

House Passes Postal Measure As House

Members Say Raising Should House Request Of Bill Favorable Action Of Measure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The Senate and house conferees will be guided by suggestions from President Coolidge in the preparation of their report on the Underwood bill.

Chairman Keyes of the conferees declared that since the measure would turn the property over to the president, they expected to consult with him in an effort to handle the legislation in line with his views.

At the request of the executive, Secretaries Weeks and Hoover attended Friday's conference upon request of President Coolidge for quick action.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—President Coolidge and Emile Daeschner, the new French ambassador, took occasion at their first meeting Friday to exchange assurances that nations must be expected to pay their debts.

Presenting his credentials at a formal White House ceremony, the ambassador recalled that in the course of their historic friendship America and France had rendered one another mutual assistance, "thus paying to each other their debt of gratitude just as they are firmly solicitous, when occasion arises, of paying their material debts."

In response, Mr. Coolidge made reference to French aid to the American colonies during the Revolution, and to American participation in the world war and added: "Thus was paid the debt of gratitude and, as you might say, the debt of honor."

Secretary Hoover gave the conferees the benefit of his engineering experience and the investigation he had conducted in the production of nitrogen and power.

After Friday's meeting, Chairman Keyes declared the cabinet officers and the conferees were both anxious to get the Muscle Shoals legislation enacted at this session of Congress and the conferees were pushing ahead with the hope of making an early report.

He indicated that the conferees expected to change the profits on fertilizer of the producer from one per cent of the cost of production to eight per cent as contained in the original Underwood bill but altered by amendment of Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee.

In fact, it is reported that the conferees will re-write the entire fertilizer section, which was lifted bodily from the Norris government operation measure. At the same time, the conferees will change before the Senate and House the next week or final action.

Secretary Weeks who had stated before the Senate that he preferred the Wadsworth substitute to refer the subject to a commission, was represented Friday as not opposed to the Underwood bill and to favor its passage with some modifications.

Charles C. Woodruff, 500 Myrtle Avenue who since 1886 has been a resident of Sanford, Saturday morning stricken with heart trouble while at the Clyde Line dock on Lake Monroe, and died while being rushed to the Fernald-Laughton Hospital. Mr. Woodruff was born in Louisville, Ky., 65 years ago.

Approximately two years after he came to Sanford Mr. Woodruff married Miss Emma Woodruff. When he came to Sanford he was employed by the railroad, but later went into business as a commission merchant. At the time of his death he held a post under the city government. He was of the Presbyterian faith.

PRESIDENT AND NEW MINISTER CONFER FRIDAY

New French Ambassador and Executive Exchange Assurances That All Nations Must Meet Their Obligations

Sanford Will Have Team In Florida State League This Year, Business Men Decide

Conference Held Here Last Night Makes Arrangements To Bring Daytona Franchise Here This Season

Tampa Meeting Will Arrange Final Plans
Excellent Baseball Park Is Favorable Advantage For Sanford As Baseball Town

That Sanford is practically assured of a berth in the Florida State League this coming season, is the declaration of C. L. Britt, who with W. C. Hill, Judge E. F. Hoosholder, G. W. Spencer Jr., and J. D. Chittenden met with a committee from Orlando at the Hotel Florida night and formulated plans which will bring to this city a baseball franchise owned by Daytona last year.

Orlando men meeting with the local group were F. O. King, J. B. Asher, Dr. C. L. Brundage, J. K. Thresher and Ernie Burke, manager of the Orlando club. The outcome of the conference, it is announced, was the decision that a committee composed of Mr. Hill and Mr. Britt will meet with officials of the league at a conference to be called at Tampa soon by President Al Lane.

Meeting in Tampa Soon
At the Tampa meeting final arrangements for taking over the Daytona franchise will be completed. This meeting, it is believed, will be called within the next few weeks. In the meantime local preparations will go forward and at a meeting to be held within the next few days, a permanent organization of the local club will be effected.

Friday night's conference here was the result of a general desire on the part of a large number of local business men and professional men to obtain for this city a baseball team represented in the state league. Mr. Britt further stated. The local representatives had previously been selected to enter into negotiations with state league officials.

In connection with securing the franchise, Mr. Britt said "there is no reason why Sanford should not have a fast baseball team representing it in the state league. With the demand for the team so great and assurance of hearty support of a club we should be able to put out one of the best baseball aggregations in the state this year."

Excellent Park Will Help
Another thing which Mr. Britt pointed to as being very helpful in securing a team here is the excellent baseball park here which has been described as second to none in the state. The coming of the Milwaukee baseball club to Sanford for its spring training, it is believed will further stimulate interest in the national game among local fans.

When the Florida State League was first organized five years ago Sanford was represented in the organization by one of the best teams in the loop. For two years a franchise was held here but lack of support, it is declared, forced local enthusiasts to surrender it at the end of the second year.

Those behind the movement to get a team this year, however, are firm in their belief that this city will support a club and substantiate their claim with the declaration that Sanford is a baseball town.

