Korean War Vet Admits Starting Series Of Fires

MIAMI (UP) — A much-deserved Korean War veteran Wednesday confessed to starting a series of fires, including a $250,000 hotel blaze here in 1953 and a New York Army camp fire in 1952 that took the life of a 19-year-old soldier, police said.

Billy Watkins Moody, 37, was brought to Miami for investigation Monday after serving a six-month jail sentence in Key West for theft. Officers said he confessed to setting a fire to the Roman Hotel and starting a fire that destroyed the Key West First Baptist Church in 1952.

He also admitted burning down a church in Kentucky and starting fires in four military camps in three states.

In 1953, Moody told Detective Warren Holmes, he started the fire at an Army office building in Camp Drum outside Walterton, N. Y., in which Pfc. Jack Winchester, 19, of Monroe, N. C., was killed.

"I still don't know why I set those fires," he said. He was scheduled to go before a psychiatrist today.

Moody, who said he served six months in four U. S. military service, told police he burned down his own home in Meridian, Miss., at the age of nine after starting the blaze, he said he carried his baby half-sister to safety.

Trustees Seeking State Control Over Coastal Structures

TALLAHASSEE (UP) — The trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund have called for state control over "coastal structures" designed to prevent beach erosion or damage.

Trustees Director Van Ferguson said legislation has been filed to construction of several groins which were placed by the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Groins are long structures built out into the ocean which trap and hold sand deposited in the water. However, the groins often cause erosion in other beach areas while piling it in one place.

The trustees asked Ferguson to recommend regulations governing the construction of groins, seawalls and other coastal structures on state owned land.

Ferguson said a preliminary study showed that applicants to build such structures should be required to furnish evidence of upland ownership, maps and construction data and a report on the proposed groin by the Coastal Engineering Laboratory at Gainesville.

He said the regulations should also provide for removal, by the applicant, if the groins are ineffective, had served his purpose or was causing erosion or damage.

Ferguson added the trustees might need some kind of legislation to implement the control program because injunction and other legal processes might have to be used to make it effective.

He said the trustees staff would be guided in the issuance of permits by recommendations of the Coastal Engineering Laboratory.

Gov. LeRoy Collins asked Ferguson to make sure there were beach-protection clauses in all contracts permitting heavy minerals mining on state beaches.

He said he understood there had been some fear in Duval and Volusia counties that beach mining would cause erosion.

Ferguson said area contracts contained such clauses to protect public interest.

Recently property owners in Volusia County asked the trustees not to issue any further permits and rescinded those already granted. And in Duval County, land owners asked for assurance that mining near Jacksonville.

'Drummer' Skill Active At 88

HURON, S. D. — An 88-year-old search for other members of his family came to a happy ending for Kent Walker when two strangers rang his front doorbell and one of them said, "My Name is Cole."

The two strangers were Walker's older brothers, Ralph and Jim Cole of Gary, S. D., whom he hadn't seen since their parents died when he was three years old.

Walker, another brother and two sisters were put in a children's orphanage wouldn't disclose his whereabouts. He was the last of the children to be located.

Ironically, Walker met one of his brothers one year ago unaware. He was cutting ice on the James River when Ralph, a construction worker, passed through Huron on his way to Gary. Passing the men working on the river ice, Cole stopped his car and watched. Among the workers was his brother but he never knew it.

Low-Priced U. S. Airties Passed By For Foreign Makes

DETROIT — American auto buyers, attracted on all sides for not buying small, economy cars, have been heavily shopping away at building room cars almost exclusively for foreign imports, but nobody will buy them. And they're right.

But the men mostly responsible for the low prices are the nation's auto dealers. According to the National Auto Dealers Association, the dealers made a point on their sales of 0.7 per cent last year. In the present cut-throat market, they're selling as though this is an ocean profit.

A survey here reveals that if you want a "standard-size" two-door, six-cylinder car with a heater and turn signals, all taxes and license paid, you can buy one for as low as $1,792.

Dealers are slashing from $180 to $200 off factory-recommended list prices on their cheapest cars. This is going on all over the country.

Taking the car described above, you can buy a Studebaker Scotsman down to $1,705, a Chevrolet Delray down to $1,705, a Ford Custom and a Plymouth Plaza down to $1,695.

Price Comparison
On the high side, one dealer wanted $1,770 for a Scotsman, while Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth dealers asked all the way up to $1,898. All prices were straight sale, no trade-in.

Some of the dealers who asked more seemed the low-price dealers of using the "low-ball" or the come-on to get the customer interested. But the low-price dealers insisted they would make the deals offered. It was freely admitted trade-in allowance would be considerably less than the "high-ball" estimates given on trade-ins on high-priced new cars.

How do these prices compare with prices for smaller foreign cars?

State Beneficiary Of Forest Fire Prevention Drive

Florida and the other 49 states of a brand new, full-blown seven states get the use of money for prevention campaigns for state of high social importance which by their scope or nature would not be undertaken by commercial or other interests. Ad Council projects have included programs for blood donations, war bond purchases, civil defense, and democracy.

Ad Council acceptance of a project makes available to the state the best creative talent of designated advertising agencies at no cost. From Conn. and Calif. of Los Angeles has produced the national forest fire prevention campaign.

The annual CFFP is somewhat a miracle of coordination and generosity. The fact that it exists at all is that the Advertising Council has taken on forest fire prevention as one of its public service projects.

The annual CFFP is somewhat a miracle of coordination and generosity. The fact that it exists at all is that the Advertising Council has taken on forest fire prevention as one of its public service projects.

When the CFFP material is ready, it is sent to the individual states for distribution, and it is federal and state money which pays for the bills for services not donated by the Advertising Council.

Florida, like most of the other states, blends its CFFP material into a total forest fire prevention program which goes on all the time and includes such activities as personal contact, speeches, newspaper and feature stories, school programs, work with civic groups, women's organizations, and youth groups, and production of publications.

Khrushchev May Be Aiming At Direct Conference With President

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Nikita S. Khrushchev, in taking over the prime ministry of Russia, may be aiming at a direct conference with President Eisenhower.

over the formal governmental leadership himself. It had been predicted that Nikolai A. Bulganin would be ousted as Premier at the current meeting of the Soviet parliament. It also had been predicted, however, that Bulganin's successor probably would be one of several up and coming younger men in the ruling Communist Party. At Low Point Khrushchev already was the No. 1 man in fact in Soviet leadership because he is the First Secretary of the Party, in control of the political machine which reaches into every hamlet in the Soviet Union.

The month-long negotiations of a United States - British - French - Russian summit conference on world tensions reached a low point in the last exchange of United States-Soviet communications. These were the United States diplomatic memorandum of March 8 and Russia's reply of March 24. In the March 8 note, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles asked:

"What is the purpose for which a 'summit' meeting would be held? Is it the purpose merely to stage a spectacle? Or is it the purpose to take meaningful decisions?"

Causes The Reply
Dulles was talking of Russia's obstinate refusal to conduct preliminary negotiations in which a solid basis of agreement for a summit conference could be established. Russia's reply was uncompromising. It expressed resentment at Dulles' suggestion that the conference might be turned into a king of theatrical show, a spectacle. The Kremlin laid down a list of summit conference conditions which Dulles summarily rejected. If Russia's terms were accepted Dulles said, "It would mean that on the way to the summit we would have lost our shirt."

Thus, at the moment, it looks as if there must be a radical change of attitude on one side or the other. Bulganin, in his voluminous series of letters to Eisenhower starting last December had mentioned the possibility of direct United States - Russian negotiations.

Officers Arrest Three Theft Ring Leaders

PART OF THE LOOT taken by a theft ring of three youths and recovered from the home of a young Longwood man. Sheriff Verne Brewster (left) and Sheriff J. L. Hobby check over the merchandise.

Three ring-leaders in a widespread theft ring that has been terrorizing Seminole County for months are in jail today charged with breaking and entering, theft and arson.

Thursday, Sheriff Hobby said, "When the three youths and a stopped in Orange County and picked up for allegedly stealing several boxes of pies and cakes and one set of fender skirts."

Sheriff J. L. Hobby said this morning, "We've known all the time that they have been stealing but nothing could be pinned on them."

Arthur Allen, 17, confessed to local authorities and revealed the operations of the gang, Sheriff Hobby said this morning.

"First break in the case came Thursday," Sheriff Hobby said, "when the three youths and a stopped in Orange County and picked up for allegedly stealing several boxes of pies and cakes and one set of fender skirts."

One of the three got away from Orange County investigators and "we picked him up in Seminole County."

Russia Imposes Halt To All Nuclear Tests

MOSCOW (UP)—Russia today imposed a halt to its tests of all forms of nuclear weapons.

The ban was proposed before the Supreme Soviet by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

It came on the same day that Premier Khrushchev presented his cabinet list to the Supreme Soviet. This list named former Premier Nikolai Bulganin to the relatively unimportant post of president of the state bank and promoted Khrushchev's protégé F. R. Kozlov to the rank of first deputy premier.

The Supreme Soviet had yet to approve the proposal, but such approval could be taken for granted. But if the United States, Britain and other nuclear powers fail to take a similar step, the Soviet Union said, "naturally" would have to reconsider the action in the interest of its security.

The council of ministers proposes that as a first step the Soviet Union unilaterally stop tests of all forms of nuclear weapons. He did not mention a date when the proposed ban should take effect.

complete destruction of existing stocks with appropriate control." But he said Russia—"regrettably"—was the only country ready to sign such an agreement without delay.

The Soviet move comes at a time when the Russians are reported to have completed the latest in a series of nuclear and thermonuclear weapons tests in their Siberian and Arctic testing grounds and just before the United States is scheduled to start a new test series of its own at Eniwetok in the Pacific.

The foreign minister put forward the dramatic proposal of Nikita Khrushchev's new cabinet after a preamble in which he charged Russia was the only one of the three atomic powers ready to agree on a ban.

