Developer allowed to begin site work

LONGWOOD—Because a conditional use request and site plan for Regency Mazda were not placed on the agenda at Monday night's meeting, the developer said postponing the start of work would cause him a serious financial hardship. The city commission granted permission Monday night for the developer to begin some work not directly connected with construction of the building itself on the site at Highway 17-92 and Orange Avenue under the watchful eye of the city building inspector.

The developer will be able to clean up the lot, clear away underbrush and do some grading and filling prior to approval of the conditional use and site plan scheduled for June 6.

Lake Mary City Hall begins move May 25

LAKE MARY—Lake Mary City Hall will be open for limited business the week of May 23 since its offices will be moving to its temporary location in The Shoppes at Lake Mary.

The city's temporary offices will now be located at 120 E. Lake Mary Boulevard, Suite 115.

City clerk Carol Edwards said packing for the move will begin on May 23 and the move will begin on May 25.

According to Edwards, regularly scheduled meetings normally held in the old city hall will still be held there.

Edwards said the transitional period would be " hectic," but the offices will be open for full business on May 31.

Japanese student needs host family

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS—Yoshiko Nanri, 17, from Toyko, has enjoyed her two years as an exchange student in America so much that she would like to study at Lake Mary High School her senior year.

However, Nanri's current host family in Altamonte Springs won't be able to host her in the coming school year. She has a May 31 deadline to find a host family if she's to be allowed to return to Lake Mary High.

Nanri, an exchange student with International Education Forum, is among several international students seeking host families for the 1988-89 school year. See story, page 11B.

Lake Mary considers ban on signs

By Joyce Herald
UCF Intern

LAKE MARY—An ordinance proposing a six-month ban "on the construction, erection, maintenance, repair or use" of billboards and off-site advertising signs is scheduled for public hearing at Lake Mary's city commission meeting Thursday night.

The ordinance, proposed by Commissioner Randy Morris, is proposed for final adoption after a second reading. The commission approved a first reading of the proposed ordinance at its last meeting.

The proposed ordinance says the abundance of the signs are a "continuing and increasing detriment to the appearance of the city of Lake Mary," but sign companies don't agree.

Carl Bogle, public affairs director for Peterson Outdoor Advertising, plans to attend the meeting with the company's attorney. Bogle said the company, noted for billboard advertising, is "extremely concerned" about the proposed ordinance. We want to find out what their concerns are, Bogle said. "We don't feel there's any problem," he said about the billboards.

Bogle said he wasn't aware of the proposed ordinance until last week. "We wonder why it wasn't advertised for the first reading," he said.

Commissioner Morris said the moratorium's purpose is to allow time for the city commission to study the various issues surrounding off-site signs before new signs go up.

Off-site advertising signs are signs that advertise a service or product available somewhere other than where it is advertised.

Florida is blighted by these things and some controls must be put on," Morris said. "It's a classic case of an industry that doesn't regulate itself and has to be regulated by government." He said the problem is another "individual property rights issue."

City Planner Matt West said he has complained "excessively" about the city's current sign ordinance. West, who is responsible for enforcing the ordinance, said it is "poorly written, contradictory and vague."

West explained that the city's sign ordinance, adopted in March 1987, was to be modeled after an ordinance approved by the city of Port Orange. But, he said, when it came before the commission it became "totally diluted."

West said the current ordinance has worked only because developers have gone along with it. See SIGN, page 12A

Ball accused of improper use of funds

By Wayne Mize
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD—A member of the Sanford Housing Authority has been reported to the Florida Commission on Ethics for alleged misuse of funds, and another has been accused, in letters to the mayor and city commission, of unprofessional behavior.

However, both housing authority commissioners have denied the allegations and one is calling for a full investigation into the housing authority.

Alexander C. Wynn, III, chairman of the Sanford Housing Authority Board of Commissioners, has notified the Florida Commission on Ethics (FCE) that housing authority commissioner Bob Ball allegedly has failed to report travel expenses after receiving travel advance payments for two trips.

Ball counters Wynn's charge with one of his own: "I am calling for an investigation into the housing authority" and "As long as blacks are in charge out there, I know there won't be any investigation." Also, in letters to the mayor and city commissioners, Wynn has charged housing authority commissioner Terri Buratti with unprofessional behavior.

In Wynn's letter to Mayor Bettye Smith and the city commission, Wynn details Buratti's alleged threat to a housing authority employee at a housing authority meeting in late January. Wynn quotes Buratti as saying to the employee, "I am going to kick your ass." The incident centered on the use of an extension cord, according to Wynn.

Wynn contends Ball received payments from the housing authority director's office in advance of trips to Jacksonville (Aug. 14, 1987) and New Orleans (Oct. 21, 1987) and that on both occasions Ball checked out of hotels a day early and has refused to refund the difference between the $1,186.30 in travel advances and his apparent actual expenses—a total of $203.75.

Ball must refund the $203.75. See BALL, page 6A

Sanford Police officer bitten; will be tested for AIDS virus

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD—A Sanford policeman allegedly bitten by a convicted male homosexual prostitute who dresses as a woman will be tested for the AIDS virus, his supervisors said today.

The suspect allegedly bit Officer Darrell Brewer, 35, during a shoplifting arrest. Barry Latray, Bradwell, 22, remains jailed today in lieu of $1,000 bond on charges of battery on a law enforcement officer, resisting with violence and retail theft.

Sanford Police Capt. Charles Fagan said Brewer, who was bitten several times on the left wrist and arm while trying to restrain the suspect, will be tested for the AIDS virus.

Although Sanford police have arrested Bradwell numerous times as a homosexual prostitute, Fagan said, police have no record at the police station of him ever having tested positive for the AIDS virus.

"We will certainly try to get Bradwell tested (for the virus)," Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said. If Bradwell, of 415 Bay Ave., Sanford, tests positive for the virus, Harriett said he will ask the state attorney to file additional charges against him. See AIDS, page 12A

Liquor sales vs school permit

Longwood restaurant is close to academy property

LONGWOOD—If the sale of alcoholic beverages is banned within 1,000 feet of a school, why shouldn't the reverse hold true?

That is the question posed by Kevin Burke of "Papa B's" Restaurant, in objecting to a request for a conditional use permit to operate a private school for preschoolers in Wildmere Plaza. In fact the restaurant may already be that close to an existing school and church.

Burke said he only found out "by accident" Saturday about the conditional use request. Burke said he has an eight-year lease in Wildmere Plaza and would not be able to sell a franchise for the family-owned restaurant with a beer and wine license if the school is located there.

Burke said the type of beer and wine license he holds is the same as those issued bars and taverns. He asked for a postponement in consideration of the conditional use permit so that his lawyer would have a chance to review the situation.

Smith, who has applied for a temporary conditional use permit to operate Back to Basics Learning Academy for kindergarten through first grade at 1243 S. County Road 427 (E. Lake Street), said she wasn't "told anything about liquor being served."

A decision on the request was tabled by the city commission Monday night at the request of the applicant, Barbara Ann Smith, until June 6 after concerns were raised over traffic, safety and the fact that it would be three doors down from the restaurant, which has had a license to serve beer and wine for seven months. She said she has already purchased a lot of equipment and it would be a hardship if she is not allowed to open in that location. She said she intends to have the See LIQUOR, page 12A

Linton blasts Longwood commission

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD—"You have a right not to like me, I don't like you either," former Longwood Planning Agency Chairman Bernard Linton told the city commission. "In the past nine years we've had some bad ones, but this commission is the worst."

Linton's tirade occurred during the public participation period of Monday night's city commission meeting. He said he has still not been officially notified of his dismissal from the LPA board, which took place May 2 after he left a commission meeting.

He complained that his dismissal wasn't on the agenda and was taken during the commissioners' reports part of the agenda at the end of the meeting. "I can only be removed for cause and this is the first time anybody was removed under commissioners' comments when it was not on the agenda," he said. "This is bad, this stinks."

Linton was removed from the voluntary board after serving 3½ years—the last 2½ as chairman. The commission voted 4-0 (Mayor David Gunter was absent) on a motion by Commissioner Harvey Hardy to terminate Linton's appointment "effective immediately."

Before the vote, Deputy Mayor Lynette Dennis read a statement concerning the four-foot by six-foot sign that Linton had ordered created in front of the police station. The sign honored Police Chief Greg Manning while the chief was suspended with pay for alleged mismanagement of the Police Benevolent Fund and was waiting to go before a police review board.

Dennis said in her statement, "It is clear that this sign was nothing more than a transparent political action promoted by Mr. Linton. As someone very familiar with the city, he was well aware that the approval of any expenditure of money or manpower for this sign should be requested through the city administrator."

Shortly after the sign was erected by city employees, without commission approval, Acting City Administrator Don Terry had it removed.

"These actions of Mr. Linton represent an interference with established procedures. As a member of the LPA, he is required to serve an extremely important role. His duties require him to serve in an advisory status to the members of the city commission. As the result of his involvement and interference with city administration, I no longer have faith or confidence in his actions as an advisor to this commission."

Linton later denied that his action was political. Terry wrote letters censuring Public Works Director Charles Hassler for his part in the affair, and to Linton. Linton said, "I haven't relegated my rights as a citizen to be chairman of the See LINTON, page 12A

BRIEF

Westtown drug raid results charges against three people

WESTTOWN — A raid by City County Investigative Agents on a house with no street address in Westtown, on State Road 426 at Mikler Drive, has resulted in charges against three. Five children including a 12-year-old have been removed from that home and are in the custody of relatives.

The home, on the outskirts of Oviedo, agents with a warrant reported finding cocaine, drug paraphernalia and $1,850.

Charged with possession of cocaine inside the home were Betty Bullock, 29, of 2515 State Road 426, Oviedo; Reginald Wade Barnes, 26, of 2065 James Drive, Oviedo. Arrested outside the home was Richard Jerome Smith, 19, of 2801 East St., Oviedo. He has been charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and $500 bond to appear in court June 3. The other suspects remained jailed in lieu of $2,000 bond each.

Arrest reports did not clarify who the parents of the children in the house are, or who resides at that home. The children, the report said, were turned over to relatives.

Witness cocaine injection

SANFORD — A Sanford policeman reports arresting a witness allegedly caught in the act of injecting himself with cocaine. The man, charged with possession of cocaine and paraphernalia, remains free on $2,000 bond to appear in court June 13.

Israel Patrick Rupert, 27, of Deltona, was arrested in the parking lot of Quick Stop, 801 Celery Ave., Sanford, at 10 p.m. Monday. Police said a witness told an officer a pickup truck parked beside the convenience store was injecting something into his arm.

Rupert was confronted in the truck. They report he had a needle of a syringe in his arm, and reportedly said he had injected cocaine. Other syringes were seen on the seat of the truck and Rupert reportedly gave police permission to search the vehicle. A spoon containing cocaine residue was reportedly found.

Domestic dispute leads to charges

WELBERRY — A Sorrento man who allegedly broke out the windows of a vehicle during a traffic dispute is free on $1,000 bond and faces charges of aggravated assault and criminal mischief.

Welberry police report arresting David Neil Barrell, 43, at 3 p.m. Tuesday. He is accused of using a claw hammer to break out windows of a pickup truck stopped at a light at State Road 436 and Howell Branch Road.

A passenger in the truck, Michael Willey, 22, of Deltona, ran from the truck after Barrell got out of his car. Barrell approached the truck and allegedly broke out the window. As Barrell allegedly approached the driver, Scott Ray, 21, of Apopka, sped from the scene.

Barrell fled to a nearby pay phone and called police. Three men involved said the incident began as an argument between Barrell and Merson as they drove along State Road 436. Barrell alleged that Merson and Willey were abusive after he failed to use a turn signal when making a turn.

Confrontation continued with verbal abuse and the men gesturing until both vehicles stopped and the argument took place.

Barrell and Merson were arrested at the intersection of Howell Branch Road.

Sexual battery charges filed

SANFORD — A 39-year-old Sanford man remains jailed on $1,000 bond in connection with alleged rapes of three children under the age of 7 years.

David Lamar Redding, of 1509 W. 17th St., was arrested by Sanford police at his home at 6:50 p.m. Monday. He faces charges of three counts each of sexual battery and lewd or lascivious assault on a child under the age of 7 years.

