

Suburbs Are Seen As The Last Frontier In U.S. Still Growing

By HAI BOYLE
NEW YORK—The Daniel Boone of today is the suburbanite. He inhabits America's last frontier—the suburbs. And it is the only frontier in our country's history that is increasing instead of dwindling.

A suburb is one of those vague populated places you get lost in when you drive out of a big city. Where they come from nobody knows, but every year motorists report more and more of them.

They usually bear such quaint names as Quagmire Heights or Swampville. There seems to be no particular reason why they spring up in any one place. There is a report that once a railroad train pulling out of a city paused momentarily to let a cow cross the track before the train started on some enterprising real estate dealer wandered by, stuck up a sign saying "Bovine Meadows," and started selling lots to the passengers.

Suburbs vary, but they usually have these things in common: An antique store, two liquor stores, four real estate offices, one taxi cab can never get when you need it, and a railroad station that closes on cold nights whenever the ticket seller sees a lone wanderer who wants to come in and get warm.

You also usually find a fresh cemetery in an older suburb because the natives don't like the idea of having the newcomers buried beside their own vanished kin. They figure it is bad enough that they have to live with these Johnny come lately, but why should a real oldtimer have to share his graveyard, too?

The average suburbanite becomes one because he feels "the city is no place for our children." So he buys a brightly painted home in the suburbs too big for a doll house and too small to shelter a St. Bernard dog.

Here he and his happy swarming brood live in the same kind of intimacy and harmony visible in a wrestling ring.

He becomes a pilgrim between his home in the hinterland and his desk in the city, and he is a prisoner of the railroad that links them. There are two big events in his year—the days when they change the timetables and provide him with new reading matter.

The suburbanite has all the joys of a farmer and few of the pains of the urban dweller. In summer he comes to work bee-stung and over home with poison ivy, complaining "A new bug stung my garden last night. I fed DDT to the bugs and they just cried for more."

Winter strikes him with a peculiar vengeance. He finds that the only thing free in the suburbs is air, and sometimes there is too much of it after October. But when he staggers into work on January mornings, plugging his frostbitten nose and ears, he only mutters manfully:

"My, the fresh air was like wine today out where I live." Frozen wine.

Had weather snows him in, it doesn't mind him. He thought tax would be low when he moved to the suburbs, but that was before the City Council decided to pave the streets and build a new high school.

But your true suburbanite is a hardy soul. He is as much of a frontiersman as Daniel Boone or Kit Carson. They at least had a knife. There is nothing between him and disaster but his wits—and a cold paper mortgage.

He got out of the city because the traffic drove him crazy and finds that it is as hard to park a car in a suburban shopping district as it is in Times Square. He yearned for neighborhood, and the guy who moved in next door buys a dog to bite his children.

The suburbanite gamely sticks it out, however, until the mortgage is paid and the kids reared. Then he sells his house to a new frontiersman, and tells his wife:

"Come on, honey, let's move back to the city—and start living again."

And ever after that if you mention fresh air to him he gets violently ill, for when a man retires from the frontier he leaves it forever.

LAKE MARY

Miss Dorothy Burke left Friday for Atlanta, Ga., where she will join her cousin who is employed there.

The Chamber of Commerce on Jan. 2 with President Joe Maybury presiding, Arthur Tomkinson, chairman of the Christmas party and members of his committee, were given a rising vote of thanks.

The deplorable condition of the streets and roads in and around Lake Mary was discussed. It was decided that the State Road Department be requested to erect signs designating Lake Mary, as all such signs erected by the Chamber of Commerce seem to be either removed or mutilated.

James Yates was commended for cleaning up the cemetery, unassisted and Lloyd Leighton likewise commended for opening up of Morris Parkway, from the Railroad to Crystal Lake. This task of which he was chairman, was done through volunteer labor and money donations.

P. D. Anderson suggested that in line with this clean up program a series of "Before" and "After" pictures should be taken. P. R. Bremer agreed to donate all such photography. He suggested that a small brochure on Lake Mary be put out by the Chamber of Commerce.

It was noted that paid membership so far this year tops 30. On the motion of H. M. Gleason, Rev. and Mrs. L. W. Scott were accorded honorary citizenship.

Rev. Scott is the new pastor of the Community Church. Mrs. Scott has offered to contact the Girl Scout organization and see if a leader can be secured for the girls in Lake Mary who wish to form a Girl Scout Troop. It was agreed to keep the shuffle board contest open, in the hope that players would come out for the sport, now that the holidays are over.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, the members of the Beautification Committee served coffee and cookies.

Friends of Mrs. Frieda Garland will be happy to hear that she has returned to her own home and Mrs. Emma Wing is taking care of her.

U.N. Wins, Loses Two Objectives Along Sasi Bulge

Reds Reject Phrasing of Allies Plan On War Prisoners

WASHINGTON—The British recognition of Communist China was expected to come up today in the globe-striding talks between President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill. The President was expected to tell the Prime Minister that this country's non-recognition of the Chinese Reds is a firm policy, hardened by their intervention in Korea.

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
SEOUL, Korea—United Nations indignation won them two important objectives today in the Battle of Sasi Bulge, a bitter fight to recapture ground taken by the Reds Dec. 26.

The U. S. Eighth Army command reported that this did not mean the western front objectives.

U. N. elements took one after a 15-minute fight with an enemy company, capturing a 10-ton tank and a 10-ton truck.

The Sasi Bulge fight centers four miles east of Korangpo and only six miles northeast of Panmunjom. The Allies are trying to establish out a dent in the U. S. Eighth Army's forward line.

Monday the U. S. troops repulsed a Communist attack. They then had an offensive. Three hours later they met heavy Communist fire. They moved forward for two and one-half hours more before withdrawing.

At one point they were within 300 yards of the height of the Sasi Bulge.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force reported 298 sorties flown by men Tuesday. Under the protective cover of 100 bombers, Allied fighter bombers pounded the main rail line, leading into Pyongyang, North Korean capital.

Other Sasi Bulge battles killed MIG-15s in North Korea for 30 minutes. They tangled briefly with a formation of Communist planes, but the Air Force said no hits were scored by either side.

