Burglary Ring Is Smashed

Sanford Sheriff's deputies detected this burglary ring today in a five-month operation that resulted in the recovery of approximately $100,000 in stolen items, the arrest of three persons in Orange County, and that more arrests are expected.

Detective C. R. Brown and Orange County Sheriff's detective Rick Marra said a total of 11 burglaries have been cleared up so far, including a Feb. 19 break-in at the Oviedo home of Mrs. Judy Duda, in which money, firearms and other property was taken.

Brown said the lengthy investigation uncovered stolen items that had been sold to "various individuals" in Orange County. Three persons have been arrested there on charges of buying, receiving and concealing stolen property, he said.

Sanford police said today that a search is still under way for a 14-year-old Forest City boy who escaped from the Sanford Juvenile Detention Center Sunday night.

We Might Need A Military Draft

The Defense Manpower Commission reaches some disturbing conclusions from its study of the all-volunteer Army — the experience with it so far and its prospects for the future. The recent decision to phase out the registration of 18-year-olds for a "standby" Selective Service system may be at stake as these questions are considered about the long-range ability of the armed forces to recruit manpower of the numbers and quality they need.

The commission is convinced that the success in attracting recruits since the draft was ended two years ago results from the recession and the relatively high unemployment rate. It believes a period of rapid economic growth with increasing job opportunities in the civilian world would halt recruiting severely. The military either would have to lower its acceptance standards or increase its pay.

There is a limit to how far the armed forces can go in competing with the civilian job market. As it is, manpower costs are now consuming 57 per cent of the defense budget — up from 42 per cent in 1969 when there were half again as many men in uniform. The upgrading of salaries cannot be allowed to eat relentlessly into the funds available for military hardware, weapons development and operational costs.

Other studies have shown that military pay — when the cash value of tax advantages, living allowances and other fringe benefits is figured in — is actually higher in many grades than the salary for comparable grades in the federal civil service. Significantly, these studies also indicated that many people in the armed services did not realize how their pay stacked up against salary opportunities in civilian life.

Is the manpower commission selling the all-volunteer concept short? There have been changes in the military life-style as well as pay that could make military careers more attractive even in prosperous times than the commission's forecast would suggest. The experience of recruiters right now — as recovery makes itself evident in the job market — should be enlightening.

As Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld says, Selective Service should not be used as an excuse to maintain unfairly low pay scales in the military. Whatever status may be given to the draft in the future, we will continue to face a difficult problem in balancing the investment in people with the investment in weapons and other costs in the defense budget.

A peacetime draft is never going to be popular. This country should not allow wishful thinking to blind it to a potential pitfall in the concept of an all-volunteer military. As the economy moves out of recession there is an opportunity to monitor the impact on recruiting and retention of manpower. If the early signs of success of the all-volunteer Army are found to be of a temporal nature, it is entirely possible that the current policy toward Selective Service will have to be revised.

Airing The Issues

Candidate Ronald Reagan was finally able to coax NBC into selling him a half-hour of network time last month to take to the people his campaign to wrest the GOP presidential nomination from President Ford.

Democratic candidate Sen. Frank Church has been less successful, although he did manage to buy five minutes on a Monday night from CBS.

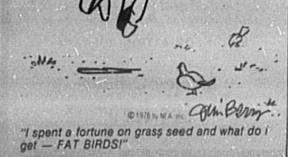

As the conventions draw near, there almost certainly will be further bids from other candidates.

The television industry, which unblinking agrees that it is the ultimate communications channel in a people-to-people exchange, should reassess its reluctance.

The issues in 1976 are worthy of full debate and exposure. Any candidate who has the cash to purchase time under rigid contribution requirements should find it available.

But the candidates, too, must be wary of alienating potential supporters by preempting the spots normally reserved for Archie Bunker, Rhoda or reruns of Ironsides.

That's politics.

Tyranny's Strange Fascination

Americans, who live in the oldest major democracy in the world and one of the few still in working order, have always been strangely fascinated by tyranny. Maybe it's because tyrannies are so — well, "efficient."

