F. P. FORSTER HEADS NATIONAL BANK

ELECTED YESTERDAY AS PRESIDENT, SUCCEEDING F. H. RAND, RESIGNED

F. P. Forster, for thirty-two years connected with the First National Bank of this city as cashier and vice-president was yesterday elected president of that institution, succeeding F. H. Rand, resigned.

Mr. Rand, who has been president of the bank since its organization resigned yesterday as president and also as a member of the board of directors. Two years ago Mr. Rand moved from Longwood to Orlando and since that time he has found it very inconvenient to look after the affairs of the Sanford bank. He is also interested very largely in the business affairs of his home city and he gives up his work in Sanford in order to devote more of his time to his affairs in Orlando.

Mr. Forster is one of the best known bankers in Florida, having, as stated, been connected with the First National since its establishment in 1887, at which time he was made cashier. Several years ago he was made vice president and held that position until yesterday when he resigned to accept the presidency. He has been the active head of the bank for a number of years and under his able and conservative management the business of the bank has grown steadily until at present the deposits are larger than at any other period of the bank's history.

In addition to the election of Mr. Forster as president at yesterday's meeting, L. A. Brumley was elected second vice president and T. J. Miller first vice president. Both of these men have been directors of the bank for a number of years and are fully acquainted with the affairs of the institution. B. F. Whitner and A. L. Betts remain as cashier and assistant cashier as formerly. A director will be elected at the next meeting to fill the vacancy in the board caused by the resignation of Mr. Rand.

by L. P. Hagan and carried, E. H. Kilbee is instructed to post danger signs on both ends of bridge over Econlockhatchee Creek between Geneva and Chuluota.

The following resolution was offered by O. P. Swope and duly seconded by L. P. Hagan and adopted.

See advt. in this issue containing resolution.

Be it further resolved, that an election be and the same is hereby called and ordered to be held at the several places where the last general election was held in said county, for the purpose of voting in aid and determining by the legal voters of said county whether or not such bonds shall be issued, said election to be held on the 13th day of May, A. D. 1919, in accordance with law in general elections.

(See Advt. of election notice elsewhere in this issue.)

Motion of L. P. Hagan, seconded by C. W. Entzinger and carried, Attorney J. J. Dickinson is instructed to confer with city council and agree with them as to rebuilding of first street road within the city limits of Sanford, same to be done under supervision of the county engineer.

Motion of O. P. Swope, seconded by C. W. Entzinger and carried, the matter of caring for LeRoy Stewart is referred to L. P. Hagan, with power to act.

Motion of L. P. Hagan, seconded by C. W. Entzinger and carried, clerk is instructed to draw warrant to Mrs. E. M. Galloway, for the purchase of five trees by the county to be planted on the bulkhead.

Notary public bonds of T. L. Lingo and C. L. West were approved.

Bond of Don MacDonald to carry fire arms was approved and license ordered issued.

Motion of L. P. Hagan, seconded by C. W. Entzinger and carried, The petition of residents and owners of property on Cameron avenue between Celery avenue and Geneva avenue, asking that county have Cameron avenue opened forty feet wide is hereby granted.

Motion of O. P. Swope, seconded

THE PROPOSED COMMISSION-MANAGER FORM OF GOVERNMENT FOR SANFORD

The committee on Municipal Legislation appointed by the Board of County Commissioners and the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction have reported with a proposed charter for the city as previously announced.

The material for this charter is in the hands of the committee, but is not in available form as yet. Typists are now at work copying it in convenient form and copies may be seen and examined as soon as they are finished by application to any of the committee named below.

The charter will be presented to the present session of the legislature for ratification, after which it will be referred to the people of the city by ballot as to its acceptance or rejection.

Below is the report of the committee, who have worked hard and faithfully on this matter, but many other citizens have been called in conference, with the result that the proposed charter for the commission-manager government for the city has had the advantage of being passed by some of the best business men and legal talent in the city.

The proposed new charter is patterned very largely after that of St. Augustine, Fla., in which city it has proven remarkably successful.

Following is the committee's report:
To the Property Holders and Voters of Sanford:

The Committee on Municipal Legislation, presents for your consideration a proposed new charter for our city; such charter being prepared in the form of a bill for introduction and passage by the legislature of Florida at the present session.

The need of improving upon our present form of city government has impressed itself upon all of our people. It is realized and conceded that by the system under which the city has been operating, satisfactory results can not be attained and that Sanford is denied the opportunity and the means for developing along those lines which should be followed to realize to the fullest extent its civic possibilities. Giving the full and unstinted credit to which they are entitled to those citizens whose interest in civic affairs and whose willingness to render public service has prompted them to take upon themselves the responsibilities of municipal office, under the present charter, it must be admitted that its antiquated and cumbersome machinery has greatly limited their powers of accomplishment.

The work of preparing a charter for Sanford was taken up over a year ago. It has not been done hastily or without full and mature consideration. Those entrusted with the task were impressed with its importance and with the responsibility involved, and have been actuated by the sincere desire to evolve and to be able to propose such form of organic law for our city as would insure an economic and highly efficient system of management for municipal affairs. To this end the charters of many cities now operating under the Commission or city-manager forms of government were obtained and carefully studied; extensive correspondence was had with the responsible officials of many of those cities, and the best and most noted authorities on the subject of charter building were freely consulted. The result is the charter herewith presented for your consideration, and is patterned largely after that used in St. Augustine, Fla.

Some of its chief advantages may briefly be mentioned as follows:

1. It establishes a simple, direct and businesslike form of government.
2. It makes elective officers responsible to public opinion by means of the initiative and referendum.
3. It creates a single-headed administration establishment, and this administrative unity makes for harmony between departments, since all are subject to a common head.
4. It insures expertness in administration at the point where it is most valuable, namely: at the head.
5. It takes politics out of city affairs by limiting the number of persons to be voted for each year to a single legislative officer; thus enabling the community to center upon the best material available.
6. It affords to capable men the opportunity of holding office during good behavior, plus tending to the development of trained public servants.
7. It furnishes, through the recall, a simple method of removing inefficient or corrupt officials.
8. It secures full publicity of official acts, yet eliminates wasteful methods of legal advertising.
9. It prohibits candidates from soliciting office by improper methods.
10. It provides for the adoption of a "Civic Plan" for Sanford; thus insuring future improvements and civic development along definite and comprehensive lines, and toward the accomplishment of a general plan devised by expert opinion and previously approved and adopted by the people of the city.
11. It creates a purchasing department which will effect great saving in the purchase of supplies.
12. It safeguards the city in franchise matters.
13. It affords a means for avoiding much unnecessary tearing up of streets for service connections.
14. It corrects our faulty system of taxation; affording a means for equalizing the same and for increasing the recorded taxable values while reducing the millage levied.
15. It provides the means whereby the people of any particular locality within the city may, by their own initiative, obtain needed improvements which will specially benefit their poverty.
16. Through the initiative it provides a simple and easy method of direct legislation whenever necessity demands it.
17. It recognizes the people as the sole source of governmental power and imposes upon each member of the community the duty and responsibility of actively interesting himself in the affairs of the city.
18. If the charter is adopted it provides the means for amending it at any time by a safe and convenient method.

We believe that the adoption of this charter will insure to our city a form of municipal government well suited to its particular needs, and we unanimously and most earnestly urge its adoption in the interest of a better and a greater Sanford.

PRINCIPAL MCKINNON RESIGNS

AFTER TWO YEARS AS HEAD OF SANFORD SCHOOLS HE LEAVES FOR MINISTERIAL WORK

Dr. J. F. McKinnon announces his purpose to retire from school work. His letter to the board follows:

Sanford, Fla., April 16, 1919.
Board Trustees,
Sanford Schools,
Mr. B. F. Whitner, Secretary,
Sanford, Florida.

Dear Sirs:
I beg to inform you of my purpose to retire from school work at the close of the present term. I am giving you this early notice of my intention in order that you may have ample time to secure a principal before the most competent teachers are engaged.

Thanking you for your co-operation and support in the conduct of the schools and wishing for you continued success in this great work, I am,
Yours sincerely,
(Signed) J. F. McKinnon.

Dr. McKinnon has been supervising principal of the Sanford school during the past two years. During these two years, he and his faculty have had to contend with the unusual, demoralizing influences of Trachoma, the eye disease, the war and the influenza, together with the frequent resignations and changes of teachers, due chiefly to larger salaries offered elsewhere. But notwithstanding these serious difficulties the enrollment reached 843 the first year and numbers now 829, and though the average attendance was reduced by the eye trouble and the influenza, a fair attendance was maintained and excellent work was done by the schools. The graduating class this year will be one of the largest that has been sent out by the Sanford High School. The present Senior Class numbers twenty-two—nine more than the class last year.