Opium Parley Leaders Reach No Agreement
GENEVA, Jan. 31.—The international opium conference leaders failed to agree Saturday on the problem of suppression of opium smoking in the Far East as was hoped. Representatives Stephen G. Plans Completed For Golf Tourney; Sanford Club Meets Tuesday Night
Plans for Sanford's first professional golf tournament, which is to be held on the Country Club links Monday afternoon beginning at 1:30 o'clock, have been completed. It was announced Saturday morning by S. O. Black, of Longwood, manager of the Sanford Golf Club, which is sponsoring the event. Announcement also was made by R. L. Dean, president of the club, that a meeting will be held at the Club House Tuesday night at 7 o'clock to consider the by-laws of the club, which was recently organized.

In addition to voting on the by-laws, the members will fix the amount of the initiation fee and appoint a committee to direct a campaign for new members. The club will also consider plans for a St. Valentine's Day dance to be held at the Country Club.

The tournament on Monday afternoon will bring the largest number of golf stars that Sanford has ever entertained at one time. Like wise the afternoon will see more high class golf than Sanford has ever had before.

In the tournament Sanford is getting the first of a series in which the leading professionals of this section of the state will compete for ratings. A league has been organized which includes Daytona, Ormond, Deland, Winter Park, and a number of others almost as well known.

Forbes And Thompson Found Guilty Of Fraud

Jury Deliberates Five Hours And Takes Twelve Ballots In Famous Fraud Case

Case May Go To Higher Tribunals
Court Reserves Its Sentence Pending New Trial Appeal

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Col. Charles R. Forbes, former director of United States veterans bureau and John W. Thompson, wealthy St. Louis and Chicago contractor, were found guilty Friday night of conspiracy to defraud the government in contracts for soldiers' hospitals. The federal jury took 12 ballots and deliberated five hours.

Pending hearing Feb. 4 on the defense motions for a new trial, Federal Judge George A. Carpenter reserved sentence. The maximum penalty for the offense is two years' imprisonment or $10,000 fine, or both.

The verdict came as a surprise to the defense and the crowded courtroom. Defense counsel indicated that the case would be carried, if necessary, to the United States Supreme Court.

"It is not all over yet," Forbes said in commenting on the verdict. Thompson, who was perhaps the calmest man in the startled courtroom, made no comment.

The jury was out five hours and 50 minutes, but its verdict was reached on the twelfth ballot after exactly five hours deliberation. The vote on the first nine ballots was nine to three for conviction. On the next two, it stood ten to two.

After four hours deliberation, the jury asked the court concerning its right to consider overt acts committed beyond the jurisdiction of the trial court. Judge Carpenter informed them they must confine their verdict to overt acts within the jurisdiction of Northern Illinois.

The principal overt act charged by the government to have been committed in this district was the alleged payment of $3,000 in cash to Forbes by Elias H. Mortimer, one of the alleged conspirators, who became the government's informer and chief witness for the prosecution in the Drake Hotel, in Chicago, on June 20, 1922.

On this date, the government charged, there existed between Forbes, Thompson, Mortimer, James W. Black, deceased partner of Thompson, Charles F. Cramer, former general counsel of the Veterans' Bureau, a conspiracy to fraudulently award veterans' hospital contracts to Thompson and Black interests. Mortimer, a self-confessed "sniper of official red tape in Washington," testifies he paid the money to Forbes as an agent for Thompson.

Cramer and Black died within a few weeks of each other early in 1923.

After hearing the opinion of the court on the point of law, the jury retired for further deliberations. In less than an hour word came from the jury room that a verdict was ready.

When the verdict was read, the defense asked for a poll of the jurors, each of whom confirmed the finding of his own.

Egypt Menaced By Cocaine, Police Say
CAIRO, Jan. 31.—The cocaine habit among Egyptians has grown to such an alarming extent that the commandment of the local police has issued an appeal to the public to assist him in keeping down the evil.

The Egyptian nation, this official declares, is destroying itself through the drug habit, which is demoralizing the youth of Egypt and filling the hospitals and prisons. He deplores the absence of statutes dealing adequately with the evil and asserts that if the laws were made more rigorous and received more support from the people, Egypt could yet be delivered.

HOUSE BAN UPON INSURGENT GROUP CAUSES DEBATE

President Is In Favor Of Disciplining Followers Of LaFollette; Longworth Wants Them Back Into The Fold

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The dispute between organization Republicans broke out afresh Friday in the house. Representative Longworth, the Republican leader, stirring up another round of debate by declaring that Wisconsin by its activity in the recent campaign had forfeited the right to participate in party councils.

About the same time, it was made clear at the White House that the decision of Republican leaders in the house to exclude from the party organization caucus, Feb. 27, members who did not support the national ticket on November, had the approval of President Coolidge.

Exclusion Not Inevitable
The president's view of the situation is that it does not involve exclusion of any member from the party but is a question of limiting party responsibility to those who pledge in the campaign united to the Republican party the accomplishment of definite purposes.

An honest attempt to carry out these pledges, he holds, makes necessary the inclusion within the party organization only those pledged to such an accomplishment.

Disclaiming any intention of "punishing" the dozen followers of LaFollette who are to be barred from the party's organization caucus Feb. 27, Mr. Longworth said it was the duty of house Republicans to carry out the mandate of the people in the last election "unimpeded by enemies."