Children's allegations that they have been raped in the home over the last several years surfaced in a report from the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, which referred the case to police.

Face cocaine charges

WELBERRY — A police check of a car parked along the highway in the lot of ABC Lounge, U.S. Highway 17-92, at 1:17 a.m., turned up two men who are accused of possession of cocaine in the vehicle.

When Patrick Kafka, 24, of 1070 Landmark Lane, Deltona, and Crawford James Withrow, 21, of 1416 Ridge Drive, Apopka, face charges of possession of cocaine and drug paraphernalia.

Wrenches stolen

SANFORD — G & C Trucking, 812 W. 13th St., reported that two air wrenches were stolen from a tool shed on Monday and Tuesday.

The wrenches were valued at $1,050. Police are still investigating.

Another theft, Thomas C. Capps, 217 W. 19th St., reported that two radar detectors were stolen from his GMC truck sometime Tuesday night while it was parked in front of his home. The detectors are valued at $1,000.

Sentencing set next month

Dahl released from jail

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — John Dahl, armed with a shotgun and threatening suicide took over a Sanford warehouse to try to save stored belongings from the auction block in December, has been released from jail.

Dahl, who pleaded guilty to armed trespass May 3, was released without bond to await sentencing sometime next month.

Dahl, 61, has been jailed under $8,000 bail since Dec. 9, following the Dec. 3 and 4 incidents at Adams Transfer and Storage on Holly Avenue.

He was freed Monday on two conditions: He and his family must have no contact with the mover and storer of $65,000 in goods moved from New York and stored in Dahl's name in Sanford last spring; and that he seeks mental health counseling in Volusia County. His family lives in DeLand.

Dahl served five months in jail awaiting his May 3 hearing. His lawyer said Dahl could be sentenced to up to a year in jail on that charge.

In the first six days after Dahl was captured by the Seminole County SWAT team after a 24-hour siege in the warehouse, he was dealt with as a mental health patient and not charged. However, when a Volusia County hospital notified Sanford police on Dec. 9 that Dahl had no serious mental problems, police picked him up at the hospital and returned him to Sanford where he was jailed.

The goods Dahl tried to save from the auction block in December were auctioned off Saturday in Sanford. During the earlier auction attempt, Dahl had a shotgun taped to his neck and said he would kill himself in exchange for personal items for his family.

By the time the goods were auctioned, moving and storage fees totaled about $11,000, up $1,000 from when Dahl stopped the December sale.

Saturday, Dahl's daughter, Bonnie, attended the auction and with $3,000 provided by an elderly aunt, bought back some of the family's property. She had been allowed by the storer to take personal papers and photos from storage without paying a fee before the auction.

The warehouse owner said the auction did not cover the moving and storage costs, but declined to say how much the goods brought.

Lightning damages dog club

LONGWOOD — An apparent lightning strike caused considerable damage to the print shop at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club on Dog Track Road. Fire Chief Charles Chapman said according to a preliminary investigation of roof and internal damage, lightning from a thunderstorm that moved through area at about 10 p.m. apparently struck the building, starting the fire. Chapman said a clock in the building stopped at 10:08 p.m.

Chapman said the cost of the damages has not been estimated.

Charges pending against 11 youths

SANFORD — Charges pending against 11 Apopka youths accused of shooting out windows in 80 vehicles in the Wekiva Springs area of Seminole County are expected to bring a halt to four months of criminal mischief.

The boys, questioned by Seminole County sheriff's deputies Monday and Tuesday, are also reportedly linked to 40 similar cases in Orange County, and about 10 cases each in Apopka, Altamonte Springs and Longwood, according to Seminole Sheriff's Lt. Joe Patton.

Damage in the vandalism is estimated at $12,000.

A Saturday stop by Apopka police of a van occupied by four of the suspects, who were reportedly armed with two air rifles, led Seminole County sheriff's deputies to seven more suspects. The suspects are all Apopka High School students, who have never been in trouble before, Patton said.

The suspects were the targets of a Seminole County sheriff's stakeout for the last two months. — Susan Loden

WEATHER

Five-Day Forecast

For Central Florida

Rains were truly widely scattered

By Fred H. Cooper
Herald Staff Writer

So you didn't believe the comment yesterday about the possibility of late afternoon, widely scattered thunder-showers. The squall cone in off of the lake about supertime and scattered downtown Sanford. You needed boots for walking. The official rainfall out on Celery Avenue was .78 inches, but probably more than an inch fell downtown. There was a reported two inches of rain in Deltona, but none in the southern portion of Seminole County. State-wide, rain was officially recorded (by the National Weather Service) only at two places: West Palm Beach with 1.25 inches; and Tallahassee with .01 inches. So Sanford and Deltona did even make the official "rain fell on our city" list.

Better figure that summer has arrived and the possibility of those late afternoon showers will be with us for a long time. The temperatures are still staying within the 80s during the day, then dropping to the 60s at night. This, too, will continue. It's what's called tranquil weather, except for the quick storms. Take a look at the surf over on the coast. Waves range from one to two feet and they're glassy.

If you're looking for deviousness in the weather, you'll find it in the morning hours—early. We'll continue to get fog as long as we have those 20 to 25 degree temperature drops with high humidity readings. This morning, for example, the humidity was more than 90 percent.

Better be happy with what we're having. It'll continue through the weekend.

One item in the news today that falls within the subject area of environment is Lake Apopka. State officials have come up with yet another plan to save the lake. It was first announced that Lake Apopka was "dead" back in 1958. Someone noted that the bass had gone and started to try to think of something to remedy the situation. These concerns were expressed again, and again, and again during the 1970s and early 1980s. Maybe something will be done this time. Let's also worry about Lake Monroe.

As our temperatures stay pretty balmy, elsewhere they are adventuresome. Folks at Presidio, California sweltered with 110 degree readings yesterday while citizens up at Marquette, Michigan froze with 26 degrees. Quite a contrast.

Thunderstorms flinging wind and hail through the high Plains dogged Kansas and Nebraska early today, while showers fell along the Atlantic Coast from New England to the Florida border.

Storms developed over the central high Plains during late afternoon and evening Tuesday and dumped hail the size of golf balls in Oconto, Neb. Wind gusts up to 49 mph were recorded in Goodland in northwest Kansas, the National Weather Service said.

This morning, thunderstorms persisted over the Nebraska Panhandle, the southern part of the state, and northern and western Kansas. Showers fell in the southern Rockies, the northern high Plains, and the central Plateau.

Thunderstorms that dropped large hailstones over the Carolinas Tuesday afternoon weakened during the evening.

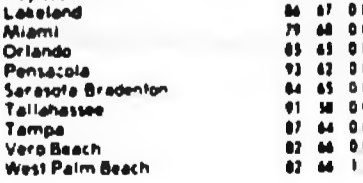

(Reports by United Press International and data provided by the National Weather Service were used in compiling this report.)

IN BRIEF

Mobile home park owner must roll back illegal rent increases

NEW PORT RICHEY (UPI) — A mobile home park owner, convicted of illegally raising rents, must roll back those rents and provide credits to residents for past overcharges. Pasco Circuit Court Judge W. Lowell Bray Jr. said the owner of the Club Wildwood Mobile Home Village at Hudson broke promises to tie any rent increase to the U.S. Consumer Price Index and instead hiked rents unfairly over the past five years.

About 330 of the park's 478 residents sued owner Douglas Belcher in 1986, alleging rent increases dating back to 1983 were far in excess of park operating costs and were unconscionable under the state's mobile home laws.

Bray heard the case during a four-day non-jury trial in March and Monday signed a declaratory judgment in favor of the residents.

Bray found that in 1984, when the park reached 100 percent occupancy, the owners refinanced the park for $4.2 million.

While none of the money went to improvements it created an interest burden of about $114 per lot per month, Bray said.

Bray found that while monthly operating costs went up by $22 a lot from 1982 to 1984, rents rose by $67, which he said "grossly exceeded" the percentage increases in the Consumer Price Index.

Senator at odds with lobbyist

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Sen. Bob Johnson says he is preparing a case to strip gun lobbyist Marion Hammer of her lobbying credentials unless she retracts what he considers "a bunch of pure, unmitigated baloney" about lawmakers who support stricter gun regulations.

"It's about time she faced up to the fact that she's got a problem, or she'll have a major problem," Johnson, R-Sarasota, told reporters Tuesday.

"A few senators here — quite a few — are really tired of this issue having been so distorted, and we don't intend to take it lightly."

The Senate Governmental Operations Committee approved Johnson's compromise bill Tuesday closing loopholes in Florida's permissive gun laws that have allowed at least 2,000 violent criminals, including mobsters, to carry concealed weapons.

The gun compromise (CS-SB 579) calls for a waiting period on handgun purchases of three working days, subject to a simple majority vote in the county commission, and clarifies that machine guns may not be carried as concealed weapons.

Court could force lake cleanup

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A proposed $20 million effort to restore one of Florida's most polluted lakes could involve court action to force farmers around Lake Apopka to undertake cleanup efforts.

"I'm a little amazed the lake has not been assigned the same concern as the Everglades or other areas," Secretary of State Jim Smith said Tuesday.

Smith and several legislators from central Florida are backing an effort to obtain $15 million in state funding over the next three years to begin cleanup efforts at the lake, which is about 12 miles northwest of Orlando.

The state money would combine with about $3.7 million from the St. Johns Water Management District and go toward the purchase of 5,100 acres of farmland along several miles of the lake's west and north shores.

Lake Apopka covers about 49,000 acres and was considered during the first half of the century to be one of the finest bass fishing lakes in the nation. But muck farms, which sprang up during the 1940s war effort, were eventually deeded to local farmers. The farms are actually below the surface of the lake and must constantly be pumped.

IN BRIEF

Mobile home park owner must roll back illegal rent increases

NEW PORT RICHEY (UPI) — A mobile home park owner, convicted of illegally raising rents, must roll back those rents and provide credits to residents for past overcharges.

Pasco Circuit Court Judge W. Lowell Bray Jr. said the owner of the Club Wildwood Mobile Home Village at Hudson broke promises to tie any rent increase to the U.S. Consumer Price Index and instead hiked rents unfairly over the past five years.

About 330 of the park's 478 residents sued owner Douglas Belcher in 1986, alleging rent increases dating back to 1983 were far in excess of park operating costs and were unconscionable under the state's mobile home laws.

Bray heard the case during a four-day non-jury trial in March and Monday signed a declaratory judgment in favor of the residents.

Bray found that in 1984, when the park reached 100 percent occupancy, the owners refinanced the park for $4.2 million.

While none of the money went to improvements it created an interest burden of about $114 per lot per month, Bray said.

Bray found that while monthly operating costs went up by $22 a lot from 1982 to 1984, rents rose by $67, which he said "grossly exceeded" the percentage increases in the Consumer Price Index.

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A proposed $29 million effort to restore one of Florida's most polluted lakes could involve court action to force farmers around Lake Apopka to undertake cleanup efforts.

Budget office must tell truth

Rewriting history is something we have come to expect from the Soviet Union. When gross distortions of fact come from the U.S. Congress, we are shocked. But distortion is exactly what has resulted with the publication of two reports by the traditionally non-partisan Congressional Budget Office on the impact a proposed increase in the federal minimum wage would have on the economy.

The CBO issued a report noting that, among other things, a proposed boost from $3.35 to $5.05 an hour in the federal minimum wage could feed inflation and result in the loss of 500,000 jobs. That bit of news did not sit well with Rep. Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Calif., chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee and a leading proponent of HR 1834, a bill to provide that increase in the minimum wage.

But rather than meeting the jobs-loss problem by reducing the proposed wage increase, Hawkins and committee staff members simply voiced their displeasure about the report to the CBO and, presto, a new report was produced.

Missing from the new report was any mention of the potential loss of 500,000 jobs or any other upsetting information that might get in the way of Hawkins' efforts to ram HR 1834 through Congress.

Perhaps Hawkins feels comfortable putting blinders on himself and his House colleagues, but Americans who could lose jobs as a result of this ill-conceived bill should be more than a little concerned. House Minority Leader Robert H. Michel, R-Ill., said the non-partisan position of the CBO has been compromised by the report incident.