During these two years, through the efforts of Dr. McKinnon, the Sanford High School has enjoyed the advantage and distinction of being placed and kept on the accredited list of Southern Schools and Colleges—a distinction not enjoyed by some of the larger high schools of the state.

Dr. McKinnon retires from school work to devote himself more exclusively to the pastorate. He is pastor of the Oakland Presbyterian church, and during the two years of his connection with the Sanford schools the membership of his church has increased 50 per cent, and the congregation are now preparing to build a new church and an annex. The work of the church will be ample to engage the entire time of the pastor.

Royal Scotch Highlanders

One of the best musical concerts ever held in Sanford was that of the Royal Scotch Highlanders Band which appeared in Sanford for the second time this season on Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The band appeared in Sanford under the auspices of the Welfare Department of the Woman's Club and the Boy Scouts and a neat sum was realized from the sale of tags to the immense crowds at each performance.

This band has been at St. Petersburg during the tourist season, and are now on their way to Atlantic City, N. J., to play there during the summer season, and are taking in the cities enroute and giving concerts.

The members of the band were dressed in the Scotch Highlanders' costume and were very picturesque. They attracted a great deal of attention and their music held the large assemblage spellbound.

The drawing card on the program was the singing of Bobbie Broilner, the Scotch tenor, who was repeatedly encored. He has a rich, clear voice, and his singing could be heard plainly even beyond the large crowd.

County Clerk E. A. Douglass left Tuesday evening for Tallahassee on business for the county before the legislature which is now in session.

VICTORY BOND CAMPAIGN TO OPEN MONDAY

SEMINOLE COUNTY COMMITTEE READY FOR SUBSCRIPTIONS ON MONDAY MORNING APRIL 21ST

The Big Victory Loan Campaign will be launched in Seminole county on Monday, April 21st.

The banks of Sanford will sell these bonds on the terms of previous loans where desired which provides for the payment of $1.00 per week for fifty weeks on each $50.00 bond purchased, or they will sell these bonds on the government plan as follows:

- Ten per cent on or before May 10.
- Ten per cent July 15.
- Twenty per cent August 12.
- Twenty per cent September 9.
- Twenty per cent October 7.
- And the remainder with accrued interest on deferred installments on November 11.

Some solicitor has your name, but if they should fail to find you go to headquarters at Bower & Roumillat's and purchase your bonds.

Terms of the Victory Loan were announced Sunday by Secretary Glass. The amount is $4,500,000.00, over sub scrip tions to be referred.

Interest 4 1/2 per cent for partially tax exempt notes, convertible into 3 1/2 per cent notes wholly tax exempt.

Maturity, four years, with the treasury reserving the privilege of redeeming the notes in three years.

The 3 1/2 per cent notes to be issued later, also may be converted subsequently back into 4 1/2 notes.

The 4 1/2 per cent securities are to be exempt from state and local taxation except state and inheritance taxes and from normal rates of Federal income taxes. The 3 1/2 per cent securities are exempt from all Federal, state and local taxes, except estate and inheritance taxes.

The size of loan was much smaller than had been anticipated by most of the close observers, who looked for an issue of about $6,000,000,000 particularly in view of Secretary Glass' past statements that the loan would be five or six billion.

This will be the last Liberty Loan. Secretary Glass explained, although there will be other issues of government securities to finance belated war expenses. These will not be floated by popular campaigns.

None of the past issues of Liberty Bonds are convertible into Victory Loan notes and there are no specific provisions in the terms of the Victory issue serving directly to maintain market prices of past issues.

In many communities the selling campaign already has begun actively, without formal acceptance of subscriptions, said reports to the treasury, although the official opening date is April 21, one week from yesterday. This drive will continue three weeks until May 10.

The committee wishes to be able to announce on Monday next that Seminole county has subscribed its quota.

Remember the money brought in from the sale of Liberty Bonds pays the soldiers, sailors, marines, nurses, and doctors enlisted in the United States service. It provides food and shelter and equipment for them. It operates military hospitals here and abroad. It transports enlisted men in the United States and abroad. It pays the bills of our army in France, the return of our army from France, and its demobilization. It pays for our ships, provides the funds for the loans to our allies, pays compensation to disabled soldiers and sailors, and goes to provide for the general running expenditures of the government.

Remember also "The war is not over until the bills are paid. The issue of securities known as the Victory Liberty Loan is necessary in order to enable the government to pay its bills. This is America's debt—your debt and my debt."

Don't fail to purchase your bonds early for Seminole county must go over the top once more.

Miss Marie Bragg of Ritter, S. C., is visiting Miss Mary Robinson.

TANKS WILL TOUR SOUTH TO BOOST VICTORY LOAN

Eighteen Steel Monsters To Traverse Roads At Five Miles An Hour In Approaching Spring Campaign

Eighteen American tanks, built for the war overseas, will be exhibited in the Sixth Federal Reserve District in the coming Victory Loan campaign. It was announced by the Treasury Department this week. They are the small tanks, capable of going forty miles without replenishment of the gasoline supply.

It is not likely that the tanks will break any speed laws, as their limit of five miles an hour. Each will carry two men, the driver and a mechanic. They will be distributed over the district, several to a state, and will be driven from town to town over the country roads.

The tanks will be met at the principal towns by speakers for Victory bonds, and demonstrations will be held in connection with public rallies. They will be operated under the direction of the publicity department and speakers' bureau of the Sixth district. It is intended to route them so a tank will visit practically every town. The tour will begin early in April. It is expected the active campaign for Victory bonds will begin about April 21.

Be Kind Always.
One great trouble with unkind thoughts is that it is so very difficult to keep them only thoughts; sooner or later they find utterance. We may fancy that we are keeping our uncharitable opinions to ourselves, but they are almost certain to express themselves in look or tone, if not in word. The only way to be really kind is to be kind clear through. — Exchange

Trials All Have Value.
Trials without discover forces within. Says Victor Hugo: "There are instincts, for all the crises of life." A deep perplexity awakens a flush of insight; a bitter opposition sets the soul on fire; a grave peril opens our eyes to horses and chariots of fire; a severe catastrophe evokes a horizon of which the sufferer had not thought himself capable. — W. L. Wattison

Original "Gag Rule."
"Gag rule" was a phrase applied to a resolution passed by congress in May, 1836, that three-fourths of all petitions, memorials, resolutions, propositions or papers relating in any way to the subject of slavery or the abolition of slavery should be on the table without being printed or referred. The rule was abolished a few years later.

Get This, Girls.
For ironing linens and dainty fabrics an iron has been brought out in England in the form of a polished steel roller fitted with electric heating units.

Two Timely Tips.
Iodine stains may be removed from bureau scarfs, towels, etc., by using peroxide. If the first application does not remove it let the article dry and try again. Do not use peroxide on colored clothes, as the color will come out as well as the stain.

The Easter Song of Mary Magdalene

by William Allen White

My heart is a-throb with a song for you,
Out here where the skies are wide,
For oh! now I know that you live anew,
For oh! that your promise is true, is true,
My charnel'd soul has arisen, too—
My soul that I thought had died.

FOR you who uncovered my leaden heart,
Finding its dross and alloy,
For you who smiled at my shameless art,
For you who bade all my devils depart—
Oh, you—you are here and my pulses start,
Dancing in new-found joy.

I MET you, I heard you with mine own ears,
Whom mine own eyes could see;
Then what do I care now for death or years
And why should I reckon with dreads or fears?—
But oh, that my soul could melt in tears,
For you have come back to me!

TO me—even me—first of all you came!
(And ah, but the earth is fair!)
And oh, but there burneth a sheer white flame,
Cleaving my heart's red chalice of shame!—
My heart that shall shine ever one dear name,
For you—you—you are there!

So let me sing where the skies are blue,
Where the white petals fall,
Oh, let me dance all my joy for you!
For you have arisen—my dream is true,
And Master, my soul has arisen, too,
Out of its hateful thrall.

Tuesday was clean up day at the cemetery preparatory to Memorial Day. About twenty people went out with hoes and rakes and baskets of dinner, so that the work could be completed in one day. A very hard shower interfered with the work about 2 o'clock and most of the crowd left thinking it would rain all the afternoon. Messrs. T. W. Lawton, Jas. Clarke, Frank Anderson, Steen Nelson, Mrs. B. G. Smith and Mrs. J. B. Jones, however, took up the work after the shower and did not leave until the task had been completed.

The Flanders Lilies

On Flanders fields where poppies grew,
 The Easter lilies spring up, too,
 And shed their fragrance far and wide
 In memory of those boys who died.

Who died but yet who live again
 In realms beyond our mortal ken;
 Who fought—but in no losing fight,
 For them do bloom the lilies white,
 For them do bloom the lilies white.

And on this resurrection morn,
 New life and hope to us are born,
 While Easter lilies bud and blow
 On Flanders fields where poppies grow.

