Magazine's Owner Meets With Russian Officials

Soviets Deny Retaliation In Reporter's Arrest

MOSCOW (UPI) — The government today denied the arrest of American magazine correspondent Nicholas Daniloff was in retaliation for the detention of a Soviet U.N. employee on spying charges in New York.

Daniloff, 52, an American citizen who has been jailed since Saturday on suspicion of espionage, has been told he will either be charged or released within 10 days.

A government spokesman said the final decision on the U.S. News & World Report correspondent would rest with the Soviet court system and the Soviets hoped the case would not hurt relations with the United States.

Mortimer Zuckerman, owner and editor in chief of the magazine, met today with Georgi Arbatov, a senior foreign policy advisor to the Kremlin on U.S.-Soviet relations, to press for Daniloff's release. Zuckerman arrived in Moscow Monday and called Daniloff's detention "a phony arrest based on contrived circumstances."

In a news conference especially held after repeated questionings by Western reporters, Gennady Gerasimov, chief Foreign Ministry spokesman, said the circumstances of Daniloff's arrest pointed to "espionage." He said that after a KGB investigation, a Soviet court will decide whether to press charges. He denied Daniloff was "set up."

Gerasimov also denied any connection between Daniloff's arrest and the Aug. 23 detention in New York of Gennadi Zakarov, a Soviet employee of the United Nations who FBI agents said was caught while paying an FBI informant for classified materials.

"Well, this case is separate," Gerasimov said. "As far as U.S.-Soviet relations, this is not a pleasant case. This should not affect our principal line that is to seek improvement in Soviet-U.S. relations," he said.

Press conferences in Moscow are normally called for a specific theme and today's was to discuss the extension of the Soviet nuclear test moratorium announced in August.

But Western correspondents continued to ask questions about the Daniloff case and Gerasimov kept dismissing them as irrelevant to the press conference's theme. He was finally forced to hold a second news conference on the Daniloff case 10 minutes after the conclusion of the first one to halt "irrelevant questions."

The Soviet government has said Daniloff was caught "red handed" in the act of espionage Saturday when a source gave him a package that was later found to contain maps marked "secret."

In Santa Barbara, Calif., where President Reagan was vacationing, White House spokesman Larry Speakes said the administration is "angry" about Daniloff's detention, but a senior administration official said no decision had been made on what action Reagan would take.

Speakes said that while the United States believes a summit between Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev is "a potentially important event" and that preparatory meetings are still on schedule, "incidents like this ... cannot help U.S.-Soviet relations."

Sanford City Commission Races Begin

Qualifying Period Opens Wednesday

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer
Following on the heels of today's statewide primaries, the doors of Sanford city hall will open Wednesday at 8:30 a.m. for qualifiers seeking the two city commission seats up for grabs this winter.

Incumbents Milton Smith and Dave Farr have indicated they will run, although Farr has also said his intentions could be altered if he secures the Sanford Chamber of Commerce presidency.

Farr said if named to the chamber spot he will not seek the District Four commission seat if the chamber's executive board feels his new position would conflict with his serving as an elected city official.

Most board members have already said, during review of applications for the job, that they would view Farr's holding two positions as a conflict of interest and would require him, should he get the chamber job, to give up his city commission post.

Farr is among several applicants being considered.

Farr presently operates a real estate firm on First Street in Sanford and his sole opponent, at the moment, is Dot Meadors, who resigned her Seminole County Planning and Zoning Board seat two weeks ago to launch her commission campaign.

Smith, the District Three commissioner, faces declared opposition from Sanford Chamber of Commerce goodwill ambassador Martha Yancey and former Sanford City Commissioner A.A. McClanahan.

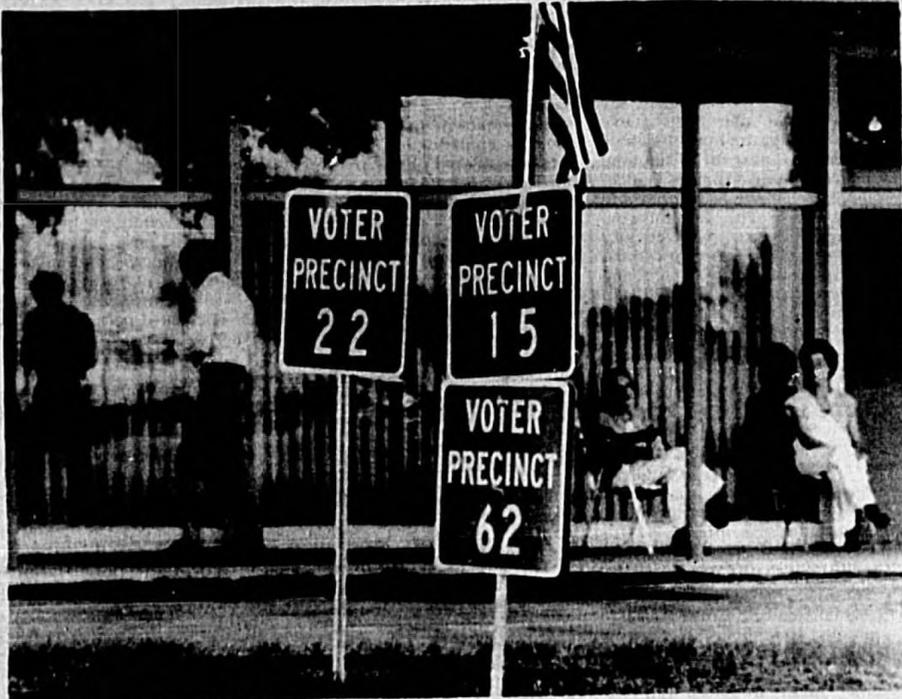

City Clerk Henry Tamm said he expects most, if not all, of the above mentioned candidates to be at city hall early Wednesday morning when qualifying begins.

"They're usually here bright and early," said Tamm, who has been registering commission candidates for nearly three decades.

Candidates have from Wednesday until noon on Oct. 28 to formally declare their intentions by registering for the race and paying a $150 qualifying fee at city hall, Tamm said.

Tamm also said with the exception of Farr, all the above mentioned candidates have already pretty well stated their

Longwood PD Building Work Continues Despite Loan Woes

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood is continuing to build its police station, despite refusal by Sun Bank to close on a $1 million loan, confusion over the title to the property and a suit seeking to halt construction, said, City Administrator Ron Waller.

Waller said the city could be penalized $800 a day by the contractor, H&R Builders, if the city ordered a delay. He said walls are going up and work on the project is about 20 percent complete. Dec. 1 is still the scheduled date for completion, he said.

Groundbreaking for the one-story 9,559-square-foot structure was held June 19.

On the advice of its bond counsel, Akerman, Senterfitt and Eldson of Orlando, Sun Bank will not close on the police facility loan until confusion over the title to the building site is cleared up, Waller said.

To make the August payment to the contractor, Waller said the city commission will be asked by See STATION, page 8A

28 Die In Labor Day Weekend Accidents

From Staff And Wire Reports

Twenty-eight people died on Florida roads during the Labor Day holiday weekend and at least 18 of them were in alcohol-related accidents, the Florida Highway Patrol said.

There were no traffic fatalities in Seminole County. An Orlando man, however, died Sunday when he lost control of his Bronco on Interstate 4 in Deltona and a Daytona Beach man was seriously injured later the same day in a head-on collision in Lake Mary.

Dead in the Deltona crash is Darrell Boucher, 25, who was thrown from his vehicle after he lost control trying to avoid slow traffic.

In serious condition from injuries received in a 9 p.m. Lake Mary crash at County Road 15 and Evansdale Rd., was Bobby F. Multari, 20, of Daytona Beach. His condition was upgraded today at Orlando Regional Medical Center from critical to serious.

He was on his way to visit his parents in Casselberry when the accident occurred, his father, Robert F. Multari, of 1131 Galahad Dr., said.

Two women and a baby in the other car involved in the accident were reportedly injured but more detailed information was not available.

The FHP had predicted the death toll for the weekend, which began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Monday, would reach 29.

Among the dead were nine pedestrians, including Lester Kenneth Watts of Hudson. He was struck by three cars as he lay in the northbound lane of a Pasco County road just over two miles north of Port Richey early Saturday. An FHP spokesman said the accident was alcohol-related and Watts, 29, was dead at the scene.

Among the other pedestrian victims was 17-year-old Jennifer Odeski of Deerfield Beach. She was struck and killed by a car in an alcohol-related accident very early Monday in Fort Lauderdale.

Three of the victims were riding motorcycles when they were killed. Todd Melanson, 19, of Palm Beach died very early Saturday when his motorcycle turned into the path of a car. Michael H. Schmitz, 21, and Deborah McCleandon died as the result of an alcohol-related accident in West Palm Beach.

In eight accidents, the victims were drivers, often drunk, who ran off the road and died.

From Staff and Wire Reports

The Democratic and Republican contests for governor have drawn most of the attention during the primary season, but voters today will also decide primaries for the Senate, and Republicans planned their most massive assault ever on the Democrat-controlled Cabinet.

In Seminole County, candidates square off in state representative, judicial, county commission, and school board races. Ninety-three county polling places opened at 7 a.m. and will close at 7 p.m.

County elections supervisor Sandra Goard expects more than 36,000 Seminole voters, 39 percent, will go to the polls today. State-wide voter turn-out has been projected to be 40 percent.

The Democratic and Republican Senate primaries were expected to prove little more than skirmishes. Robert Kunst of Miami and Ocean Ridge Mayor Jon Shudlick never came close to matching Gov. Bob Graham or Sen. Paula Hawkins for attention or campaign contributions.

Up for re-election are Treasurer-Commissioner of Insurance Bill Gunter, Commissioner of

A Monday polling place change caused more than 1,200 Seminole County voters to cast ballots in today's primary at a location other than the published location. County elections office manager Carylon Cohen said 940 voters in precinct 61 and 278 voters in precinct 66, who were to have voted at Forest Lake Elementary School, 2801 Sand Lake Road, Forest City, cast ballots at the Forest Lake Seventh Day Adventist Church Youth Center in southwest Seminole County, adjacent to Forest Lake Academy on State Road 436.

Agriculture Doyle Conner, Comptroller Gerald Lewis and Secretary of State George Firestone. Of the four, only Gunter faces primary opposition.

Seminole County races include:

The most crowded race is on the Republican ballot, where six candidates are vying for State Representative. Bobby

Candidate's Relatives In Auto Wreck

The step-sister of a Seminole County commission candidate remained hospitalized in Volusia County this morning in stable condition following a weekend traffic accident.

Two other women in the car involved were not seriously injured, but one was reportedly admitted and released from the same hospital Sunday.

Hospitalized is Vicki Clarkson, 22, of Fitchburg, Mass., step-sister of county commission candidate Robert Desmond Jr., 28, R-Sanford. She was in West Volusia Memorial Hospital, DeLand, this morning.

Desmond is challenging Seminole County Commission chairman Bob Sturm, 60, R-Lake Mary, for the district two commission seat in today's primary election.

