Sanford's VAH-7 Takes Part In Lebanon Support

WITH THE U. S. SIXTH FLEET IN THE EASTERN MEDITERRANEAN - In the naval air armada operating from the USS Essex off Lebanon, Heavy Attack Squadron Seven, Detachment 45, composed of men and officers from VAH-7, carried the colors of Sanford and Seminole County in the vital air support operations conducted there by the U. S. Sixth Fleet.

Dr. Gerald M. Roberts (Officer in Charge of this detachment), Plans Commanders Ledr. H. L. Weigle, Ledr. E. S. Fritz, Lt. C. J. Youngblade, Lt. H. F. Bryant, and Lt. M. L. Lilleboe with their bombardier navigators and combat aircrewmen participated in daily sorties, flying the A-1 Skyraider aircraft so familiar to citizens living in the environs of the Sanford Naval Air Station.

The carrier has been operating since the early morning of July 15 when it spearheaded the air support of the U. S. Peace Force landings at Beirut. The Essex was the first of the U. S. Sixth Fleet carriers to send her planes into action, operating off the coast of Lebanon, aircraft from the Essex flew sorties every day between the beleaguered Middle East Nation for a total of 1316 sorties. Largest single day flight action occurred July 16, the day after the landings, when 147 launches were made.

Essex planes were hit by occasional machinegun and small arms fire during operations but only minor damage and no injuries resulted. Squadrons taking part include VA-105, VP-11, and VEP-62, all of Cecil Field; VA-83, Oceana, VA; VAH-7, Sanford; VAW-12 and VAW-33, of Quonset Point, R. I. Approximately 3,000 officers and men of the attack carrier USS Essex had their first taste of shore liberty after 18 days at sea when the big warship anchored in Rhodes, Greece, on Aug. 2.

The Board of County Commissioners of Seminole County, Florida, will receive bids at the Clerk's Office in the Court House at Sanford, Fla. for the following approximately amount of materials:

Fruit, Vegetables Continue To Top Best Food Buys

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Fruit and vegetables continue to top the best food buys across the nation as summer nears its end. Some estimated cuts of beef are summarized.

Among the budget-priced vegetables are increasing supplies of potatoes from a late summer crop about 10 per cent greater than last year. Green onions is plentiful, also carrots, celery, lettuce, cauliflower, snap beans, popcorn, lima beans and corn.

In a downtown Manhattan market, many fine values to shoppers this week, with beef, pork, and poultry sharing the featured spots as meats.

Ground beef is abundant, and some retailers are featuring steaks and roasts also. Ham, picnic, and frank, all in good supply, are among the week's top pork items. Frying chickens, at current low prices, are being heavily featured in some areas and supplies are increasing.

Also featured are lemons, cantaloupe and berries. Other thrifty priced offerings include butter, salad dressings, non-fat dry milk, and cottage cheese.

Plenty of frozen strawberries and frozen lima beans also are offered at moderate prices. Best fish buys include croakers and crabmeat.

Building Group Will Make Report Monday To Post

The Building Committee of the Campbell-Leasing Post, American Legion, is slated to make a report before the membership at a regular meeting of the post Monday night.

"Post Scripts," an official bulletin of the local American Legion organization, mailed regularly to the entire membership, was headed this week "Shall we dispose of the hut?"

Also appearing in the headlines of the organization's bulletin was "Big discussion expected on Building Committee report."

The meeting is slated to get underway at 8 p. m. with the one topic on the agenda for discussion by committee members and membership.

Officials of the local American Legion Post are urging the membership to make every effort to attend what they term "this important" meeting.

It is expected, according to officials of the post, that Monday night's meeting will be the best attended and liveliest meeting of the year.

The Interstate Highway is built only at certain points. One explained: "Once you get on it you're committed to it until you get to an interchange."

"We intend to see that every property owner gets a fair market value for his property, no more, no less," he said. "For that reason, we are not allowed to go up or down on a home's value on a mortgage."

He also mentioned that from property received during the interim before the highways are used, or income from salvage, goes into state funds to be credited to the state's 10 percent of the highway cost.

"Buying habits of people will not be materially changed," the state road department employee said, and he went on to say that no businesses will be built on the highway.

Describing the highway as a multilane road with never less than four lanes and usually with six, he said that there will be 12 interchanges between Sanford and Orlando. The interchange at Highway 46 will consist of 60 acres, he said.

"Speed? We said that speeds will be allowed up to 75 miles per hour and a minimum speed limit of 30 miles per hour."

DeBary Constable Gets Oxygen Kit For Emergencies

The DeBary area constable, Oscar Papineau, yesterday purchased a Micro Resuscitator-Inhalator and Aspirator, known as the Emergikit. Using this kit, he said, he will be able to help out in cases of drowning, electric shock, heart attacks, snake bites, suffocation, asthma, asthma, physical shock due to accidents, strangulation, and carbon monoxide poisoning.

In many emergency cases, said Constable Papineau, "I arrive before the doctor and feel that in a community like DeBary I can be of service to the residents."

Constable Papineau was instructed in the use of the 20-pound Emergikit, which he will have fitted in his car, by Vernon Mineley of the Florida Oxygen Service.

His equipment includes nose cones for infants as well as adults, which automatically breathes oxygen at a gentle, alternating pressure, to suit each case.

But Jerry added, "When I say pretty I mean I'm not doing so good."

Movie Makers Clam Up On New Picture

UPI Hollywood Correspondent HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - Movie-makers, who love publicity as much as they do their sports cars, have clammed up on a new picture for fear of violence from the mobs and interference by J. Edgar Hoover.

The film is "The Al Capone Story" and the guys who refuse to talk about it are producers John Burroughs and Leonard Ackerman.

But Rod Steiger, who plays the title role, gumbled up a modicum of courage and guardedly discussed his part in the dramatization of the life of Scarface.

"Now, look," he began nervously, "you don't know which way these characters will go. If I sound like I'm being a wise guy about playing Capone they're liable to be unhappy about it."

What characters? Steiger is Powers. "The Mob" Steiger filled in. "You have no idea how powerful the syndicate is in show business. Las Vegas is just a small example."

"We don't want to start any trouble with them. That's why we're making the picture without any fanfare."

"If all of a sudden they think we're trying to expose something, then we got trouble. If the mob gets into the act, then maybe J. Edgar Hoover and the G-men will show some interest, too."

"Before you know it, we won't be able to finish the picture." Steiger said he doubts if any physical violence will take place, but he's still edgy about living alone in an isolated area near Malibu Beach. Recent news stories about the eastern underworld making its headquarters in Southern California have increased his apprehensions.

"If I sound off too much maybe my house would mysteriously burn down," he said. "And I have some valuable paintings out there. Relatives Bill Livin'."

"There are other complications. A lot of Capone's relatives are still going to see us. We have to be careful about shooting her. And this time she's loose without her collar."

Steiger turned down the role three times before finally accepting. He said he wanted to make sure the picture wouldn't glorify Capone nor any of his mobsters.

"There will be a publicity campaign after the picture is finished," he explained, "just before it goes into theaters. If at that time it will be too late for anybody to do anything. By anybody I mean mobsters and the federal authorities."

Woman Makes Appeal To Save Pet Skunk's Life

CHERRY POINT, N. C. (UPI) - Mrs. R. E. Detrick, wife of a Marine pilot stationed here, has issued an appeal aimed at saving the life of Petunia, her missing pet skunk.

Mrs. Detrick fears that Petunia, who slipped from her leash in the Detrick backyard near the air station, will be shot by someone who mistakes her for the woods variety of skunk.

"It would be cold blooded murder," she said. "Petunia is unarmored."

And Petunia's danger may be double great. She's only four months old and hasn't learned yet that she is defenseless.

"I'm afraid she will take unnecessary chances, not realizing her inadequacy," said Mrs. Detrick.

Petunia tried to defend herself once and then only the collar she was wearing kept a military policeman from shooting her. And this time she's loose without her collar.

5-Man Delegation To Attend Textile Confab In Sweden

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) - Virginia textile industrialist William J. Erwin will head a five-man delegation from the U. S. to an international textile conference in Sweden Aug. 28.

The group headed by Erwin, president of Dan River Mills Inc. of Danville, Va., will represent the American Cotton Manufacturers' Institute at the international federation of cotton and allied textile industries conference in Stockholm.

Erwin heads ACMI's Foreign Trade Committee. Other members of the ACMI group will include R. Houston Jewell, vice president of Crystal Springs Bleachery Inc. of Chocomauga, Ga.; F. E. Grier, president of Abbey Mills of Greenwood, E. C., and chairman of the board of Erwin Mills of Durham, N. C.; J. Craig Smith, president of Avondale Mills of Sylacauga, Ala., and Robert C. ### Separate Wracks Take Lives Of Old Man, 3-Year-Old

MIAMI (UPI) - Separate auto accidents claimed the lives of an elderly man and a three-year-old boy here Thursday.

Leon E. Gostz, 85, of Miami, was struck by a station wagon driven by an unlicensed Negro while mowing the lawn of his five acre estate.

The youngster, Scott Meadows of Coral Gables, was knocked down by an auto when he ran into the street to chase a bouncing ball. He was struck by a slow-moving car driven by Lawrence Galt, 58.

Gottz, a pioneer sound movie producer, had taken several semicircular markers from his lawn and placed them in the street when he began to mow.

Negro William McKinley, 36, of Miami, the station wagon driver, told police his vehicle was forced off the road by a woman driver. He said the station wagon struck the markers, went out of control and hit Gottz.

McKinley was held for investigation of manslaughter.

Seminole Florida's Worst County In Inequalities, Reappraisal Needs

3-Power Measure On Mid-East Problem Proposed To U. N.

Hurricane Cleo Heads North Away From Mainland

MIAMI (UPI)—Hurricane Cleo moved northward at a safe distance from the U. S. mainland today with its top winds of 105 miles an hour expected to decrease.

The Miami weather bureau said Cleo, the season's first full-blown hurricane, would move generally northward at a speed of 30 miles an hour. They added that it would take a more north-westerly direction with some increase in forward speed.

Ships in the path of the storm were urged to use extreme caution. But forecasters said Cleo posed no threat to the U. S. mainland. It was moving north-northwest at about 17 miles an hour.

At 11 p. m. (est.) the hurricane was centered at latitude 31.8 north, longitude 84.8 west, or about 200 miles east of Bermuda. This is about 1,000 miles southeast of Nantucket, Mass., the nearest U. S. city.

Hurricane force winds reached about 75 miles from the center and gales extended 225 miles to the north and east and to 130 miles in the southwest quadrant.

Top wind velocity dropped Sunday from 125 to 105 miles an hour. The Miami weather bureau said Sunday it was too early to estimate how much longer Cleo might last.

The Washington weather bureau probably will take over further plotting of the storm after today.

Baruch To Observe 88th Year Quietly

By James L. Giffelton United Press International SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (UPI)—Baruch M. Baruch intends to have no fuss about his 88th birthday Tuesday. He plans to observe it quietly with the immediate members of his family.

The famous elder statesman wants to avoid interviews, if possible, because—as he says—"these are times which try men's souls" and it is not up to a private citizen to speak out on world affairs.

I dropped in to see Baruch at his suite in the Gideon-Putnam Hotel in Saratoga Springs. He has long been interested in the spa and its health-giving facilities. He is taking the baths and going to the races occasionally for recreation.

In response to a question, he said: "I feel fine. But I have to pace myself. I can't do as much as I once could."

Four Persons Die On Highways, 3 Drown In State

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—At least four persons were killed in traffic accidents over the weekend and three other persons drowned, a United Press International survey showed today.

Two children, both drowning victims, were among the seven weekend casualties. Myra Lee Ellis, 2, of Winter Haven, drowned in Crystal Lake Saturday when she apparently fell from a motor boat in which she was riding.

In Tampa, Nigel Ward, 4, drowned Saturday in a small lake after he wandered away from a family he was visiting. Jim H. English, 20, Selma, Ala., a student at Tuskegee Institute, drowned Saturday while swimming at Postal Point on Eglin Air Force Base. He was visiting a friend at the base.

