Sanford-based missionary killed

By Dan Ping Editor

SANFORD — A missionary for New Tribes Mission was killed Friday New Indes Mission was killed Friday during a shootout between a radical Islamic group and U.S.-trained Filipino soldiers on a mission to rescue him and his wife from their captors. Martin Burnham, 42, was shot and killed during the firefight, and his wife, Gracia, was shot in the right thigh. It is unclear whether the injuries came from enemy or friendly fire.

"It hasn't turned out the way we were expecting it to, but we're grateful Gracia is alive," said Doug Burnham, Martin's younger brother.

The Burnhams were kidnapped 377 days ago by the Abu Sayyaf, an extremist group that has used kidnappings and beheadings in its fight for an independent Muslim state in the south Philippines. One other American and 17 Filipinos were also abducted. Despite months of diplomatic negotia-tions and the release of most of the hostages, Abu Sayyaf refused to free the couple.

Armed with U.S. surveillance tech-nology and night vision goggles, Filipino troops were on an extended two-week rescue mission when they engaged the rebels early Friday between the towns of Sibuco and Sirawai in the southern province of Zamboanga del Norte. Major General Ernesto Carolina, commander of the forces, said U.S. soldiers were not part of the ground troops, but American helicopters were on the scene to remove the wounded.

Four of the Burnham's captors were killed, as was Ediborah Yap, a Filipino nurse abducted shortly after the missionaries. Seven members of the rescue team were wounded.

We always thought that military action was the last resort," said Scott Ross, spokesman for New Tribes

Board considers moratorium on new apartments

By Dan Ping Editor

SANFORD - The city's Planning and Zoning board is considering asking the city com-mission to halt all new apartments until city officials can grasp the effects of such development.

Chairman Mike Skat suggested Thursday night that the P&Z board approve a moratorium on apartments. Though the matter wasn't formally approved, there appeared to be a solid majority who favored the idea.

Skat said the sheer number of new apartments — about 3,800 units in two years — should com-pel the officials to consider the effects of rapid growth and whether the city needs to tweak its development regulations. "If just one person lives in each apartment - and you know that's not realistic - that translates into a 10 percent population increase in the city of Sanford in 18 months," Skat said. "There's a study that says by 2020, we'll have the same population density as Dade and Broward counties.

Board member Bobby Von Herbulis agreed with Skat's concerns, but said a moratorium might lead the development community to consider Sanford as anti-development.

"A moratorium on anything is a sign that you're not pro-development - that's the perception," Von Herbulis said.

"I don't want to stop progress," Skat said, "I just want to take a breather so we can make sure we allow smart growth.'

Meeks-Smith suffered minor injuries from being tied up and from being struck on the head. Curtis Smith suffered no injuries. Seminole County Major Crimes Investigators are asking anyone with any information to tact the Seminole County Sheriff's Office at 407-665-6650.

One basket just isn't enough for Woods

By Michelle Jerla Managing Editor

Evelyn Woods' kitchen is an image from basket lover's dream.

Dozens of woven art pieces hang from the ceiling — each with its own unique identity. A basket hanging in the corner has raccoons painted on its sides. Another, hanging next to the ceiling fan, has roosters.

Although many people would be impressed by the kitchen's décor, Woods shrugs at it, explaining "the messy kitchen," is her workroom. It's where the 81-year-old Sanford native spends most of her time weaving reed and rope into intricate wooden vessels.

"I'm a basket weaver," Woods said. "That's what I do."

She does it a lot.

Although she can't estimate how many baskets she makes during the year, she knows the number is in the triple digits. She makes sure she has at least 350 baskets to display at each of the five area arts and crafts shows she

She claims to never tire of working with reed and wood. Staying busy is her life's phi-

Fire inspector halts Hopper activities

By Dan Ping Editor

SANFORD - City fire officials have halted all activities at Hopper Academy because the building fails to meet minimum life safety standards.

In addition, the president of the non-profit group which owns the building admits the facility has not had fire insurance for several months.

Built in 1906, Hopper Academy served black students during segregation. After years of disrepair, the historic school has undergone several years of renovations.

Despite those improvements, fire Inspector Tim Robles discov-ered recently that a Certificate of Occupancy has never been issued. He also found the building was being utilized as a day care, and meeting space for child dance classes and adult aerobics instruction even though the building was never equipped with smoke detectors, alarms or sprinklers. ,

"The Sanford Fire Department will not allow any occupancy (after school programs) until the minimal life safety (features) are installed inside this structures," Robles wrote in a letter to Alteon Lathrop. Lathrop was trying to secure an occupational license to operate a dance studio at the facility. "Please understand that our position is to have the building meet the 'safest degree of life safety' prior to any occupancy."

The Community Improvement Association of Seminole County (CIAS), a non-profit group, owns the building. Its president, Charles Rowe, said sprinkler systems were never put into the building during

Green thumb gardener grows 132-pound Carolina Cross watermelon

By Michelle Jerla Managing Editor

SANFORD — Edgar and Mary Ann Bruce have dilemma. They recently picked a 132-pound watermelon from their garden, and they don't have an icebox large enough to keep it chilled.

The super-sized melon is Edgar's creation. A Sanford native with a green thumb, he was surprised when his Carolina Cross watermelon grew to such large proportions.

On the seed packet, it says it can grow to 200 pounds," Edgar said. "I didn't believe it. But I thought, 'I'll see what it can do.' This is the largest one I've ever grown."

SEMINOLE SUMMARY A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Is it a fruit or vegetable?

From time to time, one gets into a most interesting conversation which probably has nothing to do with normal activities.

One such discussion recently, started in consideration of the 132 pound watermelon. The question is: "Is a watermelon a fruit or vegetable?"

Then, the conversation continued into the same matter regarding tomatoes, pumpkins and squash.

Immediately, everyone dove for a dictionary to look them up. My small New World Dictionary had nothing to say about the watermelon. The larger New World and the super New World, almost a foot thick, both listed the watermelon as a fruit. Tomatoes however, were different. My dictionary said vegetable. The other two said fruit. Regarding squash, both my small dictionary and the medium size ones said they were considered as either a fruit or vegetable. The large one said definitely fruit.

Nick Pfeifauf

And all of these were "Webster's" dictionaries. To make it even more confusing, the large dictionary said definition of a fruit was ... "usually distinguished from a vegetable only when the vegetable also consists of leaves, roots, etc." Now that's what I call a confusing explanation. What plant doesn't have roots or leaves?

