Easter Pilgrims Shiver In Snowy Jerusaleum

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector (AP)— As Easter pilgrims shivered in snowy Jerusalem, Italians favoring birth control and divorce demonstrated in St. Peter's Square and Pope Paul VI urged the world Sunday to hope despite "menacing and gigantic problems."

Jerusalem's Easter weather as the worst in memory, and it kept all but about 500 of the thousands of pilgrims in the Holy City away from prayers at the marble tomb of Christ. The first snow on the holiday in decades led some pilgrims to exchange "Merry Christmases" instead of "Happy Easter."

The annual Easter procession moved through slushy streets, and sunrise services were moved indoors.

Before nearly 250,000 persons jammed into St. Peter's Square in Rome, Pope Paul said that his own joy on the festive day of Christ's resurrection was dimmed by the world's troubles. But he urged men not to let their minds be saddened "at the futility of efforts towards good, at the growing power... of darkness."

The Pope said he believed it was time for the Roman Catholic Church to take up social problems again and announced an end to poverty and hunger. It will be the fifth encyclical of the Pope's 3½-year reign.

Pope Paul began the day by celebrating Mass in a poor suburb of Rome. In white vestments and a mitre, he also celebrated Mass on the steps of St. Peter's before giving his Easter message to the throng in the square.

The Pope touched on the Vietnam war and religious restrictions in Communist nations and elsewhere.

As the pontiff appeared to speak, about 30 persons near the front of the crowd unveiled banners reading, "fewer children, less famine," "yes to the pill," and "five million Italians want a family without hypocrisy and cruelty."

Others tried to tear down the banners and police hurried the demonstrators out of the crowd.

The Roman Catholic Church forbids divorce and artificial methods of birth control.

In Vietnam, many American troops attended services in the field during a quiet Easter.

About 1,500 ban the bomb marchers turned out in West Berlin, the first time the Easter disarmament demonstrations that take place elsewhere in West Germany were held in the city. Some marchers carried signs against the "U.S. war" in Vietnam.

In the United States, hundreds of thousands attended sunrise services in generally good weather. New York City's traditional Easter parade along Fifth Avenue was marked by many fur coats and relatively few frilly hats.

New York's temperatures were in the 50's but many among the 220,000 holiday strollers remembered the heavy snow and cold of last week. The parade included a few miniskirts, one on a bearded man, and a white poodle who wore a red jacket and white helmet and sat on a motorcycle.

Mexico City police arrested more than 3,000 pranksters who observed the Easter custom of drenching strollers and motorists with water. Thousands of persons returned to the Mexican capital late Sunday night after Holy Week vacations. Hundreds of government agencies, banks, stores and industries were closed at least three days during the week, and beach resorts reported record crowds.

Election Slated

Faye Gaines will be the guest speaker at the Monroe PTO meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. Mrs. Gaines will speak on how to help your child in school. The business meeting preceding the program will include the election of new officers for the upcoming year. Following the meeting refreshments will be served.

The job classification and payrell study submitted to the constitutional officers and the County Commissioners shows the lowest paid county employe earns $216 per month while the highest paid employe (one) is paid $565 per month. Only three employes were shown making over the $500 per month figure.

My South Seminole sparrow tells me surprising news is in the wind for the City of Casselberry. It seems the City Council, last year, agreed to purchase 20 acres of property to be used for a recreation site at the asking price of $30,000 from a city employe. Report from their appraiser was the property was a good buy. Report now, however, is that survey of the site shows it to be closer to 15 acres with much of it swamp and muck land.

John Baker, Orlando Attorney, Murdered

John A. Baker, Democratic candidate from Orange and Seminole Counties in today's election for the Legislature, and his wife were found dead early today at their Orlando home. Police termed the slayings murder and suicide.

Baker, city attorney for Orlando, was a candidate for district 45 seat in the House of Representatives, for Seminole and Orange Counties.

Deputy Police Chief J. W. Pritchard said officers believed Mrs. Baker shot her husband during an argument in the bedroom of their plush home, then turned the gun on herself.

Two of the Bakers' children, Janelle, 11, and Alden, 8, found the bodies. Police said the children told them they were awakened by arguing voices. Then they heard what sounded like a slap.

When they ran into the master bedroom, Pritchard said, they found their parents on the floor, blood pouring from single bullet wounds.

Police were called by neighbors to whom the children ran. Two other children, Jacqueline, 5, and Clay, 3, also were in the house.

Baker, 37, a graduate of the University of Florida law school, was making his first political race in bidding for the District 45 House seat for Orange and Seminole counties. He was a Democrat.

JOHN BAKER

Baker represented the city and the Florida League of Municipalities before the Legislature in every session since 1959.

His father, John G. Baker, is a former county judge.

Baker was considered one of central Florida's most prominent attorneys and was a member of a family prominent in political and social life of the area for two generations.

The Bakers were married 13 years ago.

Heavy Vote Reported

There was moderately heavy voting in today's legislative election until "the rains came" in the late morning hours, precinct polling officials reported in a spot survey by The Herald just before noon. Polls close at 7 p.m.

It also was an expensive campaign. Secretary of State Tom Adams reported this morning that reports filed showed Sen. Beth Johnson, Democratic incumbent in district 16, received campaign contributions of $11,658 and spent $11,541, while her Republican opponent, Kenneth Plante, reported contributions of $13, 370 and expenditures of $13,171.66.

Heaviest voting in the one-man one-vote election, ordered by federal court, was reported between 10:30 and 11 a.m. The spot survey at 11 a.m. showed 119 votes cast at Altamonte town hall; 131 votes at Oviedo town hall, and 100 each at the agricultural center and Lyman High School. Other precincts reported similarly heavy voting until the rains dampened things.

Democrats have claimed heavy voting would be in their favor while Republicans were hoping for a light vote.

Mayor Tells Commission

Cut Water Service To Aid Annexation

Mayor Joe Baker Monday night urged the City Commission to consider cutting off water to all users outside the city limits until they agree to annexation.

Baker made the comment as the board voted to allow the Sunland Baptist Church to tie into city lines despite the fact the area heavily objects to annexation.

M. L. RABORN

"It would be one way to get more people into the city," Baker suggested. Commissioner W. V. Roberts said, "I'm with you" but no concrete action was taken on the request.

City Manager W. E. Knowles reported that about 1,000 persons including some 400 in Sunland could be affected by the move.

"I don't think the commission could stand the pressure," said Knowles.

"Maybe the City Manager can't" Baker added.

In other action, the board urged Knowles to look into improving garbage collections in various areas of the city.

A complaint was heard that pick-ups were "lax" in the Montezuma Ave. area. However, Knowles emphasized that since the first of the year half of the 16 man refuse crews had quit their jobs because of low pay. Knowles reported that Supt. of Streets Robert Kelley has been named to head up the department in an effort to get maximum ability.

'A No. 1 Zoo A Must'--Raborn

An "A No. 1" zoo, even it has to be built in stages, was proposed by City Commissioner M. L. Raborn at the board meeting last night.

Raborn made the statement as Commissioners heard proposals to move the facility by Sanford architects John Burton and Eoghan Kelley.

Kelley offered to come up with an overall design plan for $900.

Indications are that some $75,000 will be earmarked for zoo relocation and redesign of cages over a two year period.

In other business, the commission, agreed to appropriate $730 to the General Sanford Memorial Library;

Voted to pay the County Humane Society $208.33 for their February appropriation. Earl Higginbotham vehemently protested the payment because of the adverse publicity of the group and urged fellow commissioners to put the city back in the Humane Society business. However, the rest of the board agreed to continue Society operations but would check the number of calls the group handled;

Agreed to allow the merchants to use the sidewalks downtown for a sales period in April pending liability safeguards;

Approved the following ordinances:

Vacating an alley north of the Pico Building; allowing minors in poolrooms; revision of the building code with some minor changes; revision of the fire prevention electrical and plumbing code and adoption of the gas code. The board tabled action on a trailer ordinance amendment pending further study;

Approved a street light at 1800 W. 13th St.; Signed the plat on the lakefront project and a contract with the Shoemaker Construction Company on building the community facility Bldg. at the Lakefront and agreed to waive the bond. Both Mayor Joe Baker and Raborn voted "no" on bond waiver saying it was "bad business."

Unveil Plans For Massive 436 Complex

Plans were in the final stages today on acquisition of property by Kimzay of Florida Inc. as the site of a multimillion dollar shopping complex on the southeast corner of SR 436 and U. S. 17-92 in Casselberry.

Property at the 13 acre site has already been purchased from Mr. and Mrs. James Keyser in a sale said to total $60,000 while the option on another parcel has already been picked up by the corporation from Walter Bonder at a price of $465,000.

Kimzay is a corporation formed by the Kimco Corporation and Zayres Inc., owners of large discount houses throughout the country.

Comments on plans for the property, other than construction of the discount house, were not available from Kimzay as The Herald went to press today.

CANDIDATES, TOO, were out voting today in the one-man one-vote legislative election. Democrat Rep. Tom McDonald (upper) voted in precinct 22 early this morning, while Republican senatorial candidate and Mrs. Kenneth Plante cast their ballots at Altamonte Springs. (Herald Photos)

OK Pools To Reopen In Sanford

The two Sanford swimming pools will open on schedule this summer despite warning from the city manager the city is losing some $9,000 every year.

City Commissioners said they would allow the Ft. Mellon Pool and the one at Goldsboro to start the season on schedule in July.

Knowles in a strongly worded memo to the board, said there was a high drop in use of both pools since they were integrated.

"Two pools cost $11,306.73 to operate for the summer," Knowles said, adding that revenue last year was $2,891.

The city manager said that prior to integration, daily use of the two pools would vary from 100 to 200. He then cited figures that last year daily attendance was less than 50 for the two pools.

Knowles urged that at least one pool be closed but Comissioners said no.

'Youth Government Week' Set By Seminole Jaycees

The Sanford-Seminole Jaycees will observe "Youth Government Week" April 10 through April 17, Thomas Freeman Jr., chairman for the event reported.

Freeman said that during the week five outstanding students from Seminole High will fill the position of Mayor and council members for the city of Sanford.

The City Commission last night gave the green light for the project and the county is expected to also approve five youngsters sitting as county commissioners that week.

Cable Stolen From Burnup Lot

Some $5,880 worth of wire cable was stolen from the Burnup and Sims Storage lot on Maple Ave., over the weekend, Police Chief Ben Butler reported today.

Chief Butler said his department is hunting down leads in the case. He added that apparently someone went under the fence at the lot, cut the cable belonging to the phone company and [illegible] away.

$4 Million In Taxes Collected

With Friday's deadline for the payment of ad valorem and personal property tax fast approaching, over $4 million in taxes has been paid by Seminole Countians, Troy Ray, tax collector reported to The Herald today.

Ray said payments in excess of another $200,000 are expected by Friday.

Following Friday's deadline, delinquent taxes will be advertised and tax sale is scheduled for June 1.

