

Army Air Corps Plans Method To Thwart Invaders

Air Fleet Would Wing Far Out Over Sea And Bomb Warships

By DEVON FRANCIS AP Aviation Editor

If an airplane can sink a battleship, defense of America's coast lines would appear to be a simple matter. If it can, a lot of energy is being wasted on that argument again.

While the navy's battle wagons conduct their annual maneuvers in the Pacific a fly plan for stopping an invading fleet in its tracks is being evolved by the Army Air Corps.

Both Make Good Cases Army bombers, as a new "first line of defense," would wing far out to sea to engage the fleet. At best, the invader's warships would be sunk or disabled. At worst, they would be put at a disadvantage. The Air Corps makes a good case for itself.

But so do champions of the warship, insisting that the navy still is the nation's first line of defense. Little has been added to available knowledge in the battleship vs. aircraft argument by the Eth-opian, Spanish or Sino-Japanese wars. No modern bombing plane has been tested against a modern warship.

Partisans of the airplane say Italy won the first air war in history without firing a shot—by threatening to sink the British fleet in the Mediterranean if the Suez canal were closed during the Ethiopian excursions. But the facts are not public.

A Deep Secret Still a deep secret among military men were the results of the "bombing" of the battleship Utah by army planes last year, several hundred miles off San Francisco's Golden Gate. They were impressive. Dropped from an average of 12,000 feet, "water bombs" peppered the deck and the water near the vessel.

The army argued that the direct hits with real bombs would have sunk or crippled the Utah, that near hits would have opened her seams.

The answer to the planes' accuracy was a new, secret, bomb sight. It is all theory, of course, and the rebuttal of the navy adds up to an equally logical conclusion that for offense, the airplane is as effective as a gun on an enemy's side.

Battleship Protection Modern battleships, they point out, are armor plated above the water line and that bulges or "blisters" below it absorb the shock of explosions. Even the value of torpedoes against modern men-of-war is questioned. At Juland the warship Marlborough was torpedoed, but not disabled.

The Spanish insurgent battleship España was sunk by a chance hit down a funnel. The gunboat Panzy, sunk in China, was meagerly equipped for combat.

Among high navy officials, Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, has conceded publicly that an airplane might be able to sink a battle ship. Let's enter a hypothetical war. An enemy is approaching our shores. A warning has been sounded.

The Carrier's Breed Above are the Air Corps' heavy bombing planes, the largest capable of flying 1,500 miles, an average of several thousand pounds of "bombs" and returning without refueling.

Cooperating with the defense fleet are the navy's slower, heavily armed patrol bombers. On carriers and battleships of each fleet are nests of scouting and observation planes, and on aircraft carriers are several hundred combat planes, and light bombing machines.

The usefulness of the carriers' hands can be discounted beyond 300 miles from their base. Exceptions vulnerable to attack, the carriers will remain far behind the zone of battle.

With the enemy still a thousand miles out, a dozen Air Corps bombers take off to meet him. But the navy interposes, how

FIRST GULP OF SNEEZING FASTER

George McKenna, 31, of Detroit, Mich., drank a half glass of milk recently and within 11 days had the he hopes will free him of hay fever. He had planned to use only 20 cups, but at the end of that period he had the appearance of his tongue indicated that all the "tempers" had not yet left his system.

the army going to find him? Well, runs the answer, the Utah was found in a search of 30,000 square miles of ocean; to find a whole fleet should be easy.

All right, says the navy. The enemy has spotted the army, and a swarm of fighting planes is rising from every ship.

A "curtain" of anti-aircraft shells is being thrown upward the bombers' line of flight.

A New Idea Not so fast, says the army. (1) Enemy observation units are off on missions and the surprise is complete; (2) Only a few enemy combat planes are in the air, and the rest are being launched too slowly to worry about; (3) The carriers, bombing like the broadside of a barn, can be dispatched quickly; (4) Anti-aircraft fire is innocuous at 10,000 to 12,000 feet.

Very well, retorts the navy with leady finality, but the airplanes can't sink the battleships; and as for "harassing" the enemy, submarines and torpedo boats can do a better job.