Doctored a report to help win passage of a bill is dishonest, pure and simple. Congress should quickly scuttle the flawed HR 1834 and replace it with a more modest minimum wage increase. Such a bill, which could increase the minimum wage to $4.35 in the next three years, should also create a training wage which would allow business to pay beginning workers $3.35 for their first three months on the job—the time it would take them to learn enough to become productive to their employer. The Reagan administration has indicated support for such a proposal.

Meanwhile, Hawkins and his cohorts should quit treating the truth as if it were some kind of plague.

A little dense

We are getting a little tired of dupes or supporters of the Nicaraguan Marxists who keep saying that the United States should not be concerned with what goes on in Nicaragua because Nicaragua is "little."

A bullet is little. So is a virus and a teaspoonful of potassium cyanide. But each can kill. A nuclear-warhead missile is little, comparatively speaking, but one can destroy a city.

Rhode Island is little, but it could be stacked with enough nuclear-warhead missiles to annihilate the United States plus the population of the world 10 times over. And it would take 40 little Rhode Islands to make one little Nicaragua.

A coral snake is pretty. It is little. But letting one loose in your back yard would be a little dense. It could kill you.

Congress breeds study commission

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Very much in the manner of rabbits, Congress procreates commissions with extraordinary frequency, finding it the third most comfortable way to avoid an issue. The first is a study, the second a wordy non-binding resolution.

Congress is about to bring forth one more commission, this one charged with deciding which of the country's many obsolete military bases should be closed down.

Sen. William Cohen, R-Maine, accurately describes the creation of this new commission a "cowardly way out," noting that if Congress can open a military installation, it should also be able to muster the courage to close one.

That view, however, avoids reality. Members of Congress are always thinking of the next election and even the thought of being an accomplice to closing down a military base, no matter how outmoded or useless, sets off shudders.

Military bases are not only good business for communities in which they are located, they also provide the civilian work force with jobs, sometimes being the main employer.

"We all fight to the death around here to get military bases and keep them when we do get them," said Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas. "And we do that because they are absolute gold mines."

Which is the reason that no bases have been closed since the mid-1970s when the Nixon Pentagon tried to turn Massachusetts into a demilitarized zone, that being the only state which George McGovern won in the 1972 elections.

The Pentagon, never noted for frugality, wants to shut down bases, and Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said, "We're not talking about small change," estimating the annual savings at between $1 billion and $5 billion.

Faced with this situation, the Senate Armed Services Committee devised what seemed to be a foolproof plan: a commission named by Secretary of Defense Frank Carlucci that would recommend bases for oblivion, a proposal that Carlucci could only accept or reject in toto.

In the process, however, the committee was pushed into a compromise that would allow Congress to reject Carlucci's decision by vote of the Senate and House.

That, however, puts members of Congress exactly where they least want to be, having to vote on closing a base in their states.

By itself, the two-house veto means the list Carlucci approves must be small enough to avoid majorities in the Senate or House.

And it will put members of Congress in the same spot Senate Republican leader Robert Dole found himself more than 20 years ago.

"I can recall in 1965 when I was a young House member they closed Schilling Air Force Base in Salina, Kan.," Dole recounted. "I called each of my senators to see who was going to make the announcement. I could not find one senator and the other senator said 'I only announce openings.'"

Changing views of Soviets

I do not advance the following hypothesis lightly, and certainly wish it to be continuously tested empirically as events unfold. But it seems to me, in the light of recent developments, that we should consider the possibility of the following:

1. The Soviet Union is incapable of sustaining economically a global communist movement.

And, 2. The communist idea is dead.

What proposition one means, is that, as the century comes to a close, the looming threat of global communism—so vivid when Arthur Koestler wrote "Darkness at Noon" and Whittaker Chambers wrote "Witness"—quite possibly is dead.

Gorbachev seems to have folded Brezhnev's war in Afghanistan. If the communist puppet government in Kabul could not prevail with 200,000 Soviet troops plus rockets and helicopters, there is little chance that it will be in power a year hence.

Gorbachev has read the charts, and he knows that a vast economic reform is necessary within the Soviet Union. He knows about the projections indicating that the Soviet Union is becoming a Third World country, with declining life expectancy and massive corruption.

Far from being able to sustain a global communist enterprise, the Soviet Union is facing massive problems in sustaining itself.

What this means, beyond the Afghanistan pull-out, is that Gorbachev is not going to be willing to sustain Fidel Castro's Cuban farce indefinitely at the cost of $1 million per day. It is quite possible that Gorbachev, no sentimentalist, has passed the word to the Ortega brothers that a communist Nicaragua is not a Soviet national interest. We shall see. Let's wait for the record to unfold.

It looks as if the Reagan administration has gone to extraordinary and subtle lengths to save Gorbachev's face in Afghanistan, "negotiating" a Soviet withdrawal to mask the fact of Soviet defeat.

We should certainly remain militarily strong. But the entire landscape may be changing.

In any case, we should keep our powder dry and our eyes open.

Witness recounts slaying of U.S. major

By Jack Anderson and Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — A U.S. Army major, shot by a Soviet sentry in East Germany and left to die, lived long enough to speak to his driver. "Jess, I've been shot," Maj. Arthur D. Nicholson said to Sgt. Jessie Schatz. Then, while Nicholson lay dying on the ground, the sentry held Schatz at gunpoint and wouldn't let him help.

Three years after the 1985 murder, the Army has released to us the record of its investigation of Nicholson's death.

The United States protested the murder, but never got so much as an apology from the Soviets for their trigger-happy sentry. Secretary of Defense Frank Carlucci on March 16 asked the Soviets once again to apologize. He made the request to Soviet Defense Minister Gen. Dimitri Yazov in the Soviet Embassy in Bern, Switzerland. So far, there has been no response.

We obtained the first person accounts of the event after more than a year of pressing the Army for the information. Each account makes it clear that the Soviets were callous and abusive after the shooting, like blustering bullies trying to cover their crime.

Scandal at NRC

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A fierce debate continues to rage over the ability of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission to resolve the numerous scandals that have swirled about the federal agency in recent years.

The NRC's critics insist that it has been thoroughly discredited, principally because President Reagan's appointees to the five-member agency have been so obsequious toward the industry they are supposed to regulate.

The NRC's defenders claim that it has maintained the integrity of its mission — to protect the public from potential hazards posed by the commercial use of nuclear power.

Now, however, a definitive judgment has been rendered by the government's most respected investigative agency, the General Accounting Office. In a scathing report, the GAO's Office of Special Investigations cites "serious deficiencies" in the NRC's internal probes of alleged wrongdoing on the part of its officials and employees.

Among the cases cited in the GAO report is the "less-than-professional handling" of the probe of an incident in which a utility company regulated by the NRC gained access to a sensitive NRC internal memorandum.

That document cited cracks in the concrete floor of a Louisiana nuclear power plant owned by Middle South Utilities. Moreover, it alleged that officials of the utility and the NRC engaged in "collusion" to cover up the existence of the structural flaws.

In 1985, an NRC employee working on an unrelated matter discovered a copy of the memo in the utility's files, with an attached note from a vice president of the firm saying it came from a "source within the NRC."

The unauthorized copy apparently had been duplicated from a memo in the files of NRC Commissioner Thomas M. Roberts. It bore his initials and contained other markings that indicated it has been handled by one of his aides.

Instead of referring this serious security lapse to an internal investigative unit, the NRC's chairman designated Roberts to probe the apparent leak of information from his own office.

Roberts' investigation consisted of asking each member of his staff if he or she was responsible for the leak. When he received denials from all of his aides, he closed the probe and decided nobody in his office was culpable.

When summoned to testify last year before a Senate committee, Roberts acknowledged that he never bothered to question the utility company vice president who boasted in his memo of illicitly obtaining the memo from his "source" inside the agency.

During that hearing, Roberts also said he had destroyed all copies of the pertinent documents in his possession because he had become "somewhat paranoid" about the episode. The following day, however, he said the materials had not been destroyed and he had found them.

"It is no longer possible for Congress or the public to have confidence in Commissioner Roberts' judgment," said Sen. John H. Glenn Jr., D-Ohio, chairman of the committee, before which Roberts testified.

Scratch mimics cancer

By Delphia Ricks
UPI Science Writer

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Skin lesions caused by cat scratches might be misdiagnosed as a form of cancer in AIDS patients unless a detailed laboratory analysis is performed, researchers have found.

Even to the trained eye of an expert in skin diseases, cat scratch disease in AIDS patients can look just like Kaposi's sarcoma, a type of cancer rarely seen in the general population but often found in people with AIDS.

Misdiagnosis might mean unnecessary, expensive and debilitating cancer therapy for patients already weakened by acquired immune deficiency syndrome and burdened with the cost of its treatment.

Doctors reporting in a recent issue of the British medical journal The Lancet say seven AIDS patients in San Francisco and New York were mistakenly diagnosed with Kaposi's because the scratches created lesions involving small blood vessels, mimicking the malignancy's appearance.

"Cat scratch disease does not look like this in healthy people," explained Dr. Philip LeBoit, an assistant clinical professor of pathology and dermatology at the University of California, San Francisco.

This seems to fit into that classification of conditions known as pseudo-malignancies, at least as far as AIDS is concerned. Pseudo-malignancies are not cancer but look like cancer, he said.

LeBoit led a laboratory analysis that revealed clusters of bacteria identical to those associated with cat scratch disease in tissue samples taken from each of the patients. The unusual bacteria cause lymph node swelling in healthy people and can be successfully treated with antibiotics.

But in people afflicted with AIDS whose immune systems are impaired by the AIDS virus, the scratches can lead to further complications, LeBoit said.

Two deaths of AIDS patients associated with cat scratch disease have been recorded in medical literature, noted LeBoit. He added that even in people with AIDS, cat scratch disease can be easily cured with proper treatment.

according to Wynn, in order to comply with U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development management and accounting practices.

Wynn said the hotels provided receipts for Ball's stay after the housing authority financial office requested them and they show Ball checked out a day early on each occasion.

The mayor's response to the charges left Wynn and Housing Authority Executive Director Elliott Smith, along with at least one city commissioner, wondering.

In a May 9 letter to Wynn, Mayor Smith states: "It appears that the law gives the city commission the power to appoint members to the Housing Authority and to remove them only for cause. We do not have the power to become involved in the operations of the Housing Authority and the conduct of its business."

Mayor Smith's response was based on legal advice from City Attorney Bill Colbert, who stated in a letter to the mayor that the charges "appear to be directed to operational matters within the purview of the Housing Authority as opposed to qualification or fitness to hold office which would be under the purview of the city commission."

However, in his letter to Mayor Smith, Colbert included a copy of a synopsis of a state law which provides the mayor and city commissioners with the authority to remove a commissioner from an appointed board for "inefficiency or neglect of duty or misconduct in office."

"This (the Ball issue) is not a day-to-day matter," said Wynn. "We are talking about the misuse of government funds. We need to take some action to deal with it. Is the (city) commission reluctant to deal with it?"

One commissioner, Bob Thomas, responded: "I am discouraged (in fellow commissioners) that it is being handled so lightly. They (city commissioners) don't seem to be too concerned with it. The only thing I can see is that they are ashamed of it and are trying to sweep it under the rug.

"I think the mayor should take the initiative and bring these people before us and have them know that they will operate under the same rules as everyone else.

"I am not asking for their scalp. But, this has reached a state of ugliness," he said.

Wynn said he will not allow the Ball matter to be swept under a rug and said that he and Elliott Smith sought the advice of Ned Julian, attorney for the housing authority. Wynn said that Julian advised them to first contact the city commission, then the Florida Commission of Ethics and as a last resort, the state attorney's office.

Asked if the state attorney's office had been notified, Elliott Smith replied, "At this point I'm not at liberty to discuss it any further."

Julian said he only provided the direction in which he thought the housing authority should proceed and did not render an opinion.

City Commissioner John Y. Mercer said the city commission cannot act on a specific matter or charge until it has been formally presented.

"I would assume that these matters must be presented to us at a commission meeting before we can take any action," said Mercer. "Buratti and Ball have been accused of some things and they should have their day in court."

Mercer also said he does not believe the city commission is shying away from the issue, and if it looks into one member (Ball) of the housing authority's expense account, it should look into the expense account of all the housing authority commissioners.

