A New Ford Makes Its Debut

Here's Henry Ford's first new touring car. All his models have been changed. The body is slung lower, the seats are lower and wider, and there is more room between the front and rear seats. More of a streamline effect has been obtained by raising the radiator cover. The size of the brake drum has been increased to give greater braking power, so necessary in these days of heavy traffic. The touring car now has four doors and the roadster two. A one-piece windshield has been placed on the closed models.

New State Forestry Body To Get Prominent Members

GAINESVILLE, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Formation of the recently organized Florida Beautification and Forestry Society has been given added impetus by the acquisition of a number of prominent business and professional men of the state as honorary vice-presidents. Dr. A. A. Murphee, the president, has announced.

Enthusiasm and whole-hearted support mark the letters of everyone who has sent in his acceptance. Governor John W. Martin, Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, Senator Mark Trammell, Congressman W. J. Sears, and former Governor Carey Hardee are among the public officials and former officials who have already consented to serve as honorary vice-presidents.

Hon. Chas. Haines, well known publisher and developer of Altonville Springs and Haines City, is another fervent supporter of the society and an honorary vice-president.

The railroad officials of the state have been prompt to grasp the opportunity of pledging their co-operation. W. L. Mapother, president of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company and W. R. Kennan, Jr., president of the Florida East Coast Railroad, have already accepted places as honorary vice-presidents of the new society.

Hon. Herman A. Dann, president of the Florida Development Board, and Karl Lehman, chairman of the Board's State Beautification Committee have expressed their desire to co-operate with the society to the fullest, and have accepted honorary vice-presidencies.

Other names already on the list of honorary vice-presidents are Willis B. Powell, secretary of the Sarasota Chamber of Commerce; Walter F. Coachman, Jacksonville; L. M. Bize, president Citizens Bank and Trust Company, Tampa; J. C. Pace, Pensacola lumberman; J. E. Matlocks, prominent Euclid realtor; O. H. Warnicke, Gull Point, General chairman, Pine Institute of America, official of the Pensacola Tar and Turpentine Company, and nationally known in connection with Globe-Wernicke book cases; Mrs. Maud Whitman, chairman of conservation of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs.

This list will be augmented by the addition of other names as soon as requests can be brought to the attention of a number of the leading business men of the state.

The purpose of the society is to conserve and enhance the natural beauty and forests of the state. Money for its maintenance was recently donated by a generous publisher.

Steps are under way to incorporate the society as a non-profit organization, and an executive secretary will be employed at an early date. The secretary, whose office will be in Gainesville, will be the only paid official of the society.

Latest Ford Model Embodies New and Novel Features

DETROIT, Sept. 3.—Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, in a statement issued yesterday following the announcement of improved Ford bodies and chassis refinements, said:

"We do not want the impression to prevail that we are producing new Ford cars.

"Bodies for Ford cars have been materially improved by the Model T chassis remains unchanged except for a lowering of the frame and a few other important changes. Bodies in four types, have been completely redesigned and built lower to contribute to better appearance, driving and riding comfort and roadability of the cars.

"By preserving the design of the Model T chassis, the company is safeguarding continued good service for owners of approximately 9,000,000 Ford cars and trucks now in use throughout the country, as well as for new car purchasers."

Florida Leading Cities, In Population Growth, Federal Records Show

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The urban or city population of Florida has increased remarkably in the last few years, and Florida now has a larger proportion of its population living in cities than any other southeastern state, according to Dr. R. M. Harper, geographer and statistician who has been studying the latest bulletin of the state census.

Ever since censuses have been taken in the United States, he says cities have been growing faster than the rural districts, with a few local and temporary exceptions. This is mostly on account of the invention of machinery causing many articles formerly made on farms, such as clothing, to be produced more economically in factories with less labor than could be made by farm implements. The constant improvement of transportation facilities has also been an important factor in the growth of cities, and all these things combined cause many people to move to town for work in factories and other lines of business. And in Florida, more than in most other states, there is also a considerable leisure class, who have made their money elsewhere and come here to live because of the climate. Such people usually settle in cities.

Although crime and poverty are often more prevalent in the city than the country, a state or nation with a large proportion of its population urban is generally regarded as more civilized than other extremes. For a country in which half the population lives in cities and is fed by the other half living on farms, there must be more efficient farmers than where nearly all the people are rural.

Since 1800 the United States Census Bureau has defined urban population as that in incorporated places with 2,500 inhabitants or more. Although that is an arbitrary definition, almost any other reasonable limit would do about as well for purposes of comparison. For some years Florida has had a larger proportion of urban population than any other state south of the Potomac and Ohio Rivers, in spite of the fact that Virginia, Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama have always had larger cities than ours. The urban percentage in Florida has increased from 20.3 in 1850 to 44.4 in 1920.