Furthermore, one learned person in the conversation said the difference was that fruit had internal seeds, while vegetables did not. Carrots for example don't have internal seeds.

Then, to expand on the conversation, Herald photographer Tom Vincent came up with the concept that a mullet wasn't really a fish. He told of a man who was arrested for fishing without a license many years ago, when he was found with several mullet. He got off however, after taking the case to court and proving that a mullet isn't a fish because the mullet has a gizzard (the muscular second stomach of a bird, (and) the cooked entrails of poultry). Therefore, the man had fowl, not fish.

What's the purpose of this column? I guess it's to say that there are always interesting conversations going on. My life will certainly be better now that I know a watermelon and pumpkins are fruit, and that no one is sure about tomatoes and squash.

As for the mullet — that's pretty foul.

Sanford City Commission should adopt Mike Skat's suggestion to place a moratorium on all new apartment complexes. As chairman of the Planning and Zoning Commission, Skat is keenly aware of pressures rapid development can apply on city services and existing residences.

In the span of about two years, 3,800 new apartment units have been built or are in the development stage. That's a minimum population increase of 10 percent. While growth can be positive, it's prudent for city leaders to consider the present and future impact such developments will have on Sanford. A temporary moratorium would allow officials time to gauge the effects and study possible changes. The development issues facing Sanford today are the direct result of past city leaders failing to consider how their decisions might alter the quality of life in Sanford.

Recent decisions regarding the Groves at Sanford and Wyndham Place Apartments only reinforce the need for city officials to consider a moratorium. In both cases, the commission had few alternatives to enforce positive changes that could have diminished the negative effects of these developments. A temporary halt on new apartment projects would provide them with time to develop fresh approaches.

Rowe responds to various issues concerning CIAS

To the editor:

The Community Improvement Association of Seminole County (CIAS) would like to clear up a few items related to the Hopper Academy Project. Certain demands for information were made in a June 2, letter to the editor. These demands included; copies of minutes, who the officers are, sources and uses of funds, building insurance, parliamentary procedure and the location of the association's bank account

The CIAS meets every first Wednesday of the month. Each meeting is electronically recorded with notes made. Our board secretary, Ms. Ollie Williams (not Velma Williams) utilizes the notes and the recordings to make minutes. We are currently converting hand written minutes into typed format. We would be very happy to have anyone come and review the minutes, both the hand written and typed formats.

The names and associated positions of our board officers have always been readily available, in fact within the past quarter the ilable corporate minutes and by-laws, many copies were made available to all meeting attendees. Within the corporate minutes one will find the names and positions of the various board members. Our financial records are simple. We ordinarily don't write more than two checks each month one for water and one for power with occasional expenditures for various maintenance and upkeep items. The CIAS has been very fortunate in obtaining grant funds to underwrite much of the work that has brought the building back from the brink of collapse. With the exception of a $1,700 dollar historic preservation grant, all other grant funds were received from the federal government in the form of Seminole County administered Community Development Block Grant funds. We have also held some fundraisers to assist and we have received donations both in-kind and cash, which we have utilized to the benefit of the building.

--- ATTACK -- PEARL -- HARBOR--

It is true that the CIAS was not able to meet the fiscal requirements to continue with the building's insurance. We have for the past few months gotten by on prayer.

The CIAS has a parliamentary procedure in place. Our parliamentarian, Ms. Altermese Bentley, strictly enforced the procedure. Unfortunately, in light of health problems Ms. Bentley has been forced to curtail her commitment to the CIAS. Ms. Bentley has been replaced, until she is able to return, by Ms. Juanita Papino.

The CLAS has never held an Alabama bank account. For more than ten years we banked with SunTrust and only recently moved our account to Community National Bank on 1st Street in Sanford, the main office for this bank is in Lake Mary Florida. The printer for our new checks is located in Alabama; perhaps this explains the error. We appreciate our neighbors signing for the receipt of the checks. The CIAS is faced with many more obstacles before we can truly realize our dreams of having Hopper Academy once again provide comprehensive community support to all its visitors. The most pressing need relates to the Fire Code requiring the building be retrofitted with a fire suppression sprinkler system (if the CIAS elects to change the current estab-lished use "school"). If the CIAS does not change the use the Fire Department will require an alarm system wired to notify the Fire Department in cases of emergency. The Sanford Fire Department has been very gracious and helpful in working with the CIAS and the Hopper building, but the codes are state mandated not subject to local substantive changes. The Officers of the CIAS have contributed their personal funds and have worked by shoveling animal excrement out of the building, hauling garbage and debris, painting, hammering and mowing to bring the Hopper building from near ruin. Severe structural problems and asbestos presence were early and expensive hurdles. As a result of our efforts, along with friends of the association, we have been able to obtain fee simple ownership to the property while stabilizing and retaining this most important and historic building.

The Hopper Academy, built in 1906, was the "Colored achool" utilized during times of racial segregation. Once integration was introduced the building became the home for the Community Action Agency. Prior to 1992, the building was vacant, unkempt and forgotten. The structural members had decayed; termites and water damage were ravaging the building.

Ordinary CIAS meetings are open to everyone; we welcome our regulars and look forward to newcomers. Perhaps the writer of the letter to the editor in the June 2 issue of the Seminole Herald, along with others, would like to attend. We wish the Weed & Seed project great success and stand ready to offer any assistance to help the program become a major help for each of the communities designated.

leaders of Seminole County, or by the people who want to be the leaders of Seminole County. Do we all agree? Of course not!

You complain about including Sandy Robinson in a poll for County Commission. She sent me a message thanking me. Obviously you two do not agree, but what the heck, jump on in, the water's fine. This country is great because you can express your opinions in a newspaper such as

As to Bob West, he was making calls about running but recently decided not to. As to his residency, I can personally tell you that your residence is where you say it is — and Judge Alan Dickey agrees. At least 10 county commission candidates in the last decade didn't live in their district when they ran, so what's the fuss? I have noted your complaint about Larry Dale being a former County Manager. Originally planned to poll Gary Kaiser in that spot. We polled correctly, we reported incorrectly. When the poll was over, I did a cut and paste from an old copy of the questions. Got the name right, but not the title. Any way, it is corrected now. Thank you for an extra set of eyes doing the proof read-

As to the "calls" versus the "responses," you must take that ment A brief note about your McLain complaint — Mr. McLain was quoted in the Herald saying he would be active in the campaign to replace him on the Commission. Since McLain has not tendered his letter of resignation yet, it is a fair question to see what people thought about a third party affecting an election for their representative.

