-for-nothing son—and the yacht he bought was ten times too big and ostentatious. Well, the boiler on it blew up one day and a lady guest, mildly panicked, gurgled, "Oh, Monty, do you think the boat is going to sink?"
"My dear woman," huffed Monty indignantly, "this yacht is completely and absolutely unsinkable . . . glub, glub, glub . . ."

Pre-School Activities Begin Today for Seminole County Negro Teachers

Seminole County Negro teachers will begin their preparations for the 1957-58 school term with meetings at their respective schools this morning at 8:30 a.m.

On Tuesday, work will be continued at the school centers. In the afternoon, principals, school lunch managers, and other persons who keep lunch records will meet at Hopper Elementary with Mrs. Charlotte Whitmore, School Lunch Director, to receive instructions on new regulations for keeping these records.

On Wednesday, Aug. 21, teachers will attend the District Meeting of Florida State Teachers Association at Bartow, Fla.

Work at the school centers will be resumed on Thursday in preparation for the county-wide meeting on Friday Aug. 23 at Crooms High School. The general theme of the meeting is "Cooperative Planning for the Improvement of Instruction." Schools will give reports of the achievement and progress of this technique as practiced last year with a review of plans for the ensuing year.

Aug. 23, teachers will work at preparing for registration of pupils on Tuesday, Aug. 27. Buses will operate on schedule to transport pupils to their assigned schools. Pupils should not delay registration beyond this date since enrollment figures of this date will greatly facilitate planning for the opening day on Sept. 3.

Wednesday, Aug. 23, teachers will work in the classrooms completing arrangements for class work.

Thursday, Aug. 23, all elementary teachers will plan at the Goldsboro Elementary School with Mrs. Minnie H. Fields, Specialist in Elementary Education, State Department of Education, Tallahassee, Fla., as consultant. The group will discuss and plan for improving reading instruction in grades 1-4.

Aug. 30, teachers will again work at their respective schools completing final plans for the opening day Sept. 3.

Free-Calling Area for Winter Park Phone Subscribers

When Metropolitan Service starts on September 18 any subscriber in the Winter Park telephone exchange area can call any subscriber in the Orlando exchange area without paying a toll charge. The free-calling area with Metropolitan Service for Winter Park subscribers, it is announced, will be increased in square miles from about 110 to 320 which is said to be larger than the calling area of Miami.

The optional extended service which some Winter Park subscribers now have, permitting calls to the Orlando exchange without an additional toll charge will be discontinued.

After the new service starts, any subscriber in Winter Park, Maitland, Goldenrod, Eatonville, Altamonte, Longwood, Forest City, Casselberry and Farm Park can call any subscriber, not only in the Winter Park exchange area, but any telephone number in the Orlando exchange. This means that Winter Park subscribers will have at their finger tips the number of any subscriber in the city of Orlando as well as such communities as Azalea Park, Bithlo, Lochhart, Pine Crest, Oria Vista, Wintermead and Taft, and without paying toll charges.

Similarly, any subscriber living in any one of these communities in the Orlando exchange area can call any telephone in a community listed in the Winter Park exchange area without paying a toll.

Subscribers in both exchange areas can call any other telephone in either exchange merely by dialing the first two letters of the name prefix and all five figures in the listed number.

Long distance calls to telephone numbers outside the Winter Park exchange, it is announced, will continue to be made through the Orlando exchange. The only change announced with Metropolitan Service is that long distance calls by Winter Park subscribers should be placed by dialing "Operator" instead of dialing 113 as at present. The new telephone numbers to be given to Winter Park residents subscribers are now being assigned and will be mailed to subscribers about a week before the switch-over to Metropolitan Service in September. All numbers will be changed and will include name

Dulles said the House cuts are so severe that they will make the free world wonder whether it can count on the United States as a dependable friend.

Outgoing aid administrator John B. Hollister said the cuts made by the House in the development loan fund "would make it impossible to carry out the forward looking policy adopted by congress in establishing the fund."

Despite Dulles' pleas, the Senate was expected to restore little, if any, of the House cut, Republican leaders, however, planned to make a fight for at least some increase.

Loss Effectiveness

Dulles said the threatened reductions in military aid were so great as to "make it impossible to supply our allies with the military equipment needed to maintain the effectiveness and morale of their fighting forces."

And the slashes in so-called "defense support" indirect military aid may make it impossible for some dependent allies to be able to defend themselves.