Rail Fire Controlled

A railroad fire Monday in the Naval Air Station area along the Atlantic Coast Line spur from Sanford to Oviedo, which threatened Fraver Homes subdivision, was brought under control shortly after 6 p.m. by four area fire departments.

Departments fighting the some five acre blaze were identified this morning by County Ranger Jim Marquis as those from Naval Air, Midway, Ginderville and Lake Mary. It was noted this was the most recent of several railroad fires in the same area.

Marquis warned that any fire is subject to get out of control in this extreme dry period and urged that "all persons watch their burning" until the area gets rain.

Will Demos Protest Vote?

Democratic candidate John Baker's death at Orlando early this morning may bring about three more elections, two special Democratic party primaries and a general election, in the opinion of election officials.

Mrs. Dorothy W. Glisson, director of elections division, secretary of state's office at Tallahassee, informed The Sanford Herald by telephone that should Republican candidate William G. Gibson, Baker's opponent for House seat 45 from Orange-Seminole Counties, win in today's election "it should settle the matter unless the Democratic party protests."

In this event, she added, the Democratic party would have to bring suit "and the court would advise us what action we must follow."

Mrs. Glisson continued that a precedent was established last year in Duval County when the dead candidate won the election and the governor had to order a special election.

Dixie Barber and Camilla Bruce, Orange and Seminole supervisors of elections, respectively, told The Herald voting officials in all the precincts of the two counties were instructed not to discuss or comment about Baker's death.

Mrs. Barber said, "If John Baker should win the election, the law requires the governor to call primary elections and a general election to fill the vacancy. I've instructed my precinct officials not to discuss the tragedy or comment upon it to the voters."

Mrs. Bruce also reported she was instructing her poll officials not to discuss Baker's death with anyone.

She further stated, "If Baker's opponent wins, the election will be valid. However, if Baker is elected, it's conceivable that as many as two primaries and a special election will be required to fill the seat. According to state statute, the governor cannot fill a vacancy in the Legislature by appointment."

Voters Put Stamp On Gov. Kirk Today

MIAMI (AP) — Floridians select their first one-man, one-vote legislature today in an election in which Gov. Claude Kirk has laid his administration's prestige on the line.

Kirk wound up a late surge of campaigning Monday night in Jacksonville where he told a crowd of 9,000 voters they should "clean out the old crowd and put in a new crowd. It's bad from the bottom to top and I want to start all over."

Kirk never than any governor in modern times has interjected his administration into the campaign, where personalities have outshone issues.

Scattered showers and temperatures in the 70s and 80s were forecast for the day as both sides forecast victory.

Kirk boosted GOP candidates over the weekend in a series of "telecasts" and Monday night told a fish fry crowd he needs Republican legislators to help him put over his programs.

He almost made it a personal issue as he sought to increase the one-third minority that could prevent the traditionally Democratic legislature from overusing his veto.

Kirk needs 17 senators and 40 representatives to protect his veto—gains of six and 14 over the party's present strength.

Party Chairmen William Murfin of the Republicans and Pat Thomas of the Democrats each predicted gains.

Murfin said the election "was a definite test" of Kirk's popularity.

CPL. LEWIS Douglas Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Bishop, 1212 Sanford Avenue, has been awarded the Purple Heart. Cpl. Bishop, a marine wounded in action in Vietnam. The Marine is a 1963 graduate of Seminole High School.

In his campaigning, Kirk took dead aim at the biggest fish in the legislative pond when he blasted veteran Senate President Verle Pope, labeling him "the epitome of the Claghorn generation" and urging his defeat.

Kirk handpicked Jacksonville attorney Ralph Elliott to run against Pope. Elliott claimed expenditures of $19,877 and donations of $11,984 in the hotly contested race while Pope said he spent $11,787 and received $18,631 in donations.

A victory by Elliott would boost Kirk's stock tremendously.

The Democrats claimed an independent pre-election poll indicated Kirk with an "unusually low" popularity rating of 45 per cent.

Reasons given for the alleged popularity slump were Kirk's playboy antics, his divorce and public feuding with private police force, his stand on education, his efforts to steer state insurance business to political allies and his instability in making decisions.

But the Democrats — who staged vigorous, get-out-the-vote campaigns — cryptically advised their candidates against attacking Kirk in their campaigns.

The largest number of GOP candidates in state history, 86 in the House and 43 for the Senate, generally followed Kirk's lead on education, taxes and crime.

In his speeches, Kirk urged voters to "show your dissatisfaction with the Johnson Administration as you did in November."

50-Cent Hike Proposed For Driver Licenses

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A 50-cent increase in driver license fees was proposed Monday to hire additional state troopers and to provide more money for driver education.

Although no decision was reached, the possible boost was discussed at a meeting of the newly organized Governor's Highway Safety Comission.

Gov. Claude Kirk, chairman of the group, said the aim will be to do everything possible to "make the highways safe."

"This slaughter on the highways has got to stop," the governor declared. "I want to use all the powers, influence and authority of the governor's office to make the highways safe."

Creation of the commission was required by the federal government to qualify for federal funds under the Federal Highway Safety Act.

Failure to meet the federal standards would cost Florida some $10.5 million per year in federal aid.

The commission has endorsed a five-point traffic safety program, developed by interim legislative committees, for passage by the next session of the Legislature.

The five-point program, which also is needed to meet the new U. S. standards, includes central issuance of drivers licenses, periodic re-examination of drivers, an implied consent law to allow tests of drunken driving suspects, periodic motor vehicles inspection, and raising the minimum age for restricted licenses from 14 to 15 years.

State Treasurer Broward Williams, executive director of the commission, said law enforcement officials around the state have shown favorable reaction to the proposed five-point program.

"They're with us on this," he said. "If we pass it, it's my understanding we will have done enough to comply."

The possibility of increasing the fee for drivers licenses — now $3 for two years—was discussed after State School Supt. Floyd Christian spoke on the need for more money for driver education.

The program, which is required by the federal standards, currently gets 50 cents from the sale of each drivers license, but Christian said it was getting only half the money it needs.

The possible source of additional money also was mentioned as one way to get more state troopers on the highways.

Stay In State, Students Urged

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Gov. Claude Kirk says he doesn't want a "brain drain" in Florida and hopes students will remain to work for their state.

"You're going to be in charge of another industry. It's called feeding the people," Kirk said as he pictured a jet-age and food-producing Florida of the future.

The occasion was a luncheon Monday for Kirk sponsored by the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at Florida State University. The governor was an SAE at Emory, Duke and Alabama.

Kirk was presented with an elaborate diamond badge, which is given by the national office of SAE to all alumni who achieve the governorship of a state. Past recipients in Florida were Albert Gilchrist and LeRoy Collins.

Dividend

The board of directors of the Winter Park Telephone Company has voted that the quarterly dividend on the outstanding 5 per cent and 5½ per cent preferred stock be declared and paid as of the due date, May 1, to stockholders of record April 14.

Hot Election

OCALA (AP) — Voting got off to a slow start today in Marion County precinct 14. The polling place burned down.

PERCHED PRECARIOUSLY, this compact car driven by Miss Margaret Johnson, of Casselberry, narrowly missed going over a concrete wall into a drainage ditch Monday. She was charged by Trooper Jerry Hawthorne with failing to yield the right-of-way after a collision with a car driven by Robert Fox, Longwood, in Casselberry. Miss Johnson's two small nieces, Annette and Renee Shiverdeck, suffered minor injuries.

Publix-Food Fair Favor Gimmicks

MIAMI (AP) — Three large food chains say they won't join Winn-Dixie's abandonment of trading stamps and games in Southeast Florida.

Publix, Grand Union and Food Fair said Monday that housewives still want the games and giveaways.

Winn-Dixie said elimination of the stamps and games would result in eight to 10 per cent savings for customers. The competition said price drops of any significance were not likely.

"We'll match their prices against ours," one supermarket official said.

Tag Renewal Period Set Here Monday

More than 38,000 automobile license tags are expected to be sold in Seminole County during the tag renewal period which begins next Monday and closes May 20, according to Troy Ray, tax collector.

Some 36,000 tags were sold in the county during the 1966 licensing period.

Tags may be purchased during the regular office hours Monday through Friday at both the courthouse and the branch office in Casselberry.

The offices will be open on Saturday, May 20, to handle last minute business.

3-Judge Panel To Hear Congress District Plan

MIAMI (AP) — A federal appeals court in New Orleans has recommended that a three-judge panel hear a Miami attorney's suit challenging Florida's congressional districting plan.

Dan Paul, attorney for four South Floridians involved, said Monday, "This means we've won our case. It's just what we expected."

The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, disclaiming jurisdiction, ordered the immediate convening of a three-judge special court to hear the suit. Paul said he would refile at once.

Paul filed an exhibit 11 days ago with the appeals court on behalf of Ruth Kruse and Joyce Griffith, and state legislators Edmond J. Gong and Maxine Baker. The plaintiffs contend the present congressional districting setup is invalid because representation is not on a one man, one vote basis.

"My hope is that the (special) court will order redistricting before the 1968 elections," Paul said. He has a plan which he says will even out population factors by crossing county lines.

The appeals court said a district judge erred in ruling that the current statute would be valid until the Florida Legislature could examine it in its next session.

The judge also erred, the appeals court said, in holding that a three-judge special panel was not required to consider the suit.

The appeals court said itself and the district judge both lack jurisdiction over the case, but, "The (U.S.) Supreme Court has held that courts of appeal are not without power to give guidance 'where a single judge has erroneously invaded the province of a three-judge court.'

"We therefore direct that, upon a renewed motion by the petioner, a three-judge court be expeditiously convened. All due speed is required in this matter so that the questions involved may be resolved well in advance of next year's congressional elections."

Paul contends that Florida congressional districts ought to contain 412,630 persons but that some are as much as 50,000 off the ideal figure.

Seafood Build-up Urged By Gov. Kirk

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The economy of seafood products should be promoted to help build up a market for Florida's commercial fishing products, Gov. Claude Kirk said Monday.

Speaking to the Governor's Advisory Committee on Seafood, Kirk told the industry representatives that fish should become more and more popular with housewives concerned with food costs.

"We're going to put up a chart on this and watch the industry grow," the governor said. "And build an ad of the due date, May 1, to stockholders of record, April 14."

Hot Election

OCALA (AP) — Voting got off to a slow start today in Marion County precinct 14. The polling place burned down.

Sporting Goods Sales Tax May Be Abolished

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Florida's controversial five per cent tax on the sale of sporting goods probably will be abolished, says a state official whose agency operates with the money.

Neye Landrum, director of the Outdoor Recreation Planning Committee, said at a committee meeting Monday he had "unofficial word" that the State Tax Reform Commission would advise the Legislature to do away with the tax.

The tax, used to finance bonds for the purchase of recreational lands, was successfully defended before the U. S. Supreme Court. Landrum said the tax reform commission would recommend a substitute revenue.