In the 1930s, Charles Lindbergh, who should have known something about the indomitability of the human spirit, advised Britain and France that they could not hope to win a war against resurgent Germany under the Nazis.

A decade earlier, journalist and social reformer Lincoln Steffens had visited the Soviet Union and returned saying, "I have seen the future and it works."

Now another American has returned from another budding tyranny, that of Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, and reports that he has seen the present and it is working in India — except for a few intellectuals, newspaper editors, opposition politicians and other dissenters who have borne the brunt of her "emergency" crackdown.

Even though foreign critics have called Mrs. Gandhi a dictator, "there is little doubt that the concept of the emergency has gained public acceptance in India," says France R. Valeo, Asian affairs expert and secretary of the U.S. Senate, who traveled recently on a fact-finding mission to India, Pakistan and Bangladesh at the request of Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield.

Foreign observers in India are unanimous, he says, in holding that Mrs. Gandhi would win a vote of confidence if elections were held at this time. But of course, elections are not going to be held at this time or at any other time in the foreseeable future.

What has Mrs. Gandhi done for India lately? According to Valeo: "Inflation has been halted. Hoarders and speculators are disgorging their holdings and corruption has been curbed. Civil servants have become more attentive to public needs. Industry and labor seem to be responding to the government's pleading or pressure for increased output. Similarly, the railroads are providing better service."

Shades of Il Duce, who made Italy's trains run on time.

Unquestionably, things were in terrible shape in India and called for drastic measures, just as they were and did in Russia in the 1920s and Germany, Italy and Spain in the 1930s and China, Vietnam, Korea, Cuba and etc., etc., etc., in the 1950 and 1960s.

Each of these new-borne tyrannies, including the "vetectors," has or had at one time its own lobby of champions in this country.

The 20th century's casualty list of peoples who have tried democracy and later abandoned it for tyranny or who never tried democracy at all, does not make for comforting reading. Why any American should be the slightest bit enthusiastic that yet one more country has taken the autocratic route to solving its problems is difficult to understand.

A Long Road Back For Kutun

It's a long way back from Siberia, but Rep. Barry Kutun, D-Miami Beach, believes he's making the trip in style.

Well, maybe not Siberia, but Kutun was threatened with legislative limbo after unsuccessfully challenging House Speaker Donald Tucker's bid for reelection to a second term as House leader.

Kutun was not Tucker's major opponent. That distinction went to Rep. James Redman, D-Plant City, but Kutun bore the brunt of the hostility engendered by the anti-Tucker movement.

Tucker supporters accused Kutun of renegeing on his word to support the speaker — a mortal sin in the eyes of legislators. Tucker punished Kutun by removing him as chairman of the Health and Rehabilitative Services Committee and as a member of the Rules Committee.

Loss of the leadership position was a serious blow, but Kutun has been working hard at regaining the favor he lost with the handful of men who run the House.

"I feel that in a small amount of time since the speaker race that I'm coming back," Kutun said. "I think there's a strong feeling that I'm Chances are good that School Board Chairman R.G. "Bud" Feather will have an unusual opponent during this year's bid for reelection — a woman.

Not that women in and of themselves are unusual, but a woman in Seminole County seeking public office this year is a bit unusual because female contenders are scarce.

Frances Coleman Jackson is expected to seek the seat two position occupied by Feather, a Republican.

A widow, Mrs. Jackson is the mother of four children, a school teacher in this county for four years, the treasurer-elect of the Seminole County Democratic Women's Club, plus an at-large member of the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee.

A win by Mrs. Jackson would alter the composition of the school board, which consists of three Republicans and two Democrats. A win would also place two women on that August body. Pat Telton, is one of the two Democrats serving on the board, and E.C. Harper Jr., is the second.

Abbott Herring is expected soon to announce whether he will seek another term as state attorney for Seminole and Brevard Counties.

The word is he won't. Instead, some political theorists predict Herring will run for the Florida Legislature, or else seek a judgeship.

Regardless of whether Herring throws his hat in the ring, there will be some contenders for his office.

