Oil Prices Could Fall As OPEC Fights Outsiders

GENEVA (UPI) — OPEC oil ministers argued in private today over a major switch in policy aimed at protecting OPEC's shrunken share of world markets by allowing a fall in prices. Several ministers said a majority of the 13 members were resigned to a full price war with non-OPEC oil producing countries because of the failure to bolster prices by limiting output. OPEC officials said the ministers met among themselves in an effort to reach consensus on a statement at the end of their year-end meeting which began on Saturday. They had been scheduled to hold a final session at 10 a.m. but this was delayed by last-minute differences. Ministers met by themselves in an suite on the sealed-off 17th floor of the Hotel Intercontinental. Ministers said Sunday night that a six-minister committee was being set up to devise a new strategy on defending OPEC's market share. The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries' share of the world market has fallen to 35 percent from 65 percent six years ago. Recommendations are to be made by the end of February or early March, probably at another ministerial conference. The committee will be headed by Venezuelan oil minister Arturo Hernandez Grisanti, the new OPEC president. Other OPEC members agreeing to sit on the committee were Algeria, Kuwait, Iran, Iraq and the United Arab Emirates. Emirates minister Mana Saeed Otaiba as well as Yamani predicted that oil prices could fall to as low as $20 per barrel in an all-out fight between OPEC and such outsiders as Britain and Norway. Free market prices were falling today both in anticipation of such a struggle and because of unusually warm winter weather in Europe. Otaiba told reporters Sunday night that such a price would hurt the 13 OPEC members but its effect "would not be devastating." "The majority of members know that we have to be more flexible and make price sacrifices," he said. OPEC's main targets are North Sea oil producers Britain and Norway, which basically allow the market to set prices.

People-roni Pizza

This giant pizza with people garnish was entered by the Pizza Makers in the Longwood Christmas Parade Saturday morning. Acting City Administrator and Police Chief Greg Manning estimated more than 6,000 persons lined State Road 434 to view the 1 1/2-hour parade. There were 90 units in the march representing civic, youth, veterans, and church groups. Congressman Bill McCollum was grand marshal.

City Looks To Future

Requests for a municipal swimming pool and expanding municipal boundaries will be addressed tonight by the Sanford City Commission. The Youth Advisory Committee (YAC) asked commissioners last week to consider obtaining the Sanford Airport Authority pool as a swim center for the entire community. The Planning and Zoning Commission has requested the city commission adopt an interim land use map, containing approximately 4-square miles of unincorporated Seminole County land. According to P&Z Chairman John Morris, the map will serve as a reference for city planners and those considering annexation by Sanford. The interim map targets unincorporated Seminole County property surrounding Interstate-4 and State Road 46 as Sanford's future area of primary growth. This land will become highly developed commercial city property within the next 20 years, Morris said. Because the map includes county property, the state prohibits it from being included in the new comprehensive plan the P&Z is developing for the city. Tonight, the city commission will consider allocating approximately $50,000 to hire

Lawyers Prepare For 1st Yankee Lake Hearing

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer
Seminole County commissioners and administrators will be pitted against their Sanford counterparts, attorneys for the defendants and plaintiffs will cross-examine one another and various technical and business representatives, including Sanford entrepreneur Jeno Paulucci, will be heard from when — and if — the Yankee Lake condemnation proceeding receives its day in court. As depositions continue and witness lists are compiled, the suit's cast of characters indicates attorneys for both sides will attempt to bolster their arguments with testimony that creates a balance between the technical expertise and the legal tactics utilized by Sanford and the county during efforts to obtain Yankee Lake for their wastewater management programs. While hearing strategies continue to develop, attorneys defending against the Sanford suit have also filed dismissal requests which charge the city with violating state laws when bringing the action and failing to name in the suit all the parties involved in the Yankee Lake ownership squabble. City Attorney William Colbert has rebutted the defendants' claims point by point and said he is confident the case will be heard in court. The dismissal motions will be addressed at the suit's formal hearing, rather than this week's case management conference. County Attorney Nikki Clayton said. Expediting the attorneys' efforts to compile their cases is a decree from Seminole/Brevard Circuit Judge Dominick J. Saffi, who has ordered the legal representatives to present comprehensive documentation when they appear before him at the case management conference. Saffi is also expected to consider the attorneys' joint-motion requesting the suit be scheduled for a January hearing date that doesn't conflict with their trial schedules. Last week, the judge cited his own scheduling conflict, which necessitated the conference be postponed from today until Thursday. The extra three days, however, will apparently be put to good use by the suit's attorneys, who have been told that substantiating their positions will require detailed presentations. Saffi has called for attorneys to submit a list of trial exhibits, the names and addresses of all witnesses "and the valuation placed upon them," and extensive Yankee Lake appraisal and deed information, including parcel numbers, acreage, purchase contract stipulations, past and present sale and ownership documentation and the names of all

Arson, Attempted Murder Charged

Sanford Man Accused Of Igniting Home

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer
A Sanford man accused of dousing a home with kerosene and setting it afire has been charged with arson and attempted murder. The home the man allegedly tried to burn at 2450 Center Street in Sanford was occupied at the time of the fire at about 6:45 p.m. Sunday, a Seminole County sheriff's report said. Sheriff's deputy Daniel Lafleur the first officer to arrive at the home of Dorothy A. Perove, 28, reported she ran up to him crying and was holding a knife with a six-inch blade. Ms. Perove told Lafleur she feared for her life and the lives of her two children who are also the children of the suspect in the case, the report said. According to Lafleur's report the suspect had doused Ms. Perove's couch and porch and an area outside her home with kerosene, which he allegedly set afire. The suspect, who is Ms. Perove's common-law husband, was involved in a domestic dispute with her when he told her he was "going to burn her out," sheriff's investigator Barry Brady said. The man had reportedly threatened to kill Ms. Perove and her children, the report said. Witnesses had extinguished the fire had thrown the suspect to the ground before Lafleur arrived, the report said. The suspect's shoulder was dislocated and cut in the scuffle. He was transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, where he was arrested at 10:59 p.m., the report said. Lafleur was also treated at and released from Central Florida Regional Hospital. Embers from the fire blew into Lafleur's eyes and were removed at the hospital, Brady said. A Seminole County fire inspector also received a minor cut to his finger at the scene, Brady said. Damage to the home was estimated at $25, he said. Donald Eugene Herring, 24, of 2450 Center St. and 2321 Church St. in Sanford has been charged in the case. He was being held without bond on the attempted murder charge and on $8,000 bond on the arson charge.

Frey Nets $200,000 At Area Fund-Raiser

Campaign organizers for former U.S. Representative Lou Frey, seeking the Republican nomination for governor in the coming primary, think they've come up with a great idea: try to convince state Representative Tom Gallagher to consider joining forces with them and become Frey's running mate for lieutenant governor. Gallagher, of Miami, also a Republican candidate for governor, said today he considers the offer a compliment, but would prefer it if Frey would agree to be his (Gallagher's) running mate. Frey acknowledged that Gallagher would be one among several persons he would consider as a possible running mate if he wins the primary. That acknowledgement came Sunday night at a fund-raiser for Frey at the Villa Nova in Winter Park where the candidate raised $200,000, bringing his total campaign dollars raised to date near $750,000.

The $200,000, contributed by more than 300 of Frey's friends, associates and supporters who paid $1,000 a couple (some gave more) to attend Sunday's fund-raiser, may be the largest amount raised by a candidate at a single event in Central Florida, according to state Rep. Tom Drage, R-Orlando. Besides various political heavyweights from Orange County, some Seminole County Frey supporters were on hand Sunday night, including County Commissioner Barbara Christensen, Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission Chairman John Morris, and real estate developer Bill Kirk. And although state party leader Jeanie Austin of Orlando was also on hand, she made it clear

Care Becomes Rural/Metro

Ambulances Renamed

Ambulances in Seminole County will be sporting a new name after Thursday, according to a vice president of a franchise that purchased the company. Ambulances identified as "Care" will be repainted to say "Rural/Metro," according to Cas Karbo, Orlando vice president of operations for Rural/Metro Corporation, Scottsdale, Ariz. Rural/Metro begins operating the emergency service Thursday. The name change was approved by the Seminole County Commission which subsidizes the rescue service. City Ambulance, which was doing business as Care Ambulance, was purchased by Rural/Metro. Rural/Metro will be doing business through City Ambulance so it can receive the subsidy, according to Bob McMillan, an attorney for Seminole County. If Rural/Metro had purchased the company then legally closed it down replacing it with its operations, it would have had to negotiate a franchise, McMillan said. The $198,000 subsidy is scheduled to be reviewed in six months. Karbo said the company will continue to operate four ambulances, 24-hours a day in the county. They are based in Sanford, Altamonte Springs, Casselberry and Winter Springs. Each ambulance is staffed by two paramedics. "Having become the established contract provider for emergency medical service in Orange County, this was a logical and opportune expansion for us," Karbo said. "We look forward to providing the same quality of service for the Seminole County residents as our Orange County customers have come to expect from us," he said. Rural/Metro purchased Herndon Ambulance Service in Orange County about the same time City Ambulance purchased Herndon Ambulance Service in Seminole County. City ambulance sold out to Rural/Metro after 18 months of service punctuated with customer complaints of unprofessionalism, drug use among paramedics.

Wal-Mart Wedding For Homeless Couple

ANDERSON, S.C. (UPI) — An unemployed couple who were living in a car were married at the local Wal-Mart discount department store and given a honeymoon in a Hyatt Regency hotel, courtesy of store employees who learned of their plight. "The same thing could have happened in July or anytime, but since it is Christmas, it is extra special," said store manager Val Freeman. Mary Jane Smith, 30, and unemployed construction worker Terry Holley, 23, said they were in love but couldn't afford to get married. The two exchanged vows Friday, however, in the Anderson Wal-Mart store in a ceremony arranged by employees. The bride was given a job at the store. Smith had applied earlier to work as a cashier at the Wal-Mart but couldn't provide an address. She explained to Freeman that she and Holley had lived in a car for weeks, surviving off cold canned soup. Jerry Colegrove, an employee in the sporting goods department and a part-time pastor, performed the ceremony. "We have gathered together in this most unusual place," Colegrove said at the wedding.

Paulucci Expands On Home Front

Which business magnate Jeno Paulucci wanted to expand his yard at 2020 Washington Ave. in Sanford he ran into a small problem — a single-family house stood in the way. Solution: Buy the obstructing house at 2015 Washington Ave. and tear it down. The house, built in the 1930s and valued at $28,110, is set for demolition, according to the city of Sanford's building department which issued a permit for the destruction. Paulucci, developer of Heathrow, the luxury subdivision in Lake Mary, and founder of Chung King foods and Jeno's Pizza, owns several lots in the area, according to the city's property appraiser. He has expanded his personal residence in the past by buying nearby lots, a Sanford building official said.

NATION IN BRIEF

Shultz Leaves For Meetings With European Allies And Reds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State George Shultz travels to Europe for meetings with NATO allies, a brief stop at the Berlin wall and his first official visit to several Soviet bloc nations.

Shultz was scheduled to leave today for the eight-day trip. His itinerary includes visits to Romania, Hungary and Yugoslavia, a move aimed at emphasizing U.S. support for the independence of those communist nations.

Despite the symbolic significance of Shultz's foray into Eastern Europe, a senior State Department official said the "meat" of the trip will be his three days of meetings with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization foreign ministers in Brussels, Belgium.

The State Department official, who requested anonymity, said the session will give Shultz the opportunity to hear reactions from the allies on the summit and their opinion on the long-term outlook for East-West relations.

Trims List So It Can Trim Trees

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress, in its annual rush to adjourn for the Christmas holidays, faces a trimmed-down list of legislation that must pass — and escape a veto by President Reagan — before the session can end.

Congressional leaders targeted Friday, Dec. 13 for adjournment of the first session of the 99th Congress, but acknowledged both chambers may not be able to adjourn until the following week or even later.

Two crucial bills must be acted on by midweek: one to extend the debt ceiling so the government can borrow; the other, a money measure, to allow the government to pay its bills.

Song And Dance Salute To Stars

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government and show business luminaries danced and applauded past midnight in a salute to one of America's favorite divas, a legendary comedian, a dancer, an actress and the composers of the scores to some of Broadway's biggest hits at the Kennedy Center Honors Gala.

Comedian Bob Hope, dancer-choreographer Merce Cunningham, actress Irene Dunne, the songwriting team of Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe, and opera star Beverly Sills were honored for lifetime achievements during a weekend capped by a song-and-dance salute Sunday night at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

President and Mrs. Reagan, who met and married while in show business, feted the honorees at a White House reception before the Kennedy Center bash and a supper dance, with ticket prices as high as $2,500.

WORLD IN BRIEF

East And West Reportedly Have Slated New Spy Swap In Berlin

HAMBURG, West Germany (UPI) — East and West are setting up a big spy deal in which up to 12 agents from the United States, Britain and West Germany might be freed from Soviet and East German jails, Bild newspaper said today.

The mass circulation daily said the deal was still incomplete and so sensitive that East and West Germany kept quiet about a recent spy swap involving three jailed agents to protect the bigger operation.

None of the swapped agents were named in the report and there was no immediate official confirmation of the trade.

But neither deal is without precedent. The biggest East-West postwar swap was staged in Berlin on June 11. Four convicted East bloc spies held by the United States were traded on the Glienke bridge linking East and West Berlin for 23 alleged Western agents imprisoned in the East.

Terrorists Kidnap Two In Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Police and militias searched west Beirut for two kidnapped American University faculty members early today as university workers decided whether to strike in protest of the latest abductions.

Along the Green Line separating east and west Beirut, clashes between Christian and Moslem forces that began Sunday continued into today. There were no immediate casualty reports.

Prime Minister Rashid Karami said he would hold a meeting of army and militia representatives today to set the "zero hour" for a Syrian-backed security plan to take effect in west Beirut, but some political sources said its announcement might be delayed.