"The governments of the U.S.A. and Great Britain are still not showing any readiness to agree to this, although such steps by the three powers who have created nuclear weapons would not undoubtedly be received with gratitude by all mankind," Gromyko said.

Pilot Dives 300 Feet To Avoid Another Plane

NEW YORK (UP)—A National Airlines pilot dived his loaded passenger plane at 300 miles an hour Sunday to avoid a head-on collision with a smaller plane.

The DC-6B airliner was approaching New York on a flight from Florida with 58 persons aboard. Capt. Jack A. Guthrie saw the two-engine plane dead ahead.

He put his four-engine airliner into a steep, 100-foot dive and passed safely beneath the other plane, which was not identified.

A number of passengers were thrown from their seats and flying coats, hats and small luggage. Eleven passengers were treated by an airport doctor for cuts, bruises and shock.

Sports Car Goes Out Of Control, Lands In Lake

A sports car went out of control Sunday afternoon, shortly after 3 o'clock, and landed in Lake Monroe on its top.

The 1956 Triumph, driven by Herbert S. Hirschberg, 34-year-old employe of John Burton IV architectural firm, went over the Lake Monroe sea wall about one mile north of Sanford.

Hirschberg said that he attempted to pass an automobile but because of an oncoming car pulled back into line of traffic. His light sports car hit the shoulder of the highway and rather than attempting to skid back possibly into the path of an oncoming automobile, he allowed his car to continue out of control.

The driver was uninjured with the exception of a slight laceration on his left leg. He opened the door of his automobile after it hit the water and came out. A passerby pulled him up onto the seawall.

Damage to the car was estimated yesterday at approximately $300.

Investigating officer was Constable J. Q. "Bill" Holloway. Other officers at the scene were Deputy Sheriff James Shingler and Highway "atrolman" Olin Garrett.

"You have lived up to my expectations and I am well impressed with what you are doing," Seminole County Judge William Alexander told the Future Farmers of America at their Annual Parent and Son Banquet Friday night.

Praising the Seminole County Chapter for its program and the manner in which it is carried out, Judge Alexander concluded "I don't have to tell you how important agriculture is to society. You are in a business without which we would not exist."

A capacity attendance at the annual event saw Freddie Tesio receive the award of "Star Farmer of the Chapter" for which he was presented a U. S. Savings Bond. ### Expanded Farm Housing Loan Program Revealed

An expanded farm housing loan program designed to speed up farm building construction and improvement as well as act as an additional anti-recession measure was announced today by Curtis J. Green, Farmers Home Administration, County Supervisor.
Now an owner of a farm in agricultural production and on which the operator plans to produce at least $100 worth of farm commodities for sale or home use may qualify for the 4 per cent long-term housing loan provided that he meets other standard eligibility requirements. Formerly, an eligible applicant had to own a farm that produced a more substantial part of the operator's annual cash income.
Borrowers may use loan funds to build, improve, or repay farm houses or other essential farm buildings, and to provide water for farmstead and household use. Mr. Green said that in addition to financing major construction, the loan funds can help meet many other needs for farm and farm home modernization such as additional bedrooms, utility rooms, better kitchens, and many other improvements to the home as well as to farm service buildings. While tenants and farm laborers are not eligible, the owner may borrow to do construction work or make improvements for them.
The loans are made to farm owners who need credit to finance building improvements or repairs, but find that adequate credit is not available through banks or other regular credit channels. The interest rate is 4 percent and loans may be amortized over periods up to 33 years.
Full information and application blanks may be obtained at the FHA office serving this area which is located in Room 417, Sanford Atlantic National Bank Building, Sanford, Florida.

Unemployment Insurance Receipts Total $74,442

TALLAHASSEE — Unemployment insurance payments in Seminole County to persons who lost their jobs through no fault of their own last year totaled $74,442 reports State Industrial Commission Chairman James T. Vocelle.
Payments statewide totaled $13,839,729, the greatest amount paid in a single claim year since this insurance benefits program began in 1929. Workers file claims for periods of unemployment at Florida State Employment Service offices over the State.
"We believe this Unemployment Insurance system of providing temporary income to eligible persons who become unemployed through no fault of their own is one of the most effective safeguards our economy has against recession," Vocelle said. "Our operations policy is to pay benefits to anyone entitled, and to deny benefits to anyone not entitled."
The program now covers 800,000 employees of most Florida firms with four or more workers. About three of every four workers in non-farm employment are covered. Unemployment insurance provides jobless workers with "tide over" income to bridge the gap between jobs. The most anyone can draw in a single year in Florida is $150, which is lower than the amount paid in any other state except Arkansas. The benefits extend for up to 16 weeks in any 52 week period, beginning with the week filing the first unemployment insurance claim, Vocelle said. The duration of benefits in Florida is less than in any other state, and the national average is $30 a week for 26 weeks.
The benefits are paid from the State Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund, to which all liable employers contribute up to 2.97 percent of taxable payroll on the first $2,000 wages of each worker in a year. The fund now has a balance of $92.8 million from which benefits to eligible jobless workers are paid.
"Weekly benefit amount ranges from a minimum of $10 to a maximum of $50 a week. To qualify for the $50 maximum, a worker must have received wages totaling at least $637.76 in his "base period." That this earnings sum would qualify him for only eight weeks benefits. To qualify for the full sixteen weeks, he must have earned at least sixteen times his weekly benefit amount in the base period. (The base period is the first four quarters of the five quarters preceding the filing of a claim.)
"These unemployment insurance payments go largely into the necessities of life and pour money back to the economy of the community," Vocelle said. "In this way, they play a vital role in helping to sustain purchasing power when industries release workers and reduce payrolls."

Dr. Edward Condon Warns Of Dangers From Bomb Tests

ST. LOUIS — "Many thousands" of persons will suffer agonizing death from bone cancer and leukemia as a result of poison produced by hydrogen bomb tests, Dr. Edward U. Condon has predicted.
Condon, head of Washington University's physics department, addressed the National Association of Women Dramas and Counselors. He chose as his topic: "What is this new world?" and answered that question grimly.
"Terrible inequalities exist and many of our social institutions are largely engaged in efforts to maintain them," he said. "Their existence in turn is the principal cause of the frustrations and perversions of human aspirations which lead in infants to bad behavior, in adolescents to juvenile delinquency, in adults to crime and in nations to war."
Condon said hydrogen bombs now available have an explosive power of 13 million tons, and added that one such hydrogen bomb is equivalent to more than five times all the bombs used in Europe during the duration of World War II.
"These weapons are so large and produce such vast quantities of poison that such poisons have now been found in the bones of people, especially young children, all over the world. It is no exaggeration to say that many thousands of persons in the world will suffer agonizing death from bone cancer and leukemia as a result of the poison put into the earth's atmosphere by hydrogen bomb tests that we have already conducted."
Condon said the armaments race has led to Russia's giving evidence of the ability of firing long-range missiles of the atomic age, and to the development of a hydrogen bomb, thus making obsolete a radar network across Canada.
"Large-scale atomic weapons developments simply add up to this," Condon said, "a major war in the future will mean the total destruction of civilization. It may not mean the complete destruction of every living thing on earth, for that depends on how many bombs of the present type are exploded before the war ends. It might very well mean the destruction of all life."

An Experience You'll Never Forget, One To Be Repeated

Wouldn't it be wonderful if you could, as if by magic, make it possible for a smart little youngster to walk for the first time? Or arrange to have a bright-eyed, beautiful little girl help herself in efforts to eat all alone and without aid.

There's not a person whose heart isn't just filled with hopes and longings to be of some assistance to a youngster who otherwise would not receive any help at all.

But there's one thing that we must consider as our hearts fill with kindness and prayers for these sometimes helpless youngsters — and that's the fact that it takes, in no many instances, thousands of dollars to give assistance and health.

Not the many families can spare, from their normal budgets for the household, some thousands of dollars necessary to create the normal life for exceptional children whose legs will not allow them to stand, or whose spastic condition prevents them from using their hands or arms.

A way has been provided for us though to help these youngsters. A program in which everyone can afford to participate and a program through which you can wear a big smile and say "I've helped these youngsters and my help has made them happy and grateful."

By buying Easter Seals — and using them — we provide clinics, braces, many kinds of apparatus necessary to treat them, help pay for doctors, nurses, various forms of therapy, even transportation from their homes to a school in which they're taught.

There's nothing to compare with the feeling created when an act of kindness has been done — and each one of us, every time we buy Easter Seals, or when we buy Easter Lilies as they're sold on the street, are committing acts of kindness not toward just one spastic child but to many of them.

Single one dollar bills from thousands of people add up to funds sufficient to care for the children who want and need your help.

If you want to experience the best feeling in the world just wait until you buy Easter Seals. It is an experience you'll never forget and one that you'll repeat time and time again.

Buy and use Easter Seals this year!

Government By Committee Mocked

Nikita S. Khrushchev has been "The Boss" in Soviet Russia for quite some time. Though the blandly smiling Nikolai Bulganin held the title of premier, the authority was unmistakably Khrushchev's. Now Khrushchev also holds the title.

This even does not yet make Khrushchev the new Stalin, though he is well on his way to realization of that blood-stained ambition. It does consolidate his power a bit more. It does make a final mockery of the fiction of government by committee in the Soviet Union. It does provide a measure of the hypocrisy of this man, who in his speech to the 20th Communist party congress in 1956 declared that "we must abolish the cult of the individual decisively, once and for all."

If Khrushchev had spoken his real mind on that occasion he would have said that the important thing was to abolish the cult of Stalin and thus prepare the way for Khrushchev's ascendancy. The fact that these were his real feelings has been amply demonstrated since then. One by one, the men around Khrushchev have been toppled and shunted off into positions both remote and obscure.

In due respect, Khrushchev's concealment of title as well as power will be a

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN, Society Editor

Guests galore are in Sanford these days—and we earnestly hope the weather takes a turn for the better. We, too, are tired of saying this is unusual.