A P-51 Mustang MIG-15 was damaged Tuesday afternoon in a 20-minute fight between 17 U. S. F-86 Sabres and about 100 enemy jets over Northwest Korea. Credit for the damage went to Lt. Anthony J. Kulevsky Jr. (Route 1, Catawissa, Pa.) who brought the three-day total of MIG casualties to seven knocked down and 13 damaged. Allied losses, if any, have not been announced.

U. N. Thunderjets and Shooting Star jets dropped 16 tons of high explosives in pulverizing an important rail tunnel between Pyongyang, North Korea capital and Samsong, 30 miles north of it.

The Sasi Bulge is 40 feet deep.

By OLEN CLEMENTS
MINNAPOLIS—The U. N. Command today rephrased its proposal for exchanging prisoners of war and the Reds promptly turned it down.

Gen. Adam R. E. Libby, Allied force negotiator, said the U. N. plan was regarded as "definite any ground for technical opposition" by the Communists.

The Reds still objected.

A second truce subcommittee argued nearly two hours over whether the truce should be allowed to remain in effect during an armistice. Neither side changed its view.

Both committees scheduled new sessions for Wednesday at Panmunjom.

While the committees wrangled, Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief Allied negotiator, conferred in Tokyo with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander. Joy said it was "merely a routine visit."

In presenting the revised plan for exchanging prisoners of war, Libby said "this is in no sense a new proposal" but it had been rephrased to cover objections raised by the Reds.

Growing Conditions Reported Good In State In December

ORLANDO—Growing conditions for Florida vegetable crops were good as a whole during the latter half of December, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said today.

In their Jan. 7 report, crop statisticians said early crops "would be improved materially by cooler weather." Cool, strong winds on Dec. 27, however, caused some wind burn and slight reduction in yields of snap beans, pole beans, cucumbers, pepper, squash and tomatoes.

Shipment volume decreased somewhat during the second half of December, due largely to the decline in the fall snap bean and tomato movement.

In California, weather during the last two weeks of December was cool, retarding the growth and development of vegetable crops, the USDA said. Near the end of the month, warm rains improved growing conditions in most areas.

Vegetables in Arizona escaped severe damage from cold and heavy frost, and in Texas growing conditions were generally favorable. Losses from a cold wave around the middle of the month were not extensive.

Florida crop details:

Cabbage—Fair to good condition. December shipments light but should become general later part of January.

Cauliflower—Fair to good. Plantings have made rapid growth but cool weather would help. Manatee and Sanford Winter Gardens furnishing present supplies.

Celery—Warm weather has favored rapid growth and plantings not as rocky as should be. Santa Rosa harvesting underway and should be general mid-January.

Lettuces—Warm weather unfavorable for best development, most of early crop harvested at Sanford. Increased plantings at Webster fair to good condition and only fair in Manatee-Huskin fields where active harvest underway.

Flying Enterprise

that the Englishman slung across the Enterprise, where Carlsen and Kenneth Hancy, mate of the Turmoil, chatted merrily.

When the delivery was made Carlsen waved happily and shouted back his thanks.

Carlsen wore a thick beard. He was dressed in blue denim trousers and a Navy-type short coat with a new shapeless khaki hat—like a storybook picture of a merchant seaman.

He looked surprisingly fit.

Ten days had elapsed since the worst Atlantic storm in 50 years wrecked his 8,711-ton ship, forced him to evacuate 40 crewmen and 10 passengers into the churning sea and waiting rescue vessels, and started him on his valiant effort to keep the Enterprise from becoming a prize of the sea.

Sometimes the Enterprise today swung to a complete right angle from the Turmoil.

This sheering movement caused the 4,000-horsepower tug Turmoil, which is pulling the Flying Enterprise in port, to slacken speed. The little tug was not expected to reach Fallmouth before Wednesday noon, and perhaps later.

The swerving was blamed on calmer seas. The Atlantic weather was more like April the last week, with a gentle southwest breeze and a low swell.

Somewhat heavier seas had previously kept the Flying Enterprise at the end of a 141-mile cable. Today it just floundered about on its 750-yard tether.

The slow, dangerous trip to port began Saturday, about 300 miles east of the English coast. By the time Capt. Dan Parker's tug got a line aboard, Carlsen had drifted alone for a week on the ship he refused to abandon after the worst Atlantic storm in half a century cracked it across the middle of the week.

The Turmoil's first mate, Kenneth Hancy, leaped over the stern rail of the Flying Enterprise Friday night to help Carlsen fasten the end of a 141-mile cable. He is aboard his ship, with Hancy keeping him company. They spelled each other on two-hour watches, ready to fasten a new 20-inch main cable whenever it strain snaps the slim steel line now in use.

But the Turmoil was confident. Parker reported he had to reduce his speed to keep the Flying Enterprise from skidding, but said the ship was now in use.

The slow procession now includes four ships.

On the left, abreast with the crippled ship's bulk, is the ex-cruiser U. S. destroyer Willard Keith. Off to the right is the deep sea tug Enghelmann, chartered by the Associated Press, which joined the rescue squadron late Monday night.

Following at the end of the formation is the French tug Assiette, 25, ready to help.

The Turmoil declined all assistance.

"No longer is any doubt that Gen. Eisenhower will be nominated in July and elected in November as a Republican," Sen. Lodge (R-Mass.) said the nomination "now will be his."

Sen. Ives (R-N.Y.) predicted favorite sons will spring up in states where a candidate must avow his intentions to get on the ballot and these will throw their support to Eisenhower.

Democrats generally weren't enthusiastic about Eisenhower's statement.

Sen. Kerr (D-Ola.) said Eisenhower had more military than political sense or he wouldn't be calling as a Republican.

"If he is the Republican nominee, I will take great pleasure in opposing him," he said.

so fed up eating turkey, pork, goose and chicken that they decided to switch over to Florida products such as collards, turnip greens, cabbage, lettuce, mustard greens, new Florida potatoes, beans, corn and celery.

"Next week," he stated, "we will have a good volume of celery, cabbage, lettuce, collards, cauliflower, green onions, potatoes, bunching turnips, mustard greens, turnip salad, radishes, corn, and also a good high volume of high quality oranges, grapefruit and tangerines."

Sale have continued brisk this month, and from Jan. 1 through the fifth, 60,500 units were sold, consisting mostly of cabbage, celery, turnip salad, escarole, corn, collards and mustard greens. In addition to these commodities 20 other varieties of produce and fruit sold for $227,104.