Looking into the matter more closely, some very interesting details can be extracted from a circular issued by the state census office about two weeks ago, giving the population of all counties and cities in Florida as of February 15th. According to that report there are 394,114 people living in cities of over 10,000, 88,240 in cities of 5,000 to 10,000, 75,939 in those of 2,500 to 5,000 and 669,362 in smaller places and unincorporated territory; besides 5,480 in charitable, penal, military, and naval institutions. Some of these figures may need slight revision, but not enough to materially affect the ratios between them.

No previous census seems to have made a separate count of people living in institutions but if that had not been done on this report about one-tenth of the population of Gadsden county would have been classed as lunatics in the final analysis, and a similar proportion in Union county as felons.

The population of Florida, excluding institutions, was 44.4 per cent urban on February 15, 1925, as compared with 39.7 per cent on January 1, 1920. In these five years the urban population increased 56.6 per cent, and the rural 14.2 per cent; both figures showing more than most states usually evidence for ten years. The difference between the urban and rural increases is expertly accounted for by the obvious fact that several places having less than 2,500 inhabitants in 1920 are now over the limit, and thus lost to rural territory.

The number of farms in Florida increased about 11 per cent in the same five-year period, as was pointed out in an item given the press by Dr. Harper during July, and the greater increase in rural population than in farms indicates that the town with less than 2,500 inhabitants have been growing faster than the purely agricultural communities, if not as fast as the larger cities.

To determine whether large or small cities are growing faster, Dr. Harper groups them according to size and compares the population of the same places at different times. The cities of over 10,000, ten in number, increased 42.5 per cent from 1890 and 1920 and thirteen between 5,000 and 10,000 increased 61.1 per cent. The twenty-two between 2,500 and 5,000 increased 45 per cent. All three of these groups have been quadrupled in population in 25 years.

Urban percentage would be expected to be the highest in the counties containing the largest cities, but there are some notable exceptions. The counties with over half their populations urban in 1925, in order of percentage are as follows: Monroe, 96 per cent; Duval, Hillsborough, Dade, Pinellas, Palm Beach, St. Johns, Escambia, Manatee, Orange, Franklin, Lee, Santa Rosa, DeSoto. These counties taken together have more adults, farming children and more adults, than the state average. Just about half the counties have no population classed as "urban" yet, but many of them are near it, doubtless to be over the line by the time of the next census.

The 1925 population of Florida cities has not been published yet, but five years ago in those of 2,500 to 5,000 there were 669,362 in smaller places and unincorporated territory; besides 5,480 in charitable, penal, military, and naval institutions. Some of these figures may need slight revision, but not

Millions for New Service

THE telephone construction program for this year is the largest ever undertaken by this company. It calls for new and additional plant costing more than $13,000,000.

The large, additional investment is but a reflection of the demand for service in this and other parts of the Southern Bell System. The new plant is necessary to meet the service needs of present and prospective subscribers whose business and social activities require an efficient, comprehensive service.

After all, the telephone system is merely a trustee for those who own the property and subscribe for the service. In no other industry there are as many owners as in the Bell System—approximately 750,000 security owners and women than men stockholders.

The enormous sums of new money constantly required have greatly increased the investment in telephone, making it necessary to earn greater per cent return on the investment in order to meet the growing demand for service and leave a reasonable profit.

Our efforts to keep pace with the growth of this State and to measure up fully to our responsibility are aided in no small measure by your friendly encouragement.

University Of Florida Will Have Architecture Course During The Coming Term

...ment for this new Department. There will also be available funds for books, models, lantern slides and other supplies to make an up-to-date and effective course. The four year curriculum will lead to the degree of bachelor of science in architecture. It will embrace courses in architectural construction, the study of building materials, with their practical and artistic possibilities, methods of present day building practice, courses in testing materials, study of reinforced concrete, and structural work of high, fire-proof buildings.

