Water contains unsafe elements

WASHINGTON — An Environmental Protection Agency study has recently shown that nearly 4 million Americans drink water that contains unsafe levels of nitrates, a naturally occurring chemical frequently found in pesticide residue. See Page 6A

Democrats send Bush a warning

WASHINGTON — Democratic leaders sent President Bush a warning that Congress will have to be consulted in detail if he elects to go to war against Iraq. While assured the U.S. military mission remains defensive, congressional leaders ruled out any immediate call for a special session of Congress to debate U.S. policy. See Page 7A

Meeting slated for tonight

SANFORD — The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce will hold its Business After Hours meeting tonight at Sanford Flower Shop. The event has been an annual one for chamber members, with Kit Thompson and Tim Donahoe of the Sanford Flower Shop inviting a number of area restaurants and caterers to join them in a presentation of holiday foods and decorating innovations. All members of the chamber are urged to attend and to bring prospective members as well. This November Business After Hours gathering will be from 5 to 7 p.m., at 209 E. Commercial Street, Sanford.

Board approves land purchase

PALATKA — More than 1,200 acres of land on the northwest shore of Lake Jesup will be purchased by the St. Johns River Water Management District from members of the Lorene Little family. The property will be renamed from the Little Ranch to the Cameron Ranch in honor of Seminole County pioneer Joe Cameron who, once owned much of the land near Lake Jesup north to the St. Johns River. District governing board members voted to approve the $1.1 million purchase Wednesday during their monthly meeting. The land is west of 1,700 acres already bought by the district this summer from the Futch family. This week's acquisition gives the district ownership of about five miles of lakefront land.

Exploding toilets

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Be careful about where you sit in the Sangamon County Building, where the toilets have been exploding lately. A water tank in the building's basement filled with air Tuesday and the excess pressure caused five toilets to be blown apart, sending the porcelain flying. Court reporter Jerry Wedeking was a witness. He flushed a toilet in a fourth-floor jury room and saw dollar-size pieces of porcelain fly around him.

Shuttle Atlantis poised for last classified launch tonight

By WILLIAM HARWOOD
UPI Science Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL — The shuttle Atlantis was readied for fueling and a sky-lighting nighttime liftoff at 6:46 p.m. tonight on a hush-hush mission to launch a spy satellite in the last fully classified shuttle flight planned by NASA and the Air Force.

Engineers rolled a giant gantry away from the $2 billion spaceplane Wednesday afternoon, exposing the black-and-white shuttle to view and setting the stage for the start of fuel loading Thursday morning.

Launch originally was scheduled for July, but the flight was put on hold after the discovery of a crippling hydrogen fuel leak. The problem was fixed and no leaks were expected during fueling Thursday.

If all goes well, Atlantis's five-man all-military crew planned to take off on the 37th shuttle flight, the 51th so far this year, at 6:46 p.m., according to sources who requested anonymity. See Shuttle, Page 3A

SANFORD — Nearly three dozen units will participate in Seminole High School's fifth annual Homecoming parade in downtown Sanford tomorrow afternoon.

According to Bobby Lundquist, assistant principal at Seminole who is coordinating the Homecoming activities, the school had a parade every year from its inception until the late 1960s when lack of interest in the tradition caused its cancellation until 1985.

"I guess the time was just right to start it up again," Lundquist said. "The reactions from the kids and the public have been real positive."

City reviews Stromberg growth plan

By NICK PFEPAUF
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — At tonight's meeting, the city commission will discuss four variances to the land development code requested by Siemens Stromberg-Carlson to allow limited expansion of its facilities on Rinehart Road.

The four changes requested by the firm include a waiver of a requirement for a concrete sidewalk, limitations on landscaping requirements, a reduction in recommended parking stall sizes and a change in the break requirements in the parking area.

While the city staff and the Planning and Zoning Board are recommending approval of all but one of the variances, they are also calling for two conditions to be applied. They are calling for fulfillment of a developer's agreement to install a traffic light on Rinehart Road at the south entrance to the plant, and a lowering of the ground sign at the entrance to a maximum height of 15 feet.

The variance, given thumbs down by P&Z and staff, involves the sidewalks. According to a staff See Stromberg, Page 5A

Volunteers gather for Trash Bash II

By NICK PFEPAUF
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Members from 16 local civic, fraternal, business and governmental organizations will fan out through the streets of the city this Saturday in a massive clean-up campaign, sponsored by the city Scenic Improvement Board.

In what is called the second annual Trash Bash, a large group of participants will meet Saturday at 8 a.m. at Sanford City Hall, 300 N. Park Ave., where they will receive garbage bags and trash picking sticks.

From that point, they will fan out to pre-assigned areas including portions of Seminole Boulevard, and Palmetto, French, Sanford, Elm, Oak, Persimmon, Park, Laurel and Myrtle avenues, where trash will be picked up and bagged.

According to SIB Chairman Ray Sage, "Whenever the bags are filled, they will be tied and left along side the streets. The Public Works Department will be responsible for picking them all up."

Polk says he won't resign sheriff post

By SUSAN LODEN

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — "I will not resign during this term," Sheriff John Polk vowed in an exclusive hospital interview yesterday.

Polk, 58, who is suffering from congestive heart disease and serious complications related to a second heart bypass surgery performed one year ago, met with a Sanford Herald reporter in his room at Florida Hospital Altamonte just before noon Wednesday.

"I intend to be a very active sheriff as I have been in the past," Polk said as a message to Seminole County residents. "I intend to be their sheriff and still believe this office belongs to the people, not to the office holder."

Polk's statement came amid a flurry of rumors that he plans to step down.

Today Dr. Benjamin Newman said he and Polk's other doctors are recommending the sheriff retire. "It's like giving up life itself," Newman said of Polk's dedication to his duty. "I'm not saying he'll do it. I'm recommending it after consultation with his cardiologist."

Reported encephalitis cases growing across 26 counties

United Press International

ORLANDO — Another seven people in Florida have been stricken with St. Louis encephalitis, bringing to 147 the number of confirmed or suspected cases in 26 central and south Florida counties.

Six people have died in the outbreak of the mosquito-borne disease.

Orange County, with 21 cases, has been hardest hit. A 40-year-old Orlando man and a 36-year-old woman who lives near Apopka were identified Tuesday as new cases.

A 39-year-old Clermont woman was identified as Lake County's fifth case. Other new patients were in Hillsborough, Marion, Polk and Palm Beach counties, officials said.

Since the outbreak was first recognized in August, Brevard County has reported five cases, Osceola County has reported three and Seminole County, two.

The last encephalitis outbreak in Florida was in 1977, when 110 people were afflicted and eight died. See Encephalitis, Page 5A

MIDWAY — Hoping to make local ditches and ponds bad places to raise mosquito young, Seminole County officials are testing a new mosquito growth inhibitor in Midway.

"If it works here, we'll try it elsewhere around the county," said county commissioner Jennifer Kelley. "I'd like to try it in the low areas along the (Lake Monroe) lakefront to see if we can cut down on some of the blind mosquitoes."

Kelley obtained several sample boxes of the mosquito growth inhibitor "Altosid" from its Texas manufacturer Zocon last week.

According to literature sent to county officials, Zocon claims the product, when placed in ditches, prevents the mosquito larvae from developing into adults. Before reaching adulthood and emerging from the surface of the water, they die.

Along with Arshad Ali, the "blind mosquito" expert at the Central Florida Research and Education Center in Sanford, Kelley tossed three of the Altosid cones into a ditch along Williams Avenue near the Midway Community Center last week to test the effectiveness of the product.

Last month, Seminole County public health officials discovered all seven test chickens at the county fire station in Midway showed signs of having been infected with encephalitis, an incurable brain disease that can be fatal to infants and the elderly. The disease is borne by

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Keys protection plan may be doomed

ST. PETERSBURG — A plan to protect the Florida Keys' coral reefs and sea grass beds could be doomed if environmentalists get their way, a top state official said.

Environmentalists want to delay discussion of the state blueprint for the Keys, and Department of Natural Resources chief Tom Gardner said the delay will give opponents of the management plan more time to consolidate their efforts.

DNR officials had sought to unveil the sweeping proposal at Thursday's meeting of the governor and Cabinet. The plan would designate the waters of Monroe County as the state's first marine reserve.

But the matter was delayed until Nov. 27 at the request of members of a committee studying boating impacts in the Keys. The panel asked for the time so it could prepare a presentation on the effects of propeller damage in the Keys' lush sea grass pastures.

Rosa Burnaman, the Keys representative for The Wilderness Society, says DNR and other agencies are ignoring the harm to sea grass beds by boat propellers.

Federal marine fisheries scientists have estimated that 5,000 to 10,000 acres of sea grass have been destroyed by boaters.

Two try to cash murder victim's check

GAINESVILLE — Two women tried cashing a check belonging to Christa Hoyt, one of the five college students stabbed to death by a serial killer in August.

But police said investigators do not believe there's any connection between the women and the killings.

The incident set off some excitement among members of a task force investigating the killings.

Gainesville Police Lt. Sadie Darnell said authorities were hopeful when the check first came in that it would help establish a long-sought-after lead to the killer.

But hopes were dashed after the woman and the friend who tried to cash the check were questioned.

Darnell said sworn complaints of forgery and uttering a forgery were filed against Cheree Denise Hunter, 25. Hunter moved into an apartment that Hoyt had lived in before moving to the southwest Gainesville duplex where her body was found.

Darnell said Hunter found the checks in her mailbox.

Wekiva trees to come down

PALATKA — The St. Johns Water Management District has given a Winter Park doctor permission to cut down trees along the Wekiva River.

The managers granted a permit for William Meek to build boardwalks from three of his lots through a wetland to dry land along the river.

It's the first time the water managers have gone against a staff recommendation not to build into the river's protection zone.

District staff asked the nine-member panel to deny the permit, saying it could harm water quality and wildlife. Environmentalists denounced the decision, saying the board prefers development over protection.

The Florida Audubon Society and Friends of the Wekiva will appeal the decision.

Meek's lawyer said landowners have a right to water access.

Wetherell denies conflict of interest

TALLAHASSEE — One of Florida's most powerful lawmakers has a made-to-order job that gives him a full-time salary and unlimited time off to work as a legislator.

Incoming House Speaker T.K. Wetherell works as a planner and spokesman for an association called the Independent Colleges and Universities of Florida.

According to a copy of his contract, he earns $85,000 a year, a $6,000 car and housing allowance, plus health and retirement benefits.

Some of the association's members receive substantial state contracts and subsidies.

Each of the 20 schools that belong to the organization pay $4,000 a year in dues. Wetherell is the only paid employee.