Meanwhile, the committee advised the state cabinet to give close consideration to purchasing some 7,000 acres of land, including four miles of virgin beach in St. Johns County north of St. Augustine.

At Gov. Claude Kirk sat in, the committee resolved to ask the cabinet to think about buying the Guano River Project, estimated to be worth some $5-6 million.

World News In Brief

Crime Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crime goes under the microscope today of 500 law enforcement, court and other officials seeking to trace the anatomy of lawlessness that frightens some Americans off the street with violence and preys on others through organized syndicates.

Unfortunate

FORT LAUDERDALE (AP) — Civic and economic leaders agreed today the city has a swinging Easter [illegible] ground for vacationing college students, but wouldn't go along with a prosecutor who called the frolickers "despicable" and unwelcome in the future.

City Commissioner Allen Forbes said statements by State Atty. Roger H. Harness showed "an unfortunate attitude."

Expelled

ATHENS (AP) — [illegible] diplomats have been ordered to leave Greece by Wednesday night, apparently because they were involved with the big Socialistic Treaty Organization bases in the Mediterranean.

Called Off

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Firemen called off a scheduled walkout today as the Missouri Mediation Board moved into their wage-hour dispute with the City Council.

Oil Slick

LAND'S END, England (AP) — The British government decided to use the huge oil slick from the doomed American supertanker Torrey Canyon afire today in an attempt to diminish the crude pollution of south west England's finest holiday beaches.

Hoffa Hearing

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — James R. Hoffa will receive a brief respite from federal prison, beginning May 6, to return to the city where he was convicted of jury tampering more than three years ago.

U. S. Dist. Judge Frank W. Wilson, who handed the Teamsters Union president an eight-year sentence and a $10,000 fine in 1964, ordered that Hoffa be returned here for an "evidentiary" hearing on his fourth motion for a new trial.

Controls

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI gave a carefully qualified endorsement today to government measures of population control without indicating any relaxation in the Roman Catholic Church's opposition to mechanical means of birth control.

Yank Killed

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A young American volunteer pilot, Frederick Cheyfitz, 20, of Orchard Lake, Mich., and eight Laotians were killed when Communist Pathet Lao troops raided an isolated village before dawn Saturday, the U. S. Embassy reported today.

Ex-Governors Follow Tradition With Criticisms

MIAMI (AP) — The Florida political tradition that former governors do not criticize their successors apparently holds true today, even when he's a Republican.

Of Gov. Claude Kirk's 35 predecessors, eight are living and all of them are Democrats.

Most of them refuse to even talk about the man whose job they once held, although other Democrats in the state are fighting hard to torpedo his young administration.

LeRoy Collins is one exception.

"We've never had one like him before," says Collins, now practicing law in Tampa and sidestepping reports that he's running for the U. S. Senate.

"I feel much of what he's done so far is fresh," Collins added. "But I don't know what's to come and I'm apprehensive."

He called Kirk's description of Senate President Verle Pope as a "Claghorn type" a "gross, irresponsible statement."

Former Acting Gov. Charley Johns, who succeeded to the governorship on the death of Gov. Dan McCarty and was in turn beaten by Collins, was more charitable.

"I'll give anybody a chance," he said of Kirk.

The once powerful Pork Chop Gang leader from Starke said Kirk had erred in creating a "playboy" image of himself.

"He brought this playboy image on himself," said Johns who was swept out of the senate in the reapportionment shuffle. "But I think now that he's married he'll settle down.

"I am very impressed with his pledge to cut state spending," he added.

Haydon Burns, the man many credit with Kirk's victory over Miami Mayor Robert King High, still bears the scars of loss to High in the primaries.

Burns refused to support fellow Democrat High and his bitterness still showed when asked to comment on the Kirk administration.

'Stephan's Massage' Featured By Millie

Relating Stephan's facial treatment is the latest service to be provided by Seminole County's No. 1 "lady barber," Mrs. Millie Schweickert, at Millie's Barber Shop in the Brown Building on Crystal Lake Avenue in Lake Mary.

Mrs. Schweickert will give "Stephan's new massage" in her own expert way learned from her training as a master barber.

Millie is a graduate of Orlando Barber College. She began her apprenticeship in the barbering profession on Feb. 5, 1961 and became a master barber on Sept. 16, 1965.

Gentlemen will also be able to have their shoes shined at Millie's beginning Saturday when Mrs. Schweickert will be on hand to provide this service.

Open hours at Millie's Barber Shop are Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. The shop is closed all day Wednesday.

Mrs. Schweickert has resided in Lake Mary for many years. Her two older daughters are students at Seminole High School while her three sons attend All Souls Parochial School.

Millie is a member of Sanford Chapter 1401, Women of the Moose and Nativity Parish Catholic Women's Guild.

73rd Eckerd Drug Store Set Thursday At Venice

CLEARWATER — (Special) Eckerd Drugs of Florida, Inc., announced from its headquarters here that the 73rd new Eckerd Drug Store is scheduled for grand opening on Thursday in the Rialto Shopping Center in Venice. The store opening will mark the establishment of the first Eckerd Drug Store in the Venice area.

"Our accelerated rate of growth is in keeping with the enormous population increase that is currently enveloping the major Florida markets," says Jack M. Eckerd Eckerd, president and chairman of the board, is extremely enthusiastic about Venice and the surrounding area.

The Venice opening will be the fifth new Eckerd Drug Store to begin operation since the first of the year.

EXILES IMPORT VEGETABLES

MIAMI (AP) — Malanga, boniato, quca, calabaza, . . . Vegetables such as these, unknown to most Americans, are being grown in Florida by Cuban exiles who used to eat them at home. More than 1,000 acres of such crops are under cultivation near Miami.

Malanga and yuca are starchy roots. Cubans douse them with a sauce made of garlic and lime juice. The boniato is a Cuban sweet potato, white-fleshed and bland. The calabaza is a fine-textured Cuban squash.

You can find these vegetables in Miami grocery stores

Old Glory Post Observes Legion Anniversary

JULIA BARTOS

Old Glory American Legion Post 183 of Altamonte Springs celebrated the Legion's 48th anniversary with a covered dish supper party for which the Auxiliary Unit was hostess, under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Hills.

A huge birthday cake provided by the unit was enjoyed by all present.

Commander Frank Steadle presided at the post meeting and president Molly Steadle conducted the auxiliary's business session.

Steadle appointed Chaplain Linton Cox to serve with him on the Boy's State committee. Interviews will be held to select a candidate for Boys State, which starts July 9 in Tallahassee.

It was announced the sixth district constitutional conference will be at 2 p.m., April 16, at the Oviedo High School. Election of a sixth district commander will be main item on the agenda.

Honored guest at the March post meeting was Herman Miller of Regensburg, Wis.

Next meeting for the post and the auxiliary will be at 8 p.m., April 17.

Pity The Poor Taxpayer

University Regents announced the other day that they had gone along with state cabinet approval of an increase in fees charged by architects for University construction.

We have never quite understood the need for private architects in any state financed educational building project.

On the state college campus or county high school grounds the need for numerous architects with varied plans and specifications approaches the ridiculous.

It would seem that the great state of Florida, with unlimited engineering and architectural salaried employes, could come up with the standard interior designs and specifications that would reduce the cost per classroom to the already overburdened taxpayer.

Surely no one would object to local school boards or college trustees seeking to enhance campuses with different looking buildings. Whether the buildings are constructed with brick or block . . . regardless of color or ornamental flair . . . Standard interior plans and specifications for all school buildings could be made available by the state to college and local school authorities at little or no cost.

It would seem reasonable that two or three different plans for needed buildings in various sizes would be adequate to satisfy the state's education system. The state Superintendent of Public Instruction could keep on file plans for school buildings to house 200 students, 500 students and so on.

Recently a school official here said the county would need at least three new Elementary schools within the next five years. Now, if that is the case we could just request copies of plans and specifications for a structure needed or any grade school, high school, college, or junior college in Florida.

Over the years it would be difficult to estimate the untold millions of tax dollars that have been wasted in payment of 4, 5, and 6 per cent architectural fees.

The policy of the State Board of Regents in approving the increase to 7 per cent for architect's fees will have the end result of costing the taxpayer more money and giving Florida's educations system less classrooms for the dollar.

James Marlow

Analysis Of The News

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just two more states and there will be a mishmash unlike anything in 180 years.

Thirty-two state legislatures, just two short of a required two-thirds, hale asked Congress to call a constitutional convention on the one man-one vote decision of the Supreme Court.

This would be the first such convention since 1787 if those other two states acted and Congress agreed. There's doubt it would. For how Congress would agree, or just getting to do it, is all a big fuzz now.

In 1964 the court held that districts in both houses of state legislatures must be "substantially" equal in population. Only a few states met that standard then. The courts have ordered the rest to get in line.

Under the court's thinking rural areas had long held more legislature seats than they were entitled to in proportion to the number held by the more densely populated cities. This became known as the one man-one vote decision.

It encountered furious objections which, although one state after another has reapportioned its legislature, haven't disappeared. One of the most vocal objectors was, and is, Sen. Everet M. Dirksen of Illinois.

This leader of the Senate Republicans tried twice, in 1965 and 1966, to get the Senate to approve a constitutional amendment undoing the court's ruling. Each time he lost by seven votes.

His amendment would let the people in a state decide whether they wanted to apportion one branch of their legislature on some basis besides population. This didn't work and something else was tried by the states themselves.

Although the court's decision wasn't made until 1964, it indicated what was coming as early as 1962 when it said legislatures' districts were subject to scrutiny by the federal courts. States took the hint.

In 1963 some of them began petitioning Congress for the constitutional convention. The real petition rush began after the 1964 action. Until now 32 states have asked for the convention. They could take this road to circumvent the court because of Article 5 in the Constitution.

It says two things:

1. Congress by a two-thirds vote of each house can propose a constitutional amendment which then must be approved by three-fourths of the states. All 25 amendments have been added that way.

2. Or, two-thirds of the states can ask Congress to call a convention to propose amendments which also would have to be approved by three-fourths of the states, either by their legislatures or by conventions in those states, with Congress deciding which it should be.

While Dirksen and others have labored for such state action, they have plenty of opponents, including Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who announced last week that 26 of the 32 legislatures which have asked for a convention were illegally apportioned when they did the asking. In most cases since then, he said, the courts have ordered them to reapportion themselves and "in most cases they have."

He said for Congress to heed the petitions of 26 illegally apportioned legislatures would be like "permitting all Democrats to have two votes in a referendum to determine whether Democrats should have two votes."

Here Proxmire was offering one reason for Congress to ignore the petitions. Confusion seems unlimited in other questions and objections raised. Even if Congress tried to vote approval for a convention, fierce filibusters almost certainly would seek to block it.

Time, one argument goes, has outdated some of the petitions because they were made by some state legislatures no longer in existence and were addressed to the 89th Congress. It's the 90th doing business now.

And, if the convention were called, would it be limited to the one man-one vote problem, or could it consider any kind of amendment? If the latter, then the convention might become a nightmare. And how would such a convention be organized? How many delegates would each state have? Congress would have to decide.

