

Tasty Soups, Sauces

Copley News Service

Soups and sauces are popular on a low-saturated fat diet. Thoroughly chill prepared soup stock or drippings from meat or poultry. Lift off and discard the hardened fat. The broth may be used as a soup base, as a clear broth, as a cooking liquid for vegetables, rice, pastas, or in the preparation of gravies, sauces or casseroles dishes.

Area Trucking Firms Reject Plans For Blockading Roads

Trucking companies in the Sanford area have no plans to strike or set up road blockades in protest of lowered speed limits and increased gas prices, according to several local trucking managers contacted today.

W. W. Horne of Horne Distributors Inc., said as far as he knew protests would not take the form of a strike. "My company is trying to do it the right way by going through the political channels in Washington," said Horne.

He said their primary concern is the 55 mph maximum speed limit for trucks proposed by President Nixon. Horne explained large trucks operate at maximum efficiency at 60 mph and use more gas when doing lower speeds. He added if gas prices are increased significantly he will have to raise his trucking rates.

W. P. Ball of Ball Trucking Co. said he has heard of no proposed protest action, nor had Dave Brinkley of All-States Truck Service Inc. "It's mostly the union drivers who are striking," said Brinkley. "There'll be some drivers here going along with it, and I don't blame them. There'll also be people trying to tear up trucks, throwing bricks and slashing tires at the truck stops. You expect that with strikes."

Protesting truckers on the Ohio Turnpike ended their 24-hour blockade of the highway early today as talks continued on two other major roadways in the state.

The massive rigs began rolling shortly before highway patrolmen accompanied by National Guard tow trucks assembled near the traffic jam, apparently ready to force movement by the 1,400 trucks.

Sections of Ohio's other major east-west highway, Interstate 70, and the north-south Interstate 75, remained closed, however.

About 200 trucks were reported blocking I-75 near the turnpike at Toledo. I-70 was blocked for about 10 miles near Columbus.

At daybreak, trucks also blocked U.S. 20 in the Elyria area, and U.S. 25 was closed near Ashland, the highway patrol said.

On the turnpike, Walt Lowery, a trucker who met Wednesday night with representatives of the Transportation Department, said the drivers felt they had dramatized their complaints about higher fuel prices and lower speed limits. He said the truckers would wait 10 days to see what action was taken on their complaints in Washington.

2 Say Gurney Got Slush Funds

MIAMI (AP) — Federal investigators have the sworn testimony of two men who told them Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., knew of about $45,000 to $50,000 in unreported cash contributions delivered to his office last year, the Miami Herald said today.

The Herald said the July 1972 delivery of the cash to Gurney's inner office safe in Washington came more than three months after a federal campaign fund reporting law went into effect, but the money was not reported as required by the law.

Gurney could not be reached for comment. He has a scheduled news conference at 7 p.m., EST in Jacksonville to answer allegations of over $300,000 in unreported contributions received by his office. The news conference is to be broadcast statewide.

The Herald quoted unnamed sources as saying Larry E. Williams, described as a former Gurney fund raiser, and administrative assistant Jim Groot told federal investigators of the cash delivery.

Motels Say Cancellations Up As Fuel Supply Down

Local motels and large hotels in areas in the state where tourists usually drive for the Christmas holidays have reported sharp increases in cancellations in the last week, probably due to the gasoline shortage.

"We most certainly have had cancellations due to the gas shortage," said Ellis Washington, manager of the 8 Days Inn on SR 46 at 14. "We've dropped almost 40 per cent."

Assistant manager of the Holiday Inn in Sanford, John Ward said they have had "some" cancellations due to the gas shortage through Christmas and into February.

Cancellations were also reported by Altamonte Holiday Inn manager Martin Tolbeck. "We've had two or three cancellations," he said, "but other guests have shown up, so it doesn't look too bad."

The Ramanda Inn on SR 436 in Altamonte Springs also reported a few cancellations. "Two said they were cancelling because of the gas situation," said motel secretary Ann Harlan. "It doesn't look as if it's going to be as bad as they say, but Christmas isn't here yet."

The state tourism director Morris Ford said today while cancellations have been reported from motels along the highways, reservations have increased in Miami Beach where most of the tourists fly to tourists," said assistant manager Gyle Workman.

Manager of the Sheraton Motor Inn on SR 436 at 14, Paul Doyon, said he had no comment.

TWO INJURED AS TRUCK HITS OVERPASS

A WALKER HAULING truck carrying sand crashed into the I-4 overpass on SR 46 today while trying to avoid hitting a car which pulled out in front of him, Highway Patrolman Robert Lovering said. Both the driver of the truck, Marvin Mars, and the driver of the car, Daniel George of Miami, were taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital. Their conditions were not available at press time and no charges have been filed. Other information was unavailable.

Today we find that Orange County announced the hiring of just such an individual. Their proposed pay scale of $10,000 is chicken-feed, however.

Someone who really knew the ropes and could handle the mountain of red tape expeditiously, would be worth five to 10 times that amount to each of the 24 taxpayers in the amount of money he could save.

Ford To Take Vice President's Oath Of Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—An early evening ceremony has been scheduled to swear in Gerald R. Ford as vice president, with confirmation by the House, his final hurdle, viewed as a near certainty.

The swearing-in session, which President Nixon was expected to attend, was set to follow today's House vote on Ford's nomination.

Ford's expected confirmation would mark the first use of the 25th Amendment to the Constitution to fill a vacancy in the vice presidency.

The office has been vacant since Oct. 10, when Spiro T. Agnew, facing charges of criminal wrongdoing, resigned. President Nixon nominated Ford two days later.

The 60-year-old Michigan congressman, the House Republican leader, served 25 years in the House. He was confirmed 93-2 by the Senate Nov. 27 and a similar lopsided vote was expected today.

The outcome was so certain that plans were made for a joint meeting of the House and Senate, at which Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren E. Burger would administer the oath.

Ford told newsmen Wednesday he had "mixed emotions about leaving all my friends and institutions that I have grown so fond of." But, he added, "At the same time I am looking forward to the real challenge down the road."

There has been limited opposition to Ford's nomination, mostly in reaction to Nixon's Watergate problems.

Several members think Congress should delay Ford's confirmation until the outcome of impeachment proceedings against Nixon. One of them, Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., contends that Nixon "is clearly under a cloud, unprecedented in the history of the Republic and seriously undermining his ability to govern."

Kastenmeier said that under the circumstances, Ford's nomination is a "hastened appointment."

Rep. Jerome R. Waldie, D-Calif., another opponent of the nomination, said Nixon is so insecure in the Presidency that he probably will not finish out his term.

Vihlen Predicts Double Sessions For Schools

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

County Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Wednesday night painted a gloomy picture for the CALNO Council, predicting every school in the county with two exceptions will be on double sessions with six to seven years if Seminole's growth rate continues and tax reform is not accomplished.

Vihlen said the only exceptions would be Lake Monroe and Geneva schools.

He said there is no doubt a gap in Florida's ad valorem tax structure exists, adding a new homeowner can get by without paying taxes on the full value of his property for as long as 27 months. "This has been pointed out to the legislators for years," Vihlen said.

Vihlen's remarks were made during a discussion with Rep. Vince Fecthel on the possibilities of having statewide legislative power provided for the assessment of new homes when occupied rather than the beginning of the new year.

Vihlen agreed with Fecthel that a local act for Seminole County in this regard may be unconstitutional and that general legislation is necessary. Fecthel said he is working on legislation currently and hopes to see reform adopted during the next session.

Planning Study Passes
The CALNO planning studies initial housing element calling for the creation of an independent housing authority was approved on a 2-1 vote, in spite of Casselberry Mayor Bill Grier and Lake Mary Councilman John Norden's pleas Wednesday night for delay.

Grier said a resolution approving the section was not made available to the Casselberry city council and he had not had an opportunity to get the board's feelings on the matter.

Norden noting the current "precarious position" of the Lake Mary city council also urged delay. However, Granville Brown, Lawrence Swofford and Eugene Jaques mayors of Winter Springs, Altamonte Springs and Longwood, respectively, voted for approval.

Action on a budget for 1974, however, was tabled until new CALNO representatives are named from Altamonte and Winter Springs. With Donald Jackson, mayor of Lake Mary, in a run-off with Margie Hess on Dec. 18, Lake Mary's official representative is also in question.

Brown said he believed the CALNO representatives would be the same in 1974, but got a "rude awakening" Tuesday night when he was defeated in the Winter Springs city elections.

