WASHINGTON (AP) - Returning from his historic journey to China, President Nixon has told the nation his talks with Communist leaders sowed the seeds for "a more-enduring structure for peace" without secret deals undercutting any ally.

He sought upon his return to soothe conservatives fretting about his pledge to ultimately withdraw all U.S. troops from Taiwan-an effort being continued today in a meeting with congressional leaders.

"We did not bring back any written or unwritten agreement that will guarantee peace in our time," Nixon said in nationally televised remarks minutes after he concluded his 12-day, 20,395-mile trip to the long-hostile and isolated Asian nation

But he said to the cheers of several thousand persons jammed into a hangar at Andrews Air Force Base for starspangled welcome-home ceremonies, "We made some necessary and important beginnings."

Nixon delivers a more-detailed private report today at a mid-morning meeting with congressional leaders. then meets with his Cabinet. Even as he flew home from China and what he called a "week of intensive talks at the highest level." several congressional leaders praised his journey. Among the warm endorsements was one from a longtime administration critic, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

But some conservatives in Nixon's own Republican party fretted about his pledge to ultimately withdraw U.S. troops from Taiwan.

Nixon sought in his airport speech to

The beautiful springtime weather of the past few days has caused fishing reports to come in at an amazing rate. Every camp in the area, without exception, had glowing reports of excellent catches of bass, beam, shad, speckled perch and catfish. Charlie Meeks and Lewis Dinkins used Rattlelure plugs to take six bass last Sunday. Five of them topped 612 pounds each. They failed to say where they were fishing for obvious reasons according to Don Smith of Seminole Sporting Goods. Ottis Faulk of Camp Seminole on the Wekiva River reported that the fishing in his section of the river was fine last week. Many of the camping parties took good strings of FOUR BIG ONES were the catch of Scott Roberts and Pat Reynolds of Orlando in their recent trip to Camp Seminole. Included in the catch was a one pound, nine ounce pickerel and three bass up to nine pounds.

specks just north of the camp and shell crackers were biting along with plenty of redbreast bream. Bass catches were the big thing, however, with one visitor landing a 91/2 pounder. Also on the Wekiva, George Cheney, Wekiva River Haven Camp, had news of one party landing eight bass on a Friday using the purple worm and another catch of 10 bass on Sunday. This string averaged from one to three pound and was caught in the grassy flats. George stated that bream were hitting well, specks fair and catfish slow. Lowell Hiley, camp owner on Lake Jessup, reported the best weekend of perch fishing for the entire winter. Strings of 50 to 75 per boat was the common thing, with the fish biting in shallow water on the beds, or as Hiley put it, "right in the edge of the woods." One Sunday haul from this camp was recorded by Garry Ellis and Joe Sprivey of Bradenton. Using live Missouri minnows, they took 29 on a short trip.

Shad fishermen on the St. Johns hit the jack-pot Saturday and Sunday according to Bob King of Marina Isle Camp. Some boats were coming in with 20 to 30 shad, according to the number of fishermen in the boat. Bream hit well on crickets and speckled perch went on a feeding spree. Buck Pay and party had a limit string Saturday as well as Eustis Russ. Jim Grey, a North Carolina visitor, took his limit on two successive days. All were using live minnows. Shad of five pounds, seven ounces and one of five pounds, eight ounces were posted by two different lady anglers while this writer's son, Brian Orrell, age 10, caught a four pound five ounce specimen.

The Pleasant Point area is producing some very good shad catches and Lemon Bluff Camp, Pat Brooks, Manager, reported one of five pounds 13 ounces for Clyde Blank on Wednesday.

The Lanon Bluff area had several nice bass caught over the weekend. Mrs. Jeannie Trueluck, fishing here last Thursday, came in with one weighing an even 10 pounds. Specks were not as good as last week but catfishermen were getting pretty fair catches.

Salt Water Fishing

On the salt water scene, Dick Dove of Dove's Taxidermy Shop, tried the off-shore fishing at Cape Canaveral Sunday. Bill Marsh accompanied him on this excursion to try out Dick's newly completed boat. They found bonita striking in schools on the surface and had a ball with 13 and 14 pounders on light spinning tackle. Dick reported that with the light tackle, they sometimes had to follow the bonita to regain line the fish stripped off.

