

TWO ARRESTED IN SLAYING OF 2 BOYS, 2 GIRLS

Victims' Bodies Were Found In Back Seat Of Automobile That Had Been Set Afire

YPSILANTI, Aug. 12. — (A.P.)—A blood-stained parer, found nine miles from the scene was identified today as belonging to Vivian Gold, Cleveland girl, found slain with three others in a burned automobile near Willis. Finding of the parer, officers said, was the first definite indication that the slayer fled in an automobile toward Ypsilanti.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 12.—(A.P.)—Two men were arrested today in connection with the slaying of two boys and two girls whose bodies were found burned in an automobile yesterday near Willis. Officers refused to give the names until they are questioned but said they were arrested at a roadhouse near the scene of the crime.

Deputies who arrested the men said there was a light in the roadhouse and wanted to question the men about it. Meantime two other suspects, Paul Keene and Lawrence Keene, who live near the scene of the killing, are being held after police said they found stains in clubs and garments found in their shack.

The victims were Harry Love, Ypsilanti; Thomas Wheatley, farm youth; Vivian Gold, Anna May Harrison, Cleveland. Officers believe the four were killed and the bodies thrown in the car and burned after they resisted an attack which had a motive either robbery or assault on the girls.

Physicians at the University of Michigan medical school, conducted an autopsy that has found 20 bullet holes in the body of Love.

AMERICAN FARM FEDERATION HITS PRESENT METHOD

President Announces Return To Principle Of Equalization Fee

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 12.—(A.P.)—The American Farm Bureau Federation, through its president, Edward A. O'Neal, last night declared present farm legislation inadequate and announced its return to the principle of the equalization fee.

"For the past two years our organization, desiring to see the marketing act fully tried out, has not insisted upon the enactment of the equalization fee principle," O'Neal told farm bureau leaders from 11 Midwest States.

"It now appears all too plain that the present act does not adequately provide for the needed control of surplus. Consequently, we must renew our demand for enactment of this type of legislation in order to strengthen and preserve the farmer owned and farmer controlled marketing associations that have been established."

O'Neal said he had discussed the equalization fee plan with farmers all over the United States.

"Wherever in my travels I have brought up the question of the equalization fee plan it met with hearty approval," he said.

The equalization fee plan, as outlined by the federation, would provide for disposal of surplus outside of the country by a government agency, the loss to be made up by a tax collected on each unit of the entire domestic crop.

"The farmer feels that industry has the advantage of us with its very high profits," O'Neal said, "while the price of our products is determined by the price of our surplus in the world market."

"They also approve of regulation controlling grain and cotton exchanges, which will be for the benefit of the producers of these commodities.

The proposed increase in railroad rates does not, however, meet with the approval of the farmers and we are ready to fight the attempt to raise the rates."

Unusually Large Egg Displayed By Laney

"I'm going to send a picture and story of this to Bob Ripley of Believe It Or Not fame," said E. H. Laney this morning as he came into The Herald office with a hen egg which weighed four ounces, was six and one quarter inches around, and eight inches around lengthwise.

The egg was laid by one of the 150 or more Rhode Island Red chickens owned by Mr. Laney at his Palms home. It was the largest reported here in years, and compared to an ordinary hen egg, appears to be the size of an ostrich egg.

36 TRACKS ARE GIVEN PERMITS BY RACE BOARD

15 Horse Ovals And 21 For Dogs Granted Permission To Operate In This State

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 12.—(A.P.)—The Florida racing commission yesterday announced it had granted permits to operate 15 horse racing associations and 21 dog racing associations.

Permits for 15 horse tracks and four dog tracks were granted in Hillsborough county, and one dog track permit was denied there.

The permits must be ratified at county elections in each of the 15 counties where the race tracks are planned. Permit holders who obtain local approval must return to the state commission for a license and for dates for their meetings. The new state law limits horse race meets to 50 days each, dog race meets to 90 days each, and the entire winter racing season to the four months from Dec. 1 to April 1.

