Seminole School Board, County Agree On Land Swap

By Brad Church
And Brian Hedberg
Herald Staff Writers

The Seminole County School Board and county commissioners have agreed on a swap of land offered by the county. The county wants 13 acres of a 20-acre parcel owned by the school district for a planned extension of Lake Mary Boulevard. It offered land adjacent to the planned Yankee Lake sewage disposal plant in exchange.

County commissioners set Feb. 23 as the date for a hearing on the exchange of property with the school district. Wednesday night, the school board's attorney, Ned Julian, asked board members to approve the draft of the swap agreement, with the county's stipulation that the board must keep the land for 10 years. After that time, if the board wishes to sell the land, it must first offer the county the chance to buy.

Superintendent Robert Hughes recommended approving the agreement with the stipulation, advertising the swap and intending to declare the 13 acres surplus at the Feb. 24 board meeting. The board passed the motion.

But Pat Telson, school board vice chairwoman, had reservations and unanswered questions about the swap, such as the cost of bussing children to the site and when surrounding properties are to be developed. She also asked whether students living in the proposed development across SR-46A would have to be bused or whether the county would provide a walkway across the road.

Hughes said the district would need an elementary school on the Yankee Lake site within 10 years. He said no bussing cost could be estimated until children actually live in the area.

Board member Ann Neiswender said a nearby gargantuan development is to be constructed beginning in April.

Since the swap would give the county 13 acres of the board's 20-acre plot east of U.S. Highway 17-92 in the Sunland development area, the board would retain seven acres. Hughes suggested that the board could resell the seven acres, with increased value once the street runs by it, and use the money for another school site. "We're getting two school sites for the price of one," he said.

Telson said she did not recall the board giving a definite nod on the swap. "I don't remember this coming before the board as an agenda item," she said. "I would probably have asked the attorney general's opinion on who has precedence over the land."

In Julian's opinion, law indicates that the county has superior condemnation power to the school board, he said.

Joseph Williams, chairman of the board, told board members, "We do know that we will need property. I think you need to be very open-minded about this arrangement."

In another school county matter, commissioners delayed rezoning for a proposed 217-acre housing development just south of the Oviedo city limits on the west side of Lockwood Road Tuesday night pending the developer and the school board agreeing on terms for a school site in the development.

Lottery Opens Second Game

Brisk Sales Of New Tickets Reported

Staff and Wire Reports
TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Lottery has unveiled its second instant winner game, "Cool Million," six weeks ahead of schedule because retailers are running out of tickets in the first game.

No sales figures for the second week are available, but some retailers report tickets moved even more briskly than in the first week when some 95 million $1 tickets were sold. Lottery Secretary Rebecca Paul reported Wednesday.

Two Sanford stores, the 7-11 at 112 French Ave. and the Circle K store at 2501 Airport Blvd. said they are still selling tickets from the first game, and have not received "Cool Million" tickets as of yet. A third store, Lil Champ at 301 French Ave., also is still selling tickets from the first game.

The 7-11 at 700 Lake Mary Blvd., Lake Mary, also reported that old tickets are still being sold there, and that no tickets for the new game has been received.

Paul also announced the first $1 million grand prize drawing will be held at Clearwater's Bellevue Baltimore Hotel Feb. 13.

Game No. 2 is called "Cool Million." It is played the same as "Millionaire," the first game, with players scratching off a latex cover to find out if they have won. But where tickets in game No. 1 were printed horizontally and colored pink and green, game No. 2 tickets are printed vertically and colored purple and blue.

Although more than 1,500 $5,000 prize tickets and nearly 500,000 "entry" tickets remain to be sold in "Millionaire," more than 20 percent of lottery retailers have already sold out of tickets in the game, Paul said.

"People who win 'entry' tickets are eligible for grand prize drawings."

The Department of the Lottery began shipping "Cool Million" tickets over the weekend, and they are already on sale in some areas. Retailers may begin selling tickets in the second game as soon as they run out of tickets for the first game.

"Since we have no 'Millionaire' tickets left in the warehouse, there are no orders we can fill with 'Millionaire' tickets right now," Paul said. "We are filling those orders with 'Cool Million' tickets."

Because of the overlap in the two games, players with "entry" tickets in the second game will

When Is Lottery Illegal?

By Brian Hedberg
Herald Staff Writer

Some lottery ticket licensees have been getting conflicting opinions as to whether their "second-chance lotteries," allowing people to drop used lottery tickets in a fishbowl for a drawing, are illegal.

The state Division of Alcohol, Beverages and Tobacco sent notices to retailers Monday stating that the drawings were illegal because they required the purchase of lottery tickets.

Jack B. Wallace, law enforcement captain in charge of the Orlando district of that division, said three licensees were holding drawings with used lottery tickets.

Before sending out the notices, the division got opinions from state attorneys based in Orange and Seminole counties, Wallace said.

Former City Commissioner Gordon Meyer Dies

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Insurance man and former Sanford City Commissioner Gordon Meyer died Wednesday at his residence at 2860 Lake Helen Osteen Road, Deltona, at the age of 60 from Wegeners, a rare disease. Born in Bellevue, Ohio, he moved to his 70-acre farm in Deltona from Sanford five months ago.

Memorial services will be held at 11 a.m. Friday at Grace United Methodist Church, Lake Mary with the Rev. William J. Boyer officiating. He had operated an insurance agency in Sanford since 1957. He served on the Sanford City Commission from Jan. 6, 1970 to Jan. 4, 1977.

Former Sanford City Manager Warren "Pete" Knowles said that Meyer "served at a time of growth and expansion and worked to leave Sanford a better place. At all times his thoughts were for the good of the people and his community." He recalled that as city commissioner, Meyer began his official duties by working with city refuse crews to learn what the service was like. "This insight made him a leader for improved refuse service with curbside pickups and modern one-man packers," Knowles said. "He worked to see Sanford as the first community in this area with cable television. He supported changing the zoo from public ownership to private ownership that modernized and enlarged the zoo into what we know today."

Knowles said Meyer also worked to upgrade public housing facilities and recreate a new public housing board, helped provide a new police complex, new fire station, remodeling and enlarging of the sewage treatment facility and paving of 23 miles of new streets.

City Commissioner John Mercer spoke of Meyer's work with the Kiwanis Club. He was a member of the "downtown" Sanford Club since 1963 and was president in 1967 — the year the membership reached 100 and the club received honorable mention from Kiwanis International as a Gold Section Club, the first time the club had received this distinction.

Mercer said, "Meyer was a hardworking and active member of the club until 1974 when he became a charter member of the Sunrise Kiwanis Club and served as second president. He held senior membership in the club at the time of his death."

Meyer served as president of the Seminole High School Booster Club in 1966, Mercer said. "He was a hard worker at anything he undertook. One of his memorable characteristics was his keen sense of humor. He was always able to see something funny in any adverse circumstance. He was a strong booster of Sanford and was a prime mover in keeping the zoo in Sanford when others tried to move it.

Meyer had many friends among motor home owners and was always ready to discuss his hobby of refurbishing motor homes, Mercer said. "His last love was his farm in Volusia County where he spent many hours over the past two years. His 'Fantasy Island' was a virtual paradise for birds and other creatures. Gordon will be greatly missed for his friendly smile and handshake."

Longtime friend John Carl said he first became acquainted with Meyer through the Toastmasters Club, which he was instrumental in organizing here. "He was always a champion of the people," Carl said, "and took a different approach in trying to help all the citizens in their problems and make his community a better place to live."

He was a member of Grace United Methodist Church.

He is survived by his wife, Bobbie Jean, three sons, three daughters and five grandchildren. It was Meyer's request that in lieu of flowers that donations be made to the Wegeners Disease Support Group in care of Sun-Bank NA, Account No. 3546993.

Police Probe Burglaries

Several burglaries are under investigation by the Sanford police, including one in which property worth $1,387 was stolen from the residence of a Sanford man.

Some property taken in one of those burglaries was recovered three hours after the burglary was reported.

Sometime between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Sunday, the residence of Storm Richards, 37, 1804 Maple Ave., was broken into, Richards told police. Assorted items were stolen, valued at $1,387.

Jane Dowdy, 21, 1912 Lake Ave. told police that sometime between 6 p.m. Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday, someone broke in her home and took various items worth $457. An unknown person apparently had used a shovel to remove a window screen, then they broke into the house through the window, and took the items. Dowdy said all the doors were locked.

Then at 6 p.m. Sunday police were called another address, where a witness told police a suspicious person had been seen emptying items out of a cart at 18th Street and Lake Avenue. At the site police found two gold picture frames, which had been among the items stolen from the Dowdy residence.