He to Rejoin Made
The Republican leader expressed the hope that the insurgents would in time "rejoin the Republican party and indicated that they would be welcome if they should see fit to do so.

With the exception of Representative Nelson, of Wisconsin, who was Senator LaFollette's campaign manager, most of the insurgents were on the floor some of them interrupting Mr. Longworth to ask questions or to explain incidents he referred to at the conclusion of his speech. Representative LaGuardia, New York, one of the active members of the insurgent group, and Representative Brown, Wisconsin, defended their activity in opposition to the Republican national ticket.

EXPECT INCREASE IN CELERY PRICE TO COME SHORTLY

General Outlook Declared To Be Brightest In Several Seasons; Wide Distribution Is Being Effected at Present

Though celery shipments from Sanford have been badly hampered by flood conditions in Georgia, conditions are now approaching normal and those closely connected with the industry declare that general prospects are now as bright as they ever have been in the history of Sanford.

The floods in Georgia, which practically demoralized railroads of the state, struck celery growers in two ways: causing a shortage of cars and hindering the shipments bound for markets. A steady improvement in transportation facilities until normal conditions are reached is anticipated.

Obtaining Wider Distribution
Shippers of celery are obtaining a much wider distribution this season than during any previous year, it is believed. Not only are the larger markets being supplied but smaller cities hitherto unsupplied, have been receiving shipments direct from Sanford.

The price now being brought by the vegetable is $2 a crate, a price has been prevalent the most of the present season. Beliefs expressed some time ago that the price of celery would descend below this level, have been dispelled and the contrary view, that a rise is expected, is now being entertained by virtually everyone in the industry.

Little California Competition
The belief in a price increase is based upon the fact that California celery has practically all been shipped. The Pacific coast product will all have been shipped in less than a week, it is believed, which will leave a clear field for the Sanford celery. The quality of the present crop, which is declared to be better than that of any previous season for some years, is pointed to as an assurance of better prices.

Viewed from every angle the celery situation in Sanford this year is regarded as the most satisfactory in many years. Every indication points towards a highly successful season.

Scruggs Has Arrived
Frank H. Scruggs, of the United States Department of Agriculture bureau of markets, has arrived in Sanford and will issue celery market reports each day. In this manner growers and shippers will be enabled to follow more closely the celery market than they have been able to do during the first of the season. Mr. Scruggs will occupy the same office in the court house that he had last year.

DOCTOR RELATES STORY OF WIFE'S MURDER TO JURY

Alabama Physician on Trial For Murder of His Wife, Maintains Iron Composure While Quizzed by Lawyers

BESSEMER, Jan. 31.—The defendant in the trial of Dr. George T. Edwards, accused of killing his wife, rested Friday afternoon, after Solicitor Ben Perry unexpectedly ended a cross-examination of the accused physician. Judge J. C. B. Gwinn instructed that rebuttal testimony be completed today so that arguments of counsel can begin Saturday. The case is expected to reach the jury Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Edwards maintained an iron composure during the hours that he was on the stand. The crowded courtroom was silent as Dr. Edwards related his story that he was awakened in the night and shot in the hand by an intruder who had already drugged and crushed the skull of Mrs. Edwards.

Spectators craned forward to catch every word. They heard the physician, in voice without emotion, describe every detail of the events in his Fairfield home on the morning of Dec. 2. He was awakened by some one trying to put him to sleep with a drug. Dr. Edwards grappled with the assailant and was shot in the left hand. He chased the intruder, firing his pistol. His wife was found drugged and clubbed to death.

Then George Ross, his counsel, looked squarely in the eye and asked: "Dr. Edwards did you have anything whatever to do with the killing of your wife?"

In a voice that rang to the back of the room, the defendant replied: "I did not. I loved my wife dearly. I had nothing whatever to do with it."

"You may examine the witness," said Mr. Ross to Solicitor Perry. Under a merciless cross examination, Solicitor Perry shot question after question at the physician who answered with calmness.

No Attempt To Be Made At Present To Dislodge S-48
PORTSMOUTH, N. H. Jan. 31.—No attempt will be made at present to dislodge the submarine S-48, which is fast on a mud bank in Little Harbor, where she was driven early Friday after striking on the rocks near the entrance to Portsmouth Harbor.

Navy officials from the Portsmouth navy yard said it would be unsafe to pull the vessel into deep water under present conditions.

Lieut. Commander Stewart F. Bray, in command of the S-48 and his crew were at the navy yard here Friday night recovering from exposure and chlorine gas fumes. They were taken off early Friday by coast guardsmen from Wallis Sands and Wood Island stations when the forepart of their vessel was flooded from punctures of the hull and chlorine gas fumes from the batteries had driven them to the deck. Several of the men, whose clothing had frozen in the night-long struggle with the gale, sea and cold, had to be carried from the deck of the submarine to the coast guard boats.

Officers investigating the position of the S-48 reported she was in no immediate danger. Two breakwaters protected her from the sea where she lies in fourteen feet of water at low tide of soft bottom. At high water the vessel is submerged except for her conning tower and parts of the superstructure. All water-tight compartments and hatches except the upper conning tower were closed by the crew before they abandoned the vessel.