In closing, I applaud your letter. People are always going to have different opinions. If they didn't, all polls would be 100-0, and we wouldn't need political parties, or even elections for pub-lic officials. It's obvious you feel strongly about the political process and the candidates you support. Seminole County is stronger for your involvement.

Commission. As evidenced by recent events concerning multifamily developments, there is little that can be done to rectify zoning decisions made twenty and thirty years ago. However, we can attempt to adopt new criteria that will lessen the impact of large scale projects on the surrounding properties.

Obviously, the burden placed on our schools by large-scale residential development is a major concern. The issue is currently being reviewed in Tallahassee to perhaps give local government more power to limit residential development if proper educational facilities are not in place. We have requested that all information regarding the current initiatives in Tallahassee be provided so that we can be kept apprised of : the direction the State government is taking.

That said, what will we do to to the said of the said grow sensibly. Our planning and engineering staff is one of the best in the state of Florida. They have committed to provide detailed information as to what our inventory of vacant land is, what the adjacent uses are, and what specifically can be done to further modify our requirements and standards to increase compatibili-

Golf applauds recent letter critical of polls

To the editor:

In response to Mr. Bill Davis' letter to the editor in the June 2, Seminole Herald, welcome to the political process! I am honored . that you have joined the 12,653 other people who have visited www.centralfloridapolling.com, some 7,852 of them in the month of May.

Every one of those people have a political agenda — their interest in finding out how their neighbors view certain situations, events, or decisions made by the up with the Herald. As you noted, I use "calls" in all information given to the public and to the Herald. I, too, was disturbed by their usage of "responses" in the story, but since it was already in print, and the Web site was correct, I did not make a fuss about it. I am sure Mr. Ping will not let his staff make the same mistake again.

Lastly, as to the questions. As a frequent visitor to the site, you have surely noticed that it is a breathing, living process which changes as changes are needed. About a month ago, I added a request line for questions people would like to see asked. Of those I have received, I have not noticed your name attached to any of them. Please, feel free to contribute. The political process can always use constructive involve-

To the editor:

In the June 6 meeting of the city of Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission, we again discussed a potential moratorium on new multi-family construction, most specifically apartment complexes. While my motion to move forward with the moratorium was eventually withdrawn, it was nonetheless a very productive discussion.

The two primary issues which prompted the motion centered on compatibility and education. I believe all members of the Planning and Zoning Commission concurred that these are concerning issues. Compatibility with surrounding properties has been and will continue to be a primary focus of the Planning and Zoning

In an attempt to move quickly, we are looking at a two to three month time horizon for everything to be completed. Once that information and the educational concurrency information is provided, we have asked for joint planning session with the City Commission to discuss how to move forward. While the current growth we are experiencing provides improvement in the overall well being of the city, it does come with costs, both tangible and intangible. Rest assured that these costs are recognized by our city staff, the Planning and Zoning Commission and the City Commission.

Sincerely, Michael Skat Chairman City of Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission

The Way We Were: Woodruff family makes their mark in county

Today concludes the story of the Woodruff Family as found in "Early Settlers of Orange County." Seth and Frank Woodruff were the third generation of Woodruffs to live in Orange/Seminole County.

Seth Woodruff Seth Woodruff, son of William

 Wordworth (W.W) Woodruff and Nanny Galloway, was the oldest of the the third generation of Orange

Grace Marie County Stinecipher Woodruffs. He was born at Fort Reid, Mellonville, March 10 1862, and attended county schools. Schools at that time were free to those who couldn't afford It, but the Woodruffs paid tuition.

He entered the Preparation Department of Erskine College, S.C. in October 1887, graduated in 1882 with an AB degree with honorable mention in all branches of study.

When Seth returned home, he began a busy life of orange growing, truck farming, cattle raising and mercantile business. In 1882 he was elected tax collector of Orange County and served until 1904.

After terminating his public service, he returned to his profitable business mentioned above.

He continued in politics and was chair of the Democratic Executive Committee of Orange County in 1915

Through his years he had given unstintingly of his time and effort in the promotion of many good causes. In 1885 he helped initiate the movement of county brick roads. He also helped developed the public schools into the splendid system which presently existed in 1915. And he actively promoted progressive laws in such areas as schools, roads, trucking and citrus.

Seth was among those who organized the Orlando Driving Park Association out of which the Orange County Fair Association was developed. This group held an annual Sub-Tropical and Winter Exposition embracing four counties. He was the president of the Fair Association and was continuing in that position.

In 1911 and again in 1914, Seth was president of the Orlando Board of Trade. He also served as city alderman for several years.

He endorsed all legimate sports and contributed to racing, baseball and polo. He was a stockholder in the Orlando County Club and was a member of numerous fraternal orders.

Elizabeth Agnes Shine, born and raised in Tallahassee, became his wife in 1896, they enjoyed a wide circle of friends and it was said that the latch string of their house always hung on the outside. Seth enjoyed life and was proud of the distinction of being a genuine "Florida Cracker".

Frank Woodruff Frank W. Woodruff was the youngest son of W.W and Nannie Woodruff. He was born

Feb. 26,1871, at Fort Reid and was educated in the county school. He then spent two years at Erskine College where he met Miss Minnie Elizabeth Delvin; they were married Jan. 11, 1897.

Since 1892, Frank had been engaged in business in Orange County. He was a member of the Democratic Executive Committee and in 1910 was elected Orange County Commissioner from the Sanford district. In 1912 he was re-elected and in 1913, when Seminole County was formed from Orange County, he was appointed county commissioner by Governor Park Trammell and became served as Sanford's mayor in 1903. 1904 and 1906 and 1906. Frank was the senior member of the firm of Woodruff and Watson in Sanford. He was also interested in the fire insurance and real esate business and was a director in the Seminole County Bank, vice president and director of the People's Bank of Sanford.

Frank ad Minnie Elizabeth had four children: Frank Lee, Jr; John Delvin, Ralph G. and Harry Shine. Frank died in 1946.

Mother's idea for a double baby shower rains on daughter's parade

DEAR ABBY: After a two-year engagement, my husband and 1

were married three years ago. After the engagement announcement, my mother sur-

Dear

Abby going to renew their wedding vows. I was happy for them until my mother began planning their ceremony around the time of our wedding. I felt she was trying to steal the limelight from me - and she did.

Two months ago, I announced that I am two months' pregnant. Yesterday, my mother announced that SHE is pregnant. (She had me when she was 15.) Abby, now she wants us to have baby showers on the same day. Do you think this is my mother's attempt to stay connected with me?