Garnet and Eleanor Ashby stopped over in their boat Friday and spent the night with Sally and Bill Hutchison, before they all went up to Welaka—by water of course. The Ashbys are from Jacksonville, but are leaving shortly for Mexico City where they will live for a year. Garnet is Elaine (Mrs. Ewing) Dean's brother, former Sanford resident.

Finally have a roasting fire (I don't say party), going in the fireplace and it is about to shiver me. This might be the answer to many of my problems.

Anyway, back to visitors. Bill and Nancy Gray have considerable more—Sid and Ellen McCann of Rochester, N. Y., who will leave in a few days to see their son in Pensacola, Nancy's sister, Louise, from Verona, N. J. (This is a stone's throw from Montclair), and Nancy's mother, who has been here for sometime. Another sister is visiting her son, Bill Darnell, who is stationed at N. A. S., and lives at Lake Minnie.

The Grays gave a lovely party Saturday night in their honor. It was a great treat to see the Grays' lovely home, too—they have a vast collection of tasteful items from all over the world.

Henry and Jean Tamm also have company; believe the relation is Jean's sister and her husband and baby. Steve Jean will correct me if I'm wrong. Since the Tamm live next door to the Grays, the company can swap weather reports. Louise, after one day in the sun, looks as if she had spent a week basking on the beaches of Miami.

Heard that Gordy and Barbara Jacobson were in town over the weekend. Also, Bill Lemos was here Saturday night. The Lemoses will leave Washington in June for the west coast, where Bill will be on board the Ticonderoga.

A lovely threesome dining together Saturday night were Helen Andrew, Mabel Maher, and Blanche (Mrs. John) McGraw. Mrs. McGraw leaves Sanford on Tuesday, and will go to San Francisco for the Glants opening game.

Friends of Mary and Elaine Bass will be interested to hear that she gave birth to a girl last Friday. The baby has been named Sara Lynn. Elaine is with her family in New York. Further details may be gleaned from Jackie Austin.

Jo and Roy Simes have as their guests Jo's mother, Mrs. Murray of Spartanburg, S. C. and a friend of Jo's from same town, I assume. Seems that this column is all assumption tonight, but sometimes it is safer that way.

The Central Baptist Church was crowded Friday night when Lenie Rotundo and Ed Williams were married. Lenie made a lovely bride. She should be a perfect counterpart for Ed, who will forever make her an amusing companion.

Byron and Peg Butts had a tremendous promotion party Friday night. Almost caught myself a couple of Cadillac as I came around the curve, but resisted the temptation.

In these times may be a few readers who have not driven by the celery fields which first put Sanford on the map—they are cutting same celery now, and it is a sight to see. Now that we live in Loch Aor, I only see the celery on Grandville Ave., but the long green rows are mighty impressive, and the cutting of it

Lyman Students Receive Red Cross Certificates

Certificates have been issued by the American Red Cross to a number of Lyman School students who have qualified for certificates for care of the sick and injured.

The course was under the direction of Mrs. Louise Gilpin, assisted by Mrs. Esther Williams. The Seminole Chapter of the American National Red Cross is distributing the certificates.

Students who qualified were Ethel Anderson, Paula Andrews, Marjorie Bartholomew, Jeanne Beckman, Dawn Barnes, Jennifer Banton, Dorothy Camerlango, Colleen Coyle, Ruth Crump, Deanna Farina, Carol Goodall, Marie Goldman, Caroline Haynie, Derinda Holley.

Also, Cheryl, Virginia Knupp, Judy Lowdermilk, Linda Leary, Jean LeBase, Nancy LeTourneau, Loraine March, Barbara Petty, Sharon Pink, Patricia Raby, Patricia Screener, Darlene Shea, Sharon St. Amant, Thalia Theremeros, Pauline Welborn, Kathryn Wiggins, Nancy Willoughby, Diann Wojcikowski, Paula Young and Judy Wright.

A group of Sanfordites journeyed to Winter Garden Friday night to see a production of the Night Fever Follies. Incidentally, the Winter Garden group borrowed our scenery. They had the same director, Chris Carter, and he could not praise the Sanford scenery enough. Probably it is not fair to comment on their show since I did not see it, but—the consensus of opinion was that it in no way even compared to that of Sanford.

In fact, when it comes to talent, Sanford seems to have it over the entire surrounding territory. Why don't we whip up some more enthusiasm for our theatre guild?

It will take a good group to overcome the definite limitations of our beautiful new Civic Center. However, with a collection of brains, the difficulties might be solved. At the risk of picking my friends' brains, I might quote one who said, "It will be our town every night." This is my quiet way of announcing to the few who do not know, that the stage facilities are limited; there are no dressing rooms, and no large doors for scenery or drops.

What is done, though, is done. The building is magnificent. I understand that plans have been made to remedy the situation at a later date, and meanwhile for small productions the Civic Center should do very well. We cannot blame anyone for the oversight. The sketch was in the paper and we all had an opportunity of sorts, to see its flaws. That we did not is typical of our casual interest in the things that matter the most.

Of one point, we can be assured. The Youth Wing will be a magnificent place for our children. They will have a super modern building in which to dance, read, play games and listen to music.

Suggestion to Mutual Concert Association members—get solo or very small groups. The acoustics in that dome should be superb.

Today's Sports Parade

By OSCAR FREALE
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Paul Anderson, the strongest man in the world, has shifted from the military press to the body press and if you listen closely you can hear opponents' bones cracking all the way from California.

Anderson is the soft-speaking 285-pounder who won the Olympic heavyweight weight lifting championship at Melbourne. But a man has to eat, and he cracks about eating like a horse, so Paul turned to "raslin'."

His opponents cannot be counted of eating.

Marinians are, of course, the first thing a rasler has to master. To be one of the game's top world champions (one for each state) you have to register pain, rage, indignation, passion and unbridled villainy with more artistry than Sarah Bernhardt ever imagined.

Holds Little Effect
Paul, his early opponents report, makes it easy for them. The ordinary holds have little effect. Put a headlock on his 26-inch neck and try to flip him across a hip and he merely puts his hands on his knees and refuses to budge. Then, when aroused, he lays those pudgy meatheads on the offender, hoists him high in the air — and holds him there.

"If you're height conscious, it sort of gets you," one victim asserted. "You get used to flying through the air in this racket, or, ah, sport, but he holds you up there and it seems like an awful long way down when he finally bangs you to the mat."

Anderson has had some 30 matches but still trains three hours every morning.

"There's an awful lot I don't know," admits the man from Teococ, Ga., in his soft, drawing voice, "so I have to get by on strength when science fails me."

Bear Hug Favorite
His favorite hold is a bear hug although he is trying to "learn and develop" others. Whether he will ever master the flying dropkick in the deathlock drama circles, meanwhile, he still works daily with the weights and keeps a critical eye on the international weight-lifting scene.

"If I could help anyone to develop, I'd be glad to," he says. "The United States needs all the help it can get if we're going to stay up with the rest of the world in athletics, particularly weight-lifting."

"America has only about 100 good weight-lifters of various sizes," he adds. "Every phase of Russian industry, farms, colleges and the armed services subsidize athletes — especially weight-lifters because the Russians want to be recognized for their strength."

FIFTEEN MAY ENTRIES
LONDON — Fifteen countries already have accepted invitations to take part in the world wrestling championships at Budapest, July 25-28.

FSL Has Unusual Playing Schedule

Manager Believes Tigers Have Good Shot At Pennant

By LEO R. PATTERSON
United Press Sports Editor

LAKELAND, Fla. — Manager Jack Tighe believes the Detroit Tigers "have a good shot" at the American League pennant if they can pick up a good relief pitcher and a high-grade utility infielder.

To admit his pitching depth three out after his five starters and that "we would be in real trouble if we lost any of our four regular infielders for any long period."

But he isn't "the least worried" about the eventual success of his two big spring experiments — the shifting of second baseman Billy Martin to short; and shortstop Harvey Kuenn to center field.

"I wish I was as sure of the rest of the team as I am that Billy and Harvey will come through," he said.

Active In Trade
Detroit was the most active team on the trading market during the off-season and in an effort to get additional help, General Manager Johnny McHale even turned to the National League.

But time for he has been unsuccessful in his attempt.

"We'll keep on trying, both in our league and the other one," McHale said. "Maybe by the time they start breaking camp, the other clubs will be in a trading mood."

Every starting position on the Tiger club is set.

Best of Hitters
There is power there, although last year's averages don't show it. Boone slugged off to .273 with only 15 homers and 25 runs batted in, but he was playing a strange position, having shifted from third to first. Bolling, a good glove man, hit only .209, Martin .23 with the Yankees and Kansas City, and Bertola, after getting off to a good start, wound up with a mark of .178.

Although he hit only .228, Kaline batted in 50 runs and hit 23 homers. He has a chance to become one of the great outfielders of this era. Kuenn slugged to .277 in 1957, but thinks the shift to the outfield will help him get back on the hitting beam. Maxwell batted in 28 runs with 24 homers as he compiled a mark of .274.

Hogan is a light hitter, having batted .216 for Cleveland last season, but is regarded as one of the best defensive catchers in the business.

Strong Bench
The only infield reserve spot set is at first where Gail Harris, obtained from the San Francisco Giants, will understate Boone. Unless a deal is made for a utility infielder, Tighe will have to go along with Inman Veal, a good glove man who can't hit.

The Tigers' bench otherwise is

Organized Baseball's Most Unusual Playing Schedule

Organized baseball's most unusual playing schedule is due, one which finds each of seven teams playing at least one game daily from April 17 through Aug. 28, was released here today by the Florida State League.

As far as can be learned, according to executive secretary Peter Behal, this will be the first attempt in baseball history to provide a means through which the odd club of a league will not have to sit idle.

"It ought to work handily," Behal said, "since our clubs are not too far apart and most of the teams will be traveling by station wagons instead of cumbersome buses."

As released today, the schedule provides for a split season of 73 games in each half. However, these games will be scheduled on 24 dates, giving each club 24 home and 24 road dates, including nine double-headers scheduled at home for each club.