The deep sea boats at Inlet Harbor, Daytona Beach, ran every day last week according to Bill Stevens, manager, Bill stated that fishing was the best of the entire Winter with some of the head boats bringing in as many as 200 chicken snapper. Trolling boats found king mackerel, dolphin and, bonita plentiful, with the kings being the most consistent.

LIKE FATHER, LIKE son is the way the saying goes and young Brian Orrell, son of Herald staffer Bob Orrell, displays a four pound, five ounce shad he recently hauled in. See details in "Let's Go Fishing" column today.

to approve or reject a new Article V--the judicial--which evaded proper modernization in the new state constitution. Of all the circumstances which surround the average citizen, the one which is most apt to affect the family, is that of law enforcement, the judicial and the penal apparatus. Reform of the judicial machinery has been accepted as a crying need. Yet any such steps is a dislocation of traditional, agehonored and familiar practices which cannot be done without some hard trodding.

At this time we do not either support or oppose the proposed article. What we do is to ask that the public, the voters pay some very specific attention to those who are favoring and those who are opposing and ask questions and vote wisely when the vote is to be cast.

In the broadest terms, the new article would consolidate the present crazy-quilt pattern of 14 types of courts. There would be a state-wide pattern of four levels: 1. The supreme court 2 the district courts of appeal, the circuit courts and the county courts.

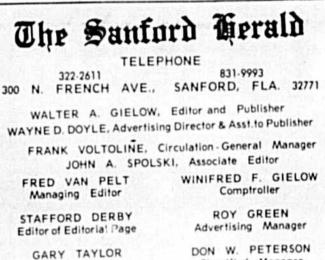

The fee system would end. Salaries would be the same all over Florida. All other than the named courts would end on Jan. 1, 1973 with the exception of municipal courts which would be phased out gradually until Jan. 3, 1977.

Proponents include Gov. Reubin Askew and the Florida Bar Association. It has been studied and analyzed by the competent and non-partisan Leage of Women Voters of Seminole County. And this organization is in step with the League of Women Voters of Florida which has issued a flyer listing their reasons to vote "Aye" for Amendment 1.

 These include elimination of duplication, establishment of rules for all courts, speeding justice, bringing local justice nearer to the people, removal of local politics from judicial appointments, provide more local revenue, eliminate part-time justice, phase out all nonlawyer judges, abolish the fee system and promote court room decorum and dignity.

These are the kind of goals that few would oppose. But they are generalities and need to be spelled out as these fine L of WVs can do if given a chance

Quite properly they point out that the proposed amendment is opposed by the Florida League of Cities and the Municipal Judges Association. They think it is being "rushed on the ballot" before the results have been explained to the "man in the street."

This is exactly the same approach which Governor Askew took some months ago when he gave a very high prioity to Amendment 1 and urged all media and all those deeply concerned to prepare the public for this vote. Preparatory time is, however, running out, if it hasn't done so already. Before the ballot has be cast, the voter who should realize that this is the most poorly patched and weakest of the governmental fabric which is to clothe his life for years to come, has a duty to himself and his family. He should ask questions and get answers from both sides. We will welcome letters to the editor which

Pennsylvania Avenue Nixon Steals Spotlight From "Guvs"

By MICHAEL O'CONNOR Copley News Service

WASHINGTON - President Nixon was in China, the 92nd Congress was officially in session and the nation's 50 governors were holding a winter meeting in the capital. Under normal circumstances, this would be the setting for hot political activity. Unfortunately, the political climate in Washington - described by one Democrat as "the year of the partisan rat" - lulled most observers to virtual sleep. Mr. Nixon has stolen the show. He dominated the front page attention. Networks talked about little else. Even a skyjacking involving a Kennedy was a No. 2 story. Capitol Hill people are not unaccustomed to being upstaged by the President. Washington's social circuit activity dropped off accordingly. But the governors, who normally draw top-level press coverage at any national meeting, also found themselves on the short end of the stick. Reporters meeting in hotel press rooms here seemed more concerned about how they would eventually get to China rather than what the nation's chief executives at the statehouse level were saying. Again, they were saying very little.