In another incident under investigation, a typewriter, adding machine and assorted tools were stolen from the office of Owens Sheet Metal, 100 N. Maple. Those items are valued at $1,081 and were taken sometime between 6 p.m. Friday and 6:41 a.m. Saturday, police said.

The unidentified burglar had removed a window in order to enter the office.

A large manila envelope full of papers was found near the building and returned to the office by investigators.

The burglar apparently was able to unlock a door to gain entry into the residence of Donovan L. Poyser, 30, 1307 Shepard Ave., according to police reports. In that incident, which occurred between 11 pm. Friday night and 10 a.m. Saturday, property valued at $539 was taken.

A Kenmore microwave oven worth $500 was taken from the residence of Anna L. Nelson, 1117 Orange Ave., after an unidentified burglar forced a bedroom window open.

The person left notes written in soap on the kitchen table, police said.

That incident happened between 11 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Friday.

Armed Robbery Suspect Jailed

When Kimberly Collins, 16, of 119 Salem Court, Altamonte Springs, returned home after being away for about 10 minutes at about 7:20 a.m. Monday she was confronted in her living room by a man armed with a handgun.

He reportedly warned her, "Put your hands up. If you say a word or scream, you're dead meat."

The intruder then went into the kitchen and searched for and found a butcher knife. But, he dropped the knife, put the pistol into the waistband of his pants and fled, without advancing on Collins. As he was leaving Collins' home he reportedly made another threat.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies called to the scene reported seeing a man in the area who matched the description Collins gave of the intruder. As the investigation continued, that man was reportedly identified as a suspect in the case.

James Thurman McGill, 44, of 711 Marker St., Altamonte Springs, was arrested at his home at 5:15 p.m. Tuesday. He has been charged with armed burglary to a dwelling and use of a firearm in a felony. He was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Throat Slashed In Smoke Fight

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A 19-year-old Sanford man whose throat was slashed in an argument over a cigarette late Monday in rural Sanford was in critical condition today in the Central Florida Regional Hospital. The 23-year-old man accused of slashing him remained jailed on a charge of aggravated battery.

The incident occurred at about 9:45 p.m. Monday in a field near Pineview Avenue east of South Sanford Avenue. Harold Dewayne Dixon of 2619 Elm Ave., Sanford, was being held in lieu of $5,000, accused of slashing the throat of Joseph Lee Sheehan, 713 Briarcliff St.

According to accounts witnesses gave Seminole County sheriff's investigator Dan Praet, eight persons had gathered in that field at about 8 p.m. to build a fire and drink beer. At about 9:30 p.m., Dixon and Sheehan reportedly began to argue over Sheehan's refusal to give a cigarette to one of the two women who were there.

Then as the argument heated up, Dixon allegedly drew a pocket knife with a 4-inch blade and brandished it against Sheehan, causing him to back away, toward the pickup truck in which the group had arrived.

Sheehan reportedly said, "If you want to fight me, fight without a knife," as he took off his watch to prepare to fight.

Dixon allegedly said, "I'll cut your damn throat," and allegedly slashed with the knife and slashed Sheehan's throat. Sheehan, who was bleeding, headed for the truck and all of the group, including Dixon, jumped into the truck to travel with Sheehan to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford.

Just before the truck turned off State Road 48 to enter the hospital grounds, Dixon later told Praet, he threw his knife from the bed of the truck where he was riding. It has not been recovered.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Disney Plans Resort Complex In $375 Million Joint Venture

LAKE BUENA VISTA (UPI) — The Walt Disney Co. announced plans today to build a $375-million convention and resort complex in central Florida designed by noted architect Michael Graves.

Disney said the complex, encompassing two hotels and 200,000 square feet of meeting space fronting on 50 acres of water, will be the largest such facility in the southeast United States. The complex will be built on 150 acres at Disney's Epcot Center attraction, the company said.

The project is a joint venture of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., Tishman Realty & Construction Co. and Aoki Corp., Disney said. The three companies will arrange financing and Tishman will act as managing partner.

Disney said Disney decided to build the project because of increasing demand for accommodation at Disney's Florida attractions, and because of an anticipated increase in tourist traffic.

DeSillers' Fund Nears $1 Million

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Marta DeSillers collected $980,310 in contributions for her late son Ronnie's liver transplants, hundreds of thousands more the amount she has disclosed to the public. It was reported today.

An audit by the Florida Secretary of State's Office found that about $175,000 of the donations could not be accounted for and that an additional $20,000 appeared to have been withdrawn for Marta DeSillers' expenses, the Fort Lauderdale Sun-Sentinel said.

Florida Secretary of State Jim Smith imposed an administrative fine of $1,000 against DeSillers Tuesday, charging that she failed to register as a charitable solicitation agent and lost her exempt status by using some money collected for personal expenses.

Ronnie DeSillers, who was 7, died last April 29 after three liver transplants at Pittsburgh's Childrens Hospital, which claims it is still owed $282,000 for the youngster's treatment.

Time To End A Deadly Game

The ball is in their court.
—A spokesman for the Sandinistas

The ball is now in two courts.
—U.S. Rep. David Bonior, D-Mich.

The tennis metaphor is apt, unfortunately. A fickle Congress, playing the role of referee over additional aid to the Contras, cranes its neck to the right, watching the administration's aggressive serve-and-volley game, then follows the ball back to the left, where Daniel Ortega parries administration smashes with tactical drop shots designed to keep his would-be terminator off balance. Meanwhile, a worried Costa Rican president works the crowd, seeking support to switch off the lights and roll up the net. The ball keeps bouncing.

The game will go on, it seems, at least until Feb. 3, when Congress is scheduled to take a vote on renewed aid. If the House approves the aid, the issue will go to the Senate the next day. If not, it could mean the end of the line for the Contras.

President Reagan, according to an administration Central American expert, has told top advisers that he wants the Sandinistas out by the time he leaves office next January.

That's unlikely, even if Congress grants every penny of the requested renewed Contra aid that the administration requests. What is likely, if Congress approves more aid to the Contras, is the demise, not of the Sandinistas, but of the Arias peace plan.

That would be tragic. If peace and regional stability are aims for Central America, the plan deserves support. Costa Rican President Oscar Arias and his fellow Central American heads of state have kept the peace accords alive since late August, despite resistance from Washington and Managua. The five presidents recently met in Costa Rica and managed to keep the plan moving.

Arias and the presidents of Guatemala, El Salvador and Honduras harbor no illusions about the Sandinistas. They recognize that the concessions Daniel Ortega made in Costa Rica—face-to-face talks with the Contras on a cease-fire, lifting the five-year-old state of emergency, amnesty for political prisoners—are reversible. They recognize that the Sandinistas, in the words of Miguel Cardinal Obando y Bravo, have "much farther to go."

They also believe that the Reagan administration's prescription for peace, military force, is poison for their part of the world. That is why they insisted that an end to U.S. aid to the Contras is an "indispensable requirement."

It is time for this deadly game to end. Ortega doesn't trust Reagan, and Reagan doesn't trust Ortega. Into this impasse Arias injects a hope. Congress might be wise to withhold Contra military aid and see if Ortega lives up to his word.

Lasers Fight AIDS

An exciting medical breakthrough could result in an even safer blood supply for those in need, thanks in part to the government's Strategic Defense Initiative.

Laser technology funded in part by research money from the space-based missile defense system was used by Baylor University Medical Center scientists in Dallas to cleanse donated blood of the deadly AIDS virus, as well as other infectious viruses. The new procedure, which uses a laser beam on dye-soaked blood and selectively kills viruses, would offer blood banks a nearly foolproof method of guaranteeing the safety of donated blood.

A Strong Dollar Makes America Strong

When Secretary of the Treasury James E. Baker launched his campaign of talking down the dollar as the answer to the trade deficit crisis, this column warned that his action would cause major trouble for the United States. This column argued that a weak dollar would symbolize a weak America. The argument was on the mark. The U.S. dollar has lost 50 percent of its value against major currencies.

Without admitting he made a mistake, Secretary Baker called on the major Western nations to help stop the free fall in the dollar. And, late last month, seven industrial countries agreed to help prevent "excessive" changes in the dollar's value. It remains to be seen, however, when it will be possible to stabilize the dollar. World markets may not go along with the finance ministers of the seven nations.

Mr. Baker deserves a lot of blame for his mistaken policy of talking down the dollar. Yet why should anyone be surprised that he erred? Mr. Baker hasn't any knowledge of economic realities. He came to positions of national influence after working as a campaign manager for former President Ford. That's not much of a credential for a chief economic policy planner.