Militiamen and police checked abandoned buildings and parked cars for American University Hospital specialist Dr. Munir Shmaa and university economist Joseph Salameh, apparently the latest victims of three months of kidnappings by both Moslem and Christian gunmen.

Mom Tosses New Baby In Plane

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI) — A 21-year-old woman gave birth in an airplane bathroom, then threw her baby down the waste disposal chute, officials said Saturday.

The baby boy was discovered alive, about six hours old, on Thursday by workers at Belem airport in the Amazon as they cleaned the waste tank in the Boeing 737 jetliner.

Airline officials said the mother, identified as Maria Franco, was not visibly pregnant when she boarded the night flight at the mining town of Carajas, but made repeated and prolonged trips to the bathroom and required assistance to walk down the aisle on her last trip.

Doctors said it was not immediately possible to say if the 4-pound, 10-ounce baby suffered any serious infection after spending hours in a contaminated environment.

South African Axed To Death

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — A man was axed to death during fighting between rival dissident factions and a bomb blast injured eight people as black opposition to white-minority rule scarred South African townships.

Police said a 40-year-old black man was hacked to death with an ax Sunday in the second straight day of battles between warring anti-government movements in the Walmer black township of Port Elizabeth.

The Port Elizabeth clash between UDF and Azapo activists was the first violent confrontation between the two groups fighting against racial discrimination known as apartheid since a three-month war ended in March.

Juice Prices Drop Despite Reduced Supply

LAKELAND (UPI) — Orange juice prices are dropping after a steady three-year climb, largely because Brazilian orange juice continues to flood into the country and forces Florida growers to compete with its lower prices, industry experts said.

The Brazilian juice was shipped to the United States to meet consumer demand when a series of freezes devastated Florida's groves.

The decline is good news for consumers, and producers hope to win back consumers who may have switched to apple or other juice products. But the Brazilian competition is more bad news for Florida growers, industry experts said during the weekend.

Florida's orange harvest is still smaller than before back-to-back freezes devastated a third of the state's producing groves. Because of competition from Brazil's expanding citrus industry, Florida growers can expect prices to fall to 1983-84 prefreeze levels for their crop.

"By all rights, juice prices should be at sky-high levels because of the freezes, but they're not because of the abundance of Brazilian juice," said Bill Duncan, director of frozen foods for the Publix grocery store chain.

A softening in consumer demand also is putting downward pressure on orange juice prices, which had risen by 23 percent since 1983. By cutting prices, producers hope to win back consumers who switched to apple, grapefruit or other juice products when prices peaked.

The price of orange juice is crucial to Florida growers since 95 percent of the state's orange crop is used for juice.

Juice prices have dropped significantly in recent weeks. The retail price of a gallon of Tropicana's all-Florida orange juice dropped from $2.49 to $1.89 at Publix in the last six weeks.

Last month, Minute Maid cut the price it charges supermarkets for frozen concentrated orange juice for the first time since April 1982.

Winter Gardens Citrus Products, a major central Florida processing plant closely watched by much of the industry, chopped its price last week by $1.90 a case to $16.54 for 48 six-ounce cans of frozen concentrated orange juice.

Growers and processors blame Brazil. Supplies of Brazilian juice flooded Florida processors, helping keep plants running and consumer prices reasonable.

Correction

Because of incorrect information released by the Florida Highway Patrol, the Evening Herald incorrectly reported Sunday that an Orlando motorcyclist died in an accident Friday night in Osteen.

Charles Maine, 32, was not dead after the accident but, comatose, according to an FHP report today. A spokesman early Saturday said Maine was reported dead by officials at Central Florida Regional Hospital. They later reported Maine was being kept alive by life support systems.

He was in critical condition today, a hospital spokesman said. A second motorcyclist injured in the accident, Maurice Walsh of Altamonte Springs, was in fair condition in the same hospital.

Commissioners To Consider Rezoning Recommendations

The rezoning of land for construction of the Aloma Lakes apartments recommended for approval by the Seminole County Planning and Zoning Commission will go before the County Commission for final approval Tuesday.

The P&Z voted unanimously to approve a rezoning request by Edward Fielding from agricultural to multi-family for 59 acres located on the north side of State Road 426 north of the Dean Road intersection.

The commission also okayed an amendment from general rural to high density residential for the apartment project.

In other business Wednesday, the P&Z:

Approved an amendment from general rural to industrial and rezoning from agricultural to general commercial and wholesale for 2.79 acres at the northwest corner of State Road 46 and Elder Road. The proposal by John Emerson is to use the land for a retail and professional office building and possible storage units.

Denied an amendment from general rural and preservation to high density residential and rezoning from agricultural to multi-family for 30 acres on the north side of McCulloch Road, west of 434. The request by William Fulford was for apartment construction.

Approved an amendment from general rural to commercial and rezoning from agricultural to retail commercial for eight acres on the east side of 426 northeast of the Dean Road intersection, a request by John C. Daniels.

Denied a request by Irwin Golub for rezoning from agricultural to single family residential for 35 acres on the east side of Tuskawilla Road, 1,200 feet north of 426.

Approved a preliminary plan for the Oak Leaf development.

A Santa Call

The Sanford Recreation Department has made special arrangements for local youngsters: A personal telephone call from Santa Claus.

Parents must come to one of the Recreation Department offices located at City Hall, the Westside Center or the Youth Wing at the Sanford Civic Center to make arrangements.

The calls will be made on Dec. 18th or 19th between 6 and 8 p.m.

Early sign up is advised as the number of calls Santa can make is limited due to his busy holiday season.

Sex Still Sells In Britain

LONDON — Despite its Victorian image of puritanical propriety, this city a century ago was packed with prostitutes, many of whom catered to respectable gentlemen of the upper classes.

The clientele may have changed to some degree. But London is still a thriving center of prostitution, even though the British continue to claim to be paragons of virtue.

The situation has become so bad, indeed, that Parliament recently passed legislation making it illegal for men to pay streetwalkers for sex. Before the law, only women could be charged with accepting money in exchange for their favors.

The new statute may turn out to be just as theoretical as one passed in the 1950s, which prohibited prostitutes from plying their trade on the city's thoroughfares. The business went underground for a while, and has since re-emerged in full force.

That prostitution should be flourishing in this age of the sexual revolution seems odd. But massive unemployment has transformed large numbers of women into tarts, and many locate their customers among the influx of tourists who lack the time for anything except quick service.

And not only has prostitution returned to the streets. Networks of call girls operate under a variety of transparent disguises, such as "escorts" for visitors. They advertise in newspapers, magazines and even hotel lobbies.

Arabs, their pockets bulging with oil profits, have contributed notably to the boom in the industry. They frequently spend $1000 or more for a night with a first-rate call girl, and often present her with an expensive gift as a little gratuity.

But, at the bottom of the market, there are also rather average women who work as occasional prostitutes to pay the household bills or earn a bit of extra cash. Many travel to London for the day at excursion fares from the Midlands or the north of England, where the recession is severe.

Joblessness Rises But Economy Stable

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — State budget officials say Florida's unemployment rate increased to 5.2 percent in November as 30,000 people joined the ranks of the jobless — despite a construction industry boom and gains in service jobs.

The unemployment rate remains below the national average, which fell to 7 percent from 7.1 percent in October. Of the other 11 largest states, only Massachusetts and North Carolina reported lower unemployment figures, with 4.4 percent and 4.6 percent respectively.

Glenn Robertson, Gov. Bob Graham's budget chief, said Friday that planners are not certain why the unemployment rate increased from October's 4.6 percent. He said part of the blame can be placed on routine fluctuations in the number of people looking for work.

He added that the difference is within the margin for error for the type of poll used to collect the information. Still, Robertson said, Florida's unemployment rate has remained below 6 percent for three of the past four months. The rate was 5.8 percent in November, 1984.

"Florida has one of the lowest unemployment rates in the country, and we can attribute that to the fact we had very strong employment in every sector of our economy except mining," Robertson said.

According to October's figures, the latest available, both the construction and service industries are booming, thanks in large part to the estimated 300,000 new residents who move to Florida every year.

October housing starts were up 17 percent over September and 29 percent over October 1984, Robertson said. That increase created 4,300 new jobs and pumped $1.47 billion into the economy.

The services sector, which ranges from hamburger outlets to the insurance industry, provided 5,300 more jobs in October than in September and 7,000 more than in August, Robertson said.

The biggest sour note was in the phosphate industry, which has been losing overseas sales, he said. Two Lakeland-area mining firms laid off 1,530 workers in October but hope to rehire the workers in January.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: A winter storm that dumped more than 3 feet of snow on Utah twisted northward today into Wyoming, triggering dozens of accidents on slippery roads including one involving a truck hauling low-level radioactive waste. Slippery conditions in the Pacific Northwest caused a rig loaded with low-level radioactive waste and another vehicle to skid into each other on an icy stretch of highway east of Pendleton, Ore. The outer shell of the truck was punctured but there was little damage to containers carrying contaminated metal shavings, rags and towels from a nuclear plant, police said.

A December record of 22 inches of snowfall was set at Lander Wyo. More than 16 inches of the snow fell Sunday, the National Weather Service reported. "Basically the middle part of the state is closed," Robert Coletti, a dispatcher for the Wyoming Highway Patrol said early today.

"The southern part of the state is next in line." Winds of 15-25 mph in the southern end of the state caused drifting, closing sections of U.S. 30 and Highway 287. The highway patrol was advising no unnecessary travel in Cheyenne.

Speeding With Concealed Nun Chakus

A Sanford man who tried to out drive a police officer was arrested and charged with fleeing and eluding an officer, reckless driving and carrying a concealed weapon.

According to a Sanford arrest report, the officer saw a 1977 Pontiac speeding on 8th Street at 1:24 a.m. Saturday. He said the car did not stop when signaled to do so and went through a stop sign at a high rate of speed. The vehicle, with the officer in pursuit, then headed east on 7th Street where it stopped at the intersection with Jessamine Avenue. When the driver refused to put his hands on the back of the car, the officer said he arrested him. The officer also reported finding nun chakus, a martial arts weapon, wrapped in a towel on the car's front seat.

Being held Saturday in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond was Jerome Grant, 25, of 1536 Roseberry Lane, Sanford.

COCAINE COUPLE

A Sanford couple was arrested after officers noticed packets of cocaine in and outside their car.

According to a police report, a car tried to elude police just before 5 p.m. Friday. It drove to 701 E. 8th St., where the woman passenger got out and ran inside a residence, according to a Sanford police report.

The officer's reported finding two tin-foil packets of cocaine in plain view on the car's floor and Arrested and charged with possession of cocaine were Bernard Baker, 26, of 701 E. 8th St., and Maria Louisa Davis, 21, of 1702 Hawkins Ave. Each were being held in lieu of $5,000 bond at the Seminole county jail Saturday.

EATING COCAINE?

A Longwood man was arrested after drug agents, attracted by the man's action, reported finding marijuana in his vehicle.

The agents, in the parking lot of Javis Bar, on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Longwood, said they saw a man appearing to use cocaine. The observation occurred around 12:17 a.m. Saturday. When an agent knocked on the driver window, the man ate the white powder he had in his hand, according to the report. A search of the vehicle produced a baggie of what the agents believed to be marijuana.

Arrested and charged with possession of more than 20 grams of marijuana and destruction of evidence was Lee Thomas Anderson, 27, of 881 E. Orange Ave.

PUNCH OUT & DRUG BUST

A Lake Mary man was arrested on a drug possession charge after rescue personnel and an officer responded to his residence because he had reportedly punched his girlfriend in the mouth.

According to a police report, the officer responded to 331 Lake Mary Blvd., because a woman had been punched in the mouth. While the officer was there, he saw five small marijuana plants under cultivation. The man was arrested on a possession charge. The woman declined to press assault charges.

Being held in lieu of $5,000 bond Saturday in the Seminole County jail was Robert Gallagher, 24, of 331 Lake Mary Blvd.

CORVETTE STOLEN

A corvette was stolen from a Longwood home while a resident, fearing the theft, locked himself in his bedroom.

Jacques Prudhomme, 50, told deputies, that around 2:27 a.m. Friday, he heard male voices in the home he lives in at 200 Blue Lake Court, which according to the report, is the address of the Charles J. Givens Foundation. The men moved through the house for two hours, but only ransacked the master bedroom. Prudhomme said he stayed in his bedroom until the men left, taking the 1984 corvette.

According to the report, the thieves had turned off the electricity to the home before entering and carried candles with them for lighting. They handled extremely valuable objects, according to the report, but did not take them.

THEFT AND CRASH

An Altamonte Springs man reported his car missing only to discover in a few hours that the thief had an accident with it and abandoned it.

Frank Peck, 56, of 185 E. Altamonte Drive, said he discovered his car, a 1977 Pontiac Bonneville, missing around 11 p.m. Friday. The Altamonte Springs police found the cracked up, abandoned car around 2 a.m.

BURGLARIES AND THEFTS

Someone cleaned house at the Palmetto Avenue Holiday Inn prior to the maid's arrival on Tuesday and made off with $231 in room furnishings, a Sanford police report said. According to police, when employee Sheila Littles arrived to clean room 208, she found it had been cleaned out of its telephone, floor lamp, desk lamp, sheets and pillows.

A $2,000 pipe threading machine was taken last weekend from a shop under construction at the new Wal-Mart shopping plaza, a Sanford police report said. Contractors West Florida Piping Co., of Jacksonville, reported the incident Monday morning. According to police, entry was gained through the side rear door.

Lifer Loses Bowl Bid

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Larry Correll won a newspaper's football prediction contest and an all-expenses-paid trip to the Sugar Bowl, but don't look for him on Bourbon Street. Correll is serving a life sentence for second-degree murder at the Morgan County Regional Correctional Facility in Wartburg. He will be eligible for parole in 2009.

"It would be nice if I could use the prize, but I can't go to the Sugar Bowl. I know that," Correll Friday told The Knoxville Journal, which sponsors the Pick 'n Win contest along with Knoxville TV station WBIR.