PINCH HITTER

Helen Fuller Says:

Percy Cutting A Swath

WASHINGTON—There is a new man in our town who is cutting a wide swathe in the Washington underbrush.

He is Senator Charles Percy, Republican of Illinois.

Percy has been in his first elected office less than three months, yet he is showing the style of an old pro.

In his early 30's Charles Percy was already a self-made millionaire—and had enriched the Bell and Howell Co. of which he was president by millions more.

He won his seat by defeating his former professor of economics at the University of Chicago, Paul Douglas. In the campaign Douglas acknowledged that Percy was a very bright student.

In the Senate Percy has wrangled some very advantageous committee appointments for a freshman—Space, Banking and Currency and the Joint Economic Committee.s A few days after the Congress convened Percy presented a plan for home ownership for the poor through private enterprise financing.

Washingtonians note that Percy is not content to stand back in the shadow of his senior Senator, Everett McKinley Dirksen. On foreign policy matters he has not gone along on rugger-stamping LBJ on Vietnam; or on other major issues.

Percy insists that "the Republican party must lead in a discussion of a flexible, creative foreign policy, leaving the cant and chavinism to others."

This is not yet a popular position. But Percy receives an average of 1000 letters a day and is snowed with speaking invitations from all over the country. His senator can handle this. Percy is hiring additional staff to the tune of his entire Senate salary of $30,000 a year—what Bobby Kennedy does and what Senator Herbert Lehman of New York did before him. Another example of how hard it is to be poor and big in politics.

At the moment Senator Percy disclaims any ambition for higher office at this time. But the winds can change—and the Junior Senator from Illinois is set to sail with them.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

CASE C-502: Molly G., aged 24, is an irate wife.

"Dr. Crane," she protested angrily, "I think my husband is very selfish and inconsiderate.

"He seems to think that I should always be loving and in the mood for physical affection whenever the mood strikes him.

"But I am often worn out with my housework and the care of our two babies, for the older is barely able to walk.

"Yet he gets angry and scolds me for my lack of ardor. So will you please describe my case in your column?"

Most of the trouble in this world is a result of lack of knowing the other person's viewpoint.

You may thus recall the classical story of the 8 Blind Men of Hindustan, who visited their first circus and met an elephant.

Each blind man eagerly ran his sensitive fingers over a portion of that huge pachyderm.

One seized his tusk; another his trunk; a third his tail, a fourth his leg, and the 5th, the elephant's ear.

That night at dinner they were asked what an elephant was like.

"He's a spear," said the first, only to be laughed to scorn by the second, who positively affirmed that elephants were "snakes."

The other 3 vehemently denied both of these descriptions, insisting that elephants were, respectively a "rope," a "tree," and a "fan."

And these men would have signed affidavits that each was were entirely wrong!

Yet you and I, having seen an entire elephant, realize that each blind man was right as far as his limited experience had extended.

But they simply had not obtained more than a small percentage of the total picture.

And so it is with most of our feuds and divorces and wars!

We may be so sincere and self-righteous that we even go to war to maintain that our outlook is 100% correct!

"Never criticize another man," runs an old Sioux Indian adage, "until you have walked two moons in his moccasins!"

Molly and her husband don't look out upon life from the same viewpoint and that is always true of male vs. female.

But Molly must realize that men are endowed by the Almighty with a much greater gastric appetite, plus a larger erotic hunger, too.

Even if she is tired and disinterested in food, Molly knows she dare not stop serving her husband his three meals per day.

Otherwise, he will chew her out, argue and be hostile.

By the same token, a wife must keep her husband's much greater erotic hunger allayed or he will snarl like an angry bear.

And soon he may sample the erotic offerings of an outside paramour, for there are about 5 million unmarried women eagerly waiting to snare your husband!

Besides, a wife's participation in the erotic realm is largely passive.

Many of them even snore during such an episode!

So it requires much less energy to meet her husband's boudoir demands than his dinner table requests! Wives, get hep!

Send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25c, and use it to prevent divorce!

Hal Boyle Says:

NEW YORK (AP)—No one is as dependent on nature as someone who lives in a big city.

When you dwell in a rural area, you can more or less take nature for granted, as a child is unconscious of the beauty of youth.

The unfolding pageantry of cloud and landscape almost escapes attention. There is a surfeit of nature in the country, and many who live there are so accustomed to its daily splendor that they do not feel compelled to pause and worship its wonder anymore than a fish in the sea feels the need to admire the miracle of water.

But when you regularly plod cement pathways and earn a living in manmade huddles of high stone and glass, you get a lonesomeness for natural things that at times overpowers you. Your mind aches for that acre of your own that every human heart aspires to.

You want a place to plant something and harvest it, an animal you can take care of as it helps take care of you: a horse, a cow, a chicken, a pig.

The longer you live in the blue smog of cities the more imperative this hunger for nature becomes. In time your yearning tends to turn you into a pigeon feeder or a squirrel feeder.

My pleasure is to feed squirrels. In the well-landscaped tenement where I've paid the landlord's fee for nearly two decades there are about half a dozen squirels.

My favorite used to be one I nicknamed "Greedy."

Each morning I put half a dozen or so pecans in my pocket, and toss them to the squirrels. Most grab them and scamper off and bury them.

"Greedy," however, began to regard me as his personal property. He would chase the other squirrels away, and come up and take the nuts from my hand.

For some days, however, I missed "Greedy" and gave all my pecans to the younger squirrels. I complained about the absence of "Greedy" to my wife and daughter.

Just the other evening I overheard my daughter Tracy say to my wife Frances:

"Mama, you know when I was going across the street to the supermarket last week I saw a squirrel that had been run over. Do you suppose that is the one that Daddy keeps talking about?"

Now there is a vast emptiness in my life, and I feel in a way insecure, missing a companionship I had leaned on.

Of course, I still do have my favorite tree. I don't know what kind it is, but it has wide and wonderful arms that soon will hold up to heaven a canopy of green leaves.

I like to pet its branches when I go by — if I am sure no stranger is looking who might deem me daffy. The night before last, returning with my wife from a Chinese restaurant, I paused at my tree, reached out my hand and was consoled by the feeling of buds ruffling along a brown branch, births of being impatient to burst into spring glory.

"Don't you have a favorite tree of your own?" I asked my wife.

"No," said Frances, "there aren't enough trees here for everybody — so I'll just share yours."

And she put her arm in mine as we walked the last few steps to home.

Savings Bond Due First Baby In Hosp. Week

The Women's Auxiliary of Seminole Memorial Hospital will give a savings bond to the first baby born during National Hospital Week, May 14-20, which will be observed on the theme, "City of Care."

Plans for the presentation were made at the March meeting of the auxiliary's executive board in the hospital auditorium with Mrs. Christopher Butler, president, in charge.

In other business, it was announced several members of the group will attend a district auxiliary meeting, April 13, in Orlando.

A letter was read from the state auxiliary historian chairman requesting the local organization send newspaper clippings of their reported projects and activities.

Reports were given by each chairman. Mrs. J. Lotz, membership chairman, named Mrs. Maria Johnson as a new member and read, with regret, the resignations of Mrs. Diane Resch and Mrs. Dorothy Bateman.

Mrs. Hazel Gilhuly reported on a meeting she attended recently in Orlando and Mrs. George Rounds, hospitality shop chairman, was instructed to place a donation cannister in the shop to aid David Dekle, local youth who is a patient in Duke University Hospital.

A donation was voted in the name of T. Van Arsdale whose name will be placed in the hospital memory book. It also was approved that a large donation be given towards a blood machine for the hospital laboratory.

It was reported that additional amounts had been paid on the $9,500 intensive care unit which the auxiliary will pay for in full.

A general meeting and luncheon will be held April 15, time and place to be announced.

Educators Visit Space Center

Mrs. Bettie Palmer, science department head at Oviedo High School, attended a science briefing at the Kennedy Space Center along with more than 200 other Florida and Puerto Rican educators last Thursday.

Among the topics of the various speakers were the impact of the NASA program on education and the Kennedy Space Center Launch facilities. After the speeches, members participated in a panel discussion covering the various aspects of the talks.

After a luncheon, the convention members were given a complete tour of the Space facilities, including the Vertical Assembly building, the launch control center, and the Central Instrumentation facilities located near Complex 39 (the moon rocket launch pad).

Hal Mehrens, Kennedy Space Center educator, said the purpose of the convention was to bring about a better understanding of the nation's space programs as they relate to education.

Some 400,000 workers of NASA are involved in the expanded space education program which is spread across the nation at nine installations.

Pat Boone Movie To Show In DeBary

The Pat Boone comedy, "Never Put It In Writing," will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the DeBary Community Center as another in the DeBary Civic Association's series of bringing to the area the best movies of recent years.

The film, designed to please every age bracket, is billed as a "rollicking story of a young man, angered at his boss, who writes the gentleman a letter that never should have been written and then mails it when it should never have been mailed." Suspense hinges on Pat Boone's efforts to recover the letter and the amusing situations in which he becomes involved.

The films, financed by voluntary contributions, are open to everyone in the Southwest Volusia area.

Showing April 21 will be the musical treat, "The Great Caruso," featuring Mario Lanza recreating the life of the world's greatest tenor.

Wilson Luncheon Program Lauded

The first and second grade combination at Paola Wilson School has had 100 per cent participation in the school lunchroom program since start of the school term in September.

The Herald correspondent for the area, Mrs. H. L. Johnson, visited the school and talked with the teacher, Mrs. T. J. Trawick, and Mrs. Georgia Redd, lunchroom manager for the Lak. Monroe and Paola schools.

She ate luncheon with the group and received a special cinnamon roll treat and had a star stamped on her hand for eating everything on her plate. The meal consisted of rice, meat balls, black eyed peas, cole slaw, hot homemade roll, milk, and a decorated Easter egg cupcake.

After receiving the star stamp on her hand, Mrs. Johnson had the pleasure of placing a like star upon the hand of each pupil in the room.

Mrs. Redd reported the Lake Monroe-Wilson schools have an 83 per cent average daily participation in the lunch program, which is considered very good.

There are 96 children enrolled in the Paola school. Only four were absent the day of Mrs. Johnson's visit and of the 92 present, 86 ate in the lunchroom.

Mrs. Trawick stated she was very proud of her class, which also leads in the most stars daily.

Mrs. Mary Groome, principal, added her words of praise for "this wonderful little group."

Mrs. Johnson reports, "It was a pleasure for me to be invited to visit this lunchroom and see the wonderful appetites of a nice group of children. Mrs. Mary Hanson and Isabelle Young are to be commended on the nice, clean way they take care of the facility."

Deltona Legion To Organize

By MILDRED HANEY

A pre-organizational meeting was held March 16th for the purpose of establishing a Deltona American Legion Post.