One, sources say, is a dark horse and an assistant to Orange County State Attorney Bob Eagan. Another is Brevard Attorney Doug Chesire and still another contender mentioned a Seminole County Attorney Jerry Korman.

Skipping over to the upcoming race for State Rep. Bob Hattaway's seat, it's almost certain that former County Commission Chairman Greg Drummond, a Republican, will run against Hat-

"I'm moving in that direction," Drummond says in response to queries. It's a fact that Drummond, who was popular with citizens during his tenure on the commission, for the past three weeks has been visiting past friends and supporters.

Still a big question mark is who will seek County Commission Chairman Michael Hattaway's post when his term expires this year.

Tom Binford has been mentioned as a possibility. And Binford confirmed he will run against one of the Hattaways, Michael or Bob. If Drummond seeks Bob's seat in the legislature, it's almost certain Binford won't jump in that race.

However, the word is that the Republicans are quietly fielding a candidate to run against Commissioner Hattaway.

He's Vince Perry, a Winter Springs resident. Perry has been active in the Republican Party for 18 years in both Orange and Seminole.

Perry is an accountant.

'Nobody' Has Won In Past

WASHINGTON — Who says you can't beat somebody with nobody? This fellow Nobody, also known as "Nobody," has had the most successful American political career of the last decade.

He has defeated three of the last presidents, most standing congressional candidates, and in many state and local government elections he has received far more backing than all 13 original candidates together — about four of every five citizens.

And what is more he does it with remarkable ease. He spends no money, makes no speeches, carries no air liners. He has not bought television time, he is covered only tangentially in the press.

Sometimes he has appeared on a bumper sticker, such as in 1972 when some automobiles notified voters that: "The Lesser of Two Evils is Evil." And, too, there is a campaign button around which reads: "I don't like any of the bums!" But so far there has yet to be a formal "Nobody for President Committee."

The thing is that Nobody does not have to agitate the voters with traditional politics, not as long as his opponents do. Nobody's friends are in direct proportion to the other candidates' enemies.

In Florida, for example, "no preference" declared nine other primary candidates, including Morris Udall, Birch Bayh and Frank Church. In seven of the first 17 state delegate elections, "uncommitted" beat everybody, for almost twice as many victories as the nearest somebody (Jimmy Carter). In North Carolina's primary, one of every five voters were uncommitted.

"We cannot do it alone," he continued. "Some of these promoters, through political programs and health insurance programs, promise care at any cost."

But, he continued, "if you expect hospitals and doctors to control costs when you promise to pay for any service, then you've forgotten the history of the United States."

Such an assignment, he indicated, is beyond the ability of any institution to fulfill because it encourages unlimited and often wasteful demand for its services. With emphasis, he said: "You cannot control costs in the face of unlimited demand."

Nevertheless, he said, thousands of hospitals are practicing quality and cost control programs today and, while improving care, have produced hard-won increases in productivity.

McMahon said the association disputed the key statistics used by the government to measure inflation in the hospital industry, and argued that the practice of contrasting hospital costs with other consumer items produced a distorted picture.

Maher Gets Raiders Opening Call

LAKELAND — Seminole Community College baseball coach Jack Pantelias says he is tired of the bridesmaid image his team has at state tournaments.

And, with the 1976 touring opening Tuesday, he has a chance to do something about it. Seminole plays Chipola Tuesday night at 8:30 in round-one of the double-elimination expected to run through Friday night.

Pantelias said this morning he would pitch Buddy Maher, no surprise since the ace of his pitching staff is 7-2.

"The team is fired up, we are ready to play some baseball," the Raiders' coach said while making final tournament preparations.

The eight-team tourney will be kicked off with a 10 a.m. game Tuesday pitting Valencia and Pensacola. At 1:30 it will be Miami-Dade North against Hillsborough, Miami-Dade Downtown plays St. Petersburg at 5.

'Pleasure' Taken Out Of Derby

LOUISVILLE (AP) — "I guess everybody's happy now that we got beat," embittered trainer Lyle Jolley told reporters Sunday after his 11-10 loss to the Breakers in the Kentucky Derby.