Two Negroes, Percy Henderson, 37, and Mack McCray, 62, both of Pensacola, were killed in an accident six miles west of Molino in Escambia County Saturday in the worst highway accident of the period.

Other traffic victims included Alice Brown McLain, 43, of Lakeland, who was killed in Lakeland Saturday, and Charles Q. Howell, 42, Ocala, who died in an auto accident 3.6 miles south of Marianna on State Road 71 Friday night.

Hall Withdraws Name From Race

NEW YORK (UPI)—A battle of millionaires—Gov. Averell Harriman against Nelson A. Rockefeller—was virtually assured today for the New York governorship, with the withdrawal of former Republican national chairman Leonard W. Hall from the race for the GOP nomination.

Hall, meanwhile, looked as a strong possibility for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator. One of the state's leading Republicans, John R. Crews, head of the Kings County (Brooklyn) GOP organization said:

"A Rockefeller-Hall ticket in my judgment would be unseatable."

In a statement announcing his withdrawal, Hall said: "I have always been a realist in politics. I am therefore withdrawing my name as a candidate for governor."

Vice Admiral Commends VAH-5

NORFOLK—Vice Admiral B. L. Austin, Commander Second Fleet, recently has singled out Heavy Attack Squadron Five for special mention in A3D Skywarrior operations.

In a recent dispatch Vice Admiral Austin cited the Savage Squadron of Sanford as the most "outstanding" modern Heavy Attack Squadron he has had the "pleasure" of observing.

Seminole County was singled out as the "worst of the 37 counties in Florida" in inequalities and taxes, by the State Comptroller. State Comptroller Ray E. Green told The Sanford Herald Saturday "From my investigation of the assessment records of Seminole County, my recommendation is that the Board of Seminole County Commissioners put an item into their budget to bring qualified appraisers in to reappraise the county."

In a direct question as to whether or not he felt the present Tax Assessor in Seminole County could handle the reappraisal, Comptroller Green replied "My observation over the years is that it is difficult for a local tax assessor to make that appraisal."

He further stated, on the question of a local Tax Assessor completing a reappraisal, that "The Tax Assessor is placed in the position that certain pressures be put on in making that reappraisal."

Comptroller Green was again asked whether or not he would recommend that two or three additional personnel be added to the staff of the local Tax Assessor to carry on an equalization program. He said "I wouldn't recommend that. I think these things should be kept completely out of politics."

The State Comptroller said point blank "From my studies, I have found more inequalities and a need for reappraisal than any county I have ever seen in, and I have the evidence to back it up."

He added "It is the worst county I have ever been in, in inequalities and needs."

Comptroller Green said that his conclusions are based on three different studies and reappraisal units. One of the reappraisal units was made by the Vivian Research Corporation of Miami for the Railroad Assessment Board of which the State Comptroller is a member.

Another reappraisal was made by an appraiser employed by the Railroad Assessment Board to make a separate study.

The third study was made by Carlyle Auley, Administrative Assistant in the State Comptroller's office, said Comptroller Green, is a man of many years experience in this field.

"These studies," Green told The Sanford Herald, "provide the information leading to these conclusions."

Green's announcement comes just prior to the regular meeting of the Board of Seminole County Commissioners when it is expected that the question of reappraisal will be discussed.

It is expected that local citizens will appear before the Board of Commissioners tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock to take their stand on the reappraisal question and the possibility of a reappraisal program by an outside firm.

Only last Tuesday, the Board of Seminole County Commissioners, sitting as an Equalization Board, adjourned without taking action on complaints filed with the board on July 30.

However, County Commission Chairman John Krider stated recently that he is willing to reconvene the Equalization Board on a motion from members of the Board of Commissioners to discuss the complaints of taxpayers and citizens.

When you are glibly urged by an out-of-town stranger in pay in advance a fee to assure the certain sale of your real property at a figure above what you believe it to be worth through extensive national advertising, call the Seminole County Real Estate Board before you sign any contract," says Bill Stemper, president of the board.

"If you do," advises Stemper, "you may save yourself from becoming the victim of racketeers who have cheated thousands of property owners of an estimated $25 to $50 million a year with the result that a Congressional committee has just held hearings with a view to making the racket a federal criminal offense."

Stemper made it clear, however, that he is not cautioning against reputable firms and brokers who sometimes charge an advance fee during a real estate transaction and who do, indeed, perform services—including the advanced stipulated in the contract they offer and the oral presentation of their representative. Firms of this reliable character include many of the most prominent in the real estate field and are well known to Realtors.

Neither, the warning of the local Realtor's executive is directed at persons usually unscrupulous real estate brokers who operate across state lines despite the vigilance of state real estate commissions. Operators of this character, Stemper said, act as "finders of business opportunities" and, to a lesser extent, real property.

To help Seminole County residents be on their guard against possible advances for racketeers, Stemper gave the following general description of their technique:

"The salesman of such firms approaches owners of commercial properties, farms, and even homes,

Communists Gloating Over Rocket Failure

LONDON (UPI)—America's allies around the world were saddened today by the failure of the Soviet moon rocket, while the communists gloated over launching of "another American flop."

People on both sides of the Iron Curtain asked the key question "What will this failure mean for the United States?"

In Washington, U. S. Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy said why the United States let the world know in advance about its moon shot when chances of success were small.

"Under the American way," McElroy said, "both success and failure are reported candidly wherever and whenever possible. The public interest is paramount."

This is in stark contrast to certain other areas of the world where only success are reported, leaving countless failures concealed forever.

"Equally important is the need to insure international understanding of the United States' objective which continues to be the enrichment of scientific knowledge for the benefit of all mankind."

British space experts speculated that the Russians already have failed in one secrecy-veiled attempt to get a moon rocket off the ground, predicted that they will try again soon—perhaps within a week.

"My feeling is that the Russians might have had a shot and failed," said Kenneth W. Gaisland, vice chairman of the British Interplanetary Society. "Whether they have or not, I'm sure they will try very soon."

Amateur and professional moon-watchers throughout the allied world— notably at Britain's Jodrell Bank, at Japan's satellite observation headquarters, and West Germany's Darmstadt monitoring station— had been waiting to track "Thor-Able."

To a man, they expressed disappointment over the failure of the launching.

Disease-Ridden Parrots Smuggled Into South Florida

MIAMI (UPI)—Custom officials hunted through south Florida today for disease-ridden parrots apparently smuggled into the area from British Honduras.

Joseph Forster, assistant supervisor of customs operations here, warned that the parrots have been dying off fast and may be carrying psittacosis or parrot fever, a disease that is communicable to humans.

Saturday, customs agents confiscated a shrimp boat and a bus in Sarasota containing hundreds of cages. Remains of burned birds, feathers and bones were found on a nearby farm.

No arrests have been made yet, but agents said they probably will get warrants against suspected smugglers today.

Agents said some 200 to 300 birds apparently were trapped in British Honduras and sold illegally in Florida and South Atlantic states.

"We know where some of the birds are," said Forster. "But we don't have any idea how many are in private homes in the Miami area and other cities in the Southeast."

The customs official said authorities became suspicious of the parrot smuggling recently when a large number of immature parrots suddenly appeared in the Miami area. Since young birds can't be raised or hatched here, customs officials knew smugglers were operating in the area.

McCarney later told Columbia County Sheriff Deputy Sheriff James he had just immersed young Cogar when he lost his grip. Cogar, who could not swim, was swept downstream several yards before he disappeared beneath the surface.

Other church members looked on horrified. Rev. McCarney went into shock and had to be treated at a hospital.

Baruch reads a lot and spends some of his time working on the second book of his memoirs. He keeps in touch with his New York office by telephone.

Holland, Pepper Resume Tours

By United Press International Sen. Seward H. Holland and Claude D. Pepper resumed their vigorous handshaking, speech-making tours today, preliminary to their face-to-face debate before a television audience in Miami Tuesday.

Holland, hoarse from a slight cold, said "the people have indicated that they want and need the type of national leadership real loyalty I have given them, especially in troubled times that lie ahead of us."

Holland declined to predict the number of counties he would carry in the Sept. 9 primary. But he said much of his strength lies in the central part of the state and many of the metropolitan areas.

Cdr. Pahl Says Service Support Important

Commander Herschel A. Pahl, Commanding Officer of Fleet Aircraft Service Squadron 51, at the Sanford Naval Air Station, spoke to the Sanford Rotary Club today on "Aviation."

"On Tuesday of this last week," he said, "our local newspaper carried an editorial calling attention to National Aviation Day, which the nation will observe tomorrow." And he added "I feel perhaps then that I can take advantage of the date and talk to you about aviation."

Citing the history of the national observance in order to direct the public's attention to aviation, Cdr. Pahl said "I am sure you'll agree that times have changed a bit here in Sanford anyway, because most people find it difficult to direct their attention to anything else when some of our A-1J's turn up at full throttle."

Man Drowns While Being Baptized

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (UPI)—Clive Cogar, 31, drowned Sunday when he slipped from the grasp of a minister who was baptizing him and was swept away by the swift current of rain-swollen Beaver Creek.

Cogar, of Grantville, W. Va., was one of 40 persons being baptized into the Lord Jesus Christ Church by the Rev. Gallard McCarty, of Akron, Ohio. The victim was a nephew of the minister.

McCarty later told Columbia County Sheriff Deputy Sheriff James he had just immersed young Cogar when he lost his grip. Cogar, who could not swim, was swept downstream several yards before he disappeared beneath the surface.

Other church members looked on horrified. Rev. McCarty went into shock and had to be treated at a hospital.

Scientific Team Investigates Causes Of Traffic Accidents

Don't the experts really know what causes traffic accidents? They know about the "who, what, when and where," but do they know the "why?"

Greater knowledge about "why" accidents happen would be invaluable to automotive and traffic engineers, highway designers, public officials and safety organizations.

During the past 20 years, accident prevention efforts have resulted in a 60 per cent reduction in the nation's traffic fatality rate. Far-reaching progress has been made in the various engineering aspects of the problem, but less has been accomplished on the human side.

A team of scientists at Northwestern University's Traffic Institute is making a new effort to find out "why."

"Scientists who study accident prevention believe they have too few facts about the human causes," says Ray Ashworth, director of the Institute.

The real cause is seldom apparent, he believes. It may be something deep-seated in the driver, or a highly complicated, inter-related set of contributing factors.

To get such facts, the Institute has developed the first fully scientific method of investigating basic causes underlying traffic accidents.

The long-range project is promoted and financed by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, the U. S. Public Health Service and the Automotive Safety Foundation which is a national organization supported by automotive and allied industries.

Among the many questions for which answers are sought are the following:

What is the real significance of emotional instability and recklessness in traffic accidents?

What is the specific effect of alcohol on drivers, especially when less than an intoxicating amount is in the blood?

What is the exact relationship of the vehicle's dangerous situations and take evasive action?

To what extent are accidents caused by specific vision deficiencies or other physical defects?

What are the real reasons for inattention of various kinds in solving the problems presented by modern traffic situations?

"Actually," Mr. Ashworth says, "this is a pilot study, out of which will come not only valuable new data on accidents, but new concepts and techniques of collecting data as well."

The pilot phase is expected to be completed in three years of full-time work by the team. Five or more additional years may be needed to get final answers.

The ultimate goal is to simplify and standardize scientific methods that can be used by investigators without scientific training. This will permit scientifically valid accident investigation on a national scale.

The Institute's traffic training and research center known throughout the world. Police officers and administrators from all sections of the U. S. and from many foreign countries come to it for courses in modern traffic management and enforcement methods.

Conducting the field research on this project is a team composed of Dr. Edward R. Jones, psychologist and sociologist; Dr. Mary F. Young, medical doctor; and Robert B. Mack, engineer.

The team, which later will be joined by a statistician, work under the supervision of J. Stanford Baker, director of research at the Institute for the past decade.

Further, the project is guided by an "operating committee" of leading Northwestern University faculty members: Dr. Robert B. Banks, former chairman of the Department of Civil Engineering; Technological Institute; Dr. Edward S. Petersen, director of the Graduate Division of the Medical School; Dr. Robert I. Watson, professor of psychology; and Dr. Robert F. Winch, professor of sociology.

