GENOA CONFERENCE OVERFLOW MEET AT HAGUE FOR PEACE OF WORLD

Experts Will Further Examine the Russian Problem

U. S. NOT READY

TO RECOGNIZE SOVIET GOVERNMENT UNTIL COUNTRY HAS SETTLED DOWN

(By The Associated Press) GENOA, May 18.—Sir Edward Grigg announced on behalf of the British delegation this afternoon further advice received from the United States government and did not seem likely the United States would participate in the Hague meeting at least until scope of meeting was better understood.

GENOA, May 16.—Non-aggression pact adopted unanimously at plenary session of political sub-commission of Genoa conference today. Pact was not signed but adopted in form of resolution. Each state pledging itself to respect it.

GENOA, May 18.—The Hague has been definitely selected as the meeting place for the experts who will further examine the Russian problem, it was announced last night. Arrangements for the Hague conference in June were practically completed with yesterday's acceptance by the Russians of the proposals submitted to them, which have been amended so as to provide that a truce between the various powers will continue for a maximum of eight months.

A meeting of the full political commission of the conference will be held this morning and the final plenary session probably on Friday. Premier Lloyd George hopes to start for England Friday afternoon.

The process verbal relating to the Lloyd George plan for dual commissions to meet at the Hague which was presented to the Russians on Monday last was adopted with an annex. With the amendments carried today by the sub-commission it will be sent to Washington probably with a letter of the secretary of the Genoa conference which is likely to be considered today at a meeting of the full political commission.

A second important amendment to the document provides that the truce will continue to operate for a period of four months after adjournment of the Hague meeting.

This extension is considered a victory for Lloyd George because it provides more time for the consummation of the permanent non-aggression pact into which he hopes the truce will be merged.

After a conference with Mr. Lloyd George, M. Barthou and M. Jasper announced that the French and Belgian delegates approved yesterday's proceedings but must refer the whole matter to their home governments for ratification. When asked last night whether France intended to participate in the Hague meeting, the French spokesman answered that it was too early to say.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Any question of the recognition by the United States of the Russian soviet government lies beyond the time when restoration of productivity in Russia shall have been set in motion by that country itself, according to an authoritative and plainly spoken outline of this government obtained yesterday. Refusal to participate both in the Genoa conference and in the proposed commission consideration of Russian affairs at the Hague, it was added, was based on the conviction that such a restoration could not be hoped for under the terms outlined in the Russian memorandum of May 11 at Genoa.

In the meantime it was explained, the United States is ready to embark with other powers on any purely scientific investigation of conditions in Russia with a view to recommendation as to steps necessary for the commercial, financial and industrial revival of that country; but it will have no part in any deliberations which even imply a recognition of the soviet regime and would thus tend to "perpetuate delusions" among the Russian people.

MAN CAUGHT BY KANSAS CITY AUTHORITIES

WHO IS ALLEGED TO HAVE SWINDLED PEOPLE AT DAYTONA

(By The Associated Press) KANSAS CITY, May 18.—Postal authorities late last night arrested a man here in connection with what they said extensive swindling scheme conducted at Daytona, Florida. Man was held for investigation, no charges preferred. A Cleveland man, it was stated, lost $120,000 in an alleged swindle.

DAYTONA, Fla., May 18.—As far as can be learned, no report was ever made here of the fleeing of a Cleveland man of $120,000.

Georgia Girl Killed, Was Rural Carrier—Attacked by Negroes

Assailants Have Been Captured and Will Be "Faced Out"

(By The Associated Press) SANDERSVILLE, Ga., May 18.—Mrs. Mills Kitchen, 18, was shot and killed today at a lonely spot on the public highway about five miles from Davisboro. Officers said the crime was committed by two negroes. Posses are scouring the country for the suspected slayers.

Mrs. Kitchen was a rural mail carrier and had stopped to put mail in a box at a farm house when the negroes attacked her. The negroes escaped in her automobile but are reported to have been captured this afternoon when the car broke down near Riddleville. Report added that a mob are preparing to lynch them.

WOMEN ARE ADMITTED TO BOARD MEMBERSHIPS SOUTHERN BAPTIST MEETING

Change in Constitution Adopted After a Spirited Debate

JACKSONVILLE, May 18.—Women will be admitted to membership on executive committee and various boards of the Southern Baptist convention here today. A change in the constitution adopted after a spirited disapproval from Dr. J. W. Porter, Louisville, who quoted Apostle Paul's abjuration of women speaking in church. "We have started on a down grade and time will come when women will preside over this convention," he said. A change in the constitution does not provide for any specific number of women on the executive committee and boards, as asked in memorial for woman's missionary union, but leaves number to be determined from year to year. Action on the proposal preceded reports on foreign missions and home education. The Baptists adopted report which termed Darwin evolution theory "not science at all but just theory."

HISTORIC HOSPITAL DESTROYED BY FIRE AT ROME TODAY—16 PATIENTS' BODIES FOUND

Santo Spirito Hospital Was Founded in Twelfth Century by Pope Innocent III

ROME, May 18.—A disastrous fire swept the historic hospital of Santo Spirito, one of the most picturesque and ancient charitable institutions in Rome today. Sixteen bodies were recovered from the burning ruins at 7:30 this morning. Institution accommodates nearly 5,000 patients and includes hospital, lunatic asylum, foundling home and refuge for aged and infirm. Flames originated at midnight in the laundry. Insignificant at first but spread rapidly to neighboring wards, each containing thirty chronic or infirm patients, who became panic stricken. Wooden beams collapsed burying twenty chronic patients. Rescuers rushed through the fire and smoke and brought out twelve but all were dead from suffocation. Santo Spirito was founded in the twelfth century by Pope Innocent III.

SMITH WOULD REVISE THE STATE ROAD DEPARTMENT INTO EFFICIENT ORGANIZATION

And Under the Head of One Competent Commissioner Instead of Five

The recommendation that the present road department law which provides for a commission of five members to supervise highway construction in the state be amended and that a department of highways under the supervision of one commissioner be created replacing the present commission was made yesterday by Hon. M. M. Smith, a former chairman of the state road department and a recognized authority on highway construction.

Mr. Smith also advocated the use of the best materials obtainable in building Florida's roads, declaring that it was "penny wise and pound foolish" to build highways with cheap material under present traffic conditions. He made the following statement to a reporter for the Sentinel:

"Florida has reached a stage in development when cheap roads will no longer carry the burden of traffic which they are now called upon to carry, in the shape of heavy tonnage on trucks, to say nothing of the heavy passenger car with its speed. The day has come when practically all short hauls of merchandise and freight of all kinds are carried on trucks and it is not an uncommon thing to see a two and a half to five ton truck loaded to the brim, going over our roads from fifteen to twenty-five miles per hour.

"Within the past five years especially, the nation has been discussing the road problem. It is strange but true that it often takes a great calamity to arouse the people to a true sense of their needs. The road question was brought forcibly to the attention of the American people by the great world war, which showed not only the needs for substantial highways, but the benefits as well to any county, state, or nation.

