Economic Forecast For The Rest Of 1981: Sluggish

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Inflation will run lower than expected, but unemployment will rise alightly and economic growth, if any, will be sluggish for the rest of 1981, the administration reported today in its midyear forecast.

The Office of Management and Budget report said consumer prices are expected to average 9.9 percent higher during 1981 than last year. In March, the administration projected an 11.1 percent rise.

The administration said declines in inflation rates for fuel and oil contributed to the lower-than-expected rate of increase. However, the report highlighted two effects of its antiinflation policies that will be less welcome to Americans

"Little or no real output growth is expected during the remainder of the year," the report said. The administration expects unemployment to average 7.5 percent this year, rising as high as 7.7 percent in the final quarter. Unemployment recently stood at 7.3 percent.

-Interest rates are running higher than it projected in March, the administration noted. Interest on three-month Treasury bills is expected to average 13.6 percent for the year, compared with 11.5 percent last year. However, the report noted these rates recently have dropped from their peaks, and it anticipated further declines in the second half of this year.

The report showed that higher than expected interest rates are hurting the government's pocketbook, just as they affect people who buy cars or houses or take out business loans. The higher interest rates result from the Federal Reserve's efforts to tighten the money supply to combat inflation, and from continued strong demand for business and other loans.

As a result of higher interest payments by the government, the administration's estimate of federal spending during fiscal year 1981, which ends Oct. 1, has increased by $6.1 billion, and its fiscal 1982 estimate has risen $9.6 billion.

The higher government interest payments include interest on the national debt, guaranteed student loans, housing programs and ald to savings and loan associations.

The administration now estimates it will spend $661.2 billion this fiscal year, compared with its earlier estimate of $655.2 billion. It expects to spend $704.8 billion in fiscal 1982, compared with its earlier estimate of $693.3 billion.

But the government is in luck in one respect. While interest rates have pushed up its costs, changes and delays in President Reagan's tax cut bill pending in Congress have resulted in higher revenue estimates for this year, since most tax cuts would not begin until Oct. 1, the start of the next fiscal year. Originally, Reagan asked for personal income tax cuts to start

That means, the administration said, that its March estimate of the fiscal 1981 budget deficit has changed hardly at all, increasing from $54.9 billion estimated in March to a new estimate of $55.6 billion.

The administration's estimate of its fiscal 1982 deficit has declined from the original projection of $45 billion to the current forecast of $42.5 billion

Sign Law Studied

The proposed ordinance amending Longwood's sign regulations was tabled and the moratorium on issuing sign permits was extended when Longwood City Commissioners discovered problems with the ordinance.

Final vote on the ordinance was tabled for two weeks and a work session was set for 2:30 p.m., July 22, to "work out the bugs" after several sign company representatives and local business owners protested some of the new regulations at a public hearing.

An emergency sign moratorium ordinance replacing the one which ran out Tuesday was passed on first reading. The moratorium applies to the issuance of all sign permits with the exception of signs for businesses opening for the first time in the city.

The proposed amendment most protested was the one concerning temporary portable signs. Instead of permitting temporary signs for "not more than 90 calendar days in and 90 calendar days out" the new regulation would call for "not more than 30 calendar days in and 60 days out." Minimum distance between temporary signs would be 200 feet from other temporary signs located on the same side of the street.

Sheriff's Budget Is Reviewed

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

A standing room only audience of about 150 persons Jammed the Seminole County Commission meeting room at the courthouse in Sanford Tuesday night to support Sherilf John Polk's $6.25 million budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct.

The requested budget is $1,158,805 more than the current year's $5.09 million

County Commissioners delayed action on the request, after a three-hour public hearing, until July 28. The decision will be made before the Aug. 1 deadline, set by law, to give Polk an opportunity to appeal to Gev. Bob Graham and the cabinet if the commissioners deny his requests and if he chooses to take that

Few persons in the packed meeting room opposed the sheriff's request for 12 additional road deputies, a deputy for crime prevention, 5 communications officers and 5 clerk typists in addition to 14 new corrections officers, a cook, and a booking officer for the county jail. John Keltz of the Palm Springs Homeowners Association suggested that the $2.80 cost for three meals per prisoner daily is not sufficient and that supervision of prisoner recreation is

Jim Stelling, president of the Seminole County Young Republicans, said while he was not opposing the sheriff, he wanted Seminole County to follow the national trend of reducing or holding the line on taxes. And Al Getz of the Seminole County League of Civic Associations opposed any form of tax increase.

A letter was read into the record from J.T. Turnipseed of Sanford asking the commissioners, "bureaucrata" in the courthouse and Polk to use their ingenuity to provide law enforcement and other services without an increase in Steven Harriett, assistant to the Sanford city manager, while supporting the Polk budget, said the city believes a municipal service taxing unit (MSTU) should be established to fund the salaries of the requested 12 new road deputies. The MSTU Harriett envisions would be created in the unincorporated areas of the county, and property owners in those areas would be especially taxed for the additional service. Harriett insisted the cities of the county would receive no benefit from the additional deputies because city residents already have city police departments for law enforcement and police protection.

Brenda Donnan, Altamonte Springa finance director, reading from a prepared statement, echoed Harriett's remarks, adding that taxing the cities for the additional deputies would be tantamount to double taxation.

Polk responded that the courts have ruled there is no double taxation in sheriff's departments. But, he added, 90 percent of the calls to his department for which deputies are dispatched come from the unincorporated areas.

"The only area in the budget which the cities could even consider as double taxation is for the uniformed patrol," ul creating an Matti, Polk said he really didn't care how the commissioners raised the money to grant his department the funding it needs to provide adequate law enforcement.

Sanford's Hot. So Are Others

According to the National Weather Service, Sanford residents should expect daily temperature highs through the weekend ranging between 95 and 99 degrees.

Although Tuesday's high of 98 degrees was not a record for July 14, it still came relatively close to the recorded high of 101 set July 15, between 1931 and 1952, according to the weather service.

Orlando's high of 98 for Tuesday tied the record for that date with July 14, 1961. Daytona Beach's high of 99 yesterday is a record.

In addition to temperatures in the high 90s through the weekend, the weather service said Seminole County residents can also expect scattered showers in the afternoon and evening hours through the weekend. Complete weather details, page 2A

A Tuesday afternoon fire which did an estimated $100,000 damage to a Fern Park apartment complex was started by a six-year-old boy playing with matches in bed.

According to a Seminole County sheriff's report, the blaze started about 1 p.m. in the ground-floor unit at the Tiffany Square complex at 200 Fern Park Blvd, and quickly spread to the unit above. An additional four apartments sustained smoke and water damage.

Five units from the county fire department responded to the blaze. About 20 firefighters battled the flames for more than two hours before bringing the fire under control. A few fireman suffered from heat exhaustion, but no serious injuries were reported.

Fire investigator Ray Pippin said the blaze was accidentally started by Ms. Wilson's son Donald who was playing with matches in bed. Donald and his 10-year-old brother John were home alone at the time of the fire, Pippin said. The boys'

Free But Fair Trade

The Reagan administration, like each of its predecessors since the 1930s, is officially committed to the principles of free international trade. In theory, this compels the administration to forego such trade barriers as import quotas and excessive tariffs that would shield U.S. industries' from foreign competition.

In fact, however, the Reagan administration is proving no less vulnerable than its predecessors to the domestic political pressures that develop whenever a U.S. industry sees its market share shrink due to tough competition from abroad.

Thus, for example, Mr. Reagan's free traders managed to overlook their principles long enough to bully Japan into adopting "voluntary" quotas that reduced the flow of imported Japanese automobiles by 140,000 vehicles per year.

That may temporarily save a few thousand jobs in the hard-pressed U.S. auto industry. But it also means higher prices for consumers and less pressure on Detroit to control labor costs, boost productivity, and design more of the kinds of cars that Americans want and need.

The administration is also signalling its willingness to aid the steel and textile industries, two additional victims of aggressive foreign competition.

In the case of steel, the Commerce Department is pledging to enforce strictly the so-called trigger price mechanism, a formula for curbing imports whenever foreign producers are suspected of selling steel in the United States at prices below the costs of actual production.

That sounds fair enough, except that the formula is tailor-made for abuse by those who might be tempted to use it as a club against legitimate foreign competition.

Meanwhile, the White House seems prepared to live up to a Reagan campaign promise of last year by strengthening" the multi-fiber agreement, which fixes textile import quotas for 50 countries. The agreement, currently up for renegotiation, is a pet lobbying target of the U.S. textile industry. Evidently, the administration hasn't forgotten that most of the industry's 2.3 million workers are concentrated in southern states that were strong for Mr. Reagan last November.