William Boyd, the Tallahassee lawyer-lobbyist who drafted the contract, said Wetherell probably would not have gotten the job if he weren't in line to take control of the House.

Wetherell said he sees no conflict of interest. He said his contract includes a clause prohibiting him from lobbying for the group.

Kissimmee to consider NC-17 ordinance

KISSIMMEE — The Kissimmee City Commission has decided by a slim margin that it may be OK to punish theaters that sell minors tickets to NC-17 movies.

City officials voted 3-to-2 Tuesday to consider an ordinance that would make it illegal to sell tickets to the adult-oriented movies to children under 17. The ordinance would be the first of its type in the nation since the voluntary rating took effect.

The ordinance will be reconsidered at another meeting next Tuesday.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Retailers glum as holiday nears

United Press International

MIAMI — Florida retailers are pessimistic about the upcoming holiday selling season because of the recession and poor consumer confidence, according to the results of a survey released Wednesday.

Although that is bad news for retailers, it may lead to good buys for consumers, said Craig Toll, a spokesman in charge of the Florida retail industry practice for Deloitte & Touche, an international consulting firm that conducted the sixth annual Retail Business Outlook Survey in conjunction with the Florida Retail Federation.

"Consumers who are in the buying mood this season will certainly benefit from the proliferation of special promotions and retailers' price-cutting strategies," he said.

Approximately 61 percent of the 1,600 retailers polled throughout Florida said they expected sales to decrease or remain the same as sales last Christmas. Another 18 percent said they were bracing for a decline of at least 7 percent.

"Florida retailers are very concerned about the weakened economy and the erosion of consumer confidence," said Toll. "It's quite unheard of for Florida retailers to experience a sales decrease during the holiday season. In the Florida market, they're accustomed to single-digit — even double-digit — increases."

About 77 percent of the respondents said they believed the U.S. economy was in a recession and 67 percent said they thought the overall U.S. economic health will worsen in the next year. Another 72 percent believed consumer spending this holiday season would decline from levels last year.

"This is particularly bad news for retailers because many of them typically generate 30 percent to 40 percent of their annual sales during the November-December holiday period," Toll said.

Florida retailers also indicated these sales reductions would have a significant negative impact on both their individual and industry profitability.

Three judges nominated to high court

By MICHAEL MOLINE
United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Florida's Judicial Nominating Commission released the names of three finalists for a vacancy on the state Supreme Court Wednesday, renewing debate over who should make the appointment.

There has been speculation that Gov. Bob Martinez might back down and let Gov.-elect Lawton Chiles fill the vacancy opened by the retirement of Justice Raymond Ehrlich, but a top aide to Martinez played down that possibility.

"I have no reason to believe he will do so (defer to Chiles)," said Peter Dunbar, general counsel to Martinez.

But Dunbar said Martinez has not ruled out that possibility. Former Gov. Bob Graham deferred to Martinez when two high court vacancies coincided with Martinez' inauguration.

The nominees were Judge Harry Lee Anstead of the 4th District Court of Appeal in West Palm Beach, Judge E. Earl Zehmer of the 1st District Court of Appeal in Tallahassee, and Circuit Judge Major Best Harding of Jacksonville.

None were considered closely linked to either campaign or political party, said aides to Martinez and Chiles.

Attorney for cult leader quits case

By JEFF HARDY
United Press International

MIAMI — Cult leader Yahweh Ben Yahweh and his attorney parted company Wednesday, just hours before Yahweh's first hearing on charges he ordered his disciples to commit killings and other terrorist acts.

Lawyer Ellis Rubin said he made the decision to drop out of the case after an extensive meeting with Yahweh Tuesday night at Metropolitan Correctional Center. Yahweh was arrested last week in New Orleans and brought to Miami Tuesday afternoon.

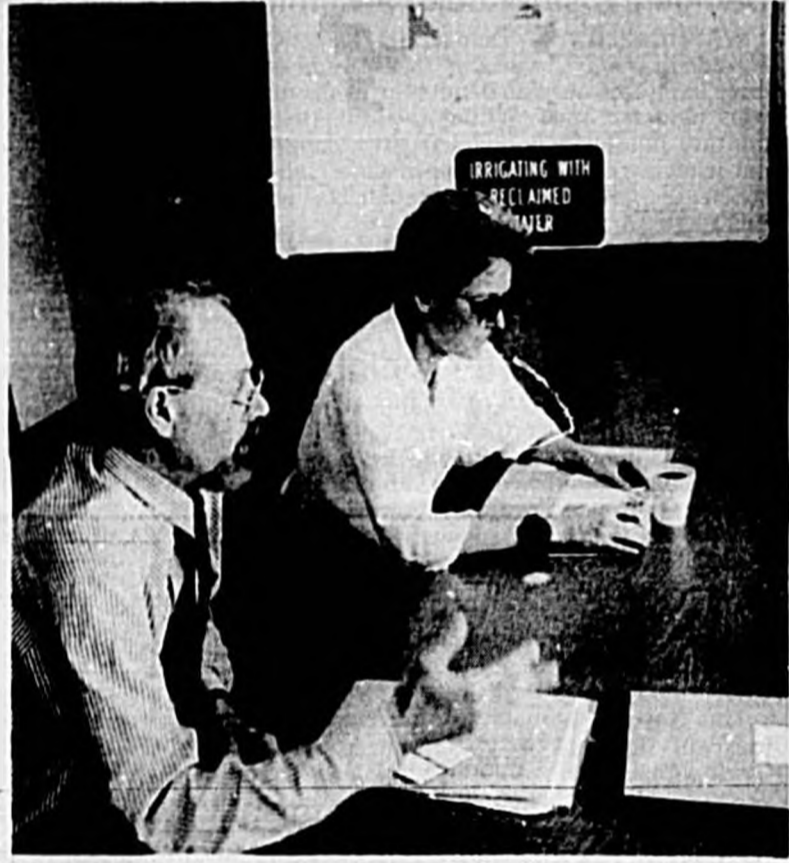

"Although we parted amicably, we were not able to agree to the terms of our continued representation. We hope he and the others can get a fair trial," Rubin said in a statement. He declined further comment.

International visitors

Sanford's city reclaimed wastewater program drew the attention of international visitors yesterday. German scientists Victor Mertsch (above, l to r) and Inge Bantz talked with Bill Simmons, city director of engineering and planning, at the new wastewater treatment facility off Seminole Boulevard. At right, the two scientists discussed the program, which recycles wastewater for irrigation, with city officials at city hall.

Eastern creditors argue for liquidation

By JONATHAN HURDLE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK — The judge presiding over bankruptcy proceedings for Eastern Airlines heard arguments Wednesday from unsecured creditors who said Eastern should be liquidated immediately and a company trustee who maintained the carrier could be self-sufficient by early next year.

Court-appointed bankruptcy trustee Martin R. Shugrue said the airline would be self-sufficient by February 1991 and that go money would have to be withdrawn from the company's escrow fund after a $10 million payment scheduled for January.

Shugrue appeared as a witness at a hearing on a motion by Eastern's unsecured creditors committee that the airline should be liquidated.

The motion, which was filed Tuesday, said Eastern had failed to meet financial projections since Shugrue took over in April.

The hearing also was called to consider Eastern's request that $30 million be withdrawn from the escrow fund for operating expenses.

Eastern lawyer Bruce Zitrinsky said Shugrue, with his long experience in the airline industry, should be allowed to run the company.

LOTTERY

TALLAHASSEE — The winning numbers Wednesday in the Florida Lottery Fantasy 5 game were 1, 12, 17, 28 and 39.

The daily number Wednesday, Nov. 14 in the Florida Lottery CASH 3 game was 478.

Orlingers trace history of home

By BOB PFEIFER
Herald staff writer

The Orlinger home at 910 Elm Ave. will be open for the December tour.

SANFORD — One of the stopping points in this year's two-day Sanford Historic Trust Homes Tour is 910 Elm Ave., the home of Monte and Sue Orlinger.

Although the home was listed in the Sanford Historic Survey publication as having been built in 1917, the physical appearance of the home indicates it was built in the 1920s.

"We've looked at the records in the courthouse," said Sue Orlinger, "and we found construction on the place started in 1926 and was finished in 1927."

She said it was apparently built on speculation by a man named McConnell, and sold to the first owner, L.B. McCullum, in 1927 for $1,100. She has so far been unable to determine other residents of the house through the years.

The historical survey identifies the building as the Tom Getzen house but the Orlingers have not been able to find a specific reference to any time period in which Getzen was involved.

Orlinger said, "It's a typical Florida bungalow, only 1,500 square feet in size." She added that the decor "is not as traditional on the interior as the other homes on the tour. We have gone with contemporary styling but accented it with antiques."

Among what could be original furnishings in the house are the old-style, push-button light switches and a claw foot bathtub. The ceilings throughout the two bedroom two bath house are all made of bead-board. The home actually had a third bedroom but that has been converted to a den.

The Orlingers bought the home two years ago and have been working on major renovations since, although some work had been previously done. Most of the work has consisted of moving or replacing walls that were torn out by previous owners, and correcting some areas suffering from poor workmanship in past years.

Admission will be by ticket only, available at the Sanford Cultural Arts Center, Fifth Street at Oak Avenue.

Cost for the tour, which consists of the Cultural Arts Center plus seven homes, is $10 per person. Advance tickets, at two for $15, may be obtained by writing to the Sanford Historic Trust, P.O. Box 538, Sanford, FL 32772-0538.

POLICE BRIEFS

Arrest made in burglary

SANFORD — At the county jail in Sanford Seminole County sheriff's deputies charged Lonnie Lee Berr, 31, of Palatka, with burglary and grand theft.

The arrest was made at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday in connection with the theft of a television in March from a house at 880 U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood. Fingerprints and witnesses reportedly linked Berr to the crime scene.

Seminole County DUI arrests

SANFORD — The following person faces a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol (DUI) in Seminole County:

Michael Andrew Fisher, 24, 937 Penfield Cove, Sanford, was arrested at 11:30 p.m. Tuesday on Orlando Drive, Sanford, after driving with headlights turned off. He was also charged with driving with a suspended license and having no vehicle insurance.

Suspect arrested in hotel theft

SANFORD — Sanford police report the swift arrest of a man accused of robbing at gunpoint a guest at the Holiday Inn on Palmetto Avenue at about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Police said they caught Graig Eric Glenn, 31, of East Seventh Street, Sanford, and an accused co-defendant boy on Seminole Boulevard. The pistol Glenn allegedly pointed at the stomach of Andrew DeMoleyns, outside DeMoleyns' Inn room, was recovered from a nearby garbage can, police said. The victim reportedly identified the suspects. Glenn is charged with armed robbery and use of a firearm in a felony.

