Conning The News

Thursday night Earl and Crela Higginbotham entertained for Jim and Louise Parker, as ever, dinner was superb and dancing was enjoyed in the ever-still Higginbotham garage. One minute it is a garage, the next a wash house (mean to say laundry) — and then with the addition of a few plastic chairs and tables, it becomes the perfect spot to have a party. Included were Judy and Jack Smith, John and Kean Ivey, John and Jean Dooley, Dave and Lew Cunliff, Harry Robson, Helen and Andy Caraway, Caroline and Jimmy Crapps, Gretchen Hill, Jane and Cliff McKibbin, John and Janie Miller and us.

Friday kept us busy for a number of reasons. By the way, it was Jackie Crawford's twenty-fifth birthday. Hope she made her annual trip to Ponce de Leon Springs. John and Jean Dooley, Jane and John Miller and Bob and I had a cocktail party for Louise and Jim Parker at the Dooley's house. The usual things happened, like maids not coming and so forth, but all turned out well. Betty Guy did the flowers, which were magnificent. Over one of the mantels in Jean's tremendous living room, she placed a blown-up snapshot of Jim and Louise water-skiing, a sport at which they both excel. Fern and hibiscus surrounded this. A smaller picture had two lines leading to a huge bank of gladioli, cressanthemums and philodendron. The shore was represented by a lacy sea fan sprinkled with shells. This was placed on the punch table. On the desk Betty filled an ancient chest with jewels and flowers and more shells—using much driftwood too, of course. Driftwood is one of Betty's manias. About sixty-five came to wish Jim and Louise goodbye. Plans are now in motion to give a party for those who aren't going anywhere. But meanwhile, it is amazing to see so many friends Jim and Louise have who wish to entertain for them. Their house on Lake Mary has become headquarters for swimmers and water-skiers, they are an established and important part of nearly every social event. Gee, we hate to see them go. And their wonderful children, Jimmy Jeannie and Suzie.

Jack and Judy Smith left Sunday morning, so Friday night was their formal goodbye too. Others attending were Helen and Andy Caraway, Barbie and Jack Morrison, Alice and Ernie Mills, John and Dave Todd (they leave Wednesday for Atlanta and I. B. M.), Lou and St. Johnson, Gretchen Hill Tom Blackburn, Elaine Libbey Harry Robson, Marge and Bill Hill, Dusty Rhodes, Lee and Dave Cunliff, Betts Linker, Earl and Crela Higginbotham, John Rareform and Kean Ivey, Cliff and Jane McKibbin, Ruth and Forrest Norrell, Betty Guy, Trella Michel (Mike sick in bed), Cy and Jean Fitton, Bob and Lorraine Langford, Ed Winters, Harriet Williams, Tommy and Penny Peterson, Bill and Betty Lemosa, Francis and Dottie Roumillat.

Lou Johnson was honored last week with a luncheon in the private dining room at Jim Spencer's. Hostesses were Gretchen Hill and Kay Dwyer. Individual fans were made into corsages with spring flowers for each guest. The centerpiece was a large double fan with lovely daisies and carnations peeking through it and around it. Lou was presented with a silver cigarette urn, and the tears flowed like wine. Attending were Elaine Bass, Katie Cummings, Rusty Lilleboe, Doris Francisco, Dot Mann, Thelma McMurray, Olivia Simmons, Shirley Youngblade, Betty Weigh, Connie Young, Arlene Bryant, Pat Knight, Marty Millspaugh and Betty Guy.

Elaine Bass gave a dessert bridge for Kay Dwyer Friday afternoon. Kay left Saturday for Norfolk, Corpus Christi and Europe, in that order, and will be gone for some time. Playing bridge were Lou Johnson, Doris Francisco, Dot Mann, Lois Peterson, Eunice Yount and Gretchen Hill. Lou won first and Doris came away with the booty.

The staff enjoyed a steak dinner Saturday night, when they dined on Bill and Betty Lemosa for the evening. The Lemoses have a lovely back yard, just made for cooking outside. Present at this affair were Marge and Bill Hill, Tom Blackburn, Betts Linker, Betty Guy, George and Marge Dickerson, Jean and Cy Fitton, Diane and John Sawyer, Louise and Jim Parker, Arlene and Marge Dickerson, Jean and Gordon Backer, Pat and Dave Todd, Blanche and Don Zeibel, and Ed Winter.

Was so sorry to hear that Dusty Rhodes' father died Saturday morning. Mr. Rhodes was known by many in this area, as he and Mrs. Rhodes have spent the last two winters here. Dusty has of course gone home to North Carolina.

Met VAN's new P. L. O. officer Friday at the Brownie Day Camp. I am informed that he is another eligible bachelor, and this time even I will have no problem spelling his name. It is McCarthy. He has some very large shoes to fill, but looks extremely capable. All one has to do is to make a mountain out of a molehill, and it gets easier all the time. This comes under the heading of "Stories I would like to tell, but do not have the courage." I am practicing the art of tolerance, thus the relating sentences that might have made sense in the above, but were intolerant have been deleted. So if none of it makes sense do the good-bye until tomorrow.

Scout program is regarded.

Mr. "Slim" Galloway represented Sheriff Hobby, and was first on Mrs. Drake's list. The sheriff's men have patrolled the camp all week and kept a man at the gate every night to prevent the damage and shaking the grounds. Mr. Sidney Vihlen was thanked for his cooperation on the camp. Silver Lake campsite is jointly owned by the Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, and they must adjust themselves to its use accordingly. Mr. William Morrison, performed a most necessary service in making a door for the latrine (the old one had been torn off by vandals); his credit was necessary carpenter. Mrs. Ralph Wight organized the tent placement and was responsible for care of the campsite. Mr. Robert Cobb, had the site leveled and cleaned with the help of the Boy Scouts Mrs. Fred Robb, recognized in every phase of G. S. donated her wonderful girls as assistants in crafts, story reading, water front, first aid and many many other activities. It was stated that without the Girl Scouts, the camp would have had a difficult time. Helping were Sally Robb, Nancy Johnson, Judy Robb, Melinda McMurray, Diane Pate, Ann Lundy and Laura Chase.

