

What You've Got Coming From

Medicare And Social Security

By John Truan

(First of a Series.)
You are richer than you realize.

As a worker, you have in the files of Social Security headquarters an account in your name which may be worth—right now—more than a $18,000 asset.

For instance, if you should die and leave a growing family, your widow and children may be able to collect up to $309.30 a month in Social Security benefits.

Liberalize it if you should become disabled or if you still have young children when you retire, you could collect maximum family benefits of $309.30 a month.

Furthermore, this income is guaranteed: It is risk-free. And it is tax-free.

Even if your family is grown when you retire, you and your wife may collect as much as $303.00 a month. This is equal to an annual income of three percent on a $10,000 investment.

And your stake in Social Security is rising. In 1967, maximum family benefits will climb to $368 a month—equal to an annual income of three percent from an estate worth $147,200.

But this isn't all. For something new has been added to Social Security. Besides paying cash benefits, Social Security next year will start paying hospital bills and help take care of some other medical expenses.

For persons 65 or older, Medicare will provide: — Up to 90 days of care in a hospital for a single illness, with the patient paying the first $40, plus $10 for each day after that first 90.

— Up to 100 visits a year to the patient's home, following hospitalization, by a nurse, physician, physical therapist and similar health aides.

— Hospital diagnostic tests on non-patient basis with the patient paying the first $20, plus one-fifth of the remainder.

— Care in a psychiatric hospital will be covered under certain conditions. But no

Conservationists Would Scuttle Canal

Conservationists would scuttle the long-sought-after Florida barge canal under attack by a citizens' group that believes it will destroy the beautiful Oklawaha River Valley. The Committee for the Conservation of Florida's Economic and Natural Resources has filed a letter-writing campaign aimed at persuading congressmen not to provide money for further work on the $188 million project that got under way in February, 1964.

Supported by the Audubon Society, Inland Water League and the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, the committee is trying to scuttle the $10 million appropriation scheduled to come up soon before the Senate's appropriations committee.

Headed by Col. R. W. Hodge, a retired Army officer now selling real estate here, the committee has published brochures urging citizens to write their congressmen protesting the canal.

Mrs. Archie Carr, of Micanopy, a member of the Alachua County Audubon Society, says the Oklawaha River, which winds north from Silver Springs to the St. Johns River, would be destroyed by the canal.

She says the 10 miles below the Bolman Dam will be dried up when the water flow is cut off for 15 per cent of each year, while the area above the dam will be flooded.

"The valley will be turned into a reservoir," Mrs. Carr said. "In effect, that will mean killing 27,000 acres of unbroken forest."

Mrs. Carr rejects the contention of the Corps of Engineers that the creation of this large reservoir will allow more fishing in the area.

She says this is "low quality" fishing, compared to the "high quality" fishing now enjoyed along the picturesque river.

Hodge says the conservation committee "found the canal will do a great deal of harm as

President Orders Draft Call Doubled

LBJ Gets Medicare

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate gave final approval to President Johnson's $4.4 billion Medicare bill, the most significant welfare measure in a generation.

The measure now goes to Johnson for his signature. If it is signed before the end of the month, the first of its provisions will take effect Sept. 1.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson announced today that draft calls will be doubled to 35,000 men a month to help build up U. S. strength in South Viet Nam from 75,000 to 125,000 troops.

(Seminoles County has a draft call of 11 per August, according to Selective Service officials. They do not anticipate any boost until the summer call.)

He also disclosed that he had ordered to Viet Nam the 1st Cavalry Division, a crack combat and infantry outfit stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga.

It will be accompanied by certain other forces which will raise our fighting strength from 75,000 to 125,000 men," Johnson said he had concluded, however, that "it is not essential to order reserve units into service" at this time.

He said that if it becomes necessary later to summon reserve units, "I will give the matter careful consideration" and I will give the country due and adequate notice before sending them.

Johnson outlined his step-by-step program for meeting the Communist challenge in Viet Nam at a news conference on nationwide radio and television. It capped a week-long series of top-level conferences with his cabinet and congressional leaders.

Johnson said bluntly that additional forces will be needed to substantially increase their own efforts — and on the battlefield and toward reform and progress in the villages.

$6.7 Million School Budget OK'd

School officials gave their approval to a fiscal 1965-66 budget of $6,723,538 Tuesday. Not a single citizen showed up at the public hearing in the administration office to protest any of the items in the previously published budget.

Major portions of the budget will go for teachers' salaries, operating expenses, administrative salaries and health service and fixed charges. However, that "9 1/2 per cent" of the budget will be used for capital improvement, state matching funds, building and new buses during the coming year.

After the state survey team, Westmoreland County, completed its work of pinpointing the locations of approximately 15 new schools for the next five years, future budgets will be linked to provide construction money.

No across-the-board teacher salary raises were included in the new budget, but adjustments in salaries scheduled and certain fringe benefits, as requested by the teachers' salary committee, were included.