Working always in team fashion, the three scientists gather information by direct investigation of actual accident cases. At the scene of an accident, the engineer primarily is responsible for physical and mechanical data. All three, however, make observations and talk to witnesses and the people involved.

The real efforts to probe deeply into underlying human causes, however, begins some days later in the calm, clinical atmosphere of his project office. There, the team interviews the drivers in a friendly but penetrating manner. Dr. Jones carries the major load of investigating personal backgrounds, attitudes and environmental factors. Dr. Young examines the subject's physical condition and medical history.

Often the team follows up by returning to the scene of the accident to check details.

Finally, each case is discussed and evaluated. As thoroughly disciplined scientists, the team members have endless patience. They expect no quick results and accept the fact that their goal can be reached only by the slow, laborious route of scientific method.

TRICK RIDER Haggerty was the big star of a rodeo, and the crowd always roared its approval when he chimaxed his act by galloping up to his handkerchief and picking it up with his teeth. One night, however, he swung low from the saddle, and galloped by in a cloud of dust—but the handkerchief remained right where it had been placed. Haggerty had missed!

The crowd sat in stunned silence, but the rodeo announcer refused to acknowledge defeat. He had a hasty whispered conference with Haggerty, then boomed through his megaphone, "Mr. Haggerty will now perform a feat never before attempted. Riding back he will pick up not only that handkerchief—but his teeth!"

W. Somerset Maugham prefers small parties. "Four is a wonderful number," he decrees. "Six is all right, and eight will do in a pinch. After that it's not a party; it's a rabble."

Personal Income Hits All-Time High In U. S. In July

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government says Americans' personal income rose to an all-time high last month, but part of the increase ironically came from jobless pay benefits.

An official report said personal income last month was running at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $358,900,000,000.

The former record was $352,100,000,000 in August of last year. Included in the latest rise were jobless benefits which mounted as 20 states granted temporary extensions of payments to the long-term unemployed.

Wages and salaries, a key economic indicator, advanced for the third straight month but still fell short of pre-recession marks.

ACCUSES ADAMS—Rowell M. Austin, former Pentagon official, is shown in Washington outside House Armed Services Subcommittee hearing room. ## Oviedo News

By Marion Jones

Our good friend Claudia Mitchell is getting very hard to keep up with these days. She just had a wonderful trip to Washington and New York with her daughter, Marietta Chance. Now, here she is gone again. She took off Friday with her grandson and granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Uatter of Apopka, and family for Highlands, N. C. She will be with her other daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carol Hammerick, also of Apopka, who have a home there. She will stay and return with Emily and Carol.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Dawson and family are among the Oviedoans who have suffered with us through the hot weather to get to enjoy an August vacation. Maxine tells us that her mother will keep the two boys and two girls so she and Al will have a wonderful vacation and well-deserved rest. They plan on getting in some fishing up around Palatka, then on to visit friends at Wauchula that they have not seen in some time.

Leaving on the eighteenth for a well-earned vacation will be the Reverend and Mrs. George H. Carlton and two boys.

Miss Lois Ruddle, who has been spending her vacation with friends, will be coming in now to go back to her job on the 18th.

By the time you read this, there will be a gathering of Oviedoans at Waynesville, N. C. to enjoy the cool mountain air. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lee, Mrs. Annie Carter, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lawton and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jones and son, Jimmy—as well as Mrs. Ruby U. Fates and daughter, Kay, and son, Tommy, Mrs. B. F. Wheeler and daughter, Mrs. W. H. Martin, have been there for some time now. Little Ann is at Camp Greystone. Bill Martin will probably be there by then, too. Waynesville was a little late getting in her share of the Oviedo tourists, but they will have their share now.

FULLMER BOUT SET—BALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Promoter Joe Dupler has completed arrangement for a middleweight bout between Gene Fullmer and Joey Giardello in September. Dupler, in his initial Utah promotion, said the fight will be held here either Sept. 8 or 10.

COMING TO U. S.—BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Argentina's Davis Cup tennis squad leaves Saturday for New York to compete against the United States in the North American Zone finals. The South Americans will play in two tournaments before the important five-match series in N.Y., beginning Aug. 15.

NEW ADDITION TO BRONX ZOO—Georgianna, a zebra foal, snuggles up to her mother, Anna, several days after her birth at the Bronx Zoo in New York. The newborn heavily-striped zebra was named after its sire and dam, George and Anna.

GETTING AN EARFUL—Two sifungas take up their new residence at the Washington, D. C., Zoo, which obtained them in a swap with the Brookfield Zoo in Chicago. Antelope from the heart of Africa, the sifungas frequent swampy areas where they can outdistance most enemies because of wide toenails, which act almost like skis. They are also good swimmers.

Seminole County Is Bigger Than Any Person Or Group Of Persons

Seminole County has been slapped directly in the face! And it was a blow that will smart and hurt for a long time to come—unless something is done immediately to erase the stigma of being "the worst in 67 counties" in tax inequalities.

That's a hard dose to take for a lot of people. It's a bitter pill to swallow when taxpayers have complained about inequalities, they've begged for a change, they've deplored the existing structure—but in the same breath they are turned back with "let's have everything like it is and try to get this thing settled."

How long, when, how, by whom and what will the outcome be? Honest law-abiding citizens can't be put off and put off—the monotony becomes tiresome.

Seminole County—ladies and gentlemen—is bigger than any one person or any group of persons. It can't afford any "trial by error" method or "we'll do it next year" or even a "hire a couple of extra people" excuse to continue our tax rolls in their present condition.

Yes—the rumor has gotten around that at tomorrow morning's meeting of the Board of Seminole County Commissioners someone is going to suggest, and try to put across, the employing of two or three additional personnel for the office of the Tax Assessor in an attempt to soothe the ruffled feathers of some of the tax payers.

Well—let's get this straight right now—the Seminole County Tax Assessor hasn't made one move, during two budget years, to ask for additional help in her office to re-appraise Seminole County. Even at the point when all of the personnel, during a recent freeze, had to be shifted to groves instead of houses, the Tax Assessor didn't approach the county commissioners for extra help in order to keep a program of equalization going "full speed ahead."

Knowing full well that an equalization program meant securing one of the biggest industries of its kind in the world for Seminole County—NOTHING WAS DONE.

Now here's another thing that we must get straight once and for all, too! Mrs. Mary Earle Walker has repeatedly brought up the fact that she has had only 18 months—since January 1957—to work out a program, to set up equalization methods—to employ additional personnel. This we must add: that she campaigned on the promise that "due to the knowledge and experience

I have had in this office for 18 years, I feel that I am qualified to run the office of Seminole County Tax Assessor"—or words to that effect.

It hasn't been 18 months—it has been 20 years or thereabouts. Plenty of time while serving as Assistant to the Tax Assessor to gain the knowledge necessary to meet problems of the kind with which we are now faced.

Three different and separate tax studies have been made of Seminole County's tax rolls and property. Each one has been made by competent, professional people. And based on these three studies, the State Comptroller, Ray E. Green, tells us that "From my studies of the Seminole County tax assessments I found more inequalities and a need for reappraisal than any county I have ever been in and I have the evidence to back it up."

Not only that—Mr. Green says "it is the worst I have seen in the 67 counties of our state."

From that statement alone, every tax payer in Seminole County should make it a point to be present at tomorrow morning's meeting of the Seminole County Commission and demand to be heard! If you're for the inequalities that are existing—show up and take a stand on the issue and let the commissioners know that you'd like the tax rolls that way. But if you're against such a condition—if you want to see a change—now's the time for your voice and every other tax payer's voice to be heard.

There is but one avenue to travel now. And that is to call in experienced, qualified, professional people who know what they are doing and how to do it. Turn the tax rolls over to them—look, stock and appraise!—for a complete and thorough study of Seminole County and a reappraisal of the property within its borders.

A lot of eyes were opened at recent hearings of the Seminole County Equalization Board. Of course, they are now closed and it has become a matter of local history.

Perhaps now we would like to know what has been done to bring up to par with other tax payers the $96 per acre being paid by Clerk of Circuit Court O. P. Herndon—or the $76 per acre being paid by Commissioner Fred Dixon—or the tax exempt property of Commissioner B. C. Dodd. Has there been enough time to change these matters of record on the tax rolls of our county?

Or maybe a change in the tax rolls on property owned by H. R. Walsh? He is the property owner who has 150 foot frontage on a lake, a frame home built in 1885, and a homestead of a number of acres. His tax assessment was raised 800 per cent and yet he did not have an opportunity to look at the assessments of his neighbors.

What can be done? That's a matter in the hands of the taxpayers right now.

Perhaps it would serve both you and your neighbor to be present at tomorrow's meeting of the Board of Seminole County Commissioners.

Your voice can change the history of Seminole County!

Battle Of Graphs, Charts Shaping Up

By WILLIAM J. EATON
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—A battle of graphs and charts is shaping up between two groups of economists in government, labor organizations and business groups.

The gloomier prophets are forecasting heavy unemployment—from 4 to 8 million persons out of work—at least until late 1958. More optimistic seers concede that the jobless totals will be higher than normal for some time. But these cheerful calculators believe that the recent upsurge in business activity forecasts the beginning of the end of large-scale unemployment.

Economists for the AFL-CIO typify the first group. They base their pessimism on the following "four sobering facts":

- Employers always increase hours when they want to step up production before reselling laid-off workers. It will take a substantial boost in output to re-employ the millions who have received pink slips.

Automation A Factor
—Advancing technology and automated machinery means that fewer workers will be required to produce more goods in the future.

—Our steadily expanding labor force means that the nation needs about 780,000 new jobs next year just to provide work for newcomers in the job market.

—The number of chronically

"distressed areas" where jobs and industries have vanished is growing larger. It increased even while the rest of the country enjoyed boom times.

One of the Labor Department's leading manpower experts—Seymour Wolfbein—acknowledges that these factors are present.

But Wolfbein recalled that a majority of the nation's economists forecast a small depression after World War II which never occurred. The thinking at that time, Wolfbein said, was that the economy could not possibly provide jobs for all the returning servicemen without a slowdown.

SEATO Confronted With Challenge

By H. C. TRAGER
United Press International
LONDON (UPI)—SEATO, the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, has been confronted with a severe challenge that may seriously hamper its freedom of action against Communist subversion in the treaty area.

The challenge has come from SEATO's secretary general, Nai Pote Sarasin, who declared that the treaty's responsibility of a member country's own national forces.

Sarasin, a former provisional prime minister of Thailand who is on an official visit to Australia, was reported from Canberra today to have termed political coups a "domestic affair" of the country in which they occur, which could not involve other members.

It appears this interpretation would limit SEATO's right of intervention, for instance, in the event of a Communist-engineered or backed coup in a member country. The issue has been spotlighted by the recent Baghdad coup which confronted the Baghdad Pact nations with the crucial question of whether or not to intervene in Iraq when a rebel regime overthrew the Iraqi government.

Opposed Iraq Intervention
The Baghdad Pact nations came to the conclusion at a meeting in London a fortnight ago against intervention because the rebel regime was considered to have the support of the people of Iraq and because it was held to be in full control of the country. Also it at once pledged itself to honor existing international commitments.

Sarasin now reportedly holds the view that a political coup in a SEATO member country, in principle, would not involve other members. Other member nations could not take action unless they were asked by the threatened government. Even then, they would not be obliged to go to its aid under the treaty arrangements, he stated, according to the reports today.

Some observers argued that if, for example, a Communist coup should remove the ruling regime in a SEATO country by a lightning stroke, the "threatened government" would no longer have a chance to invoke SEATO assistance.

Arms Considerable Interest
There would be, in this interpretation, no room for SEATO intervention, even if the ousted regime could have invoked it. These views have been received with considerable interest in government quarters.

Britain appears to agree with the broad outlines of this interpretation of SEATO's Thai secretary general.

A Foreign Office spokesman let it be understood that he had "no quarrel" with this viewpoint. But views within the treaty organization were expected to be divided.

Some of the Western SEATO nations were expected to accept the interpretation only with considerable reservations.