Hungarian Countess, Former Opera Star, Is Now Living In Chicken Coop

BUDAPEST, Jan. 31.—Countess Alexander Forgach, daughter of the late Count Alexander Forgach, who was one of the wealthiest landowners in Hungary, affords the unique spectacle of a countess living in a chicken barn. In the little commune of Hiedekut, immediately outside of Budapest, and adjacent to the fashionable residential section known as "Cool Valley," the countess lives with four board walls in a room about 6 by 9 feet, amid numerous chickens and a large brood of dogs.

The countess is now an old, withered dame, clad in a man's long coat and soldier's boots. She speaks French fluently with a rich melow voice, and makes no bones whatever about her story.

"I am a daughter of Count Alexander Forgach," she said recently. "My sister Elsie committed suicide; my brother Anton was killed at the same time with his friend and master, Emperor Maximilian of Mexico. From my father I inherited 40,000 golden crowns."

"I was frivolous when a young girl. As I had a good voice, I was determined to go to the opera, but my father said that a Countess Forgach could not choose such a profession. So I ran away to Paris. There I got along well on the stage. I appeared under the name of Carolina Mare and was in a class with Adeline Pattis and Christine Neilsen. Verdi composed roles especially for me. In Paris, Rome, London I achieved great triumphs. Later I became the friend of Princess Galliera at Paris. When I learned that my father was dying I hurried back to Hungary. After his death I remained in Hungary and took charge of my inheritance. I really don't know what happened to my money. I should like to get back to my castle at Eted. All I want is a room and a hundred chickens and twenty dogs."

Her relatives state that the countess has lived at such a fast pace that there is literally nothing left of her estate.

New Hand Bag Is Evolved By French Fashion Creators

PARIS, Jan. 31.—The "Velvet Pochette" is the latest fashion in bags which the Paris creative genius, always on the alert in imagining charming new frivolities to tempt the fashionable woman's fancy, has invented.

They are mostly made in old-rose velvet, brightened by a formal design of steel paillettes and are to be had in all the colors of the rainbow. Small in size—about half the usual size of women's hand bags—they are just now enjoying a tremendous vogue in Paris.

A flowered bag in nigger-brown silk, ornamented with a bouquet embroidered in gold thread cut out on a yellow silk background, small enough to be put in the pockets of the wearer's great-coats, was very much in evidence at the Avenue race track recently when the thermometer was hovering around zero and fingers became numb with cold. The little bags only came out of the pockets to draw out the ever hungry pari-mutuel booths.

"Women have won political power only to discover that such power is illusory,"—Ida M. Tarbell.

Barbary Coast Of Old Is Ruined By Prohibition Regime

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—The Cliff House, perched on precipitous rocks beside the Golden Gate is known to everyone who has ever toured California, and in the old days was a gathering place for bon vivants. It has now fallen victim to the Volstead regime, and after a recent prohibition raid the proprietor hung a sign on the door reading: "Coffee and Doughnuts

From the porch House many have tumbled over the ocean. It is said by President Harrison, McKim, and others that the seals which rear themselves from the cliffs obese fellows who hereafter visit the ships glide the Gate, will have doughnuts and but coffee.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's unwholesome waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can rapidly understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning or a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. The famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then so help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. —Adv.

HOLLYWOOD

BY-THE-SEA

Yet only three years ago the site of the present thriving city and resort was a wilderness—wild acres of rather unattractive Florida land.

THE answer to the question of this magnificent metamorphosis is to be found in superb location and broadly conceived, rigorously executed engineering and architectural plans for the adequate development of the vast Hollywood By-the-Sea tracts.

Besides being on the very shores of the Atlantic Ocean, fifty miles south of Palm Beach and fifteen north of Miami—Hollywood By-the-Sea has every other strategic advantage. Each year three hundred thousand persons or more pass directly through en-route down the east coast of the state. They must—they couldn't go around Hollywood if they chose; for the city rests squarely astride the Dixie Highway and main line Florida East Coast Railroad—with the Inland Water and East Coast way passing through it.

This in the most glorious of climates—in a land of sunshine and breezes; with ocean bathing every day in the year—with but a greens variation in the thermometer reading from month to month, land of healthfulness, and abnormal fertility, with a growing season produces three full crops a year, and where opportunity is greater than ever before.

They Do It With Bible Schools

Those sincere people who worry about the lack of Bible teaching in the public schools, and who know that unless boys and girls acquire some knowledge of Biblical literature in their grammar school days they are likely never to acquire it, can find some excellent ways to off-set the absence of public school Bible lessons if they will read of some of the plans being followed in other cities.

In Toledo, Ohio, for instance, the Council of Churches maintains Bible schools in churches nearest thirty-seven of the city's public schools. The city's Board of Education permits one hour a week from school to each pupil whose parents file a written request, and the hour, with some after-school hours if the child desire it, is given to instruction in Biblical literature and to instruction in simple lessons of right-and-wrong derived from study of Biblical stories and injunctions.

More than five thousand pupils attend these schools, and the denominations enrolled for the classes include the Baptist, Christian Alliance, Church of Christ, Church of God, Brethren Congregational, Christian Science, Episcopal, Evangelical, Lutheran, Methodist, Presbyterian, United Brethren and both the Roman and Greek Catholic.