As against these setbacks and potential setbacks for free trade, the Commerce Department recently permitted a 1977 quota for imported shoes to expire. But the political consequences of doing so were minimal. The domestic shoe industry, long since reduced to a shadow of its former self, now concentrates on mid-priced shoes while most imports fit into the bottom or top-priced categories.

Recently, the Reagan administration released its long-awaited "white paper" on trade policy and dispatched U.S. Trade Representative Bill Brock to explain it on Capitol Hill.

Mr. Brock's testimony, and the white paper, included lots of rhetorical homage to free trade, but also some very broad hints that the administration won't turn a completely deaf ear to beleaguered industries pleading for help against foreign competitions.

The new policy, which Mr. Brock characterized as free but fair trade," features some long-overdue steps to promote U.S. exports, which are already increasing at a robust rate.

The catch, of course, is that erecting import barriers at home inevitably triggers the kind of retaliation abroad that sabotages a healthy export trade.

Unless the Reagan administration stiffens its resistance to the siren call of protectionism, it risks learning the import-export lesson in as hard a way as preceding administrations.

A retirement dinner in honor of Casselberry Police Chief George Karcher is scheduled to be held at Lord Chumley's Restaurant (State Road 436, Altamonte Springs) on July 30 at 8 p.m.

According to Mrs. Owen Sheppard, wife of the Casselberry Mayor and organizer for this event. an informal reception will precede the dinner.

Those desiring to attend are invited to write a note to Chief Karcher, in care of Committee, Casselberry City Hall, Casselberry. A bound volume of these letters and well-wishes will be presented to Chief Karcher at the dinner.

A limited number of tickets are available by contacting Terry Duffy at 834-9700.

Friends of Casselberry Elementary School Principal Christy Harp will be glad to hear his condition is good as he recuperates at Florida Hospital Altamonte from a recent heart attack. To make sure he gets the proper rest, he is not yet allowed visitors and phone calls except from family members, however.

The organization is spearheading a drive to give Florida citizens a chance to vote on an amendment on the November 1982 ballot that would prohibit the construction of radioactive waste storage or facilities and regulate expansion of existing facilities. The amendment would not apply to disposal of radioactive pharmaceuticals or hospital waste.

The meeting is open to the public.

Would you believe there is a parking problem in "downtown" Longwood? And what are the city officials doing about it? Why, they passed a resolution restricting parking on County Road 427 within the city limits and asking the county to erect "No Parking" signs and restricting parking in the municipal parking lot, of course. But now the question is, where are these displaced persons supposed to park? The commissioners are already concerned about folks parking on some side streets and are considering banning parking there as well.

The Iranian mullahs seem determined to prove all of the most lethal truisms about revolutions

Theirs now would appear to be well into the stage of devouring its own children.

Ousted President Bani-Sadr is in hiding for his life. All those associated with him are in danger of losing theirs-and many have.

Meanwhile, the mullahs themselves also have their heads figuratively on the block. Several dozen of them perished in the bornbing of their political headquarters that predictably was blamed on foreign agents-American, naturally-but which reason suggests was more likely the work of holy men's internal enemies. Of which they have many, and are making more.

Meanwhile, the executions go on-by now of just about anyone rash enough to look crosseyed at a multah

There are revolutions and revolutions. There are certain common denominators to the momentous ones, notably a spontaneous popular explosion against a corrupt despotism, a period of indiscriminate killing that may or may not be under the control the revolutionary leadership and, at least initially, the ideal of building a new and just society on the ruins of the discredited past.

The Iranian situation shares only the first two with the French, Russian and Mexican social upheavals, those that come most immediately to mind. The mullahs are not interested in the future as an opportunity of building something new, but as a return to a past they prefer.

They have no hesitation in invoking revolutionary precedents to justify efforts to achieve their reactionary goal. Shortly after the fall of the shah, one lower-echelon revolutionary in Tehran's foreign ministry made the historical point in complaining somewhat peeviably of foreign attention to the lethal turn tranian justice was taking.

"More that 100,000 people were executed during the French Revolution without any trial," he noted, "while those executed in the course of the Iranian revolution total fewer than 100 persons.

The way things have been going, he may well long since have met his own firing squad. And if not, he may be regretting having spoken so soon.

To be sure, even though the executioners' tool has multiplied many times since then the Iranian revolution is still far from catching up with the French in lives claimed.

But you can't say the Iranians aren't working on it.

Focus On Social Issues

The Reagan economic package is barreling through Congress like the red-ball express, leaving in its wake the flattened figure of Tip O'Neill, but there are other very different matters coming up on the agenda.

The coalition of voters that elected Reagan had two large components.

One looked to Reagan to clean up the economic mess we inherited from the Great Society. This part of the coalition was traditionally Republican in its economic focus, even though it would accept a repackaging of the old economic themes in the form of the Kemp-Roth tax cuts. It wanted large cuts in the federal budget, tax cuts that would stimulate the economy, and the dismantling of many Great Society federal

By itself, the economic component of the Reagan bloc would not have been large enough to win the election, let alone overturn Democratic control of Congress.

The other part of the Reagan coalition responded passionately to the so-called Social Again, the issues here go back to the 1960s, and the social issues-people look to Reagan to address the mess we have inherited in this area from the paking days of the Great

The social-issue senators and representatives have been patient, allowing Reagan to focus, as he asked, on the economy first of all.

But as the economic measures pass into law, attention will necessarily shift to the social agenda. Politically, the administration would be wise to pay sympathetic attention though not uncritical attention - to the demands of the social issue - people. Man does not live by bread alone, and Republicanism will not flourish on the economic issues alone.

Herewith some program notes on the fortheoming social agenda.

Racial busing of school children is on the way out, one way or another, most likely through Senator Jesse Helms' bill which would remove the Justice Department from school-busing suits.

Busing is widely regarded as an outrage by both blacks and whites, and it is time for it to

The Supreme Court may have created unnecessary trouble by allowing suits over equal pay for "comparable" work, since the meaning of "comparable" remains hazy.

On the whole spectrum of sexual and sexrelated issues flowing out of the 1960s, I foresee a good deal of political difficulty but also some exciting debate.

I think a consensus has emerged that something has to be done about abortion-ondemand, that the situation is out of control. But I don't find any consensus on just what ought to be done. The whole abortion issue is tied up with the increase in teenaged sex. about which little seems feasible from a legislative standpoint.

some roll-back in the permissiveness that grew out of the 1980s. Tuition tax credits, as pushed by Senator Moynihan, will be another hot social issue. The idea has great middle-class appeal in an ers of rapidly rising college and private school tuitions. Again, we will hear from the

from the powerful public schools lobby. The whole social issues area will be a tricky one for the political navigators in the Reagan administration, much trickier than the current economic reform. I can condone eager beavers taking work home with them occasionally. But when they start bringing it into taverna, cocktail lounges or whatever, they are going too far.

To my knowledge, no magazine has addressed this problem directly. But Working Woman at least approaches it obliquely. In its July issue, along with the article on "Alcoholism in the Workplace," there is a thoughtful treatise on "Worksholics at Play."

Perhaps without meaning to, the latter dissertation provides what may be rare insights into why so many workers insist on talking shop during the "happy hour."

"Most worksholics are unable, not just unwilling, to get away from it all," the magazine says. "Any thought of rest or relaxation frightens worksholics."

This may explain much of the shop talk you hear in drinking places. But it is errant terminulogy.

The people described by the magazine are not "worksholics" in the classic meaning of the word. They are leisurephobes.

I'm not saying worksholics don't exist, I'm not implying they don't need psychiatric help. I'm just pointing out that "worksholic" probably is the most over-worked word to enter the language since "hippie."

Iran Today: Violent, Chaotic, Corrupt

WASHINGTON - Iran is in turmoil, and the world's greatest oil treasure is in jeopardy. If a pro-Soviet government should rise out of the ashes of Iran, the Kremlin could wind up controlling the Persian Gulf, which is the fountainhead of most of the Western World's oil.

The events inside Iran are so murky that our intelligence services unfortunately aren't sure which reports are reliable, which are wishful thinking and which are simply

I have always had my own direct sources of information on Iran. They are moderates and intellectuals who hope that some day Iran will become a stable democracy.

They correctly predicted that the shah would be overthrown by a violently anti-American government. They gave me enough backup evidence that I published this warning a full year before the Central Intelligence Agency realized that the shah was in trouble. Now these same sources have furnished me with the latest information on Ayatoliah Ruhollah Khomeini and his fascist clerics. One source, who was fiercely and actively opposed to the shah, told my associate Joseph Spear that Khomeini is infinitely worse. "A government that is 1 percent democracy is better than a government which has no democracy at all," he explained.

