County Asks Herndon To Stay On Job—For Now

Time Running Out On Securing Ambulance Pact

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Emergency ambulance service in Seminole County may be in limbo again.

After only one bid was received for a proposed three-year ambulance service contract, County Purchasing director Joann Blackmon said today she will recommend county commissioners approve a six-month extension of the county's contract with Herndon Ambulance Service.

But Idus Willis, president of Herndon, said he's not sure whether the firm "could afford a six-month extension" of the contract which expires Sept. 30.

"We told them we'd stay there until they made arrangements with us or someone else to provide service," he said. "But six months is a long time."

Willis said he plans to study the firm's financial position for a few days and then decide. "If we can break even we'll go along with it."

County Emergency Services Coordinator Barbara Smith said if Herndon feels six months is too long a shorter extension will be accepted. Six months is being sought to assure ample time to work out contract provisions.

Willis said his company must purchase new equipment to comply with state laws which take effect in October. He said a pay raise is also planned for the firm's employees in January. Those two items will cost about $40,000, he said.

Herndon's contract for emergency service includes a $205,000 annual subsidy from the county to make up for the company's losses in providing the service. Herndon has provided both emergency and non-emergency service in Seminole County for more than 10 years. Company officials claim they have consistently lost money on the emergency service because about 30 percent of the people transported don't pay their bills.

Proposals were sought last week for the new three-year contract. Previously ambulance service contracts have been for one year. This time, only City Ambulance Service Inc., of Montgomery, Ala., submitted a bid. The contents of that bid were not

Housing Boom

$52 Million In Construction Underway As Developers Suddenly Seek Land, Permits

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Housing construction is booming in Sanford.

More than $52 million worth of new housing is under construction or in the definite planning stages in the city, and inquiries from builders are coming into city hall daily about the possibility of developing land all over Sanford.

Gary Winn, city building and zoning official, said today he is at a loss to say exactly what has inspired the interest in Sanford all of a sudden.

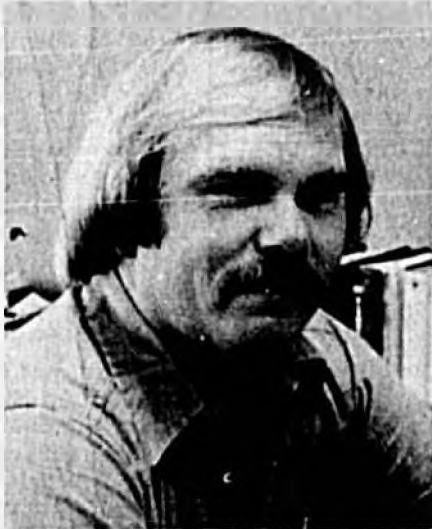

"The only thing I can think of is the interest rates, but they really aren't that good right now," he said, adding the fact that Sanford has water and sewer service available to serve the homes is probably a major factor.

"Building inspections have increased four-fold," Winn said.

The number of housing units either under construction or in the definite planning stages totals 935. Currently under construction are:

- Hidden Lake additions where nearly 300 single family homes and villas are being built and selling in the high $0,000s and low $60,000 price range. Developer is Residential Communities of America.

- Howell Place, the senior citizen complex under construction on a tract off Airport Boulevard and behind the Zayre's shopping plaza. The center valued at $2.7 million is being developed by Bob Little. The three story structure is slated to have 94 units.

Gary Winn

- Mayfair Villas, a detached single family villa community of 55 units valued at $3 million with construction finished and only one unit left for sale.

The Mayfair Villas condominiums, located on State Road 46A, was developed by A.K. Shoemaker Jr. of Shoemaker Construction Co.

Meanwhile set for construction is:

- Kaywood to be built in two sections with one part townhouse development and the other single family homes by Shoemaker Construction Co.

Shoemaker said today Kaywood will have a total of 130 lots developed in the northwest quadrant of 46A and Oregon Avenue, one quarter mile past his villas development. Kaywood is valued at about $14 million by Shoemaker.

'Someone comes in every day to inquire about developing another piece of land.'

The developer said he is in process of engineering the development and getting plans ready. He estimates construction will begin toward the end of the year.

Shoemaker has built some 14 housing developments in Sanford over the past 27 years. He also is involved in commercial development throughout the Central Florida area.

On the drawing boards is:

- Mayfair Meadows, to the west of the Mayfair Country Club golf course on the north side of 46A, east of Oregon Avenue. Valued at about $18 million, plans for the project show 356 units in all, including 276 single family homes and 80 townhouses, Winn said.

The development is to be built on a tract, surrounding the old Seminole gun firing range. The tract will have 59 acres of developed land and 27 acres of open space.

Boyd Arp of Altamonte Springs is the developer.

Winn said this development has gone through the preliminary plat stage.

"Someone comes in every day to inquire about development of another piece of land," Winn said.

Where There's Smoke...

This sign in front of burning house in the 400 block of Orange Avenue in Longwood is designed to calm startled neighbors and passers-by. The house was finally burned to the ground today at the new owner's request after being used for the past three days by the Longwood Fire Department to train firefighters from three separate shifts. Longwood Fire Marshal John Richardson and training officer Gus Carbonnel were in charge of the training fire. The owner plans to build a duplex on the site.

Tentative OK Given For 3 Road Projects

Seminole County commissioners have given tentative approval for surveys and preliminary engineering for three highway construction projects.

Commissioners voted this week to prepare work orders for Watson & Co., an Orlando consulting firm, to proceed with the work which proceeds actual construction. The projects — a proposed extension of Lake Mary Boulevard from U.S. Highway 17-92 to County Road 427, construction of a portion of Lake Emma Road near Lake Mary and construction of part of Hillview Drive/McNorton Ave. in the county and Altamonte Springs.

The Lake Mary Boulevard extension is an integral part of county plans to convert Lake Mary Boulevard into a major artery for east-west travel in the county. Engineering for the project would cost about $60,000, with actual construction estimated to run about $1.09 million.

Surveys and preliminary engineering for Lake Emma Road, which runs between Lake Mary and Longwood, will cost about $25,000. The county has budgeted $160,000 for materials to construct the road.

County officials have budgeted $50,000 for construction materials to build Hillview/McNorton. Altamonte Springs officials have budgeted the same amount for construction of their part of the road.

County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff voiced some reservations about the plan to build Lake Emma Road. He said developers with property along the road and firms whose employees use the road should pay a portion of the costs.

Catch This Act

Seminole High's William Wynn hopes to repeat this catch tonight when Titusville Astronaut invades Sanford for the beginning of the prep football season. Seminole will try to break an 11-game losing streak. See Sports, page 6A, for a report on all the county football teams and a look at Wynn in Between The Goal Posts.

Ray Officially In Race For State Attorney Post

'I will be there when decisions have to be made.'

J. Christopher "Chris" Ray has done the expected and officially thrown his hat into the political ring for the office of state attorney of the 18th Judicial Circuit, Seminole and Brevard counties.

A Republican and former assistant state attorney and past assistant public defender in the circuit, Ray has filed his qualifying papers in Tallahassee to run for the office now held by his former boss, Democrat Douglas Cheshire of Brevard County, in 1984.

Ray lives in Sanford and is a native of the Mt. Dora area.

With his qualifying for the office, the fate of his wife, Cindy's career as a secretary in Cheshire's Seminole County courthouse office is up in the air.

Cheshire could not be reached for comment at his Titusville office this morning.

Mrs. Ray has worked in the state attorney's office in Seminole for the past nine years, before Ray went to work there and before Cheshire held the office.

decisions need to be made," Ray said.

He said he plans to cement some relationships with the law enforcement community that haven't been there for a long time, noting it was members of law enforcement from both Seminole and Brevard counties who came to him and asked that he run. "This is one of the reasons I am running. I expect to get some support from that quarter."

Ray ran unsuccessfully for the public defender's office in 1976, after serving as an assistant in the office for four years.

Involved in his own law practice currently, Ray, 39, is a graduate of the University of Florida and received his law degree from Stetson University Law School. A resident of Sanford since 1971, Ray and his wife have two children.

Of his upcoming campaign, Ray said it will be run in a clean fashion with a positive approach.

Seminole Democratic Delegates To Be Named

The two final appointments to the Seminole County delegation which will be attending the Florida Democratic Party's mini convention in Hollywood, Fla. on Oct. 21-23 will be named Monday, local party chairman Marvin Meltzer said today.

Meltzer said he will be naming two persons well-known in the county to fill the two slots.

Delegates elected by the local Democratic Committee who are all committee members include: Kenneth Bevan, David Chaffin, Sandra Gaines, Lisa Glascock, Jerry Hester, Willie King, Laney Mala, Virginia Mercer, Kit Pepper, Eliza Pringle, Roland Williams and Wiletha Williams.

Non-committee members elected include: Terry Beckett, Bill Beckett, Leonora Mobley and Frances C. Oliver.

In addition, officers in the committee are automatically named delegates: chairman, Marvin Meltzer, vice chairman Lois Jackson, state committeeman Charles Glascock and state committeewoman Cay Westerfield.

In turn, Mrs. Jackson named her husband, Donald, a delegate; Mrs. Westerfield named her son, Clark; and Glascock named Mark Rabinowicz.

Judy Sledge, local party secretary, was appointed a delegate by the state party.

Lake Mary Paves Way For City's Own Well

The Lake Mary City Commission will begin the process of adopting an ordinance on water conservation at its meeting next week to pave the way to gaining approval from state agencies for a water supply of its own.

The city commission at a special meeting Wednesday instructed City Attorney Robert Petree to prepare the ordinance, which city officials said will be a requirement of the St. Johns River Water Management District when applications are filed with that agency and the state Department of Environmental Regulation seeking approval for a city well.

Some weeks ago, Mayor Walter Sorenson said the city is eyeing three existing wells on a line between Rinehart Road and Country Club Road with the possibility of acquiring two of them as the nucleus of a city water supply.

In recent days, a group of land developers have been negotiating with Patricia Stenstrom, a city property owner, about the possibility of buying them to serve not only areas slated for development but also the entire city.

This has been only one possibility for the city to acquire its own water supply. Prospects of the city gaining federal grants and increasing its current loan from the U.S. Farmers Home Administration are also being pursued.

The city owes nearly $270,000 on the loan from the federal agency acquired some years ago to expand the water system by installing new lines and replacing old ones and especially to provide additional fire hydrants in the community.

Commissioner Ray Fox and Commissioner-elect Harry Terry during his campaign have counseled the city not to increase its debts while the federal funding is being pursued.

The necessity of Lake Mary acquiring its own water supply was brought to the fore two months ago when the city of Sanford stressed that it could not continue to supply Lake Mary with the water necessary for the more than 1,000 housing units currently on the drawing boards in the city.

Sanford has been supplying Lake Mary with water under contract since 1976. Sanford officials have stated their concern that Lake Mary's growth could hinder Sanford in supplying water to its own developments in the planning stages.—Donna Estes

Security Council To Vote On Weak Soviet Resolution

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The U.N. Security Council, after a week of debate assailing Moscow for downing a South Korean jetliner, called a vote today on a weak draft resolution that merely deplores what President Reagan called "a massacre."

The council scheduled an afternoon meeting to conclude its consideration of the destruction of the jetliner Thursday with 269 people aboard by a missile-firing Soviet warplane.

Despite being much weaker than the United States, Japan and a few Western countries wished, the draft was certain to be vetoed by the Soviet Union.

The draft asked Perez de Cuellar, "making use of such expert advice as he deems necessary and in consultation with appropriate international bodies, to conduct a full investigation into the circumstances of the tragedy."

Mayor Targeted For Hit

CHICAGO (UPI) — A wealthy real estate broker was held on $4 million bond today, charged with trying to buy a $1 million murder contract on Mayor Harold Washington, possibly because he was worried about the city's future under Washington.

Lawrence N. Oberman, 38, was indicted Thursday by a Cook County grand jury on two counts of solicitation to commit murder and one count of possessing more than 30 grams of cocaine.

Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley said he knew of no motive behind the reported scheme but said it was not political. "There was no political inference whatsoever," Daley said, referring to possible racial tensions and squabbles the mayor has had with the white majority in the City Council.

even revealed because the company did not submit a five percent bid bond with the bid, Mrs. Blackmon said.

"We didn't have any real choice but to reject it," she said.

Herdon was one of 22 other firms sent bid specifications by the county but did not return a proposal. The reason, according to Willis, was a stipulation that the company getting the contract have a $500,000 performance bond. He said a bond that high is almost impossible to get.

A bond is necessary to ensure that the county will still receive service if the company goes bankrupt, Mrs. Smith said.

The $50,000 bond in the current contract is woefully inadequate, she said.

But Mrs. Smith agreed with Willis that a $500,000 bond is too high. She said the firms interested in the contract and various bond companies have confirmed that.

"We're well aware that it's something we're going to have to re-work," she said today.

The county wants to upgrade the level of service, forcing Herdon to exclude its four emergency vehicles from making non-emergency runs and requiring ambulance personnel to be on duty for 24 hours then off duty for 48 hours.