The newspaper and station agreed to give Correll's wife and two daughters in Maryville the cash equivalent of the Sugar Bowl trip, a payment of $1,000.

"I'm just glad I was able to do something for my family," the prisoner said.

Correll, 36, said he would be watching on television in prison when 4th-ranked Miami plays his favorite team, 7th-ranked Tennessee, on New Year's night in New Orleans.

"I didn't like ballgames much before I got in here. Now, I never miss the games on television on the weekends," Correll said. "I'm a big Tennessee fan too. I love to see them win, and I'll be pulling for them in the Sugar Bowl."

The sponsors of the contest drew the grand prize winner from 210,000 contest entry forms mailed in over the course of the season. Correll's winning entry was submitted for games played Sept. 21.

All entries were placed in the hopper for the grand prize drawing regardless of whether the entrant guessed correctly on the outcome of the games.

Morgan County prison Warden Otis Jones said he figured several guards would have been willing to make the trip.

"I'm sure we have a few corrections officers here who would like to accompany Correll to the Sugar Bowl, but I'm afraid that is out of the question," Jones said.

AIDS Spitter Arrested

FLINT, Mich. (UPI) — A 27-year-old AIDS carrier who allegedly spit in the face of two police officers attempting to arrest him was arraigned Saturday on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

John C. Richards, of Davison, was released on a $10,000 personal recognizance bond following an arraignment by telephone by District Court Judge James Shaker, Genesee County Sheriff Joe Wilson said.

The judge, who was reached at home, told Richards at the county jail with a police officer on a third party line that a court date was set for Dec. 10.

Farmers Want To Control Own Destinies

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Farmers, who say they want to control their own destinies, met over the weekend at the Florida Agricultural Policy Forum and discussed growth management in the state and its effect on agriculture.

"State planners have made clear what they want from Florida agriculture," said Fritz Stein, a south Florida sugar cane grower. "They want agriculture to be a stable economic force. The planners do not want additional land put into agricultural use."

Stein said most farmers feel "left out in the cold" when it comes to deciding what the priorities should be as far as growth management in Florida is concerned.

"The solution the governor and his planning staff has to Florida's growth problems would only make the farm crisis worse," Stein said. "They would like to decide for us where we will farm and how long we will farm our land. Under their plan, the government, economics and market forces would make farming decisions for the farmers."

Other officials said the forum was more to educate farmers than anything else.

"The purpose of this forum is to pick out the one or two or three public policies that most affect agriculture," said Dr. David Mulkey, an associate professor at the University of Florida and one of several speakers to address the group.

"I guess it is more an educational forum than anything else," Mulkey said. "We have several speakers that will address the group to try to get a handle on exactly what kinds of things are and will be going on in the near future that will affect farmers in Florida and across the nation."

"Like all farmers, I am vitally interested in maintaining the collateral value of my land, because I need this collateral to keep farming," Stein said. "I wear many hats, but my main one is my farming hat."

Mulkey said the "status quo" never stays the same very long, and that he sees the problems farmers are facing as an "ongoing situation."

"We are constantly engaged in problem solving and figuring the problems and the individual impact they have on any one farmer," Mulkey said. "It never stops."

Other agriculture and legislative officials speaking at the forum included Charley Justice, executive director of the North-Central Florida Planning Council, Dr. Richard Burrows, of the department of Agricultural Economics at the University of Wisconsin, and Rep. Tom Lewis, R-Fla., of the House Committee on Agriculture.

Sanford Native Promoted

Robert A. Thompson, a native of Sanford, has been promoted to lieutenant colonel in the U. S. Army in ceremonies at the Pentagon in Washington, D.C.

The ceremonies were conducted by Brig. Gen. Horace Russell.

Thompson is the son of Ira and the late Luella Thompson, both life-long residents of Sanford.

The new colonel completed school in Sanford and graduated from Florida State in 1967 with a major in business administration. He enlisted in the army following receipt of his degree and has seen service in Vietnam, Korea and Germany.

Thompson is currently assigned as executive officer to the director for joint analysis in the Office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff at the Pentagon.

Graham Asks Added U.S. Disaster Money

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham has asked President Reagan to approve federal disaster assistance for six north Florida counties — including four where local governments alone face more than $6 million in repair bills because of hurricane Kate.

Leon County was out $5,219,250 spent to clear streets of felled trees and restore downed power lines. In Liberty County, the figure was $167,200; in Wakulla County, $182,400; and in Gadsden County, $496,000.

"Crews were forced to work throughout the Thanksgiving holiday to clear hundreds of downed trees and restore electric power to thousands of residents left in the dark by hurricane Kate," said Graham, who worked a shift with a Tallahassee crew clearing trees from streets.

In a letter to Reagan Friday, Graham added that at least 176 private homes and businesses in Calhoun, Liberty, Leon and Jef-erson counties suffered uninsured losses.

"Although these counties individually did not meet the specific criteria for a major presidential disaster declaration, federal assistance is necessary to relieve the suffering and to help those individuals recover," Graham wrote.

Reagan Tuesday approved federal disaster assistance for individuals in Gulf, Franklin and Wakulla counties, and is considering a plea for aid to those three local governments.

The individual assistance includes low-interest loans, disaster unemployment and temporary housing money and out-right grants.

"Though these counties were not on the front lines as hurricane Kate came ashore, residents of each county suffered considerable losses from severe winds, heavy rains and flooding," Graham said. "The federal assistance I am requesting would help residents of those counties get their lives back to normal."

Education Bill Aided Disabled

Ten years ago, an estimated 1 million handicapped children were receiving no formal education and another 2.5 million were getting substandard schooling. Although federal funds were available to educate disabled students, most school districts were shortchanging these youngsters.

That deplorable situation began to change with the enactment of the Education for All Handicapped Children Act in 1975. The landmark legislation required each state to provide "free and appropriate" public education to all disabled youngsters. Specifically, they were to be educated in the "least restrictive environment" possible. This meant that they were to be "mainstreamed" into regular classrooms or at least placed in the same schools as non-handicapped students. More important, the parents of handicapped children were to be consulted by teachers and administrators in the development of individualized educational plans for their youngsters.

Then-President Gerald Ford signed the measure into law reluctantly, fearing that its strict administrative requirements would prove burdensome to the schools. His skepticism was shared by numerous school officials who were wary of direct parental involvement in the education process.

Although school districts were forced to make some major adjustments to accommodate the new rules, they responded magnificently for the most part. Special teachers were hired to teach the handicapped and regular instructors were given additional training in order to enhance their understanding of the disabled student.

Today, 68 percent of the nation's school-age handicapped children are being taught in regular public-school classes. Another 25 percent are enrolled in separate classes within regular schools. The remaining 17 percent are in separate schools or receiving instruction in hospitals and at home.

Sen. Robert Stafford, R-Vt., a key author of the law, takes particular pride in the fact that most handicapped children are no longer consigned to the shadows in the public schools, but are now given a chance to become self-reliant citizens. That achievement is testimony to the dedicated professionals who have encouraged disabled youngsters to expand their minds and thus their horizons.

Roar At Canyon

Once, you could hear the roar of the Colorado River from deep within the Grand Canyon. You could yodel and hear the echo. You could hear the wind blow and feel the silence.

Now, you must hear the airplanes roaring over America's natural wonder.

Between 27,000 and 50,000 flights a year are made over the Grand Canyon. Most of them are low flights of airplanes and helicopters taking tourists to gawk over the rim. On an average day, 74 planes fly over.

"My God, I could find more tranquility at the midway of the Arizona State Fair," Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt recently said.

He's right. The Interior Department has jurisdiction over the area and should protect it from noise pollution. The secretary of the interior should formally request that the Federal Aviation Administration curb noisy flights over the park.

The natural sounds of the Grand Canyon are every bit as important to preserve as its natural beauty. Let's hear the canyon again.

Small Businesses Help Economic Growth

WASHINGTON — They have names like All-American Hero (a Fort Lauderdale fast-food franchiser), Ugly Duckling Rent-A-Car (Tucson, Ariz.), One-Hour Delivery (Dallas) and Discovery Toys (Pleasant Hill, Calif.). Along with millions like them, they have a lot riding on the tax-reform bill that is being considered in Congress.

These small to mid-sized business are among the 500 fastest-growing, privately owned enterprises in the United States, according to Boston's Inc. magazine. What happens to them and to 14 million other U.S. businesses will determine whether the economy grows at a more robust rate next year or continues its slow but steady growth performance.

Small-business employment accounts for more than half of the U.S. private work force and has produced nearly 80 percent of the 10 million new jobs that have been created by the economic recovery. Thus, the Inc. list is astonishing not only its diversity, but in its reflection of economic growth in the last four years.

Between 1980 and 1984, the productivity of the Inc. 500, measured in terms of sales per employee, jumped from $78,825 to $185,850; average annual sales leaped from $1 million to $14.8 million; and the average number of workers exploded from 25 to 127.

The House Ways and Means Committee, which last week finished work on a sweeping tax-reform bill, was lobbied by the biggest and the best of Washington's special interests, which want to keep their special tax loopholes in place.

But the economic growth needs of small to mid-sized companies — like Sinbad Sweets of Clovis, Calif., a wholesale bakery and No. 397 on Inc.'s list, or Peter Piper Pizza of Phoenix, No. 297 — wasn't on the minds of the committee's lawmakers. Instead of crafting a bill that will encourage more business investment, greater entrepreneurial risk-taking and increased savings, the measure imposes new tax burdens that will hurt them.

Among its worst provisions: — The bill sets a higher top rate than President Reagan proposed — 38 percent, compared to 35 percent — and it will shove taxpayers into higher brackets sooner than Reagan's plan would. The result: Virtually all taxpayers will pay higher marginal tax rates, which was the key economic-growth incentive in Reagan's 1981 tax bill.

— The measure would establish a top corporate tax rate of 36 percent vs. Reagan's proposed 33 percent, which was aimed at stimulating business creation and growth. "Higher corporate tax rates simply mean higher taxes on capital," says the Heritage Foundation, a pro-growth think tank.

If Congress learned anything from the 1981 tax-cut bill, it should have been this: that cutting taxes to encourage capital expansion, risk investment and savings leads to economic growth.

Students Easy With President

By Helen Thomas
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, a secure man, is able to kid about his age and his hearing difficulties.

This was especially true when the 74-year-old president addressed the students and faculty at Fallston High School in Fallston, Md.

The teenagers laughed appreciatively when Reagan started out by saying, "I've been out of school a few years but —"

During a question-and-answer session with the students, Reagan had a problem hearing a couple of soft spoken students who had some stage fright, and he told them, "Speak up for dear old Dad."

Reagan has rarely appeared more at ease during an interrogation. He leaned against a desk and fielded with ease each question, the majority dealing with the summit and relations with the Soviet Union.

But Reagan does not cotton to news conferences with the same aplomb. He has had only five news conferences this year, and none projected before 1986.

His average ties with Richard Nixon, who had about five during the height of the Watergate scandal.

Although some of his aides have urged him to hold about one news conference a month, Reagan has not made himself available. As a consequence, he gets more shouted questions when he is on the run.

At the same time, reporters are finding that they are allowed to cover very few events on the president's schedule.

Without any explanation, Reagan's press aides simply say there is "no coverage" of one event after another.

Frequently, coverage of the president will be prohibited to keep reporters from asking questions.

Reagan's official life in the White House may be more thoroughly recorded by his hired historian, Edmund Morris, than by reporters who are on the scene daily but blacked out on his activities.

When the White House Christmas tree was delivered last week, Nancy Reagan received it wearing a bright green coat. When she received a compliment on it, Mrs. Reagan, apparently sensitive to comments about the cost of her wardrobe, replied: "Every year, same coat."

U.S. Trying To Identify Japanese Mob

By Jack Anderson And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — Some unwelcome Japanese visitors are reportedly entering the United States, and they're not here to steal high-tech secrets. They are members of the Yakuza, the Japanese underworld gangs that have preyed on their own people for centuries and now aim to expand their operations to this country.

In a sharp warning to its field offices, the Immigration and Naturalization Service says that Yakuza members are entering the United States "to invest, launder (money) and set up new operations." The Yakuza has plenty of money to invest and launder; Japanese police estimate the underworld organization's annual take at more than $5 billion, from prostitution, pornography and extortion.

Our associate Donald Goldberg has obtained a copy of the Immigration Service's "strategic assessment," which tells inspectors how to spot possible Yakuza mem-

ROBERT WALTERS

Positive Or Palliative

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Meet Lee M. Thomas, perhaps the only leader of a department or agency in the federal government who doesn't want a bigger budget, additional employees or increased responsibilities.

Thomas is administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, which, under the 1980 "Superfund" law, is required to clean up abandoned hazardous waste dumps.

The budget for that task during the first five years was $1.6 billion, but there are widely differing estimates of how much funding will be necessary now that the law will be extended for an additional five years.

The Senate earlier this year approved a bill that calls for spending $7.5 billion, while the House last year passed legislation authorizing $10.1 billion. Environmentalists claim as much as $13.5 billion may be needed.

But the White House says the job can be done for only $5.3 billion and Thomas, a loyal appointee of President Reagan, insists that EPA cannot possibly spend more than that amount on Superfund activities.

A Sierra Club analysis of the situation suggests, however, that Thomas' claims are specious. Some examples:

— EPA estimates that it costs slightly more than $8 million to clean up a typical contaminated site — but that figure could climb to $60 million at locations such as California's Stringfellow Acid Pits, where almost 300 polluters have dumped organic wastes, heavy metals and acids.

— The agency could use additional funds to purchase rotary kiln incinerators that are able to burn contaminated soils as well as solids, liquids and sludges. Only 28 of the specialized incinerators now are available. Similarly, there is a severe shortage of mobile facilities to test air, water and soil.

— EPA has assigned fewer than 15 people to its New Jersey research laboratory charged with developing improved techniques for disposing of hazardous wastes.