According to Desmond, who said he was in Seminole County campaigning when notified of the accident, the car in which the three women were traveling was struck broadside by a truck Friday morning at the intersection of Newmark and Howland roads near Deltona.

The three were going to Desmond's Deltona home and had become lost, Desmond said. Desmond says he has a home in Deltona, but lives in a condominium in Sanford. They were going to the home to pick up some money before going to a flea market in Sanford, Desmond said.

According to a police report, the driver of the car, a Desmond family friend, pulled the vehicle into the path of the truck and the two collided. The Desmond car was struck on the passenger side.

The 1983 GMC truck, driven by Victor Ortiz, Deltona, hit the 1985 Plymouth Laser owned by Desmond's 26-year-old brother Bill Desmond, Deltona, in the passenger side. Ms. Clarkson, who was sitting in the front passenger seat, suffered cuts and bruises on her head but is expected to be released from the hospital within a few days, Desmond said.

All three women were transported to the hospital. Desmond said the driver of the car, Kathy Wyman, 24, a family friend from Leominster, Mass., was treated and released. His sister, Elizabeth Desmond, 24, Fitchburg, who was sitting in the back seat, was treated for a broken rib and punctured lung, but was released Sunday.

A Florida Highway Patrol spokesman said Ms. Wyman was cited for violation of right of way.

NATION IN BRIEF

Small Plane Pilot Had Heart Attack Prior To Airliner Collision

CERRITOS, Calif. (UPI) — The pilot of the small plane that collided with a Aeromexico jetliner in a disaster that killed at least 72 people suffered a heart attack before the two planes crashed and fell like bombs into a quiet neighborhood, authorities said.

The pilot, tentatively identified as William Kramer, 53, was one of three people in the single-engine Piper Cherokee Archer that clipped the rear of Flight 498 Sunday as the DC-9 approached Los Angeles International Airport.

Investigators said the Piper was in restricted airspace between 6,000 and 7,000 feet and was required to contact ground controllers. But officials said the Piper did not contact the tower and apparently never appeared on radar.

The DC-9 was struck from below as it made an authorized descent from 7,000 to 6,000 feet. All 64 people aboard the jetliner were killed after a terrifying 30-to-60-second upside-down fall from more than a mile up.

Truck Explosion Spreads Fumes

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A tanker truck overturned and exploded into flames before dawn today, closing the San Diego Freeway and forcing the evacuation of some 1,000 people as a toxic cloud of gas enveloped the area, authorities said.

As the tanker burned, sulfur tetrafluoride flowed onto surface streets and into storm drains, Fire Department spokesman Greg Acevedo said.

Police evacuated about 1,000 residents from nearby neighborhoods in the path of a toxic cloud drifting southeast from the freeway, Culver City Police Lt. John Montano said.

No injuries were reported in the 4:15 a.m. accident. The freeway was closed to traffic in both directions, California Highway Patrol officer Shirley Gaines said.

Atlantic Balloon Record Set

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (UPI) — Three Dutch adventurers helped by swift winds today bounced to a landing in a wheat field in a 15-story-high helium-and-hot-air balloon to set a record for the fastest trans-Atlantic crossing.

As spectators cheered, the trio landed their silver balloon, dubbed "Dutch Viking," to end their 2,363-mile crossing and become the first Europeans to accomplish the voyage, which they made in 51 hours, 14 minutes.

A female crew member, the expedition commander's wife, also became the first woman to register an Atlantic balloon crossing.

The flight broke the 65-hour record for a trans-Atlantic crossing set two years ago by retired U.S. Air Force Col. Joe Kittinger of Altamonte Springs and marked the first time Europeans made the crossing. Besides Kittinger, another American team made the voyage by balloon in 1978.

Drinking Age Laws Spark Spree

United Press International
Five more states raised their drinking age to 21, sparking a rampage by 10,000 University of North Carolina students, last-minute buying sprees by others and grumbling by many young adults who suddenly found themselves underage.

With the addition Monday of North Carolina, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Texas, 41 states have now avoided the threatened loss of federal highway funds by banning the sale of alcoholic beverages to people under age 21.

The Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota laws allow those who turned 19 before Sept. 1 to continue drinking, but North Carolina and Texas banned alcoholic beverage sales to anyone under 21.

About 10,000 students went on a rampage in Chapel Hill, N.C., hours before the new law went into effect, forcing police to blockade Franklin Street, the main road through the University of North Carolina campus.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Death Toll Unknown In Soviet Cruise Liner Collision

MOSCOW (UPI) — The government said today 1,230 people were aboard the Soviet passenger liner Admiral Nakimov that sank 30 minutes after a "tremendous" collision with a cargo ship in the Black Sea.

"We know that some people were killed but the final toll is not yet known," said Foreign Ministry spokesman Gennady Gerasimov. "It was a very big steamer," he said, and described the collision as "a tremendous accident."

The spokesman confirmed there were no foreign nationals on the Admiral Nakimov when it sank Sunday about an hour's journey from the port of Novorossiysk.

The Merchant Marine Ministry said 1,230 people were on board the vessel — 664 passengers and 346 crew members.

A diplomat whose embassy inquired about the sinking quoted Soviet officials as saying the liner sank about 30 minutes after it was rammed by a cargo vessel.

Aquino Visits Typhoon Refugees

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Typhoon Wayne flooded wide areas of the main Luzon island today, sending more than 50,000 people fleeing to safer grounds and leaving at least 13 people dead, officials said.

The Manila Weather Bureau said Wayne, which last week hit Taiwan and left more than 50 dead, had moved between the Philippines and Taiwan and was moving southwest toward the South China Sea with peak winds of 87 mph.

Combined reports from relief services and the official Philippine News Agency said at least three people drowned in Batangas province, Manila Bay, two in Pangasinan province, six in Rizal and one in Manila's slum district of Tondo. Two others were missing.

Non-Aligned Summit Begins

HARARE, Zimbabwe (UPI) — The Non-Aligned Movement summit opened with calls for global disarmament and an end to apartheid in South Africa and a request from Libyan leader Muammar Gaddafi to address the assembled world leaders.

Summit arrived at the nation's Monday night and held a session to a special session of the assembled world leaders, the semi-official Zimabwe news agency and another said.

Summit speakers said Gaddafi would ask Prime Minister Robert Mugabe — host to the conference and the new head of the movement — to call a special plenary session to hear his speech.

Literacy In America

Classes Teach Adults The Three R's

By Tom Thede
(Part of three parts)

WILMINGTON, Del. (NEA) — The young woman strolled into the classroom late, wearing her highly polished fingernails, adjusted her summer shorts and placed her papers on the table along with a bottle of Cherry Coke, a box of Munch 'N' Crunch and a package of caramel popcorn.

Then she opened her notebook and an arithmetic primer. And she got down to work. She wrote: 617 plus 4 equals 616; 712 plus 6 equals 718; 205 plus 10 equals 401.

All wrong. But never mind. The young woman may get low grades in department and accuracy, yet she's a valedictorian in effort. A few months ago she could not even spell addition, now she is doing it.

She is a functional illiterate enrolled in the rigors of an adult education class in this Eastern Seaboard city.

As such she is a member of two intellectual categories that are receiving fresh attention in the nation. She is one of the up to 30 million or more Americans over the age of 18 who can not read, write or calculate at an acceptable level; and she is also one of 2 million or 3 million doing something about it.

The figures are fuzzy by necessity. Records on the matter are ill kept and in dispute. The U.S. Department of Education, however, says it's safe to say that at least one out of five adults is illiterate, and anywhere from 5 to 10 percent of the total are receiving tutoring assistance.

That assistance is a public and private mix. The federal government finances literacy classes in every state and most counties in the country. And one private group alone, Laubach Literacy Action of Syracuse, N.Y., has more than 70,000 volunteers who provide one-on-one instruction in 600 communities.

The program in Wilmington is among the federally funded. But Delaware has provided a twist of its own. The young woman in the summer shorts is a welfare recipient; she is part of an experimental work incentive program which requires people receiving aid enroll in literacy classes.

That requirement is not unanimously applauded. There are questions of civil rights involved. But Delaware officials point out that the nation is now spending up to $6 billion a year to support jobless illiterates on welfare, and forced education may be the best way to stop the fiscal hemorrhage.

Beaidea, the classes are not so bad. Which is to say not so strict.

The teacher in charge of the young woman with summer shorts says the format is relaxed. Priscilla Thomas, a large and pleasant woman, not at all the scold, points out that her students aren't children and must be treated accordingly.

So the Cherry Coke and caramel popcorn. And a Boom Box at the ready. The teacher says her class meets three times a week for a total of 7 1/2 hours, in a community center in a minority neighborhood, and the students are more or less allowed to set their own ambience and pace.

Thomas says the whole thing resembles a one-room school for people who are beyond their teens. She roams from table to table instructing at different levels and designs. One student may be learning the times tables, another the elements of grammar. The goal for everyone is a sixth-grade education.

That may not seem like much. But the sixth grade isn't what it used to be. The question in one of the textbooks, for example, concerns the price of a used car. If the car costs $1,000, it asks, with one fourth down, how much cash is necessary? Try that if you dropped out of school at age 7.

Thomas says it sometimes takes several years to teach an illiterate adult to wrestle with mathematics. It can take several months just to teach the ABCs. She says she gives instructions in motivation, along with the formal lessons, "because it can all get very frustrating for some."

The teacher remembers a woman who enrolled in the class when it began last April. She was bewildered by the books and the complications.

"One night we had a test," Thomas says, "and it was clear she was having some difficulty. Then she asked permission to go to the bathroom, and I haven't heard her since." Thomas says most people stick with the program, however, and there have been small and large successes. One 75-year-old enrolled in one of the state's non-mandatory classes in Wilmington, later was given a high-school equivalence certificate and is now pursuing a college master's in the field.

That's the kind of encouragement that goes down easy with a Cherry Coke. And no one can say the woman in the summer shorts won't be next. She got at least one right in her notebook, 611 plus 9 does equal 620, and, hey, that's got to be worth another Munch 'N' Crunch.

Test Yourself

Can you answer the following questions? They were taken from the elementary level textbooks at Wilmington's literacy class.

1. When you put a dog's name on a collar, should it be capitalized?

2. In spelling, do you generally use the letter "i" before "e" or "e" before "i"?

3. What is the antonym of the word "soft"? sponge; rock; or pencil?

4. What is the subject of this sentence: "Jim opened the door."

The answers: 1. Yes; 2. "i" before "e"; 3. Rock; 4. Jim.

If you missed one, forget it. If you missed two, nobody's perfect. If you missed three, well, har-rumph.

And if you missed all four, the American Library Association sponsors a literacy hotline (800-228-8813) to provide adult education information.

Seminole Teachers' Group Promotes Reading

By Angela Woodhall
Herald Staff Writer

If you can read this, thank a teacher.

You can also thank Myrna Walters, founder of the Seminole Reading Council, an organization of teachers who meet four times a year to promote literacy.

Founded five years ago and based on the National Reading Council, the local council annually sponsors "Literacy Week." One teacher receives the "Celebrate Literacy" Award for his or her outstanding local achievement in promoting literacy. Last year, this award was given to Patty Kimbel, a second grade teacher at Wekiva Elementary School.