Mr. Baker, however, wasn't the only prominent figure who erred. The nation's community of economists didn't prove any more farsighted. Almost without exception, they bought the notion that the dollar should be talked down. Unfortunately, the prominent economists, who are quoted endlessly in the daily and business press, have a poor record of forecasting.

Certainly, they didn't predict the October 19 stock market crash. And for several years, while the trade deficit mushroomed, they have spoken in chorus, saying that more free trade is the answer to the deficit and that improvement would occur in a month or so.

Well, the trade deficit hasn't turned around; that's one reason the dollar has been in a free fall. The community of economists also has insisted that Japan and West Germany, with huge trade surpluses, will yield some of their advantages and help bail out the United States. Again, that hasn't happened. Economists seem to have a very poor perception of the reality of national interest. The Japanese and West Germans won't give up an advantage unless they are compelled to do so by changes in America's trade laws.

The tunnel vision of the professional economists isn't anything new. It's well to bear in mind that the economists of the 1920s didn't foresee the stock market crash of 1929 or the Great Depression which ensued.

Where, then, do the American people turn for economic guidance? Fortunately, there's a body of economic common sense that can and should be relied on by officialdom. Small and medium-sized businessmen work on the basis of this common sense. One item of common sense is that a strong dollar helps make a strong America. That's confirmed by historical experience.

Reagan Agenda Is Full

By Helen Thomas
White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan says he is "not finished yet" and he wants his eighth year in office to be the best.

But the president is a realist and he has lowered his sights while sticking to his guns on his conservative agenda. For the past seven years he has railed against Washington and big government and called for amendments to permit prayer in the schools and to ban abortion.

He does not expect to make much headway on the domestic side with the Democrats in control of both houses in Congress.

But ironically the president could make real contributions in the foreign policy field, which he ignored in his first year in office except to throw down the gauntlet in Central America and to never let up in a drive to wipe out Marxist influence and rebels—a cause he feels close to on grounds that the region is close "to our borders."

Reagan plans to meet next month with Mexican President Miguel de la Madrid, who like him is a lame duck, and to promote a free trade agreement similar to the accord reached with Canada at the end of December.

The president also has a good chance to improve his contribution to arms control as his legacy if negotiations go well with the Soviets in Geneva in the coming months.

A big feather in his cap would be to walk away from a summit meeting in Moscow in May with an agreement on a 50 percent superpower reduction in long range strategic missiles.

The summit meeting with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev will be held whether the gap is closed or not, but Reagan is striving mightily to add another arms pact to his laurels.

He expects the Senate will ratify the treaty with the Soviets to eliminate medium- and short-range missiles from Europe and Asia, despite strong opposition from his conservative supporters who think it is a sellout and who question whether the Russians would abide by the verification provisions.

Engineer Disputes Challenger Findings

By Jack Anderson
And
Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — Two years ago today, the space shuttle Challenger saw fire striking the right wing and main engines after it was launched into the Florida sky. He contends that the steadily growing leak of fire was obscured by the lighting and the shuttle's external tank, so the commission did not confirm the "first evidence of flame" until 58.7 seconds into the flight.

AbuTaha claims his continuous-leak theory helps explain other anomalies, including the inability of recovery teams to find missing shuttle pieces off the Florida coast.

His findings have been heralded by some aerospace officials and dismissed by others. David Acheson of the Rogers Commission called AbuTaha "ingenious," but his theories "not very persuasive."

After reviewing AbuTaha's preliminary findings early last year, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration wrote a three-page analysis of his work that ended by saying, "NASA finds no evidence in any of your analyses that could change the original sequence of events or the cause of the accident."

But the controversial engineer's work has recently prompted a Pentagon intelligence official to try to get him an audience at NASA

JEFFREY HART

Racial Trials

New York City has just entertained the nation with two extraordinary criminal trials, and it is reasonable to conclude that a white male cannot get a fair trial in that city and almost certainly in similar places.

In the Howard Beach case, and I will not rehearse all of the circumstances, a gang of white youths assaulted three blacks, as a result of which one black ran onto a throughway and was killed by a car. If this had been a street fight between two gangs of whites, it would hardly have been noticed, even if someone had been hit by a car.

But, since a black had died, all hell broke loose. Mayor Koch, often an admirable politician, used the incident to mend his political fences with wary black pals, and termed it the worst experience in the history of his own experience. Black spokesmen became operative.

The entire criminal justice procedure was derailed. One of the two surviving blacks was the most material of witnesses—but his radical black lawyer refused to have him testify before the grand jury.

Neither you nor I could get away with any such thing. I would have been subpoenaed. If I chose to plead the Fifth, I would have been immunized. And if I still refused to testify, I would have been jailed repeatedly for contempt of court.

No such thing happened this time. New York's Governor Mario Cuomo, himself a lawyer, short-circuited the criminal justice system and appointed a special prosecutor.

Well, the jury worked very hard, day after day, and convicted three of the white men of manslaughter. Second degree. The jury studied the text of the appropriate statutes. Black spokesmen yelled "murder." The special prosecutor announced that he would go for consecutive rather than concurrent five-year terms, ten years instead of five.

And we also have the Goetz case. On the verge of being held up and maybe killed by four blacks carrying sharpened screwdrivers and long criminal records, Goetz, previously mugged, shot them.

The first grand jury threw out the charges. Under political pressure, the District Attorney re-opened the case. Goetz was indicted. At his trial, the jury threw out all manslaughter charges, ruling firmly in favor of the circumstantial argument from self-defense. Goetz had a jury of his peers, black and white, who have to ride the New York City subway. The jury convicted Goetz of having an illegal gun.

Whew, Goetz goes free, maybe with a fine, as a "first offender."

But, oh no. The judge hands down a heavy jail sentence on the gun charge. EVEN THOUGH THE JURY HAD ACCEPTED THE SELF-DEFENSE ARGUMENT.

It is clear that in both the Howard Beach case and the Bernhard Goetz case, the criminal justice system has been corrupted by racial—and, by liberal—politics.

This columnist has admired Mayor Ed Koch a great deal, a wit and a wonderful raconteur. But when push comes to political shove, Koch has been a pillar of butter. So has Cuomo. So has the New York Times. Black jurors can give a white an even break. White liberals cannot.

Space Junk Dangers

By Ivan Zverina

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — It's getting crowded up there, and tests for the U.S. "Star Wars" program may add even more to the belt of space garbage created around Earth over the last three decades, a U.N. report says.

It predicts that even with a "normal" rocket launch frequency of 100 per year, over the next 100 years space debris will become "not only a hazard to man's activities in space but detrimental to astronomical observations from the ground."

"Action on an international scale is obviously needed to deal with the global issue of space debris," the report concludes.

The author of the report to the U.N. General Assembly is Siegfried J. Bauer, chairman of a United Nations panel on Potentially Environmentally Detrimental Activities in Space.

Bauer is a professor at the Institute for Meteorology and Geophysics of the University of Graz, Austria.

"Even in the geostationary orbit (22,500-mile altitude) the accumulation of objects is a serious problem, since this orbit is used for weather and telecommunications satellites," Bauer says.

He says that at this point "the possibility of a collision with space debris is still very small, but it is not completely negligible, particularly compared to the hazard from extraterrestrial material such as micrometeorites."

Besides the larger fragments there are at least 2,000 objects ranging in size from 4 to 8 inches and about 50,000 in the range of one-half inch to 4 inches.

Below that, there are "millions to billions of metal and paint chips in the millimeter and submillimeter range" which pose greater danger than would appear from their size.

Bauer lists several examples of damage to satellites caused by man-made space debris.

One is an electronic box of the U.S. Solar-Max satellite recovered on a shuttle flight, which showed 160 holes caused by paint chips.

The Challenger space shuttle, subsequently lost in the Jan. 28, 1986 explosion, on an earlier mission had one window damaged by a white paint chip only 0.2 mm across — which caused a 3-mm "crater."

contains the commission did not use the cockpit recording in reaching their conclusions.

David Acheson, the only commissioner to review AbuTaha's video evidence, said his theories hinge on questionable glimpses of light.

Myron Uman, director of the National Research Project, which is overseeing the redesign of the next shuttle, said AbuTaha simply "doesn't understand much of the stuff he is doing." Even if some of AbuTaha's findings are correct, they would not affect future shuttle flights, Uman said. Preparation for NASA's 26th shuttle launch, scheduled for August, has included exhaustive testing of the boosters beyond the O-ring problems, he added.