TRYING TO REMAIN CALM IN DENVER

DEAR TRYING: No. I think that on an unconscious level, there is competition going on.

However, since there is nothing you can do about it, the best advice I can offer is to live your own life, and spend less time looking over your shoulder to see what your mother is doing. Under no circumstances should you allow these "coincidences" to lessen your own happiness.

DEAR ABBY: 1 am a freshman at a college located two hours away from home. My brother, "Jeff," who is three years younger, still lives at home. I miss him until he comes to visit - then it's a different story.

Jeff shows no respect for me, my lifestyle or my dorm room. He demands that I entertain him even though my schedule is filled to the max with classes and work. He makes a mess of my room (like spilling soda and not cleaning it up) and makes rude comments about my boyfriend behind his back. My brother has gone so far as to make some outrageous statements like, "Anyone who is not Christian is going to hell!" (My boyfriend is Jewish.)

Raises likely for Seminole teachers

By Nick Pfelfauf Staff Writer

SANFORD - If a recent agreement is ratified late next month, Seminole County school teachers will have at least a 4.5 percent pay raise. Others, with advanced degrees may receive an additional 5 percent for a total increase of 9.5 percent.

The increase would become effective in the next school year. Paul Sanchez, executive director of Seminole Uniserv, which represents four school unions, stressed that the 4.5 percent would be for all teachers employed by the county. The agreement, considered decision made by the board. "I believe the current school board (in Seminole County) really values the teachers, and has made teacher retention a top priority," he said. "I salute their actions."

Although there was an indication that the additional money for the pay increases may mean larger class sizes, Sanchez said it would only involve possibly one or two more students per class, and as tentative, is the result of not any massive influx of stuefforts by the Seminole dents and heavier work load

> Sanchez expects there will be some tighter restrictions in spending, with the money for the district coming from the state below the amount which will be needed. However, he said the school board will probably be able to handle the matter through possibly taking on as many new teachers as expected, and other cutbacks.

Following the vote in July by the teachers, the tentative agreement will be brought before the school board for final approval, probably in early August.

A solution was found through self-instruction. Each woman would teach herself how to make a basket. At the end of the week, the group would gather and compare their handiwork, Woods said. The person who made the group's favorite basket of the week would then show the others how to make it.

Mission. "We were prayerful that there would be a peaceful resolution."

Ross said the organization's staff headquartered in Sanford had been briefed about Martin Burnhams' death early Friday.

They were very sad about the lose of Martin, but excited with the Gracia's release," Ross said. "We would ask you to please pray especially for Gracia at this time, for her three children and their extended families and all those who have been affected by this difficult and tragic news," he tiations and provided weekly added.

Friday's news will not substantially alter New Tribes' activities or procedures, Ross said. The organization sends missionaries to most corners of the world and has dealt with kidnappings previously in South America.

During the Burnhams incarceration, New Tribes established a four-man contingency team in Manila and a three-man team in the States. Team members worked with Filipino and U.S. government officials to initiate action and nego-updates to family members. The mission group also has an extensive intelligence network to monitor ongoing and potential crisis sit-uations, though it releases no details about its activities.

The Burnhams, who were assigned to the Philippines, were kidnapped as they celebrated their wedding anniversary at a resort on Palawan Island on May 27, 2001. A third American, Guillermo Sobero, of Corona, Calif., was also abducted. He was beheaded by his captors shortly thereafter.

Moratorium

A moratorium would allow the city to determine how much multi-family zoning remain undeveloped, where such zoning is located and what effects it may have on existing neighborhoods, Skat said. He would also like to use a moratorium to develop stricter codes for building apartments

"Allowing a three-story spart-ment complex within 100 feet of someone's home is ridiculous," Skat said. "Right now, we have no teeth in the site plan review, and it is ridiculous and insane that we don't have the ability to protect people's property values." Board member Ross Robert said he wouldn't agree to any moratorium unless there was a clear Indication that city commissioners would support it. He noted that the city commission has twice overruled P&Z when three-story apartments have been placed next to single-family residential.

"I think we're tugging on Superman's cape," Robert said, They've flown off in a different direction." The commission may be about to change course. Mayor Brady Lessard said Priday he supports Skat's initiative and would agree to take it a step farther.

"I think Senford has enough apartments in this cycle," Lessard said. "I think definitely we need to take a look at putting a moratorium on rezoning property to allow more apartments That's the minimum starting point." Lessard said the city should put together a team and approach property owners about rezoning their property to single-family or attractive commercial uses. He also said he would favor compensating those property owners who down zone their property to a less intense use "I'm not necessarily talking cash," Lessard said. "Cash isn't the only incentive the city has at its disposal. Maybe the city helps build the retention pond or delays the collection of impact fees until the first homes are sold.

"My position is this: the city needs to be proactive and seek out these property owners and offer to work with them before some apartment developer gets to them first."

Lessard will bring the issue up during Monday's work session to gauge what parameters commis-sioners might be willing to consid-

According to reports, the Cameron Avenue ditch subbasin, which involves an area of the county of approximately 415 acres, flows directly into the lake through a channel, without receiving any water quality treatment prior to its discharge. To resolve the problem, a stormwater treatment facility is to be built. It will be located on SJRWMD property but be maintained by Seminole County. When operational it is expected 45,000 pounds of pollutants can be removed by the facility each year, thus highly upgrading the quality of water in Lake Jesup, and subsequently further along the St. Johns River.

SCC softball star to attend Stetson

Special to the Herald

DeLAND --- Head coach Frank Griffin recently announced that the Stetson University softball team has signed Carrie Cruit and Blake Hoorelbeke to National Letters-of-Intent.

A transfer from Seminole Community College, Hoorelbeke comes to Stetson as a junior. The Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, nafive will serve as a pitcher and first baseman for the Hatters. She went 1-0 and only pitched 15 innings as a freshman because of arm problems, but ended up 18-8 with a 0.90 ERA and 130 strikeouts in her two-year stint for the Raiders.

One of the best hitters in junior college, Hoorelbeke, who batted clean-up both seasons for coach Courtney Miller, was walked a lot and was held to only 51 hits, 30 RBI, and four home runs at the plate as a sophomore.

As a freshman, the 6-foot-1 righthander hlt .356 (64-180) with 14 doubles and six home runs, drove in 48 and scored 31 runs.

"We look for Blake to bring some good experience as a junior college transfer," said Griffin. "She is an extremely talented player that will be successful as a pitcher, first baseman, and hitter."