Teacher members take the latest research that's been done on reading and implement new ideas in their classroom. Some things that have been done in the past to interest kids in reading: encouraging pen pals, playing reading games and using newspapers in the classroom.

One teacher is selected as building representative in each of the elementary schools to help increase membership and share reading ideas. Last year, the local organization issued a membership of 400 educators. This year, the membership goal is 550 and teachers hope parents will also join the organization for the annual fee of $5.

According to president Jackie Mue, the organization has planned several exciting activities for this school year.

On September 17, Dr. Roach Van Allen, a nationally known author will discuss "motivation for reading." The meeting is open to the public.

On November 15, 60 teachers will attend a reading workshop. They will construct word and phonics games they can use in their classrooms.

March 2-8, 1967 will be "Newspaper Week" and teachers will use newspapers to teach reading concepts. Some activities will include word hunts (such as, finding all words that start with the letter "l") and discussing "fact versus opinion" newspaper articles.

On March 16, author Tom Wolpert will discuss "The Reading Connection."

And on May 8, the nationally known author of Why Mosquitoes Buzz in Your Ear, Verma Anderson, will address members in a 9 a.m. public breakfast meeting.

Each year the Seminole Reading Council in conjunction with Harcourt/Brace/Jovanovich also sponsors an Excellence in Reading Award given to one student in each elementary school. The teacher-nominated winners receive a plaque which is displayed in their school for one year. Teachers nominate based on grade point average, reading test scores, overall attitude, and progress in reading.

Last year, the Seminole Reading Association annual conference. This year, that conference will be held in Greenleaf, Florida. There are approximately 3,000 Florida members from the various local reading chapters.

Telethon Nets Record In Pledges

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A record of more than $64 million in pledges poured in to the annual Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon to aid the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The 21 1/2-hour event, with broadcast live on about 500 stations nationwide this year, it wound up Monday with $64,066,775 in pledges, some $26,000,000 more than in 1967.

The last telethon was broadcast on a single New York television station in 1959 and brought in about $1 million. Lewis said his goal this year is to raise $1 more than the previous telethon.

The entertainer's telethons for research and treatment of muscular dystrophy have grossed a total of more than $400 million.

More than 100 celebrities took part in this year's program, which began at 9 p.m. EDT Sunday and ended at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

Woman Assists Man, Man Assaults Her

A 44-year-old Orlando woman reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies she was sexually assaulted in a home on Wekiva Park Road, Sanford, by a man she had given a ride home from Orlando.

The woman told deputies she met the man at Lou's Lounge in Orlando and they talked about her having a canoe past his home on the Wekiva River. He left for a few minutes and returned at about 1 a.m. Saturday to say his car wouldn't start and he asked the woman to take him home.

Once at his home the man made sexual advances, which the woman resisted, a sheriff's report said.

She was forced into his home and both were drugged. The man sexually assaulted her and then told her to take him back to his car, the report said.

On her way back to Orlando, the woman told the man she had to stop for gasoline at the One Stop, State Road 46 at Interstate 4, west of Sanford. She went inside the store and was followed by the man. The woman told a clerk what had happened and when the clerk reached for the telephone the suspect ran out of the store at about 7:10 a.m.

Sheriff's deputies reported spotting the suspect twice as he ran in the areas of State Road 46 and Henderson Lane and at Wayside Drive and Orange Boulevard.

Sheriff's deputies have the name of a possible suspect and the investigation continued.

HACKSAW BLADES IN JAIL

A federal prisoner being held in the Seminole County jail since June 11, was moved to a holding cell at about 12:10 a.m. Monday, after 10 hacksaw blades and a 5-inch long shank were reportedly found in his bunk in a regular cell.

A jail guard searched the suspect's cell at just before midnight Sunday after finding a note written by an inmate that alleged that the suspect had hacksaw blades in his cell.

Because the 24-year-old Arcadia, Ga., man who was in the cell with the contraband is a federal prisoner Seminole County jail personnel said they don't know what charge he is being held on.

Attempted escape charges are pending.

TWO EXPOSED

Two men who allegedly urinated beside their vehicle parked on Hattaway Drive at Lake Orienta Park in Altamonte Springs, at about 4 p.m. Saturday were spotted by an Altamonte Springs policeman who charged them with exposure of sexual organs.

Joel Earl Bernard, 31, of 725 N. Lake Blvd., #33, Altamonte Springs, and George Preston Kelly, 20, of 808 K Ballard St., Altamonte Springs, have been charged in the case and both released from jail without posting bond.

TABLED POT

Seminole County sheriff's deputy Daren Tjornstol, in a "drug intervention sweep," on Sipes Avenue in Sanford at about 8:48 p.m. Saturday, behind Thomas Grocery, nabbed two men who were allegedly sitting at a table with about six packets of marijuana in front of them.

One man was reportedly smoking from a beer can pipe. Also on the table was a cube of rock cocaine, cigarette rolling papers and more marijuana was also found in the suspects' possession. One man also had a razor blade.

Charged with possession of marijuana to distribute and possession of cocaine were Dorian Anthony Simmons, 24, of 2070 Williams Ave., Sanford, and Leonard Knight, 21, of 2441 E. 21st St., Sanford. They were being held in lieu of $2,000 bond each.

FORCED WAY IN

A 37-year-old Jacksonville man, who allegedly forced his way into the Altamonte Springs home of his estranged wife at about 11 p.m. Sunday, has been charged with burglary to an occupied dwelling and criminal mischief.

The man was arrested at the woman's home at 428 Spring Valley Lane, by a Seminole County sheriff's deputy. The man allegedly kicked his way in through a partially open door and later, after he left and tried to re-enter the home, allegedly broke a window.

Stephen Dale Phillips, 37, has been charged in the case and was being held in lieu of $6,000 bond.

TWO IN CLUBHOUSE

Two men who allegedly forced entry into a clubhouse/library at Cranes Root Village in Altamonte Springs, were arrested after a resident of that complex confronted them in the clubhouse at about 7 a.m. Sunday.

One suspect who lives at the complex, Craig Edward Tetena,

POT AT SCHOOL

A man spotted driving on the grounds of Midway Elementary School in Sanford, at about 10:25 p.m. Saturday, has been charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and driving with a revoked license.

A Seminole County sheriff's deputy reported confronting and arresting the man.

RAILROAD FIRE

Seminole County firefighters extinguished fires in three railroad box cars on tracks at County Road 15 and Church Street, Sanford. The cars were towed to that location from Rand Yard Road, Sanford, to have the blazes put out, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

The fires occurred between 6 and 8 a.m. Saturday and the cause of the fires had not been determined, a sheriff's report said. The case is being probed by a Seminole County fire investigator.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Nine vans at Art Grindle, Inc., 2628 N. Semoran Blvd., Winter Park, were burglarized Friday or Saturday, a sheriff's report said. Six color televisions, three citizens band radios, a cassette player and stereo speakers with a combined value of $1,200 were stolen.

The $250 Jon boat of Matt Burke, 29, of 247-B, Oregon Road, Sanford, was stolen from a lake at his home Sunday, a sheriff's report said.

Two ceiling fans with a combined value of $327 were stolen from the home of Ed Conway, 33, of 1801 Old River Trail, Chuluota, between Thursday and Saturday, a sheriff's report said.

Richard S. Larson, 37, of 510 Stanton Place, Longwood, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a 17-year-old Longwood boy, whom he alleges took his 1979 Toyota at about 4:45 p.m. Sunday and failed to return it as promised. The car is valued at $4,500 and the boy has been reported missing, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

Sheriff's deputies have the name of a suspect who allegedly drove the 1986 Chevrolet Blazer of Gilbert P. Evans, 51, of 212 Little Wekiva Drive, Altamonte Springs, to North Carolina on Aug. 4, without permission. The $21,000 vehicle has not been returned and Evans reported it stolen Wednesday.

A rear window louvre valued at $270 was stolen from the car of Neil Orignoni, 48, of 525 E. Semoran Blvd., Fern Park, between Monday and Wednesday, a sheriff's report said.

PICKED UP BY PICK-UP

Two men were arrested Friday after a person complained that they were using cocaine near his apartment complex.

When an officer arrived at Seminole Gardens in Sanford around 3:30 p.m. he said two men were behind a pick-up truck and had thrown something away.

He said they had tossed away a can that had been made into an implement to smoke cocaine, called free basing.

Arrested and charged with possession of cocaine and paraphernalia were James Posey, 24, of 162 Bethune Cir., Sanford, and Kenneth Joseph Caprado, of 1543 Faith Ct., Deltona.

Both were being held on $2,000 bond each.

SHOT BY PASSERBY

A Sanford man was shot in the left thigh by a passerby while sitting on the porch of an East Seventh Street rooming house Saturday afternoon, police said.

The man was reported in good condition at Central Florida Regional Hospital today and police anticipate an arrest in the case.

Shot with a small calibre bullet was Freddie Smith, 57, 720 1/2 Cypress Ave., Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said.

The incident occurred at around 1:30 p.m., while Smith was at the 512 E. Seventh Street rooming house, Harriett said.

Smith said the gunman "was sitting on the Seventh Street and walked by and said he wasn't going to take any ... from me; then he shot me," a Sanford police report said.

Harriett said the man Smith identified as the gunman has been questioned but not arrested, although police do anticipate an arrest in the case once their investigation is complete.

Is POW Ransom Hanoi Signal?

"Although we have thus far been unable to prove that Americans are still being detained against their will, the information available to us precludes ruling out that possibility. Should any (live-sighting) reports prove true, we will take appropriate action to ensure the return of those involved."

This is the Reagan Administration's policy on allegations that Americans remain in Southeast Asia 13 years after the last U.S. soldiers were pulled out. At least it offers hope to those whose sons, brothers, husbands and fathers never came home and whose fate remains unknown.

Now, a recent, intriguing event suggests that the time has indeed come for appropriate action. An American civilian, Robert Schwab 3rd, whose existence was heretofore denied by Vietnamese officials, was ransomed by his family from Vietnam 15 months after his boat was seized by communist officials. This is further evidence of how Hanoi lies — of how it has yet to come clean on the issue of whether Americans are still being held in Vietnam.

An overwhelming amount of evidence suggests that some Americans listed as Prisoners of War and Missing in Action are alive in Southeast Asia. Approximately 2,434 Americans are unaccounted for in the 12 years of fighting there. Granted modern warfare is fierce and the Indochinese terrain rugged. Still, common sense suggests that not all of the missing men perished. None of the 556 airmen lost in Laos, for example, were ever seen again.

As of the middle of August, there were 5,136 reports pertaining to Americans unaccounted for in Southeast Asia. Palmstaking investigations by the Defense Intelligence Agency have substantiated 79 live sightings. Another 133 reports are officially unresolved, an indication that most are probably reliable.

It is significant that a number of high-level officials, including Lieutenant General Eugene Tighe, former director of the DIA, and Robert McFarlane, President Reagan's former national security adviser, assert their belief that Americans are being held in Indochina.