Because Orlando was slated to be idle for the first two days, the season actually will open one day earlier than planned. Daytona Beach will go to Orlando for a single opener Thursday night, April 17, although this will cost the Islanders an open date on Sunday April 20, date they were scheduled to appear in Orlando.

Regular first half opens Friday night, April 18 highlighted by a twin bill at Cocoa. Orlando plays there at 6:30 in a seven-inning tilt, after which Daytona meets Cocoa in another seven-inning affair.

At the same time, Tampa, the 1957 champions, will be at St. Petersburg, and Palatka will open at Gainesville. The teams reverse the procedure Saturday night, April 19, the Friday night visitors becoming hosts, as follows: Orlando and Cocoa at Daytona, Gainesville at Tampa, and St. Petersburg at Palatka.

First half ends June 19, with June 20 slated as an open date for the playing off of any games which have a bearing on the first half pennant. The All-Star game is set for Saturday June 21 in the city leading the league at midnight June 1.

Second half opens Sunday June 22 and closes Saturday Aug. 23, with Sunday Aug. 24 as a play-off day for games that may have a bearing on the second half pennant, and a three out of seven game play-off to open Monday, Aug. 25 if it is needed.

All seven clubs—Cocoa, Daytona Beach, Gainesville, Orlando, Palatka, St. Petersburg, and Tampa—now are in training, with new faces operating at most positions in every city.

Car Enthusiasts Planning To Form Organization Here

A group interested in cars has gotten together for the purpose of running rallies, trials and "just have fun."

There will be two classes. One is for regular members having light or sports cars and the other for those who like cars and enjoy having fun.

They will start running events in about two weeks and later on trophies will be awarded. There is an airport available for the trial runs and the group hopes to eventually start a series of production races.

There are now 13 men from the Seminole, Volusia and Orange county areas in the group.

Anyone interested is asked to call Bill Bell at FA 2-7655 after 6 p. m.

HEAD NOT ENTERED
LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Blammin' Sammy Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., is the only one of the 25 eligible golf stars who has not yet indicated that he will compete in the sixth annual $40,000 Tournament of Champions. All starters are guaranteed $1,000 with the winner of the April 24-27 tournament receiving $10,000.

strong. Gus Kernal, one of the players obtained in the 13-man player deal with the Athletics, may platoon with Maxwell in right.

Lou Skizas, another ex-Kansas City player who batted in 44 runs and hit 18 homers is sure to stick as a utility man for he can play both the outfield and third base, although he is no fancy dan at either position. The veteran Johnny Groth, Bill Taylor, the 54; Giant, and Jim Greengrass, the former Phillie and Cincinnati outfielder, are vying for the other outfield utility posts.

The "big five" of the pitching staff will be Jim Bunning 20-4, Frank Lary 11-16, Paul Foylack 14-11, Billy Hoelt 9-11 and Tom Morgan, who was 97 with Kansas City last season.

The Nervous System

There is no function in the body which is not under direct or indirect control of the nervous system.

One of the many functions of the spine is to protect the spinal cord and the nerve fibers which leave the spinal cord and pass between the vertebrae. These nerve fibers supply all the organs, muscles, and other tissues of the body.

Misalignments of the spine produce pressure upon nerve fibers, thus interfering with the normal nerve supply of the various organs and tissues of the body. As a result the affected organs cannot function properly.

The only logical way of removing the abnormal function of an organ is to correct the misaligned vertebrae which is causing the disease. This is what is accomplished by CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTMENTS.

Tanaka, O'Hara Meet In Rematch Thursday Night

Great Tanaka, the Japanese wrestler, and Doran O'Hara will meet in a rematch here Thursday night, but O'Hara had to agree to Tanaka's stiff terms.

The National Guard, which sponsors and promotes the weekly wrestling matches, announced today Tanaka and O'Hara will meet in one of three bouts at the National Guard Armory.

Last week Tanaka used a black-jack to knock out O'Hara. When he came to, O'Hara asked for a rematch but Tanaka said he'd meet O'Hara under one condition—that the match be under Japanese rules.

O'Hara, anxious for the rematch, agreed.

Girls also are on Thursday night's program with Mae Masten, winner here last week over Jeannette Collins, wrestling pretty Juanita Veles.

A mixed tag team match—with a girl and male wrestler on each team—also will be on the program.

Among domesticated animals, the horse lives the longest. It lives up to about 25 years while cows rarely live beyond 20 and dogs live five to 15 years, occasionally 20.

What Will Day By Day Living Be In Future

Outer-space satellites! Sputniks! Rocket! These are the headlines of today—what will tomorrow bring?

Perhaps the most-often pondered question about the future is—what will day-by-day living be like?

Many of the designs for the future are on the drawing boards of science and industry, or in test laboratories today. And the rest can only be surmised, by comparing life today with the way we lived just a decade ago.

Most obvious trend of tomorrow's living is the vastly-increased use of electrical power.

In the last twenty years, the use of electricity has increased five-fold. It is predicted that this figure will be tripled in the next ten years.

Some exciting ideas for the future were depicted recently on a special TV program called "Living—1970".

This was a thrilling composite of helicopters for family use, electronic marvels, weather-conditioned houses, planned communities, etc., etc., etc.

Some architects believe that the home of the future will be dome-shaped and wide-open on the inside. Area separators will be movable or folding walls, used only when privacy is needed. Wall sections may be of translucent plastic or other pre-stressed materials.

Some planners believe that the future home will be a "lazy-sun" type—where the major living areas of the home revolve to face the sun.

Most all the areas predict that the home of the future will be all-electric or electronic.

Here are some of the exciting highlights predicted for the home of the future—circa 1980 (or even sooner):

Picture waking up to an automatic alarm—perhaps by sound waves, blinking lights, clock-radio or a record built-into the pillow.

Master—control head-board-panel—just push buttons to start the coffee maker in the kitchen, open and close windows, turn lights on and off—and cook breakfast by remote control by means of culinary electronic brain that decodes a special card that selects, measures, mixes, blends the ingredients in the card prescribes—all then, puts it into the oven or cooking surface.

In the bathroom, one will shower or "tra-sonic waves that bathes or "tra-sonic—and then dry off by air.

Dishes will be washed by an ultra-sonic washer—no scraping or preliminaries—an electronic garbage disposer helps here.

Strategically—located monitor television screens will help check-up on the nursery and other rooms in the house... the telephone is "hands-free" and one can speak into and hear from any part of the room... or, one may call and

5 Rules To Follow For Beautiful Lawn

"Having a beautiful lawn is not too difficult, if you follow just five "rules".

First, establish a grade. This may be done in one of four ways: Make a gradual slope from the foundation of the house to the road; place a terrace close to the house; put a terrace close to the street; or make a combination curved surface between two terraces. Do not put a terrace midway between the house and the road.

The second point to remember is drainage. Most land upon which residences are built is already

Kitchen Busiest Room

The kitchen is the busiest room in the house—and as such, it deserves to be the most pleasant. Therefore, this is the ideal spot to initiate your home improvement program.

The aim of modern planners is to make the kitchen a "living part" of the home and not a separate "off room." The trend is to friendly kitchens without the "laboratory" look.

One of the most practical ways to make a kitchen a living, integral part of the home is to incorporate some sort of division between it and adjoining rooms. Custom building and styling make this an easy objective and beautiful furniture finish makes it more desirable. Even if it is merely a matter of separating the work centers from the eating area, there are many ways to do it.

For its home-like quality of warmth that blends with the styling of today's open-living, many experts favor hard, durable maple as a finish in the kitchen. For those who prefer a natural, grained cabinet effect, there are stain finishes that accent and compliment the true character of the wood.

For full color kitchens, there are modern decorator-approved enamels that harmonize with the overall color scheme of the room. Probably the greatest single advancement in recent kitchen design has been the tremendous improvement in kitchen appliances, especially in the use of built-in.

Completely flexible custom building permits the use of any model or style manufactured today—refrigerators, ranges, refrigerators, freezers, television, or any other appliance.

Custom-built cabinets for built-ins are designed to place the appliances at just the right height for maximum efficiency. Refrigerators and freezers, for example, can be hung on the wall at the same height as wall cabinets. Other types are available to be built into full height cabinets with the refrigerator above the freezer or side by side, depending on the space available.

Good kitchen planning is a science, incorporating several basic practices and hundreds of other important decisions that should never be left to hit or miss "saw-pulse" methods. Scientific arrangements of work and serving centers, location of major appliances for maximum efficiency as well as beauty, types of storage and utility cabinets and many similar decisions are best left to the experienced judgment of a Kitchen Specialist after preliminary conference and discussions with the home owner.

When remodeling, the Kitchen Specialist will be able to advise the most economical and efficient way to make the most of the space at hand and at the same time design a kitchen that can change the family's entire mode of living.

This expert planning produces a kitchen with individuality, yet completely practical for the immediate and long range needs of the homeowner.

Color Coordination Easy Way To Add Life To Drab Room

Color coordination is the easiest and most beautiful way to add charm and life to a drab room or hall; and the modern trend is to use a predominant shade with one or two contrasting color accents.

The biggest problem may seem where to begin... one successful method is to take your favorite picture, fabric, wallpaper-design, or carpet used in the area, and pick out the shade that pleases you the most.

Remember, it will be the dominant hue in the room. Maybe you will choose pearl grey, deep spruce green, or a golden yellow, and use it for half or two-thirds of the color area in the room in such items as paint, carpet and upholstery.

For accent, use one or two cheery contrasting colors in relatively small amounts. Pillows, pictures, decorations, lamp shades, and curtains can be used as color accents.

Remember, your room is like a box—with the ceiling as the top—the floor, the bottom—and the four sides.

Forget about the odd jogs and windows. Concentrate on the large general area.

Here are a few questions and answers that are often asked:

Should a ceiling be dark or light?

A dark ceiling makes the room seem lower, and absorbs the light. If the room is small, better use white or a pastel.