Horse race permits were granted for meetings in Dade, Duval, Hillsborough, Palm Beach, Broward, and Volusia counties.

Prominent Winter Visitor Here Dies In New York Home

Word was received here today that Dr. James H. Glass, 77, a familiar winter visitor here for the past 15 years and one of the more prominent physicians of New York State, died at his home in Utica, N. Y., Tuesday, Aug. 4. Burial took place at Johnstown, N. Y., Wednesday. His widow is his only survivor.

Dr. Glass came to Florida in 1912, and after touring many sections of the state decided to locate at Enterprise where he built a home which he occupied each year from the first of December until the first of April. He visited Sanford at least twice each week, and had a host of friends here, many of whom were his closest acquaintances.

According to a sketch of the popular doctor's career published in a Utica paper and written by a close friend, George E. Durbin, Dr. Glass, after settling in Florida, had many urgent calls to serve as counsel in important cases throughout the east and south, but he declined to take out a license in Florida, preferring to spend his time in this state in resting after a long and interesting career. He did, however, go into careers of humble homes in the immediate vicinity of Enterprise and many a poor white man and many a poor black man received the benefit of his ministrations and the only reward he would accept was their heartfelt thanks. He was easily the most popular man in all that region round about.

Opinions Received As To Clemency In Albert Fall Case

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(A.P.)—Three closely guarded opinions, declaring either for or against executive clemency to Albert B. Fall, were received yesterday by the Justice Department.

Meanwhile, Fall, former secretary of the Interior, is completing the first weeks of his sentence at the New Mexico State penitentiary in Santa Fe. He is serving a year and a day for accepting a bribe from Edward L. Doherty in exchange for an oil lease.

The opinions received yesterday were those of Justice William H. Taft of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, who presided at Fall's trial, Atlee Pemberton, special prosecutor for the government in the oil trials, and District Attorney Lee A. Bever of Washington.

James A. Finis, Federal pardons attorney, to whom the papers were submitted, declined to say yesterday whether his receipt completed the personal investigation he has been making into the case. The inquiry was prompted by a petition for clemency from members of the New Mexico Legislature and the United States Senate of that state, which was submitted to the White House and turned over to the department.

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 12.—(A.P.)—Capt. Donald Gray was rescued from the waves lashed wreckage of his airplane off North Carolina yesterday, nearly 36 hours after he fell into the Atlantic attempt of a non-stop flight from New York to Tokyo.

The flier, who had figured in international news in the native Hawaiian before he mysteriously took off from New York Sunday afternoon, soon dispatched a terse message to a friend saying: "Fall into sea Sunday night. Picked up by S. S. Hibson Monday morning. Exhausted, slightly wounded. Otherwise O. K. Proceeding Savannah, arrive tomorrow night."

U. S. ESTIMATE OF COTTON CROP IS PUT UNDER FIRE

Board's Figures Are Criticized As Being Out Of Proportion

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(A.P.)—William L. Callender, chairman of the agriculture department's crop reporting board, said yesterday records and methods employed in computing last Saturday's cotton estimate were "open to those who wish to inspect them."

The board estimated a crop of 15,540,000 bales for the 1931 harvest, a record, and one which has expressed the opinion the government forecast was too high, made estimates about 1,500,000 bales less.

As a result of the department's unexpectedly high forecast, cotton prices dropped to the lowest level in a couple of years on virtually every exchange.

Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, has wired Secretary Hyde, requesting the records be preserved for a "thorough investigation." No other such requests have been received, Callender said, but he added he expected more.

Defending the estimate, Callender pointed out that the condition of cotton on Aug. 1 was 20 percent higher than on the same date last year. Although acreage has been reduced 10 percent, he said, a substantial increase in the final harvest was indicated.

Last Saturday's report was the first of the season for cotton. It was made on the basis of conditions on Aug. 1 and probable weather, moisture and insect developments for the remainder of the year. Should adverse weather conditions set in during the remainder of the growing season, the final crop consequently would be reduced.