"The day of the sand-clay road, the rock road, and the 9-foot road for trunk line highways is a thing of the past. It is true these types of road served their day and did a herculean task, but the traffic of today alone, to say nothing of the future traffic, is too heavy a burden for them to bear, and it is a "penny wise and pound foolish" man who says: "Let's build cheaper roads, let's get two miles where we have been getting one," and calling upon the bureau of public roads at Washington to modify its specifications. It is not cheaper roads nor narrower roads, but wider, more substantial, and better roads that Florida as well as every other state in the nation needs, for the roads are to be called upon to carry the ever increasing tonnage which is necessary.

"There are those who favor the district plan in state road building, just as the old one prevails in counties today—five districts, and every member, not only on the boards of county commissioners, but every member of the state road department trying to get all he can for his 'district'."

"I am convinced thoroughly that if over a state wide system of trunk line roads is to be a reality, or if this is to come in any reasonable length of time, some other plan than that now in effect will have to be put into operation. My own opinion, and this too after very careful thought and consideration, not only of the dangers but the benefits as well of this plan, is that a more effective and efficient road department would be the abolishment of the present plan of five members and the creation of a department of highways, with the office of highway commissioner, and then let the legislature provide a salary commensurate with the duties to be performed and the re-

Kiwanians Had Great Time Yesterday

The regular luncheon of the Kiwanis Club held at the Valdez yesterday was a humdinger. The boys were all there full of pep and glister and wanted everybody to know it.

Kiwanian Connelly reported the results of the Waterways hearing at Titusville Tuesday, and assured the club that ere long the Kiwanians could be the guest of the Captain of the Majestic, largest liner afloat, when she tied up at the city dock in Lake Monroe.

Kiwanians Swope, Russel and Walsman are headed for the International Convention at Toronto. It is needless to say that these gentlemen will adequately represent Sanford and will bring the Sanford Club standing before the International.

Mr. Phillips, of Lake Mary, ably assisted by Mr. Ball, also of Lake Mary, were guests of the Club and told the boys about Lake Mary, and what was being done at Lake Mary. Mr. Phillips said that "Some people did not know where Lake Mary was or how to get there, but that all roads lead to Lake Mary" and that there would be seventy-five new houses going up there before the close of next season.

Mr. Scoggin was the speaker of the day and occupied the full ten minutes with a splendid talk on "Florida, the greatest State, and Sanford the Greatest City in Florida." Kiwanian Scoggin gave many incidents of what was being done in other states, and how Sanford and Florida, were outdoing them.

Prof. Lawton, of the Educational Committee, spoke on suggestion of Secretary Davis that all immigrants be registered.

At this juncture Ed. Lane received a telegram which he asked permission to read. The telegram follows:

"Bingville, Ga.

"Mr. Ed. Lane,

"Sanford.

"Understand Kiwanian Jno. Dean will take unto himself one wife on or about June 15th; that said wife will be a great comfort to Johnnie and will assure a regular and prompt attendance at all Kiwanis meetings, etc.

"CORN COB JIM."

Doc Dean was asked for a speech, and responding admitted that the accusation was true.

Ralph Wigh will speak for weeks from yesterday.

TIPPLES BLOWN UP AT COAL MINES NEAR TURTLE CREEK

415 Votes Cast for Bonds and 53 Against the Bonds

RATIO OF 8 TO 1

ELECTION WAS VERY QUIET ONE BUT LARGE VOTE WAS POLLED

Bonds for city improvements to the amount of $625,000 were carried here yesterday in a ratio of about 8 to 1 for the bonds. The official figures in the election were 415 votes for the bonds and 53 against the bonds which was about the number of votes that the wise ones figured would be cast against them. There is rarely ever a big vote on any bonding proposition. The average citizen thinks the bonds will be carried whether he votes or not and he is usually disposed to allow the other fellow to carry the bond issue without him. This is true of all election for bonds in all communities. It was surprising to the majority of the people here last night to learn that so many had voted in the bond election. There are about 1,500 voters in the city. Out of this number there were 662 that had not paid their poll taxes or in other words there were 938 that could vote out of which only 460 did vote and considering the vote polled it was one of the largest that has ever voted on a bond issue considering the population.

There was but very little demonstration over the bond issue the facts and figures being presented to the voters in the Herald and in circulars and the streets to be improved were all given with the amount of money to be expended. The $625,000 in bonds really means that the people voted for public improvements yesterday the sum of $290,000. Outstanding warrants will be taken up in the sum of $35,000, making a total of $325,000. Abutting property owners will pay the sum of $300,000 back to the city for these improvements thus making up the total issue for bonds yesterday of $625,000.

The bonds are for new streets, sewers, a municipal pier on the lake, boat basin and many other improvements needed here including a library building.

There was some opposition to the bond issue just as there is opposition to all bond issues and there is opposition to every candidate that aspires to an office. People have the right to vote for bonds and against bonds just as their fancy dictates and no bond issue was ever carried unanimously. The bond issue in Sanford that will come as near being unanimous will be the one for municipal ownership that will come later and will carry by the largest majority that any bond issue ever had in the south. These bonds will be levied against the municipal plants and not against the city although the bonds will be secured by the vote of the people of Sanford.

Discounting The Count. A Count used to be a man in charge of a count of 500 persons to whom he was a sort of overlord. This is not true today because of altered political conditions. We still have Counts, but the Count business has changed somewhat. Business, of all kinds, has undergone something of a revolution. It was not so many years ago that pack peddlers were the sole distributors and transporters of many of the household articles of the day. Their legs set the limits for most distribution problems in those days. Modern transportation, progressive sales methods—and advertising—have broken the shackles of time. They make a speedy job of what used to take years. Through advertising many an article has been introduced simultaneously in stores all over the country. Advertising today is the method used by business to tell you why you should have certain goods and how to identify those goods. The advertisements you find here are a truthful catalog of needed merchandise. Articles of all kinds and for all purposes are presented in a pleasant way through the medium of type and picture. The outstanding requirements of every member of the family are met by offers of good merchandise of proved value. Use the advertisements for guidance and you will be a constant gainer.

WEATHER BUREAU HAS ISSUED INSTRUCTIONS RE RADIO FORECASTS

With its work made nationally possible in the first place by the land wire telegraph, it is but natural that the government weather bureau has taken to radio with as great, if not greater, zeal as any other department. Their warning bulletins, reports, etc., sent out to mariners when the ship wireless was but an elementary affair has become, with the years, an organized cooperative affair that makes navigation more safe than ever before.

Beginning April 11 of this year, however, a new leaf was turned over by the department by way of re-planning its service and a broader service than ever was put into effect. The increasing popularity of aircraft together with recent startling advances in radio has made this necessary and, at the same time, possible.

A. J. Mitchell, meteorologist, and climatologist in charge of the Florida bureau, has issued a table of instructions for the benefit of those who get their weather reports via either route. It has mostly to do with the condensation of messages in code form to facilitate transmission, and the wise skipper will see that his radio force is furnished with a copy.—Times-Union.