"I have a lot of different owners and I must see to it that each horse goes in the race that is best for him," said the Cuban-born Barrera who trains Bold Forbes for Esteban Rodriguez Tizol of Puerto Rico.

It depends on who the trainer's namesake, a colt called Barrera, does in next Saturday's Withers Stakes at Belmont. Barrera will start in the started racing in Puerto Rico, would be shipped back to New York today where he'll remain for a week before heading for the Breakers, the second leg of thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown.

Of the Derby field of nine, Bold Forbes, Honest Pleasure and third-place finisher Electionist are set to compete in the 1.3-16 mile Prekness. On the Sly and Cojak, who finished fifth and sixth in the Derby, are possible Prekness starters since the Baltimore track is close to home.

Several horses who weren't here for the Derby are likely to go in the Prekness, among them Zen, Senkensir, Life's Hope and Jack Contractor.

Life's Hope, who won the Illinois Derby at Sportsman's Park Saturday and is trained by Barrera for the Harbor View Farm, might go in the Prekness as an entry with Bold Forbes, or else the Jersey Derby.

"I have a lot of different owners and I must see to it that each horse goes in the race that is best for him," said the Cuban-born Barrera who trains Bold Forbes for Esteban Rodriguez Tizol of Puerto Rico.

It was Tizol, 72, aging and unable to attend the Derby, who gave Angel Cordero Jr. his first opportunity to ride at El Commandante in San Juan. And Saturday Cordero guided Bold Forbes to the Derby's winning share of $165,200 from the $217,700 purse. As second choice the son of Irish Castle-owney Nell paid $8, $2.40 and $2.60 and was clocked in 2:01.3 for the 1.14 miles.

The place and show prices on Honest Pleasure were $2.40 and $2.20. Eugene Cashman's Electionist returned $2.60. The other finishers in order were Amaro, On The Sly, Cojak, Inca, Play The Red and Bidson.

A helicopter was brought in to help dry off the court, but when the match started, Mrs. Reid seemed to have lost her touch on the surface.

"I had a lot of games that were 30-40 and just couldn't seem to win them," said Mrs. Reid, who earned $15,000. "I kept trying to put a little something extra on the ball but just missed."

Mrs. Evert won the first five games of the first set as Mrs. Reid had trouble clearing the nets with her drop shots over the net. Mrs. Reid, a native of Australia, came back to win the sixth and seventh games before Miss Evert broke her serve to win the set.

"I'm sure they won't quit. They'll work hard," added Canadians left wing, Yvon Lambert, who scored the winning goal with just 3:48 remaining in Saturday night's comeback 3-2 triumph and gave his club a 3-0 lead in games. Mere minutes before he scored, Lambert had hit the goalpost on a clear breakaway.

"We just didn't seem to have the desire after the first period," said goalie Glenn Resch, who singled-handedly kept New York in the game with some brilliant, second-period saves hit the goalpost on a clear breakaway.

"We have a good entertainment in a pari-mutuel oriented area and a fine facility to match the need," said Makin, general manager at Seminole. "I don't do much predicting, but I have reason to believe it will be an outstanding meet."

year, rightfielder Jeff Brockway, at his disposal Tuesday night. Brockway, a sophomore from District Heights, Md., hit .390 on the season, pacing Seminole to a 19-17 finish.

Last season at state tournament time, the Raiders were eliminated in two straight games. Chipola put a 3-2 pinch in Seminole in the opener, with Dade South sending it home, 4-0.

"Don't let our record fool you... these boys can hit, and if we get the right pitching and get hot, you never can tell what might happen," adds Pantelias.

He pointed to Brevard, which came into last year's tourney as the most underrated squad in the field and walked away with the state title. Brevard was stopped in the regional game by a Georgia team last year, but this year's winner will advance straight to Grand Junction, Colo., for the nationals.

Evert Wins Easily

AMELIA ISLAND (AP) — Chris Evert knew exactly what to expect from Kerry Melville Reid and easily swept to a 2-2 triumph over Mrs. Reid in the finals of a $100,000 tennis tournament here.