Cruit, a native of Orlando, joins the Hatters as a true freshman and 2002 graduate of Edgewater High School. As a short stop, Cruit helped lead her squad to the State Final Four in 1999 and 2001 as well as two metro championships, two district championships and two regional championships. Under head coach Steve Muise, she was named first-team allstate, all-metro and all-county for three years of her high school career. Cruit holds school records for hits, doubles, RBIs and home runs.

"Carrie is a good hitter with great versatility in that she can play all over the infield," said Griffin. "We look forward to her as a strong addition to our program and as an athlete that is very dedicated to the sport."

Nicholson and SCC earned their first trip to the State Tournament in several years. The first Raider selected was pitcher Michael Reiss, who went in the 14th Round (425th overall) to the Atlanta Braves.

The Braves came calling again 11 rounds later, the 25th, taking Michael's twin-brother Steven with the 755th pick. This was the first year that Canadians were subject to the draft and the Thornhill, Canada natives were two of the first "Canucks" selected.

Michael, a 6-foot-5 sophomore righthander, went 3-1 with two saves as a reliever despite and earned run averagoe of 8,16. He struck out 34 and walked 22 in 32 innings of work.

Steven, a 6-foot-4 sophomore righthander, was 4-5 with a 6.31 ERA. He struck out 48 and walked 38 in 61-1/3 innings of work.

Vivona's very nearly let a comfortable lead slip away as former champion Skips Boots/Lynch Mob made a dramatic comeback.

Vivona's led by 12 runs in the fifth inning and needed just three outs to post a Run Rule victory.

But Skips Boots/Lynch Mob scored nine runs to get back into the game and eventually closed to within one run and had the tying and winning runs on third and first base in the bottom of the seventh inning when Vivona's Kevin Julian hauled in a fly to medium left field to close out a 19-18 triumph.

White Sands had no such trouble, taking an early lead and slowly pulling away for a 17-6 Run Kule win.

In the other game, Knights of Columbus 2 guaranteed themselves a non-losing season when they knocked off Briar Corp., 15-1.

The standings after nine week are Vivona's and White Sands (both 7-2), Knights of Columbus 2 and Skip's Boots/Lynch Mob (both 5-4), Briar Corporation (2-7) and Orlando Fire Department (1-8).

Helms takes super stock 50 at New Smyrna Speedway

SAMSULA — Ted Helms drove the race of his life last Saturday night, claiming the checkered flag in the Super Stock 50-lap feature at New Smyrna Speedway.

Heims' victory was more difficult than anyone knew until he showed up in victory lane.

One week before, Helms had been working on the fender of his race car when he suffered a severe cut on his left hand, making it impossible to grip the steering wheel. Later in the week, he received burns on the left side of his body from a radiator hose that blew up while the crew was tuning the car.

"This has been a tough week for us, but I was determined to run this race for my sponsors and my team," Helms said. "They support me and I wanted to show them I was ready to perform my job. I really want to thank everyone that has worked with me, and also all of these great fans that are here tonight. Thank you."

In other racing action, Joey Pletka took top hon-ors in the Super Late Model show. Pletka's win was something of a surprise because he was driving his late model. The three leaders, George Murphy, Jim "Hoot" Flynn, and Wayne Parker were involved in a three-car incident near the end of the event, opening the way for the fourth place Pletka to take the checker.

Jerry Lee Yarbrough piloted his number 98 Modified to top honors, holding off Bobby Blake and Wayne Parker in a three-way battle.

"This car ran great," Yarbrough said. "Bobby and Wayne ran very clean. It is fun to race with them. This must have been an exciting race for the fans. Thanks to my crew for all of their hard work."

Yarbrough has been close all season, and the team may have finally found the right combination to make the car tough for the rest of 2002. Donnie Williams took his red, white, and blue number 111 to another Sportsman victory. Ron Lufcy, Randy Hecker, Chris Peludat, and Joe Adams rounded out the top five.

"It gets harder to win every time out," Williams said. "We have worked hard on this car and I want to thank my crew for all of their hard work. Also, thanks to all of these great fans for being here tonight."

Tim "The Missile Man" McPhail proved that hard work does really pay off. McPhail wrecked his car a few weeks ago at Orlando Speedworld, and in the interim has done a total rebuild of the machine.

"Winning tonight feels great," an obviously happy McPhail said. "We have rebuilt everything on this car and all of the hard work paid off. Thanks to my team and to all of the fans that are here tonight."

McPhail was followed across the line by Ted. Vulpius, David Castello, Wayne Wells, and Charlie Staats.

Todd Driscoll claimed the trophy in the Sorrento Auto Salvage Strictly Stocks. Driscoll took the lead late in the feature and never looked back.

"Thanks to my team," Driscoll said. "They have worked hard for this. I also want to thank Sorrento Auto Salvage for their sponsorship of this division, and thanks to the fans."

Travis Scott, David Smith, Faris Crews, and James Smith completed the top five order of fin-

The first Golden Knight picked was senior catcher eremy Frost, who was chosen by the Milwaukee Brewers with the 289th pick in the 10th round. Frost, who played on Sanford Post 53's World Series winning team, had been taken in the 37th Round by the Houston Astros when he graduated from Oviedo High School, but decided to play for cuach Jay Bergman at UCF.

The 6-foot-3, 203-pound righthander, who split his time behind the plate and in the outfield during his first three seasons, hit .248 (53-214) with eight home runs a triple and 10 doubles, scored 41 runs and drove in 32. MOVE OVER NASCAR: ANTIQUE RACEBOAT REGATTA COMES TO THOUSAND ISLANDS

Long before there was NASCAR, thousands of race fans used to line the shores of New York's famed Thousand Islands to watch roaring watercraft thunder down the St. Lawrence River in a blur of wood, water and waves.

The Antique Boat Museum in Clayton, N.Y. is bringing back these historic varnished mahogany and polished-brass craft for The Antique Raceboat Regatta on August 16-18, 2002. Sponsored by BoatU.S. Marine Insurance, the three-day event will feature an historic array of over 100 antique and classic race boats from around North America.

With a hundred-year-old history of racing in the Thousand Islands, this pre-eminent national gathering of Chris-Crafts and Gar Woods, Apels and Purdys is expected to draw over 10,000 spectators for the three day event. The Regatta weekend also features boat forums, a nautical auction and a marketplace for anyone interested in racing, boating, or just having a good time.