The Air Corps recently pulled a new idea out of its sleeve. How about laying down a blanket of deadly gas, it asks, and let the elaborate ventilating systems of enemy ships suck in the fumes?

The navy, which can give as well as take, will have an answer to that one soon.

Italy Parades Armed Forces For Hitler; British Seek Mobilization Of Women

Chinese Make New Advances

Half Of Jap Campaign Gains Are Retaken By China's Forces

A parade of Italian might before Reichsfuehrer Hitler, British plans for mobilization of women, British and French plans to ease the tension between Germany and Czechoslovakia and growing Chinese successes against its invaders—these were the menu in the world's diet of war and preparations for war.

The French foreign office disclosed that France and England will ask Czechoslovakia to make concessions to Germany in the treatment of Sudetan Germans, and will ask Germany to moderate its demands.

Italy's soldiers did the goose step in a parade of men and war machines past Premier Mussolini and Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

The British war ministry summoned the heads of various women's patriotic organizations and territorial army officials to a meeting today to study non-combatant roles which women might be called upon to play in wartime.

War Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha declared the modern army had a place for them.

War in China rounded out its tenth month, several months longer than the Japanese had expected.

The Chinese claimed the recapture of about half of the territory won by the Japanese in their current three-week campaign to wipe out the stain of their early April defeat at Taiherchwang on the central front.

Chinese guerrillas and communists were reported approaching Peking in North China, while scattered Chinese successes were reported elsewhere.

Proposal For Seminole Gets Hospital Gets Share Of Race 'New Impetus Track Revenue

New impetus was given to the movement for construction of a County-owned hospital yesterday by the passing of a Hospital Committee which will meet with Federal officials in Jacksonville next week to discuss the most feasible plan for financing the construction of the proposed institution. The Herald was reliably informed today.

On a motion by W. G. Kibbee, seconded by D. L. Thresher at the meeting of the Board of County Commissioners yesterday, Chairman W. B. Williams was instructed to appoint W. H. Ballard as a representative of the County Commissioners on the Hospital Committee.

The action of the Commissioners followed a request of a group of doctors and three City Commissioners who appeared in behalf of the proposed institution and asked for the cooperation of the Board in efforts to secure necessary funds for construction of a hospital to replace the present one which has been termed as "undignified" by the residents of Sanford and Seminole County.

The City Commission appointed Edgar Higgins as a member of the Hospital Committee, while Dr. C. I. Park was appointed to represent the Seminole County Medical Society, and T. E. Simpson, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, was appointed as a representative.

A PRAYER

Not more of light, I ask, O God, but eyes to see what is, Not sweeter sounds, but power to hear.

Not greater strength, but how to use

The power that I possess;

Not more of love, but skill to turn

A frown to a career.

Not more of joy, but power to feel

Its kindling presence near

To give to others, all I have

Of courage and of cheer.

Give me all fears to dominate,

All holy joys to know;

To be the friend I wish to be,

To speak the truth I know.

"Rain Whips Atlanta" is a headline. And the drought is about to whip us.

Cautiously enough, with Hitler and Mussolini conferring in Rome, the mad-dog stage in Sanford has subsided.

Summer is nearly upon us, the warm days almost here. Now we will be able to write editorialists telling how cool it is.

Congratulations to Forrest Stewart Gatchel, young Sanford man, who has received appointment to West Point and who is the first one, so far as we know, ever to attend the United States Military Academy from Sanford.

When we complain about the snails, the flies, the roaches, the heat, and the drought, consider the poor dog, who is beset by all the crawling things that can afflict an animal. Yet he has no organs, no fly swatters and no words with which to complain.

With three huge American liners, the California, Virginia, and Pennsylvania, withdrawn from service and tied up at their Manhattan pier, the bid of the United States for world sea trade appears gloomy. Withdrawal of government subsidy, increased tolls on the Panama Canal and the West Coast labor problem were contributing factors.

