DOHENY TAKES STAND TO AID ALBERT B. FALL

Aged Oil Baron Tells About Early Friendship Which Prompted $100,000 Loan

By George E. Durso
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(INS)—One "old friend" came to the aid of the other in the criminal branch of elasticity supreme court today.

Benign and benevolent in appearance, 80-year-old Edward L. Doheny, multi-millionaire oil operator, took the stand in the Fall bribery trial and explained the $100,000 he gave former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall at no time he acquired a lease on the Elk Hills naval oil reserve as a "mere loan."

A romantic story of the days in the W. G., when men were men and brave death in quest of gold and oil, replaced Doheny's explanation of the transaction which the government contends was a bribe.

Under the guidance of Frank J. Hogan, chief defense attorney, the pink-faced, white-haired oil baron told how he and Fall presented higher 41 years ago and struck up a friendship that has come down through the years.

It was his friendship that prompted the man who in millions run into several score to make an unexpected loan of a mere $100,000, to fall the jury.

Protesting him on the stand had been his wife, who testified to the bare story of the $100,000 transaction. Mrs. Doheny had explained her signature had been torn from the note Fall gave for the money simply as a precaution to get the aged defendant from the possible embarrassment of protracted cross-examination should she and Fall suddenly be killed simultaneously in a railroad accident.

"I first met Fall in 1886 at Kingston, New Mexico," Doheny said. "He was working in the Iron Eagle mine; I was working in the Miners Dream."

Doheny told, among other things, how he discovered oil at a point where Lake Shore Boulevard, a Los Angeles street, now runs.

The oil magnate told how Fall, in 1921, had told him of an urgent desire to acquire certain ranch property adjoining his in New Mexico so as to reserve his water rights.

"He spoke of borrowing the money but from the way he talked, I gathered he was doubtful the people he had in mind would loan it to him," Doheny testified. "I told him that I was quite able to loan him $100,000."

Situation Serious As Troops Mutiny

LONDON, Oct. 18.—(INS)—A serious situation has arisen at Wuhan, China, where Nationalist troops suddenly and without warning mutinied against their commanders. It was reported in dispatches to the evening newspapers from the Far East today. The mutineers were attached to Nanking government troops assigned to Wuhan, according to the dispatches. Panic reigned after the outbreak of the mutiny, which was followed by raids by the soldiers on shops and homes, and for a time looting was prevalent. The British authorities at Wuhan took immediate steps to protect the lives of British citizens, and all women and children.

WOLFE RESIGNS AS SECRETARY OF SEMINOLE Y.M.C.A.

To Accept California Post; Morris Named To Direct Work Here

As secretary of the Seminole County Y. M. C. A. was announced yesterday H. C. Dulless, president. The resignation became effective Oct. 18.

Mr. Wolfe leaves the work here to resume similar duties in Parcerville, Cal. He will have Sanford with a few days for California.

Appointment of Herman Morris, assistant secretary, to succeed Mr. Wolfe was also announced. Mr. Morris has been Mr. Wolfe's right-hand assistant for some time.

Mr. Wolfe has been secretary here for three years, coming to Sanford to inaugurate the Y. M. C. A. work in this county. Under his direction the organization has carried on extensive work, operating at times under the most trying financial circumstances. With his assistance, the local Y. M. C. A. formed and kept in operation more than 20 clubs, many other organizations in the state.

Although he spoke guardedly of the bribery entries in the little black books, Dulless intimated he would make a thorough investigation of all the apparent graft he expected. None of the names of the bribe takers are as yet known because the names are not given in full in the books.

Meanwhile agents are continuing their investigation at the syndicate's fortified headquarters in Highlands. They already have $1,000,000 worth of rare liquors in their possession. Search was also being made at points along the Atlantic Coast line for secret hiding places for the sum total.

"Somewhere at sea" are half a dozen rum ships belonging to the syndicate. Coast-guard officials reported three vessels seized recently were the property of the syndicate.

Grand Jury Probe Of Fanatical Cult Appears Imminent

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18.—(INS)—A grand jury investigation of recent practices of the "Great Eleven" cult appeared imminent today as handwriting experts expressed doubt as to the authenticity of a letter purported to be from Sam Rizzo, missing cult usiacate.