Woman reports battery

SANFORD — Firefighters treated Daisy B. White for facial injuries, which she alleged were inflicted by her boyfriend during a fight Wednesday.

That led to a charge of battery against Daniel Jerome Livingston, 39, 2411 Spies Ave., Sanford. Livingston was arrested at home at 11:31 p.m. Wednesday, police said.

County may be forced into garbage business

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Seminole County may enter the garbage business if a buyer isn't found for a garbage company serving 500 Markham Woods Road residents.

In a move that could put Sanford garbage hauler E.T. Refuse out of business, commissioners voted Tuesday to notify E.T. if it failed to comply with county insurance and bonding requirements by Nov. 26. It would be declared in default and its county franchise would be cancelled Dec. 1.

Commissioners directed county officials that if E.T. defaults to negotiate with another company to take over the franchise area, which includes the Mandarin subdivision west of Interstate 4 and the Woodlands and Myrtle Lake Hills east of I-4 and south of Lake Mary.

But commissioners also gave their cautious O.K. to authorize county officials to negotiate with Thorne to purchase his garbage truck and use the area as a test to determine actual garbage collection costs. Residents have complained the maximum $13.80 per month garbage and recycling fee allowed by the county is too high.

While the idea for a county test was favored by all commissioners, Fred Streetman and Pat Warren expressed concerns. Streetman said he was troubled by the appearance of the county, acting as a regulator, forcing E.T. out of business then, as a customer, negotiating to buy the resulting low-value business.

"It's a sticky wicket," Streetman said.

Warren argued that if the county should pursue a franchise take-over, E.T. shouldn't be paid anything.

"If a business fails, it fails and we can't go out and pay him for it," Warren said. "If he has any tangible assets, that's one thing. But I can't see paying him for intangible assets."

Gary Cinder county environmental services director, said the county would have to buy a garbage truck because it has none now. The county assigns franchises to private companies to collect garbage and does not pick up refuse itself.

Cinder said E.T. owner Ernest Thorne told him he is trying to sell the company. Cinder said E.T. has been picking up garbage in the area since it was assigned to the company Oct. 1, but did not begin recycling pick-ups Nov. 1 because it did not buy a recycling truck.

"Since he's trying to sell the company, I guess he decided not to go to that expense," Cinder said.

Shuttle

NASA officials, however, operating under a Pentagon-imposed cloak of secrecy, would only say liftoff was scheduled between 6:30 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. Air Force meteorologists predicted a 60 percent chance of favorable weather at launch time Thursday.

Atlantis's crew — commander Richard Covey, 44, co-pilot Frank Culbertson, 41, Charles Gemar, 35, Carl Meade, 39, and Robert Springer, 48 — planned to strap in aboard the fueled shuttle around 4 p.m. to await launch.

The goal of the 37th shuttle mission is classified, but the astronauts reportedly plan to deploy an advanced photo-reconnaissance satellite that could be used to monitor military activities in the Persian Gulf region.

NASA originally planned to launch Atlantis in mid-July, but the shuttle was grounded after a fueling test June 29 when sensors detected hydrogen gas leaking around a massive fuel line fitting.

The shuttle Columbia was grounded three times in May and September by at least two similar leaks, but both ships ultimately were repaired and cleared for flight. NASA hopes to launch Columbia on a long-delayed astronomy mission in early December if all goes well with Atlantis's flight.

The Homecoming game, pitting the Seminoles against the Lake Mary Rams, will be Saturday at 10 a.m. at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium.

For the parade, Lundquist said, First Street will be blocked beginning at about 4:45 p.m. to allow the parade to go by.

"We've got kind of a captive audience," Lundquist joked. "The merchants are stuck downtown because they can't get out at 5."

In addition to floats created by the various clubs and organizations at the school, bands and school representatives from Pine Crest Elementary School, 405 donated $325 in cash and prizes which will be awarded to the top three floats as judged by representatives of both the school and the community. The winners will be announced before the football game Saturday morning.

Lundquist said Mayor Bettye Smith and several commission members have also agreed to join the celebration.

At halftime of the football game, the Homecoming Queen will be crowned by Yolanda Baker, who was the 1989 Homecoming Queen. Baker is a student at the University of Illinois.

Seminole High does not have a Homecoming King.

"We've always had the tradition of the queen only," Lundquist explained. "That's how we've always done it."

The Homecoming Dance will be Saturday from 8 p.m. to midnight in the school's cafeteria.

Grand smog-maker

A recent report from the National Academy of Sciences affirms what many experts have long assumed and two previous national studies have already declared: that the coal-fired, 2,250-megawatt power plant that's 16 miles from Grand Canyon National Park is responsible for a large part of the park's smog problems.

The owners of the Navajo Generating Station (which include the city of Los Angeles, the federal Bureau of Reclamation and utility companies in Arizona and Nevada) have been fighting for eight years to avoid having to face up to that problem. But now that the evidence can no longer be denied, they need to come up with a real plan to clear the air over this national landmark.

Prior studies by the National Park Service and the Environmental Protection Agency concluded that the plant was responsible for 40 percent to 70 percent of the haze over the park. The national academy's findings are more precise. Depending on weather conditions, the new report concludes the effects of sulfur dioxide emissions from Navajo may be negligible in the summer months; but during the winter, the plant is often entirely to blame for the gray muck that settles so thickly into the canyon that it's impossible to see from one side to the other.

Nobody suggests that smog in the canyon poses a threat to public health. But it is spoiling the enjoyment of the park. Amendments to the Clean Air Act in 1977 gave the park service the authority to combat this kind of pollution. Strengthening those provisions was reportedly the next item on the agenda when the House-Senate conference committee on the new clean-air bill decided to end its negotiations and bring the legislation up for a vote. But even without any changes in existing law, the park service has all the power it needs to force Navajo's owners to clean up their act.

The owners raise some legitimate questions about the best way of reducing the plant's emissions. Installing industrial scrubbers in the plant's three 775-foot smoke stacks, they say, would cost their customers in the Southwest $1.78 billion or more. But if the academy's research results are correct, Los Angeles officials say, it might be simpler and a lot cheaper for the plant to reduce production or shut down altogether on those days when the park might be affected.

Coming up with a new operating schedule will require a lot of cooperation on all sides. But in light of the academy's report, the question for the future isn't whether to clamp down on Navajo's air pollution but how.

Saddam: Bush holds strong cards

If Saddam Hussein listens to the emerging public dialogue in America, he might come to believe two wrong ideas that are dangerous to him, and, consequently, to us as well.

They are: 1) President Bush is in deep political trouble and, 2) public support for American assertiveness in the Gulf is unsteady. Public opinion polls taken at election time do not back up these notions. Several surveys show that the president's approval rating is about 80 percent, which is quite high.

The ABC News Election Day survey showed that in "trial heats," Bush beats Mario Cuomo by 19 percent, Lloyd Bentsen by 17 percent, Albert Gore by 23 percent, Edward Kennedy by 13 percent, Bill Bradley by 16 percent and Jesse Jackson by 37 percent. The ideological terrain is stable. A plurality of Americans consider themselves moderate (41 percent), with conservatives coming in second (32 percent). Liberals are in third place (25 percent). That's good topography for a non-liberal, moderate-conservative president.

Bush's 1992 hole card is California. Because of the so-called "presidential lock," Democrats cannot win the presidency without California. In California, moderate Republican Pete Wilson modestly beat moderate Democrat Diane Feina-stein. The Field California Poll indicates that even a moderate Democrat may be too liberal for most Californians.

Question: Will Democrats nominate someone more conservative than Feinstein 1992, enabling them to finally carry California? Answer: Unlikely. Verdict: California, and America, leans Republican (absent national economic failure). In 1990, the Da hit the R's with rich-poor "fairness," potential recession, off-year out-party history, anti-incumbency and abortion. As a kicker, George Bush acted like a big ally for a while. Still, a Republican goal-line stand held the Bush's 1992 hole card is California.

Democrats to little more than a standoff.

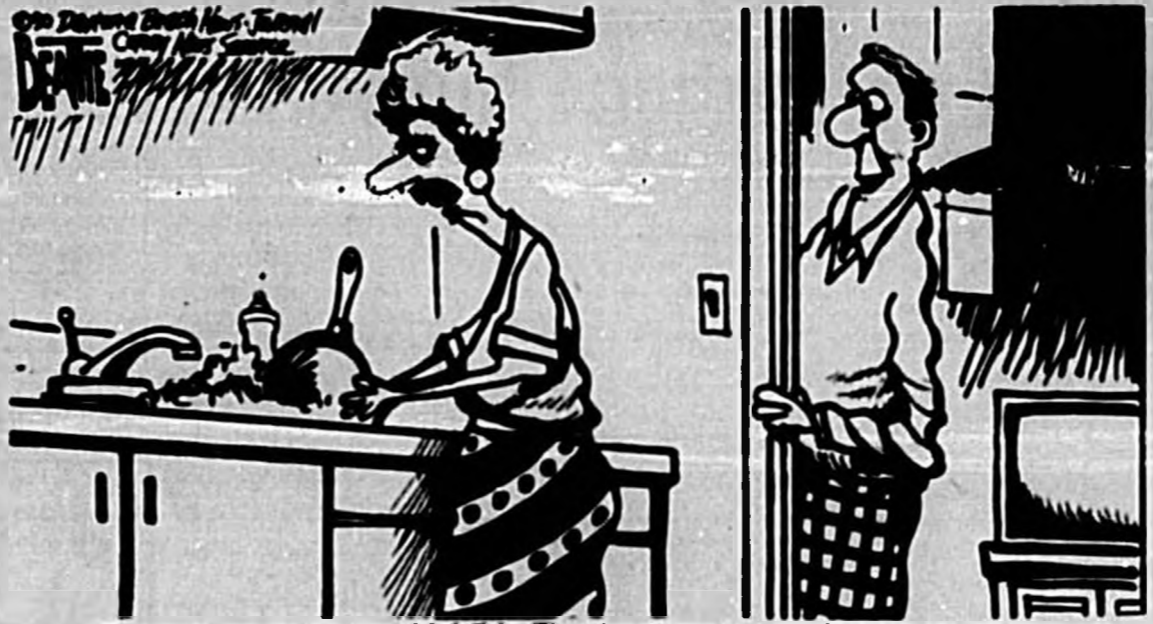

Moreover, Republicans held without an "L word" issue to capitalize on Democratic liberalism. By 1992, they will likely have sharpened such a lance. It may be the Q-word, for quotas, as it becomes apparent that the quota issue is based on realism not racism.