Visitors at this meeting included B. A. Blois, Volusia County Commander; Thomas Thompson, 5th district commander from Jacksonville; James Tutwiler, Volusia County sergeant at arms; Bruce Gilmore Shirk, commander of post 6, DeLand, and Jerome Newman, Volusia County adjutant.

Ed Kelley and P. R. Mahaffey of Post 6, DeLand, also were present. Tony Fabrizio, formerly of Bunker Hill Post 31, Washington, D. C., now lives in Deltona. These three are lifetime members of the American Legion.

George McWilliams, Deltona, was appointed temporary chairman and Dwight Hawkins, Deltona, was appointed temporary secretary. The committee to draft the constitution and by-laws are Harold Ware and George McWilliams with Tony Fabrizio as chairman.

Ashland Plans Melamine Plant

Ashland Oil & Refining Company has announced that it will construct a multi-million dollar melamine plant, which will have a capacity of from 65 to 75 million pounds annually and utilize the newest technology, with urea as the feedstock.

R. E. Yancey, Ashland senior vice president, said plant location and construction plans and costs will be announced later. When the plant is completed, it will replace Ashland's present 70 million pound-a-year melamine operation at Willow Island, West Virginia which uses older technology, with dicyandiamide as the feedstock.

Ashland became the largest U. S. producer of melamine late last year when it acquired Fisher Chemical Company of New York, which operates the Willow Island plant. Melamine is a raw material used in the manufacture of dishware, decorative laminates and resins.

News Reading Likened Unto Menu

Newspapers are for "reading" was the theme developed by a life-long journalist at the weekly meeting of the Lions Club in the Civic Center today. Stafford Derby, retired correspondent, bureau chief and city editor of the international-ly known newspaper, The Christian Science Monitor, was the speaker.

Derby spoke from past experience and told of covering headline making news during World War II in POW camps, in flying the Berlin Airlift in 1948, such trials as that of Frank Costello in New York, and the political highlights of the presidential campaigns in 1952, 56 and 60. Now the veteran reporter is covering events in Sanford for The Sanford Herald and used this current experience with the years on the national beat to advise his audience to do more than just scan the headlines of newspapers they read.

If the reader is seeking the information about events which the reporter is trying to convey and seeking it with an open mind, then it is essential that all the story be read, he emphasized.

Newspapers, he pointed out, are very much like the menu in a restaurant. Some patrons will go after the complete dinner, savoring each dish. Others will want only the main dish. And still others will want to pick and choose.

That is why reading habits will sometimes warp a person's newspaper habits. Some will

4th Quint Dies, One Survives

VASTERAS, Sweden (AP) — Another of the quintuplets born to a Swedish woman March 21 died Monday night, leaving only a girl alive.

Doctors said the girl's chances of survival were somewhat better than the other babies because her weight at birth, 2¾ ounces, was the heaviest of the five.

Mrs. Frederik Lars Jansson, 28, gave birth to four girls and a boy after being treated with a hormone fertility drug. The babies were three months premature. Three of the girls died on the first day after birth. The boy died Monday night.

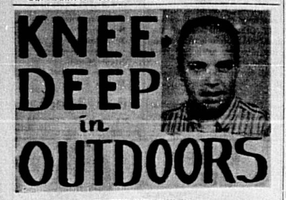
KNEE-DEEP in OUTDOORS



By BILL VINCENT JR.

Spring is for fishin', the fishermen say. Well, I would say they are right in every way, 'cause the fishin' is doin' real good.

The bass are showin' up all over, and on all kinds of different baits. Bill Crabtree has been doin' real well with the black worm. One bass went 4.75# pounds along with a lot of medium size ones.

Oscar Toler has been catchin' his share of bass along with Crabtree while they were fishin' out of the Osteen bridge fish camp.

The bass are doin' well in shallow water with artificial bait, close to the shore line.

The specs are still around and they are hittin' on live bait and some will take artificial bait while trollin' real slow in deep water.

The bream and bue gill are startin' to play with the bait with some real nice catches coming in. There are some nice sized along with catfish in the deeper spots on cut bait such as mussels, kidney, shrimp and cut rough fish.

Remember the STEAK DINNER, April 8, by the County Sportsman Association.

All other fish camps are doin' real well with the fishin' in all aspects.

How do you fool those finicky bottom-dwelling fish that frequently reach lunker proportions because of selective feeding habits?

Sinking a hook home in the jaw of an eight-pound bass carries about the same odds for the average angler as hitting

BILL CRABTREE
. . . 10¾ Pounder

a daily double at the track, yet there are those who score with uncanny success.

For the guy who wants to better his chances in the lunker department, there are a couple tricks on this season's scene that may be of interest, say the fishing experts.

The first, they claim, is the "chewable" lure. While this soft offering has been standard fare for bait users and devotees of pork rinds and plastic worms, the "pliable approach" is also available to plug casters. With the tendancy of big fish to mouth and chew a while before swallowing, it certainly has merits.

Recently marketed soft lures that emulate many old, proven favorites have the deceptive characteristics of natural bait. This quality becomes highly important when dealing with lunkers that have a ball and gingerly move off for some distance while contemplating the authenticity of the morsel and turning it around before swallowing.

Weight is necessary to get the lure down on bottom. But it also presents an unnatural resistance that may warn of danger when engulfed by a fish. The big boys have a way of releasing a suspect dinner without ever brushing a barb.

To overcome this warning signal, use a hollowed-out sinker through which the line has been threaded. It provides the needed weight yet permits the lure to be grabbed and carried with the line running free through the sinker.

Try a free-running chewable plug for choosy bottom feeders. It's about the nearest thing to a natural bait you'll find.

A casting or spin-casting rod is great when it's right.

A GOOD CATCH
. . . Bream, specs, catfish, bass!

However, it is often difficult to determine by just flexing a rod in the store if you and the rod will form a happy association.

Selecting the right rod depends upon several factors. Length, action, line weight, lures, fishing conditions and the individual angler are all to be taken into account.

Generally, you can get a good idea of a rod's suitability by making the following in-store test:

Rig up the rod with your favorite reel and line. Snap on a lure of the weight you normally use. Make a few casts.

If the plug lofts straight to the ceiling or mushes out in an abnormal arc, the rod is too long or possesses an action that is too soft for you.

If the lure snaps off the tip and shoots downward to the floor, the rod is either too stiff or too short for the weight of lure you are accustomed to using.

The proper outfit will perform smoothly and without effort, and can be quickly recognized as the one to buy.

Often, fishermen possess several good rods that seemingly fail to deliver as well as they should. Consequently, they are shunted aside. An afternoon of experimenting with different lures and lines may produce the right combination that returns a discarded rod to favor.

As general guidelines: ¼-ounce lure, 5- to 6-foot rod, extra light action, 8-pound or less line; ⅜-ounce lure, 5½ to 6-foot rod, light or extra action, 9- to 12-pound line; ½-ounce lure, 5- to 6-foot rod, light or medium action, 12- to 15-pound line; ⅝-ounce lure, 4½- to 6-foot rod, light to medium action, (depending on length), 12- to 15-pound line; ¾-ounce lure and over, 4½- to 5-foot rod, medium to heavy action, 15- to 30-pound line.

Find the combination that meets your needs and you'll catch more fish.

'Bama Welcomes Negro

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the University of Alabama says its football team is ready to welcome its first Negro candidate when spring practice begins next Saturday, the Washington Post said today.

The Post quoted Dr. Frank Rose, university president, as saying the student "has been given every encouragement by Coach (Paul) Bryant and by the student's academic advisors."

The student is a halfback named Doc House, an engineering major. Rose said the student indicated he wanted to try out for football last September but failed to take a required physical examination, according to the Post.

Rose was quoted as saying House decided not to try out because afternoon engineering labs and his over-all schedule made it too difficult.

"He came back recently," the Post quoted Rose, "and told Coach Bryant he has now worked out a schedule that will permit him to try football and was told to undergo a physical and draw football gear by the Athletic Department for spring practice.

"Two weeks ago, Coach Bryant called a meeting of prospective players but House did not attend. I don't know why he did not attend, but, as I said, he has been given every encouragement."

Raiders Set Golf Match With Daytona

The Seminole Junior College golf team will travel to Daytona Beach Junior College Tuesday at 3:30 for its third golf match of the season.

In its inaugural year, the Seminole Junior College Athletic Department fielded a complete basketball squad, considered by many junior college officials to be quite a feat for a first year school of limited enrollment and facilities. However, the industrious SJC coaching staff went on to organize a baseball team and now it has added golf and bowling to its list of athletic endeavors.

The Seminole Raiders golf team, headed by Jay Sterling, who is the college's athletic director, is made up primarily of students in his advanced golf class. Jim Ballner, a graduate of Lyman High in Longwood, played for the Lyman links team last year and is currently the top linkster on the team.

Ballner, according to Sterling, has been the squad's most consistent golfer with a low score of 80. He is the only boy on the squad with any previous experience on a golf team and though this is a factor in the team's play, several of the boys have shown much improvement during the past week.

Others on the team include Mickey Rudd, George Holleman, Terry Phelps, Mark Grayson, and Van Hair.

The Raiders lost their first two matches, one to Central Florida's golfing foursome and one to rival Lake-Sumter, one of the junior colleges in the area.

Raiders Split Pair With Central Fla.

After being edged 4-1 in a closely contested first game of a double header yesterday, the Seminole Junior College batters let loose a barrage which left Central Florida battered beyond hope, 16-6. The Raiders are now 2-4 for the season. Tom Pulling pitched a fine first game, allowing only two earned runs, but was charged with his fourth loss in as many starts. Jeff Simpkins, although pitching somewhat looser ball, won his second game behind the batting of Danny Tillis and Jacob Wallace.

Things were relatively quiet in the first game, with Central Florida collecting four runs on five hits, while playing errorless ball. The Raiders managed their only run on six hits and had two errors.

Bobby Talbot, catching for the first time in his baseball career, collected two for two including a double. John Perry's sacrifice fly drove in Larry Baker in the first inning for the only Seminole score. However, two runs scored on two hits and outfield errors allowed the last two CFJC men across.

In the fireworks-filled second game, Central Florida took the initial lead 2-0 going into the bottom of the second when Jacob Wallace erupted for his circuit clout with John Perry on base. With John Thomas and Tillis on base, Simpkins, Baker and Pulling lashed out with a double and two singles to bring in six runs.

In the third, Tillis, who went three for three, blasted his first homer, a two-run clout with Jacob Wallace on. Larry Baker hit a two-run four-base knock at the outset of the fourth and then the big bat let loose. Danny Tillis, who coached Jay Bergmen tabs as one of his top hitters, plated Pulling, Thomas, Wallace and himself for a grand slam home run.

Jacob Wallace smashed his second of the day in the game-ending fifth inning with Perry on board for the ride.

OES Installs Mr., Mrs. Paul Markos 1967 Worthy Matron, Worthy Patron

Seminole Chapter No. 2, O.E.S., held a candlelight installation of 1967 officers at Masonic Hall, Sanford, on March 11.