The letter was sent to his mother, Mrs. Frances Scarlotta Rizzo and said he was safe. Rizzo was known to have been compelled to walk up and down on the beach sand here, garbed in ceremonial robes, while cult priestesses scattered what authorities believed was poison.

The missing man's wife, Mrs. Ruth Ang Lee Winkler-Rizzo, and his daughter, Mrs. May Orlis Blackburn, leader of the religious order, the latter is under indictment on 12 theft charges. She is accused of using $50,000 entrusted to her by cult members.

Authorities today investigated the workings of a religious cult, "Path of Divine Mystery," which has made its appearance at St. Charles near here. Sidney Hunt, alleged "king" of the cult, was charged with beating one of the women members "to drive the devil out of her."

BRIE LIST OF LIQUOR RING IS FOUND IN RAID

Rum Syndicate's Protection Cost Sum Of $30,000 Per Week Records Seized Show

By James L. Kilgallen
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Heavy losses—amounts as much as $30,000 a week—were passed out for protection by the North Atlantic liquor syndicate which the federal government cashed in simultaneous raids in New Jersey, New York and Long Island. This was disclosed today in the examination of two little black books seized in the raid on the former Oscar Hammett estate at Highlands, N. J., occupied by the ring as its "headquarters."

Officials and police in eastern New York and New Jersey received this graft face prosecution, including administrator William J. Calhoun, generalissimo of the syndicate, indicated as his agents present with Hammett—identification by names on the syndicate's "list."

The records also showed that the syndicate, which supplied practically all of the "imported" liquor in New York city and the East, made a profit of $2,000,000 in the last six months. Business was increasing steadily and the big rum firm, which "ran" boats in on ships, from Newfoundland and Europe, was preparing to expand. In March of this year the syndicate paid out $700,000 for ships, machinery and operating expenses.

Federal officials intimated the 22 men rounded up in raids were "the smaller fry." Several of the leaders are believed to have fled to Canada.

"Mannie" Kessler and Morris Kugelsood, the two former "boss kings" were released. The agents were unable to link them with the syndicate.

Although he spoke guardedly of the bribery entries in the little black books, Dulless intimated he would make a thorough investigation of all the apparent graft he expected. None of the names of the bribe takers are as yet known because the names are not given in full in the books.

Meanwhile agents are continuing their investigation at the syndicate's fortified headquarters in Highlands. They already have $1,000,000 worth of rare liquors in their possession. Search was also being made at points along the Atlantic Coast line for secret hiding places for the sum total.

Big Liquor Ring Is Linked With Capone

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(INS)—"It is no secret that this mob of bootleggers is more or less hooked up with the gang of "Scarface" Al Capone," Assistant United States Attorney James E. Wilkinson of Brooklyn said following the arraignment of several members of the Hughes rum ring uncovered on the Atlantic Seaboard. Wilkinson refused to give details of Capone's alleged connection with the gang.

Under Cover Tariff Agent Is Praised In Letter Written By Bus For "Services"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(INS)—

"You have done a great deal more than we ever bargained for and undoubtedly the results which you have accomplished are far-reaching and will bear fruit for a long time to come."

This cryptic statement in a letter written to Charles L. Evanson, under cover "TARF" agent, by his boss, F. Kent Hubbard, president of the Connecticut Manufacturers Association, today drew a sharp rebuke from Evanson's employer, Secretary to Senator Hiram Bingham (D) of Connecticut.

The letter, introduced in the Senate this morning, came to the Senate Finance Committee July 10, just after Evanson went to work with Bingham. It was during this period that Bingham took Evanson into two secret sessions of the Senate finance committee while others were being tried.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh (D) of Montana questioned Evanson about the meaning of the letter. Evanson twice contended that Hubbard had used "the wrong word" and insisted the "result" that pleased him "was not intended to help Senator Bingham."

Evanson's plain truth that Mr. Hubbard had information from him (D) on "tariff" rates the bank through the safe door.

A crowd collected and began machine gun bullets patterned at the feet of the spectators. Leaping into an automobile, the two men were driven away.