So Saddam should know that a Bush-will-crumble scenario is not in the cards. If he waits for that, it could trigger the use of force. That could cost some American lives — and demolish Iraq. Saddam should also think about Vietnam. It's said that because Americans supported Vietnam in the beginning, but then bugged out, we can expect a replay in the Gulf.

Fact: After seven tortured years of combat in Vietnam, with 58,000 dead, the public supported the policy of the moderate-conservative Republican President (Nixon), and gave him a massive mandate over a vigorous anti-war candidate (McGovern). Unlike Vietnam, it is probable that Iraq can be broken quickly, with relatively few casualties. That would come about via an embargo combined with air and naval strikes, using ground forces only to foil a suicidal land attack.

Looking at Bush's chances in 1992

WASHINGTON — Analysts delivering the election post-mortems this week are puzzling about why the two old standby issues of our time, peace and prosperity, did not play a role in this election. Prosperity is slipping through our fingers and peace is about to be sacrificed to preserve the price of regular unleaded. But voters did not seem to weigh those issues heavily when they voted.

That may be because neither issue is yet ripe. At this rate though, they will progress beyond ripe to rotten by 1992.

Then the post-mortems on the 1990 election will become the pre-mortems for George Bush. Under Bush's stewardship, his party has slipped further into the minority in Congress and critical redistricting decisions have been handed to more Democratic governors. With Bush's own popularity slipping, it is no wonder that a few GOP candidates responded to his offer to campaign for them by saying, "Thanks, but no thanks."

Blame some of Bush's poor performance on bad tutors. He made a pre-election, macho, verbal assault on Saddam Hussein, who is not a Democrat and who was not on any ballot on Nov. 6. Bush then threw his political weight behind the American hostages in Iraq and Kuwait, but they weren't running for anything either.

When the president finally got around to campaigning for his fellow Republicans on domestic issues, what could he say? "Sorry about those taxes?" "Sorry about that recession?" "Are you better off now than you were two years ago?"

The voters were equally at a loss to make sense out of this election. Should they have voted out the rascals who raised their taxes, or the rascals who profited from the savings and loan debacle or the rascals who wait hand and foot on special interests? In the end, the voters proved once again that all politics are local. They took out their frustrations on the rascals at home — the incumbent governors.

That's bad news for Bush. Not only were many of those rascals Republicans, but the much advertised purge of Congress did not materialize. Now the president must figure out whether the urge to purge passed harmlessly, or whether it is still in its infancy and will peak in 1992 when Bush is the rascal at the top of the ballot and Dan Quayle is his right-hand man.

By 1992, Bush had better find a constituency because he doesn't have one now. Say what you will about Ronald Reagan, he had an army of "Reaganites" — people who would fall on their swords rather than desert him. The term "Bushite" is not even in the American political vocabulary, and nobody can accuse Bush of being coated with Teflon.

Bush's deficit reduction strategy was nearly sabotaged by an outlaw from his own party, Rep. Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., who barely won re-election in his own district. In Bush's home state of Texas, the voters elected a Democrat as their governor, Ann Richards, whose biggest claim to fame is her acerbic putdown of Bush — born with a "silver foot in his mouth." Ronald Reagan surrounded himself with people who believed in him. Bush has surrounded himself with people who work for him and believe in their careers. And the voters don't know what to believe. Bush said he would be the environmental president and the education president, but he has become neither. He said he would not raise taxes, but he did. He said he would win the war on drugs, but his general in that war has retired. He ushered in the most promising era of world peace since the end of World War II and then sent a quarter of a million U.S. troops to the Persian Gulf.

ISSUES THAT HIT HOME

Tribute to our forgotten war

By LEON DANIEL
UPI Chief Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The planned Korean War memorial may help Americans remember their "forgotten war."

Statues of soldiers poised for battle and a mural defining the history of the war are to be established in Ash Woods southeast of the Lincoln Memorial.

America's quiet veterans, the ones who fought in Korea, have listened in bemusement over the years to Vietnam veterans complain that they are under-cherished.

Korea veterans were among the Americans who contributed generously to the Vietnam War memorial which visitors to the nation's capital find deeply moving.

The three-year Korean War cost the nation 54,248 lives — an American death rate more than triple that of Vietnam.

If returning Vietnam veterans were sometimes heckled, survivors of the 1950-53 war on the Korean peninsula came home to a nation that simply ignored them.

America had become weary of war, understandably, having fought two of them only five years apart.

Unlike the jubilation at the end of World War II, Korea vets quietly returned to school or to jobs. Putting their war behind them, they got married, raised families and got on with their lives.

The three-year Korean War cost the nation 54,248 lives — an American death rate more than triple that of Vietnam.

As children of the Great Depression, the Korea vets were not much given to complaining. As adults, many of them were shocked by the turmoil of the 1960s, especially the draft card burnings and anti-war demonstrations.

Most of them never said so, but Korea vets had trouble understanding why many younger veterans constantly courted recognition years after they had returned from Vietnam.

America's mission in both Korea and Vietnam — as it is currently in the Persian Gulf region — was to insure that aggression not succeed.

By expelling the invading communists from the southern part of the peninsula, the Korean War assured the survival of a free South Korea, which went on to become an economic power and the proud host to the 1988 Olympics.

There is some squabbling over the design for the Korean War memorial.

Some fear the latest version, approved by the National Capital Memorial Commission at a public hearing, "glorifies war." But its backers contend it would properly memorialize "a forgotten victory."

The revised design still must be approved by the U.S. Fine Arts Commission and the National Capital Planning Commission.

This Veterans Day, as America prepares for war in the Middle East, is an appropriate time to think about how to memorialize those who surely will die when the fighting starts.

In the past, Americans waited until their wars were over before designing memorials to their dead.

This time, before the United States goes to war with Iraq, architects should start designing a memorial to those who will die horribly in a desert half a world away.

So, well before the killing and maiming starts, the designers should start sketching.

With enough time, perhaps they can memorialize the dead without "glamorizing" the arrival of body bags containing the mangled corpses of America's boys and girls.

Arched All takes a sample from a ditch as Jennifer Kelley watches.

Health officials say the risk of being bitten by an infected mosquito will have waned with the cooler weather. However, the cooler temperatures have not killed off the Culex nigripalpus mosquitoes that transmit the virus, only stalled their breeding cycles, according to John Mulrennan, chief entomologist for the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services.

When temperatures rise above 60 degrees at night and 80 degrees in the day, mosquitoes that have been hibernating in bushes and grass will become active again.

"I think the danger's less than it was, but if there are older mosquitoes hanging around, then there's still the potential" for infection, Mulrennan said.

A frost wouldn't kill off the mosquitoes, but it would force them into long term hibernation.

The Crooms School of Choice is an alternative learning environment for about 220 teens who have had severe disciplinary problems at their own school, who are disinterested and at danger of dropping out of school, or who are pregnant or have infants.

Founded four years ago in the building that was once the Crooms Academy, Seminole County's segregated black high school, Crooms caters to the needs of middle school age students (sixth, seventh and eighth graders) and teenage mothers of all grade levels.

"She (Kirby) has turned these kids around," Weissman said.

The Achievement in Education award is given by the national Optimists association through nominations from local clubs.

"Barbara has done so much for this community and has gone virtually unrecognized for it,"

Weissman said.

Weissman and the Optimist Club of Semoran "adopted" Crooms School of Choice earlier this year. They are working in partnership with the school to help provide fundraising programs and incentives for the students enrolled there.

Last weekend the Optimists sponsored a barbecue and fair at the school which raised nearly $700 that will be used by Kirby and her staff to make improvements to the school.

Interior secretary's son charged with rape

By PAUL WALSH
United Press International

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — The son of Interior Secretary Manuel Lujan Jr. was arrested Wednesday on charges of raping a woman who awoke after he allegedly broke into her suburban Washington home, police said.

Robert Jeffrey Lujan, 28, was in custody in Alexandria City Jail late Wednesday and charged with rape, said Robert Mains, a communications supervisor with the Alexandria Police Department. He was scheduled for arraignment Thursday.

The rape allegedly occurred early Sunday when the unidentified victim awoke to find an intruder in her apartment, which is located in the same high-rise luxury condominium where Lujan lives with his parents, Mains said.

"Jeff indicated to Secretary Lujan and his wife (Jean) that whatever did occur was consensual," said Steven Goldstein, the secretary's spokesman. "They feel the anguish any parent would under similar circumstances."

Goldstein said the elder Lujan would not use his position in the government to interfere with due process.

Washington's WUSA-TV reported that Secretary Lujan said his son and the woman had been out drinking.

The younger Lujan was arrested in New Mexico and convicted in 1983 and served a brief sentence at a federal facility in Pennsylvania for "selling a small amount" of cocaine, Goldstein said.

Police tracked down Jeff Lujan, who works as an independent house painter, by handing out composite sketches in the neighborhood and went to the family apartment shortly after 6 p.m. Wednesday. He was arrested a short time later.

Manuel Lujan was elected to represent New Mexico's 1st congressional district in 1968 and held that seat through January 1989. The Republican's district included Albuquerque, the state's largest city.

The Lujans have three other grown children.

Polk

who the governor would appoint to replace Polk if he leaves office before completing this term. If Polk, a Republican, leaves his post before Dec. 31, outgoing Republican Gov. Bob Martinez could make the appointment. After Jan. 1, the appointment, if one became necessary, would be made by Democratic governor-elect Lawton Chiles.

A spokesman for Martinez this morning said as of yesterday afternoon no letter of resignation had been received from Polk, although there has been communication between the sheriff and governor's offices in recent days.

During the Herald interview, Lt. Gov. Bobby Brantley and his wife Patti dropped by for a visit with Polk. Polk and Brantley reminisced about frequent visits Polk once made to Tallahassee to promote law enforcement causes statewide. They recalled a time when Brantley went along with Polk on a stakeout in Seminole County and the pursued criminal almost ran over the sheriff.