Lucy Hyatt, in L. H. &

The other day I met one of those all too common persons, a poor rich man. He owned several farms, besides houses in town, stocks and bonds in the vault and money in the bank.

Yet he was poor. He had the essence of poverty in his mind. Because he was afraid he might come to want, because he was suspicious of everybody, because he worried over his possessions and because he wanted more.

For poverty is not lack of things; it's a state of mind.

Rich folks are not they who have abundance, but they who feel abundance. As a man thinketh, so is he.

You are rich only when money doesn't worry you. And if you have only $2 and don't fret over what you do not have you are richer than the man who has $2,000,000 and can't sleep at nights because he hasn't $1,000,000.

Poverty is not lack; it is the pressure of lack.

Let me congratulate the Woman's Club and the city council on the work being done on the bulkhead. That is the stuff. I have been crying about the bulkhead in these columns for, lo, these many years, and it may be that if I keep on I shall have the unlimited pleasure of recording the fact that the bulkhead is a thing of beauty forever. It is very gratifying to me and I hear the same sort of remarks all over, that the city council and the Woman's Club have joined hands and have taken it as a duty to make that bulkhead the beauty spot of the town and it won't be long until this dream is realized if the proper amount of enthusiasm is kept at work in these two wonder working bodies. The backing of every able bodied person in the city should be with this movement.

I acknowledge with thanks the very nice letter written and the nice remarks made about the "Saunterer" by Rev. Father J. J. L'Riordan, that appeared in the Herald last week. I do not mean to get into any argument about religion—and especially with a Reverend Father, but I would call attention to the fact that most of the churches are now together on TIME and that was the object sought by the humble mutterings of this servant of the people—the Saunterer.

 As a result of inquiries received in connection with the 27th Annual Conference held at St. Augustine Feb. 11, 12, 13, 1918, Madam State Regent, Officers, Hostess, Chapter and Daughters of the National Society, D. A. R., The Sallie Harrison Chapter greets you and brings to you a report of her "young efforts" with the request that you will keep in mind her extreme youth.

We were officially organized on November 15th, 1918, with twenty-six members and have since that time held two regular monthly and three all meetings. At our organizing meeting, we had the honor, benefit and pleasure of a talk from our state regent. Our first real work was done while we were organizing and was original. We secured $220.93 by donations and miscellaneous sales; we used the entire amount to buy aspirin for the soldiers in the King George Hospital in England, the general hospital at Rouen, France and others. We have made 53 garments for the Belgians and have paid our quota to the National Society for Liberty Bonds and for reconstruction work in Tilloy.

If the state chairman has not heard from our local chairmen, they will, for they have all been appointed and are working.

Our members have been very active in the Red Cross and all war work, there are five of our members employed by the United States government in Washington. The supervisor of surgical dressings for the Sanford Red Cross, five chairmen of surgical dressings and the vice chairman of the canteen committee are members of our D. A. R. chapter.

Our daughters are active in county work, too, one member being chairman of the "Victory Girls," another chairman of the Red Cross Junior Auxiliary.

Our treasury being like "Mother Hubbard's Cupboard," we gave a card party; we were very successful and are now having a fund to draw from for the immediate expense of the chapter.

We have had many gifts. A Liberty bond of $100, a subscription to our National Magazine for the use of the chapter; one member has donated the roses from her garden each month to the chapter hostess. A gavel, scrap book and our Charter fee have been given to us.

One of the many encouraging things of the Sallie Harrison chapter is the appreciation our beautiful Celery City of Sanford has shown. Our city officials, county paper, the Sanford Herald, the shop men and the farmers have responded to any call from the chapter and have offered their future aid.

We have adopted the Katherine Livingston chapter by-laws with only one addition. Our intention is to emulate the Katherine Livingston chapter. We feel it will assure the state regent of the sturdy growth of her baby chapter. When I began this report, I asked you to remember our "extreme youth"—again I remind you of that—and tell you that if it had not been for the untiring aid of our state regent, the able advice of my former chapter regent, Mrs. Craig, the more than patience of our gracious national officers, especially Mrs. Duncan U. Fletcher, organizing secretary general and the encouraging message of our D. A. R. founder, Mrs. Mary E. Lockwood, whom I have the honor

From most of the above, cordial letters of acknowledgment were received and are enclosed and made part of this report. Sufficient time has not elapsed for replies to the last consignments.

Vouchers for expenditures are respectfully submitted.

 Chairman Aspirin Fund.

HOG BILL PASSED
 Both Houses of Legislature Carried Seminole's Hog Law
 Both the house and the senate of the Florida legislature have passed the Seminole County Hog Bill, which provides that "Hogs shall not be permitted to run at large in Seminole County." The bill only awaits the signature of the Governor and the ratification by the voters of the county to make it effective.

As soon as the Governor signs the bill arrangements will be made to call an election in the county in order that the people may vote on the matter.

The bill of like nature concerning the running at large of cattle in this county as advertised has not been introduced up to this time, and it is understood that it will not be.

Airplanes Distribute Victory Loan Literature
 The two airplanes which passed over Sanford yesterday morning northbound, created much excitement by showering the city with small circulars signed by Hon. Joe Sears, member of congress from this district which read follows:
VICTORY LOAN!
 They thought our boys were molly coddles, but they proved themselves to be among the best and bravest fighters the world has ever known.

We sent them "Over There," and I know funds will be furnished to bring them back.

When our liberty—property—and lives were at stake, the several bond issues were over subscribed. Now that "They have won the fight for us," I predict the Victory Loan will not only be over subscribed, but will be the most popular bond issue ever offered to the people.

I am positive that the returning soldier, if he was working for an American, will find his old position ready for him. Let us show by our acts, rather than words, our appreciation.

We did not win. They won. Here's to the boys! God bless them.
 Joe Sears,
 Member of Congress.

VICTORY IS KEYNOTE OF NEW LOAN POSTERS

Approximately ten million lithographed posters have been prepared and distributed by the Bureau of Publicity of the War Loan Organization of the Treasury Department to remind the patriotic citizenship of the nation of its duty to invest in the Victory Liberty Loan. The designs are exceedingly attractive and unite to convey a powerful appeal and to create a national atmosphere which will prevent any one from ignoring the fact that Uncle Sam's fifth great financial drive is going forward with even more vigor than any of its notable predecessors.

The keynote poster of the loan—the great twenty-four sheet poster which through the patriotic cooperation of the Poster Advertising Association will adorn the billboards of the country, and a smaller poster adapted from the same design—synchronizes with the robust slogan, "Finish the Job."

This poster, which is considered by many critics to be the greatest Liberty Loan poster that has been produced, appeals to every man who works with his hands, be he laborer, farmer, sailor, railroad man or other representative of the American army of brawn and muscle. He is the worker with his right hand in his pocket reaching for money with which to invest in the Victory Liberty Loan. This man, painted by Gerrit Beneker, obviously has no sympathy with bolshevism. He is a partner with his government. His buttons of the four previous Liberty Loans bear evidence of his share in solving the financial problems which came up in the stress of the fight, and his attitude and expression of ready confidence on his face indicate conclusively that again he stands ready to provide the necessary money for the nation, while, with admirable common sense and prudent forethought, making the soundest of investment for himself.

The display of twenty-four sheet posters of this design aggregates 35,000, and is believed to be the largest display of twenty-four sheet posters ever made in the United States. The aggregate donations of space for war activities by the Poster Advertising Association, which is chiefly responsible for the free display of these large billboard posters has been estimated at $2,100,000.

The official issue of the smaller posters of the Victory Liberty Loan embraces fewer designs than any previous loan, but approximately the same number of pieces.

Foremost on the list of the smaller posters is the adaptation of the twenty-four design, size 26 in. x 35 in., lithographed in eight impressions by Edwards and Deutsch, of which 1,768,706 copies have been ordered. In response to requests received at Washington from the respective Federal Reserve District Victory Liberty Loan organizations. Then comes the design entitled "For Home and Country," painted by Alfred Everett Orr, representing the reunion of a returned soldier with his wife and child.

This poster has been lithographed in eight impressions and two sizes. Of the 20 in. x 30 in. size 860,725 have been produced and of the 30 in. x 40 in. size 711,312.

The "symbol" poster of the Victory Liberty Loan is a blue "V" outlined in white to give great visibility on a mottled red ground with the word "Invest" in white below the "V." The entire poster is outlined in white and has a broad blue border. It constitutes an enlargement of the 12 C wind shield sticker and is similar to the "Treasury" poster which was used as a mystifying introduction to the general poster campaign. Approximately 1,000,000 of these posters have been lithographed. The poster "Americans All," painted by Howard Chandler Christy, representing a woman paying tribute to the Americans of diverse racial origins, who gave their lives for the flag on the fields of France, is considered by Mr. Christy to be the finest war painting he has ever produced. Of this designed there have been lithographed 1,893,426 posters in nine impressions, size 27 in. x 40 in.

