Michigan Man Charged

With Running 'Sex School'

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) - Wayne Thomas Heacock, 34, has been charged with criminal sexual conduct in connection with what investigators believe was a "sex school" for children that "graduated" almost 200 youngsters and awarded prizes for per-formance. Heacock is in the Oakland County jail under $125,000 bond. He pleaded innocent at his district court arraignment Wednesday on a five-count charge of first-degree criminal sexual conduct with a 9-year-old boy.

Officials announced the cutbacks on Wednesday, saying the govern-ment hasn't been getting "much of a bang for the buck it was spending." Harrison Wellford, an administration spokesman, said that in some cases the abolished panels had not been bothering to meet an important of the second bothering to meet or issue reports.

But Jaworski, the former Watergate special prosecutor who now is chief counsel for the House ethics committee, declined to spell out the strategy on Wednesday.

Deadline Set For Midway Mix Plan

Effective Controls Are Needed Here

Hardly anyone questions the need to do something about the soaring costs of hospital care. Hospital charges have been rising at a rate of 15 per cent a year during a period when the consumer price index was going up at a rate of 6 per cent. The reasons for this bulge in hospital costs are so complex that attempts to subject hospitals to something like price controls are not going to work. That's the flaw in President Carter's proposed "Hospital Cost Containment Act" and with Gov. Brown's idea of regulating hospital charges the way the state regulates the rates charged by public utilities

Some states already have tried placing hospitals under a ratesetting commission, and the results aren't at all promising. An examination of the problem appearing elsewhere in this section today recounts the experience in Connecticut, where the power of a state commission to control hospital budgets is being challenged in court. The net result in Connecticut is that any control over the total cost of hospital treatment was illusory.

The experience in various states creates no confidence that controls can be imposed without causing a decline in services provided by hospitals and achieving no real savings to the insurance groups or government agencies which are picking up the tab, or a major part of it, for patients. The fact that so many patients pay hospital bills indirectly through insurance premiums or have them paid by someone else is one of the reasons that there has been so little check on rising costs.

An effective control mechanism needs to be applied where the ballooning costs originate. There is some legislation already on the books that promises to attack one phase of the problem without interfering with doctor-patient relationships and without threatening the quality of care available to patients. It is the National Health Planning and Resources Development Act of 1974. Its implementation promises more tangible benefits than any of the proposed costcontrol

The Act has enabled the Health, Education and Welfare Department to begin establishing a network of some 200 regional Health Systems Agencies to plan and monitor the development of health care facilities in the areas they serve.

Unnecessary hospitalizations could be reduced if there were more facilities for outpatient treatment and more programs for preventive medicine. Costs could be reduced if there were less overbuilding of hospitals within a community and less duplication of costly equipment. The power of the regional planning agencies to control allotment of federal funds for health projects promises to introduce better planning into development of a region's health-care facilities and thus more economy.

Government should move cautiously into regulation of hospitals. As the new Health Systems Agencies take hold in various communities there may be a weaker case for the potentially dangerous step of placing hospital charges under direct control of the federal or state governments.

First Class Price

The price of a first-class stamp is going up to 16 cents, but President Carter has asked that private citizens, who account for 20 per cent of all first-class mail, be allowed to keep on paying 13 cents. The Postal Service, of course, readily agreed. The idea isn't too surprising, because Mr. Carter's most frequently used economic concept is that ordinary people shouldn't have to pay directly when higher prices become necessary. Accordingly, or ostensibly, it is the energy producer, not the consumer, who would pay under Mr. Carter's energy plan, and it is the employer, not the employe, who would pay the most under Mr. Carter's Social Security plan. Of course, we all know who really will pay, right?

Around The Clock

By DONNA ESTES

The inclusion by the Lake Mary City Council of $40,000 in its budget for fiscal 1978 as anticipated revenues from court fines and bond forfeitures started rumblings that the city of less than 3,000 must be a speed trap. How could that much money be generated in the four-year-old municipality from fines from traffic violators? Police Chief Harry Benson's explanation of the increased revenues bears repeating and has the ring of truth to it. Benson, as the city council discussed the in-crease in revenues from that source of late, said it is due to the fact that he talked to the Florida Highway Patrol and asked that henceforth citations given by state troopers to errant motorists on the stretch of I-4 within the city from just beyond the Markham Woods overpass and north to the city's limits at S46A be designated simply as having been issued in Lake Mary.