The Chapter Room was beautifully decorated for the ceremony. Tall baskets of roses in colors appropriate to their stations stood back of the Star Points stations. A large broken column stood in the West and in the East the incoming Worthy Matron's watchwords, "Faith, Hope and Love" were inscribed on a triangle, flanked on each side by a seven-branched candelabra.

Mrs. Louis Estes acted as installing officer, assisted by Mrs. W. B. Moye, installing marshal; Mrs. Charles B. Cole, installing chaplain, and Mrs. Bertha Snyder, installing organist.

The officers installed to serve for the coming year were Worthy Matron, Mrs. Andrew Markos; Worthy Patron, Mr. Markos; Associate Matron, Mrs. Byron Leach; Associate Patron, Byron Leach; treasurer, Mae Sheppard; secretary, Augusta Bilbrey; conductress, Anna Muir; associate conductress, Marie Howen; sentinel, Ed Blackman, and star points, Adah, Barbara Wade; Ruth, Kathleen Reynolds; Esther, Irene Windrum; Martha, Evelyn Hayes; Electa, Gloria Warren; chaplain, Virginia Anderson; marshal, Jean Eckels, and organist, Helen Leinhart.

When the five Star Points had been seated, the Rainbow Courtesy Girls—Cindy Newsome, Susan Stein, Pam Reynolds, Karen Thornell and Connie Colvin—presented each with a nosegay in the color of her station and recited an appropriate verse.

Mrs. Ophelia Bennett serenaded the Worthy Patron with "I Believe" and the Associate Patron with "You'll Never Walz Alone."

Delicious cake and punch were served after the meeting by the Rainbow Girls and Donna Markos, daughter of the Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron.

MRS. LOUIS ESTES, left, served as installing officer of the 1967 officers of Seminole Chapter No. 2, Order of Eastern Star in an impressive candlelight ceremony, March 13, at the Masonic Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Markos, couple at right, were installed as the Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron.

South Seminole Jayceettes Set Membership Tea

By JANE CASSELBERRY

The Maison et Jardin in Altamonte Springs will be the scene of the annual tea given by the South Seminole Jayceettes, Saturday, 3-5 p.m., to honor new members.

Invitations have been mailed to all new and old members. Welcoming them at the door will be Mrs. Robert Hattaway and Mrs. Robert Mills, committee co-chairmen.

Mrs. Stan Trahan, first vice president, reports a most successful response to this year's membership drive.

Medical News

Strokes seldom strike healthy people. Rather they hit persons who have some other form of circulatory ailment, such as high blood pressure or high blood pressure and heart disease.

These observations were made at a recent medical meeting by Dr. W. B. Kannel, reporting on a 14-year study of 5,000 men and women. According to Dr. Kannel, high blood pressure apparently accelerates hardening of the arteries, leading to impaired heart and circulatory function, thereby raising the risk of stroke.

Factors contributing potently to strokes are: Cigarette smoking, high blood fat levels before age 50, heart enlargement and diabetes.

College News

Norman Leach, son of Lt. Cdr. and Mrs. N. E. Leach, 465 Rosalia Drive, will be appearing with the University of North Carolina Concert Band this spring in a Fine Arts Festival, Tuesday Evening Concert Series, several Sunday afternoon concerts on the lawn and will go on the annual Spring Concert Tour through North Carolina and Virginia.

Norman plays the trumpet and holds first chair office.

Fashionettes

The African feeling has a new-found place in fashion. Primitive wooden-type jewelry, buttons and even sunglass frames are evident in shops. Tiny shells are seen decorating the fashions. Earthy browns are being used to express a whole new mood in fashion accessories, ready to take on the strong blaze of color in the African prints.

Exciting bold stripes, dots and Pucci-type prints, as well as large colorful florals, are found in all fashion categories for spring — beach dresses, party pajamas, hostess dresses and even maternity dresses. You can even "paint your own birthday dress" for little girls. And all these items come in the magic of PAPER.

Notably chic for the swim crowd are the new caps called mermaid millinery. For the Mod mermaid, there are two styles—Carnby Street, a houndstooth on shining pleated vinyl, and Mad Mod, a wetlook nylon that is a skull-type cap that ties under the chin. This comes with its own buttoned-on goggles for the sun.

MISS CRILL HARDIN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garvin H. Hardin Sr., was formally presented as a pledge of Delta Zeta sorority at the traditional Rose Ball, March 10 at the International Inn in Tampa. The University of South Florida chapter presented each of the girls a pink Kilarney rose, the sorority flower, as she entered through the rose arch.

Birthday Fete Honors Trio

By MRS. H. L. JOHNSON

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland White on Center Street was the scene Sunday afternoon of a triple birthday celebration.

The affair was in honor of their petite little daughter, Melissa, who is a year old, John M. Dodson, 76 years old, and J. T. Green who was 91 years "young."

The dining table was covered with a dainty "birthday cloth" and centered with a three-tiered birthday cake. The cake was made by the great aunt of Melissa, Mrs. Earnest Austin. Each tier held the exact number of candles for the three celebrants. The top layer was in pink candles and the other two blue.

After the honorees opened their many gifts Mrs. White served punch and cake to Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Grissom and children; Mrs. Edith Whitmire and children; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sparks and children; Mrs. Jean Brown and children; Mrs. Pat Burnham and children; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McAlexander, Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Sasser and children; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Speight and children; June Brock, Cecilia Morris, Fran Dodson, Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Dodson and the honor guests.

Turn out cakes and cookies on metal racks and allow to cool. If you turn out these baked products onto a plate or board steam may make them soggy.

Altamonte Personals

By JULIA BARTOS

Miss Joan Lariveе of Philadelphia, Pa., was recent house-guest of Mrs. Florence Coursen. They visited Cypress Gardens and points of interest and Miss Lariveе was much impressed with Altamonte Springs. She promised to be back again next year. She and Mrs. Coursen are friends for 23 years or more.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I just LOVE to write letters to fellows. I don't care if I know them or not, as long as they are a friend of a friend of mine.

My problem is, I have lived around the corner from this boy all my life. I am 23 and so is he. We never played together as children because we went to different schools. Sure, we'd see each other, but never a word was spoken.

Two summers ago, I said to myself, "This is silly!" So when I saw him, I said, "Hi, Tony, where are you going?"

He didn't answer me. He just smiled and kept going.

The next time I saw him, about a year later, I said, "Hi, Tony, where are you going NOW?" He didn't answer me, but smiled and went on. He is now in the service. Should I ask his mother for his address and write to him?

LOVES TO WRITE

DEAR LOVES: If you LOVE to write letters—go ahead and write. He might communicate better by mail. But don't be surprised if he doesn't. A young man who won't talk, probably won't write either.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: If I don't get this off my chest I'll burst. I have two sons. There are none better. They are both married and have lovely families.

It hurts me to go into their homes and not see even one photograph of Dad and me in sight.

We have gone to the trouble of taking pictures, having them enlarged and framed, but they must be stored away in a closet somewhere.

We have our home full of pictures of our sons, their wives, and children. Am I wrong to feel hurt? Set me straight.

HURT

DEAR HURT: No. Apparently your sons and their wives are not aware of your feelings.

DEAR ABBY: I load and unload freight and baggage for a major air line. We handle cats and dogs that are "kenneled" for transporation.

Most of these animals have never experienced anything like this before, and they are petrified from the noise of the screaming jets, and from so much jostling around. Some animals try to chew thru the kennels, and they end up with broken teeth and bleeding mouths. Some even get loose.

A veterinarian has informed me that tranquilizer pills are available (thru any vet) which if given to the animal before the trip, will keep him calm and comfortable. I have seen so many frightened and hysterical animals in my work it breaks my heart. If you love animals as I do, you'll print this.

Jacoby On Bridge

Jacoby and Son

"When in doubt lead trumps" is one of the really old bridge bromides. There is very little merit to it. A better one is, "When not in doubt, lead trumps."

North's two club bid was Stayman and asked South to show a four card major suit if he could. South obliged with a two spade bid and North made a slight overbid of five spades. With an absolute maximum no-trump, South went on to six in spite of his poor trump holding.

The contract is a good one. It spreads if diamonds break favorably, if both kings are finessable, or if West opens anything but a trump. On the other hand, West has an almost automatic trump lead. He is not in doubt at all. He sees that any other lead is likely to cost a trick and that a trump lead won't.

Polly's Pointers

By Polly Cramer

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY—My retired bachelor uncle recently moved to a small town, and he eats many of his meals in one particular restaurant. The customers there are asked not to tip. Feeling that the attentive counter girl merits a gratuity, but not wishing to be noticable or to embarrass anyone, every so often he leaves the correct amount of his check on top of some silver for her. This is placed on or over the cash register drawer. Do you think he is right or wrong in doing this?—EDIE

DEAR READERS— Perhaps some restaurant owners will tell us how serious they really are when they post such signs. I am sure many wonder what to do in such a situation and particularly when they have the same person serve them regularly. However, I am surprised that Edie's uncle hasn't had his hand slapped when it is on or over the cash register drawer.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I keep a roll of adding machine tape in a dispenser on my kitchen bulletin board where needed items are jotted down for my grocery list. Next to this I have attached an envelope in which I keep all the coupons that come in the mail. A quick look through these and I am ready with the list and coupons when time for my weekly shopping trip rolls around.—MRS. C. A. H.

DEAR POLLY—Do tell Ethel, who painted the pictures by numbers, to buy canvas or even a less expensive pad and try using her leftover paints to create something original. If she does not feel that she draws well enough to do a picture she might do an abstract with a blending of the leftover paint. I have come up with some interesting harmonies just by using the paint left on my palette.—SARA

DEAR POLLY—I have a solution for Ethel's leftover paint. I save small clear glass jars with wide mouths and remove the labels from the outside. I select a greeting card with a picture I like, insert it in the jar, press it flat against the side of the jar and tape it securely in place. The picture on the card can then be painted on the outside of the jar by following the lines of the picture on the inside. When finished, remove the card and paint the inside of the jar with a plain color. This makes a pretty pencil holder, flower vase or just a decoration.—NANCY

DEAR POLLY—I am a den mother for a Scout Troop and I use all the leftover paint I can get my hands on. If Ethel would pass her paint along to the den mother in her neighborhood I am sure it will be put to good use.—MRS. B. J. B.

Beauty after Forty

by Edyth Thornton McLeod

A teacher, a dressmaker, a style consultant and a free-lance pattern maker—Mrs. Adele Margolis has been all of these. And she is still a teacher.

During the depression, she began to sew for her daughter and herself, later for friends. She became popular and moved to a small shop in the center of town, becoming a professional dressmaker. She also taught sewing. Her work has been primarily in teaching sewing and she has written several books on the subject. The latest is "The Dressmaking Book."

I had a young friend of mine, teenager Christy Pines, "review" the book, since she had just begun to learn to sew at school. Christy likes sewing and she says she's learning much from the book; she also thinks the illustrations are helpful and excellent.

I think all girls should learn how to sew. Think of all those bargains that can be bought and then altered for a perfect fit!