A poster which should give lively satisfaction to every individual who takes pride in the achievements of the American Expeditionary Forces is from the brush of Clyde Forsythe, size 30 in. x 40 in., and lithographed in nine impressions, with a second edition in the 20 in. x 30 in. size. Of the larger size the edition is 1,000,000; of the smaller, 467,500. The design shows a doughboy carrying German helmets, returning wounded, but triumphant and happy from a victorious assault upon the German trenches. This poster bears the splendid caption—"And they thought we couldn't fight." An ample supply of this poster was sent to General Pershing well in advance of the opening of the loan, and it is safe to assume that by this time these posters are well displayed in the areas of Germany under occupation by the American Expeditionary Forces. It must carry a painful lesson to the Germans, who during the war were re-laid with German posters picturing Uncle Sam with an insignificant army and purporting to prove that America could not become an important factor in the conflict.

The sea forces are recognized in the Victory Liberty Loan series by I. A. Shafer's poster, designed, engraved and lithographed in eight impressions, size 30 in. x 40 in. and oblong in shape. This poster is a spirited depiction of the saving of an American transport from a German submarine and should appeal to every admirer of our navy. A camouflaged American destroyer has cut across the bow of a great transport laden with troops and looting out of the mist, just in time to drop a depth bomb on a lurking German submarine, which instead of sinking the transport, has been compelled to come to the surface and surrender.

The National Woman's Liberty Loan committee will have 300,000 posters, size 20 in. x 30 in., executed with artistic restraint in gray and black on buff by J. M. Howlett.

A "flyer" poster for the special purpose of advertising the aviation feature of the Victory Liberty Loan publicity campaign also will be used.

A special poster approximately four feet in height by 28 feet in length has been prepared, the wording being "They have given their all forever. You are asked to lend for a while." There is also an eight-sheet poster, white letters on a red ground, reading "Practical Patriotism—The Victory Liberty Loan" and a three-sheet poster in one piece carrying a large "V" and the wording "Invest Victory Liberty Loan" in red and blue on white.

The Victory Liberty Loan posters are released for display beginning on April 13, or approximately a week in advance of the Victory Liberty Loan Campaign, which opens April 31 and ends May 10.

VICTORY OF HOPE

Easter's Teaching Is the Dispelling of Gloom From the Hearts of Mankind.

HOPE that springs eternal in the human breast does not depend upon the latent fatalism in humanity for its justification—such a hope holds no key to event. And without this key hope is but in reality a hopeless expectancy. Events, governed by that outstanding law of reprobation by which degeneracy and decay follow all things in the mutable course of nature, would bring mankind back to the stage of savagery and leave to him naught but the material environment of his immediate activities. Events must be conquered, regulated, subordinated, controlled, even glorified. Hope springs exultant in the human breast, because there is something that can certify to hope. This is the divine spark in the human breast, beaming in many cases a luminous ray that shines upon the entire pathway of life. It was fitting that when the women came to the tomb early upon the first Easter morning they should find that an angel was the announcer of the victory of hope over the most malignant adverse event of experience—the event of death. Nor is it strange that the consciousness of this victory for all men has transformed human life and causes the Christian to take on a glory of effulgence that is to be derived from nothing else.

That Sure and Certain Hope.

If there were no resurrection from the dead then we, we, of all men, the most miserable, wrote the apostle whose life was luminous with the light of a certified hope—a hope victorious over events that drove him forward in his missionary itineraries throughout Asia and into Europe. Nature was turned by him to disclose the analogy for the open doors of the tomb; scripture was likewise turned to, and his own knowledge of the resurrection of Jesus was, last of all, called into play in order to point his marvelous discourse upon the resurrection of the dead. Nature, revelation and personal testimony all give the same account that death is robbed of sting and grave of victory. Easter is precious to human kind, because it teaches that all things may be conquered by a hope that is based upon living faith in God and his good purpose to give life rather than to destroy, to impart blessing rather than to withhold, to grace human life and to wipe out the disgraces of human failure.

The undimmed hope of humanity in the final triumph of the good is based largely upon the testimonies to the triumph of the ineffably good one over the might and dominion of death. Faith has garlanded hope; thus graced it scorns to consort with fatalism. Faith has given of its precious blossoms for the decking of hope, and it will not companion in the dark with mere material destiny. The skies look down upon the risen tomb. The open tomb reveals the glorified angel. The angel discloses the fact of the resurrection of the dead. Event, direful and universal event—death itself—testifies to the power of the undimmed hope of mankind made precious through Jesus.

Hope Eternal.

The undimmed hope cannot be clouded by the shedding of blood. Did not the old Jew that pointed to the stricken form of Calvary say that without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sin? The undimmed hope that triumphs over the battle roar of the artillery of the nations. Did not Moses endure the thunders of the mountain of revelation sustained by the still small voice? The undimmed hope cannot be challenged by the despair of suffering. Is not humanity told that inasmuch as he suffered being tempted he is able to succor those who are in any trouble?

Across the horizon of Easter pass the phantasmagorical figure of hate and carnal ambition, and the myriad crimes against humanity that lie at the door of the nations' spoilers. Yet the hope of humanity is undimmed. The hope that triumphs over event and through event reaches to the eternities is the Easter hope of glory, and of goodness, and of grace. Jesus, the first fruits of them that slept, has risen, and points to the eternal hope of humanity and the provisions of the grace of God that bring redemption both to the individual and to the race. The open tomb is the silent testimony to the risen and glorified Jesus. He sits at the right hand of Jehovah, who in turn looks upon the petty wars of princes and will hold in derision they who lift themselves up against the government of his son.

PEOPLE MUST TAKE VICTORY LOAN OR INJURE BUSINESS

If Banks Were Forced To Carry Whole Loan, They Would Have No Money To Lend To Public

That the Victory Loan, like its four predecessors, must be a "people's loan" is especially stressed by Carter Glass, secretary of the treasury, in a statement to the public. It is not to be a "bankers' loan." The nation's business situation depends upon as wide a distribution as possible of the Victory loans.

The banks, it is pointed out, must be left free to advance money for business purposes, to the merchants and manufacturers and the farmers. If all the banks' money is tied up in loans to the government, it stands to reason that there will be none left to lend on crops. It would mean "tight money," which means high interest rates and refusals to extend notes and a general hardship upon the men who depend upon the banks to assist them in carrying on business and agriculture.

Don't Forget the Roof!

The need for the billions the Victory bonds will bring is plain to any man who stops to think. The war is not over, though the actual fighting has ceased. The bills are still running up. Millions of men are still in uniform, drawing pay and food and clothing. The Secretary of the Treasury declares:

"Government contracts cannot be re-estimated. The goods must be paid for in full. Our shipbuilding activities must be carried out."

So, it can easily be seen that the job is not finished. What would you think of a farmer who built him a new house, laying the foundations, putting up the walls, ceiling, the rooms—and forgetting the roof?

The roof will not be put on our national house until the job is finished and the bills paid.

The campaign for Victory bonds will begin on April 21. The exact details of the issue have not yet been announced, but it is considered certain that the bonds will be made an unusually attractive investment.

"GET RICH QUICK" HOT AFTER YOUR LIBERTY BONDS

Secretary Glass Warns Bond Holders To Keep Bonds Or Sell Only To Some Reputable Bank Or Trust Company

The farmer—or any other American citizen—who desires to get rich quick is offered plenty of opportunity these days to accumulate stock in everything from Oklahoma oil to African rubber. There never were quite so many agents going round helping others to make their fortunes overnight. Their prey is the Liberty bonds held by almost every loyal citizen in the country. They do not ask for money—they will swap anything for bonds.

Secretary of the Treasury Carter Glass has just issued a statement warning the public against the unscrupulous persons who offer to trade worthless stocks for Liberty bonds, and against those "sharks" who attempt to persuade bondholders to part with their bonds at a price far below par. Every business man knows that with an adjustment of business conditions, Liberty bonds will be worth full face value on the open market, and nobody should sell a bond for less than its full value except in case of absolute necessity. Even then, he should take it to a reputable bank, consult a banker in whom he has confidence, and take his advice. Usually it is possible to borrow money on Liberty bonds at a low rate of interest. The interest coupons will pay a large part of this, making the loan cost the bond-owner very little, and he will still retain ownership in his bonds.

The Treasury Department is taking every possible step to protect the interests of Liberty bond owners and expects to bring to justice those persons who seek to defraud patriotic Americans of their investments.

Remarkable Mexican Bird.

A remarkable bird found in Mexico is the bee-martin, which has a trick of ruffling up the feathers on top of its head into the exact semblance of a beautiful flower; when a bee comes along to sip honey from the supposed flower it is snipped up by the bird.