In other action, the board authorized the purchase of 12 additional acres of land, net 10 1/2 acres recently acquired in the Dunwoody area, for a new "Lynwood" high school which will be built on the site.

Two temporary buildings, costing $3,000 each, are now under construction to be used as a band hall and a choral hall on the Oviedo campus.

Two old buildings (former County Sportsman's Association) are now being used, will be razed.

Reserve Divisions Not Called Up Now

That time is rapidly approaching when once again we have to bid a good friend and sport of bowling a fond farewell. This change will be in the form of our "flower of the Year" and Sanford Men's Bowling Association Secretary John Knudsen. The actual conclusion of Sanford-duty for John will be the end of August. Who knows, maybe he can have a great "shin-dig" for John before he departs our sunny climate for that of cold Rhode Island, who knows!

Our kids from the Saturday AM Junior Bowling League ran into a set of "bus-aws" from DeLand that lanes this past Sunday in their return match. Fourteen-year old Alan McClelland bowled a game of 210, followed by a 241 to finish with a 584 scratch series. Two of the others had scores of 580 and 593. Marge Carathira is having good luck in recruiting women for the Monday evening Scrabble League. It'll be limited to those with average IQ and an IQ of 100 or above. Here's something of an eye-opener for you, I'm certain. There are more than fifty women in the area now averaging over the 140 mark. This is real good because the 100 is the minimum for a 100-point average. I can remember back two years ago when we tried for a women's scratch league and were happy to be able to "gather" girls with averages of 150 or higher. Wednesday evening. The suggested retail price for a new Volkswagen is $3,500. Volkswagen dealers have been selling at around this price. But surprisingly, other people began selling them for a whole lot more.

The Smart Place To Go... For Good Things To Eat

An Atomic Future Bright With Promise

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of dispatches telling the story of atomic energy on the 20th birthday. The report was written from Washington, D.C., one stop on a 10,000-mile tour.)

By Robert Coates

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Of the thousands of people involved in the development of atomic energy, two men hold the heaviest responsibility. One is a scientist, the other a politician.

Congressman Chet Holifield, D-Calif., probably knows more about atomic energy than any other lawmaker in the country. He is chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

The AEC maintains, will be generating the power with no financial help from the federal government.

Another use for nuclear power, one which Congressman Holifield believes "is a lot more important than putting a man on the moon," is desalting ocean water for human consumption.

Right now, high costs prohibit the construction of large-scale nuclear desalination plants but Dr. Seaborg contends that "if the nuclear desalting program expands as it should, by 1980 we will begin to see desalting plants constructed significantly to water supplies for urban domestic use."

The deserts will bloom. The U.S. government has already agreed to construct a nuclear desalination plant in Israel, a program which could have a potential water saving of 100 million gallons per year.

The unhampered explosive power of the atomic bomb can also be used in time of peace. Researchers at the University of Iowa and Army Scientists are co-operating on a study to determine if nuclear blasts could be used to construct a new interoceanic canal across Central America.

Nuclear explosives can probably do the job faster and more economically than conventional explosives.

A few weeks ago, the AEC and the El Paso Natural Gas Co. completed a report which shows that underground nuclear explosives in natural gas fields could produce about seven times as much gas as conventional methods.

Nuclear-powered submarines and ships have already demonstrated that the atom can be used for propulsion. Dr. Seaborg believes that nuclear-powered naval and merchant vessels "will be commonplace by 1960." Atomic batteries may also be powering cars and trucks.

"As our space units advance in their sophistication and we demonstrate their reliability, it is reasonable to expect that by 1980 reactor units will be supplying power to manned satellites. Unmanned scientific missions to Mars, Venus and Mercury with nuclear units aboard will have become almost commonplace."

If this were not enough, Holifield and Holifield believe that within the next decade, we've got 30 years of solid technology under our belts.

Let's take a look at the atom in 1968—just 15 years hence, keeping in mind that predictions made in the past have not kept pace with the actual advances made.

According to the Federal Power Survey, fully 10 percent of all electrical power generated in the United States in 1968 will be nuclear power.

Further, says AEC Commissioner John G. Parroy, "At the close of the century, nuclear power will be supplying a large part — commonly taken to be half — of all electricity generated in the United States." And private industry.

Scientists hope to use this energy as heat in fission reactor power plants when they have learned to control the fusion process, as they have in the case of all elements. Fusion offers a possibility for insuring a permanent energy source.

Remarkable prediction in 1954, thanks to the atom, is not far away.

His prediction: "It is not too much to expect that our children will enjoy in their home electric power too cheap to meter, and at great speeds, and will know of great periodic regional famines only as matters of history, will travel effortlessly over the seas and longer than ours, as disease yields and man comes to understand what causes him to die."

"This is the forecast for an age of peace."

End Series.