Here are the latest bits of information, some of it conflicting, that our sources have obtained by clandestine telephone messages direct from Iran

- Iran is in utter chaos. The economy is shattered. Prices are souring, and there are long lines waiting to buy the necessities of life. About 70 percent of Iran's industries are shut down.

- Some experts suspect the Russians are trying to "destabilize" the Khomeial government, hoping that a successor regime would be pro-Soviet. Other sources dispula this, insisting the Soviets have been fairly quiet, preoccupied with Poland and

- Top-level U.S. officials are wondering if the Iranian army isn't the last best hope of overthrowing Khomeini and setting up a stable, less anti-American government. Iranian sources say this is a vain hope, because the military is almost totally disorganized after repeated purges of its top leadership by Khomeini. When the ayatollah fired ex-President Abolhansan Bani-Sadr as commander-in-chief, for instance, he had to call each military post, one by one, to notify the local commanders, because there was no central military authority and no chain of command to pass the word.

- Khomeini is a criminal. Justice would be served if he were put on trial. His indictment would include suppression of human rights, torture and summary execution of thouse of political opponents, persecution of Jews and other religious minorities, instigntion of the illegal setsure and detention of the American hostages, and incitement of the anti-American rioting in neighboring Pakistan. A secret list reportedly exists of between 6,000 and 8,000 Iranians who have been executed by Khomeini's revolutionary on the run. Here's a rundown on some of the more promonent moderate leaders: ex-President Bani-Sadr is in hiding, probably in the Kurdish region of western Iran; ex-Fureign Minister Sedegh Ghotzadeh has been jailed twice in the past six months for statements that "agitated" the situation; Ibrahim Yasti, another ex-foreign minister and a newspaper publisher, was attacked by fundamentalist ruffless and wound up in the hospital; ex-Premier Mehdi Bazargan is in hiding, as is his first foreign minister, Karim Sanjahi; Ali Agah, last charge d'affaires in Washington, is in juil, charged with corruption - specifically, seiling some of the embososy's rugs and pocketing the money.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) - "If I had a million dollars, I'd be glad to pay every penny of it for the (survival) training I received from the Navy," said Lt. Cmdr. V. Allen Spicer, who told how he survived nearly 21/2 days on the ocean after his rented plane crashed in the Atlantic last week.

Spicer, who ditched his single-engine Piper Arrow about a mile off the coast just north of St. Augustine at 12:06 a.m. last Wednesday, was found alive on a deserted stretch of South Ponte Vedra Beach at 10:15 a.m. Friday.

Spicer, 36, a 12-year Navy veteran, told a Monday news conference at the Jacksonville Naval Air Station, where he is stationed, that he survived thanks to "the grace of God, my will to live, the professional training I received from the U.S.

Referring to the "drownproofing" technique, which allows the pilot of a downed aircraft to conserve energy in a sort of dead man's float until help arrives, Spicer said, "It was super how it all came back to me."

Spicer, looking fit albeit a little weak, said he had taken the plane up alone, after dropping an instructor at Jacksonville's Craig Field, to gain a little more confidence in it. He has 3,500 hours flight time in military aircraft and regularly flies P-3 Orion, longrange, patrol planes.

"When I got to the St. Augustine area, I heard a knocking noise in the aircraft ... and the fuel gauge started fluctuating," he said. "Then, I saw a flash of fire from the corner of my Spicer, who was flying at about 1,500 feet altitude at the time, notified air traffic controllers in Jacksonville that he was going to ditch the plane in the ocean. He was flying north along the

The landing on the surface of the water - he estimates it was about a mile off the coast - was soft, but the plane began sinking quickly. One of the latches jammed and he couldn't get the cockpit door to open. But he found an air pocket in the plane and finally pushed the door open.

He pushed a briefcase out to see if it would float. Since the plane carried no flotation devices, he planned to use the briefcase as such. But he lost it in the darkness.

"At that point, I decided to conserve my energy," he said. Spicer removed his shoes in the water and then "something hit me with tremendous force - the first thing I thought of was a shark. Believe me, I was terrifled."

He took off his clothes, he said, to make his body more bouyant. Sometime after that he heard and later saw a helicopter. But it was too far away and the pilot didn't see him. Spicer said he lost all track of time.

On Wednesday night, it rained and Spicer said he cupped his hands and drank fresh water for the first and last time during the ordeal.

"It was very awesome and very quiet out there," he said. "I was very tired, but I never gave up the will to live."

DOT Supervisors Discriminatory, Say Employees

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) - Women and blacks working for the Department of Transportation believe their supervisors discriminate against them, a Tallahassee consultant says.

The department will never meet its affirmative action goals until its supervisors learn to deal with minority employees better and improve their communications with all employees, MGT of America, a Tallahassee firm, reported Monday.

The consultant also said the giant roads department must do a better job of recruiting women and minorities.

"I accept the consultant's statement...and rely on the department's managers to act appropriately on those findings," said DOT Secretary Jake Varn.

"The issues dealt with in this study are important and serious. I particularly hope it will be helpful in improving our already aggressive program for employing females and members of minority groups," Varn said.

Seventy-one percent of DOT's employees are white men, with 29 percent either women or minorities. Thirteen percent of the total work force are minorities and 19 percent are women.

The consultant was hired by Varn's predecessor, Bill Rose, in 1960 after DOT was cited by the Federal Highway Administration for not meeting affirmative action employment goals. The agency has since complied with the highway administration standards, but it is having trouble meeting the higher minority employment goals it established for itself. DOT has 8,277 employees, including 213 black women, 2.6 percent; 664 black men, 8 percent; 41 other minority females, .5 percent; 193 other minority males, 2.3 percent; 1,288 white

Why is FPL's fuel adjustment so high?

Michael C. Cook, Vice President, Fuel Resources and Corporate Development at Port Everglades Oil Storage Facilities.

Why is there a fuel adjustment in the first place? Customers are understandably annoyed by high summer bills, and particularly the size of the fuel adjustment. But fuel represents about 45% of the total cost of generating electricity, so the cost of fuel does have a big impact on the bill. Since fuel costs change frequently, it's important to have a timely and fair way to cope with these enormous, fluctuating costs. The fuel adjustment allows us to pay our fuel bills so that we can continue generating electricity, and to pass on any savings directly to our customers.

Why does it always seem to keep going up? Because the cost of fuel has gone up, especially residual oil, the kind we use most. About half of our electricity is generated by oil; even more in the summer. So oil prices have a dramatic effect on the fuel adjustment.

Prices have risen so much in the past few years that we now spend $4 million a day on oil. I've heard that oil prices were dropping. Will the fuel adjustment go down as a result? Oil prices have dropped somewhat recently, but this summer we'll be using even more oil than usual because one of our nuclear plants that generates lower-cost electricity is being repaired. During months of moderate temperatures, overall use of electricity decreases, and we burn less oil. This could mean a lower fuel adjustment. A lot will depend on the weather, the price of oil and now much generation we can get from other fuel sources.

What is FPL doing to fight high oil prices? Everything we can. We shop for bargains in the oil market, both in contract fuel supplies and in open market purchases. We're not building any more oil-powered generating facilities. And before we use the ones we have, we use all our other less-costly generating sources - nuclear, natural gas, and coal-generated power from other utilities brought into the state by transmission lines. We've also been mixing coal and oil at one plant, and we're pursuing opportunities for converting our oil plants to coal use.

Doesn't the fuel adjustment destroy the incentive to buy fuel economically? No. First of all, our own performance standards are extremely high. In addition, there are efficiency incentives built into the fuel adjustment regulatory proceedings, and FPL must prove that all fuel was bought and used wisely when its case on the fuel adjustment is presented. Does FPL make a profit on the fuel adjustment? No. Not a cent of the fuel adjustment goes to profit. All of it goes directly to pay for the cost of fuel.

Americans Meet Clermont

Sanford National hurler Caivin Davis loses his hat while following through on his delivery last Saturday against the Sanford Americans, Calvin not only lost his hat, but the Nationals lost the game too, 15-5. Tonight, the Americans surmised Korgan, "This is a much better travel to Clermont to represent Sanford in the District 14 hitting team than we had last year. tournament at 8.

Herald Sports Editor

Sanford's Little Major League Americans will try to shed its Avis role acquired last year when they meet Clermont in the first round of the District Tournament at Clermont.

Ed Korgan's Americans meet the host team and defending district champion at 8 p.m. Ocala clashes with Holly Hill in the evening's first game at 6.

