SANFORD - After two and a half decades of making changes in attitude as well as policy, the Seminole County school district thinks they have desegregation right and that supervision is no longer necessary.

The school officials say that there is no chance that Seminole County will ever go back to the system of "separate, but equal" schools for blacks and whites that existed until 1970 here and in many other districts.

They believe they need to be burden of complying with the federal court order that ensures the adherence to desegregation policies. As such, the district has begun proceedings to declare unitary status and to have the court order

Within the last half decade, the Justice Department, which oversees the court order has made several visits to Seminole County to be sure there is equality among the schools. The investigations are on going, but Justice Department officials have announced no findings of ractal inequities in county schools.

Questions Window on the world answered about mall

By NICK PFEIFAUF Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Sanford and Central Florida people are anxious to see Seminole Towne Center. Mall open as evidenced Friday by the turnout at a function sponsored by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

Guest speaker was Sarah J. Goodrich, mall manager. The attendance was larger than the chamber meeting room could handle, so the function was moved to the Sanford Sentor Center at the Civic Center.

Failed booster rocket threat to satellite

CAPE CANAVERAL - Korea launched its first satellite Saturday, but a failed booster rocket could threaten its 10-year lifespan.

Officials believe one of nine booster rockets on the McDonnell Douglas Delta II failed to separate after the 7:10 a.m. EDT launch, preventing the satellite from reaching its intended transfer orbit.

However, the Koreasat-1, one of the world's most advanced communications satellites, was expected to reach its final orbit 22,300 miles above Earth by using its own fuel.

Officials had not determined how much of the satellite's

10-year lifespan could be reduced. Nevertheless. McDonnell Douglass called the launch successful.

"You will have the satellite you need." McDonnell Douglas spokeswoman Anne Toulouse told a post-launch briefing attended by mostly Korean press.

The Lockheed Martin Astro Space satellite is the first in a series of sophisticated spacecraft to provide direct-to-home broadcast service, video relay, intercity telephone service and multi-speed data transfers.

It was to be positioned over Muju, southeast of Seoul in South Korea, to cover North and South Korea and parts of Russia, Japan, Mongolia, Manchuria and Shantung Province in China. Han Hwangbo, executive vice president of the satellite's owner. Korea Telecom, was vague about whether the launch was a success or failure.

ORLANDO - Two Volusia County sheriff deputies will head to trial in November on civil rights violation charges.

Capt. Daie Anderson and Sgt. Mike Coffin are charged with beating two suspects while working on the department's SWAT team in the early 1990s. In one of the cases, the deputies are charged with lying about the alleged assault during a suspect's attempted murder trial.

Anderson is charged separately with beating a drug suspect following an arrest in Deland in 1993.

The deputies were indicted July 13 after a two-year U.S. Department of Justice civil rights investigation of the sheriff's office. Both have pleaded innocent.

A grand jury has been hearing testimony that Sheriff Bob Vogel's 1.95 drug squad illegally targeted black and Hispanic motorists for traffic stops, searches and seizures of suspected drug money on the highway.

The sheriff's department has seized more than $8 million from motorists since 1989, returning about half of it in settlement agreements. About two-thirds of the motorists stopped on the highway were minorities, and nearly 90 percent of the cash was seized from black or Hispanic motorists. The deputies are charged with beating Kevin Gillislee while arresting him at his DeLand home in 1991. Gillisiee had fired a dozen shots at a deputy who was sitting in his patrol car two days earlier.

Anderson and Coffin testified at Gillislee's trial that ne fought with the deputies, kicking Anderson's gun out of his holster. Anderson cracked Gillislee on the head with a flashlight to keep him away from the gun, they testified.

Gillislee was convicted of shooting at Deputy Greg Piser and is serving a 20-year prison sentence. Federal prosecutors charge that Anderson and Coffin lied when they said Gillislee fought with them.

The indictment said the deputies beat Douglas Meagley after he held his 16-old-month at knifepoint during a standolf. Anderson also is separately charged with the beating of Kenny Hill following a chase in 1993, the indictment charges. Neither Meagley or Hill were hospitalized, the sheriff's department said. Anderson's attorneys Friday filed a motion to move the trial from Orlando. They said adverse publicity, including several scathing newspaper editorials against Vogel's drug interdiction tactics on I-95, necessitated a change of venue.

Ships sunk to create reef

Aquatic life moves in

By ROGER HARNACK Herald Staff Writer

PONCE INLET - It looked like something out of an old World War II movie: three ships sinking slowly, smoke billowing from their hulls.

But it wasn't the production of a movie that prompted local officials to submerge the vessels off-shore a week ago, it was the next phase of Volusia County's artificial reef program.

The Ponce de Leon Port Authority, the Navy and the Coast Guard pooled their resources to get one freighter, one barge and two ocean-going tug boats cleaned up and prepared to use as artificial reefs.

On Saturday, their combined efforts came together when three of the ships went down simultaneously on reef site three, approximately ten and a half miles east of Ponce Inlet.

The ships did not sink as planned, however. Difficulties in anchoring the tugs. Thomas H. and Alexandra McAllister. caused a delay in the sinking of the three vessels. The ships were originally slated to go down at 3 p.m., but with the anchoring problem and the additional time needed to remove equipment from the deck of the of the 217-foot freighter Rio Yuma, the charges were detonated shortly before 5:30 p.m.

While the three vessels were going down, the fourth, a 100foot ocean barge, was being lowed to the site to be sunk as an artificial reef. That barge was sunk later Saturday night.