Designers Debate Diamonds Or Dogs Gal's Best Friend

NEW YORK - (NEA) - An old adage tells us a man's best friend is his dog. Adopting a somewhat more practical attitude, girls prefer to let diamonds fill this role.

Barbara, who designed the clothes shown in the national fashion press at the annual Diamond Designer in New York, says she owes her career as a designer to the fact that the sales Bedington terraces as a hobby.

About three years ago at a dog show, Barbara met Isabel Murray, a designer of foundation garments who also raises English bull terriers.

Barbara was chosen to design the wardrobe of at-home and evening-out fashion as shown at the Diamond Designer in New York.

"Fashion is no holy grail," she said. "The clothes I create to be worn with diamonds are all wool. But they are all floor-length. Diamonds should always be associated with glamor."

"I love to work with wool," she said. "The clothes I create to be worn with diamonds are all wool. But they are all floor-length. Diamonds should always be associated with glamor."

The fashion designer who created the wardrobe for the diamond designer in New York was shown just as she herself did them. So she's happy.

A neatly arranged refrigerator is also a more efficient refrigerator. More items on shelves will mean better circulation of cold air.

EDWARD C. Brown Jr., assistant general manager of Castle Farms, Inc., today announced a new price schedule on milk, effective immediately in all of the company's retail dairy stores.

New Milk Rate Announced By Castle Farms

Speaking from his office in Orange City, headquarters of the firm's dairy processing plant, Stiefel had this to say in explanation of the new and lower prices:

"We sincerely hope this general price reduction will not be misinterpreted by anyone. We fully realize that other milk producers are not in as fortunate a position as we, having many costs to bear that we have eliminated. Since we have no wholesale routes to support, or home delivery expenses, since we do not use expensive throughway type containers for our milk, we have our operating costs to a bare minimum.

"Also, our retail stores being the only outlet for our products, we can afford a slight fair profit on the items we sell.

"Operating as we do, with our own farms, our own processing plant and our own stores, we now have built our volume to the point where we can profitably operate on this new and lower price schedule. We feel it only fair and reasonable to benefit the consumer with these important savings, as well as being good business policy to help our customers the full benefits of our system of dairy merchandising.

Community Survey Stated

Sanford-Seminole Junior Chamber of Commerce will launch its community development survey sometime in early August, William Dale, chairman, announced today.

"This survey is designed to find out the needs of the community by asking those persons most likely to know—the public. Constructive criticism is desired and, indeed encouraged, from any and all of the citizenry," said Dale.

The forms on which the survey will be conducted will be available at the following places: Sanford Atlantic National Bank, Florida State Bank, First Federal Savings and Loan, United State Bank, Ranch House, city library, Dale's Gulf station, Chamber of Commerce Building and Jayco Building.

"The Jayco's encourage everyone to do their part in community development and to take this opportunity to speak out. Best assured that the Jayco's will consider all comments submitted. No names need be signed. Responses will be provided to insure a prompt return," Dale said.

Safety Research

Charles The Dissident

History often tags famous men thus: William was known as "the Conqueror," Ivan as "the Terrible," Richard as "the Lion-hearted."

Although the 74-year-old Charles Andre Joseph Marie de Gaulle has not yet run the full course of his career, historians may well dub him Charles the Dissident.

Charles the Dissident has a nice ring, De Gaulle might even like it. He has worked hard against popular tides.

De Gaulle was a thorn in the side of the Nazis—and of his own allies. He emerged from World War II a national hero.

After a short political stint, de Gaulle went into semiretirement from which he emerged in the nation's 1958 crisis bordering on civil war. He gave the French people, on a take-it-or-leave-it basis, a de Gaulle constitution giving the chief executive greater powers and a basis for establishing the Fifth Republic.

He has kept Franco-West German relations in ferment.

In 1963 de Gaulle slapped down the late President Kennedy's offer of Polaris missiles and set out to develop his own nuclear weapons.

Earlier that year he turned thumbs down on Britain's entry into the European Economic Community, opposing its other five member nations.

The postmarks etched by de Gaulle's aid to Franco-American relations were deepened when he challenged the authority and purposes of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, pulling out of it all his armed forces except token units and officers who could mouth his sentiments in NATO's high councils.

In granting diplomatic recognition to Red China, de Gaulle brusquely brushed aside Western policy, protests and interests.

With America deeply involved in South Viet Nam, de Gaulle derided the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and trotted out his own formula for peace in the area France was thrown out of in 1954.

He walked out of Euroforum when other nations challenged his demand that they accept his views on a common farm policy.

That next, Charles the Dissident?

DeMolays On The March

The other day we ran an editorial in this space called "What's Wrong With Kids?"

Among other things it said: "... for every fuzzy-faced punk and hoodlum, for every youthful pooff and loudmouth, there are thousands of diligent, trustworthy and law-abiding young men and women seriously preparing for the years of responsibility ahead."

In Sanford are fortunate to have several such groups of youngsters. Right now one of them is engaged in an extremely worthwhile project of responsibility.