"If we've got a full team, I think we can win it," said Korgan Tuesday morning about the Sanford chances. Last year the Americans whipped Clermont in the first meeting, but later lost two games and the championship to the Central Florida power. Clermont went on to finish second in the state tournament.

Korgan's team is not up to 100 percent at the present, Korgan's son Eddie, who beat the Sanford Nationals with a sevenhitter Saturday, was hit on the right elbow with a bat in practice Sunday.

If the sandy-haired right-hander is not able to throw Wednesday, Korgan is leaning toward Steve Warren or Patrick Williams. Warren started two games in the sub-district.

While the American pitching is unsettled, Korgan feels he has nothing to worry about when it comes to the Sanford

"We're going to kill a fastball pitcher,"

"And I think it's a much better fielding team, too. But we haven't shown it yet. Clermont has a very well-lighted field and that should help," pointed out Korgan, who feels Ft. Mellon Park has some "dead spots."

Leading the explosive American bats are Reginald Bellamy, Gregg Pond, Keith Denton, Warren, Mike "Slim" Edwards and Korgan. Bellamy crashed five of the Americans' 19 four-baggers

Pond, who hit a pivotal grand-slam homer in the title game, blasted four homers. Warren knocked out three and Korgan and Edwards socked two apiece.

Bellamy hit at a street au bacce. soo. Catcher Darris Littles hit .471, while Tommie Mitchell batted 455 and Denton

The American scored an incredible 87 runs for the five-game set. They pounded out 70 hits for a .449 team batting average. Bellamy also swatted three doubles and Edwards, a flash in the field, slapped two.

Clermont is a perennially strong tearn. John Heinrich and Chad Hart are the top pitchers on its staff. Heinrich picked up two victories as Clermont waitzed past Groveland and Tavares in the subdistrict at Clermont.

The district begins Wednesday and will run through Saturday if necessary. It is a four-team, double-elimination tour-

O-Twins Am(Bush) Memphis, 9-6

Orlando Twins' outfielder Randy Bush ambushed the Memphis Chicks with a three-run homer as the Twins thumped the Chicks 9-6 at Memphis Tuesday night.

The victory consummated a season-long climb which enabled the Twins to reach the 500 plateau. They won the first-half East Division of the Southern League.

In addition to Bush's three-run blast, he singled home another run seventh-inning deadlock. Memphis, winner of the West Division first half, had pulled even in the bottom of the seventh on a three-run four-

Designated hitter Scott Ullger drove in two runs with a homer and third sacker Gary Gaetti rapped two singles and chased home one run

The late-inning explosion made a winner of left-hander Jack Hobbs, who pitched a scoreless eighth inning in relief of Scott Glecketl. Former major leaguer Gary Serum picked up his eighth save with a

In a mock All-Star game played at home plate in Municipal Stadium Tuesday, the National League buried the American League, 15-2, continuing a mastery that has lasted more than two decades.

The real All-Star game was canceled because of the players' strike, but a local television station decided to stage a "game" of its own, complete with the Canadian and American national anthems and the ceremonial throwing out of the first dice - instead of a ball - by Hall of Famer Bob Feller.

Dave Parker of Pittsburgh won the game's Most Valuable Player Award, with three hits in five trips, including a home run. Philadelphia's Manny

Labor Secretary Donovan Enters Baseball Negotiations

Labor Raymond Donovan has entered the baseball negotiations and his presence may force the owners to make a move that would bring an end to the strike now in its 34th day.

A negotiating session was scheduled for 2 p.m. EDT today, and Denovan will speak to both sides to advise them of the administration's concern about the prolonged dispute.

According to management sources, Donovan's entry into the talks is putting pressure on the owners, and they were expected to offer another proposal to the players at today's Federal mediator Kenneth Molfett, who got things stirred up last weekend by presenting a compromise proposal, said he thought the two sides were getting very close to a settlement.

"I'm quite optimistic, especially after the lousy meeting we had last week," said Moffett Tuesday night on ABC TV's Night Line. "I'm hopeful of getting this thing done in a day or two. Both sides made a lot of movement last week and there's been lots of conversation since then. I think it's ready to settle." It was under Moifelt's urging

Donovan agreed to attend today's session. Earl Cox, his special assistant, said the decision to go to New York was the outgrowth of several days of discussions between Moffett and Donovan, but was not at the direction of the White House.

"This is the act of the secretary, Cox said. "It does not reflect any words he has received from the administration. It was not cleared."

Cox added, however, the White House was being kept informed of developments.

It was to be the first time anyone from the Reagan administration has become involved in the strike, which has forced the cancellation of 393 games, including the AllStar game.

However, Doug DeCinces, a member of the players' negotiating committee, questioned what kind of impact Donovan's speech would have on either side.

"It'll be interesting to see. I don't really know," said DeCinces, who also appeared on Night Line, "The main question I have is whether he's totally briefed on the situation."

DeCinces indicated the owners would make a new proposal today, but was not as optimistic as Molfett the strike would end soon.

"I kind of felt we had the opportunity to settle last weekend with the proposal Mr. Moffett brought forth," DeCinces said. "The players finally decided to give up some things in hopes of getting this settled and resuming this season. We have yet to see the new proposal."

Earlier in the day, the administration told Congress there is no reason for professional baseball's antitrust exemption and urged that it be eliminated.

Abbott Lipsky Jr., deputy assistant attorney general, told the House subcommittee on monopolies and commercial law the "antitrust laws are sufficiently flexible to accommodate whatever unusual or unique business characteristics might exist in the professional sports industry."

He noted the Supreme Court ruled in 1922 baseball was exempt from the antitrust laws because it was not trade or commerce within the meaning of the Sherman Act, and it was not interstate in nature.

We have seen no economic or other justification for an exemption for professional baseball," Lipsky said. "It has been the position of the antitrust division for some time that baseball's exemption is an anachronism and should eliminated. I reaffirm that position selected an individual in their group who had contributed the most in Christian leadership and "standing tall" for the Lord. It was quite an honor that all of the Sanford girls - Bridget Deere (Huddle no. 31), Cathy Hall (Huddle no. 30), Lisa Harper (Huddle no. 20) and Linda Whelchel (Huddle leader of no. 41) received this recognition and honor from their respective huddles.

The girls were divided into one of 48 huddle groups of about 10-12 each with an assigned college huddle leader. Linda Whelchel, also of Sanford (and Florida State University) served as one of the huddle leaders.

"It was a wonderful experience and served as a real strength in God and Christian daily life to all in attendance At the end of the session each huddle there," said Knight about the week.

Scully 'Keys' Up For Classical Retirement

SUWANEE, Ga. (UPI) - John Scully figures if he doesn't make it in professional football maybe he can earn a living as a classical pianist.

It's hard to picture the 6-foot-5, 255-pound Atlanta Falcons rookie sitting in front of a grand piano dressed in boiled shirt and tails. But Scully, an All-America center at Notre Dame, is dead serious about his music.

"That, in part, is why I didn't go higher in the college draft," said the native New Yorker. "Some of the other NFL teams left me with the impression they were concerned that I have other interests than football, that they doubted I might be dedicated enough.

"But I am fully aware that one of these days my football career will be over, that I'll have to get into something else," he said. "Not that that worries me because I'm capable of any number of things besides football. Maybe it won't be the piano although it is definitely one of my interests.

"I've played classical for a long time," said Scully. "I used to play quite a bit for the (Notre Dame) team. They enjoyed it. I just bought an electric piano which I plan to bring down to (the Falcons) camp."

It took Scully a bit longer to get to camp than he had planned. He and his traveling companions wound up in Birmingham, Ala., scene of Notre Dame's 7-0 upset of Alabama last fall, by mistake while enroute from Chicago to the Falcons' camp located 30 miles northeast of downtown Atlanta.

"We took a wrong turn somewhere," Scully said with a chuckle, "We wound up on Interstate 65 instead of Interstate 75 and there we were in Birmingham. I figured we wouldn't be very welcome there after what we did to Alabama last year so we kept a low profile until we got out of town."

Although Notre Dame lost (17-10) to national champion Georgia in the Sugar Bowl, Scully still thinks Alabama was the better team, especially on defense.

John Scully wasn't the only one surprised when he wasn't picked until the fourth round of the NFL draft, the 110th player chosen. Hampered his first two years by injuries, first an ankle (which earned him an extra year of eligibility) and then a knee, Scully was the first-string center the past two seasons on a good Notre Dame team.

The only knock on Scully as a pro center as far as the Falcons were concerned was that he was not regarded to have long-enapping ability.