The text of the treaty itself is hazy on this point, according to expert opinion.

Tranquilizers May Not Be for the Car Driver

By MERRILL N. SANDERSON, M. D.
Throughout American people are taking tranquilizers, some on the advice of their doctors, some on their own initiative.

Many of these people, probably most of them, drive cars. Some of them—again probably a sizable portion—will drive their autos while under the influence of these anxiety-reducing drugs.

Tranquil Driving?
Some may even take tranquilizers to steady their nerves for driving in the congestion of our streets and highways.

What effect do these tranquilizers have upon their driving ability?

This is a question which has aroused the curiosity of the National Safety Council.

Understandably, as yet we don't know the exact answer.

Letters To The Editor

The Editor,
Sanford Herald.
Dear Sir:
I have read with interest your editorials on inequalities in assessments throughout Seminole County and have attended a number of the meetings of the Tax Equalization Board, first as an observer, then as a complainant.
It does not seem to me that a Taxpayers Association should be necessary to insure that members of the County Commission and other duly elected County Officials carry out their respective responsibilities to all of the people of Seminole County.
In order that all of the people of Seminole County may see the need for a fair and equitable re-assessment of all properties in the county, it is suggested that a copy of the 1958 Seminole County Tax Roll as certified, be printed in the Sanford Herald. These, I believe are a matter of public record. Such a practice has been carried on in other communities.

In fairness to the present County Assessor, who has borne the brunt of much of the criticism, some just and some unjust, a qualified outside agency with no friends or enemies within the county should by all means be employed to make the sorely needed reappraisal.
Such a reappraisal would mean more tax income for the county, with each individual carrying his or her fair share of the tax load.

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to questions of interest from former servicemen and their families:
Q. If I go back into service will I be covered by the free $10,000 indemnity? I hold a GI term insurance policy and am wondering if I should drop it.
A. A free insurance coverage for men in the armed forces came to an end in January, 1957. You will not be covered by any free indemnity, so do not drop your GI term insurance.
Q. I plan to attend school this fall, under the Korean GI Bill. Who pays the school tuition bills and other fees—the VA or veteran?
A. You, the veteran, will receive an allowance each month from the VA from which you must meet all your own training expenses.
Q. I am a peacetime veteran receiving compensation for a service-aggravated disability. Am I eligible for outpatient medical treatment from the VA?
A. Yes, if the disability is service-connected and requires treatment, you would be eligible. For authorization of treatment apply to any VA office.
Q. In negotiating for a GI home loan, how can I be sure that real estate taxes which have been estimated for me are accurate? Not too low and later cause me difficulty in making my payments on the higher taxes.
A. Reputable lenders and builders make every effort to furnish reasonably accurate tax estimates. Where exact amounts are not available, check with local taxing authorities or compare nearby properties.

What could be better for a dress party than a Pink Lemonade Chiffon Pie? For a garnish, parade animal crackers around the edge of the pie. Foamy soda in old-fashioned soda glasses will make a hit with the young set and so will paper animal favors.

A THREE-RING CIRCUS PARTY FOR CHILDREN

Next time you're treating your small fry and his friends to a party, make it an extra special event and choose the circus as a theme. Paper plates, napkins and tablecloths with a circus motif along with a profusion of colored balloons and streamers will create a circus mood. Fat little paper animals parading around the middle of the table make a fascinating centerpiece or if it's place cards you're looking for, print guest names on each animal.

For some party food to fit the mood, Carnation Company suggests, as the star performer of your show, a Pink Lemonade Chiffon Pie. It's light, delicious and easy to make. The secret behind the good flavor and texture of this pie is instant nonfat dry milk crystals, the modern, nonfat milk in crystal form. Mix these magic crystals of nonfat milk with an equal amount of ice water and they'll whip into fluffy white mounds that flatter fruit flavors and create a light, delicate texture. And because instant crystals are nonfat, this pie is perfect for children since it's not so rich as most desserts. Along with the pie serve foamy soda that contain all the minerals, proteins and B-vitamins of a sounce glass of milk since they're made with instant crystals. To make

- one soda, combine 1/2 cup instant crystals with 1/2 cup ice water and 2 teaspoons chocolate syrup in a large glass. Add 1 large scoop of chocolate ice cream (or any favorite flavor) and fill the glass with chilled carbonated water. It's a drink that's not only fun and good tasting but nutritious, too.
- Pink Lemonade Chiffon Pie (Makes nine pies)
  - 2 tablespoons (2 envelopes) undrained gelatin
  - 1 1/2 cups reconstituted frozen lemonade concentrate
  - 1/2 cup maraschino cherry juice
  - 1 cup sugar
  - 1 cup sliced banana
  - 1/2 cup chopped maraschino
  - 2 1/2 cups whipped instant nonfat dry milk crystals*
  - 1/2 cup single crust graham cracker shell
  - 12 animal crackers
- Sift gelatin in 1/2 cup lemonade and maraschino cherry juice. Heat remaining 1/2 cup lemonade and sugar until sugar melts; pour over gelatin. Stir until dissolved. Chill until syrupy, stir in fruit. Fold whipped instant crystals into fruit. Chill until mixture mounds from spoon. Pour into crust. Arrange animal crackers around edge. Chill until set (2 1/2 hours).
- *To whip instant nonfat dry milk crystals (Makes about 2 1/2 cups): Mix 1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals with 1/2 cup ice water in bowl. Whip until soft peaks form (about 3-4 minutes). Add 2 tablespoons sugar. Continue beating until stiff peaks form (3-4 minutes longer).

Final Comedy "The Moon Is Blue" Opens Tonight At Silver Springs

For the final comedy of the season, the Silver Springs Players have chosen the popular and very successful Broadway and Hollywood success, "The Moon Is Blue." Opening Monday, August 18th, it will continue nightly through Labor Day with the exception of Thursday, August 28. The show stars Will Sandy and Sara Reed and features Tom Evans and newcomer, Jerry Fitzgerald. "The Moon Is Blue" is one of the most talked-about comedies in the theatre today. It is the very frank discussion of the purity of a not-so-naive young New York actress and the men in her life, her father, her new boyfriend and the man from the upstairs apartment, fanned and censored in some cities, the play has become in six short years, a classic in American comedy.

will be Director-Actor, Will Sandy. Sara Reed will portray another interesting role as she becomes involved with her men. Jerry Fitzgerald, just brought in to Silver Springs for this role, will be seen as the young architect in whose apartment most of the action takes place. Tom Evans again assumes the father role as he plays the father of the young girl. Reservation for the comedy can be made by calling the box office MA 2-447 after 1 p. m. any day. Performances are all in the round in the Skyline Room above the Silver Springs Restaurant and Cafeteria. Popular pieces prevail in the air-conditioned theater and free coffee is served at intermission. Performances start at 8:30 p. m. and special price reductions are offered to persons having dinner in the Silver Springs Cafeteria or Restaurant before the show.

For Pretty Party Dish Try This Potato Salad

NEW YORK—(UPI)—Mashed potato salad makes a pretty party dish. Bring 1 1/2 cups water to boil. Remove from fire, add 2 tablespoons instant minced onion, and stir in 1 envelope instant mashed potato. Mix 1/2 cup each prepared mustard, and mayonnaise, and blend into hot potatoes. Add 1 cup diced celery, 1/2 cup diced green pepper, 2 tablespoons chopped drained sweet pickle, 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento, 2 chopped hard cooked eggs, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon white pepper, and mix well. Brush 1 1/2 quart mold or individual molds with salad oil, line with strips of green pepper, 2 sliced hard cooked eggs and sliced olives. Gently press salad into mold and chill. Serves 6.

First Christian Church Circle Meets Recently

Circle No. 3 of the First Christian Church met recently at the home of Mrs. Florence Bishop with Mrs. J. L. Horton Sr. presiding. Mrs. O. D. Landress gave the devotional and Mrs. O. T. Mother, Daughter Fete Recent Bride Thursday With Luncheon

Mrs. Manuel Jacobson and Mrs. Charles Teitelbaum were hostesses Thursday afternoon at a luncheon given in honor of Mrs. Samuel Jacobson, bride of August 3. The Jacobson home at 416 Virginia Ave. was decorated with flower arrangements which followed a pink and white color scheme. Bride and groom figures taken from both of Mrs. Manuel Jacobson's children cakes were displayed giving the decorations an appropriate bridal theme. A floral arrangement of pink and white asters and rosebuds centered the head luncheon table. From this arrangement pink ribbon streamers stretched the full length of the tables and along the ribbon were placed blooms of asters. During the lovely party the bride was presented with a personal gift as a memento of the occasion. Out-of-town guests included: Mrs. Jacobson, Mrs. Bernard Jacobson, and Mrs. Arthur Jacobson, all of Winter Haven, Mrs. Richard Irvin, the honoree's mother, from Tampa; Mrs. Morris Teitelbaum, Mrs. Nell Webman, Mrs. Arthur Greenberg, Mrs. Al Ziskind, Mrs. Nathan Rubin, Mrs. E. C. Waldheim, Mrs. Troy Ray, and Mrs. Richard Weiner, all of Orlando, and Mrs. Ed Weiss of Philadelphia completed the out-of-town guest list. Mrs. Melvin Ziskind, Mrs. Bell Kulloner, Mrs. Harvey Solomon, Mrs. William Toll, Mrs. Lee Samuels, Mrs. Edwin Epstein, Mrs. Ben Katz, Mrs. Samuel Levy, Mrs. Marvin Metzger, Mrs. James Young, Mrs. Leonard Munson, Mrs. Betty Ann Munson, Mrs. Max Zucker, Mrs. Max Jacobson, Mrs. Herman Jacobson and Miss Sara Jacobson, mother-in-law and sister-in-law of the honoree respectively, comprised the list of local guests present.

New Fall Fashions Mean New Lingerie

As important as the fashions that clothe the outer woman are the underpinnings that give them—and her—the proper shape. The high-waisted look demands a high, well-rounded bustline, best achieved by the new "chemise" bras, being brought out in wash and wear fabrics for the first time this fall. Many are long-line for a flattened (but not pinched) and firm, yet the proper shape. The old paper-doll silhouette, are wrong for the looser, straighter styles. Firm hip support is a "must" for the newer looks. Slips and petticoats are best thought of as linings for new fashions, following the outer silhouette. Particularly important are stiffenings for the trapeze, giving it body and shape at the hemline. Many designers feel so strongly about these underpinnings that they stitch them right into the dress or skirt. Hem lengths will make last year's slips and petticoats out of date. They should be at least an inch shorter than a skirt, preferably finished with lace or embroidery since they're bound to show. Especially fashion right is colored lingerie to match fall's fashion tones. Hosiery, regaining new emphasis last spring with the introduction of pastel tints, will be even more exciting this fall. Colors are mostly aimed at leg and ankle flattery and, for late-day and evening wear they will even be embellished with embroidery and jewels.

Poison ivy grows all over Florida. For the benefit of folks who are subject to its irritation, Erdman West, botanist with the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station, describes it as a vine which climbs by roots on the stems and which is characterized by three leaflets on each leaf. The stem may be as large as four inches in diameter and the top of such a vine may extend 30 to 40 feet up the trunk of a tree. Smaller plants are more common. In open areas the stems may run along under the ground with an upright stem appearing every foot or so. On the stem will be a few three-lobed leaves and perhaps a few small dense clusters of greenish flowers. The fruits are small, white, wrinkled berries. All parts of poison ivy are poisonous, and the smoke from burning leaves or stems can cause severe irritations, says Myrtle Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent.

Poison oak is closely related to poison ivy and resembles it except it is never a vine. The leaves have three parts and each part is lobed or notched. The stems are denser and erect, growing one to three feet tall, usually in groups of 10 to 20 or more. It grows only on high, open dry ground; never in woods or wet places. Another plant to be avoided is poison sumac. It is a low bush or small tree. The leaves have seven to 13 leaflets with the main stem and midrib always red. The slender upright flower clusters have white leaves and white berries come in the fall in the same position. Mr. West says poison sumac rarely grows in moist or wet ground and with other trees or shrubs. Strange as it may seem, some people are subject to irritation similar to that poisoning from one of our fine tropical fruits, the mango; while the common rag weed is an irritant for others. Although not everyone suffers irritation after contact with these plants, and some people seem to be immune, Mr. West warns that some individuals gain immunity while others lose it without warning. He says it is best to avoid them entirely.