Callender said he was "confident the final estimate will be found to be reasonably accurate."

Since 1927 the board has been higher three times in its Aug. 1 estimate than final figures, and lower once. In 1927 the highest Aug. 1 estimate was made when it was four percent above the final yield.

Wilson Sneaks Upon Importance Of Inter-Club Relations Of Kiwanis

The importance of inter-club relations by members of the Kiwanis Clubs throughout the world was brought to the attention of members of the Sanford Kiwanis club today when Fred H. Wilson, former president of the club, spoke briefly on the subject.

Quoting from the manual Mr. Wilson pointed out that the goal of inter-club relations work is the development of human brotherhood through a perfectly unified organization. A former committee, according to Mr. Wilson, reported that the objective was "the dissemination of Kiwanis principles in the development of the individual member through association; the creation of a finer spirit of fellowship and a truer friendship, and the unification of the entire organization on the basis of Kiwanis ideals."

Those present at the luncheon were Kiwanians Walter S. Coleman, A. C. Fort, M. J. Mize, T. L. Dumas, D. J. Garrett, B. D. Higginson, J. L. Maronette, Fred E. Wilson, F. F. Dorner, E. C. Moore, H. W. Rucker, L. G. Leonard, F. S. Lamson, E. P. Donohue, H. U. Fox, C. O. Barr, Jim B. Smith, Howard Long, Jas. G. Shores, G. A. Byrd, and W. B. Zachary, and Miss Pearl Robson, club pianist.

Casualties Reported; Efforts Are Turned To Destruction Of Natural Resources

Board's Figures Are Criticized As Being Out Of Proportion

HAVANA, Aug. 12.—(A.P.)—The revolutionary movement swung back toward Havana today as insurgents turned their efforts to destruction of natural resources. Police said a group of rebels attempted to blow up the water reservoir at Regla across the bay from the capital but were driven off by loyalist soldiers.

Another band is reported by have tried to fire a storage tank of an oil company in Lujano suburb but fled under a hail of police bullets. Government officials confirmed dispatches from Pinar Del Rio province saying 11 rebels were killed and 19 wounded in sharp engagements with army forces.

Rebels reportedly 300 supporters invaded Santa Clara and killed 20 federalists and took 25 prisoners. Reports from the interior said both sides were victorious in clashes in half a dozen localities. Havana is quiet but tense.

An announcement from the police said insurgents had burned the municipal and other buildings in Yaguajay.

The little town of Sierra Morena was reported in opposition hands. Another report said rebel strength was gathered there under Col. Justo Carrillo, Manuel Terrel, Ricardo Fernandez, Horacio Martinez and others.

In skirmishes at Ranchabuelo, Yaguajay and Sancti Spiritus, government forces were victorious. (Continued on Page Four)

Rucker Returns To City After 3-Week Trip To Mountains

Reporting cool weather and an enjoyable three-week vacation with relatives in Kentucky and North Carolina, Dr. H. Wayne Rucker, accompanied by his wife and son, and Mrs. Rucker's mother, Mrs. L. G. Payne, of Mackville, N. C., returned to Sanford Sunday afternoon after a leisurely motor trip from North Carolina.

While away Dr. Rucker spent practically all of a time visiting relatives in Kentucky, playing golf, and renewing old acquaintances. He reports that while "hard times" was the principal topic of conversation among the majority of the people, a pessimistic driving through the farming sections of the state would be likely to understand how times could be hard when such an abundance of fine crops were in evidence as every hand.

"Of course, with prices on wheat and other produce at such a low ebb, the farmer expects to realize practically nothing on his crop," Dr. Rucker said, "and the 'hard times' stories will be doubt remain."

One of the more enjoyable incidents of his vacation was a day's visit to St. Louis, where Dr. Rucker had the pleasure of a long talk with Ben Cantwell, well-known pitcher for the Boston Braves playing in St. Louis this year. According to Dr. Rucker, Ben Cantwell declares that he is now in tip-top shape after having suffered trouble with his arm during the early part of the season. "Ben sends his best wishes to all his Sanford friends, and says that he is going to win as many games as he can before the season ends," Dr. Rucker said.

