

$70,000 Plant Announced For Altamonte

By Donna Estes
The request of Jack Gale of Cox and Gale Associates to rezone property on Mallard Avenue in Altamonte Springs immediately south of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church from R-1A single family residence to R3 multiple family dwelling was unanimously approved by the Altamonte Springs Town Council at public hearing.

No objections were raised to the request. Gale explained that the six-unit contemporary Mediterranean type building his firm plans to construct at this location will cost $70,000, in addition to the cost of the property, with construction to begin in approximately eight weeks.

The building is designed for rental and each unit will be completely furnished including wall to wall carpeting. In answer to question from Councilman Colin Crews, Gale stated that his firm plans to own and operate the building and does not plan it for resale in the near future.

Four residents appeared to support the request. In another public hearing, council decided to abandon a portion of the right of way on Florida Boulevard running southeast from Lake Street as petitioned by Orville Johnson. Johnson pointed out that that particular portion of the street never had been formally opened or used.

Adjoining property owners appeared to endorse the petition. There were no objections. Mayor W. Lawrence Swofford stated that although he is opposed to closing rights of way, he would not oppose this petition because, having lived in the town 31 years, the road had never been used to his knowledge and a previous council voted in 1952 to abandon the right of way but the action never was formally completed.

Town Clerk Dorothy Bardeen was instructed to have the right-of-way removed from all county records.

Altamonte Springs Receives Equipment For Playground

Mayor W. Lawrence Swofford and the Altamonte Springs Town Council at regular meeting authorized the town clerk to write a letter of appreciation to the Prairie Lake Drive In Theater for the donation of three swing sets and a merry-go-round to the community.

The equipment will be placed in the town playground.

In other business, a public hearing was set for May 10, 8 p.m., to consider request of R. & R. Rogers Company to abandon and vacate a three foot power easement between Lots 13 and 1 in Glen Arden.

The request of Lee Cohn, developer of Oakland Estates, to have street lights placed in the second section, was referred to the utilities committee.

The offer of the Volunteer Fire Department to handle arrangements and planning for the Annual Community Children's Christmas Party was approved.

Action on recommendation by Councilman Keith Nixon that only one council meeting per month be held during the summer was deferred until next month.

Councilman Bob Newell, fire marshal, was instructed to study and submit recommendation on bids for fire department equipment at the next meeting.

Acceptance of sealed bids was approved with time limit set for May 5 on a boy's and girl's bicycle.

The fire ant spraying proposed for county areas which are infested was approved.

Invitation for Swofford to officiate at ribbon cutting ceremonies for the 10 a.m. grand opening of the new Home Builders Supply, April 30, was announced. All members of the council were invited to be present for the ceremonies.

Two Praying Women Hit By Fire Bomb

NEW YORK (UPI) — A young unemployed drifter with "no faith" was arrested at a settlement house and charged with tossing a fiery gasoline bomb at two women kneeling in prayer at famed St. Patrick's Cathedral.

The bomb burst in a 10-foot ball of fire, burning the women, one of them seriously. The bomb-tosser fled but was followed about a half mile by a man who then called police and directed them to where the suspect's jacket and library card were found.

The man refused to identify himself, saying he had done his duty.

It was the second act of violence recently at St. Patrick's the seat of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Francis Cardinal Spellman.

Detective James McDonnell said suspect David I. Malone admitted the bombing, saying: "I'm confused. Please excuse me. I'm sorry. I was never baptized. I'm of no faith."

Police said Malone, 25, is a native of Houston, Tex., and had been working on and off here as a porter. He told officers he attended college for two years.

Police gave credit for Malone's capture to the unidentified pedestrian who tailed the suspect through the crowded midtown area.

"The guy refused to give his name," said McDonnell. "He told us that he was doing his duty and that he didn't want to get further involved."

Malone was booked on charges of arson, assault and desecrating church property.

The fire at St. Patrick's burned an altar pad and rail and blackened the gothic cathedral's white marble altar.

The gasoline-filled beer bottle with a flaming wick was hurled from the fourth row of pews. Another fire bomb, unlighted, was found inside a shopping bag at the pew.

CAPT. AND MRS. RICHARD E. FOWLER JR.

Introducing

Captain, Mate And Crew Of Good Ship 'Fowler'

By Doris Williams

Now hear this! Welcome aboard to the new skipper of SNAS Reconnaissance Attack Wing One, Capt. Richard Fowler; his mate, lovely Jean Fowler, and the six crew members consisting of Carolyn, 13; Pamela, 11; Richard, 9; Elizabeth, 7; Deborah, 5; and Tommy, 4.

A recent social soiree at the Fowler home found the capable captain, minus brass and braid and Jean completely tranquil and relaxed as they savored after dinner demitasse while discussing events appearing in THE local afternoon newspaper.

What type of regimentation is enforced here to induce this tranquility with six offspring on the loose? A few words later revealed that this situation exists only between taps and reveille, when the Fowler cherubs are safely in the hands of Morpheus. The household is completely normal—a general state of confusion and turmoil, filled with complexities and perplexities.

The informal tête-à-tête was astoundingly stimulating and refreshing with Dick and Jean completely "at ease" in their happy home atmosphere as they unveiled events of their lives together. Their colorful background could easily provide material for a best seller.

This is the third tour of duty for Captain Fowler at SNAS and in 1967 they resolved to retire at this port on "The Nile of America." Jean and Dick are both resigned that there is no place like Sanford since it holds many "firsts" for the family. Jean was introduced to the Navy at Sanford, when she came here as a bride. Their first child, Carolyn, was born here and for the first time, they will have quarters aboard a military installation.

The subject of deployment arose with Jean pointing out that she wept oceans of tears each time her master mariner was deployed but the overall picture was wonderful with honeymoon ever remaining full speed ahead. Dick added the separations among all seamen served as testing grounds and was a catalyst to determine whatever may happen.

Back in the early days, Jean followed the ship "just once," and emphatically stated that the fabled "sea story of a sailor having a girl in every port" did an about-face. She added perhaps a few were available when the ship docked, but not the type the incurable romantics dream up.

The Fowlers both advocate close association of the wives while their mates are at sea. They all share a mutual association. In Jean's position she has been on the executive board of both officers and enlisted wives clubs and stresses unity of both groups.

She is not content to rest upon her laurels of being the wife of a high ranking Navy officer. She is bursting with creative vitality and has been instrumental in organizing clubs designed for better living, such as finance and budgeting, interior decorating, home maintenance and many other facets of home management.

Captain Fowler added that the wives clubs served as a useful communications and information center with their ideas, suggestions and adverse criticism, thus keeping the men on the double.

The Fowlers enjoy picnics and all types of water sports

"My finest hour," is the way Captain James O. Mayo described his stay in Sanford at the joint civic club luncheon Monday.

The outgoing commander of Reconnaissance Attack Wing One said when he was assigned to Sanford in 1963 he heard many fine things about the community. "But everything we heard was an understatement," he declared.

Captain Mayo refused to take credit for many of the things attributed to him in the many resolutions read at the luncheon.

"But I will take credit for one thing," he said. "That is getting Captain Fowler as the man to replace me."

Another Sanford man is seeing action in Viet Nam. Aviation Structural Mechanic Third Class Charles W. Neville Jr. is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea, operating in the South China Sea off the coast of Viet Nam. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Neville Sr., Route 2.

Cecil Tucker, county agricultural agent, is back home from his Caribbean cruise, Navy-style, and reports he didn't get seasick. But he's been "ground sick" ever since he hit land. The earth just doesn't seem to stand still.

Incidentally, Tucker says some parts of the county got two inches of rain the last few days and it has helped relieve drought conditions. Areas of the county that got less than a half-inch are still in trouble, he says.

Post Office Site Wins Approval

Final "go ahead" was given this morning for the construction of a new post office building at Lake Mary. County Commission approved a rezoning change.

C. L. (Cracker) Donaldson, Lake Mary postmaster, said the post office department soon will advertise for bids for construction of a suitable building at Second Street and Wilbur Avenue for lease to the government for use as a post office.

County Okays $500,000 Project Site

A new luxury apartment project, costing approximately $500,000, will be built south of Sanford on U. S. 17-92, it was learned today.

Plans for the new project were revealed in a request for zoning before the Seminole County Board of Commissioners.

The board approved a rezoning recommendation of the Planning and Zoning Commission to permit construction of the apartments.

Rezoned from M-1 Industrial to R-3 multiple family was a tract of land across from Ellnor Motor Company and Ranch House Restaurant on U. S. 17-92. The property lies north of the Colling Orlando Building on the west side of the highway.

Plans call for first phase construction of a three-story apartment building with 30 units. The apartments will be two-bedrooms each and rent in the $115-$130 month range. The project will be expanded at a later date.

In another zoning action, the board approved a change from A-1 agriculture to commercial the northwest corner of SR 46 and Oregon Avenue.

It was learned that a service station and possibly a motel will be built at this location. It is near the I-4 interchange and SR 46.

