Complain In Lake Mary Police Harassment Charges Mount

By DORNA ESTER
Herald Staff Writer

The Lake Mary City Council will meet at 7:30 Tuesday to consider the latest series of complaints of harassment against the police department leveled by nine citizens Thursday night. The new complaints come after the council accepted a report from a special investigating committee which recommended that the city drop the inquiry which had been conducted on an harassment complaint filed by Terry Lee Riley, an 18-year-old Seminole Community College Adult High School student.

City Attorney Gary Manney told the 25-member audience at the city council meeting that if they had complaints, they could file sworn statements, statements made before a notary public. "Then if the statement is false, it is a matter of perjury," he said.

What He Uses, He Keeps Neat

There's a good citizen somewhere in Lake Mary that Coachman CBI Nelson would like to recognize.

The old time hardware store on Lake Mary Road and Country Club Road that the city purchased six months ago has been cleaned up by the purchase of a new owner. The "before" condition of the store was such that the city employee came to him recently with a report that someone had stolen a car from the store. The employee had seen a pair of coveralls hanging on a wall.

When Nelson went to inspect, the coveralls were gone and the building was neat and clean.

The councilman said his colleague that a city employee came to him recently with a report that someone had stolen a car from the store. The employee had seen a pair of coveralls hanging on a wall.

Panel Clears Police In Torey Riley Probe

A special committee, which has conducted an investigation into complaints by 18-year-old Torey Lee Riley of police harassment, reported to the Lake Mary City Council Thursday night it found "no probable cause" for any of the allegations.

The committee, composed of Mayor Walter Severson and Councilman Paul Goodward and Bert Goodward, in its written report recommended that the council drop the inquiry and prepare to defend the city and the police department if Miss Riley files a lawsuit.

City Attorney Gary Manney, who had advised the committee to drop its investigation and recommended that a confrontation between police and Miss Riley not be held, said Miss Riley should file a complaint or a lawsuit "both of which you are welcome to do."

"I'm not sure yet. I'm going to talk to my lawyer. He told me before I probably have cause to sue," said Miss Riley.

County Aid Sought 'Walk-In' Births Causing Hospital Money Woes

By MAX EKIKLETTIAN
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole Memorial Hospital officials will send a letter to the county commission next week asking for help in defraying the cost of child delivery for indigent mothers.

Hospital Administrator Charles Bentley said $110,414 in doctor fees and hospital expenses have been absorbed by the hospital to pay for such deliveries since November, 1976. It was then the hospital board of directors voted to reimburse doctors for such delivery fees.

Bentley said the problem has escalated dramatically since the mid-wife program was headed.

In April 1977, the county health department issued a policy that prohibited mid-wife child deliveries for first-born. "Since that policy went into effect last April," said Bentley, "the number of indigent deliveries handled by the hospital has about doubled."

He said 77 indigent deliveries were performed at the hospital during the final six months of 1977. That represented one-fourth of deliveries for that time period, he noted.

Bentley said he felt the rise in indigent deliveries at the hospital was directly related to the ban on mid-wives.

Trey Todd, director of human services for the county, said his department will begin "a preliminary staff study" of the situation immediately.

"The problem is this," said Todd. "When a person is involved in a private physician and make arrangements for entering the hospital. In most cases, Todd said, the women treated at the health center are not financially able to obtain a physician.

"We will give them prenatal care up through the ninth month if necessary," said Todd. However, there is no basis for coordinating care with the hospital, he noted. As a result most indigent deliveries are handled without prior notification being given to the hospital and no payment by the patients.

"So, when it comes time for the hospital," commented Todd, "they simply go to the hospital and one of the emergency room doctors or someone on duty has to handle the delivery and the cost is absorbed by the hospital."

Bentley said until November 1976, obstetricians performed such deliveries without compensation.

CHARLES BENTLEY

"I don't think it is realistic to expect the two doctors on our staff to incur these costs," Bentley said.

"Fifteen months ago the hospital board decided to pay the obstetricians for delivery of indigent patients who presented themselves as walk-ins," said Bentley.

Todd said his study will examine possible methods of improving collection of fees from indigent patients. He said a contract between the hospital and the county may be needed to establish guidelines for handling indigent cases.

"Since the taxpayer is paying for this ultimately anyway, we'd like to set-up something where by those who could pay something would pay as much as possible," said Todd.