Mrs. James Buckler brought water and ice to and from the campsite every single day. And this was no easy job. Mrs. John Lundy of Otisville, a nurse, manned the first aid tent, but fortunately had only minor cuts, mosquito bites and sunburn to moderate.

Marty Millspaugh was the consultant and could take some of the credit for the songs that we heard at the ceremonies. Mrs. Margaret Lydall drove the bus out and back every day from town. Mrs. Drake also thanked Mr. Milwood, County school superintendent, and the health officer for testing the water; Julie Chase, through whose efforts the Brownie Day Camp was possible; Frances Cobb, and her able assistants, Sue Kennedy, Ruth Norwell and Louise Stuhr were responsible for the excellent waterfront program. Swimming was enjoyed everyday, and many of the girls learned how this past week.

The newspapers were thanked for their assistance in publicity; and of course, those who did the real work, the unit leaders and their assistants. These were Jackie Austin, and Betty Brown, Fly-ups, Marge Hoop and Bertha Conn, Fourth graders, and Evelyn Bowles and Betty Powell, Third graders.

Mrs. Randall Chase thanked Mrs. Drake, and the camp director was the object of much applause. The singing of "Our Chale" and "America", preceeded the playing of Taps. Then it was all over for another year, and the children were departing with parents, loaded down with the crafts and ready to demonstrate newly learned skills. Decorated ice-cream cartons (some with leaves, some spatter paint, or nature scenes) were filled with oil cloth stumps, boards of shells for beautiful pictures, and name tags of wool. The shells were donated by Mr. Colman.

Mrs. Robb provided the last can that held ice, and City Products donated the ice.

The success of the Silver Lake Brownie Day Camp depended on so many people that I am sure several have been left out of this article. But even if they have not been thanked publicly, either by Mrs. Chase, Mrs. Drake, or myself, they will know in their hearts that their helpfulness has done something fine for the Brownie Scouts of Seminole County.

WHAT IS HAPPENING

Will Beason is taking the story... He lives on the Box P ranch in Easter Valley in frontier Colorado with Joe and Sarah Pardo.

looked and listened, and sent for Al Beam. Suddenly I was mad. Because they had brought in Al Beam, they had caused the final break between Joe and Sarah Pardo.

CHAPTER 2

I SAW Carlton ahead of us, a sprawling cluster of houses just below the junction of the East and West forks of Easter Creek.

Now the town was directly ahead of us, with a narrow bridge spanning the creek. Not a word had been spoken since we left the ranch.

Joe said: "You boys go on. If you see Beam, tell him I'll be along." He left us, turning toward the house.

On our side of the street was a blacksmith shop beside the livery stable; next to it was a vacant store and beyond that the schoolhouse.

That was Carlton, strung out along a single street that was often ankle-deep with dust, or deeper still with mud, without sidewalks or lawns or shade trees.

As I stood beside Dillingham, I noticed five men sitting on the benches in front of the store, watching us while they pretended not to. They were strangers.

There was nothing new about this issue. Still, it was vital to me because it had separated Joe and Sarah. Sarah would do exactly as he had said she would.

If Sarah really loved Joe, she would go with him.

M/SGT. RICHARD A. FRANK JR. (right), the unit's 1st Sgt., and Pfc. Robert Carver, company clerk, prepare one of the many reports due prior to Summer Field training.

Guardsmen Readying For Summer Camp

The Sanford National Guard unit, Co. B, 154th Armored Infantry, is currently making final preparations for the annual two-week summer field training period at Fort Stewart, Ga., June 30-July 14.

Last Sunday all but the final details for the movement were accomplished during an eight-hour training assembly at the 4th Greyhound buses for the local Army.

The unit will leave by charter South Georgia post at 7 a.m. Sunday June 30. The Company will return to home station at 4:45 p.m. Sunday, July 14.

The first detachment of Sanford Guardsmen will depart at 4 o'clock Thursday morning. These men will form the Unit's advance detachment and will be under the command of Sgt. James J. Kendall. They will travel by military conveyance with the other vehicles of the Battalion.

The advance detachment has the responsibility of transporting all the unit's mess, administrative and training supplies to Fort Stewart. They also must draw and set up the unit's post equipment, including beds, bedding, kitchen supplies etc. They must have everything ready when the main body of troops arrives.

During the two-week training period the local unit will receive training in basic and advanced Armored Infantry tactics.

In addition firing will be conducted with all the unit's individual and crew served weapons, including the 81mm mortar, 3.5 inch rocket launcher and the 30 and 50 caliber machine guns.

Saturday, July 4 is Governor's Day at Fort Stewart and the Governor's of Florida and Georgia will be honored by a full Division review of the 48th Armored Div., Florida and Georgia National Guard.

The Sanford company now has a strength of 80 enlisted men and three officers and is under the command of 1st Lt. John O. Keeling Jr. This year once again the Sanford unit will attend camp 100 per cent as is required by the Reserved Forces Law of 1945.

This will be the tenth summer field training period for Sanford National Guard units since the unit's reactivation following its return from active Federal service during World War II.

THE SANFORD UNIT keeps its vehicles in top condition. Here Sp2 John D. Benton, r unit mechanic, spot paints an M-35 truck.

THE LOCAL UNIT is completely self sustaining. Sp2 Willard Sessions, a first cook, packs the mess equipment.

TRAINING IN BASIC and advanced military subjects is conducted at every meeting of the local unit. M/SGT. John S. Kridler Jr. conducts an examination in Map Reading.

JACKY FENWICK

Talked with Doris Belcher this morning, and found out she attended a baby-shower the other night given in honor of Nancy Bauer. Co-hostesses for the party were Mrs. Naomi Rosebuck and Mrs. Margaret Bullard. It was held at Mrs. Bullard's home on Elliot Ave. Attending were Mrs. Doris Belcher, Mrs. Peggy T. well, Mrs. Mary Muntz, Mrs. Barbara Humphrey, and Mrs. Maikham. All the guests are the wives of men attached to the Dispensary at the Naval Air Station. The hostesses served cake, ice cream, and cokes, and several games were played.