Mrs. Smith said county staff officials will be working to revise the bid specifications to attract more bidders.

Meanwhile, Willis has already given commissioners an unofficial budget for his company's operation in Seminole County for the coming year at the same level of service. That budget includes a $40,000 increase over the current subsidy, he said.

Willis said the upgraded service will cost the county about $400,000 and is unnecessary. "They've got good ambulance service in Seminole County. It's much better than in many counties," he said. "When will they come to accept that?"

He's also tired of granting extensions to the county. Last year two extensions were granted for a total of four months.

"They (the county) said we'd avoid all the hassles by awarding a three-year contract," he said. "Here we are back again."

"This keeps our people unsettled. They don't know if they'll have jobs three months from now."

Economy

Wholesale Prices Up Slightly; Food Costs To Blame

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices moved up a modest 0.4 percent in August, not enough to exceed December's price level, keeping 1983's business inflation rate so far a flat zero, the Labor Department said today.

The increase for finished goods ready for retail sale was the second highest of the year with the major upward influence a drought-related acceleration of poultry, pork and vegetable prices.

The separate measure of raw materials prices, at the beginning of the nation's supply pipeline, rocketed up 2.1 percent, the most since August 1980, another period of drought.

But overall increases were held down by a deceleration in tobacco prices, relatively small increases in gasoline and fuel oil costs and the second consecutive monthly decline in natural gas prices.

The Labor Department's Producer Price Index for August was 286.2, equivalent to a price of $2.862 for goods that cost business $1,000 in 1967.

Business equipment prices, from industrial ovens to printing presses, jumped 0.7 percent, the most since November 1981. Such capital equipment prices make up 22 percent of the business index.

The business inflation rate for the first eight months of the year was zero, the department said. The rate for the 12 months through August was 1.4 percent, the lowest rate for any 12-month period since the one ended November 1967.

Some analysts are still predicting 1983 will end with the most stable wholesale prices since 1964's 0.5 percent. Last year the Producer Price Index went up 3.7 percent.

Vegetable prices were driven up 16.5 percent in August alone, mainly by the blistering heat that kept part of the crop from harvest.

Poultry prices were up 5.1 percent, again because of the weather's toll on chickens.

Pork prices were up 0.6 percent after declines in the previous five months, with July's drop a large 5.7 percent. "Equal to a ton," Georgia State University economist Donald Ratajczak said just before the latest index was released. "Hogs don't sweat and when the temperature hits 100 degrees farmers are reluctant to put them into transport carriers."

But the effect is only temporary and "just this week slaughters were up sharply," he said.

Tobacco products became 0.1 percent less expensive at wholesale during August, a large turnaround from July's 6.5 percent increase.

The overall energy index was up 0.3 percent.

One measure of the weak price pressures in the economy was the index that showed all items except food and energy to be increasing in price only 0.2 percent in August.

Although the report showed passenger car prices up 1.3 percent, a department economist confirmed the increase was a technical distortion that resulted from the withdrawal of many manufacturer's discounts in August. The report's seasonally adjusted prices interpreted the absence of the typical year-end discounts as an increase when actually prices stayed about the same as in July.

Wholesale prices are what businesses pay each other. Their level influences consumer prices within a few weeks although the effect is seldom identical.

Despite the economic recovery and a rebound in demand wholesale prices have shown very little tendency to go up in 1983. The moderation in prices of equipment business needs to expand and modernize could help the economy in the long term, analysts say.

The latest report revised April's wholesale price index upward slightly to show no change instead of a 0.1 percent decline. May's index was also revised to show a 0.3 percent increase instead of the original 0.2 percent. June's index went up 0.5 percent and July's was up only 0.1 percent.

The biggest influence on the year's inflation rate was a record 1.1 percent decline in January.

Reagan Promises 'Whatever Support It Takes' In Lebanon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan says he is determined to provide the U.S. peace-keeping forces in Lebanon all the military support they need to defend themselves against attack by warring factions.

Reagan made that pledge in a telephone call Thursday from the Oval Office to Marine Commander Tim Garaghty in Beirut after a Navy frigate shelled Druze artillery positions in Lebanon that had fired on a Marine unit.

"I am determined to see to it that we provide whatever support it takes to stop the attacks on your position," Reagan told the commander. White House spokesman Larry Speakes said.

So far, Reagan has given no indication he will comply with Lebanese government requests for more men and firepower to overcome opposition from Moslem factions.

But U.S. amphibious units with 2,000 soldiers aboard already are headed toward the eastern Mediterranean, ready to take up their positions with other Navy ships offshore from Lebanon.

Although the Marines and other members of the multinational peace-keeping force have been caught in sporadic fighting for the past two weeks, the administration

Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee on foreign operations, has threatened to cut off funds for the U.S. peace-keeping force unless Reagan formally seeks Congressional approval to keep them there.

Such a concession would give ammunition to lawmakers who are ready to demand that Reagan report to Congress under the War Powers Resolution.

Speakes said the administration is "continuing to review" the situation in Lebanon but has no plans to change the mission of the 1,200 Marines participating in a multinational peace-keeping force.

Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee on foreign operations, has threatened to cut off funds for the U.S. peace-keeping force unless Reagan formally seeks congressional approval to keep them there.

Under the 1973 War Powers Resolution, the president must notify Congress when he sends U.S. troops into hostile situations. Congress then has 60 to 90 days to vote on whether the troops can remain.

Speakes said Reagan told the commander to tell the Marines. "The entire nation is proud of you and the outstanding job you're doing."

"We have vital interests in Lebanon and your presence in Beirut is the best proof of that," Reagan said.

Sanford Woman Charged In Shooting

A 55-year-old Sanford woman has been arrested and charged with attempted murder after a man was shot in the head at a Sanford rooming house.

The victim, Don Atkins, 30, of apartment 4, 409 Palmetto Ave., was listed in critical condition today at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford.

Police say that Louise Rice, of 308 E. 5th St., entered Atkins' one-room apartment at about 10:45 p.m. and pointed a .22-caliber pistol at Atkins and Katrina Sanders, who was also present in the room, Sanford police detective Donnie L. Anderson said.

Miss Rice threatened to shoot the pair and then fired one shot which struck Atkins in the forehead, Anderson said. After the shooting, Miss Rice fled.

Miss Sanders, who shared the room with Atkins, was not harmed. She called police and officers arrested Miss Rice a short time later near the scene of the shooting.

Anderson said Miss Rice and Atkins were acquainted. He declined to comment on a possible motive for the shooting.

Miss Rice remains in the Seminole County jail today in lieu of $10,000 bond.

CLOSE CALL

A man who was trying to steal gasoline from a Cadillac at a Casselberry apartment complex was scared off before he could complete the job at 12:40 a.m. Thursday.

Robert David Rollar, 29, who lives in the Squire One apartments on Howell Branch Road, said a neighbor saw a man kneeling behind Rollar's 1979 Cadillac while it was parked in the parking lot.

When the neighbor approached, the man ran away, leaving behind a plastic bucket with three gallons of gasoline in it and a hose that was still in the gas tank.

TRASH CAN TAKEN

A trash can was removed from the yard of a Sanford woman's mobile home between 3:30 p.m. Tuesday and 11:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Susan Marbes, 22, of 380 Hanson Parkway, said the trash can was worth $30.

MOTOR STOLEN

A 9-horsepower Evinrude outboard boat motor, valued at $300, was removed from the rear of a john boat at the Tuscawilla Kennels on Tuskawilla Road near Casselberry between Aug. 15 and 10 a.m. Tuesday.

WOMAN ATTACKED

Two men struck a 45-year-old Sanford woman on the head and in the face with an unknown instrument and fled with her wallet at about 9:40 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Eldora Cain, 152 Bethune Circle, told police she was walking across a field west of Crooms Academy on west 13th Street when the two men approached, struck her and fled with her wallet which contained $5.

She was treated for head injuries and cuts at the emergency room of Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford and released.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Recovered Body May Be From Downed KAL Jet

TOKYO (UPI) — A Japanese fishing boat recovered the body of a child pierced with glass and metal fragments who may have been of the 269 passengers aboard the Korean Air Lines jet shot down by the Soviet Union last week, police said today.

The body was found off eastern Hokkaido in the Sea of Japan and had been dead for one to two weeks according to a preliminary coroner's report. The KAL jet was shot down eight days ago.

The child's body was pierced by glass and metal fragments, which led police to speculate the child was a victim of the Soviet attack.

Thursday, the Soviets promised to deliver "articles and documents" from the KAL jet recovered by Russian salvage vessels to Japan.

Death Squads On Rampage

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Nine civilians, mostly teenagers, were killed and seven others kidnapped in an apparent sharp upswing of rightist death squad activity in El Salvador, authorities say.

The development came two days after the Secret Anti-communist Army — the most active rightist death squad — exploded three bombs in San Salvador to protest peace talks that have begun between the government and leftist guerrillas.

Judicial authorities in San Salvador and Santa Ana said Thursday they believed death squads were responsible for the assassinations of nine people since early Wednesday. Those figures compare with what has been an average of no more than two or three such killings per day in the past few months.

Soviets Convinced Jet On Spying Mission

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet fighters shot down a Korean jetliner with 269 people aboard on orders of a district air defense commander who concluded the plane was on a spy mission directed by the United States and Japan, the army chief of staff said today.

In Moscow's fullest account yet on the air disaster, Marshal Nikolai Ogarkov said the Soviets had found no bodies of the 269 people aboard Korean Air Lines Flight 7 and only a few pieces of the downed Boeing 747.

Ogarkov told a two-hour news conference open to Western correspondents the Soviet Union was justified in shooting down the jetliner, charging it was a "deliberately, thoroughly planned intelligence operation" directed by the United States and Japan.

"At all command levels, we reached the total conviction that we were dealing with a reconnaissance plane and we were trying to force the plane to land in Kamchatka.

"When it did not react to 120 warning shots, nothing was left for us to do but to react the way we did," he said.

"Unfortunately there were no survivors, no bodies spotted," he said.

Ogarkov said the Soviet Union would do the same thing again in similar circumstances.

Ogarkov said the jet fighters acted "in strict conformity with the constitution and the law of the state border of the U.S.S.R. and the existing international regulations. It is the sovereign right of every state to defend its borders including its air space."

"In future, if need be, they will also perform their combat tasks," including the shooting down of any plane they feel threatens their borders, the Soviet general said.

Ogarkov said the Soviet fighters shot down the plane on an order given by a district air commander but, when asked by reporters, said he was aware of the order given at the local level.

"There is no general staff in the world which, in such a situation, would not get the reports concerning the case," he said.

Asked whether Soviet Union was willing to risk starting a war with the United States on the order of a local commander, Ogarkov said the analogy was "out of order."

The session was the first direct contact between Soviet officials and Western correspondents since a Soviet Su-15 warplane shot down the South Korean jumbo jet last Thursday.

American Fleet Joins Civil War In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Druze Moslem gunmen besieged a mountain village east of Beirut jammed with some 25,000 Christian refugees today. Gunners aboard the U.S. 6th Fleet earlier fired artillery at the Druze positions for the first time.

Unidentified planes flew midnight missions over the Shouf mountains to the east of Beirut, but the Druze kept up their attacks on Beirut and sprayed the capital with a barrage of artillery as the fighting entered its sixth day today.

A new Marine amphibious unit of 2,000 troops anchored offshore to back up the 1,200 Marines stationed near Beirut International Airport.

Gunners aboard the USS Bowen, a frigate assigned to protect the U.S. Marines in Lebanon and part of the U.S. 6th Fleet, fired artillery into the mountains Thursday for the first time.

Marines stationed around the airport also fired artillery after taking fire from the mountains.

No casualties were reported among the Marines, caught between the Druze and the Lebanese army as well as pro-government Christian militias in battle for control of the Shouf which was vacated by Israeli forces Saturday.

Condemned Murderer Escapes Death...For Now

TALLAHASSEE — If all had gone as planned, condemned murderer James David Raulerson would have been dead by now.

But the Eleventh U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta Thursday blocked today's scheduled execution.

Raulerson was scheduled to die in Florida's electric chair at 8 a.m. for the 1975 murder of a Jacksonville policeman.

Raulerson had initially been scheduled to die Wednesday but was granted a 48-hour stay while U.S. District Judge John Moore of Jacksonville considered Raulerson's motion to block his execution.

Moore denied Raulerson's request late Thursday and Raulerson's attorneys appealed to the Atlanta court.

Liquor Tax Appeal

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The state plans to appeal a ruling by a Leon County circuit judge that the state's one-time inventory tax on beer, wine and liquor supplies is unconstitutional.

The ruling was made Thursday by Judge Ben Willis in response to a suit by the Florida Hotel-Motel Association.

Harry Purnell, chief counsel for the Department of Business Regulation, said the appeal will be taken to the 1st District Court of Appeal whenever Willis' oral ruling is made official on paper, either today or Monday.