Ball denies any wrongdoing, though he admits he has not turned in any receipts nor does he plan to do so. "I thought about it, and then I said to hell with it," said Ball about the receipts.

He admits leaving both hotels early but said he checked into cheaper ones close by to save money. He said he thinks the money saved belongs to him for other expenses he has incurred and not reported.

Ball has presented his side of the matter to Elliott Smith in a letter. In the letter Ball states, "I will gladly reimburse SHA for any money I owe them after a full and competent accounting and examination of all expense accounts and verification of all expense vouchers."

Buratti denies any threat was made in the January meeting and passes it off as a misunderstanding. Buratti also said she has never seen any of the correspondence charging her with unprofessional conduct.

"Somebody was trying to plug into my extension cord and I have a very sensitive (tape) recorder. I told them not to do that again."

"I have a saying I use with children: 'I'm going to beat your butt with cooked macaroni'. That's what I said. Anybody that knows me knows I would never threaten anyone."

Space shuttle booster stands up to flaws in milestone test firing

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — In a milestone test firing, a subscale space shuttle booster stood up to a host of major built-in defects that probably would have destroyed a Challenger-style booster, NASA engineers say.

Space agency officials said the test firing, conducted Tuesday at the Marshall Space Flight Center, demonstrated the ability of redesigned O-ring joints to stand up to major failures.

"This type of test is very unprecedented in the solid rocket motor industry to flaw a motor this severely and then go test it and be able to take the consequences should you have a failure," booster engineer James Thomas said at a news conference.

"Because if we do have a failure, we would probably have to go back to the drawing board and do something different. Right now, we've given this our best shot and we feel very comfortable with our best shot."

While it will take several days to fully assess the results of the firing, preliminary data indicated the joints worked properly, despite the built-in flaws. And that was a shot in the arm for NASA, which hopes to launch the first post-Challenger shuttle mission in late August.

Adams County voters Tuesday approved the annexation of 45 square miles of land for the proposed airport. The annexation passed with 34,070 "yes" votes, 55.9 percent, and 26,928 "no" votes, 44.1 percent.

IN BRIEF

Iranians attack Panamanian tanker; U.S. forces not involved

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Iranian gunboats fired on a Panamanian-registered tanker today, setting it afire in the Strait of Hormuz in their first strike against a neutral vessel since the United States pledged to protect neutral shipping in the Persian Gulf.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said the stricken tanker made no request for assistance from Navy forces and there was "no U.S. involvement in the incident."

Shipping insurer Lloyd's of London said the Iranian gunboats attacked the 4,072-ton Ace Chemi at 6:30 a.m. as the tanker steamed north through the strait toward the Persian Gulf. Lloyd's said the tanker's crew abandoned ship and were in lifeboats, but no casualties were reported.

Last month, Defense Secretary Frank Carlucci ordered U.S. forces in the gulf to protect neutral shipping from attack, and today's assault was the first Iranian attack on such shipping since then.

Soviet cruise ship fire kills 11

TOKYO (UPI) — Japanese officials said an earlier call for help from a burning Soviet passenger ship anchored in the port of Osaka today could have prevented the fire from spreading and killing 11 people and injuring 35.

Fire broke out on the Primurye cruise ship at about 1 a.m. (noon Tuesday EDT) with 295 Soviet youths and 129 crew members on board, said a spokesman for the city fire department in Osaka, 250 miles southwest of Tokyo.

Smoke billowed out of the gutted hull of the 4,870-ton ship throughout the morning and left it listing to the right.

The Soviets did not report the fire until nearly an hour after it started, officials said.

"If they had called as soon as the fire started, it would not have been such a disaster," the fire department spokesman said.

'Olympic' TV satellite launched

KOUROU, French Guiana (UPI) — A television satellite that will help beam the Summer Olympics around the world was successfully launched by a French-built Ariane rocket in another milestone for the European space program.

The 162-foot Ariane 2 rocket, a three-stage liquid-fueled vehicle developed by the European Space Agency, blasted off at 7:58 p.m. EDT Tuesday from a jungle launch pad on the northern coast of South America.

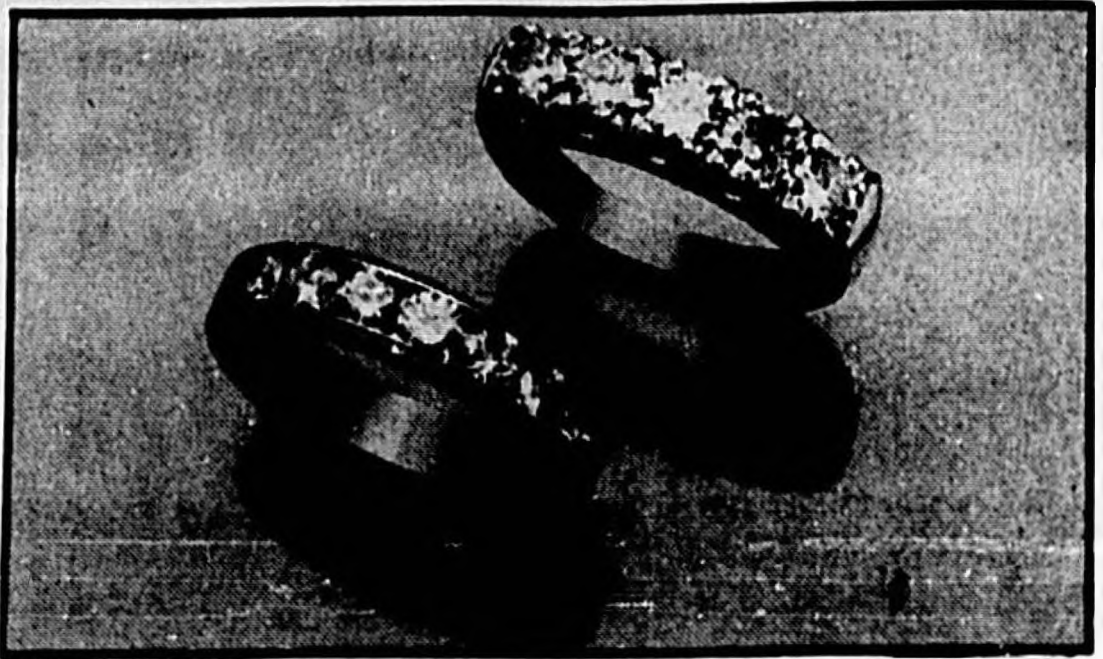

Its cargo, an Intelsat 5 communications satellite capable of handling 15,000 telephone calls and two television channels, was placed in a preliminary orbit about 18 minutes later.

Officials said the relay station ultimately will be stationed over the equator 22,300 miles above the Amazon jungle where it will be used in September to help carry coverage of the Summer Olympics from Seoul, Korea, to the Western Hemisphere.

Missouri couple charged with plotting to kill Jesse Jackson

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — An alleged white supremacist couple accused of plotting to assassinate Jesse Jackson told an informant they wanted the politician dead because he was getting too close to becoming president, authorities said.

Londell Williams, 30, and his wife, Tammy J. Williams, 27, of Washington, Mo., appeared Tuesday before U.S. Magistrate Carol Jackson, who determined there was enough of a threat to the Democratic presidential candidate to hold the couple without bail pending grand jury action. The couple are charged with conspiring to kill Jackson and with possession of illegal weapons, including a fully automatic rifle and a machine gun not registered to them. The complaint said the AR-15 rifle was to be used in the assassination.

At an appearance in Los Angeles Tuesday night, Jackson responded to reports of the conspiracy against his life.

"I will not lower our tone nor will I surrender. Our campaign will continue against the odds. The dreamers are outdistancing the dreambusters. The people of hope are outdistancing the people of despair," he said.

Pearlie Evans, Jackson campaign spokeswoman in St. Louis, called the reports "horrendous."

"The reverend has had a number of threats on his life, but they have not been in the southland," Evans said. "We find it absolutely horrendous."

The complaint against Williams and his wife said that on May 9, an informant told the Franklin County sheriff's office that the couple were conspiring to kill Jackson. The sheriff's office contacted the Secret Service, which began an investigation.

On May 10, the complaint said the informant, equipped with a hidden microphone that allowed federal authorities to record the conversation, met again with Londell Williams. The unemployed carpenter told the informant that he was a member of the Order and other white supremacist groups.

Members of the Order have been charged with the slaying of Denver talk show host Alan Berg and with conspiring to kill a number of federal judges. In Missouri, David Tate, a member of the Order, was convicted for the 1985 slaying in southwest Missouri of a highway patrol trooper who stopped his car.

Williams told the informant that on either June 21 or July 4, he and his wife would execute Jackson "because he was getting too close to being president of the United States," according to the complaint.

The complaint said the informant's true identity was discovered by the couple, and that they left a note for him saying he would be killed.

Franklin County Sheriff Paul Bruns said the couple were arrested May 13 following two days of surveillance by the Secret Service, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, and the FBI.

Brunns said little was known about the couple, who lived in an apartment complex in Washington, a town of 9,200 some 50 miles west of St. Louis.

William Kleinheider, who owned the 72-unit apartment complex where the couple lived since last July, said, "They were good people. I never had any problems with him. I talked to him quite a bit and this is a surprise."

Dukakis takes easy victory in Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Democratic presidential front-runner Michael Dukakis heads into the final round of primaries with a victory in the West moving him closer to a fall showdown against Vice President George Bush.

With 74 percent of the vote counted from Tuesday's Democratic primary, Dukakis was leading with 56 percent of the vote, compared to 39 percent for civil rights leader Jesse Jackson.

"This is a significant victory for us because this is the first true primary in the West," said Alvin Travis, national campaign director for Dukakis. "This state has a history of not supporting the front runner and we feel this bodes well for us in California."

California, New Jersey, New Mexico and Montana hold the final round of primaries June 7.

A poll released today by the Los Angeles Times shows Dukakis leading Jackson in California by a 2-1 ratio. Among likely voters in the California Democratic primary, Dukakis has the support of 61 percent, compared to 36 percent for Jackson.

The poll, taken last week, also shows Dukakis leading Bush by 47 percentage points in a contest in San California. The poll's margin of error was 3 percentage points.

Jackson, who finished much stronger in Oregon's primary this year than in 1984, was optimistic about the outcome.

"We are encouraged with the preliminary reports coming from Oregon. We have done three times and a half better tonight than we did in 1984. The base of our coalition continues to expand," Jackson said late Tuesday while campaigning in Los Angeles.

Jackson also said he would not be deterred from his campaign by revelations of an alleged plot to kill him. Police in St. Louis were holding Londell and Tammy J. Williams of Washington, Mo., on charges of conspiracy and possession of illegal weapons for allegedly planning his assassination.

"I will not lower our tone nor will I surrender. Our campaign will continue against the odds. The dreamers are outdistancing the dreambusters. The people of hope are outdistancing the people of despair," Jackson said.

Bush, who has clinched the Republican presidential nomination, received 74 percent of the vote in Oregon to win 32 delegates. Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas received 18 percent and Pat Robertson got 8 percent. Both Dole and Robertson have left the race.

Dukakis will get 27 of the 45 delegates at stake in Oregon to push his total delegate count to 1,565.7. He needs 2,041 to win the Democratic nomination. Jackson gets 18 delegates, bringing his total to 918.2. Some delegates cast fractional votes.

Most of Oregon's six super delegates, including Democratic Gov. Neil Goldschmidt, have indicated they will support the winner of the Oregon primary, which would push Dukakis's delegate count higher.

The victory was the ninth in a row for the Massachusetts governor.

Dukakis chose to stay in Massachusetts and deal with that state's budget problems. He campaigned in only two Oregon cities in two days, compared to an 11-city blitz over five days for Jackson. Dukakis also spent very little money in the state because he is nearing the limit on campaign spending.

Jackson toured the state until election day in hopes of either upsetting Dukakis or making a strong enough showing to demonstrate support among white voters.

Jackson led Dukakis in Lane and Benton counties, home of the University of Oregon and Oregon State University, where he drew crowds of up to 14,000 people. But Dukakis won clear victories in Oregon's other 34 counties, including the Portland metropolitan area.