The Sanford DeMolays are currently conducting a drive to raise funds for the Sanford Tropical Garden to be located on our lakefront of the future.

Youngsters sometimes are easily discouraged by the lack of support from their seniors. It is up to us to see that this doesn't happen to our DeMolays.

They need our support. Not just because they are young people but because they are engaged in an important endeavor from which we will benefit for years to come.

The Herald encourages you to make a contribution to the Sanford Tropical Garden through these fine young men in the DeMolays.

You will be helping them. You will be helping your city. You will be helping yourself.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Rodney could sympathize with biblical David, for David almost went "crazy" after hiding in dark caves to avoid evil King Saul. So David wanted to lift up his eyes to the hills and view the distant horizon. Modern frustrated folks have the same urge, so we present paintings of psychological tranquility.

CASE W-47: Rodney, aged 22, is the geology student who found that he overcame much of his claustrophobia by using pastoral scenes as pictures.

"Dr. Crane," he added, "when I look at these pictures, it seems as if I am literally viewing a distant horizon several miles away. Or waving wheat fields in the distance. Or a peaceful view of a mountain range or the whitecaps on the sea. Or waving wheat fields in the distance. Or a peaceful view of a mountain range or the whitecaps on the sea. Or waving wheat fields in the distance. Or a peaceful view of a mountain range or the whitecaps on the sea."

And many hectic Americans are so frustrated and jittery that they resort to big doses of tranquilizers.

Indeed, they should imitate section of Havana.

The building in which she lives has several entrances and exits. Armed guards are placed at each of these outside doors. It's all so arranged that no one will know which Castro will use, or which of the several waiting automobiles he will take. He can dash out any door and to any car quickly and without fanfare.

Back on Oct. 16, 1964, another Cuban writing under a fictitious name to friends in the United States said: "On September 30th, Fidel Castro paid a visit to the city of Hologuin (in eastern Cuba). He arrived in a helicopter. What called everyone's attention was the excessive number of 'bodyguards' and, plus the tanks, machine guns, mortars, cannons and anti-aircraft guns surrounding him."

Cubans who have known Castro for years say that he has always been exceedingly nervous about his life, despite his reputation as a superbly skilled leader of revolutionaries. During the revolution, Fidel reportedly was very careful about appearing himself to enemy fire.

It could be that Castro has become more suspicious of more people as his economic program flounders and his vaunted set of followers knifes at each other more vigorously.

Bruce Bissot -- Ray Cromley

There are indications that the Algerian leader followed twin paths. The nervousness shows up in Fidel's recent speeches. But there is as yet no word from Cuba about changes in security precautions since the Algerian revolt.

Analysis here believes Castro is paranoid about security. So far they've figured out his immediate cause for the increase in his safety measures in recent months. It could be that Castro has become more suspicious of more people as his economic program flounders and his vaunted set of followers knifes at each other more vigorously.

Phil Newsom Says: Power Struggle

UPI Foreign News Analyst Newsom says that the violent political demonstrations are nothing particularly new for the Greeks. At various times they have demonstrated against the governments of their own governments, against the United States, against the Soviet Union and against the Turks.

But what is happening in Greece today appears first of all to be a continuation of a steady movement to the political left.

Back in June, 1963, Premier Constantine Carmanlis resigned after a tiff with the king, then King Paul and Queen Frederika.

Carmanlis had given Greece an unparalleled seven years of government continuity but quit when the King and Queen overrode his objection to a purge the army of right wing officers accused of disloyalty to Papandreu's middle of the road regime.

It was a measure demanded both by the Center Union and by Greek Communists.

The King refused on grounds that such a move would open the army to Communist influence and weaken its usefulness to NATO.

In the long run, the issue also involved the future of the Greek monarchy. Among some political elements of Greece there is a question of the monarchy's usefulness.

In a letter the King accused Papandreu of spreading false rumors.

"I call upon you," the monarch wrote to Papandreu, "to denounce publicly the slanderous campaign against me and take prompt and effective action to break up any attempt to organize more manifestations... which would subject the Greek people to oppression and its sovereignty and establish its liberties."

Thus between Papandreu and the King it became a battle for survival.

And caught between these two is Greece, with the Communist standing to gain the most.

Health Hazard Warning Is Law

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal health officials today signed a law that requires health hazard warning on cigarette packages.

The White House said Johnson believed the bill, criticized by some congressmen as not going far enough, would have benefits that outweighed any deficiencies.

The warning—"Caution! Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health"—will be required on cigarette packages, starting next Jan. 1.

His father awarded him a prize for "initiative."

Nice Jail

GONNALL, England (UPI)—The Women's Institute will purchase the old village prison here and turn part of it into a garden for old folk.

The jail is the only nice-looking thing in the village, apart from the church," an institute spokesman said.

