MIAMI (AP)- Karl Karrolin went to U.S. District Court to take 10 years off his life and correct a lie he has lived with since 1944. That's when the Germans were forcing all eligible Estonians into service, trying to block the Russian advance, and that's when Karrolin told German officers he was 43-too old to car ry a rifle. The extra years make him eligible for Social Security and Medicare benefits, but they also make him too old for many jobs. and Karrolin said he doesn't want to take advantage of the United States. He asked the court to let him amend his naturalization papers to correct his age. His petition said he was born in St. Petersburg, Russia, on May 22, 1911. and later went to Estonia where he met and married his wife, Erika, in 1940.

The day the Germans accepted his story, the petition said, Karl and Erika and another couple escaped by boat to Sweden and) a refugee camp. An affidavit signed by Stockholm woman told the court that she and her husband fled with the Karrolins to Sweden. She said Karl kept his true age secret because he was afraid of extradition to Russia or Germany.

They had not planned any special observation of the even surprise to their parents.

The son Bern Minter, of Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Jaunia Allen, Philadelphia, Pa., were home on a visit. Mrs. Allen, a former resident of Sanford, is the former Jaunita Brewington, While their parents were away from home for a few hours, they decorated the living room with golden bells, suspended from the ceiling and a large banner in the room with the inscription, "Golden Wedding Anniversary." A purple floral arrangement completed the living room decorations.

A buffet dinner was served to friends and relatives who called from 5 to 7 p.m. The menu included roast beef, po ato salad, cole slaw, baked beans, nuts, mints, cake and ruit punch. The cake was a three tiered wedding cake decorated with white roses and gold leaves and topped with a 50th anniversary emblem adorned with bells, lillies -ofthe valley and gold leaves. Punch was served from two chystal punch bowls.

John Snaleki is on varation this for him on SOS is Alex Serraes, president of the Sanford Men's Bowling Association.

Since this is Mr. Spolshi's usual column, it is only prope that we start off by getting in a little dig To quote his words of two weeks ago, and I quote, "and the following week Alex Serraes will do the honors . . . that's a lot of gas, (or is it hot air) . . . My only answer to that is . . . "Mr. Spolski, I know of one particular establishment in this town that this same gas, (or is it hot air), is very definitely making a lot of cool, and I do mean cool, air right at this moment" . So be it for the commercials.

To quote a familiar expression "This is the week that was" . . . and it certainly is . . . The 6th ANNUAL FIRE-CRACKER SPECIAL IS ON ITS WAY ..., and was it ever isunched with a BANG! This year many changes have been made to create new interests, and what a response we are having. This past weekend the eliminations started with one of the largest turnouts yet. If this is an omen as to what's ahead for the next cocple of weeks, it should prove to be one of the most successful tournaments yet . . . And remember, this is only the qualifying rounds. In case some of you male bowl-MENT IS FOR YOU . . . Its co-sponsored again this year by Maryland Fried Chicken and The Sanford Men's Bowling Association . . . The entry fee is $5.00 including everything first place this year is guaranteed to be $100.000 smackeroos ... Second place to be at least $50.000 skins The balance of the payoff is to be based on one for every ten entires . . How's that for a $5.00 bill? Here is the best part, especially for you 130, 140 and 150 bowlers, this year the whole sindig is HANDICAPPED. Yer, you read me right, HANDICAPPED. And, to make it just a little casier; You have to lose twice to be eliminated. Now, what more could you ask? It's here, it's on, and it's open to all male bowlers from the Sanford and DeLand areas. If you have any more questions that need answering. just call your tournament directors, Pete Duggan or Jack Kanner, they'll be glad to answer them.

This sounds like a good time to take a jump around the leagues and see what happened this past week . . . The Sandspur league, which looks like some of the up and comers saw Jugnita Baird roll a 513 with a high game of 198. In this same league it looks like Nancy Seminoux had a tough time of it. We won't say what you rolled. Nanc, but it looks like you just missed too many spares . . . In the Shooting Stars league it appears Elsine Wick takes the honors with a 475 (193), and on the other end we find Virginia Parker. Chin up. Gini, remember next week someone else will be there. . . . In the Ellinor Volkswagen Mixed there was no "may" be about Bob May. He hit for 577 (228), and for the ladies. Teena Sharp hit the high with a 493 (188) ... Since they both bowl on the same team. I don't feel it's necessary to tell you they won all four points ..., it would just take up that much more space. Safety Rules For Swimming Are Outlined "Drowning is one of the major causes of accidental death in the United States today," Dr. Frank Leone of the Seminole County Health Department, reports. Excluding automobile and other transportation-connected mishaps, drowning ranks among the top three causes of total accidents, accounting for over 5,000 deaths each year.

One factor Dr. Leone cites is the growing numbers of people enjoying water sports in areas set aside for recreation, including fishing, camping, swimming, boating and water skiing. Drownings related to these activities appear to be on the increase, and many deaths could be avoided, the doctor advises, by exercising caution and using common sense when in or on the water. He offers these suggestions for safe use of recreational water facilities: 1. Know rules and regulations of local recreational area and abide by them. 2. Be sure you have all the proper equipment and know how to use it. 3. Wear U.S. Coast Guard approved life jackets when bonting or water skiing.