And you know what? That is the extent of the news I've been able to glean today! It's a sad but very true fact that it's impossible to write a Navy news column without the cooperation of all the enlisted personnel in town. I've been constantly amazed at the reception this column receives, and at the number of people who read it. Granted, the reception isn't always good, and I'm sure I've stepped on more toes than I've heard from, but I've found that that's one of the risks involved in writing this. I hardly need remind those of you who read this that I'm NOT a professional writer, and I don't know any of the "tricks of the trade" on how to find news where there doesn't seem to be any. So I'm making another appeal to all of you to PLEASE phone with any kind of news you might have. A baby-shower, new neighbors, transfers, parties, leaves, anything of that sort, all make interesting reading to people who know you, or just other Navy families. Well, I've asked before, and usually had some results, so I'm hoping for the same this time. I can't go out and "pry" news out of people; I have to wait for them to call me. The phone number is Fairfax 2-2711, and if you don't keep this in mind, we're the only Fenwick in the phone book. (That's about the only distinction!)

It hasn't been very hard to guess that I'm in a very low slump at this point; has it? But they insist on something to print, and I can't think of anything better than an out-and-out appeal to those of you who have any interest in this column.

I guess I've spent enough time talking about nothing so I won't bore you any more today, and hope that I'll have SOME news for you tomorrow!

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN

There seems to be nothing new under the sun in Sanford except people, and there are many of those. As fast as our old friend leave, new ones report in. Tonight Tom Blackburn is having a cocktail party at the B.O. Q. to introduce his relief, Captain and Mrs. Jim Healy. Change of Command ceremonies will take place the eighth of July and Tom will go to his new job in Washington.

Anna Bear has returned to Sanford, cutting short her trip. She had planned to go to Olathe to see John, who is going through J. A. TU, but he flood waters were extremely discouraging. Patty has returned with her, but the other children are staying in Illinois for a longer visit.

Eyle and Bob Williams had a cocktail party Friday night. If you are ever been curious about Polly Brubaker's paintings, now is the time to see her stuff. She has twenty-five paintings on display in Powell's Office Supply. The object, of course, is sale, but even if you are not in the market these refreshing water colors are a treat to see. Landscapes dominate the exhibit, with scenes of California, Cape Cod, and Wyoming. Two of the paintings are framed; the rest are unmattd and consequently lower in price. Polly is making room for the work she expects to be doing on Florida.

Ruth and Bill Barron are leaving Tuesday. The packers are at their house now. The Barrons were given a silver dish by Johnny Miller this morning—and were robbed of all the public speeches they could have made at a party. They were most appreciative and will think often of VAHQ and Sanford.

It is getting late and I have very little else to say unless I ramble on with inanities. Certainly the weather should come in for a pat on the back. For many months the rain has by passed Loch Arbor completely while providing showers in town. Yesterday and today we have been blessed with drenchers, and even the canal in Little Venice has taken on a watery look. There is but one problem. Wet laundry is not conducive to inspiration—and my mind is most concerned with the former. Perhaps I should take advantage of Dottie's dryer while they are away. No sense letting the Kings have a lower light bill than usual.

Modern Laundry Area Is Great, But Essential Equipment Works Anywhere

By IRA MILLER Farm Electrification Bureau

It's not always possible to have your laundry where you want it in older farm homes unless you're planning an extensive modernization program. Until that big day comes most farm families just "make do" with the space available, crowding into it the equipment they need while waiting for dreams to materialize. Pictures above and below are typical of many such situations.

Poor idea! Not at all, we think it's good. There'll come a time when this farm wife will move her electric water heater, automatic washer and dryer upstairs where it will be next to or a part of her big kitchen. That's the plan and money is being set aside regularly for that purpose.

Until the builders arrive, however, there's the present to think about. Modernization, in this case, is for the future. But the equipment necessary to help her be a full-time partner with her farmer-husband could be had today. And that's the way many farm families are approaching their housekeeping problems. Buy the automatic laundry equipment they need when they can and install it where space permits. In this case the farm laundry is in a basement room. An electric water heater was selected because it can be installed anywhere nearest the point of greatest hot water use and does not require a flue. Better lighting is on the way, and mom, dad and the kids are happy while waiting for that great-day dream laundry to make its appearance in the days ahead.

Ready-to-serve... and full of good milk nourishment!

Children love the rich, chocolate flavor of Borden's Dutch Chocolate Drink. Mothers love it for different reasons. First—because it's full of good milk nourishment. Second—because it's ready to serve. No measuring, no mixing—just pour it cold right from the carton. Borden's Dutch Chocolate Drink is a wholesome dairy food beverage made with real cocoa imported from Holland.

Buy it at your store or from your Borden milkman.

Children Need Early Guidance To Help Them Decide On Future

Educators and economists are greatly concerned over reports that the United States is lagging behind rival nations in the number of students training to be scientists and engineers.

Is it possible that the road to easy money is becoming too wide open and alluring? That would certainly not change the course of ambitious young men who know that any worthwhile accomplishment in life must include something besides monetary reward and calls for work, both mental and physical. But a chance to get into the big money without using much time or effort is always a temptation and has too often drawn men of brilliant minds and talents away from important goals more difficult to attain.

Social Security System Success

Anti-Americanism

The recurrent news about anti-Americanism calls for more reflection than immediate anger. It has been adequately demonstrated that affection and friendship cannot be bought or gained by sheer propaganda. This, however, does not mean that the responsibility for anti-Americanism must be laid solely and simply at the door of the U. S. Information Agency.

The reasons for anti-Americanism are many and complicated. The Russians, through their propaganda and their hate-America campaigns, have carefully and persistently nourished these feelings. But many other factors are at play—resentment against American policies, envy of American wealth and power, misunderstanding, ignorance, dependency on America, the presence of so many American soldiers, civilians, businessmen and tourists abroad, the introduction of aspects of the so-called American way of life in other countries, American automobiles and soft drinks, the PX system—all of these are factors.

No matter what we do, we will win universal affection. This we must recognize. Policy comes first, and upon us has fallen the task of manning the defenses of the free world. To fulfill this task, which is in our own interest, is primary; being liked is secondary.