That designation, Benson said, on the citations would require that the fines, minus costs, be returned by the county court system to the Lake Mary coffers. Almost immediately, Benson says the city's revenues from fines leaped from an average of $700 to $1,200 monthly to $6,200. He said the idea came to mand after he had researched citations one day in the courthouse and found the volume of tickets issued by the FHP on that long stretch of interstate so high

As for traffic citations within the heart of the city tself issued by the Lake Mary police officers, Lt. George Myers said the numbers are not excessive. He said officers on the Lake Mary department still do not believe that the levy of state-mandated fees in addition to traffic fines is just and are giving citations only to the most flagrant law violators.

Grumblings in the municipalities are that Gov. Reubin Askew is going to have his hands full appointing a Democrat to replace Republican John Kimbrough on the board of county commissioners. Winter Springs Mayor Troy Piland observed this week that some 40 elected municipal officials in Seminole are certainly qualified to hold the post and that there are at least 150 others in appointive office

In this definitive put-down, I was going to observe that the problem with the Russians is that they never know where to draw the line.

The Stalin purge trials, the Soviet invasions of Hungary and Czechoslovakia, the bringing of the world to the brink of atomic war by putting nuclear missles in Cuba, all these things were tolerable. The Aware Woman Clinic sued the city over the 15-part ordinance which it claimed would interfere with its operations and the rights of its patients.

The clinic's suit asks for $750,000 in damages. Judge Young's action in temporarily halting the ruling's enforcement did not go into detail on the issues of the case. However, the judge said, "The likelihood of this being unconstitutional is great."

To Cap Vance Mission

PEKING (AP) — A meeting today with Communist party Chairman Hua Kuo-feng caps Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance's fourday visit to Peking. But there was no expectation that Mao Tse-tung's successor would moderate the Communist regime's terms for opening diplomatic relations with the United States. Vance's meeting with Hua followed negotiating sessions with Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping and Foreign Minister Huang Hua. The secretary of state said Wednesday these talks had been candid, "useful and helpful."

Sonny & Cher Being Sued

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Sonny and Cher comedy and music team has been sued for up to $350,000 by a Las Vegas hotel for allegedly failing to fulfill a stage show conract.

The suit, filed Wednesday in federal court by the Sahara Hotel, claimed that Sonny and Cher had agreed in January 1973 to play three two-week engagements that year and another two-week engagement in 1974. However, the suit claimed the pair shortened an October 1973 engagement by four performances and canceled a one-week stand for the following month.

The hotel asked the court to require that Sonny and Cher reschedule the missed perormances and pay damages, or be assessed $350,000 in damages plus interest since October 1973.

Harvard Was His Summer Haven

Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. The summer address for Lake Brantley's Dan Falstad.

"It measured up well to my expectations," he says. Translated: he enjoyed it.

But he wasn't there to play even though he has good memories of Boston. "The area has good food and entertainment of all kinds," he concedes.

As one of about 300 high school seniors from around the United States with highest PSAT (Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test) scores, Dan studied Introduction to Comparative Government and Introduction to Calculus. He received regular academic credit for his efforts.

Dan, a member of Lake Brantley's National Honor Society, is the son of Mrs. Diane Falstad, 110 Wax Myrtle Lane, Longwood; and William Falstad, Fredonia, Kan.

His collegiate plans? Back to Harvard? Maybe. Maybe not.

> For Grocery Savings All It Takes Is A Dollar

This is the third in a three-part series on how to save money at the grocery store by following shopping patterns suggested by Cornell professor, Heinz Biesdorf.

In order to buy sale items for future use, you need money, but it may be less than you think, you can even start with as little as 1 extra, says Blesdorf.

What if you don't even have the dollar? Find it, says Biesdorf. "If you have no money at all, you skip something that you don't need very badly." Suppose you eliminate window cleaner and shoe polish. "I would say, 'Okay. That's a dollar. Find a place where you get a special price and use that dollar that way."" You should also remember that the extra supplies you buy this week will help cut next week's bill.

How big a supply of staples should you keep on hand? "Enough so you never have to buy at the regular price," says Biesdorf. After shopping carefully for several months, you should be able to gauge the frequency of specials. Two or three months' supply of a product generally will suffice, although properly stored items will last much longer. Canned goods, for example, can be kept for up to three years in dry, cool places, out most experts recommend storing them for no more than one What if you don't have the time to shop around? Again

Biesdorf says: Find it. How much time do you devote to television? "How much does it cost to watch television? It costs time."