"Legs" Diamond Given Four Years In Prison
NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(A.P.)—Jack Leggs Diamond was sentenced in federal court today to four years imprisonment and $10,000 fine for violation of the prohibition law. Despite the fact Diamond was one of New York's most publicized gang figures, his recent conviction together with that of Paul Quattrone, marks the first time he has actually served a prison sentence.

OH YEAH?

By PETER SCHAAL

Only one game saw the light of day in the Big Show yesterday and as a result the Cubs took another last minute licking from the Pirates who won out 4 to 3 on only five hits. It seems that Les Sweetland, who once "chucked" down here in the Florida State League, was as wild as they come, walking 10 men, some of whom later scored. The Cubs made only seven hits, and scored two of their runs on Bell's homer into the stands in the fourth. They now double with the bases full to score a couple of runs for the Pirates too.

Today sees the start of a number of important series in which pennant chances are at stake. The American League's eastern clubs are in the west on the last stand, while the National League western clubs are in the east for the final time this season. Important among the games to be played for the next four days are those between the Cards and Robins, the Pirates and Giants, and the Yanks and the Indians. There is hardly a doubt but that the Cards will come out on top of their series with the Robins, but, Wilbert Robinson and his men stand ready to prove their early season claim to a seat in either first or second place. The only way to get there is by knocking off the Cards.

An announcement of considerable interest in this section was made yesterday when the father of Q. I. Roberts Jr., one of Florida's outstanding athletes, declared that the 21 year old youth would sign a contract with the Brooklyn Robins, and would probably report to their Hartford training camp within a few days. Roberts was easily the most outstanding infielder in the state last year, coming through with a remarkable record as a member of the Gator nine, and, since his advent into semi-pro ball during the summer, burning up the diamond with every team he has been with. Young Roberts is a sophomore at The University of Florida, but whether he expects to continue his college career was not announced. Baseball seems to be his ambition and life, so, if he heads the careers of many who quit school to take up sport, let's hope that he remembers to salt down those dollars early and often. They come in handy when life looks darkest.

CHASE DIAMOND BALL TEAM WINS TILT LAST NIGHT

Defeats Independent Merchant Outfit By Margin Of One Run

By E. H. CULLUM
In a game that was anybody's until the last man was out the Chase Diamond Ball team defeated the Independent Merchant Monday night 16 to 15.
Paul Stine started for Chase and was not as effective as he usually is, the Independents getting next to him, putting over nine runs in the first two innings. Johnny Hodge went into the box in the third and held the Merchants to an additional six runs for the remainder of the game bringing their total up to 15.
Palmer went the entire distance for the Independents, and he too, was somewhat out of form. The Chase players secured four runs in the first inning. They added nine more in the third, two in the fourth and one in the sixth, to bring their total up to 16, winning the game with a margin of only one run.
Palmer was the heavy hitter for the Independents, getting three out of three times up. Cordell had three out of four times at the bat. Hodge for Chase and Matthews for the Independents each hit for the circuit.
The feature fielding was Rhett Smith's catch of Matthews fly to right field, Smith falling head over heels in getting the ball, but held to it. Incidentally this catch possibly saved the game for Chase as the tying run was on the bags.
Tonight the Orlando Girls Team will play the Sanford Girls here.
Tomorrow night the Sanford All-Stars go to Deland in a return game with the Putnam Lumber Co. team of that city.

City Commission Will Name Body To Probe Rates

so much talk on the streets concerning the rates, and since the City Commissioners already have a set of comparative figures, and from the propaganda widely spread which indicates that the citizens have little confidence in our ability, I move that we appoint a committee of three prominent men who are to make a thorough investigation of the Florida Power and Light Co., contract with the City, and make a report and recommendation not later than the second meeting in September.