The size of the Superfund budget is only one of the divisive issues that must be resolved as Congress attempts to fashion legislation governing the future of the program.

In the House, no fewer than four different committees claim jurisdiction over some aspect of the issue. The Public Works and Commerce committees have drafted the two principal, albeit conflicting, bills.

Public Works' more stringent version requires EPA to designate 1,600 waste sites as high-priority targets for remedial action, with cleanup operations at 600 of those locations to be underway by 1990. The Commerce version embraces a much more leisurely schedule.

The Commerce bill denies citizens the right to sue polluters, but the Public Works bill authorizes individuals who face "imminent and substantial risks" to initiate civil suits to force those responsible for creating hazardous waste dumps to clean them up.

Finally, the Commerce Committee version includes only limited provisions giving people the right to know what toxic or carcinogenic substances are produced, used or stored in their communities and neighborhoods. The Public Works Committee version requires more detailed disclosure.

Ginseng May Aid The Aged

By Mary Gabriel
BALTIMORE (UPI) — Ginseng, a rare and expensive medicinal root, has shown promise in combating senility — a problem that afflicts most elderly people to varying degrees, a pharmacologist says.

The human-shaped ginseng root has been used in different cultures for thousands of years. Although its properties seem to enhance physical and mental abilities, Dr. Jelleff Carr said scientists had not until recently thought of using it to help retard or reverse the type of deterioration experienced in aging.

"The first reaction people have about ginseng is that it is an old mystery medicine. Now, because of the discovery of the chemical constituents — ginsenosides — it holds some exciting possibilities," said Carr, a University of Maryland pharmacologist.

Carr said most of the research on the medicinal properties of ginseng has been done in Europe. A German study group looked at the effect of ginseng on the elderly.

"The extract was administered orally for 90 days. They reported a decrease in rigidity (joint stiffness) of aging, increase in alertness and powers of concentration, improved visual-motor coordination, improved grasp of abstract concepts and similar behavioral changes," Carr said.

In addition, a Soviet study of young athletes showed increased performance capability and greater ease in performing work after nine weeks of the ginseng extract. Males aged 40 to 60 showed a significant improvement in breathing after 12 weeks of treatment, Carr said.

"These clinical reports are suggestive of some beneficial effects of administration of a standardized extract of ginseng upon physical and intellectual performance in the young athlete or older subjects suffering from the deficits of aging," Carr said.

However, more clinical studies must be done before final conclusions can be reached. "It is interesting from a medical view point. There are chemical ingredients in the plant that are responsible for the physiological effects enhancing intellectual acuteness and physical prowess."

Carr said that many of the negative associations doctors harbor toward ginseng are based on the hundreds of products on the market that are called ginseng, but actually do not contain the root.

Raiders Rise To No. 1 In State Poll

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Seminole Community College's Raiders traveled to Fort Pierce this past weekend and came away with two rewards. The first made way for the second.

On Saturday, the Raiders blew away Indian River, 79-56, for their 11th victory in 12 games to win the Indian River Basketball Tournament.

On Sunday, Florida's junior college coaches voted the Raiders the No. 1 team in the state JuCo poll.

"I think it's good and bad," Payne said about the No. 1 position. "It's nice to have the program get that kind of acknowledgement but it's kind scary to have everybody gunning for you."

The Raiders received six first-place votes for 95 points. Santa Fe, also 11-1, was second with three first-place votes and 84 points. Gulf Coast, 10-1, garnered the remaining first-place vote for 82 points. North Florida (7-1, 75), Florida College

Basketball

(9-2, 59), Daytona Beach (10-2, 53), Manatee (7-2, 39), Florida Junior (8-3, 24), Pensacola (8-4, 22) and Chipola (6-2, 12) completed the top 10.

Former Lake Howell standout Efram Brooks and Orlando Jones product James Morris popped off the bench to ease SCC past Indian River, 5-6, for the Raiders' fifth successive win. Brooks, a 5-10 freshman, was especially deadly with his jump shot as he canned 6 of 10 floor shots for 12 points. Morris hit 4 of 8 attempts, grabbed six rebounds and handed out four assists.

Vance Hall, SCC's freshman center, led the Raiders with 16 points and five rebounds. The 6-8 rejecter blocked six shots.

The Raiders went into the first half without sophomore starters David Gallagher and Greg "Slim" Johnson, who arrived late for the tipoff. It didn't matter, though, as freshman Darris Gallagher and sophomore Carl Poellnitz stepped in and SCC built a 35-19 halftime lead.

In the second half, IRCC switched from a zone to a man-to-man defense and cut into the SCC lead. With 14:24 to play, a Terrance Gadsden-led surge pulled the Pioneers within 38-28.

At that juncture, though, Poellnitz teamed with Tony Roberts and David Gallagher to lead a Raider pull away.

Roberts, a freshman guard, turned in another outstanding floor game and was selected as the tournament MVP.

Vikings Bury Hapless Bucs

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Both the Minnesota Viking rookie starters and quarterback Tommy Kramer proved they have the right stuff, even if the highlight film of their efforts may wind up as the feature on a NFL blooper film.

Coach Bud Grant started seven rookies against Tampa Bay Sunday, the most ever for a Viking team, promoting the players because of improvement this season and taking advantage of the Buccaneers' poor record.

That record went from bad to worse as Kramer passed for 309 yards, setting up two touchdown runs by Darrin Nelson and Ted Brown, and Jan Stenerud's four field goals in the Vikings' 26-7 victory Sunday over the Buccaneers, now 2-12.

"I guess if you weren't emotionally involved, it was a sloppy game," said Grant, whose Vikings are now 7-7.

Sloppy, indeed. Five turnovers were committed on the first eight plays of the third quarter and the Buccaneers were penalized 10 times for 78 yards.

"We just didn't execute very well out there today," Tampa Bay coach Leeman Bennett said. "We dropped some passes and made mistakes all day that hurt us."

"We weren't able to stop them and give ourselves a chance to get something going," he said.

The Vikings turned three Tampa Bay turnovers into scores. Nelson's 1-yard TD run capped an 83-yard drive ignited by rookie linebacker Chris Doleman's interception at the Minnesota 17 in the second quarter.

Rookie nose tackle Tim Newton's interception later in the period set up Stenerud's third field goal, a 25-yard kick, with 3:42 left in the half to open a 16-0 lead. Stenerud kicked a pair of 24-yard field goals in the first quarter.

Stenerud also was good on a 35-yard try in the third quarter, set up by Doug Martin's fumble recovery which ended the flurry of bobbles at the start of the period.

Kramer was not well received in his return to the lineup after a week off to recuperate from a nagging knee injury. The fans greeted him with a series of boos but Kramer ignored them, completing 21-of-36 attempts for 309 yards. He also was intercepted twice, prompting more catcalls.

"Physically, I felt a lot sharper out there," said Kramer, relieved last week by Wade Wilson who guided the Vikings to a 28-23 come-from-behind win over Philadelphia.

Tampa Bay quarterback Steve Young feels he still has a lot more studying to do. In his third NFL start, he completed 13-of-32 passes for 187 yards but was intercepted three times.

Young made 5-of-6 attempts for 76 yards in an 80-yard third quarter drive, which ended with a 7-yard TD strike to Calvin Magee.

Tampa Bay running back James Wilder rushed for 94 yards in 23 carries.

Long Arms, Large Obstacles

Issues, Not Trades, Dominate Meet

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Issues, rather than trades, figure to dominate the winter meetings that begin in earnest today.

In fact, a week without some old-fashioned horse-trading could support the growing belief the annual event has outlived its usefulness.

Deals swung at the meetings used to whet the off-season appetite of baseball fans. This year, there's nothing so appetizing about the major issues: franchise problems in San Francisco, Pittsburgh and Cleveland; expansion; drug abuse; and debate on the designated hitter.

If trade rumors come true, it will be a different story. Wade Boggs, Andre Dawson, Tom Seaver, Britt Burns, and Don Baylor have all figured in various rumors, none of which may prove prophetic.

Baseball

Instead, trade activity should continue its decline.

Only 10 trades took place last year at Houston, and the new collective bargaining agreement has eliminated virtually all inter-league trading deadlines.

"With no deadline crisis," said Toronto general manager Pat Gillick, "decisions can be postponed."

Instead of making quick trades, baseball executives figure to lay groundwork.

Many clubs may delay making trades until they determine where free agents land.

So far, not one free agent has generated much enthusiasm in the marketplace, but that is expected to end Jan. 8. On that date, a free agent cannot be re-signed by his previous club until May 1.

"A half-dozen clubs have told me to see them after Jan. 8," said agent David Pinter, who represents reliever Donnie Moore. "Every general manager I talk to says they can't sign anyone until then; that I should come back in January."

So the focus of the annual event is on issues. Commissioner Peter Ueberoth will deliver a State-of-the-Sport address Tuesday, and is scheduled to meet with owners Wednesday.

He will address the drug issue, and leaks indicate he may punish those who testified or were mentioned in last summer's Pittsburgh drug trial.

The designated hitter is used in alternating World Series, but Ueberoth wants it employed every year in games played in an American League park.

Edberg Tops Wilander For Australian Crown

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI) — Swedish teenager Stefan Edberg trounced countryman Mats Wilander 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 Monday to win the men's title in the $1.5 million Australian Open tennis tournament.

Edberg, 19, denied Wilander a third straight Australian Open title by overpowering him with strong serves and backhands. Wilander, his right arm heavily taped, had his service broken four times as Edberg won his first Grand Slam tournament.

When Edberg took the title with on a backhand shot, Wilander — a teammate of Edberg's on the Swedish Davis Cup squad — rushed to the net and put his arm around the youngster.

Tennis

Edberg also became one of the youngest players to win the Australian Open. Ken Rosewall, at 18, was the youngest.

"I have never been so happy," Edberg said. "This is a wonderful day for me and for Sweden. I am very glad to be able to win for my mother and father."

Sunday night, the two players shared a few beers and, before the start of their final, took the extraordinary step of warming up against each other. Veteran tennis officials said they could not remember two finalists ever doing so.

Greyhounds Pin 2 More; Prepare For Lake Mary

By Chuck Burgess
Special to the Herald

Bill Scott's Lyman Greyhound grapplers continued to roll this past weekend by defeating county rival Lake Brantley, 45-26, and pulverizing the Daytona Beach Mainland Buccaneers, 72-9, in prep wrestling in a triangular match at Lake Brantley High School.

"We had a good meet," Scott said. "We've had a few kids out with the flu, but we did a good job."

The Greyhounds romped all over the Buccaneers, only losing one match by a forfeit, but in the second match with the Patriots, the 'Hounds found the pins not so easy.

"Lake Brantley's got a solid program this year," Scott said. "They lost (Joe) Waresak this year, so they're not as strong as they've been in the past. They just don't have anyone who can replace him."

Wrestling

Winning for the Greyhounds were Andy Baber (pin at 1:23) at 114, Chad Dublin (pin at :26) at 121, Vince Campbell (13-4) at 128, Tony Carullo (9-7) at 140, Chris Waxler (pin at 5:31) at 147, Greg Hartman (pin at 3:10) at 169, Pat Perkins (pin at 2:40) at 222 and Jimbo Smith (pin at 3:00) at heavyweight.

Even though the Patriots lost the meet, they still had some winners who made the match close. The best match of the evening was a draw between Lyman's Randall Mathis and Charlie Palus who duelled to a 2-2 deadlock at the end of regulation.

Winning for the Patriots included Mark Roth (forfeit) at 100, Kevin Greenstein (pin at 1:51) at 107, Dan Streetman (pin at 2:43) at 134 and Troy Lewis (pin at 1:40) at 187.

The Greyhounds improved their dual meet record to 3-0 with the two wins this past weekend, but will have to face one of their toughest opponents in Lake Mary this Wednesday at Lyman.

"I would have liked to get it scheduled later in the year," Scott said referring to the confrontation between the county's two wrestling powers. "Right now we're young. At the end of the season we'll have a little more experience and both teams would be more evenly matched."

Lake Brantley fell to 1-2 on the season and will host a triangular match between Seminole and Oak Ridge on Thursday.

In other wrestling action this past Saturday, the Oviedo Lions fell hard against the mat when the Apopka Blue Darters came to town to do some serious grappling and pinned the inexperienced Lions with a 54-24 defeat.

"I'm happy with my team's performance even though they didn't win," head wrestling coach John Horn said. "I'm not disappointed in my kids. They're doing the best job they can under the circumstances."

The circumstances haven't been too good for the Lions and Horn. This past weekend, they lost one of their best clinch men when Jene Hartman battled Apopka's Paul Fair and was forced to default after a knee injury sidelined him for what may be two to three matches.

"We don't know how serious the injury is," Horn said. "The trainers got to him as soon as they could, but we didn't make the two-minute injury time-out limit."

The Lions lost the war, but won some tough battles along the way. Doing some of the heavy artillery firing for the Lions was Charlie Vela (pin at 5:54) at 129, Fred Oliver (forfeit) at 141 and Arthur Miner (pin at 2:54) at 188.

The Lions remain winless on the season and will try to take down the Bishop Moore Hornets Tuesday at Oviedo.

Rams Just Miss Upset Of Creek; Lyman Teams 3-0

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Mary had its chances to pull off a big early-season upset Saturday night but the Rams missed crucial free throws in regulation, then turned the ball over the first two times they had it in overtime to allow Spruce Creek's Hawks to pull out a 58-55 victory at Lake Mary High.

It was the season opener for the Rams who return to action Tuesday night at Winter Park.

"Had we hit our free throws we could have won it in regulation," Lake Mary coach Willie Richardson said. "We had our opportunities, we just didn't capitalize. But, for our first ballgame, I wasn't disappointed."

Spruce Creek, which earlier last week pulled out an overtime win over Orlando Evans, took an eight-point halftime lead, 34-26, only to see the Rams battle back within two, 38-36.

The two teams played evenly the fourth period and it wound up tied, 52-52, after regulation. Richardson said the Rams had the ball and were running time off the clock for the last shot in regulation when a five-second violation turned it over to the Creek.