An aerospace scientist in private industry, Dr. Andrew Meulenbergh, speculates NASA has been using some of AbuTaha's findings "without admitting it."

The official NASA chronology contains no unusual occurrence between a series of puffs of black smoke three seconds after liftoff and the first visible flame 55 seconds later. "NASA says something happened at the beginning and at the end and nothing in between," said Meulenbergh. "AbuTaha has basically filled in the blanks."

Three Sentenced For DUI

The following persons have pleaded or been found guilty of driving under the influence or having an unlawful blood alcohol level.

The first-time offenders have had their driver license suspended for 6 months, been ordered to pay a fine and court costs usually totalling $367.50 and complete 50 hours of community service. When a guilty or no contest plea is entered or if the defendant is found guilty of an alcohol-related charge, other charges are usually either not prosecuted or dismissed. Most of the first-time offenders are allowed to apply for business-only driving permits. In cases where the sentences differs, the actual sentence is reported:

—Clifford Wayne Davis, 27, of 281 Mosswood Circle, Winter Springs, was arrested, on Oct. 3, after the car he was driving was involved in an accident on Interstate-4.

—Gary Dale Gustafson, 31, of Orlando, was arrested on Oct. 4, after the car he was driving was clocked traveling at 61 mph in a 45 mph zone. Gustafson received a $500 fine, 10 days in the Seminole County jail and had his driver's license suspended for five years as part of his sentence.

—Peter Andre McFarlane, 32, of Deltona, was arrested on Sept. 4, after the car he was driving was observed weaving on 25th Street in Sanford.

Martinez' Program Supported

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Education Commissioner Betty Castor says Gov. Bob Martinez' proposed $34.6 million program to prevent high school dropout and meet pre-school needs of poor children could be "a major step forward" for education.

Martinez unveiled a plan Wednesday he calls Children at Risk Embraced, or CARE. He said it will be included in the $20 billion state budget he submits to the Legislature next month.

"The goal of my CARE program is quite simple," Martinez said. "It is to help more Florida youngsters arrive at school each morning fully ready to learn, and to give them a more meaningful education once they pass through the schoolhouse doors."

The package is based on recommendations from Castor and the Department of Education as well as some current programs. Castor said she is delighted the governor had embraced them and believes his support will be critical toward their ultimate approval.

A central part of CARE is a $20 million recommendation for pre-school training for about 8,000 4-year-olds from low income families and an undetermined number of 3-year-olds. The training will be comparable to that provided for children enrolled in private day care or nursery schools — training most educators believe helps children perform better when they enter public school.

Castor said that of all the Southern states, only Texas has a substantial pre-kindergarten public education system. But the potential benefits are enormous.

"If we can get our program up and running, it will be a major step forward," she said.

Castor had proposed $43 million for the program.

Martinez would also spend $1.37 million on migrant education. That would allow the state to serve 3,500 migrant children, half of all migrant 3-and-4 year olds.

He also wants to spend $1 million to keep some schools open on Saturday, to "return to the old-fashioned notion of the school as a community center."

Those schools would offer arts and crafts, special courses and other educational and entertainment opportunities, to be provided by the departments of Health and Rehabilitative Services and Labor, and by city and county recreational programs.

"A lot of young people enjoy athletics," Martinez said. "But there's an awful lot of talented young people ... who want to learn simple typing or computer utilization. Saturday schools can provide that type of environment."

Students would not have to attend Saturday school unless they wished to.

Martinez would spend $500,000 to bring more volunteers into the classroom, and $500,000 more to offer pre-school and post-school activities, such as counseling, in certain elementary schools.

Martinez would also set aside $10 million to reward "merit schools" that produce high student achievement test scores. He would allocate $1.2 million to expand dropout prevention programs.

QBs: Wrong Reasons For Attention

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The quarterbacks for Super Bowl XXII say they are getting attention for the wrong reasons.

People keeping talking about Denver's John Elway as a one-man team. That isn't so, Elway says. Washington's Doug Williams gains attention for being the first black quarterback to play in a Super Bowl. That is irrefutable. However, Williams is not on a crusade.

"If young people want to use me as a role model, that's fine," Williams said. "But I'm not going on tour saying, 'I'm Doug Williams. I'm the first black quarterback to ever play in the Super Bowl.'"

"I'm not going to be used. If Ronald Reagan wanted to use me, I wouldn't be. I've known Jesse Jackson for three or four years. But I haven't talked to him lately and, if he did call, I would tell him the same thing. I'm not a politician. I don't plan to get in politics."

Williams has been compared to Jackie Robinson, the first black to play major-league baseball. Williams said that comparison is misdirected.

"Jackie Robinson was the first black to play baseball. I'm not the first black to play football," he said. "(Coach) Joe Gibbs and (General Manager) Bobby Beathard didn't bring me here to be the first black quarterback in the Super Bowl. They brought me in to be quarterback of the Washington Redskins."

Elway was brought to Denver to bring the Broncos to the Super Bowl, and he has done that two straight years. But he emphasizes the job has not been accomplished alone.

SUPER BOWL

"That's nonsense," he said of the one-man-team tag. "I'm one of the cogs in the machine. It's just that the more you play, the more the team adjusts to you. This offense takes advantage of what I do best."

Elway just wishes his teammates would help field some of his questions.

"As a pro football player, it's your goal to get here and answer the same questions over and over," he said with a chuckle.

Elway knows what question Williams has heard over and over.

"I feel bad for Doug because he's going to hear that question a million times, but it's got to be a sense of pride for him," he said.

Williams has handled the questions well.

"The only question I wasn't ready for came from this guy a couple of days ago," he said. "He asked me how long I had been a black quarterback. That one surprised me."

Although much of the attention is going to the quarterbacks, Denver Coach Dan Reeves says history dictates defense wins championships.

"The last time I can recall a team people referred to as an offensive team winning an NFL championship was the Philadelphia Eagles in 1960," Reeves said.

The Redskins' defense played a larger role in their advancing to the Super Bowl. They held Chicago without a touchdown in the second half of a 21-17 victory in the divisional playoffs, then turned in two fourth-quarter goal-line stands in a 17-10 victory over Minnesota in the NFC Championship Game.

Denver's defense was strong in a 34-10 rout of Houston in the divisional playoffs but surrendered 464 yards in a 38-33 triumph over Cleveland in the AFC title game.

"That offense can make you look bad," Reeves said of the Browns. "We're improved; our defense has gotten better each game since we played Buffalo (in the eighth regular-season game)."

More disturbing to the Broncos is the way they squandered leads of 21-3 and 28-10 against the Browns before Elway's 23-yard pass to Sammy Winder snapped a 31-31 tie with four minutes left.

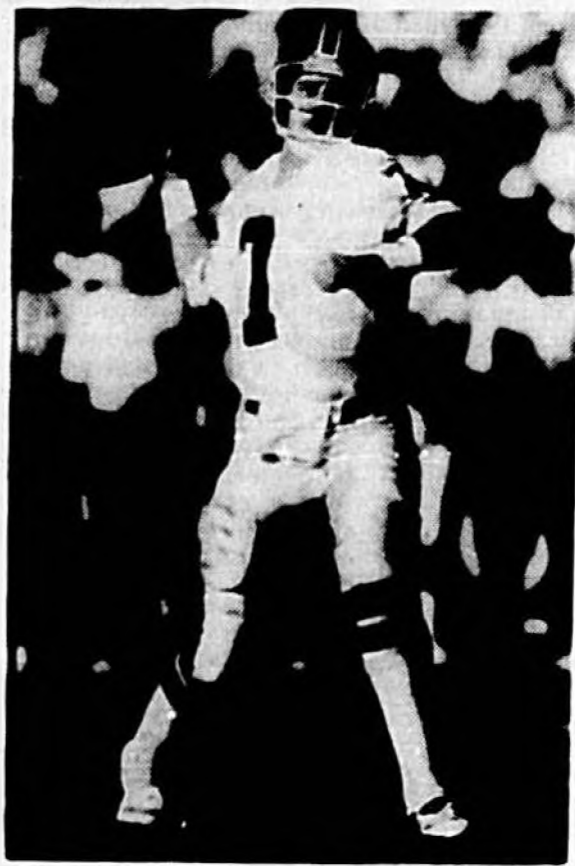

"The only thing I'm concerned about is we've had several people on the ropes and let them off," Denver defensive end Rulon Jones said. "We, as a team, have to learn the killer instinct."

That could be costly against the Redskins, who came behind in six of their 10 non-strike regular-season and postseason victories.