9-11 P.M. NBC, Wednesday Night Movie: "Key to the City" (Rerun) Even mayors go to conventions, and this time it's Clark Gable, mayor of a small town in Washington, meeting Lovett Young, a mayoralist in Maine, at a convention. While it isn't love at first sight, they get the idea. Plenty of old-timers, including James Gleason, Lewis Stone and Raymond Walburn, brighten up the story. Raymond Burr plays Gable's corrupt political opponent back home.

7:30-8 P.M. CBS, Mr. Ed: "Never Ride Horses." (Rerun) It's time human beings stopped riding horses! Ed has a message to the world: "Get off our backs!" And while we're at it, "how would you like somebody sitting on your mother?" Why shouldn't a man ride a cow? After all, that's just a horse with outdoor plumbing!

7:30-8 P.M. NBC, The Virginian: "Lost Yesterday." (Color) (Rerun) Another star-crossed romance for our Virginian. This time it's with star Shirley Knight as an entertainer who goes on a date through the show with a couple of fat problems. She's lost her memory in a stage-coach wreck, but since she was the only one who knew where some stolen loot was hidden, her outlaw chums refuse to believe in her illness and want to do her in.

8:30-9:30 P.M. ABC, Big Big: "Blaze Galina" as this hour once again offers the big songs, the ones you'll treasure in years to come as they're rendered by the Dave Clark Five, Jay and the Americans, The Nashville Town, Mike Clifford, Dave Berry, Donna Loren, Linda Carr and just oodles of others.

8:30-9 P.M. CBS, The Beverly Hillbillies: (Rerun) This one gives Irene Ryan a chance to shine. She goes into a restaurant when she thinks (Buddy Ebsen) is replacing her as the family's star. She actually is, but she has received an honorary doctorate from a college he is endowed with a million-dollar gift, but Granny stubbornly believes the certificate belongs to her as a medical doctor.

9:30-10 P.M. CBS, Dick Van Dyke Show: "Stacey Patrie." Part II (Rerun) More about the frustrating romance between Bob's brother Stacey and the girl who isn't even aware he's the one who's been writing to her plus the added complications of opening a coffee shop. Herbie Faye appears as a waiter who's been through the coffee shop's fumbling management and Carl Heller shows up as a devilish actor.

9:30-10:30 P.M. ABC, Burke's Law: "Who Killed Rosie Sumner?" (Rerun) Now why would anyone want to kill the little old newspaper and one of the world's foremost collections of trash? Tonight's suspect guest includes Dennis Day, Hans Conrid, Russ Tamblyn, Eddie Albert and Sherry North. There's also Françoise York slinking around seductively.

10:30-11 P.M. ABC, ABC Scope: "Westerns: European Style." Considering the heavy subjects it has considered to date, this series deserves a one-week breather to try comedy. Tonight's half hour takes a look at the process of turning out American-type Westerns in Europe with actors who don't speak the same language. Among the highest of the many major stars you'll see in action is Mickey Hargitay (Tomorrow's Slave Masters I). Let's face it, a serious note in the presence of Federico Fellini.

Dear Abby:

DEAR ABBY: We are a group of ten church members who have been meeting in each other's homes one month for the past eight years. After lunch we spend the rest of the afternoon studying our religion. Two years ago a woman joined our group. She has never yet had the luncheon in her home and has tried many times to change our meetings from luncheons to "just" coffee and cookies. When I asked her when she could take the luncheon, she told me that it was impossible for her to entertain as her dog is very jealous and she has given him tranquillizers whenever she has company. Kindly advise what you would do in a situation like this. Most of the ladies feel we should ask for her resignation, but no one will speak up. Since I am the president, I am...

You see, these two fellows grew up together and before we were married the three of us went everywhere together. This fellow goes everywhere with us, but he never has a date. When we go dancing, he dances with me. We became friendly at these times. I feel myself falling deeper and deeper in love with him. Abby, I think he feels the same about me although neither one of us ever came right out and said it. If I started to avoid him, my husband would wonder why. How can I control my heart? Beauty after Forty

FRUIT: You can control your heart by controlling the situation. If you don't know a girl with whom to pair up the extra man, ask HIM to find one. Tell your husband that now that you're married, there is a crowd and you want to be ALONE with him. And should you find yourself faced with temptation, keep your eyes off him and no dancing! Jacoby On Bridge

Jim Jacoby gets his father reinstated today. He asks: "What is the most interesting ace-queen play you recall?" Overall: "It was in the first round of a Spingold Cup Tournament back in the days when sudden death matches were played. Margaret Wagar of Atlanta copied one ace and found herself in a grand slam contract after the bidding closed in the heart." Jim: "A very poor contract when you look at all the cards but there certainly was tremendous duplication between the North and South hands and while Mrs. Wagar did make a slight overbid, it is hard to find any serious criticism of her grand slam bid." Overall: "Mrs. Wagar, one

We The Women:

"When a wife holds down an outside job should her husband share the household with her?" asks a working wife who reads this column. The answer to that, of course, depends on why a wife is working. If she is working just because she wants to and not from necessity, then she is expecting a lot from her husband if she expects him to pitch in every night to help her do the household chores she could have done during the day if she were a full-time homemaker. But if a wife is working because she and her husband have agreed that her check is a necessity or important to the couple's living standard and if she works as many hours a week as her husband does—dividing up the household work in his easy chair to read the evening paper and watch television—she amuses herself by putting around in his workshop or feeling around with a baby. If she settles for that lopsided division of labor she is being shortchanged. For sooner or later she will resent being the overworked and underappreciated member of the family—whether she brings her resentment out in the open or keeps it silent in order to keep peace. So when a husband and wife talk things over and agree that a job for the wife as well as one for the husband is important to the family—that is the time when they should allow the play of the wife's job of housework to be handled. If the husband does not bring up the subject of "Who does the housework?" his wife should. A man who expects his wife to earn a pay check has no business taking the attitude that housework is woman's work. It's woman's work if the husband earns the living—but it should be a shared responsibility when the wife is sharing the responsibility for earning a living.

Altamonte Taxpayers Protest Assessments

By Donna Estes

The Altamonte Springs Town Council, sitting as a board of equalization, received 23 written complaints Wednesday evening from a standing-room-only audience of property owners.

Councilman Bert Chapman and Robert Newell were absent.

Complaints were heard from all sections of town but the majority came from Oakland Estates. Reports were advised that assessments in their area are being revised.

Mayor W. Lawrence Sworf stated that Altamonte Springs was complying with the ruling set by the attorney general and comptroller's office that property must be assessed at 100 per cent of full market value. He said that the last evaluation completed in the town was in 1952 at which time assessments were set at 75 per cent.

With costs to people of the town being set per parcel at $100,000, he said, the town is now being forced to evaluate the property at 100 per cent.

He said that the town will equalize the tax burden, Sworf pointed out last week off the coast of Viet Nam.

They will be buried among the famous and the unknown in impressive ceremonies to be attended by families of the two officers.

More than 100,000 persons are buried at Arlington, including Presidents William Howard Taft and John F. Kennedy. Military heroes who rest there include Admiral Richard E. Byrd Jr., Admiral William F. Halsey Jr., Gen. John J. Pershing, Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright and scores of others.

The Board of County Commissioners is asking the Sanford City Commission to join in requesting the Joint Road Department to redesign the 25th Street west of U. S. 17-92 as SR 46-A.

County Planner Jack Goodin was given a sendoff as a reserve officer in the U. S. Coast Guard with the commendation from the County Commission: "We hope to see you come back."

Goodin requested leave for two weeks active duty training.

A. R. (Al) Lormann is expected to be named the fifth member of the Junior College Advisory Committee. Lormann is a Longwood resident with real estate offices in Casselberry.

One lady we know has complained to a power company that lightning seems to prefer her house to all others in the neighborhood. So far it has been hit twice.

Bandmaster Ernest Cowley has announced that summer rehearsals of the Seminole High School Band will be held during August in preparation for the coming football season.

Rehearsals will be held in the band hall at 1:30 p. m. each Tuesday night. All band members and a prospective band member are urged to attend.

Red Planet Is 'Dead' Mariner-4 Reveals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Space scientists today showed President Johnson and the nation fantastically clear photographs of Mars that revealed the presence of moon-like craters, a red planet "dead" as the moon.

Three photographs were released immediately after the flight 16 fly-by, but they did not have the clarity or reveal the details of the new shots.

They were withheld from the public until now to enable scientists to bring out their details more clearly. They were shown to the President at the White House which was televised by all major networks.

Johnson described the Mars picture as "awe-inspiring."

He said "the flight of Mariner 4 will stand as one of the great advances of man's quest to extend the horizons of knowledge."