Whiskey Bill Given Burns' Kiss Of Death

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The smoothest sailing campaign in years to control—and increase—the price of whiskey in Florida rolled onto the rocks at the governor's doorstep.

"I cannot support it," Gov. Haydon Burns told a news conference. "Were it adopted, I would find it necessary to affix my veto."

Thus the governor put the kiss of death on two identical bills on the House and Senate (Rep. S. J. Davis Jr. and Sen. Mack N. Cleveland Jr., of Seminole County, this morning informed THE Herald by telephone from Tallahassee that they have "long been opposed to price-fixing in all competitive areas" and had opposed the whiskey price-fixing measure even before Gov. Haydon Burns announced he would veto the legislation, if necessary.)

calendaris which had drawn violent opposition from many quarters.

In the process, Burns also apparently squelched rumors that he was a behind-the-scenes backer of the liquor industry move as a "thank you" for the campaign support from the industry.

The bills, introduced in the Senate by Sen. Welborn Daniel of Clermont and in the House by Rep. William O'Neill of Ocala, would have hiked the price of whiskey nearly $2 a fifth in some areas of South Florida where liquor is relatively cheap.

Rather than seeking a two-thirds majority vote to override the governor's threatened veto, Daniel quietly asked that the bill be returned to the committee it originally passed, where it will probably die quietly.

"I know what I'm going to do," said O'Neill, "but I'm not going to tell the newspapers." He apparently referred to a bitter editorial campaign against the bill by large newspapers around Florida.

New Chairman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate formally named Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) chairman of the post office and civil service committee to replace the late Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) Monroney, 62, has been a member of the committee since he came to the Senate in 1951.

McNamara, Rusk Ouster Urged

A. B. Peterson Quits As Civil Defense Chief

A. B. Peterson Sr. resigned today as Seminole County Civil Defense director after serving for 24 years in the position.

His resignation was accepted with regret by the County Board of Commissioners. Howard Harris, assistant to Peterson, was named as the county's new Civil Defense director.

"I find that I am unable to continue to meet the time requirements of this volunteer office and hope that you will relieve me of this responsibility at the earliest possible date," Peterson said in a letter to the Commission.

Peterson said the increased requirements of Civil Defense make it imperative that more and more time and effort be devoted to keep the county Civil Defense program in pace with the demands of the area and to make it an adequate protective factor for citizens.

Peterson paid tribute to several persons who have given service to the Civil Defense program. He named Police Chief Roy G. Williams, S. O. Chase, Fire Chief Mack N. Cleveland Sr., Herbert B. Pope and Warren A. Patrick.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) wants Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk to resign to help bring an end to "this nation's outlivity in Southeast Asia."

In a Senate speech, Morse bitterly attacked U.S. policy in South Viet Nam and said if a change is not made, "a couple of months from now there will be hundreds of thousands fighting and dying in Asia."

The senator singled out the two cabinet members for the brunt of his criticism. He said he was shocked by Rusk's speech Saturday night in which he said the secretary of state called administration critics modern-day appeasers.

"What I am criticizing is this nation's outlivity in Southeast Asia," he said. "I do not question the sincerity of the administration officials who have adopted that policy but I question their judgment."

Morse attacked McNamara largely for indicating that he did not believe Red China or Russia would enter the war in South Viet Nam.

"McNamara is so irresponsibly wrong, you can't count on his predictions," Morse said. "He should have been removed from office months ago — and Rusk along with him."

Morse said he did not believe this country's policies in Viet Nam left Russia and Red China any choice but to enter the fray.

"When we get into this war hysteria, we will associate killing with the will of God," he said. "I say we are following an immoral and godless policy in Viet Nam."

Capt. Richard E. Fowler Jr., a veteran of 23 years in naval aviation, today became commander of Sanford's Reconnaissance Attack Wing One.

The other three units are deployed at sea with the U. S. Second, Sixth and Seventh Fleets.

Alewine Trial Slated Monday

Trial date was set for Monday at 9:30 a.m. for Mrs. Beverly Alewine, 22, charged with the second degree murder of her husband on April 15.

In another arraignment in circuit court Monday, Judge Tom Waddell Jr. also set May 3 as the trial date for Jimmy Leo Drumright, 18, and Israel Gilley, 17, for the Feb. 8 assault of a 12-year-old girl. Trial was scheduled for 9 a.m. Attorney for the two is Albert N. Fitts.

In other court action, Edward Ashley, 24, entered a plea of guilty to an assault charge. He was remanded to custody pending outcome of a pre-sentence investigation.

Richard L. Phillips, 18, also was remanded to custody for pre-sentence investigation after pleading guilty to temporary use of a vehicle without the owner's consent. The original indictment cited auto theft.

Mrs. Alewine allegedly shot her husband to death during an early morning argument at their apartment, 1007 Park Avenue.

Lake Monroe Jottings

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson
Well hello there. Yes it was a welcome rain last week wasn't it? What a change already in the lawn. That old mower will sure be getting a lot of workouts now. But that's good. After all it's spring and everything is supposed to be beautiful.
Had a call from my brother in Washington, D.C., Sunday morning telling of the arrival of a new son. And he said it was a cool 44 degrees then, and that was at 8:30, their time. * * * Louise (Mrs. Benny) Austin was a gracious hostess Saturday afternoon at her home on Jewetta Lane. The occasion was a graduation tea in honor of two Seminole High seniors, Betty Turner and Sharon Booth. Wish you could have seen the beautiful tablecloth Louise made. It was blue net over a pastel blue cotton. And she added fancy blue towels around it. And the refreshments were so pretty. Betty and Sharon looked so petite in their new outfits. * * * So glad that Granny (Mrs. Annie) Hawkins is now home from the local hospital. Please take it easy Granny. * * * Parents who will enter their children in the Monroe-Wilson Schools this fall are asked to go to the Monroe School either this Thursday or Friday from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. and register them. Those entering the first grade are asked to bring their birth certificates along, too. * * * Mrs. Claudia (Hena) Hawkins and son Sid spent the Easter holidays in Pensacola. Rena's daughter, Claudette Tenney, and family are being transferred west and this was the last chance for Rena to see them for a while.

* * * The Seminole High School Band will go to Daytona Beach Thursday afternoon for state contest. Also the Trips Trip of the High School Glee Club will attend. So the directors Miss Whittle and Mr. Cowley, as we say "have their work cut out for them." But if I know those boys and girls, which I think I do, it won't be such a hard task. They will put every effort into it that they have. So will look forward to seeing them do just that Thursday. * * * J.C. and Naomi Sapp spent last weekend in Tampa and Plant City with relatives. * * * The A. E. Johnsons and son Jim of Monticello were recent guests of the H. L. Johnsons and the Bob Dorns. * * * That's the day for the one day short course at Camp McQuarrie. You will have a wonderful day. Don't forget to bring your lunch and drinks. * * * Our county home demonstration agent, Miss Myrtle Wilson, is the chairman of it. So plan to attend. * * * Here are a couple of thoughts for this week. "The most destructive acid in the world is found in your disposition." and. . . . "A friend is someone who knows all about you and still loves you." Remember those words because they are so right.

Jax U Legend Begins Long Before School

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—If Jacksonville gains a new state university from the 1965 Legislature somebody may recall at commencement exercises in years to come that it all started with a broken down air conditioner.
Approval of a new university is not easily won, but the proposal to authorize one for Jacksonville cleared its first big legislative hurdle in the Senate's higher learning committee with surprising ease.
One big factor in the bill's favor was an air conditioner that had quit working. Senators perspired, pulled open their ties and seemed in a mood to act with dispatch.
There was also the fact, however, some of the senators were anxious to get to another important committee meeting, and that they were fully aware there are tougher hurdles ahead of the bill.
The finance and taxation committee still must approve it before it can get to the full Senate, and the bill carries no appropriation to finance a start on such a school. It also needs House approval.
If the university is finally approved, however, the broken air conditioner will make a nice commencement story.