"Our motto is: we don't care how we win as long as we win," Washington wide receiver Gary Clark said. "We're the ugly ducklings of football. We'll take a win by one point any time."

Both teams went through normal workouts Wednesday, with the Redskins continuing to switch jerseys as they did in their first workout Monday. The Broncos might consider doing the same after a security breach Wednesday.

A homeowner near the San Diego State practice field stood on his roof with a video camera until Mark Lewis, a security specialist traveling with the Broncos, convinced him to stop filming.

John Elway says he is not a one-man team for Denver's Broncos. Elway and Washington's Doug Williams are battling the media this week before going against each other in Sunday's Super Bowl.

Whitney's 27, Walker's 23 Lift 'Noles

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Editor

Andre Whitney and Craig Walker are a pair of seniors who, on any given night, can dominate a ballgame. And, when they are both on at the same time, Seminole High is a hard ballclub to stop.

Whitney scored 23 of his game-high 27 points in the second half and Walker had a strong all-around performance with 23 points and 12 rebounds as the Seminoles dispatched Lake Brantley's Patriots, 71-50, in Seminole Athletic Conference play Wednesday night before 431 fans at Seminole High.

Seminole improved to 11-5 overall and remains tied for 1st in the conference at 5-1. DeLand, which edged Oviedo, 51-50, on Wednesday, is also 5-1 in the league. Seminole hosts Lake Howell Friday night.

"We didn't do too bad once we got into the flow of the game," Seminole coach Greg Robinson said. "We played good defense and that generated a lot of our offense."

Brantley dropped to 8-9 overall and 2-4 in the conference. The Patriots have a nonconference game Friday at Spruce Creek.

"Seminole's defensive pressure was too much for us," Lake Brantley coach Steve Jucker said. "Their full-court, man to man defense took us out of our offense. It's the first time we've seen that all year so we couldn't stimulate it in practice."

After scoring only four points in the first half when Seminole clung to a 26-23 lead, Whitney erupted for eight points in the early going of the third quarter to give Seminole a comfortable lead, 40-31.

"It just took us a while to get warmed up tonight," the 6-1 point guard said. "I just came back and played hard and took the shots Brantley gave me in the second half."

Walker, a 6-8 center, then came through with seven consecutive points late in the quarter for a 49-39 Seminole lead going into the fourth.

"Brantley played pretty physical inside so I had to kind of muscle them around," Walker said. "I kept my cool, though, and didn't get down on myself. We were a little shaky at first, but we came into form in the second half."

Brantley, behind the hustle of Trey White and the free throw shooting of Darren Leva, got as close as seven points, 57-50, midway through the fourth period, but Walker and Whitney then combined for 10 points in the late going to seal the victory for the 'Noles.

Behind the Whitney-Walker combination for Seminole, Walt Hopson contributed nine points and Reginald "Cheese" Bellamy

Rams Top Hawks In Overtime, 57-56

CASSELBERRY — Corey Prom scored a game-high 17 points including a three pointer in overtime to guide Lake Mary to a 57-56 victory over Lake Howell Wednesday night in a Seminole Athletic Conference matchup before 201 fans at Lake Howell High School.

Lake Mary, 7-6 overall and 4-2 in the SAC, will return to action this Friday at DeLand. Lake Howell fell to 4-12 overall and 0-6 in the conference and will take on Seminole at Seminole Friday.

"We played an average game," Prom said. "We stood around a lot and didn't make to much happen."

The game was nip and tuck from the opening tipoff as the first quarter ended with a 14-14 deadlock. The Rams shot well in the second quarter to open a 27-21 intermission lead.

Lake Mary upped the margin to 42-35 after three quarters as the game then became interesting.

"Lake Howell played great defense in the fourth quarter," Lake Mary coach Willie Richardson said. "They forced us into a lot of unforced errors and played well enough to win the game, we were lucky, very lucky."

Steve Johnson got the Silver Hawks started in the fourth period with a three pointer cutting the lead to 42-38 with 6:35 to play.

Prom then sank a jumper to up the lead to 44-38 with 6:16 to play. Lake Howell countered with three consecutive free throws by Aaron Gammons to cut the margin to 44-41 with 4:24 remaining.

Gammons led the Silver Hawks with 16. Johnson added 14 as C. Gibson netted 11 with a trio of three pointers. Prom led the Rams followed by Bernard Mitchell's 16 points and 15 rebounds. Terry Miller added 10 as freshman Mike Merthie chipped in eight.

Lake Mary built its lead back up on freethrows and a bucket by Miller off a nice feed from Merthie to take a 49-41 advantage with 3:23 to play. C. Gibson then zipped a three to give the Gammons was then whistled for a technical foul when he slapped the backboard on a layup attempt by Merthie. Prom connected on one of two free throws followed by another by Miller after being fouled on the inbounds play as the Rams took a 51-46 lead.

Lake Mary then slowed the tempo down before Lake Howell came up with a steal with 31 seconds to play. Gibson appeared to be taking the ball to the hoop, then stopped and popped a three to cut the lead to 51-49 with 20 seconds to play.

The Silver Hawks came up with a steal of the press and Steve Johnson hit a layup with 10 seconds to play to send the game into the extra period.

The Rams took control of the tip in the final three minutes, then worked the ball around to Prom who canned a three-pointer for a 54-51 lead with 2:04 remaining. Gammons sank an inside hoop at the other end to cut the lead to one, 54-53, with 1:48 left.

Bernard Mitchell then scored inside for the Rams while being fouled. Mitchell converted on the freethrow to take a four point lead, 57-53, with 1:28 to play.

The Silver Hawks refused to give in, though, as they came right back to pull within a point off a pair of freethrows by Johnson and one by Gammons. The Rams missed four straight freethrows in the final 49 seconds opening the door for Lake Howell who took control with 17 seconds remaining.

The Silver Hawks worked the ball up the floor before a deflected pass gave them possession under their own goal with nine seconds to play.

Lane's 3-Pointer Upends Oviedo

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

Marvin Lane hit his only shot of the night, a three pointer, to lift the DeLand Bulldogs past Oviedo, 52-51, Wednesday night at Oviedo High School.

DeLand improved to 12-8 overall and 4-2 in the Seminole Athletic Conference and will host Lake Mary Friday. Oviedo fell to 11-5 and 3-3 in conference action and will play at Lyman this Friday.

Lane shot just 1-of-13 on the night but his bucket was a big one. Oviedo attempted to counter but a tip in by Pete Lingard was just a second late.

"Lane made his shot with 12 seconds left," Oviedo coach Dale Phillips said. "We came down and had (Garth) Bolton shoot the ball, it was partially blocked and by the time Lingard tipped it in the buzzer had sounded."

James Edwards led the way for the Bulldogs with 15 points as Alan Burtsea added 14. Robbie Wilkes added 11 with three three-point field goals.

Bolton continued his high scoring with a game-high 25 points. Steve Kandell added six as Brian Wilson chipped in five.

"It was an evenly played game throughout," Phillips said. "The only difference is I think they (DeLand) played more aggressive defense than we did."

DeLand led 28-25 at half and Oviedo was able to stay close in the second half and took a late, 51-49, lead off a Bolton jumper. Lane then came down and tossed in the long bomb to provide the margin of victory for the Bulldogs.

"We played a good game," Phillips said. "Our scoring wasn't as even as it has been and we needed just a little more from our guards."

Bass Fishermen: Take Time To Stop And Smell The Roses

Bass fishing has evolved dramatically in the last ten years. A decade ago, anglers would be content to lazily drift along in the currents, enjoy the scenery, and plug the shoreline. Today's bass fishermen turn their caps around, jam the throttle to the red line, and race to distant glory holes.

The instrument panel of a modern bass boat resembles that of an airplane. Various types of electronic devices such as meters, gauges and recorders all run at the same time, looking like a science laboratory.

Many bass anglers would not dream of making a cast without consulting a color selector, PH gauge, water temperature gauge, and a depth recorder. As bass fishermen, we have become a nation of weekend scientists, and we are roaming further and further away from the original intent of fishing—to relax and to observe nature.

Jim Shupe

HERALD FISHING WRITER

More and more fishermen are losing their powers of observation because they are so wrapped up in the chase for the elusive bass. What does a heron wading in the water mean to a bass fisherman who is zooming by at break-neck speed? Chances are, the majority of fishermen wouldn't even notice the bird, and the heron is one of the greatest fish finders ever.

I have found many good fishing spots, in fresh and salt water, by watching birds such as the heron. These birds know all of the good spots, and they are expert anglers because their very existence depends upon the ability to locate and catch fish.