We cannot be all things to all men. While we could not deliberately offend or provoke, we must keep first things first. And policy is the first thing. Any hopes of universal "togetherness" are illusory. Also, we must distinguish between dangerous anti-Americanism and that which is not dangerous or important. Only the former need we combat or seek to neutralize.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Last week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

Hopes rose measurably this week that the world's three great nuclear powers might take soon a historic "first step" toward a disarmament agreement. Soviet Russia had proposed, in the United Nations disarmament negotiations in London, that tests of nuclear weapons be suspended.

The United States took a decidedly friendly attitude toward this proposal. One reason was that Russia, in a radical departure from its traditional policy, proposed that control posts, equipped with scientific instruments, be set up in the countries concerned to make sure that any illegal tests would be detected.

But the United States sought also an agreement under which the nuclear powers—United States, Great Britain and Russia—would bring within an agreed time to stop production of nuclear weapons and to reduce existing stockpiles.

President Eisenhower and Japanese Premier Nobusuke Kishi opened a conference with a round of golf on the Burning Tree course in Washington.

Kishi's negotiations with Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles were expected to result in the establishment of a new basis for Japanese-American relations.

Japan's position, in the Far East, with Communist China and Soviet Russia as its immediate neighbors, made it evident that Kishi was likely to be Eisenhower's most important guest during the spring and summer diplomatic visiting season.

Kishi arrived in Washington one day after a federal judge had ruled that the United States must not turn over to Japanese authorities Army Specialist SC William R. Girard, accused of killing a Japanese woman on a firing range near Tokyo.

The ruling upset an administration decision to permit a Japanese court to try Girard under the Status of Forces agreement covering American troops stationed in Japan.

Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy held that Girard was clearly on duty when the woman was killed. Because of that, he said, Girard was entitled under the Constitution to trial by an American court martial.

The administration appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court.

"Deeply shocked" . . . "Abuses that could be perpetrated by a police force all-powerful, pitiless and unshamed by any shameful act . . ." "Appalling descriptions" of tortures.

In such words as these, a United Nations special committee denounced Soviet Russia's savage suppression of the Hungarian revolt last November.

Russian troops were used to crush "a spontaneous national uprising" and to overthrow a "legal and popular" supported government," the report said. It characterized Premier Janos Kadar as a puppet.

The report was the most vigorous denunciation of Soviet terroristic actions ever made by a U. N. agency.

A special meeting of the U. N. Assembly, with all 81 members attending, may be called to follow the report.

Look Ahead At Top World News

By CHARLES M. McCANN

United Press Correspondents around the world look ahead at the news that will make the headlines.

CHINA
Relations between Soviet Russia and Communist China are due to suffer a chill. Mao Tse-tung, the No. 1 Chinese Red leader, is expected to visit "independent" Communist leader Wladyslaw Gombolka of Poland next month. The Russians tried hard to get Mao to visit Moscow first. Latest word is that Mao refused, even though he has to pass through Moscow to get to Warsaw. He said the Poles invited him first.

Dashed Hopes
The impending Senate filibuster against the civil rights bill has all but dashed the hopes of congressional leaders for an Aug. 1 adjournment. Optimists at Capitol Hill now say they may get away by mid-August. The pessimists say Labor Day week end is more likely.

Small Rat
Western air observers smell a rat in the Moscow announcement that the big annual air show for June 30 has been canceled because of unfavorable weather forecasts. The cancellation was announced last Friday—nine days before the show.

Effective Treatment
Kynex is reported effective in the treatment of gonorrhea, infections, dysentery, respiratory infections and rheumatic fever. There has been one case where the drug reportedly helped to cure a patient of pneumonia which had been caused by gonorrhea. Doctors report that it achieves easier bowel evacuation, produces no noticeable evidence of sensitivity or toxicity and does not seem to result in accumulative action or habituation.

Brief Boluses
Celontin is the new anticonvulsant found effective for petit mal epilepsy seizures. These are brief seizures of only a few seconds duration in which the patient's eyelids or eyebrows twitch. He may stare vacantly and act slightly confused for short periods following the attack.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Q: Are vegetable fats as digestible as animal fats?
A: Yes, they are.

Too Late To Classify
By RUSSELL KAY
With the legislature out of our hair for a few months, schools closed and summer in full bloom, Floridians like folks everywhere are planning vacations and looking forward to a period of rest and recreation.

The problem of getting away for a few weeks is a lot tougher than it used to be. There is no longer a slack summer season in Florida. Business and industry are booming, tourist travel is hitting new peaks, summer replacement help is hard to find.

With the summer just starting, visitors are pouring into the state from everywhere. Resort areas are already crowded. "No vacancy" signs are as much in evidence as during the height of the winter season. Buildings continue brick in many areas despite tight money and high interest rates.

Now industrial enterprises that have recently entered the Florida field are completing high plants and personal directors are screening applicants for jobs. Home builders are working overtime to provide housing for new residents who are seeking a place in the Florida sun.

Incidentally, development of this laxative was actually started because of a picture appearing on the cover of a national magazine. The photo showed a duck sinking in water made "wetter" by addition of a synthetic agent. Researchers at the University of Michigan experimented and found that the agent's wetting action resulted in a softening and bulking of hard fecal masses by promoting penetration and retention of fluids within the lumen of the bowel. By combining this agent with another, the new laxative was produced.

It took five years to develop Celontin and another five years to test its safety. It is available only through prescription.

Watch for a determined—and possibly successful—attempt by the opposition to end conscription for the new West German army when the government reports to Parliament Wednesday on the results of maneuvering draftees in the Iller River. The draft bill barely squeezed through Parliament last year. Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss spent the week end consulting 30 generals and admirals on the best way to meet opposition attacks.

Sports Outlook
The weak international entry list in the Wimbledon tennis tournament starting in London today is spurring demands for an "open" world championship in which professionals and amateurs would compete against each other as they do in golf.

Lloyd's insurance underwriters of London, the world's biggest gamblers, are getting ready to set odds on the change that atomic power plants might accidentally blow up. A committee of the association will make public tonight a report on whether insurance companies should issue policies protecting against peacetime nuclear disasters. Insurance companies all over the world are expected to follow Lloyd's lead.