That the Commission may withdraw its offer to citizens of allowing them to pay their 1927 1928, and 1929 taxes in bonds provided the 1930 taxes are paid in cash, looks as a possibility although no definite action was taken. Several Florida cities have already with drawn similar offers, and the Commission took the matter under advisement with the intention of making a final decision at their next meeting.

The Weekly with the Sanford suit against the Commission, brought by the Bondholders, Protective Committee was brought before the group by Fred R. Wilson, city attorney, who asked for instructions as to what disposition the Commission wished to make of the matter.

Mayor Dumas and Commissioners Lehman and Byrd were in favor of letting the suit go by default, but Commissioners Speer and Leffler, who indicated that they were of the opinion that under the circumstances no other course was possible, expressed resentment at the action of the Bondholders' Protective Committee in bringing suit. Both Commissioners Speer and Leffler maintained that one of the items in the "gentleman's agreement" between the two groups last Spring was the statement that no further suits would be brought against the City as long as the contract was in force. The matter was finally tabled until the next meeting of the Commission.

No action was taken on a request from George A. DeCottes, special counsel for the city in the Chase National Bank suits, that the Commission take steps at once to dispose of $2000 attorney fee which Mr. DeCottes claimed was due him and his associates counsel, Lucien Boggs, of Jacksonville.

An ordinance, aimed at the itinerant peddlers of merchandise and magazines who are said to have victimized several local persons by accepting cash as down payment for articles supposed to be mailed later, had its first reading before the Commission. Suggested by the Independent Merchants' Association, the ordinance provides that any person representing an out of state concern which manufactures goods, wares, merchandise, newspapers or magazines, and collects any sum as a down payment on such merchandise or literature, must first post a 1,000 surety bond with the City Clerk to insure the purchaser that the transaction will be carried through without a hitch. A fine of $200 or 60 days in jail will be imposed on any violators. The Commissioners disposed of several other matters of minor importance, and deciding to adjourn until tomorrow afternoon when they will continue their study of the 1931 tax rolls and make any assessment changes which might be needed.

Cooper Returns From 2-Months Tour Of Europe

stop soon found an equally engaging five days of conference with the city of that marvelous city. In Rome, they visited St. Peter's Cathedral and the Vatican, as well as the ruins of the ancient city, all of which proved impressively interesting.
Asked if they were fortunate enough to see Mussolini during one of his public appearances, Mr. Cooper said that they did not see him, but, on all sides saw evidence of that man's strange grip on the Italy. "From the time we first reached Italy, until we left, we were never out of sight of one of Mussolini's Fascisti," Mr. Cooper said. "On every train, the entire crew are Fascisti, while in each coach there is an armed member of the Fascisti. Each railroad station platform is patrolled by numbers of the armed men, while everywhere the Fascist insignia is on display."
Before leaving Italy for Switzerland, they visited Genoa, situated in "a romantic spot on the side ang at the base of sheer mountains leading into a natural harbor which is a remarkable sight." While there they visited the home of Christopher Columbus.
Switzerland was, together with Holland, one of the two countries in Europe which appeared to be the most prosperous, where life appeared to be tranquil and where the citizens extended a cordial invitation and welcomed to the stranger. The journey through Switzerland was broken at several small cities, at each of which the party spent hours visiting the usual tourist haunts.
France was the last nation visited in Europe. They spent five days in Paris, seeing every important landmark from the Eiffel Tower to the gardens of Versailles Palace. They left Paris by airplane for Rotterdam, Holland, where after a day of visit, they crossed the English Channel to London.
At London, three more busy days of sight-seeing were spent, following which they traveled through Shakspearean country later into Scotland where, at Glasgow, they boarded the Canadian Pacific liner, "Duchess of York", and returned to America by way of north Atlantic and St. Lawrence River, disembarking at Montreal. The return trip was smooth, and a continuation of the pleasant weather encountered during the entire trip was reported.
Before concluding his interview,

Mr. Cooper declared that America was without doubt the outstanding nation of the world today, geographically situated so as to command the respect of every other nation, and economically and financially situated so as to command that respect. "Every person with whom we came in contact on our tour treated us with the deepest respect," he said, "many of them indicating by their conversation that they would give much to be able to have a nation which finds its citizens constantly at war with one another, and where the struggle for existence becomes greater each day!"