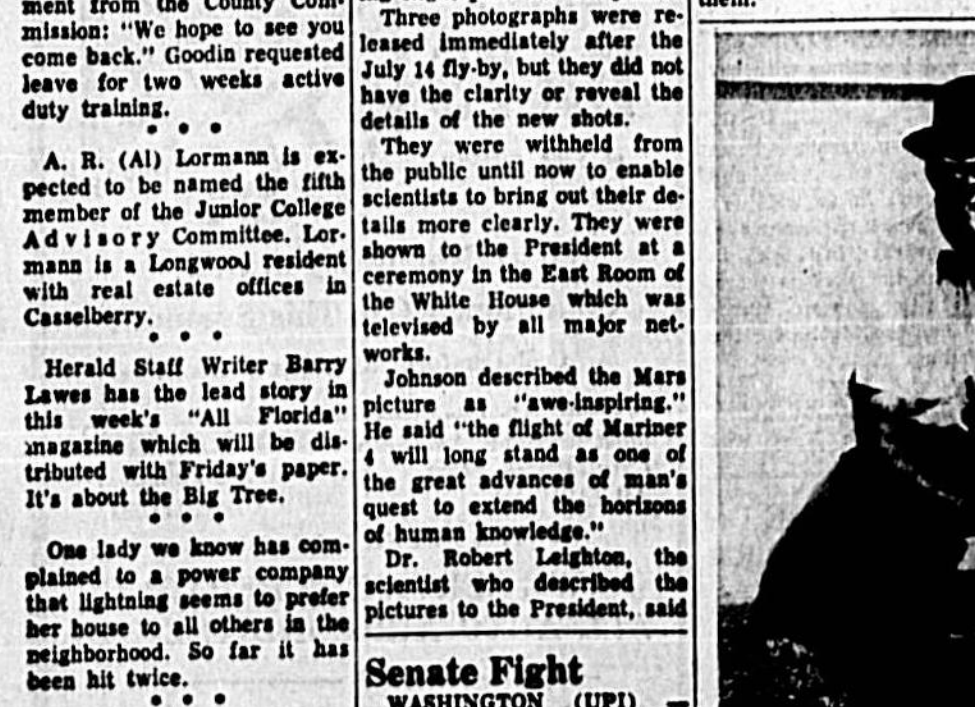

Dr. Robert Leighton, the scientist who described the pictures to the President, said:

"The photographs disclosed these features of Mars: —At least part of the surface is covered with large craters, as is the moon. This, he said, further enhances the quality of the earth, the planet system.

—One of the pictures showed 10 craters, from three to 15 miles across.

—Some of the craters seem to be volcanic.

—There is no trace of the fabled Mars canals, although there still is a possibility there may be something resembling them.

Lakefront Bond Sale Cleared

FPL Assists With $65,000 To Pave Way

By Dottie Austin

Way was cleared today for sale of $1 million worth of revenue bonds to build the Sanford lakefront development project, when City Finance Officer Howard Wetzel paid off a $186,000 balance on capital improvement bonds, issued in 1957.

To help make the pay-off possible, Scott Burns, manager of Florida Power and Light, said the city will contribute to the city for $65,000, the city's annual share of FPL franchise money for fiscal 1964-1965.

City Manager W. E. Knowles explained that the bond issue has to be paid off on an anniversary date, which falls on Aug. 1.

"We don't usually get the franchise check until late in August, but through the cooperation of Burns, we were able to rush things so we could get the check before the deadline date," Knowles said.

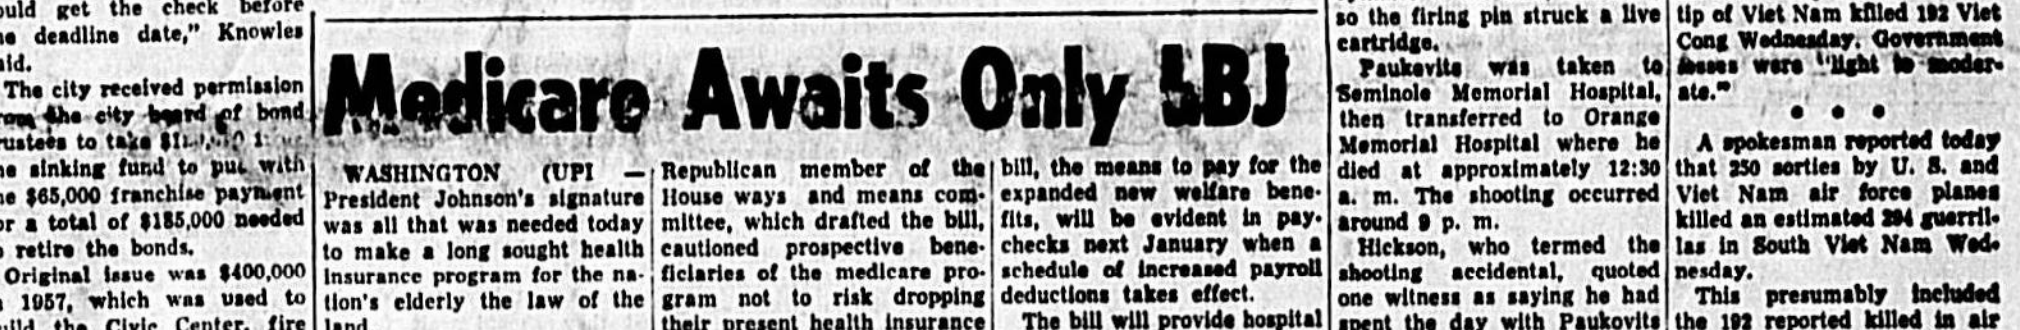

The city received permission from the city board of bond trustees to take $186,000 from the sinking fund to pay off the $186,000 franchise payment for a total of $186,000 needed to retire the bonds.

Original issue was $400,000 in 1957, which was used to build the Civic Center, fire station No. 2, park storage building, masonry vapor street lights for downtown Sanford and French Avenue and two fire trucks.

