WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—With former Secretary Hughes appearing for the appellants and Assistant Attorney General Donovan for the government, the District of Columbia court today heard final arguments Monday on the appeal of the "Big Five" meat packers from the setting aside of the celebrated consent decree of 1920.

In asking that the district supreme court be over-ruled and the decree permanently set aside, Mr. Hughes argued that the court had exceeded its judicial power in entering the decree in the first place.

In addition, the attorney argued that the government had acted in violation of the Federal Trade Commission act in forcing the packers to accept the decree.

Colorful Donagan argued that the court below had the right to enter the decree.

Edgar Watkins appeared as counsel for the American Wholesale Grocers Association, which intervened in the case and had argued with Col. Donovan that the district court of appeals had no jurisdiction.

This view was combated by Conrad H. Syme as well as by Mr. Hughes. They took the position that since the District of Columbia courts are created independently of the other federal judiciary, appeals would have to be made to the district court of appeals.

Sanford Kiwanis Club standing committees will be given complete charge of the weekly programs for the next quarter, according to an announcement made today by the president, E. F. Lane.

The program may be presented along the line of regular committee work or something special, it was said.

A number of trucks and a police launch were being used by and no attempt was made to remove the passengers. Apparently there was no panic aboard, the passengers behaving on the decks watching the fire boats. Officials expressed the belief that the liner would be able to dock at her pier during the day.

QUEEN ATTRACTS MUCH ATTENTION OF FRENCH

Princess Appears Like Co-Ed In American School While Prince Looks Like Student

PARIS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Queen Marie of Rumania, arrived in Paris today accompanied by her daughter, Princess Ileana, and her son, Prince Nicholas, and a considerable suite.

The queen is a happy that she was on her way to visit the United States. As she stepped from her private car, she was surrounded by a crowd of diplomats, representing the government of France, and members of her own country's legation in Paris.

She appeared a pretty figure as she stood extending her hand to be kissed by the bowing diplomats.

"I would give a million dollars to be assured of looking half so prettily and young when I am 51," said one American woman standing nearby, to a companion.

Princess Ileana, who is a slim young girl, is not unlike an American co-ed in appearance. Prince Nicholas, who wore a grey top coat and an English hat with the brim turned down in front, seemed more like a young student than a Balkan prince.

Queen Marie, aside from her regal status, was by far the most attractive personality in the platform. Over her bobbed hair, closely cropped at the back, she wore a close fitting hat of black velvet, circled with silver lace. Two long ropes of pearls hung down from her neck.

Where the collar was thrown back at the neck, white silk glimmered. The Queen's stockings, gloves and shoes were tan.

"This is a very early hour in the morning to have to be photographed," said the Queen when she consented to pose.

Rain Halts Game For Few Minutes

Dutch Reuther Taken From Box in Fifth In Favor Shawkey

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The Cardinals made it two straight over the New York Yankees this afternoon to take the lead, two to one. The game was played on a wet field and was delayed for fifteen minutes in the fourth inning. The score was four to nothing.

Jess Haines, big righthander of the Cardinals hurled an excellent game, holding the Yankees safely throughout the game, while his mates were collecting hits to score four runs off Reuther and send him to the showers. Shawkey replaced him.

The early afternoon showers failed to keep enthusiastic fans away and long before the game every inch of space was occupied by a crowd estimated at 39,000.

Today's contest opened a three-game stretch of warfare in St. Louis with tight pitching the order of the day.

The game was delayed 15 minutes on account of the light rain in the morning. However, when the game started the weather was warm and clear.

Neither side scored in the first two innings. It was one, two, three frames for the Yankees in both of them. Haines whiffing two of them for strikeouts. The Cardinals gathered a hit in each frame but were unable to send a run across.

In the first inning Southworth sent one of Reuther's curves to center for a single and in the second after one was down, Hafey patted a two-bagger to deep left and went to third on O'Farrell's out but died there when Thevenow grounded out.

The Cardinals tallied three times in their half of the fourth. Bell, first man up, singled and went to second on Hafey's sacrifice. O'Farrell walked and Bell walked. Thevenow forced O'Farrell out but died there when Thevenow grounded out.