Unfortunately it is usually the child from the home who sees to it that children have instruction in the Bible, who is sent to regularly established "Bible Schools." Children who do not go to Sunday school and who have no home instruction rarely are found among the attendants. But if such schools were made entertaining, if the lessons were interspersed with games and the affair made attractive in as many ways as possible, then if the Bible school were accepted as a substitute for an hour a week of regular school work, it would seem that practically every child would be eager to enroll in the classes.

Assuredly the work is worth undertaking in every community in which the meager time of the usual Sunday school, with its brief space for real Bible study, is the only time provided for instruction in the greatest of books.

Divorced from any of the "revival" features that are so injurious to young minds and hearts, and organized in the spirit of making the work attractive to merry youngsters who like to play, a Bible School could do wonders in the making of better citizens and better homes.

Undeveloped Land

Did you read what Arthur Brisbane had to say about Florida and the opportunities it presents? You people, who say that Florida really values are too high and who think that Florida has just about reached the crest and is due for a little decline on the other side, what do you think the value of property will be "when the Wall Street broker leaves his office at noon and flies down to Sarasota, or Jupiter Island, or Miami, in time for a drive and a swim before dinner the same evening?"

With the continual construction of railroads leading to Florida and the constant improvement of transportation facilities, Florida is being brought closer and closer to the great centers of population in this hemisphere. Excellent automobile roads are rapidly being built and transportation by the water route steadily being improved, until tourists will have a choice of any number of excellent modes of travel.

But what will revolutionize the tourist business in this country will be the final development of the airplane. As Brisbane says it will be only a short while before New Yorkers will fly to Florida from their New York or Chicago homes in a few hours. They will open and read their morning mail in Boston and spend the same evening under the palms with their families.

Why not? Airplanes have crossed the Atlantic. They have flown round the world. They have reached a speed of two hundred miles an hour. It is only a matter of a little time until giant passenger carrying airplanes will be speeding through the air at the rate of five hundred miles an hour. Then the trip from New York to Sanford will be made in about two hours and a half.

Can you imagine the numbers of tourists who will come to Florida when distance is thus so totally annihilated? Hundreds of thousands come now when the trip requires two and sometimes three days. Millions will come when they can run down for the week-end and be back in their offices on Monday. Millions will send their families down when they know that they themselves can fly down frequently to see their loved ones.

Florida has 37,000,000 million acres of land, says Brisbane, only two million of which are developed. Florida's population now is about one million. Ten years from now Florida's population will be—well, figure it out for yourself. Then there will be no undeveloped land in Florida and what will really values be then? Try to buy a front foot.

A truly American sentiment recognizes the dignity of labor and the fact that honor lies in honest toil.—Cleveland.

We shall be judged, not by what we might have been, but what we have been.—Sewell.

God hath made man up-right; but they have sought out many inventions.—Ecclesiastes.

ADVICE TO YOUNG WOMEN

GAINESVILLE SUN

The unfortunate and tragic killing of the young wife by her husband, and followed by his own suicide at Daytona, brings forcibly to mind that these occurrences are growing all too frequent. Domestic infelicity generally begins in early married life. It is rare that husbands and wives are estranged after they have lived together any number of years.

Judge Kochendorfer is a New York judge who has handled hundreds of cases of domestic troubles. In an article in Collier's Weekly, he takes occasion to give some advice to wives. Commenting on a case recently before him he says:

"That foolish young wife that I had on her rights. She did not realize that in wedlock it is always a nice question where rights end and common sense begins. And that is the point where the rights of one come in conflict with the greater rights of the other."

"Many a man who is thought to be insanely jealous of his wife is only jealous of his own honor. Marital pride for the average husband rests largely on the belief that his wife is above suspicion. Hence his inalienable right to expect that she do nothing to bring herself under suspicion."

"The wife whose case we have just considered, though actually guiltless, was going to pay almost the same penalty as though she had transgressed that important Commandment: Thou shalt not commit adultery."

"A lot of marital trouble would be avoided if this old adage were

As Brisbane Sees It

"Take Heed?" Why Should we? Self-Determination, Hosh. Neither Rats Nor Humans.

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

THE PROPOSED constitutional amendment that would enable congress to regulate child labor is evidently defeated. That is an interesting test of United States civilization and answers the red blooded 100 per cent Americans who deny that money is the main power here.

Very interesting is the objection to any interference with child labor or for fear it might interfere with the usefulness of children in religious and other institutions. The founder of Christianity would be interested to find his professional followers fighting an amendment that would save children from shameful exploitation in mills, mines and factories. The warning against hiring one of these little ones because "their angels do always behold the face of my Father, which is in Heaven," must not be taken too seriously, where cash profits are concerned. After all, an idealist, preaching in Galilee 1900 years ago could hardly be expected to understand needs in 1925.

"DANGER OF setting all Croatia in flames and smashing the Jugo-Slavian kingdom," says the newspaper headline. Many of the artificially created "self determining" governments, established after the war, will be smashed or absorbed by stronger powers before long.