SMITH WOULD REVISE STATE ROAD DEPARTMENT INTO EFFICIENT ORGANIZATION

responsibilities which would devolve upon the individual filling this office. Then seek the man, the business man, broad-minded, capable, and thoroughly competent to fill the position of highway commissioner; let him come from Florida or wherever he may be found, give him authority to employ all engineering and other help necessary, and tell him to "go to it and build roads." Of course I do not mean to take the bride off, but make him responsible and compelled to report to the governor once each month, all of the doings of his department. Let the state see to it that his books are audited once each month. Let him be under a heavy bond, and let the governor have authority to remove him, with the consent of the senate, for sufficient cause. This, in my opinion, is the only way in which we will ever have a department of roads to function properly. Some one will say that this will be one-man rule, but not so, for he will be subject to removal for a proper cause by the chief executive of the state.

"As sure as fate some one must be entrusted with the road building of the state, and when this some one is made responsible and under a sufficient bond, he will make good, and Florida will be the beneficiary.

"During the last two or three sessions of congress there was a bill pending for the creation of a national highway commission, the duties of which commission would be to build national highways, but whether or not the building of such system should be undertaken by the National government direct or whether it would be better to work through the different state highway departments, connecting trunk line roads of the different states, is a matter for the congress to determine.

"Personally I believe a national highway commission should be appointed for the sole purpose of designating, laying out, and building a system of national roads, east and west, north and south, across the continent; at the same time I am greatly in favor of the government continuing federal aid to the states, through state road departments, as is now carried out under existing federal law.

"I heartily approve of the efforts of the Road Department to complete Road No. 2 from the Georgia line to Lake City, and Road No. 1 from Lake City to Jacksonville, for these two links in the system are also keynote into South Florida and down the East Coast, as well as going west from Lake City, until such time as it is possible to complete Road No. 2, which will be shorter than via Lake City and Jacksonville into South Florida by 60 miles."—Orlando Sentinel.

EXPENSE STATEMENTS MAILED IN TIME SAY THE CANDIDATES

TALLAHASSEE, May 15.—(Special).—Congressman Herbert J. Drane is a qualified candidate for renomination before the June primary.

When it became known Saturday morning that Congressman Drane's first statement of campaign expenses had not been received at the office of the secretary, it seemed that perhaps his failure had disqualified him. However, the secretary of state received the statement in this afternoon's mail. The postmark on the envelope showed that the letter was mailed at Lakeland, May 11, and but for the fact that it was transmitted by registered mail, would have been received in Tallahassee yesterday.

The same applies to J. H. Swink of Miami, candidate for state attorney for the eleventh judicial circuit. His statement was also received this afternoon and was postmarked May 11.

J. H. Jones of Orlando, candidate for state attorney of the seventeenth judicial circuit, wired the secretary of state that he had mailed his statement, at Orlando, on the eleventh, but had heard that the same had not been received. In reply the secretary of state telegraphed him to mail a duplicate, together with his affidavit that the original was properly mailed on the eleventh.

This disposes of all delayed statements except Judge Charles O. Andrews of Orlando, candidate for renomination as circuit judge of the seventeenth circuit. Attorneys point out that section 5933, Revised General Statutes, provides that a candidate failing to file the required statement forfeits his right to have his name on the official ballot at either the primary or the general election, but since Judge Andrews is without opposition, his name would not appear on the primary ballot and since he is a candidate for an appointive office, as a matter of course, his name would not appear on the general election ballot. His statement has not been received.

SANFORD IS GROWING

"SPURLING'S SUBDIVISION" is attracting attention—lots are being sold right along and building in this section is such as to gladden the heart of those who have the good of Sanford at heart.

This is no idle talk—I have weighed the statement and to say just what is my candid convictions would put it most too strong for the careful, conservative person—that person whose eyes are turned backward—the fellow who has VISION will agree with me now—the other later.

GENERAL DAWES' CAMOUFLAGE "SAVINGS"

WASHINGTON, May 16.—In an effort to save the Republican Congress at the polls this fall, the administration has set Brigadier General "Hell and Maria" Dawes to work with pencil and paper to "save" money for campaign camouflage.

Brigadier General Dawes bears the same relation to the political finances of the administration that Brigadier General Sawyer bears to the military effluence.

Last January, President Harding announced that $180,000,000 had been saved during the first six months of the present fiscal year, basing his claim upon the statement of Brigadier General Dawes, the Director of the Budget.

On February 9, Representative Byrns of Tennessee, introduced a resolution asking the President to give some details of the alleged savings.

On the 8th of the present month the report of the Director of the Budget in response to this resolution was published in the newspapers, with no notice whatever to Congress as to what it contained until the Members read it in the newspapers.

Like the colored widow, whose mourning outfit included a complete suit of black underwear, because, as she announced "when I mourns I mourns," General Dawes in his report of "savings" alleging a reduction in expenditures from 1921 of $1,000,000,000, shows that "when he saves he saves."

As representative Byrns of Tennessee points out, savings by the administration can only consist of funds which have not been expended out of the appropriations previously made by Congress for governmental purposes during the fiscal year, and which Congress believed to be sufficient to carry on the routine operations of the Government.

He then shows that Congress actually appropriated $292,733,910.74 to meet deficiencies incurred by the executive departments for 1922, and calls attention to a letter written by Secretary Mellon on April 14, stating that there would have been a large deficit had he not determined to postpone payment of some $200,000,000 of obligations due until the next fiscal year.

Concerning the claim of "savings" for the ordinary routine of the government, Mr. Byrns says, "a casual analysis shows that they are plainly deceptive."

The reduction in ordinary expenditures for routine business of government, generally subject to executive control in 1922 as compared to 1921, will be in the neighborhood of $907,500,000, according to General Dawes' report.

Mr. Byrns points out that in this statement General Dawes takes credit for the following reductions: Army expenses, $712,500,000; naval expenditures, over $192,000,000; shipping board, $56,500,000; amounting to $961,431,617.16, "thus showing by his own figures," says Mr. Byrns, "that the actual expenditures have been increased rather than decreased."

In 1921 there was an army of over 500,000 men and a very large navy, and there were also large war hangovers in 1921 which were dispensed with in 1922. "It is ridiculous," says Mr. Byrns, "to say that the administration is entitled to take credit for its reduction to something like a peacetime basis."

One interesting phase of General Dawes' report is that it shows that the President has increased the expenditures of his own office over what they were in 1921. It should be remembered too, as Mr. Byrns points out, that the appropriations in 1921 were made by a Republican Congress.

Fish and Game Will Be Protected in Seminole County

Looks Like Closed Season of Three Years as Result of Meet Last Night

Fish and game will be protected in Seminole county in the future if the plans of the Seminole County Fish and Game Protective Association are carried out. This much was apparent last night at the meeting held in the court house with President James Lee in the chair and Vance Douglass, acting secretary.

Hon. Forest Lake and Hon. O. P. Swope, candidates for the legislature, were called upon to express their views on the subject and their decision as to where they stood upon the questions of illegal hunting and the selling of fish. Both gentlemen expressed themselves as being in favor of a closed season if possible and that whatever the association would see fit to frame into a bill for fish and game protection they would pass it if a local bill and see that it was made into a law.

Vance Douglass, chairman of the committee on laws, when called upon for a report stated that his committee was not ready with their bill but would have it in plenty of time and they were investigating the game laws of Pennsylvania that has the best fish and game laws in this country. The chair appointed the following committee to meet with the Wild Game League in Orlando June 14th: Whoever was elected representative and Douglass, Householder, Leonard, Yowell and Holly.