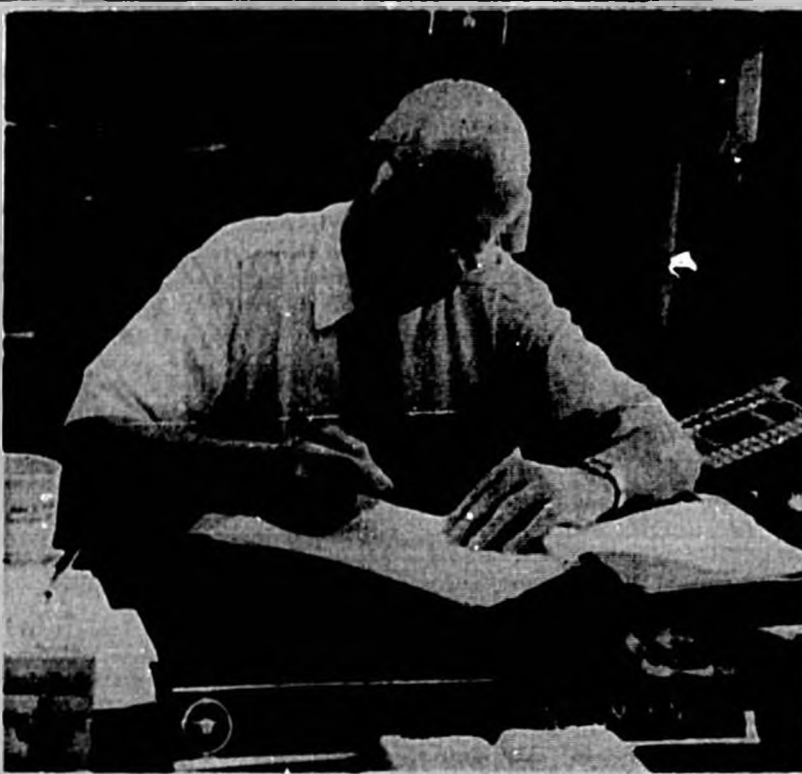

After the Brantleys left Polk's hospital room, Polk again vowed his resolve. "My health permitting, I will not resign during this term."

Polk, 58, who has been sheriff 22 years, is completing the second year of his sixth four-year term.

In the past year he has been hospitalized several times because of his heart condition. This latest hospitalization came Nov. 7, to stabilize his shortness of breath. Damage to his lungs from his heart surgery and fluid build-up in the chest, which has to be drained, has ruled Polk out for a needed heart transplant, Newman said.

Polk, who underwent minor surgery Wednesday afternoon to implant a device to ease administration of medications and other treatments, said he hopes to return to his Sanford home within a few days.

Polk said he will have to return to the hospital occasionally because of fluid build-up. He intends, he said, to continue to carry out his duty, operating from a home base, with visits to his office.

Newman said Polk's situation and strength varies from day to day.

Polk said he is pleased with the administrative support he is receiving from Maj. Donald Ealinger. Ealinger will become Polk's undersheriff after the official retirement of Undersheriff Duane Harrell Dec. 31, after 22 years as Polk's chief deputy.

Polk said he is in constant contact with Ealinger. "He's a worker. If he sees something needs to be done, he does it," Polk said of Ealinger. Ealinger, 33, a deputy 12 years, was chief of the City County Investigative Bureau for three years before Polk appointed him as one of his key aides.

Polk said Harrell must be on vacation, because he hasn't seen or heard from him during this latest hospitalization.

Polk appeared frail, but calm, with inner strength and mental alertness, as he sat in his hospital room and talked business.

Reflecting on his tenure, he said, "We've come a long way, but that being with the help of the employees, I'm sorry I couldn't get out and really explain the one-cent tax." Polk said of a proposal voters rejected Nov. 6.

Polk said the county will now have to pay for jail expansion and a new sheriff's administration building in another way, probably through a permanent property tax. That, he said, with bond interest, will double the estimated $15 million combined cost of those facilities.

Polk said the tax, collected at the rate of one-cent per dollar for one year on purchases up to $5,000, would have paid in advance for his proposed projects, as well as for other major police needs totalling $24 million. With the local sales tax, the burden would not have fallen only on property owners, but would have been shared by all shoppers in the county, he said.

report the variance has not been granted for any other site along Rinehart Road, and therefore they are urging the commission to deny the request for an exemption. The concrete sidewalk would be five feet wide, and run the length of the property along the west side of the road. The final decision, however, is still up to the commission.

At the present time, Stromberg-Carlson is in the process of merging with Siemens Communications System of Boca Raton.

While the merger is still in the process of being completed, the name change has already been established. As a result, Siemens Stromberg-Carlson will become the third largest public network supplier in the nation. With over 2,000 employees, it is already the largest industrial employer in Seminole County.

The requests for variances in the parking stall sizes and break requirements were designed to provide more space on the property. Siemens Stromberg-Carlson will be adding 20,000 square feet of modular office space to be utilized during interior alterations and modernization of the existing plant.

At present, only 54 managerial level personnel, to be relocated from the Siemens Long Island facility will be added in Lake Mary, but there is a possibility of a future increase of additional personnel.

The site plan review will be considered during tonight's regular meeting of the Lake Mary City Commission, beginning at 7 p.m., at City Hall, 100 W. Lake Mary Blvd.

Iraq spurs Congress' warning

President says troops' role remains defense

United Press International

WASHINGTON — While assuring the U.S. military mission remains defensive, Democratic leaders sent President Bush a warning that Congress will have to be consulted in detail if he elects to go to war against Iraq.

Invited to the White House in the midst of unease over a major addition of U.S. forces to the region, congressional leaders ruled out any immediate call for a special session of Congress to debate U.S. policy in the Persian Gulf.

After meeting with Bush Wednesday, the leaders gave him a conditional yellow light to pursue his buildup. But in spurning Republican suggestions that Bush seek a clear congressional mandate for future action, Democrats also indicated the support he has enjoyed to date could be shaken by a decision to forcibly expel Iraq from Kuwait.

Some suggested that Bush, who plans to pay a Thanksgiving Day visit U.S. troops in Saudi Arabia, may address the American people after his return in a further bid to make clear U.S. interests and objectives in the gulf.

Senate Democratic leader George Mitchell of Maine said there also was "extensive discussion" of additional moves through the United Nations, where the United States may seek a resolution authorizing the use of force against Iraq.

"The policy remains at the moment the use of force there for defensive purposes and to enforce the embargo authorized by the United Nations," said House Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash., "and that, of course, has very, very strong support — bipartisan support — of the Congress."

But House Democratic leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., said Democrats told Bush he "continues to have congressional support for a policy of patient strength" that relies on pressure short of "offensive military actions."

In a meeting that ran almost twice its scheduled hour-long duration, Bush sought to assuage concern triggered by the news last Thursday that as many as 200,000 additional troops will join the U.S. deployment in the gulf region.

Secretary of State James Baker and Defense Secretary Richard Cheney went to Capitol Hill to brief lawmakers as part of the administration effort to shore up support for its gulf policy.

Assurances about short-term intentions did little, however, to ease doubts about the eventual outcome of the showdown in the gulf, as Bush continued to hold out the possibility of military action to drive Iraq from Kuwait.

At a subsequent news conference, Baker stressed the importance of laying "an appropriate political and military foundation" for the use of force, but said that did not mean military action was "an option that has been decided."

As has been the case from the start, the administration refused to commit to circumstances under which Bush would ask Congress to authorize offensive action against Iraq, short of a formal declaration of war.

Baker noted that even the 1973 War Powers Resolution, considered unconstitutional by every president since Richard Nixon, permits the dispatch of U.S. troops into combat for as long as 90 days without congressional approval.

"There are many, many instances indeed where there could be actions taken against American citizens or against American interests that would call for a very prompt and very substantial response," he said.

After Baker's briefing Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., emerged to say he was "increasingly concerned that President Bush is preparing to take this country unilaterally into war in the Persian Gulf, without the approval of Congress and without the support of the American people."

Kennedy, asked if a declaration of war would pass in Congress, replied: "Not after the hearings and not after a week's debate. There's not the slightest question in my mind. It would not and I don't believe it's justified under the circumstances."

In what is believed to be an unprecedented step, 33 Democratic House members led by Rep. Ronald Dellums, D-Calif., say they will seek a federal court order to prevent the White House from taking offensive military action without consulting Congress first.

Headline announces challenge

LONDON — Former Defense Secretary Michael Heseltine said he will challenge Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher for the leadership of the Conservative Party, bringing to a head the political infighting that has caused the party's deepest division in 15 years.

Heseltine's bid Wednesday to move into Downing Street had been widely expected amid an escalating public split within the government over Thatcher's policy on Europe, which former Deputy Prime Minister Sir Geoffrey Howe called a "nightmare vision."

Heseltine, 57, said in a television interview that more than 100 members of the Conservative Party had urged him to challenge Thatcher for the vote to be held next Tuesday.

"I have a better chance now than Mrs. Thatcher of leading the Conservative Party into a fourth electoral victory and avoiding the ultimate calamity of a Labor government," he said.

Six Americans killed in airline crash

ZURICH, Switzerland — Italy sent teams of aviation experts and police to Switzerland Thursday to help authorities find what caused an Alitalia DC-9 to crash near Zurich, killing all 40 passengers and six crew members aboard.

According to Alitalia, the Italian state airline, the passengers included six Italians, six Americans, two Japanese officials of the OKI electric company and the remainder were apparently all Swiss.

U.S., Soviets formally bury cold war hatchet

By Jim Anderson
United Press International

WASHINGTON — In a Paris summit that will be one of the largest gatherings of world leaders in history, President Bush and Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev will sign three agreements designed to officially end the Cold War.

The Nov. 19-21 Paris summit of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe will be a personal triumph for the two superpower leaders, but it will also be a satisfying moment for CSCE countries, who started the Cold War thaw with the Helsinki Agreement 15 years ago.

That treaty, addressing border issues in Europe and insisting on the respect for human rights was the breakthrough that led to the collapse of communism, which was symbolized by the tearing down of the Berlin Wall.

The centerpiece of the Paris summit will be the signing of three documents:

—A Conventional Forces in Europe treaty, sharply reducing the numbers of tanks, troops, artillery and aircraft in Central Europe. The treaty, to be signed by members of NATO and the Warsaw Pact, will cut most sharply into the Warsaw Pact forces, since they were most numerous to begin with and because the eastern alliance is in a state of collapse.

Bush made U.S. participation in the Paris summit contingent on the final agreement on the CFE treaty. After some final problems were resolved last month, the treaty is now being completed in Vienna.

—A non-aggression pact, in which the 22 nations belonging to NATO and the Warsaw Pact, pledge "never to be the first to use force" against the other alliance or countries within the alliance.

According to U.S. officials, the agreement is mostly important to Eastern European countries, such as Hungary and Romania. That is because they have more to fear from each other from nationality disputes than they do from the western military alliance.

—A document charting the future of CSCE, setting up a small secretariat in Prague and establishing a Conflict Prevention Center in Vienna, sort of a multinational hot line, in which the 34 member states will exchange information.