FOR THE WAR WORKER.

The fashion of combining materials expresses itself eloquently in this costume of plaid serge and black satin. The bodice is lengthened to form a pointed tunic, the adjustment being at one side. The Mandarin sleeves are edged with narrow ruffles of batiste, corresponding with the gimp. The fulness at the waist is held in with a girdle of the check material. Medium size requires 1 1/2 yards 44-inch serge and 4 yards 40-inch satin. Pictorial Review Costume No. 7703. Sizes, 34 to 44 inches bust. Price, 25 cents.

Meaning of Name "Rachel."

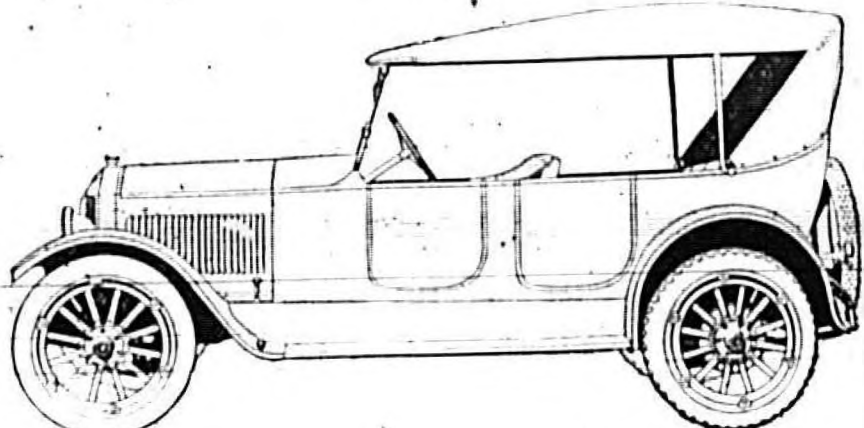

The Jews were at one time a nation of shepherds, and it was probably for this reason that the Hebrew word for a mother sheep, or a ewe, was given to some of the Jewish women, Rachel meaning "a ewe."

Aerial Compasses.

Many difficulties had to be overcome in the production of a satisfactory compass for aerial work. Chief among these was that of neutralizing the magnetism of the engine (and in particular the magnet) and of preventing the effect of centrifugal force, which caused the card or dial inside the compass to swing in a direction quite independent of north when the airplane was banking on a turn. However, a truly excellent compass is now in use.

Says the State Marketing Bureau

Florida is adapted to the growing of a great many necessary food products. This allows diversity, but it is a good plan for producers to specialize in a few things, for the purpose of securing a high standard of perfection, greater economies in production, uniform grades and packages and the advantages of collective bargaining. Growers should organize into community units in all of which work the State Marketing Bureau can be of material assistance in co-ordinating such efforts and help to make them pay.

Specialties of many kinds are possible, and where communities produce in ample quantities, and judiciously advertise their profitable returns will result. There are many examples of this. Preserved fruits bearing the brands of northern city factories are to be found in every southern store, made from raw material produced only in the south.

The need of doing things right is seen in the statement of Herbert Hoover, the recent Federal Food Administrator, made after a careful study of the situation, and facts gathered from experienced and extended observation, that "10 to 60 per cent of our potatoes are lost annually between the producer and the market, 50 per cent of the perishables raised on the farms of America can never reach the market."

We see what is done in specializing, as at Sanford, Hastings and Plant City. Standard crops are produced in ample quantities, to attract buyers and make reputation. A hundred such communities in our state would add vastly to our wealth and general welfare, but Florida grows many perishables and the need of raising them by proper methods is apparent when the large loss is considered. The states growing cereals and live stock non-perishables instead of truck and fruit perishables are the rich and prosperous ones. The life of perishables can be prolonged. This is a community matter and not merely an individual one.

By community understanding a uniform standard of products can be maintained. When there is no union of interest and each individual plants something different, the varieties run out or deteriorate. When communities stand together they become Sanfords or Hastings.

Athleticism in the East.

The general athletic awakening is perhaps the most important effect that our occupation of the Philippines has had upon the far East. Just as the old Olympic games, begun by one village, grew to be the great recurring event at which all the Hellenic peoples could meet in peaceful competition, so this modern athletic movement starting from Baguio has spread to other far-eastern peoples, and has given their not only a ground for friendly meeting but also a basis for genuine respect and mutual understanding.

Farmhouses Modernized.

As farmhouses become adapted to the taste of the women who are, in so many cases, taking over their management, it is found that many of the old institutions of the farmhouse—the parlor, the many small rooms, the dark halls—are disappearing. Partitions are torn out to make spacious living rooms; porches are added, and everything is arranged for the utmost convenience of the housekeeper who is also tender of the fields.—Exchange.

"Own your home" is a late slogan and a good one. Just try it.

A long pull and a strong pull, and the Victory Loan will be over the top.

If Easter eggs could only hatch, what a variety of beautifully colored and patterned chickens we would have!

A man's idea of thoroughly enjoying a holiday is to play golf or go fishing. A woman's is to stay at home and wash her hair.

The new Easter bonnet is a thing of the past. But the new Easter hat of the present sets the husband back quite as far as the bonnet used to.

Woman's place may be in the home. But if she had stayed there, what would have become of the Red Cross and the caten work and the emergency driving?

It is to be hoped that the peace conference will have some consideration for the men who publish atlases, and will come to a speedy decision on the subject of boundaries.

The hog is about to be legislated off of the other fellow's land in Seminole county. If the bill which has just passed both houses is signed by the governor, which it no doubt will be, it will only take the ratification of the voters of the county to put him in his own back yard.

It is not surprising that the German, as soon as they learned that Marshal Foch had been appointed to confer with them should conclude that the Polish division might land in Danzig. They have conferred with Marshal Foch before and know what his conferences are like.

THE PROMISE OF EASTER

We know Easter as one of the great religious feasts of the year. It being emblematic of the Resurrection it is emblematic of life and hope. And everything in the season when we celebrate it is suggestive of the same idea.

The allies tell us that the peace treaty will be completed and offered to the world by Easter. No more appropriate time could be found for its promulgation.

After the years of destruction and suffering which the war has entailed after terror and chaos, we hope for a new-made world, a world whose inspiration will be brotherly love and a strong sense of mutual obligation and helpfulness among nations.

We have not reached the millennium. The change in old custom and thought cannot be immediate. But the peace treaty is the first step toward a world governed by right and justice. And its completion seems, like Easter, symbolic of hope and joy.

FREE BRIDGES FOR VOLUSIA

What's the matter with having the present legislature pass a law giving Volusia, Seminole and Lake counties the right to call an election and vote on purchasing or building bridges over the Halifax and St. Johns river? The county should own and operate one bridge at Daytona, one at Port Orange, one at New Smyrna, one at Crows Bluff, one at Hadden Ferry and one at Osteen. The bridge at Daytona should be the present cement bridge or another cement bridge in case the owners refuse to sell at a reasonable rate. The other bridges could all be of wood. A $200,000 bond issue should buy or build the six bridges, and would cost the county about $12,000 a year in interest. A toll of ten cents would eventually pay for the bridges, retire the bond, and then absolutely free bridges could be maintained.—DeLand News.

NEW CHARTER

The project of the committee on municipal legislation appointed to draft a new charter for Sanford after the commission manager form appears elsewhere in this issue. We believe this charter will be an improvement over the one under which we are now operating. The greatest argument for the new form of city government is the experience of other cities. The percentage of cities which return to the old council form of city government after having given the commission form a fair trial is so small as to be negligible. There is scarcely a man in Sanford who doubts the efficiency of the present city officials, but the cumbersome form of government under which we operate makes efficient city government impossible. Under the proposed plan a competent man is to be obtained who will have authority and ability to conduct the affairs of the city as a manager conducts the affairs of a successful corporation. He is advised by three commissioners, each of whom are held responsible in a way for certain departments of the city affairs.

As stated before, the columns of the Herald are open to discussion both for and against this proposed change in government and we hope that our people will take an active interest in this matter which will mean much to the future prosperity of Sanford.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Welfare Dept. Woman's Club "Without a vision the people perish," is a saying with which we are familiar, but like the little girl who upon following the rainbow in her persistent search for the alluring pot of gold forgot to stop along the way and admire the colors of her rainbow, we forget to gather the flecks and gems, so to speak, about us.

Through the Welfare Dept. of the Woman's Club an ambition has assumed the shape of the vision—that of attacking things of the entertaining kind originating and remaining at home. A committee meeting called by Mrs. S. Puleston, chairman of the Welfare Dept. at her residence on Park avenue—foundations were laid for a "Spring Festival" (this to take place the latter part of May. Watch the Herald and club column, and along stores and road ways of Sanford and surrounding country for the date and advertising). This will be given in the Ninth street park.