The following gentlemen called upon for short talks responded and declared themselves in favor of protection for the fish and game: D. L. Thrasher, P. J. Feitner of Osceola, Dr. Thompson of Oviedo, E. H. Kilbee of Geneva, John Leonard, Sheriff Hand and J. J. Dickinson.

A ballot of those present was taken at the close of the meeting of all who favored a closed season for fish and game and it was carried by a large majority and it is almost certain that the association in their bill to be framed will make it unlawful to hunt or to seine in Seminole county for three years.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good drugist and use it like a cold cream.—Adv.

OVIEDO

Rev. J. N. Thompson and R. W. Lawton are attending the Baptist convention in Jacksonville this week. S. W. Swope has improved his place by the installment of a Delco light and water plant.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hancock spent Mother's Day with Mr. Hancock's parents at Oakland.

The first concert to be given by the Oviedo Orchestra was on May 11th, at the school house, under the efficient leadership of Mr. E. A. Ball and assisted by the Legion Saxophone Band of Sanford, a very creditable program was given. The Orchestra was organized five months ago with only four of its seventeen members ever having played their instruments before. Seven of the members could not read music at all and some of them felt that they were "too old to learn" but some progress has been made and the people of Oviedo as well as the members of the Orchestra feel rather proud of what has been accomplished and hope to have a real orchestra before 1923.

The only discouraging feature of Thursday evening's performance was that the Saxophone Band, which had only been organized two months could furnish better music than the Orchestra after five months effort. The music of the Saxophone Band was greatly enjoyed and appreciated by the Oviedo people and the members of the Orchestra. Special numbers on program were cornet solo by Master John Shirard, three Zillophone numbers by Robson and sister and a reading by Miss Carter of Sanford.

Mrs. G. S. Brown of Golden Rod, Fla., gave two splendid readings which were appreciated and greatly applauded by the audience while the vocal solo by Mrs. C. L. West of Oviedo was as greatly received. Mrs. West's encore was especially sweet and beautifully rendered and brought forth as much applause as the first number. Owing to the fact that it was the Orchestra's first public appearance and not knowing just what to expect, whether some of the members would faint from stage fright and interrupt the program, only the small admission of thirty-five cents was charged, so very little success attended the performance from a financial standpoint. After the concert light refreshments of cream and cake were served to the performers by the orchestra under the supervision of Mrs. S. W. Swope and Mrs. W. E. Young.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Vern Sley spent Tuesday in Orlando.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Wright, Jr., and little daughter Ruth Gene spent several days last week visiting their parents.

Mrs. W. B. Englett and baby returned last week from a visit to Atlanta, Ga. They were met in Jacksonville by Mr. Englett who accompanied them home.

Mrs. Ruth Young and Virginia Wright and R. R. Wright attended the Christian Endeavor Convention in Lakeland last week.

The annual Missionary program of the Baptist church was given Sunday morning. The program consisted of songs and recitations by the little folks and missionary pageants by the older members of the Sunday School. The program was splendidly gotten up and so well rendered that the directors deserve the many congratulations they received.

On Monday night, May 15th, the Oviedo band was re-organized under the leadership of C. L. Lee with Vern Slay as Director. At the first meeting there were about ten members present, but three or four others have expressed a desire to join since Monday night. The band expects to be ready to play for the annual May picnic which will be held just after school closes.

R. M. W. Sturdivant spent Sunday with relatives in Orlando.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lawton spent Tuesday in Orlando.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Wheeler were visitors to Sanford Tuesday.

W. B. Williams spent Sunday with his family in Oviedo.

ABOLISH CLIQUES

In olden days, St. Petersburg was a village. Villages thrive upon small-town talk and the formation of cliques and crowds that run together and work together against other cliques and crowds.

There remains in St. Petersburg until this later day of its expansion into a city some of these old cliques and old enmities, born in the day when St. Petersburg was a village. Thank our lucky stars these cliques and enmities are few and of little effect upon the civic life of the city. Thank our stars again that some of them are tottering on their last legs.

Today St. Petersburg has reached that stage of its development wherein men may disagree and oppose each other in organized effort upon this or that program of public activity and when its over and the fight is won or lost there remain no personal enmities and no iron-bound cliques, which forever and a day must oppose whatever the other cliques propose or advocate.

No. St. Petersburg sees almost daily new alignments of men, thinking and acting independently or in groups, the personnel of which changes as the movements for public good change. It is well that this is true and that men can be men enough to forget the old fights and begin the new, regardless of who may be lined up with them in what they think right.

And that's the only thing St. Petersburg men ever battle for or about—the proper and best method to go ahead.

The men who do not want to go ahead have been left by the wayside—their influence is nil.

So long as we can disagree upon the basic idea of going ahead, there is no fear that these disagreements will be fatal. It takes just such things as these to bring about healthy growth instead of the rank weed kind that results when there is no opposing force to keep the growth directed toward the promising future.

Men of St. Petersburg, keep this new spirit! Men of St. Petersburg, forget the practices of the village days!

Let's go ahead battling for what we think is the proper method of progress, but let's evade the cliques and crowds of the days of yesterday!

—St. Petersburg Times.

NOW FOR A BIG CITY

Sanford voted bonds yesterday for $625,000 for new streets, for sewers, for a municipal pier and boat basin and for many other improvements greatly needed here and improvements that will mean a city of ten thousand people here in the next two years. This bond issue was carried by such a handsome majority that it is a cause for congratulation to the man and women of Sanford who have a vision of the future greatness of Sanford. The bond issue was carried by a ratio of eight to one which will have a big bearing in the bond market when it comes to selling the bonds for these figures mean that a big majority of the people of Sanford are in favor of bonds for improvements such as those contemplated. There were 54 people on the other hand who did not think that Sanford should take on any more indebtedness and thought perhaps that the city was large enough, that the people had enough streets and sewers and that the lake front did not need any pier or boat basin, that tourists were not desirable and were well content to let the place drift along as it has for the past ten years. They were honest in their convictions and had a perfect right to vote as they pleased. On the other hand the vote and the present spirit manifested in Sanford means that the old days are over, that the city must advance and expand if it is to become the largest city in this part of the state, that many good people on the west side must have paved streets and that they have never had any, that the suburbs growing as rapidly as they are must be served with streets and sewers and they are entitled to this service, that if the St. Johns river is to get deeper water and become the Inland Waterway of Florida Sanford must have adequate docking facilities and have a fine concrete pier that will have two approaches for autos, trucks and other service. That if tourists are to come here with their yachts in the winter and in the summer Sanford must have a boat basin, a library building is needed here and many other improvements that can only be made through a bond issue.