Tampa Bay adds 20 players to roster

TAMPA (UPI) — The Tampa Bay Buccaneers signed 10 free agents Tuesday, six rookies and four veterans, three of whom played on replacement teams during last year's players strike.

Veterans signed were defensive back Rondy Bellinger of the University of Miami, who played three years with the Buffalo Bills, kicker Van Tiffin of Alabama, a replacement player for Tampa Bay, nose tackle Dane Coleman of Southern Mississippi, and defensive back David Evans of Central Arkansas, both of whom played as replacements for the Minnesota Vikings.

Rookies signed were wide receivers Ed Frazier of Florida, Randy White of Florida State, Clay Whitehurst of Alabama and Danny Smith of South Carolina, tight end Gary Ford of Texas Christian University and defensive lineman Tommy Clapp of Louisiana State.

Carr leads Sun Belt all conference team

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (UPI) — Jacksonville University third baseman Ernie Carr, who posted a league-leading .447 batting average, was selected Sun Belt Conference player of the year Tuesday by league coaches.

Carr, a senior from Meriden, Conn., notched 72 RBI this year and his 29 doubles led the league.

Jacksonville pitcher Brian Evans, a junior from Harvey's Lake, Pa., was chosen the conference's rookie of the year by the eight Sun Belt coaches.

Evans, who came to the Dolphins from Keystone Junior College, is leading the nation with a 0.72 ERA. He is 7-1 with five saves.

The coaches selected Tony Guzzo of Virginia Commonwealth as coach of the year. He guided VCU to its best season ever, 41-14-1, and the league's Eastern Division crown.

Green pulls off big upset in NCAA's

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Lisa Green of Stanford upset second seed Trisha Laux of Southern Cal, 7-6, 6-3, Tuesday to advance to the semifinals of the NCAA women's tennis championships.

Green needs Halle Cioffi of Florida in Wednesday's semifinals. Top seed Ronni Reis of Miami and fourth-seeded Shaun Stafford of Florida advanced to the other semifinal by winning two matches Tuesday.

All three Florida doubles teams advanced to the quarterfinals, as did the third-seeded team of Allyson Cooper and Stella Sampras of UCLA, the tournament's highest remaining doubles seed.

Founder of Pop Warner dies

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Joseph Tomlin, who founded "Pop Warner Football" and helped bring gridiron competition to millions of youngsters since 1929, has died after a brief illness, family members announced Tuesday. He was 85.

San Francisco marathon canceled

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — This year's San Francisco Marathon has been canceled because of a lack of support from the business and political community, organizers announced Tuesday.

Scott Thomason, executive director of the Pamakid Runners Club, said he is proposing a half-marathon of 13.1 miles to be run on city streets the same day as the scheduled Marathon, July 17. He said a half-marathon would be over by 9:30 a.m. and thus would not tie up city streets. The marathon was run on a course through downtown streets to Fisherman's Wharf. It required 400 policemen at a cost of about $60,000 to block off streets and keep order.

Cooper's jumper lifts Lakers over Jazz

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Michael Cooper sank an 18-foot jumper with seven seconds left Tuesday night and James Worthy preserved the victory with a steal and foul shot two seconds later, lifting the Los Angeles Lakers to a 111-109 triumph and a 3-2 edge in their Western Conference semifinal series with the Utah Jazz.

The defending NBA champions can secure a spot in the conference final for the seventh straight year with a victory Thursday night at the Salt Palace. If necessary, a decisive Game 7 would take place Saturday afternoon at the Forum.

Worthy scored to give Los Angeles a 108-107 lead with 31 seconds to play, but Thurl Bailey answered for Utah with a baseline jumper off a feed from Bobby Hansen with 12 seconds left.

But after a timeout, Magic Johnson ran across the lane and found Cooper near the top of the key. His jumper found nothing but net with seven seconds to play.

NBA PLAYOFFS

Worthy then intercepted Marc Javaroni's inbounds pass intended for Thurl Bailey and was fouled. He hit the first of two free throws for the game's final point.

The Jazz were unable to get off a final shot. John Stockton — who tied Johnson's playoff record with 24 assists — found Hansen on the baseline, but his shot was off target and after the buzzer.

Having blown all of a 10-point lead with 11 minutes left, the Lakers went ahead 105-104 with 2:29 left on Johnson's layup, then received a foul shot 29 seconds later from Byron Scott.

After Karl Malone hit a foul shot with 64 seconds left, Stockton stripped A.C. Green off the ball and threw downtown for Malone, whose thunderous jam gave Utah a 107-106 lead with 47 seconds to play.

Mychal Thompson's rebound basket had produced Los Angeles' largest lead at 88-78 at the outset of the final period, but Stockton scored 7 points in a 15-4 burst that got Utah the edge at 93-92 with 7:43 to play.

Worthy, though, hit a jumper and Utah center Mark Eaton was tagged with his sixth foul with 6:01 to play. The Lakers immediately capitalized, with Scott finding Johnson for a layup and a 98-94 lead with 5:50 left.

The Jazz came back once again, this time behind an unlikely source, Javaroni, who replaced Eaton, canned a jumper and added 2 foul shots after drawing Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's sixth foul. He blocked Worthy's shot, leading to Malone's 2 free throws for a 104-103 Utah lead that set up the game's final frenzy.

Worthy finished with 27 points for the Lakers while Scott had 24 and Johnson 20. Bailey led the Jazz with 28. Malone added 27 and Stockton 23.

Sullivan hits 213.573

Field shaping up for May 29 Indy 500 race

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Danny Sullivan took his turn in the Penske team practice car Tuesday and Scott Brayton and Mario Andretti worked in their qualified machines at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Twenty-nine cars practiced on the 2 1/2-mile oval for the 72nd Indianapolis 500. Nine cars that have already qualified put in practice laps, while 20 others were worked in efforts to reach speeds that would enable them to make the field for the May 29 race.

Sullivan, the 1985 champion, drove the Penske-Chevrolet assigned as the backup car for Rick Mears. He reached 213.573 mph in the car that Mears took to 215.775 mph Monday.

Sullivan said taking turns in the backup car allows all the members of the Penske team to avoid unnecessary dangers in their qualified cars.

"We're in a lucky situation. We get to use the test cars and not put our real race cars in jeopardy," said Sullivan, who qualified for the middle of the front row "With the backup car, Rick did a lot of testing yesterday and it keeps us fresher. We don't get burned out."

INDY 500

At Unser Sr., another Penske driver and a four-time Indy 500 champion, will practice Wednesday in the Mears backup car, Sullivan said.

While the Penske team ran its backup, Scott Brayton worked hard in his already qualified Lola-Huick. Brayton ran about 40 laps at midday, with speeds ranging from 204 mph to just under 210 mph.

"It's never turned a wheel on a race track until a week ago last Sunday," said Brayton. "We haven't really tested in all types of weather. That's one thing that caught us in qualifying, because we weren't as well suited for hot temperatures as we should have been."

Brayton qualified for the inside-of the third row with a four-lap average of 212.624 mph.

Both Brayton and Sullivan said track conditions had improved considerably since last weekend's qualifications. Temperatures were in the low 70s Tuesday under partly sunny skies.

Andretti, the 1969 Indy 500 champ who qualified on the inside of the second row, ran his qualified Lola-Chevrolet at 215.465 mph, the fastest lap in Tuesday's practice. Dick Simon ran his qualified car over 212 mph. Emerson Fittipaldi ran over 210 mph. Tom Sneva exceeded 207 mph and Michael Andretti hit 204 mph.

Among unqualified cars, qualifiers Roberto Guerrero, Al Unser Jr. and Derek Daly each ran above 209 mph in their backup cars. Four-time champion A.J. Foyt, who has yet to qualify, hit a top lap of 209.205 mph.

Foyt said he is confident he can put together a good qualification run this weekend.

Risen Star may not run Preakness

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The trainer and co-owner of Risen Star said Tuesday he is still uncertain whether to race his third-place finisher at the Kentucky Derby in Saturday's Preakness Stakes.

"The Peter Pan and the jersey Derby are both still possibilities," said Louie Roussel III, referring to two less prestigious stakes for 3-year-olds this month at Belmont Park and Garden State Park.

Roussel's remarks met with skepticism because Risen Star has looked so strong in morning gallops at Pimlico Race Course. The Secretariat colt has been so eager to run that exercise rider Jimmy Nichols felt obliged to let him kick into higher gear during the second mile of his two-mile gallop Tuesday.

Risen Star easily accelerated into what trainers call a "two-minute clip," which means he was running at about two minutes per mile, or approximately 25 seconds slower than race speed. Afterward, he did not appear overly fatigued.

"I thought he needed that," Nichols told Roussel, who nodded in agreement.

Roussel's reluctance to commit to the Preakness stems from a fear the race might attract close to its maximum 14 starters and, as in the Derby, leave too many horses for the late charging Risen Star to overtake.

"I would never do that again," he said. "I don't care if it is for a $10 million purse."

Later Tuesday, however, the probable Preakness field was reduced to no more than 11, when trainer D. Wayne Lukas announced he would only run Derby winner Winning Colors and leave Tejana, the 1987 juvenile money champion, at home.

Since probable Preakness starters Brian's Time and Celsa race even further off the pace than Risen Star, Risen Star probably would have no more than eight horses to overtake.

"That's not too bad," Roussel said. "We'll just have to wait and see."

Oviedo's Greene player of the year

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Editor

Managers dream of having players who possess good speed and can also hit the ball out of the park. When the same player turns out to be an ace pitcher, you've got what some managers call a franchise.

Oviedo High senior Alan Greene displayed all the above talents in 1988, but he also was quick to give credit to his teammates for helping in his success. For his all-around talents and his dedication to the Lions' baseball team, Greene has been named Sanford Herald Player of the Year.

Offensively, Greene came through with a number of big hits for the Lions. He led the team in homers and RBIs and he also was second on the team in stolen bases. Among his pitching achievements was a three-hitter against Ocala Vanguard in a region playoff game and a 15-strikeout game early in the season. During midseason, he was named Most Valuable Player in the City of Apopka Invitational after the Lions won the championship.

Joining Greene on the All-County First Team are pitchers Greg Ebbert of Lake Brantley and Ross Urahon of Lyman; catcher Jerrey Thurston of Lake Brantley; first baseman Jim "Mango" Morse of Lake Brantley; second baseman Marc Lowe of Lake Howell; shortstop Wes Weger of Lake Mary; third baseman Eric Hirtle of Lake Mary; outfielder Gary Pelczar of Oviedo; outfielder Chris Brock of Lyman; outfielder Aaron Iatarola of Lake Mary and designated hitter Randy Green of Lake Brantley.

BASEBALL

Ebbert, a senior lefthander, won 10 games for the Patriots during the regular season as he led the county in wins, innings pitched and strikeouts and was among the leaders in earned run average. He also hit over .400 at the plate.

Urahon, a senior righthander, was the most consistent pitcher for Lyman during the regular season, and he also picked up three victories in postseason play, including back-to-back wins in the district tournament. Urahon also excelled at the plate as he cracked five homers and hit over .300.

Thurston, the only sophomore on the First Team, led Seminole County in batting average and was also a steady defensive catcher with a superb throwing arm.

Morse, a junior, unloaded 11 homers during the regular season for one of the best totals ever in Seminole County. He also hit above the .400 mark and played solid defense at first base.

Lowe, a senior, was the defensive leader in the infield for the Silver Hawks and also was one of the team's leading hitters as he topped the .300 mark.

Weger, a senior, had a tremendous season for the Rams in helping them to the Seminole Athletic Conference title. He led the team in hitting and stolen bases and was a steady and often spectacular player in the field.

Hirtle, a senior, came through in the clutch on a number of occasions either with his bat, glove or on the pitching mound for the Rams. He led the team in runs batted in and many of those RBIs came in crucial situations.

Pelczar, a senior, gave Oviedo a consistent stick from the left side and a solid glove in right field. He led the team in hitting during the regular season and also had some key hits in postseason play as Oviedo won district and region crowns.

Brock, a senior, got off to a

Iatarola, a junior, was another player for Lake Mary who came through with big hits at clutch times. In fact, Iatarola had as many extra base hits as he did singles, including four

Tigers' Gibson wins in major league debut

United Press International

With little time to worry about the job ahead, Detroit's Paul Gibson produced seven quality innings in his debut as a major-league starter.