MAKES EFFORT TO SAVE LIFE

ROCKWOOD, Tenn., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Through an underground stretch of nearly three miles, part of it infested with deadly "after damp", rescue workers sought today to reach 24 miners believed to have been killed instantly in an explosion yesterday in the Rodgers entry of the Roan Iron Company's coal mine near here.

Four men were dead nearly a mile from the scene of the terrific blast and explosion, and two others unconscious, the rescue workers virtually abandoned all hope of bringing out any of the others alive. Two other men, Will and Arthur Teague, who were with the three quarters of a mile of the explosion, escaped injury and gas fumes by bracing themselves when they heard the blast. They sought to rescue one of the two injured, G. Boyles, but failed. Boyles and Ebbie Davis later were found unconscious.

Two hundred miners are said to have been working in the number two entry at the time of the explosion but only 12 were in the Rodgers dip, where the explosion trapped the men in a manner similar to that which took a toll of 12 lives in almost the same location in July, 1925.

Four Bodies Partly Identified
The four bodies have been partly identified as George Riddell, W. C. Elliott, Walter Smith and Harry Lingo, though positive identification was made impossible by their charred condition and the decapitation of one.

The bodies of Riddell and Elliott were removed from the mine to a morgue early this morning. The other two bodies will be brought out later today. The condition of the bodies of Riddell and Elliott indicated, according to mine officials, that they were only stunned by the blast itself and succumbed later to the "after damp."

Anxious relatives—mothers with babies in their arms—waited at the mouth of the entry for the rescue workers to emerge. All of them brought the same discouraging reports—that no life could exist within a quarter of a mile of the scene of the blast.

Relatives Resigned To Fate
Living with a constant fear of such a catastrophe hanging over them, the relatives of the imprisoned men seemed resigned to the apparent fate of those on the surface.

Rescue parties worked in shifts throughout the night, clearing a path for the men who were trapped. Their work was made more difficult by cave-ins. If a fall occurred in the vicinity of the explosion area, the recovery of the bodies of the men might require days or weeks, miners say.

The explosion occurred in one of the furthestmost regions of the mine, nearly three miles from the mouth of the entry and approximately 800 feet under the mountain side.

Must Take Indirect Course
The rescuers must proceed approximately a mile and a half in a straight direction from the mouth, then turn sharply to the right for a distance of three quarters of a mile, make another sharp turn to the right for a half mile and then enter the shaft to the right where the men were working.

This indirect course of approach still further retards the work of pumping air into the gas infested region and clearing away the passages blocked by slight cave-ins.

In virtually the same section of the mine the 12 men who were killed in the 1925 explosion were trapped. All of the bodies were not removed until three months later and although the blast occurred in July, the mine was not re-opened until November.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART
WASHINGTON. When, after twenty years of nursing outside the fold, Alice Roosevelt Longworth suddenly put on her best bib and tucker one day last winter and went to a congressional ladies' tea, it did mean something after all!

People suspected it then. And they were sure when up popped none less name than that of Princess Alice a few days ago for the job of Ohio representative on the Republican national committee. Of course, that in itself was nothing! A person as vitally and intelligently interested in politics as Alice Longworth gets quite accustomed at having her name up for this and that, and then politely refusing to hold the job!

Effect on Nick's Chances
But it looks very much as if Mrs. Nicholas Longworth from Cincinnati has no intention of refusing this job—she hasn't done so yet. She knows that she is definitely selected, and she is definitely not going to let it slip.

Alice Roosevelt Longworth is a member of the Republican national committee. It is a fact.

Bandits Kill Jersey Man and Wounded Son

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 5.—(AP)—A trail of wrecked automobiles today marked the course followed by two bandits who killed a Maplewood, N. J., business man and probably fatally injured his 15-year-old son last night in what police believe was a desperate race to reach a shipment of registered air mail. Frank Kenney was slain when he refused to give the men a ride. His son Robert was shot, and his wife was dragged from their automobile. Police believe the bandits were on their way in a powerful car to loot a truck load of valuable air mail due for delivery here when their auto ran into a ditch. The men called on three youths passing by in a small sedan for help. The boys aided the men in getting their car back on the road and were paid several dollars for their trouble.

Penney-Gwin Agricultural Institution Opens Doors Today For The First Time

BRANCH, Fla., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The Penney-Gwin Agricultural Institution opened for the first time today. The school, a co-educational institution, has been established on a 1,000-acre tract of richly wooded land comprising the former estate of the school—located in Florida scholastic.