Self determination is a pleasing expression but doesn't mean much. The story told and the strength shown, through centuries, not any burst of sentiment, following war determine a people's fate. Those that could not govern themselves before the war do not become suddenly capable, merely because the allies beat Germany. Foolish is the power that sets up a nation, or an individual in business for himself, unless nation or individual has proved his fitness. Merely wishing for self-government does not constitute capacity for self-government. Ask Egypt or the Philippines.

MRS. ROSELLA Pyne has still to learn that sad experience is the only teacher. To frighten away rats she kept on her bureau a loaded pistol with a piece of cheese just in front of the muzzle. "They'll go to the cheese, see that my pistol is loaded, then run away from my apartment for fear I'll shoot them," said she. Foolish hope!

Not only are human beings as intelligent as that. A little while ago they looked into the barrel of a gun labeled "War." It went off and killed 20 millions of them. But even that won't make them keep away from war. They used to hang murderers in public and other criminals gathered to see. But that did not stop murders.

CONGRESS, HAVING decided to turn over the people's property at Musculo Shoals to a private concern shows that it cares little for public opinion. But it does not show complete lack of intelligence. It objects to having Senator Norris on the committee chosen to adjust matters between house and senate. That's intelligent. A man like Norris honest, able, belligerent and not afraid to call a senator a grafter, when he happens to be a grafter can be a great nuisance on an important committee.

WHEN THERE is real sickness you need a real remedy. At Nome in Alaska, there is an epidemic of diphtheria and none of the anti-toxin that cures diphtheria.