Agreement Reached On Hoover Debt Plan

LONDON, Aug. 11. —(A.P.)—A complete agreement has been reached on measures designed to make the Hoover reparations holiday plan effective. It was announced today in an official communique issued by a committee of international experts charged with dovetailing the Hoover plan and the Young plan.
The agreement will be signed tonight when the proposals may be considered as having been definitely into effect, although as a matter of fact they have been effective provisionally since the middle of July when the German reparations installment fell due.

Importance Of Conservation

Conservation is a word we have heard a great deal of since Herbert Hoover made it famous during the World War with his "Hoovering campaign". For a while, after the war, the idea of conservation was sort of lost sight of, but again more recently, it has become quite popular to conserve. One of the greatest benefits of a depression is that it teaches people to make the most use of whatever they may have.

Writing on the importance of conservation recently, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, probable Democratic nominee for president next year, expressed the idea that one of the most important functions of government is to teach people and to assist them in saving the assets of the country from waste and destruction. The federal government and most of the state governments have departments for that particular purpose.

"We use the word conservation particularly with reference to the conserving—the saving, the protecting and the increasing—of the physical resources nature has provided within our State's boundaries," Gov. Roosevelt declares. "We consider how to make these resources most useful in advancing the health and happiness of those who live here now and how also to hand them on as a heritage to our descendants, at the very least unimpaired; at the best, augmented and increased and made more available and useful to our descendants.

"We speak of material values that can be appraised on a balance sheet; we speak of no less material values in the protection and conservation of health; we speak of facilities for outdoor recreation and enjoyment, and, not least of all, we speak of aesthetic values that will have much to do with shaping the future character—the idealism of our citizenship.

"The State of New York has embarked upon a program of making good use of good things that have been too much neglected in the past. Our State is a great factory of the implements of what we are pleased to call civilization. But we don't want it to be exclusively a factory. We want it to be a land rich in opportunities for joyful living. And we have found that there are no artificial joys to replace the natural benefits of wooded hills and fertile valleys, clear mountain air, forests peopled with protected wild life, sparkling lakes and rippling, unpolluted streams.

"The green slopes of our forested hills lured our first settlers and furnished them the materials of a happy life. They and their descendants were a little careless with that asset. Those who found abundance in New York State were no different from the rest. Once there was a great wealth of timber here. Now we have great barren areas where productive forests once stood. But modern progress in forestry and agriculture has conferred an opportunity on us. Intensive modern farming goes to the fertile plains of broad extent and rules out stubborn acres stolen from the forests. Annually, hundreds of thousands of acres in this State are being abandoned for farm use."

Nothing To It

Recently the defense counsel in a New York libel suit expressed the opinion that it was not possible to libel a reporter. Their "erratic and Bohemian existence" made damage to their characters or reputations impossible. This version of the mainstay of journalism at first provoked considerable irritation among the profession and later roars of laughter. Newspapers are not as Bohemian, perhaps, as they like to appear.

"Despite the prevalence of fictional and dramatic accounts of life in the newspaper world, despite the almost universal familiarity with the product of the profession, and despite even the amazing number of persons in every walk of life who are 'old newspaper men themselves,'" writes Lucius Beebe in the New York Herald Tribune, "there really are very few members of the general public who have the slightest understanding of either the functional processes and internal economy of a newspaper office or of the newswriter as he exists today in every metropolitan community in the land. At one time or another almost everybody has had some contact with the daily press; he finds himself involved in the public events of the moment; he wishes to secure the attention of the society department or he calls on a press acquaintance to square a speeding summons with the police. Newspapers are a feature of his daily life which, if he were deprived of them, he would miss almost as much as running water and three square meals, and yet of the manner in which this essential feature is prepared, or of the character of those engaged in the profession he knows little or nothing.