For the benefit of the public a brief sketch is here given, an idea of what to expect at the festival. Some of the many features planned are dancing, a country store, a Japanese booth, a fortune teller, children's choruses, a play, a contest in which will be decided "who is to be Queen of the May," and of course uppermost, music. Chairman of committees, Mesdames Holly, Watson, Conroy, Thrasher, Wallace, Housholder, Galloway and Morgan. No longer is one content with slow pace—speeding in this case is not prohibited, hence the hurrying onward desire for funds which are essential for adequate needs. So in your thoughts, in your conversations, moving along the progressive corridors of life give optimism that shall overcome all.

The city park is taking on a varied and pleasant hue through the great work of interesting persons in that vicinity, and they are women. Amorphous growing in large beds are budding between the trees, petunias are urging to bloom, polasettas on their way, making ready to greet the next season's tourists and ourselves. New grass seed is being sown, geraniums make bright spots, rose beds are there vaulting pink and red roses soon to unfold in coming months. This is a very interesting and an inspiration from home. Now we see birds coming under the canopy of blue sky, but alas! the distressing time of the small boy's game. Mothers, are your boys discriminating between the Sparrow and the songster? Are they mistaking the sparrow instead of being it instantly? Cannot the hearts of your impulsive little birds be turned to something higher than the carrying of guns to mutilate our birds. Birds are fewer here than ever before. The tourist is surprised at this. We ask your cooperation. We want the birds as well as the trees, shrubbery and flowers.

Welfare Dept. Members—Meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon, 2:30, preceding Literature meeting. Everyone come.

Don't forget your hat and in the Victory Loan Drive.

The Welfare Dept. are very desirous that you make an extra effort for your children to see "Little Woman" next Wednesday and "The Seven Swans" next Thursday at the Star Theatre. The Woman's Club stands for good pictures. Help us get more of them by your cooperation.

In the Legislature

Representative Miller of Duval, chairman of the special roads committee of the extra session, introduced that body's report in the House this morning. He also put in two bills, one accepting federal aid for roads, which would give Florida, roughly, $3,000,000 for good roads if it raises an equal amount in cash and convict labor, and the other putting convicts under the charge of the state road department.

The first bill carries a levy of two mills to provide the money.

The committee also favors a bond issue equal to a 5 per cent assessed valuation of the state to complete the system of roads which shall reach every county seat, to be built in connection with federal aid. Representative Marshall of Ft. Lauderdale, member of the committee will oppose this feature, favoring district bonding plan and repayment to counties that have already built roads that will be used in the trunk lines, stem for the present value of their roads.

At midnight, after the biggest public committee yet held the house agricultural committee voted, with but one nay, to report favorably on the Futch bill for compulsory cattle dipping to begin March 1, 1921, and the bill amending the present dip-

Rep. Wade of Clay county was the principal speaker against the bill and was backed by about 60 cattle men who have been in session here. Wade deprecated the bill as an attack on small cattle men and said "theorists" would never be able to eliminate ticks, which were here when he came and he would never get rid of them.

Mr. Williamson of Armour & Co., at Jacksonville, urged that the time was ripe to dispose of the bill and put practical men on the board.

Cheering Someone On
Don't you mind about the triumphs, Don't you worry about fame, Don't you grieve about succeeding, Let the future guard your name, All the best in life is simplest— Love will last when wealth is gone, Just be glad that you are living, And Keep Cheering Someone On.

Let your neighbors have the blessings, Let your comrades wear the crown, Never mind the little setbacks, For the blows that knock you down, You'll be glad when they're forgotten, You'll be glad with youth and dawn, If you just forget your troubles, And Keep Cheering Someone On.

There's a lot of sorrow round you, Lots of loneliness and tears, Lots of heartaches and of worry, Through the shadows of the years, And the world needs more than triumphs, More than all the swords we've drawn, It is hungering for the fellow Who Keeps Cheering Others On.

Let the wind around you whistle, And the storm around you play, You'll be here with brawn and grit, When the competitors decay, You'll be here in memories sweetened, If some soul you've saved from pain, If you put aside your victories, And Keep Cheering Someone On.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Bradford have returned to their home in Detroit after spending five months in Florida, most of the time in Sanford with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. D. Leach. Mr. Bradford for years was secretary and treasurer of the Union Trust Co. of Detroit and very prominent in business circles in that city.
Everyone knows the Tarecord song from Carmen, but not everyone has heard it sung as Jose Martinez has sung it for Columbia Records. With his big bass voice he succeeds in conveying all the pagantry and glamor of the bull ring, the superb arrangement of the Spanish bull fighter on the back of this record, the same singer is heard in another of the numbers which have made him the leading basso of the Metropolitan Company—the "Infelice, E' Tuo Credere" ("Unhappy One that I so Trusted") from Verdi's "Ernani." 49-11c

It was only the fifteenth of last November that Rosa Ponselle gained instant fame by her rendering of "La Vergine degli Angeli" ("May Angels Guard Thee") in "La Forza del Destino" at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York. A fine record of this song is offered by Columbia, among whose operatic stars this new and brilliant soprano is numbered. On the other side, the same artist is heard in "Good-Bye," which displays to the full the dramatic quality of her art, as well as the remarkable power and flexibility of her voice. 49-11c

Christian Science services will be held at the Woman's Club, Oak avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, on Sunday, April 13th, at 11 o'clock. 48-11c

Huns Sign May 15th
Germany will be forced either to accept or reject the allied peace terms by May according to statements printed today in Paris. It is expected that if no reply is received by May 16, the peace commission would not be disposed to give the Germans ample time to digest the terms and frame its reply. What would follow has not been forecast even in Paris.

The refusal of Stephen Pichon, minister of the interior, to divulge details of the agreement in the house of deputies yesterday, and the failure of Premier Lloyd George to speak in more than general terms before the house of lords in London at the same time, seems to indicate that the public will not be made aware of the conditions until they are accepted or refused.
Lloyd George told the commons yesterday that the terms of the pact is in the hands of the drafting committee and that details would be completed today. It seems likely therefore that the treaty is in a fair way to be completed in a very brief period.

Seminole Hotel Improvements
The remodeling of the Seminole Hotel at Second and Park avenue is progressing rapidly and will be fully completed in a very short time. Plasterers and painters are now completing their work.
The newly remodelled hotel presents an attractive appearance and will accommodate a goodly number of Sanford's visitors. The building is practically new, having been built four years ago by Mr. B. W. Herndon, the present owner. It has been a popular hotel for the travelling public but on account of the limited number of rooms it has proven inadequate especially during the winter months to accommodate its regular guests.
The building is at once and as remodelled will contain twenty-three modern rooms.

A lovely birthday cake adorned the refreshment table, strawberry ice cream and cake being served. About twenty little friends were present and many pretty gifts were received. Mrs. Neal was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Margaret Barnes in serving and entertaining the little folks. At 10:30 they had the charming little hostess good night, wishing her many, many happy returns of the day.

In the evening an Easter cantata will be given by the choir with other parts taken by the Sunday school pupils. Mrs. Takach will sing "Hosanna," by Granier, and Mrs. Frye and Mrs. Takach will play as an organ duet the overture for "The Light of the World," by Sullivan.

Presbytery of St. Johns
The Presbytery of St. Johns met at Bradenton this week. Mr. H. C. Dullos and Mr. Brownlee were in attendance. Reports for the past year put Sanford in a very favorable light, it is outgrowing the other churches of Presbytery, surpassing this year the membership of St. Petersburg, leaving only two churches in Presbytery larger, the First Church of Tampa and the Orlando church. Reports from the Progressive Campaign were very encouraging. It looks very much like the total amount of $40,000 asked for benevolence will be raised. One encouraging feature of the Progressive Campaign is that before the manager has opportunity to present the 8th goal, increased salaries for pastors, the churches are taking the matter in their own hands. With the exception of several of the smaller churches, with one or two exceptions, all the self-supporting churches of Presbytery already have or plan immediately to pay their pastors $200 per month or more. We are making the minimum salary for Home missionaries $100 per month. Presbytery will meet this fall at Inverness.

Gentlemen:
Please allow me to state that I have sold your hog cholera remedy for one season and have ordered more for this season. Last year I sold it to 12 or 15 men who raise hogs. I told each of them to take the remedy, feed it to their hogs and if they lost a single hog from disease of any kind not to pay me a cent for the remedy, but when they began to sell cotton every man came in and paid me for the medicine and every one of them told me that it was the best hog medicine they ever used. One man paid me for the small package and bought $5 worth more and said it was the best that he had ever tried.
Yours very truly,
W. F. Bartlett.

Carelessness Results in Failure
That is why we say "Feed B. A. Thomas' Hog Powder according to directions. DO NOT FEED IT SLOPPY, but mix it with ground feed and moisten with just enough water to make a crumbly mass. Then each hog gets a beneficial dose. See full directions on package. Your money back if you are not satisfied.