Dan O'Brien, port authority

director, called the sinking "unprecedented.' According to O'Brien, this is the first time that three vessels were sunk as artifical reefs

The fact that three ships were sunk at one time should not be the focus of attention. O'Brien already begun attracting fish as inhabitants. Within a matter of months, the ships will become a home for a variety of aquatic life.

"They will be a great attraction for recreational divers and fishermen. We plan to continue this for a few more years."

O'Brien said nine reef sites

The ships are expected to have have been created offshore of Volusia County, encompassing 25 artificial reefs since the 1970s.

The largest of the artificial reefs is the Mindanao, also located on site three. The Mindanao is a 400-foot steel ship sunk in 1980 as part of the program.

The Rio Yuma, the freighter sunk Saturday, will be the second largest artificial reef formed

Another Sanford Herald from the World War II era is dated Monday, June 15, 1942. # Seniors share some old recipes as new friends

DEAR ABBY: I read an article recently about the "hidden poor" senior citizens whose pensions have been eroded by inflation. They own their own condos or homes, wear good jewelry from prosperous years, and never let on that the lunch at the senior citizens' center was their only meal that day.

Several years ago. I found myself in similar circumstances. Other widows lived in my condo complex, and we often rode the bus to the center together.

One day, we reminisced about the food of our childhoods. We were a very diverse ethnic group - so we really enjoyed learning how our mothers had stretched a dollar during the Depression years. #### EDITORIAL

When the next one rolls in

In examining Hurricane Erin, we believe it may have produced problems we haven't confronted as yet. Erin may cause problems in dealing with the public during future hurricanes.

Yes, we had trees down, palm fronds strewn about, flooding, and a loss of electrical service. Yet Erin was a minor hurricane. Hardly anyone lost their homes. No major buildings were lost. There were not any lives lost in Central Florida.

While some people tried to compare it to Hurricane Andrew which devastated southcast Florida several years ago, it's like comparing a golf cart to a school bus.

The problem, as we see it, is to convince newcomers who went through their first hurricane during Erin's trip through the state, that it was only a mild one. Whenever the next one begins to approach us, we will be faced with convincing people that hurricanes are not to be taken lightly.

Everyone heard about people along the coastal areas who refused to obey a recommendation that they evacuate. Very few who remained at home seemed to believe they may have been in jeopardy.

It has a tendency to give our new residents the feeling that if officers suggest you leave. they are to be ignored. Even some who were ordered to leave failed to obey. Nothing bad will happen if you stay home. (Wanna bet?)

If and when a major hurricane threatens our area, (and there certainly will be), officials manning our County Emergency Operations Center are going to have a tremendous job. They must convince people, all of them, that suggestions are for their safety, regardless of what individuals may think. They must suggest precautions to be taken. They must epted as our leaders during what could prove to be a highly critical time period.

Hurricane Erin has lest Central Florida. While it will cause more problems when it hits the northern Gulf of Mexico, it is out of our area now. We can be thankful we got off so casy.

But unless we take more precautions and follow suggestions and orders, we may have little to be thankful for when the next hurricane rolls along.

Does anyone care?

is there anyone in Florida who cares? My husband, Dan Routly, is a human being created by God. Dan has been sitting on Florida's death row since November 1980, innocent of the crime while the actual guilty party, a woman, may still be in the Flint, Mich. area.

Dan was handed a jury recommendation of "life." However, this was overridden by our all too powerful judges. Judge Carven Angel (Ocala) in particular. Why even have a jury, I ask?

Personally, I'd have a real problem being a juror in the state of Florida. If they trust our judgment as far as a verdict, then why not on the actual sentence? That is too much power for one person. and it has to end ... now! It is much easier to corrupt one person as opposed to 12. Let's face it. unless we all can afford a "dream team" like O.J., we lose. It is a sad fact in our country today. I urge all Floridians to contact Gov. Chiles regarding the

I know of at least two people in the Flint. Mich. area and several in the Ocala, Fla. area, who can help save my husband's life. They know the truth about what happened in June 1979 and I urge you to please come forward. You know a lot more than the jury got to hear! Besides, even the judge (Angel) didn't take the jury's recommendation. That is a slap in the face to all of us residents of the state of Florida who serve on a jury. If a judge has the ultimate word, why bother having a jury? For a decoration? Honestly, it would be very difficult for me to take a call to jury duty very seriously, knowing that I would not be trusted on the sentence. We the People, remember?

We are all human (even judges) ... God knows the truth. Meanwhile, Dan Routly #076205 is on death row at Union Correctional Institution. In Raiford, Fla. and has been since 1980. Waiting ... for someone who knows the truth, to please come forward. He sits there innocent of the crime. Is there anyone in Florida who cares?

Keeping kids competitive for work

The superintendent of Seminole County Public Schools, Dr. Paul Hagerty, shared his concerns about the number of students dropping out of school and how it threatens the quality of life in our changing technological environment, not only for the individual drop-out rate but the community as a whole.