Why would the Vietnamese communists keep American prisoners all of these years? First, as human collateral. Hanoi was no doubt concerned that President Nixon might renege on his 1973 pledge of $3.25 billion in postwar aid. In fact, he had no choice but to repudiate that promise. The North Vietnamese violated the Paris Peace Agreement before the ink was dry by invading South Vietnam.

In addition, American servicemen could also serve as insurance, ideal hostages in the event the United States felt compelled to use military force, particularly aerial bombing, in the region.

Such a cynical ploy has precedent: The North Vietnamese released some French Foreign Legion prisoners more than 10 years after the French withdrawal from Indochina — after having said many times that there were no more captives.

That's why Mr. Schwab's release is interpreted by Wall Street Journal staffer Bill Paul, an expert on POWs, as a bold signal of what Hanoi has obliquely offered the Reagan Administration in the past: A willingness to sell back the POWs.

It's an extraordinary proposition, reeking of the barbarism evinced so often by communist regimes. However maddening, we believe the administration should negotiate to ascertain the terms for liberating U.S. POWs. Any negotiations undertaken with the communists would imply that POWs were being held.

Yet, if Mr. Schwab's ransom doesn't signal the possibility of a buy-out, then the Pentagon should take, as administration policy dictates, appropriate action. No effort and expense should be spared in locating and, if necessary, militarily seizing the POWs held in Indochina. These men deserve no less.

If It Comes To Nuclear Winter, Take Up Skiing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Regardless of how convincing the oratory, much of the logic of last month's Senate debate on President Reagan's "Star Wars" proposals seemed to me misdirected.

The main point, as I see it, is that the Strategic Defense Initiative presumably would move any future nuclear war away from our cities and into outer space.

Senators, however, dwelt mostly on the cost of the system, whether it is scientifically feasible, and the political potential.

Atomic explosions in outer space might not be entirely harmless, what with warnings of a "nuclear winter" and all. But that would sure beat having our cities blown to smithereens.

Given a choice between blowing up cities and a nuclear winter, I would not hesitate to choose the latter.

In fact, I have a little rule of thumb that I apply to nuclear weapons — the higher they go, the better.

If SDI beams would intercept and destroy incoming missiles before they hit our cities, that would be a distinct plus. If they did so while the missiles were still in outer space, then the nuclear winter would be averted, I say.

I, for one, would be willing to wear an extra pair of overalls. If need be, I'll even take up skiing.

There is, of course, a consideration of what nuclear war in outer space might do to ozone layer. But that is small potatoes compared to what it might do to me and other city-dwellers.

In Chicago last month, Rep. Robert Dornan, R-Calif., reportedly advised Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega against being interviewed on the Phil Donahue television show.

He was quoted as saying Ortega wouldn't help the Sandinistas "by showing up with a boot-licking wimp like Donahue."

Do California politicians really talk that way? If so, the political potential might well include a "wimp backlash" in the coming elections.

I remind Dornan that many of us voters also are wimps, though on the "Star Wars" issue we might come across as "devout cowards."

In event of a nuclear attack, Dornan might not be there to protect me. At last report, he did not figure in Reagan's SDI concept.

The president may have considered the congressman needed more research. During a nuclear attack, Dornan might be down in the bomb shelter, or some place, watching the Donahue show, or something.

I personally would feel safer, and hence sleep better at night, if SDI involved launching Dornan, rather than firing laser beams, against enemy missiles. But in these kinds of times, what with Gramm-Rudman and all, you take what you can get.

Alcoholics May Be Different

By Rob Stein
UPI Science Writer

BOSTON (UPI) — Alcoholics may be more addicted to liquor because they are born with nervous systems that make them more susceptible to becoming dependent on alcohol, a new study indicates.

Researchers at Tufts Medical School found that alcoholics respond differently than non-alcoholics to a Valium-like drug known as alprazolam, indicating they may have some nervous system differences.

"We think this reflects a basic difference in the nervous system of alcoholics," said Dr. Domenic Ciraulo, a psychiatrist who headed a study involving 15 alcoholics and 15 non-alcoholics.

The researchers gave both groups alprazolam and measured their response by using a standard set of questions. Alcoholics felt much more euphoric than non-alcoholics.

The researchers are uncertain, however, whether the difference represented an innate difference in the nervous system or was the result of damage to the nervous system caused by having abused alcohol.

To test that, Ciraulo and his colleagues are studying sons of alcoholics to see how they respond to alprazolam compared to those unrelated to alcoholics.

If sons of alcoholics are found to become more euphoric than those unrelated to alcoholics, that would provide further evidence that they are predisposed to alcoholism by inheritance.

About 10 sons of alcoholics, ages 18 to 25, have been enrolled in the study so far.

In addition to the subjective evaluations, the new study will also involve administering blood tests to the subjects. The researchers hope the blood tests will enable them to determine how nervous systems of sons of alcoholics are responding to the drug.

The difference in response may be linked to receptors on certain blood cells that influence a substance known as gamma amino butyric acid, which helps carry messages in the brain.

If the researchers can identify those differences, they could potentially develop blood tests that could be used to identify those likely to become alcoholics early in their lives.

"We could use this as an early marker to target educational programs at a population at high risk," said Ciraulo. "That's the potential, but we are far from that at this point."

Fired Worker Says Hughes Mischarged U.S.

By Jack Anderson and Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — The whistle blower is our principal protection against the designs of public and corporate wrongdoers. He tries to protect the public from fraud and inefficiency; yet more often than not, his reward is retribution.

This is what has happened to Patrick Crosby, who was hired by Hughes Aircraft Co. in 1981 to design sophisticated computer systems with military possibilities. Crosby was fired last year, ostensibly because he failed to do his job. But Crosby says he was fired because he was a whistle blower; he says the company set him up for dismissal by giving him an impossible assignment.

While whistle blowers who work for the federal government have a tough enough time, those who work in private industry have it even worse. Their protection against retaliation by the higher-ups they expose is virtually non-existent.

Crosby's criticisms went to the very heart of a defense contractor's

The Black Hole

If Choichiro Yatani knew then what he knows now, he might not have done what he did.

That was to participate in a demonstration against the Vietnam War in Tokyo in 1968, when he was a 21-year-old student.

What he knows now is that it was enough to jail him eventually under American "due process" as interpreted by the Immigration and Naturalization Service and the State Department.

For nine years, Yatani has been an instructor and Ph.D. candidate in social psychology at the State University of New York at Stony Brook. He has a wife, Nanako, and two children, both born in the United States and American citizens.

On July 7, on his way back from a conference in the Netherlands, he arrived at New York's Kennedy International Airport. His name triggered a response from INS computers. He was detained on suspicion of being "a terrorist or engaged in other subversive activities," apparently because of that 1968 demonstration.

I say apparently, because, to date, no one has come up with any other explanation. The feds refused to divulge specifically what they had against Yatani. He steadfastly denied that he had or had ever had any communist affiliation, although he has been an anti-nuclear activist.

Yatani had been arrested in Tokyo along with 70 other demonstrators. He was convicted of "violations of road traffic control." He was put on probation for a year, and then, under Japanese law, his conviction expired and was expunged from the Japanese police record.

But not, as it turned out, from the records of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Eighteen years later, he was detained under provisions of the McCarran-Walter Act, an odious legislative relic of the political witch hunts of the 1950s.

Fortunately, there are still those committed to keeping this a reasonably free country. Attorneys with the New York-based Lawyers Committee for Human Rights came to Yatani's defense.

At a hearing on Aug. 19, they made the mildest response possible, requesting a simple waiver on Yatani's admittance to the country, as provided for by the McGovern (for former Sen. George McGovern) amendment to the original McCarran act. INS and State blocked it.

Yatani's attorneys then filed suit, demanding that the government explain why it was holding Yatani.

That did it. Two days later Yatani was released under a McGovern waiver. The feds were acknowledging, in effect, that they couldn't prove anything. So, after six weeks in the federal slammer without bail and without being charged, Yatani was released without so much as an apology.

But it's not over yet. Yatani now wants his name removed from the list that caused that computer bleep in the first place. Officially known as the Automated Visa Lookout System, it lists, according to the State Department, 2 million individuals who may be excluded from the United States for 33 reasons from terrorism to carrying an infectious disease.

Understandably embarrassed by the affair, the feds still aren't saying much, but one anonymous official admitted to the New York Times that during the 1950s and '60s, "a lot of names were put in without a lot of checking on who they were."

"The list is a black hole," says one of Yatani's attorneys. "Once you fall in, you can't get out."

Choichiro Yatani's trial by bureaucracy vividly makes several points:

One, it is a national disgrace that the McCarran-Walter Act remains on the books. When bureaucrats make an error, they'll be the last to admit it, no matter how innocent individuals may suffer as a result.

Three, they might never be called to account if organizations such as the Lawyers Committee weren't available to come to the assistance of those like Choichiro Yatani.

VIEWPOINT

Brazil's Spending Spree

By Brian Nicholson

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI) — Six months ago, Brazil slammed a total freeze on wages and prices in a bid to conquer an inflation rate that was over 400 percent, and climbing.

Critics said the freeze could bring chaos but the government felt it had nothing to lose. Economists were warning Brazil could become like pre-war Germany, when people went shopping with their money in a wheelbarrow.

Now, half a year later, it looks like the gamble is paying off, despite many problems.

Not only have prices stayed more or less steady but the great majority of Brazilians are earning more and spending their hearts out in a "Christmas-every-day" shopping spree.

Sales of household appliances, clothes, pharmacy items and automobiles are up 40 percent over last year, and one car dealer reported an eight-month waiting list.

For a country that just three years ago was deep in recession, cowed by its inflation and its $105 billion foreign debt, the boom is a giant pot of gold at the end of a rainbow.

And so far it looks real.

Even the poor are joining in the prosperity. Celso Amaral, a 55-year-old shoeshine man in Rio, said his take was up 20 percent.

Jose Alves, in the Cilandia slums outside the lush capital of Brasilia, reported a boom in his business of oven and sink repair.

"When there was inflation no one bothered fixing anything," he said. "Because why have a good cooker if you couldn't afford rice and beans?" Now food consumption is up by a third.

When the government froze salaries it first gave an across-the-board hike of 8 percent, with double that for the poorest. Counting overtime, new jobs and the unofficial raises, many bottom-rung families found they could once again afford "delicacies," like meat.

But some of the euphoria is fading.

The meat that poor families could suddenly afford has all but disappeared from the butcher's slab. Lines form quickly, and customers are let in a few at a time when the occasional deliveries arrive.

Of course, some butchers do have meat to sell in a burgeoning black market where everything from a new car to a T-bone steak or a ton of aluminum scrap, can be had for two payments. One matches the official price and the other supplements it without any receipt.

The economic distortions of the freeze lead many observers to predict the government must soon lift the price freeze.

activists" and "queer as three-dollar bills."

— Several weeks later, according to a memo that went to at least half a dozen Hughes officials, Rosoff called the company security people to warn them that Crosby had aroused some interest on Capitol Hill. Rosoff said "he would see 'us' (Hughes) next week and give a deposition (against Crosby) if it was still wanted," according to the memo.