Directed by J. C. Penney, principal of the school, a co-educational institution, has been established to provide special, practical, technical training in agriculture and home-making for young men and women who have completed the high school. The institution's officials say that the school is determined to give its students a broad education in agriculture and home-making as their life.

The extension instruction program has been indicated by A. Johnson, formerly principal of Wisconsin Agricultural School. Special technical and theoretical instruction through demonstrations, experiments, and field work is outlined by President Penney and the work of the students is so arranged that upon completion of the two-year course there will be a transition into the world of their own choice. A break in the continuity of their educational program is not intended. The organization of the institution is outlined by President Penney and the work of the students is so arranged that upon completion of the two-year course there will be a transition into the world of their own choice. A break in the continuity of their educational program is not intended.

Requirements of a large number of high school preparatory schools are a minimum of 18 years, while no limit has been set. Students are to devote half time to educational work and the remainder to remunerative employment. Expenses at the institution are reduced to a minimum by the academic fees being on a cash basis and board at the dormitory on a cost basis. Mr. Johnson says that the institution has been made in order to give a large number of young men and women who are desirous of an education through agriculture and home-making a course of study in agriculture and home-making covers a two-year term, the first year being in session during the year when agricultural operations are at their peak.

The success of various channel swimmers is affecting the risibility of German humorists. Recalling that Kemmerich, a German, was knocked out by a dog fish in mid channel, one writer suggests that the big fish should be muzzled. Since Mrs. Clemington Corson is the mother of two children, another wit would have a "grandmothers' race next year, open to all grandmothers between 17 and 70 who have bobbed hair." Still another columnist notes that

"Artificial pneumothorax, by means of which a diseased lung may be collapsed to superinduce artificially a restful condition of the organ," said Dr. Rist, "is the most helpful advance made in the treatment of lung tuberculosis."

"Even in those cases where both lungs were affected, the collapse of both lungs by surgical methods, with only twenty percent of the normal vital capacity left in them, has proven beneficial. Thoracoplasty, a more modern surgical adaptation of the older method of puncturing the chest wall to collapse the lung, has resulted in the improvement of an additional number of cases where adhesions formerly prevented the obtaining of relief."

BERLIN LETTER

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The "Charleston forbidden" is a sign greeting devotees of the dance entering a majority of public dance halls in Berlin, especially those on the outskirts. While the dancing masters' association recently announced that the Charleston had come to its own at last, dance hall proprietors rebelled because only a few Berliners could dance it correctly. The remainder, they said, kicked up their heels so awkwardly that other dancers' clothes were ruined, shins were scraped and ankles sprained. Flat fights were frequent. So the proprietors hung out the well known "Verboten" and chased the Charleston to the confines of hotel ball rooms and cabarets.

The dramatic critics are wondering what Schiller would have done had he attended the production of his "The Robbers" at the State theatre this week and seen robbers march out upon the stage tooting saxophones and wearing delapidated cutaway coats and stove-in-top hats. A Word With the Old Folks

Elderly People Are Learning Importance of Good Elimination.

IN the later years of life there is apt to be a slowing up of the bodily functions. Good elimination, however, is just as essential to the old as to the young. Many old folks have learned the value of Doan's Pills when a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys is required. Beanty or burning passages of kidney secretions are often signs of improper kidney function. In most every community are scores of users and endorsers who acclaim the merit of Doan's. St. Louis Is Baseball Mad As Cards Reach Home For 3rd Game

Hornby and Proteges Given Big Ovation Upon Arrival From Gotham Yesterday

Fans Waiting In Line Late Monday

Less Than 40,000 Can Be Crowded in Field At Baseball Park

(By BRIAN BELL.)
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Baseball had, here, from cheering its beloved Cardinals, and with a wrenching of limb that only a seat in a World Series stand will satisfy. St. Louis today waited game time with impatience. Mentally the city is in the pink of condition for the third game of the series with confidence oozing from every pore. Physically there is something lacking for many of the enthusiasts.

All of the late afternoon and much of the evening was given over to the singing of a baseball song by a choir of thousands of voices, making up in volume anything lacking in harmony. Unfortunately many who cheered will not see the game today.