...Courses in heating and ventilation of buildings, building sanitation and history of architecture will be offered. Among the artistic courses will be pen and ink drawings, studies in water-color drawing, from simple geometric solids including accurate representation in form in line, light and shade. As announced by Dr. A. A. Murphree, President of the University of Florida, the course will be based on the highest standards of courses in architecture and allied arts of the best schools in this country. "The courses will lay the foundation for a successful career in architecture in Florida and elsewhere," said Dr. Murphree. For the present the school will operate under the college of engineering. It is hoped that in the near future it will branch out and become a distinct college of itself. On August 11, 1917, the Florida Association of Architects passed a resolution requesting the Board of Control to establish such a school at the University. Lack of funds had prevented an earlier completion.

 ideals as the principle and worth while things of life. He recalled how centuries ago there was the aristocracy of birth, which was followed by the aristocracy of wealth, both of which have faded in the beginning of the new aristocracy, which he declared would be everlasting. The speaker closed his remarks with words of praise for the efforts of the Sanford group in organizing the local club and praised the heartiest co-operation of the Orlando club as well as that of others in Florida, numbering 13. Short talks by W. H. Brokaw, the first member of the first Lion Club in Florida and W. E. Brown, vice-president of the Orlando club, were made following Mr. King's address. Each assured the Sanford club of a hearty welcome into Lions International and Mr. Brown stressed the importance of attendance at meetings and work on committees.

Army Uses Large Sum In Philippine Islands

MANILA, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The United States army in the Philippine Islands spent $10,147,386 in cash sent from the United States during 1924, a statement prepared by the Philippine department shows. This sum does not include all of the money spent during the year to meet the needs of the army Philippines, but simply represents the actual cash disbursed here. In addition to this sum much more was spent in the United States for supplies and materials which were sent to the islands during the year. Of the total expended here in cash, $5,567,123 went for the pay of officers and enlisted men, field clerks and army nurses. The balance was expended for forage for the several thousand horses and mules, subsistence stores, coal, gasoline and many other articles.

Philadelphia Police Must Show Intellect, Director Butler Says

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Brains, more than physical prowess, will be sought hereafter in recruits for the Philadelphia police department, under a recent ruling of the Civil Service Commission. The decision, announced after investigations by the commission and Director of Public Safety Smedley D. Butler, will become effective with the next batch of candidates. Criminals are keen-witted and quick-thinking policemen are needed to keep abreast of them, the commission said. A new code of test for prospective blue-coats will be put into practice, designed as far as possible, to "predict the efficiency of a policeman."

Deafness In Children Can Be Prevented

There are many people over the United States who have become alarmed over the apparent increasing number of deaf people in this country. Some statistics on the subject support this belief while others contradict it, but this growing fear that the nation, as a whole is becoming more deaf, has led Dr. John F. Barnehill, of the Indiana University School of Medicine and a recognized authority on medical sciences, to make a thorough study of the situation.

Dog Days

During the past few weeks while Sanford and the rest of the state have been experiencing the hottest weather of the summer, we have been reminded by the old citizens that it is now "Dog Days," that period of the year when it is sultry and close.

Most people associate "Dog Days" with mad dogs. We have always been told that madness among dogs is more common during this period and even Pliny, in his day, called attention to the prevalence of madness among the canine family during the period which we know as "Dog Days."

In an interesting account of the origin of "Dog Days," the Indianapolis News, in a recent issue says, "The ancients applied the name to a period of about forty days at the time of the heliacal rising of Sirius, the dog star. The heat, which is usually the most oppressive of the year, was formerly ascribed to the conjunction of that star with the sun."

"Due to the precession of the equinoxes it is no longer the time of the heliacal rising of the dog star, but the name and the old beliefs still are handed down from generation to generation. It hardly seems fair to link Sirius, bright, brilliant, glorious, with mad dogs, hot weather and summer complaint, especially since it has not a thing to do with them."

"Even Homer, in his Iliad, says, 'Brightest of all is he, yet for an evil sign is he set and bringeth much fever upon hapless man.' Sirius is called the dog star because it is the chief star in the constellation of the great dog which follows at the heels of Orion in his journey across the skies."

Mules and Dealers Happy. Business Is Good. But Not for Annie Phillips. She Didn't Cry. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1925)

THE COAL strike starts peacefully. Coal dealers "just for luck" put up the price of coal, fifty cents a ton. That's a cheerful start. Coal doesn't cost them any more, but you know how terrible strikes are.

MULES HAVE been hauled up from the coal mines, which means that a long strike is expected. Those poor animals will see a little sunlight, some may even get a mouthful of grass.

150,000 miners are having a vacation that they deserve, but can't afford. Ten thousand railroad workers, thrown out, also must take a vacation, because they have no coal to haul.

The question the people ask is, "What, if anything, will President Coolidge do about allowing a private industrial fight to interfere with a public necessity?"

BUSINESS IS good. Tell that to your inquiring friends. The value of crops will be Ten Thousand Million Dollars. Farmers are more cheerful, prices good.

Commercial business in cities is improving steadily. Extraordinary showings will be made for August by many department stores and other big institutions.