Today's The Day for you to try quitting smoking

From staff and wire reports

NEW YORK — A variety of events were planned around the country for the American Cancer Society's 14th annual celebrity-studded Great American Smokeout to encourage smokers to abstain for at least 24 hours.

In Seminole County, while no organized activities are planned, the Sanford/Lake Mary unit of the American Red Cross has many items available, free, at their office located upstairs in the Sun Bank building, 200 W. First Street in downtown Sanford.

In addition to helpful how-to-top literature for both smokers and those who are around smokers, the local office has a variety of posters and lapel pins.

Maggie Elliott, the Great American Smokeout spokesperson for this area said some of the pins available include those that say "Kiss me, I don't smoke," "I'm a star, I quit smoking," and "Non-smoker in progress."

Elliott said, "We also have free endless matches for people who want to carry them but want to quit lighting up." The smokeout officially began midnight.

On Wednesday in New York Upper L.L. Cool J playfully sneezed out a mock six-foot pack of cigarettes, and wrestler Tito Santana helped strangle a similar pack in a "lug of war."

Even New York Mayor David Dinkins, a reformed heavy smoker, got into the act, describing how he quit 28 years ago after reading about a link between butts and bronchitis.

"I have not, I am pleased to report, smoked since," he bragged, after being presented a certificate of appreciation for the city's anti-smoking efforts, namely banning cigarette ads on city owned billboards and subways and taxis.

Cancer Society spokesman David Lehman said a Gallup organization survey showed 17.9 million smokers participated last year, and about 5.2 million stayed off the entire day.

Actress Carol Channing said she was smoking three packs a day when she quit eight years ago.

"I couldn't get in the bathtub without a cigarette and an ashtray," she said. "I remember how people who smoke smelled when I kissed them. Like an old sewer."

She pooh-poohed weight gain after quitting, even though she put on 12 pounds.

"It came right off," she said. "My emotions came alive," she added, describing nicotine as "a suppressant for everything."

Bush to sign clean air law

United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Bush, fulfilling a campaign pledge to clear America's polluted skies, signs into law today a historic clean air bill that reaches virtually every major industry in requiring deep and costly cuts in emissions causing smog, acid rain, toxic air pollutants and ozone depletion.

The bill largely follows the terms of the clean air plan Bush sent to Capitol Hill last June — an initiative cited by environmentalists and industry alike as the key factor in breaking the 13-year stalemate in Congress over strengthening and updating the 1977 Clean Air Act.

However, environmental groups criticized Bush for weakening his own proposal during congressional deliberations, particularly in regard to reducing automobile pollution, the largest single cause of smog.

Seminole High School Shadow Day

In celebration of American Education Week, some of the teachers, administrators and students at Seminole High School traded places yesterday to get a better understanding of one another's roles. At left, senior Shannon Latimer, who has been president of her class all four years in high school, took a shot at principal Wayne Epps' job. Above, the students, teachers and administrators who took part in the event gathered in the school's courtyard.

SHA may temporarily close authority office

By NICK PFEIPAUF
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Sanford Housing Authority will meet tonight to discuss a possible shut-down of its office for a week for revision of policies, and a question regarding reclamation of abandoned property.

Judy A. Weekley, interim executive director, is submitting a memo to the board of commissioners, requesting that the office be shut down for a week's time on a once-a-month basis, to allow sufficient time in which to completely update all policies and procedures of the authority. She said the one week per month closing would give administrative personnel an uninterrupted opportunity to discuss policies and come up with recommendations to the board.

Weekley reported that maintenance operations would continue on a normal basis during any shut-down period to avoid interruption of service to residents.

The Notice of Right to Reclaim Abandoned Property resolution to be discussed at tonight's meeting was tabled at the meeting held in September, pending further research by the authority's legal advisor. The reworking of the resolution, which has now been completed, expands the scope of the people who will benefit from it.

Other items on the agenda include approval of three new positions as grounds keepers, a discussion on Sanford police efforts to resolve the problem of loitering in the authority's areas, and various general items.

All persons are invited to attend the meeting, to be held tonight at Redding Gardens Community Building, 400 Locust Ave., Sanford, at 7 p.m.

Fatalities by motorcycle accidents cut by helmets

From staff, wire reports

BOSTON — States including Florida, with laws requiring all motorcycle riders to use helmets have far fewer deaths from head injuries suffered in crashes than those that do not, researchers said.

An analysis of motorcyclists' deaths in the United States from 1979 to 1986 found the death rate associated with head injuries was more than twice as high in states without helmet laws. Dr. Daniel Sosin of the federal Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta said Tuesday.

Moreover, the 15,194 motorcycle deaths in the U.S. from head injuries during this period reflects "only a fraction of the head injury problem caused by motorcycles," Sosin and colleagues reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

With 219,500 motorcycles registered in Florida in 1987, there were only 244 reported fatalities, with authorities attributing the small number to the use of helmets.

A failure to use helmets not only leads to more deaths but also to more severe non-fatal injuries, the study found. Sosin said disability related to these types of injuries is "extensive and much of the cost is borne by the public."

In 1986, Florida, plus 18 other states and the District of Columbia had laws requiring helmet use by motorcycle drivers and passengers of all ages, the researchers said. Another 22 states had "partial laws" that required helmets for riders under the age of 21. Nine states did not require helmets: California, Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Maine, Nebraska, Rhode Island and Washington.

The researchers found the annual death rate from head injuries among motorcyclists was 5.5 per 1 million people in states that require helmets, compared to 10.2 per 1 million in states with partial laws and 11.4 per 1 million in states with no laws.

Statistics from the Florida Department of Highway Safety for the 1987 reporting period revealed that 4.2 percent of 219,500 registered motorcycles were involved in accidents. Of that percentage however, only 2.6 percent of the accidents involved fatalities. Statistics were not available on the specific number of fatalities from head injuries.

County truck drivers tested for license

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Several dozen Seminole County truck drivers will be tested today and tomorrow for new state commercial driver's licenses, replacing their obsolete chauffeur's licenses. Nearly 100 drivers have attended one-day training sessions Tuesday and Wednesday at the Central Florida Safety Council on First Street, said Eileen Biggs, county personnel analyst.

The employees can be seen in large groups downtown during breaks. Biggs said the county paid the $30 fee for each employee because the county requires truck drivers to have truck driver's licenses, but the employee is required to pay the $50 license fee.

IN BRIEF

SOFTBALL

I.C.P. settles for second

CASSELBERRY — Despite a season-ending 13-8 win over the Pirates, I.C.P. had to settle for second in the Seminole County Wednesday Night "C" Softball League at Red Big Lake Park.

I.C.P. finishes the season at 6-4, two games behind league champ Tony Pryor (8-2).

I.C.P. jumped out to 3-0 lead in the first inning of its game with the Pirates and were never headed. After Kenny Tuttle and Eddie Norton led off with back-to-back singles, a pair of infield errors led to a run before Mike McCrary singled in two runs.

Tuttle led I.C.P. with three hits while, Mike Rix, Ronnie Gardener, McCrary and Nick Brady each had two hits. Pitcher Steve Buchanan tripled with the bases loaded in last inning. Brady also contributed a three-run double.

PREP FOOTBALL

Seminole tickets on sale

SANFORD — Seminole High School Athletic Director Jerry Posey has announced that advance tickets for Seminole's homecoming game this Saturday against Lake Mary are now available.

Advance tickets, which cost $2.75, can be purchased at Sweeney's, Sun Bank in the Sanford Plaza, the Seminole High School Athletic Department, Sanford Middle School, Lakeview Middle School and Lake Mary High School. Tickets at the gate will be $3.50.

Reserved seats are also available for $5 and must be purchased in advance through the Seminole High School Athletic Department.

SAILING

Registration for Red Lobster

ORLANDO — Registration is now open for the 1990 Red Lobster Cup Regatta, the nation's largest inland regatta, which will be held Nov. 30 to Dec. 2 on Lake Monroe in Sanford.

The regatta will be hosted by the Orlando Yacht Club and will feature 600 boats in 46 classes on six different race courses.

The pre-registration fee, which must be postmarked by Friday, Nov. 16, is $27 for single-handed and $30 for crewed boats. After Nov. 17, the fees increase to $37 and $40, respectively. Registration closes at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 1.

For additional information, call John H. Gardiner at 425-0585 or 423-0468.

GOLF

DeBary's Smith receives honor

DeBARY — Gene Smith, the resident professional at DeBary Plantation Golf Club, was recently named "Golf Professional of the Decade" by the East Central Chapter, North Florida Section PGA.

The chapter comprises of seven counties — Seminole, Volusia, Orange, Osceola, Lake, Marion and Sumter — and some 350 PGA members and apprentices.

The award, which recognizes involvement at the chapter, section and national levels, is the latest of many for the popular pro, who has been at the DeBary club since its opening.

In 1981, Smith was named "Professional of the Year" by the North Florida Section. In 1988, he won the Bill Strausbaugh Award for his involvement in employment and club relations, and the Junior Golf Leader Award for promoting Junior Golf, both at the chapter and Section level.

Smith's most recent award was the Horton Smith Award for professionalism in education.

COLLEGE HOOPS

'Canes sign forward, center

CORAL GABLES — A 6-7 Florida product and a 7-3 former member of the Romanian national basketball team announced Wednesday that they intended to play for the University of Miami.

The announcements by Patrick Lawrence and Constantin Popa came on the first day of the fall national letter of intent signing period.

Lawrence, a 6-7, 205-pounder averaged 18 points and 12 rebounds last year while helping St. Petersburg's Gibbs Comprehensive High School to a 28-7 finish and a berth in the Class 3A final four.

At 7-3, Popa, who is currently at Fork Union Military Academy in Virginia, will become the tallest player every to put on a Hurricane uniform, Hamilton said. Before coming to the United States, he was a member of the Romanian National Team.

Girls ready to kick off

Prep soccer season to open with matches this afternoon

By TONY DeBORNIER
 Herald Sports Editor

Each of the last two years, the Class 4A girls soccer state champion has come out of Seminole County. In 1989, the Lake Mary Rams claimed the crown. Last year, the Lake Brantley Patriots won the title.

And it's not entirely by coincidence that the Rams and Patriots won the state titles in consecutive years. In both cases, the toughest matches they played in the state championship tournament were in the district playoffs against other Seminole County schools.

Two years ago, Lake Howell and Lake Brantley gave the Rams fits. Last year, Lake Mary and Lyman battled the Patriots. Both Lake Mary Coach Bill Eissele and Lake Brantley Coach John Schaefer agreed that the stiff county competition helped prepare their teams for the demands of the state playoffs.

This afternoon (thanks to the recent encephalitis outbreak), Seminole County high school girls soccer teams will once again begin that intense selection process as the 1990-91 kicks off.