Lame Duck Brown
"Here it is the day before an old lame duck Brown has to appear alone," Brown told CALNO members, insisting the group follow through on its announced fight to get repeal of the Mooney annexation law.

Brown and with assistance from Swofford fought down a motion to table the repeal fight, noting the group at its November meeting agreed to make an appearance before the local legislative delegation tonight at the county level.

Fecthel making his second appearance at a CALNO meeting in recent months was put on the hot seat by mayors criticizing the law Wednesday night.

Branding it, effective only in Seminole County, a "spite bill," Swofford said the law requiring public hearings, advertisement and notice of impending annexations is costly to the taxpayers.

County Engineer Bush Warns Gas Crisis May Hit Road Work

"people need to know what the effects can be in a reduction in gas tax revenues," adding that even if projects pledged by gas taxes are not set back, such "surplus" projects as improving SR 427 might fall by the wayside.

"The first effect of a reduction in tax revenues would be to skim off the non-bond issue projects," Bush said. "And if we really go into a hole, we may have to reduce the bond issue projects themselves."

Assuming no drastic reductions, Bush said, the $6.2 million issue will fund a four-phase right of way acquisition and widening project for SR 434 between SR 436 in the west county and SR 419 in Winter Springs.

The SR 419 project, to be done in two phases reaching into 1975 or 1976, will see the road straightened into Orlando, and four-lane right of way acquisition secured while property values are still relatively low, Bush said.

The 424 and 419 projects will produce a four-lane "loop road" across the entire south end of the county, Bush said.

HEATHROW DELAYED
Commissioners continued until Dec. 27 approving the $25-million Heathrow development, preferring to wait until after a Dec. 17 "summit conference" between the State Department of Transportation and other massive developments along the I-4 corridor in Seminole County.

Traffic impact of Heathrow, expected to generate 20,000 auto trips per day when it reaches its peak of up to 12,000 residents was a major concern cited by the board during Tuesday's Development of Regional Impact hearing, the second such hearing in the past two weeks.

Previously, commissioners gave the green light to the relatively small Sweetwater Oaks development, but expressed similar concern over traffic loads.

HYACINTH PLAN CLOGGED
Commissioner Greg Drummond's plan to bring a water hyacinth harvester to the St. Johns at Osteen Bridge, as apparently fallen through because an experimental machine being developed by the state has not worked out.

Drummond Tuesday released a letter from the state Department of Natural Resources apologizing, in effect, for canceling on last August's agreement to supply a harvester in January.

Noting that the county has budgeted $17,000 for the project, however, the letter held out a small ray of hope in the form of a harvester currently stationed in another part of the state which has not been formally re-contracted for at its present location.

But the letter warns, "neither of our present machines would provide the control you desire," Drummond said he will keep trying.

Sanford zoning and planning commission members are scheduled to view preliminary site plans and concepts for a 208 unit, two story condominium project at tonight's 8 p.m. meeting at city hall.

The project is proposed for 13 acres east of Terwilliger Lane and north of West First Street. A city building department spokesman said the tract is properly zoned and the applicants, identified only as Mr. Morgan and Mr. Cooper, are making the presentation to "get the feeling of the board on concept and density."

Other site development plans to be reviewed are for expansion of Economy Cars of Sanford at 118 1/2 Airport Boulevard and a new building at Seminole Paint and Body Shop, 2540 S. Myrtle Avenue.

Public hearings will be held on requests for change from restricted commercial to general commercial zoning at the southwest corner of Sanford Avenue and 26th Street and single family residential to restricted commercial zoning at the northeast corner of Seventh Street and Locust Avenue.

John Peters Jr. is scheduled to request a conditional use permit for an automobile repair shop in an existing building at the corner of Maple Avenue and Commercial Street. The property is zoned general commercial.

Previously scheduled consideration of a site development plan for a Sizzling Steak House on U.S. 17-92 north of McDonald's has been postponed at request of the applicant, according to building officials.

advance of the decision making data for boundaries to avoid the sessions which resulted when angry parents turned out en masse to protest the perpetual change of high school districts in September.

The idea of year-around school seemed to be far and away to the most favorable to the parents.

Board members said the year-around sessions would immediately eliminate the overcrowding problem because the capacity of the schools would be increased by one-quarter.

School Supt. William P. Leyer said he is strongly opposed to the all-year school idea labeled "45-15" because students are staggered in 45 day sessions with 15 vacation days.

"I am against '45-15' because it is very disruptive to the family situation and it is expensive to operate," Leyer explained.

The board declined to implement the proposal a year-and-a-half ago because of parental opposition. At that time the board asked for a feasibility study on the "45-15" system.

Leyer said he favors building more schools, adding he feels that solution because of the four mills passed last November.

"I think the county's growth rate is declining and our studies affirm it," Leyer said adding, "I don't see how it is possible for Seminole County to continue to expand at a 30 per cent yearly growth rate."

Many parents favored school construction, but when Board Member Jean Bryant said that the majority of parents favor that solution because of the four mills passed last November.

Parents suggested buying portable classrooms but board members explained that this would limit the money which could be used for construction of permanent structures.

The Seminole County School Board made no motions at a Wednesday work session on high school zoning but a group of parents offered ideas and popped questions, and board members agreed to hold a similar session in two weeks.

The session was called for a year-and-a-half ago because of parental opposition. At that time the board asked for a feasibility study on the "45-15" system.

Leyer said he favors building more schools, adding he feels that solution because of the four mills passed last November.

Z-P Board To Review Site Plans

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford zoning and planning commission members are scheduled to view preliminary site plans and concepts for a 208 unit, two story condominium project at tonight's 8 p.m. meeting at city hall.

The project is proposed for 13 acres east of Terwilliger Lane and north of West First Street. A city building department spokesman said the tract is properly zoned and the applicants, identified only as Mr. Morgan and Mr. Cooper, are making the presentation to "get the feeling of the board on concept and density."

Other site development plans to be reviewed are for expansion of Economy Cars of Sanford at 118 1/2 Airport Boulevard and a new building at Seminole Paint and Body Shop, 2540 S. Myrtle Avenue.

Public hearings will be held on requests for change from restricted commercial to general commercial zoning at the southwest corner of Sanford Avenue and 26th Street and single family residential to restricted commercial zoning at the northeast corner of Seventh Street and Locust Avenue.

John Peters Jr. is scheduled to request a conditional use permit for an automobile repair shop in an existing building at the corner of Maple Avenue and Commercial Street. The property is zoned general commercial.

Previously scheduled consideration of a site development plan for a Sizzling Steak House on U.S. 17-92 north of McDonald's has been postponed at request of the applicant, according to building officials.

FIREMAN POURS WATER ON BURNING HOUSE... Cause of fire undetermined (Herald Photo by Mark Weintz)

Fireman Complain Fire District Limits Hazy

"There was confusion as to whose fire it was because the fire district boundaries keep changing," Rasooli said.

Casselberry Police Chief George Karcher agreed when he said, "It is not always clearly understood what is in the city and what is not because of the frequent annexations. This particular house is on a strip of land which is surrounded by county property."

Fortunately the fire was put out and the departments were able to work together, Rasooli said.

The old house is in a deserted area behind Slovak Gardens and there were no neighbors to report it although witnesses said children were seen running from the area when the incident occurred, Rasooli said.

Firemen had to contend with live electrical wires which shorted out and sent sparks flying, Rasooli said, adding, "I don't understand why the power was on in the house."

Florida Power and Light officials shut off the power while detectives combed the area for clues.

A fuel can with a red bandanna tied to the handle was set aside for examination.

The fire was reported to the Fern Park Department about the time firemen from the Seminole-Goldenrod department saw the smoke while they were fighting a brush fire nearby.

The fire was in the Casselberry district and that agency was contacted after firemen on the scene realized the fire was not in their boundary.

"There was a communication problem but it did not affect the outcome of this fire," Mike Lejo said.

"I would like to see more encompassing mutual aid agreements between the various fire departments," Rasooli said.

The St. Johns-River Canal District board has elected board member Everett Huskey of Maitland to succeed Chrisman, Sanford, as chairman of the board until the 1974 Legislature dissolves the district some time next year.

Krider's resignation will leave only three members on the district board: Huskey, W. A. Patrick, Sanford, and Edwin Sanders, DeLand. There has been no fifth member since construction of a canal linking Sanford and Titusville.

He has now resigned from the district effective when his Nov. 15 appointment by Gov. Reubin Askew to the new St. Johns River Water Management District is confirmed by the secretary of state's office.