WITH ALL our prosperity, big crops, fine business, sorrow still remains. If "sordid tragedies" interest you, consider Miss Annie Phillips, aged seventy-four. Out of work, no home, sleeping in parks and doorways for several weeks, she spent her last five cents for a ticket to the elevated railroad in New York City, planning to jump from the highest place to end her misery.

The police seized her in time, so her last five cents were wasted. She is in the hospital, and the police think somebody may provide a home for her.

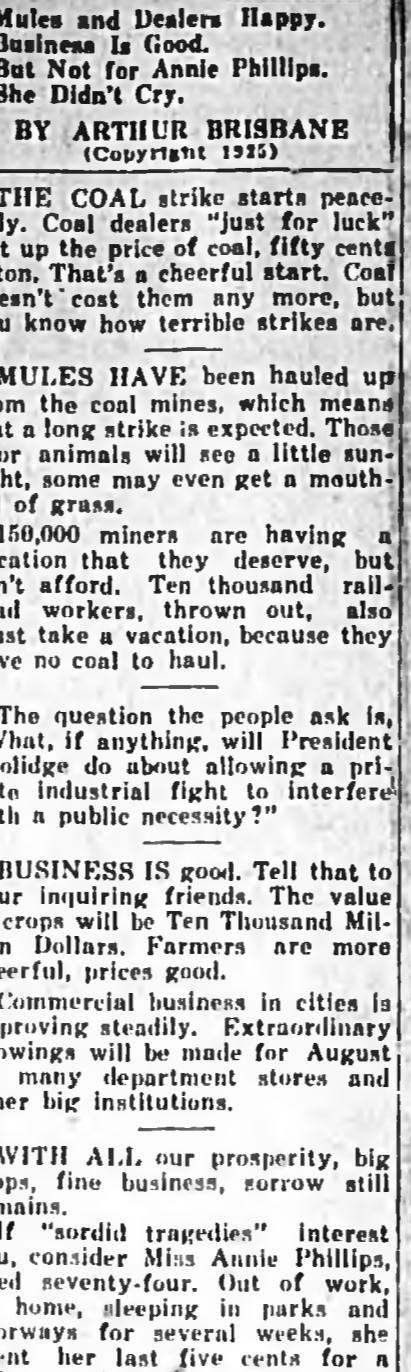

MRS. ELSIE Eaton Newton Ohio lady, found herself facing the "emptiness of life," with her two daughters married. Many ladies would have sat down to have a good cry. Mrs. Newton went to Marietta College, worked hard, got her A. B. degree, with her two granddaughters sitting in the audience to cheer.

Marietta is Dean of Women in Marietta College, and happy. There is no life emptiness, except in the brain. Keep that busy and life is all right, even if your daughters are married and your husband dead.

WHEN THIS was written yesterday afternoon, one of two seaplanes was close to Honolulu on the one day "hop," a third of the way across the Pacific. Pessimists will point to the plane that came down as proof that "flying isn't practical."

How many automobiles you used to see broken down and scattered along the road twenty years ago. You don't see them now. In a few years, you will fly the entire width of the Pacific in one hop, if so inclined. Also, Asia will be able to come here in one swift hop.

ROOM FOR ONE MORE

MURDER AT $35

NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

A gunman, arrested for the deliberate shooting of a motorman and a superintendent of the trolley company that he might get the money the superintendent was carrying, has confessed that he was paid $35 each for the killings.

The fact is recited merely to impress upon Commercial readers—largely business men—the state of the country so far as crime is concerned.

Less than one murderer in a hundred in the United States is punished. Statisticians estimate that in the next twelve months more than 11,000 human beings will be wantonly killed in the United States. They base their figures on the killings of the past twelve months.

Statisticians have further determined that during the next twelve months three billion five hundred millions in money and negotiable securities and valuable will be taken by thieves, burglars, highwaymen, embezzlers and criminals in the United States. A like amount was taken in the previous twelve months.

Also it has been definitely discovered that more than seventy-five per cent of the crime to be committed, and which has been stated in cold exact figures, will be the work of foreign-born residents or the immediate descendants of foreigners now domiciled here.

What can the American public do to bring about a cessation of the flood of criminality that is inundating the land? Judge Gary and his committee are studying the situation. They will strive to discover some plan whereby a better state of affairs may be brought about. In the meantime, it is well to remember that it is the duty of all good citizens to become vocal in this matter and to demand that judges, juries and officials generally, charged with law enforcement, do their plain duty.

Crime in the United States is a fact that must be faced. The criminal must be punished, wherever found. It is no longer seemly to discuss plans and methods of making prison life easy and pleasant nor is it the part of wisdom to sob about murderers and the wrong that society has committed against them.