200 Persons Hurt As Riot Ensnues At Jerusalem Center

JERUSALEM—Lingering hatred of German Nazis fired a mob of 2,000 Israeli youths to storm the Knesset (parliament) Monday night in a riot which left more than 200 persons injured.

Police fought a two-hour battle with clubs, tear gas and stink bombs to keep the mob out of the Knesset session. Ten policemen and five civilians were hospitalized with injuries. Eighty-two other policemen and many more civilians were hurt. Seventy persons suspected of rioting were arrested.

The rioters were protesting a proposal to open direct talks with Germany over claims of about 1 1/2 billion dollars in money and goods.

Police said the rioters were furious over their proposed fruitless search for her proved fruitless. James O. Barker, Monroe County deputy sheriff with headquarters at Key Largo, said "the longer she remains silent, the more concerned we become for her safety."

For reparations to dispossessed Jews. The claims so far have been proved only through the Big Four occupying powers in Germany.

Police said the rioters were followers of Menachem Beilgin, leader of the Herut Party. Herut succeeded the anti-British underground organization, Irgun, val Leumi, which carried out a bombing war against British administrators in pre-Israeli Palestine.

Chairman Donnell Backs Committee On Little Cabinet

WEST PALM BEACH—Chairman E. B. Donnell defended the Florida State Democratic Executive Committee action to provide for non-elective offices in primaries with a statement Monday that appointive powers of the governor "have become too much of a racket."

The committee, at a St. Petersburg meeting Saturday, provided ballot space for candidates who want to offer for appointment to the "Little Cabinet," including members of the State Road Department, Facing Commission, Industrial Commission, motor vehicle commissioner, hotel commissioner and assistant state's attorney.

Donnell said if candidates for these appointive offices fail to abide by the committee resolution, "there isn't anything the committee can do about it as no penalty is provided for such failure."

Donnell elaborated on his declaration that the governor's power had become "too much of a racket" by declaring:

"There are hundreds, possibly thousands, working up there (Tallahassee) who are responsible only to one man—the governor—and some of those people are handling up to tens of millions of dollars."

"Take the State Road Department, for example. They handle from 30 to 50 million dollars a year alone. The constitution should be changed to make these offices elective."

Donnell said the committee "did what the law says we can do," but he admitted that few persons might be willing to pay qualifying fees and campaign expenses to run for job. They had no assurance of getting.

MISSING BEAUTY
MIAMI—Fear for the safety of the missing French Canadian beauty Mrs. Hughette Lemay, 21, increased today as a widespread search for her proved fruitless. James O. Barker, Monroe County deputy sheriff with headquarters at Key Largo, said "the longer she remains silent, the more concerned we become for her safety."

For reparations to dispossessed Jews. The claims so far have been proved only through the Big Four occupying powers in Germany.

Police said the rioters were followers of Menachem Beilgin, leader of the Herut Party. Herut succeeded the anti-British underground organization, Irgun, val Leumi, which carried out a bombing war against British administrators in pre-Israeli Palestine.

Four Men Accused Of Safe Robberies

TAMPA—Four men accused of a six-weeks spree of safe robberies here were held in jail today under bonds totaling $200,000.

The bonds, heaviest in any case here in years, were fixed by Post-Judge J. G. Spicola only a week after Police Chief Malcolm Heasley said small bonds had encouraged safecrackers to pull jobs and for fell ball when caught.

Sicola set bond for each man at $10,000 for each safe job with which he was charged.

Deputy Sheriff Ernest Culbreth listed the men and their bonds as Homer Turner, 27, $70,000; his brother, Franklin Turner, 18, $50,000; Doyle Robertson, 18, $50,000; and Ray Jackson, 25, $20,000.

Culbreth said the four men, all Tampans, have been linked with seven safecrackings here, one in Dunedin and one in Lake Wales. They were charged with breaking and entering and grand larceny in the seven by Tampa City's police. Investigation is continuing to determine whether they were involved in others of the 20 odd safe jobs pulled off here in the past six weeks. Total loot was about $24,000.

Stemper Is Elected Mayor Of Sanford

Karlyle Housholder Named City Judge; Dyson Is Thanked For Past Services

William H. Stemper, local grocer, was elected mayor last night by a three to two vote of the City Commission room after taking his oath of office for a second term on the Commission. John Kader, jeweler, was seated as a commissioner.

Karlyle Housholder, young Sanford attorney, was elected City Judge. Mr. Housholder, who presided at the start of the meeting, was warmly congratulated for his public service by the commissioners after he relinquished his seat on the Commission.

The first action of the new Commission was the nomination by Randall Chase and approval by the Commission of Andrew Carraway as acting chairman.

Mr. Stemper nominated Mr. Chase for the post of mayor. The latter declined the nomination, and nominated Mr. Stemper.

Mr. Carraway at this point suggested that the City would be better off and save considerable expense by having a mayor whose place of business is located nearer the City Hall than the present one. He pointed out that the mayor has to be contacted often to sign papers at times other than regular meetings.

John Ivey then nominated John Kader for mayor. Mr. Kader declined, stating that he would rather not serve as he had not yet had experience as a commissioner.

The nomination was then closed and Mr. Stemper, supported by Commissioners Kader and Chase, was elected mayor. Mr. Carraway and Mr. Ivey resigned.

In the voting for municipal judge, Mr. Carraway cast a dissenting vote against a change, pointing out that this action on his part was not a decision he had anything against Mr. Housholder, who he believed was competent for the position, but that he thought that Judge Sharon had been the best person for the disposition of City Court cases.

Mayor Dyson, prior to giving up his chair, stated that he had several times had wished to resign in connection with the present board that he considered under the heading of old business.

He first brought up the issue of the appointment of John Gill as acting city manager, all of which, he declared, was done without his knowledge at the time. He stated that he felt that such an appointment should have been made by the five members of the 1951 board, instead of the five members of the new Commission, including one who had not yet installed as a commissioner.

Mayor Dyson stated that it was his belief that this was an illegal action, and that he wanted it thoroughly understood that he felt that way about it before he retired.

He also referred to the Christmas lighting of Thirteenth Street in Gibraltar, which had been a previous meeting of a group of colored residents appeared before the Commission and requested that their advice be given in that there was no money in the budget to install the lights at that time. ## Marion Lippman, Pilot Governor, Is Speaker Here

Individual Responsibility Is Stressed At Club's Meeting

Miss Marion Lippman, lieutenant governor of District Four, speaking at the meeting of the Rotary Club last night in the Montecuma Hotel Dining Room, stressed the responsibility of the individual Pilot toward the state and nation as well as toward his club and himself.