The National Center for Education Statistics provided data relative to the drop-out rate between 1982 through 1993 for persons 16-24 years of age by race/ethnicity. Overall, the drop-out rate was pretty consistent and slightly under 15 percent with a slight decline in 1992 which persisted through 1993. Considering race/ethnicity, white students' drop out rate was about 11 percent with a slight increase in 1991 and a decline to about 10 percent in 1992 and 1993. During the same period, black students drop-out rate declined from about 19 percent in 1982 to about 16 percent in 1992 and 1993. Hispanic students had approximately a 32 percent and 36 percent and Asians 21 percent percent drop out rate in 1982 but also had two and 51 percent. Therefore, it is apparent that the peak drop-out periods in 1988 and 1991 when youth who remain in school are selecting the almost 35 percent dropped out of school. In 1992 recommended courses. If this trend continues and 1993 the drop-out rate declined about 28 percent and 27 percent respectively.

Further national statistics assessed the percentage of high school graduates taking the science courses will probably be included in number of courses recommended for all students by "A Nation at Risk." Recommended courses were: 4 units in English, 3 units in social studies, ry for 1982 and 1994 about the number of 3 units in science and 3 units in math junits represented a year long course). Computer science was not included because few students participated in computer science classes in 1982 and this would have skewed the results. Considering all students in 1982 only 13 percent of students took the recommended courses as compared with 47 percent in 1992. The comparison among race/ethnic groups in 1982 and 1992 were: white 15 percent and 49 percent; black 10 percent and 44 percent; Hispanic, 6 perhaps in time 66 percent (two-thirds) or 75 percent (three-fourths) of our students will be taking the recommended courses. The College Board provided a national summacandidates taking Advanced Placement examinations. In 1982, 139,981 total conadidates took advance placement examinations compared to 447.972 in 1994. Minority candidates increased chart did not delineate the composition of minority candidates, consequently, it is possible that black. Asian, Hispanic were computed together which did not provide comparative racial/ethnic insights.

Hagerty, a former mathematics teacher and later one who had responsibility for the mathematics program in his former school district, discussed the role of mathematics in education. He indicated that just as reading is critical by fourth grade, algebra is critical in ninth grade. Algebra is a gatekeeper course for science and mathematics. Avoiding algebra in ninth grade may significantly close doors to future options. Algebra is the first mathematics course that needs mastering if a student desires to become an electrician, an engineer, astronaut, mathematician, scientist and various technological pursuits. Recognizing the need for more rigorous mathematics in Seminole High School. the general mathematics courses are being phased out and applied mathematics offered

Hagerty encourages all high school students to develop fall-back positions and climinate the all-or-nothing syndrome. Many students focus upon one option closing out all others which is unwise. For example, a student may desire to become an astronaut but if for some reason this objective is not realized there are many other fields available for consideration if one has taken mathematics and science courses. Our goal is to prepare students to be competitive in the world

First impressions long ago

The U.S. Navy brought me to Sanford. While it was 43 years ago, I'll never forget that first day and my first opinion of Sanford.

I arrived in Sanford by train from Norfolk. Va. There were taxi cabs on hand at the station to profit from the continuing arrival of sailors. so I had no transportation problems.

As we left the depot, I asked the cab driver about Sanford. I had never been here and to be honest, had never heard of the place. The driver offered to take me on a tour of the city before going to the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station. It didn't cost much, so I agreed.

What a trip it was. I particularly remember driving east along the lakefront. To my left was a giant bandshell (at what is now Memorial Park), where I was told the high school band gave concerts from time to time. There was also a town band which performed occasionally.

On my right was a zoo, complete with a monkey island and an elephant. I never expected a small town to have its own zoo and I was impressed. Farther down the lakefront I saw a portable roller skating rink, and a municipal swimming pool (now Fort Mellon Park property).

Then I saw that magnificant structure. I was told it was the Mayfair Hotel, home of the New York Giants who did their spring training in

It was a trip I will long remember.

Within the next few weeks, I toured the area and found Lake Mary. All of us sailors went there because there was excellent swimming at Crystal Lake. Everyone gathered there. especially on the weekends, and a good time was had by all. Although not modernized in any way, downtown Lake Mary offered some excellent stores for shopping.

Visiting in downtown Sanford on a Saturday night became a ritual. All the stores were open. and everyone was there. It was difficult to find a parking place. People greeted others with friendly words and an occasional hug, possibly not having seen each other since the previous Saturday night.

It didn't matter if they wanted to shop or not. People just gathered there to be together.

There was also the Ritz Theater and bowling alley downtown, which were also gathering places for folks throughout the week.

How times have changed. Crystal Lake in Lake Mary hasn't been open to public swimming for many years. The municipal swimming pool was torn down within a few years after l'arrived.

The Ritz Theater is closed. The bowling alley is gone, having been replaced by an excellent facility on Airport Boulevard, but away from downtown. Why not however. People no longer gather on First Street on a Saturday night.

The band shell was torn down, and the roller skating rink didn't last long. The Mayfair Hotel is now international headquarters for the New Tribes Mission.

Of course, even the Glants are no longer in New York so times change all over.

Regarding that first taxi cab ride through Sanford, I specifically recall the words the driver said as we went through the city, "I don't know if you'll like Sanford or not. It depends on what you like. After all, we have 23 churches but only three bars.

What I wonder now is, do newcomers to our area of Central Florida still find things which attract their attention and persuade them to settle here? Are there things to do locally without going to the attractions?

We have many organizations looking into the future of the area. For the sake of the future of Sanford. Lake Mary and Seminole County, it should be pointed out that the first appearances made by first-timers coming into the area are highly important. I liked what I saw. I stayed. Will they?

Constitution on the street

BOSTON - Hollywood has always been interested in sex for sale. It's a cottage industry of sorts. They've made a bundle on prostitutes from "Pretty Woman" at the low end of the streetwalker scale to "Indecent Proposal" at the high end.