Should wood trim match the walls?

Use either way. Matching walls and trims make a space look larger. A spacious room achieves eye-appeal with contrasting paint trim.

How can an all-wood room be varied?

Stain the floor a deeper tone, and add bright colors in the furnishings. A room with wood paneling can be varied with a color-bright ceiling and draperies.

How about the inside of shelves?

Paint them the same color as the walls if you want to minimize the built-in, or copainting paint, for the interiors only, to cause attention to books or a hobby collection.

A last word of caution, since all colors have a psychological effect, have a family conference and decide together which hues you'd like most to live with. The

Piano Becoming Basic Item In Many Homes

With a new piano being sold for every five new homes built, the instrument has become a basic item in the interior furnishings of many homes.

A once-in-a-lifetime purchase for most families, the instrument usually outlasts two or three sets of ordinary furniture. To guarantee its beauty and long life, the American Music Conference has prepared a simple piano-care check list.

1. CHERRISH THE WOOD. A piano is a piece of fine furniture available in a variety of woods to blend with other home furnishings. Its handsome cabinet with a lustrous finish can be kept looking like new if it is given the same simple care you give your other furniture. This includes frequent dusting and occasional polishing with a thin, even coat of furniture wax used sparingly.

2. KEEP YOUR PIANO IN TUNE. The piano should be tuned within the first week it is in your home. After the initial tuning, the instrument should receive adjustment twice a year—in the fall and spring when the heat is normally turned on and off.

3. PAMPER THE PIANO KEYS. Piano keys should be cleaned with a soft, damp cloth whenever the case is dusted. Tightly wring excess water out of the cloth. Rub the keys gently from their base to the front and back—never from side to side. If the keys have been allowed to become exceptionally dirty, use a cloth dampened in a solution of water and mild soap, or, as some prefer, in milk or cream.

4. TEACH CHILDREN TO RESPECT THEIR PIANO. Children have a natural attraction to music-making instruments. But in their exuberance they may forget that shoes, belt buckles, fingernails and toys may pick and scratch. Teach them precautions and help them take care of their piano by cushioning the bench and providing felt slippers for small feet.

The importance of floor treatment in any home improvement cannot be overrated. Encompassing the largest unbroken surface in a home, the flooring, and its treatment, can make the most apparent changes in a modernization scheme.

According to recent surveys, nine out of ten homemakers prefer to have their floors carpeted. This is because carpeting adds considerable decorative beauty to a home interior through color, design and texture plus an atmosphere of warmth, welcome and comfort.

Today, however, more and more families are coming to realize the benefits of carpet as a basic construction material as well as a decorative item of home furnishings.

This has been particularly true since recent acoustical research revealed that carpet is one of the most efficient sound-conditioning materials.

Studies showed that carpet will cut airborne noise in a room as much as 50 percent—placing it on a par with specialized wall and ceiling acoustical products.

In addition, carpets greatly reduce impact noises—sounds made by footsteps and falling objects. With the trend in today's homes toward greater use of glass and other hard, sound-bouncing surfaces, the need for effective sound-conditioning is a vital one.

Also, carpet's ability to keep out cold draughts and make rooms warmer in the cold, is another factor in these days of rising fuel costs.

Actually, one of the best times to carpet the floors is when a family is planning a home improvement program, particularly when constructing new flooring.

Many households are saving considerable money by replacing their worn-out floors with inexpensive underflooring, such as the new thick plywood panels available today.

Combining subflooring and underlayment in one, the plywood panels cut down labor and building costs. They are not only cheaper than conventional flooring, but go on much faster at a reduced labor cost estimated by some builders as much as 25 percent.

Since the wall-to-wall carpeting covers the whole floor area, economy-minded homemakers find it more practical and money saving to use cheaper underflooring that will be completely hidden from sight.

Change Room's Color

Perhaps, just a moment ago, you were heartily wishing that you could transform one of them rooms of your household . . . that you could manage, somehow, to give it outstanding new beauty. Well, you can.

The biggest single change you can make does not lie in replacing your furniture or your fabrics but in changing the room's background color. This, you yourself can do . . . easily, quickly and inexpensively—with the aid of the countless eye-delighting hues of paint that are now available.

A coat of paint, applied when needed, also guards your pocketbook against costly repair bills which follow in the trail of neglect.

Actually, the ceiling, walls and woodwork of an average room can be repainted for less than $10. And as for the time it takes, you'll be surprised how rapidly you can apply the color . . . in a very few hours, at most.

Before re-painting the ceiling—or any other surface, for that matter—make sure that all cracks are carefully filled, then smoothed level with the surface.

When your patches are thoroughly dried out, sandpaper them until they're even with the surface. They're ready, then, for the application of an undercoater or primer.

Another important thing to do before you begin to paint is to remove the hardware from your doors and windows and to loosen your lighting fixtures. This will make your painting job easier and will give you the chance to clean and polish the metal until it looks like new.

It's always wise to have capable and experienced painters for such an important job. It's smart, too, to learn all you can about the procedure. Such knowledge will help you in selecting the right workmen and in understanding the factors involved.

With this information at your fingertips, you are better equipped to do your own painting, if you decide to tackle the job yourself.

If valuable help to you in either case is a little booklet called "A New Coat of Color," which is yours, free, by requesting it from the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association, 1500 Rhode Island Ave., N. W., Washington 5, D. C.

Year-Around Air Conditioning Latest Comfort

Year-around air conditioning is the latest home comfort feature being offered to today's buyer. Indications are that within the next few years provision of central systems which will supply both summer cooling as well as winter heating will be important in the planning of any new home—and fast in many "old" home owners' modernizing programs.

When modern warm air winter air conditioning known as a forced warm air system, performs many of these functions in relation to its job of winter-time heating.

It controls indoor wintertime temperature by providing heat, adds humidity to the warmed air, keeps the air in constant motion through controlled furnace blower action, distributes the warmed air to all the rooms in the house by means of a duct system and removes dust from the air by means of filter.

Accessory devices are also being developed for use in removing bacteria and indoor odors. More warm air winter air conditioning systems are being put in homes today than any other type of heating system.

In developing the year-around air-conditioning system, as far as equipment is concerned, an air-cooling unit has been added to the present warm air winter air-conditioning devices.

Simplified as these central heating-cooling units may seem, however, remember that it is the correct application of the device to meet both the heating and cooling needs of the house in which it is installed which will spell the difference between good and poor results.

This is where the "design of the system" enters the picture—engineering and installing the system to fit the house—you are assured of proper installation by consulting a qualified expert.

World Changes Are Reflected In Homes

The last century has brought about some incredible changes in our world, and each one has been reflected in the home through architecture, decorations, and accommodations.

These factors in turn affect the way we live, raise our family, and spend our leisure and work hours. Going back three generations ago or more, only the land as far

Use New 'Miracle' Decorator Fabrics

Whether it's time to redecorate the entire house or just to add new slipcovers, draperies or cushion covers—it's time to plan home furnishings with an eye to the versatility of your automatic washer and dryer. According to the Maytag Company's Product Testing Laboratory, these appliances are now designed to do more for the housewife than simply launder her clothes and linens.

Besides adding beauty to the home decor, today's "miracle" decorator fabrics can eliminate costly dry-cleaning bills completely.

When cared for in the easy, quick, home laundry way, provided they are washable, these fabrics are as durable as the most costly dry-cleaning bills completely.

Special automatic cycles, such as the "cold water wash" launder these delicate synthetic fabrics safely, easily and wrinkle-free—ready for finish-drying without ironing. And "air-fluffing" of household articles between laundering adds even more bounty to the budget by cutting down on washing time and expense.

Try out the washer and dryer duo on odd cleaning jobs while you go about your regular household duties. For example, those heavy chenille bedspreads which the "at-on" look can be pulled off beds, popped into the dryer at "air-fluff" control setting, and actually "dust-accumulated" while being fluffed up and freshened; leaving the fabric dust-free and ready to be put right back on the bed.

Use this same "beauty" treatment for shag rugs while you clean the floors. They'll retain their original bright hues and won't need laundering as often.

Try it for draperies, curtains, slip covers and dressy skirts for a sparkling look from washing to washing.

A time-saving trick for safe curtains with plastic or bone rings attached is to fold the fabric over twice and pin it, with the rings inside according to the fabric and rebang. If rings are plastic, avoid use of hot water.

Kitchen Appliance Center For Built In Efficiency

The kitchen appliance center is a revolutionary gadget that is designed for modern "built in" efficiency. It provides the home-maker with the convenience of automatic timing and enough electrical current to operate her coffee maker, toaster, electric skillet, roasting oven and fry pan at the same time.

An idea that will appeal to many is a model where extension cords retract into the unit when not in use.

Appliance centers are a wonderful way to provide more horsepower to your kitchen.

The automatic timing provided by the appliance center is one of the many conveniences it affords. The homemaker can set an appliance to start in her absence, or set it to turn off at the end of whatever cooking time she desires.

The built-in timer frees the homemaker from bothersome "watch and wait" kitchen time.

Circuit breakers are built into some of the new appliance centers. If a faulty appliance is used, the circuit breaker trips. To start the electric current again, just flip the switch.

Newest trends in fixture design and location are bringing refreshing new brightness to home interiors.

Special sit-down sinks, low-height plan decks for reading or telephoning, island or peninsula serving and eating bars, counter-height pass-throughs, hanging glass-door wall cabinets or base and wall cabinet dividers with exposed shelves all add glamorous touches to the kitchen area.

Well-Planned Bedroom Can Be Used For Others

In the average home the bedroom seems to take a "back seat" when it comes to remodeling and improvement plans for the house.

A well-planned bedroom can double as a living room, sitting room, study or child's playroom according to family needs.

If you find your sleeping area confining and drab—an inexpensive fix-up trick can be accomplished with relaxing, new color schemes or wall-paper.