In October Krider told the board he saw no feasible way of continuing with the canal. "I'm realistic," he said. "I can't spend money on something I no longer believe in. Inflation has caught up with us and we should face the facts."

Smith Backs Hess In Lake Mary

By J. RICHARDS
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY-- Defeated candidate for mayor Charles Smith today endorsed Margie Hess in her Dec. 18 run-off election with Acting Mayor Don Jackson.

Smith, a self-employed truck driver, said he expects most of the 91 votes he garnered in his "quiet campaign" based on a no-growth platform to go to Mrs. Hess.

Mrs. Hess, owner of Hess Hardware in Lake Mary, said she was "thrilled to death" about the endorsement, but was concerned about keeping the newly-incorporated city's citizens active in the run-off.

Jackson, a realtor and chamber of commerce president who spearheaded the community's drive for incorporation earlier this year, was unavailable for comment.

In the other run-off slated for the city, council hopefuls Lou Blankenship and Ursula West have not announced endorsements from either Terry Morris or Frank Bailey.

Lash, Norden and Terry are all acting councilmen appointed at the city's incorporation.

Also, the $17,000 annual salary which went with the position while Swofford held it was created by ordinance set to expire with the closing of Swofford's term Jan. 1.

Green Meadows Fixes Four Inactive Hydrants

The "sur inactive fire hydrants at Fern Park's Green Meadows Apartments have been repaired. Fire Lt. David Halstead said today, adding "things are now vastly improved."

The apartment developers Wednesday installed "dry-pipe valves" which automatically provides fire water when a hydrant is turned on, thus clearing up the "possibly catastrophic" situation discovered last week by Halstead, who said inadequate water pressure was available in the event of a fire.

County utilities chief Rich Parmelee, who inspected the new valve with Halstead and Indian Hills Utilities engineers, today said by-pass valve "is the type of equipment which should have been installed in the first place, because it is specified in the original plans."

Parmelee said he joined the county after a March 15 insurance inspection apparently found the hydrants working satisfactorily, and could not comment on what happened at that time.

"In any event," Parmelee said, "Green Meadows is completely clear now."

Reader Fred J. Harris poses an interesting observation . . . why does the state have to spend $28,500 of taxpayer's money in order to get all of the state's speed limit signs changed to the lower rate of speed?

Add a similar amount when this crisis is over and you've blown over a half-million dollars.

Why can't we just purchase the new limit and let it go?

Nah, that's too simple (and expensive, right)?

Energy Emergency

American People Facing Challenge

COPLEY NEWS

The stock market often tells us more about national emotions than the actual outlook for the American economy. It is a safe bet that its slide downward since the scope of our energy problem suddenly began to emerge reflects uncertainty more than anything. Exactly how the energy crisis will be felt in economic terms is unknown, but there is no reason why getting along with less petroleum for a while should knock a country like the United States of America for a loop.

This crisis is unlike many others our nation has faced because it is based on a set of facts rather than a set of unknowns. The Arab oil embargo has thrown us a curve, but even before the Middle East war we knew that in the coming decade we faced power shortages, higher fuel prices and a host of other problems stemming from our profigate use of energy and the lag in development of oil, gas and coal and nuclear resources to satisfy our needs.

The facts have prompted Congress to act with urgency on the legislation requested by President Nixon. Many steps for energy conservation taken at the federal level must be based on fairness and common sense in measuring the impact on the national security, industrial production, the business world and our personal lives.

It makes no sense, obviously, to tell bus lines to curtail their service at the same time Americans are being urged to ride a bus instead of driving their cars. Some new distinctions between convenience and necessity are in order. One of the greatest challenges lies in adjusting our anti-pollution programs and other environmental goals to immediate realities. The importance of environmental protection is not diminished one whit by the fuel crisis, but we are faced with changing—at least for the time being—our concept of what is acceptable and unacceptable in the way of environmental impact as it relates to fuel and energy production. A new scale of values will see us through. Objections to year-round Daylight Saving Time are dwarfed by the opportunity it presents to reduce power consumption. The number of motorists who are not waiting for an official reduction in speed limits to hold their cars to 50 miles per hour is an encouraging sign of public awareness of where the solution to energy problems lies. Reaching for a sweater instead of turning up a thermostat, after all, is a mild sacrifice compared to some the American people have made in national emergencies in the past.

Free Enterprise Still The Best

COPLEY NEWS

In a nation where the living standard invites world envy, it is incongruous that the American system of doing business must be constantly at the ready for a stiff defense.

But lack of understanding of the free enterprise concept by a pampered public and continuing assaults from persistent adversaries have prompted the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to mount a counterattack. The chamber has launched a program to improve the stature of the business community by involving it more vigorously in the field of education, communications, politics and judicial action.

Preconditions

Stopping Mideast War Carousel

Copley News

Peace in the Middle East depends upon these preconditions: First, Israel must be willing to return most of the territory seized from the Arabs in the 1967 war and all of the additional territory seized in the war this year.

Second, the Arabs must be willing to recognize the legal existence of the nation of Israel and give up claims to Arab territories occupied by Israel prior to 1967. Israel has been unwilling to give up strategic strong points needed for self-defense. The Sinai desert provides a buffer zone in which to stop an Egyptian invasion before the enemy reaches the borders of Israel. The Golan Heights provide protection against shelling by Syrian forces.

Some kind of guarantee by other nations outside the Middle East will be needed to give Israel assurance that its pre-1967 borders will be protected against any military threat from the Arabs if Israel gives up the Arab lands taken in 1967. The guarantee must be convincing to the Arabs and Israelis alike. The United States could provide such a convincing guarantee. The question is whether we should.

A two-nation security treaty between the United States and Israel has been proposed by Sen. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The proposal has been endorsed by W. W. Hottel, who was President Johnson's national security adviser.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger said in Peking last week that such a formal arrangement, similar to the Soviet Union's bilateral arrangements with Egypt, Syria, Iraq and a number of other Arab countries, is "one of the ideas that is under consideration." Pledging U.S. help to a small country in danger of invasion makes

The Snoop's On You

Copyright 1973 by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON — Snoop's reputation has become a major, if pernicious, industry in America. Each year, an estimated 100 million Americans are spied upon by credit sleuths, who constantly pry into the financial status, sex habits, personal friendships and other private affairs of ordinary citizens.

The findings are often used to destroy reputations. People have been blacklisted by banks because of their appearance, housekeeping, driving habits and sexual conduct.

Yet the Senate has quietly buried a bill which would have dealt a blow to private prying. The bill would have given the victims the right to inspect their credit reports. It also would have required their prior consent before their neighbors could be asked specific questions.

But the banking, insurance and other industries, which employ the snoops, put on the pressure. Senators John Sparkman, D-Ala., Wallace Bennett, R-Utah, William Brock, R-Tenn., and Edward Brooke, R-Mass., teamed up against Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and William Hathaway, D-Maine, to sidetrack the bill in a Senate subcommittee.

Trivial Reasons Meanwhile, credit applicants continue to be turned down without being told why. We have obtained copies of confidential credit reports, which reveal that loan applications can be rejected for the most trivial reasons. One applicant had trouble getting financing, for example, because "he got an infection in his right foot, causing his Big Toe and Little Toe to swell and peel; these were seen, and they present an infected, swollen appearance."

Other grounds cited in the confidential reports are "sloathful housekeeping," "poorly groomed" and even "heaven forbid — defamatory in speaking of insurance companies." But the credit snoops seem to have a prurient interest in what goes on in the bedrooms. One credit report on an insurance applicant states that "she is promiscuous in her actions one to the fact she has child born out of wedlock and she is seen entertaining male companions on the beds in her apartment."

"Dates Often" A private eye, tattleing on another victim, placed forever in her records "We did find some criticism of morals. She has one illegitimate child... She dates often." Another scandal seeker reported 47 per cent of all votes cast nationwide, while Richard Nixon was capturing an astounding 42 per cent of the votes of self-identified Democrats and 64 per cent of the votes of self-identified independents.

A new study by the University of Michigan's Center for Political Studies claims that the key to the 1972 election was not candidate personality nor the traditionally important party loyalty but rather the issues before the nation and the political ideologies of the voters.

While party loyalty has for some time been a predictable and restraining influence on the American electorate, the 1972 election, the study's authors say, witnessed the emergence of national policy issues as crucial factors in presidential politics.

"Above all else," they write, "the outcome of the election was the result of the ideological polarization within the Democratic ranks that pitted the left-wing Democrats against those on the right."