Many St. Louis fans believed that they also serve who only stand and wait, and while their fellows were cheering Hornby and his victors, several hundred were forming a line to determine the ticket window at sportsman's park. Number one in this line, John M. Overton, took for he was ready to buy his ticket absolutely no chance of being late at 1:45 yesterday afternoon, at most 24 hours before Umpire Hildebrand was ready to call play ball.

Downtown too, a line formed last night bent on buying the privilege of standing on. Less than 40,000 persons can be crowded into sportsman's park.

The grandstand seats were reserved and sold in short order. The sale of the 7,500 bleacher seats and 5,500 standing space will be followed by the SRO sign. These places have not been sold because they are not on sale until the day of the game.

The enthusiasm of nearly two score seasons stored up in the 38 years of waiting for a pennant winner boiled over last night when the Cardinals came out their own. Rogers Hornsby brought the first championship to St. Louis, since 1818, and the citizen, let him know that they appreciate it. The champions won their title on the road and went from this triumph to a World Series, whose first two games gave them an even break.

Winning a National League championship and standing off the American League titlholders, all along they want, again the St. Louis fans an opportunity to tell just how they felt about it.

Manager Hornsby was presented with an expensive automobile, to go with a watch given by his New York admirers and all the players will get presents when the fans can get the accumulated cheering out of their systems and get around some out.

Some mass of humanity paid $100, 700 to the athletes until they had, in their own defense, called a halt to the "let's play" to their cheering, she is again quiet.

When Babe Ruth tore up after a terrible hit, he found a terrible hit. Serious business, the necessary.

JESS HAINES AND DUTCH REUTHER MAY HURL TODAY

Cardinal Right-Hander Has Been Slated to Meet Port-Sider of Yankees; Clear Weather Is Now Forecast

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The World Series standing all over here today, the managers of the contending Cardinals and Yankees were giving serious thought to pitching selections. The pitchers proved the most important players in the first two games.

Subject to possible last minute changes, Rogers Hornsby was expected to call on Jess Haines, left right-hander, with Miller Huggins prepared to nominate "Dutch" Reuther, left hander, but almost as big as Haines.

The first game of the series in New York brought a pitcher pitching to it between Pennock and Haines, the Yankee pitcher and Haines, the Cardinal pitcher.

After rain cut a ball of gloom over St. Louis yesterday, the Weather Bureau brought smiles today with a forecast of clear but cool for today. Play will begin at 1:30 P. M. central standard time. No changes in respective lineups outside the pitching mound were anticipated by the rival managers.

A capacity crowd of 38,000 was expected with all grandstand seats sold in advance and long lines formed in the 7,500 bleacher seats and 5,500 standing room to be sold at the park.

The probable lineup:

When Yankees Got First Score

The first counter for the New York Yankees, in their 2 to 1 victory in the World Series, came on a crack by Gehrig in the play in which the latter here ran out first base safely. Gehrig's hit ball was recovered by Thompson, St. Louis, then top win to send it to Hornby, forcing Mousoul out at second. Then Hornby tried to catch Gehrig at first. While the ball was happening, Combs romped across the home plate.

The Sparks Circus presented more acts, carried more equipment and gave a bigger street parade than its competitor.

The big exhibition tent was only partly filled at the afternoon performance. The show officials did not expect a capacity crowd at the first performance because as one showman said: "You are in your busy season; we couldn't expect the people to come in from the country."

The circus trains left shortly after midnight for Orlando, where two performances are given today. Wednesday, the circus will exhibit in Lakeland and Thursday and Friday in Tampa.

Depression Seen If Bill To Charter Federal Reserve Banks Is Defeated

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 5.—(AP)—An ultimate defeat of the bill before Congress rechartering the Federal reserve banks "would have a most depressing influence on business," said Eugene P. Gum, president of the state secretaries section, in an address today before the American Bankers Association.

"If the rechartering fails in the December session," he said, "there will be a later opportunity to re-present it, but the system's enemies will convert the action of a former conservative Congress into a dangerous bludgeon. Later sessions may not be so favorable."

View of Agriculture
As regards the agricultural situation, Mr. Gum said that while it is "not alluring, it is not alarming."