By Barry Lawes
The stormy years of the Mayfair Inn have come to a close.
The imposing structure on the Sanford waterfront, once one of this area's finest hotels, is soon to become the new home of the Sanford Naval Academy, bringing to an end a life which began in 1924.
Arthur R. Key, 114 West First Street, who served as secretary of the original corporation which developed the Mayfair, recalled the birth of this famous Sanford landmark.
It was originally the idea of Harry T. Bodwell, of Providence, R. I., Key reminisced, that a tourist hotel be built on Sanford's waterfront.
Prominent businessmen of that era joined together to form a corporation for the purpose. Stock worth $300,000 in the company was sold and plans were formulated. A plot of ground 500 feet by 400 feet, the present site, was set aside for the hotel and contractors were engaged. The first of many problems began soon after.
A complicated plan of financing the construction went awry. The contractor, who was to build with his own funds, pulled out. But he counter-proposed that the company build the structure and he would purchase it from the company.
Arrangements were made. A $345,000 construction contract was let and ground was broken. Near the end of 1923 the hotel was finished and was named the Forest Lake Hotel, after one of its financial guides and at that time mayor of Sanford. By the time construction was completed, the cost had climbed to $400,000. When the hotel opened its doors as the showplace on the St. Johns River, it was graced with $125,000 in furnishings from John Wanamaker's, the famous New York emporium.
But more troubles were still in store, not only for the new hotel, but for Florida and the nation. Depression struck. The boom bubble burst. The country was rocked on its heels, and along with it the hotel.
The city of Sanford took over the ownership of the hotel, and used it for various and sundry purposes. At one time, an auto show was even held in the hotel, with new automobiles on display.
About this time, William E. Kirchoff, 1817 East Second Street, always ended his Sunday afternoon drives in the vicinity of the imposing structure. Each time he passed the hotel, one thought continued to run through his mind: "This is too nice a piece of property to see neglected."
In December 1934, Kirchoff decided to do something about the neglect the hotel was suffering. He leased the structure from the city for five years, with an option to buy the property.
The city imposed one stipulation on Kirchoff in granting the lease: A minimum of 40 rooms, as well as the public rooms, must be open for occupancy by February of the following year. This gave Kirchoff only two months in which to fulfill the complete renovation needed for the building and grounds. In addition, furnishings had to be purchased, as those originally in the structure had been sold.
Kirchoff hesitated to say how much he spent in refurbishing the hotel, which he now called the Mayfair Inn, but he admits it cost $8,000 "just to paint."
Meeting the deadline, Kirchoff staged a formal opening and dance in February 1935. And so the Mayfair Inn began a new lease on life. But more trouble was brewing.
Augustus T. Ashton, a Philadelphia attorney who was holding some municipal bonds, demanded satisfaction. In order to pay Ashton, several pieces of city property, including the Mayfair, were put on the auction block.
At the auction, Ashton purchased the hotel, reportedly paying only $1,000 for the property.
As so, a $325,000 edifice was reduced to the role of pawn in a legal battle.
After purchasing the Mayfair, Ashton continued the lease arrangement with Kirchoff, including the purchase option.

COMMODORE BARRY HALL

In 1939, Kirchoff did purchase the hotel. Price was not disclosed, but the original arrangement with the city set purchase price at $35,000.
As the years passed, Kirchoff continued to remodel and improve the property, gradually reopening all the rooms. In addition, he added such features as a swimming pool, tennis courts and several shuffle board courts.
The Mayfair Inn began to prosper, reaching the pinnacle of its existence in the mid-40s. During this time, many famous people stopped at the hotel. Among them were Arthur Godfrey, actress Wendy Barrie, baseball great Branch Rickey and author Thornton Wilder.
It was while staying at the Mayfair Inn that Wilder wrote a major part of his novel, "The Ides of March." This was in about 1945.
In 1946, Kirchoff sold the now successful hotel to a Tulsa (Okla.) corporation, and once again storm clouds began brewing for the Mayfair Inn.
In 1948, Kirchoff foreclosed a second mortgage on the Tulsa organization and on June 16 the inn was closed by court order and placed in receivership. When this happened, 70 guests including 53 members of high school baseball teams were evicted. Mortgages at that time totaled $225,000.
Aug. 2, 1948 dawned with the Mayfair Inn once again on the public auction block. Purchaser this time was the New York Giants, who paid $68,905, plus a lien of $150,000 and other notes totaling an estimated $75,000.
And so, once more the Mayfair Inn passed through a storm to emerge under new ownership.
The Giants continued to operate the hotel properties, and then, on April 14 of this year announced an agreement for the sale of the hotel and its motel-annex to the Bernard Macfadden Foundation, sponsor of the Sanford Naval Academy on Mellonville Avenue.
During their ownership of the property, the Giants spent an estimated $150,000 renovating the Inn, including the construction of the 30-bed motel-annex.
And so, the storm clouded life of the Forest Lake Hotel, which in 1934 became the Mayfair Inn, has come to a close as a public hostelry. But the structure may yet go on to greater glory.
It is the plan of the Foundation to convert the 30-bedroom motel into a 18-classroom, air-conditioned academic center. This project will be completed for the opening of the 1963-66 school year in September.
The addition of the Mayfair Inn, with its 133 double bedrooms and extensive recreational areas, will make the academy one of the most attractive preparatory schools in the state, perhaps in the country.
The inn, to be named "Commodore Barry Hall," in honor of the ranking captain of the first regular Navy in 1791, has complete facilities for administrative and other uses. A swimming pool and tennis courts, close to the inn, will provide added recreational facilities for the Brigade of Midshipmen. The academy has another large pool, tennis courts and several baseball diamonds on its present property.

The academy's problem of faculty housing also will be eliminated by the acquisition of the new buildings. Although most of the present staff members are Sanford residents, the school's growth would require additional housing. The inn has sufficient space for a large staff.
Members of the staff from the Sanford area include Col. H. J. Furman, superintendent; Capt. J. W. Williams, commandant; Burch Cornelius, headmaster; Cdr. J. F. McGuire, athletic director; Edward Tomlinson, business manager; Capt. J. E. Vose, Lt. Col. W. B. Miller, Cdr. J. R. Wilson, Capt. Michel d'O'Brien, Lt. Jesse Harry, Lt. Joshua Sutton, Ens. Frank Campbell, instructors; B. C. Steele, study hall supervisor; W. F. Holcomb, maintenance engineer; James McClure, maintenance; Leslie Neal, Chief; Mrs. Robert R. Brown, secretary to superintendent; Mrs. Don Cahill, secretary to commandant and headmaster; Mrs. Louis Zwick, assistant bookkeeper, and Mrs. Allene Rollins, nurse.
Of particular interests to the Academy's administrators is the proximity of the new buildings to the lakefront, as the school's naval training program emphasizes sailing, rowing and crew activities. The Sanford Naval Air Station's influence in this community has also been highly valued by the academy.
The Sanford Naval Academy was established by the Foundation in 1963. Sixty-four boys were admitted in September of that year. Enrollment in one year had climbed to 127 midshipmen in grades six through

10. Next September, when the 11th grade is added, an enrollment of more than 200 students is expected. The school's enrollment projection anticipates reaching the 500 figure in two years. In addition to the up-grading of educational levels in the area, it is anticipated that when the school reaches its full potential, it will add to the economy of the community in an excess of a million dollars.
The Macfadden Foundation also operates the 83-year-old Castle Heights Military Academy in Lebanon, Tenn. Castle Heights, an honor military school, has a complement of 600 cadets. Its scholastic ratings, graduating 98 per cent of its students to leading colleges, places it among the top 1 per cent of preparatory schools in the United States. The Sanford Naval Academy's academic program closely follows that of Castle Heights, but the Sanford school is designed to be a "Little Annapolis" in the military sense.

Citizenry's Duty Told To Demos By Collegians

By Donna Eates
 Fred Suarez, president, and Bill Renforth, vice president, of the Young Democrat's Club at Rollins College, presented an instructive program at the meeting of the Seminole County Democratic Association at the Community House in Altamonte Springs.

Dr. Paul Douglass, professor of government and head of the Center for Practical Politics at Rollins, was scheduled as guest speaker but was unable to be present because of a death in his family in Philadelphia, Pa.

Topic of the young men's presentation was "How to Be an Active Citizen." Referring to many of Dr. Douglass' booklets and pamphlets, they listed requirements of an active citizen to be those who discuss issues with others, write to government officials expressing their views, belong to organizations which take stands on issues, contribute to a political party or candidate, work for the elections of candidates and, last but not least... VOTE.

Renforth, who represented Rollins in a recent College Bowl television program, pointed out that only 10 per cent of the population meets requirements of an active citizen.

Suarez said that his club has effectively aided candidates with door to door campaigning and distributing pamphlets. He particularly reminded the Seminole group of the importance of good precinct organization.

County Commissioner and Mayor of Altamonte Springs, W. Lawrence Swofford, also pointed out that organization is especially needed in the south end of the county since presently there are more registered voters in this area than in the northern part.

County Commissioner Edward Yarborough also was present for the meeting.

Mrs. Wilma Jean Nipper, who played an instrumental part in organizing the Seminole County Democratic Association, announced that the constitution and by-laws have been drawn up by the steering committee and sent to Warren Goodrich of the State Democratic Committee for approval.

Regular meetings will take place on the third Tuesday of each month, September through May. Membership is open to men and women of all ages.

Serving on the steering committee are Dr. Edith Duerr, Casselberry; Mrs. Jane Adriatic, Goldenrod; Mrs. W. B. Young, Altamonte Springs; Mrs. Jennie Fox, Longwood; Jeff Schenbers, English Estates; Charles Wales, Fern Park; Mrs. Wilma Davis, Forest City; Mrs. Kathleen Reynolds and Mrs. Margie Tillis, Sanford; Mrs. Pearl Yarborough, Geneva, and Mrs. Nipper, North Fern Park.

Other parts of the county will be represented on the committee as soon as area interest is evidenced.

Tea, national beverage of England, was introduced into that country in 1657, with its price ranging from $30 to $50 a pound.