O.E.S. Announces August 27 Picnic

Mrs. Mae Sheppard announced recently the Annual Robert Morris Picnic of the Order of the Eastern Star will be an event of August 27. All members and visitors are invited to come and bring a picnic basket complete with individual eating utensils to the picnic grounds in back of the Elks Club located at 1096 E. 2nd St. Following a program which will begin at 5:45 p. m. dinner will be served at 6:15 p. m. Don't forget the date Wednesday, August 27, and come and have a wonderful evening with fellow Eastern Stars, their families, and friends.

Lake Mary Home Scene Of Meeting, Picnic, Card Party

The Past Noble Grand Club met Mrs. Mable Brown in Lake Mary recently for a covered dish picnic. After the members enjoyed the delicious meal the business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Brown. It was decided to send a card and flowers to Mrs. Kyle. Other business was concerned with the Christmas Sale and canasta parties which are to be held soon. After the meeting was adjourned the members enjoyed an afternoon spent playing canasta and visiting.

Remove Stains

Carpets Quickly UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa.—(UPI)—Remove stains from nylon carpeting quickly. Doris L. Snook, home management specialist at Pennsylvania State University, said immediate care can save time and trouble. She suggested the carpet be lifted, scraped or soaked with a clean cloth or a sponge. Work then should be started from the edges of the stain to prevent spreading. A diluted detergent will also work well in many instances. For oily or greasy type stains use a household spot remover or dry cleaning solvent.

Consider Traffic In Selecting Rug

CHICAGO—(UPI)—There's more to choosing carpeting than just picking the color. Homemakers should carefully consider what they want before they make a purchase, according to Ruth Holman of the Carpet Institute. Miss Holman warned that rooms bearing heavy traffic need stronger fibered carpeting than rooms which are used just for company. But, she cautioned, "no one fiber will do everything." And she said, it is just as important to think about the construction of a carpet as it is to worry about its fiber components. For example, she said, nylon is a durable fiber, but if it is put into a loose, shoddy construction, the carpet won't last. Carpeting is chosen for its appearance, its durability and its serviceability. Today's carpeting offerings come closer to hitting the mark in all three categories because of the blends between natural and synthetic fibers. The synthetic—nylon, rayon, acetate and acrylics—take color more vividly than the natural fibers, according to the expert. She said nylon carpeting is durable and easy to clean, but cautioned that it is fairly expensive depending on the construction. Rayon, she continued, is very economical in carpeting but it is not as resilient as wool or some of the acrylic fibers. Acetate is easy to clean, according to Miss Holman, and often is colorfast without dyeing. Most acrylics are a blending of two types of the synthetic fiber, which most closely resembles wool. Also it will bounce back after being walked on, and takes to color perfectly. Only two natural fibers—wool and cotton—are in common carpeting use. Wool is the classic carpeting fiber which combines all of the benefits of synthetics at a balanced degree. Cotton is more economical, but not as resilient.

Don't Be Half-Baked When Summer Becomes History, Tan Begins To Fade

There's nothing attractive about a "half-baked" look. But that's what happens to the best of sunbathers once you've packed up your new, attention-creating swept-wing bathing suit and returned from a sunlit vacation to indoor routine. You can prolong your bathing beauty look with the artful use of make-up, or, in this case, make-down. A foundation is important, since you can pick your color and retain a healthy glow until the last speck of tan has faded. Rather than a new color every week while your tan is on the wane, get two colors of foundation: one dark, the other light, and mix your own.

A liquid is your best bet. It mixes easily and will minimize the drying-out effects of sun and sea. It's also a skin protector for those last days of sunshine when you glide along in your top-down convertible. In mixing your foundation color, don't go overboard with an extra dark tint which will contrast with the tan on your arms and legs. Besides, too brown a shade isn't flattering. One shade darker than your skin, with just a touch of pink for that pretty "glow," is your best bet. The amount of rouge you should use depends on your complexion. A light-eyed brunette can play up her "baby blues" by adding a little pink to her cheeks, but blondes usually look best with a more golden-toned tan. A bright lipstick can help fend off the fallow look. Select a true red or even an orange-toned shade, either of which look just right with fall's gold and russet fashions. Too pale a pink is apt to bring on a faded effect. The new strapless swept-wing swim suits, styled after a new model car, eliminate the striped look caused by strappy or lapped suits. But, if a daring dress neckline shows a bit of white skin as well as tan, accomplish an even, all-over look by blending shades with the help of your make-up base. Eye make-up is more important than ever when your skin is in that in-between stage, but don't use too much eyeshadow. A touch of oil on your eyelids can do the job until your skin is fair again. But your lashes should look thick and darker than usual. And, of course, your brows should be in the best of shape with the aid of your tweezers. Hair, too, needs extra care following a summer out-of-doors. The new styles that have a studiedly disheveled look are only pretty when hair is shiny and healthy. If the sun has streaked your locks, try a temporary rinse or color stick to even out the shades. There are many special hair oils and creams to bring it back to "life". As fall grows closer, you will want to offset your new fashions with 1936's "apple" look, fragile and feminine, in go with the important "Empire" styles. So when your tan has finally faded gracefully, leave it at that—and don't be tempted to keep it going under the sun-lamp!

When you've packed away your bathing suit, let your tan fade gracefully with the aid of artful make-up.

Keep Florida Ahead!
RE-ELECT SPESSARD L. HOLLAND
YOUR U. S. SENATOR

SENATE VOTING RECORD
HOLLAND'S VOTING 97.7%
His opponent's Senate voting record 76%

Who deserves your vote for U. S. Senator? Spessard Holland, with his 97.7% voting record and who stays on the job ALL the time? Or his opponent, who averaged a poor record of voting 76% of the time in the 79th, 80th and 81st Congresses. In fact, Holland's opponent missed 62% of the votes in one session, 47% in another.

Senator Holland has never failed to take a stand on important issues in the Senate. But his opponent did fail to vote on many issues when it suited his political ambitions to do so. Why did he fail the people of Florida? Where was he?

This voting record tells a big story. It's the story of one Senator who faithfully performs his duty to you and to his State... and of a former Senator who neglected his job and was defeated because of it.

Senator Holland has given sincere, dedicated service to Florida and the nation. His 97.7% voting record, one of the highest in the Senate for that entire period, shows that he stays on the job, exercises his sound judgment, and reflects the will of those he was elected to represent. Such a loyal public servant merits retention by the people of Florida.

Vote for and support Senator Spessard HOLLAND... YOUR U. S. Senator.

KEEP FLORIDA AHEAD WITH HOLLAND

FSL Enters Final Week Of Season

By Peter Schaal
 League Secretary
ORLANDO — As the Class D Florida State League enters the final week of its 9th modern day season today, a down-to-the-wire race will decide three titles, and perhaps a fourth.

As of midnight Wednesday, the veteran Art Pennington of St. Petersburg had a four point lead over Palatka's Jim Niemann for the batting leadership.

That the unusual seven club schedule with its numerous seven inning games took its toll and withstood the assaults of batters as well as pitches is certain in that not a single individual league or club record will be broken, or even approached.

 orally promising fast sales at unrealistic prices through a far-flung coast-to-coast service. They make their "touch" a preliminary fee to help defray the heavy expense of national advertising and traveling to contacts.

"This advance fee is often 1 per cent or more of the sales price, which the representatives pull out of the air without any study of the assets or appraisal of the business or property. They frequently add a few thousand dollars to the asking price established by the owner. With flashy catalogues, fancy engraved performance bonds, letters of endorsement, and other sales gimmicks, they are able to talk the uninitiated owner into parting with anywhere from $125 to $3,000.

"A close examination of the papers presented usually discloses that the so-called brokerage organization guarantees only to advertise the property—a far cry from the glib oral promises of quick cash sale by the representative. If the owner hears all that from the firm again, all that he generally receives is one or two classified ads in newspaper, a worthless listing in a catalogue, or vague excuses for the inaction."

As members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards by virtue of their affiliation with the Seminole County Board, Stempers explained, Realtors are eager to stamp out this racket which reflects on the real estate industry. NAREB, which has sought for years to advance the professional standing of the calling, which requires every Realtor member to pledge himself to a code of ethics, has long fought the advance fee racket.

"If the company soliciting business on the basis of the payment of an advance fee is a reputable one, they will have no objection to a Seminole County citizen's consultation with this Board on the subject," Stempers said. "Thus, no harm will be done if the proposed deal is a bona fide one. If it is not, then our residents taking advantage of this public service of Seminole County Realtors will be able to save themselves from being taken for a substantial loss."

According to the Seminole County Real Estate Board president, the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations—shocked by the extent of the racket—is now considering the enactment of federal law to make fraudulent advance fee operators subject to a $5,000 fine and/or five years imprisonment. NAREB representatives have joined with state license law officials and reputable advance fee firms in presenting facts on the abuse for consideration by the subcommittee.

Forrestal To Be In Norfolk Port For Short Leave

By LT. (JG) ART MCCARTHY
 The Savage Sons are still in the middle of the Atlantic, but the course has turned westward; homeward at least as far as Norfolk, Va. Air operations have been stabilized, and the morale of the men is very high. We all know we are going home for a short stay.

Many families will meet the Forrestal in Norfolk for the brief in port period. Since it comes between school terms, entire families plan to make the long haul from Sanford to Norfolk. Hundreds of midshipmen will be returning with the fleet, thus accommodations may be difficult. It is urged upon all families to make reservations as soon as possible. Moreover, since the prospects of leave are dim, as many wives that are able to come to Norfolk are urged to do so.

The in port period will see the departure of Chiefs John Bayko and Elbert Nordlie. Both men have been Savage Sons of Sanford for numerous years and served it well. In addition to a great deal of regret and sense of loss that the squadron bids good luck to these two extremely capable CPO's.

When HATRON FIVE left Sanford three weeks ago, it was on four hours notice. Our exodus was smooth and complete due greatly to the tremendous cooperation and aid offered by VAH-11 and the citizens of Sanford. It would have been next to impossible to launch the A3D's without the valued support of VAH-11 because most of our men had already left Sanford by the hundreds for Mayport. The efficient and good-will assistance from the officers and men of VAH-11 rate our inestimable gratitude.

Finally the citizens of Sanford came through as we have almost always to expect in the pinch. Over three hundred men had to be advised that they would depart on a few hours notice. How they got the word and prepared in time is a tribute to helpful and unselfish attitude of our neighbors, the citizens and business men of Sanford.

Elder Cherry New Pastor At Forest City Church

FOREST CITY—Elder Gene F. Cherry, newly appointed pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist Church here preached his first sermon of new charge Saturday. He replaces Elder K. R. Day who recently was transferred to Candler, N. C. as principal of the church's boarding high school there.

Mr. Cherry comes from Miami Springs where he has been pastor for the past three years. He is a graduate of the denomination's Chattanooga Tennessee, and has served pastorates in Hattiesburg, Miss.; Pensacola, Florida; Rome, Georgia; and in Winter Haven, Ft. Myers, and St. Augustine in Florida.

The Cherry family consists of Mr. Cherry, his wife Lillian and his daughter Kay, aged 13. They will live on Lake Pearl Causeway Rd. Mr. Cherry is originally from Orlando, and his mother, Mrs. Grace Cherry, lives at 2317 Orange Ave., Orlando.

The church Mr. Cherry will serve is on the campus of Forest Lake Academy, here, and he will also be a member of the faculty as an instructor in religion.

Pre-School Planning Starts

SLAVIA—Pre-school planning began today for the faculty of St. Luke's Christian Day School as announced by principal E. L. Bell.

Miss Judy DeCoste and Steven R. Sidik have returned from Concordia Teachers College, River Forest, Ill. where they were both enrolled in the summer school session, and will teach the same grades they had at the close of the past school year. Mrs. Emmeline Revell will again be in charge of the Kindergarten which at this time is already filled to capacity and has a waiting list. Rev. Stephen Tully teaches religion, music and Slovak.