The President asked for a total of $2 billion dollars over a three-year period. The House voted to appropriate only 300 million.

Negro

Police Captain Jack Hickson revealed this morning that he had a similar incident with Danmer in 1956 when he "reared up and got smart" after beating a negro woman unmercifully.

Danner's home address was given as Woodbridge, near the Seminole County line, but he had also lived in Sanford. His mother and father are residents of Orlando.

Justice of the Peace Duncan said this morning that two warrants have been issued for the arrest of a Negro for inciting a riot and unlawful interference with an officer in line of duty.

Sheriff Hobby this morning said that there were about 100 Negroes surging around the scene with only one of two attempting to agitate "trouble." Name of the Negro for whom the warrants were issued has not been released since he had not been taken into custody.

Three Mill Increase Okayed By Commission For New County Budget

Top News In Brief

LONDON — Official sources said today Britain is reactivating its Christmas Island hydrogen bomb base so new thermonuclear tests can be carried out on "short notice" if needed. There are no immediate plans for further nuclear explosions at the mid-Pacific testing area, the sources said. But Christmas Island will be kept in readiness.

WASHINGTON — The armed forces, aiming at holding the nation's defenses intact during an expected influenza epidemic this winter, are testing volunteers to see if key personnel will need a double vaccine shot to guarantee immunity. The Public Health Service so far has recommended only one shot for all civilians, but is studying whether two are needed.

WASHINGTON — A United Steelworkers official charged today that the steel industry is trying to make his union the "scapegoat" for "exorbitant" steel price increases. Otis Brubaker, the union's research director, told the Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee that "steel price increases in the post-World War II period have been exorbitant in relation to increased costs."

Railroads Talk Over Problem With Shippers

The only way the railroads can regain some of the traffic now being handled otherwise is to meet competition realistically, was the advice given to representatives of the Fruit Growers Express Committee by growers and shippers of Florida's vegetables and fruits. At a meeting held at the George Washington Hotel, West Palm Beach, last week, growers and shippers met with members of the committee composed of representatives of Eastern and Southern railroads to discuss the reasons which determine whether shipments are made by railroad or motor transportation.

George Wedgworth, Belle Glade, a district director of the Fruit and Vegetable Association, which sponsored the meeting, presided. L. L. Doss, Wilmington, N. C., Assistant Freight Traffic Manager, Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and chairman of the committee stated the problem facing the railroads. Doss said, "We are here to ask you growers and shippers what we must do to regain a part of the traffic now being handled by truck."

Cited as handicaps in making rail shipments by the growers, a comment by E. A. McCabe, Pioneer Grocers, Belle Glade, who said, "A lack of flexibility which must be overcome by the railroads. Some customers are not as interested in rates as they are in fast delivery."

"There is less handling of shipments when made by truck. Handling causes damages and trucks make delivery faster," said S. O. Chase Jr., Chase and Company, Sanford.

Samuel Kelly, A. Duda and Sons, Ovidio, said, "I maintain that volume of shipments goes one way or the other because of rates and rates do include delivery charges. Buyers are cost conscious."

House Passes Bill For Civil War Centennial Group

WASHINGTON — The House has passed a bill to establish a Civil War centennial commission to plan an appropriate commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the Civil War.

The commission would make the fullest use of state, civil, patriotic, hereditary and historical groups to mark the anniversary exercises.

Members of the commission would be the president of the United States, the vice president, the speaker, six persons named by the President, four named by the vice president, four named by the speaker and director of the national park service. They would submit their preliminary recommendations by March 1, 1958.

The Board of Seminole County Commissioners went "round and round" again today over the approval of the 1957-58 budget.

Even in the reading of the minutes of the last meeting both Commissioners Lawrence Swoford and John Krider protested quotes attributed to Bralley Odham and to the elimination of quotes by Krider.

Commissioner Swoford contended the "go slow on reappraisal" included in the minutes as a statement made by Odham. He said "I do remember him saying 'if it had been made five years ago it would have been late,'" and Commissioner Krider objected to the leaving out of suggestions as to how the budget could be cut.

However, the minutes were approved as read.

A delegation from Altamonte Springs protested the proposed 1957-58 budget at the public hearing set for 10 o'clock this morning.

N. B. Choise said "We have held several meetings. We have not as yet been informed that tax on properties is equal and just. Therefore, we protest this budget until a reappraisal is made."