A few weeks ago, Hugh Grant became the most famous john in America simply by joining the town's three obsessions - money. cars and sex — together for one moment of what the law called

'lewd conduct.' Then, Heldi Fleiss was back in court as madam to the stars Charlie Sheen owner up to some $53,500

The sympathy in Grants' case went entirely to Elizabeth Hurley, the wronged woman with whom he lives (uh. lived?) in what used to be called sin. The apologies in Sheen's case went to his flance. The buzz has been about why on earth these guys "had to" pay for sex. No one asked why on earth

these working women had to be paid for sex. Still, if you think that the most intriguing tegal action about prostitution is in Tinseltown, you ain't seen nothin' yet. With all due respect to Hugh and Heldi, the star of the show may be a Florida woman with the moniker, Jane Roe II. The former prostitute is suing to have state laws banning the sale of sex declared unconstitutional. She's suing on the grounds that the laws violate her right to privacy. Fashioning herself after the first Jane Roe (as in Ree v. Wade). Jane Il says that if a woman has the right to an abortion, "how can a woman not have the right to use her own reproductive organs to give away sex or charge for it as she sees fit ..." And she's won the right to ask this in court. In falmess, Jane's line of argument is not entirely off the wall. In 1977, a study on sex bias in the law said that "prostitution as a consensual act between adults is probably within the zone of privacy protected by recent

was Ruth Bader Ginsburg. Historically, women's rights advocates have been of at least two minds about prostitution. One mind says that a woman should be free to conduct her business — the world's oldest profession - without state interference or police harassment. The other mind says that a woman should be protected from falling victim to male lust (19th century) or exploitation (20th century). The moral, legal, medical arguments range across the spectrum. Reformers want to decriminalize the sale of sex, or crack down on johns as well as janes, or regulate the health safety of the uh, product. Some believe women are better off if they can choose their own line of work while others say that prostitution is a phony and dangerous un-choice. In her own petition, Jane Roe II describes her old job as "a lucrative land often glamorous) business" to which she would like to return. She asks, "Does the state just want women to make love for free?"

But whatever the state thinks about free love, the original Roe decision doesn't grant a blanket permission to "do whatever you want with your own body,'

There are all sorts of reasons - good, bad and indifferent - for making prostitution legal. But we're better off arguing this in public and in the legislature, not the courts. In short, Jane, don't put your Constitution out on the street.

Scrap rubber drive

President Roosevelt had recently asked for a two-week collection of scrap rubber. It was explained that if enough was obtained, gas rationing may not be necessary in the effort to conserve rubber.

S.D. Highleyman, chairman of Sanford's Salvage Committee. urged citizens to bring their old rubber donations to the bin just west of the Florida State Bank or to any filling station. They would be paid one cent a pound. People could also call the Boy Scouts who would pick up the rubber assisted by farmers who were donating their time and trucks.

Suggestions given of old rubber to be donated were hot water bottles, garden hoses, tires, inner tubes, rubber soles and fruit jar rings. They would eventually be sent to the RFC Rubber Reserve Company who would convert them to usable rubber.

The partial reopening follows a decision Thursday to close the beach to cars in order to give beach officials time to install signs marking beach conservations zones.

The county was ordered by a federal court judge last week to clearly mark the conservation zones, which are generally considered all areas of the beach within 30 feet of a dune or scawall.

In the ruling. Judge Ann Conway ordered the county to suspend night beach driving and parking. In addition, she suggested the county must clearly delineate conservation zones, the areas of soft sand many endangered sea turtles nest in.

Judge Conway issued her ruling after New Smyrna Beach residents Rita Alexander and Shirley Reynolds filed a federal lawsuit seeking to ban cars from the beach to protect endangered sea turtles and hatchlings.

Even though county officials were diligently working on reopening the beach to vehicles. high tides could force the county to close the beaches periodically.

Hoke and Randolph's consulting fee (which will be between $2,000 and $4,000) will be paid by the City of Sanford.

According to Meeks, the pair have had success securing ice TEA money in the past for other municipalities.

The waterfront committee studied various options for the waikway. They have decided to propose a walk that would be on the north side of the roadway, that includes some areas for fishing or scenic observation of the lake. There will be a railing separating the walkway from the lake, but the committee has not decided of what that railing will be composed.

"It depends on what kind of ice TEA money we can get." Mecks noted.

The committee looked at the possibility of having the walk at retch only the length of downtown (from Melionville Avenue to French Avenue) since that is the area of concentration for the redevelopment projects. They decided to go the full length of the public lakefront to take advantage of the full beauty the area has to offer, Mecks said.

At close to four and a half miles the pedestrian-bike path would be one of the longest continuous sidewalks in the world.

Future plans call for a cooperative effort with Volusia County, Mecks said, that would result in a walkway encircling all of Lake Monroe.

The committee is hoping to receive enough Ice TEA money to complete the project which could cost in excess of $1 million.

The application has gone before the regional planning council which will review it before it is submitted for consideration for the intermodal Surface Transportation Engineering Award.

Some complaints are pending regarding the recent rezoning of the district's high school attendance zones.

While the complaintants in that case are reluctant to talk about the specifics, they have expressed a dissatisfaction with the district's plan which will send minority students who would have attended nearby Seminole High School to Winter Springs High School 11 miles away.

Still, the district believes the court order is not necessary to resolve Issues even such as that.