— A memo dated Feb. 11, 1985, described how Rosoff said he had begun "to play games with Crosby's head" by lying to Crosby about his situation at Hughes and by telling him that the company knew he was an informant.

— Rosoff had dozens of telephone conversations with Hughes officials between December 1984 and March 1985, when Crosby was fired. During this time, according to Crosby, Rosoff had tried to persuade him to resign from Hughes.

Radkewich Trio Runs Together, Has Fun Together

A family that runs together has fun together, or so that seems to be the credo of the Radkewich family of Longwood.

Saturday morning Nick, Jody, and Katy Radkewich all participated in the Summertime Seminole Cross Country Jamboree. All three placed very high for their respective efforts.

Nick, a sophomore at Lyman High School, placed 13th in the boys 14-18, three-mile race with a time of 16:53.9.

Sisters Jody and Katy also each won their events. Ten-year-old Jody ran a 2:57.6 half mile to win her division of the 10-13 and seven-year-old Katy won the 9 and under quarter mile run with a time of 1:27. Following Katy was Crystal Wharton with a 1:33 and Ann Hansen finished third with a time of 1:39.

All three of the Radkewichs love to run, but all run for another reason. All three of them are triathletes. To complete a triathlon you must run, bike, and swim. A rough task for anybody, but this family seems to be more than willing to accept the agonizing toll a triathlon can put on the body.

"I just saw an entry form and wanted to do it (triathlon)," Nick said. "I was too young, but the thought of participating in one stayed with me."

Nick started his career in the swimming department with the Birmingham Blue Dolphins in Alabama, under the direction of Kevin Fogarty. "Swimming started everything, running and biking kind of followed," he said.

Nick is now a national level triathlete and has already qualified for this year's final event to be held Sept. 27, at Hilton Head in South Carolina. Right now triathlons are first on Nick's mind.

"I'm a triathlete first, though swimming is real close and I just find time for the running and biking," he said.

With the arduous schedule of school, swimming, and cross country practice Nick manages to run 5-12 miles, bike 20-30 miles, and swim close to four hours daily.

The hurdle that put Nick into the triathlete spotlight was last year's Iron Kids held at Disney World in Orlando. Nick won the event completing the 200 meter swim, 10k bike ride, and 3k run in just over 41 minutes. Since that he has participated in three United States Triathlon Series. He recently ran in the latest USTS event held in Boston finishing second in his age group completing the mile swim, 40k bike ride, and 10k run in 1:56.

In his other two races he has won his age division and finished in the top 25 giving him the berth to South Carolina.

Right now, he is helping his sisters prepare for the upcoming Iron Kids for this year. Since the event is for kids 14 years and under he will not have a chance to defend his title.

The entire group will look to improve in any way it can as all work to help each other out.

"I'm kind of coaching my sisters and help them on form as Katy just learned how to ride a bike," Nick said.

While triathlons are few and far between in this area, the Radkewich family will have no problem keeping busy. The girls will compete in the area road races while Nick will have a filled schedule swimming and running cross country for Lyman High.

Turnbull, 33, Turns Back Clock, Stuns Mandlikova

Tennis

NEW YORK (UPI) — Her ranking and age told Wendy Turnbull that she could no longer beat the world's top tennis players. Unfortunately for Hana Mandlikova, Turnbull did not listen.

The 33-year-old Turnbull, ranked 17th in the world and unseeded at the U.S. Open for the first time in a decade, shocked defending champion Mandlikova 6-4, 1-6, 6-3 Monday to advance to the Open quarterfinals.

"When you get over 30, people begin writing you off," Turnbull said after beating her doubles partner for the first time in three years. "It's been a tough year and I've worked hard to come back."

"It was a shock to my system when my ranking dropped to 17 and I wasn't seeded," the Australian said. "But, as it turned out it was the best thing for me. It got me motivated."

In other fourth-round action Monday, men's top seed Ivan Lendl beat No. 15 American Brad Gilbert 7-5, 6-1, 6-2; No. 4 Stefan Edberg of Sweden blitzed American qualifier Dan Goldie; No. 8 Henri Leconte of France beat American Aaron Krickstein 6-3, 7-5, 6-4 and American Tim Wilkison beat Andrei Chesnokov of the Soviet Union 6-0, 6-2, 6-3.

No. 3 seed Boris Becker of West Germany meets American qualifier Gary Donnelly and No. 2 Mats Wilander of Sweden faces No. 16 Miloslav Mecir of Czechoslovakia in fourth-round play today.

The women's No. 1 seed, Martina Navratilova, advanced to the quarterfinals Monday with a 6-4, 6-2 victory over 11th-seeded Gabriela Sabatini of Argentina. Like Lendl, Navratilova has yet to drop a set thus far in the Open.

Two other top women's seeds — No. 2 Chris Evert Lloyd and No. 3 Steffi Graf of West Germany — gained three-set victories to move into the quarterfinals. Evert Lloyd beat No. 14 Catarina Lindqvist of Sweden 6-2, 2-6, 6-2 and Graf topped Raffaella Reggi of Italy 6-1, 3-6, 6-0.

In other women's action, No. 8 Bonnie Gadusek beat No. 13 Stephanie Rehe 7-6 (8-6), 4-6, 6-2; No. 7 Helena Sukova of Czechoslovakia beat No. 12 Zina Garrison 6-4, 2-6, 6-4; No. 9 Manuela Maleeva of Bulgaria topped No. 6 Claudia Kohde-Kilsch of West Germany 6-2, 2-6, 7-6 (7-1) and No. 5

Pam Shriver beat No. 15 Kathy Jordan 6-4, 6-4.

Navratilova meets her doubles partner Shriver in a quarterfinal match today while Graf meets Gadusek. Navratilova has beaten Shriver 25 of the 28 times they have played but two of those losses have come at the Open.

Turnbull, the oldest player in the women's draw, confused Mandlikova with a variety of off-speed shots.

"I have the kind of game that aggravates Hana," Turnbull said. "I junk her around a little bit. She would rather play someone that hits the ball with pace and an even bounce."

Not since Billie Jean King in 1973 had a women's defending champion bowed out so early in the Open. King also lost in the Round of 16.

Mandlikova was the third former Open champion to be eliminated from this year's tournament. John McEnroe was a first-round loser and Jimmy Connors lost in a third-round match Sunday.

"I really didn't believe she could play as well as she did," said Mandlikova, of Czechoslovakia. "I was not serving well and balls I would usually put away I couldn't put away."

There was little Lendl was unable to put away in his match with Gilbert, a man he feared before the match.

"I was worried today because the last three times I played Brad I had tough matches," Lendl said. "I think it's very good for me to be worried a little bit because that keeps you on your toes and if you are overconfident and you get into a tough match you may try to turn it on and it might not be there."

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tom Gullikson ended his Grand Prix career with a 3-hour, 16-minute loss to Matt Anger on a disputed line call early Tuesday.

On match point in the 10th game of the fifth set, Gullikson hit a ball that was ruled in. The umpire overruled, calling the ball out and giving Anger a 3-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4 victory.

Gullikson refused to shake Anger's hand afterward and threw his racket at the net. Gullikson waited at his court-side seat for the umpire to reverse the call, but the official left the grounds.

Before the U.S. Open, Gullikson and his twin brother, Tim, announced they were retiring from the Grand Prix circuit.

NFL Ax Falls On Dickey, Coffman

United Press International

Lynn Dickey and Paul Coffman, Green Bay's dependable passing tandem of the early 1980s, were among the veterans cut Monday as NFL teams reduced their rosters to the regular-season limit of 45.

Also released were three members of Miami's Killer Bee defense of the same years. The Dolphins cut defensive end Kim Bokamper, linebacker Jay Brophy and defensive back Lyle Blackwood.

All started in Miami's Super Bowl XIX loss to San Francisco after the 1984 season.

Other veterans released were linebacker Brad Van Pelt by the Raiders, wide receiver Phil McConkey by the Giants and running back Ethan Horton by Kansas City.

Dickey has been unable to adjust to the Packers' new short-yardage passing game after years of throwing the long ball. The big player in that offense was wide receiver James Lofton while Coffman provided Dickey with a consistent receiver.

Coffman, a three-time Pro Bowl performer and the leading pass-catching tight end in Packer history, had offseason elbow surgery and began practicing a few weeks ago.

The Dolphins probably will re-sign Lyle Blackwood Tuesday if he is not claimed. Blackwood's brother, Glenn, has a thigh bruise and was on crutches Monday. The Dolphins are likely to place Glenn on injured-reserve Tuesday.

At Oxnard, Calif., Van Pelt, a five-time Pro Bowler, was joined on the waiver wire by fellow linebacker Jack Squirek, who is best remembered for his interception just before halftime of Super Bowl XXIII, keying a victory over Washington.

Rookie Napoleon McCallum made the Raiders as a kick returner and reserve running back. McCallum, the NCAA's all-time all-purpose yardage leader, has been granted permission by the Navy to play for the Raiders.

At East Rutherford, N.J., McConkey's release was made possible by the emergence of rookies Mark Collins as kick returner and Solomon Miller and Vince Warren at wide receiver.

The Giants also waived defensive end Dee Hardison and center Conrad Goode, and placed running back George Adams and kicker Ali Haji-Sheikh on injured-reserve.

At Kansas City, Mo., Horton, a first-round draft choice by the Chiefs a year ago, was cut after being a disappointment last season.

At Redwood City, Calif., the 49ers placed running back Wendell Tyler on injured-reserve following reports in the San Francisco Chronicle he was offered $200,000 by Coach Bill Walsh to retire. Walsh reportedly is convinced Tyler will be unable to return from knee surgery.

At Atlanta, Falcons center Jeff Van Note, the NFL's oldest active player at age 40, has lost the starting position he has held since 1970 to 25-year-old Wayne Radloff.

At Denver, the Broncos cut Jack Weil, leaving them without a punter on their 45-man roster. Veteran punter Chris Norman was cut by Denver last week.

At San Diego, the Chargers waived six players, including former USFLers, linebacker Ronnie Washington and cornerback David Martin.

At Dallas, the Cowboys ended an exhibition-season kicking battle by cutting rookie Max Zendejas, leaving the job to incumbent Rafael Septien.

At Latrobe, Pa., the Steelers traded the rights to quarterback Cliff Stoudt to St. Louis for a draft choice. Stoudt, who played for the Steelers from 1977 to 1983, left the team to play for Birmingham of the USFL.

At Lake Forest, Ill., former Illinois All-America wide receiver David Williams, the second-leading pass catcher in NCAA history, was among five cuts made by Chicago.

At Philadelphia, Ron Jaworski, who started training camp as the team's No. 2 quarterback, will start when the team opens Sunday. Jaworski fought off a challenge from Matt Cavanaugh, obtained in a trade with San Francisco.

At Washington, guard Ken Huff, a member of the Washington Redskins' "Hogs" offensive line, was cut along with safety Raphael Cherry.

At St. Louis, the Cardinals waived Carl Birdsong, a former All-Pro who had been the team's regular punter for five seasons.