Bass fishermen are gradually losing their ability to interpret nature as they become entranced by electronic gadgetry. In fact, some fishermen would probably quit and go home if their depth recorder or some other device failed.

Make a promise to yourself to rely more upon your senses and to turn off your instruments once in a while and slow down. Take time to "smell the roses" and use your powers of observation to find fish. Watch the birds, the weed growth, the slope of the channel, and the current eddies.

SHUPE'S SCOOP

Water birds, especially herons, can be bird dogs for bass fishermen. They will usually position themselves on points and other fishy areas in search of food. You can bet that there will be plenty of baitfish where a heron is standing—and where there is baitfish, gamefish will not be far away.

Market Moderate, Prices Up

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher today in moderate trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which fell 9.45 Wednesday, was ahead 11.27 to 1922.41 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 655-252 among the 1,355 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 18,720,000 shares.

The market closed mixed Wednesday in moderately active trading after computer-driven program selling capped a day-long struggle with two different interpretations of the latest economic data from Washington.

Sid Dorr, vice president of block trading at Robinson-Humphrey Co. in Atlanta, said the stock market took its early cue from the bond market which strengthened following the government's report on fourth-quarter growth.

Monie Gordon, research director at Dreyfus Corp. in New York, said the market was "still very uncertain" and had become a place where "short-term strategies last about two hours and intermediate strategies might last about four hours."

Fleming Elected Treasurer Of Expressway Authority

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

Penny Fleming, Seminole County's director of management and budget department, was elected treasurer of the Seminole County Expressway Authority Wednesday.

The authority elected a treasurer to comply with Clerk of Court David Berrien's request. Berrien, who has been handling the authority's finances, told the authority earlier this month that according to a his legal advisor, the authority should have its own treasurer and accounts since the authority was a creation of state legislation.

Gerald Britton, executive director of the authority, said the authority's funds were not commingled with county funds, as implied in Berrien's letter, but have been maintained in separate accounts.

Britton said Fleming will set up new books and open new accounts and transfer authority funds into them. In line with the separation of authority book-keeping from the county, Britton said he and his secretary will no longer be considered county employees, but employees of the authority.

Authority Chairman Fred Streetman reported that the idea of a regional expressway authority is pretty much dead since he and Britton met with the director and chairman of the Orange County Expressway Authority last month.

Dollar Drifts Slightly Down; Gold, Silver Open Higher

By United Press International

The dollar drifted slightly lower today in light trading on major world money markets. Gold edged higher.

Currency traders said Wednesday's release of U.S. gross national product figures for the last quarter of 1987 failed to bolster the value of the dollar.

The GNP report showed the nation's economy grew at an inflation-adjusted annual rate of 4.2 percent in the final quarter.

Earlier in the Far East, the dollar fell slightly against the Japanese yen despite small-scale intervention by the Bank of Japan, closing at 127.05 yen, down 0.60 from Wednesday's close of 127.65 yen.

Silver also edged higher, opening the day 5 cents higher in Zurich at $6.65 and gaining 6 cents in London to $6.64 an ounce.

Farmers Face 'Tax They Don't Owe'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Farmers will be forced to pay "a tax they don't owe" unless Congress blocks the government from collecting highway taxes on diesel fuel used on farms and ranches, farm-state congressmen said Wednesday.

"This isn't going to be popular with farmers, I predict," Rep. James Juntz, D-Ind., said. "Farmers are just now becoming aware" of the problem.

The budget reconciliation law enacted last year included an attempt to crack down on abuse in excise tax collections. A number of congressmen say the unfair side effect is that farmers, beginning April 1, will be forced to pay the 15.1-cent a gallon highway tax on diesel fuel used in agricultural work and then wait until they file their income tax forms to apply for a refund.

In the past, farmers had an exemption from paying the excise tax for on-farm use of the fuel.

"It's as if somebody in government said, 'How can we make life tougher for farmers?' and the answer was, 'Make 'em

Seminole counties to form a joint authority, but both county authorities rejected the idea.

Streetman said neither county could think of advantages that a joint authority would have over the present separate authorities, unless the state could come up with $300 million for the expressway. Streetman said the state Department of Transportation has said their would be no advantage in getting state funds by combining authorities.

In fact, Streetman said, it may be an advantage to have separate rate authorities when it comes to getting state funds. Other expressway authorities would be more jealous of a central Florida authority receiving a large amount of funds than if two separate authorities got the same amount of money between them, Streetman speculated.

Britton and Streetman will go to Tallahassee Feb. 9 to lobby for money for Seminole County's portion of the expressway being included in the DOT's proposed budget.

Those attorneys said since the elements of prize, chance and consideration exist, the drawings constitute a lottery, he said.

However, David Adams, chief spokesman for the Department of State, said that under Chapter 849 of the Florida statutes, such a game of chance is not illegal if the prize is under $5,000 and no purchase is required for that business.

Adams said the Florida statute chapter does not prohibit second-chance drawings, according to the interpretation of his department's legal counsel.

Retailers could escape the lottery definition by eliminating the element of consideration, which makes a game exclusive in some respect, Wallace said. They could merely accept names on pieces of paper as well as used lottery tickets. "We're not suggesting that they do it, but that is a way they could get around it," he said.

The question of whether that roundabout method is legal has surfaced for Wallace's division.

Within a week or so, the Division of Alcohol, Beverages and Tobacco, which oversees Orange, Seminole, Lake, and Ocala counties, plans to get an opinion from its legal staff and, if necessary, state attorneys or the attorney general, Wallace said.

"We want to be fair to the licensees. They're obviously confused. They've heard from some people that their lotteries are legal and from a state agency that they are illegal," Wallace said.

Notices of illegal lotteries were sent Monday to Princeton Spur, 300 E. Princeton Street, Orlando; Quick Serv, 9250 Bear Lake Road, Apopka; and Russell Seaford Shop, 3801 E. State Road 46, Sanford.

The notice, quoting a Florida administrative rule, said, "Anytime you request or require any person to give or pay a consideration in order to participate in such games for which prizes of monetary value are given or awarded, the winners are prohibited."

Licensees have said state lottery officials have assured them the chance games were legal. "We've had numerous licensees call and say lottery people have been around okaying them to conduct a second drawing," Wallace said.

Alex Khoury, owner of Quick Serv in Apopka, said he will continue holding drawings for a $50 weekly prize because of assurances from state lottery officials. Khoury said he plans to allow those who don't have used lottery tickets to enter his drawings by writing their names on blank pieces of paper.

Charitable divisions in Florida recently were allowed by law to hold raffles.

set aside 15 acres in the development for a possible school site. The developer offered to sell the school district the land for the same price per acre paid for it.

However, Richard Wells, assistant superintendent for school facilities, told the commissioners that the developer had offered the district a one-year option on the property. Wells said considering the U.S. Home development and other in the area the board was interested in school sites there. However, he said because of the constraints of state law in obtaining funds for school construction, it would be impossible for the school board to buy the property in one year.

Steve Mellich, a representative of U.S. Home, said the developer only wanted a commitment from the school district within a year that it would purchase the property sometime in the future. He said as the developer planned to build out the complete 217 acres within three years. If it reserves the 15 acres and then the school district decides it doesn't want it, U.S. Home will be left with 15 vacant acres, he said.

Wells said the offer to only commit to buying within a year was a new offer he hadn't heard before and he would have to confer with school board members to find out if the offer was acceptable to them.

Consideration of the rezoning, from R1AA residential to PUD, planned residential development, was delayed until Feb. 23.

They will then drive past Fort Mellon Park, up Park Avenue to Centennial Park. The Sanford family was instrumental in founding and building Holy Cross Episcopal Church, adjacent to the park. Legendre will also be escorted past the new library, Sanford Flower Shop and Nash Garage. Nash Garage is on the site of the Sanford House, a hotel owned by General Sanford.

A private reception will be held from noon to 1 p.m. at the library/museum, followed by a private luncheon in her honor from 1 p.m. to approximately 2 p.m. at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

At the noon reception, the mayor will present Legendre with the key to the city. Other plans for the reception include a tour of the museum for Legendre, conducted by Curator Alicia Clarke and Mildred Caskey. A slide show of Belgium, where Gen. Sanford served as ambassador under President Lincoln, and a short history of the city of Sanford, will be presented by Seminole County Commissioner William Kirchoff.