She named the three most important committee chairmanships as being membership, public affairs and finance, for around which work revolves the success or failure of an organization. A club must have members, she said, it must have projects to make it worthwhile, and it must have money to carry out these projects.

Miss Lippman laid a great deal of stress upon the importance of attendance at all meetings of the club and at the Spring and Fall council meetings of District Four and the annual convention of the International. She announced the Spring Council meeting in Jacksonville on April 20-27 at which time the "club of the year" is elected on the basis of outstanding work accomplished and the percentage of membership attained.

She stated that the club entered in the international contest in each district will be held in June, and a plaque will be presented to the winner.

Mrs. V. C. Messenger introduced the guest of honor following a short business session and a dinner which was given in her honor. Miss Maude Ramsey, public affairs chairman, distributed pledge cards to those present to secure names of blood donors for the "Armed Forces Blood Bank". Miss Ramsey stated that a mobile blood unit will be in Sanford on Jan. 22 and it is hoped by the chairman, John Williams, to secure as many pledges as possible for the blood which will be presented to the winner.

Production Of Household Goods To Be Cut 45% Below June, 1950

WASHINGTON — Production of most household goods, such things as television sets, radios, refrigerators, electric toasters and other appliances—as due to be cut to 45 per cent below the pre-Korea levels in the quarter year beginning April 1. This would be 30 per cent below present permitted production rates.

This word came today from Manly Fleischmann, defense production administrator, who said also that in the same quarter construction of new houses is to be curtailed from the present annual rate of 850,000 to a rate of 600,000 a year.

Automobile production is to be reduced at least seven per cent below the present rate. The DPA allowed the manufacturers only enough copper and aluminum to produce enough to produce 300,000 in the quarter. The maker were authorized to stretch these materials, if possible, to make 300,000 in the second quarter. For the first quarter of the year they were allotted enough materials for 300,000 with permission to stretch them to make one million.

Fleischmann testified before the Senate's House "switching" committee Thursday in connection with the defense mobilization program.

He said makers of such home contents as jewelry and toys will be given slight increases in output during the April quarter, but that they can continue in business only if they can continue in business.

Most of these goods are produced in the West.

Dr. Roger Philips Addresses P.T.A. On Adolescence

Senate Group Sunk By Avalanche Of Graft Inquiries

Both over protection and over licensing should be avoided in the guidance of children, Dr. Roger Philips, noted Orlando psychiatrist, told a gathering of more than 100 teachers and other interested citizens at a meeting of the Parent Teachers Association at the Junior High School last night.

Dr. Philips, who is director of the Child Guidance Clinic in Orlando, speaking on the subject "Adolescence," described the adolescent as a person and not a problem.

"To understand the adolescent," he stated, "one must learn the reasons for his personality, and guide him through love, affection and sympathy."

He pointed out that the right environment and the setting of a good example are the greatest influences in guiding the child.

Operation of the Child Guidance Clinic, and its service to Seminola County were explained. He suggested several books and pamphlets on the subject of child guidance, and answered questions from the audience.

Mrs. Helman Jacobson presided at the short business meeting. Rev. John L. Miller conducted devotions. Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. P. Gillen, Mrs. H. Behrens and Mrs. A. Hens.

Truman Urges Truce On Political Fights During Election Year

Reports Heard Flying Enterprise On District Meet Is Cast Adrift As Of Kiwanis Club Towline Breaks

State Of Union Message Tells Dangers Throughout World Which Threaten US

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. — President Truman proposed to congress today that it join him in an election year campaign of "political truce" which might endanger the nation at a time when all men walk in the shadow of a third world war.

"We are moving through a perilous time with Soviet Russia steadily increasing its armed might and all of us—Republicans and Democrats alike—all of us are Americans and we are going to stick or swim together."

The United States and the whole world would be passing through a period of grave danger," he said.

"Every action you take here in congress and every action I take as President," Truman told a joint meeting of senators and representatives which was inaugurated around the noon hour of today to meet that danger.

"I have a great responsibility to continue our political fights in a manner that does not harm the national interest," he said.

"The political truce and the nation of the clock on whether he will seek reelection."

In a message of the Union message of unusual gravity delivered in person in the House chamber, the President even left open the question of how much of any new increases in taxes he will ask in his economic and budget messages.

"I said only that the country must have 'high taxes' over the next few years and that they must be 'shared among the people as fairly as possible."

Since the outbreak of the Korean War in June 1950, Congress has voted three tax bills increasing revenues by an estimated $1,682,000,000 making the total tax load about $2,000,000,000 in the current fiscal year ending June 30. The total is expected to rise to $2,500,000,000 in fiscal 1952.

The national expenditures for the fiscal year later today are expected to be $2,000,000,000.

And he asked for the year only that the federal deficit be held to $1,000,000,000 to $1,500,000,000.

"I said only that the country must have 'high taxes' over the next few years and that they must be 'shared among the people as fairly as possible."

Truman and he will return to the White House in his budget message later this month. Some increases in the size of the federal deficit are expected.

Senator Douglas Says Demos Should Nominate Ike Too

BALTIMORE — Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) believes that if the Republicans nominate Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidency, the Democrats ought to do the same thing.

"Such a move," he added, "would enable us to get a much better Congress than if we ran only as a Republican nominee."

The Illinois senator made the statement Tuesday night in an interview following a radio broadcast with Ben. Wiley (R-Wis.) on ABC's America's Town Meeting of the Air.

Douglas declared, "One danger of Eisenhower's nomination by the Republicans is that he would carry into office a large number of congressmen who would oppose him later."

"I should like to obtain the nomination of both parties, people throughout the nation would be much more satisfied in their voting on local candidates."

Highway Patrol Will Use Radios But Keep Hounds

$5,000 Is Provided By Florida Cabinet For Walkie-Talkies

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Highway Patrol is planning to bring its law enforcement up to date with walkie-talkie radios, but it's not overlooking the old-fashioned bloodhound.