Commissioner Krider commented "I would like to stand on my previous statements. We are fast approaching a crisis in Seminole County. It is unfair to raise taxes on our people when it looks as if services are less. I don't see why anyone would object to a study of our problems."

Emphatically Krider stated, "I am opposed to this budget—I don't believe it is fair to raise taxes."

And he added "I vote against this budget—I oppose it simply because it provides nothing."

Commissioner Homer Little, in an apparent move to try to win Krider's vote for the budget, said "I am in favor of a citizens committee—but we had to do something about this budget."

"It's our job to provide the money," Krider answered, "and I want a county with some planning—a look to the future."

Commission Chairman Fred Dyson spoke up and said "Planning doesn't help this budget."

Commissioner B. C. Dodd stated "I know this budget is as fair as any in the 11 years I've sat on this board—and I know we will have to study our problems—I'm for going ahead and making a study but I still think that a reappraisal is something for the future."

The name of the County Tax Assessor, Mrs. Mary Earle Walker, was brought up and immediately Commissioner Krider said "We're not blaming Mrs. Walker—we're asking for her help. We shouldn't even discuss Mrs. Walker, it's the method."

N. B. Choise of Altamonte Springs spoke up again. He said "Property should be assessed somewhere near today's value—everything else is. The tax situation in Seminole County is very deplorable—I'll back Mr. Swoford." (Continued on Page 8)

WRIGHT HEADS STATE ORANGE MARKETERS

WINTER PARK, Orange growers in Volusia county are leading the way numerically in joining Florida Orange Marketers, guaranteeing themselves a "home" for the amount of fruit pledged to the cooperative and firm in the belief they will get their fair share of the consumer's citrus dollar.

Florida Orange Marketers is a non-profit agricultural cooperative created by growers, controlled by growers and operated for the benefit of growers. It has entered into a contract with Minute Maid for processing all the oranges of its members into concentrate and selling the finished produce under the famous Minute Maid and Snow Brand brands.

Except for a predetermined modest charge for its services in processing and merchandising the fruit supplied by Florida Orange Marketers, Minute Maid will return what it receives for the frozen concentrate to the cooperative where it will be distributed equally to all members on the basis of the pounds of solids in their fruit.

DeLand leads the list of communities given by grower members of Florida Orange Marketers as their home residence, with 41. Total for Volusia county is 50, with six from Seville and three from Pierson.

Three citrus industry leaders from Volusia county are members of the board of directors of Florida Orange Marketers. They are Earl W. Brown and Frank M. (Continued on Page 8)

Action On Foreign Aid Money Call Delayed

Detailed Info Sought

WASHINGTON — The Senate Appropriations Committee today postponed action on President Eisenhower's foreign aid money request. It asked the administration for more detailed information.

The action came at a one hour and 15 minute closed-door session where the President's supporters tried to put back most of the $9.9 billion dollars cut out of the $3,367,800,000 program by the House last week.

Just before the committee met, Eisenhower appealed to Republican leaders to support him in his fight for a full-scale mutual security program. But his party leaders held out hope of restoring only part of the whopping House cut.

Chairman Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.) said the committee will call experts from the Defense Department and the International Cooperation Administration for detailed testimony Wednesday on specific items in the bill as passed by the House.

Hayden said there was "some dispute as to what the figures really mean and how much is left over."

However, the committee still hoped to complete action this week, Hayden said. He did not regard the postponement as a deliberate delay.

But the delay upset plans to report the committee's compromise figure to the Senate floor late today for a vote Wednesday.