'Merry-Go-Round' May 11

Gerald Covington, Sanford baritone who recently completed a successful engagement with the "Opera Gala" in Orlando and appeared with the Florida Symphony Orchestra, will be one of the headliners at the annual "Merry-Go-Round" variety show for the benefit of the Little Red Schoolhouse May 11 at Seminole High School auditorium.

Also returning to the show again by popular demand will be "The Whistlers," a group of local men who present a most unusual act.

Two talented local teachers, Mrs. Marie Stumpf and Mrs. Arletta Coberly, will be back to play the twin grand pianos.

Among the newcomers to

the show are a Sanford husband-and-wife team, Robert and Ophelia Bennett, who have sung together on many occasions and are no strangers to local music lovers.

The Sanford Naval Officers Wives Club, who provided special entertainment for the first show in 1961, again will perform in the show with a special finale.

Mrs. A. O. Karns, director of the show, said today that tickets now are available from any of the members of the Seminole Association for Retarded Children.

"Besides the above listed entertainers, we have a few surprises up our sleeves, as well as some of your favorite local talent. The donation for the tickets is small enough so that you can bring the whole family and enjoy the show," Mrs. Karns said.

All proceeds of the show go toward the support of the Little Red Schoolhouse.

Lyman Club To Have Annual Talent Show

By Jane Casselberry

The Lyman High School Beta Club will present its annual talent show at 8 p.m. Friday in the school auditorium. Thirty acts have been signed up to present an evening full of fun and entertainment. All of the performers are students at Lyman. Contestants will be judged and prizes awarded the winner in each of three categories: instrumental, vocal, and skits and dance routines.

One of the outstanding acts will be a "This Is The Week That Was" skit.

Two acts, which made a big hit with the audience last year, will be back again. They are "The Tradewinds" and "The Exterminators."

The public is welcome and a small admission will be charged.

Watermelon Meet Slated

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner asked watermelon producers in 46 counties to meet in Orlando May 12 to consider establishing a state marketing order.

The proposed marketing order would affect about 1,000 growers located south and east of the Suwannee River who produce an annual crop valued at $8 million.

It will take the approval of 75 per cent of the affected producers to adopt the order assessing growers for a campaign to promote the sale of their crop nationally.

Zing into spring! Chevrolet Impala

Chevrolet Impala Super Sport Coupe—one of two bucket-seated beauties for '65.

People who buy other big expensive-looking cars get one thing you won't (big expensive-looking payments)

It looks like a big car. And is—by almost any standard you want to apply.

Width? Nobody builds a car as much as one inch wider. Length? It grew three inches this year. Roominess? Every closed model's got three inches more shoulder room, front and rear, and more leg and foot room up front too. Luxury? Nice little touches like the look of mellow walnut across the Impala's instrument panel. And big touches. Like the fitness of the same Body by Fisher workmanship that makes some of America's most expensive cars look so expensive. How about the ride? Chevrolet engineers took the Jet-smooth one and smoothed it out even more this year. Also made it more stable by widening the wheel stance. Custom features? You can personalize your Chevrolet all you want because there are nearly 200 custom features to choose from. Price? That's where Chevrolets fall way short of the other big expensive-looking cars. But we wouldn't have it any other way. Would you?

One last question: How soon can you make a good spring buy on a Chevrolet? One last answer: Just as soon as you can get down to your Chevrolet dealer's.

Help! In 'Help Wanted'

We're in for some more confusion — sponsored by our national government — and it's likely to provide some amusing situations.

According to the equal employment opportunities section of the Civil Rights law it will be illegal to advertise for help giving preference to sex.

The law goes into effect July 2 and, according to Kenneth R. Morefield, a recent speaker in Jacksonville, it may become unconstitutional to ask for a waiter or for a waitress, or any other word denoting sex of the applicant.

Naturally words such as salesman, barmaid, seamstress, draftsman and stewardess also will be forbidden, according to Morefield, who represents a management consulting firm.

What Fun! "Engineer wanted on the ACL. Applicants will not be considered if they measure 36-28-36 or if they would like to." Now that ought to insure getting a man.

Or, "Wanted. Someone to wait on tables. Any size person okay but they will be required to wear a hair net." Personally, we don't need a hair net but, come to think of it, some of these Beatie types ought to.

Among other things the law prohibits preference pertaining to race, color, religion, national origin or sex in any help wanted notice.

We can afford to joke about it now, but it will provide a continuing headache for personnel men in every city in the country.

— High Springs (Fla.) Herald

While the High Springs Herald is poking fun at one of our new laws, how about this one just introduced for enactment by the current Florida Legislature: Convicts in county jails shall be segregated according to sex. Someone's always wanting to take the joy out of life.

Reading For Thieves

Book theft is a problem that plagues every library in the country and up to now the ingenuity of a determined book-stealer has always been a match for the most alert librarians.

This is the case no more in at least one library. Anyone leaving the Joplin, Mo., public library with a concealed book sets off a minor Fourth of July celebration.

Over a three-month period, all material in the library—from which 14,000 books valued at $40,000 had been stolen in five years—was treated with a device which deposited a harmless electric charge on the article.

When books are checked out, the charge is removed by a deactivating device at the desk and the books may be carried past two detector posts at the poor without incident.

But if the charge has not been removed, a buzzer sounds and a red light blinks at the check-out desk. There then follow certain searching questions.

The cost of renting the equipment is much less than that of hiring a guard, who couldn't detect hidden books anyway.

Thought For Today

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Behind the scenes, a new policy of Communist containment seems to be developing in the U.S. government.

It would be applied to young and expanding Red countries—such as Communist China, Indonesia, Cuba.

The new "containment theory" holds that if these countries could be restrained by military-economic sanctions—and kept from expanding for a period of years as they develop internally—two things would happen:

First—Their developing economies would urgently begin to require Western markets and access to Western materials and technology.

This would force them into seeking better relations with Western countries.

Second—As the original generation of revolutionaries died off, it would be replaced by more conventional, bureaucratic officials and managers. The economic elite which developed would be more interested in improving internal economics and their own positions, less interested in adventuring internationally.

In large part this containment theory has grown out of some government policymakers' interpretations of U.S.-Western experience with the Soviet Union.

"--And What's for Dessert?"

Lyle C. Wilson Says:

Crooked Carnival Wheel

There is one road only toward political salvation for the unaffiliated little fellow and his folks who live in a little town or on a family size farm far removed from the complex centers of urban civilization.

This road leads to amendment of the U.S. Constitution to give the country folk an honest count in the election of a president of the United States or it lies in judicial remedy.

The present system is rigged like a crooked carnival wheel. The system is rigged against rural and small-town citizens and in favor of the city slickers. These city slickers are organized and affiliated by race, color, religion and occupation.

By the millions they coalesce into cliques, groups and blocs-intellectual, racial, religious or economic. They comprise the pressure groups which are coming to control the major political parties and to dominate national elections.

By political chance, these pressure groups comprise the experimenters, the liberals, the avant garde, the prestige-change elements of American politics. They press for change and ever faster acceleration in the political evolution of the United States from where it was to where it is going.

Some press for change merely for the sake of change. One result is that political conservatism is being squeezed out of the cities. Political conservatism is becoming concentrated in little rural dike of opposition to the massive ground swell generated by the pulsating activity of big town pressure groups.

But these are feeble dikes, as demonstrated by national elections over the past 30 years. In terms of muscle and physical force, the present method of electing a president simply hamstringing the country folk, the conservatives. What to do?

Atty. Gen. David P. Buckson of Delaware did it last autumn. Buckson filed suit in behalf of Delaware against the 45 states which have more than one representative in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Delaware has but one seat and Buckson's purpose is to obtain a Supreme Court ruling applying the one-man-one-vote principle to the Electoral College. Buckson would outlaw the general ticket system of choosing presidential electors. Under that system all electors run at large. Here is how it worked in one state in 1960 as explained by the American Good Government Society of Washington, D.C.:

"In New York as in other states with more than one representative the citizens of one congressional district could vote for presidential electors corresponding to all other representatives in the state. Thus, seven million-old New Yorkers who voted in the 1960 presidential election elected 43 representatives in 43 districts with seven million-odd votes, one apiece. Simultaneously they elected 43 corresponding presidential electors by general ticket at-large, each of the voting for the whole number rather than for just one.

"With 42 excess votes each, these New Yorkers cast some 300 million excess votes in that presidential election. If New York cast some 800 million excess votes in that presidential election. If New York's congressional districts are representative of its population, the use of the general ticket for presidential electors is surely unrepresentative."

Buckson argued that the general ticket system was the sole source of extreme distortion between New York and Delawareans and added:

"It is extremely unfair and unjust to us."

It is proposed that each congressional district elect one presidential elector and that two in each state be elected at large. The one-man-one-vote rule seems to be absolutely controlling.

Dick West's

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI) — During the past few years, some of the best brains in this country have grappled with the problem of automation. But thus far no clear-cut solution has emerged.