At Berca, Ohio, running back Greg Allen, Cleveland's top draft pick two years ago, was waived. Cleveland also placed quarterback Gary Danielson on injured-reserve with a broken ankle.

Chuck Scott, former Vanderbilt All-America and a prep standout at Lake Howell High School, was a victim of the final roster cutdown in the NFL Monday. The Los Angeles Rams waived Scott along with four other players. Scott, the last wide receiver cut by the Rams, spent the entire 1985 season on injured-reserve.

Lyman Aim: Defend SAC All-Sports Title

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Lyman High School had one of its most successful sports seasons ever in 1985-86 and it was capped off by the Greyhounds winning the inaugural Seminole Athletic Conference All-Sports Trophy.

The graduation of Lyman's sensational senior class of athletes left a lot of holes to be filled for the 1986-87 school year and a number of coaching positions also changed hands.

In football, coach Bill Scott is back after a promising season in 1985 in which the 'Hounds finished with a 4-6 record and were in the district race until the last game of the season. The Greyhounds return a number of starters from last year's squad and should be at threat again in 1986.

In cross country, Fred Finke returns for his second season as boys coach for the Greyhounds and he will also take over the girls coaching position from Joe Laughlin. The boys team is ranked ninth in the state in the preseason while the girls' team has some talent but may lack depth.

Swimming coach Don Clark has had one of the most successful programs around the past five years and his boys and girls squads both won the SAC and district crowns a year ago. Clark figures to be in the running again this season.

The Lyman volleyball team faces a rebuilding year with the loss of all but two varsity players. Karren Newman, paralyzed in an auto accident midway through last season, returns as head coach of the Lady Greyhounds. She had a 12-0 record last season before the accident. Pat Donatelli will be Newman's new assistant.

Lyman's athletic success continued into the winter of this past school year as its boys basketball and boys and girls soccer squads all enjoyed fine seasons.

Boys basketball coach Tom Lawrence lost most of his team of a year ago to graduation and could be facing a rebuilding year unless some of his young players come through. Lawrence's Greyhounds finished second in the SAC and made the district semifinals last season.

In girls basketball, Dick Copeland retired after a winning season in 1985-86. His successor is Lisa Carlson who coached the girls junior varsity last season. Carlson will most likely be facing a rebuilding year with the loss of three starters who accounted for most of Lyman's scoring a year ago.

The Lyman High girls soccer team was once again the dominant team in the area a year ago and wound up finishing second in the state, its only loss coming in the state finals. Coach Tom Barnes resigned after last season and Laura Dryden, last year's assistant, will be the new head coach. Dryden's Lady Greyhounds should be contenders again in 1986-87.

In boys soccer, the Greyhounds lost some top notch players to graduation from last year's district championship team. But coach Ray Sandidge also has some good returning talent this season.

In wrestling, Scott has stepped down and Paul Thomann, assistant the past eight years, takes over as head coach. Thomann will try to rebuild the Greyhounds' wrestling program to prominence. Lyman High is hosting the Class 4A State Championships this season.

Lyman was not as much in the picture in the spring sports but was competitive enough to keep its hold on the all-sports trophy.

In baseball, Bob McCullough looks to return the 'Hounds to contenders with a good nucleus of returning players. Carlson will also look for improvement from her softball team.

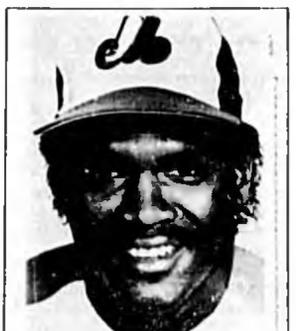

In track, Finke has some excellent returning talent and Lyman could be one of the top teams in the SAC this season. The girls track team of coach Larry Baker is looking at a rebuilding year.

Another coaching change is in tennis where Jack Bloomingtondale, an assistant football coach, takes over the boys team from Mike Cahill.

Raines Retakes Batting Lead

Tim Raines retook the N.L. batting average lead from Tony Gwynn Monday by going 3 for 5 to raise his percentage to .3340. Gwynn was 0 for 4 to drop to .3339. Raines singled, doubled and homered as the Expos nipped the Dodgers.

Terrapins Outkick Pitt, 10-7

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The revamped Pittsburgh offense look much like the punchless unit of 1985 in the Panthers' 1986 opener Monday night against Maryland.

Both coaches say 20th-ranked Maryland's staunch defense was responsible for that, but the returning veterans from the Pitt team that went 5-8-1 last year were not so sure that's what spoiled the debut of new coach Mike Gottfried. The Terrapins' 10-7 triumph — gained on Dan Plocki's 29-yard field goal with 2:06 left after Pitt kicker Mark Brasco missed three first-half efforts — looked too much like their losses of last year.

"Tonight reminded me a lot of the Ohio State game," said Pitt senior defensive end Tony Woods. He was referring to a 10-7 loss to the Buckeyes last year in which Brasco missed two 31-yard field goals.

"I felt that we dominated the whole game," John Congemi, Pitt's fifth-year quarterback, said. "We did everything we wanted to on offense, we just couldn't get the ball in the end zone."

Pitt did not dominate the entire game — only the first half. The Panthers had possession of the ball for 21:42 of the first 30 minutes and piled up 184 yards total offense to Maryland's 48, but never scored a point. Brasco's misses were from 41, 19 and 53 yards.

The Pitt offense performed similarly in 1985, when it averaged 331.6 yards offense but just 18 points per game.

But Gottfried, who replaced fired Foge Fazio, insisted Pitt "played well, but we just didn't get it done in the end."

"We missed some key scoring opportunities early, but I still thought we could come back. You have to give Maryland credit. They kept us off the board for most of the game. They have an awfully tough defense. They're strong, physical and tough to run against."

Maryland Coach Bobby Ross concurred.

"I came off the field at the beginning of the second half and heard they had the ball something like 22 minutes to our right, and I had not realized that it was that long," Ross said. "I thought our defense did a great job, and all we had to do was get our offense in gear so we could take some pressure off our defense."

New quarterback Dan Henning, a junior, got the Terrapins' offense moving in the third quarter. Their first long drive ended on the Pitt 15, when Henning was sacked and lost a fumble to Lorenzo Freeman.

But Maryland got the ball back three plays later on a fumble recovery, and this time the Terrapins needed just nine plays to move 54 yards for a touchdown, scored on Tommy Neal's 1-yard plunge.

"Dan just needed to get a feel for things," Ross said.

The Panthers rallied to tie the game at 7-7 with 5:12 left in the game. Congemi capped the five-play, 58-yard drive with a 32-yard TD pass to Reggie Walker.

But Maryland went for its game-winning field goal on the next series, moving the ball 52 yards in nine plays before Plocki came in to kick his game-winning field goal.

Hall Says Gators Must Be Mentally Tough For 'Canes

Galen Hall, Florida's 1-0 head coach, knows one thing for sure after reviewing films of the Gators' 38-10 victory over Georgia Southern: Saturday's foe will be much tougher.

The Gators entertain Miami Saturday at Florida Field and the No. 3-ranked Hurricanes are coming from an equally easy victory (34-14) over South Carolina. Both teams came through their openers virtually injury-free.

"The mental portion of the game will be very important against Miami," Hall said. "We are really looking forward to playing them."

The Gators will be relying on the ability of Kerwin Bell at quarterback for the duration of the season, according to Hall. "We have an excellent quarterback and we will be relying on him all season long," Hall said. "Kerwin is a pressure player and has come through in the past. I'm confident that he will do it again."

Bell hit 14 of 23 passes Saturday for 160 yards and three TDs. He also ran 18 yards for another score.

Smith: Gossage To Rejoin Padres

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — San Diego Padres President Ballard Smith met with suspended relief pitcher Goose Gossage for about an hour Monday, but refused to comment on the outcome of the meeting.

Smith was reached at his La Jolla, Calif., home by United Press International, but declined to comment on Gossage's status.

Smith confirmed Gossage would travel to Philadelphia Tuesday to rejoin the Padres for the second game of a three-game series against the Phillies.

Gossage had been suspended Friday for the remainder of the season without pay by Smith, who had cited Rule 13, which allows owners to take disciplinary action for repeated and continuing insubordination and similar player behavior not in the best interest of the team.

Cubs Officially Exit East Race; Recall Martinez

United Press International

The Chicago Cubs officially left the pennant race Monday and, according to Manager Gene Michael, they did so on merit. "I'm especially bothered about loading the bases in the ninth and getting nothing," Michael said after a 6-4 loss to the Houston Astros. "Maybe we're not good enough."

Joe Cruz homered and Denny Walling doubled in two runs to highlight a four-run sixth inning, keeping the Astros seven games in front of second-place Cincinnati in the National League West.

Only two years removed from winning the NL East, the Cubs have become one of the worst teams in the majors. Only one club, Pittsburgh, was eliminated from pennant contention earlier than Chicago.

Michael also said the Cubs had recalled outfielders Brian Dayett and Dave Martinez, infielder-outfielder Chico Walker, right-hander Gregg Maddux and left-hander Guy Hoffman from Iowa of the American Association (AAA).

Caseberry's Martinez, who was up for a month and one-half earlier this year, is expected to get a chance to play center field full-time as the Cubs try out some of their younger players. Martinez fielded well in his earlier trial but didn't hit well.

Martinez celebrated his return by hitting his fifth homer in his last game at AAA as Iowa edged Oklahoma City 5-4, at Des Moines. Iowa finished 74-68, two games behind West Division winner Denver, which beat Omaha 6-4 Monday.

At Chicago, Danny Darwin, 1-1, pitched six innings for his first NL victory. Charlie Kerfeld pitched two innings and Dave Smith recorded the final three outs for his 28th save. Ed Lynch, 4-4, took the loss.

"I made good pitches when I had to," said Darwin, who was acquired in August from Milwaukee. "I'm happy they traded for me. It shows they have confidence in me."

Moseby Finds Solution, Jays Snare 9th Straight

United Press International

The Cleveland Indians presented Lloyd Moseby of the Toronto Blue Jays with a problem — and the solution. With the score tied 4-4 and the bases loaded in the ninth Monday, the Indians changed their defensive alignment for Moseby. The way they did it, though, tipped him off as to what pitching sequence to expect.

"When they brought in that fielder from right, I knew they weren't going to pitch me in," Moseby said after stroking a single to give Toronto a 5-4 victory. "I did know what they were going to do to me and that kind of takes the pressure off."

Ernie Whitt led off the ninth with a single off reliever Ernie Camacho, 2-3. Camacho fielded Willie Upshaw's bunt and threw wildly past first base, sending the runners to second and third. Pinch hitter Rick Leach was walked intentionally to load the bases and Ron Shepherd ran for Whitt at third.

"It's not just one person making an error," lamented Cleveland Manager Pat Corrales. "Everyone on this team has been taking their turn."

After Tony Fernandez' bounce to short forced Shepherd at home, Cleveland Manager Pat Corrales positioned right fielder Cory Snyder just to the right of second base for Moseby, a left-handed hitter.