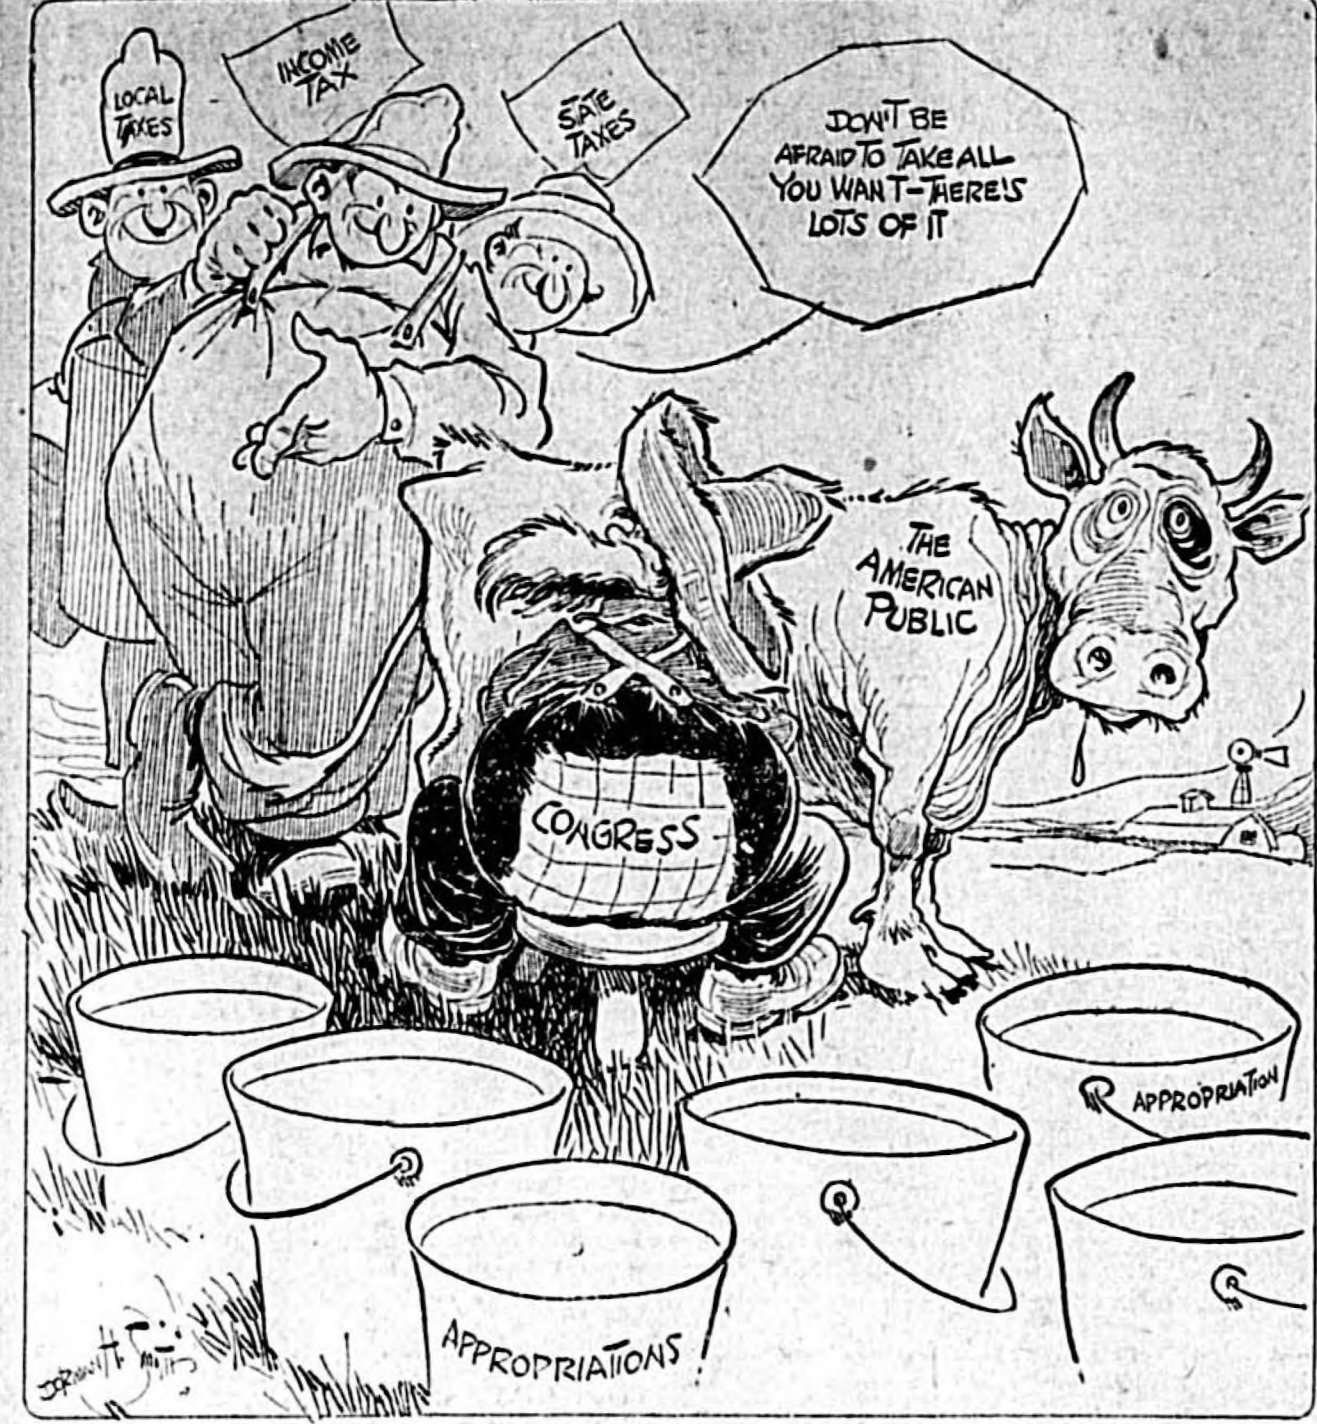

The epidemic will proceed and many will die, until the anti-toxin can be provided. Then the danger will pass. It takes real science to combat a real disease. Those that deny the value of power of scientific vaccination belong in the lower kindergarten grades. Such a statement annoys many well meaning souls but that can't be helped. Others of the same type are annoyed, his own plays and a few still resent if you insist that earth is round.

JACKSONVILLE PROPOSES to regulate "jay walking" by laws. The pedestrian who often acts as though his life were of little consequence, will be compelled to walk the streets as though he knew that automobiles exist. Reading newspapers as you cross the street or rushing into the road with your head turned backward to wave at loved ones is apt to make the loved ones miss you for all time. Chickens, dogs, even pigs are rapidly learning that automobiles are dangerous. Cows and human beings never make the discovery.

THE JACKSONVILLE jaywalker has an advantage over his jay brothers in New York, Chicago, etc. Evangelist Raymond T. Richey is in Jacksonville saving souls with a rapidity that is marvelous when you consider how hard it is to make a man think about his soul in the middle of a real estate boom. Already Mr. Richey has saved 3,500 actual count. If they stay saved it does not matter much whether they get run over or not. They are ready. But it is hard to understand the man that has not got religion and still persists in jay walking. It's taking a foolishness double risk. Billy Sunday should be the man to exhort the jay walker. "The first foot step takes you in front of the rushing car and the next step will be hell, etc."

Can you imagine how vivid he would make it?

"THE COW THAT NEVER GOES DRY"

EXIT LEON TROTSKY

TAMPA TIMES

Leon Trotsky has played no inconsiderable part in the world's history. As a partner of Lenin he had a part in overthrowing the greatest autocracy the world has ever known, and drove the absolute ruler of 180,000,000 people from his throne to an ignominious death. A couple of previous unknown adventures, they staged a revolution which elevated them to the head of a great nation and kept them there through several stormy and passion filled years. But Lenin died in the height of his power of an incurable disease, and Trotsky proved weak to maintain himself against the ambitions of those others who sought his place.

It may be doubted whether he was much of an asset to the Lenin regime. He was brutal to a fault, and ruthless in his methods. He organized the chokas, or secret service of Russia, which did more to bring the soviet government into disrepute than even the open tyrannies of the two partners. Their experiment did more to degrade Russia in the eyes of the world than all the tyranny of the czar. They made the once powerful nation an out-cast among the nations of the world, and brought her near to ruin by their destructive and autocratic methods. They demonstrated to all the world the utter futility of communism as a method of government, and made it a thing to be despised and condemned by all sane people.