Possibly the thorniest part of the problem is the displacement of human workmen by new electronic and mechanical devices. The concern there is how to keep progress from undermining employment.

An indication of the complexities involved can be seen in a recent hearing by a House appropriations subcommittee regarding the automation of congressional elevators.

It will help you to know that many of the jobs around the Capitol are handled on a patronage basis, and that patronage is one of the nicest things that can happen to a congressman.

The subcommittee had before it J. George Stewart, architect of the Capitol, who has charge of the elevators. The interjection went something like this:

Q. Have you just recently— in the last few days — put operators on the west elevator going to the subway entrance?

A. Yes, sir, in the past week.

Q. Those elevators, as you know, are automatic. Do they operate more flexibly and more quickly respond by having operators aboard?

A. They can be operated efficiently either way, so far as mechanical performance is concerned.

Q. Do you plan to keep these automatic elevators manned all the time?

A. Generally they will be manned during the daytime shifts. That has been the practice for some time now and I have no authority to change the practice. It is up to the Patronage Committee and House leadership as to whether they want to staff them or not.

Q. How many new, automatically operable elevators are in the Capitol and in the Rayburn Building?

A. There are 20 in the Rayburn Building, as I recall. With these 20, that would make a total of 33.

The answer was 68. Stewart said he had notified the Patronage Committee that these elevators are now ready for operation and operator positions are now available for them to fill.

In other words, Congress appears to have created 68 new jobs with one hand while automating itself with the other.

I'm not suggesting that it has found the magic formula, but it does seem to have hit up a new philosophical approach to the problem.

When automation is inevitable, relax and enjoy it.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Bob Nevin annually requests an essay on "How to Give Your Heart a Vacation." "For doctors, as well as laymen, often abuse the "motor" of their bodily machine. We need to have our attention focused on such problems often, for it isn't primarily ignorance but inattention that causes most of our medical troubles."

CASE V-474: Bob Nevin is the brilliant editor of a dental journal.

"Dr. Crane," he asked, "would you write an article for our next number in which you emphasize the theme: 'Give Your Heart a Vacation?'"

So I gladly agreed and reminded all those dental surgeons of the medical facts they had studied back in physiology classes.

Since we are allotted about 2.6 billion heart beats at birth, anything which conserves them will lengthen our lifespan.

In former years, dental surgeons, barbers, and sales clerks stood while they worked.

But when you are erect, your heart must beat faster so you consume more those original 2.6 billion beats that God grants us.

Nowadays, therefore, dental surgeons and barbers are using stools, for then their vertical heights is reduced and they can salvage 50 to 100 extra heart beats per hour.

Many doctors of dental surgery and medicine become swayed by tobacco advertising while in their middle teens, so they become victims of the cigarette habit.

But such "average" cigarette addicts shorten their lifespan by from five to seven years!

Thus, it isn't the $123 per year they burn up on the ends of their cigarettes that is the most serious financial loss.

But the five years of extra practice they could have enjoyed if they had not shortened their longevity by their smoking!

At an average net income of $10,000 per year, this means their cigarette habit cost them $50,000 in lost office revenue, over and beyond the $8,250 they spent for their cigarettes during the 50-year span from the age of 15 till they die at 65.

Meanwhile, who can estimate how many patients they lose who resent inhaling secondhand tobacco fumes!

Obesity is also a great threat to longevity, for it wears out your heart prematurely by speeding up your pulse rate and thus consuming those 2.6 billion heartbeats more rapidly.

Your blood pressure also is raised by obesity.

Emotional intemperance is likewise a hazard to long life, so learn to control your emotions and you'll live longer.

Many a person suffers a stroke of apoplexy during a temper tantrum!

Dr. Osler, famous medical textbook writer, once said that his own life was at the mercy of anybody who would embroil him in a quarrel.

And I understand that's how he died!

Religion is a great life-saver, even from the medical angle, since it produces a more placid, serene outlook, thus slowing down the consumption of your original 2.6 billion heart beats.

Part of this results from your lack of fear. For when you are trying to carry all of your burdens in life alone, you become more tense, worried and anxious.

When you team-up with God, you feel more relaxed for then you have a partner who will take over the night shift for you.

Marriage likewise prolongs life, in part because of this same type of freedom from the fear that harasses the spinster or bachelor.

Beware, too, about becoming a chronic pill-taker, for the more outside chemicals you consume, the harder your heart, as well as liver and kidneys, must work to get rid of those substances.

So send for my booklet "How to Control Your Emotions," enclosing a long stamped envelope, plus 20c. It contains advice for heart victims, too.

GRACIOUS JUNE MAYO never looked lovelier than she did at the farewell tea given in her honor last Thursday by officers wives of the Naval Air Station at the BOQ.

Blonde Mrs. Mayo was stunningly attired in a white linen frock which was enhanced by the lovely corsage of yellow and white carnations with which she was presented.

As it happened, the color scheme of the decorations was yellow and white and Mrs. Mayo with her blonde hair and white frock was a charming compliment to the theme.

Despite her husband's departure, June will remain until June, then join the Captain in Norfolk.

Nearly 200 officers wives and civilian guests gathered to honor Mrs. Mayo. All were presented with corsages of glorio-lia lilies graciously contributed from the profuse gardens of Mrs. A. B. Peterson Sr. Many of the other fresh plants flowers and foliage, which transformed the masculine BOQ into a spring garden, were also contributed by Mrs. Peterson.

Serving on the arrangement and decorations committees for the stately affair were Staff Officer's wives, Demaris Farrell, Dee Munday, Jo Manoney, Sybil Dunaway, Carolyn Lavender, Pat Milburn and Jean Ebbert.

Food chairmen were Fern Eldridge and Jane Richardson. Betty Wilhauck was in charge of reservations.

Accenting the long tea table was a centerpiece of giant mums in yellow and white. Silver serving dishes were used along with silver candle-labra bearing white tapers, with silver coffee and tea services.

Pouring for the tea were wives of squadron commanding officers and executive officers aboard the station. Assisting were Mrs. Ruth Swanson, wife of the commanding officer and Mrs. Jean Fowler, new "first lady" of the Wing.

GRAY LADIES are needed to help at the Naval Air Station Dispensary.

Several members of the RVAH-7 Enlisted Wives Club have already signed up for the six hour orientation course, which is conducted by the American Red Cross.

Volunteers from Seven were Mrs. Robert Hendrickson, Mrs. Charles Stone, Mrs. Casey Johnson, Mrs. Bruce Vails, Mrs. Jeffrey Widman.

Any other Navy wives who would like to volunteer to be Gray Ladies are asked to contact Mrs. Roy Pounds at 500 Satsuma Drive. Call information for her phone number.

At a recent meeting of the Seventies, members bade farewell to Mrs. Robert Hodges and presented her with a silver necklace hung with a silver disc bearing the squadron insignia. The Hodges are being transferred to Brunswick, Maine.

After the business meeting club members enjoyed a white elephant party under the direction of Mrs. Jack Combs and Mrs. Earl Ward.

New members welcomed were Mrs. Dawson McGuffin, Mrs. Stephen Theobald and Mrs. Roald Welch. Special guests were Mrs. Kenneth Enney and Mrs. R. Hendrickson. Hostesses were Mrs. John Papsen and Mrs. Charles Stone.

President Edith Pounds announced that election of officers will be held at the May 18th meeting.

BACK FROM ATHENS, Greece is Dossie deGanahl and at a recent steak cook-out of RVAH-9 Officer's Wives, the group spent much time listening and asking questions, looking at pictures and souvenirs which Dossie brought back.

Joan Greenwood was presented with a silver picture frame as a gift for her new son, James Arthur. Hostess for the evening was Doty Mallescowki.

CRAZY HATS were the big attraction at the last meeting of the RVAH-13 Enlisted Wives, with members contributing some real "far-out creations."

The difficult task of judging fell to Mrs. Lola Webster and Mrs. June McClain who announced that the prize for the "craziest hat," a shampoo and set went to Marge Harvey, club president.

Marie Owens was awarded a box of chocolates for the "prettiest" hat and Alice Rough received a box of stationery for her "most original" creation.

Guests were Mrs. Joan Glad-felter and Mrs. Margie Jones. Doorprize was won by Mrs. Terry Bramwell. Hostesses were Mary Hardon, Rachel Henke and Carol Jokinin.

On May 8th, Thirteen wives have scheduled a picnic at Lake Golden at 10 a. m.

HIGH SCORES for the first VAH-4 Officer's Wives bridge party went to Bobbie Norrington and Jan Sarajlan.

This was one of Jan's last social parties and she hosted it at her home. The Sarajlans are leaving Friday for Harry's new duty station at Willow Grove, Pa.

Guests for the occasion were Pat Hutchinson, June Mayo and Shirley Chapman.

Next Six bridge will be held in early May at the home of Anne Underwood.

CHAMPAGNE BRUNCH was given recently for Billie Taft, wife of the commanding officer of RVAH-1, by the One Officer's Wives. The Tafts will soon be leaving for Norfolk where Cdr. Taft will assume his new duties. Change of command ceremonies are scheduled for April 30 with Cdr. V. G. Matula taking over.