Let us think from now on about the public welfare and when the criminal is arrested, remember his victim. If courts and juries will not do their duty, then some method of making them do their duty must be devised.

PROVED A MISTAKE

CLEARWATER SUN

When the late President Harding appointed the Negro, Walter L. Cohen, comptroller of customs at New Orleans, such a volume of protest went into Washington from that city, and indeed from all over the South, that the confirmation of the appointment was held up in the senate—in fact the appointment was not confirmed until President Coolidge had been inaugurated.

However, after the senate endorsed the appointment, the furor against it subsided, and it was submitted to in silence, if not with approval.

But Walter L. Cohen has again come into the limelight by getting himself arrested by federal authorities on the charge of having used his office in behalf of the coastal run-runners.

The procedure seems to have been simple. The comptroller, it is said, kept in touch with the movements of all vessels, and by notifying his accomplices concerning the movements of customs craft, made it possible for them to land their run cargoes without danger of apprehension by the authorities.

LOYALTY OF THE STATE PRESS

ORLANDO SENTINEL

E. D. Lambright, editor-in-chief of the Tampa Tribune in an interview published by Philip Schuyler, in the August number of the Editor and Publisher, declares that loyalty of the state press to be largely responsible for Florida's present prosperity.

The article goes on to say that: "Florida newspapers have been harmonious in supporting all constructive movements in preventing crazy legislation, and in putting over laws that are good."

"The state press was unanimously behind the constitutional amendment adopted in 1924, prohibiting the state legislature from levying an income or inheritance tax."

"By many, passage of this law is thought to be the beginning of Florida's great popularity and prosperity of today."

"But the growth has been gradual and healthy, extending over a long period of years, and our newspapers have strongly backed all programs of municipal improvements and all community advertising campaigns, important factors behind the business being done now."

"The proposed law which would have employed taxation as a means towards raising an appropriation against such frauds."

Hebrew Theater In Moscow Big Success

MOSCOW, Sept. 4.—(P)—Soviet Russia is probably the only country in the world that maintains a special Hebrew theater, where plays are produced in the modern style, but by a special cast of artists in the ancient Hebrew tongue.

This theater which is partly subsidized by the state, has its own building, where performances are given from two to four times a week. During the last two years the Hebrew players have scored great successes and nearly the whole Moscow population, Jews and orthodox alike, flocked to see their art, despite their own inability to understand a single word.

The Hebrew theater, known under the name of "Habima" has become one of the Moscow's sight-seeing objects and every foreigner, visiting Moscow, who is at all interested in art, deems it necessary to visit the theater. During last year two mystical plays—"Hadi-buk" and "Golem" were performed and two new plays staged by Stanislavsky will be produced the coming season. The company will leave in the autumn for an extended tour of Europe and America.

The scene of this colorful spectacle will be Miami Shores, 2,800-acre developed on Mizcayne Bay near Arch Creek.

MIAMI, Sept. 4.—Miami Shores, 2,800-acre development on Biscayne bay, near Arch Creek, is to be the scene of an annual pageant to be known as "Florida, the Land of Nature's Mirth," to be produced in a magnificent Spanish theater to be built especially for its production under the direction of Arthur Voegtlin, master mind of similar productions at the New York Hippodrome which have been nationally known.

The theater, grounds and furnishings will represent a cost of approximately $500,000. Work is to be started at once on the theatrical production with a view to holding the opening performance on Dec. 15, 1925.

Selection of Miami Shores as the site for this magnificent institution which it is hoped to make to Southern Florida what the Mission play of San Gabriel is to Southern California, was made by Mr. Voegtlin and his business associates after a tour of this section of the state. "We were on a search," said Mr. Voegtlin in commenting on the enterprise, "for a location that would provide the necessary tropical atmosphere with a water background and have sufficient space for a production on a large scale. These requirements were found at Miami Shores, where the bay provides ex-

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART
WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—mer is a decidedly formidable craft.

Big navy men are getting ready to put up a stiff fight, not only against the cut President Coolidge is understood to want, in the next appropriation for warship building, but in favor of a much more liberal allowance than the present one.

Their argument is that the armament limitation agreement which resulted from the international conference called by President Harding to put a stop to the race for naval supremacy didn't, in reality, stop it, but simply changed its form. The United States, it's contended, has assumed that the race was stopped completely, but England and Japan haven't and subsequently this country will be completely outclassed as a sea power soon, at the present rate.

What the Harding conference did was to set a limit on capital ships, but no limit whatever was placed upon cruisers up to 10,000 tons. A 10,000 ton cruiser is a small affair compared with a 30,000 ton battleship, but leaving battleships out of consideration, the for-