Not many people in Sanford, we suspect, realize that their law enforcement officers are equipped with the most modern device for fighting crime. Any one needing police assistance may get it within a few minutes by phoning either the Police Department or the Sheriff's Office, which in turn communicate with their equipped radio cars. This system makes it possible for the radio men to answer calls almost instantaneously. Co-operate with the police by phoning immediately when any trouble arises and let them show you how fast they can respond.

Monthly is an easy sounding word and most of us think that this is the policy of the United States as regards foreign embassies. But the words of Secretary of War Woodring uttered yesterday had the unmistakable stamp of taking sides. "The Japanese occupation of Manchuria in 1931 was the beginning of a chain of events that has led directly to much of the present difficulty in which the world is now bogged." He then told of Germany's violation of provisions of the Versailles Treaty, Italy's occupation of Ethiopia, and armed intervention in the Spanish civil war.

The "Flivver" Plane

The resurgent enthusiasm from all corners over the "flivver plane" has no connection whatever with the fourteen deaths in Florida from highway accidents in the last five days, but the increasing danger from motor travel will in no small wise be responsible for many people taking to the air when and if tiny airplanes are made in quantity production at small prices.

Numerous designs for Lilliputian planes are proceeding in various parts of the world and the day when a considerable portion of the travelling public will be piloting its way in, through, and above the clouds is not far off. At least, this is the expert opinion of Dr. Alexander Klemin, head of New York University's School of Aeronautics, who declares that mass production of "flivver" planes will be realized within five years.

In connection with the propinquity of aviation among the masses, Dr. Klemin points out that one of the most helpful advancements facilitating the operation of a plane by a novice is the tricycle landing gear which simplifies landing to a large extent, one of the hazardous barriers to safe flying. Also, the elimination of rudders is seen as a factor militating against the perplexities of flying, since the average person has a difficult time trying to co-ordinate his hands and feet at the same time.

The distinct advantages of airplane communication have been realized most readily in sparsely settled countries where distances are far and roads are poor. It is said that Australian farmers, whose nearest neighbors in some cases live 200 miles away, are viewing with mounting interest the possibilities of cutting these distances by means of cheap, fast transportation.

Here in Florida, we may be slow to take to the air in a big way because of our excellent roads over which we can speed to distant points in the state with jack-rabbit alacrity. But when we consider that Jacksonville and Tampa would be less than an hour away, Miami about two hours, and Pensacola about four, the inducement to own a plane is magnified, the chief handicap being the expense, a factor now appearing near elimination.

Preventing Fires

A ride through the country in almost any direction and the observation of the charred remains of homes and buildings cannot help but impress on one's mind the fact that a tremendous amount of property is continually being destroyed by fire. And the sad part about it is that most of the fires were preventable if ordinary care had been taken.

Business houses and factories have made it a practice to have periodic inspections in an effort to eliminate fire hazards and the results have been extremely beneficial. The same good results could be attained in homes if the occupants would observe a few simple rules.

The Fort Pierce News-Tribune declares that the "bank of home fires originate from the simplest and most obvious hazards. Here are a few of them: Accumulations of old papers, clothing and other junk; improper storage of gasoline and other inflammable liquids; defects in heating plants and electric cords and fuse boxes.

It takes no expert to quickly and effectively eliminate such hazards as these. Clean out and give the junk to the junkman, storing what is left neatly in trunks and boxes. Keep paint, varnish and inflammable liquids in covered metal or glass containers—and store them well away from heat and fires. And if heating or other household appliances give trouble, local experts will be glad to repair them inexpensively.

"Fire prevention isn't much of a job—a few minutes each week or so is sufficient to accomplish it. And that little effort may save your home from destruction—or even your family and yourself from a horrible death. Fire prevention shouldn't be regarded as a bothersome task—it is a duty, which pays tremendous dividends. And never forget that it's better to prevent a fire than to stand around and hope the fire department will be able to extinguish the blaze before everything you possess is destroyed."

Sanford housewives could do well to heed this advice thereby minimizing the danger from dreaded fire.