The biggest thing about Sanford at the present time is that the city is growing as fast or faster than any city of this size in the entire south. The greatest asset of this city at present is the great feeling of optimism that permeates the entire citizenship and that has spread to other parts of the country until now you cannot meet anyone anywhere that is not talking about the city of Sanford and the wonderful prospects of this city. For the past three years this city has been constricted in population on account of the lack of houses and business blocks and office buildings. The people wanted to come here but could not get accommodations. Now these houses and store rooms and office buildings will be built and the suburbs will come into their own with the needed improvements. People will not hesitate to go farther out to build their homes now for they will have all the conveniences of the city and Sanford will grow as never before in every part of the city. The bond issue being voted at the ratio of eight to one will have a great effect on the entire state of Florida and will be heralded far and near as one of the big achievements of a Florida city of seven thousand inhabitants.

Sanford had a fine system of paved streets and was among the pioneer cities of the state having some of the first brick paved streets that were put down in Florida. With the improvements in this respect to be made here in the next six months Sanford will have the finest system of paved streets of any city in the state, will have a perfect sewer system, will have a 60,000 municipal pier that will be as good as any city of twenty-five thousand can boast and will have many other improvements that will place Sanford in the front ranks of the progressive cities of the south.

INCREASE IN GAS PRICES: THE SENATE INVESTIGATES

Gasoline is a universal commodity. It is the backbone of modern methods of transportation and an invaluable force in the hands of man in carrying in his various industrial and agricultural activities. Until a satisfactory and cheaper substitute is discovered, gasoline will be classed as one of the essential necessities. At present there is nothing to take its place—that is, in a comparative sense, taking into consideration the eternal problems of maximum service for minimum cost. Therefore, the rise in the price of gasoline affects everybody, in one way or another. Especially is this true in the United States where the commodity is used to the extent of millions of gallons daily. This country consumes by far greater quantities of gas than all the countries of the earth combined. It naturally follows everybody is interested in the investigation ordered by the Senate to determine whether a conspiracy exists among big oil producers to gouge the public, and the quicker the investigation is carried out and the results announced more general will be the satisfaction expressed; for if the investigation is a long drawn out affair, as the majority of similar investigations are, the public will conclude it is nothing more than a white-washing process. What the public is interested in is the price of gasoline, which has been on the incline for several weeks and is still headed skyward. The increase can hardly be charged to the retailers and wholesalers, and recognizing this the Senate is aiming at the sources of supply, where in all probability the trouble lies. The "small fellows" do not gain by an increase—the percentage of their profits seldom varies, and keen competition causes them to favor the lowest possible prices. Nothing keeps prices stabilized as well as competition, which is to be found in the wholesale and retail fields of the gasoline business in an intensified form, but this competition counts for nothing as far as the public is concerned if the big producers have reached an "agreement."—Jacksonville Metropolis.

BANK ADVERTISING.

Bank advertising is a form of publicity that does more good to the community as a community than that of any other business or profession. It is always a pleasure for us to print the statements of conditions as called for by the State and Federal governments, and which invariably shows substantial growth of Clermont's two fine banks.

In the advertising columns of this issue of the Press, we are printing the statement of the First State Bank of Clermont as called for by the Comptroller on Friday, May 5. These statements are required of every bank and are asked unannounced at different periods throughout the year, in order that the public, as well as the Comptroller, may keep informed as to the different bank's condition.

We have often wondered if Florida bankers themselves realized what a tremendous influence the publication of these statements have had in the development of the state. In many of the larger cities the banks use liberal space in newspapers to show their strength and growth and in that respect Clermont has come in for her full share of publicity.

Recently the publishers of the Press received a letter from Noah M. V. Gerig, one of the most successful farmers in northern Indiana, a man who has accumulated a comfortable fortune by hard work and consistent banking and one who has probably won more prizes at county fairs than any other we know of. In acknowledgment receipt of copies of the Press, Mr. Gerig writes:

"We received the papers you sent and read every page and every advertisement, too. We note by the large increase in the Banks' business that your section looks very good."

And as the Florida Metropolis says, "With Florida reported as being in the best economic condition of any state in the Union by the bank examiners of the Federal Reserve System; with the acknowledged best climate in the world and just on the verge of a glorious Florida summer; with the fish biting, the oleanders in full bloom, and the mocking birds splitting their throats in song, why should we worry? The sun shines in the heavens, the governments at Washington and Tallahassee still live and peace reigns."

And this reminds us of the great value of banks to the community in other ways than lending money and helping in a business way. They constantly try to impress on the public that making money and keeping money are different, for in the end it is the money you save that does you the most good—therefore start a savings account where you know your money is safe. Banks really pay you to save your money and compound this payment quarterly. It has been quite forcefully demonstrated that the safest place to keep money, more than is needed for pocket change, is in a bank, as a Jacksonville woman recently learned who had stolen from her $300 which was hid under a mattress. But the Jacksonville woman is not alone in that matter. Hundreds hide money and often the savings of a life time melt away because some one steals it or the money is destroyed by fire. Others will tuck the money under a rug, beneath some clothing in a dresser, behind a picture or in the sugar bowl. As a matter of fact, all of these hiding places are standard ones and are first examined by a thief who knows even the first principles of getting others' valuables. If a bank is robbed, the depositor will be protected. A check book will take the place of ready cash and if it is lost or stolen, it can be easily replaced.—Clermont Press.

ALL CHILDREN SHOULD "PASS."

As schools come to the end of their year's work, efficient teachers are planning to "pass" as many children as possible. The genuinely efficient teacher does not have a large percentage of delinquents in her classes and such a teacher can always tell the really delinquent child from the one who has dawdled or who has been handicapped by former poor teaching, by misbehavior, or by ill health.

Sometimes it is difficult for a teacher to handle some grading situations. A child may have done such poor work all the year that his grades are far below passing marks. On examination days his teacher knows that he cannot possibly make a high enough grade, from ten questions on a subject, to bring up his marks to a passing point. And yet the teacher knows full well that it would be better for the boy to go along with his class and make a new start in a new grade. She knows that so many of the boys on the streets, and in the reformatories, are boys who didn't pass.

Just what to do in cases of this sort is sometimes a puzzle. A teacher who must conform to iron-bound rules for passing averages and passing "marks" is frequently compelled to do a boy, or girl, grave injury. She is not permitted to promote him, or her, even on probation (in some schools) and if she is a teacher of genuine ability, she knows that her failure to "pass" a child may mean the ruin of that child's life!

On the other hand there are occasionally children who have a knack of getting good grades who are not ready for advancement. Often such children are acquiring only a smattering of things, or are too immature for the class ahead, or are physically unfit for hurrying through school.

Here is a problem that can only be handled through the cooperation of the child's parents. And it is seldom that parents have sense enough to be willing for their child to be "held back" a year.

Justice, of course, is the important—and the rare—thing. The rule should be for every child to "pass" unless it is honestly believed that it is essential for him to repeat the year's work or that it is best for his mental, and spiritual, development to do so.—Miami Metropolis.