According to Supt. said, "that every time I have been around, there have been several hundred workers involved, so that was certainly a benefit to the employment picture."

Regarding the actual jobs, she estimated 2,000 would be available, with the number possibly growing to 2,500 by the time all of the proposed 230 stores are fully operational.

"Right now, the major stores are each conducting their own hiring," she said. "Of course the most wanted are people with some retail experience, but the problem I have heard is that there haven't been enough people applying."

Responding to a question regarding how many employees would be hired from the Sanford area, she commented, "If the people locally don't apply, then I'm afraid the jobs will be filled by whoever does apply."

One query targeted any plans to have a major banking facility near the mall. Goodrich responded that no plans were on the books yet, "but we're looking for one," she said.

Another question which drew the attention of the audience focused on transportation efforts which might be underway between the city and the mall.

"We are working with the city and Lynx Bus service on this," Goodrich responded. "We are looking at possibly a 20 minute trip between the city and the mall, with busses to take employees out there possibly as early as 9 a.m., and making their final runs leaving the mall at approximately 7 p.m. That will be Monday through Saturday, with shorter hours on Sunday."

Regarding cooperation between the mall and the City of Sanford, one questioner asked if there would be some type of information booth at the mall capable of giving out information regarding downtown Sanford and the waterfront area.

"We have an agreement with the city regarding exposure at the mail." she said, "but how it may be used I cannot answer. We are in the business of making money, and there is still space which can be rented, but we don't give it away free. If the city wants to include information pertaining to the chamber and its activities, it would be up to them."

Also asked: "What cooperative endeavors would the mall undertake regarding our schools?"

"The Simon malls all believe public schools are important to a city," she said. "We like to make a partnership with the schools, probably by providing such activities as an art show or technical exhibit. Even the fire department may give lectures to nursery school age children, and there may be tours arranged when Santa Claus arrives toward Christmas."

One questioner asked how the mall hoped to be successful in this area with approximately 65,000 in population, when the Altatmonte Mail has such a larger population area.

"The Aliamonte Mall is the nearest to our south." Goodrich said, "but to the north, the nearest is in Daytona Beach, about 40 miles away. We don't expect only Sanford people to support us, but we will be depending on a much larger population, and I have no doubt we'll be successful."

Goodrich discussed the grand opening Gala, to be held beginning at 7 p.m. on September 21.
"That will be a night of nights."
she said. "We are calling it 'Destination Seminole' and for a charge of $35 per person, we will be offering food, beverages, and top quality entertainment."

"Then the next morning we'll have a sports tribute breakfast, with prizes, special guests and many sports related activities. Cost for that is $5 per person, and we expect it to be an outstanding event," she said.

Part of the proceeds from the opening gala will be going to United Cerebal Palsy Foundation, while part of the proceeds from the sports breakfast will go to the Central Florida Regional Hospital.

Following Goodrich's presentation. Wanda Kelly, temporary executive director of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce gave her opinion of the mall's arrival in the lives of Sanford residents. "It will be a combination of the mall helping us, and we will have to help them," she said. "The way I see it, the mall won't hurt Sanford, It will help."

Mantle feeling stronger

DALLAS - Mickey Mantle was stronger Saturday after blood transfusions helped him combat anemia, and the Hall of Famer is expected to go home Monday.

The 63-year-old Mantle returned to Baylor University Medical Center on Friday for treatment of anemia brought on by his chemotherapy for lung cancer and remained in stable condition on Saturday, his doctor said.

Dr. Daniel DeMarco, Mantle's gastroenterologist, said the former Yankee slugger's second hospital stay in a week wasn't a setback.

"We've already had that," he said, referring to the disclosure last week that Mantle's liver cancer had spread to one of his lungs. "This is just a measure to make him feel better, and he does feel better."

Salaam signs with Bears

Tagliabue wins Hambletonian

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. - When the queen of the trotters flopped in the $1.2 million Hambletonian, harness racing's king took over. John Campbell scored a record-tying fourth driving win in the Hambletonian, guiding lightly raced Tagliabue to an easy win in a race that might be remembered most for the sensational filly who didn't make it to the final Saturday.

CR Kay Suzie, who had dominated the 3-year-old trotting scene and was almost everyone's favorite to win trotting's most prestigious race, broke stride in the first heat and just missed qualifying for the final.

County athletes face busy Monday

By DEAN SMITH Herald Sports Editor

SANFORD - Grab your books and practice gear, athletes, it's going to be a busy Monday. Seminole County high school athletes, particularly football players, will be traveling into unchartered waters Monday, when formal practices for the fall sports season may first be conducted. For the first time in anyone's memory, football practice and the first day of school will be on the same day. And with classes starting Monday. most football coaches are not going to be able to hold their standard two-a-day season-opening practices. now having to opt for either an early morning conditioning session and a normal afternoon practice, or one practice in the afternoon. "Seminole County schools are the only ones having to deal with this." said Seminole High School head football coach Ernie McPherson. 'So we will be a little behind the other counties. I don't know about the other county schools, but at Seminole, we will only have one afternoon practice a day.

It wasn't that long ago — a little less than three months — that Seminole County high schools wrapped up the 1994-95 athletic calendar with the spring football jamboree. The 1995-96 athletic year begins Monday, when fall sports may begin formal preseason workouts. The first varsity football games are Friday, Sept. 1.

SANFORD - Birds have to fly. fish have to swim, and students (hopefully) have to graduate.