Governors most in demand for press conferences and interviews were Democrat Rubin Askew of Florida, the party's national convention keynoter and self-designated opponent of a controversial statewide school busing amendment, and Ronald Reagan of California, the GOP's articulate conservative spokesman.

One staff member who has worked several governors' East Coast Fepublicans here say Rocky just might be ready conferences made a telling point as the leaders gathered to try again.

Politically speaking, the point can be advanced even further. The nation's Republican governors (there are 19) remain totally committed to Mr. Nixon for reelection. The majority Democrats are being committed one-by-one with most now on record for the candidacy of Sen. Edmund

The political dullness of this session was highlighted at a reception for congressional leaders. Name state leaders such as Reagan and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York didn't show up at all. A mammoth hotel ballroom here set aside for the occasion was populated mainly by staff members from Capitol Hill offices or spear carriers from the National Governors. Conference.

Liberal Republicans attending the meeting seemed to relish the thought that Nelson Rockefeller would leave Albany next year to become secretary of state in the second Nixon administration.

As of now, the comments appeared somewhat far out. But one New Yorker put it this way: Rockefeller has reached the end of his political line in New York and still has designs on the White House. A stint in the State Department at the tail end of an era where Mr. Nixon could not seek reelection under any circumstance would place him near the front of the line of potential Republican successors.

over the long run in terms of relations between China and the United States, not to mention "a new day for all the world," it has unleashed a vertible flood of interest n China that has been damned up by 20 years of cold war policies.

Chinese authorities in Canada and at the United Nations have been swamped with visa applications and inquiries from travel agencies. Scholars "are falling all over them selves wanting to go to China," comments one observer. The phenomenon is no less striking in the field of fashions. "The interest is fantastic," says a spokesman for a company that imports apparel from China. "Buyers will take anything."

The First Lady herself appears on the February cover of Ladies Home Journal in a Chinese-style gown which, while it may be similar to what Chinese ladies once wore, bears no resemblance to what they are wearing today. If, as Confucius said, one picture is worth a thousand words, this magazine cover points up what may be a danger in the current China craze-that we are merely exchanging our old myths about China for new ones.

A recent television program, "Misunderstanding China," reviewed some of those old myths. It ridiculed and rightly so, the 1930s pulp magazine stereotype of evil Fu Manchus lusting after fair white womanhood, In WASHINGTON — There is a people and for public welfare, but always a determined ac- money R.F.K. owed will turn up an in our town who has the

The program also criticized our tradition of sending in troops to protect our nationals and our alleged interests in China, Unfortunately, it did not go into the background reasons for so much foreign meddling, one of which is the fact that for most of its modern history China has turns more often than any of the R.F.K. staff and federal officers A single character will change a Perseverance blesses he who had no effective central government.

And in this respect, the new China may not be so different from the old, despite all outward appearances of 750 united millions totally devoted to Mao thought and making great strides in every field.

There is a China behind the China which the television cameras with the President's entourage saw, notes British journalist Dennis Bloodworth. This China is still painfully contorted by an unending revolutionary struggle. China had no head of state to welcome President Nixon.

The last incumbent president, Liu Shao-chi, is said to be doing ideological penance on a farming commune. The national legislature has not convened for eight years. Half the members of the all-powerful Politburo at the apex of the Chinese Communist party have not been heard from for months.

The official press and radio are engaged in a running fight against the 4,000-year-old system of family and clan loyalties to which the Chinese have always clung to defend themselves against an often rapacious imperial administration.

This, says Bloodworth, is the main plot of the drama in which Mr. Nixon's visit was a downstage divertissement: Mao Tse-tung is simply trying to make the Chinese Communist party the master of China. And he has not vet succeeded. What happens when Mao, who is 78, leaves the scene?

Will China again be swept by the kind of convulsion that has occurred with nearly every change of dynasty in its long history?

Until we know the answers to these questions, it is impossible to say whether President Nixon's mission has opened a new chapter in Chinese-American relations or is merely a replay of an old one.

Political Notebook Nuclear Sub Race Is Arms Cut Snag By BRUCE BIOSSAT

Whatever the signs of an improving U.S.-Soviet climate, they do not yet cover the highly of missile-bearing nuclear submarines. Both sides are still untrusting.

