Need Is Seen By Ehrlinger For School Reforms

(Continued from Page Five) but the present methods require a note book for every study, often more, and numerous other expenditures which is an enormous expense to the parents. What is required of the present day teacher is enough to make them nervous wrecks, as they are required to attend meetings here and there, read so many books, do his duty and that, prepare children for programs, and in fact it looks like a case of re-educating the teacher instead of the pupil and my sympathies are with the poor overworked underpaid teachers.

"I am opposed to the invisible government which is in control of our entire public school system of the State, whose dominating influence and directing hand is fast driving our public school system on the rocks. This invisible government fixes the standards and curriculum and states what shall be accredited schools and in fact are laying down rules which control and permeate our schools from top to bottom.

"I am in favor of the running and governing of the public schools of Florida being put back into the hands of the State Superintendent, who is regularly elected and responsible to the people for his actions, instead of being in control of a board of five members appointed by the government from different parts of the state who are responsible to no one but through an act of the Legislature has usurped the power of the state Superintendent. I am in favor of using the funds that are now being appropriated for the institutions of higher learning for the use of the public schools and reducing the institutions of higher learning to educating the brain instead of the brawn as is now being done. In fact, I think those that attend the institutions of higher learning should be required to pay as they have to do

BRUEN FACES BIG LOSS AS RESULT OF MIAMI SCRAP

$30,000 Deficit Is Estimated As Result Of Heavyweight Go

MIAMI, Mar. 7.—(AP)—As a result of the shrinkage of ring-side estimates, sponsors of the battle of the cracked rib between Primo Carnera and Jimmy Malone faced a loss of $30,000 or more in the last of Miami's winter fight ventures.

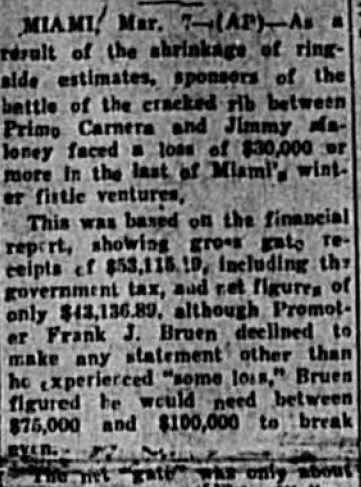

This was based on the financial report, showing gross gate receipts of $53,115.19, including the government tax, and net figures of only $13,136.89, although Promoter Frank J. Bruen declined to make any statement other than he experienced "some loss." Bruen figured he would need between $75,000 and $100,000 to break even.

The net gate was only about $8000 more than for the Walker-Risko show, last week, although top prices were $15 for ring-side seats, as compared with $25 in the previous card.

There were fewer than 10,000

Ten Requirements

Every sensible person wants to live in a city, which shows a progressive spirit and which makes steady growth or which at least shows the inclination to grow and prosper.

Some time ago the chairman of the department of journalism in a Western university propounded a set of ten tests by which to gauge the progressiveness of every community. A city in order to be a real city has certain standards which it must attain and it is these standards which the professor has prepared and which we herewith set forth:

1. Attractiveness: Shall I like the town—its "atmosphere"? Does it have the beauty of shaded trees and other beautiful features? Is it a quiet, roomy, airy, well-lighted town? Does it have attractive public buildings and homes? Is it well paved? Is it clean in every sense?

2. Healthfulness: Will my family and I have a reasonable chance to keep well in that town? How about its water supply? Its sanitary system? Its methods of milk inspection? Its health department? Its hospitals? Is it without any congested district?

3. Education: Can I educate my family and myself in that town? How about its public schools—present and future? Its institutions of higher learning or of business training? Its libraries? Its lecture and concert courses? Its theaters? Its investment in school property?

4. People: Shall I like the people of that town? Are they home folks without false exclusiveness? Are they neighborly and friendly? Is the town free from factionalism? Does it have strong religious, fraternal, and social organizations? Is it a law-abiding community? Do the people use their public libraries and support artistic undertakings? Do they keep their children in school and not in factories? Are they good American citizens?

5. Recreation: Can I have a good time in that town—and my family? How about the theaters, museums, gymnasiums, parks, etc.? Are there active agencies for providing good entertainments, and athletic contests? Are inviting opportunities for pleasure drives afforded by well paved streets?

6. Living: Can we live reasonably and well in that town? Are the best modern conveniences available for its residents—electricity, gas, and telephones? Are the housing and shopping conditions favorable? Are the rents, taxes, and prices fair? Hotels good? Home and truck gardens and dairy products plentiful? Is it a good town in which to bring up children?

7. Accessibility: Can we go and come easily? Does the town have adequate railroad connections and train service? Street car lines? Interurban lines? Well marked automobile routes and hard surfaced roads? Desirable proximity to other cities affording additional advantages?

8. Business: Can I make good use of capital in that town? Are there good banking facilities? Manufacturing interests? Up-to-date stores? Good shipping facilities? Favorable labor conditions? A prosperous farming territory? Fair real estate values? Reasonably cheap power? Active co-operation among business interests?