So intense, in fact, was this polarization that on each of the major issues there was a greater difference between the McGovern Democrats and the Nixon Democrats than there was between all Democrats and all Republicans. The findings suggest that Nixon would have been a formidable opponent for even the most popular Democratic leaders.

The current disarray of the Democratic party, the study concludes, is a symptom of the changing political climate, a period of realignment along new ideological lines.

What form this realignment will take in the future will depend on how the Democrats choose to resolve their ideological differences, as well as on such factors as Watergate, the role of George Wallace on the national scene and how well party loyalty at the congressional level of voting holds up.

In other words, there is nothing necessarily foreordained — for either party — about what may happen when Americans go to the polls to elect a new Congress in 1974.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Questions about just how the state legislature can deal with the energy crisis before Congress acts seem to be blocking Florida Energy Committee efforts to muster a special legislative session.

Firestone said Wednesday the energy committee would meet next week with select legislative committees to develop bills cutting speed limits, reducing store hours and giving local governments power to deal with the fuel shortage.

But Sen. Lori Wilson, I-Meritt Island, said legislators who met with the Florida congressional delegation in Washington Wednesday generally agreed there was little the legislature could do now.

What do American voters really want?

The "coming Republican majority" has waned. Or so the political pulse-takers report.

Pollster George Gallup told the 19 Republican governors at their recent conference that they are engaging in "wishful thinking" if they believe the Watergate scandal won't hurt their party in next year's congressional elections.

A poll taken by his organization just before the Nov. 6 elections indicated that Republicans would have suffered their worst defeat since New Deal days had there been a general congressional election this year.

A Louis Harris survey finds that the GOP has lost so much support from the voters that the number who call themselves Republicans has reached an all-time low of 28 per cent and is now exceeded by those who view themselves as independents (28 per cent).

Yet Democratic ranks, too, are suffering erosion. Since a previous Harris survey in August, the number of voters calling themselves Democrats has slipped a point — down to 47 per cent — suggesting that a growing number of Americans are voting a plague on both party houses.

Clearly, party loyalty is no longer the potent, dependable force it once was. But this is no sudden Watergate-spawned phenomenon.

Just a year ago, Republican candidates for Congress

Super Scoopers: rescue or ravage? Giant power shovels uncover coal lodes

GREENVILLE, Ky. — (NEA) — From a distance it looks something like a timber-tong construction machine pushing through a sandbox. Up close, near comparison objects, it takes on other dimensions. The Peabody Coal Company's 5660 Super Scooper power shovel stands 20 stories high, weighs 18 million pounds and each time it drops its earth it grabs 200 tons of soil.

THE MAMMOTH Marian 5660 power shovel stands 20 stories high, weighs 18 million pounds and grabs 200 tons of soil each time it drops its bucket into the earth.

The machine is a primary part of Peabody's River Queen strip mining operation here. And though few Americans have seen the behemoth, though few can comprehend its bulk and capacity, the shovel and others like it may become critical to the U.S. way of life.

With the energy crisis setting in, with ominous talk of oil shortages up to 50 per cent of minimum needs, coal has become the most feasible short-term alternative. The nation sits on nearly 50 per cent of known coal reserves in the world. Kentucky alone has some 2,400 years of it at present production levels.

As of now, the call for coal is not particularly urgent. The United States for several years has been producing coal in not much greater amounts than it did a half-century ago. And for the moment, says a Peabody spokesman, "We are not greatly increasing our production. We could. There is much we could do. But we have to have some definite signals that it would be in our interest. The signals would be from state and local governments that would make greater production profitable."

Altamonte To Pay Fees Under Protest

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS— City council Tuesday night voted to join the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council and to pay membership fees under protest.

Hitting the fees charged by the council, 25 per cent per capita or $2,500 whichever is greater, as "biased and discriminatory" toward the cities of Orange, Seminole and Osceola counties, the board followed Orlando's lead by agreeing to join under protest.

Mayor Lawrence Swofford said, however, Seminole County's assessment by the planning council should be reduced by the amount Altamonte Springs will pay.

In other business, Swofford said the city will accept the planning and zoning board already recommended favorably both the annexation and rezoning.

DeBary Growth Sees More Mail Handling

By H. A. NAPKA Herald Correspondent

DEBARY — The apparent growth of DeBary was indicated this week when Postmaster Joseph W. Brenner reported a considerable gain for November in the volume of incoming mail handled by his staff compared with the total for the same month in 1972.

Records show the DeBary Post Office received 189,000 pieces of incoming mail last month. This is an increase of 13,900 compared with the 176,000 total recorded for the same period in 1972.

The postmaster estimated approximately 220,000 pieces of mail were shipped from DeBary last month, and expects approximately 275,000 pieces of outgoing mail to be handled this month due to holiday business.

Because all mail leaving DeBary is now processed at Orlando, accurate counts are not available.

The postmaster pointed out business has been showing a considerable increase since he took over in 1964. He said volume and receipts are "way up".

Under the new program, all preferred mail, such as first class letters and newspapers are processed and delivered on the day they are received at the postoffice. This makes it possible for deliveries to be speeded up about an hour.

Later all other mail such as third class, is processed and delivered on the following day. This new program has become very popular with DeBary area residents.

At present Brenner is urging all residents to cooperate with him. He explained additional inexperienced mail carriers are now being employed, who are not familiar with the individual house addresses and names of residents.

As a result, Brenner is requesting all residents to display addresses and names on their mailboxes so that deliveries will not be delayed.

WWII Rationing Is Recalled

By BETTY FORKINS Copley News Service

ST. CHARLES, I.L.—Most of the reports on gas and heating fuel rationing hark back to the inconvenience rationing caused during World War II.

My recollections of that time are that no one really suffered because of rationing—even for food. For that matter, I think we ate better then than we do now.

Tires were rationed. So were bathtubs, as well as food and gasoline.

With typical American ingenuity we ended up making a game of it, rather than complaining.

For those of us who had never gardened before, we dug up our backyards and had "Victory gardens." We didn't do this alone. Several people in the neighborhood got together and shared the work as well as reaping the crops. Canning got to be fun as a group of us was brides worked an assembly line fashion.

We were also rationed on the amount of sugar we could use. Again we improvised and used sugar in some of our fruit canning.

Although meat was rationed, fish and fowl were not and these were often used in place of beef or pork. The rations were also plenty for a family and we were allowed several pounds of hamburger and roasts a week.

By pooling resources, we took turns eating at each other's homes.

Fuel shortage for home heating didn't bother many of us. Most of us had coal furnaces anyway, so you just banked the fire at night, closed off the bedrooms, put on more blankets and cozied down.

The first thing in the morning, after giving the furnace a good shake, and putting on more coal, you ran in front of the closest radiator to dress.

I had what was then known as a "garbage burner" on the kitchen range. A little paper, a few pieces of wood and soon the kitchen was warm with the teakettle singing.

We also didn't worry much about shopping. Cars were used only when necessary.

Because everyone else was walking to the downtown area of our community, one got to know lots of people. For those of us who were pushing baby buggies, we found a couple sacks of groceries could fit in nicely alongside the baby.

Church was also a big item in those days. There wasn't a whole lot to spend money on, so when we met at church it was easy to stay a good part of the day, having potluck and good conversation. Looking back, I think we were happier then than we are today.

Young and old were cooperating in the war effort by economizing, and this kept everyone busy.

One of the delights I hadn't thought of in years was my two-and-a-half-year-old son and I making our own butter. We got the cream right off the top of the milk those days. It could be whipped. I'd save the cream for a few days in a jar, kept in an insulated cupboard outside my kitchen window. When I had accumulated about half of a pint-size jar, we'd roll it between us until the butter formed and then had a treat of drinking the buttermilk.

Little All-America Team Impressive

NEW YORK (AP) — The unrelated Johnson boys — little Billy of Widener College and large Gary of Grambling — were named to the Associated Press small college All-America football team for the second year in a row today along with Tennessee State linebacker Waymond Bryant.

Billy Johnson is a 5-foot-9, 175-pound cornerback who rushed for 1,496 yards on 168 carries this season and scored 23 touchdowns — 21 on the ground, one on a 94-yard punt return and one on an 85-yard kickoff return.

Although just a junior, he is ineligible next season and wound up his career with 62 touchdowns, each of which covered an average of 4.7 yards. Gary Johnson is a 6-3, 201-pound junior whom Coach Ed Robinson calls the best defensive lineman in college football and one of the best he's ever coached. And Robinson has coached such stars as Buck Buchanan, Ernie Ladd and John Mendelhall.