"It's clear that the owners of these unique boats are passionate about preserving their classics down to the last detail," said Jim Holler, senior vice president, BoatU.S. Marine Insurance. "Anyone who works with boats as closely as we do can't help but admire their dedication. We share in their passion about boats - and about the BoatU.S. Marine Insurance program.

Meets will be held on Wednesday evenings and last about two hours. Meets are informal, friendly, novice-level with other area teams and swimmers compete with children of similar ages and abilities in a non-threatening format where swimmers get awards for competing.

This is a great way for kids to get involved in swim team as the competitions are very low-key. Kids that want to continue year-round have the option to do so when the summer ends.

ave you ever want- Wine and Food for 1998 and ed to go to the best restaurant in America - not just a good restaurant, not even a great restaurant - but the best restaurant in America? What would it be like? Could the food be that much better? Would the service seem that much different? What kind of chef can envision and maintain that type of excellence in dining night after night? Is it worth the time and money to go there? The answer to the last question is a resounding yes.

First, go to Chicago. From downtown, take a cab ride along the western shore of Lake Michigan for about 10 minutes and you will soon arrive at a non pretentious looking, renovated 1908 twostory stone townhouse at 816 Armitage, where you are greeted by a discreet doorman who directs you up the stairs to the entrance of Charlie Trotter's - the best restaurant in America.

I am not alone in this opinion. Chef Trotter has collected more awards than I have socks. A few notables are: Mobile Travel Guide, Five Stars (highest rating); AAA Five Diamonds (highest rating); and Wine Spectator, Best Restaurant in the World for work on the neutrally colored walls. This place is about experiencing food, not art and not music - food in all its simplicity and complexities. Then there are the perfectly dressed, perfectly mannered, people who help bring this experience to you. In other restaurants I might call them servers, here they are more your liaisons to the kitchen. They move about flawlessly in a strange ballet between tables, the kitchen , the wine cellars, all three, and anywhere else necessary to make your dining experience complete.

As a quick story, a wealthy foreign businessman was dining near us when one of the staff noticed he was on a cell phone — and a very expen-sive cell phone, computer monitor and all. While the patron was neither loud nor boisterous, his dining partner was tactfully reminded that cell phones were simply not allowed. Quick. Decisive. Tactful. Nicely done.

So what kind of food can you expect. It doesn't matter. When you go, all your expec-tations will be surpassed. The ingredients are the highest quality available on the planet, seriously. Whether it is line caught fish, heirloom tomatoes --- the produce is 90 percent organic --- or the freshest ahi tuna in the sea — it was certainly the best that I have ever had - each ingredient is the purest and freshest you will ever experience.

Your first decision is which of the three menus you will have. Remember this is not your typical restaurant. You are not choosing entrees and appetizers, you are choosing a dining experience of 10 to 12 perfectly blended small courses.

advance you and up to seven guests can actually eat in the immaculate kitchen, watching the entire symphony of chefs as they prepare all the meals for their guests. We had both the grand menu and the vegetable menu. I could go on and on about the freshest ahi with perfectly mixed spices, the 20 year old-tawny port that mixed perfectly with the mignardaise - assorted small dessert items that will have you sampling well past the rational point of fullness.

Well, the dishes are constantly changing according to what is freshest and what new combinations Charlie Trotter discovers. A few current examples include Marinated Blue Fin Tuna with Cucumber and Wasabi, Broken Arrow Ranch Black Buck Antelope Rack and Loin with Red Wine Braised Artichokes, and Terrine of Citrus Cured Smoked Salmon.

After dinner, I was given a tour of the kitchen, wine cellars with more than 25,000 bottles and kitchen studio next door. The kitchens are state of the art with stoves that cost hundreds of thousands of dollars, world class chefs working elbow to elbow, and a video system that keeps track of the food as it cooks. These cameras can zoom in on any dish at any time to see whether it is getting too well done or not enough. Talk about quality control!

While touring the studio kitchen, I ran into Charlie Trotter himself. As an example of how busy his life is, he had just returned from Florida that afternoon and headed straight for the restau-rant. He had been invited to our state by 400 Pizza Hut executives to give a seminar on how to take pizza to the next level of excellence and taste.

With all the activity swirling about us, there is a calm that envelopes Charlie Trotter. He has a focus and intensity that I did not expect. When I asked him if he was just a little tired, he smiled that energetic smile that never quits and said, "It's just another day." I can tell you, it was not just another day for me. Charlie Trotter's is an experience not to be missed.

eventy-five years ago, Edwin E. Perkins, owner of Perkins Products Co., had a problem. His most popular invention, a soft drink syrup called "Fruit Smack," was becoming a shipping nightmare. The syrup that came in six flavors was sold in fragile 4ounce glass bottles, which had a tendency to break or leak when shipped. An inventor by trade,

Perkins' solution to the problem was to come up with another invention. He simply transformed Fruit Smack into a concentrated powder, packaged it in envelopes, and changed the name to Kool-Ade (which was soon changed to the modern-day spelling Kool-Aid).

Launched in 1927, the soft drink mix became a huge success, both in the United States and Latin America. At 10 cents an envelope, Kool-Aid continued to grow in popularity, especially during the Great Depression when the beverage was considered an affordable luxury.

In 1953, Perkins retired and sold his company, including Kool-Aid, to General Foods Corporation, which merged with Kraft in 1988. The Kool-Aid tradition continued, and today there are more than 20 flavors of the soft drink sold in more than 50 countries throughout the world.

Although Kool-Aid is one of the most recognizable beverages in the world, not every one has easy access to it. Heléne Ericsson of Umea, Sweden, discovered the fruity drink during a visit to the United States.

'We have friends in South Carolina, and when we went to the States to attend their wedding, I got to experience the wonder of Kool-Aid," Ericsson said. "I brought loads home."

Since the soft drink isn't sold in Sweden, Ericsson said she relies on the Internet to restock her

Kool-Aid supply. She isn't the only one. There are dozens of websites dedicated to the drink. Many are devoted to trading, selling and col-lecting Kool-Aid merchan-dise — from the original Kool-Aid frosted glass pitchers of the 1950s to the various merchandise sold in Kool-Ald Man's.

Jim Moffett of Valley Springs Calif., started drinking Kool-Aid in the 1940s. Although he rarely drinks it now, he became a Kool-Aid collector in March 2000.

Two years later, he said the most prized possession in his collection is a Kool-Ade packet from 1927. The most unusual is a 1939 Kool-Aid sales manual.