A change in the time schedule will take place this year, with classes beginning at 8:15 a. m. and close at 3:45 p. m. School will begin Tues. Sept. 2 with an opening devotion conducted by Rev. Tully.

Bullock Is Still Important Factor In India's Growth

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — An American management consultant is proving that the bullock still is an important factor in India's development, even in the atomic age.

Laird Stevens, 67, of Yemassee, S. C., is utilizing the work animal to produce electricity and bricks, both vital to India's future building program.

Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru recently visited the nearby village of Khanpur, where Stevens is demonstrating his electricity and brick schemes, and was much impressed. Nehru asked the villagers to emulate the example of America which he said has made immense progress through "the hard work of her people."

Stevens is pushing his Khanpur pilot project with financial assistance from the Ford Foundation and cooperation from the Indian government. The management consultant was the industry member of the International Study Team on Small Industry Development in India in 1935.

Bullocks Used

After several years' research and experimentation in the United States, Stevens discovered that bullocks, when properly harnessed, could accomplish at least three remarkable things: provide enough power to electrify an entire village, supply water to irrigate 100 acres of land for three crops the year round, and produce the power needed to operate a small village industry employing 30 persons.

Stevens promises to electrify 150,000 villages, a figure high above the target fixed by the Indian government during the second five-year plan. What's more, he proposes to use material made in India, thus saving the government's sorely needed foreign exchange.

"At the same time, the American aims to make each village self-sufficient so that villagers no longer need look for rain or depend on monsoons for cultivation.

JAPANESE STUDY NEW WORLD

LIMA, Peru (UPI)—A group of Japanese scientists has begun a scheduled 10-year study of the principal archeological centers of Peru and Bolivia in search of the origins of civilization in this part of the New World.

The archeologists, who comprise the "Andean Scientific Expedition" of the Imperial University of Tokyo, arrived here recently from Japan. Heading the eight-man team is Dr. Eiichiro Ishida, specialist in ethnology and archeology.

He explained there is "enormous interest in Japan" in the expedition's object — to confirm the generally accepted theory that the first inhabitants of America came from Asia via the Bering Straits, and Alaska some 20,000 years ago.

ELVIS' LEAVE EXTENDED

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—The Army has granted a five-day extension of singer Elvis Presley's emergency leave. After attending funeral services for his mother, who died last week, Elvis was confined to bed with a virus infection.

Citrus Mutual

By JOHN SIKES

LAKELAND — Canned citrus juices, vintage of 1937-38, are dwindling into such a relatively short supply you may be wondering where your next buyer is coming from before the new season gets underway.

Herman F. Steele, Florida Citrus Mutual Assistant General Manager, after pouring over the "Canned Food Report" of the U. S. Dept. of Commerce for Aug. 1, has just come up with some interesting figures on the fruit juice supply.

As of July 1 this year, for instance, there were only 4,863,000 cases of single strength orange juice (that's the straight canned juice as differentiated from frozen concentrate) at wholesale distributors and in canner's stocks.

Just as of July 1, 1937, there were 4,758,000 cases in stock. This represents a drop of 26 percent in the supply of this item alone.

The reduced supply of single strength grapefruit juice was even more, a minus 34 percent; 3,386,000 cases in stock this year at the July 1 date was compared with 3,114,000 cases on that date last year.

Citrus blends were down 34 percent, 1,323,000 cases this year compared with 2,005,000 cases last year.

Shortage of supply in the citrus winter can be blamed on last winter's freeze, of course. But what about pineapple juice? Steele's figuring shows there's a 48 percent reduction in this product as of July 1 this year compared with the same date in 1937.

Steele offers a suggestion, dealing with citrus, to account for the pineapple juice shortage this year.

"Maybe a big portion of the available supply of pineapple juice was used up in blending with citrus during the past season," he says. "Do not know; could be."

Even tomato juice is down in supply — by six percent — according to the figures assembled by Steele. There were 10,524,000 cases this year at July 1 compared with 11,203,000 cases on the same date last year.

SLADE AND MISS — President of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, Miss Gandy, who is personally in charge of the film, is seen in the picture. The picture is credited to the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, which is the organization that is sponsoring the film. The picture is a scene from the film 'The Golden Specimen'.

Safety Film

By David H. Johnson
UPI Special Correspondent
SHEILA WOOD (UPI)—It doesn't cost a nickel to see one of the best movies in town, a 50-year-old charmer made by a French magician whose films were mixing "live" actors with cartoon characters before Walt Disney was born.

The movie, "The Golden Specimen," belongs to the film library of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences and now is being converted to 16 mm safety film for preservation purposes by Kemp Niver, a leading specialist in the film reclamation field.

Niver makes documentaries and educational films on a full-time basis and works on the academy library as his avocation.

"Up to 1929, when safety film was introduced, all film for the studio projection was on nitrate stock," he explained. "In spite of all care and protection, nitrate film shrinks and disintegrates with time."

Can Be Salvaged
That was what was happening to the collection before Niver came up with a means of salvaging the molding film. This is accomplished by re-photographing each frame of the film.

"Another three or four years and there wouldn't have been anything left to salvage," Niver said, opening a container labeled "W. A. Hart" to illustrate his point.

The pungent odor of decay was strong as he handled the film, each frame hand-colored as was the technique in the pre-Technicolor days. The celluloid was laced with rot and buckled with an almost alligator-like finish.

Niver is adamant on the subject of preserving movie classics for historical purposes if for no other reason.

"Ceil B. Demille doesn't have a print of his silent movies that he can project," Niver said. "And the same is true of the other early movie makers."

Storage Is Costly
"They pay storage all these years, and even if it's on their own lot they're paying storage, and all that's left are cans of a highly-inflammable powder which gives off a poisonous gas when burned—and no film."

"It's like paying for a barrel of hay that you can't eat. It's silly to pay storage on it."

The film made in 1908 by the magician, George Melies, was one of the first of the Academy's collection to be converted. Niver has 100 other movies by the film pioneer to work on as well as a group of 25 mm movies including Johnny Bunny comedies filmed in 1907; "Enoch Arden," with Lillian Gish, produced in 1911; "Man's Genesis," with Mae Marsh and Robert Herron in 1912 and "Les Miserables" filmed in France in 1913.

Does Diet Have Bearing On Cancer Incidence?

By NICHOLAS M. BUNNICK, M.D.
A CONFIRMED cigarette smoker asked me recently whether researchers ever considered the possibility that some foods might be a contributing factor in various types of cancer.

Of course they might have. As a matter of fact, there has been a good deal of investigation of diet in relation to causative factors in cancer.

Diet Studied
Every time it is noted that the population of a particular area has either an unusually high or low rate of cancer, studies are immediately begun into the daily diet of the people. Food preparation also is investigated.

And a high or low incidence of cancer in a specific area group, such as the generally fatter Dutch, has often been found to be related to their diet.

For example, the Northern Chinese have an especially high rate of cancer of the esophagus and cardia of the stomach. A study into the situation resulted in the suggestion that habitual consumption of "pai kan," a strong native drink, might be responsible.

Racial Differences
Cancer of the stomach occurs more than twice as frequently among the Dutch as among the English.

A study of the dietary habits of patients in Dutch and English hospitals determined that the main dietary differences were that the Dutch ate more vegetable, cheese and bread, especially rye bread, than the British. The English, however, ate more meat.

More of the Dutch patients preferred spiced food and food and drink at higher temperatures. The Dutch also drank more alcohol and used more tobacco.

Chronic Irritation
The researchers, after studying all their data, decided that possibly a higher degree of chronic irritation of the mucous membranes of the stomach might account for the higher incidence of stomach cancer among the Dutch.

Closer to home, a butter yellow dye was discovered to possess carcinogenic properties. It also was found to be toxic. It has not been used in this country for many years.

New Ray Shot Described 98 Pct. Effective

NEW YORK (UPI)—A New York scientist has come up with a new type of hay fever shot described as 98 per cent effective.

It differs from the conventional anti-hay fever injections in two ways. Only one shot a year is needed, in contrast to the from 15 to 70 annual injections of the old-type shot. And it is made of mineral oil and ragweed extract. The shot now being used are made of a water base and extract.

Dr. Mary Lovelace stressed that the medication is not now generally available and is still in the experimental stage. She added however that it has been used with good effect on hundreds of patients in five university medical centers.

KROUSE TRADED AGAIN
DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Lions have traded tackle Ray Krouse to the Baltimore Colts for an undrafted draft choice next year. Krouse originally had been traded to Green Bay, but the deal was nullified when he refused to report because it was too far from his Washington, D. C. home.

MADE SHIRTS—George E. Stringfellow, 65, East Orange, N. J., is shown with his wife, Carrie, in Chicago, after he was named as the new Supreme Pontifical of Masonry's 600,000 Shriners in North America. Stringfellow was elected at the annual convention of the organization.

INSTALLMENT No. 19
CHAPTER 19
SLADE CONSIDINE spoke automatically, scarcely knowing what he was saying in his anger. "You are too nice a girl, Beulah, to be given the run around like that. Somebody ought to knock Wynn's block off!"

The girl looked at him for a long moment without speaking, then came around the desk and put her hand on his arm. "Slade," she said softly, "just how did you mean that?"

The cowboy was startled at the changed timbre of her voice. He looked down at her, and was embarrassed at what she had said. Beulah Denhart was smiling at him. "You're a swell girl, Beulah," he said a little huskily. "One of the prettiest, nicest girls I've ever known!"

It had been a gentle kiss. The kind of a kiss a brother gives a much loved younger sister, and Beulah Denhart knew it, but her hands went up to the cowboy's shoulders, and for an instant her eyes speculated with the possibility of making something more of it.

A sound above them yanked Slade Conside out of an embarrassing situation, and landed him into a worse one. Martha Kilgore was coming down the stairs, the little smile on her lips telling them that she had been a witness to the whole scene, or thought she had.

She nodded coolly to Slade, then turned to Beulah. "My grandmother wanted me to see if you had any ice water. She is very tired."

Then as Beulah turned toward the kitchen, Martha smiled and shook her head. "Don't go, please. I don't want to interrupt you. Just tell me where it is and I'll get it."

Beulah hesitated, then said briefly: "There's a pitcher in the kitchen. The kitchen's straight behind the dining room—the door on the right."

When the other girl had gone Beulah looked at the cowboy, a wise, rueful smile on her lips. "You too!" she murmured. "And I sure ripped the wagon sheet for you that time!"

Slade flushed. "Did it show as plain as that?" he asked.

The girl shook her head. "Not to her." She looked anxious. "Slade, you don't think I staged that little scene on purpose, do you? I meant to tell you they were up there—honest I did. They are waiting to see Captain Callin, too, and I just plumb forgot to mention it."

"Of course I know you didn't do it on purpose," the girl's eyes darkened. "Well, don't sound so darned sure of it! She snapped. 'Maybe I would have if I had thought of it—or if I had known how you felt. I am tired of being good—honest, square-shooting Beulah! The kind of a girl man slap on the shoulder!'"

Slade Denhart smiled back at her blandly. "Slade's business is official, I figured it was probably more important." "That depends on whose tears you are playing on," she said.

Beulah eyed her levelly for a moment, then took a deep breath. She had said she was tired of being honest, dependable old Beulah, but she wasn't. She had a core of decency that demanded a fair deal for those she liked, even at the risk of being thought a meddler.

"Slade Conside is a grand guy," she said offhandedly. "He is a better friend than any I have." Martha smiled. "That's true, but she had a sudden thought. "I could see you thought that," she said.

State Government Becomes Billion Dollar Enterprise

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The income and expenses of Florida's state government jumped nearly 50 million dollars during the last fiscal year, making it a billion dollar enterprise for the first time in history.

In his annual report, Comptroller Ray E. Green said Florida collected and spent a total of $1,049,388,588 during the fiscal year ending last July 31. That compares to the $698,666,588 total in revenue and expenses for the previous fiscal period.

The state opened the year with a balance of $112,177,000 in all funds. But by the end of the fiscal year this had dropped to $69,106,388. Most of the drop—$43,070,612—was absorbed by the general fund.