The affair was held at the Tradewinds Cafeteria where tables in the club room were covered with a profusion of roses, tulips, violets, carnations, daffodils and mums.

At the head table a huge floral piece contained all the different kinds of flowers.

Using "flowers" as the theme, Lorraine Williams displayed her creative ability by writing a short poem about the meaning of each flower and comparing them with the special personal qualities of the honoree.

Reading the poems were Barbara Barnes, Gwen Gilmore, Kay Recknor, Holly Bell, Mary Ann Obusek and Shirley LaRocca.

Ann Matula, wife of the executive officer, presented Billie Taft with a beautiful silver casserole in behalf of the squadron officer's wives.

Special guests for the occasion were June Mayo, Jean Fowler, Ginger Tuttle, Berta Conn, Irene O'Hara, Jane Moore, Betty Barger, "El" Germain, Kitty O'Gara, Mary Durant, Donica Brown, Dee Munday, Pat Dearolph, Shirley Youngblade, Sue Kennedy, Kay Bartholomew, Dody Mallescowski, Lou McDonald, Joan Mize, Arlys Chapelaine and Bets Ryan.

AN EVENING OUT was enjoyed recently by officer's wives of RVAH-8, who dined at the Open Hearth in Mill-land.

Beforehand, the group met at the home of Betty Kelley where Nick and Peggy Mergo joined them. Nick recently returned from the U.S.S. Ranger and brought the wives news pictures of their husbands.

Attending were Pat Dearolph, Marie Lewis, Jo Watson, Penny Ouback, Gloria Gehrig, Joanne Herzog, Bertie Brough and Ruth Mickel-son.

FAREWELL COFFEE for Barbara Goodmansson was held Thursday at the home of Carol Ferrier by members of the RVAH-1 Tigerettes.

Barbara will be leaving soon for Washington. The club presented the honoree with a pin, set with her birthstone.

At the last business meeting of the club Ann Sierczkowski instructed the group on the art of electric cooking and next month will show a film on proper lighting in the home.

Volunteering to bake for the USO for April were Rhea Cooper and Carole Miller. Barbara Goodmansson and Margaret Reynolds were nominated to the nominating committee.

Ruth Weiss and Carol Ferrier were appointed as a calling committee to remind members about meetings. Hostesses were Clois Owens and Elaine Orzai.

Next meeting will be held May 30 at the ballroom with Suzanne Ryrky and Ruth

She also asked that anyone knowing of a person needing assistance have them get in touch with the local unit representative.

DRAGON LADIES of VAH-3 and their families are joining their recent boating trip, "a great success."

There were 21 fortunate persons who enjoyed the scenic boat cruise through the "Venice of America," departing from the Winter Park dock on a recent Saturday.

Most of the group agreed that the trip through the canals reminded them of a "Jungle scene" because of the stately trees which lined the banks.

As the cruise boat entered each of the three lakes, the group caught their breath at the beauty of the magnificent estates surrounding the lake, in their lush setting of spacious lawns and gardens.

Gardenias, jasmine, roses, snapdragons and many other flowers, among the green foliage and shrubs presented a picturesque scene as the boat cruised slowly around the lakes.

After the boat trip, the group met back at Lake Golden to wind up the day with a picnic, talking about the trip and becoming better acquainted with other squadron families. A feast of hamburgers and hot dogs, sunshine and

Detention Home Need Cited By Householder

By Robert B. Thomas Jr.

The "Get Acquainted Dinner" sponsored by the Seminole County Children's Advisory Council Monday evening at the Civic Center was most successful.

County Judge Karlyle Householder imparted some timely information to the members and guests.

"We do not like to put a child in detention but some times it becomes necessary. However, such has proved most effective in some cases. We need a detention home in this county where we can provide better care for our juvenile delinquents," he said.

C. Vernon Mize Jr., former judge, led a question and answer period which was most interesting.

C. E. McCord, juvenile counselor, explained to the group how the Job Corps will be used in the after-care program for boys and girls returning from their respective schools.

County Commissioner John Alexander and John Fitzpatrick expressed their concern for a detention home and temporary foster home. They informed the group of the in-

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas—If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss... and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

Graduation Party Honors Seniors

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson
The Bevier Road home of Mrs. Benny Austin was the scene Saturday of a graduation party for two Seminole High school seniors, Miss Betty Turner and Miss Sharon Booth.

The attractive Austin home, which was opened en suite for the occasion, was gaily decorated with spring flowers. The beautiful round dining room table was overlaid with bright blue net over a blue undershirt. Around the net were large blue bows from which hung streamers of white flowers.

Silver candle holders held blue candles and a large glass punch bowl was placed on one side, which was surrounded by plates of petit-fours, open faced sandwiches, nuts and potato chips. Suspended from the chandelier over the table was a hanging brass cage from which colorful flowers hung.

Mrs. Austin presented each girl and their mothers with a corsage. The honor guests were given a beautiful white lace blouse as a remembrance of the occasion.

Betty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Turner Jr. looked very pretty in a dress of pastel printed crepe made with a pleated skirt and round neckline. Her accessories were white.

Sharon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Booth also looked dainty in a red and white blouse effect dress with white accessories.

Serving as floating hostesses were Mrs. B. H. Stone, Mrs. Lewis Barley, Mrs. Lee Swartz and Miss Bonnie Austin, small daughter of Mrs. Austin, who presented the gifts to the honor guests.

Oviedo Club Tours Busch Gardens

By Evelyn Lundy
Leaving early in the morning on a chartered bus, thirty-two members and guests of the Oviedo Garden Club spent a delightful day touring the famed Busch Gardens in Tampa recently.

They went first through the buildings and saw the interesting process by which beer is made. They then toured the gardens and saw many exotic birds from every part of the world. Perhaps the most interesting bird seen was a glamorous snow white peacock, who seemed to be preening for the camera bugs.

A small train carried the people over to the Swiss Chalef, where a delightful lunch was enjoyed. From the open patio, one could see many animals native to Africa: zebras, camels, giraffes, elephants, ostriches and many others.

Going back to the gardens, a most interesting parrot show was watched by everyone.

Garden Club members making the trip were: Mrs. J. H. Battle, Mrs. R. F. King, Mrs. T. H. Ryan, Mrs. John Ridenour, Mrs. C. R. Clouta, Mrs. A. H. Bay, Miss Ruth Davidson, Mrs. Lynn Mosler, and Mrs. John Lundy.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a Sunday School teacher. One of my pupils' mothers told me that a few years ago you had something in your column in reply to a child who had lost his baby brother. She said your answer explained death beautifully on a child's level. If you recall such a letter, I would appreciate your printing it again. Thanking you in advance, I am,

Sincerely your,
LOVES CHILDREN

DEAR LOVES CHILDREN: I do recall such a letter because of the many requests I had from clergymen requesting permission to reprint it in their church bulletins. And here it is:

"DEAR ABBY: My Sunday School teacher says that God is everywhere. Please put this letter in the paper and maybe he will see it:
"Dear God: Why did you let my brother die? When he was hit by the car my mother prayed to you to let him live but you wouldn't. My little brother was only two years old and he couldn't have sinned so bad that you had to punish him that way. Everyone says you are good and can do anything you want to do. You could have saved my little brother but you let him die. You broke my mother's heart. How can I love you?"

PETER:
"DEAR PETER: Your question is one that has troubled religious men for thousands of years. One great thinker wrote a book about it. It is called "JOB" and is part of the Bible. It says that the suffering of innocent people is something we cannot understand. But this much is sure: Death is not a punishment. It is one life's mysteries. Speak to your minister, Peter. Communicate with God by praying, and He will help you in your search for wisdom and goodness and help make your Mommy happy again."

DEAR ABBY: What do you do about these Sunday pests who "drop in" unexpectedly and ruin your plans? My husband and I had a dinner date for Sunday evening when these pests dropped in about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. My knot-headed husband started playing the perfect host, and he poured them one Scotch after another. Naturally, they stayed and stayed. I was boiling mad at him, but he refused to help me get rid of them. I finally had to go into the other room and call the people we had a date with and beg off. After pests left it was too late for us to go anywhere. My husband claims it wasn't his fault that these people dropped in. I would like your opinion as to whose fault it was that our Sunday was ruined.

DEAR STILL BOILING: When unwelcome guests "drop in" and you want to discourage a prolonged stay, serve buttermilk or lemonade. (Let the kids make it.) Had your hubby been a little more Scotch with the Scotch, you'd have been scot-free much earlier.

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I would be writing a letter to you, but my wife always reads your column so I hope you will print my letter.

I have a lovely wife and three small daughters. BUT my wife wears PANTS seven days a week, from the time she gets up until she takes her bath and puts on her P.J.'s. I work in a plant with all men so I see pants all day and I would love to see my wife in a dress when I get home in the evening, and I hate those pants on Sunday. I know pants are nice for cleaning or doing the laundry, but she has so many cute dresses I wish she would wear them once in a while. Also, I don't believe it is a very good example for those small daughters. Please print my letter. I hope my wife will take the HINT.