Agriculture News

By CECIL A. TUCKER II
It doesn't take much magic to produce two plants—or even two hundred plants—where only one grew before.

You need not be an expert, either, to propagate plants by rooting cuttings. All you need is a simple propagating cut, proper care and the will to try.

Dr. T. J. Sheehan, assistant ornamental horticulturist with the Florida Agricultural Experiment Stations, says that most of our ornamental plants can be propagated by softwood cuttings. You can use either constant mist or more conventional methods. For more detailed information on rooting cuttings, there are Extension circulars which can be gotten free at the county agent's office in the Court House.

The best time of year to take cuttings is late spring or early summer, or at the time the wood starts to mature. This is usually about four to six weeks after the spring flush of growth.

A very young twig would actually have the largest number of root primordia, or the places from which roots will grow, but it will have little stored food. On the other hand, a fully mature twig will have the fewest root primordia, but will have the most stored food. For this reason, you would be wisest to choose half-mature wood as a happy medium between the two.

On plants like azaleas and camellias, it is easy to select the wood, because it begins to turn brown as it matures. But on other plants, where the color is uniform it is more difficult to select the wood.

Make cuttings of this sort at least four to six inches long, with three to four sets of leaves. Remove the lower pair of leaves and stick the cuttings about 1/2 inch into the rooting medium. Leave as many leaves as possible, because the leaves are the cuttings' food manufacturing plant.

Proper care of the cutting from the time you take it until you stick it into the medium is very important. Take cuttings in the morning when the plants are full of water. Use a sharp knife, as soon as you make the cut, place the cutting in moist burlap or cloth and fold the cloth over it to help keep it from wilting. Then carry it to the medium and stick it in.

Any well-drained and well-aerated medium—such as sand, vermiculite, will make a good rooting medium. The length of time required to root a cutting will vary with the plant material, the temperature, the method of rooting, and other factors. When your cuttings have five or more roots 1/4 to 1 inch long, you can take them from the propagating frame and plant them out or pot them.

A DETACHABLE SHRUG adds a formal touch to a simple dinner dress of warp-printed silk taffeta from the Herbert Bonheim collection for summer. In tones of watermelon pink and cornflower blue, the princess dress has a scalloped neckline. The shrug is draped and fastens with a bow.

Enjoy the wonderful flavor of fresh raspberries in this delightful dessert which is a unique combination of chilled vanilla pudding and whipped raspberry-flavored gelatin. Together they make a light and flavorful summer pie or parfait dessert—ideal for warm weather entertaining.

Raspberry Frost Pie
1 package vanilla pudding and pie filling mix
1 cup cold water
1 pint fresh raspberries, crushed and sweetened
1 package raspberry-flavored gelatin
2 baked 8-inch pie shells

Combine pudding mix and milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat. Pour into a bowl. (To avoid surface film, place waxed paper directly on surface of hot pudding.) Chill.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Set bowl of chilled gelatin in a larger bowl partly filled with ice and water. (Be sure it rests firmly in larger bowl.) Whip gelatin with rotary beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream.

Each addition until well blended. Fold in raspberries. Pour into pie shells. Chill until firm (about 1 hour). Before serving, garnish with whipped cream and whole raspberries, if desired.

*If desired fill one 8-inch pie shell and pour the remainder of the filling in parfait or sherbet glasses and chill until firm. Before serving, garnish with whipped cream. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

DOWN THE ALLEY It goes as Deanna Dietrichs, 1320 Magnolia Ave. sends the first bowling ball in yesterday's first class down the alley. Bowling is a part of the city-wide recreation program which continues throughout the summer months. (Staff Photo)

Over 18 Turn Out For Bowling Program

More than 18 youngsters turned out yesterday for the first class in the city-wide recreation program's bowling program.

Alleys of the Sanford Bowling Alley on Magnolia Ave. were turned over to the young teenagers as Floyd Richards, Sanford school teacher, instructed the class.

Bowling balls, their weight, scoring, how to approach the alley, spares, strikes and other bowling alley lingo were explained.

First up to try her hand at rolling one of the huge balls down the alley was Deanna Dietrichs.

Richards assigned the group to alleys, three to a team, to begin the summer-long instruction in one of the most exciting games in which the group will participate each Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Bowling is just a part of the summer recreation program under the direction of John Angel, Recreation Director for the city. Included will be, in addition to the bowling, swimming, archery, horseback riding, skiing, and many other games in which youngsters of every school age can participate.

Careless Boatmen Hazard On Water

There's no room for blinks on the water. Hot-rodding and careless operation of small craft are as welcome as a hateful hearing.

Courtesy and adherence to the rules of the road are the mark of a good driver. Here's a breakdown of basic rules of the road, each a contribution to safety and good boating.

1. When two craft approach each other head on, each should bear to the starboard (right) so as to pass port (left) to port.
2. When one boat is overtaking another, the craft doing the overtaking should use discretion in selecting the passing side which will allow for the most clearance without endangering any other boat or object, making sure to keep the craft in deep water.
3. When a boat is passed from the right, the boat being passed is required to yield the right-of-way and should alter its course and reduce speed to come under the stern of the passing boat.
4. Boats leaving ships, wharves, and piers have no rights until they have cleared the area entirely. The rule calls for proceeding slowly with maximum caution.

Both girls and boys are joining in the program to bring the total attendance to an unprecedented figure.

Everything from arts and crafts to reading at the Seminole High School library and dancing in the evening for Junior and Senior high school girls and boys has been scheduled for the season-long program.

5. Fishing boats, whether anchored or underway with nets, lines or trawls, always have the right-of-way. Always slow down and keep a good distance when passing fishing boats. Try to put yourself in the place of the fisherman who is depending on quiet and no water disturbance for a successful day.

Redlegs Sharing Individual Honors With 3 Other Teams

Johnny Vander Meer's Palatka Redlegs won the Florida State League's first half pennant by an impressive margin but, according to official figures, for the first half released at league headquarters here today, they had to share individual honors with players in St. Petersburg, Tampa, and Cocoa.