"I think it is premature to say what we are going to find, because we are just beginning this, but I think we may need some sort of contract to coordinate our efforts," he said.

On Tap Sunday

It's been said divorced women have trouble getting credit. Is that still true? Donna Estes tells the ins and outs of the issue in Sunday's Herald.

SEEDCO has nothing to do with agriculture, but it does deal extensively with people and some of their needs. Details in Sunday's Herald.

SAFELI!

The dirtiest team in the conference has to be Seminole High's baseball team. Practicing in the rain at the stadium caused a few mud puddles to form — all the better for sliding practice.

Communication Comes On Strong System Allows Deaf To Be Heard

CINDY KORB, OFFICER STACEY AND ANTHONY GAGLIANO

Nine months ago it became evident to Jack R. Stacey, Jr., Community Relations Officer with the Orlando Police Dept., that communication between the deaf of Orlando and the law enforcement agencies was a vital necessity. Stacey was, at that time, doing a deaf girl. An incident which sparked this idea, had occurred when a group of boys broke into the home of a deaf girl. The girl's mother had been in the neighborhood, but she could not find a policeman. She could not see her telephone. Today, some deaf families can use their telephone in an emergency - thanks to TTY. In July 1977, a TTY (Telephone-Teletype) Communication System was installed at the Orlando Police Dept. This communication network consists of a teletype machine and a computer. The computer interfaces the teletype to the actual telephone communication line. When the telephone rings in the home of a deaf person, a light will flash. This light alerts the deaf person there is a call. The person placing the call then types "hello, this is..." The computer places the telephone receiver into the computer, then types "hello, this is..." The person placing the call then types "hello, this is..." The computer places the telephone receiver into the computer, then types "hello, this is..."

Educator Gets Gold Medal Tag

Former Seminole County educator Thomas Leroy Richey, now of Pascoega, Fla., has been honored by Project Innovations as a Gold Medal Educator. Richey, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Richey, 180 Country Club Road, Sanford, joined a list of only 20 other Gold Medal Educators including psychologist B.F. Skinner and anthropologist Margaret Mead. Richey served the Seminole County school system in various capacities, beginning as a director of guidance at Seminole High School and becoming director of administrative services and assistant to the superintendent in 1967. A letter announcing the award also states that the Pascoega Municipal Schools have identified "as a model of excellence with ideas and programs worthy of sharing with the rest of the world. This is only the second of such identifications in the present decade, and the first such school system identified south of the Mason and Dixon Line." Richey is superintendent of that school system. From 1968 through 1980, Richey served the Seminole County school system in various capacities, beginning as a director of guidance at Seminole High School and becoming director of administrative services and assistant to the superintendent in 1967. A letter announcing the award also states that the Theta Epsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, at the home of president Jan Kroeg. Upcoming events planned were weekly study parties at the Melody Blending Room. These parties continued through Feb. 1st. All the proceeds from these parties will go to the Seminole Youth March. Members recently enjoyed an Italian style progressive dinner, beginning at the home of Pat and Dave Shaver and continuing in the homes of Joyce and Don Harvey, Tracy and Ralph Wight, and Casey and Doug Shaver. The chapter met at the home of Linda Hines to plan events concerning the upcoming Valentine Ball. The next meeting will be Feb. 14.

Mate's Silence Upsetting

DEAR ABBY: I beg you to publish this because I really know if other readers have the same problem, and most of all what they do about it. My husband will stop speaking to me for weeks at a time, for no reason at all. Right now he's been silent for three weeks, and it usually goes on for five. Otherwise he's the greatest guy on earth. Not perfect, but great. I have a job, as I rarely ask him for anything. He never takes me anywhere but I'm happy at home. He suddenly takes a mind to clam up (about twice a year) and it gets very lonely. My nerves almost go to pieces before he talks again. I think it's a children habit his mother let him get away with when he was little. What do you think? Is there a cure? LONELY DEAR LOVELY: I didn't need a calculator to figure out that your husband gives you the silent treatment for ten weeks out of 52, which is a lot of silence. It is punishing you, which is cruel and abusive. If you continue to put up with this kind of treatment you're asking for it. I don't think he got professional counseling. If he refuses, go alone. Abuse comes in a variety of forms. Silence can be as cruel as physical abuse. It's up to you to refuse to be on the receiving end. DEAR ABBY: My roommate met a dude at a dance and she really dug him. (I'll call him "Worm.") Worm gave my roommate a big truck, but she continued dating others because she thinks the way to keep a guy interested is to make him a little jealous. Worm also dated more than one girl at a time for the same reason. One night when my roommate was busy, Worm asked me out and I went. He then asked me for another date, which I accepted because by this time I was beginning to really like him. Then Worm dated my roommate again. I know she likes him, but so do I. My question: Do you think Worm is dating my roommate because he's making her jealous? Or is he dating ME to make her jealous? And should I date him again if he asks me? ALEX DEAR ABBY: Don't date a guy if you suspect he is using you to make another girl jealous. And a girl who really digs a dude but dates others just to make HIM jealous is a bit of a worm herself (an eagle worm).