FLORIDA IS ALL RIGHT

Ignorance says: "Wouldn't give an acre of Illinois dirt for the hull state of Florida." You've either heard that remark or have read of some fool making it. In the Tampa Tribune of Monday of this week appears an item from Palmetto which states that the tomato crop of that section will bring in a million dollars this season. More than 10,000 acres were planted to tomatoes in that section, which includes Terra Ceia, Bradentown, Ellington, Manatee, Manasota and Manavista, Palmetto being the gateway through which all these cars go and where they are counted. Another item published lately was in regard to strawberries from the Plant City section, 2,125,500 quarts having been shipped during the season just ended and which brought the growers $706,000 at the depot platform. Both of these sections also ship thousands of car loads of citrus fruit and vegetables during the year, making them prosperous, ready money communities. U. S. Comptroller of Currency Crissinger recently stated to the assembled bankers of Florida that Florida was better off financially than any state in the Union and now E. A. Poole, national bank examiner for the Atlanta district says that Florida conditions are better than in any state in the Union. "The citrus and truck crops have been splendid, with satisfactory prices, and therefore, the situation in that state is probably the best of any state in the country," were his words, yet countless fools will in time come make the above remark. At the same time the wise men are gathering in the orange groves at such a rate that prices are bound to go skyward. The catastrophe in California and the resulting high prices for Florida oranges this year and the probable continuance of such prices because of California's continued crippled production is the reason for the great demand for orange groves.

WHY NOT MORE CANNERIES?

Waste is carefully eliminated in all large industries—waste of material, of labor and of time. It is by this means that many a business expands to huge proportions on a percentage of profits so small that it would ruin an enterprise conducted carelessly. The great stockyards are proverbial examples of flourishing business built up on minute savings of materials, labor and time.

Only the farmer is careless of such wastes. The ripe, over-ripes and misshapen products of his fields have cost him as much effort, fertilizer, seed, etc., as those he sends to the market, yet return no profit. After prices for any crop decline below the line of profit he lets them lie and rot. He cannot help it, if he has not the means at hand to secure a profit from products of these classes—those which are unmarketable.

If he could send them to some cannery in or near his neighborhood they might add something to his profits from his fields. He would have only the cost of gathering and transporting them to the cannery. All the expense of raising the crop is paid for in the returns from his shipments to the market. He could send all of his products of that nature to the cannery after it had ceased to be profitable to send them to Northern markets and thus the continual ripening of his crops after that time would add to his profits.

The cooperative growers' associations might well consider the advisability of adding co-operative canneries to their activities. By this means many small neighborhood canneries might be established and a scheme whereby they might be united in one large marketing association would give them the benefit of the Florida name, which should be potent in the matter of canned vegetables and fruits as it is in that of fresh vegetables and fruits.

Such canneries might be run most of the year if our farmers would raise more truck crops during the summer. The writer has had a convincing proof that such crops are as much improved when grown under shade in the summer as tobacco is during its season of growth. This is something else that might be experimented with in this connection.—Farm and Live Stock Record.

GROWING OLD GRACEFULLY

We are a witness daily of the effort that is made to conceal by artificial means the advance of age and the marks it leaves on the body. But why should we conceal it, or, rather, try to conceal it? Men and women alike manifest in this way their foolish worry about growing old. If such effort deceived anyone it might be worth while, but for the most part it only serves to make more manifest what is sought to be concealed. Is it not better to grow old naturally, giving tho't to growing old gracefully, striving to preserve youth from within rather than to prevent its counterfeit without? Of all the vanities none is so vain as that which prompts men and women fearing to be old to masquerade in the likeness of youth.

Growing old is something that is inevitable. Therefore, we should not allow the thought of it to become oppressive. The thing to do is to make the best of it, and especially to stop worrying about it. That is the way to peace and contentment, and also to youth perennial.

"The thought of growing old," it has been said, "is chiefly oppressive to those who never grow anything else." Busy people who are striving to create or achieve have little time to borrow trouble about growing old or to study crow's feet in the mirror. Worrying about growing old is among the most foolish of worries. The way not to become old is to refrain from worrying about it. That is not to say some thought should not be given to the problem of growing old, for it is a problem. Growing old is one of the most certain things in life; therefore, it is important that we should grow old in the right way. There is a way to grow old gracefully; a way to grow old without seeming to be old; a way to grow old and still be useful in spirit and purpose; a way to grow old and retain gladness in living. Likewise, there is a wrong way to grow old; a way to make the increasing years burdensome and the sunset of life wretched and clouded; a way to be old and crabbed in mind as well as in the body. Physical old age is in accordance with an unchangeable law of nature, but to be old in spirit is no more than a state of mind, a mental attitude. Physical old age cannot be stayed, but the preservation of mental and spiritual youth is wholly a matter of the will. It all depends upon how it occupies the mind, what use one makes of one's energies, time and opportunities. It all depends upon the interest that one retains in life. If life be ever regarded as an adventure one will have no time to think of growing old. Old age never becomes oppressive to one who is able to feel at the dawning of each new day the thrill of life and living. The truth is that life is a wonderful adventure. Death has been described as the great adventure. The possibilities of life are infinite. One may experience many things in a long life, and still there will remain many things yet to be experienced—more than anyone can hope to accomplish in a lifetime. No two days are alike. One cannot judge what is to be by what has been. The future is every mysterious and alluring; the present never ceases to be fascinating. No one can foretell upon waking in the morning what the day shall unfold, what new interests it shall contain, what new opportunities it shall present. To be eager for life always, to be absorbed in what the world is doing, to be pushing forward, keeping step with militant humanity is to have no time for anxiety about growing old.—Palatka News.

Albert W. Gilchrist is a son of Florida. You are sons and daughters of Florida. Vote for your brother Albert.

No "Mellen's Food" Senator can claim a second term who defeated an able senator for a second term.

"A tree which bringeth forth not good fruit is cut down and cast into the fire." The same is true of a U. S. Senator.

Gilchrist for the Senate—Henry Ford for Mussie Shoals.

Gilchrist is for the better care of all disabled ex-soldiers and ex-sailors and their dependents.

Gilchrist favors amending Federal Aid Laws, to the end that state authorities may prescribe specifications and materials, which would mean more miles of good roads in Florida.

Gilchrist will work for the U. S. to enter the League of Nations, with such reservations as will safeguard the interests of our great country. Peace necessary to prosperity.

Gilchrist is for MORE BUSINESS IN GOVERNMENT and LESS GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS. The U. S. Treasury should not be made the politician's Christmas tree.

The inherent rights of the states and individual citizens must be preserved. Gilchrist is a real Democrat; a plain business man and not a politician. Florida needs him in the U. S. Senate. IIE MADE GOOD AS GOVERNOR; WILL MAKE GOOD AS SENATOR.

the head of Lake Jessup took place, the family are dividing their stock into ten different portions with all stock to be rebranded and numbered according to which member of the family they belong to. Some job, as the Humphrey family are about the largest stock owners in Seminole county.

It will not be many years that there will be any wood land left in the truck land section of East Sanford. At the present time land on Richmond avenue is being cleared on the A. B. Cameron, R. L. Garrison and John Peters places on Cameron road. Joe Cameron, C. F. Williams, W. W. Miller, Fred Walsma and Charles Dunn are clearing and Nick Zernovean has just finished clearing his Beardall avenue land and L. Royce is clearing and J. C. Ellsworth will begin more clearing at once. It had come to the place where more land had to be cleared if the farming section continued to grow as every available bit of land was under cultivation this season.

We had another fine little rain here Wednesday night, which is thankfully appreciated.