Gibson, told he was making his first major-league start 10 minutes before gametime, allowed seven hits over seven innings Tuesday night to spark the Tigers to an 8-4 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Detroit Manager Sparky Anderson told the rookie left-hander of his starting assignment after scheduled starter Jeff Robinson came up with a stiff neck.

"At first I was a little too pumped up," Gibson said. "The biggest fear is going out there and walking four or five guys."

"Once I established I could throw strikes, I felt comfortable."

Gibson, 2-1, allowed three runs, struck out two and walked one. Guillermo Hernandez relieved in the eighth.

In eight relief appearances this season, Gibson had a 3.75 ERA in 12 innings.

Mariners 6, Yankees 2

At New York, Billy Swift hurled a three-hitter and Ken Phelps and Scott Bradley homered to lead Seattle. Swift, 3-1, yielded a two-run homer to Don Mattingly in the first inning, then retired 17 of the next 19 batters. He finished with six strikeouts and two walks. Rich Dotson, 5-1, took the loss.

Indiana 6, White Sox 2

At Cleveland, Andy Allanson's three-run homer backed the combined six-hitter of Rich Yett and Doug Jones. Yett, 3-2, allowed five hits and solo homers by Darryl Boston and Dan Pasqua over 6 2-3 innings. Jones finished for his sixth save. Jack McDowell, 2-4, went the distance in a losing effort.

Athletics 12, Red Sox 7

At Boston, Mark McGwire's 11th homer sparked a 16-hit Oakland attack. Carney Lansford and Walt Weiss each stroked three hits for Oakland, 18-4 on the road. Steve Ontiveros, 2-1, allowed 12 hits and five runs and Rick Honeycutt went three innings for his fourth save. Steve Ellsworth, 1-5, was the loser.

Twins 6, Royals 5

At Minneapolis, a ninth-inning single by Gene Larkin and an error on the play by center fielder Willie Wilson allowed Minnesota to score the tying and winning runs. With two on and two out, Larkin singled off Gene Garber, 0-1, for one run and Wilson's throw to third was wild, allowing Mark Davidson to race home. Juan Berenguer, 4-3, pitched two innings for the victory.

Rangers 7, Blue Jays 6

At Toronto, Oddibe McDowell drew a bases-loaded walk with one out in the 14th inning. Dale Mohrreic, 2-0, won in relief, while the loss went to Mark Eichhorn, 0-3. The game took 5 hours, 20 minutes, marking the longest game in the AL this year, and the longest game in Blue Jay history.

Astros 3, Pirates 2

Inspired by the success of fellow Houston Astros starters, Mike Scott upped his record to 5-0 and took over the league lead in strike outs.

"When everyone is throwing well, you want to try to keep up," said Scott, who struck out 10 Tuesday night to lead the Astros to a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. "The next guy wants to go out and throw as well as the last guy."

In allowing just three hits in seven innings, Scott helped lower Houston's league-leading ERA to 2.38, and helped improve the record of Astros starters to 18-7 this season. Houston starters have allowed three runs or less and gone at least six innings in 31 of the team's 36 games.

Cardinals 3, Cubs 0

At Chicago, Luis Alcaez's bad-hop single snapped an 11th-inning scoreless tie. Scott Terry, 2-1, pitched one inning before yielding to Todd Worrell, who earned his 11th save. Greg Maddux, 6-3, pitched 10 2-3 innings of shutout ball.

Braves 6, Reds 2

At Cincinnati, Dale Murphy, Andres Thomas and Gary Roenicke homered to power Atlanta. Rick Mahler, 3-4, pitched 7 1-3 innings, allowed seven hits, struck out four and walked one. Dennis Rasmussen, 1-4, yielded three runs on four hits, and struck out four in 5 1-3 innings.

Expos 6, Dodgers 5

At Los Angeles, Johnny Paredes drove in three runs to help Neal Heaton secure his first victory of the season. Heaton, 1-2, allowed four runs on seven hits over three innings. Tim Burke got two outs for his fifth save. Fernando Valenzuela, 3-4, yielded six runs on 10 hits and six walks in seven innings.

Mets 1, Padres 0

At San Diego, David Cone, 5-0, struck out a career-high 12 and Keith Hernandez scored from third base on an eighth-inning wild pitch. Cone was touched for six hits and walked two in seven innings. Randy Myers pitched two innings and struck out two for his fifth save. Mark Davis, 1-3, took the loss for the Padres.

Phillies 8, Giants 1

At San Francisco, Kevin Gross, 4-1, hurled his third complete game of the season in pitching a six-hitter. Gross walked five and struck out three. Giants starter Kelly Downs, 1-4, failed to survive the second inning.

SCOUTING REPORT

NEW YORK (UPI) — John Candelaria sat by his locker, his leg shaking nervously under the towel he wore.

He had just beaten Seattle for his fifth victory this year, and the second wave of reporters had found his corner of the Yankee clubhouse. The Candy Man smiled and tried to answer as best he could. And the leg kept shaking.

You can't blame this 6-foot-6 left-hander for being a bit nervous, or if the world has made him wary. Candelaria has done more than stare down major-league hitters. He has also seen life, both the good and the bad.

He lost a 2-year-old son to a swimming-pool accident. He has twice undergone rehab for alcohol abuse. Now, in a new role as a Yankee starter, Candelaria looks a bit like a man trying to decide whether to trust the world again.

He does not read newspapers the day after he pitches. Someone asked him if the habit would change in the World Series.

"If we win? I still won't read it," he said. "I'll be on a jet plane back to California, happy as can be."

Why?

"I choose to do it that way."

If he read the papers, Candelaria would see nothing but praise for his work. So far, his decision pitch for the Yanks has extended a career that seemed over.

"All I really wanted to do was pitch this year and put last year behind me and just go on," he said. "And believe it or not, I picked a good team major-league hitters. He has also seen life, both the good and the bad."

Candelaria, 34, grew up in Brooklyn and reached the majors at age 21. He pitched in Pittsburgh, where he helped win a World Series. Pittsburgh traded him to California in 1985, and the Angels dealt him to the Mets last year. During the off-season, Candelaria looked for a place to pitch. And the Yankees offered it.

"I knew his background, raised in Brooklyn and being a real good tough city kid," Yankee Coach Jeff Torborg said. "When we had a chance to get him I said, 'This is the kind of guy who could thrive on being in New York.' Whereas some people are intimidated by it. He was raised here. He's a tough competitor. The New York situation would not be intimidating at all to him."

Candelaria has faced trouble in his career as well as his personal life. He tore a bicep muscle in May 1981 and was lost for the rest of the season. Just two years ago he underwent elbow surgery.

Apparently, neither personal nor professional misfortune has stripped him of a certain gift. Call it an instinct for victory. Entering this season, he was 151-95 over his major-league career. This year he has added five victories and only two losses. Suddenly, he ranks with the Yankees' most dependable starters.

"When he's throwing, you just have a good feeling that your team is going to be in the game," said Yankee slugger Jack Clark, who faced Candelaria in the National League.

...Lakers

Thompson's 3-point play following another offensive rebound had given the Lakers their largest first-half lead at 44-36 with 10 minutes left in the second quarter, but the Jazz rebounded with 8 unanswered points to tie it.

Some three minutes later, Abdul-Jabbar broke a 48-48 tie and drew Eaton's third foul with a underhand layup, but Utah Coach Frank Layden elected to keep his 7-foot-4 center in the game at the 4:53 mark.

That decision paid off when Eaton jammed for a 3-point play to ignite a run of 7 straight points. He left two minutes before halftime without another foul, and the score at intermission was 59-59.

In a torrid first quarter, the Lakers hit 57 percent of their shots to take a 37-32 lead. Utah sank 67 percent of its attempts, with Stockton setting a team playoff record with 8 assists.

MAVERICKS TRIUMPH

DENVER (UPI) — Rolando Blackman scored 6 of his 24 points in the final four minutes Tuesday night to lead the Dallas Mavericks to a 110-106 victory over the Denver Nuggets and a 3-2 lead in their Western Conference semifinal.

The Mavericks can advance to the Western Conference final with a victory in Game 6 of the best-of-seven series Thursday at Dallas. Game 7, if necessary, will be played in Denver. The Mavericks had trailed 2-1 in the series.

The Nuggets, playing without injured Fat Lever and Jay Vincent, got a career-high 33 points from Danny Schayes and 30 from Alex English. But Denver, the league's best free-throw shooting team, missed 7 straight free throws late in the game.

The score was tied 95-95 when Blackman hit 2 free throws at the 3:42 mark to give the Mavericks the lead for good. He then scored on a drive with 3:04 left for a 109-95 lead and came back with a 16-foot jump shot with 40 seconds left to put Dallas ahead 106-102.

With the Mavericks leading 106-104, Mark Aguirre hit a 3-pointer from the baseline to seal the victory.

Denver received no more than 13 points from anyone besides Schayes and English and its bench was outscored by Dallas' 40-14. Roy Tarpley had 21 points and 16 rebounds for Dallas and Sam Perkins added 17 points.

Denver jumped to a 6-0 lead in the first 90 seconds, but Dallas recovered and Tarpley gave the Mavericks their first lead of the game, 25-23, with 24 seconds left in the first quarter.

Dallas then hit 6 of its first 10 shots in the second quarter for a 37-32 lead with 7:30 left. Tarpley hit consecutive tips and the Mavericks went ahead 45-36 with five minutes left in the half.

PISTONS CAN CLINCH

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons, thanks to their defensive work on Michael Jordan of the Chicago Bulls, are one victory from the Eastern Conference finals for the second straight year.

Detroit leads Chicago 3-1 in the best-of-seven series entering Game 5 Wednesday night at the Silverdome. If Detroit wins, it will have several days off before playing the winner of the Atlanta-Boston series.

The Pistons have taken command by twice holding Jordan under 25 points during weekend victories at Chicago. Excellent defense was provided by guard Joe Dumars with help from Isiah Thomas and the Detroit forwards.

"I've always said Joe Dumars is a great defender against me," Jordan said. "And with the help he's got, he's even better."

New hope for protecting the striped bass

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (UPI) — The East Coast's prized striped bass is being protected in numbers in North Carolina waters this season, but there's a new hope it may be multiplying in the Chesapeake Bay.

Once an important fish commercially, and the premier game fish along the coast from Maine to the Outer Banks, the striped or "rock" fish has been in trouble for over a decade.

A battle still rages over when, or what, is at fault. The sports fishermen blame the commercial fisherman, the commercial fisherman blames water degradation and the experts say both water quality and over fishing play a role.

Paul Ferris, of the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission in Washington, said the outlook for the striped population along the eastern seaboard is a "mixed bag" at present, but "we expect in the next couple of years the Chesapeake will respond to conservation programs already in place and will do well."

The Chesapeake, which is struggling with pollution, is regarded as crucial to the striped bass population.

Only three states allow commercial trafficking in strippers — North Carolina, Virginia and Massachusetts, and strict regulations hold down the harvest in waters of those states.

New York's Hudson River has become one of the most prolific spawning grounds for strippers, but ironically the fish there have been found to be contaminated with cancer-causing PCBs (polychlorinated biphenyl) and authorities have banned their sale and cautioned residents against eating too many of them.

Edmonton, however, unquestionably has the league's top talent, and is playing better team hockey than it had in any of its previous three Stanley Cup. Since the departure of star defenseman Paul Coffey last fall, the Oilers have resorted to more defense and discipline than in the past. They still have more than enough firepower to blitz opponents.

"We're not as good as we were if we don't win the Cup," Oilers center Mark Messier said. "We've won three Cups because we played great defense, and for no other reason."

New York's Hudson River has become one of the most prolific spawning grounds for strippers, but ironically the fish there have been found to be contaminated with cancer-causing PCBs (polychlorinated biphenyl) and authorities have banned their sale and cautioned residents against eating too many of them.

In contrast to the growing numbers of strippers in the Hudson, commercial landings of the fish in North Carolina's Albemarle Sound for January and February of this year plummeted to 26,824 pounds.

This compares to 100,421 pounds during the same period of 1987 and to 1,111,614 pounds during January and February 1970, before the decline started.