And when Lenin passed on the cloak of power quickly fell from the shoulders of his partner, Trotsky. Other conspirators more powerful than he cut him out of his membership in the revolutionary war council, and threatened him with further punishment unless he submitted tamely to their demands. And he submitted like the coward he is. It may be questioned whether Russia will be any better off by its change of rulers. The only certainty in sight is that it can be no worse.

As for Trotsky, the only thing left for him is exile to some other country, if indeed that will be permitted by his enemies, who at present, are at the head of things in Russia. So passes not a great man—for he never was that—but a man who for a brief period was much in the public eye.

There will be few to mourn his passing.

LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL

A remarkable story is told by a crew of bridge builders who, finding boarding houses scarce in a Washington County locality, leased a vacant house which had the reputation of being haunted. After they had retired, their hair-raising tale runs, stones began bouncing on the floor and one of the men, a reputable citizen of Mitchellburg, was seized by the foot, jerked out of bed and hauled into the room by an unseen visitor. The delirious Kentuckian, who decline to admit terror, stuck to their post—bedposts until morning, when they found 23 boulders upon the floor, notwithstanding that all doors and windows were locked and there were no holes in the walls or ceiling.

Conan Doyle and the others who recently gave the world the news about the late Lord Northcliffe's election to the presidency of a trans-Styx society would have a ready explanation for the Washington County phenomenon. The noted British spiritist probably would contend that it was another evidence of the activities of a mischievous ectoplasm, but a more practical-minded, cynical person might venture the suggestion that

THE CONTAGION OF LAWLESSNESS

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

What continues to happen in Herrin is but a repetition of conditions in the old Western mining camps, and in such communities as Dodge City, Kan., was 59 years ago. Lawlessness quickly becomes contagious. Let men begin to "pack guns" even if they do so at first from motives of self-protection, and trouble is soon afoot.

Herrin's recent outbreak appears to be wholly unrelated to the disorder which gave her a bad name some time ago. It was, nevertheless, far more likely to happen in a town where the mob spirit once remained unchecked for a considerable period.

There is a lesson in the history of Herrin for other cities, particularly New York. Crime breeds crime, as lawlessness breeds lawlessness. Hold-ups, burglaries, safe-breaking and robbery are a legitimate part of the city by accident. Crime waves, unless suppressed gather head until they may well

Pennsylvania Cow Is Winner In Butter Test

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—After breaking the world's record for the production of butter-fat in ten months as a junior three-year-old a little more than a year ago, Lyons Sarcastic Kordyke, a pure-bred Holstein-Friesian cow, has just completed a ten months' test with a butter-fat record which makes her the world's leading junior four-year-old over all breeds.

Her 305 day record was 24,025.3 pounds milk and 854.88 pounds butter-fat (1,068.6 pounds butter). She gave birth to a bull calf weighing 130 pounds, carried for 290 days of the test period.
The new champion is on the farm of Abner S. Deysler, near Reading, Pa. A ration consisting of home-mixed grains, including oil meal, coconut meal, molasses and best pulp, with considerable quantities of good corn silage and alfalfa hay, was fed.

CYRIL WALKER OPENS COURSE AT HOLLY HILL

Davenport Prepares For Big Meet When Noted Golfers Get Into Action on Links

DAVENPORT, Fla., Jan. 31.—Cyril Walker, the National open champion of the United States, will play at the formal opening of the Holly Hill Country Club at Davenport, at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Feb. 7, in a match with Dick Pope, well known amateur player of Winter Haven, against Tom Dobson, pro of the Holly Hill Club, and Hugh Louden, another prominent amateur player of Babson Park. The match will be played over 18 holes on the Holly Hill Golf Course and is attracting wide attention due to the popularity of Walker, and the remarkable scores that he has been making in recent matches.

The Holly Hill Golf Course, which has been pronounced one of the finest of the State, is in excellent condition for this match. The links have been laid out with great care and not a detail has been omitted to make them appeal to both amateur and professional golfers. The complete absence of similarity on the greens and with many natural and artificial hazards and undulating fairways afford ample treat for the most skillful golfer. The course was planned and built by Stiles and Van Kleeck, two of the most prominent golf architects in the United States. They also built the Boca Ceiga Golf Course at Pasadena as well as several others in the State.

Suppose Your Health Failed

Or You Were Hurt in an Accident, and thereby Became Totally and Permanently Disabled—

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

The provision in the Pilot Life Insurance Company's policies for such a misfortune is the Last Word in Life Insurance protection. Suppose, for example, you have but a ten thousand dollar policy; and suppose you lost both arms or both legs, or one arm and one leg, or your eyesight, or you should become totally and permanently disabled from any cause whatever—either sickness or accident—

HERE'S HOW YOU WOULD BE PROTECTED

1. You would never have another cent to pay—your policy would automatically become paid-up.

AND IN ADDITION,

2. You would receive $100.00 each month just as long as you live.

NOT ONLY THAT,

3. Your beneficiary, at your death, would receive the full amount of the policy, $10,000, no deductions being made for the disability payments to you during your lifetime.

FURTHERMORE,

4. The non-forfeiture and loan values of your policy would continue each year.

AND

5. Dividends would continue to be paid you, just as if you were paying the premiums.

Isn't That Kind of Protection Worth While?