Dawson Discloses Date For Citrus Grower Meetings

Continued from Page One after that time, he emphasized, in trying to get farmers to turn in their work sheets on time, Mr. Dawson has prepared a mimeographed sheet which he has sent with a work sheet to all farmers who have not yet turned their work sheet in.

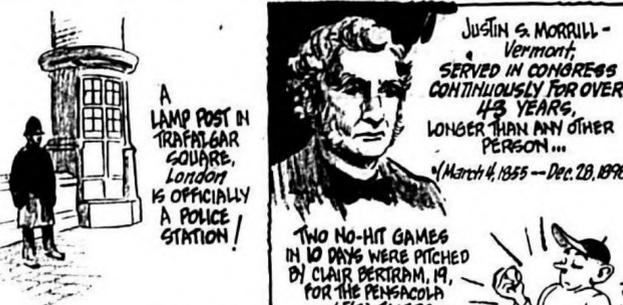

"Let them criticize my slogan the County Agent served as a catchword which he placed at the top of all the mimeographed sheets," Mr. Dawson said. "I believed it was an appropriate slogan for advertising policy."

About 500 persons have turned in their work sheets for the 1938 program, he asserted, adding that over 2,500 are expected to turn in the deadline Tuesday.

Checks for the 1937 program have not yet arrived but are expected to arrive within a few days.

Washington is supposed to be the most beautiful city in the United States in the spring. It is really a delight after a mild but long winter, but I still like Florida best. Pardon this ranting; I guess the sap is beginning to flow.

WATERWAYS AND FLOOD CONTROL: An omnibus bill authorizing $33,000,000 to construct thirty nine river and harbor improvement projects by Army Engineers has passed the House. The House Committee on Flood Control, completing hearings, is about ready to report a bill with large authorizations for projects. Army Engineers advised the Committee that relief labor is not suited to flood control work. The House Committee on Appropriations, in its War Department civil functions bill reported to the House, appropriates an additional $37,000,000 as proposed by the President for flood control and reclamation work next year, of which $5,000,000 is earmarked for the Mississippi River. My District has had four Rivers and Harbors Projects authorized this session ranging from $11,000 at Eau Gallie, Florida to $275,000 at St. Augustine, Florida. I believe we received our share.

SAFEGUARDS: Favorably reported by the Senate Commerce Committee is a bill to establish a Civil Aeronautics Authority a bipartisan body of five members to control rates, licenses and other matters, and a special air safety board, both bodies appointed by the President. I am not certain yet that I shall support such a measure but it seems that at the present time it is to be a safeguard for a rapidly developing aviation.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON, May 5. Whether through panic or principle, Congress has always fought shy of making its own salaries subject to state taxes. And the members are not throwing bouquets at that part of the President's plan to end exemptions.

Within the last few days the House again rejected a proposal to permit the District of Columbia to tax congressional and other federal salaries. They know there is no question about a District of Columbia income tax on federal salaries being constitutional, because Congress itself fixes the amount of the District tax.

But Representative Celler of New York worries about another phase. "The Supreme Court," he says "has found that the power to destroy, and if the federal government were empowered to tax willfully the securities of states and municipalities it would have power to destroy them."

On that subject, however, the late Justice Holmes said: "This town is full of high school seniors from a dozen states hereabouts. But loads of them come in for a sort of graduation frolic clad in sweaters and high school letters. They travel in some way, sometimes taking over a whole dining room in some of the smaller hotels. One crowd started off dinner in a local hotel with a school yell. We yelled, too, darn it, why not?"

Lookouts Lose To Daytona Beach By Close 7-6 Margin

Local Nine Suffers 6th Straight Loss; Score Knotted 6-6 In Eighth Inning

The Lookouts dropped their sixth straight encounter last night at the Municipal Athletic field after allowing the Daytona Beach club to slip into the lead in the eighth inning. The count only to be by a score of 7 to 6.

The Islanders went into the first half of the ninth inning with the score knotted 6 to 6. After Sanford called to score three runs in the half of the eighth to tie the count. After one man had come down with the ninth, Fresh doubled to the left field wall and scored when Dix singled to center field to make the winning tally.