The coaches at Seminole Community College are dealing with that fact of life, bidding farewell to 19 athletes from the baseball, basketball, and fastpitch softball

The SCC baseball team lost nine players to graduation, including first-team all-Mid-Florida Conference shortstop Dale Hardy, who will continue his collegiate career at NCAA Division II power Florida Southern this year after hitting over 300 for the Raiders last season.

The Raiders also are losing the .300-plus batting averages of catcher Calvin Muller and outfielder Isrcal Hollister. Muller is going to Costal Carolina University, while Hollister heads to University of South Carolina at Aiken.

Second baseman David Baez and utility player Scott Fergerson round out the non-pitching losses. Fergerson, a graduate of Seminole High School, is going to Georgetown, while Baez' destination is not known.

Raider coach Jack Pantelias will also have to replace four members of the pitching staff that had one of the lowest ERA's in the state last Tony VonDolteren, who fired a no-hitter last season, will be attending Florida Atlantic University. Robbie Morgan, also a graduate of Seminole High School, is heading for Stetson, while Oliver Harwas will be at University of South Carolina at Columbia. Vincent Nasca's future plans are not known.

"All of these kids are hard workers," Pantelias said. "They did the best they could every day, and they are all good students."

The Raiders' fastpitch softball team lost three players, including two All-Conference selections. Catcher Angela Woessner, a firstteam M-FC selection, is headed for the University of North Florida in Jacksonville. She was also a second-team All-State and All-Southeast Region pick last season. ☐ See Graduates, Page 3B

ORLANDO - The University of Central Florida kicked off its preparation for the 1995 football season Saturday by welcoming 23 freshman to campus. The freshman will go through academic orientation and team meetings today before starting practice Monday at 9:45 a.m.

All the players expected to report showed ready to begin their college careers, including perhaps the most heralded recruit in UCF history, Daunte Culpepper.

A quarterback from Ocala-Vanguard High School, Culpepper earned Florida's Mr. Football honors last year. He is expected to battle junior Kevin Reid for the starting job at quarterback.

Other freshman expected to make an immediate impact are: · defensive back Mountain Murray from Fort Myers-Cape Coral High School: • receiver Tiwon Ford from Alachua-Santa Fe; · receiver Mark Nonsant from West Palm Bench-Lake Worth:

• and defensive lineman David Wilson from Merritt Island.

A change in NCAA regulations allows member schools to bring in freshman early this year. The remainder of the team reports Tuesday, with practice starting Thursday. The Knights, who were 7-4 last year, open their

1995 campaign on Aug. 31 against Eastern

Kentucky at the Citrus Bowl.

Tim Raines is a Sanford native and Seminole High School graduate now playing for the Chicago White Sox. His stats are for the 1995 season in the first column, personal best season totals in the second column and current career totals (including 1995 games) in the third column.

Raines again was the lone bright spot for the White Sox Friday night as he went 2-for-3, hit his 10th home run of the season, scored one run, drove in another and stoll his 11th base, giving him an American League record 40 steals in a row, but the Sox were crushed 13-3 by the Cleveland Indians. Raines and the White Sox can be seen on Monday night against the Seattle Mariners on WGN at 10 p.m.

Foreign exchange students offer cultural opportunities

By VICKI DeSORMIER Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Youngsters from all over the world dream of coming to a place just like this for a few weeks, a few months or even for a year. That experience could be both a fun time and an unparalleled educational experience.

"We've had very good experiences with Seminole County in the past," said Kerry Dixon of Academic Year in America. "The people in Central Florida are very kind and warm and it is a unique sort of place because of all the attractions in that area."

Dixon said that it has, however, become increasingly difficult to find host families anywhere in the United States in recent times. They are looking for families willing to open their homes to the youngsters who are hoping to study here and learn about American culture.

Similarly, American International Student Exchange (AISE). is hoping that more people will open their hears and their homes to youngsters from around the world." Belinda Biron of AISE

Biron said AISE students spend the full school year, from August through the following June in the host home.

For more than a decade the arrangement has worked well. Now it seems, however, that the fear of a heavy financial burden is frightening families away from volunteering as hosts.

Dixon and Biron emphasized that the financial impact on a family is minimal in comparison with the educational and cultural experience they will gain.

"Volunteering to host a high school foreign exchange student can be a fun and exciting way to learn more about the different cultures of the world, while opening a young person's eyes to the excitement of American life," said Biron.

The programs both bring in students from around the world from places as far-ranging as Kyrgyzstan, Brazil and the Netherlands to Seminole County

"They love coming to this part of the country," Dixon said.

Sergents wed 50 years; 4-H families visit Alaska

Audrey and Harold Sergent

DORIS DIETRICH

Audrey and Harold Sergent celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on July 21. They were married on that day in 1945 in Charleston, W. Va.

For 38 years of their marriage. the Sergents have lived in ths same house on Airport Boulevard where they reised their four children. And now, they lament the proposed four-laning of the boulevard which, if widened, will claim their home.

On their actual anniversary. the couple were honored at dinner by their children. In August a big celebration is planned when all of the children can attend.

Harold spent four years in the U.S. Navy Scabees and retired in 1945. He was a journeyman plumber for 36 years and is still a member of Plumbers Local 803. Audrey has been a homemaker all her life. Both are in good health and they enjoy fishing, garage sales, gardening

Florida A&M University, Tallahassee campus was the site of the 6th annual aummer Band Camp. Three young baby Rattiers from Sanford spent a great one-week experience, never to be forgotten, said George Jennings Jr. He admits the work was hard and the hours of training were indeed long, but he made it through the week without passing out at all, he said, but the musical knowledge and experience gained was a much needed education. George said it was fun being a baby Rattler, meeting new people who also are lovers of music, band, marching. jazz and concert. He admitted it taught him strict discipline, and oh, how difficult it really was.