For people who may not have a lot of money to spend on Kool-Aid merchandise, the company has a long tradition of offering free items to kids (and adults) who save up Kool-Aid packages or points. From a beanie cap in the 1930s to a Kool-Aid Atari Game in the 1980s.

See Kool-Aid, Page 2C

Kool-Aid was invented in 1927 in Hastings, Neb. The six original flavors include cherry, grape, lemon-lime, orange, rasp-berry and strawberry. Today, the soft drink mix is available in 22 flavors. The most popular are: 1. Tropical punch 2. Lemonade 3. Grape 4. Cherry 5. Orange • According to the 2000

5. Orange • According to the 2000 Kraft Foods Share of Intake Panel, Kool-Aid is the No. 1 most consumed beverage by children and the No. 3 most consumed beverage overall. • Approximately 800 million packages of Kool-Aid are sold each year, which means 25 packages of Kool-Aid are sold every second.

Kool-Aid Man literally crashed onto the scene in 1975. In the first ever Kool-Aid Man commercial, two thirsty children at a bowling alley seek instant refreshment by yelling "Hey, Kool-Aid I" Kool-Aid Man makes his soon to be famous entrance by smashing through the bowling alley wall and shouting "Oh Yeah!" In the same year, "Advertising Age" ranked the Kool-Aid Man commercial as one of the top 100 commercials of 1975. Since that year, Kool-Aid Man has starred in dozens of commercials. He's even stepped out of the television screen and become a Hollywood celebrity when, in 2000, he participated in a footprint ceremony at Mann's Chinese Theatre. He also appears on the soft drink's packets, making him one of the nation's most popular mascots.

favorite childhood drink. Kool-Aid, however, isn't just for drinking. During the 1990s, children began to realize the powdered-soft drink made a perfect temporary hair dye. The trend caught on, and teens and preteens everywhere were doming shades of grape, strawberry and lemon-lime in their hair.

Kool-Aid is also an ingredient in several food recipes, including Angel Cake. To honor 75 years of making kids and their parents happy, the Hastings Museum in Hastings, Neb., is dedicating a permanent exhibit in summer to portray the Kool-Ald story. People wanting to learn everything they can on the seven-decade-old drink can visit the "Birthplace of Kool-Ald," the city where Perkins first mixed his first batch of the drink, terms on exhibit will include different varieties of Kool-Ald sold through the years, including Kool-Aid bubblegum and ice cream mix. THE SEMINOLE HERALD

Dedication service held at Deltona sanctuary site

Greater Fajth African Methodist Episcopal Church came into existence on August 15, 1999. The church was formed through the will of Almighty God, the visions and prayers of Bishop Frank Cummings, who has been succeeded by the Senior Bishop John Hurst Adams, District Elder Leroy Kennon, Conference and District clergy, the membership and friends.

The Rev. Caroline D. Shine was ordained a deacon, and was serving at Sanford's St. James AME Church. The Rev. Shine received approval to start Greater Faith, having nothing more than a pastor's appointment and her faith in God. She and eight members established the church in September 1999.

¹The first lay member was Fannie Miller, who, along with Pastor Shine and 18 other members have begun and are still doing a great deal of work for the Master. The church, says Pastor Shine, continues to experience a strong commitment and a close fellowship.

Through the strong guidance, assistance and leadership of Senior and Presiding Bishop John Hurst Adams and presiding Elder Leroy Kennon, Pastor Shine and the members and supporters have purchased 10 acres of land in Deltona where they plan to build a sanctuary and other buildings for the furthering of the Master's ministry of Greater Faith AME Church. The vision is to minister to the Lake Monroe -Deltona areas, providing a family experience for Christians through the wordcentered preaching and teaching.

Pastor Shine reminds all that the mission of Greater Faith AME Church will be to minister to the spiritual, intellectual, physical and emotional needs, and environmental needs of all, by spreading Christ's liberation gospel through words and deeds.

Saturday, May 25, was indeed a historical day for the pastor, members and friends as Bishop Adams, Dr. Dollie Adams, Episcopal Supervisor and the clergy of the local area churches were given leadership to the worship and dedication services. The worship experience was led by Elaine Turner with a mass choir of Greater Faith, St. James, Grant Chapel, Allen Chapel AME Church, with Sylvia Stallworth, Theresa Richardson and

Hawkins Raymond Stallworth,

Robert Smith and Presiding Elder Mainer.

Words of welcome were given by Deltona Commissioner William Harvey and Darry Evans, Mayor of the City of Oak Hill.

After a spirit-filled solo, the Bishop Adams brought the message of the hour. This historical occasion and message from the Holy word will forever remain in the hearts, souls and minds of the worshipers. We were reminded that with God all things are possible and nothing comes easy. We must work for the success of all we ask for.

The service of dedication was held at the site of the 10 acres located on Debary/ Enterprise Road.

Grant Chapel choir rendered music, with the bishop, presiding elders and pastors turning snovels of dirt at the site. Special thanks to all who helped make this a great blessed day. brown.

Lizards make up one of the most diverse and successful groups of modern reptiles. They occur in an incredible variety of habitats, and their bodies are well adapted to climb trees, glide through the air, burrow in the soil, or race along the ground.

Lizards feed mostly on insects and other small invertebrates, making them economically important to man as natural pest controls. They play an important role in the survival of many larger lizards, birds, mammals, and snakes since they depend on the availability of lizards as food.

Lizards

We call lizards any reptile with four legs, scaly skin and long tails including anoles, geckos, and skinks. Some types of lizards even resemble snakes. Unlike snakes, lizards have eyelids that blink, tongues that are not forked, and ear openings. Fortunately Florida lizards are not poisonous.

Anoles

Anoles are the most commonly seen lizards in Florida. Most people call anoles "chameleons" due to the green anole's ability to change color; however, anoles are only distantly related to the chameleon. and in fact are more closely related to the iguana. Anoles are small lizards that are adept at climbing trees, shrubs, fences and walls. They are frequently seen basking in the sun or hunting insects around

Florida homes. They do not chew their food but swallow it whole.

Male anoles have a large throat fan that is often displayed, along with "push-ups" and head-bobbing behaviors when they court or defend territories. Florida has only 1 native species of anole, the green anole.

They measure about 5-8 inches long and have the ability to changes color from green to brown. They can be distinguished from exotic anoles by its long pointed snout and the pinkish throat fan of the male. Anoles lay their tiny white eggs in moist places, which may include the soil around your potted plants. Anoles shed their skin, but the old skin does not come off in one place like that of a snake. Color

Changes

The green anole can change color from green to brown and vice versa, such changes are stimulated by their surroundings, temperature and emotions. A hormone called "intermedin" secreted by the pituitary gland is responsible for these changes.