At the same Cabinet meeting Tuesday at which Patrol Director H. N. Kirkman was given permission to buy $5,000 worth of walkie-talkie equipment, he was in an enthusiastic mood for bloodhounds. Both the dogs and the radios would be used by the patrol when it has to get off the highway and into the wilderness in pursuit of lawbreakers or escaped criminals.

The Cabinet told Kirkman to go ahead and look into the possibility of buying a couple of bloodhounds to try out on an experimental basis.

While on the subject of the patrol, Gov. Warren commented that the 12-hour shifts worked by the patrolmen are "almost inhumane."

Director Kirkman agreed but said nothing much can be done to shorten the hours unless the patrol gets a bigger appropriation at the next session of the Legislature. The governor said he hopes it will be overworked or not. The patrol had a good 1951 report to submit to the Cabinet. It made 22,118 arrests during the year in comparison with 23,220 the year before.

Written warnings totaled 29,512 in comparison with 12,702 in 1950.

At the same meeting, the Cabinet approved spending $30,000 on a seawall to protect the Ringling Art Museum at Sarasota.

It okayed a proposed $120,000 bond issue to help finance a hospital and health center for Madison County. The bonds still must be validated by the courts.

Sitting as the State Board of Education, the Cabinet agreed to give extra financial help to six counties whose school enrollments have shot up more than 10 per cent since last year. The counties are Brevard, Broward, Collier, Flagler, Monroe and Okaloosa.

Tribute was paid to two former state officials who had buildings named after them. One of the honored men, former Supreme Court Justice J. B. Whitfield, is dead. The other, retired State Treasurer W. V. Knott, was present to hear the Cabinet name the buildings. He is 88.

The old Supreme Court building in Tallahassee used by the Supreme Court for many years before it moved into a new structure—was named for Whitfield. A building erected for the state by the City of Tallahassee 10 years ago was named the Knott Building. Plaques bearing the names will be placed on the buildings.

A plan under which county school boards may buy tires at reduced rates by having the state do the purchasing was approved.

Johnson's Gift To Warren Campaign Hit As Insurance

MIAMI — Bill Johnson, Florida dog track owner, contributed $100,000 to Gov. Warren's campaign as "profit insurance."

J. Bailey Odham, a candidate to succeed Warren, told the Coral Gables Kiwanis Club in a campaign speech Tuesday.

"You may have wondered how Bill Johnson, Mr. Big, could afford to put $100,000 into the campaign of the present governor," Odham said.

"This may explain it: During these four years his four dog tracks in Florida will make five million dollars. That $100,000 was profit insurance at just about 2 per cent. That's good business."

JACKSONVILLE — Morals in Florida government "have been subjugated to a corrupt political machine of corrupt political bosses, the graft seekers and incompetent political appointees," Alvo Adams, candidate for governor, said Tuesday night.

Adams, who came here to set up his Duval County organization, spoke at a meeting of supporters. The former Florida Supreme Court justice who resigned from the bench to make the race for governor said "The present state administration is characterized by its brazen disregard of the public welfare."

"It has handed out positions of trust and responsibility to benchmen and incompetents to perpetuate its corrupt political machine," he said.

The Fort Pierce rancher said if elected "I will throw out the grafters and place men of ability and integrity in positions of trust and return our state to 'decent government'."

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Warren said today if Alvo Adams "knows of any graft in the state government 'under the present administration,' he himself is guilty of neglect of duty for taking no action to stop it."

Adams, who resigned from the State Supreme Court to become a candidate for governor, told Jacksonville supporters Tuesday night morals in the state government "have been subjected to a corrupt political machine, to corrupt political bosses, the graft seekers and incompetent political appointees."

Warren said Adams, former chief justice of the Supreme Court, "was the state's highest judicial officer with power to stop any unlawful act."

"If he not only hasn't taken any such action, but until he began running for governor, he hadn't even raised his voice against anything in the state government during this administration."

"If he can't prove his false charge about alleged graft, his only honorable alternative is to get out of the race and busy himself counting the millions he made while on the bench."

The governor declared if Adams "fails to furnish proof of the graft he alleged, this bewildered, confused candidate will stand convicted of trying to get votes for himself by lying to the people."

"Also, if he knows of the commission of a felony (graft) and fails to institute prosecution against the guilty party, he himself is guilty of the criminal offense called misprision of felony."

Adams said Tuesday night he did not deal in personalities in his campaign "though I can if I have

Lake County Suit Vs. Perry Papers Is Dismissed

JACKSONVILLE — A suit filed by a Tampa newspaperman against John H. Perry, owner of a string of newspapers and radio stations, was dismissed by Federal Judge Bryan Simpson today.

Emmett B. Peter Jr., former owner of two Lake County weekly newspapers and now a Tampa Morning Tribune reporter, said the Western Newspaper Union owned by Perry for $25,000 charging Perry twice refused in 1948 to sell newsprint and features to the Leesburg Leader.

Peter and Partners Jack Grant and Randall F. Dabis sold the Leader and the Lake County Citizen to the News Journal Company of Pensacola, a Perry paper, in 1949.

The suit charged violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, alleging the defendants "used the short supply of newsprint as an economic weapon against competitors."

Arguments in the case were heard recently and Judge Simpson's ruling said Peter did not show he or his business was hurt, that the damage was "incidental."

The jurist wrote that Peter "might be entitled to maintain some other form of action but not the statutory one brought."

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

The psalmist had no telescope, he could not see stars a billion light years away. The psalmist of God passes human understanding, yet His Kingdom is within us, too! When I consider the heavens, the work of thy fingers.—
 Ps. 8:1.

The Russians are said to have picked Georgi Malenkov as successor for Stalin. However, the final verdict will not be known until the last shot is fired.

Who said Florida wasn't the biggest cattle state in the South?
 Former State Rep. Midyette sold his herd of 27 Hereford bulls and 87 cows in Quincy the other day for $110,325. Bidders came from 26 states in the union to participate in the auction.

We wish our newspaper friends throughout the state would learn how to spell the name of Sanford's candidate for governor. It is Odham, and not Oldham, Odium, or Odum. Let's get on the ball, fellows, and get this thing right.

It's funny how the truth can vary from different points of view. Frank Costello's lawyer tells the judge in his New York trial that the well known underworld figure is "a man of integrity. He is entitled not only to fair play—an acquittal
 —he demands an exoneration".
 Yes, every man is entitled to fair play, even the biggest crook in the world.