Kevin Stallworth enjoyed his week he said; it helped him to become a better musician. He ulso learned to be more dedicated and have a greater determination to succeed. Kevin Michigan. Larnell and George said he accomplished in one

Only 16 percent of voters turn out

Whether It was the approaching Hurricane Erin or voter apathy, voter turnout was low in Lake Mary's referendum. Tuesday, Aug. 1. Only 706 of the city's 4.418 registered voters turned out to vote. That's just 16 percent.

Two of the three propositions passed. Voters rejected, by a mere 16 votes, the recreation project.

The referendum was brought before the voters because when the city voted to bury the power lines on Lake Mary Boulevard. some Lake Mary citizens got angry that money was being spent on what they thought was an unnecessary project. Now, any time the city wants to borrow money that cannot be paid off in a year, the citizens have to vote on it. The bustnesses and homes on Lake Mary Boulevard, by the way, were among the lew fortunate ones in the Lake Mary area that didn't lose power in the wake of Erin. There were two or three large branches down on the boulevard Wednesday morning, but with was no damage.

Several voters were in-Tuesday, When asked why he went out to vote despite the approaching hurricane, Daniel dittu said he felt it was important to be involved in the community. He and his wife have lived in Lake Mary for four years. One of the reasons they chose Lake Mary as their home was the importance of community involvement. When asked the same question, another voter (who shall remain nameless) stated that his/her reason for coming out to vote was to keep his/her taxes from going up. When asked if that person knew that voting yes on all of the issues would not have raised their taxes, the person replied no. It was pointed out that that very pertinent information had been in this column at least three times, in other sections of the Sanford Herald, several times in The Orlando Sentinel and in the city's own newsletter. I don't read the newpaper, the person said, somewhat sheepishly.

Rejecting one's responsibility as a citizen by not voting is bad enough, but to vote without knowing what you're voting on. without knowing what the vote means to your community and to yourself, is worse than not voting at all.

Now the city of Lake Mary wilbe left wondering if more than one of the naysayers of the recreation project were completely untiformed about the the power lines buried, there matter With such a narrow loss. Force mission, organization and on a project that would have been beneficial to the city and terviewed exiting the polls would not have raised property taxes, the children who would have benefited most from the toward an associate degree project will probably also through the Community College wonder the same thing traveling by bus to Soldotna.

After their arrival in Anchorage. from Orlando International Airport, they spent three hours

Lindsey Hodges said, "The sun rotates sort of sideways as opposed to overhead as it does here (in Florida) leaving Alaska with the "Midnight Sun." Even at the darkest moment, it is only dusk."

The first morning, several families went clam digging including the Boses, Linda and Chuck; the Byerts, Alice Margaret, Dean and Melinda: the Greggs, Barbara. Richard and Joey; and the Jamisons, Pete, Mirlam and Everyone else spent the day at Nintlehik Fairgrounds, reputed to be the biggest little fair in Alaska, comparable to the Central Florida Fairgrounds. According to Lindsey, "Ninilchik also sports a Russian church and a beach."

Next, they crowd was off to Halibut Cove, where the streets are paved with water and the transportation mode is a ferry. It is a quiet lagoon backed by mountains. Some enjoyed the cock-covered beach while others like Brett Sanborn and Cindi Meriwewther went canoeing.

Lindsey said Ryan and Audrea Sanborn and Katy Paul served as the rescue team when several became stranded on a mountain. David Terwilleger spearheaded another rescue mission when his wife and others were stranded in Lindsey was impressed with the safety and security of Alaska with a minimum crime rate. One of the highlights of the trip was visiting Exit Glacier in Seaward and touring Alaskan waters including Resurrection Bay. On the water tour, the group saw a variety of both marine and land animals. Later, they traveled to Denall National Park where they went water rafting and some brave souls wwent swimming in 34 degree water. Others went horseback riding which was planned by the Paul family. Maureen Quinn found riding in a Denali tundra most ebjoyable.

In Fairbanks, mnay 4-hers and their families had the opportrunity of a lifetime, flying over the Arctic Circle. For the Shoemaker family, Judy, Garth, Jill and Jeff, this was a highlight of the tour. The group saw muskox at the University of Alaska and and went dog-

Kiwanis supports Family Day

"The Kiwanis Club of Sanford

urges every family in the San-ford area to observe Family Day on Sunday, Aug. 13." said club president Phil Gunster.

Family Day seeks to dramatize family solidarity and pride, reaffirming the family's role as the cornerstone of society and the best vehicle for teaching basic truths and morality to children, Phil added.

Appropriate Family Day activities include family reunions or outings, religious worship, and work on family trees.

Family Day was begun in the late 1960s by Kiwanis Interna-tional and received the immediate endorsement of civic. church, governmental, educational and labor leaders. Through the years, Gunster said. Family Day has grown in outreach and in effectiveness.

Last year, Kiwanis clubs raised and spent more than $65 million on community service activities, with a special emphasis on meeting the needs of young children. Today, Kiwanis numbers 8,650 clubs and 327,000 members in 77 countries around the world.

Jacqueline Creamer holds Sugar and Fift in a setting of crafts she has created.