The ruling effects only the $1.4 million inventory tax approved by the Legislature in July and not the higher alcoholic beverage taxes that went into effect on Sept. 1.

Begin Resignation May Open Doors

Some leaders resign because they see an irreversible decline in their popular support. This is hardly the case with Menachem Begin. His resignation as prime minister of Israel is a decision dictated from within. The old warrior with a biblical vision of the destiny of modern Israel is ready to hang up his shield. "I can't go on any more... I have no more strength." Those are the words of a desperately tired man.

It has been evident since the shock of his wife's death last November that Mr. Begin has been losing the zest for those political and diplomatic struggles on which he has always thrived. He announced in 1977 that he expected to retire when he was 70 years old. He turned 70 this year. He has suffered two heart attacks, a mild stroke and a broken hip. It is hard, then, to consider his decision a total surprise.

The timing has caught Israeli political leaders off guard, nevertheless. There were practical considerations as well as affection behind the appeals to Mr. Begin to reconsider or at least postpone his departure. It is not an ideal time for political realignments in Jerusalem. The announcement comes with the Israeli army's dangerous redeployment in Lebanon. A program of economic austerity is being implemented within Israel in an effort to cope with a ruinous inflation rate.

But Mr. Begin insists on leaving, and as the Israeli people well know, when the Begin mind is made up it rarely changes. The Likud coalition must not form a new cabinet that its diverse factions can support, or face a bid by the Labor opposition to take advantage of the situation by trying to form a new coalition around itself. By delaying the formal submission of his resignation, Mr. Begin has made it easier for Likud to assure that its coalition will hold.

Those who have been unhappy with the policies of the Begin government are not likely to see them change with the selection of a new prime minister. There will be a change in governing style, to be sure, but any change in the basic posture of the Israelis toward the major issues of war and peace will require more of a shift in Israeli politics than an exchange of prime ministers.

President Reagan's relations with Mr. Begin had never been as cordial as those enjoyed by former President Carter, and one of the president's major frustrations has been the failure of his initiatives in the Middle East. A new personality at the head of the Israeli government can open a fresh chapter in U.S.-Israel relations and open avenues of discussion that might have been closed under Mr. Begin. Still, nothing has occurred which narrows the enormous gap between Arab and Israeli thinking about territorial questions and the future of the Palestinians.

Menachem Begin fought as a guerrilla to establish the state of Israel and has been a force in the nation's political life from the beginning. Since he became prime minister in 1977 he has been the author of policies so assertive — the West Bank settlements, the annexation of the Golan Heights, the invasion of Lebanon — that they have troubled some of Israel's most faithful supporters in the United States and elsewhere.

Yet, the one act which no doubt will secure his place in history is associated with peace — the Camp David agreements with Egypt's Anwar Sadat, opening the way for an amicable relationship between the two most powerful antagonists in the series of wars in the ancient Holy Land. We can hope that what he bequeaths to his successor is the example that there is no enmity so great that it cannot be buried for the sake of peace.

Activities at the Casselberry Multipurpose Senior Center, located at 200 N. Lake Triplet Drive in Secret Lake Park, will increase with the Fall season. Bridge classes begin and Yoga classes continue with qualified volunteer instructors. The American Association of Retired Persons, the National Association of Retired Federal Employees and dances with Pete Klein's big band sounds will resume their monthly schedules.

Weekly classes, sewing, painting, special gentle exercises and square dancing will start with Seminole Community College instructors. Hobbycraft classes continue on Tuesday morning under the direction of Pauline Stevens, RSVP volunteer. No membership fees are required to join in center activities except for nationally affiliated clubs.

Health checkups will be offered the fourth Thursday of each month starting Sept. 22 at 10 a.m., with nurses from Seminole County Health Department. These free checks include charting weight, blood sugar, blood pressure and hemoglobin testing. Glaucoma and TB tests will be announced in advance so that seniors can sign up for them because they take special equipment and extra nurses. The Visiting Nurse Association checks blood pressure free on the third Monday between 10:30 and 11:30 a.m.

Joel and Jane Field of 2109 Cordova Drive, Sanford, have returned from Seattle, Wash., where he was an official delegate at the American Legion National Convention. He is proud of the fact that out of the 56 departments represented, Florida Legionnaires got the position of honor at the head of the parade and occupied the first six rows in the auditorium because the state is first in the number of new members enrolled.

He said the highlight of the convention for him was hearing President Reagan speak. While he was there he visited the Battleship Missouri, site of the signing of the peace treaty with the Japanese during World War II and found it to be an emotional experience, especially when the recorded voice of General Douglas MacArthur was broadcast over the loud speaker.

In response to a tremendous demand, expressed this summer, the Seminole YMCA is again offering swim lessons to the residents of Sanford. The Holiday Inn at Sanford Marina and the Cavlier Motor Inn, on Highway 17-92 have again donated use of their pools for the program which will serve children 3 months to 14 years. Classes begin Sept. 12. Enrollment is limited and interested persons should call the Y at 862-0444 to reserve space.

Judy Kuenzli, the woman who was looking for information on the location of her old school friend, Susan Hanch Gregory, wrote again to say that, thanks to the help of the Herald and its readers, she had their first contact by phone on Aug. 27. "I don't know which of us was more excited," she said.

ROBERT WAGMAN The Cost Of Former Presidents

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Several congressmen believe that we spend far too much on the care and feeding of former presidents — and, led by Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., they've introduced legislation that would sharply cut that spending.

That legislation has gone nowhere, much to the consternation of Chiles and its other backers. Therefore, they plan to take a stand — not on the overall bill, but on the issue of the Jimmy Carter presidential library, which will face congressional approval this fall.

The cost of maintaining former presidents has increased from only $64,000 in 1955 to more than $27 million this fiscal year. Of that $27 million, more than half — about $15 million — is spent on the upkeep of presidential libraries.

All of the libraries were built with private funds, usually raised by the former presidents' friends. However, once built, the libraries become part of the National Archives system and are staffed and maintained with federal funds. When Congress passed the Presidential Libraries Act nearly 30 years ago, it was estimated that after 100 years, there would be about 15 such libraries, each costing about $150,000 annually to maintain. Therefore, Congress assumed that by the middle of the next century, the total annual bill for presidential libraries might be about $2 million — rather than this year's total of $27 million.

Former President Carter has drawn up plans for a 70,000-square-foot library to be located in Atlanta. The construction funds will be raised privately, but the tab to be picked up by the taxpayer will be about $1.5 million in the first year.

That total includes about $500,000 in salaries and fringe benefits for 13 full-time staffers; about $130,000 for supplies and equipment; $650,000 for maintenance and upkeep, including the maintenance staff; and $200,000 for security, including guards' salaries. The annual tab will increase from the initial $1.5 million, depending on inflation and the size of government salary increases.

Chiles thinks the Carter plans are too large. In his previous presidential-support bill, Chiles included a provision to limit all future libraries to 40,000 square feet — which, he says, "is large enough to provide space for archival records and a modest museum, but not for an extravagant monument."

Chiles' original bill set presidential expense limits in a number of areas, including staff, travel and Secret Service protection. It's clear that Congress isn't ready or willing to tackle these subjects, but Chiles thinks the mood might be right for establishing limits on libraries.

So Chiles and his backers will mount an effort to have Congress reject the Carter proposal because it exceeds 40,000 square feet in size — and in doing so, Congress would be drawing the line on future library projects.

Will the move succeed? Most Capitol Hill insiders think not.

Columnist Accepts Dubious Honor

Of late, I have been portrayed as the bete noire of the press, let loose in the nation's capital to hound the resident politicians, who consider my existence to be an affront.

I appreciate the honor and will try to measure up.

The Washington Post's Tony Kornheiser discussed my minacious qualities with an unnamed Senate aide, who tried to describe what it was like to get an inquiry from my office.

He used what he said is a political term which he defined as: "When things get hopelessly fouled up and you suddenly feel your bladder rushing to your heart."

Explained the aide: "Your first thought is that you're in big trouble. His power is incredible. The vast majority of people who read him represent the vast majority of people in the country. He can paint you any way he wants to."

Not long after this appeared in the

WILLIAM RUSHER

The Washington Rally

NEW YORK (NEA) — Reflecting on the big demonstration at the Lincoln Memorial on Aug. 27, one is struck by the number of other causes that succeeded in hitching a free ride on the movement for black civil rights. Is this what most blacks want? Or has nobody bothered to ask them?

The 1963 rally that this one was supposed to memorialize was a nearly spontaneous outpouring of black sentiment for change — sentiment superbly captured and expressed by Martin Luther King Jr. in his famous "I have a dream" speech.

The Aug. 27 demonstration, on the other hand, was reminiscent of one of Congress's "pork barrel" bills: There was a little something in it for everybody. The blacks, to be sure, weren't crowded out altogether; they still provided most of the speakers and the lion's share of the audience. But the feminists were on hand to toot their horn for ERA, and the environmentalists were there condemning pollution, and the gay activists showed up to make common cause with their fellow sufferers from oppression. Even Ruben Zamora, a political spokesman for the Salvadoran guerrillas, missed the rally only because he applied for a visa too late.

What in heaven's name has the cause of black civil rights in the United States got to do with guerrilla warfare in El Salvador? There is, of course, a Marxist analysis that unites them: the theory that the capitalist "power structure" in the United States is the root of all evil and therefore the cause of both discrimination in this country and hunger in El Salvador. But few American blacks this side of Huey Newton take such malice-laden jargon seriously.

And where, precisely, is the nexus between gay rights, however those are defined, and the just demands of America's black citizens? Homosexuals certainly have civil rights too, but the open countenancing of "gay lifestyles" in such sensitive contexts as our public schools undeniably raises special and serious problems. To suggest that being black is somehow comparable to being an avowed homosexual does a disservice both to the dignity of blacks and to the intricacies of the problem confronting homosexuals.

As for environmentalism, how many blacks do you suppose are out of work today in Ohio's Mahoning Valley as a result of the mindless anti-pollution crusades that helped close down Youngstown Sheet & Tube and similar industries? Rampant environmentalism is par excellence the cause of the Chiblis set — people for whom industrial funds are the ultimate enemy. Marie Antoinette would have understood perfectly but many American blacks have grimmer and more immediate concerns.

Nonetheless, these sideshow impresarios all pitched their tents at the Lincoln Memorial on Aug. 27 — and they were there by invitation. The black leadership has made common cause with them in the holy name of chasing Ronald Reagan out of Washington.

And it is here that we reach at last the heart of the matter. The black demand for civil rights in the mid-1960s badly frightened Lyndon Johnson. He knew, as perhaps few whites save Southerners of his and earlier generations have ever known, just how badly American blacks had been treated in many areas of the country. He reacted to the threat of mob violence like the medieval king he was: by throwing coins at the mob. Within a matter of years his Great Society had lined up the great bulk of black leadership in a subsidy-distribution network, polarized like so many iron filings by the magnetic power of money. At the base of the pyramid were (and still are) the masses of their followers, who have benefited least, and in some cases suffered terribly, by these supposed benefactions.

But there, on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial, stood the black leaders on Aug. 27: cheek by jowl with their fellow parishioners in the great Democratic church. They too "have a dream," but it is scarcely Martin Luther King's. It dooms many millions of their own people to a permanent and crippling mendacity, and for these unfortunates it all too soon becomes a nightmare.

JEFFREY HART Rally Full Of Hatred

WASHINGTON, D.C. The striking thing about the recent Washington march was the pervasive mood of hatred.

In this, it did not resemble Martin Luther King's march of 20 years ago, which it was supposedly commemorating. Instead, it reversed the mood and meaning of King's gathering.

Martin Luther King's march was patriotic and upbeat in its mood and themes. No doubt this was at least in part for calculated political effect, but for those who were there it was genuine, too. "We Shall Overcome" was not a battle-cry, but a hymn. The thing to be overcome "some day" was not some other group of people but misunderstanding and bigotry. Americans were "brothers" and "sisters." Martin Luther King in his famous address hailed the greatness of this country, and when he declared "I have a dream" it was a dream of brotherhood that he was eager to share.

Last week's march was entirely different. Its tone was set by NAACP president Benjamin Hooks' menacing, "We are here because we are committed to the elimination of Reaganism from the face of the earth."

In that sentence of Mr. Hooks, you would not sense that anything was amiss if you substituted "Hitlerism" for "Reaganism" as the thing that was to be eliminated from "the face of the earth."

And what, after all, is "Reaganism"? Remember the Misery Index that was part of the 1976 Carter campaign against Gerald Ford, and which reappeared in the 1980 Carter-Reagan contest? You calculate the misery index by adding the rate of unemployment to the rate of inflation. When Carter left office, the Misery Index stood at 23.5. After three years of the Reagan presidency, with inflation at 2.5 percent and unemployment at 9 percent, the Misery Index is 11.5. Is that the "Reaganism" that Hooks wants to eliminate from the face of the earth?