"Thus it is that when confronted with statements like those of the defense barrister, which are indicative of nothing so much as a blazing and militant ignorance, your reporter is inclined to laugh a little bitterly, order another beer and wish to God he had the time and resources to become erratic and Bohemian in a really big, constructive way. Relying as it does on nothing more representative than fiction, the stage and the cinema for its conception of life in the city room, the general public can scarcely be blamed if it credulously accepts the tradition that nobody can be a reporter unless he sleeps in his clothes and has about him a prevailing suggestion of Old Orkney Relics. Although it would be quite impossible anywhere in New York news offices to assemble five reporters whose visible characteristics even resemble those of the picture snatching puffians representing reporters in the screen version of 'The Front Page,' a naive public continues to believe that its daily information, the preparation of which requires all the qualities of intelligence, expertness and integrity of a lawyer or a banker, is in some manner compiled by a shiftless and alcoholic posse of incompetents.

"The court is well aware," submitted defense counsel in question (a submission which would seem to some extent to impeach the intelligence of the bench) "that reporters in the City of New York commonly lead an erratic and Bohemian existence, and that what might be libelous when said of a merchant or professional man will not be held to be libelous when said of one leading such an existence. Well and fairly spoken out of an abysmal fund of misinformation, and yet how many reporters wish these glamorous imaginings might exist in substantial reality."

SENATOR GOMEZ OF Key West should feel complimented. Up until practically the last day of the second extra session of the Legislature the only bill of general interest passed was the Gomez bill allowing installment redemption of property for back taxes.—Ocala Star.

NO QUESTIONS BUT that Florida has had a terrible time with a Legislative session. The legislators failed to see that taxation remedies truly depended upon economy and enforcement of tax laws already on the statute books.—Marianna Floridian.

ANYWAY, THE NEWSPAPERS of the State have a lot to thank the recent Legislature for—it certainly furnished them with some of the most interesting reading matter in years.—Sebastian Times.

Bringing Aids To German People In Present Crisis

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—(A.P.)—Chancellor Brüning, at the climax of the celebration yesterday of the twelfth anniversary of the adoption of the constitution of the German republic, made an appeal to the German people to join to overcome the present difficulties and to build up the nation.

The chancellor's address was followed by one by Finance Minister Dietrich, who warned that the issue in Germany today is "socialism against bolshevism."

The addresses were delivered in the presence of President Hindenburg and members of the diplomatic corps, including United States Ambassador Frederic S. Parkes.

"This day," Chancellor Brüning said, "is one on which all party passions subside. The day belongs to the entire German people."

"This celebration," he continued, "comes at a time of overpowering economic distress which imposes the severest strain on our powers of endurance."

Herr Dietrich was generally optimistic about Germany's future, but he tempered his address with frank criticism of mistakes he said were made and with a warning against bolshevism.

Farms If Freight Rates Are Jumped

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(A.P.)—Disaster for farmers and the overseas export trade if the railroads increase their freight rates was predicted yesterday before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

A. W. Drinkard, Jr., director of the Virginia agricultural experiment station, testifying in hearings on the proposed 15 percent advance in freight charges, said agriculture in his state was "in the throes of one of the most disastrous periods of depression in history."

Arthur Hale, chairman of the Coal Exporters' association, said an increase in tidewater coal rates would wipe out foreign shipments of coal and result in a loss of $4,000,000 a year to the carriers.

J. W. Roberts of Chicago, a consulting accountant who Monday testified that 1930 railroad dividends were the largest in history with the exception of one year, was cross-examined by railroad attorneys at the outset of today's session. He agreed, under

Lindy Prepares To Leave On Perilous Part Of His Flight

From Shismaref the Lindberghs took an hour and 25 minutes for their flight of about 100 miles. They left Point Barrow at 11:53 'clock Monday night and arrived at Shismaref about 5 A. M. after a flight of about 100 miles.