As expected, St. Petersburg manager Neb Wilson led the league with a .379 while producing the season's first 100th hit in so doing. Wilson was tied out of RBI honors by Palatka's Red Helms who pushed 66 across to 65 for Wilson.

Gainesville's veteran Germain Pizzaro came up with his 10th homer last week for leadership in that department, while Neil Sketers of Palatka was away out front in stolen bases with 37 to 18 swiped by Tom Giordano, Leesburg Pitcher. Sketers also had crossed the plate the most times—75 in 69 games.

Among the pitchers, it was all Tampa, Cocoa, and St. Petersburg as far as individual marks went. Left-hander Harry Coe, Tampa had won 11 out of 13 and had a 1.30 earned run mark. Julio Guerra, Cocoa right-hander, had the most wins—14, and had gained the most—158 in 137 frames. And a third South all-star hurler—Julius Grant of Cocoa—had lost the most games—11 while winning six.

Hank Majoski's South All-Stars, chosen by the sportswriters, put it all over Vander Meer's North team at Palatka Friday night as 1,167 looked on. In a fine burst of hitting, Southern squad won out 8 to 4, with Guerra, Bob Fish of Cocoa, and Wilson of St. Petersburg the stand-outs, as was Bob York, Leesburg right-hander who started for the North. It was the South's first win in four starts against a North team.

As the second half opened Saturday night, new umpiring assignments were in order. Veteran Auburn Bates is teamed with rookie Bob Estill; veteran Charlie Silverstein is with rookie George Kennedy; veteran Lou Bert is with rookie Harry Gimmer, and rookie Bob Matweva and Ed Holly are together.

Upcoming as a Tampa highlight is a unique double-header there Monday night July 8. Daytona meets Tampa in a regulation nine inning game starting at 6 o'clock, while Miami and Havana of the International League will play in a second nine-inning tilt 20 minutes after the first game ends. Host will be Bill McDonald, owner of the Tampa team.

Tampa officials also announced that until further notice, all Sunday games there will be played at 3 p.m., 7:45 p.m.

Texas accounted for slightly more than 50 per cent of the nation's marketed natural gas production in 1956.

NEW YORK — The announcement that Olympic champion Pete Rademacher would be Floyd Patterson's next heavyweight title opponent, after he disposes of Hurricane Jackson, shapes up as boxing's biggest hoax or its most dismal disgrace.

The feeling here is that it must be a publicity gag to gather a bit of free print for the impending "fight of the century" between Patterson and the trophy from Fay Hookaway. They just couldn't be serious.

The next thing you'll be hearing as the toms-thunder in old-time abandon is that Patterson saved somebody from drowning and that Jackson captured a wild bear single-handed, meaning that he didn't even need both of them.

Outboard Motor Rundown

- Today's outboard motor — no matter who makes it — is a sound piece of engineering, designed for tough use and long life. If you're all set to leave the dock and you find yourself with a balky motor, here's a rundown on what check. This simple once-over: be the answer.
1. Make sure the vent in the filler cap is open and free of obstructions.
 2. Make sure the shut off valve is open.
 3. Make sure there's fuel in the tank. This embarrassing little oversight makes outboards extremely difficult to start.
 4. Make sure there's no foreign matter in the fuel line.
 5. Make sure the filter is clean.
 6. If you have a reserve tank, make sure the line and connections are correct.
 7. Make sure the spark plugs aren't fouled, corroded, cracked or chipped.
 8. Make sure the spark gap is the correct distance (.025) is recommended for most outboards.
 9. Make sure you have no loose, broken or disconnected wires in the ignition system.
 10. Make sure you have mixed your fuel properly and in the proper proportion (your outboard service manual contains this information).
 11. Make sure you have no water in the fuel.
 12. Make sure your cylinder head gasket is okay.
 13. Make sure your piston rings aren't clogged with carbon.
 14. Make sure the cylinder walls are free of carbon and are not excessively worn.
- Chances are, by using this check-off list, you will be able to locate trouble quickly and get underway. If, after this check, your motor still won't start, it is suggested you take it to an authorized dealer for professional examination and service.

Semi-Pros Open 2nd Half Of League With Win Friday Over Longwood tain Rademacher for the alleged $250,000 guarantee but you could get the rest of the U. S. Olympic boxing team thrown in for free on such a deal.

To think of throwing Rademacher in against Patterson is like stopping a bowler's elephant with a champagne cork. Give poor Pete a meat cleaver in each hand and I'll still lay you 10 to 3 he couldn't last three heats.

Even his Olympic manager Milt Holt, had but few kind words for Rademacher before the young giant surprised everyone, including himself, by winning the heavyweight title at the Australian games. Holt shook a harried head when Rademacher was mentioned, admitted that the lad could punch somewhat, but implied sadly that the chin was strictly from China.

Guarantee Dead Giveaway
All of which makes Jack Hurley's announcement that he would post a $250,000 guarantee on a Rademacher — Patterson fight, a dead giveaway as a publicity buildup for the Jackson bout. This is the ancient maestro's manner of paying off Gus D'Amato Patterson's manager, for naming Hurley the West Coast promoter of an if-and-when title bout in those precincts.

They must be reading the most colossal fraud of all time if they actually mean to try to put the 29-year-old Rademacher, a novice, in against Patterson.

Hurley, D'Amato et al can be laughed at for this comic suggestion. But if they're serious, they ought to be shot.

The Sanford Semi-Pros started the second half of the Central Florida league season Friday night in Tinker Field with their batting shoes on as they blasted perennially powerful Longwood 13-0 with the toothy shutout pitching of Jim Krider.

Delton Helms started for Longwood but didn't last a third of an inning before he was five runs in the hole. Relieved by Ed Brooklyn, Longwood fared a little better.

Krider aided his own cause with a double and a single for the afternoon. Gene Yost tripled and singled, Wisenauer tripled and doubled and Storch doubled and singled for Longwood's misery.

Pitching in a three-way tie for second place after the first half, Sanford moved into a highly coveted position with a barely covered-out Sunday in a scheduled game against the Orlando Area they go this Sunday in Clermont.