Floor-to-ceiling cabinets for wardrobe storage, particularly in a young person's room, make the individual homeowner aware of the need for space and, of benefits from repairing and remodeling.

In the form of a "self-audit," the contest will help the owner determine, perhaps for the first time, adequacy of everything in and around his home.

The Council, nationwide organization representing all segments and all levels of the repair-replace-rebuild industry, has scheduled its contest in two parts, both with cash prizes. All home owners in the nation are eligible to enter, with no requirements that particular product be purchased.

The first phase of the contest to run from January 1 to June 30 will take the form of a quiz—"How's Your Home?" Official contest entry blanks can be obtained from local repair-rebuild businessmen who display the IHC membership seal or from manufacturing members of the Council. They will be found in many issues of numerous consumer magazines.

This phase is designed for participation in by all members of the family. In the form of a check-list, the entry blank will help the family organize its home improvement program by requiring that each room in the house be carefully examined as to the condition and adequacy of everything in it—inside and out!

After completing the check list, entrants will be asked to answer such general questions as whether they have adequate fire, disaster and liability insurance, information on home improvement financing, etc., etc.

Finally, they will be asked to tell in 25 words or less why they feel it is important for them to improve their present home . . . reasons like boosting the value of the home . . . "have more enjoyable family living" . . . etc.

Entries will be judged on the basis of sincerity and originality, rather than on writing excellence, grammar or vocabulary.

A total of $125,000 in cash will be awarded winners in this phase, with a $25,000 grand prize, $10,000 second prize, $3,000 third prize and 450 other cash awards.

The second contest phase, to run from July 1 to December 31, will require actual completion of a home improvement project with the aid of a Council member. Another $125,000 in cash will be awarded winners.

In some cases, manufacturers will offer "bonus" awards to entrants who use their products in completing the home improvement project. Persons considering this phase have been urged to take "before" and "after" pictures for judging purposes.

Local repair-rebuild-replace businessmen who have indicated sincere interest in helping their customers in their home improvement efforts will be recognizable by their display of the distinctive IHC membership seal.

Architecture has been released from the limitations of the structural systems using the post, lintel, and arch.

Insulated points of support combined with cantilevered floors and roofs have made great areas of windows and doors possible.

There are all types of light-weight sheets of synthetic building materials to go with the new systems of construction.

Outmoded closets have been replaced by storage units.

The living area has an affinity with the outdoors. The dining table becomes a transition between living and cooking areas.

We are now living in space, not cut off from it, and beauty, comfort and convenience are no longer part of our homes.

What will the future hold? It would be interesting to be able to look ahead a hundred years and see what our descendants will have for homes, and how outmoded we may be considered today!

Special sit-down sinks, low-height plan decks for reading or telephoning, island or peninsula serving and eating bars, counter-height pass-throughs, hanging glass-door wall cabinets or base and wall cabinet dividers with exposed shelves all add glamorous touches to the kitchen area.

Approaches To Changing Heating System

Everybody's talking about fixing up the old place these days. And, of course, that means the heating system, too. If you're wondering what to do about it, there's a course of action that will fit your needs and pocketbook at the same time.

First, there's a minimum approach. In homes equipped with steam or old-fashioned gravity flow hot water systems, powered by a hand-fired boiler (and there are many of these throughout the country), the homeowner can convert the hand-fired boiler to automatic firing.

Most boilers can be converted easily by a capable contractor. Age of boiler is not necessarily a factor. Life expectancy of home heating boilers is from 30 to 40 or more years. At this age, many boilers are still providing good heat, and with the addition of automatic firing, they may be made more efficient.

Second basic improvement is the addition of a "pump" or circulator to convert the system to forced circulation as opposed to the slower gravity type. This helps the system to "answer" faster with more heat when it's called for by the thermostat.

Then there's a maximum approach. If year 'round air conditioning is desired, heating-cooling baseboards or convectors may be installed instead of conventional boiler-chiller or convectors.

A combination boiler-chiller may be set up in the basement where it will take up no more space than the regular boiler alone.

The most advanced of these are compact central or remote type systems that employ no ductwork and offer individual room comfort control.

One system has been designed for homeowners who seek zoned heating and cooling levels matched to family activities or to individual preference. Individual room control is provided at no extra cost, eliminating the need for expensive zoning.

The heart of this new system is the compact room unit. Hot water for heating and chilled water for cooling are supplied from a remotely located boiler and chiller to each room unit, through inconspicuous or concealed piping systems. The chiller is available with a water-cooled condenser for areas where the use of water is restricted.

Since piping and distribution units are identical for heating and cooling, either of these functions may be installed initially and the other added at a later date.

The boiler and chiller require only a small amount of floor space and are housed in simple, attractive jackets. They may be placed in the basement or in a kitchen, utility or family room or the garage, where slab construction is employed.

Relief for hay fever sufferers is offered by a large, removable filter in each unit that screens out dust, dirt and most pollen from the air. Operation is quiet—even a light sleeper need not be disturbed while the units are operating.

$125,000 Home Owners Contest Launched By IHC

An exciting $125,000 homeowner's contest is being launched by the Home Improvement Council as part of its program to make the individual homeowner aware of the need for space and, of benefits from repairing and remodeling.

A portable television set, particularly with a remote-control switch will give the folks an entertaining midway when the young fry take over in the living room.

Younger members of the family are entitled to privacy, too. And, converting a bedroom to versatile living space doesn't have to be a major task or expensive undertaking. Skillful planning can provide study and hobby areas, room for music and books.

Here hard wearing, easy-to-care-for vinyl, plastic or rubber floor coverings are ideally suited to a young person's room. Built-in fixtures for proper light, plenty of outlets for hobby tools, record players, etc. are vital, too.

That "spare" or guest bedroom need not stand idle. With new, comfy convertible sofas, fold-in-cabinet beds, and other modern sleeping conveniences—this room can serve fulltime duty as a fun or study room without the usual bedroom accommodations.

And, for plus comfort for every member of the family consider these important extras—electric blanket, room air-conditioner and dehumidifier, clock-radio and smart-looking lamps for before sleep reading.

What better way to start and end a busy day than in a cheerful comfortable bedroom!

Recent Trends In Siding Told

Some recent trends in siding are: Use of narrow widths of bevel siding or narrow widths of vertical siding to give an appearance of greater size and distinction to smaller houses.

Use of random width bevel siding applied in regular rotation, starting perhaps with a 4 inch board and going up to 10 inch boards.

Use of vertical siding on one area of a house as a counter-point to horizontal siding on long, low contemporary houses.

Diagonal application of siding for special architectural effects.

A "wrap-around" wood deck faced with narrow horizontal siding circling two or more sides of the house as the modern equivalent of the old-fashioned porch.

Continuation of siding from the outside to the inside as paneling—a theme linking outdoors with indoors.

Design of fences and windbreaks in continuation of the lines and pattern of the house siding.

An old linoleum can be satisfactorily painted if all the dirt and grime is removed first with benzine or some similar but non-inflammable cleaner. Two coats of any good floor enamel or special linoleum lacquer will do the trick.

PLUMBING SERVICE

Existing radiation can remain as it is on the second floor. Limiting modernization to basement and first floor allows installation of new piping at minimum cost, since most of the work is done in the basement and does not involve extensive alterations or opening of walls.

Consult three reliable heating contractors in all cases for help and to find out which approach is most suitable for you and your pocketbook.

Check Can Be Cut

Home improvement work can be done if the homeowner is willing to pay for it. It can be done with cash, or it can be done with a check. If you have a check, it is often easier to get the money for the job. You can get a check for the amount of the job, and then you can give it to the contractor. The contractor can then cash the check and use the money for the job. This is a convenient way to get the money for the job.

Among the jobs for which a check can be used are: painting, plumbing, electrical work, carpentry, and other home improvement work. A check is a good way to get the money for the job, and it is often easier to get than cash.

Interior and exterior painting is a popular home improvement project. It can make a big difference in the appearance of your home. A professional painter can give you the best results. Electricians can install new lighting, outlets, and switches. They can also check for safety hazards. This is a job that you should not try to do yourself. A professional electrician can give you the best results.

Carpentry is another popular home improvement project. A professional carpenter can build new furniture, cabinets, and other woodwork. They can also repair existing woodwork. This is a job that you should not try to do yourself.

Other home improvement projects include landscaping, painting, and more. A professional contractor can give you the best results for any of these projects. They can also give you advice on how to care for your home.

It is important to get the right contractor for your home improvement project. Look for someone who is experienced and has a good reputation. Get quotes from several contractors before you decide. This will help you get the best price and the best quality of work.

Home improvement is a great way to make your home more comfortable and enjoyable. It can also increase the value of your home. If you are planning to sell your home, home improvement is a good investment. A professional contractor can help you get the job done right.

Plan New Kitchen For Greater Convenience, Comfort, Liveability

Plan your kitchen for greater convenience, comfort and, most of all, liveability.

Your modernized (or new) kitchen should improve your personality and provide time and work-saving arrangements. Basically, all rooms are divided into three basic shapes — the L-shape, the U-shape, and the T-shape.

If your living room and bedroom feature a definite theme, carry the same idea into the bathroom. Homes with Early American decoration offer endless design possibilities. To create the feeling of colonial times, use painted red bricks on the wall above the bathtub and on the floor. On the other walls, try unpainted knotty pine paneling.

Nautical lamps on the vanity counter tops. A straight-legged stool, plain wooden cabinets and other accessories will help. If your home has an Old English flavor, red is an ideal central color. Install flagstone flooring. For the walls, try bright wallpaper showing an outdoor scene. Deep red, pink, white or cream plumbing fixtures, shower curtains and accessories are made even more attractive by Old English lamps and chairs.

Chandeliers, marble-topped vanities, and a Victorian dressing table set are important in homes with a Gay Nineties theme. The floor tile might be large black and white blocks. A square bathtub and deep lavatories will blend with the rest of the home.