"I knew Kerry would try to drop-shot me," said Miss Evert after winning 6-0, 6-0 in a new car Sunday. "That's the way she beat Sue Barker (in the semifinals) and we've played a lot of times before and that's the way she's always tried to play me."

"I just tried to be quick and put her drop shots away and I added the 21-year-old Fort Lauderdale, star ranked No. 1 in the world. I haven't won a tournament in four months so it's a super feeling."

Miss Evert had been stopped by Evonne Goolagong Cawley in the first of her last two outings on the indoor circuit. But Mrs. Cawley was not in this outdoor, clay court tournament where Miss Evert is virtually unbeatable.

It was Miss Evert's third straight title in this tournament and her 96th straight match victory on clay, stretching back almost three years.

"It's tougher playing outdoors because there are more elements you have to contend with — the wind and the sun," insisted Miss Evert. "An even bigger hazard Sunday was rain, which fell until 90 minutes before the match started."

A helicopter was brought in to help dry off the court, but when the match started, Mrs. Reid seemed to have lost her touch on the surface.

"I had a lot of games that were 30-40 and just couldn't seem to win them," said Mrs. Reid, who earned $15,000. "I kept trying to put a little something extra on the ball but just missed."

Mrs. Evert won the first five games of the first set as Mrs. Reid had trouble clearing the nets with her drop shots over the net. Mrs. Reid, a native of Australia, came back to win the sixth and seventh games before Miss Evert broke her serve to win the set.

"I'm sure they won't quit. They'll work hard," added Canadians left wing, Yvon Lambert, who scored the winning goal with just 3:48 remaining in Saturday night's comeback 3-2 triumph and gave his club a 3-0 lead in games. Mere minutes before he scored, Lambert had hit the goalpost on a clear breakaway.

"We just didn't seem to have the desire after the first period," said goalie Glenn Resch, who singled-handedly kept New York in the game with some brilliant, second-period saves hit the goalpost on a clear breakaway.

"We have a good entertainment in a pari-mutuel oriented area and a fine facility to match the need," said Makin, general manager at Seminole. "I don't do much predicting, but I have reason to believe it will be an outstanding meet."

THAT WINNING FEELIN'

Lyman High baseball assistant Donnie Smith and head coach Bob McCullough, left to right, have a worried look, but they came through without much concern last weekend, winning the district tournament over Winter Park, 9-4, to advance to Friday's regional game at Satellite Beach. The game will be played in Satellite.

Flyers Have 2-1 Edge

BOSTON (AP) — Everyone agreed. The tying goal by Philadelphia's Bill Barber at 19:11 of the second period was the turning point in the Flyers' 2-2 victory over the Boston Bruins.

With the clock running down in the period, Barber took a pass from Jim Watson, scored through without much concern last weekend, winning the district tournament over Winter Park, 9-4, to advance to Friday's regional game at Satellite Beach. The game will be played in Satellite.

"We didn't have the usual zip, but I thought we were going excellently until they got that second goal," Boston Coach Don Cherry said. "I think I'll remember that goal for a couple of years. It's a cardinal sin to permit a goal in the final minute of a period. After that you scored with just 49 seconds to go it seemed to take the life out of us for some reason."

Philadelphia Coach Fred Shero called it "the greatest game I've seen in about six years." But Cherry disagreed, at least as far as the Bruins going into the third period

Canadiens Lead, 3-0

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — New York led Game Three slip away. They had carried a 2-0 advantage into the third period, only to see the powerhouse Canadiens charge back with a goal by Guy Lapointe, a shorthanded score by Jim Roberts, then Lambert's gamewinner.

"We stopped skating in the third period," explained Islanders' defenseman Denis Potvin, who had set up Garry Howard's game-opening goal with a needle-threading pass that sent the left wing in alone on Ryan Dreyfus, who has been in goal for each of Montreal's seven consecutive playoff victories.

"I'm sure they won't quit. They'll work hard," added Canadiens left wing, Yvon Lambert, who scored the winning goal with just 3:48 remaining in Saturday night's comeback 3-2 triumph and gave his club a 3-0 lead in games.