"I don't know where that came from," said Scully, "It's true I didn't snap the ball long in college, I suppose mainly because I didn't want to set killed by some his defensive immuni working on my snaps and I don't think that is going to be any

Tahoe Picks Chargers, Cowboy For Super Bowl

RENO, Nev. (UPI) - The San Diego Chargers and the Dallas Cowboys have been picked by Harrah's Reno-Tahoe Hace Book to appear in the 1982 Super Bowl game with the Chargers emerging as champions.

San Diego was made a 2-1 favorite to win the AFC and the 4-1 favorite to win the Super Bowl. Dallas was a 2-1 pick to win the NFC and was a 5-1 pick along with the defending champion Oakland Raiders to win the Super Bowl.

The Raiders and New England Patriots are 12-5 to win the AFC, while Cleveland was 3-1, Pittaburgh 7-2, Houston 6-1, Miami and Buffalo 8-1, Baltimore 12-1, Kansas City and Denver 20-1, New York Jets 25-1, Cincinnati 30-1 and Seattle

In the NFC, Philadelphia, like Dallas, was a 2-1 favorite to win the title. Other odds were Atlanta $-2, Los Angeles 3-1, Detroit and Chicago 8-1, Tampa Bay and Washington 10-1, Minnesota 12-1, San Francisco and St. Louis 25-1, New York Giants and New Orleans 100-1 and Green Bay 125-1.

Other Super Bowl odds besides San Diego, Dallas and Oakland were Philadelphia 5-1, Cleveland and Atlanta 7-1, New England, Pittsburgh and Los Angeles $-1, Houston 9-1, Bulfalo 10-1, Miami 12-1, Chicago 18-1, Detroit and Tampa Bay 20-1, Minnesota 25-1, Baltimore and Washington 30-1. Denver, New York Jets and San Francisco 50-1, Cincinnati 60-1, Kansas City 80-1, St. Louis 100-1, Seattle 150-1, New York Giants 200-1, and New Orleans and Green Bay 250-1.

Millionaire Holmes Vows To Hang Up Gloves

has made up his mind. One more year and that's it. He's retiring. He can't see any point in continuing to fight after that

"What for," asks the unbeaten World Boxing Council champion and multimillionaire. "I got all the money I'm ever gonna need. For me and my family, anyway, I'm It now and I wanna quit no later than when I'm 32. That'll be enough. There are still a coupla little things I wanna do in outside business but they're no problem. I'll have 'em all done inside a year and then I can take it easy,"

Holmes still ian't sure who his next opponent will be. Most people think It should be Gerry Cooney, the No. 1 complications have popped up along the way so that Cooney may have to take his turn somewhere behind the eventual winner of next September's meeting between Mike Weaver, the World Boxing Association title-holder, and James "Quick" Tillis in Chleago.

Ordinarily, Holmes and Cooney might have been signed by this time were it not for the fact that promoter Bob Arum had a contract for the Weaver-Tillis fight, and rather than see Cooney meet Weaver first as a logical prelude to a world championship showdown with Holmes, Arum had enough leverage to get the WBA to threaten Weaver with the loss of his title if he didn't go through with a "mandatory defense" against harnThat means Cooney quite likely will face the winner of this fight and whoever comes out on top in that one gets Holmes. Holmes doesn't seem to care particularly whom he fights next.

"I've really got nothing against Cooney," he says, "I'm pretty sure I'll fight him before I retire, but everybody I fight, I never prove myself to the people because one fight I look good, then I don't look so good. But nobody has ever beat me and I've never ducked anybody. So I knock Cooney out," Holmes projects with some degree of resignation, "and the next thing you know they're saying that doesn't prove anything until I fight Greg Page. After him, they'll say I have to beat Michael

Milton Richman

UPI Sports Editor

Dokes and it'll go on and on like that forever if I let It, But another year and that's it. Just because people keep talking doesn't mean I have to keep fighting. That's plain foolish if there's really nothing to fight for. And I'm not just talking about money because how much does one person need?"

how many fighters can you say that for? He saw where Muhammad Ali had to be admitted to a hospital in Chicago not long ago because the 39-year-old three-time heavyweight king was rundown physically. That distressed Holmes

He is still genuinely fund of the man for whom he once worked as a sparring partner and whom he slopped in 11 rounds in Las Vegas last October and everytime he hears about Ali talking about fighting again, he winces.

"I don't think he should even think about it," Holmes says. "As great as he was, he took a lotta punches all that time he fought and your body can't last Larry Holmes makes good sense. He that long, I talked to him at Joe Louis' sounds as if he knows when to quit and funeral and he said he was only kidding

"I've known the man since 1971 and he helped me a lot. I really never wanted to fight him because of all the admiration I had for him. It came down to where I didn't have much choice about it. I was doomed if I did and doomed if I didn't, so we fought, but I didn't enjoy beating him that way."

Sitting at ringside that night, last Oct. 2, it seemed to me as if Holmes was pulling some of his punches near the end, especially when he had Ali helpless in a corner near the end of the 10th round. Had he let up at all?

"Well, I sure didn't want him to wind up hurt." Holmes answered honestly. "You're right, I didn't have all my heart in it at the end."

Cook Of The Week: Donna Frank

Wife, Mother And 'Queen' A Domestic Engineer, Too

Herald Correspondent

Wife, mother and queen? Yes, that's right. Not everyone can make that claim but petite, blonde, Donna Frank is a wife, mother and a queen. Donna was crowned Valentine Queen, this year, at the annual Beta Sigma Phi Strationary Agent wilall.

Donna and her husband, Unru, live with their two children, Barbara, 6, and Jeremiah, 4, at 520 Pine Way in Sanford. Chris is the assistant manager of building materials for Sunniland Corporation and Donna describes herself as a domestic engineer.

Donna is a homemaker in the truest sense. She and Chris are currently in the process of building their new home. "We developed the floor plan and Chris will do most of the building," Donna explains. "We are really excited about it and we hope to have it completed sometime in September."

"I lead a rather active and hectic life," says Donna, "so, although I love to cook. I sometimes have to prepare quick and easy meals because of my schedule."

It's understandable that she is busy, for not only is Donna currently serving as the president of Beta Sigma Phi's City Council, but she also serves as classroom mother for both of her children's schools. Also, she is active with her church where she teaches Bible School.

In addition, Donna babysits for five other children during the week. "I started keeping other children because I wanted to be home with my own and there aren't any other children in our neighborhood for mine to play with," Donna said.

In her spare time Donna says she enjoys cake consistency. decorating, ceramics and sewing. "I like to give homemade gifts to my family and friends. They all seem to enjoy the ceramics and cakes I make for them," Donna

Marcia Rodgers

Miss Isabel Marcia Rodgers of Geneva marks a century of living today when she celebrates her 100th birthday. Miss Rodgers first came to Geneva in 1924, but due to the illness of her elderly parents in Virginia, returned to the state where are the lar them.

After the death of her parents, Manda moved back to Geneva where she lived for 47 years. She is currently living in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Parker, 2401 Stevens Ave., Sanford.

Today at noon, a tamily luncheon honored Marcia at the Geneva home of a cousin, Meade Baker, and his wife, Anne. Today, from 4-6 p.m., the Bakers and other relatives are hosts to a drop-in tea for about 100 guests -

Mrs. Parker said after Thursday, friends are invited to their home to visit with Miss Rodgers

Marcia became a teacher when she was 18, and in 1906-07 attended business college in Lynchburg, Vn. She worked for the census bureau in Washington, D.C. in 1910-12 and was employed as a bookkeeper during World War I.

According to Anne Baker, Marcia is "remarkably alert. ... still sharp. . . quite an individual. . , very decided in

For overseas travelers, one of the main worries which might put a cloud on the trip is the thought of becoming ill while abroad. It isn't a pleasant thought, but there may be some comfort in two services geared toward that possibility. One is the Assist Card which, along with it's telephone directory, will enable the traveler to obtain help 24hours a day, just about anywhere in the world, from tomeone who speaks English. The extremely minimal cost of the tervice pays for a doctor, ambulance, hospitalization, transfer and if necessary, arrangements for transportation back to America. The other service is Health Care Abroad (HBA) which provides similar services to travelers abroad. Information on either of the plans can be obtained from a travel agent.

ILLINOIS, who went from one adulterous affair to another. although she got nothing out of any of them, sounds like my ex-girlfriend. She was beautiful but as promiscuous as they come. Whenever she'd meet a stranger she was attracted to, they'd end up in bed. She was honest. She'd tell me about it, cry and promise it would never happen again, but it always did - about twice a week. She hated herself so much she attempted suicide four times in the six years we went together.

I paid for seven months of psychotherapy for her, during which time she was seducing her therapist and giving out her phone number to patients in his waiting room. Abby, that was the last straw!