President Truman is expected to ask Congress for about $85 billion to run the government for the next year. That does not make much of an impression on us because we do not know how much a billion dollars is, much less 85 billion dollars. However, somehow it seems to us we recall that the combined incomes of all the men, women and children in the country some 15 years ago were only about 35 billions.

Frank Costello, king of American racketeers goes on trial in New York City for contempt of the Senate. Not a very substantial charge to bring against one of the worst men in the country. But it must be remembered Costello's predecessor in crime, Al Capone, never went to jail for murder, vice, or thievery, but for not making out his income tax returns in a proper manner. It might be better to keep Costello behind bars for contempt of the Senate than not to keep him in jail at all.

Senator Pepper reveals that his political friends all over the state are urging him to get into the governor's race. Perhaps they realize that Pepper would not have much chance against the veteran and popular Senator Holland, or perhaps they feel that Pepper could do them more good in the governor's office during the next four years than he could in Washington where most of his old friends either are or soon will be on the way out. Whether the former senator would have any chance in the gubernatorial race is another question.

However much or little enthusiastic General Eisenhower's announcement that he is at least a presidential possibility stir up in this country, there is no doubt however that it leaves the Democrats cold. They would have him remain where he is. And yet Europeans must know that the worst thing that could happen to them at the moment would be the collapse of the United States either as an ally or as a military power.
 They must know too that the more drastic changes are made in Washington, the better
 the situation in Europe.

Money In The Bank

During 1951 the average American saved more money than he did in any of the five preceding years, according to Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer. Despite the fact that taxes and the cost of living increased during the year most people had more disposable income than they ever had before, and apparently many decided to bank some of it against a rainy day.

Secretary Sawyer calls the increased savings a brake on inflation, helping to keep it under control. He warns that if people should suddenly decide to take their savings out and put them into circulation the effect could be damaging to our economy. People with money to spend tend to bid up the prices of commodities; the most stringent price control system invented cannot keep prices down when people are willing to pay more for goods.

It is interesting to note that before 1951 the best years for personal savings were during World War II, when goods were scarce and people put their money aside until they could buy the things they wanted. Perhaps in the years that passed since 1946 people have satisfied their backlog of expensive needs and can now put more money in the bank as a matter of systematic savings. It is a reassuring thought that more people have bankbooks, and that they list larger deposits.

Taxpayers Letters

The Bureau of Internal Revenue received more than two hundred indignant replies to form letters sent out to taxpayers advising them to avoid errors in making income tax returns. Most of the replies mentioned tax scandals and mink coats and suggested that the Bureau clean up its own errors before worrying about those of honest citizens. The indignation of some of the letter writers is understandable. But there are things to be said for the Bureau's request, too.

The fact that scandals have been revealed among tax collectors has no bearing on the citizen's responsibility to make honest and accurate returns. Careless errors in filling out forms result in higher collection costs and can cause great inconvenience to the taxpayer who makes them. The purpose of the letter sent out by the Internal Revenue Bureau was to caution people against these expensive and troublesome mistakes.

Citizens should insist that wrongdoers be driven from government positions, but they should not try to make the fact that there have been and perhaps still are some wrongdoers in government serve as an excuse for not doing their own duty.

End Of The Stymie

The term "stymie" came into the language through the game of golf. It describes the situation in which the player whose turn it is to putt finds that some other player's ball lies between his ball and the hole, so that it is impossible for him to play his ball into the hole in a single stroke. The word has come into general use to indicate a situation in which a person is prevented, by some simple block which he is not permitted to remove, from an accomplishment which otherwise would be easily within his power.

Now the stymie has been eliminated from golf, by a change in the rules to permit removal of the ball which is in the way. It was decided that the stymie, a mechanical matter of the turn of play, was pointless in a game which is essentially one of skill and judgment in hitting the ball.

The stymies of more serious life situations, carefully examined, sometimes turn out to be equally pointless.

Ear Muffs Needed In Political Year To Down The Din

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Thought your earmuffs yet?

Well, you'd better buy 'em now, before the mad rush starts. No ears are likely to hear up under the political din between now and November without the protection of plugs or muffs.

The verbal Niagara Falls of "I view with alarm" and "We point with pride" is already flooding from the nation's 115 million radio and television sets.

And many statesmen haven't even warmed up their vocal chords for the campaign. They're still taking banjo and tap dance lessons, hoping that if they win a spot on Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scout Program they'll be able to slip over a few plugs for their favorite candidate.

What the average man already needs is a handy little guide on "How to Survive in an Election Year."

Some bartenders already are demanding sabbatical leaves, declaring the political tempests among their insipid at the rail will make life unbearable for the next nine months. Others are simply laying in a new supply of baseball bats.

"The average customer is a mouse," said one veteran highball jockey. "He is worried about his rising taxes or his falling hair, and he comes here only to complain about his wife or boss, or maybe—after a few drinks—to praise his dear old mother."

"But in election year what happens? The mouse becomes a lion, and after two drinks starts roaring about how to save the country. Put two mice next to each other who disagree, and they start throwing drinks and trying to gnaw each other to death. Either that or they bore everybody else to death, talking about something they don't know."

Here are a few quick tips on how you yourself can live without a black eye until balloting time:

1. If you must wear campaign buttons, wear two. One saving "Bryan or bust" and the other "Buck to McKinley." That will show you are non-partisan and independent.
2. If you feel you simply have to discuss the political situation at a bar, put a couple of ice cubes in your mouth first. You will know what you're saying, but nobody else will—no one's interested.
3. Avoid any machine altogether. It is this machine that caused my party to lose last year's election. I'm sure you know from a long experience that it's a bad idea.

Jailer Blocks Jail Break With Two Well Aimed Fists

MIAMI (AP)—Three prisoners in the Dade County skyscraper jail will testify today that Raymond Cowles, 25, is one tough jailer. The trio tried to break out Tuesday. Cowles snuffed the plan with his fists—and a few well aimed kicks.

As Cowles opened the gate of the bullpen on the 22nd floor, the three prisoners jumped him. The elevator operator, hearing the sounds of the scuffle, dropped to the 19th floor to get help from the jail officers.

Five armed deputies rushed to Cowles' aid, only to find the jailer leading three thoroughly subdued prisoners to a cell block.