"I don't suppose Mr. Hubbard could afford the rates at that time," said Evanson. He explained the chief was "very busy" and did not inquire into rates of specific commodities but was satisfied all bank employes to hear the door "the girl raised her head, 'Give me 60¢—black jack!'" he added.

Meantime progressive opponents of whom would prefer to kill the entire bill—choked with evident satisfaction, and asserted that the Senate "old guard" had abandoned its efforts to pass "the highest tariff bill in history."

President Hoover has indicated considerable concern over the slow progress made by the Senate on the bill, and has held frequent conferences with party leaders there.

In a satirical assault upon Republicans at a Democratic insurgent amendment providing for a minimum wage, counsel before the tariff committee had been adopted by Sen. Hartman (D) of Calif.

While Senator Reed (R) of

Wyoming also favored the measure, he had voted to kill the entire bill.

The letter read in part:

"I want you to prepare the way garding your tenure of office in

Jeanne Eagels Has Big Role In Picture At Milane Today

Solomon in all his glory might have looked like hard times in comparison with Hallie Hobbes' wardrobe he wears in "Jealousy," the Paramount talking picture at the Milane theatre today and tomorrow and starring Jeanne Eagels, who will be remembered for her last talking picture, "The Letter."

Hobbes represents a financier, sportsman and clubman about Paris. He is middle aged, of cultivated taste, comfortable moral standards, exotic temperament. His is the type of character who would keep up to the most elaborate indulgences of the wealthy and then step beyond a trifle.

So in the screen, he dresses to look the part. Never, according to H. M. K. Smith, studio costume expert, has one man at the east end Paramount studio worn such a rich and varied outfit.

Hobbes first appears in the picture all ready for the races at Longchamps of Auteuil. He wears formal morning clothes with a light gray top hat, a sprig of blue-and-white in his buttonhole as every Frenchman would on the first of May, carrying his binoculars and a walking stick especially designed for racing men, with a scale designed for measuring the height of a horse. He also wears evening clothes and a black silk hat.

But the splendor of Hobbes' attire is best revealed in his informal clothes, he has pajamas, a lounging jacket, a lounging robe and a smoking coat.

The pajamas are of silk, a pretty solar and blue, with blue morocco slippers to match. The robe is decorated with figures of orange and midnight blue in heraldic designs, on a background of pale gold. The jacket is of Blanchard silk broads of dark bottle green, ornamented with green and gold. The smoking coat is of violet velvet. All the garments were imported direct from Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Slemons and daughter, Miss Mildred Slemons, of Orlando, were the guests Thursday evening of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Newmire at their home in Rose Court.

LARGE CONCERNS OFFERING FUNDS TO HELP SCIENCE

Marion Davies Is Now At Work On Second Talkie Film 'Dulcy'

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 18. (GNS)—

The financial power of big industries to pay the scientific research is the outstanding benefit of the modern industrial age, Dr. Robert A. Millikan, leading physicist of the world said. Here recently in dedicating the William Farnsworth laboratory at the Westwood, home of the talkies studio of that company.

Dr. Millikan is director of the Norman Bridge Laboratory at the California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, the explorer of the atom and of the cosmic ray.

The laboratory will be devoted to scientific determination of all questions of sound and visual projection.

After the distinguished scientist had praised the film company's aid to more and applied sciences, Lois Moran, Fox star, unveiled the plaques to Edward and Alexander Gullion Bell, completing the dedication.

Linguistic and national barriers have gone down before music and the talking and singing picture of today will be heard round the well-known world. So Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have decided following a survey.

—A new conquest of the Hollywood Reine of 1929 now being featured at Grauman's Chinese here will be the first "international picture" to be released without change in every country in the world.

Marion Davies' second talking picture, "Dulcy," now in production by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, has the most interesting kind of cast. It includes not only famous stage and screen stars but Donald Ogden Stewart, humorous and dramatic, who "estimated" the world by reading the legitimate stage in person and not via curtain call.

Miss Davies' first talkie "Markina" is enjoying a featured run at the smart Mayan Theatre in Los Angeles.