Of course the unemployment figures are too high, but is that due to Reaganism? Is Reagan to blame for the non-competitive American steel industry? The unemployment and income figures for black Americans are unsatisfactory. But is Reagan responsible for an Aid to Dependent Children system that rewards pregnancy for unwed teenagers by giving them subsidized housing and an income? If half of the black families in this country are headed by single women, is that Reagan's fault?

The militant women were prominent, of course, and listening to them you would not guess that women are streaming into our graduate schools and professional school and occupying top posts in the corporate world.

The militant gays were well represented, too, and listening to them you began to feel that AIDS is somehow Reagan's fault.

Post, Newsweek magazine reported that Sen. Orrin Hatch, a Republican viewer-with-alarm from my native Utah, has been evoking my powers of intimidation to frighten fellow senators.

"Some fear Hatch's access to the widely syndicated column of his good friend Jack Anderson," Newsweek noted.

Hatch is a man of intelligence, industry and integrity who has used his considerable analytical and forensic talents to discredit Democrats and occasional Republicans whom he believes to be misguided. But I should explain that I am not a partner in these endeavors.

Any reporter of national catastrophes and international crises, it seems to me, ought to keep a prudent distance from the rascals who cause these events. Yet all too many who write about government have been seduced by those who govern.

Correspondents who form alliances with the officials they write about, reporters who share the rarefied atmosphere on the mountaintop with political rulers can become separated and estranged from the masses below.

So I accept with modest pride the honor bestowed on me by the political tenants on Capitol Hill. In a survey taken by the Washington Journalism Review, they named me their "least favorite journalist."

MISSILE SHUFFLE: For all the talk, the number of U.S. intercontinental ballistic missiles won't increase until after 1987.

The United States now has 1,053 ICBM launchers. It will have the same number in 1987, according to a secret Pentagon projection, though 40 MX missiles are scheduled to be deployed that year. But Titan and Minuteman missiles will be retired to make room for the MXs.

The Titan missiles have stood the longest guard. They're scheduled to be down to 46 by the close of this year. By 1985, they'll number 22, by 1986 just 10. The last of the Titans will be retired in 1987. There will also be 50 fewer Minuteman II missiles.

However, Minuteman III will reach 600 by the end of this year, and that total will hold until 1987 when it will drop to 560.

SLUSH FUND?: In 1981, the Army Corps of Engineers "rechanneled" more than $22 million through a "general construction fund" to other projects in need of money. That amount doubled last year and will show another dramatic increase this year. The rechanneled funds were intended for projects that, for various reasons, did not require all the appropriated dollars. So, in the bureaucratic tradition of "spend it or lose it," the brass hats simply shifted the funds to other projects through the general construction fund.

Gardening: Brighten Indoors With Fresh Bouquets

Flowers that decorate your Florida garden and can be cut for interior use, offer a double delight. Not only do they color your exterior surroundings, but they can and should be used more extensively to brighten the indoors, where we spend 80 percent of our time.

Like statice and strawflower have been most popular but many additional annuals can be used. Blossoms are usually cut when their color is at its peak, leaves removed and bound together in bunches for drying. The flowers are hung upside down in a dark, dry place for several weeks.

Flowers other than "everlastings" can be dried by burying in materials such as sand and borax or corn meal and borax. These methods are successful for certain flowers but undependable for others. More recently, a drying agent called silica gel, has been used. This compound has the capacity to absorb large quantities of moisture and is used to dry dehydrated cut flowers. Flowers minus leaves are buried in the gel in a closed container and left for about a week. Silica gel can be used over and over. When it becomes pink in color, place it in a warm oven to withdraw moisture.

Flowers which can be dried using the silica gel include: ageratum, calceola, china aster, daisies, dahlias, salvia, pansies and zinnias to name just a few.

When the flowers are dry, remove and put a two to four inch section of No. 2 florist's wire through each flower head, securing the wire by bending it into a hook at the flower-head end. This short wire can then be attached to longer wire which becomes the stem. The final step is to wrap all wire with green floral tape and then make your arrangement.

Many of the flowers we have mentioned can also be used in dried arrangements. For hundreds of years,

Mom Guilty Of Child Abuse For Letting Son Get Drunk

DEAR ABBY: My 13-year-old son goes to his friend's house to drink beer every Saturday and Sunday afternoon. His friend is 15, and I don't know if his parents are home at this time or not.

Dear Abby

Should I let my son go on doing this and bury my head in the sand like an ostrich? I can't tie him up in his room for the next five years.

I don't want him to turn into an alcoholic by the time he is 18. He has come home from his friend's house so drunk he can hardly talk or walk straight. He keeps promising not to do it again, but it's the same story the next weekend. Please help me.

supposed to get married in July of '82, so my co-workers gave me a shower. I postponed my wedding because my fiancé said he wasn't ready for marriage, but he promised we'd get married at a later date. My co-workers insisted I keep the gifts, thinking we would eventually marry. Now, 14 months later, my fiancé tells me he thinks we should call it quits — that we are not "right" for each other.

I am so embarrassed about those shower gifts. Should I just haul them back to the office and go up and down the hall giving out presents like a department store Santa Claus? Or should I mail each gift back individually?

My friends and relatives have offered to return all the gifts for me while I'm away on my vacation. I don't think this is proper, although it would be easier for me. When I tried to return the gifts last year, everyone insisted I keep them, but now I know they

I beg you not to put this off. It's the most important thing you have to do today.

EMBARRASSED DEAR EMBARRASSED: Feeling as you do, you should return them yourself. Start by telling a few of your closest co-workers that your engagement is off; therefore, you are returning all the shower gifts next week.

You aren't the first girl this has happened to, so don't be embarrassed. You are to be commended for insisting on returning those shower gifts. Many do not.

DEAR ABBY: My husband, "George," and I enjoy cruises and tours. We are both in our late 60s. The problem: George always finds a pretty young girl he wants his picture taken with, so he hands his camera to someone and says, "Would you please take our picture?"

He always manages to put his arm around the girl's waist or shoulder to give the impression that they're more than strangers.

When the trip is over and the snapshots have been developed, he carries them to his hangout, the coffee shop in our small town, and proudly shows them around as though being with a young lady is a great accomplishment.

When I tell him this irritates me, he says I'm a poor sport to object to his harmless picture taking. What do you think, Abby?

ANNOYED DEAR ANNOYED: By this time, the folks at the coffee shop must know George for the harmless, fun-loving shutterbug he is, so don't rain on his parade. Just be glad you have each other and are able to travel for pleasure.

If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing, send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

War Eagles Invade For 'Noles' Opener

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

More than any other Seminole County team, the first week of the 1983 prep football season will be as important to Seminole High as the nine weeks to follow. The Tribe is anxious to snap its losing streak (11 games) right away and go on to have a good year. Seminole will try to snap the streak tonight at 8 p.m. when it goes up against the Titusville Astronaut War Eagles at Seminole High.

"This will be a very important game for us," Seminole coach Jerry Posey said. "We've got to get the ball bouncing to get off to a good start and put an end to the losing streak."

The first loss of the 0-10 season started one year ago today in what turned out to be the most important game of the 1982 season for the 'Noles. The game was played at Titusville's Draa Field and Seminole dominated the early going and looked good for most of the game.

However, Titusville Astronaut came back to take a 16-10 lead with time running out. But, Seminole mounted one more scoring drive and got inside Astronaut's 20-yard line with a fourth and two to go for a first down to keep the drive alive. But, a quarterback sneak by Mike Futrell was stopped short of the first down and Astronaut went on to win, 16-10.

"We had a fairly decent game against Astronaut last year," Posey said. "We had a chance to win it in the end and saw a lot of bright spots after the game. But, we also had some key injuries."

This time, though, Seminole has the home field advantage, and the Tribe also has a lot of enthusiasm about the 1983 season. The fact that Seminole's first three games are at home may be just what it needs to get off to a good start in '83.

"The kids feel more at ease in a home game," Posey said. "And I hope we have a big friendly crowd for tonight's game."

Again, Seminole's strong point on offense is the running backs. Tim Lawrence saw a lot of action last season and he is the veteran of the backs. Joining Lawrence are, Jo Jo McCloud, Clifton Campbell and Dexter Jones all talented backs which Posey was pleased with in preseason drills.

Mike Futrell will be the starting quarterback for the second consecutive season after finishing third in the county in passing a year ago with 31 completions in 91 attempts for 375 yards. Futrell's main targets will be tight end William Wynn and Lawrence is a good receiver out of the backfield as he proved in '82 with 10.9 receptions for 131 yards (12.9 yards per catch).

Defensively, Ed Rinkavage and Wynn, a pair of seniors, are the headhunters. Defensive ends Fred Brinson and Tracy Holloman also impressed Posey in preseason practices. Holloman is a senior and Brinson is a junior.

Titusville Astronaut, which was 7-3 in 1982 under coach Jay Donnelly, was again considered one of the state's top 3A teams in the preseason polls. Seminole fans will be happy to know that Astronaut lost both its quarters in the preseason jamboree. Astronaut's top pro-

"Titusville Astronaut is always tough," Posey said. "They always have decent size in numbers and physically. They're the kind of team that's not going to make a lot of mistakes and give you the game."

The player Seminole will have to control tonight is quarterback Ethan Waldron. Waldron passed for 1,064 yards last fall along with seven TDs and a completion percentage of 60 percent. "He can run and he can throw," said Donnelly about his 5-10, 185-pound senior who will be wearing no. 3. "He's the kind of guy you want at quarterback."

Waldron, one of just 13 lettermen returning for Astronaut, was picked the top performer of 220 prospects at the Furman Football Camp this past summer. "He's a major college suspect," said Donnelly. "The only thing the scouts are leery about is his height."

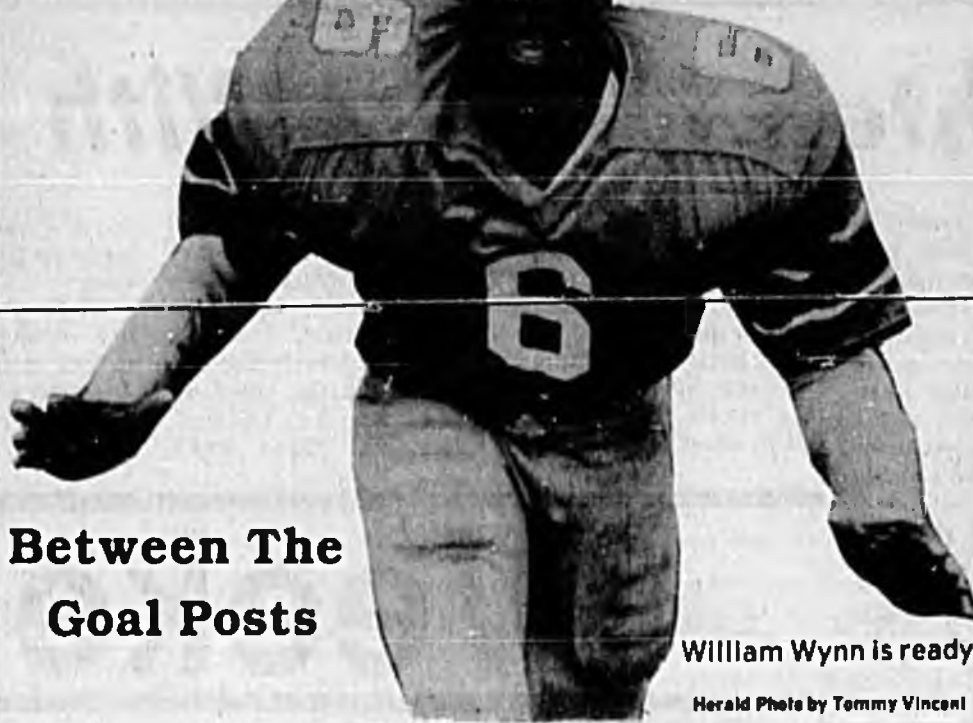

Glover, no. 12, and Mike Shivel, no. 26, are Waldron's favorite targets. Glover is considered the best athlete in Brevard County while Shivel is a returning starter. Roger Bivans, no. 79, is the best blocker for the War Eagles while Steve Godfrey, no. 22, gets the call when Astronaut runs the ball. Kurt Aiken, no. 7, is an excellent kicker.

"Most of our experience is on defense," said Donnelly, who in 12 years has posted a sparkling 89-27-2 record. "The game should come down to our experience on defense to Sanford's experience on offense. Our front four are all lettermen."

Along with the hard-hitting Glover, the War Eagles have linebacker Benny Boyd (no. 39) and defensive end Todd Bynum (.33) to contend with.

Although last year's Astronaut team was prone to put the ball up, Donnelly this year's team will "be more balanced." "We're young on offense, but with Waldron's ability to throw the ball, we should be all right," said Donnelly.

Donnelly is well aware of Seminole's 11-game losing streak. "They played us tough last year. I'm surprised they didn't win a game," he said. "We're told our kids they'll be dangerous. I know what we'd be like around here if we lost 11 in a row. We're expecting a battle."