MAY SEEK LARGE FUND TO OBTAIN WATERWAY HELP

SLIGH SUGGESTS CLUB OF 5,000 MEMBERS TO ORGANIZE CONGRESSIONAL CAMPAIGN

Organization of an Inland Florida Waterway Club with at least 5,000 members backed by a fund of not less than $50,000 has been suggested by S. J. Sligh, a local shipper, for the purpose of sponsoring waterways legislation, before congress.

Mr. Sligh, who is president of the Central Florida Traffic League, declared yesterday that a plan similar to the foregoing would make realization of inland Florida's demand for deepening of the St. Johns river channel and a supplementary canal system virtually assured. He said that with a fund of $50,000 raised by assessing members ten dollars each, a delegation could be sent to Washington in the interest of the desired legislation and committees would be able to keep in constant touch with every congressman in the country.

"It would certainly be no task at all to raise this amount in the counties that comprise this section of the state," Mr. Sligh said. "Not so long ago," he continued, "the citizens of St. Petersburg subscribed $25,000 to pay the expenses of a delegation in Washington in the interest of obtaining federal aid in deepening the harbor in their city. Inland Florida should be able to raise ten times this amount if necessary, to carry on this work which may be the means of saving millions of dollars."

Mr. Sligh and other local businessmen who attended the hearing before Major Lehman of the government engineering corps in Titusville Tuesday expressed the belief that the figures presented there would eventually serve to bring about favorable action on behalf of inland Florida. It was said by many that the government could hardly be expected to overlook the rich country in the St. Johns river section in the face of the argument presented at Titusville by Judge Bland, Mr. Sligh and other speakers.

The brief submitted at the hearing disclosed the fact that tonnage figures for last year were 1,420,373 incoming and 1,594,600 outgoing and these, it is said, will increase from year to year as population and production becomes greater.—Orlando Sentinel.

ADVERTISE STATE AS A WHOLE, SAYS AMERICAN LEGION

GAINESVILLE, May 15.—The American legion executive committee in session here today, went on record as favoring the idea to advertise the state as a whole and not one or two sections. A proposition was submitted by J. Albert Dew, chairman of the publicity sub-committee, to arrange for space in one of the leading hotels in the Crescent City for the purpose of exhibiting Florida products. This proposed exhibit would include agricultural and mineral exhibits from every part of the state, and would be known as a Florida exhibit and not as a sectional one. The committee decided unanimously, after lengthy discussion to submit the proposition to the various commercial bodies of the state, and a committee was named to confer with the association of commercial secretaries as to their views in the matter.

The committee agreed to a proposal whereby the adjutant is to confer with all state and national legislators, as well as with heads of the various hospitals where ex-service men are undergoing treatment, and request that all complaints against the bureau be referred to the state department of the legion in cases where complaints are justified.

At the noon hour, the committee visited the vocational men at the university, where a splendid address was delivered by Commander Wideman, who assured the vocational students that the legion was squarely behind them, and urged those who had any complaints to make to take their problems up with the legion, pledging them every assistance possible. State adjutant Tom Day of Tampa also delivered an address as did Vice-Commander Halton of the first district.

At the afternoon session, the question of the survey that is now being made to determine the number of veterans in Florida needing hospital attention, was discussed, and an agreement reached to rush this work as rapidly as possible.

The committee voted to cooperate with the citizen's military training camps in urging men to attend. All posts were requested, by the legionnaires in session here to adhere to the ritual in all measures.

The state membership, it was shown at the meeting, now numbers more than $5,000 and it is the plan of the administration to have 10,000 by September 1.

State Adjutant Davis reported that the following cities are entitled to receive certificates of merit for their work in the unemployment drive during the past month: Tampa, Melbourne, Coconut Grove, West Palm Beach, Palatka, Pensacola, St. Augustine, St. Petersburg and Bartow.

The next meeting of the executive committee of the legion goes to Sarasota.

SANFORD'S TEMPERATURE

Everything sitting pretty today. Good rain last night, bonds carried yesterday, improvements will start now, peppers will bring more money next week, old buildings going down and new ones going up, interest on deferred payments only ten per cent, sweet potatoes coming in soon, watermelons only $1.50 apiece, fish are biting—well, there is hardly anything more that could be desired and Sanford is the greatest town in the whole world.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

NOBODY CAN TELL WHEN YOU DARKEN GRAY, FADED HAIR WITH SAGE TEA

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyoth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyoth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Adv.

To the Voters of Seminole County

I AM AGAIN CALLING YOUR ATTENTION TO MY STAND ON CERTAIN ISSUES THAT ARE OF IMPORTANCE, NOT ONLY TO SEMINOLE COUNTY BUT TO THE STATE OF FLORIDA

- 1.—Re-apportionment of our State.
- 2.—Tax Reform.
- 3.—Relief for the Present Financial Condition of our School Fund.
- 4.—A Fish and Game Law that will Protect our Fish and Game. Will Support any Bill Approved by Our Seminole County Fish & Game Protective Association.
- 5.—I Favor a State-Wide No-Fence Law with Referendum Clause that will give ample time for Preparation by Stock Men.

The State Road Department as now being Operated is a Farce and should be Reorganized and placed upon a more business like and practical basis.

I am against State-Wide Bond Issues for the building of roads, unless said bond issues absorb all county bond issues.

There seems to be many rumors or reasons being circulated around the County why Swope should not be sent to the legislature, as follows, to-wit:

- 1.—Because he is a Republican (which I am not).
- 2.—Because he is a Northern Man.
- 3.—Because he is not a Sanford man.
- 4.—Because he is against the American Legion.

In order that the Voters of the County may have an opportunity to become familiar with the issues mentioned above, and to have an answer to the above reasons why they should have, I am ready at any time to meet my opponent to discuss the above issues and reasons, at the Court House or before any organization of the City of Sanford, and in every precinct in Seminole County. Meetings to be arranged by the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee.

SANFORD WON THE DEBATE AT ORLANDO AND WON THE REPORTER-STAR GOLD MEDAL

ORLANDO, May 15.—The Sanford debaters won the inter-high school debate which was contested Friday night by a trio of Orlando's best high school orators, the honor for the best delivered speech going to Miss Margaret J. Gallagher, of Sanford, winner of the Reporter-Star gold medal prize. The debate gathered momentum as it progressed and when the open forum hour came there was just enough interest in the audience, who took part in the discussion as to whether "The Philippines Should Be Given Their Independence Now" to make it exciting.

Miss Florence Henry, of the Sanford High School opened the debate for the affirmative. She was followed by Stanley Goessweln for the negative, who in turn was followed by Miss Alice Runyan. Jas. Bailey was the second speaker for the negative, Miss Margaret J. Gallagher closing for the affirmative and Clyde Ramsey for the negative. Donald Flowers acted as chairman of the meeting.

It had been understood the debate was to be waged by six young men, three for the Orlando High School and three for the Sanford High School. It was therefore a surprise when the speakers were called to the stand to see three of Sanford's most attractive young ladies take their seats to send to defeat Orlando's prize speakers. It has been the practice of the Evening Reporter-Star each year to award a gold medal to the best young lady and young man speaker, so while Sanford won the high school honors, Orlando also captured one of the medal prizes, it going to Clyde Ramsey, who was decided by the three judges, Mrs. Hart and Professor Rose, both of the Rollins College faculty and Dr. Ingram, pastor of the Methodist church of Winter Park, to be the best orator on the negative side.