Fred Grosse, 28, of Miami, charged with bigamy, an writing bad checks, was so badly beaten he had to be taken to a hospital. Suffering from cuts and bruises were Roy Gee, 23, of Toronto, Canada, who is awaiting trial on charges of assault with intent to kill, and Marsden Hutto, 18, of Miami, convicted of auto larceny. Cowles had a few cuts and bruises, too.

NO REACTIVATION

TAMPA (AP)—The Navy has taken over the old Tampa Shipbuilding Co. facilities but denies it will reactivate the wartime yards.

The Navy, which had owned part of the equipment, explained it wanted all the facilities under one ownership. It said it might lease the yard to a private concern.

It paid $300,000 for the property to a firm headed by Louis E. Tucker of Jacksonville and Washington.

RITA RETURNS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Rita Hayworth, under suspension since Dec. 13 because she didn't like the script of a movie, is slated to return to work Thursday on the same picture.

When and if the picture gets under way, it will be her first in two years. In the meantime she married and separated from Prince Aly Khan.

MANSLAUGHTER?

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—Police held Lemmie Tucker Jr., 23, on manslaughter charges Tuesday after a bread truck driven by Tucker backed over and killed James Woodward, 63, at the Ward Baking Co. Tucker also was charged with reckless operation of a motor vehicle and driving without a state permit.

Mayor Promises Intensive Probe In Kidnaping Case

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Mayor Earl Glade has promised a "searching" investigation into police activities during the 79 days that a young, pudgy-cheeked used car salesman held a teen-age boy in brutal captivity.

The salesman, John D. Billett, 24, nabbed Monday on a bank robbery charge when police sprung a "tearoom trap," is accused of kidnaping 14-year-old Richard (Ricky) Hendricksen in Ricky (Ricky) Hendricksen was held captive, much of the time chained to a bed, while a search for him spread over the nation.

"The house was less than a block from a large church and was located near a busy intersection," Glade declared. "The man had to enter and leave the house at least once a day so surely someone could have followed him there."

Billett, a used car salesman at a lot where Ricky washed cars, was originally questioned in the lad's disappearance.

Capt. M. D. McGinness, police plainclothes division commander, said Billett had been "talled" by officers from Nov. 1 until "about 10 days ago."

McGinness said "Billett knew we were following him and always managed to give us the slip."

Ricky said fear for his life, and that of his family, kept him from attempting to escape. He claimed that Billett beat him but kept him well fed and supplied with comic books.

Billett was arrested in a downtown department store tearoom eight hours after a lone gunman stepped out of a snowstorm and robbed the First Security Bank of Utah's Eighth South Branch. Most of the $20,000 taken has been recovered.

Ricky was reunited with his family, and the Hendricksens joyfully staged a belated Christmas and observed Ricky's birthday, which was Nov. 7, nearly three weeks after the lad disappeared.

Billett emphatically denied that he made any sexual advances toward the boy.

Hints to Housewives

As in past years, Florida housewives will be endeavoring to keep themselves and their families healthy and happy in 1952. So, early in this new year, they may well take cognizance of some of the directions and hints which can help them to accomplish this very worthy objective.

A few ideas that should be kept in mind throughout the year: Plan and prepare meals that will appeal to the appetite of members of the family and also will be adequate and well balanced—a goal, well balanced diet is a primary requirement for good health.

Take advantage of all opportunities to save effort and time in cooking and other household work, and utilize new developments resulting from research in food preparation and house-keeping in general.

Practice safety in the kitchen and elsewhere and impress upon others the importance of safety to avoid accidents and trouble.

Avoid waste of food and other materials.

Equipment such as the refrigerator, electric iron, vacuum cleaner, washing machine, utensils, and cutlery is expensive, so it should be used according to directions and kept in good repair for long and satisfactory service. Some home equipment may be in shorter supply than usual this year because of the defense program, so good care is especially important now.

As flowers give cheer to the home, grow some flowers if possible.

As each individual benefits from community progress, the homemaker should take part in as many activities and programs as possible for community improvement.

Costello Doctor Denies Gambler Couldn't Testify

Sore Throat Was Not Reason Costello Dodged Crime Group

NEW YORK (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello's throat doctor told a federal jury Tuesday he had advised Costello he was fit to answer questions last March 16—about three hours before he asked one of a Senate Crime Committee hearing.

Costello contended at the March 16 hearing that acute laryngitis made it impossible for him to testify without aggravating the condition.

He is on trial on 11 charges of contempt of the U. S. Senate for refusal to answer a number of questions before the committee and for walking out.

U. S. Attorney Myles J. Lane may complete the prosecution's case today. One of his witnesses will be Hurlough Halley, former chief counsel for the Senate committee and now president of the New York City Council. The jury was selected Monday and the trial got under way Tuesday.

Costello's physician, Dr. Douglas Quicker, called by the government, said he told Costello March 16 it would be safe for him to testify up to two hours if he limited his answers and avoided straining his voice.

Defense Counsel George Wolf failed in attempts to get the doctor to say that Costello's condition on March 16 made it vital for him to remain silent.

Costello testified before the committee on March 13 and 14 and staged his first walkout March 15, saying he wasn't well enough to testify. He was scheduled for more questioning on the afternoon of the 16th.

Lane's opening prosecution statement to the jury outlined the indictment concerning Costello's walkouts and his refusal to answer several questions. One key question was about his net worth.

Wolf denied Costello was connected with underworld leaders as alleged by the Senate Crime Committee.

Wolf denied Costello was connected with underworld leaders as alleged by the Senate Crime Committee—and declared he was not guilty of contempt.

Costello, if convicted on all counts, faces a maximum penalty of 11 years in prison and $11,000 in fines.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A jury of six quickly today for the contempt of Congress trial of Jacob (Greasy Thumb) Guzik, officially described as a leader of one of the nation's biggest crime syndicates.

Guzik, a short, pudgy gray-haired man in his sixties, watched the proceedings intently. He acquired his nickname, Greasy Thumb, because of a money-handling job he is reputed to have held in the old Capone gang.

The five-count indictment against Guzik grew out of his refusal to answer questions when he appeared as a witness before the Senate Crime Committee last March 22.

Horco Piscitelli, described by the committee as another leader of the Capone syndicate, will follow Guzik on trial.

The indictments against Guzik and Piscitelli say they "unlawfully refused" to answer questions which were pertinent to the committee's investigation of criminal activities.