"If you want to know the truth, that's the first time I've seen it (the defensive alignment)," Toronto Manager Jimmy Williams said. "But it makes sense. You go with whatever percentages you think will go in your favor."

Regardless of the percentages, Cleveland came away a loser as Moseby sliced a ball through the left side of the infield to win the game and give the Blue Jays their ninth consecutive victory, tying a team record set last year. Toronto has also won 16 of its last 19 games to move within 3 1/2 games of Boston in the American League East.

Tom Henke, 9-3, worked 2 1/3 innings for the victory. Henke struck out five of the seven batters he faced.

George Bell's hit his 28th homer of the season, a two-run shot, to pull the Blue Jays even at 4-4 in the sixth.

At Cincinnati, Ted Power pitched a one-hitter over six innings and Nick Esasky hit his 10th homer to fuel the Reds.

Expos 7, Dodgers 6
At Montreal, Tom Foley's bases-loaded single scored Tim Raines from third with the winning run in the bottom of the ninth for the Expos. Jeff Reardon, 7-8, pitched 1 1/3 innings for the victory despite yielding a game-tying homer to Ralph Bryant in the top of the ninth. Ken Howell fell to 5-9. Raines was 3 for 5 to retake the N.L. batting race lead with a .3340 average. Tony Gwynn was 0 for 4 to fall to .3339.

Phillies 5, Padres 4
At Philadelphia, Von Hayes' two-out bloop double scored Gary Redus in the eighth, lifting the Phillies to their sixth straight victory. Hayes also homered to help make a winner of reliever Kent Tekulve, 9-3. Craig Leferts, 7-6, took the loss.

IN BRIEF

Foul Weather Can't Avert 3 World Records From Tumbling

STUTTGART, West Germany (UPI) — Three world records fell and another was equaled at the European Track and Field Championships despite a week of foul weather.

Yuri Sedykh of the Soviet Union became a three-time European champion in the hammer, bettering his world mark with two throws. Sedykh increased the record by more than 3 inches to 284-feet-7.

Sedykh's teammate, Maria Stepanova, 23-hundredths of a second off the world record to win the women's 400-meter hurdles in 53.32.

Britain's Fatima Whitbread attained the third record, qualifying for the women's javelin with a toss of 254-1 — more than 6 1/2 feet better than the previous mark. Whitbread took the final at 250-5.

East Germany's Heike Drechsler equaled the women's 200 meters world record of 21.71 seconds — a mark originally set by teammate Marita Koch and first equaled by Drechsler two months ago.

Drechsler also won the women's long jump while the other double gold medalists — Koch, Marlies Goehr (100 meters) and Britain's Roger Black (400 meters) — won their individual and relay events.

Goehr and Koch joined West German Harald Schmid (men's 400 meters hurdles) and Sedykh as three-time European champions in their events.

Sebastian Coe, possibly the greatest middle-distance runner ever, finally won his first 800 meters title in the first of two races against fellow-Briton Steve Cram.

Nakano: 10 Sprints Are Enough

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — Japan's Koichi Nakano says 10 match sprint world championships are enough.

Nakano Monday night ended a decade of domination at the World Cycling Championships by winning his 10th straight match sprint title over teammate Matsui Hideoyuki. "I'm tired," Nakano said through an interpreter. "I don't want anyone to hate me for going for my 11th title. It's a good time to stop."

Nakano, 30, who races the professional keirin in Japan, did not lose a race through four rounds of the best two of three format. In the first race against Matsui, Nakano won by less than a tire's width. In the second ride, he took a lead at 218 yards (200 meters) and won by 11 yards (10 meters).

Earnhardt Wins Gatorade 200

DARLINGTON, S.C. (UPI) — Dale Earnhardt dominated the completion of the rain-delayed NASCAR Busch Grand National stock car race Monday to post a 5.72-second victory at Darlington International Raceway.

The race, which initially began Saturday, was delayed by rain after 71 of 147 laps and reset for Labor Day. Earnhardt led in his Pontiac during most of the completion of the race.

Earnhardt averaged 95.468 mph in taking the win. Morgan Shepherd finished second in a Buick, and Brett Bodine placed third.

Rounding out the top 10 finishers were Southern 500 champion Tim Richmond, L.D. Otitinger, Jack Ingram, Larry Pearson, Brad Teague, Tommy Houston and Haskel Willingham.

Speedway Drivers To Restart Saturday

Special to the Herald
NEW SMYRNA BEACH — Persistent rain showers on Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway caused the drivers to vote in favor of postponing the End of the Month Championship events until this coming Saturday night.

NSS publicist John Darveau said as per the speedway's rain policy, only the drivers can decide by vote whether to wait the rain out or postpone the program to the following Saturday.

In addition, the promoter announced that the 100-lap Enduro for street cars, along with a powder-puff derby for lady drivers will be run next Saturday night at 8 p.m. as previously scheduled. The overloaded racing program will feature the super late models in a 50 lapper on the fast high-banked half-mile of pavement.

A 30-lap feature for the thunder cars along with a 15-lap race for the street stocks are also scheduled. The four-cylinder cars will go for 15 laps, with the roadrunners battling it out in a 10-lapper.

Drivers' wives, girlfriends, mothers and grandmothers will be seen in action at the wheel of full-fledged race cars in the powder puff derby.

A maximum of 100 cars will be allowed to take the green flag in the monthly 100-lap Enduro for full-size street cars. Fifty laps will be run counterclockwise. Then, without stopping, the field will turn around and run the last 50 laps in clockwise fashion. No yellow (caution) flags are used for that crowd-pleasing event.

David Rogers of Orlando, the winningest stock car driver in the country last year, with an incredible 34 wins in 41 starts, will be among the favorites to win the 50-lapper, along with division's point chase leader Lee Faulk. ALL PRO National Championship Circuit's top Rookie of the Year contender Bill Bigley Jr. of Naples, Roger Boone of Miami, Joe Middleton, Greg Froemming, Bill Posey and many more.

In thunder car action, veteran Harry Braze of Winter Springs, who destroyed his race car in a violent crash two weeks ago, has bought another car and will be up to protect his lead in the season-long point chase. Braze, who has been racing for 30 years, mostly in the New England area, wants to win another track championship before hanging up his helmet for good.

Among the other potential winners are New Smyrna's own Jerry "Red Eye" Fitch, "Pistol Pete" Starr of Rockledge, Cocoa's Doug Latham, John Cochran of Oak Hill and Osteen's Bill Kinley.

Talented young local pilot Jerry Symons leads the four-cylinder point chase, with Don Smith of Cocoa sitting on top of the street stock standings.

Big Mike Kuback of Longwood, who last year, took the roadrunner Rookie of the Year honors along with the overall high point championship, is on his way to repeat, although only 20 points separate him and gutsy young pilot A.J. Rinehart of Holly Hill.

With the points season ending on the last Saturday of October, the point chase is winding down. The next few weeks should bring red-hot action in all divisions, as the track championship for all five classes will be up for grabs.

King Rallies To Capture Rail Classic

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — To win the $200,000 LPGA Rail Charity Classic for the second year in a row, Betsy King needed a birdie on the fourth hole of a playoff against co-leaders Alice Ritzman and Cathy Kratzert.

King tied the tournament record Monday with a final round of 63 to tie Ritzman and Kratzert for the lead before going on to win the playoff.

King, the tour's third leading money winner in 1986, added the $30,000 winner's check to her season total, giving her $258,897 this year.

On the final hole, King hit a booming drive down the center of the fairway and reached the par-5 13th with an iron to set up a two-putt birdie. Kratzert and Ritzman each came up short of the green, left their chip shots eight and 12 feet short of the hole, respectively, and missed their birdie putts.

 Intentions this summer by opening campaign accounts at city hall for accepting campaign contributions.

The candidates, now lining up to qualify, are each serving as their own secretary and treasurer for the campaign accounts, Tamm said.

The District Three and Four commission elections will be held on Dec. 2, with voting conducted from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. District Three polling will be at the Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints, 2315 Park Ave. District Four residents will cast their ballots at Sanford Fire Station #2, 3770 Orlando Drive.

Run-offs, if necessary, will be held Dec. 18, Tamm said. Run-offs are held if one candidate fails to get more than 50 percent of the vote.

Sanford commissioners are elected to four-year terms and are paid $4,800 annually.

city Finance Director Barry Weeks at Monday's commission meeting to approve transfer of $36,000 from an amount originally set aside in the 1985-86 year budget for interest on a loan for street improvements. The improvements have not been contracted for. The new fiscal year will begin Oct. 1.

The base bid by the contractor for the police building project was $732,997.

The building contractor is a defendant, along with city officials, in a suit brought by David Gunter Sr. and a group of other Longwood residents seeking a temporary injunction to halt construction of the building. Gunter is demanding a judgment for damages against the defendants in "a sum exceeding $5,000 plus costs and attorneys' fees."

The suit claims the commission voted to build a police station and proceeded contrary to the city charter and state laws to borrow funds and build the building on property which it could only be used for park purposes as expressed in a deed from the Episcopal Diocese, which dedicated the property to the city in 1938.

"I'm sure he is concerned," Waller said, "and it is expensive for them to hire an attorney to represent them." The city is represented by full-time staff attorney Ann E. Colby.

At an August 14 emergency hearing requested by Gunter and the group's attorney, Gary E. Massey, Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi told the parties not enough time had been given to prepare cases and he would either dismiss the case for lack of standing or set a date for a hearing on the temporary injunction request.

Mrs. Colby said the briefs were filed with the judge two weeks ago, but she has heard nothing on the judge's decision.

The Gunter suit also charges the city officials with using public funds on property which ultimately benefits a private religious organization and violating separation of church and state, because the property will "ultimately or has reverted to the trustees of the diocese."

The property, which was known as Peppermint Park, adjoins Christ Episcopal Church and is between Church Avenue and Jessup Avenue. Both the city and the church have obtained independent appraisals on the property.

Mrs. Colby is negotiating with the Central Florida Diocese's attorney to clear up the question of title.

She said that the state's 30-year statute of limitations applies to the reverter clause in the 1938 deed, but favors a settlement as less expensive than going to court.

She said today that negotiations with the church are proceeding very well and she expects to clear up whatever land interest the church has within a few weeks and reach a settlement.

Waller said he expects the whole matter to be resolved successfully. "I'm an optimist," he added.

Sum Bank has approved a $3 million loan to finance construction of a $2.5 million sewage treatment plant on Grant Street in Skylark subdivision and up to $500,000 for paying off existing indebtedness to Freedom Savings and Loan.

IN BRIEF

Atlantic Disturbance Still Below Tropical Storm Strength

MIAMI (UPI) — A tropical depression moved toward the Leeward Islands in the Atlantic Ocean today but forecasters said its prospects of developing into the season's fourth tropical storm seemed to be diminishing.

The depression, its top winds estimated at 35 mph, was centered about 850 miles east of the Leeward Islands and more than 2,000 miles southeast of Miami. The storm was moving northwest about 15 mph and should be close enough late today to be checked by a weather reconnaissance plane.