Beathard Stirs Program Wrestling Comes To SHS

By DAN GILMARTIN Herald Staff Writer

If you are the type that thinks wrestling is a game that is dominated by the likes of "Haystacks Calhoun" or "Bone-Crusher Bertie" or "most people probably do, then you will be in for a big surprise if you happen to make it out to Seminole High School and see what wrestling means out there.

Quite the opposite of the "Weekend Warriors" on the TV screen, who get their money for acting and not wrestling, these people out at SHS seem to take the sport seriously, and it is quite a sport.

Most people in this area have the above impression concerning the grappling sport. Actually wrestling is quite a competitive sport on the high school and college scene.

"Probably my biggest job this year," says head wrestling coach Roger Beathard, "is getting the people in the area to understand what wrestling is all about."

"Even the kids don't know that much about it, and it is my feeling that they would be interested if they would just give it a chance," continued the former Cincinnati resident.

Beathard referred particularly to one of his team members, Mike Good, who didn't know what was going on when the coach almost dragged him to a practice session. The sophomore footballer was, to put it mildly, upset about the prospect of competing with bone crushing giants.

Both teams started the first quarter "cold" from the field as neither could sink a basket in the first few minutes. Lyman's Steve Ashby broke the ice getting the first points of the evening.

Sanford utilized the fast break but got into early foul trouble. Tribe members Drew Bonganni and Mickey Pringle supplied all the first quarters points. Bonganni picked up eight and Pringle six.

The Hounds preferred the more methodical system with all five starters getting into the scoring act. Don Farris tallied three points with everybody

Beathard thinks that much of the same results would come about if the students would only come and watch a practice session. In his opinion the boys already "wrasse" when they are playing around at home, they just don't know it.

"These kids have been informally wrestling for years," said the first year Seminole coach. "We can give them the instruction here that will allow them to compete against someone their own size and give almost anyone who wants a chance at winning something on their own."

The lack of wrestling knowledge hurts the coaches chances of getting players out to practice, but the place where the unfamiliar really effects the program is with the smaller fellows.

"You can really tell the kids have the television image of the sport," said Beathard, "because when I go up to someone that weighs less than a hundred pounds and ask them to come out they look at me as if I were asking them to commit suicide."

Actually the wrestling competition is divided into small weight categories and the lowest is "98 pounds and under" which permits anyone of high school age to compete.

Another aspect of the new sport at SHS is the fact boys are on their own when they enter the competition. There is no one else to blame or depend on when the match starts, and this offers the chance to anyone to go all the way to the state championship if they are good enough.

"There is no such thing in wrestling as missing a block and the whole team suffering," said the Seminole mentor.

"When the boys square off it is 'nitty-gritty time' and they have their fate in their own hands."

To counter the lack of familiarity with the grappling man information campaign to the public in January and February, planning clinics for the youngsters and parents as well.

"We hope to get as many people interested as possible," said the Sanford coach. "And anyone who wants to learn about it can come."

Some people that will benefit greatly from the instructional clinic will be some members of the fourth estate who think of a "cradle" as something that a baby goes in. We will be there too to learn from Mr. Beathard — a man who has a sizeable job in this area trying to get wrestling on the sports page.

Baseball Situation Tangled

HOUSTON (AP) — Mike Marshall got the green light from the Montreal Expos, Charles O. Finley gave the stop sign to the New York Yankees and the National League owner kept the hot San Diego situation moving.

The traffic was terrific at the winter baseball meetings Wednesday. Marshall, unhappy pitching with the weak Montreal defense despite a record-breaking 1973 season in the bullpen, was sent to the Los Angeles Dodgers for star outfielder Willie Davis in the most dramatic trade of the meetings.

After the explosive Marshall-Davis deal, National League President Chub Feeney announced that club owners met and resolved nothing in the proposed sale of the San Diego team. The issue was tabled until today, when "some announcement will be made," Feeney said.

The new-filled day also was punctuated by the appearance of Oakland owner Finley, who met with the Yankees, and in so many words told them to keep their hands off '81 Manager Dick Williams.

Meanwhile, two other deals were consummated. The Dodgers acquired center fielder Tommie Agee from the St. Louis Cardinals for reliever Luis Richard and the Detroit Tigers purchased pitcher Luke Walker from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Marshall set a major league record last season appearing in 92 games for Montreal. He had a 14-11 record with 31 saves and a 2.56 earned run average in 1972, the 30-year-old right-hander made 65 appearances and posted a 14-8 record with a 1.78 era.

Davis, a member of the Dodgers for 14 seasons, will give the Expos their first regular center-fielder since the team was organized in 1969.

Raiders Roll, 102-67

By DAN GILMARTIN Herald Staff Writer

ST. AUGUSTINE — The Seminole Junior College Raiders last night made off with their booty from the nation's oldest city Wednesday night as they pounded Flagler Community College by a 102-67 score.

Hitting a scorching 57.1 per cent coming on 44 of 77 floor shots the local JuCo outfit held a 25-23 lead with 12 minutes remaining in the first half when the pressing tactics paid off in the form of four straight buckets to give the Raiders an 11 point advantage which was not threatened the remainder of the contest.

For the first time this season the Seminole contingent played a squad that did not have a superior height advantage on them and the result was a 35 point victory margin, the largest gap so far this year.

Also for the first time this season the locals outrebounced their opponent, outrebounding the home team 33-28. Pat Rutherford and Robert McCullum led the board clearing department for the Raiders grabbing 7 and 6 respectively.

Employing several different types of press defenses the Seminole five forced Flagler into 20 turnovers and provided Raider shooters with many easy shots.

The scoring sheet reveals the nature of the contest as five Raiders cracked into the double figure category last night. Leading the way for SJC was Robert House with 17 points.

House, who had not started previously was praised by Seminole assistant Tony Begley after the game. "He really hadn't started before this," said the Raider tutor. "And him coming through the way he did really helped us out."

Other Raiders in the double figure category were Chip Crawford with 18 followed by Gerald Owens at 14, Freeman Kennethrew 12 and Mike Williams 10.

The Seminole club will take a 4-3 record into their Saturday home game with unbeaten Polk County. The Polk squad has defeated powerhouse Miami Dade North, Brevard and Lika City in addition to downing the Raiders 85-83 in Lakeland. Coach Joe Sterling views the coming contest as a chance to re-insert the local five for the contender role.

"We feel that if we beat Polk we will be recognized as a strong contender in the District race," said Sterling. "And I am looking forward to this game to see what we can do."

Game time for the Polk-Seminole clash is set for 7:30 in the Seminole High Gym.

INTO THE ROPES
NAT KING falls into the ropes during fifth round feature action after taking a vicious Tony Licata right hand. Licata took the knock-out win in the eighth round to remain undefeated in 43 fights.

Licata, Pinney Remain 'Perfect' After Fights

By LEE GEIGER Herald Correspondent

Tony Licata successfully defended his Southern Middleweight Championship, battering Nat King into submission after 1:44 seconds of the eighth round, Wednesday night in the Orlando Sports Stadium.

A whistling left hook spelled the finish for the game, but outclassed Georgian. At the end King's face was a mass of blood from cuts that were opened up over his cheeks and eye brows, by some of the most precise punching ever seen in this area.

Outweighed by two and one-half pounds, the 160 pound King tried to take the fight to the champ in the early going, but was felled in his attempts by the picture-perfect Licata.

In the third round Licata began to start digging in with his shots to the body in an attempt to slow down his footed opponent. By the fourth round he was in complete control, despite King's obvious ability and willingness to make a fight of it.

With only 20 seconds left in the fifth Licata dropped the smaller man with a series of stunning left and rights to the head. King went sprawling into the ropes where he received a nine count, that most in attendance thought he would never beat in time.

with Emile Griffith, in New Orleans or Boston. I wish that we could keep it here but boxing in this area doesn't have enough support to cover its cost.

Pinney was not satisfied with his effort and stated so after the bout.

Advantage Pinney was content to pile up points the rest of the way to take a well-earned decision.

Although in defeat, Barr did not disgrace himself and should be welcome back in the near future. Talk of matching him with Sanford's Vic Perez kept cropping up during discussions after the verdict had been announced.

The opening fight saw James "Doc Holiday" Solomon stop a reluctant Andre Guevera, after 27 seconds of the fourth round. Guevera, unlike Barr, will not be welcome back as he refused to make a fight of it and then finally asked the ref, Mike Quarry, to stop it when the impressive Solomon began to tag him in the last round.