DOG-GONE BAD LUCK
"Chico" is a one and one-half year old male mixed Doberman-Labrador. He is presently being cared for by the Seminole County Humane Society, while awaiting adoption. Chico was tied to a tree in his owner's yard and was shot in the leg by someone who objected to his barking. Treated by a veterinarian, and now on the mend, Chico would like a home where he would be a fine guard dog, as well as a playful companion. Prospective owners may contact the Humane Society by calling 332-7067.

Says School Expert
Catholic Schools No Longer Stereotyped

By PATRICIA McDOORMACK
Catholic education in America is no longer stereotyped, according to a school expert. Father Farrell, who has been teaching in American Catholic schools for 10 years, says that the schools are now more diverse and more dynamic than ever before.

Every sign that they will be an essential part of the future. Such a statement would have been made very consistently about three years ago. "All problems are by no means solved. Many discuss still face serious situations. However, nationally, millions of parents have made it clear that they want Catholic schools."

child. Catholic education should try harder to help the handicapped. "A Peace and Justice Curriculum. A guide for the home and to introduce the teaching of justice and peace on the elementary level. The stages of Catholic Schools Week is "Everyday Grace." Father Farrell said the stages represent the essence of education - growth - as well as each school's contribution to family, parish and community life. "Each school has its roots in its community," Father Farrell said. "So you can see - each is unique."

TO CONDUCT CRUSADE
Rev. James N. Diddle, Florida conference superintendent of the Free Methodist Church, will conduct a revival and evangelistic crusade Feb. 5 through Feb. 12 at 7:30 p.m. each day at the Sanford-Eustis Free Methodist Church on 4th Street and Laurel Avenue and also 10:45 a.m. on Sunday. Mrs. Diddle will be assisting in the music ministry and Charash, youth choir from Tampa will sing on the 11th and 12th.

Discipline Is Road To Excellence

By REV. WILLIAM EGAN
All Saints Catholic Church
I'm sure at one time or another you have watched Peggy Fleming or Dorothy Hamill skate. All seems under control. But such marvelous skaters don't just happen. Like their talented athletic counterparts - the gymnast, the swimmer, the baseball player - the beauty and skill of their performance come only from the rigors of training, the demands of discipline. THERE IS NO SHORT CUT TO EXCELLENCE.

Discipline is the "stuff" of the Bible. It is the "stuff" of the Christian. Let this "stuff" which begins on Feb. 8 (Ash Wednesday) be a time of serious consideration and reflection for you. With discipline there's life. With the Cross there's resurrection.

First Baptist Wins Praise At Festival

Mission Of Laity In Debate

A group of Chicago-area Roman Catholics have issued a manifesto that could herald a new day for the laity in the church. The Chicago group, which included clergy as well as lay members of the church on the national scene, charged that current Roman Catholic proclivities are antithetical to a doctrine of the laity.

Such a development has "in, to a devaluation of the unique ministry of lay men and women." The tendency has been to see lay ministry as an involvement in some church-related activity, e.g., religious education, pastoral care for the sick and elderly, or readers in church on Sunday.

Gift of Life Endorsed By Florida Churches

The Executive Committee of the Florida Council of Churches has officially endorsed the "Gift of Life" program. The "Gift of Life" program of the National Kidney Foundation is the giving of vital organs, other than the heart, to those who must depend upon a donated organ to remain alive.

Under Florida law, the donor card must be signed in the presence of two witnesses and placed in the individual's wallet or purse and only takes effect upon the donor's death. If the donor is under 18 years of age, the card must be witnessed by a parent or guardian.