Sizemore emphasized that the public is invited to meet Legendre at the museum at 2 p.m. when she will autograph copies of her autobiography, "The Time of My Life." Members of the Historic Preservation Society will sell the book Sunday afternoon and copies can also be purchased at Freeland Book Store, 203 E. First St. Copies are also available at the museum, however, the purchaser would have to pay by check, since only Society members will be handling cash sales of the book at the museum. All proceeds from 100 copies of the book donated by Legendre will go to the museum, Sizemore said.

benefit United Way organizations in that county only, and that the county organization would be able to pull out of the merged organization in the future if it wishes. Osceola County's donor meeting is scheduled for Feb. 15.

Donors may bring a cancelled check or a receipt to the Friday meeting as proof that they are donors to the United Way campaign, and will be eligible to vote on the proposed merger.

There is no required quorum and those eligible donors present will vote the measure up or down. Directors and members of the boards of United Way organizations in the county have been invited to attend the meeting, as well as board members.

The merger was to go into effect on Jan. 1, but an attorney who drew up the revised articles of incorporation pointed out to the three county organizations that the merger could not become final until after the donor meetings. If approved by the three donor meeting attendees, the merger will go into effect within 30 days of the last meeting.

Teeth Grinding Isn't Problem To Grin, Bear

DEAR ABBY: This is for "No Sleeping Beauty" married three months but getting no sleep because her husband, "Frank," grinds his teeth in his sleep. You suggested that Frank wear a teeth guard at night—but you weren't firm enough. "Bruxism" (teeth grinding) places a tremendous amount of stress on one's jaw and can damage the disc in the joint. This results in a condition known as "temporomandibular joint" (TMJ) syndrome.

I should know—I was a tooth grinder, and it nearly ruined my life. It's an incredibly painful condition. I couldn't chew. I had severe headaches and muscle spasms in my face, neck and back. I lost my job and nearly lost my husband. For two years the doctors didn't know what was wrong with me. I was suicidal because of the pain and was even sent to a mental health facility!

Eventually the condition was correctly diagnosed. I had three surgeries and spent four years undergoing various treatments.

So, if Frank thinks all he has to worry about is his teeth, he is sorely mistaken. He should make an appointment immediately with a dentist or oral surgeon trained in the treatment of TMJ. And as for not being able to sleep with an appliance in his mouth, consider the alternatives: Three operations, $250,000 in medical bills and six years in hell!

BEEN THERE IN ARIZONA

DEAR BEEN THERE: Your valuable testimonial should be enough to alert "No Sleeping Beauty" to the seriousness of her husband's teeth grinding. But here are some firsthand kudos for a "night guard" from a lady who is a user and a pusher:

DEAR ABBY: "No Sleeping Beauty" should get her husband to a dentist now if she has to hog-tie him to do it! People who grind their teeth in their sleep are in for serious dental and jaw problems.

I know. I wear a night guard every night to keep me from clenching my teeth and giving me more dental/jaw problems than I already have. A night guard is easy to wear. Since it is custom-made by a dentist, one can hardly feel it when it is in. I can even talk coherently with it in my mouth. Taking the impression to make one takes less than two minutes. It's completely painless, and a plastic guard cost me a little less than $50.

"Frank" is going to ruin his jaw if he doesn't get a night guard. He could develop arthritis of the jaw, earaches, facial pain, nerve damage and a host of other problems, not to mention losing his natural teeth. And don't kid yourself—false teeth are no substitute for the real thing. My friends with false teeth have told me so.

VIVIAN ONKEN-POLSON, OMAHA

DEAR ABBY: A problem occurred at my work place and we would all like your input. This office planned a formal sit-down Christmas party.

The day before the party, my boss asked me who I was bringing. I replied, "Nancy (made up name), my best friend."

Since I am also a female, he said it would be inappropriate—wasn't there some man I could bring? Since my boyfriend was going to be out of town, and Nancy was my best friend, I didn't see why I couldn't bring her. Everyone except my boss thought he was wrong. He said the policy for future parties will depend on your decision.

OMAHA

DEAR OMAHA: I cast my vote with "everyone else"—and please tell your boss I'm honored that he's permitted me to set the policy for his future office parties.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I had breast-reduction surgery. I am thrilled with the results, but before the operation, my doctor took some very explicit above-the-waist photos of me. He says he needs them for his "before and after" records.

Those pictures are in my medical file in his office. This is a small town, and there are many people in his office. I hate the idea of his staff having access to those pictures. There are some nurses in this town who would be the last people I would want to see them. When I mentioned this to my doctor, he laughed and said the pictures are in my medical file and no one would see them. Abby, everyone who works in his office has access to my medical files. The pictures are hideous, as my breasts were humongous and sagged something terrible.

I don't want to offend the doctor by insisting that he return my photos, but this has been bothering me for two years. Any suggestions?

A VERY PRIVATE PERSON

DEAR PRIVATE PERSON: Those pictures are the property of your doctor and he needs them as documentation of the surgery. Please, don't worry that some nurses may see those pictures and talk. Nurses are professionals and are concerned with more important matters. Enjoy the results and forget the rest.

Laura Harris And W.H. Meyer Repeat Vows In Church Rites

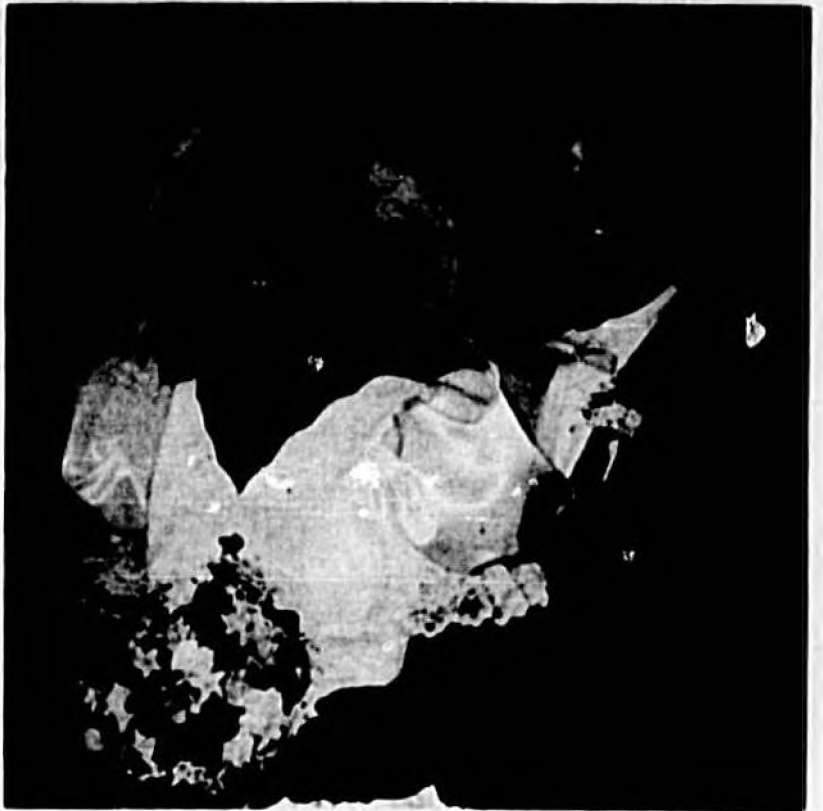

Laura Margaret Harris and William H. Meyer, both of Deltona, are announcing their marriage today. They were married Oct. 10 at Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Sanford. Father Frederick Mann was the officiating clergyman for the ceremony and celebration of the Holy Eucharist.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth H. Welchob, 108 Vihlen Road, Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Sue Meyer, Aurora, Ill., and the late Mr. Eugene T. Meyer.

Given in marriage by her brother, Russell E. She carried a cascade bouquet of white and peach carnations interspersed with stephanotis and showered with white satin ribbons.

Kelly L. Harris, daughter of the bride, Deltona, attended her mother as maid of honor. She wore a full-length peach organza over satin gown styled with a full skirt and cummerbund effect in back. She carried a presentation bouquet of white mini carnations with peach ribbons and wore peach and white baby's breath in her hair.

Bridesmaids were Elizabeth Anstadt, Muncy, Pa.; Debra L. Ramsay, Lake Mary; and Katie E. Harris, daughter of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Meyer

Deltona. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Ronald Rebeck of DeBary served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Ronald Meyer, brother of the bridegroom, Aurora; Steven Meyer, brother of the bridegroom, Glendale; and James T. Harris Jr., son of the bride, Deltona. Michael Rebeck, son of the best man, was the ring bearer.

The reception was held at the Sanford Woman's Club.

After a wedding trip to Sanibel and Captiva Islands, the newlyweds are making their home at 575 Dustin Terrace, Deltona. The bridegroom is employed as diversion clerk by Florida Power and Light Co. in Daytona Beach. The bride is employed as customer service representative by FPL in Sanford.