John Henry Vase failed to show up and for the second straight time Mike McKinney made the trip from Tampa to Orlando in vain.

Heavyweights Clint Walker and Solomon McTier put on an entertaining exhibition in place of the Jones-McKinney scheduled fight.

Amateur bouts were won by Ken Stillwell and the sensational young Alan Dallas.

When questioned about future plans for the triumphant Licata, manager Lou Viscusi said, "We took this one (King) knowing that he was a tough boy, but we want to keep Tony staggering for the final 15 seconds. Negotiations are underway to try to get him in

Glitter Goes To The Head In Holiday Coiffures

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—Jeweled glitter will be sparking coiffures throughout the country this holiday season, according to the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association (NHCA).

especially during the upcoming December party season. "When women go to their hairdressers to get a special coiffure for a holiday party, they will be looking for assistance on how to add jeweled glitter to their hair in order to design the sparkling and elegant holiday fashions they will be wearing," Ms. Cotter said.

November. Ms. Cotter predicts that the hairfashion looks captured in this holiday release are, "a short glimpse or peek of what to expect in United States hairstyling in 1974."

JEWELLED VEIL
... A veil glittered with jewels creates a mystic holiday mood for the fashion-conscious woman. Holiday veils and ear-clips will be elegantly jeweled, but never contrived. The veil covers a short head-hugging style highlighted in multi-blond tones, the "nature look" in haircoloring.

EAR-CLIP ACCENT
... Large sparkling ear-clips radiate a holiday glow throughout this soft coiffure, which features wave movement across the forehead and over one eyebrow. This luxurious bob provides perfect harmony with today's new luxury look in clothing.

EAR GLITTER
... The exposed ear is a new sex symbol, and glittering ear-clips add alluring festive sparkle to this holiday coiffure. A buoyant bang and upward curl frame the face in stylish, downward movement.

Wartime Heroine Keeps Her Faith

By SANDRA GITTEEN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Ruth Kluger has somehow maintained a belief in idealism and romanticism that she calls tradition, but it seems more like simple faith.

As a young woman during World War II, Ruth and nine men were involved in a secret alliance known as Mossad le Aliyah Bet, the purpose of which was to smuggle Jews out of Europe during the reign of Nazi terrorism.

International laws restricted departure of Jews from Europe and made it illegal for them to enter Palestine. But somehow laws had to be circumvented.

Ruth, with co-author Peggy Mann, has explained how it was possible in a new book, "The Last Escape," giving her candid views of the Nazi and wartime Europe, covering the years 1939 to 1941.

When speaking about some of her experiences, Ruth is at once emotionally touched. Her voice begins to waver.

She says that by the time she came to Paris in 1942 her name was so well known that people were writing to her from all over Europe. The letters were a direct result of "Ruth, Paris."

"There were so many names to remember," Miss Kluger recalls, "because we had to keep burning our files. All the people who wrote were in desperate need of getting out of Europe as quickly as possible."

"Once," she recalls, "a young lady and another woman I thought was her mother came to seek my help. The younger girl was very upset and ordered me to get them on a ship immediately. I told her this was impossible at the moment. We looked at a ship, but I promised to help them as soon as I could.

"I suggested that mother and daughter go to an area set up by the Mossad to provide food and shelter for our people until we could make arrangements to get them to Palestine.

"At that moment," Ruth recalls, "the older woman began crying hysterically. The younger one slapped my face. She informed me the woman was not her mother but her sister, only a few years older than herself."

The sister had been tortured and left barren during imprisonment in a Nazi camp. Ruth says she told them to go on and try because it was good to let emotions take their place.

"Ironically, it was considered illegal for Jews to leave Europe," she explains, "but we often one step ahead of legal action. When I went to people to ask for their help, I used to ask them if it was 'illegal' to save a human life?" Ruth remembers.

Visiting people, she took along the idea that she was offering them a chance to do something great for humanity. Among those who responded to her pleas were King Carol of Rumania and General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The 31-year-old heroine of this era is lecturing in the United States, stimulating interest in the history of her people and the future of Israel. She says the most awesome thing she has found is naive among some university students.

"Somehow," she adds, "they don't believe that what has happened could happen again if we are not aware of what is going on around us."

She would like to see people return to tradition and add, "Unfortunately, some of us no longer believe in idealism or romanticism."

As for the Middle East situation, she says that she is always hopeful.

"We are doing our best, but I do not feel the Arabs are showing any humanity. When will there be peace? When the killing stops. We only want the world to see the truth and to stop demanding that we be peaceful. We were peaceful on Yom Kippur."

Delta Kappa Gamma Meeting

Rho Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society met at the social hall of the First Baptist Church in Bunnell for the December meeting.

Mrs. Jo Brown, of Umatilla, Rho president, presided over the business session.

Mrs. Anne Llewellyn, of Daytona Beach, spoke to the club members on the topic of "The Educator's Role in the Home."

She stressed, "We are bound more by our likenesses that separated by our differences."

Included in the differences about which she spoke were those in education.

A Christmas tea followed the meeting. Two serving tables were laden with Christmas cookies and breads made by the hostess group.

Among the beautiful decorations adorning the church hall was a unique Christmas tree fashioned of individual corsages of holly and white doves. Each member received a corsage at the end of the programs.

Sanford members attending the meeting were Mmes. Wilma Colbert, Lu Huggins, Kenneth Echols, John Pierce, Tim Stevens, G. Walter Morgan and C. E. Carlton.

Men Being Taught To Cope With Lib

MONTCLAIR, N.J. (AP) — Did your wife come home the other day and tell you she wanted a marriage "contract" or a separate bank account or her own job and career?

And you didn't know what to do?

There's a man here who is trying to teach other men how to cope with the liberated woman.

While the woman of the house goes off to her "consciousness-raising" group, so the man can go to his.

Dr. James J. Gallagher, a 42-year-old psychologist who runs a career-counseling firm, is starting to offer group sessions for men who are baffled by the changes of the role of women in modern society.

"It's almost directly geared to the idea that the man who has a relationship with a woman who is growing gets cultural adjustment."

Events of the past week would be discussed, focusing on the individual's relationship with a girlfriend or wife, a secretary or shopkeeper, a business associate or policeman or just any woman with whom he had contact.

If problems arose in that relationship, they could be discussed and perhaps the man could be brought to understand them with the aid of the other participants, Gallagher said.

"We're not dealing with wisdom in a book," he said. "It's experiential material. The wisdom is in people experiencing the problems in real life. The group is based on sharing experiences with people."

Gallagher likes the idea of working with a group because he said most people are trained for their roles in life in groups.

"We've been acculturated as males in groups — school groups, buddy groups, Army groups. Anybody reaching out for a new role definition needs the support of a group to risk trying on a new role."

The meetings "will be a cross between a free-wheeling discussion and a planned experience."

"Men's consciousness-raising groups don't get together just to talk about sex," Gallagher said. "Topics might include what it means to be a man in this changing society, the demands placed uniquely on men — the stereotypes of the breadwinner, hero, champion — and how we have realized these in our own lives, how do we deal with success and failure."

"We're not talking about whether you hold doors open for women but about who controls what you do with your life."

Gallagher believes the discussion groups must be limited to men to ease the search for the proper role for each individual.

"By establishing an open relationship with other men, I can see who I really am and establish myself in relationship to women," he said.

Mrs. Miller assists with the office work, and is a sales lady in the large showroom. Interior decorating has become one of her major interests as she works in the store, and decorating her own home occupies much of her free time. ### Fashion's New Mr. Big James Gagliano Designs As An Artist Paints

NEW YORK — (NEA) — "If you want something badly enough you'll get it," said James Gagliano, a new, young, dynamic West Coast designer. "Even if you don't get it right away you'll get it."

Chicago raised and Los Angeles based, Gagliano loves construction in clothes. "That's why," he said, "I put as much work into the inside of a garment as I do on the outside. Because, believe me, Baby, that's YOU."

Well, he did. He wanted to design beautiful clothes. And he has certainly done just that. His Spring '74 collection shows that he works with fabrics as an artist paints a canvas — and the result is a soft, fluid sophisticated line that can take you from daytime to the ballroom floor in exquisite femininity.

He goes to Europe for many of his fabrics and that's exactly where Jim Gagliano, the fabric hunter was when everything nearly came apart at the seams at his small company of 20 employees, including the factory.