Spruce Creek got the tip in overtime but failed to score on its first opportunity. Lake Mary then turned the ball over and it resulted in two points for the Hawks. The Rams turned it over again on their next possession and the Creek took a 56-52 lead.

Tom Southall led Spruce Creek with a game-high 18 points including four in the fourth quarter and four in overtime. Andre Bennett pumped in 14 points while all-star Jon Fedor was limited to 12.

Chris Jackson was high for the Rams with 12. Kelly McKinnon netted 10. Eric Czerniewski contributed nine and Oscar Merthie and Mark Napoli added eight each.

"Spruce Creek has a good club but it's too bad that we only play them once," Richardson said. "I'd like to meet them again later in the season when we have some experience." Lake Mary's junior varsity picked up a victory Saturday over Spruce Creek as Mike Mandeville pumped in 21 points and Cory Prom poured in 18.

SPRUCE CREEK (58) — Southall 18, Fedor 12, Bennett 14, Sears 2, Cooks 6, Massey 4. Totals: 258-125.

LAKE MARY (55) — Jackson 12, McKinnon 10, Merthie 8, Mark Napoli 6, Czerniewski 9, Newby 6, Matt Napoli 2. Totals: 211-235.

LYMAN IMPROVES TO 3-0

A balanced scoring attack and deadly shooting from the free throw line paved the way as Lyman's Greyhounds fought off a pesky Oviedo High team, 61-47, Saturday night in the Seminole Athletic Conference opener for both teams at Lyman High.

Lyman, which ran its overall record to 3-0, had all five of its starters score in double figures led by Ralph Philpott's 14 points. Robert Thomas and T.J. Scaletta popped in 12 each. Brett Radzak tossed in 11 and Craig Radzak contributed 10.

For Oviedo, which now stands at 1-2 overall, Allen Unroe poured in a game-high 17 points and ripped down 11 rebounds. Robb Hughes netted 13 points and Randy Ferguson added eight.

Oviedo hung within one point, 30-29, at halftime but Lyman increased its lead to 43-37 after three quarters. The Lions fought back within two points in the fourth quarter but couldn't come up with the tying bucket.

The Greyhounds sealed the win by hitting their free throws down the stretch. Lyman connected on 19 of 21 free throws for the game while Oviedo hit just 9 of 21.

"We knocked on the door a couple of times but couldn't get over the hump," Oviedo coach Dale Phillips said. "Poor free throw shooting killed us. If we would have hit a couple of our Lyman returns to action Tuesday night at Bishop Moore while the Lions are at Wymore Education Center.

LADY GREYHOUNDS CRUISE

Kim Forsyth and LaTonya Johnson combined for 44 of Lyman High's 55 points Saturday as the Lady Greyhounds cruised to a 55-21 victory over Oviedo's Lady Lions in Seminole Athletic Conference play at Lyman High.

Lyman, 3-0 overall, is at DeLand Tuesday while Oviedo, 1-3, is at Lake Brantley in an SAC

Heady Boyesen Kicks 'Hounds By Orange Park

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

The difference between volleyball and soccer is like night and day. In volleyball, the hands are a player's only weapons. In soccer, only the goalkeeper can use the hands while the feet do most of the work for the other players.

For Lyman High's Dawn Boyesen, the transition from volleyball to soccer was a pretty smooth one. Mainly because she uses her head, literally and figuratively.

Boyesen, who was named Evening Herald Volleyball Player of the Year, last week, pumped in three goals Saturday as the Lady Greyhounds' soccer team claimed a 3-1 victory over a tough Orange Park team at Orange Park.

Lyman, 2-0 and 1-0 in the Seminole Athletic Conference, has a big SAC game Tuesday night when it hosts Lake Brantley.

"That should be another good early season test for us," Lyman coach Tom Barnes said. "Brantley has a fine team. They come at you from several directions."

Lyman had a 1-0 halftime lead over Orange Park Saturday as Boyesen scored on an assist from Alyson Barnes.

Orange Park came back to tie

it at 1-1 early in the second half and the score remained tied at 1-1 until 12 minutes left in the match.

Barnes took a corner kick for Lyman and crossed it in front of the goal where Sheila Mandy got a head on it. Mandy sent the ball toward the goal where Boyesen headed it in for a 2-1 lead. Both Barnes and Mandy got assists on the goal.

The Lady Greyhounds sewed up the win when Boyesen completed her hat trick, scoring on an assist from Karen Abernethy.

The Lady Greyhounds took 28 shots on goal compared to just eight for Orange Park. Lyman had four corners to Orange Park's one. Lyman keeper Lisa Chatman made six saves, but Barnes said none of them was a good chance for Orange Park.

Barnes said Kim Mitchell played an outstanding defensive game at outside back for the Lady Greyhounds while Diana Boyesen did an excellent job at stopper back.

Lyman's Greyhounds improved to 2-0 with a 5-3 victory over Merritt Island. Brian Ocasek and Steve Mitchell scored two goals each for the 'Hounds.

Rams Bop Blue Darters

Soccer

Four different players scored Saturday as Lake Mary's Rams won their first game of the season, 4-1, over Apopka's Blue Darters at Lake Mary High.

The Rams, 1-1, open play in the Seminole Athletic Conference Tuesday at home against Seminole High. In other SAC action Tuesday, Lake Howell is at Oviedo and Lake Brantley is at Lyman.

Goals for Lake Mary were scored by Jerry Meyers, Rick Broenne, Ernie Broenne and Lee Alexander.

In other action Saturday, Lake Brantley ran its record to 3-0 with a 3-0 shutout of Edgewater at Orlando.

The Patriots outshot Edgewater, 28-10, and took 10 corner kicks to Edgewater's zero. Scoring for Brantley were Chad Marlen, Pablo Garzon and Chris McManus.

Also Saturday, Oviedo's Lions captured the consolation title of the Orlando Kickoff Cup with a 2-1 overtime victory over Melbourne at Evans High. Todd Guggenheim and Tom Moody scored for Oviedo. The Lions improved to 2-2 with the win.

Lady Rams Win; Seminoles Tumble

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Both Lake Mary's Lady Rams and Seminole High's Lady Seminoles had numerous opportunities on offense Saturday and it was the Rams that cashed in on theirs while Seminole nearly went bankrupt.

Lake Mary, with two goals each from Kelley Broen and Donna Rohr, claimed a 4-2 victory over Gainesville Buchholz at Lake Mary while Seminole dropped a 3-1 decision to Vero Beach at Seminole High.

The two Seminole County rivals meet Tuesday night in Seminole Athletic Conference action at Lake Mary High at 8 p.m. The Lady Rams go into their first SAC game with a 2-0 overall record while Seminole is 0-2 overall and 0-1 in the SAC.

Lake Mary pounded the Buchholz net with 22 shots on goal compared to 10 for the Lady Bobcats. When Buchholz cracked the Rams' defense, goalkeeper Laura Hellegard was there as she came up with eight saves.

Lake Mary took a 2-1 halftime lead then scored two more times in the second half to sew up the victory. Buchholz fell to 1-2 with its second straight loss to a Seminole County team. The Bobcats dropped a 2-0 decision to Lake Brantley on Friday.

Meanwhile, at Seminole High, the Lady Tribe had 23 shots on goal compared to 11 for Vero Beach but could only convert on one of its chances, and that was a penalty kick.

"We could have won that game if they girls on offense kicked the ball toward the goal instead of wildly," Seminole coach Suzy Reno said.

Vero Beach took a 1-0 lead 21 minutes into the match but Seminole tied it seven minutes later when Vicky "Spuffy" Pakovic drilled in a penalty kick.

Vero Beach took a 2-1 lead with 11 minutes left in the half then added an insurance goal early in the second half.

For Seminole, keeper Sherri Rumler had 11 saves in the first half and Kim Walsh eight saves in the second.

"We had 11 shots in the first half and 12 in the second but couldn't put it in the goal," Reno said. "We've still got some girls out sick and we're still kind of weak at midfield."

Reno said defenders Cindy Bengé, Angela Freeman and Kim Machnik played outstanding defense in holding Vero Beach to just four shots in the second half. Reno also said newcomers Jennifer Roberts and Shawna Cole played well.

Seminole's Karen Edgemon waits for the ball to settle.

Lyman's junior varsity girls team got a rare chance to play a game Saturday morning and it made the most of the opportunity with a 5-0 rout of Gainesville Buchholz. Lyman is the only Seminole County girls team with a junior varsity. Barnes said the JV Lady Greyhounds have two more games scheduled and are looking for more.

Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club Opens With Schooling Thursday

LONGWOOD — An improved lighting system around the racetrack, the signing of several new kennels along with five racing performances where the proceeds will go to Central Florida area charitable organizations and scholarship programs will all be in the offering as the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club begins its 51st season of championship greyhound racing on Thursday, Dec. 26 at 7:30 p.m.

Jerry Collins

"We're back, we're coming in full force to do what we've been doing for many years," said SOKC chairman of the board Jerry Collins. "We're going all out to provide our many thousands of loyal customers with the best greyhound racing anywhere in the world and to continue doing whatever we can to help people in the community. "We're all looking forward to another record-breaking season here in the Central Florida area. Right now we're putting the finishing touches on everything, the dogs are being tuned up in schooling races and before long, we'll be ready to open the doors for the next four months." In fact, the public will have its initial opportunity to watch the greyhounds training this week when SOKC director of racing Tom Bowersox unveils the 1985-86 racing season with official schooling races on Thursday, starting at 5:30 o'clock.

McDaniel's 24 Lead Seattle Win

United Press International
Xavier McDaniel made it perfectly clear: When he's on the court, he wants the ball. "When the coach says we're going to 'X' I like it," McDaniel, a rookie, said Sunday night after he scored 24 points and to help the Seattle SuperSonics to a 105-100 victory over the host Philadelphia 76ers. "If he's looking for me to try to put it in the hole, that's what I'll try to do. You don't have to impress people. If you do something good, people will notice you." Tom Chambers was high scorer with 28 points for the Sonics, who earned their third road victory this year and the first at the Spectrum since Feb. 8, 1980. Erving and Moses Malone led Philadelphia with 20 points apiece. Only 7,313 people watched the game, the 76ers' smallest crowd since Jan. 10, 1981, when they drew 5,891 for a game against the New Jersey Nets. In other games, Washington pounded Sacramento 111-89, San Antonio downed Golden State 121-114 and the Los Angeles Lakers beat Dallas 125-119.

Reveley, Loyola Drop Hatters

DELAND (UPI) — Loyola University, led by the 25-point performance of Aubrey Reveley, soured Stetson University's hope for a home-court championship in the Hatter Classic Saturday night with a 69-62 victory. The game lifts Loyola to a 4-0 mark, while dropping the Hatters to 3-2. The contest was close all the way, with a 29-28 lead by Loyola at half time. Despite Stetson's tough rebounding dominance of 46 grabs to Loyola's 36, Reveley and teammate Tom Gormley — with 14 points — proved too much in the second half and managed to push the final score to a game-high 8-point lead. Leading Stetson were Terry Johnson and Eric Cumble, each with 14 points and 7 rebounds, and Randy Anderson with 13 points and 9 rebounds.

Florida Sweeps Swim Crowns

AUSTIN, Texas (UPI) — Tom Jager of UCLA was named top performer and the University of Florida swept the men's and women's collegiate titles Sunday at the United States Swimming Open Championships at the University of Texas Swim Center. Jager won the Phillips Performance Award while UCLA teammate Richard Oppel was the meet's high-point scorer with 55.5. The teammates tied for first place in the 100-meter freestyle in 50.36 seconds and joined forces on the UCLA team that won the 400-meter freestyle relay. Betsy Mitchell of the University of Texas was the top women's point scorer with 56. Florida won the women's team standings with 411.5 points, outdistancing the University of Texas with 397.5. The Florida men's team had 514 points to 340 for UCLA.

Barber, Allen Boost FSU

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Pee Wee Barber scored 27 and Randy Allen added 25 to lift Florida State University to a 91-53 victory over winless Western Carolina Saturday night at the Leon County Civic Center. Florida State, now 2-1, did not pull away from the scrappy Western Carolina team until late in the second half. The Catamounts had closed the lead to two at the 9:18 mark, but FSU scored four straight field goals to go up 74-68. Western Carolina never got closer. The Seminole cause was aided by five players in double figures. In addition to Barber and Allen, FSU's Jerome Fitchett chipped in 13, Tat Hunter scored 11 and George McCloud scored 10. Allen led the game in rebounding with 10.

'Cats Tip Alford-Less Hoosiers

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Ed Davender scored 22 points Saturday night to lead No. 8 Kentucky to a 63-58 victory over 20th-ranked Indiana, which was playing without leading scorer Steve Alford. The Hoosiers were led by Ricky Calloway, who also had 22 points. Alford, a member of the 1984 U.S. Olympic team, was slapped with a one-game suspension by the NCAA for posing for a fund-raising sorority calendar. The Wildcats, 5-0, were boosted by Kenny Walker, with 16 point points, and Winston Bennett, with 12. Other Hoosiers in double figures were Stew Robinson with 12 and Daryl Thomas 10.

Rinkers' 66 Wins Mixed Golf

LARGO (UPI) — Christmas will be full of cheer at the Rinker household this year. Larry and Laurie Rinker proved steady siblings down the stretch Sunday with a final-round 66 and a two-stroke victory in the $600,000 Mixed Team Classic. One of three brother-sister combinations on the pro golf tour, the Rinkers split a top prize of $120,000. The event was sponsored by J.C. Penney.

Bahr Boots Denver In OT

United Press International
Like the tiebreaker formula that sorts out playoff teams after the NFL regular season ends, the Raiders and Broncos have a penchant for needing more than the traditional time period to settle their contests.