The Nixon administration has indicated it would like the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks to consider some ceiling on sea-based offensive weapons, but the Russians are resisting.

Coupled with other evidence, such as Soviet arms aid to the Egyptians and naval deployment in the Indian Ocean, the resistance on submarines gives President Nixon pause

In his newyst State of the World newssage, he takes note of the hopeful signs but then adds it is "unclear whether we are now witnessing a permanent change in Soviet policy or only a passing phase concerned more with tactics than with a fundamental commitment to a stable international system.

The basically conciliatory tone of Nixon's report thus is threaded through with strong notes of caution: ... in virtually every category of strategic offensive and defensive weapons the Soviet Union has continued to improve its capability. "These collective developments raise serious questions concerning Soviet objectives. The Soviet Union is continuing to create strategic capabilities beyond a level which by any reasonable standard already seems sufficient

In this regard, the President appears particularly impressed that Russia's missile-bearing submarine fleet is believed today to carry some 500 nuclear-armed missiles. He clearly feels Moscow is coming close to matching us in this field.

The impasse on submarines in the SALT talks is the consequence. Russia does not want any limitation on Polaris-type vessels until it has indeed caught up, if it can.

She can't break the •Christmas gift cycle By Abigail Van Buren It 1972 by Chicage Tribune N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: I sure do agree with "Sick of Christmas." And your advice on how to break the endless cycle of giving gifts to relatives and friends you never see was the

• only sensible solution. We tried to do it in our family three years ago. We all said, "Okay, no more Christmas presents!" Then at Christmastime here comes my husband's sister with gifts for everybody! Then we all had to rush out and buy her and her family something. I could have kicked her in the teeth! Right now I have four walfle irons, five electric blankets, and three steam irons that have never been out of their original boxes. I won't even tell you how many bottles of perfume and toilet water I have stuck away on my shelf. What's wrong with people, Abby? Why can't they be more sensible?

ALSO SICK OF CHRISTMAS DEAR ALSO: They? You should give to the needy-not the greedy. Why don't you give some of those duplicate gifts to some poor soul who could use them?

DEAR ABBY: I think you owe us beauty operators an apology! One grabby hairdresser wrote to say she would much rather get a few dollars from each of her patrons for Christmas than some of those costly, but useless doo-dads she receives. And you agreed it would be nicer.

Well, we are six hairdressers who are insulted. We welcome any gift from a patron. After all, it's the thought ANGRY WITH ABBY that counts at Christmas.

DEAR ANGRY: Sorry, Please read on:

DEAR ABBY: I heartily agree with that hairdresser who said she'd prefer a gift of cash at Christmas. I am a secretary-bookkeeper for two gentlemen who have a thriving business. Each year one of their wives selects a Christmas gift for me, and I have yet to receive one that I can use. One year it was a tablecloth, purchased on one of their trips to Europe. It was expensive, I am sure, but I neither needed nor wanted it. Nor did it fit my table. Of course, 1 couldn't return it.

Another year I received a piece of modern sculpture, also purchased abroad. I didn't care for it, but couldn't return that, either A gift of cash, even a more modest amount than the

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, MARCH 1, 1972

• accomplish a great deal today with a most cooperative attitude in which you show a willingness to act with tact and diplomacy in relationships you have with others. You can now approach whatever tasks and duties that face you with precision.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Taking definite steps to meticulously carry through with your obligations is most important now. Do not leave yourself wide open for criticism from one who opposes you. Relax tonight. TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Place more emphasis on your regular work now and do those things that will gain the cooperation of co-workers. Proper exercise can add to present vitality which is at a low ebb.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have to choose your words carefully at home so that you do not increase discord that exists there at this time. A few compliments in the right direction can help. Smile more. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) An ideal day to do the shopping for supplies that you have been neglecting. You have an appointment that does not appeal to you, but assume the right mood and all is fine. LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) New ideas you have could add to present income, so go ahead with projects you have in mind, in business and socially. Ask a business expert for good suggestions. Follow them.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Showing good pals that you appreciate them makes your personal life more satisfying today. There are various ways through which you can please them, but don't be extravagant. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Start making preparations that are necessary to make new ideas operate properly. Your hunches require good judgment before you can follow them with any degree of success.