In his beautiful designs it's hard to imagine anyone looking or feeling anything but good.

And now that women have become "dress conscious" once more he may well become foremost among American couturiers. For with the return of elegance the return of constructed clothes must come, too. In just about one year and a half his clothes have caught on in fine stores across the country.

The fabrics in this 40-piece spring line include sheer woolsens, linens, jerseys, chiffons, organzas, silks and crepes.

He has brought new excitement to the annual print story in a series of ensembles in tiger, lion, cheetah and leopard prints in silk and chiffon. His daytime clothes are in a soft mood with swinging skirts and bold, colorful patterns.

19th Century Power

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A group of designers plans to harness the sun, wind and water to provide power for a 19th century foundry being converted into an office building. When the renovation is completed next year, energy will be produced by solar panels on the roof, water-powered turbines in an adjacent river and a wind propeller lowering over the building. The three-story brick building will become the headquarters for the 25-member staff of the Research and Design Institute. The renovation of the 1850 foundry is expected to cost $100,000, and the energy equipment up to $150,000.

Skylab Trio At Peak

SPACF CENTER, Houston (AP)—The physician for the Skylab 3 astronauts says they are in excellent health and nearing peak work efficiency after three weeks in space. Dr. Jerry Hordinsky says he sees no medical reason that would prevent Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson from completing their record 28-day space mission. Hordinsky reported to newsmen on the astronauts' mental and physical health Wednesday. The physician monitors medical data from the space station and holds a medical conference by radio with the astronauts each night.

Jupiter's Limits Approached

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP)—Pioneer 10 is nearing the boundary of Jupiter's magnetic field as it rushes along on its journey out of the solar system. The space probe swept to within 81,000 miles of Jupiter on Monday, taking closeup photographs and making scientific measurements. It will take more pictures of the rapidly receding Jupiter today to beam back to earth. Scientists expect the spacecraft to become the first man-made object to escape the solar system. It is expected to do this about 1987. The 570-pound spacecraft is more than 1.8 million miles from Jupiter, with its velocity slowed to 30,000 m.p.h.

Race Programs Suspended

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy has suspended a pilot program which could have developed into the principal source of race relations officers. The black civilian organization of the program, Charles H. King Jr., said the Navy suspended the program after an irate participant protested his kissing of a white assistant. Navy officials say the kissing incident was only part of the objection to King's program.

Suspect Seeks Release

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A man charged with killing a Florida teen-ager and another out-of-state hitchhiker in October has asked a federal court here to grant his release from jail on grounds he was arrested on invalid warrants.

Kenneth Lee Standrod, 28, of Nagajo Lake Estates, also claims his constitutional rights were violated in that there was no determination of probable cause for his arrest, that he was illegally denied bail and the victim of unreasonable search and seizure. He claims in his action in U.S. District Court that a "constitutionally insufficient" complaint against him was sworn to before a justice of the peace by Kane County Sheriff Norman Swapp.

Slaying Trio Sought

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP)—Police are pressing a manhunt for three men in the slaying of a 26-year-old former Florida man whose body was found Tuesday in Lowndes County, Ga.

Sheriff Jewell Futch said the body of James Thomas Edwards of Takoma Park, Md., and Palatka, Fla., was found off Interstate 75 by a farmer who said he surprised two men trying to steal his car.

Detectives in Atlanta said the dead man's companion, a coed at Emory University in Atlanta, said she had been raped and released after Edwards had been killed.

Officers said the woman told them the men split up after the killing and that one of them accompanied her to Atlanta.

Raises Heating Oil Cost

House Committee Subdues Profits

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Commerce Committee has voted restrictions on excess profits earned as a result of the fuel shortage. But the administration says it will permit an increase in the cost of home heating oil.

As it pushed slowly toward a scheduled Friday vote on emergency legislation, the Commerce Committee Wednesday night adopted an amendment by Rep. William R. Roy, D-Kan., authorizing President Nixon to use his economic powers to set prices on coal, crude oil and petroleum products so as to deny windfall profits to producers and suppliers.

Earlier in the day the Cost of Living Council announced it would permit a two-cent-per-gallon increase in the cost of home heating oil and at the same time ordered a one-cent reduction in gasoline prices.

Council Director John T. Dunlop said the action was an attempt to encourage refineries to divert production away from gasoline and turn out greater quantities of the oil needed for heating this winter.

Dunlop added that consumers would have to pay the extra two cents for heating oil probably beginning in January but doubted that the one-cent gasoline reduction would ever reach the retail level because of increased production costs.

Meanwhile, the Saudi Arabian oil minister said his government would be willing to relax its oil embargo to the United States in phased steps with Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab lands.

Sheikh Ahman Zaki Yamani, in Washington, said, "If Israel decides to withdraw and agrees to a timetable there could be a timetable to relax the embargo."

Car Insurance Rates May Dip Due To Lower Speed

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer Lower speed limits may also mean lower auto insurance rates for some American motorists.

Officials in 12 states are actively studying the possibility of a rate reduction and the insurance commissioner in a 13th state — Louisiana — already has ordered companies to cut back rates if lower speed limits become law.

An Associated Press survey showed the issue was under discussion in almost every state. In addition, the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, meeting in Las Vegas, Nev., this week, appointed a special task force to study the energy crisis and insurance rates.

The House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill requiring states to lower the speed limit to 55 miles an hour or less federal highway funds. In some states, the limit already has been set even lower — 50 miles per hour — for cars.

Insurance officials said it will take some time to tell whether the lower speed limit, combined with less driving because of the gasoline shortage, results in fewer accidents. They agreed, however, that if the accident

Meir Wins Confidence

TEL AVIV (AP)—Premier Golda Meir won a 291-33 vote of confidence from the central committee of her ruling Labor party after she accepted full responsibility for Israel's setbacks at the start of the October war. She admitted that the government had intelligence reports of the Arab buildup and said: "There was a fatal mistake of evaluation." The committee had a long debate on policy guidelines for the peace negotiations expected to open this month in Geneva and the party's platform for the general election Dec. 31. The prospect of direct negotiations with the Arabs appeared to result in a feeling that Israel should be prepared to give up much of the territory occupied in the 1967 war. But there was general agreement that Israel must insist on borders that can be defended.

Egypt Demands Pullback

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt has told the United States and Russia that it won't go to the Geneva peace conference unless Israel agrees to pull back to the Oct. 22 cease-fire line, Cairo newspapers said today. The Egyptian presence in Geneva "hangs on the implementation of the U.N. resolutions" calling for the withdrawal, the reports said. Presumably the warning was delivered Wednesday when Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy met with A. S. Ambassador Hermann Eilts and Soviet Ambassador Vladimir Vinogradov. Meanwhile, the talks between Israeli and Egyptian representatives on troop withdrawal remained in suspension and there was no indication of progress toward a resumption of them.

Cambodian U.N. Vote

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—President Lon Nol's Cambodian government has staved off a threat of expulsion from the United Nations. The General Assembly voted 53-50 with 21 abstentions Wednesday to postpone for a year consideration of a Chinese-Algerian resolution that would kick out the Phnom Penh government from the world body and replace it with Prince Norodom Sihanouk's exile regime in Peking. The postponement was supported both by friends of the Phnom Penh government and other nations that thought the United Nations shouldn't referee disputes between factions in individual countries.

Cubans Reunited

MIAMI (AP)—The first group of 25,000 Cuban refugees stranded in Spain have arrived in Miami to be reunited with relatives and friends.

"My destiny was to arrive here," said Mirlo Saav Lopez, 41. "We have endured a lot of suffering...but we thank God we finally made it at the end."

Lopez, his wife and four children were among 45 Cuban exiles who flew to Miami from Madrid Wednesday. Many had waited for years for their entry permit.

The refugees were granted special permits by the Justice Department Oct. 27 which said it was acting with "humanitarian factors in mind."

Acquitted Man Jailed

QUEBEC (AP)—A 21-year-old Florida man has been sent back to prison the day after his acquittal on a murder charge. The court ordered him held as a material witness against two other men charged with the same killing.

The prosecution argued that if Laurent Courbin, 21, of Caryville, Fla., was freed, he might return to the United States and could not be extradited to testify.

Courbin and the other two suspects, John Ray Collins of Key West, Fla., and Marcel Peloquin of Montreal, were accused of strangling to death a well known local columnist, John Albert Kelly. He was found dead in his home Sept. 15, 1971.