It was a hard matter for the judges to decide just who to declare the winner, each handled his or her subject so masterly. When the final decision was made Sanford lead by a margin of twenty some points.

Jas. Bailey throw the first local color into the debate when he said in rather an aggressive but dignified voice, "You tell me the Philippines are now ready for independence. In 1915 before our governor general left there they had the best roads in the world, when Governor Woods was sent there not so very long ago these roads had deteriorated to a condition not much better than the roads about Sanford." This produced quite a rattle of laughter among the audience but the Sanford debaters took no notice of the remark. Then later when the contest had ended and the audience was invited to participate in the discussion a little cotton-headed fellow yet in knee trousers rose and asked to be recognized by the chair. "Mr. Chairman," he said, "When the United States gets ready to give the Philippines their independence, they will do it, just as we did for Sanford, (his remarks calling to mind the fight which had been waged between Sanford and Orlando when Seminole county was created out of the northern portion of Orange.) This was a bit too much for the visitors and with quick repartee Miss Florence Henry sprang to her feet. "Mr. Chairman, permit me to say, if you please, when the United States does give them their independence it will be with considerable more grace than Orlando has accorded Sanford." This brought the house down, so to speak, for the Sanford young lady, and ended the discussion.

That these debates are growing in popularity, and that the people of Orlando are showing an increased interest in children school activities is evident from the large attendance of Friday night. The speakers would do credit to any city and both Sanford and Orlando may well be proud of the team who waged for the Reporter-Star prize.—Orlando Reporter-Star.

The official figures confirmed statements made in the senate that present supplies and those of recent months were greater than ever before in the U. S.

Set Fire to Partially Built Apartment House

CHICAGO, May 17.—Open defiance of the efforts of the police to check an outbreak of labor warfare which has terrorized the city for two months was seen last night in a spectacular fire which partially destroyed a seventy-room apartment building under construction at 7711 Sheridan Road, in the heart of a wealthy residence section.

Starting at several points on the first floor, the flame spread rapidly through the $500,000 structure and practically all fire fighting apparatus in the northern section of the city was called before it was brought under control with half the building in ruins.

Workmen on the structure were employed under the Landis wage award, and police declared that the fire was but another step in a campaign of terrorism directed against the award which was made by former Judge Landis sitting as mediator in a wage dispute between the building trades workers and contractors. The award was accepted by the contractors but has been actively opposed by several of the unions which were dissatisfied with its terms.

THE FRUITFUL EVERGLADES

In most parts of the country the merest mention of Florida Everglades lands brings a smile of derision to the face of the hearer.

Years before the state and the federal authorities combined to put the wild catter in Florida lands out of business and in the penitentiary, many a man and woman was induced to put their savings into acres of supposed richness, which proved to be under water, and valueless until drained.

Until drained! That was the key to the whole thing. A few long-headed men saw that it could be done. Some fewer attempted it on a small scale, and succeeded beyond their wildest dreams. When at last Napoleon B. Broward, as governor took up seriously the drainage of the 'glades it became evident that what had been a dream to most, was some day to be a reality of wealth to those who owned lands in that region.

Today, right around the lake itself, about and below Lake Okechohee, around which it was believed that all kinds of horrible reptiles and animals had their home, and that miasmas, and yellow fever, and mosquitoes made it impossible for man to live there, is civilization, cultivation, happiness and contentment. Indeed, so fast is the settlement and development of the lower lake 'glades lands going on that the real problem the only thing hampering progress, is the lack of sufficient transportation facilities to move the harvests of the acres.

Two cities on the east coast are competing for the first railroad across the 'glades. Miami and Palm Beach. It will be touch and go with them when they realize what such a railroad will mean. Indeed, the sooner they realize that both the roads are necessary and will get all the business they can handle, the better for them, and the quicker the roads will be built.

In the Palm Beach Post of recent issue is shown the amount of freight tonnage to date this season, from the acres immediately south of the lake. It is astonishing to read that the lands will have been cultivated there this year have yielded a carload of vegetables or farm products to the acre! That is something few if any other places in the country can show. The figures were collected by Captain Ben Johnson, the man who has had the handling of most of this tonnage in his boats down the canal to Fort Myers, or across the lake to Clewiston, with the aid of the engineers of the proposed railroads from the east coast. They found in actual cultivation around the lower part of Lake Okechohee, 7,500 acres, and the production from that acreage was:

"Potatoes, 125,183 crates; Corn 71,051 bushels; tomatoes, 287,890 crates; beans, 171,360 hampers; peas, 8,730 hampers; cabbage, 7,008 packages; peppers, 8,270 packages; eggplant, 13,401 packages; onions, 12,760 packages; fish, 75 tons; chickens, 5,475; eggs, 1,800 dozen; hogs, 876; and only slightly less quantities of other produce. This is exclusive of the produce for which there was no transportation facilities. This report was from 276 land owners."

This is what the cultivated, drained land of the Everglades is doing. Not what "it will do." And that 7,500 acres in cultivation is so small a part of the whole area available and waiting for the settlers that it looks like the mere scratching of patch gardeners!

There is one railroad running down the state's center to the southern point of the lake. There are needed other roads to the region and to go all through it, for if the yield of produce is a carload to the acre, think of what will be required in the way of transportation equipment to handle the harvest from the more than three million acres soon to be brought in, in that region!

Hard roads for automobile travel are gradually being built in. From both sides the distance is being lessened each month between the terminal of the finished highways. Water transportation facilities are also provided, the canals from the east coast, and the one from the west side, being able to handle considerable freight, and some passenger traffic all the year round.

When the transportation facilities are adequate there will be such a rush and such an activity to secure lands in this garden of the world that the next hardest problem to solve will be housing the people as fast as they come. But the people who have settled in the 'glades regions have already shown themselves so resourceful, and have already reaped such harvests of success that when the time comes to build cities where now there are hamlets, there will spring up, almost in a night, even as the improved farms have appeared, cities, and towns, and villages, all built of the most excellent material, and all with the utilities and safeguards of the most modern city.—Tampa Tribune.

CAUGHT SEVENTEEN BASS IN ABOUT THREE HOURS, WEIGHED 87 POUNDS

One of the best fish stories of the season is that of John Leonard, one of Sanford's prominent lawyers, and Ned Harrison, who when he is not fishing is with the A. C. L. Railway. John knows every foot of Volusia county and all the best lakes and he took Ned to one that Ned had never seen before. In less than three hours they had caught with artificial bait just seventeen fine bass, the aggregate weight of the fish being 87 pounds or better than five pounds apiece. The fish were brought to town and put on cold storage until morning when a picture of them was made and they were divided up among friends. The fish were caught at Three Mile Lake. Everyone knows where it is and it is strange that more people have not fished there this summer. You go three miles east of the city, thence three miles west, thence three miles to a house and inquire about the lake. The man there will direct you three miles north and thence three miles south and if the wind is not blowing north by northeast you will catch your fish.