Southern charm also can enter a bathroom. Light blue or gray fixtures might be the predominant color here. A vanity countertop lavatory with a petticoat skirt would be lovely. Lots of drapes and ruffles to match latticework around the walls would help carry through this idea.

Landscaping costs around 3 or 4 per cent of the total value of the property, and when completed, often will increase the value of the home as much as 15 to 20 per cent.

It is interesting to note that even with the increased price, landscaping homes sell faster. Something every home-owner should know, is that tax officials consider it a permanent improvement to the property; the cost is deducted from the selling price, thus lowering the capital gains tax when the property is sold.

Landscaping also provides a wonderful atmosphere. The hedge for privacy, shade trees for coolness, grass for a carpet underfoot, flowers for decoration, and delicious fruits for the table.

When properly planned and executed, it creates a vacation-like environment for many months of the year, since at no more total cost than one or two week vacation away from home.

Shrubs and trees are used as a windbreak, to direct traffic, prevent soil erosion, and reduce traffic noise.

Attractive landscaping also increases community business. It is an asset everywhere, for "A thing of beauty (and value) is a joy forever!"

Decorators emphasize the "design potential" of wood paneling — the opportunity it provides to match and combine with built-ins and other architectural woodwork in the room, and to color-blend with floor, furniture, upholstery and drapes.

Also, wood gives permanent decoration with low maintenance, and has high insulation and acoustical values.

While its basic appeal lies in the beauty of grain and texture of true wood, it has a practical appeal almost irresistible to homeowners. It survives the kind of abuse that would require complete redecoration for most other materials. For this reason, it is favored for children's rooms and recreation rooms.

More species are used for paneling today than ever before. Among the hardwoods commonly used are oak, cherry, walnut, pecan, elm, yellow poplar, birch, mahogany, other tropical hardwoods as well as many practical softwoods.

Architects and decorators are using paneling with increasing imagination. Even the amateur decorator is fairly safe in trying out novelty paneling ideas because it is almost impossible to "go wrong" on roof effects with a material of natural beauty like wood.

One modern application is use of the same wood on both the outside and inside of the house. This utilization of house siding as paneling is effective for a fireplace wall or when exterior and interior are linked with a window wall.

Another trend is use of narrow vertical paneling to make small rooms look larger. Still another is the use of hardwood flooring for wall paneling.

There are often bargains in short lengths and random widths of lumber that an enterprising homeowner can put to work for interesting and attractive wall effects.

"ONE-WALL" shape — that permits you to work in one line of left to right, right-to-left, if space is limited, often this "wing" plan is the most ideal.

"L-SHAPE" — when you have two adjoining walls, the L-shape provides an ideal work triangle. "U-SHAPE" — where all of three or part of three walls are available — is one of the most efficient shapes for kitchen efficiency.

No matter what basic shape your kitchen may have — if the room center is open, you can gain extra work and counter facilities by the use of islands and peninsulas for storage and working surfaces.

Remember, you'll want to provide room for FOOD-STORAGE, refrigerator-freezer for the fresh items and ample cabinets to hold staples and canned goods. COOKING CENTER — your cooking and baking unit may be handled as an all-in-one item — or by individual units placed where needs are choice dictate. Work surfaces for preparing food, storage facilities for utensils and appliances should be placed as close as possible to this center.

DISH-WASHING AND WASTE DISPOSING — The ideal area for these tasks should be conveniently located between the cooking and food storage areas.

Extras you may want to consider in your "new" kitchen may encompass such items as sit-down sinks; desks serving for eating bars; pass-throughs to the dining area; hanging cabinets; built-in refrigerators and freezers; built-in T. V.'s and many of the other too numerous to mention.

Popular choices for cabinets are all steel units in white and a wide-range of colors; new copper tones — achieved by enamel and plating; stainless steel for mixer or sink finishes; fire wood units that show natural grains, or take on high-gloss enamel — or the newest of all — units that are enamel-color steel with wood-grain doors.

Electrically-actuated, an entirely new vista of convenience awaits the kitchen planner. Fresh from the drawing boards, have come such innovations as a work-center of mixer, grinder, blender, juicer etc. All operating on one motor — the motor being the built-in unit.

A new combination timer-wiring center with pull-out extension cords and outlets handles a multiple of appliances all at once. New too, is the combination sink with waste-disposer, dishwasher and water supply — all under one counter top.

New fixtures and lighting provide incandescent and fluorescent lighting devised to take kitchen work out of the shadows. Ventilating fans and room air conditioners are also practical additions to the kitchen.

If you intend to remodel your present kitchen, start with plans that are complete and mechanically-sound. It is costly to make alterations after work has started.

Professional guidance individualized to meet your budget, needs, space and personal tastes, can save extra expense and worry.

Few Pointers For Gardeners. You can't keep a good gardener down, even though she's operating from a crowded city lot. For with lush green vegetables and delightful flowers in view, the incentive to plant seeds and watch them grow is too strong to resist.

Besides, it's fun and easy. But there are several points to keep in mind to insure the success of a garden. When sowing seeds, the size of the seeds generally determines the depth to which they're planted.

Small seeds are barely covered while larger seeds are planted at a depth of about four times their diameter. If too thin sown, the hazards of garden life may cause vacant spaces in a row while if sown too thickly, there'll be the chore of thinning the seedlings out later on. So follow the instructions on the back of the seed packets when sowing seeds and you can't go wrong.

Seeds should be sown when the soil is only slightly wet. If the soil is too damp, it may pack and form a crust which the seedlings can't break through. After the seeds are covered with soil, firm down by pressing the back of the hand or by treading lightly over the ground.

The sun, the soil, and a good watering once a week will do the rest. Then wait for the harvest.

Saving Tip. You can reduce the cost of fuel for heating water by following these tips when possible: use a pan rather than running it; take a shower rather than a bath; don't let faucets drip; use cool water when it will do as well; keep heater clean and adjusted; flush storage tank regularly, and last, operate the flame as low as possible.

New Heating Systems

How would you like to live warm as toast in a house with no furnace, no flues, no radiators, and no maintenance expense?

It sounds impossible, but you can get rid of all these space-hungry trappings of outmoded architecture and still live in splendid comfort even in the dead of winter.

All you need do is investigate what electricity has done to the problem of house heating. On the market now are electrical units that can heat a house economically and yet take up practically no room. Some of them can be completely concealed from the eye.

One example is a new system of "radiant heating," utilizing thermoplastic-insulated heating wires which are hidden in ceiling. The pre fabricated heating wires are stapled to the ceiling beams before plastic or final wall-board panels are applied. When the ceiling is given its final finish, the source of heat is completely concealed. Under this system, temperature for each room in the house can be governed individually by a thermostat placed in each room.

Other electrical heating systems are baseboard heaters, heat pumps and radiant-heating panels. Operating costs for electrical heating systems are dependent upon general area's climate and local electric utility rate so in localities where residential air-conditioning is becoming widespread, the rates will tend to favor the use of electricity for winter heating.

Insulation of concrete block buildings and foundations has now become as easy as filling a sugar bowl from a paper bag.

The new method of insulating, which slashes heat losses in eight-inch concrete block walls more than 60 per cent — keeping buildings warmer in winter and cooler in summer — is amazingly itself. All you have to do is fill the hollow cores of the blocks with loose granules of perlite, an extremely light material made from a volcanic lava substance that has been crushed and then "popped" under heat like popcorn.

Perlite weighs less than one-tenth as much as sand and is pure white in color.

Select Wallpaper Pattern Carefully. You'll be an even prettier picture in your home if you select wallpaper as carefully as a new hair style. For the walls of your home are a frame for your love-liness — just as your hair is a frame for your face.

By selecting wallpaper colors and patterns that set off your special beauty — as well as the decor of your home — you'll be living there even more.

Today's wallpapers are easy to care for. Most are washable and treated to resist grease and stains. Some have vinyl impregnated colors — and these can be given the works with a scrub brush.

Before buying any wallpaper, be sure to read the manufacturer's direction as to just what type of paper you are buying. You'll want to know before you hang it whether soap and water will take care of keeping it clean.

In case you find a wallpaper which requires extra care, but the pattern and color are "exactly what you want!" — there are various products on the market that can be brushed or sprayed onto the paper to protect it. How-

Home Improvement Loan Program

For most families planning to remodel their homes, the biggest problem is the financial one — where to get the money. In most cases, obtaining financing is relatively easy, depending primarily on the amount of money involved.

In many cases, Home Improvement Council members will allow the homeowner to repay his charges for small modernization—improvement jobs on the installment basis.

If the need is great, the money probably will have to come as a loan from a mortgage lending institution—the local bank or savings and loan association—many of whom are HIC members, and many of whom are extremely interested in the home improvement loan.

Here are the most important methods of obtaining large sums of remodeling money: Refinancing or new mortgage financing. open-end or additional mortgage advance. Federal Housing Administration Title I home improvement loans, and the individual loan plans of banks and other lending institutions.

The largest amount—if the owner has completely paid for his home or at least had a substantial equity in it—can be obtained by getting an entirely new mortgage on it.

New mortgage financing means exactly what the term indicates, to get a new mortgage on a "paid-up" home. The owner of such a property can often borrow up to 75 per cent of its appraised value, or even more.

Refinancing it the procedure whereby the owner acquires a new mortgage loan of an amount large enough to pay off the existing mortgage.

Under the Title I procedure, the homeowner is allowed to borrow money for home remodeling with the FHA insuring repayment of the loan. The maximum amount that can be borrowed under Title I is $3,500 and the maximum repayment term is 5 years. Five percent discount interest is charged on the first $1,000 and 4 percent on any portion of the next $1,000 up to the maximum of $3,500. "Discount" interest means that the charges are deducted from the amount of the loan as discount at the time the money is borrowed.

The American family has come to realize that wise use of credit permits the enjoyment of better living standards without waiting or undue sacrifices.

The many possible methods of financing and the many sources of loans make home improvement a particularly desirable credit purchase.

Stated simply, the open-end mortgage is one containing a clause under which the lender can make additional advances of money for modernizing up to the amount of the original loan.