Balanced against taxes were $698,321,000 in state expenses for the year with three big items accounting for most of the total. Education cost $17 million dollars, road construction and maintenance $33,077,000 and public welfare $49,769,000. All figures included federal aid.

Florida's three per cent sales tax was the top revenue producer. It brought $134,512,001 into the treasury. Another $15,397,478 was contributed by the gasoline tax and each of a half dozen other tax sources supplied over 10 million dollars.

A breakdown of major revenue sources found auto license tags leading the list with $44,362,106. Others were alcohol, $43,002,335; cigarette, $38,729,748; racing, $24,788,816; intangible personal property, $18,788,073; unemployment compensation contributions, $13,347,466; and documentary stamps $10,401,976.

Taxes totaled $474,908,588 while direct revenue brought the figure up to $708,006,796. Inter-fund transfers accounted for $233,379,008 of the total.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERR
DRESSED TO THE TENTH, a woman in a rather repulsive chemise model came through Chicago the other day, and was confused about a connection she was supposed to make.

The perior-name ad, by the way, has revived the pastime of fitting odd words into sentences. Classic examples: One Machiavelli. "My old man's Machiavelli good pair of pants for twenty dollars." Two statisticians. "I wish you a statisticians and a Happy New Year."

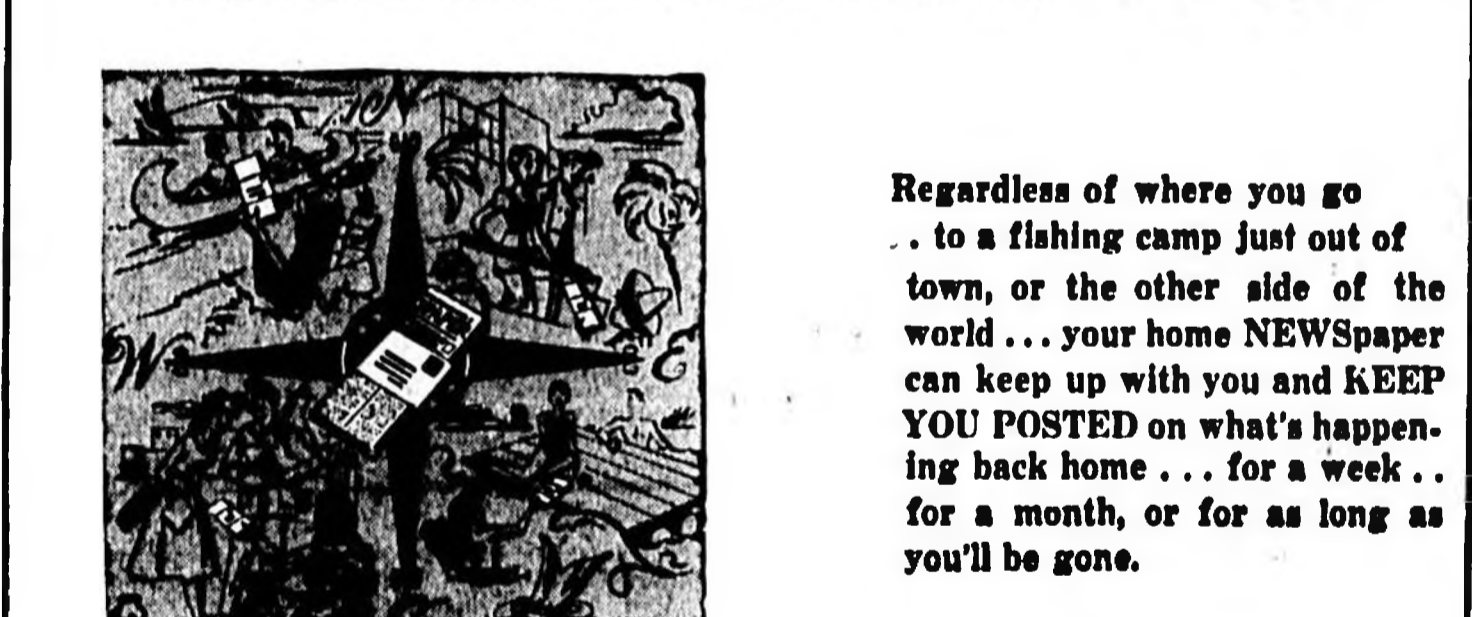

There's a huge truck parked on a New York 600 street every morning (and undoubtedly owned by a Democrat) that bears this sign in red lettering on the back: "We are delivering gold bars."

Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have been helpful but also a courteous acknowledgment of the services and concern of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as socially correct. Empty Feet, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the courtesy comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

THE "IN MEMORIAM" NOTICE

It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memoriam" notice in newspaper classified columns. They need a real source therein. "Presently" is a selection of a suitable verse brings back to them looser, but, recollections. An Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:

"How truly sweet are the echoes that start
What memory plays an old tune on the heart."
Most frequently an In Memoriam is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, which it is often appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are times when significant occasions chosen.

If you are hesitant to express your (understandable in grief) form, you may avail yourself of The Herald's collection of original verses. These express in poetic beauty the emotions of the heart-strings. Among them are verses appropriate to any circumstance.

THE RATE

Cards of Thanks and In Memoriam notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column inch.

YOU'VE HEARD lots of mean stories about finance company agents swooping down to repossess autos, TV sets, pianos, and what not. Here's a nice story for a change!

An agent had to remind an old farmer that he hadn't paid the last two of 50 installments on a new car. "It's in the barn," said the farmer sadly—and in a low voice so his wife couldn't hear. "I'm afraid you'll have to take that car of yours back."

The agent walked with him to the barn. There he found the car shiny and new, up on blocks, carefully covered with a tarpaulin, its speedometer showing only 12 miles—the distance from the auto sales room to the barn. "But you've hardly driven this car!" exclaimed the agent. "Didn't feel I should," explained the farmer. "Figured she's not mine till she's fully paid for."

The agent slumped behind his collection book, put the tarpaulin back over the car, and said, "I guess we'll just let you have this car till your crop comes in."

THERMOS IN TANDEM
LEETSDALE, Pa. — (UPI) — You can now "clip" two half-gallon thermos jugs into one compact unit with a gadget designed to simplify toting food and beverages for picnics or football games.

This leaves one arm free to juggle other picnic goodies — or shooze. The clip locks two thermos jugs together for hot and cold beverages — or cold and cold. Sold and hot. (Standard Can Corp., Leetsdale, Pa.)

Ex-Coal Miner To Make TV Debut This Fall

by VERNON SCOTT
UPI HOLLYWOOD Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The homeliest hero in theatrical history makes his debut in a new TV series this fall when ex-coal miner Charles Bronson stars in "Man With A Camera."

Bronson, whose real name is Buchinsky, has an arresting face. It's an ugly visage, deeply lined, beetle-browed and with slanting, sinister eyes. He has a shock of unmanageable wire.

Charlie looks, and is, tough. He went into the mines of Ehrenfeld, Pa., when he was 16 years old, digging coal with a pick and shovel and building a king-sized inferiority complex. This in part accounts for his defensive personality.

But once he opens his mouth to talk Bronson's quiet manners soften his features, and after a while his rugged appearances become attractive.

"It takes a lot of guts to get out of the coal mines," he said during lunch in a fancy La Cienega restaurant.

"Everybody down in the mines has an inferiority complex. It's the lowest point on the social scale, the dirtiest, hardest work, and we all know it. To us, steelworkers and railroad employees are the elite — white collar types.

Was Amateur Fighter
"I got paid for the amount of coal I dug out. And some days when I had to drill through rock to get to a vein I wouldn't get paid at all."

When Charlie wasn't digging he was hawking in the dirty mine towns — as an amateur fighter, and in eye-gouging street fights. So how did he become an actor?

"After a hitch in the service I went to Philadelphia to study. Then I began doing some little theater work. I never thought much about my face holding back my career."

aren't all pretty boys. Pictures of sports champions and heroes during the war proved that. They also know that a dark face doesn't mean a dark mind."

Of Big Family
Bronson was one of 15 children of a Lithuanian immigrant, who died when Charlie was 10. All his life the tough kid yearned for wealth and recognition. Now he is on the threshold of realizing his dreams.

"When I was poor I dreamed of having lots of clothes. Now I can buy some. I don't understand why other actors my age (early 30s) run around in T-shirts and blue jeans. I guess it's because they didn't have to wear 'em when they were kids."

Televisioners can see Charlie Oct. 10 on ABC-TV when the "Man With A Camera" series debuts. He plays a free-lance photographer in New York City.

"Spencer Tracy and Humphrey Bogart weren't handsome guys," Charlie concluded. "But they looked like men, and they acted like men. I hope I can do the same thing."

SWEDEN WINS TENNIS TITLE
HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — Sven Davidson of Sweden won the men's singles title at the German international tennis championships Tuesday with a 5-7, 6-4, 6-8, 9-7, 6-3 victory over Jack Brichant of Belgium. Lorraine Coghlan of Australia defeated Shirley Bloomer of England, 6-4, 7-5, for the women's crown.

PHIL SIGN NIARHOS
PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Gus Niarhos, former New York Yankee catcher, was signed Wednesday by the Philadelphia Phillies. The Phillies made room for Niarhos by sending pitcher John Gray to Miami of the International League.

BIG FIELD IN RICH RACE

Tax Assessor Agrees To County Reappraisal

1,378,356 Voters Registered In State For Fall Elections

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—A report from Hillsborough County today swelled Florida voter ranks by 115,472 for a grand total of 1,378,356 with five counties still missing.

The Hillsborough report represents an increase of 12,582 over eligible voters in the county prior to the 1956 primaries and is up 5,379 over registration for the November, 1956, general election.

Reporters are still missing from Howard, Lafayette, Manatee, Nassau and Walton counties.

The total registered vote prior to the 1956 primaries was 1,447,275.

Twelve counties reported Monday, led by Volusia with a drop of 431 under November, 1956, and Brevard down 305. The figures were up, however, compared to registration before the 1956 party primaries.

Jackson, Hardee, Hendry, Glades, Collier and Calhoun reported losses under both May and November of two years ago.

The breakdown for the 61 counties reporting so far shows 1,058,922 Democrats, 192,804 Republicans and 11,558 with other party affiliations.

The breakdown in May, 1956, of all 67 counties was 1,277,012 Democrats, 163,409 Republicans and 7,834 with other affiliations.

The breakdown in November, 1956, was 1,364,447 Democrats, 210,797 Republicans and 11,604 others.

A countywide reappraisal will be made of Seminole County according to action taken by the Board of Seminole County Commissioners today at noon.

Mrs. Mary Earle Walker, Seminole County Tax Assessor, told the board "I will accept them" when asked by Commission Chairman John Krider if the budget hearing is reopened and sufficient funds appropriated for a reappraisal of tax rolls of the county.

A completely filled commission room broke out in loud applause as Mrs. Walker made her statement to the board.

However, questions from the audience relative to the urgency of the reappraisal, pounded the commissioners.

Commissioner Homer Little proposed that "We advertise for proposals to reappraise the entire county from a corporation within the State of Florida." Commissioner Fred Dyon seconded the motion and an unanimous approval of the board was recorded by roll-call vote.

Bids will be accepted up to and opened on Sept. 16.

Chairman Krider brought the matter before commissioners this morning as "the most important thing we have before us."

"We have the statement of the Comptroller and I don't think it is a biased one," he said. "I will reopen this meeting to find out whether or not the county commission wants to correct it or not," Krider said.

County Attorney Mack N. Cleveland Jr. read a report from Comptroller Ray E. Green pointing out inequities found in Seminole County in a recent survey.

In a poll of the board of commissioners, each commissioner agreed to additional millage to finance the proposed reappraisal based on whether or not Mrs. Walker would accept the rolls prepared by an outside reappraisal firm.

However, commissioners pointed out that the reappraisal firm should be one operating within the state.

Prior to Mrs. Walker appearing before the board, Dr. D. H. Mathers told commissioners that the "happy solution is to get operation."

At one time during the meeting, which recesses at noon, Chairman Krider threatened to have Sheriff J. L. Hobby "remove anyone who fails to keep personalities out of statements."