William Wynn Is A Man For All Seasons

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Every athlete should have William Wynn's problem. The Seminole High senior has three decisions confronting him when he finishes his prep career this year. Any one of the three would satisfy most prep athletes.

Wynn, a muscular 6-2 and 204 pounds, is a man for all seasons. In the fall he plays football. In the winter he bounces the basketball and in the spring he takes his place in the rotation for the baseball team.

The decision — which of the three does he choose when its time to put to high school glory behind him.

Right now Wynn is undecided, but he does have his favorites. "I've always liked football and baseball the best," he said after practice Wednesday. "But out of those two, I don't know which one I'll take."

This football season could have a lot to do with it. During his freshman year at Crooms, he was one of the Panthers top players. Two years ago on Seminole's conference and district champion. Wynn saw action in the last couple of games as a defensive lineman.

Last year, however, Wynn severely bruised his thigh and it kept him from playing football as a junior. He was being counted on as the middle linebacker and tight end. He was missed physically — the Tribe lost all 10 games. He was probably missed as much emotionally, too, since he leads by example and leadership was lacking on last year's team.

Although he is gifted with great physical skills, the book is still out on Wynn's major college ability to play football. He's a suspect because his varsity experience under fire consists of practices a handful of jamborees.

He has been very impressive in those contests, but he has yet to be under the gun. Tonight at 8, William Wynn will get a chance to show off those abilities against Titusville Astronaut as the Tribe opens the 1983 football season at home.

Tonight and nine more times this fall, Wynn will get a chance to show the college scouts whether he has the stuff to play with the big boys. "There is a lot to be determined," said Seminole coach Jerry Posey. "He has never been tested except in the jamboree."

Posey, nevertheless, believes his

Gridders Open Season Tonight

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Getting the 1983 football season off to a good start is very important, but the way you start doesn't always mean that's the way you'll finish. One needs to look no further than Seminole County last fall.

In '82 both Lyman and Lake Howell started off well and went on to have productive seasons. On the other hand, Oviedo started off 1-3, then went on to win its next seven games in a row. Lake Brantley got off to a terrible start, but the Patriots had a good finish.

In 1983, Lyman, Lake Howell and Lake Brantley open against teams from the Orlando area while Oviedo hosts Melbourne. Lake Brantley may have the toughest foe in Colonial at Altamonte Springs while Lyman travels to Boone and Lake Howell entertains Bishop Moore, both mediocre opponents. All kickoffs are 8 p.m.

Lyman at Boone

Former Lake Brantley assistant coach Larry McBryde could have picked a better opening night opponent than the Lyman Greyhounds to get his coaching debut off the ground.

McBryde only has five starters returning from last year, and while Lyman's losses were also heavy from its district championship team, coach Bill Scott can bank on an undefeated junior varsity when the prep season opens tonight.

Like last year, Lyman has running backs all over the place. "We will use six or seven backs to keep everybody fresh," said Bill Scott. "We'll probably start with Phil Germano, Pete Crespo and Karl Simmons. But Avery Merweather, Mike Henley, Mike Battle and Ron Beasley will see a lot of action."

Junior Tony Johnson will open at QB. He guided the JV to its undefeated team and he has brought coach Jim Markham's wishbone attack along with Markham to the varsity. "It's the best offense for these kids," said Scott. "Tony has looked good this fall. He's improved and gotten a lot stronger."

Scott's main concern is Boone's 6-3, 250-pound Kevin Sills, a starter offensively and defensively at tackle. "Sills is a fine offensive tackle," said Scott. "They didn't show a lot in the jamboree because it was raining, but size-wise they're near us."

Lyman returns four linemen who should anchor the defense. Tyrone Simpson (6-1, 205), is at nose guard while Bubba Jones (6-2, 230) is at one tackle. P.J. Madrazo and John McFadden split the other tackle. Beasley and Kevin Keickes are at the ends.

Lyman's best talent is free safety Greg Pilot who will also bail out Johnson at quarterback if he has any problems. Battle is the strong safety while versatile Tyler Hughes and Paul Ellis are at cornerbacks. Crespo and Henley are two hard-hitting linebackers.

Bishop Moore at Lake Howell

The Lake Howell Silver Hawks have been picked by the Five Star Conference coaches as the favorite to win the conference in 1983. The Silver Hawks face 3A Bishop Moore tonight at 8 p.m. at Lake Howell High. Coach Mike Bisceglia has a host of talented returnees to his team including possible all-state defensive back Bill Lang. While Lang is the defensive leader, senior running back Jay Robey is back to try for another 1,000 yard rushing season.

More important is the quarterback position. Last year, Troy Quackenbush and Darin Slack traded off the QB slot for most of the season. Tonight, Quackenbush and Slack will each play one half and the coaches will decide from their performance tonight, which one will be the regular starting quarterback for next week's game against conference foe Spruce Creek.

For Bishop Moore's Hornets, 1983 will be a rebuilding year under first year coach Caesar Campana. "I like that (Chris) Lombardi. He's a hard runner," Bisceglia said. Since 1978, Bishop Moore has an overall record of 9-40.

Only four lettermen return from last year's squad, which finished a miserable 2-8. The defensive lettermen include senior linebackers Chris Lombardi and Mike Case and senior defensive tackle Paul Yerashunas who is 6-2, 240 pounds. Offensively, senior quarterback Tim Scheffelin is the only returning letterman. His main targets are senior receivers Tom Battineri and Marlon Van Trump. The Hornets most productive weapon last year, kicker Eric Etze, returns after making 5 of 7 field goals last year including one of 43 yards. Sophomore halfback Patrick Bollacker is expected to be a future stand-out.

But, Lake Howell won't be taking the Hornets lightly. "Two years ago, I thought we had a better team and we lost 20-0 (to Bishop Moore)," Bisceglia said. "I could have dug a hole in the sidelines."

Aside from the players mentioned above, Bishop Moore doesn't have much to work with. It looks like another tough year for Hornet fans.

Lake Brantley at Colonial

The Patriots are optimistic about the '83 season with a veteran defensive unit that is one of the best in the Central Florida area. Leading the way is linebacker Donnie O'Brian, an All-County First-Team selection a year ago. O'Brian was the second leading defensive player in the county as a junior with 79 solo tackles and 30 assists. Eight out of 11 defensive starters are returning from last year's team including O'Brian, Byron Bush and Pat James, who anchor the defense from their linebacker positions. Dean Shirley leads the defensive line while Scott Salmon and Ricky Phillips were outstanding in the secondary last year, but Salmon is one of three starters that could miss the game with injuries.

Offensively, junior Dennis Groseclose will be the starting quarterback, but an injury may limit his playing time. Senior transfer Kenny Van Eastern will be the backup. The running game is led by senior tail back

Tonight's Games

The football season opens tonight with action beginning at 8 p.m. All county teams will be in action except Lake Mary. First-year coach Harry Nelson will be in DeLand scouting the Bulldogs who the Rams open against next Friday.

Tonight's slate includes Titusville Astronaut at Seminole, Lyman at Boone, Bishop Moore at Lake Howell, Colonial at Lake Brantley and Melbourne at Oviedo. All are nonconference games.

Elsewhere in the Five Star Conference and Metro Conference, Apopka hosts Edgewater, DeLand entertains Seabreeze, Spruce Creek travels to Gainesville, Buchholz, Winter Garden and new coach Sam Weir go to Winter Haven.

Hawks No. 1

The Five Star Conference coaches tabbed Lake Howell as the team to beat in this year's race Wednesday in a poll conducted by the Evening Herald.

Coaches Mike Bisceglia (Lake Howell), Bill Scott (Lyman), Jerry Posey (Seminole), Dave Tullis (Lake Brantley), Harry Nelson (Lake Mary), Brent Hall (Spruce Creek), Bob Wallace (Mainland), Chip Gierke (Apopka) and new coach Dave Hiss (DeLand) all participated.

Behind Lake Howell's 74 votes was Lyman with 64. Seminole was fifth with 37 votes while Lake Mary was eighth with 28.

One of those Lake Howell stand-outs — safety Bill Lang — will be the Between The Goal Posts next week. BTGP will spotlight a different prep player each week. Here's look at the breakdown with nine points for first etc.

1. Lake Howell (5)	74
2. Lyman (2)	64
3. Apopka	58
4. Lake Brantley (1)	52
5. Spruce Creek	39
6. Seminole	37
7. Mainland	29
8. Lake Mary (1)	28

Time For Seminole, Sanford To Get Back On Football Feet

Every football team is an extension of the city in which it lies. Seminole High School is no different. People identify Seminole with Sanford and Sanford with Seminole. Sanford has been around a long time and it has been known for its great football teams of the past.

From Willis Anderson to Frank Whigham to Dallas Brown and Clifford Martin to Tim Raines to Isaac Williams, the high school has always provided residents with an exciting array of talent. Wins outnumber losses.

The excitement died somewhat last fall when Seminole lost all 10 games. Attendance was spotty as can be expected with a losing team. The reserved seat section — an area which holds the most loyal fans — looked like a ghost town.

Yes, last year there were problems on the field and in the stands. There weren't any winners in either area.

Tonight at 8 when Seminole hosts Titusville Astronaut at Seminole High School, the players and the fans have a fresh chance at grabbing some of that old Sanford gusto.

The players have a chance to recapture that thrill of running off a football field with a victory. The fans have an opportunity to be reborn with an enthusiastic spirit which all communities need. They have a chance to tumble onto the field following the game and share the happiness of these players.

Sanford is a unique community. It doesn't have schools on each side of it pulling away its students. Most of the kids in Sanford go to Seminole. Most of the people in Sanford should be Seminole fans. A lot of the people in Sanford are Seminole graduates.

Sanford used to be a good sports city. It has been lacking, however, in the past few years. Even when Seminole won the district and conference championships two years ago, the support was not indicative of a champion. Excuses are various, but the hell with the excuses.

No team in the history of the high school has ever needed support like this year's Fighting Seminoles. Coming back from the first winless season in the school's history takes a lot of courage. A lot of these players suffered through last year's disaster along with the coaches. These kids are a fine bunch. They have a lot of character. They would have to have to work as hard as they did after the heartbreak they went through last fall. They will not quit. They are determined to show the school, the community and themselves that they are not losers.

It's time for this school and this city to get back on their football feet. It's time for

Sam Cook

Sports Editor

Sanford to support its football team. It's time for a call to arms of Sanford's football followers. These kids need your support and want your support.

An 11-game winning streak has to be snapped. Whether it be this week, the week after or the next. Emotion is a big part of sports. There is nothing more emotional to a player than a good pep talk from the coaches and a cheering throng in the stands.

8 p.m.

LOU FOR NO. 2 — Central Florida football coach Lou Saban goes after his second victory Saturday when the Knights take on Georgia Southern at Statesboro, Ga.

Saban's debut was nothing short of fabulous as the Knights devoured Elizabeth City (N.C.) College, 37-7, last Friday in the Tangerine Bowl. "We don't know much about Georgia Southern," said Saban. "But, then we didn't know much about Elizabeth City either."

Georgia Southern does know about UCF. Coach Erk Russell, former Georgia Bulldogs' defensive coordinator, watched the Knights last Friday. He came away impressed. "They just didn't make any first-game mistakes," said Erk shaking his head. "No offsides, motion penalties or anything."

Dana Thyhsen set a UCF record by throwing three TD passes. The "DeLand Rifle" hit on 18 of 27 tosses for 169 yards. He spread around the wealth. Jeff Froehlich, Lorenza "Chicken" Rivers and Brian Glasford each caught touchdown passes.

UCF kicker Scott Ryerson, despite seeing his extra point string snapped at 15, booted four of five PATs and kicked a field goal. Ryerson has hit on 25 of 44 field goal attempts for a 57 percent efficiency.

Defensively, the Knights were awesome. The only touchdown scored on an interception return. Linebacker Frank "Mad Dog" Foley returned an interception 27 yards for a TD. Brett Henley and Klissimnee's Tony Blanford also picked off a pass. Oviedo freshman Tom Johnson had several good hits at linebacker.

Georgia Southern is expected to run the ball. It returns Melvin Bell who rushed for 688 yards and six TDs last year.

Quarterback Terry Ham completed just 26 of 66 passes, but ran for 396 yards. Halfback Gerald Harris scored seven times.

GRADUATES — Isaac Williams is playing second team defensive tackle for Florida State. The Seminoles barely escaped East Carolina, 47-46, last week. It gets no easier as the Seminoles travel to Louisiana State Saturday. Williams, a sophomore, has senior Aphonso Carreker in front of him. He's tough. The other tackle and nose guard are seniors, however, so the 6-1, 250-pound ex-Seminole shouldn't have to bide his time too much longer.

Scott Trimble has the job of protecting Wayne Peace Saturday when Florida takes on USC. Trimble, a 6-5, 290-pound tackle from Lake Brantley, did a pretty good job last week as Peace picked apart Miami. Trimble is a junior.