The next hop is for Karanginsk, Siberia, 1067 miles from here across Bering sea. Safety Bay, a long narrow body of water similar to a lagoon, about half way between Nome and Solomon Beach, was used as a landing place by Post and Gatty on their flight round the world.

Small boats, caught in one of the sudden storms which beset Bering sea, frequently seek shelter in the bay, which thereby earns its name. A sandy beach will permit Colonel Lindbergh to moor his plane in safety regardless of weather conditions outside the sand pit which protects the bay.

A good highway connecting Nome with Solomon passes the bay and no trouble will be experienced in hauling gasoline and other supplies to the plane. One of the best wireless stations in Alaska was erected at Safety Bay. It was abandoned some years ago and there are no dwellings at that place. The nearest habitation is a radio house about three miles away.

Florida Will Warn Jobless Not To Come

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 12. (A.P.)—Florida cities are preparing to warn the jobless in other parts of the country not to come to Florida seeking work. Thomas Devine, community chest secretary here, has consulted with chambers of commerce officials to have Jacksonville, Miami, and Tampa join in a poster campaign urging dependent tourists to stay away.

Devine would have the posters distributed in the North and East. St. Petersburg legionnaires moved yesterday to have state and national organizations warn unemployed persons that work is no more plentiful in Florida than in other states.

The legion said it was impeded by daily arrivals of families from the north hoping to obtain work on the national soldier's home to be built in Pinellas county.

Punishment Urged For U. S. Fliers By Societies In Japan

TOKYO, Aug. 12. (A.P.)—Patriotic societies and reactionary individuals clamored today for punishment of Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, American aviators, for taking photographs while flying over Japanese territory.

The men appeared before the procurator's who questioned Pangborn about his flying experience in the American army. Foreign officials are reported to have taken a hand in the investigation by suggesting that the military show leniency but the war department was said to have adopted a different view.

Reactionaries sent a delegation to the procurator's office urging drastic punishment and demanding that no leniency be shown. The fliers took pictures enroute from Siberia to Tokyo after abandoning a round the world flight.

Stock Market Has Rally On Heels Of Debt Arrangement

LONDON, Aug. 12. (A.P.)—After an emergency trip from his station at his home at Epsom, Surrey, Prime Minister MacDonald yesterday held a four-hour conference with Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, and with leading British bankers on the subject of the budget deficit, which has a most serious effect on the market.

Although Wall Street had taken a little notice that the committee of experts meeting in London would successfully solve all detailed problems presented by the plan, a market rally evidently followed the time proposition for a 2 1/2 per cent advance in the central bank's financial ratio which to war debt plan failed to operate.

The upturn in stocks, which ranged from 2 1/2 to 4 1/2 shares for gold prominent issues, had a stabilizing effect on the cotton market, after yesterday's collapse to new lows for the century.

Jacksonville Will Add To Size Of Its Municipal Airport

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 12. Authorization was voted last night by the City Council for the purchase by condemnation, private sale or otherwise, of 100 acres of land between the Municipal Airport and the Atlantic Coastal Highway, to be used in enlarging the field. A limit of $10,000 was set upon the price.

The action was taken on recommendation of the aviation and law committees. A resolution was adopted authorizing the city attorney to condemn the property.

Ten other bills also were passed at the meeting. One imposes a tax of $200 annually on phrenology, fortune tellers, astrology, crystal gazing and others, while the other requires the city record to be carried in 12 inch warrants, which heretofore have been 10 inch warrants.

A bill introduced by Councilman Gray of the North Ward read the first time and referred to the law and rules and officers and employees of the city and authorized the annual valuation of tax payers to be paid to all city employees who have been in the service continuously for one year.

A resolution submitted to the council by its special insurance committee, which provided that provisions being made in its work to ward reduce the city's insurance bill on buildings. The matter was referred to a special meeting of the council to be held tomorrow.