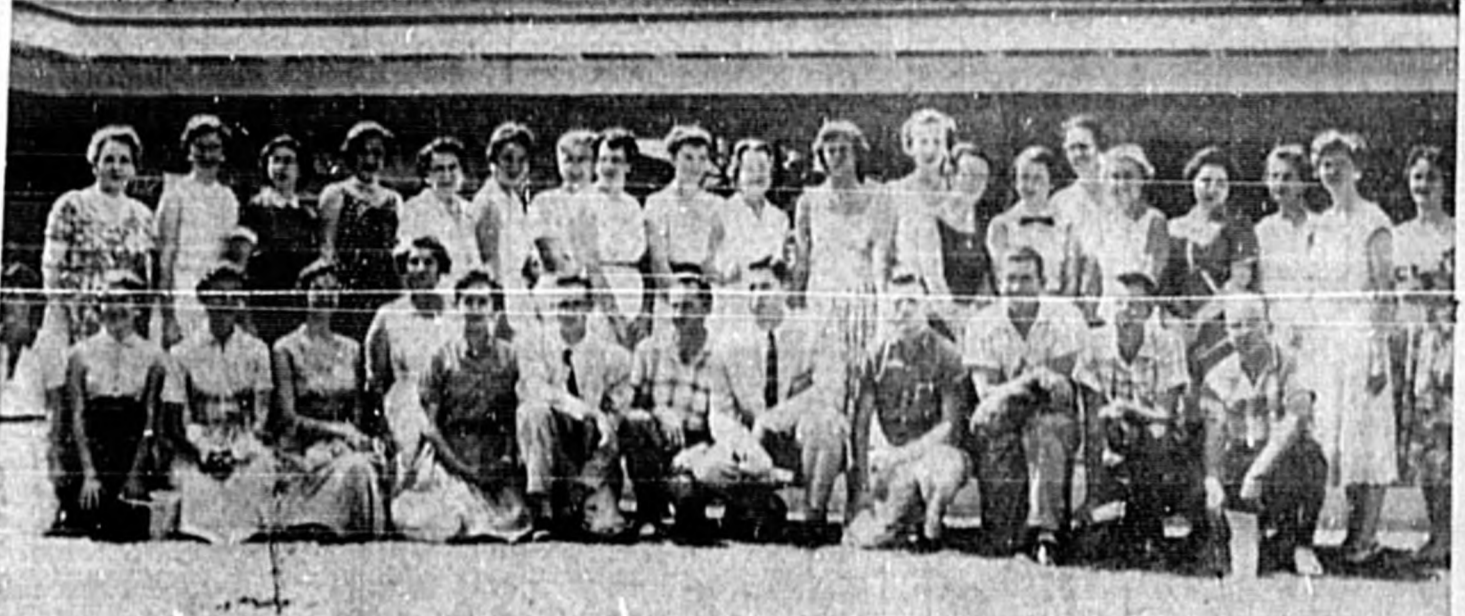

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland reported after the White House conference that the President strongly urged efforts to make a "substantial restoration" of the House cut.

He refused to predict whether Eisenhower will be satisfied with the expected Senate compromise figure, estimated by some aid supporters at around 3 billion dollars.

Eisenhower's threat to call a special session of Congress this fall to seek an increased aid appropriation was not mentioned at the conference, Knowland said.

The Senate Appropriations Committee went to work on the aid money bill in closed session, sharply divided on whether to respond to urgent administration pleas for more aid funds.

Knowland said the compromise proposal—between the House figure of $2,524,740,000 and the $3,367,800,000 authorized by Congress and accepted by the administration—would be reported out late today.

Hurricane Hunter Studies Suspicious Weather Area

JACKSONVILLE — A hurricane hunter plane took off today to investigate a "suspicious" weather area 350 miles east-southeast of Puerto Rico, it was announced here.

A Navy spokesman said the Neptune plane left Puerto Rico at 5:30 a.m. and will remain in the area until dusk.

The Miami weather bureau confirmed that an easterly wave was spotted Monday in the general area of the western Antilles. But spokesmen said Navy and Air Force planes which checked the area reported no circulation. Circulation is necessary for the development of tropical storms.

"This may not develop into anything," the weather station pointed out, "but nevertheless we are taking checks on the area."

State Citrus Tree Census Continues

LAKELAND — Osceola County, with over 900,000 citrus trees, became the 28th citrus belt county to be covered in the State Plant Board's citrus tree census.

Figures released by the Florida Citrus Commission today show that Osceola has a bearing total of 927,851 citrus trees in the county.

In cooperation with the Plant Board, the Citrus Commission, Florida Citrus Mutual, the U.S. and Florida Departments of Agriculture, and the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station, the survey will eventually include 36 counties in the Florida citrus belt.

Osceola according to the report, has 739,933 orange trees and 56,218 grapefruit trees in commercial groves in the county. Also listed was a total of 37,737 Mandarin variety trees; 47,424 hybrids of which 45,022 were templets; 2,106 acer fruit trees, including 864 villa franca lemons; 628 Sour orange and 489 Persian Limes; and 90 trees bearing Kumquats.

The report stated that Osceola has a total net commercial acreage in citrus of 13,134 acres; has 6,240 trees in abandoned groves; and 31,523 diseased trees throughout the county.