For their third straight meeting, the Broncos and Raiders went to overtime. For the second time this season, the foot of Chris Bahr brought sudden death to Denver. Bahr hit a 26-yard field goal with 10:09 left in sudden death Sunday to give the Raiders a 17-14 decision over the Broncos. Two weeks ago, Bahr connected on an 32-yard field goal to defeat Denver 31-28 in overtime.

Howie Long stripped Denver quarterback John Elway of the ball, and the Raiders' Greg Townsend recovered to set up Bahr's winning kick.

It was the fifth straight game between the two to be decided by three points or less. The victory improved the likelihood the Raiders will not need a tiebreaker to decide their playoff fate. A Los Angeles triumph or Broncos loss would give the Raiders the AFC West title.

The same simplicity cannot be expected from the two other AFC divisions. On Sunday, the Jets, Dolphins and Patriots all won to maintain their logjam tie atop the AFC East. Meanwhile, Cleveland lost and Cincinnati won to create a deadlock for first place in the Central.

At Orchard Park, N.Y., Ken O'Brien threw three touchdown passes, including a team record 96-yarder to Wesley Walker, to ignite the Jets to a 27-7 victory over the Buffalo Bills.

Minutes after O'Brien fired a scoring pass to tight end Mickey Shuler, O'Brien found a streaking Walker at midfield. Walker then easily outraced his pursuers to break the Jets' record for longest pass play of 91 yards between Joe Namath and Rich Caster in 1975.

"We were backed up there pretty tight," Jets coach Joe Walton said. "I thought it was the right time and the right situation to try for the long gainer."

At Green Bay, Wis., Dan Marino passed for 345 yards and five touchdowns, two coming in the final minutes, to rally the Dolphins to their fifth straight victory, a 34-24 decision over the Green Bay Packers.

"They played us very hard," Marino said. "We had the big plays at the end of the game when we needed them."

At Foxboro, Mass., Tony Eason threw for one score and ran for another while Craig James rushed for 115 yards to spark New England past Detroit 23-6.

The Jets, Patriots and Dolphins are all 10-4. New England is at Miami next Monday night.

"I'm glad they (Miami) won because I don't want to play any team next week that's second-best," James said. "It was tough to keep our minds off Miami."

The Central-leading Bengals and Browns are 7-7.

At Seattle, Dave Krieg threw for 268 yards and four TDs to enable the Seahawks, 8-6, to keep an outside shot at the playoffs while dropping Cleveland from first place with a 31-13 triumph.

At Cincinnati, Boomer Esiason fired three TD passes and James Brooks scored on runs of 27 and 18 yards to ignite the Bengals to a 50-24 romp over the Cowboys. Besides yielding the third most points in its history, Dallas dropped to 9-5 and into a first place tie in the NFC East with the Giants.

"It would be an easy excuse to say we were looking ahead to next week," Dallas defensive tackle Randy White said of the Cowboys-Giants showdown next Sunday. "But the fact is that Cincinnati outplayed us, beat us and that's about the size of it."

At Houston, Joe Morris raced for three TDs en route to becoming the second player in the Giants' history to go over 1,000 yards rushing and Phil Simms threw two scoring passes to send New York to 35-14 victory over the Oilers.

The Rams are at San Francisco tonight with first place in the NFC West at stake. The 49ers trail the Rams by one game.

Elsewhere Sunday, it was: Kansas City 38, Atlanta 10; Chicago 17, Indianapolis 10; Washington 17, Philadelphia 12; St. Louis 28, New Orleans 16; and Minnesota 26, Tampa Bay 7.

Chiefs 30, Falcons 10

At Kansas City, Mo., Todd Blackledge passed for 219 yards and a career-high three TDs to lead the Chiefs. Blackledge completed his first seven passes for 190 yards, including a 70-yard TD toss to Stephane Paigle.

Bears 17, Colts 10

At Chicago, Walter Payton, rushing for over 100 yards for the ninth straight week, raced 16 yards for a TD in the third quarter to snap a 3-3 tie and spark the sluggish NFC Central champion Bears to their 13th victory in 14 games. Chicago finished 8-0 at home, its first undefeated mark at home since 1956.

Redskins 17, Eagles 12

At Philadelphia, Jay Schroeder hit Gary Clark with a 5-yard TD pass and George Rogers ran for 150 yards and a score to keep the Redskins, 8-6, in the playoff hunt.

Cardinals 20, Saints 16

At St. Louis, Stump Mitchell rushed for 158 yards and scored three times to enable the Cardinals to snap a four-game losing streak. Only 29,257 watched the Cardinals, 5-9, win for the second time in the last 10 weeks.

Chargers 34, Steelers 4

At San Diego, Dan Fouts threw for 372 yards and three touchdowns and Gary Anderson scored on a 3-yard run with 2:33 left. Fouts completed 21-of-33 passes as the Chargers evened their record at 7-7. Woodley completed 24-of-35 for 287 yards and three touchdowns for the Steelers.

Jackson Wins Heisman In Closest Vote

Football

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bo Jackson posed with a 25-pound bronze statue in one corner of the Downtown Athletic Club's 17th floor while Vinny Testaverde answered questions near the elevator and Lorenzo White was smiling for cameras four floors below.

The 1986 Heisman Trophy race had already begun.

Jackson of Auburn, benefitting from a strong preseason campaign, became the 12th running back in the last 13 years to win the Heisman Trophy. He edged Iowa quarterback Chuck Long in the closest vote in the 51-year history of the award given to college football's most outstanding player.

Brigham Young quarterback

Robbie Bosco finished third.

Jackson, Long and Bosco are seniors. However, fifth-place finisher White, a running back from Michigan State, and fifth-place finisher Testaverde, a quarterback from Miami (Fla.), are a sophomore and junior, respectively. And the way the Heisman voting has become part popularity contest, White and Testaverde had to leave the Downtown Athletic Club secure in their front-runner status.

"(Finishing fifth) gives me the extra incentive for next year," said Testaverde, who redshirted a season and can graduate early and be eligible for the NFL if he decides not to come back. "You get a chance to see how things are done here. Being from New York (Elmont) gives me a little extra drive. This year, I knew Chuck or Bo would win."

White, who led the nation in rushing, was in the unenviable position of being a sophomore. Seven juniors and 44 seniors have now won the Heisman.

Among those joining White and Testaverde as early favorites for next year are Oklahoma State running back Thurman Thomas, who tied for 10th place, Alabama quarterback Mike Shula and Oklahoma quarterback Jamelle Holleway, who is a freshman.

Notoriety has become important in pursuing a Heisman. Jackson and Ohio State running back Keith Byars emerged as the summer favorites for the Heisman. But when Byars went down with a broken foot in the preseason, Jackson was the unspoken leader.

After several of the other preseason candidates got off to a slow start, performed for struggling teams or, in the case of Texas Christian running back Kenneth Davis was suspended from his team by Coach Jim Wacker for taking payments from boosters, Long emerged as the strongest pursuer.

"The suspense was building up tremendously," Long said. "The last hour was worse than a football game."

Hilliard Sets LSU Rushing Record

Football

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Dalton Hilliard may have come in second-best to Heisman Trophy winner Bo Jackson of Auburn this year, but Hilliard is second to no running back in the history of Louisiana State.

Hilliard closed out his career at Tiger Stadium by rushing 26 times for 170 yards and three touchdowns Saturday night, leading 10th-ranked LSU to a 35-15 win over East Carolina. When Hilliard ripped off a 24-yard run to the Tiger 47 early in the fourth quarter, he became the all-time rushing leader at LSU, surpassing Charles Alexander. Leaving after one more run, Hilliard accumulated 4,050 yards as a Tiger to Alexander's 4,035.

"I'd like to say it's been an enjoyable four years for me at LSU," Hilliard said.

Orange Bowl Committee Elated With Sooners' Win

Football

United Press International
To the Oklahoma Sooners: Thank you. Sincerely, the Orange Bowl selection committee.

Oklahoma routed Southern Methodist Saturday 35-13, virtually assuring the national title will be decided New Year's Day in the Orange Bowl when the No. 2 Sooners meet top-rated Penn State.

"I'm happy to be where we are and have the opportunity to go play in the Orange Bowl," Sooners Coach Barry Switzer said. "This is the opportunity to go play for the national championship."

Oklahoma clinched the Big Eight title and the Orange Bowl bid that accompanies it with a victory over Nebraska Nov. 23. The Sooners, 10-1, then had to sweat out games against Gator Bowl-bound Oklahoma State and SMU to earn its shot at the national title. They defeated Oklahoma State 13-0 Nov. 30 and used a 21-point second-quarter to dispose of SMU.

No. 1 Penn State finished its season 11-0 on Nov. 23 with a victory over intrastate rival Pitt.

"They're No. 1," Switzer said of Penn State. "This is an opportunity to show people around the country we're a different football team than we were six or seven weeks ago, when the Sooners suffered a 27-14 loss to Miami of Florida."

"I'm happy to be where we are and have the opportunity to go play in the Orange Bowl. This is the opportunity to go play for the national championship."

Oklahoma's Spencer Tillman and Jamelle Holleway rushed for touchdowns 18 seconds apart to trigger a 21-point second quarter against SMU in the first meeting between the two schools in 14 years.

Tillman scored on a 1-yard run eight seconds into the second quarter and Holleway swept left end 38 yards for a touchdown on Oklahoma's next snap from center after an SMU fumble. That put the Sooners in front for good, 14-7.

In other games, Navy upset Army 17-7, No. 10 Louisiana State downed East Carolina 35-15, ninth-rated Brigham Young topped Hawaii 23-6 and Wyoming trimmed Texas-El Paso 23-21 in the first Australia Bowl.

At Philadelphia, tailback Napoleon McCallum, who finished seventh in the voting for the Heisman Trophy Saturday, rushed for 217 yards to lift the Midshipmen. The Peach Bowl-bound Cadets, who had been averaging 361 yards per game on the ground, were limited to just 193.

"This is the game I'm going to remember," said McCallum, a fifth-year senior. "Of all the games in the last five years, this is the greatest.... This game today made the extra year worthwhile."

At Baton Rouge, La., Dalton Hilliard ran for 170 yards and three touchdowns to become Louisiana State's all-time rushing leader and lead the Tigers. The victory gives LSU a 9-1-1 record as it heads into the Liberty Bowl against Baylor Dec. 27. East Carolina dropped its ninth straight game and finished 2-9.

Republicans Gloat As Democrat Front Runners Run Elsewhere

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — All four of the Democratic party's most hopeful gubernatorial candidates have now dropped out of the running, leaving Republicans delighted and Democrats struggling against the perception that it is disorganized and without purpose.

Four prominent Democrats were listed as the most likely candidates in the race to succeed Gov. Bob Graham in the 1986 edition of the respected Almanac of American Politics when it went to press last spring. The four were Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter, Attorney General Jim Smith, U.S. Rep. Kenneth "Buddy" McKay of Ocala and Lt. Gov. Wayne Mixon.

By fall Gunter and McKay had decided to run for re-election to their current posts. Mixon announced he would retire, and Smith committed a series of blunders that may have forced himself out of politics for good.

First, Smith flirted with becoming a Republican, creating such a stir that he opted out of the governor's race. He then decided to run for lieutenant governor under state Senate President Harry Johnston, but the pair announced last week they had split up because of disagreements on campaign strategy.

Republicans are gloating.

Larry May Spawn Near Panama

MIAMI (UPI) — A rare, post-season tropical depression is kicking up 35 mph winds off the coast of Panama and forecasters said there was a possibility it could develop into a tropical storm.

If the depression's sustained winds reach 39 mph or more, it would be named Larry — the 12th tropical storm this year.

At 5 a.m., the broad center of the depression was about 125 miles northwest of Balboa, Panama, and appeared to be drifting slowly toward the west, which Case said would probably weaken the system.

Road Closure May Be Extended

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood City Commission will take final action at tonight's meeting on an ordinance that would extend for another 6 months the "temporary" closing of a portion of Lamone Avenue and Shadow Trail in the Shadow Hill subdivision.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at city hall, 175 W. Warren Ave.

The streets were originally closed at the request of Shadow Hill residents, to keep people from taking a shortcut through the subdivision to get to Myrtle Lake Hills Road in the county, but since then the county has paved that road and has asked that the streets be opened. There is also apparently mixed support for the closing among the subdivision residents, according to Mayor Harvey Smeritson. A public hearing will be held on the matter.

An annexation request by Bob Hattaway for 16.5 acres of industrially zoned property on Charlotte Street is scheduled for public hearing, but according to City Clerk Don Terry, Hattaway has withdrawn his request.

A public hearing is scheduled on a conditional use request by Michael Hattaway for an auto lease business to be operated on State Road 434 east of County Road 427 next to the Hattaway real estate office.

Six ordinances that would make zoning changes in the Longwood Green planned unit development on County Road 427 will also have a public hearing tonight as will vacating the unused portion city right-of-way for East Warren Ave. between County Road 427 and the railroad.

There will also be a discussion of the sale of surplus city property on Longwood-Lake Mary Road. Acting City Administrator Greg Manning will suggest advertising the property for sale with the city having the right to reject bids not considered high enough. The property has been appraised at $59,500, but the commission thinks it is worth more.

An employment agreement with Manning that specifies if Manning or the commission gives 30 day notice relieving him of his city administrator post he can revert back to police chief for as long as his performance in that job is considered satisfactory.

Baby Dies As 2 Hospitals Ask For Mother's Insurance

RICHMOND, Calif. — (UPI) — A mother whose baby died after she was refused admittance to two hospitals because she was not carrying her insurance card says she doesn't want any more children because of the experience.

"I don't think I want to have another baby," Sharon Ford said. "I'd be too afraid."

Ford was sent away from two private hospitals last Sunday. When she arrived at a public hospital, her baby boy was born dead. Doctors said the frantic three-hour search by her and the father for a hospital to admit her probably caused the stillbirth.

"It scared me to death," Ford told The Oakland Tribune. "I just couldn't believe they wouldn't let me stay, even though they said the cord was wrapped around my baby's arm or leg. They said the only way I could stay there was if I had a card."