Mrs. Margolis has done much with her after-40 time. She's a grandmother now, a widow. She teaches in Junto School and the Haddonfield Adult School. Born and raised in Philadelphia, she still resides in that historic city.

At long last there are support stockings in smart colors called "Alive." They really help those tired legs and they look so smart. For too long, support stockings have been in dreadfully out-of-fashion colors. Fashioned now of spandex, the exceptionally fine thread lines achieve a superior flex-life which makes possible that extra support which gives you a feeling of contentment. Aching legs and feet can make you bad tempered and you'll look every year of every age that you are.

Remember, leather-lined shoes are so comfortable. Be sure both the inside and outside of the shoes are in leather. Accept no substitutes. Leather linings are smartly toned. Some have polka dots and many of the linings are in attractive colors. Fresh air enters your shoes from all sides, when you have good leather linings; excess perspiration escapes, and your feet stay dry and free from burning.

Women Voters Set Meet

Communist China's internal problems and her relations with the world will be the subject of the speech to be given by D. Whiting at the annual meeting of the Provisional League of Women Voters of Seminole County.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday at South Seminole Bank, with the public invited to hear Whiting at 9 p.m., immediately after the League's business meeting.

Whiting was head of the Far East desk for the State Department in Washington from 1948-1960. He also has served as vice consul and attache in Saigon and Japan.

Horoscope Forecast

WEDNESDAY, MAR. 29, 1967

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You now find that much that has to do with your longtime longings and trying to work them out satisfactory can be achieved if you get a fresh new standpoint on how to organize and put yourself in a very tenable position with those whom you usually depend upon. Show you are a good investigator.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to April 19) Endeavor to come to better understanding with the persons whose devotion means a great deal to you. They then help you in your inspired ideas. Get together with allies also, and give them the benefits of your plans, suggestions.

TAURUS: (Apr. 20 to May 20) Find out what your associates' true aims are and them be willing to assist them to gain their ambitions. Make new deals that will be very helpful to you, also. Show that you appreciate the relationship.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) Getting right down to work ahead of you is your best way to progress now, without furthering procrastination. Get associates to co-operate with alacrity pitch and much is accomplished. Keep eye on gains.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) By getting into plans for pleasure later, you can then delve into work with partners with enthusiasm, please all. Strive for improvement of good will. Make others appreciate you far more.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be considerate and help to build morale of those who mean a great deal to you and assist them in their particular ambitions. Buy those mechanisms, etc., that make your home more operative. Be frugal.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Find the right means by which to take care of those difficult parts of your steady work routine and invest in whatever improves same. Garner the data you require as well. Find the right source.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Doing whatever will help to increase present abundance is vital to you today, and bigwigs with big ideas will release them to you. Make your property more valuable. See that basements are dry.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to NoNv. 21) Make sure you know more precisely what your aims are and then you get the co-operation of higher-ups in gaining them. Your ideas are good, your charm high, so get ahead —fast! Stop procrastinating!

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you concentrate on your problematical affairs, you now understand exactly how to solve them adequately. Loved one may also have some anxiety. You are able to help with this, also. Be generous.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A dynamic comrade will now go overboard to give you support and backing you desire. Then gad about socially and amuse others. Make excellent contacts that can be helpful to you in the future.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Concentrate on how to best convince an official to grant you some favor you want, then put your ideas to work quickly, gently. Dash about in the business or creative world. Much good comes of that.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have fine inspiration to gain aspirations without all that fuss and feathers of the past, so carry through with enthusiasm. Confer with persons whose ideas differ from yours. Combine for corporate, happy results.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he, or she, will be one of those clever young ones who is capable of understanding the systems that can make obsolete projects modern by some revision, and the finest connection here would be with the government, where money in large quantities can be sacred, or with some big corporation that is practically on the rocks. Education should be slanted toward business administration at college.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Monroe Jottings

By MRS. H. L. JOHNSON

How does that song go, something about, "What can I say, dear, after I say I'm sorry." I think that's it, but anyway, that's what I mean because I have sort of slipped lately. But my excuse is a real good one. There has been plenty of sickness in the family to keep me busy. First the granddaughters that are here with us decided to become ill, just about all at the same time. Then others in the family also decided the same thing. Now they are all on the mend (I think, I hope). * * * Well I just know that everyone had a real nice Easter. And that is grand. The day was certainly a beautiful one for it, too. * * * Hear that Glen Spivey is now home after being over in Vietnam. Haven't seen him yet, but brother Ken said he would tell him to come down and see me. Wonder if Glenn still gets The Herald? He did while across and always read this column. How about this? Hi Glenn! Maybe that will jar him up. Anyway, we are really glad that you are home. * * * We had a call yesterday from son Bob who is stationed with the Army Reserves in Louisiana. He assured us he is okay health wise. So glad he called us. He was also tickled that Marta, his wife, could spend a few days with him. * * * Saw two "allers" yesterday in the hospital. Former Riverview Avenue resident Ruth (Mrs. Hugh) Gowan entered the hospital, and Charles Baker of Narcissus Avenue has been there a few days. We wish them both a speedy recovery. * * * Speaking of Charles, his small son Allen has a "whatsit." What's a whatit? It's a pony-burro (Horse?). It stands so high and is black all over. Its mama is a burro named Jennifer and its poppa is a black Shetland pony. Allen named him Smokey. Now he says that little brother Mike can have Jennifer. That's a nice swap, Allen. Anyway, I like your whatsit very much. * * * Mrs. C. E. Hunter (Dipa) has been taking a much deserved vacation by visiting with relatives in South Florida. * * * I sure am proud of the first and second combination grades at the Paola Wilson School. They have had a 100 percent lunchroom participation since the start of school in September. And they always finish everything on their plates and get a star stamped on their hand. I saw them the other day when I visited them in the lunchroom. They sit at the tables like little angels (?) tikes are supposed to. Mrs. Trawick has a group to be proud of and so does the principal, Mrs. Grooms, and the lunchroom manager, Mrs. Redd. Keep it up children and the other rooms take heed. * * * Grandpap Urban and Grannie Gertrude Lee have returned home after going up North to Cleveland, Tenn., to see their new granddaughter, daughter of Ann and Johnny Woody. Of course she is a living doll. Congratulations to the Woodys. * * * Happy Birthday to little Melissa White who has just reached her first birthday. She is as cute as a button. * * * Also happy birthday to granddaughter Barbara Jean Hudson who is now five, son-in-law Don Hudson who is 7 and better-half who is 77. He says 39 but I just cannot believe him. * * * The Lake Monroe Homemakers Club has been saddened this week by the sudden passing of our presidents, Marion Lees' husband. We certainly extend our condolences out to Marion and her children. * * * The Seminole County Homemakers Dress Revue will be April 14 at 7:30 p.m. at the Agricultural Center. The Lake Monroe Club is in charge. The revue will have a spring theme with homemaker members modeling their own outfits which they have made. The public is cordially invited to attend. So you all come. * * * Sorry to hear that Morris Hanson is confined to a Winter Park Hospital because of recent surgery. A speedy recovery to you. * * * I think that Martha Keel has now returned home after being a patient at the Bunnell Hospital. I think she departed company with something like gall stones. Glad you are home, Martha, and take it easy for awhile. Mama Sammye Lou can do the housework, can't she? * * * Our thought this week . . . How little it costs to say a kind word. Or to help lift the load of a brother. How happy we feel at the end of the day. Filled with loving deeds for another. But when eventide comes and the days work is done. And we gladly lie down to our rest. There's a feeling of sadness that filal our hearts. If for other we've not done our best. . . . Ah. How true these words are.

'Bit Of Ireland' In Deltona

By MILDRED HANEY

A little bit of Ireland dropped down on the Deltona Community Center when the Women's Auxiliary of the Civic Association met for the regular meeting. The colorful luncheon table featured Waldorf Salad, sporting a green cherry atop. All women were a touch of green.

The surprise program received a round of appalase when the invrenta "Kitchen Kombo" appeared wearing green aprons and performing on instruments familiar to the kitchen—a rolling pin, pots and pans, etc. Group singing was fun, the ladies singing Irish songs accompanied by Edna Mayberry at the piano. Several of the members read humerous anecdotes and stories dealing with St. Patrick's Day.

A dessert card party will be held on April 20, 1 p.m. There will be no business meeting at that time.

Players are asked to bring their own cards and a card table if possible. Prizes will be awarded to the winner of each table of four with door prizes as an added attraction. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Herbert S. Johnson, 1257 W. Wellington.

Also discussed at the meeting were plans for a covered dish picnic luncheon to be held May 19 at the regular meeting.

Casselberry GI, Vietnam Hero, At Home

Sp/4 Albert Wahlberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian J. Wahlberg Sr., of Plaza Oval, Casselberry, has been awarded the Air Medal for heroism, with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the Air Medal with "V" for valor, and the Army Commendation Medal.

He now is enjoying a 30-day furlough at home after a year's service in Vietnam with the 1st Air Cavalry.

While in Vietnam he served as crew chief on a Chinook helicopter with an assault support helicopter battalion. His aircraft was forced down on eight different occasions in addition to a crash which completely destroyed one aircraft on Nov. 12, 1966.

Wahlberg is a 1965 graduate of Lyman High School. Following his leave, he will report for duty at Ft. Benning, Ga.

ALBERT WAHLBERG

Class To Hear Patrolman

Sanford patrolman Thomas Deppen will speak at 8 p.m. today at a meeting of the Christian Homemakers Sunday School Class in Weaver Hall of the Casselberry Community Methodist Church.

His topic will be "The Preacher and The Policeman." He is the son of Mrs. Robert Deppen of Casselberry, chairman of the program.

Little Snowflake, the world's only white gorilla, is flourishing in Barcelona on a staple diet of milk and bananas. The 2-year-old white male, now tame, was 19 pounds of terrified rage when he was found in Rio Muni, Spanish Equatorial Guinea, last October.

Passion Play

For the first time in the 12 years of history of the Black Hills Passion Play in Florida, the huge outdoor drama at Lake Wales will be presented for three weeks after Easter. Schedule will be performances at 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, and Sundays at 6 p.m. There will be no matinees. Final presentation is April 16.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth suffer embarrassment because their plates drop, slip or wobble at just the wrong time. Don't live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the non-acid powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly so they feel more comfortable. Checks denture breath. Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get FASTEETH at all drug counters.

Winners To Battle For Port

AROUND THE CLOCK

By LARRY VERSHEL

I watch the returns in the courthouse as Cami Bruce chalks up the staggering victory for the Republican Party.

Somebody tell the Democrats to wake up.

* * *

I walk down the courthouse steps, across the street where the Democratic Party head quarters are located. It's dark inside. I didn't walk back to the office.

* * *

I had no stomach to see any darn sparrow.

* * *

Thirteen thousand, six hundred seventy-five registered voters cast ballots yesterday. When are we gonna organize a Democratic Party in Seminole County?