Creamer is a born artist

By SUSAN WENNER Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Jim and Jacqueline Creamer will soon celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. Along with years of memories with her husband, Mrs. Creamer has a house full of memorabilis she has created or gifts that have been given to add to her collections.

Creamer has several collections of anything from music boxes and clocks to her many creations of afgans, needlepoint, macrame, punch rugs, latch hook rugs, ceramics and beautifully clad dolls. As she put it, "I like to keep my hands busy."

Mr. Creamer added that he even has his own collection. He collects tennis shoes. His 30 plus pairs fill closet space and some floor space in their country style Sanford home.

Their special little girls (dogs) Fifi and Sugar occasionally wear beautiful hand crocheted sweaters made by Creamer to keep warm in the winter time. She has filled her home with crocheted ducks, bears and a fire hydrant that is off limits to the tiny pooches.

Over 100 dolls gather in Creamers bedroom with various colors of crocheted dresses and hats. Another room of the their home houses a closet brimming from top to bottom with afgans and

With the 25 or more afgans Creamer modestly displayed the many animals and various patterns of houses and other beautifully crafted items. Creamer said." I have been crocheting since I was a little girl. My mother and grandmother used to sit around by lamplight in the evenings and crochet. My mother taught me. I still have a lot of her pieces. Back then there wasn't metal crochet hooks so we would get hooks carved out of wood to use."

Intricate patterns of quilts lay daintly on the beds of her three bedroom home. A total of over 25 quilts still abide in the Creamer home. "I have given a lot to family and friends for births, birthdays, and such," she said. "I told my grandaughters that I would save part of them for their hope chests."

She carried several lap quilts from her work area. "I just began working on lap quilts." she said. "They're fun. I have done some cross stitch on one."

Adorning many of Creamers' music boxes was much of her crochet projects. Music boxes collected over decades line shelves and counter tops. Her favorite was cited as one given to her by her sister. "My sister gave me a music box 20 years ago," she said. "When I play it, it makes me

Other music boxes include tea kettles, clocks, a schoolhouse, a small floral arrangment. Christmas carolers, a Holland windmill, cats on a couch, couple on a swing, mice, ballerina, plano man, church, pet shop, angel, and many more. She has one that was a dual music box playing several tunes.

Another favorite music box was named as a four-inch chest of drawers. "My husband bought this for me when we were married," she said. "It's 50 years old. We were stationed in Alaska while in the service."

Treasured of all her collections was cited as her clock collection. Over 30 clocks chime and tick to a rymthmic beat. Clocks from the size of a teacup to a 6 and a half foot grandfather clock decorate their cozy home. Wherever the couple may travel clocks may be purchased. "My dad made clocks so that is what got me interested." said Creamer. "I still have one that he made. We have some from Arkansas, Washington state, Georgia and Tennessee. Th most unusual clock Creamer has was named as a carousel merry-go-round. "It plays 'It's a Small World'. I also have a 35 year old mantle clock."

The Creamers have raised three children, Rex. Peggy and Andy through years of creations and collections. Six grandchildren and two great grandchildren also add to their loved ones. The couple have been in Sanford since 1957.

developing an interest from television or movie exposure. Although self defense is usually the first reason given, it is the opinion of the Bushido Academy that it should be the last. "The practice of martial arts builds self confidence, courage, awareness, respect for self and others and grace; the positive environment of the dojo (school) provides an incentive to excel in karate and daily activities. Higher ranking students serve as role models and the belt ranking serves as a goal to work toward while increasing concentration. The training improves the motor coordination skills, increases flexibility, and aerobic capacity at the physical level controlling emotions by inhibiting aggression and hostility teaches that karate is used as a last resort, that violence can most often be eliminated. This is the philosophy of the Bushido Academy of Karate, as expressed by Joe Fyock.

News you can really sink your teeth into

By DR. MICHAEL FREEDMAN

Not long ago, a lot of people would lose all their teeth as they got older. That doesn't happen as much as it used to, which reinforces the need for older people to keep those teeth healthy and avoid other medical problems by exercising dental

In the 1970s, nearly 10 percent of people aged 18 to 64 and 30 percent of those 55 to 64 were toothless.

Now, the incidence of toothlessness has dropped to 3.8 percent for the 64-and-under group and 15 percent for ages 55 to 64. Fluoridation, better dental treatment and better personal care have contributed to the improvement.

Osteoporosis, a boneweakening condition that occurs more in women than men, can cause tooth loss. A dentist can identify the early symptoms. Calcium supplements, exercise and estrogen therapy for women can help.

People with arthritis may require special toothbrushes and other help for good dental care. They are also vulnerable to stomatitis, an inflammatory disease of the mouth, which can be detected and treated by a dentist.

Certain plays are deceptively difficult to find when they go against the normal grain. One is used to following the textbook. When something rarely highlighted in a book crops up. we all struggle to find the winning play.

This is particularly true in today's deal, which was reported by Australian international Dick Cummings.

South opened with a modern pre-empt: one with 13 cards. some of which are in the suit bid. East did well to double five diamonds because five hearts is easily defeated.

Perhaps East didn't do so well after all. With this delense, he should have sacrificed in five hearts, despite East-West's having a combined 27 high-card points.

Strangely, the winning defense is a heart switch, forcing South to ruff in the dummy. Declarer does best to lead a trump to his king. But West completes his good work by ducking this, leaving the defense in control. If South plays another trump, the defenders cash two heart tricks.