Even though I really loved her, I finally had to break off the relationship. It wouldn't have done any good to have sent her to a female therapist. She was also bisexual.

Summer Fruits: Can Now For Year-Round Goodness

Space is at a premium in most homes—and especially in apartments. Yet, a shelf or two devoted to home-canned jams, preserves or butters yields satisfaction far outweighing the space taken up.

When the yearning strikes, you merely reach for a jar of apple-pear jam for example, to go with toasted muffins or freshly baked blacults or bread.

Making small batches-four to eight jars-at a time using different fresh fruits as they are at the height of their season gives variety to your year-round sampling. Prices also should

Jams, preserves, conserves, marmalades and butters are semi-soft spreads that require processing in a boiling water bath for five to 15 minutes. Paraffin cannot be used.

For best results in canning any product, follow the Jar and lid manufacturer's instructions closely.

You may substitute peaches, nectarines or apricots in the recipes for spiced peaches and spicy nectarine relish. The nectarine relish may be flavored with about 1% tablespoons of mixed pickling spice in place of the cinnamon, cloves, ginger or mustard seed.

When removing foam and air bubbles, use a wooden spoon or rubber spatula to avoid nicking the jars,

For best results, fruit should be slightly under-ripe or just

The basic home-canning equipment you will need includes jars and ilds, wooden and metal spoons, a jar lifter, paring and chopping knives, a timer, a steam pressure canner, a sieve or a food mill, a large kettle, a wooden or plastic spatula, a tea kettle, a ladle and a slotted spoon, a jar funnel, measuring cups and spoons, longs, saucepots and bowls, clean cloths, a boiling water bath canner, a wire basket, a food masher or a blender.

If you do not have the steam pressure canner or water bath canner, why not share the expense with a relative or neighbor? Canning is more fun when you have someone to work with,

First Stop New Zealand, Land Of Lamb

Barbeques are synonymous with summertime. If you're looking for ways to economize and enjoy outdoor cooking, too, put lamb at the top of your shopping list.

You can prepare delectable Shish Kabobs and hearty lamb steaks topped with zesty marinades that demonstrate your expertise in international cuisines.

We begin our culinary journey in New Zealand, a country renown for its quality lamb. New Zealand lamb is reasonably priced; in fact, it is usually less expensive that other red meats. Every bite of New Zealand lamb contains important nutrients-a one-quarter pound serving provides more that 40 percent of the Recommended Daily Allowance of protein for adults.

You will find New Zealand lamb in your supermarket freezer case. Try our method for getting double duty from a leg of lamb that's ideal for summer cooking. Select a leg and have the butcher slice three steaks, an inch and a half thick each on his bandsaw from the butt end of the leg.

These make a refreshing, economical change from beef steak. The remaining portion—the shank end-makes a satisfying small roast or one and a half-to-two pounds of meat for Shish Kabob when thawed and cubed.

Our next stop is the Middle East, where New Zealand lamb is a perfect base for Shish Kabobs, a versatile dish of meat and garden-fresh vegetables that is enhanced by Snappy Marinade, Tomato juice, onions and Worcestershire sauce combine for a tangy marinade reminiscent of Mid-Eastern

Now to the USA for American-style lamb steaks in their own special marinade-a delicious variation of a traditional favorite. Marinated Barbecued Lamb Steaks are easy to prepare-just blend tornato paste, red wine vinegar, honey, and seasonings add the steaks and marinate overnight.

Lamb steaks are an ideal choice for summer barbeques because slow cooking over glowing coals brings out lamb's delicate flavor. The marinade, brushed on the steaks as they sizzle, locks in spicy taste that gives a new enjoyment to traditional all-American fare.

BARBECUE LAMB WITH SNAPPY MARINADE

- 3-3 cup tomato juice 3 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 3 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 3-4 teaspoon dry mustard 1-2 teaspoon salt

Beautiful Salads Are Summer Favorites

If salads are nature's gift to the menu-maker, then summer is the season of generosity. With fresh produce filling grocery bins and roadside carts, the time is ripe to add new salads to

With each colorful collection of fruits and vegetables there's an extra special dressing idea created to enhance the salad flavors and yet assert a distinct character all its own. After all, produce is only the beginning. Real salad "savvy" shows in a memorable dressing. From a light summer luncheon to a Sunday night supper, here are six ideas that spotlight fresh fruit and vegetables for irresistible summer eating.

The three salads on the right are each unique, but each uses a piece of fruit as the "Salad Server," The Cantaloupe Fruit Bowl starts with a cantaloupe to provide the server for a cool, refreshing fruit salad with an interesting dressing to top it off. Hawaiian Delight features the ever favorite pineapple in the traditional way, chunks on a skewer, with chunks of ham, tomatoes, bananas, and green pepper. The pineapple itself holds the dressing to make it a "Salad Server" too. Avocado halves filled with rice salad and topped with French dressing are perfect for the light lunch.

Casual get-togethers and picnics mean lots of help-yourself salad fun for active appetites. Main dish salads as shown below can be served in a variety of ways. Zesty Potato Salad combines favorite potato salad ingredients and turns them out in a spectacular new way! Sunshine Salad Toss mixes those sweet and sunny flavors of California fruits with lettuce, chicken and creamy cucumber dressing to create a summer supper.

Another main dish is the Hearty Potato Platter. Create an attractive salad by arranging potatoes, roast beef slices, chopped tomatoes and onion on a bed of lettuce. Crumbled blue cheese and bottled thousand island dressing add that special occasion flair for another tasty summer salad.

Fresh and refreshing, these salads and dressing ideas help you create summer favorites with great taste and style.

Potpourri

Add Olives To Corn Pudding

Corn comes off the cob to join canned California ripe olives in a delicious meatless entree for a midsummer mea. The dark ripe olives add color for appetite appeal, as well as a satisfying chewiness, often missing in meatless dishes.

A protein packed combination of eggs, milk and cheese serves as a nutritious base for this handsome vegetable dish. It is easy to prepare. A white sauce is enriched with eggs and cheese. Sliced ripe olives, fresh corn cut from the cobs, bright chopped parsley, soft bread crumbs and seasonings are stirred in. The pudding is then baked slowly, Ripe olive corn pudding is also an inviting side dish served with grilled chicken or sausages.

RIPE OLIVE CORN PUDDING

5 to 7 ears fresh corn

14s cups pitted California ripe olives

's cup finely chopped green onlon-2 tablespoons butter or margarine

2 tablespoons flour

24 cups milk

4 large eggs

2 teaspoons salt 2 teaspoons sugar

I teaspoon dry mustard

16 leaspoon white pepper 14 cups soft fine bread crumbs

I cup grated cheese

to cup chopped paraley

Oil a 214 quart baking dish, 214 inches deep. Pre heat oven to 350 degrees F. Cut corn from ears to measure 4 cups. Slice ripe olives. Melt butter. Add onions and ripe olives and cook slowly for 5 minutes. Stir in flour. Slowly stir in milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens. Beat eggs well. Add salt, sugar, mustard and pepper to eggs and beat again to blend. Add bread crumbs, cheese, paraley, corn and cooked ripe olive mixture to egg mixture and mix well. Turn into oiled baking dish. Set lit pan of hot water, Bake in preheated oven 1 hour and 10 minutes, until mixture is set in center, and point of small knife inserted in pudding comes out clean. Serve hot, Makes 8 servings.

BAKED STUFFED ZUCCHINI

- 4 small zuechini
- 3 tablespoons corn oil
- 4 cup chopped onlon
- I cup aliced mushrooms 4 cup chopped green pepper
- la teaspoons dried oregano leaves
- 4 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- % cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 4 tablespoons ahredded Jarlsberg or Lorraine Swiss cheese

Cut a thin, lengthwise slice from each zucchini. Scoop or cut out pulp, leaving a shell about 4-inch thick, Coarsely chop pulp. (There should be about 11/2 cups.) Place zucchini shells cut side down in a 10-by-5-by-1%-inch baking dish. Fill with 1/6inch hot water. Cover with foil. Bake in 425-degree oven 15 minutes or until tender.

Meanwhile, in large skillet heat corn oil over medium heat. Add onion; stirring occasionally, cook 2 to 3 minutes or until tender. Add chopped zucchini, mushrooms, green pepper, oregano, salt and pepper. Stirring occasionally, cook 10 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Stir in bread crumbs.

Drain cooked zucchini shells. Fill with mushroom mixture. Sprinkle each with 1 tablespoon of the cheese. Bake in 425degree oven 12 to 15 minutes or until heated through. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

EGGPLANT PARMESAN FRITTATA (4 servings)

Eggplant lovers will rave. For eggplant haters, just change the name, keep that ingredient a secret, and they'll rave, too. The flavor is mild but rich. Also good cold.