New Respond Director Hopes To Expand Victims' Services

Respond, a non-profit sexual assault treatment and prevention program, welcomes Candy Weber as its new director. Ms. Weber comes to central Florida from Morgantown, W. Va. where she served as the executive director of the Foundation of Monongalia General Hospital. Respond is looking to benefit from Ms. Weber's skill in organizational development. "My first priority is to begin a fund-raising campaign in order to expand our victim services," quotes Ms. Weber. "Respond turns victims into survivors. We need to be able to offer victims of sexual assault and abuse the kind of supportive help they need." Respond is a program of the Women's Resource Center, which addresses the needs of men, women and children who have been victimized by sexually violent or abusive experiences. In 1987, Respond gave over 60 individuals emotional support through counseling groups.

The 24-hour hotline, manned by trained volunteers, received over 600 calls last year from people of every age, race and background who needed counseling, information and referrals.

The Respond office is located at 223 Pasadena Place, Orlando. Call 648-0959 or information. The crisis line number is 740-5408.

Women's Workshop Planned

How do joyful, successful relationships work between men and women? That question will be addressed in the one-day conference, "Our Relationships: The Men in Our Lives," conducted by internationally known workshop leader Hedy Schliefer, M.A. Schliefer will speak at the Second Annual Women's Workshop on Sunday, Feb. 7, from 1-5 p.m., at Florida Hospital/Orlando.

"We want to help women understand themselves and the men in their lives, and to learn ways to achieve strength and fulfillment—separately and together," explains Schliefer, a marriage and family counselor.

The workshop is sponsored by the Center for Women's Medicine at Florida Hospital and is scheduled at the request of many participants in last year's Women's Workshop. "A Time to Remember: A Day to Remember." It is designed for women 16 and older and will be held in the Pods, the auditorium at Florida Hospital/Orlando.

The registration fee is $25 per person, and $10 for each additional person in the party. Registration is limited; call 897-1617 for details. Free parking is available in the Florida Hospital Parking Garage.

Breast Cysts Need Checking By Doctor

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT: I had a mammogram of both breasts because of several large lumps in the breasts, in the armpits and under the arm. I have had five large lumps drained in the past year. My doctor said they will go away, but more are coming and wearing a bra is becoming painful. My mother supposedly died of pneumonia at 47, but she had a large lump under her arm. I'm 46. The doctor who read the X-rays no longer practices. What should I do?

DEAR READER: You probably have benign breast cysts that are caused by a common female ailment called fibrocystic disease. This condition is associated with scar tissue and painful breast swelling. Often it can be controlled with medication, such as female hormones.

I think that you should follow your doctor's advice about frequent checkups and periodic mammograms. If your physician is unable to treat your symptoms, ask for a referral to a gynecologist. You can be helped.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have thrush, athlete's foot and vaginal infections. I have also had stomach trouble for many years, and bouts of bulimia. I recently read that people with yeast infections and underactive thyroids, like mine, are prone to bulimia. Is this true?

DEAR READER: False. Eating disorders, such as anorexia and bulimia, are not related to yeast infection. In some respects, this is fortunate because eating disorders are much more difficult to treat than yeast infections, which usually respond to nystatin, an anti-fungal medication.

If you have an underactive thyroid gland, this, too, can be easily treated by the daily administration of thyroid hormone.

DEAR DR. GOTT: For the past year, every month, my husband has had knee trouble. He gets a lump below his knee, then it goes away in a few days. His knee swells up twice its size, gets hot and hard, and he gets a fever. The doctors give him Velosef, but it keeps coming back. What can you suggest?

DEAR READER: Velosef (cephradin) is an antibiotic;

therefore, your husband's doctors must believe that he is suffering from repeated knee infections. From the pattern you describe, the problem may be either a chronic bacterial arthritis (septic arthritis) or bone infection (osteomyelitis). Both of these conditions are relatively serious because, in time, they can progress to severe damage and disability. Although Velosef may be an appropriate antibiotic, in my experience recurring infection like this usually requires long-term, intravenous antibiotic therapy. Surgery may be necessary to clean out infected bone fragments that act as foci for inflammation.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Here is another deal in which you, as declarer, must suppress your natural instincts. You receive the 10 of hearts lead against three no-trump. After you win the first trick with the queen, you force out the ace of clubs, right? Or do you? The answer is yes, if your name happens to be Willy Nilly. And sure enough, East wins the club ace and plays back a heart. Later West wins the third round of diamonds and cashes out his heart suit to beat you a trick. Why should you do better?

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
JANUARY 20, 1988

Important adjustments will be made in the year ahead in your field of endeavor. You may not change locations, but you will make alterations that will increase your earning capacity.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't feel under obligation today to pick up the tab for friends in a situation where it would be fairer to split the bill equally. They'll understand. Major changes are ahead for Aquarians in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

FISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It's possible you may have to contend with some extra family pressures today. If you overreact emotionally, it could make matters worse for everyone.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There are indications that you may be a bit more impulsive and restless today than usual. Drive alertly when you get behind the wheel and go buzzing around town.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) There are financial opportunities around you today, but they may be a trifle elusive. You'll have to be on your toes to capitalize on them.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Chances of succeeding in a present endeavor are only moderate today. That's because you may waste too much valuable time on people who have little to contribute.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't knowingly do things today that are opposed to your better judgment. Instead of getting around your problems, it may only add new complications.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A failure to take a definite position will keep your friends confused and off balance today. Don't say one thing and then do the opposite.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

Usually when you have a definite objective in mind your procedures are methodical and orderly. However, today you might do things in fits and starts and the results will reflect it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today you may grasp the general thrust of ideas, but not their entirety. Force yourself to concentrate when being told critical information.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Financial conditions are likely to be mixed today. The advances you make in one area could be offset by a downturn in another.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) To be on the safe side, scrap ideas and plans of which you are unsure today. Don't complicate your life by getting off on a path where you may have to later retrace your steps.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) In projects that require assistance today, be sure to select those who are quality-conscious. Even then, monitor their work carefully so they don't get careless.

Sanford Developer In DeLand Project

The On-Site Group of Orlando, in association with Sanford developer Stan Sandefur, will begin construction of the Shoppes of Victoria in early February at DeLand, according to a company announcement.

The 95,000 sq. ft., $8 million commercial center at the corner of U.S. Highway 17-92 and State Road 15A is scheduled for completion in the Fall 1988.

A Food Lion Supermarket will anchor the shopping center. The 420-store food chain based in North Carolina is beginning a rapid expansion program in the southeast with the DeLand store the first in Central Florida and the second in the state. The first store is in Jacksonville. The company has announced plans to add 240 new stores by 1989.

Rob Copeland, director of commercial development for On-Site, stated that the balance of the center will be composed of retail stores, specialty shops and medical related facilities.

Mills: Bill Should Reduce Medical Costs

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — House Speaker Jon Mills says legislators will probably pass a bill designed to lower medical practice premiums but warns that the issue of guaranteed reductions in medical costs could also be raised at the special session next week.

"It makes sense to at least consider actively the effect on the public in the terms of cost," Mills said Wednesday. "If you are going to do something which reduces rates, therefore making medical care cheaper and more available, then it ought to do that."

Mills said discussions were underway to find some way to guarantee medical costs are reduced if the legislation passes.

Mills said premium reductions should be "encouraged" but was not sure how that could be done.

or if it should be mandatory. Mills and Senate President John Vogt announced the Feb. 2-5 special session early this month, but continued dispute over the issue had made it seem unlikely a special session would be worthwhile. That all changed Monday, when Martinez endorsed most of a bill proposed by House Appropriations Committee Chairman Sam Bell, D-Ormond Beach.

Chamber Celebrates Business Openings With Ribbon-Cuttings

State Rep. Art Grindle and Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith wield the giant scissors during ribbon cutting ceremonies for Break Away Tour & Travel of Florida, 3665 Orlando Dr. Sanford commissioner John Mercer aids Grindle, while Smith is helped by Shirley Johnson, owner of the new business, and Godson Okundaye, correspondent newsman from Nigeria who was visiting Sanford. Others shown during the celebration are members of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce's welcoming committee and employees of the new business.

Jackie Babinec reclines while demonstrating an exercise machine to members of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce welcoming committee during ribbon cutting ceremonies for Contoured Body at 330 E.

Commercial St. Babinec is the manager and her assistant, Marge Becker, assists in the demonstration of the weight loss program with the machine doing all the work.