'Quick Reaction' Of Crew Saves Paratrooper's Life

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (UPI)—The "quick reaction" of a C-119 pilot and crew drew credit today for the rescue of a young paratrooper from a close brush with death.

Pvt. David L. Creager of Denison, Ohio, one of about 250 101st Airborne Div. paratroopers participating in a training exercise here, bailed out of the flying boxcar only to have his chute fall.

Young Creager was caught in the slipstream of the plane, hanging helplessly by his static line, which was connected inside the plane.

Staff Sgt. Clifford E. VanLandingham, crew chief of the plane, spotted Creager hanging 20 to 25 feet behind the plane and notified the pilot, Capt. Robert E. Williams.

When immediately took steps to rescue Creager. He lowered the rope on the plane, causing the air speed to decrease and went back to investigate Creager's plight.

Wilson, working without a parachute, and other crew members, tied ropes to the static line and gradually pulled Creager back up to the door and into the plane.

As soon as he was hauled into the plane, artificial respiration was administered. Air pressure in the slipstream had almost suffocated him.

"The quick reaction of the aircraft crew undoubtedly saved the man's life," Col. Gordon T. Kimball said. "It was a heroic performance."

Band Concert Practice Tonight

Bandmaster Ernest Coatesley said today that concert practices for the Seminole High School band will be held tonight and Thursday night from 7:30 to 9 p. m.

Pre-school drills will begin at 5:30 a. m. Monday. All band members are to attend.

Holland Resumes Dade County Campaigning

By ANDREW REESE JR., United Press International MIAMI (UPI)—U.S. Sen. Spessard L. Holland shook off a mid-August cold today as he resumed campaigning in populous Dade County—the vote-rich area he labeled as one of the "most critical" in his campaign for reelection.

Exactly three weeks from today, Florida voters will cast ballots for either Holland or his veteran political opponent, Claude Pepper. And with ballot time so close, the white-haired senior senator said he wasn't going to let any cold bug slow him down.

Board To Study Appeal For Park Expansion

The Seminole County Board of Commissioners today took under advisement an appeal for a permit to expand the Seminole Trail-er Park.

The Zoning Board previously turned down the request after property owners in the area protested.

John Krider, board chairman, announced the decision to "hold the decision in abeyance" until the board had more opportunity to study the proposal and try to arrive at an agreement "which would be satisfactory, or near satisfactory to all concerned."

At noon, the board had heard minutes of several special and one regular meeting read and had heard a discussion of the trailer park proposal.

Representing the trailer park was Atty. Karlyle Housholder, the present and former owners of the property and several adjacent property owners.

Opposed to the plan were a number of adjoining and adjacent property owners in Fern Park.

Business Stops For Mass Funeral Of Plane Victims

GALWAY, Ireland (UPI)—Business stopped here today for the mass funeral of 27 unidentified victims of last Thursday's KLM plane crash which killed 90 persons.

Exact cause of the crash was still unknown. A coroner's jury found Monday that the victims died as the result of "multiple injuries caused by violent impact," but said there was "no evidence to show cause of impact."

The unidentified bodies were taken to the small cemetery of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in downtown Galway for burial in an grave.

The bodies of three Americans, two Dutch nationals, a Mexican and a man tentatively listed as an Iraqi were among the 34 recovered from the Atlantic off Ireland near the spot where the four-engine Super-Constellation hit the water. They will be flown to the victims' homelands later this week.

Five denominational services were organized at the mass grave—Roman Catholic, Jewish, Church of Ireland, Moslem and Non-Confessionalist.

12-Year-Old Boy Dies Following Plastic Surgery

NEW YORK (UPI)—Timothy Christopher Ware Getty, 12-year-old youngest son of one of the world's richest men, died at University Hospital here Sunday after undergoing plastic surgery.

The youngster, son of International oil operator J. Paul Getty and his fifth wife, Mrs. Louise Theadora Lynell Getty, had undergone surgery last October for the removal of a brain tumor.

Hospital authorities said the operation was successful. The boy reentered the hospital last Thursday for plastic surgery to remove the scars of the previous operation. His unexpected death was attributed tentatively to a heart condition.

Veteran Police Chief In Jail Under Bond

JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—A veteran police chief was being held in county jail under bond today.

Chief R. G. Sides, 32, of nearby Baldwin, was taken into custody Monday after three Negroes charged him with breaking into a tavern over the weekend.

The Negroes, Maggie Bell Wilson, Mary Edith Gunter and Miles Gunter, obtained a warrant charging Sides with breaking and entering, drunk and disorderly conduct, assault to murder and discharging firearms on a public street.

Officers said the allegations stem from an incident at a Baldwin tavern owned by the Mayo woman in which Sides arrested three persons, including two who took out warrants against him.

Survivors include her husband, C. E. Phillips, Sanford, three sisters, Mrs. A. J. Floyd, DeLand; Mrs. George Neska, Houston, Tex.; Mrs. Frank Porter, Miami; two brothers, Roy Long, Jacksonville; George E. Long, Fitzgerald, Ga.; several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday at Bryson Funeral Home with the Rev. T. C. O'Steen of the First Methodist Church officiating. Burial will be in Oaklawn Memorial Park with Bryson Funeral Home in charge.

Longwood Man Dies Monday

Wilber H. Chrostes, 68, died suddenly at his home in Longwood at 3:15 p. m. Monday.

Lebanon Works Hard To Stabilize Country

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Lebanese Foreign Minister Charles Malik assured the United Nations today his government is "working hard" to stabilize the country so U. S. troops can be withdrawn "as speedily as possible."

Malik, under political fire at home, in Lebanon's first Middle East statement to the General Assembly's emergency session, said his country feared "that what is really at stake is the very existence of Lebanon as an independent, sovereign and free state."

The West has placed before the assembly a seven-power resolution empowering Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to make "practical arrangements" to save Lebanon and Jordan, where British troops now are stationed.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has taken command of a drive to get the measure adopted by Thursday. Dulles took time out to address an AFL-CIO meeting to Kennesaw with his sister here and lobby for the resolution this afternoon.

Dulles Has Talks Dulles consulted British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd this morning and planned to see French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville later today. He talked with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko Monday.

Malik told the assembly Lebanon stood ready always to settle differences with its sister Arab states through the Arab League or by direct negotiation. The Arab League failed to resolve Lebanon's complaint that aid to rebels was being smuggled across the Syrian border from the United Arab Republic.

Pepper Continues Talks In This Area

By JAMES GILLESPIY United Press International ORLANDO (UPI)—Former Sen. Claude D. Pepper continued his central Florida campaign today in Orlando before flying to Miami to meet Sen. Spessard L. Holland for a television debate on campaign issues.

Pepper spent Monday in Orlando except for a short side trip to Kissimmee where he met with workers and campaign supporters.

Pepper got a warmup for tonight's TV debate in Miami in a heated question-answer session Monday before a Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon in Orlando. There Pepper answered charges of his alleged "softness" toward Russia.

Two Orlando attorneys produced magazine articles inferring that Pepper was soft toward Russia, and a book to which he wrote a foreword asking people to read it to gain a better understanding of the problems confronting Russia, and asked him to explain them.

Pepper denounced the articles as lies and said he did not endorse the book "The Great Conspiracy Against Russia," but only suggested it could be read to gain a basic understanding between Russia, Great Britain and the United States towards building a "true lasting peace."

Pepper's opponents have charged the book was used to "brainwash" American prisoners during the Korean War.

Pepper also enumerated some 18 points about his opponent's voting record which he contended showed Holland up as a "do-nothing" senator.

He said Holland voted against tax relief for small businesses, never voted to keep down the rising cost of living, voted against increasing minimum wage payments, voted against relief to small income tax payments, and voted against adequate farmers' parity prices.

Nehru Endorses Ike's Self-Help Plan For Mid-East

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru today endorsed President Eisenhower's economic self-help plan for the Middle East, but took issue with other parts of his six-point program to stabilize the area.

Nehru demanded evacuation of American troops from Lebanon and British troops from Jordan as a "prerequisite" to solution of the overall Middle East problem.

He told the lower house of Parliament at the start of a one-day foreign affairs debate that Jordan was willing to establish of any kind of police force for the Middle East, under U. N. or other auspices.

Nehru said, however, India would be willing to increase the U. N. observers' group in Lebanon, and to "extend its jurisdiction" over the area.

Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare, had warned that he would recommend a veto if the House version were passed. The administration opposed it because it provided for 28 million dollars in additional federal grants for state-operated relief.

Expressing fear of a veto, the Senate reduced the public assistance funds to 197 million dollars. The administration had hoped any increase in federal funds for this program.

The payroll tax now amounts to 2 per cent on the first $4,200 in earnings, with employers matching that contribution. The legislation would boost the tax to 2 1/2 per cent and apply it to the first $4,800 in annual earnings.

Self-employed persons would pay a 3 3/4 per cent rate, instead of the present 3 3/8 per cent.

Bill Okayed To Up Social Security Taxes, Benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House today approved by voice vote and sent to the White House a bill to raise social security taxes and benefits.

The bill would provide the nearly 12 million persons on the rolls with benefit increases of about 7 per cent, effective with their February checks. It would raise payroll taxes on employees and their employers, effective Jan. 1.

The House completed congressional action on the measure without debate after Democratic leaders decided to accept the Senate version of the bill.

The decision averted the risk of a possible presidential veto. It was reached amid reports that a high administration official had given assurances the President probably would sign the Senate version.

Minute Maid To Adopt Monthly Return Policy

Holman R. Cloud, executive vice president of Minute Maid Corporation, today announced that his firm will adopt a monthly return policy for its Florida Orange Marketers, Minute Maid will adopt a policy of making monthly returns to the cooperative.

Cloud explained that this move was prompted by the knowledge that many growers would greatly prefer this type of steady return rather than being forced to wait the usual six to twelve months for the proceeds from the sale of their fruit as is customary in the industry.

"Of course, this monthly payment plan is optional for FOM members who might prefer periodic payments for tax purposes," he said.

FOM President Dan Wright of Sanford said "This action by Minute Maid makes it possible for us to offer our members and prospective members a new incentive toward cooperative citrus marketing." He pointed out that delayed payments have long been a drawback in the growth of all citrus cooperatives.

The new policy of monthly returns on a year-round basis has been made possible by Minute Maid's recent installation of new accounting procedures using a complex system of I. B. M. computers, Cloud said.

Hurricane Cleo Is Losing Punch

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. weather bureau indicated today Hurricane Cleo was losing her punch but that ships in her path "should continue to exercise caution."

The hurricane was estimated to be centered near latitude 26.4 north and longitude 85.0 west, or some 700 statute miles northeast of Bermuda. It said the storm was moving towards the north-northeast at about 17 miles per hour.

Jet Slams Into Pier, Parking Lot; 4 Killed

WYLLINGBOROUGH, S. C. (UPI)—A T-33 jet trainer slammed into a parking pier and plowed into a parking lot, killing four persons and seriously injuring three others late Monday.

Air Force officials said the plane, flying over the Atlantic with several other fighters, developed engine trouble and attempted to crash into what the pilots thought was a vacant lot.

A wing of the aircraft smashed into the side of the concession stand on the pier, the plane burst into flame, and fell into a parking lot, nearly trapping three members of an Indian family in their car. The fourth victim was on the pier at the time of the crash.

Killed were Harold Snider, 46, of New Albany, Ind., and his two sons, David Wayne, 9, and Freddie, 7. Mrs. Snider was at a motel when the crash occurred.

The Air Force late Monday agreed to fly the mother, Mary Snider, and her two daughters, Marilyn, 17, and Hope, 13, back to their home at New Albany.

L. J. Mackey of Lancaster, S. C. died at Myrtle Beach Hospital several hours after the incident, and J. R. Martin of Conway, S. C. was reported in serious condition at the hospital.

The two pilots, Capt. Wallace B. McCafferty of San Bernardino, Calif., and Capt. William J. Sizemore Jr. of Waukegan, Ill., were flown by Air Force helicopter to the 8th Naval District Hospital at Charleston, S. C.