GUESSES — Seminole over Astronaut by 1. Lyman over Boone by 8. Lake Howell over Bishop Moore by 20. Lake Brantley over Colonial by 10. Melbourne over Oviedo by 7. UCF over Georgia Southern by 14. Gators over USC by 8. FSU over LSU by 2. Bears over Bucs by 3. Dolphins over Patriots by 13.

White Sox Roll On; Braves, Dodgers Win

United Press International Not even The Walters were as comfortable at home as the Chicago White Sox.

A.L./N.L. Baseball

Chicago stretched their home winning streak to 10 games Thursday night by defeating the California Angels, 8-5.

The triumph reduced the White Sox' magic number to nine for clinching the American League West.

Chicago took a 3-0 lead in the first when Ron Kittle hit a two-run single and then pulled off a double steal with Greg Walker, who stole home.

The Angels cut the lead to 3-1 on an RBI single by Doug DeCinces in the third, but the White Sox bounced back with five runs in their half of the inning.

Elsewhere in the AL, New York nipped Milwaukee 6-5. In National League games, Los Angeles downed Cincinnati 5-2.

At Milwaukee, Don Mattingly had a triple and two singles to spark a 15-hit attack and four pitchers combined on a seven-hitter to lift the Yankees.

At Los Angeles, Mike Marshall hit a three-run homer in the fourth and Bob Welch scattered four hits over eight innings for his sixth straight triumph to lead the Dodgers.

Allen Armstrong, last year's leading ground gainer for the Patriots with 361 yards on 81 carries, Armstrong is also nursing an injury though and is probable for tonight's game.

In '83 despite losing 30 let-terman, Coach Bob Williams has a lot of good athletes to choose from as Colonial is the largest school in the Orlando area.

The offensive leaders are senior wingback Noel Wells, quarterback Richie Risco (a backup last year) and running back Dennis Lytle.

tandem of J.W. Yarborough and Barry Williams, both gained over 800 yards last year. Yarborough and Williams will run behind an inexperienced offensive line which Blanton said will have to come through if the Lions are going to be productive.

"The offensive line has to open up some holes for our backs," Blanton said. "We're solid, but we just don't have a lot of experience. We want to use the first three games (all non-conference games) to play as many people as possible and build up some depth."

Defensively, Kevin Yentz is a terror at nose guard and the defensive backfield is strong with returning starters Tim Turbyfield and John LaPorta and transfer Eddie Norton (from Lake Howell).

"Defensively, we have nine inexperienced starters,"

Blanton said. "We can't make any mistakes and we have to stay away from giving up the big play early."

Melbourne jumped into a 4A conference for 1983 after losing most of its key players to graduation. The Bulldogs were 4-6 a year ago under coach Denny Williams, but Williams is gone and the new head man is Tom McIntyre.

The Bulldogs have a lot more size than the Lions according to coach Jack Blanton. "We saw a preseason jamboree film of theirs (Melbourne) and they looked pretty good," Blanton said. "They have a lot more size and a lot more people than we do. They have 6 or 7 starters over 200 pounds and we don't have any."

Top returns for the Bulldogs include quarterback-defensive back Danny Arnold and two-way senior leader can be a blue-chipper. "I think he can play major college football on his athletic ability alone," said Posey. "Wynn's the type of athlete that can play linebacker and tight end (in college). Heck, they may even find another spot for him. He's versatile."

Wynn is taking a realistic approach to his situation. "Depending on how I play, I think I can be a major college player) if I produce," he said. "If I don't...then I shouldn't be."

Basketball, though, hampers Wynn somewhat because he comes out late for the baseball team. By the time he is rounding into shape, the prep season is drawing to a close. On the mound, he possesses a nice curveball and a moving fastball.

Nothing should stand in the way of this year's gridiron season, though. Defensively, Wynn is considered one of the top linebackers in Central Florida. He has been moved to the weak side where Posey said he feel Wynn will make better use of his speed on the outside.

Offensively, Wynn will start at tight end where he is a crunching blocker and dangerous receiver. Posey has three specific plays designed for the tight end.

His offensive philosophy is simple after catching a pass. "Mainly, there's one point I always try to get to — that's the goal line. That's what I'll try to do Friday night," said Wynn.

Temple Heights at Trinity Prep

Trinity Prep is in a transition year after a up and down season in 1982 when the Saints wound up with a 5-5 record. First-year coach Mike Spotala takes over the Saints in place of Ron Vierling. Trinity Prep also dropped out of their district to compete in the newly formed Sun Conference and the Saints won't compete for the state playoffs if they have a winning season.

Junior tailback Richard Lassiter will be the offensive key while junior David Lilly will start at quarterback. Most offensive starters will also play defensively since Trinity has just over 20 players on its roster.

The Saints open the '83 season at home Saturday afternoon at 1 p.m. against Tampa Temple Heights.

Season tickets in the reserved seat section for Seminole High School football games are available at three outlets in Sanford. The tickets, which allow fans to attend varsity, junior varsity and freshman games, can be purchased at the Flagship Bank near the Zayre's Plaza on U.S. Highway 17-92.

JV Patriots Trim Oviedo

Oviedo's Ronnie Ashe returned a kickoff 85 yards for a touchdown, but that was all the offense the Lions' junior varsity could muster as it dropped a 27-6 decision to Lake Brantley at Oviedo Thursday night. It was the opening game for both teams.

3-Way Tie At Mayfair

There was a three-way tie for first place in the first tournament of the new season of the Mayfair Women's Golf Association at the Mayfair Country Club in Sanford. Grace Sayles, Joan Zinn and Irene Harris all carded a 76 for the tourney's best score.

Softball Fees Are Due

The Sanford Men's Softball Association's fall season is scheduled to begin Monday, Sept. 19, and now the association is collecting entry fees and rosters for fall teams. The entry fee has been set at $340 per team and the player fee is $3 per player with a maximum of $45 per team.

Lake League Registers

Final registration for the Buddy Lake Fall Baseball League will be Saturday at 9 a.m. at Sanford Memorial Stadium, said Wes Rinker, owner of the Florida Baseball Schools. The league will begin on Tuesday, Sept. 20.

Arias Tips Noah; 49ers Rout Vikings; Gators Look For 2nd Against Trojans

NEW YORK (UPI) — Given the whimsicality of impetuous youth, there is reason to understand why Jimmy Arias insists on doing things the hard way.

However, he proved he wants to go about his business, and thus is one of only four men still alive in the U.S. Open Tennis Championships. Arias, at 19 years and three weeks, became the youngest man of the Open era to make it into the semifinals, and he did it on a night when he was beginning to believe he had no chance to survive.

For the second straight match, Arias was forced to carry the fight to a fifth set, and for the second time he persevered, pulling out one of the great victories of his young career Thursday night with a 7-6, 4-6, 6-3, 1-6, 7-5 decision over French Open champion Yannick Noah.

His reward is a date against Ivan Lendl in the semifinals Saturday, with defending champion Jimmy Connors facing Bill Scanlon in the other semi.

Lendl, four years older than Arias, can do without the heroics, thank you. He'll take his wins as easy as they can come, and Thursday afternoon he polished off Noah's predecessor as French champion, Mats Wilander, 6-4, 6-4, 7-6 (7-4). In five matches, Lendl has yet to drop a set, and prior to Wilander only one opponent had been able to take more than two games in a set.

The women's finalists will be decided today when No. 1 Martina Navratilova faces No. 5 Pam Shriver and defending champion Chris Evert Lloyd, seeded second, plays No. 14 Jo Durie.

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — San Francisco cornerback Eric Wright, concerned about Tommy Kramer's throwing ability, wanted to make sure the Minnesota quarterback knew who was the boss.

The two exchanged a few words during a brief scuffle late in the first quarter of Thursday night's nationally televised game between the 49ers and Vikings.

Wright didn't need to say anything. He grabbed three of San Francisco's five interceptions, and returned one 60-yards in the second quarter, to lead his teammates in a 48-17 romp over the Vikings. Both teams are now 1-1.

49ers quarterback Joe Montana, the NFC's leading passer one year ago, fired four TDs, completing 17-of-24 passes for 230 yards. He connected on scoring strikes of 21, 1, 14 and 6 yards to four different receivers in the first half as San Francisco opened an insurmountable 41-10 halftime lead.

Wright, part of the 49ers' strong nickel defense, was prepared for Kramer. "He could have haunted me all night but it went the other way," Wright said. Kramer completed 25-of-41 for 274 yards but managed just one touchdown throw — a 30-yard bullet to Terry LeCount, who dropped a 25-yarder in the endzone two plays earlier. LeCount finished with five catches for 107 yards, including a 49-yard throw that set up his TD.

Contrary to his predecessor, Ted Tollner won't be smelling any roses this year. In Tollner's first season as coach of Southern California, USC is not only ineligible for the Pac-10 championship and the right to go the Rose Bowl, but Tollner also must follow in the footsteps of John Robinson, one of the most successful coaches in the school's history.

Southern Cal, which was placed on probation two years ago for recruiting violations, cannot appear in any bowl games the next two seasons.

But Not Draft, Combat Restrictions

Reagan Wants To Eliminate Some Sexist Federal Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan wants to eliminate a number of sex-biased federal laws — including the white slavery act — but will not consider any changes that would allow women to be drafted or fight in combat.

"The president has a strong belief that women should not be drafted or sent to combat," said an administration official when Reagan's decisions were unveiled Thursday. "That's his bedrock."

Reagan's advisers are worried about his standing with women voters, but the president held off action until further study on legislation to eliminate sex distinctions in insurance classifications.

The administration official said such laws "would have dramatic practical, legal and economic ramifications which may be undesirable and, in some respects, disadvantageous to women."

Feminist groups point out that because women live longer than men, to change the law would force women to pay higher premiums.

The president's actions were announced in connection with the White House release of the third quarterly report of a Justice Department task force on women's rights and a memorandum from Attorney General William French Smith reviewing "the sincerity of our efforts" to eliminate sex discrimination.

Smith said that although there is room for improvement in the area of female rights, most of the criticism is "unjustified."

Barbara Honigger, a member of the Task Force, quit after charging Reagan's efforts to pursue an alternative program to the Equal Rights Amendment was "a sham." She also accused the president of renegeing on his promises.

"Some of our critics have attempted to frame public debate on the issue of sex discrimination solely in terms of the Equal Rights Amendment," Smith wrote in a memo to the Cabinet Council on Legal Policy, which reviewed the report.

The report recommended changes in the wording of 63 laws not previously identified as gender-biased.

Forty-seven of those changes would be added to a pending bill by Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., whose wife, Elizabeth Dole, is one of three women in Reagan's Cabinet.

Sixteen other laws also should be changed, apparently through other legislation, Smith said, leaving the draft and combat status of women untouched.

Among the laws recommended for revision is the Mann Act, which prohibits transportation across state lines "of any woman or girl for the purpose of prostitution, debauchery or other immoral purposes."

Many laws the administration wants to change as part of the Dole bill use words such as "widow" and "mother" instead of "spouse" and "parent."

The attorney general said the draft and combat exclusions "reflect very fundamental and reasoned decisions to distinguish between women and men. ... We should not recommend amendment of these laws without a thorough, nationwide debate over the extent to which we want to obliterate all distinctions between the sexes."

The Dole bill would change the wording of 51 other gender-biased laws in addition to those recommended by the administration Thursday. It is scheduled for committee consideration next week.

Reagan overruled the task force and maintained administration backing for laws that allow military colleges to bar women from military training, allow the military to set different lengths of service for men and women before retirement, require the president to appoint a woman as director of the Women's Bureau and require that one of eight national officers of AMVETS be a woman.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Decades of digging by the FBI unearthed allegations tying "liberal thinker" Albert Einstein to a bevy of plots — a Hollywood takeover, for one — but no evidence the physicist was a Communist Party member.

A 1,500-page file kept by the bureau on the Nobel Prize-winning theoretician includes claims linking him to the Lindbergh kidnapping and purporting that he invented a mind-control machine.

The documents, released under the Freedom of Information Act, show the FBI failed to substantiate key suspicions that apparently sparked the 23-year probe, including an assertion his Berlin office had been used as a "drop" for Soviet agents in the 1930s.

In one of the final entries in the file, the FBI noted, "Extensive investigation in U.S. reflected Einstein affiliated or his name extensively associated with literally hundreds of pro-Communist groups."

"No evidence of CP membership was developed," it added.

The FBI file described Einstein as a "pacifist" and a "liberal thinker" affiliated in some way with more than 30 "Communist-front" organizations.

The Einstein file was released by the FBI as the result of a request by Richard Schwartz, a professor at Florida International University who is studying the effects of politics on science.

Einstein, who died in 1955, formulated a special theory of relativity and other ideas that helped open the door to the atomic age. He fled Nazi Germany in the 1930s, settled in Princeton, N.J. and became an American citizen.

Dr. Otto Nathan, executor of Einstein's estate and editor of a collection of his writings on peace, called the file "nonsense" but declined additional comment.