"I have low confidence in the future motion of the system," said Hal Garrish, a forecaster at the National Hurricane Center in Miami. "I think it'll persist along this course for the next 24 hours, but after that it's anybody's guess."

If the depression's sustained winds reach 39 mph, it will be classified a tropical storm and named Danielle.

Dancer Suffering A Conflict Of Conscience Between Job, Faith

DEAR ABBY: I am writing because I need some advice about my present employment in relation to how I feel about myself spiritually.

You see, I am a topless dancer and I also consider myself to be a good Christian. I don't want to change my job because I am a single parent and make a very good living for myself and my family. Also, I love to dance. This job allows me to spend time with my children, take classes at the university, and live a respectable lifestyle. I will eventually get my degree and pursue a career.

I believe in God, and live a clean and virtuous life. I go straight home after work at the club and do not accept invitations from customers. Abby, do you think a person can dance topless and believe in God?

CONCERNED AND PRAYING

DEAR CONCERNED: Obviously, a person can dance topless and believe in God, because you do.

DEAR ABBY: A reader signed, "My Mother's Daughter," wrote to say that her mother had asked to witness the birth of her grandchild. Her daughter wanted her there, but the husband objected. He felt that the birth of a child should be a private moment between husband and wife, and he didn't want to share it with anyone. They agreed to abide by your decision, and you voted in favor of allowing the mother to be present.

Sorry, but I must disagree with you. I think the husband's wishes should take priority over the wishes of his mother-in-law.

There seems to be a trend toward inviting children, taking pictures and creating a social scene in the delivery room, which I find appalling.

HELEN IN OMAHA

DEAR HELEN: I expected some flak on my answer, and I got it. I heard everything from "You must be crazy" to "If the woman's mother wants to witness the birth of a baby, she can rent a VCR and a tape and see the whole thing in living color. She can also rent a tape of a 'conception' if she's interested."

My mail has been running 2-to-1 against my answer, but let's be fair and give both sides an airing:

DEAR ABBY: I am a retired midwife and, therefore, have shared in the joy of many a birth. Because the births I helped with were mostly home births, the couples were able to choose whomever they wanted to share in the experience.

I would tell the husband that because the wife was physically the one who was having the baby, I thought that she should have the final say about who should be present, as the more secure and relaxed she was, the easier the labor would be.

Over and over again I saw that the more loving support a woman had in labor, the more beneficial it was for her in every way.

My own mother was unconscious and alone when all her children were born, so attending the birth of my son, and holding him when he was just minutes old gave her something special indeed. As for me, having her there gave me strength and courage. I am glad my husband had no objections to having my mother hold my other hand and share with him the miracle of seeing a new life come into the world.

Sanford Artist To Exhibit Nostalgic Pastels Of Past

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford artist Betty Reagan is scheduled to exhibit 20 of her pastel paintings showing old Daytona Beach, Ormond Beach and Ponce Inlet from Sept. 8 through Oct. 4, at the G. Sander Fine Arts Gallery, 310 Seabreeze Blvd. in Daytona Beach.

Mrs. Reagan had a similar month-long show at that same gallery last year and is the only one of 12 artists featured there in 1985 to be invited back for a showing of her work this year, she said.

The works featured, Mrs. Reagan said, were especially produced for this show and show only Volusia County scenes, inspired by old photographs. The photos used are from the collection of Daytona Beach Councilman Dan Burgman.

Among her other works to be showcased are two paintings showing the first two Daytona Beach race cars in runs on Ormond Beach. There is also an Ormond Beach Hotel porch scene showing lady guests riding on the hotel porch in "Afro-mobles," wicker wheelchair type machines that were pushed by black men, Mrs. Reagan said.

That painting may be controversial, she said, but shows a part of history of the area.

History is also reflected in scenes of the lighthouse at Ponce Inlet, and a store scene showing a boy on a bicycle in the store with shoppers and salesmen.

Mrs. Reagan's paintings, which offer a nostalgic look at early 20th Century Florida, will be for sale at the show.

She was born in Oviedo and later moved to Sanford where she and her husband Don Reagan have made their home.

Mrs. Reagan studied art at Seminole Community College. She is a member of the Florida Pastel Society and has received top prizes in juried shows.

The gallery hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. For more information on the show call 904-255-7060.

Joanne Larson, owner/operator of JKL Enterprises, Inc., has computer printing supplies and accessories.

JKL Enterprises Celebrates 9th Birthday In New Location

On Sept. 1, 1986, JKL Enterprises of Sanford, Inc., began its ninth year as our local resident distributor of computer printing supplies and accessories.

Over the past eight years, JKL Enterprises expanded its line of data processing labels and accessories to include just about every form of printable goods needed by the computer user. Emphasis is on the wide variety of computer papers, forms, cards, envelopes and labels. Ribbons, floppy diskettes, disc storage containers, data binders, programming aids and bond copy paper in all sizes and colors are also offered.

Servicing customers from the northern border of Florida down through just north of Miami and from the East to the West Coasts, Joanne Larson, owner/operator of JKL, finds herself being in the enviable position of being talked about from one county's customers to the next, thanks to the vast network of computer club members.

Many new callers start out phone orders with "So and so told me to call JKL when I needed computer supplies, so here I am."

Grateful for the word of mouth referrals, JKL moved to downtown Sanford July 1 to facilitate the numerous customers traveling from Volusia County to Orange County via Highway 17-92. JKL is right on their way to or from destinations and easy stopoffs are made to pick up their supplies for the day or week.

A phone call in advance ensures that orders are ready and waiting when they get there. Deliveries are promptly made, of course, if requested.

One of the more popular "newer" items in computer papers is color-coordinated continuous paper with matching mailing labels. The 9 1/2 x 11 forms are available in pink, blue, yellow and green as are the 3 1/2 x 15/16 size labels. Just added to the line are vivid red and green papers in 24 lb. weight, for more personal Christmas letter mailings as a substitute for standard printed cards used by businesses each year.

Since the July 1 move to 210-B South French Ave (17-92), customers coming in to pick up orders are pleasantly surprised to find the variety of supplies available to them in smaller packaging as well as the standard carton sizes. Many businesses preferred smaller quantities of printer items, but were reluctant to request that "boxes be broken" for them, thus they ended up buying enough supplies to last an entire year. They can now get as much or as little as they require without paying excessive prices for them.

JKL Enterprises has always offered personal service, prompt delivery, top quality and very competitive prices and now adds a convenient location and more variety.

"Browser" are welcome and complete information is gladly furnished if you call (305) 323-4416 Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., or Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Brazil Optimistic On Debt Accord

By Geri Smith
BRASILIA, Brazil (UPI) — Central Bank President Fernaldo Bracher said he is confident 95 percent of Brazil's 750 creditors will sign a $31 billion debt rescheduling agreement by the Sept. 5 deadline despite reluctance on the part of some important banks.

He also said Brazil, which negotiated the agreement without an International Monetary Fund program, has no intention of accepting IMF guidance on the next round of multyear refinancing agreements set to begin before year-end. In an interview with United Press International, Bracher said he was confident banks that have refused to sign the accord so far will decide to go along with a plan that will compensate them for losses suffered last year when three Brazilian banks failed.

Bracher said the failure last year of three Brazilian banks — Comind, Auxiliar and Malsonnave — produced losses of about $400 million for foreign lenders, many of whom have insisted on full compensation even though the loans, known as Resolution 63 loans, were not government-guaranteed.

Waiting Game Develops In Deere Dispute

MOLINE, Ill. (UPI) — Deere & Co. and the United Auto Workers enter the second week of their contract impasse locked in a waiting game while the already struggling cities affected by the shutdown worriedly watch the days pass.

"We have enough problems within all the cities the way it is and a long strike would amplify those problems," said East Moline Mayor Dennis Jacobs, whose city is home to two idle Deere plants that employ nearly 4,000 workers.

The union fired the first volley Aug. 22 when it ordered 4,300 workers at Deere plants in Milan, Ill., and at Dubuque and Waterloo, Iowa, to set up picket lines in a selective strike after a three-year contract deadline passed without a new settlement.

The giant farm-implement manufacturer said it viewed a strike against one plant as a strike against all and told about 7,700 UAW employees at other plants in Iowa and Illinois not to report to work.

Since then, Deere officials quietly have been waging a public relations campaign to win support for their side in the contract dispute while union workers have made preparations to wait out the dispute.

The Ins And Outs Of Medical Records

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — Twenty years ago I got in a tussle with the county medical society over "ownership" of my medical records. My old doctor retired and turned over his practice — and my records — to a physician with whom I did not feel secure. He refused to send my records to the doctor I selected, although he did offer to let me transcribe them.

The medical society likened my records to a "professional tool ... in much the same respect as the stethoscope" and said it was not incumbent on a doctor to transfer the files. A column of yours said that, nowadays, this was not normal practice and was unethical. So what has changed doctors' minds in 20 years?

DEAR READER — To my knowledge, doctors haven't changed their minds. We always have believed that it is unethical to refuse transfer of medical records to another doctor.

Many doctors prefer not to send original records, however, because of a legal consideration: If brought to court in a malpractice action, the doctor would need the records as evidence to defend himself. As a result, doctors usually will send copies of their records. This is entirely appropriate and provides all the information that a new doctor would require.

I think it's important to remember the distinction between "records" and "information." The actual records are the doctor's property; they constitute proof of diagnosis and treatment. However, the information contained in the records should be promptly available to the patient's physician of choice. I'm sorry if I confused you when I referred to "records" in a previous column; I meant either the original or its facsimile.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My 4-year-old has a habit of twirling the hair on the top of his head with his thumb and forefinger. The problem is that the hair in that area has become loose and falls out. We keep him in creweats now, but the minute the hair gets long enough, he starts all over again. His pediatrician says he'll outgrow the habit. Is this a common habit in children? How can we handle it?

DEAR READER — Hair twirling is usually a sign of anxiety. Repeated manipulation of the hair can cause thinning and breakage. Once the behavior is stopped, the hair returns to its normal condition. Although your son probably will outgrow the habit — as his pediatrician predicts — you might want to address the possible causes of tension and stress that could be contributing to the problem.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio, 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

When you are trying to make three no-trump and the opening lead removes your lone stopper in the opponent's suit, it's easy to become a little panicky. With only seven top tricks, declarer did not know whether to go after diamonds or clubs. He decided first to try cajoling an unsuspecting West into covering an honor. So he won the ace of hearts and quickly placed the 10 of diamonds on the table, watching for a reaction from West. When West followed low without any noticeable increase in pulse rate, declarer won the ace of diamonds and switched to the club suit. He cashed the king and played a second club to the jack. West won the queen (did you notice it was doubleton?)

and the defenders quickly took four heart tricks to set the contract.

If declarer avoids panic, he will see that instead of guessing which finesse to take, he should first try to drop the club queen. Should that fail, he can then fall back on the diamond finesse. So he wins the heart ace, plays the ace of clubs from his hand (just in case East has the singleton queen), then plays the king of clubs and is rewarded when the queen drops.

Lesson: When there are two possible finesses to make your contract, consider whether you should first try to drop one of the missing honors. Combining two chances is always better than just tossing a coin.