"This city's sound financial position by paying off these 20-year bonds 12 years ahead of time. We also have about $20,000 in interest-free money available for the lakefront development following the clearing of valuation procedure when beneficiaries will get a check for the new amount plus a seven-month retroactive increase.

The landmark program of medical care for the elderly will not go into effect for nearly another year.

Medicare Awaits Only 137

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican member of the House says that Medicare legislation, which drafted the bill, will be evident in paychecks next January when a schedule of increased payroll deductions takes effect.

The bill will provide hospital care under Social Security for an estimated 13 million Americans aged 65 and over, as well as establish an optional contributory insurance program for the elderly to help cover doctor bills and other medical expenses.

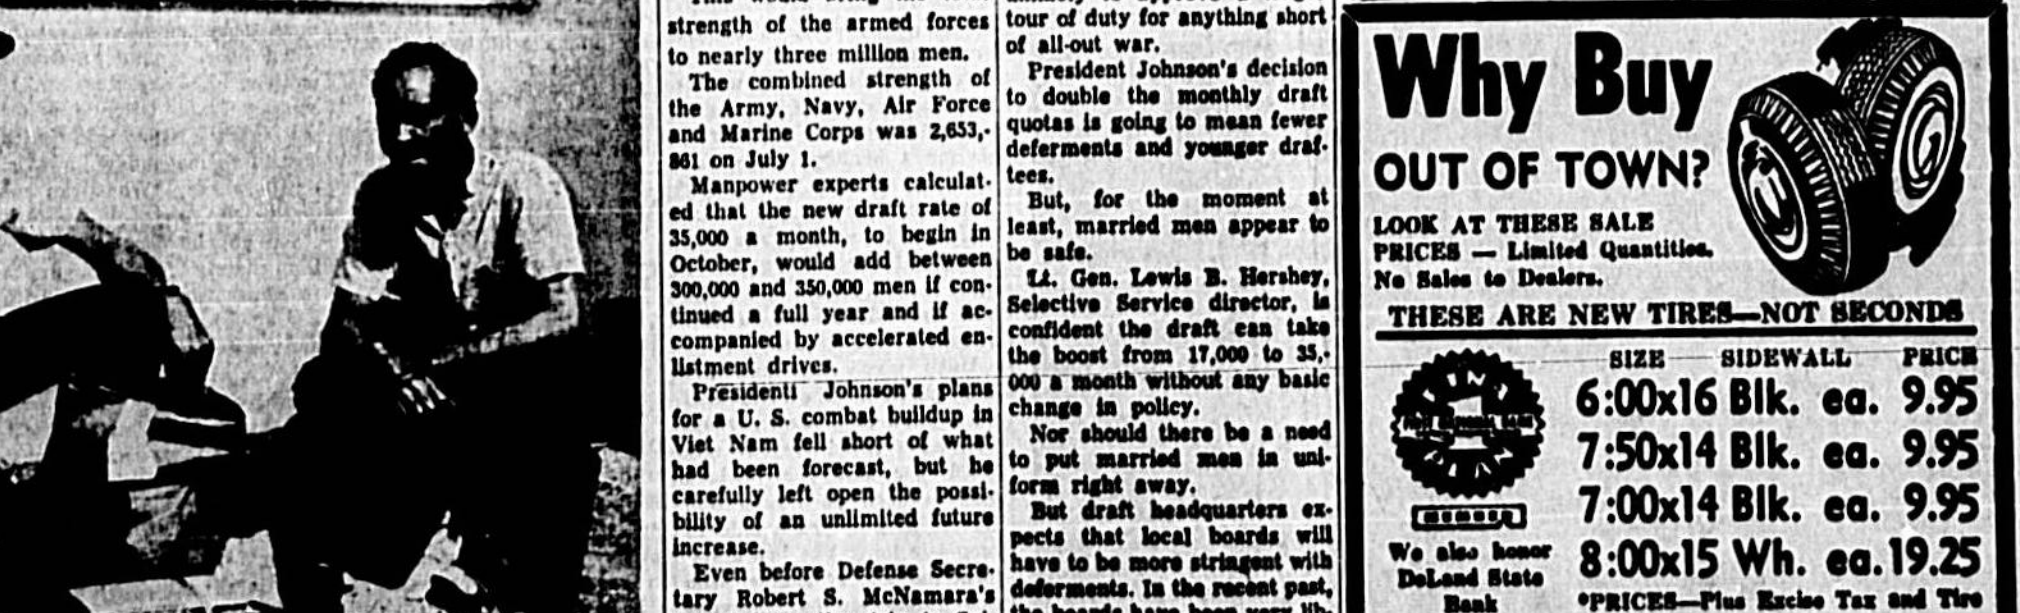

All Social Security benefits will be increased by at least 5 per cent, the lowest increase in 10 years.

Another chief effect of the bill, the means to pay for the expanded new welfare benefits, will be evident in paychecks next January when a schedule of increased payroll deductions takes effect.