The father, Lowell Thomas, said he could not find Ford's health insurance card in her purse at Merritt Hospital in Oakland — the second hospital that turned her down. Eventually, he found it in the woman's purse. At that point, he said, hospital officials told him that although it was apparent something was wrong, arrangements had already been made for her to be admitted at Highland Hospital, the public facility.

"I was so frightened, frightened for my baby," Ford said. "All the way to Highland, I was just praying and trying to hold myself against the bumps. I was just hoping he wouldn't come there in the car. Thinking about me and my baby, hoping we'd both be OK."

A spokesman for Brookside Hospital in San Pablo, the first stop for the couple, denied Ford was turned away because she did not have insurance and also denied that she was in distress when she went there. The spokesman said Rockridge Insurance patients get service at Merritt Hospital, and that is why she was sent away.

Thomas said that although the mother was in pain, the people at Brookside told them there was plenty of time to get to Merritt.

Merritt Hospital officials refused to discuss the case. While the woman did have Rockridge Insurance coverage through the state's Medi-Cal program, her name did not appear on computer records available to the hospital because of the delay in delivery of membership lists, The Tribune reported.

The incident is under investigation by the state Division of Hospital Licensing. Guidelines forbid the transfer of a patient whose condition would be endangered.

Ford has two other children. The baby who died "looked just like them. He was just a beautiful baby," she said. Thomas said bitterly, "All they were concerned about was how they were going to be paid ... I just wonder how come they couldn't let us pay. They didn't even mention about paying. They just wanted to know about insurance."

"Hell, what's my baby's life worth. Seventeen hundred? Eighteen hundred? Surely a life's worth more than that."

those involved in these transactions.

According to Salfi's order, "Counsel for all parties will be prepared to state to the court all agreed facts and all remaining disputed facts and issues of law in the case."

He further states that witnesses and information related to the county's Yankee Lake purchase "not disclosed by the manner herein provided cannot be used."

"The extensive groundwork will 'simplify the issues,' and 'aid

In the disposition of the action," Salfi said.

The judge's mandate was met with mixed emotions by legal representatives for both sides. The attorneys said they would attempt to comply with the order, although they also expect to request permission to amend their documentation as depositions continue.

Sanford "hasn't even started taking statements," Colbert said. "We'll comply with the order as best we can, but we also expect to submit additional data before the hearing date."

Ms. Clayton said the county's position is that it didn't have access to Sanford's records until last week, when City Manager

Frank Faison began giving his deposition. Faison's testimony is being taken by Ross Stanton and Howard Marsee, attorneys hired by the county, and Mack Cleveland and Jim Spoonhour, attorneys representing Paulucci and his agent, Nicholas Pope.

Paulucci, through Pope, agreed to sell the Yankee Lake property to the county on Nov. 6. Two days later, Sanford filed its condemnation proceeding against Pope and the property's lien holders, American Bank and Trust of Palm Beach and Freedom Savings and Loan of Winter Park. The county closed its purchase agreement on Nov. 22, with a $7.5 million payment for a deed stamped "pending litigation." After Faison completes his deposition, Mayor Betty Smith, the city's commissioners, Utilities Director Paul Moore and the city's appraisers and engineers will be called on next, Cleveland said.

In partially complying with Salfi's order, Cleveland and Spoonhour today submitted a case management statement that contains a list of witnesses, including Paulucci, Ms. Clayton, County Administrator Ken Hooper and County Director and Environmental Services Jim Bible. The names of "other witnesses yet to be determined," will be added to the document, Cleveland said.

Exhibits entered by Cleveland and Spoonhour will include aerial photographs, financial appraisals and tax maps of the 2,867-acre Yankee Lake site. Also presented will be the Sanford city code and "other exhibits yet to be determined," Cleveland said.

Attorneys for all the defendants will provide the court with transcripts of the plaintiffs' depositions. This documentation will contain discussion and review of the city's wastewater program.

The defense has requested extensive information regarding the city's sewage treatment effort and in light of this, the Sanford depositions may result in exhibits of comparable weight to the 50 pounds of wastewater program data the city representatives will be addressing. According to defense attorneys, those subpoenaed must be prepared to discuss every appraisal, application, letter, memo, study, report, order, agreement, resolution, record, video tape, meeting, and discussion related to the wastewater management program.

Faison has already spent the better part of two days going over this data with the defense attorneys and will resume his testimony on Tuesday.

"They're going over everything page by page," the city manager said.

Although Cleveland acknowledged the defense "wants to know everything the city has done" since the inception of its wastewater management program, he said today the Sanford depositions will be concluded in time for the hearing. Colbert also said his depositions will be scheduled to enable completion before the suit's court date.

her appearance should not be taken as support for Frey. She didn't attend a fund-raiser in Orlando last month for Tampa Mayor Bob Martinez (he raised $70,000 there, pushing his campaign fund over the $1 million mark) because, she said, of a scheduling conflict.

Frey, 51, attended the fund-raiser Sunday night with his wife, Marcia, and spoke briefly, but confidently, to those in attendance about his plans for success in getting the Republican nomination for governor. He stressed the need to reduce government in Florida and place more emphasis, especially from the business sector, on education.

Gallagher said this morning he had heard over the past several months that there might be overtures from Frey's camp to entice him into joining forces with Frey.

Some of Frey's supporters said Sunday the game plan was to wait until shortly after the first of the year to approach Gallagher, using as a convincer what they said was his (Gallagher's) inability to raise enough money to carry him through the campaign.

And although Gallagher said to date he's raised only slightly more than $100,000, he added he wouldn't go on a strong fund-raising drive until February or March and expects then to raise more than $750,000.

"I've been hearing about Frey wanting me to join forces, but he's got to win first, and I don't think he will. I'm going to win. He should think about running with me," a determined Gallagher said.

Frey said Gallagher isn't the only one he has in mind as a running mate, noting there are several other strong possible candidates from around the state, some of them women, who would qualify.

"The person who runs as lieutenant governor has to, first off, be honest, have integrity, and be able to serve as governor if anything should happen to the serving governor," Frey said. He added: "So, that's a prime consideration. Can that person you select as a running mate serve as governor if it becomes necessary? Then there's the question of geographics. It'll take someone from Dade, Broward, Pinellas or Palm Beach counties to get that political balance for the candidate." That geographic balance, Frey said, is one reason he feels that Martinez' naming Bobby Brantley of Longwood as his running mate may have helped him (Frey). "People tend to vote for the favorite, and if the polls say I'm the favorite in Central Florida, Brantley isn't going to do Martinez much good here." —Tom Giordano engineers to assist the P&Z in developing the new plan.

Creating a new comp plan was undertaken to comply with a state mandate and, in addition to the land use map and building zones it designates, the P&Z effort will address housing, recreation, traffic and police, fire and utility services.

The plan will also address conservation and, according to Morris, the P&Z is considering adoption of a low, low density zone around the portion of Lake Monroe that lies within city limits. The new zone would serve as a means of "protecting a sensitive area from the detrimental effects of overdevelopment," Morris said.

An undeveloped zone lying 7-miles outside of the city will also be discussed at tonight's meeting. City Manager Frank Faison has requested the commissioners hire a soil engineer "to bolster" the court testimony the city's engineers will offer during the Yankee Lake condemnation proceeding. Sanford will attempt to prove in court the 2,867-acre property is the only viable location for daily disposal of the 6-7 million gallons of effluent that will be generated through the city's wastewater management program.

The YAC, which is comprised of students from Seminole High School and Lakeview Middle School, was chartered by the city commission in August. The report it submitted last week, in addition to the municipal pool, requests the commission take efforts to develop a network of five community recreation centers, at locations enabling easy access by all city residents.

The young people also considered the city's elder population in their report and have asked the commission to pursue grants as a means of opening a senior citizens center.

The YAC would also like to see the Seminole High School gymnasium opened up for evening and weekend use. The commissioners will address this proposal during the joint-meeting they'll conduct with the Seminole County School Board in January.

Among additional matters to be addressed tonight is preliminary reading of an ordinance increasing the city's parking fines by as much as 300 percent. Acting on a recommendation made by Sanford police chief Steve Harrett, the city's $3 fines will be upped to $25 for fire and handicap zone parking violations, and $5 for all other infractions.

The commission has also approved purchase of "the boot," a vehicle immobilizer which will be utilized on cars that have five or more outstanding violations.

The commission will also consider holiday requests made by the Central Baptist Church, the Campbell-Lossing American Legion Post 53, and the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees.

The Jaycees have requested permission to sponsor a circus at the Sanford Village Flea Market on Dec. 13 through 15, and the American Legion Post wants to conduct a carnival at its 3506 Orlando Drive headquarters, Dec. 10 through 16.

The annual Christmas nativity performance conducted on the front lawn of the Central Baptist Church has led the church to request that Oak Avenue, from 13th to 14th Streets, be closed from 6 to 8:30 p.m. on Dec. 21 through 23. Church members will recreate the first nativity and the Central Baptist adult and youth choirs will perform.

In And Around Longwood

'Christmas In Olde Longwood' Celebration Set

Come join the Centennial Company at the traditional "Christmas in Olde Longwood" celebration on Tuesday, Dec. 17th or Thursday the 19th at 8:30 each evening.

The old-fashioned Christmas fete in Longwood's historic district begins with all joining at the Christ Episcopal Church on Church Avenue for carolling. Then on to the newly restored Longwood Village Inn (thanks to the Centennial Company) for a sumptuous holiday dinner and candle lighting ceremony. Each celebrant is asked to bring an old-fashioned ornament to help decorate the Community Christmas Tree in the old inn. After dinner, all will march by candlelight to the Bradlee-McIntyre House for dessert and coffee to top off the Christmas affair.

Tickets are $15 per person and may be purchased in advance by calling Marilyn DeLong at 422-2062. All proceeds from the gala event will be contributed to the Central Florida Society for Historic Preservation.

Eastmonte Civic Center is the site for the annual Burger King Awards Banquet to honor Seminole County's outstanding athletes in the school system's varsity football program. A "Coach of the Year" will also be named. The banquet will be Wednesday, December 11 beginning at 5 p.m. All area high school coaches and teams are urged to attend.

The Student Council officers of Spring Lake Elementary School on Orange Avenue near Forest City are sponsoring the school's annual canned goods drive. Each student is asked to bring in a canned food (tinned only) to his home-pod. All collected food will be contributed to the Russell Home for Atypical Children

Sing your favorite carols along with the music of the Florida Symphony Orchestra in a musical celebration of the holidays.

As a segment of the "Music on the Light Side" series, the program is set for 7:30 p.m. on December 15th at the Carr Performing Arts Center in Orlando. Admission tickets for area residents may be purchased at the Select-a-Seat Agency in Altamonte Mall.

The re-organized Seminole County chapter of MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Drivers) will not meet in December due to the holidays. The group meets the 3rd Monday of each month with the next meeting scheduled for Monday, January 20th at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of Florida Hospital, Altamonte on 436 in Altamonte Springs.

Anniversary couples celebrating in the month of November were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Butler of Fern Park, 50 years; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dunn of Sanford, 50 years; Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Broberg of Winter Springs, 60 years and Mr. and Mrs. Percy White of Longwood, 60 years.

Robert Elrod, president of the Association of Realtors is the guest speaker at the Annual Awards Luncheon for the Seminole County Board of Realtors. The event will be at noon on Thursday, December 12th at the Holiday Inn at the junction of I-4 and 436.

The Tri-County Meals on Wheels program serving shut-ins in Seminole, Orange and Osceola Counties is seeking gifts to brighten the holiday of clients.

With Christmas dinner, a gift item or two is hoped to be given to each person on the Meals on Wheels list.

Gifts should be new personal items that are wrapped in Christmas fashion and marked on the outside whether the gift is for a woman or a man.

South Seminole residents may leave their contributions at any 1st Federal branch, Red Lobster Restaurant, or at the Federation of Senior Citizens offices in Altamonte Springs. Please add a couple of these needed items to your gift list — they'll be appreciated.

South Seminole Garden Club will meet on December 16 for a Poiluck Christmas Dinner at the Longwood Woman's Club building at 150 W. Church Avenue at 12:00 p.m. All members will act as hostesses and there will be a gift exchange of handcrafted articles. Visitors are welcome to attend.

Family Reunion Held Recently For Bengston Descendants

A family reunion was held recently for the descendants of Elias and Christine Bengston, one of the first couples brought over from Sweden by General Henry Sanford in 1871. The event was held at the home of Lewis and Dorothy Leland in Lakeland. Dorothy is a great granddaughter of Elias and Christine.

A bountiful noon meal was served to 65 people, descendants and their families.

Some attending came from as far as California and Indiana. Others from Florida came from Daytona Beach, Lakeland, Winter Haven, Palmdale, Polk City, Lake Placid, Inverness and Sanford.

Woman Bound In Red Tape

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I was raped, beaten and left for dead in the middle of nowhere. I found my way back, identified my attacker and pressed charges. We went to court, and he is now serving five to seven years. He was up for parole once and was denied. My problem: At the time of the attack, the police took all my personal belongings for evidence—including the jewelry and clothes they took off me in the hospital. They told me I couldn't have anything back until after the case was over.

After the jerk was sentenced, I asked for my things and was told I would have to wait until the case was appealed. Next they tell me that the case has to be typed up, the judge must read it, sign it, then it must be filed. They said they "lost" my things. Two months later they found everything.

I have been calling them once a month for three years, and I still don't have anything back! I keep getting one stall after another; they say the courts are very busy now, and I will have to wait.

OK, now that I have explained my predicament, I would like to forget this ugly incident once and for all, but I can't get it out of my mind until I get my things back. Can you help me?

FED UP IN CONNECTICUT

DEAR FED UP: Yes. There is a non-profit organization that helps people like you. It is Victims for Victims, 1800 S. Robertson Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90035. Write to it, describe your problem and enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply.