Because they have 10 players returning from last year's state championship team, Lake Brantley will have to be considered the early season favorite. Sophomore Stephanie Sanders returns to lead the offense while senior Joyce Tullis — once she is done with cross country — will anchor the Patriot defense.

Lake Brantley will have two very large holes to fill created by the graduation of striker-midfielder Beth Schaefer and goalkeeper Kimi Kurz.

As always, the Lake Mary Rams figure to be in the hunt for the Seminole Athletic Conference and district titles. But the Rams were hurt worse by graduation that Lake Brantley, losing 10 seniors.

"We'll be a young team," admits Eissele, whose team opens play at home Thursday afternoon in a 3:30 p.m. game against the DeLand Bulldogs.

The returners Eissele is counting on to give the young Rams some direction include senior midfielder Dana Hoover, senior defender April Goss, senior midfielder-striker Julie Baumhofer, junior midfielder-defender Leanne Bazile and sophomore midfielder-defender Adriana Hemmerly.

Lake Mary will be boosted by the addition of two new faces on defense — Brooke Priddy and Laurel Meoli. In goal, Jen Preston and Megan Codoto are battling for the starting nod.

The Lyman Greyhounds were a fluke goal away from being district champions last year. Gone via graduation are team leaders Rebecca Brock, Tammy Fulsang, Kerry Musante and Jennifer McAvoy. But the Greyhounds' biggest loss may be that of Coach

□ See Soccer, Page 2B

Lyman's Jill Mott (No. 19, left) and Lake Brantley's Eva Snyder (right) both should be back to help lead their schools in the chase after the Class 4A state title. The Lake Brantley Patriots were state champs last season.

Wrapping up the season

Pitcher Calvin Bryant (left) allowed just seven hits to help lead HarCar to a 10-2 win over The Liquor Store in the final game of the fall season for both teams. He also contributed two singles and two runs scored while teammate Dave Fry (left, sliding around Liquor Store third baseman Brian Jones) chipped in with a double, single and one run scored.

H.D. Realty caps season with victory

From staff reports

SANFORD — Scoring six runs in the first three innings, the H.D. Realty Heartbreakers completed a near-perfect season by beating the Sanford Police Benevolence Association 8-5 in a Sanford Recreation Department Men's Wednesday Night Slowpitch Softball League game at Chase Park.

In other games Wednesday night, HarCar topped The Liquor Store 10-2 and R.C. Cola outlasted Hall's Stucco 15-13.

The Heartbreakers' victory gives them a final 9-1 record and the league championship. HarCar finished 6-4 followed by The Liquor Store and R.C. Cola (both 5-5), Hall's Stucco (3-7) and SPBA (2-8).

In the Wednesday's first game, HarCar scored two runs in the top of the first inning and never trailed after that. Two runs in the sixth inning and a six-run seventh gave HarCar some breathing room.

Leading HarCar's 16-hit attack were Bill Roscoe (two singles, three runs scored), Jim Arnold (three singles), Calvin Bryant (two singles, two runs scored) and Brian Burke (single, two runs scored).

Also chipping in were Dave Fry (double, single, run scored), Mark Steffes (two singles, one run scored), Terry Roscoe (two singles) Ed Stalhan (single, run scored) and John Adams (double).

For The Liquor Store, Vic Dibartolo singled twice and scored a run. Steve Richards hit two singles. □ See Softball, Page 2B

Chandler to start ahead of Testaverde for Buccaneers

United Press International

TAMPA — Quarterback Chris Chandler, whose third-quarter concussion at New Orleans knocked him out of his first Tampa Bay start last week, Wednesday was named to open ahead of Vinny Testaverde against San Francisco.

The Buccaneers, 4-6, have lost four straight and five of six heading into Sunday's apparent mismatch at Candlestick Park, where the unbeaten 49ers have been established as 14-point favorites.

Tampa Bay Coach Ray Perkins said three starters — center Randy Grimes, wide receiver Bruce Hill and outside linebacker Kevin Murphy — are questionable. Wide receiver Danny Peebles (knee) and defensive end Jim Skow (dislocated elbow) were placed on injured reserve Wednesday and will miss the rest of the season.

The Buccaneers signed wide receiver Terry Anthony, an 11th-round draft choice waived by Tampa Bay in the preseason, and defensive lineman Benji Roland.

"I think Chris Chandler deserves another start and I think he did an excellent job last week," said Perkins in keeping a healthy Testaverde on the bench for the second consecutive week.

Chandler directed an 80-yard opening drive against the Saints capped by a spectacular 12-yard touchdown scramble. He completed 5-of-7 attempts before suffering a concussion that brought Testaverde into the game. The No. 1 pick in the 1987 NFL draft then was sacked five times and threw two interceptions during his short stint as the Bucs dropped a 35-7 decision.

The 49ers last lost a year ago and appear headed for a Dec. 3 showdown against the also unbeaten New York Giants for the NFC's best record.

"They are a great football team in terms of winning games," Perkins said. "They do what it takes to win. I think Joe Montana might go down as the best quarterback to ever play the game. Their offense is Joe Montana — make no mistake about that."

While Perkins benches the first player he drafted in Tampa, this year's first-round selection also is out of the starting lineup. Former Alabama All-American Keith McCants, the fourth player chosen, has been relegated to spot duty at outside linebacker for a defense that is yielding 24 points per game.

"I think we all had high hopes that Keith would be ready to step in immediately," Perkins said. "but the fact remains that he's not. He'll come around and he'll be a great player. I don't have any question about that. He really wasn't trained to play a position in college. It does take a guy some time to learn a position within a scheme."

The Buccaneers have been outscored 102-23 over the past three weeks and are slumping toward an eighth straight losing season.

SOFTBALL

 Mark Bolton doubled, Glen Burgess and Brian Jones both singled and Preston Richards scored a run.
 In the Heartbreakers' win over SPBA, every hitter in the Heartbreaker lineup had at least one hit. Chris Dapore led the 15-hit offensive with a double, two singles and three runs scored. Shannon Spitt doubled, singled and scored a run while Mark Blythe hit a single and a double.

Other contributors included Mack Thorne (double, two runs scored), Charles Hatcher (two singles, one run scored), Carl Thorne (single, run scored) and Ray Herrera, Duane Carlson, Jimmy Johnson and Jeff Stone (one single each).

Leading SPBA, which collected 14 hits, were David Delmonico (four singles, two runs scored), Matt Stewart and Steve Harriett

(both with two singles and a run scored), Art Barnes (single, run scored) and Mike Analey, Ned Golden, Pete Jankowski, Mitch Tindel and Ron Daugherty (one single each).

The final game of the night — and the season — was a wild one, R.C. Cola going up 2-0 in the top of the second before Hall's Stucco exploded for seven runs in the home half of the third. R.C. Cola retook the lead with six runs in the fourth inning, then added five runs in the fifth and single runs in the sixth and seventh.

As it turned out, those last two runs were crucial. Hall's Stucco, which scored a run in the fourth, rallied for five runs in the bottom of the seventh to pull within two runs. But a season-ending double play ended the threat.

Jim Trueman had two doubles, two singles and two runs scored to highlight R.C. Cola's 20-hit attack. Nelson Rodriguez added a double, two singled and three runs scored while Jerry Bruehl had two doubles, a single and one run scored and Don Causseaux had a double, two singles and a run scored.

Also chipping in were Ken Smith (two singles, three runs scored), Bob Borake (two singles, one run scored), Scott Pensala and Steve Schleier (noth with a single and a run scored), Tom Gillan (two runs scored) and Jim Nutly (single).

For Hall's Stucco, which had 19 hits, James Garner had a double, three singles and two runs scored, Jim Hall singled three times and scored twice while Mike Wilson and Lee Marshall both hit two singles and scored two runs.

Others who contributed were Frank Stag, Matt Conducci and Mark Hutchison (each with two singles and a run scored), Jim Campbell (double, run scored) and Bob Garner (single, run scored).

SOFTBALL

 Mark Bolton doubled, Glen Burgess and Brian Jones both singled and Preston Richards scored a run.
 In the Heartbreakers' win over SPBA, every hitter in the Heartbreaker lineup had at least one hit. Chris Dapore led the 15-hit offensive with a double, two singles and three runs scored. Shannon Spitt doubled, singled and scored a run while Mark Blythe hit a single and a double.

Other contributors included Mack Thorne (double, two runs scored), Charles Hatcher (two singles, one run scored), Carl Thorne (single, run scored) and Ray Herrera, Duane Carlson, Jimmy Johnson and Jeff Stone (one single each).

Leading SPBA, which collected 14 hits, were David Delmonico (four singles, two runs scored), Matt Stewart and Steve Harriett

(both with two singles and a run scored), Art Barnes (single, run scored) and Mike Analey, Ned Golden, Pete Jankowski, Mitch Tindel and Ron Daugherty (one single each).

The final game of the night — and the season — was a wild one, R.C. Cola going up 2-0 in the top of the second before Hall's Stucco exploded for seven runs in the home half of the third. R.C. Cola retook the lead with six runs in the fourth inning, then added five runs in the fifth and single runs in the sixth and seventh.

As it turned out, those last two runs were crucial. Hall's Stucco, which scored a run in the fourth, rallied for five runs in the bottom of the seventh to pull within two runs. But a season-ending double play ended the threat.

Jim Trueman had two doubles, two singles and two runs scored to highlight R.C. Cola's 20-hit attack. Nelson Rodriguez added a double, two singled and three runs scored while Jerry Bruehl had two doubles, a single and one run scored and Don Causseaux had a double, two singles and a run scored.

Also chipping in were Ken Smith (two singles, three runs scored), Bob Borake (two singles, one run scored), Scott Pensala and Steve Schleier (noth with a single and a run scored), Tom Gillan (two runs scored) and Jim Nutly (single).

For Hall's Stucco, which had 19 hits, James Garner had a double, three singles and two runs scored, Jim Hall singled three times and scored twice while Mike Wilson and Lee Marshall both hit two singles and scored two runs.

Others who contributed were Frank Stag, Matt Conducci and Mark Hutchison (each with two singles and a run scored), Jim Campbell (double, run scored) and Bob Garner (single, run scored).

IN BRIEF

Bromeliad Society to meet

Bromeliad Society will meet November 18, 2 p.m. at the Seminole County Agriculture Center, Sanford. Ed Hall will present the program on exotic Hawaiian adventures, including a description of Bromeliads in the islands. Visitors are welcome.

For information, call Charles Tait at (904) 799-1052.