Still worse, Fred Harris, of the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission, says "you can almost write off natural reproduction completely on the Roanoke River," the chief spawning grounds for the strippers in North Carolina.

The Wildlife Commission and the state Division of Marine Fisheries are at odds over how to deal with the problem of the state's declining striped population.

"We think it is being over fished, and we think the commercial fishery in the sound (Albemarle) is contributing to that over harvest," said Harris.

The Wildlife Commission has jurisdiction over inland waters, such as the Roanoke, but Marine Fisheries has control over coastal waters, including the Albemarle.

The Wildlife Commission has banned commercial fishing on the Roanoke spawning grounds and has asked Marine Fisheries to let the commercial season on strippers in the Albemarle end this year on schedule, March 31, rather than extending it for 25 days, as was done last year.

Instead, Marine Fisheries extended the season through April 1.

Harrel Johnson, northern district manager of Marine Fisheries, said this was done so commercial fishermen could continue to fish for shad, without wanting the striped bass they would catch in their nets at the same time.

"Once a striped bass is caught in a gill net during this period, they're dead," Johnson said. "These fishermen could not tolerate continuing to fish for shad and having to throw striped bass back when there was no conservation coming from it."

NHL finals pit Bruins, Oilers

EDMONTON, Alberta (UPI) — The Boston Bruins stand better than Edmonton Oilers and their fourth Stanley Cup in five years. Starting to night in Northlands Coliseum, Wayne Gretzky and company take aim at the roadblock.

"There are no many intangibles," Edmonton's Craig Simpson said. "The play is twice as intense as in regular season. Everybody plays each game to die. You don't want to get down even one game."

Through three rounds, the Oilers have won all eight of their home games and 12 of 14 overall. Game 1, in Edmonton, starts today at 9:35 p.m. EDT.

The Bruins, although decided underdogs, already have proven this postseason they pay no attention to the odds. For the first time in 45 years and 19 seasons, Boston defeated Montreal in the playoffs. That obstacle overcome, and a tough, seven-game victory over New Jersey behind them, the Bruins will bring more than a little confidence into the final.

Edmonton, however, unquestionably has the league's top talent, and is playing better team hockey than it had in any of its previous three Stanley Cup. Since the departure of star defenseman Paul Coffey last fall, the Oilers have resorted to more defense and discipline than in the past. They still have more than enough firepower to blitz opponents.

Connors withdraws from French

JIMMY CONNORS has withdrawn from next week's French Open tennis tournament because of an injured right foot, his representatives, ProServe, announced Tuesday.

Connors, the world's fifth-ranked player, actually hurt the foot before last year's U.S. Open. The injury — diagnosed by doctors as two damaged sesamoid bones under the ball of his right foot — worsened three weeks ago at the AT&T Challenge in Roswell, Ga.

Connors is scheduled to play in the Stella Artois Grand Court Championships starting June 6 at London's Queens Club. Connors expects to compete later in June in Wimbledon, which he has won twice.

"I am disappointed about missing the French because I've enjoyed playing it over the past seven years," said Connors, who has never won the French and was a quarterfinalist on the Italian tour last year. Connors is scheduled to play in the Stella Artois Grand Court Championships starting June 6 at London's Queens Club. Connors expects to compete later in June in Wimbledon, which he has won twice.

Lockridge to defend crown

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Rocky Lockridge will defend his International Boxing Federation junior-lightweight title July 23 against Tony Lopez, promoter Don Chagrin announced Tuesday.

The scheduled 15-round match will be held at Sacramento's ARCO Arena and be televised nationally by CBS.

Lopez, ranked sixth by the IBF, earned the title after a March 25 win when he knocked out Tony Frey Lopez, 25, in 20, with the loss coming on a disqualification last September. He also was a sparring partner of Bobby Chacon, the former World Boxing Council junior-lightweight champion.

Lockridge won the title Aug. 9, 1987, with an 11-round knockout of Barry Michael. He has successfully defended his crown twice, the most recent against the top IBF contender, Harold Knight, in Atlantic City, N.J., last month.

GROVE DEFENDS TITLE ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Calvin Grove dominated the early rounds to win a 15-round unanimous decision over Myron Taylor Tuesday in his first defense of his International Boxing Federation featherweight crown.

Grove, 25, of Castlesville, Pa., raised his record to 33-0, with 13 knockouts Taylor, 28, of Philadelphia, is 23-7-2.

Grove, who took the title on Jan. 25 when he defeated Antonio Rivera, won with scores of 148-138

Stocks open lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened lower today in active early trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which fell 21.22 Tuesday, was down 3.31 to 1983.09 shortly after the market opened.

Declines outpaced advances 524-307 among the 1,342 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 23,522,000 shares.

Stock prices fell Tuesday in slow trading as investors worried that renewed inflationary pressures would outweigh the positive aspects of a substantial decline in the U.S. trade deficit in March.

Dollar opens higher, gold, silver lower

By United Press International

The dollar was higher in moderate trading today on major foreign currency markets on the strength of a better-than-expected U.S. trade report for March. Gold drifted lower.

The Commerce Department announced Tuesday that the nation's trade deficit shrank from $13.83 billion in February to $9.75 billion in March.

In earlier trading in the Far East, the dollar ended the day higher against the Japanese yen in active trading, closing at 125.53 yen, up 0.73 from 124.82 yen on Tuesday.

Traders said the dollar had been up almost 1 yen to 125.60 yen on the news of a significantly reduced U.S. trade deficit for March before some light profit taking took place.

In Europe, the dollar began the day in Milan at a six-month high, trading at 1,264.75 lire, up from Tuesday's close of 1,254.40.

In Frankfurt, the dollar opened at 1.7035 West German marks, up from 1.702, in Zurich at 1.4215 Swiss francs, up from 1.4185, in Paris at 5.7685 French francs, up from 5.765 and in Brussels at 35.825.

April housing starts increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A spurt in multi-unit housing construction and strong growth in the Midwest housing industry offset slumps elsewhere and sent housing starts up a modest 0.5 percent in April, the Commerce Department reported Wednesday.

Work on new housing in April began at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1,561 million units, up 0.5 percent from the revised March rate of 1,554 million, the department's Census Bureau said.

New construction of single family houses was down 6.9 percent to an annual rate of 1,095 million from the revised March rate of 1,176 million, while new construction of multi-unit housing shot up 23 percent from March to an annual rate of 466 million, the department said.

That slump in the single-family housing industry worried mortgage bankers, housing industry officials and other analysts.

Martin Regalia, an economist with the National Council of Savings Institutions, said the multi-family sector has been showing "a tremendous amount of volatility. It's flopping around so much no one can make heads or tails of it."

But with an expected steady upward drift in mortgage rates to between 11.25 percent to 12 percent by the end of the year, Regalia predicted "erosion in the single-family market from here on out."

school there for a year or so after which she would relocate in order to expand.

City Planner Chris Nagle who, along with Land Planning Agency, recommended approval of the conditional use, said today he has no problem with the proximity of the school to the restaurant. He said he sees no problem because Papa B's is a restaurant, where beer and wine are served in conjunction with food, not a bar.

Nagle said under the city's zoning, licensing is more liberal than the state liquor laws in that it makes the distinction between whether the licensed establishment is a restaurant and it would have been up to the state to determine if the applicant was within 1,000 feet of a church or school.

However, Tina Kachmar, senior licensing clerk for the Alcoholic Beverages and Tobacco Division office in Orlando, said she knows of no such state requirement. She said the state issues the license only after the health department, the state revenue department and the zoning department of the local government certify that the applicant meets their requirements. In the case of Papa B's, she said Nagle's signature is on the application for the license issued to Salvatore Barone at 1251 E. Lake St. She said Burke's name is not on the liquor license, but anyone with a financial interest in the restaurant should have their name added.

Nagle said the rule of thumb for determining if a business is a restaurant or a tavern is to ask if 51 percent of its sales are from food or if the average person is going there to eat rather than drink.

Approval was recommended by the Land Planning Agency and Nagel, but City Administrator Gene Demarie told the applicant if the vote was taken Monday night he would have to recommend against it. He said should Smith agree to table the public hearing until the next regular meeting he would meet with her to look into the situation.

DeMarie said, "I am very sensitive to possible city liability and the safety of the children."

Clark Human of 255 Wildmere Ave. wanted to know where the children would exercise and play. He said there is already a school and day care center operated by the Longwood Church of God at 220 E. Wildmere Ave. in a residential area.

"We signed a waiver years ago for the church, but not a school or day care center with 100 students," Human said. "We don't need another 25 students in that area and the additional traffic it would bring."

Ray Isbell, 190 Overstreet Ave., said, "We certainly don't need anything to bring more traffic or noise to the neighborhood."

Some other tenants in the center expressed concern that the school would exacerbate problems with septic tanks. Smith said her school would be on a different septic tank and required repairs, fencing and sod has been put in and approved by the Environmental Health Agency.

But, Commissioner Tom Mahoney said, "We can improve on the aesthetics of Lake Mary by tightening up the sign ordinance."

Mahoney explained the reason for a moratorium, saying a lengthy debate in city commission meetings may spur billboard promoters to apply for permits under the current weak ordinance. "While we're fiddling-Rome burns," he said.

Commissioner George Duryea said the moratorium will save the staff from interpreting the city's currently unclear ordinance. "It gives the city some time to iron out the problem with the sign ordinance," he said.

In other business on the agenda:

•Lake Mary commissioners will consider a proposal to institute a 180-day moratorium on the granting of variances, site plan approvals and construction within the 104-foot setback along Lake Mary Boulevard.

District 1 Commissioner Richard Bullington postponed the naming of Linton's replacement to June 6. Linton said it is a good thing, because the commission will be in trouble if some one is named to fill the position he feels was taken from him illegally.

Linton said Monday night, "There are a lot more comments to be made, but I'll be making them to my lawyer."

"Thank you, Mr. Linton," Gunter said politely, to which the outspoken Linton replied, "Don't thank me, you don't like me."

Brewer was bitten outside of Zayre's department store, U.S. Highway 17-92, at about 6:53 p.m. Tuesday when he and a store security guard nabbed Bradwell as a suspected shoplifter. Bradwell allegedly tried to run and jump over a police car to flee, but was captured and bit Brewer during a struggle.

At the time of his arrest, Bradwell was wearing a dress and other articles of women's clothing. From Bradwell's purse, Brewer reported recovering some articles reportedly stolen from Zayre's. While being transported to the Seminole County jail Bradwell allegedly removed a stolen blouse and a pair of shorts from under his dress. He allegedly put them under the front seat of the patrol car.

Harriett said Brewer finished his shift last night and remains on duty. He has been a Sanford policeman for 10 years.

Wanted: Host family for exchange student May 31 is deadline for her return here

By Brian Hedberg
PEOPLE Editor

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Before Yoshiko Nanri's grandfather Haruko died a few years ago, he listened to her desire to be an exchange student in America and responded, "If you really want to go, it'll be a good experience for you."

Yoshiko's parents were dead-set against the idea of their little girl spending a school year in another country—until Haruko said to them, "Let Yoshiko go to America." Yoshiko is glad the Japanese hold the elderly in high esteem; her parents relented.

Now a second-year exchange student, Yoshiko, a 17-year-old from the suburbs of Tokyo, needs a host family living in the Lake Mary High school district in order to study her senior year at the school.

John and Linda Davis of Altamonte Springs, who opened their home to Yoshiko this year, are expecting a child in addition to their 17-year-old, Angela, and may need to move back to their native Tennessee.

"We consider Yoshiko part of the family, and she doesn't seem homesick," she said. "The expense is not that much, but it could be a factor for some people. Ten months is a long commitment. But the pluses definitely outweigh the minuses."

Noting how positive the experience of being an exchange student was for Yoshiko, her parents have continued to let her study abroad. The Japanese girl spent her first year in the States in Oregon. When Yoshiko returned to Japan for the summer break, her old school friends treated her as if she was a different person, simply because she had been to America. "I was sort of culture-shocked by my own country," she recalled.

This year she is active in the Future Business Leaders of America at the high school and in Angela's Girl Scout troop. Yoshiko anticipates joining the Flag Corps and Concert Chorus next year.