"The only crops showing an increase are wheat, oats, and potatoes. The small grain area will show a greater purchasing power while the cotton and tobacco belt will show a reduced purchasing power.

State Supreme Court Will Pass Upon Legality Of Dog Racing In Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The question of whether dog racing is within the laws of Florida is to be settled after all by the State Supreme Court.

After the case of the Tampa Kennel Club had been stricken from the court docket, at the request of the attorneys, the tribunal now finds itself confronted with the case of H. P. Reinmiller, president of the Jacksonville Kennel Club, versus the state of Florida.

The legal points involved are virtually the same. The court must decide whether Reinmiller operated dog races in violation of the law, and the outcome will have a bearing on future promotion kind.

Reinmiller was fined counts in the criminal Duval county. On a given $150 and cost, or five in the county jail, and $100 and cost.

The case is being handled by the attorney general's office, by Roy Campbell, assistant attorney general. The case will be that the dog race promoted for the purpose of circumventing the law, and method and manner of the Jacksonville Kennel Club constituted a violation of the law.

Florida Hunters Will Have Plenty Game This Winter, Says State Official

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 5.—(AP)—When Nimrods of Florida shoulder their "shooting irons" this year they will find an abundance of game, reports to the office of J. H. Royall, commissioner of the State Department of Game and Fresh Water Fish, indicate.

Favorable hatching and growing conditions, coupled with active conservation work have aided materially in insuring the sportsmen a big year, it was stated. Strong co-operation on the part of the people has gone far in that direction, Mr. Royall said.

What has been done in restocking was only suggestive of what is contemplated for Florida, said the commissioner. During the past breeding season, the department has released a number of bobwhite quail, Mexican quail and turkeys, brought in the state. Five hundred pairs of native quail have been transferred from sections of Florida where they are abundant to those places where they are scarce.

It is not reasonable, however, Commissioner Royall added, for one section to expect another to supply it with birds in any considerable amount. To provide for that work on an adequate basis would require a state game farm, and that such a farm might well receive the consideration of the people, he said. Such a method, he said, together with the restocking through establishment of permanent breeding grounds, such as done by the 1925 legislature, do much to bring the native life to such an abundance to ensure an early reply.

VACCINATION
Hon. Ed. Walthall, Gov. Seminole Hudson-Essex Co., Sanford, Fla.
Dear Ed: Vaccination has accomplished wonders in eradicating smallpox in controlling typhoid and other diseases that shorten the span of human life. But the scientists still have a far way to go if they want to use vaccination to the limit for the relief of human suffering. I offer a few suggestions.
Why not vaccinate husbands to prevent them from prowling around at night?
Or vaccinate men to keep them from wearing derby hats?
Or vaccinate women to keep them from gossiping about their neighbors?
Or vaccinate flappers to keep them from staging petting parties?
Or vaccinate everybody to keep them from playing on saxophones?
Or vaccinating political candidates to keep them from making such rash pre-election promises?
Or vaccinate golfers to keep them from taking their eyes off the ball?
Or vaccinate preachers to keep them from ever preaching longer than 15 minutes?
Or vaccinate road hogs to make them stay on their side of the road?
Or vaccinate hotel clerks to keep them from developing the superiority complex?
And surely some form of vaccination could be devised which would make people use more good judgment when they went to buy automobiles, so every one needing a car would buy an Essex Coach. Yours, BILL.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG
Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for only 75 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.
Well-known druggists say everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Adv.
Ever have ECZEMA?
Hope you never did—hope you never will. Of all the awful itching, burning, agonizing breakings out of the skin, eczema is the worst. It's terrible. You know it, too, if you have it. Makes you miserable all over—just tears your nerves to pieces—embarrasses you and lowers your efficiency.
But listen! You can stop eczema! S. S. S. does it. The blood is where the real trouble is. Poor blood and eczema go together. Lack of healthy, rich, red blood allows impurities to get into the system and break out through the skin. That's eczema.
S. S. S. puts the blood back in fighting trim—puts the "pep" back in the blood. Red-blood-cells destroy the impurities—purify the system. Eczema, boils, pimples, blotches, blackheads, rashes and other skin eruptions vanish—leaving the skin clear, cool and healthy.
Thousands have dried up eczema with S. S. S. Just try it. Get S. S. S. at your druggist. Ask him for the larger bottle. It's more economical.