SCORPIO (Oct to Nov. 21) You are able to contact a good friend now who can help you in making an important decision. Social fun can be attained, but make sure you seek only the best. Plan for the future. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Stating aims to bigwigs helps to gain your cherished wishes Make sure you pay an important bill. Stop wasting time on something that is not important or worthwhile. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) An ideal day to delve into whatever is new and worthwhile. A novel activity you engage in is headed for success Not a good day to start out on a trip. Make plans instead. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Study your bills well so that you pay the correct amounts. Look to an individual with more experience than you for the data you need. You need not work so hard. Relax.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Put those ideas to work that will help you to meet obligations with more speed and less trouble. Contact those persons you want to know better. Show that you are conscientious.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those precise young people who wants everything in proper order and who will also expect associates to be exact in manner. #### Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY-In the office where I work, our records are kept on computer cards and we throw away several hundred of these cards every day. Could any of the readers give me some suggestions for ways these cards might be used instead of just throwing them away?-J. N.

DEAR POLLY-My children love caramel apples but so much of each one used to be wasted. The little ones ded two bands, one to hold the stick the apple was on and one to push. Such a sticky mess! In desperation, I tried using corn holders on the ends and they worked so great the children ate all the way to the core. I tried this very unconventional method myself and found it most practical, as the apples are much easier to eat .-- MRS. R. M. DEAR POLLY-If Sandy's candelabra can stand the heat from her oven. I can help her solve her problem Heat oven to 300 degrees. Line a shallow metal pan with several thicknesses of newspaper. Place candelabra in pan upside down or on its side (but completely in the pan) so the wax will flow onto the paper as it melts. TURN OVEN OFF and place pan in oven. Check after five or 10 minutes. Use toweling or soft cloths to wipe off melted wax. If accumulation is very thick, the oven treatment might have to be repeated. (Polly's note-Hot water might be run over it after removal from oven and the softened wax would flow off, but do take care it does not go down your drain. Place a cloth over the drain to catch the wax.) Remember to use a hot pad or mitt when handlining the candelabra.-E. L. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Sale Of Hospital Probed By County

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI

"Is Seminole Memorial Hospital up for grabs?" Seminole County Commissioners have received another "feeler." This latest inquiry came from Extendicare, Inc., of Lexington, Ky., operators of a national system of hospitals. The offer from a Louisiana firm, received last week, suggested a possibility that the staff physicians might ultimately have an opportunity to acquire ownership. structed County Attorney Thom Rumberger to determine the consequences of selling the hospital to private interests. Rumberger also was instructed to ascertain the legality of the donation of the moneys received from the sale of the hospital to the School Board, and whether the Commission would or could have any voice in the purpose to which this money might be put by the school officials. The indication seemed to be that the commissioners would like the funds to be used for construction of schools in the areas of greatest need. The price for the hospital has ranged from $2 million to $8 million dollars, according to Drum-. mond. Rumberger is scheduled to meet with the hospital attorney, Gordon Frederick, to investigate possible problems in the sale. According to Dr. Harold Miller, chairman of the

Amendments Up First School Voting Is On

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate defeated 67 to 26 today a proposal of Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., to deny federal officials power to prevent any child from attending the school nearest his home.

The amendment, offered to the higher education-school desegregation bill, was a version of the neighborhood school proposal which Ervin has sponsored unsuccessfully in previous legislative battles over school desegregation.

The liftoff of Pioneer 10 toward Jupiter has been set for 8:32 tonight from Cape Kennedy.

The amendment was the first voted on as the Senate began its final day of consideration of the mammoth bill. The Senate adopted 90-2 a second Ervin amendment stating that any racial balance busing orders issued must be under constitutional standards which shall be applied equally throughout the nation. Managers of the bill said this now ote was to come by 2 p.m. today The measure then goes to a conference with the House, which out three major antibusing riders into the version it passed in November.

The Senate voted 50 to 47 Tuesday to reverse itself and reject a proposal by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., to prohibit federal courts from ordering busing to desegregate schools. Civil-rights advocates were confident they could keep any tough antibusing riders out of the bill in today's debate.