ELDER SPRINGS WATER

Analytical and Consulting Chemist - Professional of Natural Science
Emeritus, Rollins College, Florida
Private Laboratory of Rollins College
Winter Park, Fla., Nov. 5th, 1918

Mr. T. O. Charles
Sanford, Fla.

Dear Sir:
I have completed careful chemical analysis of the sample of water that you brought me early last week, and have obtained the following results:

Clear	Chlorine	1.75 Grains per million
Neutral	Total Solids	8.00 parts per million
Free Ammonia	Hardness	22.03 parts per million
Albuminoid Ammonia	Nitrate	Trace

The absence practically of free and albuminoid ammonia in this water and its very small amount of chlorine indicates its excellent quality for household purposes. In addition to the good quality characteristics of superior household water, it possesses special features of much value, especially those of excellent natural aeration and LOW degree of hardness.

The bacteriological analysis, resulting in an average total count, in four samples of the water, of 2 bacteria per cent, and in finding no colon, or other harmful bacteria, fully confirm its good quality indicated by the CHEMICAL analysis.

Of the many waters of this and other regions that I have analyzed, I have found none superior in all good qualities to that of the "Elder Water."

Yours very respectfully,
(Signed) THOS. D. BAKER

POLLY OSBORNE stood before the window of Gorton's millinery store, consumed by an unutterable longing for one of the gay-colored hats with which it was adorned. It was really an unutterable longing, because it seemed as though the possession of one of those hats was necessary to help her acquire the possession of something else, something else she could not live without. If Matthew could see her wearing one of those, looking fresh and bright and charming, instead of dingy as she did in her old black felt, perhaps—

She turned away from the display with a little sigh. Under the brim of the old black hat her young face looked tired and discouraged. It seemed to cast shadows about her blue eyes—not becoming shadows, but wistful ones which were far too old for her. She was thinking about Matthew. Only an hour or so before she had seen him passing her window with Mary Curtis, the banker's daughter. Mary Curtis was as fresh and charming as Polly felt herself to be dingy. She had worn a spring hat of rose-colored straw, and a smart new suit. Matthew had looked as though he admired Mary very much.

"Oh dear!" sighed Polly, as she climbed her own front step. "I want that hat—the blue one—but there are so many other things to do with the money! It doesn't seem right when I ought to be buying wool to knit with, and Thrift stamps, and Red Cross subscriptions, and that food conservation uniform! I suppose I can do over my last year's sailor."

The last year's sailor, however, proved to be discouraging. Polly did her best by it, but even after that it bore an undeniable last-year look. However, she should have to wear it. She, with several of her friends from the domestic science school, had just been asked to help with a food conservation display in one of the department stores. That meant that she should have to buy the uniform of blue dress, white cap and apron, thereby spending the price of the blue hat for which she yearned. However, she told herself heroically that it was nothing to wear an old sailor hat for her county, when other people were doing so much more!

Matthew did not come to see her that evening, as Polly had hoped he might; indeed she thought she saw his tall khaki-clad figure passing the house in the direction of Mary Curtis'. Of course he had a right to go where he chose—

During the busy week that followed, Polly had little time to think about the blue hat. Only at night or morning, when she wore the old sailor to and from the store, did she remember her longing for a becoming bonnet. Her days were too full of anything but thoughts of corn products, the uses of fat, and various substitutes for wheat. All day women crowded about her counter listening to the demonstrations she gave, all day she handed out recipes and explained the meanings of her various exhibits. At night she was so tired that she only wanted to go to bed when she reached home; if Matthew had come she would have been too sleepy and stupid to entertain him. But Matthew did not come. The undercurrent of Polly's thoughts, as she talked all day, was dimly concerned with wonder as to whether he had had to go away to camp, and why he went without letting her know, and whether she should ever hear from him and whether Mary Curtis knew where he was. She told herself that really it did not matter, she should not care if he didn't care enough about her to even let her know.

And then one day, as she talked to a group of interested housewives, Polly looked up to see Matthew standing at the edge of the crowd, his brown face lighted with a smile, half interested, half quizzical. Polly felt her face flush, but she kept on talking, even though she became suddenly aware of the fact that Mary Curtis stood beside him, smiling amusedly under the brim of her second new spring hat. Worst of all, it was the very blue hat for which Polly herself had yearned. Bitterly conscious of her flush, Polly nodded to them, accepting Mary's scarcely perceptible bow in return. She saw Mary press Matthew's arm, and heard her words.

"Come on, Matthew, we'll be late for the first act if we don't hurry."

Polly shed furtive tears under the shade of the last year's sailor that night as she hurried home. It was all over, of course. It didn't matter, now, whether she ever had a new hat or not. Even if she had the money to buy a new hat she shouldn't do it now. Who on earth cared what she wore?

Polly's eyes, swollen with tears when she fell asleep, opened wide in spite of themselves at sight of the warm sunshine, the fresh green of the trees, the next morning. And when she went down to breakfast they opened wider still. A huge box from the florist's lay across her plate at the table.

"That just came," smiled her mother. "I can't imagine who sent it."

Neither could Polly, until she opened it to find a great sheaf of roses with a note from Matthew lying across it. Her lips quivered as she read it. He wanted to take her driving that afternoon. What had happened? Why should he want to take her? However, Polly sang about the house that morning, and even the old sailor seemed to take on some glorified Easter air. Just from sheer joy of the day. Polly did wish she had another hat to wear when she went out with Matthew, but then it did not really matter—

When Matthew came that after-

I'm glad you liked me in that little white cap, because—because that is the only Easter hat I've got!"

Easter's Deep Significance.

Easter is the greatest of Christian festivals because its date of celebration and purpose are clearly determined and almost universally accepted. Many are aware that Christmas can hardly be the real anniversary of the birth of Jesus, for numerous scholars hold that he was born in the spring, not in December, but none doubt that the crucifixion took place during the passover week, and that the resurrection, as chronicled in the Gospels, occurred on the third day after his death.

ARE YOUR TAXES HEAVY?
THEY MAY BE HEAVIER YET

Probably every reader of this paper finds his taxes a bit higher than he likes to pay. Thousands of them have been struggling for the last few weeks to make out reports on income taxes to the government, and have found that six per cent takes a pretty heavy slice out of what was left over on New Year's day. Many of you had to borrow money to pay the taxes.

But this tax is nothing to what all of us will have to pay if the Victory Loan falls to go over. Uncle Sam's war bills must be paid. He prefers to borrow the money from us and pay us back later on.

But if he can't borrow it, he must take it—in the form of taxes.

It's like the difference between renting a house for ten years or buying it on the installment plan. In one case, you wind up with a thick bundle of rent receipts. In the other, you have a deed to your home.

Isn't it better to lend your money to the Government at a fair rate of interest than to pay it out in taxes, which never come back?

That's worth considering when the time comes to invest in Victory Bonds.

DOWN AND OUT—BUT HIS TONGUE STILL WAGS.

THE HUN is still able to whisper.

One of his favorite subjects is Liberty Bonds.

The bonds are absolutely the best secured in the world, so he dares not attack them openly.

He whispers to you to sell them, hoping to demoralize the market.

And he has about as much chance of doing this as he had of winning the war. It is characteristic Hun stupidity.

Every time you are approached to sell your Liberty Bond or to trade it for stock in some unknown and unestablished project, remember it is the voice of the Hun speaking.

Then take another grip on your Liberty Bonds and hold tight. Keep those you have and be ready to buy more when the Victory Liberty Loan is offered for sale in April.

Daily Fashion

A NEW FASHION FEATURE.

Skirt must be narrow, therefore panels are added to give them as much width as the swaying to and fro of the panel will permit. It is a delightful compromise of fashion and the above model typifies the idea charmingly. Medium size requires 4 yards 40-inch satin and 2 1/2 yards 48-inch cashmere. The belt is of fancy ribbon.

Pictorial Review Costume No. 7004. Sizes, 16 to 20 years. Price, 25 cents.

Historic English Homestead.

The homestead of the tenant of Shottery farm, brought to the hammer at Birmingham recently, was the house in which Shakespeare and Anne Hathaway are said to have plighted their troth according to the ancient rite of "handfast."

Mourning Friday.

It was not always called Good Friday. Years ago in Germany it was frequently referred to as Mourning Friday. Our early ancestors in England did not call it Good Friday, either, but Long Friday. Such is the term in an ancient ecclesiastical law about 1,000 years old. The Danes used the same name, Long, instead of Good Friday.

The reason for using the word "long" was doubtless found in the seeming endless and severe fast practiced that day. At one time the Spaniards emphasized the solemnity of Good Friday by closing all the churches.