The bloodstream carries this hormone to special color cells where it causes changes in the concentration of pigments. As expected, the pituitary gland is near the part of the anole's brain responsible for emotions, When anoles are on green vegetation or light background they are colored green. As they move to a darker background their skin turns brown. When temperatures are over 70 degrees F, they tend to remain green, but cold weather makes them turn Geckos Geckos are stout lizards that are well adapted for climbing. If you notice lizards around your home at night they are probably geck-os. They have big catlike eyes for hunting at night, with pupils that contract to slits in the daylight and wide in the dark. Many geckos have adapted to living in, on, or around houses since these attract insects, their favorite prey. The gecko returns this favor by keeping our neighborhood pests under control.

It is amazing to watch a gecko in action. With adhesive toe pads it can run over a windowpane and across a ceiling as if to defy gravity! If this climbing skill is not enough to keep from being caught by a predator, the gecko can escape by relying on its ability to shed its tail in an instant. This escape mechanism is used so often it is almost impossible to find an adult with its original tail. The reef gecko is Florida's smallest native lizard, reaching a maximum length of 2 inches. The head and body are brown, and the scales are keeled, giving it a rough appearance.

It is easy to tell the female from the male by the 2 yellow stripes she has behind her head.

Skinks

Skinks are smooth, shiny, active lizards that may be seen scurrying quickly along the ground in search of insects. At first glance they may resemble small snakes due to their tiny limbs and cylindrical bodies. To escape from predators trying to catch them, skinks have tails that break off easily. The tail continues moving as an additional distraction while the skink runs away. Some species also have tails that are a brighter color than their bodies, good lures to keep predators from attacking their heads.

Skinks are among the few lizards to demonstrate any parental care. The female skink will guard her eggs after laying them, sometimes remaining coiled around them, until they hatch.

As part of their 40th Anniversary Celebration, the club had a very special memory book made. The book is a Member Biography, Each member answered a special questionnaire about Margaret Schwallin's best memory was whe I Yvonne Portais put coffee creamer on someone's spaghetti instead of cheese at one of the Italian Feasts! For many of the members, the best memory is the friends they have made.

As always, the May meeting is when the new officers are installed. The new officers for the upcoming year are: Lois Jackson, president; Ethel Carlson, first vice president; Charlene Miller, third vice president; Alice Moughton, treasurer; Arliss Dean, recording secretary and Wanda Santoro, corresponding secretary.

Board honors retiring president at luncheon

Traditionally, after a president of the Woman's Club of Sanford Inc. has served a two-year term, she is honored at a luncheon, given by the SWC Board of Managers.

Onlookers on Park Avenue, May 29, may have wondered what on earth was going on at Sica Nacu's Rose Cottage Tea Room. Fashionablydressed women began arriving before noon to honor Betty Jack, president of the club for the past two years.

President Jack has had an eventful and exciting two years. During her tenure, the club has raised thousands of dollars which has been reverted back to the community. As the club year draws to a close, 12 charitable organizations have been presented monetary contributions and two deserving women have been awarded scholarships to keep them in the classroom. The Foundation for Seminole County Public Schools Inc. has also received a contribution.

Ongoing projects of the club include SafeHouse of Seminole, a facility for abused spouses, and the Hacienda Girls Ranch, a home for neglected girls. As the club got under way last fall, members joined the nation in making a sizeable contribution to the September 11 Disaster Fund.

An annual event that the club sponsors is honoring the Sanford Police Officer of the Year and the Sanford Firefighter of the Year. Members also give the Salvation Army a hand ringing bells and collecting money during the holiday season.

After working hard for two years, it was about time for a little rest and relaxation as the women savored the Old World ambience of the charming tea room. Guests were greeted at the door by Mindy Tooley, second vice president and luncheon hostess. The red rose is the club flower and Mindy sent out beautiful hand-written invitations inscribed with roses. A red rose place card also identified the guests' seating arrangement.

Before the luncheon got under way, Mindy warmly welcomed the women. An antique pot of steaming tea graced each table which was centered with an arrangement of Sica's home- grown roses. The tables were set with an eclectic assortment of fine china. Guests were offered Continental Chicken or Crab Quiche topped off with chocolate Dietrich squares laced with chocolate sauce and freshly whipped cream.

Board members presented Betty with a lovely gold charm bracelet much to her delight and surprise. She in turn gave each board member an ornate hand-sculpted and hand-painted picture frame as a gift memento.

Other board members attending were: Phyllis Hodge, Peggy Mergo, Linda Sparrow, Roberta Zittrower, Carol Kirchhoff, Doris Dietrich, Marty Colegrove, Jane Saxon, Toby Troutman, Frances Mitchell, Carol Dennison, Wilma Heaton, Phyllis Senkarik, Libby Prevatt and Betty D. Smith.

Brunson-Christman

Vows Exchanged Ann Newkirk has returned from South Carolina where she spent a month carrying out the traditional duties as mother of the bride.

Weilding bells lang on May 18 in an outdoor setting that was built on love in its purest form. The bridegroom, Roger G. Brunson, built a gazebo at his home where he and the girl of his dreams, Debbie Freeman Christman, exchanged their I do's.

Mounds of delectable, southern fare were prepared by family members and friends for the reception which also featured southern hospitality supreme. The bride's bouquet was handfashioned by the bridegroom's mother as well as the tiered wedding cake which was beautifully decorated by the bridegroom's sister, Debbie Crandall. The decorations, including boxes of puffy bows, wedding bells, cascades and garlands of flowers and potted plants, were waiting to show off their beauty.

Heavy rains on the wedding day nearly caused the wedding to be moved indoors. However, the sun came shining brightly through just in time to spread a few of the decorations at vantage points. Ann said they didn't nave time to set out all of the decorations after the rain, but everything "turned out fine."

Debbie was brought up in Sanford and was graduated from Seminole High School. She is the daughter of Ann Newkirk of Sanford and Jill and C.C. Freeman of Atoka, Tenn. Roger is the son of Janet and Dreyfus Brunson of Sumter.

The Rev. Thomas Comer performed the 6 p.m. ceremony right on schedule. Tyler Christman, son of the bride, gave his mother in marriage and Ambra Christman attended her mother as maid of honor. The father of the bridegroom served his son as best man

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's sister and brother-in-law, Debble and William Crandall. After a honeymoon to Amelia Island the newlyweds are making their home in Sumter.