An FBI spokesman, asked why the bureau kept a file on Einstein, said the agency is not required under the information act to "justify or explain" its actions beyond what is contained in the file.

The file, opened in 1932, contains newspaper clippings as well as anonymous notes alleging Einstein's Communist ties. In one memo, an informant told the FBI that Einstein had invented a robot that could "read the human mind."

The bureau later learned that either the informant or the purported victim of the mind-control device had spent two years in a mental institution.

Another informant claimed in 1951 that Einstein had framed Bruno Hauptmann, who was convicted and electrocuted for kidnapping aviator Charles Lindbergh's son in 1932.

The FBI's file also details Einstein's efforts to curb nuclear proliferation and ease the threat of annihilation by nuclear war.

One accusation on file was from a person who claimed having met Einstein through an acquaintance, who in turn asserted the scientist was taking control of every studio in Hollywood. The meeting was said to have taken place in a Los Angeles hotel, but Einstein never took a room there, the FBI found.

"It would make a wonderful absurdist drama," Schwartz said of the material, adding most of the investigations into Einstein were ordered by longtime FBI director J. Edgar Hoover.

On Short Routes

CAB Proposes Smokeless Flights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Acting under court pressure, the Civil Aeronautics Board is proposing a complete ban on smoking on commercial flights that last less than an hour or two.

The board voted 4-0 to propose short smokeless flights, but did not decide exactly how long a flight needed to be before a complete ban would be required, a spokesman said.

"The CAB expects to draft and publish in the Federal Register the proposed ban within two weeks," the spokesman said. The proposal, approved Wednesday, will allow 45 days for public comment.

The agency also is considering a rule to ban smoking on smaller airplanes — either 30 or 60 seats or fewer — but has made no final decision, the spokesman said.

Under existing regulations, passengers are guaranteed non-smoking seats if they arrive at the ticket counter within a specified time. Pipe and cigar smoking already is banned aboard commercial airlines.

While government rules allow cigarette smoking, about 80 percent of small local carriers prohibit smoking. Some European airlines also ban smoking.

The board acted following a court battle with Action on Smoking and Health, an anti-smoking group headquartered in Washington.

"I'm delighted," said John Banzhaf, the group's executive director. "They have come a long way for an agency that earlier this year rejected out of hand such a proposed ban and threw out three other rules protecting non-smokers."

Those rules, reinstated by a federal appeals court, deal with restrictions on pipe and cigar smoking, requiring ventilation if cigarette smoking is permitted and stipulating that non-smoking passengers will not be unreasonably annoyed by drifting tobacco smoke.

Aviation Consumer Action Project, an organization founded by consumer advocate Ralph Nader, called the CAB proposal a ban on smoking on short flights a "positive step that will promote better health."

The group also said smokeless flights would reduce the chance of airplane fires.

Rebel Plane Bombs Airport

United Press International

Nicaraguan Foreign Minister Miguel D'Escoto called for rebel participation in Central American peace talks, which took on a new urgency as anti-Sandinistas stepped up their action with an air raid on Managua.

D'Escoto said before entering peace talks in Panama Thursday that he wants to meet with members of Central American rebel groups along with government leaders in the search for negotiated peace in the region.

"It would also be very important for guerrilla groups to sit down at the negotiations to look for a peaceful solution but they should be representatives of the forces," D'Escoto said.

It was understood that D'Escoto meant both leftist rebels fighting to overthrow the U.S.-backed Salvadoran regime and CIA-funded Nicaraguan insurgents.

Rebels of Revolutionary Democratic Alliance (ARDE) early Thursday launched an air attack on Managua's Cesar Augusto Sandino Airport and bombed a school, an act Defense Minister Humberto Ortega said was "proof of the aggressive policies of the Reagan administration against our revolution."

In the coordinated dawn attack, one plane, a twin-engine Cessna, was shot down by anti-aircraft fire and crashed in flames into the control tower, damaging the tower and the main terminal and killing the two men aboard, a Defense Ministry spokesman said.

Three air force personnel and one civilian airport employee were injured in the attack, but none seriously, the spokesman said.

The communique said the second plane, of an unknown type, dropped two bombs on the grounds of the Colegio Centro America near D'Escoto's residence in southern Managua before escaping.

"The target of the attack was clearly" D'Escoto's house, the communique said, adding the bombs caused minor damage to the school.

ARDE, led by Eden Pastora, a former Sandinista who opposes the leftist Nicaraguan government, claimed responsibility for the raid.

Besides D'Escoto, the meeting in Panama City assembled the foreign ministers from the Contadora group — Colombia, Venezuela, Mexico and Panama — and their counterparts from Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras and Costa Rica.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Loss Of Body Water Leads To Fainting

DEAR DR. LAMB — I noticed a very brief remark in one of your columns about bed rest causing a person to have a tendency to faint. Why is that? I have noticed this too whenever I have had to stay in bed with an illness. When I first get up I feel like I am going to faint, even if I have just been in bed a couple of days with a bad cold or the flu. What can you do to prevent this?

pool in your legs. So you have a tendency to faint. Sitting up, and a gradual return to the upright position, rehydrates the tissues in your legs and then you don't feel faint. That is why a patient is often gradually ambulated to normal upright activity.

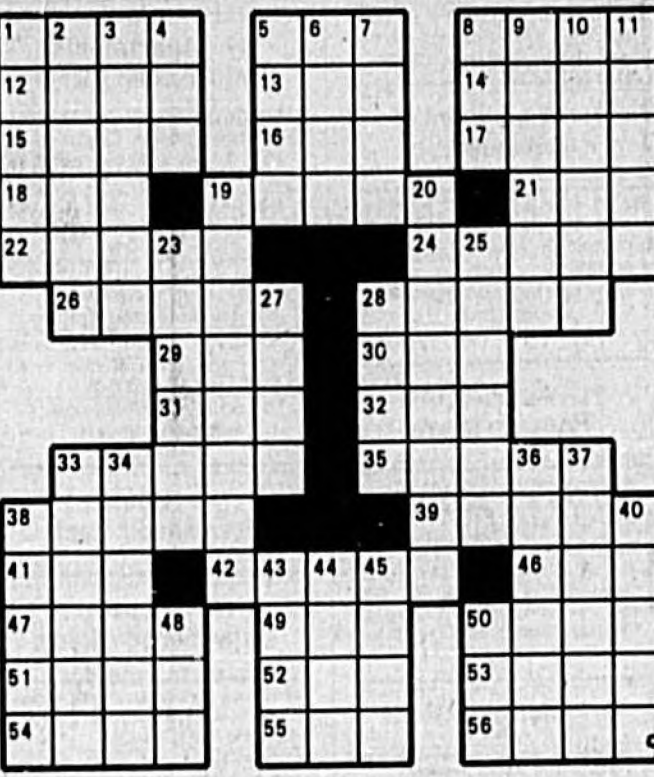

The influence of inactivity is discussed in more detail in The Health Letter 6-6, Effects of Inactivity, Including Bed Rest, which I am sending you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Enclosed is a label from StressAide vitamins. I would like your opinion about these. I am 65 years old and live alone. As I feel I do not eat properly, I take vitamins. I am in good health, although I take pills for high blood pressure.

DEAR READER — The StressAide label you sent me shows that they contain far more vitamins than the recommended daily allowance (RDA) from all sources — food, drink and pills. For example, they contain 12.5 times the daily amount of B-12 that is recommended.

I don't think they are going to hurt you but I don't think you need that much. You would do just as well with a One-A-Day vitamin tablet that provides the RDA. Do some comparative shopping and if you can get a cheaper all-purpose daily vitamin preparation with the RDA amounts, you could use it instead.

Incidentally, I agree that if you are not on a good balanced diet that you should supplement your diet but you don't need to engage in vitamin overkill.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY

SEPTEMBER 10, 1983
This coming year you are likely to be extremely selective where your objectives are concerned. By narrowing your focus you will be able to weed out the non-productive timewasters.

friendly fashion today, and you may be in for some pleasant surprises. Smiles and kind words open new doors.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Attitude is extremely important today, so be sure that yours is positive. Negative thoughts will considerably thwart your abilities. Virgo predictions for the year ahead are now ready. Romance, career, luck, earnings, travel and much more are discussed. Send $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In competitive match-ups today, don't make the mistake of viewing yourself as the underdog. You have surprising strength to draw upon when needed.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The magic formula for you to follow today is, "Yes, I can!" When others see that you believe in yourself, they'll hop on your bandwagon.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A serious matter in which you're involved could take a turn for the better today. It won't happen unaided; you must stay on top of things.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Strive to be more cooperative than usual in your important one-to-one relationships today. Benefits will ensue when you bend a bit.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It's unlikely you'll devote time to fooling around today. You'll sense that, if you keep your nose to the grindstone, industriousness yields rewards.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try not to take yourself, or that in which you are involved, too seriously today. Everything will run more smoothly if you play it casually.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is a good day to put the finishing touches on matters you've left hanging. If you apply yourself, most of them can be wrapped up.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your most promising area today encompasses finances or things of value. If you follow your instincts, your possibilities for acquisition are excellent.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Sometimes it's essential to put our self-interests first. Concentrating today on matters personally important won't be done selfishly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Rather than seek advice from others today, get off by yourself in a quiet environment to sort things out. Being alone will enable you to think more clearly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Treat all you encounter in a warm and

In order to lead the singleton club. West won and shifted to a trump. South won in dummy, came to his hand with king of diamonds and ruffed a club with dummy's six of trumps.

Then the hand collapsed. He was stuck in dummy and had to lead a heart. West won with the 10 and led a second trump. South wound up with just eight tricks and a very disgruntled partner.

If South had just looked at dummy's heart suit, he would have found a way to do infinitely better. He should win the diamond lead with his king in order to lead a heart at trick two.

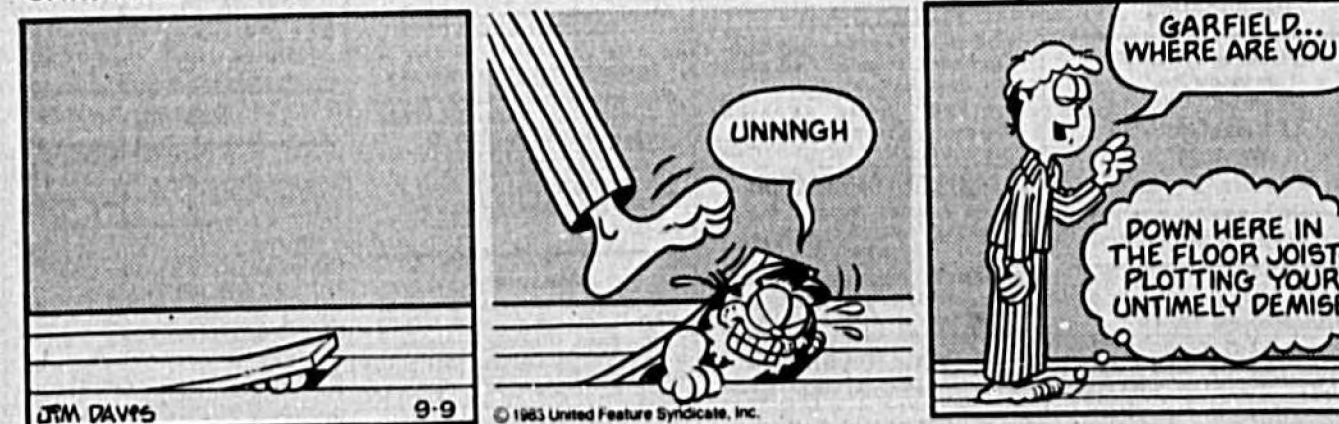

If West plays the 10, as he almost surely will, South will hop up with dummy's king and lead a second heart. Later he will get to ruff a heart high, draw trumps and wind up making 11 tricks. He will have to lose a club at some time or other.

For the record, when playing any contract, look at your longest suit and see if you can establish it to score long suit tricks.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

You have all heard about the bridge player who could resist anything but temptation. In this case temptation was the chance to get a ruff or two in dummy. South rose with dummy's ace of diamonds

Swing Your Partner

Getting into the swing of things at the Whirl and Twirl Square Club's Wednesday night dance in Slovak Gardens are Ed Lane and Kay Smith, left, Robert Wells and Grace Boyd, K.T. Smith and Lois Glisson, and Betty Jane Wells, right, dancing with Wendell Glisson (not shown). They will among those celebrating Square Dance Week later this month with square dancing exhibitions throughout the area. And should you find yourself tapping your toes and swaying to the music you can join a square dancing club and learn how. You may think it's all for squares, but regulars will tell you they have a real swinging time. Read more on page 7.

It's Hard To Tell

Who's Biggest At Box Office?

DEAR DICK: My brother and I have a $20 bet. I say that Clint Eastwood and Burt Reynolds are the two biggest box office superstars of all time. He says that John Wayne and Bing Crosby are. Who's right? — G.V., Albuquerque, N.M.