Sincerely,
MVI
DEAR MVI: Why "hint"? Just tell her that you don't mind her doing the laundry or housework in pants if she's more comfortable, but when you get home in the evening you would like to see her in a dress because YOU wear the pants at your house. (You do, don't you?)

If you are not happy with your hair color, try the new "Color Foam" shampoo. While your hair is damp, spray your aerosol bottle of "Color Foam" on your hair. The foam will change the color, so just select whatever you wish. And be sure to get a new set of makeup accessories to harmonize with your new hair color. A fascinating bit of news came across my desk the other day—a "Culinary Arts Tour" of European cities. The Jean Berke Travel Service thought this one up. The tour will appeal to devoted amateur gourmets and just anybody who likes good food. The touring group will eat foods prepared in some of the most famous eating places in Europe, and there will be a tour of the famed Les Halles produce market in Paris. This tour will be fun and you can return knowing how to prepare wonderful dishes. Why not prepare a stunning table centerpiece when having a luncheon party? Use a pretty wicker basket, fill it with two shades of tissue paper, deep green and lemon-yellow, then place four big, gorgeous artichokes in the basket with limes and lemons tucked in between. THEN, after lunch, cook the artichokes for dinner, and serve with mayonnaise "spiked" with paprika, capers, and slices of lemon (from the basket.) Surround the artichoke with hard-cooked eggs, sliced tomatoes, and

Highlights

10-11 p.m. NBC. Bell Telephone Hour "Great Moments." (color) This show celebrates the 25th anniversary of the series by reprising great moments from earlier shows. The show is not a repeat but five of the six segments are. There are medleys by Maurice Chevalier and Harry Belafonte. Joan Sutherland's "mad scene" from "Hamlet" by Thomas; Marie Tallichief and Rudolph Nureyev's "Flower Festival" Pas De Deux; and Robert Preston's "76 Trombones" are other high points from yesteryear. There is also a new segment as pianist Clifford Curzon plays the final movements of Beethoven's "Piano Concerto No. 4 in G." 7:30-8:30 p.m. NBC. Mr. Novak "Once A Clown." Novak faces a problem of whether to flunk or pass a likeable student whose lack of industry and intelligence impede his academic career. There's a complication in the form of his brilliant lawyer-mother who refuses to accept her son's shortcomings and who is friendly with the superintendent of schools. The show deals realistically with a problem often sidestepped in real life. There are good performances by June Lockhart and Don Grady as the lawyer and her son. 7:30-8:30 p.m. ABC. Combat. "Beneath the Ashes." Hanley falls to tell a private about his wife's imminent death, and this so disturbs the young man, his lust for revenge against Hanley is almost fatal. The man finds his behavior baffling, since he continues to exhibit great courage, particularly under fire. Chad Everett plays the guilt-ridden young man effectively. Good war drama. 8:30-9:30 p.m. CBS. The Red Skelton Hour. Freddie the Freeloader finds a friend in Fred Gwynne as Herman Munster of "The Munsters." Freddie and his tramp friends pick an old house for a night's sleep, not knowing Herman lives there. When they see him, Freddie is the only one who is not scared off and Herman appreciates his staying. Also on hand

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Hard luck Joe rose with dummy's king of clubs at trick one. East won with the ace and returned a club to his partner's queen. Now West led a heart and Joe had to try and lose the heart finesse. Since West was sure to make his ace of diamonds, Joe was down one. Joe remarked, "Well, partner, my finesses are all wrong as usual but this time we get a small profit. I had 150 honors."

The error occurred at trick one. Joe should have played the three of clubs from dummy!

East would have taken two club tricks but Joe would never have had to try the heart finesse. East would have remained on lead and the only way to get his partner in would have been with the ace of diamonds which would have established the diamond suit for all the discards Joe would ever need. Of course, West might have underled the ace of clubs. In that case Joe's play of the king would have been correct and the play of the three spot would be a loser but the chance that West would have underled an ace against the strong North-South bidding was far, far less than that Joe would find the ace of clubs and king of hearts both in the East hand.

We The Women:

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence Newspaper Enterprise Assn. If your 10-year-old enters the room while you're telling a friend the dirty joke your husband brought home from a convention, you suspend the story, don't you? Of course you do. Instinctively, you and I keep the dirty joke from the child. Instinctively, we protect him against material which our sexual experience can put into perspective; and which his lack of sexual experience can't cope with. We don't have to think about the rights or wrongs of refusing to share the dirty story with him. It is refused him out of our intuitive recoil from violating his childhood with stuff that could only burden it with distorted impressions and confused, possibly worried, speculations. Yet, we submissively permit children access to pornographic movies, magazines, books and television programs. Writing in a recent issue of a national magazine, Dr. Benjamin Spock asks that children be denied access to this stuff by firmer legal protection. He may not get his wish. In view of the Supreme Court's rejection of Maryland's and New York's film-censoring procedures, effective legal protection of children against pornography may be indefinitely delayed. So, as usual, it's back in our laps. And darn mean it is, too, when we consider the problem of keeping children in this sex-obsessed society of ours. Anyway, because it's back in our laps, I want to stress the point contained in our intuitive recoil from continuing with dirty jokes when children enter a room. Unless we become conscious of that intuitive feeling of inappropriateness, we can't respect or trust it. And we will helplessly permit our 10-year-old to tune in television's Peyton Place or spend his allowance on dirty movies. Dr. Spock attributes our tolerance of children's access to this sleazy stuff to our "permissiveness." I don't. I ascribe it to the damage done to trust of our own feelings by those "mommy" and "daddy" of ours—the child training "experts." So generally have they scorned us for anything that goes wrong with children that it's almost impossible to trust the sense of discomfort we experience when our 10-year-old boy picks up a "girlie" magazine in the dentist's office. I remind you of your instant suspension of dirty jokes when childhood enters the room. We now need respect for the feeling that suspends it.

Love blooms eternal and doors can't stop it. Monday the sheriff's office received a call from a man who complained his girl friend had locked him out. Upon investigation, the girl friend said she did not know the door was locked. When last seen, the complaining man was entering the house, his face cracked by a huge smile.

Chairman John R. Alexander, of the Seminole County Commission, and Harold Johnson, county attorney, plan to go to Tallahassee this week to check on the progress of the county's legislative program. Their trip was authorized by the Board of Commissioners Tuesday.

A special meeting of the County Board of Commissioners will be held May 4 to accept bids on the mixers fire ant bait. There is expected to be only one bid since only one company makes the poisonous bait.

All was confusion on First Street between Oak and Park Tuesday. On one side of the street cars were parked parallel. On the other side they were parked angular.

C. Bob Thomas, the county school attendance (truancy) officer, works along that vein at all times. The county might be wise in appointing him (maybe on a part-time basis) to assist Counselor C. E. McCord.

Parking Woes Being Ironed Out—Wilson

Parking in downtown Sanford is due for one more go-round—this one, it is hoped will get the matter straightened out once and for all. Acting Mayor A. L. Wilson told The Sanford Herald that the city borrowed an erasing machine and started today to erase all parking lines on First Street from Sanford to Oak Avenue, then remark them correctly, as originally ordered by the City Commission at the April 12 meeting.

"I'm not putting the blame on anyone," said Wilson, "but somehow there was a misinterpretation of City Commission instructions and the 30 degree angles were marked 10 feet apart instead of eight feet. This has cut the number of parking spaces considerably and has caused a great deal of confusion. Also the area between Park and Oak, which was changed to parallel parking has been confusing to motorists because of lines going both ways.

"We ask the public please to bear with us for a few more days until we get this matter straightened out," Mayor Wilson urged.

After all the old lines are erased, the area between Oak and Park Avenues will be marked parallel parking and the area between Park and Sanford Avenues will be 30-degree angle parking eight feet apart.

The more oblique angle parking is expected to decrease the traffic hazard encountered when motorists back out of the angled parking stalls, usually across the center line, blocking traffic in both lanes.

Two parking stalls will be eliminated in line with requests from Police Chief Arnold Williams. One is the first stall on the southeast corner of Park Avenue and First Street, and the other is on the southwest corner of Magnolia Avenue and First.

Chief Williams said motorists backing out of these two stalls have to drive across the pedestrian crosswalks, "which is extremely hazardous."

Senate OKs U Funds

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Senate gave swift and unanimous passage today to a bill authorizing a $75 million bond financed program of university and junior college construction in the next biennium.

The measure, which now goes to the House, was introduced today with the whole Senate as co-sponsors and acted upon immediately.

A large part of the money will start construction of new universities in Orange County, three miles south of Oviedo on SR 520 at the Seminole County line, and at Pensacola.

It will permit $43 million for new university buildings and $37 million for junior college expansion. The additional $5 million in buildings plus amounts to meet the interest on the bonded debt will come from surplus moneys in the state utilities tax revenue fund earmarked two years ago for the program.