* * *

I go for a drink with a county official. I thought he was a friend of mine. "The Herald had no business hiring you back," he said.

* * *

There were a lot of losers besides the Democrats last night.

Sanford turned its back on Tom McDonald—he lost eight of the 11 precincts here.

Shhhhhhh. The Democratic Party is sleeping.

The actual figure the Industrial Board will ask for is $25,722.

Where will the money come from, sez I.

From the zoo relocation budget, sez the city manager.

The only bright spot — The way Mrs. Bruce handled the voting returns . . . All precincts were recorded in less than one hour.

Our local officials in the courthouse better start planning ahead for 1968. The first step should be organizing a strong Democratic Party here . . . or there won't be any need for a job classification survey.

* * *

The School Board will have to raise the transportation budget some $15,000 for the busing of all these kids during the next school year.

* * *

Some 149 kids will be moved out of Midway to Sanford Junior High. Whatever happened to neighborhood schools? And where are they gonna put these kids at the junior high school. It's like a cattle car now.

* * *

Now that Sandy Bassett won the election, we hear he will release those three voting machines.

A CONVERSATION WITH CITY MANAGER W. E. KNOWLES:

REPORTER — What about that promise for a recreation center in Goldsboro?

KNOWLES—We hope to get funds under this community facility program.

REPORTER—Yeah, and I'm still waiting for Santa Claus.

School Board went out of town for architects and now they are talking about hiring a clerk to supervise all the architects at a fee of about $8,000 per year.

* * *

City will be facing another law suit. Woman involved in the police car mishap on 25th and Sanford on Feb. 22 intends to file a suit for damages.

A CONVERSATION WITH COUNTY COMMISSION CHAIRMAN JOHN ALEXANDER:

REPORTER—When are you going to get the Humane Society off the county property?

ALEXANDER—(Silence)

Sanford's Fire Chief probational period is up on Saturday. No official deserves permanent status more.

* * *

The city's $6,000 Oak Avenue paving project should be completed next week.

* * *

That new post office in Lake Mary looks mighty pretty but when are they gonna fix the doors.

It takes two men and a boy to open 'em.

Legislation supporting the Port Authority of Seminole County and the St. Johns-Indian River Canal District will be given "top attention" by the newly elected Seminole-Orange delegation to Tallahassee.

Whether state funds for the Sanford Port will be forthcoming from racetrack taxes is a moot question. Legislators pointed to a statewide move to earmark those taxes for education and expressed concern that such bills for the port "might be buried in committee."

Sen.-elect Kenneth Plante: "I am in favor of increasing allocations for the Port Authority and we must find the money. I shall also push for the Canal District."

Sen. Robert Elrod: "We must find funds from another source to support the Port Authority. A move to divert racetrack taxes from education might jeopardize the Port Authority measure; it could be buried in committee."

Rep.-elect E. Pope Bassett: "I pledged in my campaign to support the Sanford Port Authority and the canal. I intend to do everything within my power to help the prompt development of these facilities."

Demos Ask Vote Probe

An investigation of "alleged infractions" of the election laws in yesterday's special legislative election will be undertaken by the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee, Dr. W. Vincent Roberts, chairman reported today.

Amid reports of discussions and radio news broadcasts being heard by the voters in several of the precincts of the county during the elections, Dr. Roberts declared, "The Democratic Executive Committee will undertake an investigation of alleged infractions of the election laws with reference to the (John) Baker tragedy.

"When the investigation is completed another statement will be issued," Dr. Roberts stated.

No legal action is expected on either the state or local level, however. Robert Petree, state Democratic committeeman, stated, "I feel it would be a disservice to the community and to his (John Baker's) memory to attempt to force another election because of any irregularities which may have been occasioned by his tragic passing. I have discussed this matter with the state party chairman and he concurs in this conclusion.

Dr. Roberts' statement continues "Less than 45 per cent of the voters of our two counties have decided who will represent us in Tallahassee. They have defeated many experienced and capable leaders who have demonstrated their abilities in the past and replaced them with new faces.

"I can only hope those elected will work as diligently. In the best interest of our two counties and our state we stand ready to assist those elected wherein we can," he said.

Top Industry Deal Nears

The first step in a new, "revitalized" industrial program for the Sanford area was unveiled today in a joint statement by industrialist Jeno Paulucci and Chamber of Commerce Executive Director John Krider.

Both leaders confirmed the projected industrial complex, now being finalized for the former Texize property located at W. 20th Street which Paulucci purchased earlier in the month for $175,000.

The purchase was completed several days ago.

In the statement, Paulucci and Krider said:

"We are only at liberty to state that the details have been consummated. However several details remain to be finalized, therefore news releases describing the industrial complex will be delayed for a few weeks."

Both Paulucci and Krider went on to say that this is the first step in a new, revitalized industrial program for the area. Our joint efforts now will be between the Seminole County Industrial Committee and the Sanford Industrial Commission —in the direction of developing a productive use of the Naval Air Station and other areas, including the new port on the St. Johns River."

Both men said they were making the statement to "clarify the many and varied rumors concerning this project."

Humane Unit Starts Hunt For New Shelter

A committee will be named to investigate the possibility of acquiring a site for a new Humane Society shelter for Seminole County at the next meeting of the board of directors, members of the board decided at a special meeting last night.

The board also agreed to seek loans from the national and state organizations to finance construction of the shelter. It was pointed out, however, the local society will have to purchase the property for the shelter from local funds.

Appreciation was expressed by the board for the recent investigation of the group conducted by the county prosecutor at the request of the County Commission.

The board with only three members present adopted a motion at the meeting held in the society's benefit store on Sanford Avenue at Third Street, detailing its appreciation to the county.

On making the motion, Paul Jenkins, executive director stated, "while the investigation has hurt us for awhile, it will end up being the best thing that ever happened since it exonerated us."

Plans were made by the group to attempt to project a better public image by releasing monthly activity reports to the press and revamping many of its procedures.

S/SGT. HENRY LEE

Paola GI Killed In Viet Fighting

S Sgt. Henry C. Lee, 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Lee of Paola, was killed in action in Vietnam, March 24.

In Vietnam since Oct. 20, 1966, he was a squad leader in an infantry company and was decorated in November, 1966, by Gen. William Westmoreland with a Silver Star Medal as a result of action above and beyond the call of duty. He attended school at Wilson-Paola and in Sanford.

Survivors, in addition to his parents, are his wife, Mrs. Rosa Lee of Augusta, Ga.; three children, Wanda, Michael, and Jeffery, of Sanford; two brothers, Maj. Walter L. Lee, Ft. Gordon, Ga., and Howard P. Lee, Sanford, and one sister, Mrs. Wannie M. Clark, Lexington, Ky.

The body may be viewed at Brisson Funeral Home between the hours of 7 and 9 p.m. today.

Funeral services will be at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at the Church of God, 22nd Street and Holly Avenue, with Rev. H. L. Henderson officiating. Burial will be in Augusta.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be made to the Church of God building fund.

Funeral and burial arrangements are under direction of Brisson Funeral Home.

County Sales Shows Major Gross Increase

For the second straight month gross sales in Seminole County showed a substantial rise over the corresponding month in 1966, report from J. E. Straughn, director of the Florida Revenue Commission revealed today.

February sales totaled $8,416,404.70, an 8.1 per cent increase over the February, 1966 total of $7,780,269.43.

Sales of $10,362,686.21 were recorded in January as compared to $9,083,659.40 in January, 1966, an increase of seven per cent.

3 From Seminole Capture Election

The lopsided near Republican landslide in Tuesday's election gave Seminole County three resident legislators among the 11 elected to represent Seminole and Orange Counties at Tallahassee, commencing next Tuesday.

Republicans captured nine of the 11 seats. Only Democrats elected in the two-county voting were incumbents Sen. William Gunter and Rep. Henry Land, the latter without opposition.

Biggest upset, which was publicized statewide in the current trend toward a two-party Legislature convening Tuesday, was that of the young Republican neophyte, Kenneth Plante, of Altamonte Springs, who toppled the Democratic veteran, Sen. Beth Johnson, of Orlando.

Another unexpected result was the victory of E. Pope Bassett, of Altamonte Springs, over the Democratic incumbent representative, Tom McDonald.

of Sanford. This surprise came after McDonald tallied a whopping vote in the Democratic party primary, especially in Orange County.

Republican Jan Fortune, English Explorer, erstwhile legislator, was the third Seminole County resident elected Tuesday to the Legislature.

Newly-elected 11-man Seminole - Orange County legislative delegation met this afternoon at Orlando to agree on a united front on proposed legislation — such as the Port Authority of Seminole County — for presentation when the State Legislature convenes at Tallahassee next Tuesday. The meeting was called by Sen. Robert Elrod.

Political observers were surprisingly disappointed at the small turnout—about one-third of the registered voters, both in this district and statewide. Of Seminole's 22,340 registered voters, only 8,764 (including 89 absentees) cast ballots Tuesday. Of Orange's 114,023 registered voters, only 41,935 (including 322 absentees) went to the polls.

Official canvass of Tuesday's election was being held today.

Republican Sen. Robert Elrod, Orlando, topped Tuesday's balloting here with 34,812 votes, returning him to office.

Following is the unofficial tabulation, with the Seminole vote first, Orange vote second, and total vote third:

SENATE 18th
Kenneth Plante (R), 2,049 and 21,722; 23,780; Sen. Beth Johnson (D), 1,468 and 19,003, 22,471.

Crashes Leave 9 Hurt, Damages At $50,000

One person hospitalized and damages in excess of $50,000 were the results of an accident between a car and truck on I-4 west of the Lake Mary Interchange construction, at 4 a.m. today.

F.H.P. Trooper Jerry Hawthorne, who investigated the accident, reports a semi truck driven by Robert J. Daisey of Georgetown, Delaware, collided with a stalled car driven by Clarence Kuser of Orlando.

Kuser's vehicle was a total wreck and he was admitted to Seminole Memorial Hospital with head, arm and hand injuries.

Estimate of damage to Daisey's truck was $50,000. He was not injured.

Kuser was charged with improper parking.

Two persons were hospitalized and five others treated in the emergency room of Seminole Memorial Hospital and released as the aftermath of a head-on collision between two cars on U.S. 17-92 near the intersection of Lake Mary Boulevard Tuesday afternoon.

An auto, reportedly driven by Leon Lowman of Slavia, traveling north on 17-92 apparently went out of control crossing the highway into the path of a car driven by Thaddeus McNeil of 1316 Oleander Drive. Passengers in Lowman's car were Sherwood Denmark, Jr., Lena Denmark, Douglas Denmark, six weeks, and Linda Bush, all of A. Duda Camp, Slavia.

Sammie Lee Sanford of 1808 West 16th Street was a passenger in the McNeil car.

Both cars were a total loss.

Hospitalized and listed in good condition this morning were Lowman and Miss Bush. Treated and released were Denmark Jr. and the Denmark infant, Mrs. Denmark, McNeil and Sanford.