Nowhere else that I have happened to be on a Good Friday was the day so solemnly observed as in Rome. The city seemed to be in mourning, making all the more inspiring the matchless services and singing in St. Peter's cathedral on Easter.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Her Lips Quivered.

noon in his big car he found a radiant Polly waiting for him. She was so radiant that there seemed to be some new, added quality in her charm. There was something new and a little strange about Matthew, too. After they had struck into a quiet road where the cars were few he slowed down suddenly and began to speak, slowly, as though he had been thinking something over for a long time.

"Polly," he said, "I wonder—if you'd think—I was the sort of fellow a girl could marry? A fine girl with lots of character and the very sweetest nature in the world? I don't amount to much, I know, but you see I've fallen in love—"

Polly almost saw the bright day fade before her eyes. He was thinking of Mary Curtis, of course. But she swallowed bravely and tried to smile before she answered.

"Of course," she said. "You—why you're the very finest boy I've ever met. Any girl ought to be glad—"

Try as she would, Polly could not finish the sentence. But then, she did not have to, for Matthew's arm had stolen about her.

"Could you marry me, Polly? I've loved you always, but when I see how sweet and good you are, and how—different from other girls—when I saw you in that store wearing a uniform, Polly, and working for your country instead of acting as though it didn't matter—I could hardly wait for a chance to ask you to marry me, even though I'll have to go to France—"

"I'll marry you!" Polly murmured through a mist of happy tears. "I—"

Overcoming Obstacles.

Paymaster for the Party.
As an inducement to Cecil, aged four, to attend Sunday school for the first time, she was allowed to carry the pennies to be put into the collection envelope. Little Things Cause Sunshine.
The sunshine of life is made up of very little things that are bright all the time. To give up something, when giving up will prevent unhappiness; to yield, when persisting will chafe and fret others; to go a little around rather than come against another; to take an ill look, or a cross word quietly, rather than resent or return it—these are the ways in which clouds and storms are kept off, and a pleasant and steady sunshine secured.—Aikin

WHAT'S YOUR WORRY? THIS QUESTIONNAIRE MAY SOLVE PROBLEM

The government already is exploiting the Victory Liberty Loan, which will be floated in April, in order that the people may start saving for the purpose of investing in bonds of the "Victory Issue." The following brief questionnaire should tend to clarify the mind of any reader regarding the Victory Loan:

Q The war being over, why is there need of another great popular war loan?

A. The proceeds from the Fourth Loan, according to Secretary of the Treasury Glass, were exhausted last December, and the government must have billions more with which to maintain our forces overseas, bring the victors home and carry out its reconstruction plans.

Q If Uncle Sam's strong-box is empty, how is he paying his after-war expenses?

A. This is being done with money borrowed from the banks at the rate of 600,000,000 every two weeks, short-term anticipation certificates of indebtedness being issued in return.

Q As long as the banks are advancing the money, why not let them continue to do so?

A. Because in order to continue to extend credit to the business interests big and little of the country the banks must get back this money—amounting to 20 per cent of their entire resources—when it falls due, as only thus can the prosperity we now enjoy be continued.

Q Will the Victory Loan be offered to the people on a commercial basis, or will their patriotism again be appealed to?

A. Secretary Glass says the patriotism of the American people will be relied upon to send the loan triumphantly "over the top." It, however, will be made particularly attractive as to rate of interest and period of maturity.

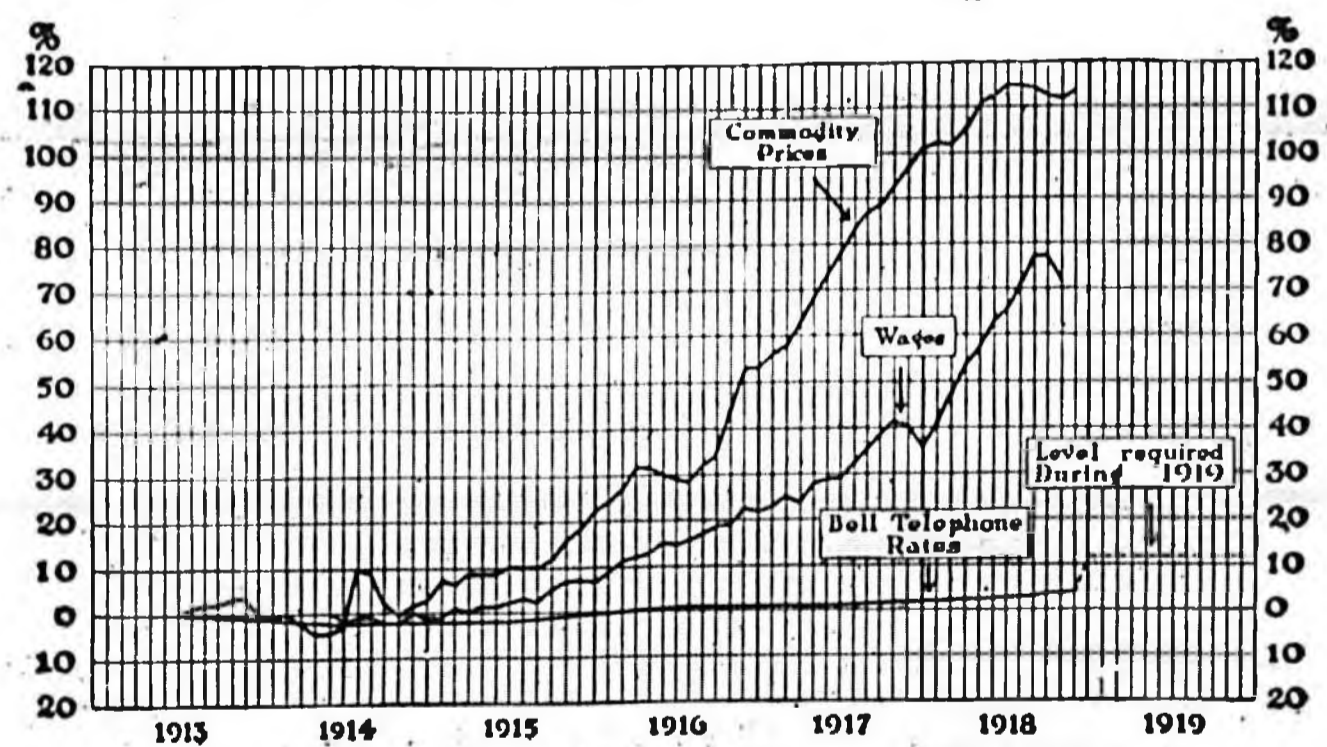

Or Chewing Gum.
"No, Willie," explained grandpa, "false teeth are not stuck with toothpaste."

Pleasant Old Age.
What blessings are these—that the soul having served its time, so to speak, in the crucibles of desire and ambition, rivalry and hatred, and all the passions, should live in its own thought and, as the expression goes, should dwell apart. Indeed, if it has a store any of what I may call the "good of study and philosophy, nothing can be pleasanter than an old age of leisure.—Exchange.

The True Artist.
The artist is always a child in freshness of feeling; in unwearied delight in the things which do not add to one's estate, but which make for inward joy and peace, and that easy possession of the world which brings the sense of freedom, the right to be happy, and the faith that life is greater than its works, and a man more important than his toll. A race, like an individual, must get this consciousness of possession before the work of the day becomes imperative and absorbing.—Hamilton W. M.

Scots All Lovers of Dogs.
Scotland is a great sheep-growing country, yet it loves the dog; gives him his due in life and revere him in death. At the castle in Edinburgh there is a little plot of ground where the dogs of the Scottish soldiers are buried; it is a charming spot, and on many little tombstones there are tender tributes to departed friends. In front of St. Giles cathedral in the same noble city, there is a monument to a little skye terrier, and upon it, carved in stone, an inscription to Robble, who refused to leave the church yard where his master was buried, and died upon his grave.

High Costs Affect Operation Greater Revenues Required

Changes in Bell Telephone Rates-1913 to 1918 Compared with Changes in Wages and Prices

SINCE 1913 there has been a steady increase in the price of all commodities and the products of industry, which has not been reflected in a corresponding increase in telephone rates. In order to meet the past and present high cost of telephone operation, a revenue in just proportion to the expense must be secured.

The reason is simple. The cost of telephone operation has steadily advanced both because of the increased cost of material and the increased living cost of employees. The consumer has realized the necessity of paying more for rent, for food, for clothing and for transportation. The telephone industry has been affected by the same conditions which have produced higher prices in all of the necessities of life.

Between 1913 and 1918, commodity prices advanced 112 per cent, wages advanced 72 per cent and Bell Telephone rates the country over advanced only 4 per cent. Adequate rates are needed if the service is to be maintained efficiently and on a comprehensive scale, so as to meet the increasing demands of the public.

This company is operating its telephone property under the direction of the Postmaster General for the United States Government and must secure sufficient revenue to cover the cost of rendering the service.