- 1 egg 1 tablespoon water
- 4 teaspoon salt 2 cups diced pared eggplant (about 8 oz.)
- % cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 4 cup butter or oil
- 8 eggs
- 4 cup milk or tomato juice
- 4 cup (2 oz.) shredded mozzarella cheese
- 14 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 4 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed 6 drops hot pepper sauce
- Parsley sprigs, optional

In medium howl heat together egg, water and salt, Add eggplant and tosa gently until eggplant is completely coated with egg mixture. Let stand 10 minutes. Drain. Return eggplant to bowl, sprinkle with crumbs and toss until completely coated with crumbs.

In 10-inch omelet pan or skillet with ovenproof handle over medium heat, cook eggplant in butter, stirring frequently, until lightly browned on all sides, about 5 minutes.

Beat together remaining ingredients except parsley. Pour over eggplant. Cook over low to medium heat until eggs are almost set, 12 to 15 minutes. Cover pan, remove from heat and let stand 8 to 10 minutes. OR, broll about 6 inches from heat until eggs are completely set, 4 to 5 minutes longer. Cut into wedges and serve from pan, or either slide from pan or invert onto serving platter. Garnish with parsley, if desired.

APPLE YOGURT CHIFFON PIE

145 cups finely crushed cinnamon graham cracker crumbs

- 4 cup firmly packed brown sugar 4 cup butter or margarine, melted
- I envelope unflavored gelatin
- Va cup granulated sugar, divided
- 4 tenspoon salt 2 eggs, separated
- I cup frozen concentrated apple fulca

1 carton (8 ounce) Dutch apple flavored yogurt

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Combine the graham cracker crumbs, brown sugar, and butter. Reserve % cup mixture for the garnish. Press remaining mixture onto bottom and side of 3-inch pie plate. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 8 to 10 minutes. Press bottom and side of crust into place with spoon while still warm, if necessary. Cool for filling, combine the gelatin, 2 tablespoons of sugar and salt insauce-pan. Stir in apple juice. Beat together the egg yolks and stir into gelatin mixture. Cook over medium heat just until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly. Pour mixture into bowls, chill, stirring occassionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites at medium speed on electric mixer until foamy. Beat at high speed while gradually adding remaining 2 tablespoons sugar, until stiff peaks form. Fold besten egg whites and yogurt into gelatin mixture. Pour into cocled crust. Sprinkle with reserved crust mixture; chill 3 to 5 hours until firm.

For those on a vegetable kick, try a tasty and quick omelet containing a medley of vegetables along with the addition of plums for a wholesome

Omelet Is Plum Delicious

Omelets are quick and easy to do and are a cook's answer to drop-in guests or weekend brunches.

Fillings for omelets can range from raspberries to alfalfa sprouts. One combination will appeal to those who are leaning toward being vegetarians, but have not made the final plunge. The flavor is heightened by the addition of a fresh fruit, in this case plums.

VEGETARIAN OMELET

- 4 cup thin carrot strips
- 34 cup thin green pepper strips 14 cup thinly sliced onion
- 1/2 cup alfalfa sprouts
- 3 to 4 fresh California plums
- 1 chicken bouillon cube
- 1 tablespoon water
- 4 French omelets
- 2 teaspoons oil
- teaspoon savory, crumbled
- 4 teaspoon salt
- 4 teaspoon pepper Measure and prepare all ingredients before starting to cook.

Cut carrot and green pepper into thin strips about 14-inches long. Cover with boiling water; boil 3 minutes, drain and set aside. Slice onion and rinse sprouts, slice plums to measure 11/2 cups. Crumble bouillon cube into 1 tablespoon water.

Make French omelets and set on flat baking pan in warm oven (about 200 degrees) while preparing vegetarian filling. Turn oil into 9-inch skillet, add onion, carrot and green pepper strips. Stir-fry over high heat 2 minutes, until vegetables are tender-crisp. Add aliced plums, dissolved boullon cube, savury, salt and pepper. Stir over moderate heat about 1 minute. Remove from heat, add sprouts and mix lightly, Divide mixture among the omelets and fold omelet over filling. Serve at once. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

To make French omelets:

Beat 8 large eggs with % teaspoon salt and % cup cold water. For each omelet, heat I tablespoon butter in an 8-inch skillet and pour in 14 cup egg mixture. Cook over moderately low heat just until set, shaking pan, and lifting edges to allow uncooked portion to run under as edges set. Turn out onto flat baking sheet and keep warm while cooking remaining omelets. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 omelets.

It's so easy nowadays to order out for chicken. But, it doesn't have the loving touch that home baked chicken has. And, chicken is so versatile. How about going oriental? Teriyaki Chicken brings your family the delicious taste of this traditional Japanese dish.

The spicy sauce begins with maple flavored syrup. Mix It with soy sauce, sherry, seasonings, then cook on top of the range or in your microwave oven. As the chicken bakes, baste it generously with this flavorful sauce. Garnish with kumquats

Don't forget to serve the extra sauce so you can continue to enjoy its delicate, spicy flavor.

Instead of ordering out, your family will request Teriyaki Chicken again and again. It's easy-and fun- to stay in and enjoy this savory Japanese style meal.

TERIYAKI CHICKEN

1/2 cup maple flavored table syrup 1-3 cup soy sauce-2 tablespoons dry sherry or water

- 4 teaspoon ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- ¼ teaspoon garlie powder

one 21/2 to 3 lb. broiler-fryer, cut up

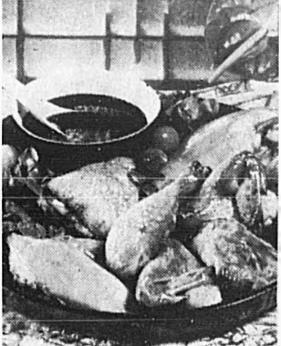

Heat oven to 375 degrees F. In medium saucepan, combine all ingredients except chicken; mix well. Bring mixture to a full rolling boil over high heat. Reduce heat. Continue cooking over medium-high heat about 6 minutes. Remove from heat;

Place chicken pieces skin side up in 11x7-inch baking dish. Bake for 55 to 60 minutes, brushing occasionally with sauce during last 40 minutes, or until chicken is tender. Combine remaining sauce and pan juices; serve as additional sauce with chicken. Garnish with watercress and kumquats, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Microwave Oven Directions: Combine all ingredients except chicken in 11/2-qt, glass bowl, mix well. Cook at HIGH about 8 minutes, stirring after each 3 minutes of cooking; cool. Place chicken pieces skin side down in 11x7-inch baking dish, placing larger pieces in corners of dish and smaller pieces in center. Cook at HIGH about 8 minutes; drain well.

Turn chicken skin side up; brush with about 1-3 of sauce. Continue cooking at HIGH about 5 minutes; brush again with about 13 of sauce. Continue cooking at HIGH 5 to 8 minutes or until chicken is tender. Let stand about 5 minutes before serving. Serve as directed above.

Sandwiches Get Touch Of Scandinavia

Hearty and scrumptious describe these Scandinavian Salmon Club Sandwiches, easily prepared with a unique selection of ingredients typifying the cuisine of the Scandinavian countries.

Slices of pumpernickle bread are layered with crisp lettuce. a colorful canned salmon filling, thinly sliced onion, canned beets and hardcooked egg. For a great luncheon or supper, the delicious flavor of Scandinavian Salmon Club Sandwiches is complemented with crisp dill pickles and mags of potato-

Hot or cold, dainty or hero-sized, there is no end to the variety of sandwiches which can be made with versatile and convenient canned salmon. Besides being an excellent sandwich filling, nutritious canned salmon is delicious served alone. or combined with other foods in appealing casseroles, salads

Salmon makes excellent fillings.

Granny's Side Dish Accents Barbecue

A hot skillet dish with a base of apples goes well with barbecued meat, fish or poultry.

This version has an Italian flavor with the use of tomatoes, sauteed onions, green pepper, garlic and Parmesan cheese. Prepare it indoors and keep warm near the grill while waiting for meats to cook.

Crisp, tangy Granny Smith apples are good for this dish, because they retain body and don't become mushy during the short cooking time called for in this skillet dish.