Guzik, who acted as his own counsel, refused to answer dozens of questions on the ground they "may incriminate me or tend to incriminate me."

He talked so much about the possibility of incriminating himself that Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) asked: "Where did you get this phrase you have been using all the time?"

"I have heard it on the television," Guzik replied.

Even the official record noted "laughter."

This time Guzik is represented by William H. Collins, who has appeared in many widely publicized criminal trials.

Truman And Churchill Pledge Fullest Cooperation In Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill today pledged their governments to full support of a "European defense community" with Germany a "full and equal partner."

An official communique summarizing the results of four days of talks between the chiefs of state of the United States and Britain, pledged their determination to work jointly to insure world "peace and security."

Mr. Truman and Churchill reported a "complete identity of aims" in promoting stability, peaceful development and economic progress in the Middle East.

As to the Far East, Mr. Truman and Churchill reported a "broad harmony of view."

"We recognize that the overriding need is to counter the Communist threat in that area transcending such divergencies as there are in our policies toward China," the communique said.

The communique noted that the question of standardizing rifles used by the U. S. and Britain was discussed, but said "that neither country wishes 'at this critical time' to take the momentous step of changing its rifle."

Hope was expressed that "agreement may be announced shortly" on an exchange of strategic defense materials. The two discussed the shipment of U. S. steel to Britain in exchange for aluminum and tin, the communique reported.

Churchill and Mr. Truman gave their joint backing to a proposal that the World Bank take the lead in working out a solution to the bitter dispute between Iran and England over the seizure of oil properties in Iran.

Chinese Agree To All Demands Except Airfields

PARIS (AP)—The United Nations Political Committee approved a Russian demand today for a high level Security Council meeting to take up immediately Korean truce negotiations. But it agreed in such a meeting, when useful.

The committee's vote on refusing to bring Korean truce negotiations into a special Security Council session was 10 to 8, with 11 abstentions.

By DON HUTH
MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Communists today submitted a new counter-proposal agreeing to all Allied terms for supervising a Korean armistice except a ban on rebuilding Red airfields. The U. N. Command promptly rejected the compromise.

The future of Red airfields is the basic point of dispute. "There is no major disagreement still existing except that of airfields," said Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner, U. N. negotiator. "That has been the major disagreement throughout."

The Communist counter-proposal formally accepted Allied demands for troop rotation, replenishment of supplies, and supervision of the truce by neutrals.

Truman Message

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman today announced that he had received a message from the Soviet Union regarding the Korean truce negotiations.

The message, according to the President, stated that the Soviet Union was willing to discuss the truce terms proposed by the United Nations Command.

President Truman said that he had immediately directed the Joint Chiefs of Staff to study the message and to report back to him as soon as possible.

The President also announced that he had directed the State Department to continue its efforts to bring about a truce in Korea as soon as possible.

He said that he was confident that a truce could be achieved in the near future, and that this would be a major step towards the peaceful settlement of the Korean problem.

The President's message to the Korean people was one of hope and confidence, and he expressed his belief that a truce would be achieved in the near future.

HOLLYWOOD By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Many people complain about the lack of morality in American life, but few do anything about it.

One of the exceptions is Charles Laughton. It seems strange casting for the portrayer of Henry VIII and Captain Bligh to appear as a moralist in real life. But it is true, even though Laughton himself would deny it publicly.

In fact, he won't allow a reporter to quote him about current reports of immorality in the nation's social makeup. A cautious fellow, Laughton dislikes controversy and does not want to offend anyone. About the only thing he will say is, "People are learning that dollars do not mean morals."

While he refuses to preach, Laughton is putting his beliefs into action. In the past three years, he has traveled throughout the land, bringing classics and their moral values to all kinds of audiences.

As his only commentary on American morals, the actor offered this story: "I was coming West on the train and fell into a conversation with a man who was sitting opposite me. As it turned out, he was a lithographer and we discussed lithography, about which I know a little."

"Later, we were talking about the movies and TV. The man complained about their lack of morality and said he had trouble rearing his children in an upright manner because of the entertainment they see. I asked him what type of product he made. He was ashamed to admit that he produced sex pictures for calendars."

"Ah, ha," I told him. "You do that kind of work and then complain about the lack of morality in entertainment for your children?"

Laughton is playing a film role (in "The Fall House") in between engagements with the classics. He

Truman Raps Ike As G.O.P. Candidate

President Thinks U.S. Can't Thrive Under G.O.P. Even With Ike As President

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman said today if Dwight D. Eisenhower wants to run for President—and he is the target for mud and rotten eggs—it's all right with him. But when he was asked if he would support Eisenhower, Truman said he doesn't think the country would prosper under any Republican candidate.

Mr. Truman stressed at his news conference what he has said many times before: He has a high opinion of Eisenhower, and he likes him and he wants him to stay on as the top commander of united military forces in Europe.

He's doing a good job, Mr. Truman said.

And, he said, Eisenhower will stay on the job until he himself asks to be relieved. If Eisenhower should receive the Republican presidential nomination, Mr. Truman said, of course he will have to resign his position.

In other highlights of his weekly meeting with newsmen, Mr. Truman said:

1. He has given up the idea of a special commission to ferret out wrongdoings in the government. Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, as the government's chief law enforcement officer, will carry out the job. He said McGrath will remain in the Cabinet.
2. He has named a committee to see that firms with government contracts do not discriminate in hiring workers. The contracts carry a provision forbidding discrimination. Heading the committee on compliance is Dwight H. G. Palmer, chairman of the board of the General Cable Corp.
3. He has named a committee to see that the five state judges distinguished awards, which are awarded annually to five outstanding young men of Florida, by the Sanford Divisions of their luncheon in the Yacht Club this afternoon.

NEW CITY COMMISSION

Sanford's new City Commission took over the management of city affairs Tuesday night following the seating of John Kader and W. H. Stepper as commissioners and the election of Mr. Stepper as mayor. Left to right are Andrew Caraway, John Kader, Mayor Stepper, Randall Chase and John Lee.

Volie Williams Is Selected As Outstanding JC

Record In Last Legislature Cited By Judge Stenstrom

Rep. Volie Williams, Jr., was nominated by the Seminole Junior Chamber of Commerce for one of the five state judges distinguished awards, which are awarded annually to five outstanding young men of Florida, by the Sanford Divisions of their luncheon in the Yacht Club this afternoon.