State Taxes Imposed By Legislature Effective July 1

The 1957 session of the Florida Legislature enacted into law many significant changes in Florida's tax structure, changes designed to provide funds to meet the demand for increasing state services and to provide funds for county school boards to raise teacher salaries and to catch up with needed school construction.

I think it is interesting to note that Florida's elementary and secondary schools received more than 48 per cent of all the funds which were appropriated by the 1957 Legislature," said Ray E. Green, State Comptroller. And he added: "When you add the fund appropriated for higher education, of course, the percentage is even much higher. More than 65 per cent of all the funds appropriated by the Legislature went to education and welfare. This should be no cause for concern. On the contrary, I think the people of Florida can be proud of their recognition of these important state services."

Primarily, legislative tax changes were made in the structure of the state sales tax, by the expansion and broadening of the existing tax and by including certain items which were previously exempt. The funds collected by the General Revenue Fund for State's General Revenue Fund for state services, except that the first $18,000,000 collected each year (a total of $36,000,000 for the biennium) is earmarked, first priority, and will be returned to the county school boards under the Minimum Foundation Program formula for matching purposes under the teacher salary increases and the school building program.

Here are the changes in the state sales tax:

When the sales tax was first enacted into law in 1949, it provided that the tax would start at 9 cents, with a tax of 1 cent on each 9 cent purchase. In the 1951 session of the Legislature, this portion of the original law was amended providing that the sales tax would start on purchases of 11 cents and that all items less than 11 cents would be tax-free.

This provision of the law has again been changed with the tax now starting at 13 cents and applying to all 10 cent items. This will bring under the sales tax law many thousands of items and purchases previously exempt. A 10 cent soft drink or a 10 cent coffee, for instance, will be taxable at the rate of 1 cent. (This tax will not apply, of course, to general groceries and medicinal items, which are exempt from all sales taxes).

Prior to 1949, there was a 4 cent state excise tax on cigarettes paid by the distributor directly to the state through the purchase of stamps to be placed on each cigarette package. In addition, many cities in the state levied additional city taxes on cigarettes.

In 1949, the state excise tax on each package of cigarettes was increased to 5 cents with the funds collected in the cities reverting back to the individual municipality, and the funds collected outside of the city limits allocated to the General Revenue Fund for state government services. At the same time, cities were prohibited from levying any additional tax on cigarettes over and above the state tax. There was no sales tax on cigarette purchases, either by the pack or by the carton.

Under the new sales tax law, cigarette purchases are now taxable at the same 3 per cent rate as other items covered by the sales tax law. On purchases of individual packages of cigarettes, the 3 per cent sales tax will apply on the full purchase price (which includes the Federal and State excise stamps) and will usually amount to 1 cent per pack. On the purchase of cartons, the 3 per cent sales tax will apply on the cost of the entire carton, a carton of cigarettes costing $2.45, for instance, carrying a state sales tax of 8 cents.

Alcoholic beverages, a term which includes both beer and liquor, are now subject to a state excise tax, but until this session these beverages were not subject to a state sales tax paid directly by the consumer of the beverages.

During the last few years a glaring loophole in payment and collection of sales tax in establishments serving alcoholic beverages was discovered, especially in places of business which served food. In many cases, for instance when a person visited a night club or restaurant and consumed beer or an alcoholic drink along with his or her dinner, the waiter or waitress applied the 3 per cent tax, which is applicable to the food purchased in the restaurant or night club, to the customer's entire bill. Thus the consumer was paying a sales tax on what was then a non-taxable item, beer and liquor. Yet, it was impossible for the state to collect the portion of the tax erroneously paid by the consumer on the non-taxable items without inspecting every single bill and check paid by the customer.

an impossible task in a state as big as Florida.

This loophole has now been closed and under the new law all alcoholic beverages consumed on the premises where sold are subject to the 3 per cent sales tax, as are all malt beverages (beer) consumed on the premises. There is no sales tax on packaged liquor purchased to be consumed at home and there is no sales tax on beer unless it is consumed on the premises.

The original sales tax law of 1913 exempted from the provisions of the sales tax all purchases of items of clothing selling for 10 dollars or less regardless of the number of items involved. Thus, a customer could purchase 5 shirts at a cost of 5 dollars each, each tax-free, for a total cost of 25 dollars, also tax-free. Yet, if the customer purchased one item totalling 25 dollars, he paid a sales tax of 75 cents. In addition a customer purchasing a 5 dollar shirt and a 45 dollar suit, for instance, for a total purchase of 50 dollars, paid no sales tax on the shirt and a dollar and thirty-five cents on the suit.

There was a great deal of confusion in connection with this clothing exemption. Often times, by mistake, a sales tax was paid on a tax-free item when it was included in a long list of purchases which also included taxable items. In some cases items which could be divided, such as an ensemble, were sold as more than one item, tax-free. Checking and enforcement was tremendously difficult and involved the inspecting of every single purchase slip in a given establishment.

Under the new law, all clothing

Missile Fired Today From Cape Canaveral

Keeling Says Guard Is Better Trained Than Ever Before

1st Lt. John O. Keeling Jr., commanding officer of the Sanford National Guard unit, Co. B, 154th Arm'd. Inf. Bn., spoke before the Sanford Lions Club at their weekly luncheon at the Yacht Club yesterday.

Speaking on National Guard's importance to the nation and the state Lt. Keeling told the Lions that the Guard is at its largest strength in history and is better trained than ever before.

Of the local unit he stated "we now have over 20 men in our unit and if the last two weeks are any indication when 12 new men enlisted we should continue to gain in strength."

"More and more veterans are now enlisted in the Guard," he added, "and this of course plus the six months active duty now required of all non-prior service men means that our standards will continue to improve."

Lt. Keeling spoke of the Guard's outstanding record in all wars in which our nation has fought including the recent Korean conflict.

The Lions also heard of the activities that the unit will undergo during its two week Summer Field Training period which begins next Sunday at Fort Stewart, Georgia.

The Sanford unit will be 100 per cent at Field Training this year and will have 16 men either undergoing six months active duty training or awaiting orders for that training.