Other counties thus far included in the census project are Seminole, Polk, Lake, Pinellas, Highlands, Lee, Hendry, Collier, Broward, Duval, Orange, Hardee, Martin, Sarasota, DeSota, St. Lucie, Indian River, Putnam, Palm Beach, Charlotte, Volusia, Manatee, Alachua, Oklawaha, Pasco, Hernando and Citrus.

Including today's report on Osceola, the combined counties surveyed indicate a total of 28,485,566 trees, of which 25,852,532 are bearing commercial oranges.

Net citrus acreage for the 28 counties was placed at 504,557 acres; 1,713,301 trees were listed in the diseased category; and 574,517 trees in abandoned groves.

The citrus tree count, which has been underway since early last year, will include an estimated 43,000,000 citrus trees when completed.

Increased Tax May Not Reach 3 Mills

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners started a series of budget study meetings last night and came up with the possibility that increased millage on city taxpayers may not reach the three mill plus figure.

A detailed study was made last night of the Utility Department budget, which is supported entirely from revenues from the water and sewer departments.

The proposed budget for the City's Utility Department, submitted to the commissioners for study on July 8 by City Manager Warren E. Knowles, was amended with a cost-of-living wage increase of $3,022.

Details for the department, pending changes in the final approval of the appropriation measure, are $323,323.

This year's budget for the sewer and water departments in the Utility department will be, if adopted without change, more than $12,000 lower than last year's cost of operation.

By using existing funds, the Board of Commissioners is toying with the idea of using these funds in lieu of an additional levy for the $40,000 treatment plant fee. If this plan is adopted the additional millage to be levied against Sanford taxpayers will not exceed a possible 1.53 mills.

Commissioners examined every item of the short three page budget seeking explanations for proposed increases and adding funds where needed.

An additional $375 was added for a motor scooter for the city's water meter reader. Both the city manager and the commissioners believed that by mechanizing the department the one man would find it easier to cover the present route.

The commissioners questioned closely the necessity for increased gasoline and oil bills in the two departments. At the same time they also scrutinized closely an increase in lights and power equipment, chemicals and disinfectant supplies, tank maintenance and insurance.

Budget hearings will continue next week until commissioners have reached a point of agreement and approve the measure. However, in next week's meetings, commissioners will dig into 29 pages of facts and figures that bring the city's general government expenses up near the one million dollar mark.

The proposed General Government budget, including the Debt Service, cost of living adjustment, and sewerage treatment plant construction reserve, is totaled at $200,490.40. With the possible elimination of the $40,000 figure, the total will drop down to approximately $165,000.

Coroner's Jury Says Shooting In Self Defense

A Coroner's Jury last night declared in a verdict handed down after a more than two hour hearing that "Deputy Sheriff Morgan R. McClelland shot in self defense" when George H. Danner Jr., a 29-year-old Woodbridge Negro was killed late Sunday afternoon.

Nine witnesses paraded before the jury and were questioned by Asst. State Attorney Tom Waddell of Melbourne. The witnesses included Dr. Wade H. Garner, the attending physician, Christine McQueen, Ernest Mobley, Josh Chandler Jr., Ned June, Robert Williams, Isaac Dunn, John McQueen, and Melvin Pierce.

Witnesses testified that Danner resisted arrest and charged the deputy in an attempt to get his gun.

The complete verdict handed down by the six-man jury stated "Man was killed while resisting arrest, a duly bonded officer M. R. McClelland who shot in self defense. Justifiable homicide."

The all-white jury who heard the evidence last night included: Henry C. Moore, foreman, G. W. Morgan, H. C. Morgan, Jack K. Morrison, T. V. Brown and B. C. Steele.

Members of the jury viewed the body and the scene of the shooting Sunday afternoon.

Danner was shot when he refused to be taken into custody Sunday after sideswiping an automobile at the scene of an accident. Deputy Sheriff McClelland was investigating and also running over the foot of a Negro onlooker.

McClelland ordered the Negro from his car after Danner could not produce a driver's license. However, the 29-year-old former Sanford Negro, pushed away from the Deputy and then attempted to snatch a pistol from Deputy McClelland's hand. A struggle ensued with both the Negro and McClelland being thrown to the ground. The Negro was shot once in the arm when he attempted to snatch the gun. Later, as the two struggled (Continued on Page 8)