Once you have become familiar with the better shopper program, Biesdorf says, it takes less than half an hour a week to cut your grocery bill by 15 per cent. How much money can you earn in half an hour - even if you work overtime? Biesdorf also dismisses arguments that his plan requires a lot of storage space. "If somebody offered you $50 worth of free groceries, would you turn them down because you didn't have room? Of course not." Rearrange cabinets to get the maximum use of available space. Consider stepshelves in the closets for more surface area. Store paper goods in cartons under the bed. Biesdorf stresses the importance of using unit pricing where available to compare the cost of items sold in different size containers. Suppose, for example, a six-ounce can of something is 29 cents and a 13-ounce can is 60 cents. Which is cheaper? The unit price label will tell you the cost per pound of each item - 77 cents for the six-ounce size and 74 cents for the 13-ounce size. If the unit price is not given, figure it out yourself. Biesdorf refuses to be discouraged because many people are unable to do ic. "The fact that some people are willing, unable, incompetent, don't want to be bothered, not enough education, shouldn't stop a professor from teaching what he knows will work," Biesdorf says, somewhat dogmatically. "The ones who pick it up will benefit greatly." The better shopper kit includes detailed explanations of how to figure out which size is the best buy, how to read labels and how to understand the information which is provided.

Shopping in more than one store is another key factor of the Biesdorf plan. He says any expenditure for gasoline used in traveling is offset by the savings if you buy in quantity.

Businesses, consumer mailers can save postage under a Postal Service "work-share" mail. The program is designed to help users of the mail service ave money and at the same time help post offices process mail faster - in return for a lower postage rate.

The program, entitled 'Presort First Class Mail," offers mailers a one cent per piece lower rate on all presorted first class mail that meets certain requirements. In addition to lower rates, users can benefit by setting up their mailing list in ZIP Code sequence. Once organized by ZIP Codes, the mailers can better schedule mailings for uniform delivery. The Postal Service benefits because presorted mail bypasses andling operations.

Teacher Negotiations Hit Impasse

County, Lake Mary In Race For Utility Plant Funding

'Rather than go through Impasse procedure, we told the board we would like a few days to consider their last offer, then we would get back with them. - Gene Grooms, executive director, SEA negotiations," Cowley said. "SEA is putting the clerical union econd to themselves, and I don't like to see the other unions used as pawns." What I did tell them, was that we are officially at impasse, but f they wanted to look over our final offer I would allow them a few days before I notified the Public Employe Relations Commission PERC). I am supposed to notify them immediately when we declare impasse."

More than salary was included in the rejected offer, according to Cowley.

It called for a seven-hour work day for teachers, four paid holidays, the use of a courier service which would have provided SEA with the privilege of sending out meeting announcements and other literature through the board's mail system.

Had SEA signed the contract it would have taken effect today, and teachers would have received the pay increase and other benefits

Negotiations between SEA and the board began in May, with seven sections of the contract assigned last year being renegotiated. Those include curriculum and instruction (no agreement has yet been reached); working conditions (no agreement yet reached); teaching days and hours (no agreements yet reached); grievance procedures (have been agreed upon); health and medical protection (have been agreed upon); maintenance of standards (not yet agreed upon); leaves and temporary duty (not yet agreed upon), and compensation and expenses (not yet agreed upon).

Sanford was deluged Thursday afternoon when an inch of rain fell in one hour flooding many streets and yards. Park Avenue and side streets from 21st to 23rd Streets experienced flooding. This photo was taken after the storm had passed at the corner of 21st and Park, where the water was up over the curbing and sidewalk.

He Gets All The Breaks

If you saw Roger Johnson knocking out a window on the third floor of the Seminole County Courthouse in Sanford, don't call the police - he was only doing his job.

Johnson works for the county's building maintenance division, and he used a six-foot, two-by-four to get rid of a cracked window outside Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler's

'We don't know what caused the window to crack. Probably it was just settling of the building," said Bob Ellis, the county's administrative services director. "It's going to cost us $800 to replace it." The courthouse didn't have any broken windows until about six months ago. Ellis said, but since then county officials have discovered four broken windows. Two have been replaced.

In addition, two other windows - one outside County Commissioner John Kimbrough's office and the other outside County Clerk Art Beckwith's office have small bullet holes. Ellis doesn't plan to replace those windows, he

The courthouse has an outer and inner set of windows. The broken ones are all outer ones. The double-window arrangement creates channels around the building through which air, cooled by the water in a pond surrounding the courthouse, moves upward cooling the inner windows. The setup augments the building's air conditioning system.

It's possible that construction of a new Sanford city hall across the street from the courthouse might have played a part in cracking the windows, according to Ellis.

"When they had compactors working on the new building, we could feel our whole building vibrating," said Ellis.