Yoshiko knows two languages thus far—Japanese and English—and plans to learn a third so that she can eventually work for the United Nations. She said that, after taking three years of English at her private school in Japan, "I though I knew lots of English, but I learned here that all I knew was the basics."

By contacting International Education Forum's Barbara Richter, at 345-4977, by the end of May, a potential host family could meet Yoshiko in person and talk with the Davises.

Yoshiko Nanri takes the Davis' dog Rowdy for a walk as John Davis and daughter, Angela, pensively watch at the girl they will soon miss.

MICROWAVE MAGIC

Break out the rhubarb for spring

Rhubarb is a sure sign of spring; in the North it is now being pulled. Although it is a vegetable, it is used as a fruit. Because the fresh, tender stalks are so good in pies, rhubarb is sometimes called "pieplant." It is delicious when blended with strawberries or raspberries.

Rhubarb can be purchased fresh in our supermarkets now, so you may want to get some for these microwave recipes. Serve this easy dessert warm or cold, with or without ice cream.

EASY RHUBARB CRISP

4 cups sliced rhubarb
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 egg, slightly beaten
Topping:
½ cup all-purpose flour
½ cup rolled oats
½ cup packed brown sugar
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup butter or margarine
Combine rhubarb, sugar, 2

Midge Mycoff

tablespoons flour and egg in 8-inch round glass baking dish. Mix until evenly combined.

Combine flour, oats, brown sugar and nutmeg. Cut in margarine until crumbly. Sprinkle over rhubarb.

Microwave on 100 percent power 12-14 minutes or until rhubarb is tender.

*If desired, transfer to broiler for a few minutes to crisp topping.

*Frozen rhubarb can be substituted for fresh. Microwave 3-4 minutes or until thawed before combining with other ingredients.

Orange gives the following sauce a special flavor. Serve the sauce warm over cake or ice cream.

TANGY RHUBARB SAUCE

4 cups sliced rhubarb
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
¼ cup orange juice
½ tablespoon quick-cooking tapioca

Combine all ingredients in 1½-quart casserole. Cover. Microwave on 100 percent power 10-12 minutes or until mixture boils and rhubarb is tender, stirring twice.

Combine other fruits with rhubarb for an interesting jam, as the following proves.

RHUBARB FRUIT JAM

2 cups sliced rhubarb

COOK OF THE WEEK

Mother gets cooking despite work, school

By Jane Hale
Herald Correspondent

Our Cook of the Week divides her time between going to school, working and taking care of two very active boys.

Melanie Miller is a fine example of doing just this. Born and raised in Sanford, you can ask her just about anything about Sanford and she probably can answer it.

Her parents, Billy and Betty Anne Howard, also have lived in Sanford all of their lives. They own Betty Anne's Unisex Hair Styles. Miller has three sisters and two brothers whom she had to help take care of while both of her parents worked. "This is really where I got my start at cooking," Miller said. "I remember going over to my Grandma Stiles house and her showing me some of her favorite dishes."

Her grandmother was born in Cardiff, Wales, and came to Sanford after Theodore Stiles returned to Cardiff and brought her back as his bride. "Grandma really had some rather strange recipes."

Having gone to schools here in Sanford and graduating from Seminole High School, she met her future husband, Curtiss, who is a masonry subcontractor. Married for 17 years, which have been happy years in Miller's life, she has two sons—Jason and Zachary.

Jason, who prefers to be called Jay, is 15 years old and a sophomore at Seminole High School. He is interested in playing football and rebuilding an old car from the inside out.

Zachary, 9, is a student in the third grade at Hamilton Elementary School. Zach enjoys Cub Scouts and baseball and likes the study of the martial arts.

With what little spare time Miller has, she has gone back to school, continuing her education at Seminole Community College.

For the past several years, Miller has done a lot of art work for the Sanford Ballet Guild, for which she made a poster for its 25th anniversary. While her son was involved in jazz, tap, and ballet, Miller did the backdrops for their annual recital. She also made several T-shirt logos and did the shirt logo for the Sanford historical ballet/drama "We the People." Have you seen a coloring book with Professor Peppercorn on it? Well, this too is the artful work of Miller.

Miller is a graduate of Sanford Beauty School and works part time at Betty Anne's Unisex Hair Styles. Where does cooking fit in? "I find it very difficult, especially when I'm a full time student and taxi cab driver for my boys, but I do find the time to cook," Miller said.

Following are some of Miller's favorite recipes:

CHEESY BUBBLE LOAF

Take a loaf of frozen white bread that you find in the freezer section at the grocery store. Let it raise. After it has risen, cut it into squares. Use one jar of Armour dried beef and any kind of 8-ounce block of your family's favorite kind of cheese. Take the beef, cut it in half and wrap the cheese into small squares. Wrap the dough around the beef and the cheese, and roll them into little balls, then place them into a greased loaf pan. Bake at 350° F degrees for 30 minutes. When done, just break off the pieces and eat.

MEAT LOAF

2 pounds of ground chuck
1 small onion finely chopped
1 box of stove top stuffing mix
1 stalk of celery finely chopped
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
Mix the beef, onion, celery, stuffing mix, egg and salt together. Use ½ can of the tomato sauce to moisten the mixture. Place in baking pan and cover with the rest of the sauce. Bake 45 minutes at 350° F.

BROCCOLI CASSEROLE

2 packages frozen chopped broccoli
1 can mushroom soup
½ cup mayonnaise
1 egg
1 8-ounce block cheddar cheese (grate the cheese and save a handful of it.)
Mix all the above ingredients together after the broccoli has thawed. Place in a casserole dish and put the cheese you had left over on the top along with some bread crumbs. Bake at 350° F for 30 minutes.

PEANUT BUTTER BLOSSOM COOKIES

3 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoon baking powder

Woman says church is no place for casual worship or kids in pajamas

DEAR ABBY: I live in a small suburb of St. Paul, Minn. As a child, my family was Lutheran, but after I married, I started to go to the Catholic Church with my husband.

Abby, I've seen a lot in that church, but today took the cake! Sitting in front of us was a woman with two small children in their pajamas!

I have been upset when I see people in church in blue jeans or shorts because I was taught that it was a sign of respect to dress up for church. I feel uncomfortable around all these slobs. Needless to say, I don't really care to go to church anymore. I've talked to my husband about going to another church, but he thinks I'm being ridiculous.

Abigail Van Buren

Are there other people who think going to church like this is OK, or am I being a prude?

FROSTED IN FOREST LAKE

DEAR FROSTED: Perhaps the children you saw dressed in pajamas were wearing the best clothing they had. I give the mother credit for not only going to church but taking her children. At least they were in church. I'm sure the Lord didn't care what they were wearing.

DEAR ABBY: I am responding to the mail you got after your appearance on the Donahue show. I am one of those old-fashioned women from the country who gave up their nursing careers to stay home and raise families.

What did I get after 29 years of marriage? I got dumped for a woman my husband met in a pizzeria in Atlanta!

I foolishly paid him a surprise visit and got the shock of my life! I had stayed in New York trying to renovate our house so we could sell it. He got a job transfer to Atlanta and was living it up in a nice apartment.

During our 29 years of marriage, my husband was a student for 10 years. We fled Germany and came to the United States after he had finished his studies.

After my surprise visit to Atlanta, my husband told me he wanted a divorce! My lawyer isn't much help. (Mr. Marvin Mitchellson would you like to give your legal services to a dumped housewife? I'll give you half of my $100 cash support and half of my $50 for dog support.)

I kept my sanity because I know I am better off without a cheating husband.

All you women in Atlanta beware of a tall balding guy with a German accent who loves to talk about his possessions and achievements and drives a Mercedes. He is a wolf in sheep's clothing, who is not able to give you material things—or love either. If you think you've got it made, check into his finances. His debts are staggering, and he has to support me, too.

DUMPED IN NEW YORK

DEAR ABBY: Re men wearing wedding rings. As our wedding date approached, the issue of wedding rings came up.

My fiancé asked, "Do you want me to wear a wedding ring?" I answered, "If you don't want to wear one, then neither will I."

The idea of his bride not wearing a wedding ring was shocking!

We had a double-ring wedding ceremony. I put a ring on his finger, and he has never taken it off.

Cause of disease remains a mystery

DEAR DR. GOTT: There was an outbreak of Kawasaki disease in Colorado that was linked to newly shampooed rugs. Can you tell me what the symptoms of this condition are and how one can avoid it?

DEAR READER: Kawasaki's syndrome is a newly discovered disease of children, marked by fever, lethargy, swollen lymph glands, abdominal pain and a rash that typically desquamates (sheds) after about 10 days. The most dreaded consequences of the disease occur after the rash has faded: inflammation of the coronary arteries or the heart covering, arthritis and meningitis. Intravenous injections of gamma globulin have been reported to reduce the death rate from cardiac complications.

The agent of Kawasaki's syndrome is still elusive. Some researchers believe that the disease is caused by an "atypical form of herpes virus." Other scientists have pointed out the similarities between Kawasaki's syndrome and rheumatoid arthritis, suggesting an autoimmune phenomenon. In one report, doctors concluded that the disease was triggered in children who were exposed to newly shampooed rugs. This suggests that some compound in the rug cleaner may be the culprit.

Until the cause of the syndrome is discovered, there is no known way to avoid the disease. However, it has been recommended that concerned parents not let their children crawl or play on rugs for 24 hours after the rugs have been shampooed.

DEAR DR. GOTT: After a car accident, I developed a driving phobia. I cannot ride with family members. Why can't I control my fear?

DEAR READER: Phobic fears are virtually beyond our control. They arise from very primitive fears about injury and survival, and can be quite incapacitating. Some intense, irrational fears are produced by traumatic events, such as the auto accident you

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Doubling artificial bids as a lead-directing device has come into vogue. Such a double is often carelessly made, with no certainty that the suit should be led. And sometimes it leads to another kind of disaster. Today East-West were playing that a two-club response to one no-trump was asking for a five-card major. Without a five-card major, opener would bid two diamonds. So West, with a weak hand, searching for a better spot than one no-trump, tried his special two-club response. Whatever partner bid would become the final contract, including two diamonds. But North was having none of that—he doubled two clubs for the lead. West bid two diamonds.

Then South, who imagined that North's clubs were better than North's clubs, competed by bidding three clubs.

East happily doubled. He was looking at five tricks, and maybe his partner could help. Right on! Declarer was down two tricks for minus 500, and it's easy to see that a different layout in the diamond suit might have set him 800. So what's the point in all this? Just two suggestions for any partnership striving to play the game at a high level of competence. First, don't make haphazard lead-directing doubles. Second, agree with your partner that when you are a passed hand, such a double never suggests that you would like to compete for a part score.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Something for which you've been hoping has good possibilities for coming into fruition. This is not a time to give up on your dreams or desires.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your behavior will win you the respect and approval of your peers today, because you'll be concerned about furthering their interests along with your own.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is a good time to get involved in new activities where you'll have opportunities to meet new people. Valuable friendships, as well as other benefits, could result.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A joint venture in which you are presently involved is about to take a turn for the better. In fact, it might develop into something that you anticipated.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Something propitious is stirring for you at this time, even though you might not be aware of it. It's being engineered by an ally who has your interests at heart.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A situation may develop today where you find yourself acting as an agent on behalf of another. Make a good deal because you'll share in the benefits.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Try not to prejudge people or events today, because there are strong indications that things will work out much better than you expect. Be hopeful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your financial trends show strong evidence of growth at this time. There is a possibility you'll receive greater remuneration from something you're now doing.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your popularity, especially with members of the opposite gender, is spiraling upwards. An exciting new romance may be in the offing.

Sanford Jr. Women get state positions

The Juniors won first place in their leadership and home life departments after competition with other state junior clubs.

New state officers and chairwomen were inducted during the convention. The following women from the Sanford club were appointed to positions for the 1988-90 term in the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs: Gail Hill-Smith, state leadership chairwoman; Beverly Hillman, state programs protocol and parliamentary chairwoman; and Beth Bridges, state education chairwoman.

Nancy Crawford will hold the elected office of state vice director of junior clubs, a position which entails memberships.

The Juniors are now looking to the fall convention to be held in Tampa in September.