I'd say no bet. It's impossible to determine that, because of many variable factors. I think you'd have to put Clark Gable in there and maybe Elvis Presley, too, but there's no way of accurately determining that.

DEAR DICK: Did Sidney Poitier ever use the name Sidney Porter in his career? My husband says he used Porter when he first started and changed it to Poitier later on. I say he didn't. Who's right? — J.A.A., Freeport, Texas

You are a clear winner. I have read Poitier's autobiography, "This Life," and he never mentions working under any name other than his own.

DEAR DICK: Several years ago, we saw a Tim Conway movie that was hilarious. He played a man who tried to set the record for the longest time on roller skates and ended up in the hospital instead, setting the record for the most bones broken in a single accident. Can you tell me the title of this film? — M.B., LaPorte, Ind.

Sounds like a lot of laughs, all right. It was a TV movie from the Disney studio called Row, Freddy, Row. It was made and released in '74, and the chances of it being shown again are slim.

DEAR DICK: I recently saw a movie called The First Time. It starred a young actress named Jennifer Jason Leigh. Please give me some background information on her. — J.D., Medford, N.J.

Jennifer is a bright, pretty, talented 20-year-old who is the daughter of the late Vic Morrow. You can see her currently as Rodney Dangerfield's daughter in the movie Easy Money. She was also in the movie Fast Times at Ridgemont High and played an anorexic teen-ager in the TV movie The Best Little Girl In the World.

DEAR DICK: What are the names of the actors who played Buford Pusser in the movies about his life? I say Joe Don Baker and Bo Svenson played the part and my son says Bruce

Ask Dick Kleiner

Boxleitner. Please settle this for us. — N.C., Naples, Fla.

There have been three movies about the Southern sheriff. Walking Tall and Walking Tall Part II both starred Joe Don Baker. Walking Tall, The Final Chapter, starred Bo Svenson.

DEAR DICK: While watching The Sound Of Music a few weeks ago, I was trying to figure out who the oldest girl, Leisl, reminded me of. It finally dawned on me that she looked like Darlene Carr. Are they related? — K.M., Ventura, Ca.

They couldn't be related any closer — Darlene Carr played Leisl.

DEAR DICK: The movie Alcatraz had as one of its cast Michael Beck. Could you please tell me if he also was in the movie The Warriors? — L.M.S., Saginaw, Mich.

Yes, he starred in The Warriors.

DEAR DICK: I just watched Star Trek: The Motion Picture and I was surprised to notice that they had changed and re-edited most of the movie. Could you explain why that was done? I feel these editing changes made the movie much more interesting and easier to watch. — A.H., Kalamazoo, Mich.

You answered your own question. They re-edited it to make it more interesting and easier to watch.

DEAR DICK: I'd like to know something about Craig T. Nelson. Recently I saw him in Poltergeist and the ill-fated Chicago Story. Anything coming in the future? — K.C., Mt. Clemens, Mich.

Nelson is a busy actor, yes, there is plenty coming in the future. One important film is Silkwood, in which he has a key role.

HBO's 'Between Friends' Shows 2 Women Coping

By Andrew J. Edelstein

Dramas about divorced women trying to find themselves are rapidly becoming an overworked genre as numbing to the viewer — despite the validity of its contents — as the dreaded "disease of the week" syndrome.

On the other hand, Miss Taylor's character, Deborah Shapiro, is an alcoholic 49-year-old princess. The idea of working is beyond thought; she wants nothing more than to have the security of a husband again — even if it means marrying Sam, the crude, unattractive businessman she's been seeing because there's nobody else.

Through an unusual encounter, they develop a friendship, which unlikely as it is, is what gives the drama its strength.

"Between Friends" is not without its problems. Foremost, but not surprisingly, all the men are portrayed unsympathetically. They're either cheats, bores or oversexed scoundrels.

Miss Burnett plays Mary Catherine Castelli, a middle-aged woman whose husband ran off with a young chipper, leaving her and her resentful teen-age daughter to fend for themselves. She seems to have rebounded well: She has a satisfying real-estate job and enters the post-marriage world by seeking a series of affairs with married men, which guarantee she'll never get hurt. "Nobody will ever make me cry," she boasts.

Through an unusual encounter, they develop a friendship, which unlikely as it is, is what gives the drama its strength.

Yen To Travel Helps TV Personalities

By Elaine Thompson
 A gypsy heart, according to the late David Niven, was an invaluable asset to an actor who wanted to work "because you have to go where the work is." In his case that turned out to be all over the world when movies graduated from Hollywood sets manufactured on back lots to authentic locations. Now, on television, it's not just actors on scripted shows who have to keep moving, but interviewers who seek everything from the wacky to the unexpected to serious talk sessions.

At present probably no television personality logs more miles on the road each year, than genial Bill Rafferty of NBC's "Real People." He says he doesn't lament "not having months off at a time for hiatus" the way many television series do. He is glad when he can string a few days together to be with his wife, Regina, and their three children at their home in San Rafael, Calif.

The Palances, Jack and his daughter, Holly, of ABC's "Ripley's Believe It or Not!" are luckier than Rafferty in one way. Their traveling is scheduled into five consecutive months. "But we haven't seen each other in five months, because each of us is off on our own assignments," Holly said after she descended from a Park Avenue penthouse in Manhattan where the unusual roof garden greenery consisted of ripening corn stalks. She spent the day before at a desert in Maine.

Square Dancing Has Withstood The Test Of Time

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Born of hardy New England stock, nurtured in the hills and backwoods of West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee, strengthened and matured in the badlands and plains of Oklahoma and Texas, the square dance has outlasted all others.

It is little wonder that in 1981 Congress proclaimed square dancing to be officially designated the National Folk Dance of the United States.

The square dance has its roots in the lively forms of dance brought here by the many nationalities that are a part of America's melting pot.

From the French ballet comes the quadrille that gives the square dance its basic quadrangular formation. All square dances begin with four couples making a set with each couple forming one side of a perfect square. The popularity spread across the English Channel and was carried to Colonial America.

The lively Irish jigs, the hornpipes of the British sailors, the Scottish reel, even a bit of the Spanish fandango, and the ever popular polka with its Bohemian origins are all a part of our nation's dance heritage.

As the pioneers moved westward on the frontier, the folk dances followed, adding zest to their celebrations — holidays, corn huskings, barn and house raisings, sugar making, sheep shearings, and weddings.

With the passage of time and intermingling of peoples, the various dances eventually evolved into one — the square dance. Since World War II, square dancing has experienced a revival in popularity in this country and during the Bicentennial celebrations more Americans learned the good fun and exercise it provides. It has also spread around the world and square dance clubs have sprung up in Germany and Japan, where calls are done in English.

Governor Bob Graham has officially proclaimed the week of Sept. 19-25 to be National Square Dance Week in Florida. The Central Florida Square and Round Dance Association, the Central Florida Caller's Association, as well as the many square dance clubs in Central Florida have been busily making plans to ensure that this will be a gala and colorful occasion.

Square and round dance presentations are planned at many area shopping plazas and malls. These dances are free to the public to attend as a spectator or participant. Proper square dance attire is required for all dancers, however, taps or cleats should not be worn at any of the dances held in enclosed malls.

There will be information booths at dance sites for anyone interested in getting started in this fast growing pastime.

Among the dance demonstration sites in Central Florida will be Colonial Plaza Mall, Orlando, Sept. 19 and 20; Winter Park Mall, Sept. 22 and 23 from 6-8:30 p.m. and Sept. 24 from noon to 2:30 p.m.; Deltona Plaza, Sept. 21, 7:30 to 9 p.m.; Burger King, Woodland Plaza, Deltona, Sept. 22, 7:30-9 p.m.; Orange City—Four Towne Shopping Center, Sept. 24, 7-9 p.m. and Burger King, Sept. 25 from 7-9 p.m.; and Apopka Burger King, Sept. 21, 8-9:30 p.m.

There are 40 square dance clubs and 35 callers in the Central Florida area and one of the largest is "Whirl 'n' Twirl" which dances at Slovak Gardens on Howell Branch Road just off State Road 436 at 8 p.m. Wednesdays and Fridays. The caller is Danny Robinson, who is coordinating the Square Dance Week Steering Committee. He recently took a square dance group on tour in Europe, where they performed with groups there.

Square dancing is enjoyed by all ages, you're never too old to be a swinger when it comes to this activity. Classes are offered at the Casselberry Senior Citizen Multipurpose Center, 200 N. Lake Triplet Drive under the direction of John Hucko, who calls western and traditional. This year his group will be for intermediate and advanced square dancers who know the calls and want to spend most of the time dancing. Classes will be held at 12:45 p.m. on Wednesdays starting Sept. 14.

Magazines and bulletins with times and places for the various square dancing events are available at square dance apparel shops such as "Swingin' Duds" in Casselberry. You don't have to be an expert, there are classes for beginners with friendly old-timers known as "angels" and expert callers to help you learn.

There's a hoc-down somewhere just about every night of the week, so ladies get out your brightest calicos and ruffled crinolines and gents press your vest and shine your boots. They need just one more couple — you!

Hang The Critics, 'Magnum, P.I.' Is A Good Show

By David Handler

I've found myself catching a lot of Magnum, P.I. reruns this summer, and I've got to say how sick I am of people who keep calling Tom Selleck a major star in a flimsy show. I don't think that's true at all. Here's what I think:

I think Magnum is the best hour adventure show that's been on TV in a long time.

I think the fact that it has held its high ratings over three seasons is proof of that.

I think Tom Selleck is not a great actor but is a pretty good one. He is solid and relaxed. He can play comedy. He has an unexpected and disarming high-pitched laugh for someone who is 6 feet 4 inches.

I think his strength is not simply that he is so good looking but that he is secure about his looks and his masculinity. He can walk around in swimming trunks without preening or sucking his gut in. He can talk to a good looking woman without coming on to her. Burt Reynolds has never been able to do these things.

I think the people who call Tom Selleck the '80s Clark Gable are the same people who, in the '70s, were calling Billy Dee Williams the black Clark Gable.

I think people who put down Magnum don't know anything about television. This is a perfectly devised entertainment show.

It has a classic American private eye as its lead character and narrator. Magnum is a Vietnam vet who is haunted by the war and what he did there. He followed someone else's code of justice — Naval Intelligence — and found it came up short.

Now he listens only to his own "little voice" when it comes to right and wrong. Now he hopes to bring some justice to a world where there is little.

He is a non-conformist, a dropout, a romantic. He looks for true love and seldom finds it. He values sunrises, old movies, football, beer, junk food, running and his friends, Rick (Larry Manetti) and T.C. (Roger Moseby), who went through hell with him in Vietnam.

They stick together. They will do anything for each other, though they will gripe.

There's more. Thomas Magnum lives in an exotic locale, Hawaii, and has access to an incredible shore-front estate and red Ferrari that are the property of author Robin Masters, who is never around. There is, however, Higgins (John Hillerman), the stuffy, retired British sergeant-major who runs the place.

Magnum and Higgins have a wonderful Oscar-and-Felix relationship. They pester each other, needle each other and, of course, have genuine affection for each other.

There's still more. The writing has wit, depth and intelligence. Unlike Charlie's Angels, which grabbed a big audience with sexy star appeal and then lost it because the plots were so stupid, Magnum is put together by people who care about what they do. There is attention paid to quality here. There is imagination.

Cindy's Country Kitchen; Home Style Cooking

Crisp red and white curtains and a bright, homey atmosphere invite hungry diners to Cindy's Country Kitchen, where good home style food is freshly prepared every day.

Formerly the Omelet Revolution, this restaurant is now owned by longtime resident, Harold Tersigni, and Cindy Sweet, who has 13 years in the food business in Florida.

Tersigni explains that the restaurant offers "Sanford style home cooking" from the biscuits and sausage gravy served each morning this month for 99 cents to freshly prepared black-eyed peas, green beans and cornbread for other meals.

Cindy's breakfasts will feature honey and biscuits, creamed chipped beef and there is a daily special of two eggs, home fries, toast and coffee for 99 cents.

A choice of different luncheons are offered every day with specials ranging from $1.95 to $2.95. Each is a complete meal served with beverage. Light lunches, such as chef salads from $1.75 to $1.95, and diet plates of tuna salad or hamburger patty with sliced tomatoes, peaches and cottage cheese are $2.25.

Breakfast is served from 5:30 in the morning when the doors open until 9:30 closing. Luncheon specials are offered from 11:30 until 4 when the dinner hour begins.

Eleven choices are given on the menu for dinner, but additional specials are offered every day. They may be barbecued chicken or ribs, meatloaf or spaghetti with sauce and homemade noodles.

Dinner prices start at $2.95 and include potato, vegetable, salad and dessert.

Although Cindy is head chef at her Country Kitchen, five others assist in the prep work and keep the pots boiling. Tersigni, a businessman who has traveled a great deal and has tasted many different kinds of food, says that he knows what he wants.

"No limitations," he asserts. "Everything is fresh and real...country style cooking is what we emphasize."