Israeli Cooperation Necessary

Oil Shipments Tied To Withdrawal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Saudi Arabia has proposed a resumption of oil shipments to the United States in step with a phased Israeli withdrawal from lands occupied during the 1967 and October wars.

The offer to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger came from Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani, the Saudi Arabian oil minister who is touring western Europe and this country to explain the Arabs' use of oil as a political lever against Israel.

"If Israel decides to withdraw and agrees to a timetable there could be a timetable to relax the embargo," Yamani told newsmen. Belaid Abdessalam, the Algerian energy minister, accompanied Yamani to the 90-minute meeting with Kissinger.

George S. Vest, the State Department spokesman, confirmed that the proposal had been made. But he declined to discuss Kissinger's response or such details as whether Israel would have to indicate the extent of its total withdrawal before the embargo would be relaxed.

Vest described the discussion as "very frank, serious and useful." William E. Simon, the new chief of the government's energy programs, Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz, Commerce Secretary

Frederick B. Dent, and William E. Donaldson, the top state department official for energy problems, attended.

King Faisal imposed the oil boycott on the United States to protest its support of Israel during the October war.

Oil Shortage Is Helping Dollar To Recovery Road

LONDON (AP)—And now economy in two important ways, one short term and the other long term.

The latest supply cuts and price increase by Arab oil producers have helped put the U.S. dollar on the threshold of a spectacular recovery overseas.

Many bankers and officials in Europe now expect the dollar to be among the strongest currencies in the world in 1974.

There is talk in London's financial community that the twice-devalued dollar may have to be revalued upward next year.

The Arab oil squeeze may be designed primarily to pressure the United States. But it could help the American economy in two important ways, one short term and the other long term.

Short-term benefits are already apparent. The floating dollar, which has fallen in value by more than 15 per cent in Europe since last February's devaluation, has now regained most of that ground.

Foreign exchange dealers here say one important reason behind the recovery is the oil squeeze. The United States depends on the Middle East for less than 10 per cent of its oil.

Europe and Japan rely on the area for some 80 per cent of their oil.

Since Europe and Japan are the primary competitors for U.S. goods in overseas markets, the oil squeeze favors Americans in two ways — supply and price. There will be fewer cutbacks in U.S. production and smaller rises in U.S. prices because of the oil crisis. Both factors should help the dollar in Europe and Japan.

Longer term benefits to the U.S. economy are perhaps both the Arab cuts in oil supplies and the rises in price, alternate sources of energy are now competitive for the first time.

These are long term projects of little immediate help in the present oil crisis.

Gurney Claims Ignorance Of Secret Funds

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., says he was "careless...unobservant and too trusting" to know that a large scale fund raising campaign was operated illegally in his name.

Gurney faced 59 newsmen in a one-hour television broadcast Thursday night to answer allegations that he knew about "any wrongdoing" in connection with the fund raising.

Conceding that his account was "an incredible story," Gurney denied any knowledgeable connection with funds that he admitted were collected illegally.

He blamed Larry Williams, 29, whom he said he first met in mid-1971 when Williams was introduced to him as a volunteer campaign worker.

The Miami Herald and other Florida newspapers have reported that Williams, of Orlando, collected at least $300,000 from builders seeking Gurney's influence with the Federal Housing Administration.

Gurney, a member of the Senate Watergate committee, said an aide told him in June 1972 that Williams had collected $100,000 for his next campaign.

He said he told Williams, "You put me in an extremely embarrassing position" and insisted that the fund raising stop immediately. "I did not authorize this fund raising," Gurney said. "I did not know it was going on. I did not see any of this money."

Gurney said the money raised by Williams was not reported to the Florida secretary of state because he was not a candidate in 1972.

Senator's Records Gone

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Correspondence files have disappeared from the office of Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., and some telephone logs partially destroyed, The Orlando Sentinel Star said today.

A story by the newspaper's Washington correspondent, Michael McLaughlin, said four former and present Gurney aides had been subpoenaed by a federal grand jury in Miami to tell what they know about the missing and destroyed material.

The Sentinel Star identified the four as James Allison, Gurney's administrative assistant; Mrs. Alfie Michal, a secretary; George Beal, an aide; and James Groot, a former administrative assistant.

School Probe Results Are Due

By MARK WEINZ
Herald Staff Writer

The results of an inquiry by a state committee on the need for a formal hearing on controversial Casseberry Elementary School Principal Chris Harp will be returned next week, according to School Supt. William Layer.

The Professional Practices Committee will decide if there are grounds for further investigation and a subsequent hearing, Layer said Wednesday.

To all who were responsible for last night's Christmas Parade in Sanford...CONGRATULATIONS!

It was a delight and enjoyed by youngsters of all ages.

Next in line will be Casseberry's Parade scheduled for this Saturday at 10 a.m., supposed to be their biggest and best ever.

The Board of Directors of the Midland-South Seminole Chamber of Commerce has voted to eliminate its Annual Christmas Lighting Contest this year. The board felt that in light of the present energy crisis, local residents should not be encouraged to burn outside lights during the holiday season.

From our snooper-duper department...Seminole County's first female lawyer is Marcia K. Lippincott from Sanford. She graduated from Notre Dame and is now associated with Sirenstrom, Davis and McIntosh.

In case you didn't know...Mabel Frances Thompson and Duane Watson will be married Dec. 15 at 3:30 p.m. at Barnett Memorial United Methodist Church, Enterprise. The couple will reportedly reside in DeBarry.

The Seminole High School band parents will be sponsoring a barbecue at the school on Saturday from 5:30 to 9 p.m. The money will be used to help defray about $5,000 in expenses for the new uniforms. To help you further enjoy the meal, the band will be performing during this time. The public is invited and tickets may be purchased at the cafeteria at the school.

Solons Back Mooney Law, Hint Of Changes In Future

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Legislative delegation Thursday night went on record unanimously supporting the Mooney annexation law, but added they will consider changes and amendments to the bill at the Jan. 24 meeting to be held in Casselberry or Altamonte Springs.

Rep. Eugene Mooney (R-Casselberry), the delegation chairman, said he is "sensitive" about continued opposition to the law which is clearly popular with the people, yet constantly criticized by municipal officials.

He also noted Tuesday's elections brought changes in elected representation in many of Seminole's cities and the opposition may now evaporate. The law requires cities to hold public hearings on impending annexations with higher density zoning in addition to notification to property owners within and without the cities and public advertisement.

Sen. Lori Wilson called the law "a model we can expand on for the entire state of Florida," noting she sponsored notice and referendum legislation in municipal government law.

Sanford City Manager Warren E. Knowles and Commissioner John Morris said the City of Sanford favors the law and then attacked its provisions concerning the legal advisement. Knowles insisted direct notification by mail is the best way to inform adjacent property owners.

The law requires direct mailing and legal advertisement. The law's major opponent at the legislative hearing held in the courthouse, however, was Winter Springs Mayor Granville Brown, representing the CALNO Council of Local Governments.

Brown, defeated in Tuesday's elections, said the law was directed toward one city, apparently Altamonte Springs, and that Winter Springs always held public hearings before annexing or rezoning property.

He added that adhering to the law's time schedule meant a gap of three to four months from the time annexation petitions are received until the property is actually taken in.

Casselberry Council Chairman John Leighty also hit the law, insisting that adding the time necessary for advisory committees' review of annexations means a three-to-six month delay in Casselberry.

Mooney, obviously agitated, asked Leighty how the delay is detrimental to the people and Leighty finally agreed the people are not affected at all.

New Officials Lauded City Annexation Veto Out?

By CHRIS NELSON
Herald Staff Writer

County Commissioner Dick Williams today said south county municipal elections have brought in new people with development philosophies more in tune with the county mission, and that the board's controversial city annexation veto idea may no longer be necessary.

However, Williams also said that another proposal, which would have been controversial prior to the election may be "even easier" to push through the commission.

Williams referred to his "self-imposed county planning" proposal which would give the municipalities one year to come up with a complete set of land use policies, zoning regulations, and ordinances, to mesh with the city's laws and policies.

"I feel that now, we both (county and city government officials) have the same aims," Williams said. "I now intend to go to them with my plan, and say let's do it together."

Prior to the election, Williams said, there was "no special legislative act and provoke a bitter jurisdictional squabble between the cities and the county may not be necessary."

Williams said while the annexation veto proposal can be seen purely as an institutional or legal matter, "people really do make the difference in how the counties are used."

"With the new people now in municipal government, it may mean we won't need the annexation veto proposal because they won't use annexation as it has been used in the past."