Yesterday's meeting was the first conducted by the new Club President W. Hugh Duncan.

Takes Off With Loud Roar

CAPE CANAVERAL — A large missile was fired from the guided missile test center here shortly after dawn today.

Another was fired shortly after 1 p. m. today.

Witnesses reported that the missile took off with an ear-shattering roar that was louder than made by the giant Atlas, the world's first inter-continental ballistic missile fired unsuccessfully earlier this month.

They said the rocket today appeared to be one of the largest ever fired from the top-secret test center, and speculated that it might have been either the Army's Redstone or Jupiter.

The public information office at the base issued the following terse statement several hours after the firing:

"A missile was fired at the Air Force missile test center at the Cape Canaveral launching site today. Extensive flight testing of rocket missiles in support of the long range ballistic missile program, and others, has been going on for some time. These tests will be continued."

Officials would not give the type of missile, or estimate the success of the test.

One observer told United Press that it appeared to be one of the most successful launchings at the base.

"It roared off the ground with a terrific noise-louder even than the Atlas," he said. "I shot straight up in the air like an arrow, picking up speed very rapidly. Then at a high altitude its vapor trail disappeared and it leveled off and headed down range over the Atlantic in a southeasterly direction."

He said that unlike most firings, today's test shot was observed by only a few persons. Generally the firing preparations tip off residents and they line the beaches.

South Florida Has 'Solid Hold On Boys State Legislature

TALLAHASSEE — North and South Florida will butt heads in the Boys' State gubernatorial campaign, but South Florida interests have solid control of the Legislature.

The 445 high school students who are delegates to the week-long Boys' State meeting Tuesday chose a South Florida and a North Florida candidate for governor.

Attending the week-long "know your government" activity from Sanford are Dickie Rountree, Al Collins, Pat Donahue, Sidney Vihlen and Richard Phagen.

Jack Russell Weaver, 16, of Miami Springs will run as the Federalist candidate and James Russell Graf, 16, of Marianna, will carry the nationalist banner. The election is Thursday.

There was no dispute over who held the upper hand in the mock Legislature elected by the youngsters, who are here to learn about operations of city, county and state government.

The boys picked 32 senators, nine of them from Dade County and only 11 from towns further north than Orlando, and an 80-member House with only 24 North Floridians.

Bridge On SR-46 To Be Replaced

An appropriation of $650,000 to replace the bridge on State Road 46 and $30,000 for the Seminole County approach to the bridge is a part of the State Road Department budget for the six-months beginning July 1.

"I am glad to hear that the Osteen bridge is not yet in the planning stage since the Sanford-Titusville Canal is planned through there and a high level bridge is needed," said J. Bradley Osham, chairman of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Long Range Highway Planning Committee.

Pointing out that the committee is still in the planning stage, he said that the committee is still in the planning stage.

JACKSONVILLE — An early federal trial was promised today for a Seminole County constable and a state prison official charged with shooting two escaped Negro convicts, one fatally, when they were cornered by a posse.

George Alexander Kelsey, 41, the constable, and Alex D. Stanley, 46, foreman of the state road camp in Seminole County, were charged with violating the civil rights of the two prisoners.

Kelsey and Stanley, named in indictments by a federal grand jury at Jacksonville a week ago, were arrested Tuesday at their homes near Orlando and released under bonds of $1,000.

Kelsey also serves as police chief at Orlando.

Lee Gary, Mayor of Orlando, refused to make a statement this morning relative to Kelsey. He said "All I know is what I read in the paper and I will not make a statement."

Other members of the Orlando Town Council are B. F. Wheeler Jr., J. Y. Harris, Joe I. Beasley, and Carl Daul.

Sentiment in Orlando is "we need protection out here. Everybody is scared," as they recall the Hollingsworth ax attack by the escaped prisoners and the incident when an Orlando citizen was shot protecting a nearby family.

It is expected that the question of Kelsey's indictment will come before the Orlando Town Council meeting Monday night.

The incident occurred in March, 1955 when three men escaped from the Orlando road camp Thomas Hollingsworth, 61, was attacked in an ax assault from which he received two broken arms and his head was injured. (Continued on Page Seven)

FP&L To Compromise On Rate Reduction

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Power and Light Co. of Miami is trying to work out a compromise with the State Utilities Commission on a reduction of rates in order to avoid a drawn-out hearing.

McGregor Smith, chairman of the board of the power company, conferred here Tuesday with Lewis Feltz, general counsel for the Utilities Commission.

Smith said the company would reduce its rates voluntarily rather than go through a lengthy rate hearing. He did not submit any specific figure, but said FP&L cannot operate and finance a necessary multi-million dollar expansion program for less than 7 per cent on total capitalization.

The commission on June 13 ordered the company to cut its rates by July 15 in order to produce a net income of 4.5 per cent. Present profits amount to 7.2 per cent. The commission charged the company's present income is around 4 million dollars a year too much.

The commission set Aug. 19 as a hearing date on the rate reduction if the company refused to reduce voluntarily. But Smith said the company could not properly prepare for a rate case by Aug. 19 and that a formal rate hearing would be costly and time consuming.

NAS Control Tower Aids Plane Landing

A civilian plane was brought in safely through the efforts of the Sanford Naval Air Station Control Tower in cooperation with the Orlando approach control.

The civilian plane, according to a Sanford Naval Air Station spokesman, was lost in the Sanford area for approximately one hour yesterday.

Yesterday morning, Aviation Chief Air Controller W. T. Galloway, USN, received notification from the Orlando approach control that a Cessna type aircraft with unidentified pilot was lost in the Sanford area with fuel running low.

Since the Orlando approach control does not have direction finding equipment, the Sanford Naval Air Station tower was requested to bring its direction finding equipment into use and steer the aircraft over the Sanford tower and then to the Orlando municipal field.

This was accomplished, said the spokesman, by the Orlando approach control relaying direction finding instructions to the aircraft through the Sanford Naval Air Station.

The mission was successfully completed about 9:30 a. m. yesterday with the pilot landing at the Orlando municipal airport. His identity is still unknown.