9. Employment: Can I get a job in that town at fair pay and with good prospects for the future? Can I count on co-operation from organizations making it their business to help introduce and establish new commercial interests and to welcome new citizens?

10. Progressiveness: Shall I find that I am in a town having a progressive city government, active civic organizations, modern fire department, adequate police protection, organized measures for accident prevention, and a pull-together spirit in everything—in short, a town with a future?

A careful comparison of Sanford conditions with the above standards will show that Sanford ranks high in the category of cities with a future. There is no city, of course, which could make a one hundred per cent report. In some respects, undoubtedly, Sanford is lacking, but we believe we are reasonably safe in saying that there is no other city in Florida, and but few in the whole country, which today offer the possibilities for immediate growth and prosperity which Sanford residents are already accepting largely as a matter of course.

Calling For Can Openers

We have frequently heard the cry raised that what this country needs is bigger and better corkers, but it has remained for the Christian Science Monitor to point out that the item of greatest immediate necessity is a more efficient can opener. And in the final analysis, it can be said to further substantiate the Monitor's claims that occasionally a bottle will get rid of its own cork, but a can has never been known to open itself.

"The ancient and honorable can opener that is jerked around the edge of the lid in an irregular and jagged course", the Monitor insists, "cannot properly meet with the requirements which a modern canner dinner places upon the implement to be used in removing it from its jackets of tin to the utensils that are to take it to the table. And so the cry of the canners for more and better can openers. They assert that the majority of American homes are without openers worthy of the name. The instrument to transform a tableful of tin cans into a six-course dinner must operate to such advantage as to make its use a joy.

"The canners, therefore, are making a study of the can-opening situation. It is their proposal that a can, bearing, perhaps, a beautiful picture of a handsome peach, shall be opened with the same artistic effort that is expressed in its covering. Can openers of the past and the present, extinct and extant, of humble or aristocratic lineage, are eligible for consideration, but the canners make it clear that the types that later will receive their indorsement must make can opening so pleasurable and easy that housewives will be almost tempted to buy a few extra cans now and then just for the fun of opening them."

So here is an opportunity for the budding genius with inventive propensities. Remember that the man who put rubbers on the ends of pencils made a fortune and is now riding on steam yachts. Perhaps you, who feel the blood of James Watt or Robert Fulton coursing through your veins, can devise the means of saving the tin can industry, and answer the cry of the perspiring housewife. "My kingdom for a can opener!"

TELLING THE WORLD

LOOKING A LITTLE AHEAD From the Daily News Item, March 15, 1921. The report of the annual meeting of the New York Chamber of Commerce and Manufacturers Association...

two prime requisites—a pair of large, prehensile hands. It doesn't do any harm if his skin is thick and his conscience non-existent or at least usefully indurated. With this equipment he is in a position to start business at once.

"It's a good hunch for the ambitious novice to get something as soon as possible, so he will be declared in on whatever sugar's going round. Also it's pretty hard for the higher ups to make a yelp on the new man's personal clientele—only to get their cut, of course when you've got their number. That's the preliminary. All you got to do then is line up the guys you pick to shake down and go to it.

"The businesslike. Keep a card index of prospects and a double entry for receipts—no for yourself and one for the organization. Women and children first, is a good motto to keep in mind. Don't ever forget that a grand in the mit is worth two in a sucker's kick. But above all remember the old adage—'We did it for the wife and kiddies.'"

When the Government introduced the bill it was strongly opposed by Conservatives on the ground that it would legalize a general strike. They severely criticized the Liberals for the measure of approval they appeared to give this bill by allowing it a second reading. The Liberal reply was: Wait and see what we will do when details are considered in the later stages.

Everyone expected that they would frame an amendment, declaring in unmistakable terms the illegality of the general strike. They have certainly done so. They have not stopped there. And the delighted Conservatives have joined them in forcing on the Government a clause which would make illegal any strike "of which the effect at any time... is to expose the community or any substantial portion of the community to danger in health or safety by interfering with supplies or the distribution of essential food, water, fuel, light, medical or sanitary services or other necessities of life."

BRITISH LIBERALS SWING TO RIGHT

Amazement has been caused in British political circles by the action of the Liberal Party in moving and carrying against the Labor Government an amendment to the Trade Disputes Bill more conservative in character than any the Conservatives themselves have dreamed of. It is the more remarkable because the attitude which the Liberals have unexpectedly adopted seems to be at variance with the whole of their policy during the present session of Parliament.

When the Government introduced the bill it was strongly opposed by Conservatives on the ground that it would legalize a general strike. They severely criticized the Liberals for the measure of approval they appeared to give this bill by allowing it a second reading. The Liberal reply was: Wait and see what we will do when details are considered in the later stages.

Everyone expected that they would frame an amendment, declaring in unmistakable terms the illegality of the general strike. They have certainly done so. They have not stopped there. And the delighted Conservatives have joined them in forcing on the Government a clause which would make illegal any strike "of which the effect at any time... is to expose the community or any substantial portion of the community to danger in health or safety by interfering with supplies or the distribution of essential food, water, fuel, light, medical or sanitary services or other necessities of life."