Without the approval of the $75 million amount, the state would have been limited to a $50 million bond issue for the next two years. The projects to be financed will be spelled out in a capital outlay bill accompanying the general appropriations bill.

The House in the Senate were a requirement for all public schools to fly the state flag and permission for counties to give teachers time for lunch and planning when they are not directly responsible for children.

Bulging Mississippi Rips Out Seawalls

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (UPI) — The bulging Mississippi tore through three battered dikes today and kept relentless pressure along miles of river front.

Hundreds of exhausted workers kept up their battle against the upper Mississippi's worst flood in history.

For three weeks the river has swollen out of its banks, sending thousands of persons fleeing from their homes from Minnesota to Missouri.

The crest was expected in the Illinois-Iowa "Quad Cities" industrial complex today and was expected to hold at the peak level for three days.

Water broke through a seawall at Davenport, Iowa, and company threw up a secondary dike west of its Betterdort dike through three battered dikes today and kept relentless pressure along miles of river front.

With a siren piercing the nighttime air, muddy waters poured through about six blocks of lowlands, and the weary workers threw themselves into the task of piling sandbags along a secondary dike along railroad tracks.

Milan Mayor Glenn Reid had said that if the Chaney Lane dike, which runs for three miles, were to break, the whole town would be cut off from the main highway. The other break came downstream.

The river eroded today for a 150-foot hole in a dike south of Quincy, Ill., about 140 miles downstream from here, and swept inland across rich farmland.

Civil defense officials said no injuries were reported. However, they said 60 homes and 15 industrial facilities were endangered in a 6,000-acre area.

War's End Up To Communist Aggressors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson intends to continue the U. S. air strikes on North Viet Nam until the Reds stop fighting and meet his offer of "unconditional" peace talks with other than "silence, slander, or the sound of guns."

The Chief Executive rejected suggestions that a suspension of the air assaults might lure the Communists to the peace table.

"Whether we make friends or lose friends," he told a news conference, "we are resisting aggression and as long as the aggressors attack, we will stay there and resist them."

Johnson said that "the moment" North Viet Nam ends its aggression the United States will cease "the destruction of their bridges and their radar stations and the ammunition that they use on our bolivies. . . . He renewed his offer of "unconditional" peace talks, but he conceded that, so far, it had been met "with silence, slander, or the sound of guns. But just as we will not lag in battle, we will not weary in the search for peace."

The President's 33-minute message will be repeated in the White House's ornate East Room Tuesday capped a series of policy statements over the past few days by his top diplomatic and military advisers.

His pungent defense of his policy was televised live in the United States and beamed abroad by the government's Voice of America radio transmitters.

The conference ranged over a wide field of subjects, including new presidential appointments, an announcement that the budget deficit is being reduced, a comment on the voting rights battle in the Senate, and a defense of his action in postponing the U. S. visits of the Indian and Pakistani leaders.

But it was dominated by discussion of what the Chief Executive called the "crucial struggle" in Viet Nam.

Fowler Relieves Mayo

CAPT. JAMES O. MAYO, in his final inspection as commanding officer of Reconnaissance Attack Wing One, bids farewell to staff officers. He will take over command of the fleet officer USS Nantahala. (Herald Photo)

By Paul Brookshire
The challenge of the "uncertain days ahead" means that Reconnaissance Attack Wing One will have to continue to improve, Capt. Richard E. Fowler Jr. declared Tuesday in assuming command of the Wing in ceremonies at Sanford Naval Air Station.

"You are more capable than you have ever been before and your task is more important than ever before," Captain Fowler told the officers and men of the Wing.

"There lies ahead an opportunity for solid and significant achievement," the new commander declared.

Captain Fowler told the men they are the elite of Naval aviation and that he looked forward to being a part of a program so vitally important to the Navy and the free world.

Fowler assumed command of the wing from Capt. James O. Mayo, who is leaving Sanford to become commanding officer of the USS Nantahala. He will report to his new assignment in Norfolk June 7.

Mayo received the highest commendations from his superiors in the change of command ceremony.

Adm. David L. McDonald, chief of Naval Operations, wired his regrets that he was unable to attend the change of command ceremony.

He said he wanted to personally commend Captain Mayo and all members of the Reconnaissance attack team, including NAS Sanford and their Seminole County and City of Sanford civilian supporters.

"For the great strides that have been made in the Navy's highly important reconnaissance capability."

Rear Adm. Robert Goldthwaite, commander Fleet Air, Jacksonville, was the guest speaker at the ceremony.

Goldthwaite praised Captain Mayo for his part in effectively introducing the complex RA-5C aircraft into the Wing and for "solving many of the problems of its introduction."

"It will be missed in Sanford but he is departing with the knowledge of a job well done," Admiral Goldthwaite said.

Captain Mayo said it had been a "great honor and privilege" to have served as the Wing's commander. He said the officers and men had exhibited a high degree of operational readiness.

Opening Of Channels To Chinese Favored

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Chamber of Commerce today went on record formally in favor of opening "channels of communication with the people of mainland China."

The resolution, as approved without debate by 1,000 chamber delegates, said a long-range objective of the United States should be "a free and democratic China on the Asia mainland."

The resolution said that the United States should continue to recognize the Nationalist Chinese government on Taiwan and should continue to withhold diplomatic recognition from Peking and oppose a United Nations seat for Red China.

Commerce Secretary John T. Connor told the delegates earlier that if they do not pay more attention to consumer needs, they face the prospect of more government controls.

Marines Strike Out In Search Operation

SAIGON (UPI)—U. S. Marines struck out from the Da Nang air base today in their biggest operation of the war against the Viet Cong.

In the Communist North American planes dropped a million propaganda leaflets while attacking key transport facilities.

Size of the Marine search and clear force was not announced but it involved several companies. Gen. Wallace M. Greene, the Marine Corps commander, said his men will fan out as far as necessary to defend the Da Nang air and missile base from attack.

"The one job I want them to do is to find Viet Cong and kill them," Greene told newsmen at a briefing at the end of an official inspection tour. "We got one today and we're going to get more."

There are almost 10,000 Marines in the Da Nang area 350 miles northeast of Saigon and there were reports a new battalion was ready to land shortly.

Today's operation was a search and clear mission in an area 10 to 15 miles west of Da Nang. An advance company of Marines moved out Tuesday, setting up a forward command post.

Several other Marine companies on foot and aboard troop-carrying helicopters were involved, making it the biggest and deepest probe so far into Viet Cong territory.

Previous Marine missions have been limited to small patrols of 40 to 50 men only a few miles from the base perimeter.

REPTILE TAKE
TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Rep. Harry Westberry of Duval introduced a bill today permitting licensed hunters to kill alligators and crocodiles. Hunters are now prohibited from taking the big reptiles.

Anti-Pollution

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House was expected to give its approval today to an administration-supported proposal calling for a two-year, $300 million federal program against water pollution.

The state already has sold $75 million in bonds for higher education construction in the current biennium.

Tuesday, the Senate held a heated session in which a bill relaxing usury laws to permit unlimited interest rates to corporations was killed by a 5-39 vote. Silver-haired Sen. Verle Pope, of St. Augustine, called it a "money changer's bill."

Meanwhile, the House passed and sent to the Senate a group of election law changes including authority for illiterates to get help in voting booths. The House also passed a measure making it illegal to sell, barter or possess blank drivers licenses.

Bank Aide Tries Suicide

BLUFFTON, Ind. (UPI) — There's a $216,752 shortage in the funds of the Farmers & Merchants Bank.

Rose Johnson, the bank's chief bookkeeper for the past 28 years is in the hospital recovering from 17 gashes inflicted above and below her elbows.

Police records say that Mrs. Johnson's wounds were inflicted a week ago Monday in a suicide attempt.

The story came out today in this eastern Indiana town, 25 miles south of Fort Wayne, when bank President Amos Gerber acknowledged that the community of 7,000 had been buzzing about it for a week.

Mrs. Johnson was one of the best known and most respected women in town. She and Gerber were regarded as mainstays of the bank.

Two years ago she and her husband bought one of Bluffton's biggest homes and filled it with antique furnishings from the items she had collected as a prominent antique dealer.

About a month ago Mrs. Johnson was hospitalized briefly for surgery. Before the operation she told other bank employees she would take care of "the savings account file" when she returned.

But to be obliging, the other employees worked on the file so that Mrs. Johnson would not be overburdened with work when she returned.

When she came back to work three weeks ago, they told her they couldn't get the accounts to balance.

Employees said she told them "give me a tape on it and I'll take care of it." She brought them back, apparently in balance. But bank officials were suspicious. They notified Joseph McCard, director of the State Department of Financial Institutions.

Bank examiners found that shortages apparently began at the Farmers & Merchants two years ago. More than half the total shortage vanished within the past four months, bank officials said.

On April 19, Gerber told Mrs. Johnson of the examiners' findings. He said she stayed late at the bank that day and left shortly after 5 p.m.