The Lookouts had an opportunity to knot the count again in their portion of the ninth when Pete Mihale doubled to the left field wall. He was sacrificed to ground to McNeese who threw Mihale out at the plate for the second out.

A new Lookout pitcher, Joe Gaylin, started on the hill for the Lookouts, but retired before getting a man out, yet not a single hit was gotten off him. Four errors by six men in the first inning drove him from the mound in favor of Big "Chief" Cook who hurled the next eight frames before he was taken out for a pinch hitter in the Sanford half of the eighth.

Hunsucker went to the mound with the score tied in the ninth and was credited with the win when he pitched seven hitless innings. He was hit only once by the Islanders who were hit by four in the first inning. Cook pitched nine of the Island's ten runs in the first two innings.

The Islanders started the scoring in the first inning when they scored four runs off long error. Cook held them scoreless until the fifth when they secured an error and in the sixth he allowed the Islanders to score. The Lookouts scored their first two in the first inning off a pitch to Dix and an I.B.T. error.

In the third, the home manager called another long ball, and failed to score again until the big eighth inning.

The home blasted off 11 runs off the hurling of Jack Kaska, Stan Chackin and George Brooks. Kaska hurled until the eighth when he was yanked in favor of Chackin. The left pitcher walked one man and Manager Sanders yanked him in favor of George Brooks.

European diplomacy ran into another of its countless danger-laden convolutions with the report that Premier Mussolini had given Hitler a free hand in Czechoslovakia—almost concurrently with British-French pressure to keep Central Europe on an even keel.

Il Duce, entering his partner in the Rome-Berlin Axis, was said by German sources in Rome to have promised to bring diplomatic pressure on Czechoslovakia to be "reasonable" and to have proclaimed his own disinterest in the middle European republic.

This did not fit well into the peace-making efforts of British and French diplomats who had been instructed to deliver notes to Germany and Czechoslovakia warning them against violence in the settlement of demands by Nazi leaders of Czechoslovakia's 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans.

Large Number Of Exhibits Entered At School Fair

Approximately 500 persons attended the opening session of the Seminole County School Fair and Carnival at the Seminole High School last night and even a larger attendance is anticipated by those in charge.

Termining of the largest of its kind ever to be held in this state, Alex R. Johnson, general manager for the school fair, stated that over 3,000 entries had been made by students and classes of Seminole County Schools.

The exhibits, Mr. Johnson stated, show the work of students in every department of school work from the primary through high school grades. A corps of judges will decide upon the winning exhibits this afternoon and prizes will be awarded tonight, he said.

In addition to the exhibits, an array of booths has been set up for the entertainment of visitors and again tonight a movie, scheduled to begin at 7:30 o'clock, will be a featured entertainment. The screen will be set up on the campus at last night but a completely different set of films will be shown, Mr. Johnson added.

These movies will be shown previous and friends of the school in order to acquaint them with the value of visual education in the schools. Mr. Johnson said, the recently organized group of students at the school will be shown, Mr. Johnson added.

Publicity Given City In 2 Recent Rail Magazines

Sanford Plan To Draw Retired Employees Is Topic Of Articles

The plan of the Railroad Employees Retirement Committee, by which retired railroad men are encouraged to settle in Sanford, received publicity from two rail road magazines recently.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers' Magazine, edited by H. L. Glenn, former resident of Sanford, carries an article in its May issue on the plan, and the Atlantic Coast Line News also carries a short article on the plan.

Quoting from the article in the former, it states that "Special inducements are being offered by the City of Sanford, Florida, to encourage permanent settlement there of retired railroad veterans."

The Railroad Employees Retirement Committee, local sponsors of the plan, launched its program by placing advertisements in the February and March issues of its Magazine, in response to which the committee has received inquiries from 15 states.

The article explains the provisions of the plan whereby the City Commission has agreed to enter into contracts conveying, without cost, lots in the Bel-Air section acquired through tax and special assessment foreclosures, to eligible parties upon the condition that they begin the erection of dwellings thereon within six months.

Only railroad employees, it is made clear, who have retired or will become eligible for retirement, are eligible for the plan.