Homeowners who are not sure whether or not their mortgage contains open-end provisions should consult their lenders. Home-lenders, a lending institution will write in such a clause, particularly if the institution has adopted open-end mortgages as standard procedure since the original mortgage was written.

Power Tools Save Time In Garden

If you have a more than ordinary sized lawn and garden you have no doubt been thinking about power tools. These new type time and muscle savers are fast changing modern chores into fun.

There is a power tool for every garden need. Just make certain you select the right size and type for your garden and you'll find them a great help.

Safety, good construction, adjustability, proper use and the assurance of substantial service and maintenance facilities are important factors to consider in selecting power tools.

Lawn mowers, both reel and rotary type, the latter with a leaf mulching attachment if desired, are among the favorites.

Light weight electric-powered lawn trimmers make the trimming and clean-up jobs quick and easy and they reach in the hard-to-get areas which are so often neglected with hand work.

Electric clippers do hedges, overgrowth and some shrubs more quickly and neatly than they usually get done by hand.

Be sure to check on repair and upkeep on these "big" tools, for future service needs.

Picking Right Fixtures Important

One of the most important things to be considered in remodeling a home is the bathroom. No other room is so closely related to the general health and well-being of a family. No other room contributes more to the comfort and convenience of a home.

The first consideration in remodeling or building a bathroom is the proper selection of fixtures. If the fixtures in the present bathroom show signs of wear — cracks, leaks and discoloration — they should be replaced.

Up-to-date bathroom facilities are natural in the modern home. Many designers set this mood with a distinctive lighting effect. They install a wall of ribbed translucent plastic which can be illuminated from behind. This feature is balanced by dark walls and flooring. A glass shower-bath enclosure adds interest.

If the bathroom area is relatively large (8' x 11' or more), square bathtubs, lavatory-dressing tables, or perhaps two lavatories may be installed. Full baths with showers measuring 36" x 36" are recommended for smaller bath rooms, and often makes a second complete bathroom possible in limited remodeling space.

Many homes have space that can be converted easily into a handy powder room or a second complete bathroom. Under the stairs in two-story houses, extra downstairs closets in older residences, an old pantry off the kitchen, the basement or awkward corners and long hallways in homes of any age provide an excellent location.

Before planning bathrooms for a modernization, job, family needs should be taken into consideration. A family of more than three people needs and deserves the comfort and convenience of at least two complete bathrooms. If space is limited, the homeowner may install two lavatories in the bathroom or a lavatory-dressing table in a bedroom.

If possible, children should have a "room immediately adjacent to their bedrooms. Child-sized fixtures will encourage cleanliness. Lavatories can be connected closest to the floor, within easy reach. Mirrors can go above at the desired heights. A four-foot square bathtub or receptor tub which has a diagonal bathing area and built-in seat is perfect. Smaller bathtubs also are more comfortable for children.

Cast-iron bathtubs come in the conventional rectangular or the new square shape in both recess and corner models. A thick enamel coat gives a smooth appearance that will not get marred through many years of use. The square bathtub offers wide, roomy bathing area on the diagonal with integral seats on either side. A smaller version can be installed in little more than shower stall space, yet offers full bathing comfort.

Another innovation is the wall-hung toilet which leaves the floor clear for easy cleaning. The flush valve type of water control, once restricted to public rest-rooms, now is available for home installation under certain circumstances.

New concealed toilet tanks are coming in for much attention, too. Manufacturers now have devised ways of hiding the tank either in the wall of the bathroom or in the attic.

Once the proper fixtures have been selected, the next problem is storage facilities for linens, soiled clothing, medicines, toiletries and other bathroom articles. Cabinets added under the lavatory and above the toilet, or from wall-to-wall ceiling, provide storage space for a variety of bathroom needs. Medicine cabinets are large enough for the increasing variety of medicines and toiletries used by the family.

A recessed hamper for soiled clothes can be installed in bathrooms lacking a laundry chute. Special racks that slide in and out of cabinets are handy for hanging light laundry. A protected, low wattage bulb inside the cabinet will speed up drying and make it possible to hang "under" out of sight.

Vertical grab bars in the tub and shower, non-skid floors, properly located electrical equipment and recessed radiators contribute to bathroom safety. Ceramic or plastic floor and wall tile provides a beautiful as well as practical finish for the bathroom. These easy-to-clean materials shed water and moisture and are available in colors and patterns to blend with fixtures and accessories. Acoustical tile can be used for an attractive sound-proof ceiling. Storage closets placed against an inside wall further isolate noise between the bathroom and adjacent rooms.

Mirrors add an atmosphere of luxury, as well as to make small bathrooms or powder rooms appear larger. Warm lights in fluorescent lighting or a combination of fluorescent and incandescent lighting placed near mirrors help illuminate the entire bathroom.

Today you can find every type of bathroom fixture in the size, style and color you need.

Boilers Water Solution

On the modern morning in the modern house, in just 45 minutes, three members of the family consume 45 gallons of hot water.

Mother won't even compete with two children and dad. She'll just schedule the laundry for later in the day — when each load will knock off 20 gallons of the hot stuff. Even the water-hating younger brother will trouble ten gallons away before he reaches the breakfast table on a school morning.

In 1950, a 20-gallon water heater could supply the average family. By 1955, homeowners were installing 30-gallon ones. In 1958, the family water heater sold were models with 40-gallon tanks. Today's families boast more small children than any of the past decades. More children mean more hot water. And if dad decides to wash the car with water, he'll drain a whopping 25 gallons out of the system.

One answer to this problem is one boiler. It will insure an abundant, ever ready supply of hot water for bath-rooms, kitchens and the laundry room while providing uniform, draft-free heat throughout the house.

Savings to the homeowner include lower installation costs, fewer purchases of heating equipment and lower operating expenses. It also saves space in the basement or recreation room because one single unit does the work of two.

Modern boilers are compact, housed in attractive, smooth jackets and can be purchased with the domestic hot water tank built right into the unit.

Place Flowering Trees At Vantage Points In Yard

Flowering trees are beautiful anywhere on the property, says the American Association of Nurserymen, but you should plant them where they will achieve maximum effect and serve a definite purpose.

At a corner of the property toward the street is an excellent location, the tree being planted so you can look at it from the front windows of the house, and where neighbors will exclaim over its loveliness.

Another good location is a corner of the house to help, with other shrubs, to frame the house and tie it to the ground in a natural way.

At a driveway entrance is another likely location. Here both your family and visitors will be placed in a happy mood as they see it when in flower.

In your outdoor living room and in the back yard flowering trees can serve both for beauty and comfort, as they will give welcome summer shade. Fruit trees can provide flowers, shade and delicious home fruits for the table.

For the best species of flowering tree consult with your nurseryman. There are many trees from which to choose, including such lovely trees as flowering crab, golden chain, magnolia, dogwood, cherries, as well as others which have strikingly colored berries or fruits in the fall.

You Can Bring New Beauty To Home

Statistics fail to show the percentage, but it is safe to assume that hundreds and thousands of men and women will be engaged soon, as every year, in "doing over" some portion or all of their homes themselves.

There is a good reason why these "do-it-yourself" projects will be much larger than usual. Take the paintings of the various rooms in a house. No other art with the new easy-to-apply paint colors that are now available, repainting is actually an easy job.

For interior work, use a paint roller. You will find the color goes on like a breeze. Rollers with extra long handles make it possible to reach ceilings and upper wall areas with the greatest of ease. Even when you are using a roller, however, you will require a brush in certain areas, notable in tight corners and places the roller cannot reach.

Larger cracks often need to be filled with patching plaster. Do that the plaster will not fall out, it is sometimes necessary to undercut the crack. This makes a crack that is narrow at the surface, wider inside. Then, the plaster will be firmly anchored, when it dries.

When painting a ceiling, work across the width—rather than the length—of the room. This enables you to begin a second lap before the first has dried completely. Never try to paint a strip more than two feet wide.

Before you begin, cover your floor, your furnishings (those you can't move out)—and your head. No matter how careful you are, there are bound to be a few splatters.

Avocado pits should be put with the pointed end in the soil. The round side should be exposed to the air.

Within three months you'll have an attractive 3 foot tree-like plant with long, thin, graceful stems, and big rich green leaves.

Plant a peach pit about one inch down. Mango pits should be placed on the side with just enough soil to cover them.

The all-time favorite is the sweet potato. Grandmother used to love to plant this one.

Prop up the whole potato with toothpicks in an attractive jar. Be sure that the narrower end of the potato is resting in a bed of moist pebbles or water. You'll have a luxuriant vine in two or three months.

Be sure to have good drainage, and this can be achieved by placing broken pottery or shells in the container before you put in the soil.

Extra Shower Curtain Rod Handy

An extra shower curtain rod over the center of the bathtub provides a convenient place for the housewife to hang hand-launder, raincoats and other drippy items to dry, suggests the National Association of Plumbing Contractors. Wet garments drip into the tub instead of on the floor, and the shower curtain conceals the laundry if company drops in.

This "wife-saving" suggestion also lets the men in the family shave without having to fight their way through a jungle of lingerie.

The new "expandable" shower curtain rod, has rubber feet on each end to prevent marring wall surfaces and can be installed easily with pliers or a small wrench.

have strikingly colored berries or fruits in the fall.

Don't Let Seed Packets Get Wet Or Baked

When seed packets arrive by mail or are bought at a store, they need only be placed on a shelf, out of harm's way, until the moment to plant. It's important that they don't get wet or are baked.

Rosebushes, shrubs and trees are a different story. If such woody plants arrive in mid-week and must be kept until the week-end before planting, certain precautions should be taken.

A balled and burlapped plant should be watered. If it is a package of bare-root shrubs, wrappings should be loosened but not removed. Again the packing should be kept moist. It is important that roots never dry out.

Idea is the name given in the Roman calendar to the 15th day of the month with the exception of March, May, July and October, the idea in these months falling on the 15th day.