4. Don't panic in emergency situations.5. Stay with a capsized boat, if it is still affont, until help arrives.

6. Don't overload your boat or use too powerful a motor on a light boat.

 Stay away from water during storms.
 Never swim alone.

9. Do not exceed your limitations as a swimmer.
10. Take lessons from an accredited instructor before engaging in skin-diving. 11. Learn artificial respiration or mouth-to-mouth breath-

Dr. Leone also points out that water safety is not limited to public bathing and recreational facilities. The large numbers of home swimming pools and portable pools for children mean added responsibility for home owners and parents to practice water safety on their own premises. "Never allowing children to play in or near water unless supervised by an wiult, and knowing the swimming capabilitits of guests before they use the home pool, are two basic precautions for water safety in the home," he states.

Accidental drownings are not always the result of sport or play. There are many instances each year of small children drowning when left unattended in the bathtub or when they fall into an open well or cistern.

Dr. Leone urges everyone to be careful when using public and private recreational water facilities this summer, and to practice water safety the year round. "Many tragedies could be avoided," he says "by procticing common sense rules of water safety."

"Advice has been received that services of the ICRC have been accepted by the parties to the conflict and committee delegates are now stationed in the capitals of the nations involved. Committee staff is being assembled in the affected areas and the needs of the afflicted population will be surveyed by the committees as soon as possi-

"All member societies of the International Red Cross family will then be advised as to what emergency relief activities are needed. Such relief is normally provided in such circumstances under the direction of the committee delegates. When a report from the committee is received the American Red Cross will be in a position to determine its course of action. Meanwhile American Red Cross representatives are in continuing consultation with the headquarters of the International Committee in Geneva."

Persons inquiring regarding status of military dependents in crisis are encouraged to owait further word from the dependents as inquiries cannot be forwarded at this time on specific individeals.

Each recorded year of service represents a minimum of 50 hours of volunteer assistance to the community through the American National Red Cross here in Central Florida ond in Red Cross chapters and offices throughout the world. Many of these dedicated Red Cross workers have given hundreds of hours above the minimum each year. There is no way for us to estimate the value of this unselfish community service and we are proud and grateful that these volunteers are a part of the Central Florida chapter. Volunteers who were unable to attend the annual recognition service may receive their awards by calling at the Sanford Red Cross office located in Room 205, Meisch Building. . . .

Legislation Anent Retirees Are Explained

By JANE CASSELBERRY Bills now in the congressional hopper in Washington affecting retirees were explained at a recent meeting of Chapter 386 of National Association of Retired Civil Employees by Carl Setie of Casselberry, president. called attention to the Truth in Lending Bill before committee on Banking Currency which would require all bankers, loan comcompanies and retail merchants, to advise their customers the total amount in dollars and cents they are paying for their credit and the annual percentage rate on the loan or credit allowed. The standard retail charge account now sometimes costs about 18 percent simple interest.

Some who think they are paying four and a half per cent interest may actually be paying 29 and a half, according to Setje. As Florida has no member on the Banking and Currencey Committee, those interested were instructed to write the chairman, Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, as well as letters to Sen. Spessard Holland and Sen. George Smathers urging their support. NARCE members also were requested to write to Congressman Frank Horton of New York, who has proposed bill H. R. 942 which would provide that all single people, age 72 and over with income less than $2,500 annually, and couples of the same age with incomes less than $8,750, receive $35 minimum Social Security benefits, regardless the source of their income.

Sen. Gordon Allott of Colo rado has introduced S.1773 which would provide for the cost of living increases in SS and Sen. Everett Dirkson and 35 other Republican sponsors have introduced SR 123, which would txempt railroad retirement and SS benefits from income tax.

Edward Levy, president of Orlando Chapter 95, was a visitor and discussed the proposed bills.

The next meeting will be July 12. July 10-July 24, there will be a NARCE booth at Winter Park Mall with members of Chapter 386 to advise civil service retirees of the advantage of joining National and local NARCE organizations.

Sanford Moose Host District

Sanford Lodge 1851, Loyal

Order of Moose, was host Sunday for a meeting of District 8 at the Moose Home, 2660 S. Palmetto Avenue.

Reports from lodges in De-Land, Orlando, Ocala, Eustis and Sanford were heard by the board of officers made up of Bill Yacks, DeLand, president; L. A. Wakeman, Ocala, vice president; Charles Tate, Sanford, outer guard; Ralph Moore, Sanford, sergeant at arms, and Howard Price, Sanford, acting secretary.

Visitors present for the meeting were Mrs. Sadie Prachl from Ohio and Sam Williamson, state chairman on conservation of the Florida State Moose Association, who spoke on membership.

Next meeting of the district will be July 16 at the annual picnic at Moosehaven in Orange Park.