Join the Mardi Gras

Mardi Gras '91 is seeking talented singers, dancers, bands, children's and adult entertainers. Sponsored by All Souls Catholic Church, Mardi Gras is scheduled for February 8 through 10, in Sanford.

For more information, contact Karen Reilly-Morton at 574-8797.

Bazaar and flea market set

Veterans of Foreign Wars Ladies Auxiliary 8207, Longwood, will hold its Christmas Bazaar and Flea Market November 17. Call Terry Carson at 830-0013 to rent a table for $5. Hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Post, Highway 427, Longwood.

Buy Tupperware from auxiliary

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5406 Ladies Auxiliary will hold a Tupperware Party at the November 21 meeting, starting at 7:30 p.m. This is to raise funds for Christmas baskets and for the needy children in the area. Also this benefits the children's parties held at holiday time at the Post. Call 327-3151 for more information.

Leisure programs to start

Leisure Programs at Seminole Community College announces the following classes will begin the week of November 26:

Coping With Stress, Thursday, November 29 through December 13. This class addresses common conceptions of what stress is, techniques on how to reduce it, and how stress can be used as a stimulant rather than a depressant. Cost is $20 per person.

How To Handle Conflict, Saturday, December 1, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Cost is $10 for the one-day course.

Motorcycle Rider Course, Saturday December 1 and 8, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday December 2 and 9, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Cost is $50 per person.

This course is designed to assist in the development and improvement of riding skills necessary for individuals with little or no riding experience. Fulfills the required education course for motorcyclists under 21. All enrollees must have either a temporary driving permit for motorcycle operation or a motorcycle endorsement on their license. Motorcycles and safety equipment provided. Student should wear or bring the following to class: long pants, shoes that cover the ankle, and a helmet.

Eat Thanksgiving dinner

Thanksgiving dinner will be served at the Rescue Outreach Mission, 1701 W. 13th Street, Sanford, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The mission and the Salvation Army as a joint effort will combine their food supply and serve Thanksgiving dinner together.

Ex-prisoners to meet

The Central Florida Chapter of the American Ex-Prisoners of War will hold its regular meeting at the American Legion, Post #53, Sanford, November 25, 2 p.m.

For details, call Commander Mickelson at 877-8116.

CALENDAR

Overeaters to weigh in

A meeting on spirituality in relationships in Overeaters Anonymous is conducted on Thursdays at 7:45 p.m. in the cafeteria at West Lake Hospital, Longwood. For information, call Charlie at 323-8070.

East-West Kiwanis to gather

East-West Sanford Kiwanis Club meets Thursday at 6 p.m. at Friendship Lodge, Seventh and Locust.

Sweet Adelines to rehearse

Sound of Sunshine Sweet Adelines women's barbershop singing group rehearses every Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Northland Community Church, Dogtrack Road, Longwood.

Admiral visits local D.A.R. chapter

LAKE MARY — The Sallie Harrison Chapter National Society Daughters of the American Revolution met in the lovely Lake Mary home of Claire O'Connor recently. Her daughter, Mary Jane Duryea, with Patricia Fox were co-hostesses.

Ann Howland, regent, opened the meeting and introduced visitors. Mildred Orlikazi, formerly of Massachusetts, Eleanor Logan of California, and Mary Dunn Wolf, who had gone to college years ago on a D.A.R. scholarship. Mercedes Hemmer, a new member, received a special welcome.

Virginia Mikhler introduced the guest speaker, Mark Thompson, retired Navy chaplain.

Admiral Thompson first saluted the D.A.R. members for their encouragement of patriotism. He then recounted the rigorous training, requirements and experience necessary to becoming a military chaplain. The Ecumenical Movement, he said, really started with the chaplains in World War II who "cooperated without compromise." As a Presbyterian minister, he organized a Seder Feast for Jewish people. He taught Gregorian chant for Roman Catholic services. He ministered from the hood of a Jeep as well as in the open theater. A military chaplain has tremendous opportunities, he said, as he urged members to pray for our troops and their chaplains in the Middle East. They need our support, he said.

He concluded by warning members to be sensitive to a pervading secular misinterpretation of the Constitution to mean freedom from religion.

Ann Howland conducted a short business meeting. Gene Heilmann, new treasurer, presented the proposed budget. Many gifts were collected for veterans.

The next D.A.R. meeting will be December 14 at Howell Place for a luncheon with entertainment by the Lake Mary Choral Madrigal Singers.

Admiral Mark Thompson and Virginia Mikhler.

Kiwanis installed

Man loves to dance, moves to his own beat

DEAR ABBY: I am an older gentleman who loves to dance. When I go to dances, I am constantly pestered by older women who want to dance with me. I turn them down, politely, of course — because most of them are terrible dancers!

I go to public dance halls to show off my dance skills. When I dance with a woman, I make her look like a professional dancer, so women half my age are willing to date me. Therefore, I don't waste my time with older women.

Last year I took a job teaching ballroom dancing at $25 an hour. I made excellent money — but I was dancing with older women and fat young women which I hated. I quit because it was punishment to dance with poor dancers.

There are some older women

ADVICE

who dance well, and I get plenty of requests to escort them to fancy functions. Some of these women are widows with fortunes and big homes. I would marry one of these older women on the condition that the house would have to require two maids, and I would be in charge of hiring and firing those maids.

Meanwhile, I am living comfortably and am faring well dating younger women. What more does a man need in life?

THE BIG DIPPER IN LAS VEGAS

DEAR B.D. IN L.V.: How about a little compassion and humility?

DEAR ABBY: For the third or fourth time this year, I have received a chain letter. I throw them in the trash basket, but I have known several people who get terribly upset about not answering them. Some of them have been people who could not really afford the stamps to do so but were afraid of the threats of terrible things that would happen to them.

I am tired of being told I will die immediately or lose my job if I don't send this on, one of which has happened because I believe only the Lord knows when my time is up. But other people go to pieces over this. I would turn them in to the post office if there was an address, but there isn't. What can we do about this stuff? I won't sign my name because I'd be sure to get a dozen more.

END OF THE CHAIN

DEAR END: Please do not discard a threatening chain letter. Chain letters are clearly in violation of the law. Send them to your postmaster with the envelope in which they were mailed. The postmark may provide a clue in locating the sender.

(Problems? Write to Dear Abby, For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 60440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

Immune system will fight off pneumonia

DEAR DR. GOTT: Why is pneumonia such a killer? Why aren't people given vaccinations routinely, instead of restricting the serum to people at high risk?

DEAR READER: Pneumonia, infection of lung tissue, is caused by a variety of microorganisms, ranging from viruses to bacteria. In fact, any living microorganism can cause pneumonia. The miracle of our immunity is not that we get pneumonia but that we are afflicted with it so infrequently. This is due to a complex and efficient immune system in our lungs.

Pneumonia is a killer. Before antibiotics, it was a dreaded illness - regardless of cause - that carried a high mortality rate. Today, thanks to antibiotics, it is far less a problem. Nonetheless, people still get pneumonia, and some may die from it, despite treatment. For instance, viral pneumonia is particularly serious because viruses are not affected by antibiotics.

Also, old and debilitated patients - whose immune systems are often deficient - suffer pneumonia more frequently; this pneumonia is more severe, less responsive to therapy and more likely to lead to death.

Scientists have developed a pneumonia vaccine called Pneumovax, which protects against 23 of the most prevalent forms of pneumococcal bacteria, a common cause of pneumonia. The vaccine is recommended for patients in the following categories: those older than 50; those with chronic, non-terminal illness (such as kidney disease, emphysema and diabetes); those who have had their spleen removed or who have splenic disease (such as that caused by sickle-cell anemia).

Healthy young people don't need the vaccine because their defenses are usually strong enough to fight off lung infection.

Finally, I would be remiss not to mention AIDS and pneumonia. The AIDS virus literally torpedoes the immune system, opening the way to infection by unusual and exotic (as well as ordinary) microorganisms. Pneumonia is capturing medical headlines, in part, because it is a common complication of AIDS. To give you more information

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

After North had raised spades, South bid three clubs as a game-try. North bid three diamonds to show diamond values that might help make a game. South could now re-evaluate his king of diamonds upward and so bid four spades. After the lead of the diamond jack, declarer had the option of winning dummy's ace, taking a pitch on dummy's diamond queen, and then going after the spade suit. But South needed more than just two diamond tricks. So he decided to win his singleton king and create a dummy entry in the trump suit. He led the queen of spades at trick two. East let the queen hold the trick, trying to keep declarer from gaining an entry to dummy. South continued with the 10 and overtook with dummy's jack when West played the nine. So East won the second spade and played a club. Declarer rose with the ace, got to dummy with the spade eight, and shed his losing clubs on the A-Q of diamonds. But declarer still had to tackle the heart suit. He played a low heart from dummy. The nine from East was an encouraging sign. Declarer put in the 10, losing to West's queen. Later, when the heart ace was played, down came East's king, so dummy's jack became a winner. Declarer won four spade tricks, three diamonds, two hearts and the club ace to make his contract. (C)1990, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osoi
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Nov. 16, 1990

There are encouraging indications for you of an increased earning capacity in the year ahead. Events will fuel your ambitions and provide you with the motivation you'll need.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Although you are under reasonably favorable financial aspects, there are still signals for you to avoid extravagant behavior or associations today. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences which are governing you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Important assignments can be competently accomplished today if you use as few people as possible. Two is company, three is a crowd and four is out of the question.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You could have a bad experience today when someone for whom you've done favors in the past starts behaving in a manner that indicates he/she expects it to be a regular routine.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you allow yourself to get trapped into a social activity today that contains a participant you dislike, it could spoil your fun. Do things you want to do, not what you think you have to do.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Things should go in the manner you envision them today, provided you do not trip over your own feet. Take time to plot moves carefully and avoid being impulsive.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're apt to be generous and giving, but only up to a point today. You will require acknowledgment for your effort and if it is not forthcoming you may look the other way when assistance is requested.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today might not be as profitable for you as it should be. While plugging up the leaks with one hand, you may start pulling out the corks with the other.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you are confronted by a serious matter today, it might prove helpful to treat it with a light touch while still appreciating the gravity of the situation.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In order to be an effective and productive worker today, it's best not to overburden yourself with too many assignments. You're good, but you are not a magician.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your self-assurance is likely to have its limitations today. There's a possibility a strong-willed companion could browbeat you into doing something that doesn't serve your best interest.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Things aren't apt to work out the way you anticipate if you try to manipulate others today. They may appear to give you cursory compliance, but they won't really do things your way.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) An acquaintance of yours who has an annoying habit of shooting down ideas you feel are good should not be told what you have in mind today. Do your thing first and tell him/her later. (C)1990, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.