The people there are masters at cutting red tape and letting people know what their rights are and how to obtain them. If you live in Philadelphia, New York or Santa Barbara, Calif., you can contact the local chapters. To start a chapter in your own community, write to the Los Angeles chapter for particulars.

DEAR ABBY: As a smoker, I want to thank you for your response to "Smoked Out", who asked if she had the right to complain about a chain-smoker seated next to her at a baseball game.

Your reply: "You had every right to complain. Most smokers need only to be told politely that their smoke is offensive, and they promptly react with courtesy and consideration."

Yes, just ask me and I'll gladly cooperate. I have learned to be assertive. If I want to smoke in a taxi and the driver doesn't want me to, I get another cab.

D.K. CARNAHAN, NEW YORK
DEAR D.K.: Some cab drivers are assertive, too. They light up without asking their passengers' permission. And if the passengers object, they're told to find another cab.

DEAR ABBY: You are always on your soapbox about cigarette smokers fouling the air. Well, how about all those people who put on so much perfume, you could gag?

Everywhere you go lately you're practically asphyxiated by the fragrances. It's bad enough when women bathe in perfume, but now that men have also taken to smelling pretty, a person needs a gas mask to keep from fainting.

You can edit this any way you want to, but please get it in the column before the holidays. Thanks.

GAGGING IN CAMDEN, N.J.

Dear Abby

DEAR GAGGING: No editing necessary. Readers, "Gagging" has a point. Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "Moderation is essential to the enjoyment of everything." Right on, Ralph!

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was recently married at a formal church wedding, which we arranged to have videotaped at a considerable cost to us.

I heard that several people were planning to bring their children (several under 3 years of age), so we made arrangements to have the church nursery opened, and we even paid two licensed nursery workers to look after the children during the wedding. The ushers were instructed to politely ask those who brought their children to take them to the nursery.

I was astonished at the number of guests who pushed past the ushers, ignored their request and took their children to sit with them during the wedding. Some children became restless during the ceremony and started to talk and whine. Instead of being taken out of the church, they were "shushed" and scolded — all clearly audible on the tapes.

These same children were permitted to crawl around on the floor during the reception!

Now, Dear Abby, how can a situation like this be prevented?

WEDDING RUINED IN NEW JERSEY

DEAR WEDDING: It can't — unless one hires "bouncers" to back up the ushers whose polite requests are ignored.

DEAR ABBY: Recently, after 55 years of marriage, I lost my loving wife. I lost my sweetheart, my gourmet cook, my nurse and my best friend.

In the 55 years we were married, I sent her flowers only twice. Now I put flowers on her grave twice a week.

I kiss her picture every morning and tell her how much I love her. Before she went away, my morning greeting was, "Is the coffee ready?"

Somewhere I read the following: "Carve not upon a stone the dirgeful words that mourners say at graveside, rather tell me while I live." I wish I had another chance.

A.R. IN N.Y.
DEAR A.R.: No one has "another chance," but because you took the time to put your thoughts on paper, somewhere just one thoughtless husband may see himself and show his young wife by word and deed how much he loves her. The "chance" you missed is still available to countless young men — and women, too. Thank you for a precious reminder.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and pregnant. My mother doesn't know it yet, and I don't know how to tell her. She told me that if I got pregnant before I was 18, she was going to kick me out. She said she wasn't going to go through this with me like she did with my two sisters — they were 14 and 15 when they had their first babies.

Spying Perspective Epidemic of Espionage

By Judi Hanson
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Better detection, more money and luck helped federal agents in the recent epidemic of espionage cases, but officials say little really can be done to stop spying.

The intelligence community, shaken for the second time this year with major spy scandals, says it is doing a better job of ferreting out spies, but admits the work is getting tougher. And some say that while espionage can be curtailed, nothing can be done to stop it completely because more than 4 million civilian and military employees have security clearances, and last year alone, 17 million documents were classified.

"Realistically, regardless of what you do, it's not going to stop it (espionage). We've said that over and over again," said Britt Snider, director for counterintelligence and security policy at the Defense Department.

"There is no real panacea for the problem. There are things we can do to make it more difficult," he added.

In nine days last month, three present or former employees of the CIA, the National Security Agency and the Defense Department were arrested and charged with espionage.

And in a new twist, one case — the arrest of Jonathan Jay Pollard, a civilian employee of the Naval Investigative Service — involved selling secrets to a close ally, Israel. The case rocked the diplomatic community and caused a week of tensions until Israel apologized to the United States.

The latest group of espionage cases followed the Walker family spy scandal, the spy ring led by John A. Walker Jr., who is believed to have furnished military secrets to the Soviets for 20 years. The case has been considered the most damaging spy case since Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were executed for passing atomic bomb secrets to the Russians in the 1950s.

For 10 years between 1966 and 1975, there were no federal esplionage prosecutions. Since then, U.S. officials have made 49 cases against espionage suspects and all signs indicate that number of prosecutions will be increasing.

With attention now focused on espionage, Congress and the White House are working toward cutting down access to defense materials, imposing the death penalty for spying and limiting the actual number of documents actually classified.

The budget for counterintelligence has tripled since President Reagan took office, and there is far greater use of the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court to approve wiretaps in espionage cases.

The number of wiretaps approved by the special court, which meets in a secure room at the Justice Department, has nearly doubled in five years — from 319 in 1980 to 635 in 1985.

"Basically, we have more tools and a more determined attitude," said a Justice Department official. "There is a more intensified attitude on the part of the Justice Department and FBI on the necessity of finding and apprehending those who are spying, regardless of which country they may be spying for."

At the same time, Thomas Duhadway, a top FBI official for intelligence, acknowledges the United States has been damaged severely by the recent spate of espionage activities.

"Hostile intelligence services have increased their presence in this country in the past decade," Duhadway said in an interview. "They have become more aggressive."

Some members of Congress are supporting legislation that would limit even further the travel activities of Soviet diplomats and businessmen from the Eastern bloc and are supporting measures to penalize countries whenever they are caught spying.

Others maintain it is important to reclassify civilian and military employees every two years to make sure they have not fallen prey to the temptations of espionage.

...Jonathan Pollard ...Anne Pollard

Jonathan Pollard and his wife, Anne Henderson-Pollard, were Washington yuppies. They are young, had a nice apartment in a refurbished building near trendy Dupont Circle and their careers were starting to take off.

Pollard, 31, known to family and friends as Jay, was upwardly mobile in his $33,000-a-year job as an anti-terrorism analyst for the Naval Investigative Service, specializing in the Caribbean.

Henderson-Pollard, 25, had left her job at the National Rifle Association two months ago to build her own public relations firm.

They married in July after a four-year courtship. They had a cat and a gold Ford Mustang. Pollard was up for a promotion, to the NIS' anti-terrorism desk for the Middle East. Henderson-Pollard was getting clients.

But on Nov. 21, their yuppie world froze in its fast track. With FBI agents on their tail, the Pollards drove their car to the Israeli Embassy in Washington and asked for political asylum. They were refused.

When Pollard, his wife and their cat, Dusty, drove out of the embassy, FBI agents arrested him. He was charged with passing U.S. secrets — to Israel, a friend of the United States and its closest ally in the strife-ridden Middle East.

A day later, Henderson-Pollard was arrested and charged with unauthorized possession of classified documents.

At a Nov. 27 bail hearing for the Pollards, an FBI agent testified that Pollard told agents he was paid $2,500 a month and got two free trips to Europe for his information. He told them he had been promised protection from his "handler" at the Israeli Embassy if he could "shake" the FBI surveillance.

The revelations considerably strained U.S.-Israeli relations. At one point, the State Department expressed "dismay" — a harsh word in diplomatic language — at Israel's initial refusal to allow U.S. officials to question Israelis who might have been involved with Pollard.

On Dec. 1, Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres apologized for the espionage and said the Israeli government unit believed to have been involved would be dismantled "if the allegations are confirmed."

...Ronald Pelton

Before KGB defector Vitaly Yurchenko ditched his CIA handlers and returned to the Soviet Union in early November, he spilled enough information for federal agents to find Ronald Pelton.

When they did, agents asked Pelton to meet them in a hotel in Annapolis, Md., where he had been working the previous month as a yacht salesman.

That day, Nov. 24, agents questioned Pelton for nearly 10 hours and said he confessed to what Yurchenko said he had been doing: selling U.S. secrets to the Soviet Union.

More unnerving to the American intelligence community was the revelation that between 1965 and 1979 Pelton was a communications specialist for the National Security Agency, the largest and most secret of U.S. intelligence organizations.

...Larry Wu-Tai

In 1954, Larry Wu-Tai Chin started working for the CIA. That year, officials say, he sold U.S. secrets to Chinese agents. The sales continued, they say, until Nov. 23, 1985 — when he was arrested as a spy.

Quiet and professorial, Chin, 63, seemed suited to the work he did for the CIA at its Foreign Broadcast Information Service in Rosslyn, Va. He translated foreign radio and television broadcasts and in 1970 was made the service's officer for foreign documents.

But the FBI started investigating Chin in December 1983 as a possible spy and discovered that he took trips to Hong Kong, the South China Sea port city of Macao, and Peking. In those cities and in Rosslyn, Chin met with Chinese intelligence agents and passed them U.S. secrets he had gleaned from his work, the FBI said.

Chin's arrest at his Alexandria, Va., home came during a five-day dragnet in November that rounded up three other spy suspects in the Washington area. With those arrests, four of the nation's intelligence agencies had found accused spies in their midst: the CIA, the FBI, military intelligence and the code-breaking National Security Agency.

Chin was born in China, but is a naturalized American citizen. Chin is married and has three children.

Eye Institute Can Help With Blurring

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — After a severe bout with the flu last fall, I was left with a blurred spot in my right eye. I've been to one ophthalmologist three times, to another (who is supposed to be a famous surgeon) once, and have had a complete physical and a glucose tolerance test, but none of the doctors can find anything wrong. I'm 62. I don't know where else to go or what to do.

DEAR READER — You sound as though you have done all the right things; I'm surprised your specialists haven't been able to diagnose your conditions. In my opinion, your next logical step would be to make an appointment at a leading eye institute or at a clinic in a hospital that specializes in vision disorders.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I was diagnosed as having fibrocystic breast disease seven years ago. My two sisters have it also. I made my own discovery that caffeine, chocolate and refined sugar had no effect on the lumps. The problem for me is that the birth-control pill encourages formation of them. What do you make of this?

DEAR READER — From the information you provide, I suspect that your breast cysts are hormone-sensitive. Your gynecologist may be willing to prescribe some of the newer low-dose contraceptive pills. However, I'll predict that any birth-control drug will exacerbate your fibrocystic disease to one extent or another.

Because this common breast ailment is entirely innocuous (although painful), you may choose to continue the birth-control pills and put up with your discomfort, providing you are willing to have your breasts checked periodically by a doctor. The other obvious solution is to change your method of contraception. Barrier methods or surgical sterilization for you or your husband might be options.

As you have discovered, not all women with fibrocystic disease are helped by avoiding chocolate, coffee and sugar.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My right testicle filled up with fluid. I went to a doctor and was told I could have it drained or have surgery. I chose to have it drained, but about a year later it filled up again and I had surgery. It hasn't healed yet. I wear a jockey strap with a sterile dressing. The surgeon told me I was doing OK, but after five-and-a-half months, why hasn't it healed?

DEAR READER — You appear to have had a fluid-filled sac called a hydrocele. The fluid can easily be removed, but as long as the sac is present, new liquid can accumulate. Once the sac is removed (and I assume, in your case, it was), the situation should resolve and healing should promptly take place.

Hydroceles are not particularly difficult medical problems, except for being a nuisance. A draining wound, however, can be a problem, because it provides an opening for bacteria to enter the scrotum and cause infection. I agree with you that five-and-a-half months is an unacceptably long time to wait, and I'm bothered by the possibility that low-grade infection may already have set in and delayed healing.

I think you need a surgical revision. Ask your doctor if he shares your concern. If he doesn't, ask for a referral to a urologist — or another surgeon — who may be more capable of curing your problem.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Three spades was not the natural bid of a long suit. (North had denied holding four spades by responding one no-trump.) Instead, three spades showed concentrated strength in that suit and gave South a chance to try three no-trump if hearts were partially stopped. When South could bid only four diamonds, North carried on to game. On a good day, 12 tricks would come rolling in since the diamond queen is likely to fall, but this was the rainy season.

After ruffing the second heart, declarer played ace of diamonds and a spade to the king, and ruffed another heart. Next came

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY DECEMBER 10, 1985

Through your ingenuity and resourcefulness, ways can be found to add to your holdings in the year ahead. When you get a bright idea, put it into action instead of sitting on it.

BAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll be at your best today when your mettle is tested. Challenges won't intimidate you. In fact, you may even welcome them. Trying to patch up a romance? The Matchmaker set can help you understand what it might take to make the relationship work. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Once you make a commitment today, others can count on you to follow it through, even if it turns out to be difficult for you to keep your promise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) An old friend keeps popping into your mind today, make an effort to get in touch. Something good could transpire from the hookup.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Obstacles can be overcome today, and major goals can be achieved, provided you're properly motivated. Give yourself a pep talk and get going.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You are extremely well equipped to handle complex issues today. Logical thinking, plus knowledge acquired through experience, will supply the answers.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Changes or shifting conditions tend to work for your benefit today, even those that will be engineered by others.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) People with a mature outlook will be the ones who provide you with the greatest companionship today. Associates of this type will be comfortable to be around.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you may have to work a trifle harder than usual, but this is OK; even though you may not be aware of it, your potential rewards will also be great.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your charisma is strong today, causing others to gravitate to you. Don't be surprised if you are complimented by someone who formerly treated you coolly.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Give domestic responsibilities top priority today. Through your conscientious efforts, you can do things that will enhance the well-being of your clan.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Friends will have respect for your views today, because they'll know instinctively that you'll tell the truth, even if it's painful to you or them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your commercial instincts will be sharp today, and you'll know how to put together a good deal. You won't ask for more than you deserve, nor will you accept less.