GRANNY'S SKILLET SIDE DISH

2 tablesprons vegetable oil

4s cup chopped onion % cup chopped green pepper

I clove garlle, minced 4 teasuron dried leaf basil, crumbled

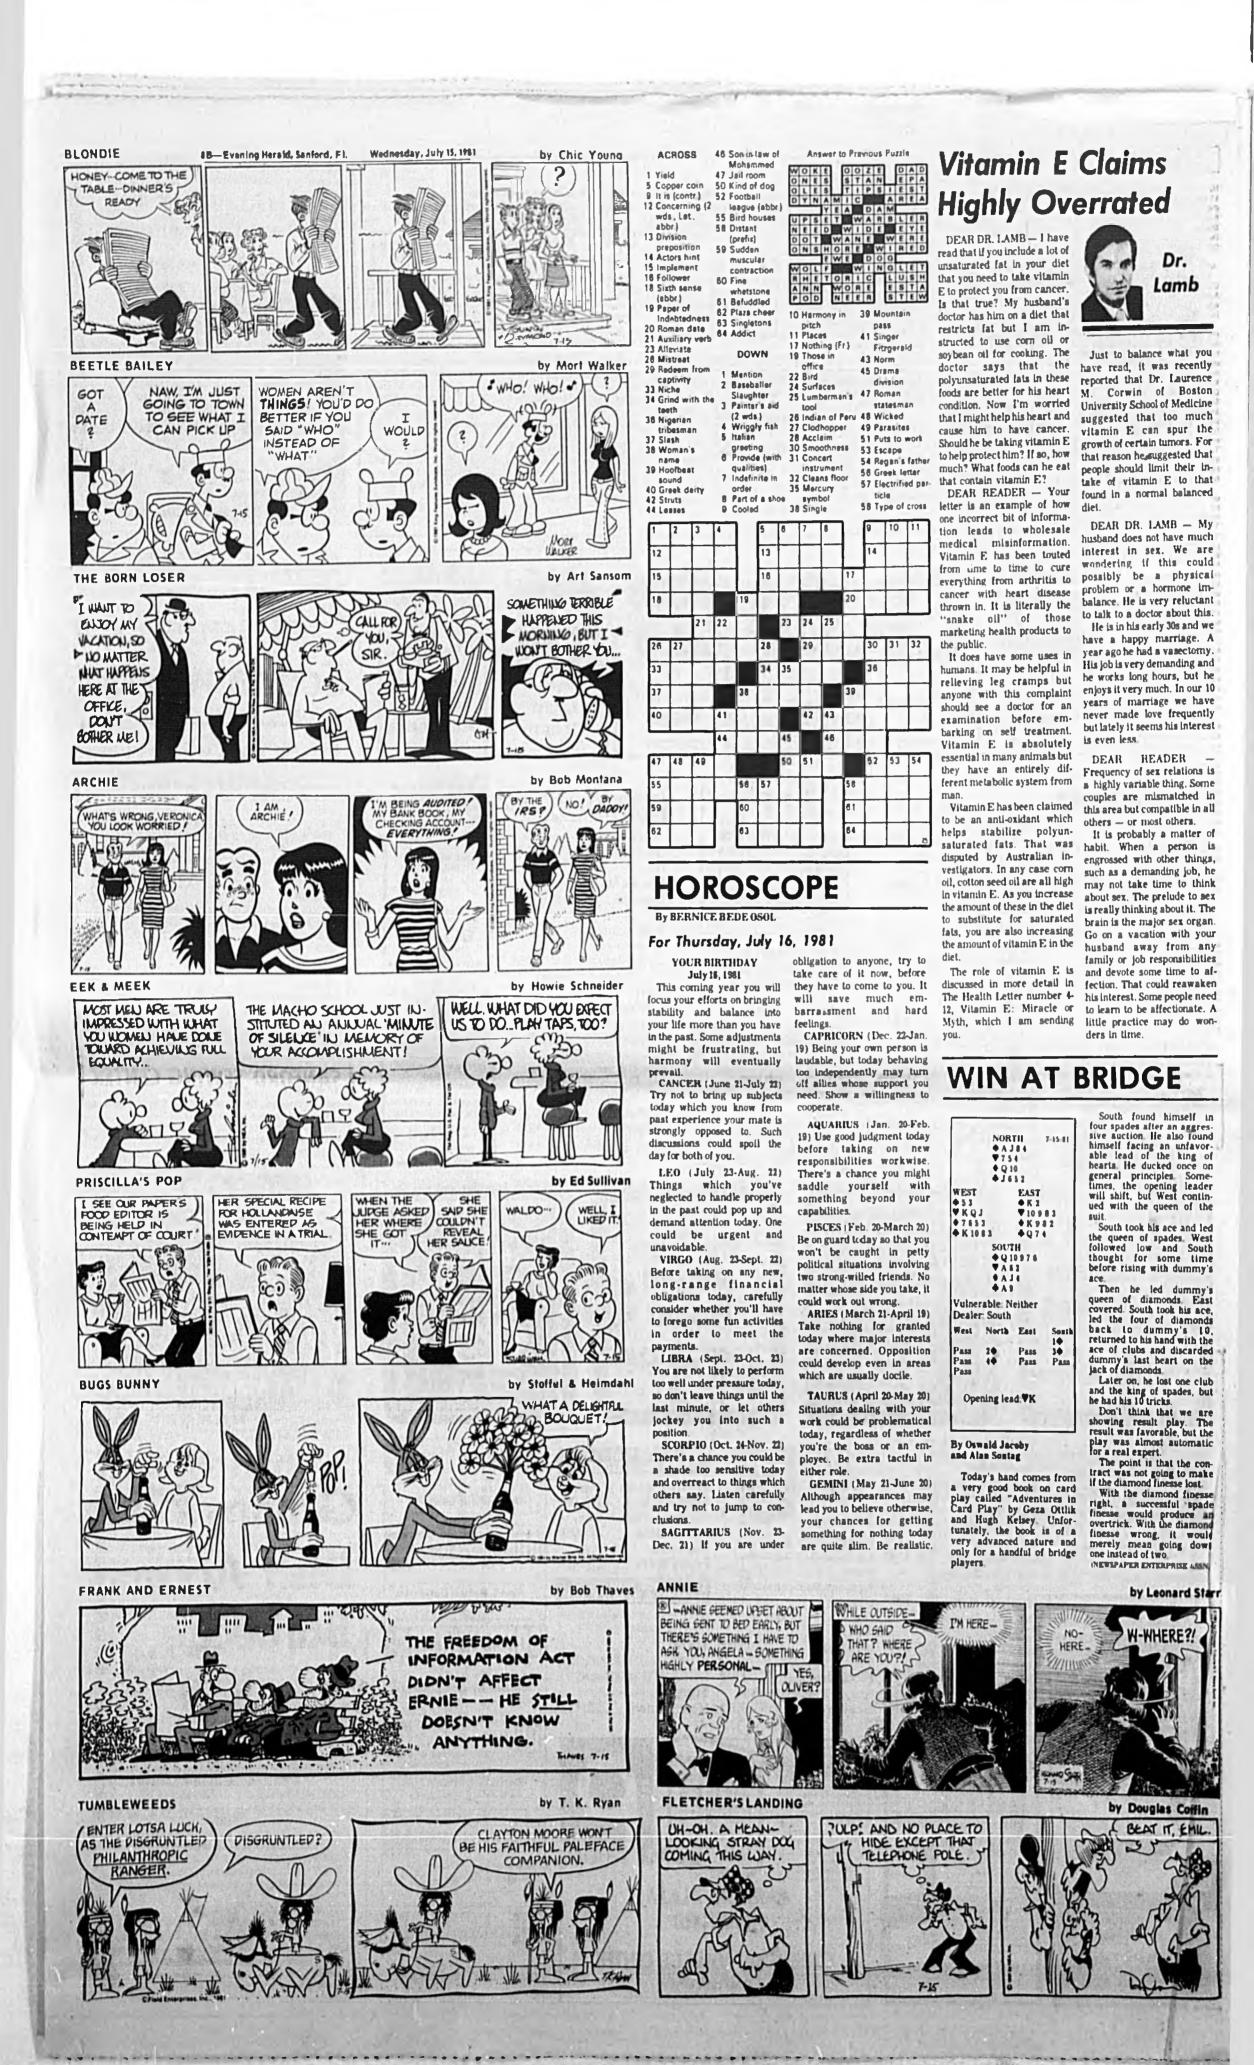

% teaspoon salt I can (I pound) whole tomatoes, undrained 3 Cape Granny Smith apples, cored and sliced 14-inch thick

2 tablespoons chopped parsley

14 cup grated Parmesan cheese In medium skillet, heat oil. Add onion, green popper, garlic, basil and salt. Cook until onion is tender. Add tomatoes and apples. Simmer 5 to 8 minutes or until apples are tender. Sprinkle with parsley and Parmesan cheese. Serve with poultry, meat or fish. This kitchen-lested recipe makes 4 to 8