That goes far beyond the Conservative legislation which this bill merely legalizes a general strike was intended to reverse. It is not a sympathetic strike with a political object, but probably also a big coal or railway strike. It is pointed out that the Liberals have put themselves in the position of being the first party in Britain to deny bodies of workers their "reasonable" right to withdraw their labor in defense of their own industrial conditions.

TAX FACTS

Ed. Note—This is one of a series of short articles to be published daily for the convenience of our readers who may be confronted with preparation of their income tax returns.

While it is important that the taxpayer render on or before the due date—March 15, 1921, if filed on the calendar-year basis—a full and complete return as possible, a request for a reasonable extension of time may be granted. Application for an extension should be addressed to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer files his return, together with a full recital for the causes of the delay. The request must be made before the return is due. Except in the case of taxpayers who are abroad, no extension may be made for a period of more than six months.

An extension of time for filing a return does not extend the time for paying the tax, or any installment thereof, unless so specified in the extension. However, an extension of time in which to pay the tax or installment may be granted by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for a period not to exceed six months from the prescribed date. Application for such extension should be made through the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer is filed. The taxpayer should file under oath the specific reasons for desiring the extension.

"Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 8.

The Golden Text was from Isaiah 44:2: "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord: and he delighteth in his way."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth: So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them" (Gen. 1:26, 27).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The spiritual man's consciousness and individuality are reflections of God. They are the emanation of Him who is Life."

During this period there has been no development of tested value or importance to the smoker which we have not incorporated into the making of Chesterfield cigarettes.

MIAMI, March 9.—(AP)—The world's champion Philadelphia Athletics put on a characteristic finish Sunday to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals, National League champions, and square the count, at one game each, in their wings of "world series."

After the hit had scored a tie in the sixth, Edmund (Bing) Miller, veteran right fielder, smashed a ninth-inning home run over the right field wire fence into the crowd of non-paying customers, Jimmy Fox was on first base and the blow abruptly terminated the exhibition, essentially in favor of the Marliners by a score of 7 to 5.

The finish furnished a thrill for a Sunday crowd of nearly 2000 fans. It closed the two-day engagement at Miami Field. The rival championship clubs will play the third and deciding game of the series Monday night at Fort Myers, home of the A's.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 9.—(AP)—Two thousand fans turned out for the opening spring training tilt between the Boston Braves and the New York Yankees, the Braves winning 7-2.

The Yankees made only two hits off four Braves pitchers, but jumped off to a seven-run lead in the first inning when Fred Frankhouse, an ex-outfielder of Brooklyn, passed several men. The Braves tied it up in the fourth and scored five runs in the next three innings to take a lead the Yanks could not overcome.

Score: New York (A) 400 000 003—7 14 3 Boston (N) 200 000 000—3 9 0 Thodes, Gomez, Weaver, Sheld and Padden; Frankhouse, Cantwell, Lehany, McAfee and Root.

DALLAS, Texas, March 9.—(AP)—Two-run rallies in the 10th and 11th innings gave the Dallas Stars of the Texas League an 8-7 victory over the New York Giants here Sunday. The Giants out-hit the Stars, 14-11, but wasted many of their blows.

Score: New York 150 100 120—7 14 3 Dallas 0 0 0 210 203—8 11 3 Berry, Adams and Healy; Hough, Erickson, Garland and Todd, Texas.

NEW ORLEANS, March 9.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians made it two straight in the exhibition series with the New Orleans Pelicans yesterday, collecting six hits off four pitchers and scoring three runs.

WEST PALM BEACH, March 9.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns opened their exhibition schedule here yesterday by defeating the House of David team, 13 to 1. Goals, Jenkins and Schulte hit homers.

Score: House of David 100 000 000—1 3 5 Browns 216 002 302—13 29 0 Helmer, Sweeney, Hanley and Hebert; Gray, M. Ferrell (Presnell) and H. Ferrell (Croch).

AVADON, Calif., March 9.—(AP)—Whatever Rogers Hornsby said to the Cubs after they lost to Los Angeles, Saturday had the effect of making them exceedingly vicious. They evened things up yesterday by mauling the Angels, 19 to 3.

Charlie Root and Bob Smith held the opposition to five hits, and a homer by Loris Baker, while Moncrief and Green were combined for 12. Hack Wilcox came up with another homer, and Gabby Hartnett got two singles and a double.

Score by innings: Los Angeles 100 000 000—11 8 2 Chicago 135 201 002—19 27 2 Moncrief, Green and Hansah, Hopy, Stahl, Root and Hartnett.

HOUSTON, Texas, March 9.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox exacted revenge for Saturday's defeat by the Houston Buffaloes, winning yesterday's exhibition, 15 to 10.

Willie Kamm drove out a single, double, tripple and added a walk in six appearances at the plate. He scored twice and drove in five runs, several of them in the fourth when he got hit double and tripple. Caraway, Moore and Hildekofer held the Buffs to eight hits.
